School Board Member Schulte Facing Possible Recall

John Schulte

By Nicole Rawley
STATESMAN STAFF
nkuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

John Schulte may lose his seat on the Kewaskum School Board less than a year sooner than anticipated. Denise Kenworthy, of Kewaskum, filed a Statement of Intent to Circulate Recall Petition with the Kewaskum School District on Monday.

The statement intends to recall John Schulte, who is currently in the last year of his term, "because every person involved in the education of our children should be a model of moral and ethical responsibility, we (The Recall John Schulte Committee) believe Mr. John Schulte should be recalled from his position on the Kewaskum School Board on account of his failure to be forthcoming with information regarding the vehicular death of a young man - a failure which prolonged the suffering of the family and hindered the investigation by police authorities."

The committee, led by John and Denise Kenworthy, will be responsible for collecting approximately 1,500 signatures within 30 days. The 1,500 figure comes from 25% of the district voter turnout in the 2000 Presidential Election. If enough signatures are collected the School Board Clerk verifies that all are valid. Once the clerk gives her approval, a recall election is then held, at the district's cost, on the Tuesday of the sixth week after the approval. If he would be recalled, the board would then appoint someone to carry out his term unless there was somebody to run against him in the recall election.

This recall election stems from an incident in Dodge County where EMT Moose Balian hit and killed 17 year old Jimmy Gengler. Schulte then fixed Balian's truck after Balian admitted to Schulte that he had hit the young man.

Schulte was offered immunity from prosecution in exchange for his cooperation with officers investigating the case.

The mother of the boy Susan Gengler-Liermann of Watertown stated that she would like to support the recall in any way she can.

In an exclusive interview with Schulte Tuesday, he talked as openly as he could about the situation. He stated that when he was first approached by Balian and his sister, he was told that Balian hit a deer and wanted the truck fixed so his wife didn't find out. Once Schulte saw the damage to the truck he stated his "wheels started turning" and he asked Balian if he was the driver in the fatal hit and run accident. Balian stated he was.

Schulte stated he then proceeded to try and convince Balian to turn himself in and that there were too many things pointing in his direction. Schulte came right out and asked him if he could live with it, to which Balian replied, "What choice do I have?"

Schulte then decided to fix the vehicle because he was afraid that Balian was suicidal, and he felt that he couldn't let that happen either.

Schulte told Balian upfront that he would use his normal channels to get the parts for the vehicle and that the police would come to Schulte shortly. Balian stated he understood. As Schulte worked on the vehicle he felt extremely stressed for the sake of the mother and family going through the ordeal.

Once Schulte finished the vehicle, he had been led to believe that Balian had confessed to the accident approximately one to two weeks before the authorities came to Schulte because Balian had gone to the Dodge County District Attorney. He had saved all of the old parts from the vehicle in question and took pictures to turn over to the authorities once they arrived with a search warrant.

Schulte stated that he left authorities such an open trail that there was no reason they shouldn't have come to him within ten days and that if he had wanted to cover this up, he could have, but he didn't hide a thing. Schulte also stated that he knew that authorities were looking specifically for Balian while he was working on the vehicle.

Once the police did catch up with Schulte for questioning he stated that he didn't feel inclined to tell them anything, but he did. He told them everything. Schulte asked a State Patrol officer why they hadn't come to him sooner, to which the officer replied, "I'm not at liberty to say."

Schulte said he has been faced with the question "Why didn't you report him?" more times than any one person can count. He stated that he did his job openly and that sooner or later he knew that authorities would be able to find Balian without having to actually turn him in. He further stated, when somebody is having a breakdown in front of you, what are you supposed to do? An unnamed law enforcement official told Schulte that under the circumstances he would have done the same thing.

In conclusion, Schulte stated that he did not think that Balian even knew he hit the teenager initially. The young man had no lights or reflectors on his bike. He also stated, "It's not as cut and dry as people think. I had reasons for doing this."

Schulte also stated that as of now, he has not been asked by anybody to resign, but had already considered not running after his term was over in April, 2004.

Balian's case will go to court again on July 14 and Schulte asked that people wait to make a judgement until then.

Board of Appeals Upholds Decision on Pig

By Kim Survis
STAFF WRITER
ksurvis@kewaskumstatesman.com

On Tuesday April 15, the Kewaskum Board of Appeals met to review a case involving a Vietnamese potbellied pig that is currently living within the village. Scott Konzal and Greg Bernau, the owners of the potbellied pig, received a noncompliance notice in January, stating that it "appeared" as though they were in violation of the residential zoning ordinance. In February, they received a second noncompliance notice, and were advised of the Board of Appeals.

Ted Johnson, the attorney representing the owners of the pig, asked the Board of Appeals to dismiss the notice of noncompliance. He also argued that the residential zoning ordinance does not specifically address what animals can be kept within the village. At the hearing, Konzal and Bernau read several letters from federal agencies that explained potbellied pigs are exotic pets, not livestock.

