By Andrew R. Kuehl
 Staff Writer/Photographer

TOWN OF KEWASKUM- A Kewaskum man and his 13 year old passenger were involved in a two vehicle crash

Friday afternoon on Highway 28 East.

Wallace R. Daggett, 72 was driving eastbound on Highway 28, as he approached the Kettle Moraine Drive intersection John E. Irons, 51 of Titusville, FL, pulled out from Kettle Moraine and was hit by Daggett.

Irons' vehicle left the roadway on the south side and landed on it's wheels in a ditch.

Irons' was carrying one passenger, Don A. Irons, 55 of Cape Canaveral, FL.

Daggett's passenger was taken to St. Joseph's

Community Hospital in West Bend by Kewaskum Rescue Squad. Irons' passenger was also taken by another Kewaskum squad to the same hospital.

Fire Destroys Shed, Cattle in Waucousta

K-Town Saloon Remains Closed After Crash

By Andrew R. Kuehl
 Staff Writer/Photographer

The only saloon in Kewaskum, K-Town Saloon, has remained closed since an accident that sent a mother and her 16 year old son to St. Joseph's Community Hospital in West Bend early last Tuesday afternoon.

The driver of the vehicle, Victoria L. Breit of Campbellsport allegedly lost control of the car after her accelerator stuck.

Breit had two of her other younger children, who were uninjured, in the car with her and her son. They all were wearing their seatbelts.

K-Town Saloon is owned by Ken and Sandy Bonlender of Kewaskum.

The business has been closed ever since the accident. The owners are unsure of when they would be re-opening.

The building is owned by Mark Herriges who owns Herriges Machining, located in back of the saloon.

CAMPBELLSPORT- Fire Chief Randy Zuehlke of the Campbellsport Volunteer Fire Department stated, "It's hard to pinpoint" what started a free standing stall shed on fire last Wednesday evening.

Donald Uelmann owns the shed at W2365 County Road F, just outside Waucousta.

According to Zuehlke Uelmann was chopping corn stalks when the flames broke out. The Campbellsport Fire Chief also noted there is no electricity going into the building, which ruled out faulty or overheated wiring.

The shed was home to cattle, some of which were destroyed in the blaze. Straw was also stored in the shed and quickly added fuel to the conflagration.

Assisting the Campbellsport Fire Department were Kewaskum, Eden, Mt. Calvary, Town of Fond du Lac and Lomira Fire Departments.

No injuries were reported from anyone near the home or fighting the fire. The chief did indicate dense fog made it difficult for assisting agencies to arrive on scene.

It is unknown how long it took firefighters to contain the blaze but it was noted excavating equipment was involved in breaking apart the shed and the straw bales. Zuehlke could not release any damage estimates.

Town of Scott Board OKs New Ice Skating Rink in Batavia Park

By Bernadette Mondloch
Correspondent

Despite near 90 degree weather on the outside, inside the Scott Town Hall, town officials were asked for permission to establish an ice skating rink at the Batavia Firemen's Park. Representatives from the Batavia Athletic Association are working on a plan to establish a rink for town residents in the coming winter.

Board members saw no problems with the plan, "gives the youngsters something to do."

The Batavia Athletic Association is also looking for teams of participants for their upcoming Kickball Tournament to be held at Fireman's Park on August 31st and September 1st.

Terry Weber and Marshal Reysen were reappointed to terms on the Board of Appeals. An alternate position remains unfilled. Any one interested in the position is to notify the Town Chairman.

A certified survey map for two, one acre lots located on Lake Ridge Road in Section 17 were presented by Louis Luedtke and approved by the board.

The 2000 census has not affected the Town's Ward layout, but there will be a change in how town board members are selected. In the past the board of supervisors was made up of two members from Ward one, and two from Ward two. Beginning on January 1, 2002 all supervisors will be elected "at large" and not from a specific ward. More information will be provided in November prior to circulation of nomination papers.

A warning is being issued to organizations using the facilities at the Town Hall. If the building is left in an unclean condition after the use of the building, there will be a $25 charge to provide for a cleaning person, or if the matter persists, the organization will be banned from using the building.

Following in the footsteps of the Village of Random Lake and Town of Sherman, Town Scott has agreed to endorse the plan for moving forward in developing the lower level of the Lakeview Library, using funds raised by the "Friends of the Library." No tax money will be involved.

Road chairman Ivan Kumrow reported that slag seal has been applied to Cranberry Road, pot holes have been patched and five broken road signs were replaced. 14 trees were downed during a recent storm and have since been cleaned up by the road department.

Due to the hot weather

crackfilling scheduled for Mink Creek Road has been delayed until Fall.

The Non-metallic Mining Reclamation Ordinance presented by the Sheboygan County Board for adoption by the town was tabled until August. This should allow time for each of them to read through the ordinance before making a decision.

Following a closed session held to review personnel issues, action was taken to assist former employee Norm Preder with one additional month of insurance premium at the current rate that is being paid. Preder expects to be released by his physician within the next two weeks. If he continues to be disabled he will need to resort to participation in the "Cobra plan," with no

"Job titles and careers are rising in the e-Business field," continued Olson. "Therefore, an e-Business Associate Degree from Moraine Park should enhance a person's employment opportunities." ## Kewaskum 4-H'ers Working On Special Emphasis Program

Throughout the year, the Kewaskum 4-H'ers have been working on a special emphasis program called "Water, We're All Connected." Our goal was to promote awareness, appreciation and knowledge of water and how it affects our daily lives. Topics that were covered included daily water usage, water pollution and prevention, water recreation, water conservation, and water life.

Club members made posters related to water, that were entered in the Washington County Communication and Art Festival and also in the Washington County Land Conservation "Champions of the Environment" contest. Justin Weindorf received 1st First Place on his poster, which showed the water cycle.