The Board of Appeals then made a motion to move into closed session to deliberate. After about thirty minutes the open session reconvened, and the Board announced their decision. Gerald Kiefer, the village attorney said that the Board would not dismiss the notice of noncompliance because it was without merit. Next, the Board of Appeals announced their unanimous decision to uphold the current zoning ordinance that does not allow the pig to stay.

Konzal and Bernau said that they were not giving up on their pig. On Monday April 21, Greg Bernau appeared on the Alan Eisenberg radio show. Eisenberg, upholds the same beliefs as the owners of the pig, and is ready to take this issue nationally.

Konzal and Bernau agreed that their motto is "keep the pig, remove the board". They plan to file papers requesting a review of the Plan Commission's decision in circuit court.

In My Opinion: Stewardship Funding

As the State of Wisconsin continues its journey back to fiscal prosperity, there have been numerous suggestions, both good and bad, concerning state funded programs that could be eliminated or scaled back. When Governor Doyle presented his proposed budget on February 18, 2003, there were some decent conservative ideas, such as the elimination of an ever-growing state bureaucracy and the thought of consolidation of state and local services that are funded by the taxpayers of Wisconsin. On the flip side, there were a number of programs that if eliminated would have negative impacts on Wisconsin, such as the elimination of in-home autism treatment for Wisconsin's young, and the elimination of TEACH funding which would effect a large percentage of schools in my legislative district.

However, as I began to closely analyze the governor's proposed state budget there was one specific provision that I unfortunately did not see funding cut, our state's ability to purchase land. Stewardship Funding is one of the key areas of our state budget that could be drastically scaled back or eliminated. According to Wisconsin's non-partisan Legislative Fiscal Bureau, as of July 1, 2002, the DNR controlled a total of 1,408,730 acres of land, which represents approximately 4% of Wisconsin's total land area. In addition, the Federal Government controls 1.8 million acres in Wisconsin. Further, the Fiscal Bureau has stated that the DNR controls properties in 71 of the state's 72 counties ranging from less than one-tenth of an acre to more than 168,000 acres. The DNR has publicly stated their estimated goal of total state owned land to be approximately 1,825,6000 acres.

Stewardship Funding was reauthorized within the 1999 Wisconsin State budget. Under that program, the state is authorized an annual bonding allotment for fiscal years 2000-2001 to 2009-2010. In the first two years, bonding allotments were to be held at $46 million a year with an increase to $60 million a year annually beginning with this current fiscal year. More plainly stated, state government has been authorized to spend up to $60 million a year on stewardship funding until the end of fiscal year 2009-2010.

The DNR's 2002-2003 expenditure plan estimates that they will spend $37,750,000 of the total $60 million on land acquisition, with the remainder being used for DNR property development and assistant grants to local government which allows local units of government to purchase land for park and natural areas.

The DNR has set a goal to purchase an additional 400,000 to a half million acres of land by the end of the stewardship program. With that said, the remaining funding that the state has earmarked for bonding is approximately $400,000,000. It is undeniable that Wisconsin must protect our beloved natural areas. Our state lands serve as tourism areas, educational examples, and natural wildlife habitat. However, it is my belief that with 1,408,730 acres of land already owned by the state, government would be more fiscally responsible by drastically cutting the stewardship program. $400,000,000 would go a long way in eliminating a $3.2 billion shortfall within state government. It is more fiscally responsible that we protect and preserve industry and the taxpayers of Wisconsin before government is allowed to re-open its pocketbook.

Noise Problems Topic at Scott March Meeting

By Bernadette Mondloch
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT

The Town of Scott Board of Supervisors may have found the solution to the noise problem caused by motorcycles on Crooked Lake. Next year Tom Boerger, from Jackson along with several motorcycle friends has offered to speak to and work with those responsible for the weekend disturbances. Boerger, himself a biker, approached the board saying that he is acquainted with some of the bikers and will speak to them in an attempt to assist in fixing the problem.

After viewing a 2003 Chevrolet 3/4 ton van which the Batavia First Responders has selected to replace an older inadequate vehicle, the town board agreed to provide additional funding for it.

The purchase price of the van is $33,826.45. The town has been putting away a designated amount of tax money each year and up to the end of 2002 have accumulated $23,000 in the fire department contingency fund.

Several pieces of equipment are needed to completely outfit the vehicle. This includes insulation, painting letters on the door, a light bar, GPS system, backup signals and siren.

First Responders fund raisers have netted $4,800, and $6,026.45 of additional funding.

The town might be experiencing a re-evaluation in 2004. The state requires that assessed values must be within 100% of market value, allowing 10% up or down. During 1999 Scott was assessed at 89.28%, 2000- 92%, 2001- .99%, and 2002- 74%. If not completed by 2004 the town will be monitored by the Department of Revenue and if nothing is completed by 2005 the state will have the work done and the town will be billed for it.