Sarah Kissinger made a model of a watershed, and demonstrated at a club meeting how water runoff can pollute our waterways. A tour to West Bend's Waste Water Treatment plant showed members the water treatment process and how pollutants are removed to help keep our water clean. Members took a trip to Riveredge Nature Center in Newburg to see a vernal pond that appears only in spring. Here they were able to explore and identify the plants and water critters of the pond. At the Kettle Moraine Springs State Fish Hatchery, members saw a video and took a tour of the hatchery where they learned how fish are spawned and released into our rivers and streams. Several members also participated in a twilight canoe paddle trip across Mauthe Lake and up the Milwaukee River. Here they got a close look at a flood plain forest and a Tamarack swamp. Tubing at Sunburst Ski Hill and a trip to Family Land Water park gave our club members the chance to have fun with water.

We have learned that water is a precious resource and should be used wisely.

Back Home

By Paul Becht II

I just recently returned from a trip of a lifetime. As many of you know I traveled to Australia to play football in the 13th Annual Novotol Down Under Bowl.

My journey started with a four-day mini camp in Prairie du Chien. I met my new teammates and learned our offensive and defensive strategies. I didn't like the three-a-day practices or getting back in "football shape," but free time was fun.

We played a scrimmage against the other Wisconsin team, in which we lost, but I was here for the experience, not the victory. We had a couple days for last minute packing and after months of preparation, it was finally time to go.

We arrived in Sydney, and we were given the day to sightsee. We toured the Olympic grounds, and even did a little swimming in the Olympic pools. We say the world famous Sydney Opera House. Then the team got on a plane and took an hour ride up the coast to Surfers Paradise, an area known as the Gold Coast. This is where all the football games were played.

It sure felt good to play football. There is nothing better than hitting an unsuspecting quarterback, but playing ball wasn't the only fun we had.

Our days were filled with many activities. We went to amusement parks and water parks and a wildlife sanctuary. The team also spent a couple of days hanging out on the beach and a few of us, myself included, rented some boards and tried riding some waves. It didn't go as well as I had hoped.

We were given free time every night and we all made the best of it until bed check, which was a drag, because it was a midnight curfew. (But hey, we had football to play!)

The practices were tough and the games were intense, but I still had a blast. Our team lost both games by a touchdown, which was depressing, but only for the bus ride back to the hotel, because there was too much going on to mope around all night.

I was also very glad I got to play with other guys from around the state. All of them were talented and friendly. We all hung out as a team and I thought that was really cool. Not only did I leave Australia with unforgettable memories, but also with many new friends.

I'd like to thank my family who encouraged me to go, and helped me get there. Thanks to Brian Larsen of Wiseguys for the fish fries. Thank you to Myron and Becky Strobel, Jan Bartelt and all the Amoco employees for their help with the raffle. Thanks to Dennis Butz of Smith Insurance for the positive motivation and Coach Rohlinger for the nomination and the use of equipment. Thanks also to the Kewaskum Statesman for printing my articles.

Most of all, I'd like to thank all those who donated or bought raffle tickets. I really appreciate it and I assure you I'll never forget the help the Kewaskum community gave to me. I hope that if future Kewaskum athletes get this awesome opportunity, they take advantage of the support Kewaskum will give them.

Relay for Life at West Bend Aug. 3, 4

The American Cancer Society is holding its sixth annual West Bend Relay for Life Friday, August 3, and Saturday, August 4.

The event kicks off with an opening ceremony on Friday at 6 p.m. During the opening ceremony all survivors are honored and are invited to start off the Relay by taking a victory lap while being cheered on by fellow participants. This is a true celebration of their courageous battle.

The event is held at Badger Middle school and will conclude with a ceremony on Saturday at noon honoring the caregivers who provide love, support, and courage to those in their family who are battling cancer. The top fundraising teams will also be recognized for their outstanding support and commitment to fighting cancer.

The Relay for Life is the American Cancer Society's national signature fundraising event. In Wisconsin, the event has grown from two Relays in 1992 to 132 Relays raising over $7.3 million alone in 2000. West Bend continues to be a strong Relay site, raising over $179,000 in 2000. This year the goal is to beat $189,950.

The American Cancer Society's Relay for Life involves teams of eight to 15 people who collect donations before the event. They then gather together taking turns walking or running around the track raising money for cancer research and education.

The objective is to have at least one member of each team on the track for the entire event. Other highlights of the event include relaxing with friends and co-workers, listening to music, camping out, enjoying good food, and participating in great entertainment and activities.

The highlight of the event is the luminary ceremony on Friday night at 10 p.m. when the Relay for Life pays tribute to those who have been affected by cancer. Luminaries are purchased in honor of those who have survived their battle with cancer, for those still fighting, and in memory of those who have courageously battled this disease, but lost.

Luminaries are kept burning throughout the night to represent the healing power of community and the importance of funding to find a cure. Luminaries can be purchased for $5 each by contacting the American Cancer Society office or at the Relay during the afternoon and early evening of Friday, August 3.

Kathryn Theisen Named Math Award Winner

Kathryn Theisen

The United States Achievement Academy announced that Kathryn Theisen from West Bend, has been named a United States National Award Winner in Mathematics.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Kathryn, who attends West Bend West, was nominated for this national award by Randall Zimdars, a teacher at the school.

Kathryn will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standard of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Kathryn is the daughter of Peter and Luanne Theisen from West Bend, and the granddaughter of Mildred Theisen, of Kewaskum, Wisconsin and Frank and Lois Werhanowicz of Kewaskum.

with Rachel Gavin as Rachel, Marion's follower. Camille Connelly, Amanda Graff and Laurinda Weisse appear as Beth Ellen, Carrie and Pinky, Harriet's classmates. Alisha Neu is Miss Elson, the teacher, and Lynn Schoenhaar is Ole Golly, the governess.

Patrick Schoenhaar plays Harrison Withers, the man with the cats. A special mystery actor will appear as the psychologist.

"Harriet the Spy" is the story of a young girl learning about being true to oneself and about truth and kindness and about hope when you feel most alone and hopeless. Go and see it at the County Fair!

Campbellsport Lions Steak Fry Aug. 7

The Campbellsport Lions have announced Tuesday, August 7, as the date for their annual steak fry being held from 4:30 to 8 p.m.

Auburn Bluffs will again be hosting the event. Located on River Road, just a mile northeast of Campbellsport, off of Highway 67, the scenic golf course will be offering a "Steak Fry" special.

Pat Adams, owner of Auburn Bluffs, explains, "For those purchasing tickets to this special event, we are offering discounted golf prices. All golfers will receive $2.00 off green fees on August 7. Golfing with the smell of those great steaks distracting you is a wonderful and unique experience."

At 7:30 p.m. the "Ultimate Packer Fan Auction" will be held. The "Ultimate Fan Package" includes eight premium tickets to the Shriners Game in Green Bay. Transportation to and from the game is included.

What makes the Packer package truly "The Ultimate" is the fact that a Lion chauffeur and chef will accompany you. Upon arriving at Lambeau Field "The Ultimate Fan" will have steak dinners grilled by the Lion chef plus complimentary champagne for you and your guests. Come prepared to bid on this great package or stay to cheer on "The Ultimate Packer Fan."

Many other events will be going on in conjunction with the fry and auction. Try the popular hole-in-one contest, or enter the many raffles. Come early and stay late to socialize with the good people of the community and listen to the sound of Record Entertainment.

The proceeds raised will go for many of the Lions projects. The Lions work hard to give time and money to local charities. Also a portion of the money will go for the Lions scholarship given annually in Campbellsport.

If you would like tickets or further information, stop in by Dale at The Amber Hotel in Campbellsport, or contact Pat at Auburn Bluffs.

Local Educators Honored at Wisconsin Teacher Forum

Barb Rankin and Shirley Rose

MADISON -- Selected from over 450 statewide applicants, Shirley Rose and Barb Rankin, teachers from Kewaskum Elementary School, attended the prestigious Wisconsin Teacher Forum sponsored by the Department of Public Instruction.

The Forum celebrates teaching, identifies teacher leadership opportunities in and beyond the classroom, explores and supports teacher mentoring, and provides for interaction with state policymakers.

The Wisconsin Teacher Forum was held in Madison,

June 28 - 30, 2001 at the Frank Lloyd Wright inspired Monona Terrace Convention Center.

Based on school visits held earlier this spring, several legislators were guests of the Forum at an evening reception and joined participants at the microphone to talk about the relationship between government and schools, teacher and legislators.

Representative Glenn Grothman met with Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Rankin during the school year when he participated in the DARE Graduation of the fifth grade students at Kewaskum Elementary School.

Participants were inspired by the words of Mary Beth Blegen, Teacher in Residence at the United States Department of Education and by Sharon Nelson, current Teacher in Residence. Both were appointed by former United States Secretary of Education, Richard Riley. Ms. Nelson is on leave from her position as chemistry teacher in the Waunakee School district.

From a panel of policymakers, chaired by Terry Shelton, Outreach Program Director, LaFollette School of Public Affairs, UW-Madison and including Jay Heck, Executive Director, Common Cause in Wisconsin; Margaret Swick, Educational Outreach, Office of the Governor; Brian Pahnke, Director, DPI Policy and Budget Team; and Bob Burke, Legislative Training WEAC, participants learned how to move their agendas up for action.

Kohl fellowship recipients, between 1999 and 2001, and all districts that received Teacher Mentoring grants were invited to apply to attend the forum. Invitees were asked to identify a colleague with leadership and mentoring potential and to complete a mutually written application.

The application asked teams to tell how the recipient has demonstrated successful leadership, to identify critical education issues for discussion and state policymakers, and to describe why they would make an effective proactive team in working on and speaking out about education-related issues.

State policy makers including legislators, Department of Public Instruction representatives, post-secondary education and teacher preservice program representatives, professional organization representatives, and others participate in this significant event.

To All Concerned Village Of Kewaskum Citizens:

We are directing this letter to all village residents who are concerned about the development of your village now and in the future.

Ten years ago several property owners, along the north side of Highway H on the western edge of the village, requested annexation. At that time there was need for hookup to sewers and water for some and as they also knew development was directed toward them, they petitioned to be annexed, rather than having double expenses within a few years. Cost for that project would have been split 50-50, with property owners on each side of the road paying their fair share. After a second meeting the property owners along the south side of H declined annexation of their property. Owners of same are O & R Development Enterprise. Taken from article in Kewaskum Statesman 10 years ago.

The petitions death blow apparently came when Dr. Charles Ogi, one of the south property owners, advised the board during the meeting that there were no development plans now or in the near future for land he and Jim Reigle own, despite the fact that plans had been brought to the board several years ago.

Ten years ago O & R voted against annexation. Now they want sewer and water services for the sale of their property on the south side of the Highway H. However, several owners with new updated improvements and several who have also retired since now say no to these expenses. We are not against being annexed into the village we just want to be treated fair and have our expenses covered too.

When this new plan started in May of 2000 there were seven property owners involved. To date with much finageling one property now will be forced into the village. Another property owner was given promise of payment of their expenses. Why not the rest of us? This leaves five property owners who paid once already and now should pay again. Not only will there be hookup to village sewer and water, we must also dispose of our existing service.

If we are not annexed we have been informed by Village Administrator Dan Schmidt that we will become a peninsula because the new sewer and water lines will not be installed along Highway H in this area. New plans are to install same on private land with easements. Kewaskum already has a two property peninsula on the south end of the village along Highway 45, east side. How many does our village need? Is this planning for the future of the village?