The board has three options to pick from in deciding how they wish to spend on the project:

- ◆ Full re-evaluation-inspection in and out for all 726 houses @ $70.00 per house.

- ◆ Walk around- exterior only at $42.00 per house.

- ◆ Market update- Computer adjusted valuation according to market values.

A representative from Grotta Appraisals felt that the third choice is not sufficient to do according to the records which are on hand. His firm will not be available until October 2003.

The decision will be made at the April meeting.

A conditional use permit was approved for Renae Harris to operate a dog boarding kennel. The building on Cherry Hill Road will be a converted 30x40 foot machine shed. It will house 10 dogs. The indoor kennels will have walls, floor to ceiling with glass doors on each kennel. The building will be air conditioned in summer and heated in winter.

The main condition placed upon the project is that dogs shall not be allowed to annoy the neighbors by continued barking.

Firemen continue to be concerned about the lack of displayed addresses (fire numbers) throughout the town. The Sheriff's department does not enforce the rule on property numbers.

The number should be displayed on the right of the driveway easily seen by the fire department personnel. For those who have lost or had their numbers destroyed, they are available at the county administration building on 508 New York Avenue, at the planning office.

A bid from Lynn's Recycling, West Bend, of $2,100 for the paper baler has been accepted.

An increase for several building inspection fees was approved.

Village Board to Ask For Letters of Intent for Vacant Seat on Board

By Jessica Fladvid
jfladvid@kewaskumstatesman.com

Kewaskum's Board of Trustees took action to allow summer part-time employees for the DPW/WPC departments at their meeting Monday evening.

For the four available positions, there will be three returning employees and one new. The Village received 23 applications for the positions, 14 of which were from the Village.

Authorization was also given to hire part-time swim program summer employees. Eight lifeguards are generally required at the park, but only four lifeguard applications have been received to date. A search will continue to fill the open positions, if lifeguards are not found there will have to be a limited capacity at the park.

Since the Town of Kewaskum has approved working together on acquiring streetlights for the USH 45 project, decisions are being made as to what type of posts should be used for the project.

After some discussion about the pros and cons of fiberglass or aluminum poles, it was decided that the 29 fixtures needed to illuminate the new USH 45 would be made of fiberglass which will save $11,000 off the allowed budget.

The board also discussed what would be done to fill the vacant Trustee seat that was left open when Matt Heiser was elected Village President.

Village Administrator, Dan Schmidt will be placing a letter in The Statesman notifying the public of the available position. Any person interested in the position may send a letter of intent to the Board. The Board will then appoint the most qualified person to the vacant seat.

Volunteer Center Hosts Computer Recycling

The Volunteer Center of Washington County is hosting a Used Computer Collection for those of you who are doing your spring cleaning and finding old computer equipment. Citizens and companies can, for a small handling fee, drop-off any used computer equipment they have to be recycled. There is a nominal handling fee for participating in this program, and the fee structure is as follows:

- $5 each for monitors, computer CPU's, printers, laptops and scanners
- $2 each for keyboards
- Mice, cables and external drives are no charge

Computer Recycling is planned from Wednesday, May 7th through Monday, May 12th at the Volunteer Center offices in West Bend at 239 N. Main Street.

The times for drop off of equipment that would normally be discarded (such as monitors, CPUs, keyboards, printers, etc.) are as follows: Thursday, May 8th, 9am - 6pm; Friday, May 9th, 9am - 4pm;

Saturday, May 10th, 9am - 12 noon; Monday, May 12th 9am - 12 noon.

The Computer Recycling

Program, run through the Wisconsin Department of Corrections, is available to all Washington County residents and businesses.

Old computers and computer systems are refurbished and sold at a low cost to nonprofit and government agencies for use in educational and training programs.

Conditional Use Permit For Sunburst Denied

Events, Appointments Govern Town of Kewaskum Board

By Lisa Lickel
llickel@kewaskumstatesman.com

In a surprise turn of events, the Kewaskum Town Board did not issue a conditional use permit to the Sunburst Ski Area to host temporary camping in conjunction with certain summer time events.

The request to host campers for the Harley celebration in September had grown. The Corporation asked for a permit to host advanced notice events throughout the summer and fall to other groups, which may have included scouts and other corporate activities besides the mountain bike hill climb sponsored by Sunburst.

The motion to issue the permit died for a lack of second despite the recommendation of the Plan Commission which met earlier in the evening to approve the permit.

In other action, the annual road survey will take place this Saturday, April 26, in the morning, and the Board of Review date was set for Wednesday, May 21 from 6:00 - 8:00 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Several community and board members were appointed for various committees: David Dorn for the Board of Appeals, Vicki Heideman, Tom Schoofs and Jim Koepke were reappointed to the Plan Commission, Mark Heinecke, Sandy Stern and Bill Butzlaff were approved for the Board of Appeals, and Donald Stern for the Administration Review Appeals. Chairman Mike Lettow was approved as Weed Commissioner.