Please, as citizens and property owners, come to the Public Village Board Hearing on Monday, August 6, 2001 at 8 p.m. in the Village Council Room. If you can not attend, please contact a village trustee about your concern of the matter. These men need to hear from you to help them make the right decisions. They must plan for the future and not just make a decision because they are told.

Your trustees are: John Kenworthy, 626-2746; Bob Stoltzmann, 626-4503; Andy Pesch, 626-4501; Larry Ammel, 626-4731; Tom Piwoni, 626-4850; Kevin Scheunemann, 626-6546 or 626-4774; Matt Heiser, 626-2952.

We need your help,

The five remaining
property owners,

Editor:

As Medicare approaches its 36th birthday on July 30, it is increasingly clear that reforms will be necessary in order that older Americans may continue to benefit from its resources.

Among these reforms, none is more important than the establishment of an affordable, voluntary prescription drug benefit for everybody enrolled in Medicare. Thanks to a grassroots campaign that AARP Wisconsin has been proud to sponsor, low-and moderate-income Wisconsin seniors should soon be able to participate in a state-based prescription drug benefit program; but the need for a complementary benefit in Medicare remains paramount.

Americans over 65 rely more heavily on drug therapies than any other group. But Americans over 65 are also the group least likely to have insurance to help pay for drugs whose retail prices continue to soar.

As of last year, 39 million Americans were enrolled in Medicare. By the year 2030, however, it is estimated that no fewer than 77 million will be enrolled.

AARP believes that it's time for Americans over 65 to get the kind of drug coverage and volume discounts most other Americans take for granted. Group purchasing power could substantially reduce participating seniors' prescription drug costs.

AARP also believes that all Medicare beneficiaries should be able to choose to pay an extra premium for dependable and affordable prescription drug coverage. Those happy with the coverage they have now shouldn't be forced to participate in Medicare coverage. But the millions who have poor coverage or no coverage at all are in desperate need of assistance.

Virtually all candidates for political office in last year's elections pledged their support for a prescription drug benefit in Medicare. Now is the time for elected representatives in Washington to make good on those promises. What better way could there be to celebrate Medicare's birthday?

Here's a message that everyone in Kewaskum and Washington County, regardless of their age, needs to send to Wisconsin's congressional delegation: "I'm standing with AARP to call upon Congress and the President to keep their promise and enact an affordable, voluntary prescription drug benefit for everybody in Medicare. Because a promise made should be a promise kept."

Mike Grotfend
State President
AARP Wisconsin

Historic Changes Ahead for Hartford National Guard Unit

Hartford's Army National Guard unit will become more valuable to the national defense under the recently announced conversion of the 32nd Infantry Brigade from mechanized to light infantry, according to Brig. General Kerry G. Denson, Wisconsin's deputy adjutant general for Army.

Company D(-), 2nd Battalion, 127th Infantry (Mechanized) will become Company B(-), 2nd Battalion, 128th Infantry (Light). Thirty-six other Wisconsin cities will also experience changes in their Guard units as part of the conversion, according to Col. James Krueck, 32nd Brigade commander.

"We're changing the unit from mechanized to light and changing its regimental assignment but keeping the same personnel," Krueck said. "Soldiers who train in Hartford will continue to do so, and the converted unit will gain by their experience and dedication."

Since becoming mechanized in 1971, Wisconsin's infantry units would have been transported to battle inside M-113 armored personnel carriers -- 40-year-old Cold War relics more relevant to the past than to the future. From now on, Hartford's soldiers will travel to the front on foot, or, occasionally, in trucks.

"In returning to the 'straight leg infantry' tradition of the Red Arrow Division, we are actually going back to the future," said Maj. General James G.

Blaney, the adjutant general. "Right now in its strategic planning, the U.S. Army is recognizing that its units have become too heavy; they need to lighten up to be quickly deployable anywhere in the world."

Although the unit will lose its armored personnel carriers in the transition, its authorized personnel strength at Hartford will rise from 69 to 73. The unit, with a current assigned strength of around 50, will need to recruit new Guard soldiers to reach 100 percent strength.

"The Guard, like any organization, must change to stay relevant in today's world," Denson said.

"Wisconsin is not waiting to see what role the Army gives us. We sought and won one of the Army's top-priority missions. This assures us an important role in the future and ensures the traditions of the Red Arrow Division will live on."

"This kind of change also creates new and continuing opportunities for individuals in the Hartford area to serve in the greatest part-time job in Wisconsin," Denson said.

The National Guard has a significant economic impact in each of the 67 Wisconsin communities with National Guard armories. Federal funding to support the Hartford unit and its members was about $700,000 last year.

Changes affecting the local unit are scheduled to begin in September.

Amy Stoffel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stoffel, of Route 2, Kewaskum, and Tom Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Edwards of Kewaskum, have been announced as winners of the two annual college scholarships by the Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum.

Patricia Holzmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Holzmann of Kewaskum, and Marjorie Schoofs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schoofs of Kewaskum, have been selected to receive the Dr. R. G. Edwards Health Careers Scholarships.

Francis Elizabeth Martin and George Gilbert Martin exchanged wedding vows in a beautiful outdoor garden setting in Wheaton, Maryland. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Kennedy of Wheaton and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Martin of Kewaskum.

In the boys' and girls' track sectional at Mayville Friday afternoon, several Kewaskum performers qualified for this week's two-day state meet at the Madison Memorial Track. Kewaskum's Carrie Kempf was one of the sectionals outstanding individuals, winning the 100 in 11.5 and the 220 in 26.1 and placing second in the long jump. Her 16 foot, seven inch long jump was one-quarter inch away from giving her a triple win and it was 8-10 inches shorter than her usual 17 foot plus effort. However, she will be returning to state in all three events. Last year Carrie took second in the 100 as a sophomore. Another Kewaskum qualifier was Keith Mueller in the shot put. He heaved the iron ball 51 feet, five inches, which was good enough for second. The Indians' ace distance runner, Dennis Bremser, ran into a very tough field and finished third in the 880 but his time of 1:59.5 was good enough to place him in the top five 880 runners, qualifying him for the Class B state meet this weekend to which he was invited.

A daughter was born to Richard and Joan Schuppel, Kewaskum, on May 26. A daughter was also born to Richard and Jo Anne Heisdorf on May 30. A daughter, Christina Marie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Russel Ebert, Route 2, Campbellsport, on May 30. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Groh, Kiel are the maternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Ebert, Route 2, Campbellsport, are the paternal grandparents.

Kewaskum's Carrie Kempf, small in stature, but a giant on the track field, brought home the first individual state championship for the local school in the 100 yard dash in the Class B State Track Meet at Madison Saturday. And in doing so, she also broke an existing state record. The old record of 11.68 was set in 1974. Carrie had broken it in trials with 11.5 and in the state meet she hit the tape in 11.4, just .1 of a second faster than Jenny Lind of Weyauwega, and yards ahead of the rest of the field. Kempf also barely missed a double win in the 220 by inches as she was nipped by Lind in a photo finish. Both were given 25.5 clockings with Carrie's having a plus behind it. The 220 was also a state record. Kewaskum's two male qualifiers to state also placed high. Dennis Bremser's 1:59.5 took third in the 880, and Keith Mueller took fourth in the shotput with a heave of 50-2.

The Sergeant Clifford M. Bales Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Pam Scannell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scannell of Kewaskum.

The Kewaskum Junior Woman's Club has announced that Dennis Bremser, Route 2, Kewaskum, and Sandy Jean Dillinger, Kewaskum, are the 1976 scholarship winners for the academic and vocational awards. Dennis is the son of Mrs. Althea Bremser and Sandy is the daughter of Mrs. Agnes Dillinger.

A total of $500 has been awarded by the Kewaskum Education Association to three 1976 graduates of the local high school. Dale Marquardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin F. Marquardt of Route 1, Kewaskum was the recipient of $300. Two scholarships of $100 each have been awarded to Rita Thull and Fran Ciha. Parents of the girls are the Edmund Thulls of Route 1, Kewaskum, and the Al Cihahs of Route 1, Allenton.

Burmaster Praises Third Grades Reading Performance, Calls For Continued Effort to Close Achievement Gap

MADISON - State Superintendent Elizabeth Burmaster praised Wisconsin third graders' performances in reading as she announced scores for the 2001 Wisconsin Reading Comprehension Test. More than three-quarters of all students who took the test scored in the top two proficiency levels.

"I am very proud of our students, their primary school teachers, and their families for making a commitment to improved reading, but our work is not done," Burmaster said. "My administration shares this commitment and will make reading and closing the achievement gap our top priorities."

Of the 58,507 public school third-graders who took the 2001 Wisconsin Reading Comprehension Test, 76.5 scored proficient or advanced compared with 74.4 percent who scored in the top two proficiency levels last year.

Wisconsin Reading Comprehension Test results show that the scores for students from economically disadvantaged families and for nearly all minority student groups show steady improvement, but also highlight significant gaps in student achievement. In 2001, 59 percent of students from low-income from economically disadvantaged families. While 83 percent of white students scored proficient or advanced on the reading test, the percentage of students from other racial or ethnic groups scoring in the top two levels were: African American, 54 percent; American Indian 68 percent; Asian, 56 percent and Hispanic 49 percent.

"Reading is the fundamental skill that separates children who succeed from those who struggle," Burmaster said. "I believe that improving reading programs in the early grades is vital to getting out children on the path to success."

Districts with high numbers of economically disadvantaged students have wither sustained of improved performance from prior years. However, a markedly lower percentage of students scored proficient or advanced in districts with 50 percent of more of their children coming from economically disadvantaged households than did those in districts that have fewer than 50 percent of their students coming from low-income families. A student who is economically disadvantaged comes from a household that meets the income eligibility guidelines for free or reduced-price lunch, which is 185 percent of the federal poverty level.

"To have an educational struggle linked to poverty or race is simply not acceptable," Burmaster said. "We must do more to involve families and communities in our schools, provide quality teachers in every classroom, and reduce class size to ensure improved reading achievement for every child in Wisconsin."

The statewide reading test was administered to public school third graders in March. Results reflect responses to 61 multiple-choice and two short-answer questions based on three reading passages. Under state law, the 2,329 students who scored in the minimal proficiency level on the Wisconsin Reading Comprehension Test must be evaluated to determine if they need remedial reading or other services.

"I have seen remarkable successes for students who received additional reading instruction from well-trained teachers in small classes," said Dr. Margaret Planner, assistant state superintendent. "Every child who is not reading at the proficient or advanced level should have an opportunity to succeed in a classroom with fewer students. Then we can work to close the achievement gap in reading by giving students who struggle the attention they need and deserve."