An ordinance was passed to fix the speed limit on Highland Drive at 55 mph. Road resurfacing will take place this summer on County Line Road by Scott Construction, and on E. Moraine Drive by Payne and Dolan.

A citizen complaint of excessive vehicles recalled the Town Board to follow the rules of the town. "We've been a little lenient over the years, and it's time to address the issue," said Chairman Lettow. No unlicensed vehicles are currently allowed on property in the town. It was decided to take inventory during the road survey on Saturday, and if needed to send a courtesy letter and notice to noncompliant property owners.

Remembering Jack

Jack will always be remembered by his smile...

*Don't grieve for me, for now
I'm free! I follow the plan
God laid for me.*

The saddest thing sometimes is thinking about what we've lost, be it possession, family or friend. Grieving is best done communally.

"Where does one begin to try and sort out all the memories of a great leader and friend like Jack Theusch, and all the things he did for the Town of Farmington?" asks Farmington clerk, Joanne Oneska.

"He was from one of the original families who came to settle Boltonville," says Norbert Dettmann, former Town of Farmington chairman. "It was a tradition of the Rileys to serve the public. It gets in your blood to be loyal to your new country."

The matriarch of the Riley family emigrated to New York from Ireland in the first part of the nineteenth century, and moved west with her children after the death of her husband. They purchased land and farmed around this area for the last century and a half. Besides working the land, they donated the property for St. John of God Church and grounds, where the Riley and Theusch family members rest. Several generations have served in the military and in state and local government. It only seemed natural for Jack to take a position serving the community he was born, raised and played in, farmed and volunteered in the fire department.

*I could not stay another day, To love, to laugh,
to work or play;*

At a fairly young age he joined the Washington County Sheriff's Department and in his early thirties was elected as Town of Farmington Chairman, a position he held two times. During his tenure as Chairman the town built the current hall and buildings located on Highway 144. Prior to that, meetings were held in individual's homes.

He instituted the recycling program first at the town landfill site by 1984, then by hiring a contractor to pick up in the town and closing the landfill site. Jack got the summer recreation program under way, and helped organize the transition of all zoning from county to local town level in 1986, which included creating the new positions of building inspector, zoning administrator, setting up a plan commission and the board of appeals, and ending the job of constable.

*May your neighbors respect
you, Troubles neglect you,
The angels protect you, And Heaven accept you.*

-Old Irish Blessing
During this time Jack's career in County law enforcement was growing, and when he was elected County Sheriff, he resigned as Town Chairman. Jim Dieringer remembers Jack as a very fair person. "He personally asked me to run as chairman. It shocked me. I asked him, 'who, me?' I don't know anything about running a township." He said that he knew me well enough and would do a good job. He had to resign in December [to run his campaign as Sheriff], and his term [as Chairman] wasn't up until April." Jim recalls that his sense of fairness was so established that at the December meeting he appointed a supervisor as chairman and Jim as supervisor so that Jim wouldn't run against the other declared candidate for chairman as an incumbent.

"He was a caring person for the town. He was conservative...and strong-willed in doing what he thought was right. He inspired people. I remember when we were coming up with a land use plan and people thought we should go to 35-acre divisions, he asked us if we owned this piece of land and wanted to retire and sell it but couldn't because of the division zone, how would we feel?"

stay that way.*

And if my parting has left a void, Then fill it with remembered joy.

"His knowledge of the community and town government is what we'll miss the most," Jim continues. "When I came in and didn't know anything, I'd call him at work and he'd know the answer right off. How do we record that kind of knowledge?"

Oneska writes, "Even with his busy schedule, he always had time to answer my questions. (He was the one who talked me into running for Town Clerk back in 1981 - 'basically, you only have to take the minutes.' Yeah, right Jack, as I soon found out!!) He always had me hold the agenda open as long as possible to accommodate people so that they would not have to wait for the following month's meeting."

"Jack and I served on the Farmington Town Board and the Planning Commission together. He was a "straight shooter" and treated everyone fairly. He knew how to get things done," says Joe Enright.

A friendship shared, a laugh, a kiss... Ah yes, these things I, too, shall miss.

My life's been full, I've savoured much:

Good times, good friends, a loved-one's touch.

from "Remembered Joy"
One of the favorite things chairman Jack introduced to Farmington was the recreation league, born out of his own love of play. The summer traveling baseball and softball teams it encourages today is part of a lasting tradition in Farmington.

"Baseball was one of our families' passions," says Joe. "My father was manager of the Boltonville team in the Rainbow League. Jack's dad, Greg Theusch, and his uncles, Lawrence and Leonard "Butch" Theusch were team members. Jack and I carried on the tradition. We played in high school, for Gehl Company softball team, and Land 'O Lakes hardball. Jack was a great catcher and a good hitter. He was fast!!"