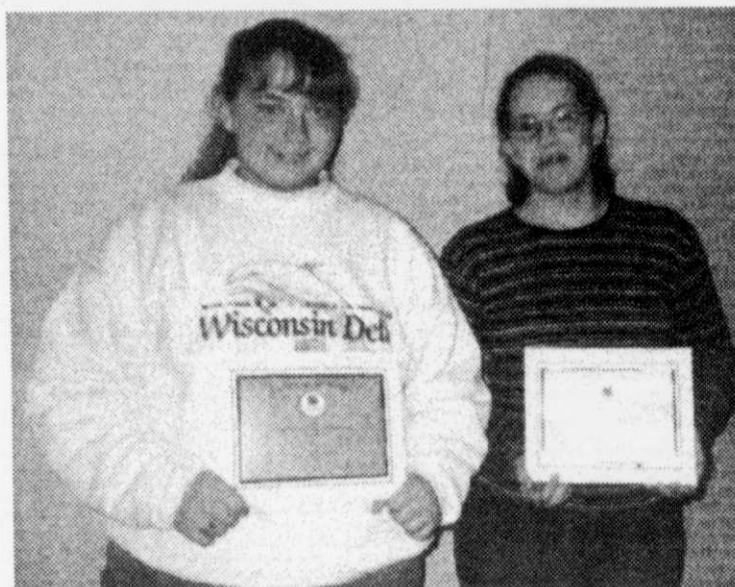

Dr. Planner was appointed by Burmaster to head a re-established division at the Department of Public Instruction, Reading and Student Achievement, which will focus on improved reading and closing the achievement gap in Wisconsin.

Their performance standards for the 2001 test, minimal, basic, proficient and advanced, are based on standards established in July 1998. This is the fourth year the DPI is reporting results for the Wisconsin Reading Comprehension Test in relation to the standards.

On the 2001 test, 501 schools had no students scoring in the minimal proficiency level, and 66 of those schools had all of their third graders scoring in the proficient and advanced levels. Of all test-takers, 991 students, 1.7 percent, earned all 67 reading comprehension test points. The statewide average score was 53.8 points out of a possible 67 points on the reading comprehension questions.

New Sleep Disorders Center At St. Joseph's Hospital

For more than 100 million Americans, regularly getting a good night's sleep is only a dream. Now a new Sleep Disorders Center in West Bend is offering help for area residents affected by untreated sleep disorders, including sleep apnea, narcolepsy and restless legs syndrome.

St. Joseph's Community Hospital of West Bend has contracted with Sleep Disorders Services Development, LLC, to provide sleep disorders evaluations at its new offices at the Oakbrook Health Center, 1201 Oak Street. The center opened this month.

Sleep specialist and president of SDSA, Robert Pamenter, MS, has been helping to identify and treat sleep problems for the past 18 years. He said sleep deprivation leads to a lower quality of life, reduced health and irritability and has been identified as contributing to on-the-job accidents and car crashes. The average American adult needs about eight hours of sleep each night, but most get over an hour less sleep than they need, he noted.

"Many people today have a self-induced sleep debt. They simply don't get enough sleep and they feel too sleepy. But that's not a reason to come to the sleep lab. The vast majority of people we see have obstructive sleep apnea syndrome. Nine percent of men and four percent of adult women have a significant degree of sleep apnea that interferes with their lives and work," he said.

Sleep apnea is a mechanical disorder that involves the frequent partial or complete collapse of the breathing passageway during sleep. Yet only about 10 to 15 percent of people with sleep apnea have been diagnosed and treated, Pamenter adds.

At the Sleep Disorders Center in West Bend, all-night sleep studies are performed to help the patient's physician understand what is going on while the patient is sleeping. The patient arrives in the evening and sleeps undisturbed in a cool, comfortably furnished private room with a queen size bed.

Meanwhile, a technician monitors the patient's sleep from a nearby control room via closed circuit TV. The patient's brain waves, muscle tension, eye movements, heart rate, breathing patterns, snoring and movements are monitored with small sensors taped, glued or strapped to the body. The sensors are as small and as comfortable as possible to allow natural movement and comfort during sleep.

"Patients come here with a diagnosis from their doctor. The sleep study helps confirm, determine the severity and begin treatment of the sleep disorder," Pamenter said.

Patients are referred to the center by their physician and prepare for their visit completing a questionnaire about their sleep habits and symptoms and by recording their sleep habits in a 10-day diary. After the all-night sleep study, the data is analyzed by the Sleep Disorders Center professionals and the test results shared with the physician, who plans an appropriate course of treatment. Treatment may include medications, surgery, lifestyle changes, or a device called a CPAP that treats breathing problems during sleep. This continuous positive airway pressure device (CPAP) includes a small mask that fits around the nose and works by blowing room air into the patient's airway during sleep.

"What we know about sleep has changed dramatically even since I've entered the field. There have been many studies to document the effects of sleep deprivation, and also in the treatment of narcolepsy and restless legs."

Pamenter's firm also has contracts with other hospitals in southeastern Wisconsin.

For more information, call the SDSA office at 888-810-7575 or the Sleep Disorders Center at 262-334-8393.

Dairyland Seed Announces New Corn Releases

WEST BEND -- Dairyland Seed recently announced the release of 18 new corn hybrids for the 2002 planting season.

Each of these varieties can be seen at research tours and field days through the Midwest this fall. Descriptions of new products for this area include:

73 Day Stealth-1273 - A true 73-day hybrid, this is a flint cross of a flint inbred with a dent inbred. The resulting hybrid conveys excellent cold emergence, very early flowering and very early black layer. It also features high test weight. This hybrid has been specifically released due to its adaptation to the very northern edge of the Corn Belt growing range where the growing season can be cut short either due to late spring or early frost.

79 Day Stealth-1279 - This hybrid features all around superior agronomics. It had very solid field scores in the fall of 2000 when many hybrids deteriorated. This hybrid is quick to black layer and also has fast drydown after black layer. A farm-friendly, white cob hybrid.

83 Day Stealth-1483/ RR - This is not only Dairyland Seed's earliest Roundup Ready® hybrid, it is also a hybrid that features strong yields and a flint dent combination. Thanks to its flint heritage, this hybrid features continuous development throughout the growing season which allows it to make grain in cooler growing seasons and in the northern reaches of the corn growing area thanks to its early flowering and early black layer traits. It also features high test weight.