There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under heaven:

A time to be born and a time to die, a time to plant and a time to uproot...

Ecclesiastes 3:1-2

When I think of Jack, it's as a farmer. He and Marcia and a sister sold us his aunt's house, and I wondered what these people were about when they went out and dug up saint whoever from the back yard. Marcia had her pigs in the barn across the road which made my husband who was raised on a hog farm feel right at home. I didn't

Kewaskum C of C To Hold Appreciation Dinner

By Andrew Kuehl
EDITORIAL STAFF
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce will again hold its annual Appreciation Dinner and Style Show on Wednesday evening, April 30 at the Amerahn Ballroom.

Wendi Dreher along with other members of the Chamber of Commerce have an exciting evening planned for attendees of the 13th annual dinner.

The show originally started out as a secretary's day banquet recalls Dreher. "We had two sittings and that wasn't enough. We also had people who could not get away from work to attend. That prompted the committee to hold the event in the evening and at a larger location."

The event, like last year, is being catered as a sit down dinner by J.O.'s Restaurant of Kewaskum with a dessert provided by Door County Cheesecake Bakery, also of Kewaskum.

The cost is $15 per person and tickets can be purchased at Auto Body Dynamics, 1235 Fond du Lac Avenue, Hair on Main, 227 Main Street and St. Francis Bank, 1225 Fond du Lac Avenue. There is limited seating, so Dreher encourages you to purchase tickets early.

According to Jackie Burtard, who is busy collecting and organizing the door prizes and raffles, attendees will have a chance at a spa package from In Excelsis Day Spa in West Bend, donated by St. Francis Bank; a garden package donated by Heberer Brothers Construction, $50 gift certificate to Dress Barn in West Bend from West Bend Savings Bank, $100 cash given by the Kewaskum Chamber, a weekend getaway, and jewelry.

Washington County Fair Releases Entertainment for 2003 Fair

Washington County Fair officials have released the country acts for the 2003 Fair, scheduled for July 23-28, according to Sandy Lang, Fair Manager.

On Thursday evening, "Neal McCoy" will be performing on the Main Stage. Neal, along with his wife Melinda, founded the East Texas Angel Network (ETAN) which provides financial assistance to families with children suffering from serious illnesses. Together they have raised almost 1.8 million dollars since its inception. Mark your calendar for Thursday evening, July 24 to see this energetic Texan with a smile from ear to ear.

On Friday evening one of country music's biggest crossover successes, legend "Kenny Rogers" will take over the Main Stage. In the span of nearly five decades, Rogers has recorded 60 albums, which have sold over 100 million records worldwide. Mark your calendar for Friday, July 25 to hear some great songs such as "Lucille," "Coward of the County," "She Believes in Me," "We've Got Tonight," "Islands in the Stream," "The Gambler," "Don't Fall in Love with a Dreamer," and "Through the Years."

Rock entertainment is scheduled for Saturday evening, however, confirmation on an act has not been received at the time of this release.

Other regional acts booked for the Entertainment Tent include "Oil Can Harry," "K.B.'s Midlife Crisis," "Pork and the Havana Ducks," "Mount Olive" and "Crossfire."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the American workers

It seems like America is taking the roll of feeding the world, protecting the world from corrupt governments, and soon rebuilding the world, all at the expense of the American people (workers).

Countries around the world rely on us to buy products they make. Products that at one time were made here in the U.S. Where are these countries now? Where is their military support? Where is their monetary support? What is Mexico, Japan, China, or any other country that we import products from, doing to help us fight this war against this corrupt government.

I think it is time for the American people to wake up. American and British troops are being fired upon by weapons and ammunition made in France. So lets stop buying items made in France. Lets stop buying things made in Germany. Lets start supporting ourselves. Let start buying products MADE IN AMERICA. I know it might be hard to do but if when we go to a department store we start asking for American maybe they will start buying American.

Mike Berger
Kewaskum

Dear Taxpayers:

Beware! You may be next! The Village Board of Appeals upheld Mr. Gordon Hoffman's interpretation of the pet ordinances in the Village of Kewaskum. According to Mr. Hoffman, the properties that are zoned residential R-1 or R-2 do not state a dog, cat, guinea pig, potbelly pig, bird, fish, hamster, etc are allowed in those zoned properties. If you own any animal or if an animal should happen to come into your yard, you could receive a noncompliance notice from the Village of Kewaskum.

This may sound a bit extreme, but this is what the Village Board of Appeals told the owners of a potbelly pig on Tuesday evening. The village seems to think they can violate their residents right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. According to the village attorney, the state and US Constitution have no merit when it comes to what people own.

On April 1, the residents made a clear statement to the village they did not want their tax dollars to go to the school board to build a new school. At least they had a say in this matter because they will not have any say how their tax dollars will be spent fighting the ridiculous lawsuit owners of PI-G are filing against the village. The village attorney seems to think he can spend taxpayer money any way he wants!

As taxpayers, we do have a say! Let the village know that spending money fighting a losing battle is not wise. Let them know each elected official is responsible for making sure our fine village spends money wisely or as taxpayers, we will do something about it. Remind them those who abused their power in Milwaukee were voted out! Let them know government cannot abuse their power violating peoples rights, remember you could be next!

Sincerely,
Gregory R. Bernau
and Scott D. Konzal

mind, either – until our first Easter in our new home when the wind was blowing from the east. Thankfully, I didn't have to convince my family too hard that the eau du pig outside was long-remembered from the odors emanating from inside.

Before the fifty-five acres around us was devoted to raising houses, Jack and Ryan raised corn and hay here. They would come up the road on tractors, with Erin and other friends coming along behind. There is less land available for rental, and Ryan, 25, has adapted with a custom baling business. Employed as a tool and die maker, Ryan's first love will always be farming, and he plans to carry on as best as he can as the fifth generation to farm the property.

Even though his day job kept the Sheriff busy, "Jack was happiest when he was working on his farm or sitting in the machine shed at Ken Enright's farm talking about farming and having a cold brew. Every problem from 'when to start planting oats?' to 'should George Bush send troops to Iraq?' was discussed," Joe Enright shares.

"I have known Jack my whole life. As neighbors, we helped each other with farm chores. I particularly remember the threshing parties and the delicious food the women would make for the crews. Helen, Jack's mother, made the best pies. We always got our eggs from her for 35 cents a dozen. Of course Jack wouldn't eat any thing that flew or swam. 'Well done' hamburgers or casseroles were his staples," Joe recalls from childhood.

Greg Bopes, Jack's nephew from Iowa writes, "Uncle Jack was the hardest working person that I have ever known - especially where I knew him the best, on the farm. What I know about farming, he taught me, as he taught Ryan and Erin. Whenever I would come up to Wisconsin for a holiday or for a family event I would help him and Ryan on whatever they were doing and I learned something new from him every time."

Jack was also a fixture of the Boltonville Fire

Department, "although over the past several years, when there a fire Jack was there with his Sheriff hat on," Marcia tells me. "He was always serving at the picnics, though."

Deep peace of the flowing air to you

Deep peace of the quiet earth to you...

Deep peace of Christ to you.

Old Irish Blessing

"It's too soon to know all the decisions that need to be worked on, paper work and so on," Marcia says. Daughter Erin, 22 finishing an accounting degree at Marian College, keeps busy with her daughter, Tara. "It's hard on all of us, but we have friends and family who are there for us. Many neighbors have shared stories with the kids that we weren't aware of, kindnesses that weren't part of his responsibilities."

"It's not often you get to meet a person like Jack, and I am privileged to have been one of his many friends, and also to have worked with him all those years for the Town of Farmington," Joanne Oneska says. "My daughter Jenny and I will never forget his compassion as we walked through some of life's darkest hours. He had a knack for making you smile when everyday things seemed overwhelming. And what a practical joker he was – although I think there were more pranks pulled on him by his many friends than he was able to get away with!"

"He was a true friend in every sense. Jack was the brunt of so many of our practical jokes and he enjoyed paying us back. We will miss teasing him and seeing that infectious smile," finishes Ann Enright. So we shall.

*And until we meet again,
May God hold you in the

"P.S. To all you who knew Jack well, we can only pray that there are hockey-puck burgers in heaven!!"

Back On the Water

Hello Friends

I have not slept on the ground or ice, in a cabin or on a boat for four weeks. Not since 1990 have I gone for such a stretch. This back week, I ended my recovery layover. I mentally needed it to end as much as my body needed it to take place. When the day comes that this outdoor adventurer needs to permanently retire, the adjustment will be very difficult.

Friday, April 22
High 71, Low 25

The Fox River begins in a vast marsh near Cambria in Columbia County. It flows north, emptying into Lake Michigan at Green Bay. I paddled the entire Fox back in '92. I began that trip accompanied by my golden retrievers, Star and Ben. For the first two days, I wore chest waders and pulled my canoe down a very narrow creek.

Today, accompanied by my 4-month-old golden, Ice, (Ben and Star's grandson), I would be fishing for walleye. I was on a well-known stretch of river between Montello and Lake Puckaway in Marquette County, although I had seen this piece of the river only once before. My plan was to spend at least 24 hours in my boat and try to realistically figure out the walleye.

Yesterday, I learned the Department of Natural Resources had unfortunately removed the dam on this stretch of the river. It had been a well-known honey hole for a great many locals. The removal of the dam and incredibly dry spring weather has the Fox looking more like a trout stream than a river.

Once my 14-foot boat was loaded with enough gear to last a week, Ice and I were off exploring. My brother, Mike, works with a fellow named Darwin Barron. Darwin spends a lot of time fishing this piece of the river. I was told to find Darwin's boat, and he would give me some tips on the walleye fishing.