87 Day Stealth-1287/ RR - This Roundup Ready® hybrid features excellent emergence and early vigor. It also features extremely fast drydown after black layer. A consistently high yielding hybrid, Dairyland Seed is very pleased to add this hybrid to their lineup for 2002!

89 Day Stealth-1089 - This hybrid shows very strong yields and adapts well to northern environments. Also adapts to a wide range of soils types. For best results, we recommend this hybrid be planted under good management fertility programs and higher plant populations.

89 Day Stealth-1089/ RR - Stealth-1089/RR is a Roundup Ready® version of Dairyland Seed's high yielding Stealth-1089 hybrid. You can anticipate comparable yields and moisture with this Roundup Ready® version when compared to the original, conventional hybrid.

91 Day Stealth-1592 - A race horse hybrid which shows peak performance under good management and fertility programs. It is adapted to a wide range of environments and management practices. Performs particularly well at high plant populations.

94 Day Stealth-1494/ RR - This Roundup Ready® corn hybrid features superior standability and excellent yields. This short-statured hybrid loves high plant populations and kicks out excellent yields.

98 Day Stealth 1598 - Outstanding yields on this large, robust plant type. Its open husk helps deliver excellent drydown. Has very good early season vigor and excellent eye appeal. A "must try" hybrid if you plant this maturity. Could be the highest yielding hybrid on your farm next year!

99/96 Day Stealth-1099/RRBt - This stacked trait hybrid carries the YieldGard trait for resistance to corn borer. It is also a Roundup Ready® hybrid. Has a wide area of adaptation with very girthy ears and excellent fall appearance. If you like Stealth-1099/RR but have concern for corn borers, this is an excellent choice!

99/96 Day Stealth-1199/RR - This Roundup Ready® corn hybrid shows high yield potential with rapid drydown. Stealth-1199/RR carries an excellent all-around package as it features excellent roots and stalks in addition to good grain quality.

103/101 Day Stealth-1503 - Features tremendous yield kick as it is a somewhat lighter, improved version of Stealth-1401 with the added feature of a complete kernel fill all the way to the tip of the ear. This hybrid also features excellent fall health. Contains superior stalks and roots. A shorter statured hybrid that loves higher plant populations.

105/102 Day Stealth-1005Bt - This YieldGard hybrid is adapted to a wide range of environmental management practices. A very clean, attractive shorter hybrid with very high yield potential. Excellent early season growth with very attractive fall appearance in part thanks to its good gray leaf spot tolerance.

105/102 Day New Stealth-1105/RR - The Roundup Ready trait is featured in this large, robust plant type. This hybrid also features open husks with fast drydown. Features good gray leaf spot tolerance.

105/102 Day Stealth-1605 - Tremendous yield potential present in this hybrid. Features very good gray leaf spot tolerance as well as very fast drydown. We believe this will be a breakthrough hybrid and everyone who can use this maturity, should plant this product.

107/104 Day Stealth-1607

4-H Odyssey - The Quest Begins

From June 18-21, twelve Washington County 4-H youth delegates joined counties from all over Wisconsin at the State 4-H Youth Conference in Madison. They stayed in the dorms at the UW Madison campus.

Each delegate took classes that ranged from water sports to computer technology to animal science. Each class was fun and exciting and was very informational. They also attended assemblies each night, which were informative and fun.

One of the classes was windsurfing. It was a very windy day and it was a little cold outside but once you got started it didn't matter. The class was so much fun that even if you didn't get up you could still enjoy yourself trying. The classes also focused on teamwork, for example in windsurfing, everyone would help put the sail together and if you needed a push someone was always glad to help.

The delegates also got to see the Capital, the Kohl's Center, walk down State Street and see many parts of Madison. They also got to experience what it is like living on campus.

All the delegates had a great time, whether it was meeting new people or going out for a late night pizza snack. They would like to thank all the sponsors: Washington County Bankers Association, West Bend Kiwanis and Washington Co. Leaders Association and chaperones: Linda Feutz and Ron Held which helped to make this awesome trip possible.

Experts Call for Worldwide Sturgeon Society

OSHKOSH -- Mindful that time's running out for the world's sturgeon, organizers of an international symposium held in Oshkosh last week called on their colleagues to form a worldwide society dedicated to conserving this fish.

Sturgeon, an ancient family of species which has outlived the dinosaurs, now face extinction in many places as a result of human activity.

"There's a need and an opportunity now for a worldwide society for the conservation of sturgeon," says Ron Bruch, a Department of Natural Resources senior fisheries biologist and lead organizer of the Fourth International Symposium on Sturgeon.

That symposium, held for the first time on U.S. soil, drew 400 scientists, natural resource managers, aquaculturists and conservation club members to Oshkosh.

"The sturgeon population has a need for coordinated management and coordinated research and there's a need for scientists to communicate," Bruch says. "This was the largest gathering of sturgeon interests ever assembled, so there's an opportunity to launch such an organization at an absolutely critical time in sturgeon research and management."

Harald Rosenthal, a marine science professor at Germany's University of Kiel and organizer of the previous sturgeon symposium in Piacenza, Italy, told his colleagues they have an ethical and moral obligation to be concerned about the fate of the world's sturgeon stocks, not just those in their own waters. And they had better act fast.

"It's not five minutes to 12, it's 12 (o'clock)," Rosenthal says. "Either we break down the political, bureaucratic and other barriers and cooperate or we lose the wild stocks of sturgeon."

Rosenthal, Bruch, and other members of the steering committee for this Oshkosh conference, Fred Binkowski, a senior scientist with the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee's Water Institute and Serge Doroshov, a professor with the University of California-Davis, presented symposium attendees with a proposed calling for the worldwide society and asking for attendees to submit comments to be discussed later.