I headed down river and soon found Darwin. He had caught a 27-incher earlier in the week but was not having much luck today. Not a good sign.

Darwin told me to head towards Montello and work the fork in the river. A half hour later, when I made it to the spot, Darwin proudly showed me a 22-incher he had just landed.

That was all I needed to see. On my fourth cast, I felt all I needed to feel. A good fish hit my purple 1/4 ounce jig. Unfortunately, my lunker turned out to be a 3-pound sucker. For myself, I had just won the game. I was back on the water, and I was staying the night.

Towards dark, having landed only a sucker and a small northern, I headed toward Grand River Marsh. I wanted to find a honey hole for the night as far away from human beings as I could get.

I chose a spot right next to a beaver hut and dropped anchor. Without trying, I went on a tour down memory lane accompanied by my pup and about 50 million beavers. When I had canoed the Fox before, I spent a night in a run down cabin that had no windows. Today, I saw that cabin for the first time since that journey.

Watching the vast marshlands of Grand Marsh and hundreds of ducks, geese and sandhill cranes, I had instant memories of dozens of water fowl hunts. I have spent many good times with family and friends on the big marsh. Twice I was in canoes that capsized, once with my dad and once with a good friend.

The experience with my friend was a cold one. Our clothes were frozen solid by the time we picked up and paddled to shore.

My dad was a great duck hunter. Before we were even back in the canoe, he was telling me, his 20-year-old son, that he was OK and could keep hunting. We limited out on both ducks and geese that day.

On this night, the fish were not hungry, and shortly after dark, it got cold. I unrolled my sleeping bag and laid it on the floor of the boat my family calls the Kingfisher.

My pup, Ice, was in heaven because he got to sleep next to his master. I was in heaven just being back on the water.

Best wealth and good health!

Indian Boys Ready For Spring Golf Season

Despite some inclement weather and inexperience, the local laddie linksters are looking forward to the 2003 spring boys golf season for many reasons. One reason is to build upon last year's junior varsity conference title and become more competitive at the varsity level. Another is to take advantage of the new precedent setting format utilized in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference this year.

This year promises to be significant in both the format and the competition. The league has switched from the traditional dual meets to the mini-tour event schedule, which involves all eight teams playing at the same site, time and most importantly, under the same conditions. Therefore, each team will only host one home event each season, for both the varsity and JV teams.

Members of the Kewaskum High School Boys Golf Team continue to plan and practice for an upcoming season of change and promise. Hopefully, the change will result from the leadership provided by the six returning seniors as well as six juniors competing for positions. With ten super sophomores vying for junior varsity and varsity team spots, the Indians should gradually improve throughout the season. The promise comes from having over twenty freshmen working to make the team through their efforts and skill development.

Eight team members return with some limited varsity experience whereas there are over ten individuals who contributed to winning the junior varsity league championship participating this season. Upperclassmen leading the young Indians for the 2003 season are seniors

Several sophomores battling for varsity letters are Justin Brockman, Luke Koch, Adam Lehnerz, Chad Peplinski, Josh Riebe and Jake Schweder. Many frosh are adding depth and intrasquad competition, such as, Ryan Brothen, Eric Cain, Austin Flanders, Jason Jahnke, Ben Johnson, Chad Pivoni, Josh Wolfenber and Zach Wollner. Overall, the roster of local linksters is filled with young hard working golfers with little experience between them.

During the past several years, the Kewaskum H.S. Boys Golf Program has carried a large roster, but it has not translated into much varsity success.

Therefore, the question that will be answered during this season will be the quality of the roster, play and competition. The new mini-tour format will give the team a better opportunity to develop, realize and adjust to the level of their conference competition and hopefully, improve throughout the spring season.

In conclusion, the Kewaskum High School Boys Golf Team members will be forced to develop and demonstrate maturity and confidence as the conference season progresses. In order to be successful this year, solid contributions will be necessary from seniors through freshmen. If the Indians defend their J.V. Title and finish in the top half of the varsity competition, then these young golfers will not only have demonstrated their eagerness but their quality as well.

Indians Successful at EWC Golf Mini-Tour Debut

On Thursday, April 17, all eight conference schools competed in the first ever mini-tournament event conducted on the RiverWoods Nine at Town and Country Club near Sheboygan Falls.

The purpose of the Mini-Tour schedule is for all league participants to golf at the same time, course and under the same conditions. This format should help to determine a more true, accurate and fair all-conference team as well as overall championship.

Sheboygan Falls High School organized and hosted the initial mini-tour event at Town and Country Club with a shotgun start of eighty (80) golfers at 3:30 p.m.

After score cards, hole assignments and local rules were distributed and clarified, ten participants representing each school played through cold (30's) temperatures, high (10-15 mph) winds, light rain and very challenging course conditions.

The ten little Indians representing Kewaskum High School needed to get off to a good start, in order to accomplish their goals of defending their J.V. Title and finishing in the top half of the varsity competition. At a pre-season meeting of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Boys Golf Coaches, the Kewaskum Indians were rated (predicted to finish) no higher than sixth place in the league this season.

However as the junior varsity players started to report their respective scores, it quickly became apparent that the young Indians had noticeably outplayed their JV competition capturing first place in the first ever mini-tour event in league history.

The lowest scores recorded by any of the forty jayvees was by K.H.S. frosh Chad Pivoni (44) and sophomore Josh Riebe (46).

The perennial powerhouse Plymouth Panthers totalled a tremendous varsity team score (159) under very trying conditions with the highly rated Kiel Raiders taking second (168). But the most pleasing and surprising development of the new season and format was the Kewaskum Indians capturing third with a solid (175) nine hole team total. Leading the upbeat local laddie linksters from K.H.S. were Jr. Brandon Gitter (42), Sr. Josh Timblin (43) and Jr. Ryan Koepke (43). Rounding out the scoring for the Indians was sophomore Adam Lehnerz, who has become a consistent varsity contributor early this year, with a 47.

Three of the top four individual scores were from Plymouth with Kiel recording three of the other top eight entries. The other two low scorers were Campbellsport's Sam Mueller (39) and Kewaskum's Brandon Gitter (42). See the complete listing of team scores and places for varsity and junior varsity below.

The next mini-tour events are scheduled for Tuesday, April 22nd in Manitowoc and on Monday, April 28th at Auburn Bluffs near Campbellsport.

In conclusion, these young Indians achieved both of their team goals to start the conference season. The next two matches should prove whether the K.H.S. Indian Boys Golf Teams are consistently competitive in conference or were just successful at their first ever history making, precedent setting event.

Both teams will have to improve upon their overall team scores in order to maintain their early season conference success.

Varsity Golfers Develop A Sixth (Place) Sense

The members of the Kewaskum High School Varsity Boys Golf Team must have felt like mail carriers, because neither rain, cold temperatures, high winds nor wet course conditions kept them from making their appointed rounds.

Seemingly neither conditions nor the competition had any impact on the inexperienced Indians as they finished in sixth place in all three Invitational Golf Tournaments conducted in the past two weeks.

Nothing seemed to deter the local linksters from placing sixth in three different tournaments as the young Indians contended with a variety of teams, courses and weather conditions. Early in the season most coaches and teams would like to develop some consistency, but this pattern of finishing was not what K.H.S. had in mind. Changing team personnel, conditions and competition had no impact on the varsity team outcome or results.

Starting with the ninth Annual Marshland Invite at Horicon's Rock River Hills with sunny, hot (70's) and calm conditions, Kewaskum placed sixth out of eleven area high school teams in an 18 hole team medal contest.

The Indians tally totalled 492. Senior Josh Timblin and junior Brandon Gitter led K.H.S. with respective rounds of 96. Defending Division Two State Champions, Pewaukee Pirates won easily by recording individual scores ranging from 77 to 86 to collectively score 411.

The next day, Kewaskum participated with seven other varsity teams in the annual

Washington County Tournament conducted on the Wash. Co. Course near Hartford. The Indians actually improved their team total by fifteen strokes to 477 to tie the Slinger Owls for 6th place in spite of cold, blustery and wet conditions. K.H.S. was again lead by Josh Timblin (89) and Brandon Gitter (92) with surprising sophomore Adam Lehnerz contributing a (95) solid round as well. West Bend East and Hartford dominated the event collectively and individually as well.

Four days and similar weather conditions later, Kewaskum competed in the Grafton Black Hawk Golf Invitational at the Country Club of Wisconsin Golf Course versus five division one high school teams and the host team, the Grafton Black Hawks.

Changes in team composition and a nine hole format did not result in any significant differences in the Indians outcome. Their sixth place position was due to Timblin's 46, Gitter's 47, Ryan Koepke's 47 and Lehnerz's 49. Brookfield Central took the title with host Grafton a close second.

With very few practices due to recent weather (including snow & freezing temps.), and team members on family vacations, suspensions and ineligibility, yet none of that mattered in the pre-season part of the Indians schedule. The inexperienced Indians gained some valuable benefits from their involvement in Invites prior to league play. If the K.H.S. Varsity Boys Golf Team continues to finish sixth (or higher) in the eight school conference contests, then their Invite experience did not prove to be as valuable or as beneficial as the K.H.S. Boys Golf Coaches believe.

The next three (mini-tournament) events on the K.H.S. Indians schedule are all Eastern Wisconsin Conference competitions to be conducted over the next two weeks with all the schools (both varsity & junior varsity) competing at the same site, time and under the same conditions.

Thus, the Indians can try to utilize their tournament experiences to gradually improve upon their recent (6th place) trend. Otherwise, they may not be delivering on their goal of improvement throughout the golf season.