The proposal calls for a World Sturgeon Conservation Society organization that would not compete with the handful of existing regional sturgeon conservation organizations, but would be an umbrella group. Such a group would help bring regional and local sturgeon conservation groups together to exchange scientific information, address issues common to the world's sturgeon species, harmonize efforts to identify research for the future about this relatively lightly studied species, and help give external support to countries with sturgeon stocks in a period of dramatic social, political and economic changes within those countries, Rosenthal says.

Such an organization also would give a home to the symposium, which has occurred in a different location every four years and has come about largely through the dedication of one or two individuals, Rosenthal says. The symposium has grown and it's continued, but "we do not want to leave it to chance."

Sturgeon are one of the two oldest animals on Earth; they have lurked in the Northern Hemisphere's lakes and rivers for the last 100 to 200 million years. There are 24 different species of sturgeon, and their ranges and populations have shrunk considerably during the last 200 years as overharvest, pollution, dam-building and other habitat losses have taken their toll.

The species are endangered or threatened in many countries and states, and are perhaps most publicly in peril in the Caspian Sea basin, which supplies 90 percent of the global caviar trade. Poaching has flourished since the Soviet Union break up in the early 1990s and sturgeon stocks have plummeted.

Bruch said the organizing committee collected written responses from participants and discussed them with the full group on Friday at the symposium's concluding session. "We'll review input on the merits of such a society and suggestions on organizational structure," he said. "We're anticipating there will be strong support for the creation of such a society and we are prepared to move forward using the comments of the participants."

The symposium was held at the Oshkosh Convention Center, on the shores of Lake Winnebago, which is home to the largest self-sustaining lake sturgeon population in the Northern Hemisphere.

Sponsors of the Fourth International Symposium on Sturgeon included Sturgeon for Tomorrow, the Great Lakes Fishery Trust, the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Great Lakes WATER Institute, University of Wisconsin Sea Grant Institute, the Menominee Indian Tribe, the University of California-Davis and RL&L Environmental Services.

Fall Turkey Season Permits Up Statewide; Decrease in Some Units

MADISON -- A total of 71,600 permits will be available statewide for the 2001 Wisconsin fall turkey hunting season, an increase from 68,000 permits available for the 2000 fall season.

Although there was an overall increase in total permits, eight wild turkey management zones saw a decrease in permits available from the preliminary permit levels to reduce hunting pressure on hens following last year's poor recruitment, and what's likely to be another year of low recruitment because of the cold, wet June. The zones with a decrease in permits from preliminary levels include zones 4, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 17 and 23.

The Department of Natural Resources Turkey Advisory Committee sets final fall turkey permit levels after considering hunter interference rates, previous fall permit levels, recent spring harvest levels, and predicted spring turkey production, explains Nancy Frost, assistant DNR upland wildlife ecologist.

After considering all these objectives, the committee decided to slightly reduce the number of permits this fall from the preliminary numbers set this past winter, Frost said.

The final 2001 spring turkey harvest total was 39,161, with a 26% hunter success rate. Adult gobblers made up about 80% of this spring's harvest, higher than normal.

"This increase in adult gobbler kills may be due to the lower-than-average recruitment last year from poor weather conditions," Frost said. "An alternative explanation is that adult toms were abundantly available this spring due to good recruitment two and three years ago."

Biologists believe recruitment also will likely be low this year due to the wet and cold June. Because of the uncertainty surrounding turkey recruitment recently, Frost said, the committee felt it was best to be cautious in setting fall permit levels and in considering spring season expansions. The turkey committee conservatively reduced the number of permits available in several of the new zones in order to reduce hunting pressure on hens.

With this information and interpretation, the committee also set preliminary turkey permit levels for the spring 2002 season. Total permits statewide once again increased, to 156,240 compared to a spring 2001 permit level of 150,120. In most of the zones, the permit levels stayed the same as last year's.

The fall 2001 season runs from October 13 through November 11 for all permit holders. The deadline for applications for the fall hunt is August 10. The application for the spring 2002 hunt will be available in October and will be due December 10. Applications and the required $3 permit application sticker may be purchased at all DNR service centers and ALIS vendors.

WIAA Board of Control Approves Helmet Requirement in Pole Vault

STEVENS POINT, Wis -- The Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association Board of Control approved the recommendation to require the use of helmets in the pole vault competition for the 2002 track and field season and took action on several Advisory Council recommendations involving the sports of gymnastics, hockey, basketball, and wrestling at its Annual Summer Meetings in Green Lake, Wis., yesterday.

The Board approved the Medical Advisory Committee's recommendation to require the protective headgear by unanimous vote. The committee in making the recommendation believed the risk and concern for severe injuries warranted the action. The standards for the headgear will be developed and reviewed by the Medical Advisory Committee in December.

The Board approved the recommendation to have two teams qualify for the gymnastics State Championships from each sectional in Division 2. The emphasis of the decision focused on continuing to provide opportunities for girls during the winter season and maintain or enhance the number of participants in the sport.

In other action involving gymnastics, the Board returned a recommendation to require a minimum of 20 school practices for individuals to the Coaches Advisory Committee for further review and modification.

Permission to experiment with 17-minute periods in hockey during the 2001-02 season was also granted by the Board. Currently, a hockey game includes three 15-minute periods. Other Board action in the sport included approval to allow schools to schedule sectional quarterfinal games on Thursday or Friday and the approval to require WIAA licensed goal judges for all sectional final games.

In basketball, the Board approved the recommendation to continue the coaching box for all varsity games for the 2001-02 season, and in wrestling, the Board voted to delay action on implementing a 215-pound weight division until the National Federation of High Schools completes a review of all the current weight divisions.

The WIAA oversees interscholastic athletic programs for more than 490 senior high schools and 153 junior high/middle level schools in its membership. It will sponsor 25 championship tournament series in 2001-02. For more information, please contact the WIAA office at (715) 344-8580.
