Village, Town of Kewaskum Residents Put Faith in Incumbents

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

Village of Kewaskum residents said to keep things as they are as 776 voters cast ballots in Tuesday's Spring Election.

Harry Roecker acquired the most votes, receiving 538. Roecker was appointed to the board to fill now president Matt Heiser's seat when he was elected the village's top official.

Robert Stoltzmann the eldest of the board brethren received 502 votes. Stoltzmann has served on the board continuously since 1994.

Kevin Scheunemann came in third with 492 votes and received the last seat up for grabs in this election.

The challenger in this race, Gregory Bernau, made a valiant effort but came up 180 votes short, ending with 312. Bernau stated he thought he did well for his first attempt. "I could have gotten zero," he went on to say, "I think PI-g had a lot to do with it. Some people may have thought I was doing this out of spite, however that was not the case. Bernau will "definitely" give another shot to village politics.

The trustees receive an annual salary of $600 per year plus a per diem pay per meeting of $30 per village board meeting and $15 per committee meeting.

The big-ticket item on the ballot was a five-year referendum that would allow the school district to spend $778,000 per year for items such as textbooks, technology and remodeling. Village residents decided to again leave things alone, casting 390 votes against the referendum and 370 in favor of the spending.

As far as their choice for school board, village residents selected Tammy Weyer as their clear favorite by 507 votes, leaving Neal Weare with 429. Write-in Joyce Weis-han received 85.

In the county race for supervisor in village residents in District 10 overwhelmingly choose county stalwart Daniel Stoffel, of rural Kewaskum giving him 598 votes over village resident Tom Timblin who received 145.

In the Town of Kewaskum Stoffel had the same impact crushing Timblin. The end result saw Stoffel with 83 votes and Timblin with three.

In their pick for school board, Town of Kewaskum residents picked Weyer as their favorite giving her a small lead of 191 over Weare's 182. Write-in candidate Weishan received 24 votes.

Contested election results in the Town of Farmington of the Spring Election:

Kewaskum School District Referendum: 173 - yes; 422 - no

Candidates for Kewaskum School Board: Weare- 385; Weyer- 320; write-in candidate Weishan- 31

Police Chief Reports No Leads in Tennes Break-In

Police Chief, Richard Knoebel is asking for help in solving a break-in at Tennes Ace Hardware located on Fond du Lac Avenue in the Village.

The break-in occurred Sunday, March 27 between the hours of 4 and 6:20 p.m.

At some point in that time frame perpetrators broke into the hardware store through the front doors of the store.

Knoebel and his department think they are searching for two or more individuals who stole large items from the store and left.

If you have information or were in the area at that time Knoebel urges you to contact the department at 262-626-2323 or the 24-hour Washington County WE-TIP line at 1-800-232-0594. All calls to either number are confidential. The WE-TIP line offers a cash reward of $1,000.

The break-in was found after an officer on patrol noticed glass in the door broken out.

Easter Egg Hunt Saturday

The Kewaskum American Legion, Robert G. Romaine Post 3844, and the Women's Auxiliary will hold its annual Easter Egg Hunt for children in River Hill Park at 1 p.m. on Saturday, April 10.

All area children are invited to participate in this annual scramble for colored eggs. This year, as in the past, Mr. and Mrs. Easter Bunny will stop by to visit with the kiddies, courtesy of the Kewaskum Junior Women's Club. Children ages five and under will "hunt" eggs on the west side of the river and those ages six through ten will do their hunting on the east side of the river. The limit is six eggs per basket.

Chocolate Easter Eggs being given to all the little egg "hunters" were donated by Gilbert and Chris DeLaurier of Ike's Repair Shop in Boltonville, as they were last year.

In case of inclement weather, Legion members will hand out the eggs at the Legion Hall, 1538 Fond du Lac Ave., Kewaskum.

Weyer Keeps Seat, Weare Joins Board Voters Say No to Referendum

By Nicole Kuehl
Statesman Staff
nkuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com

It's back to the drawing board for the Kewaskum Board of Education as yet another referendum to make improvements to the high school, technology and textbooks overwhelmingly fails.

The referendum which was for $778,000 for five years, only passed in one community. However, that community was the Town of Mitchell where one lone vote was cast. The next closest was the Village of Kewaskum where 390 voted no and 370 voted yes. There were 16 voters who didn't vote one way or the other for the referendum. The biggest hit to the district was the Town of Farmington where it failed miserably, 422 to 173. In total, 1,602 voters voted no and 978 voted yes.

What's next for the board? The initial reaction was they didn't know and are going to have to discuss it. Then the idea of a possible non-binding, or advisory, referendum was brought up. The non-binding referendum would be questions giving different options and asking what the community would support. This referendum could possibly be on the ballot this fall.

Another idea was to explore why it failed and if it would have passed if there had been three separate questions. Was there was strong support for one item or two of the items, but not the third?

The issue will be coming before the Finance-Transportation-Buildings and Grounds committee possibly at their May meeting, and then will most likely come back before the board. Watch the Statesman for more information.

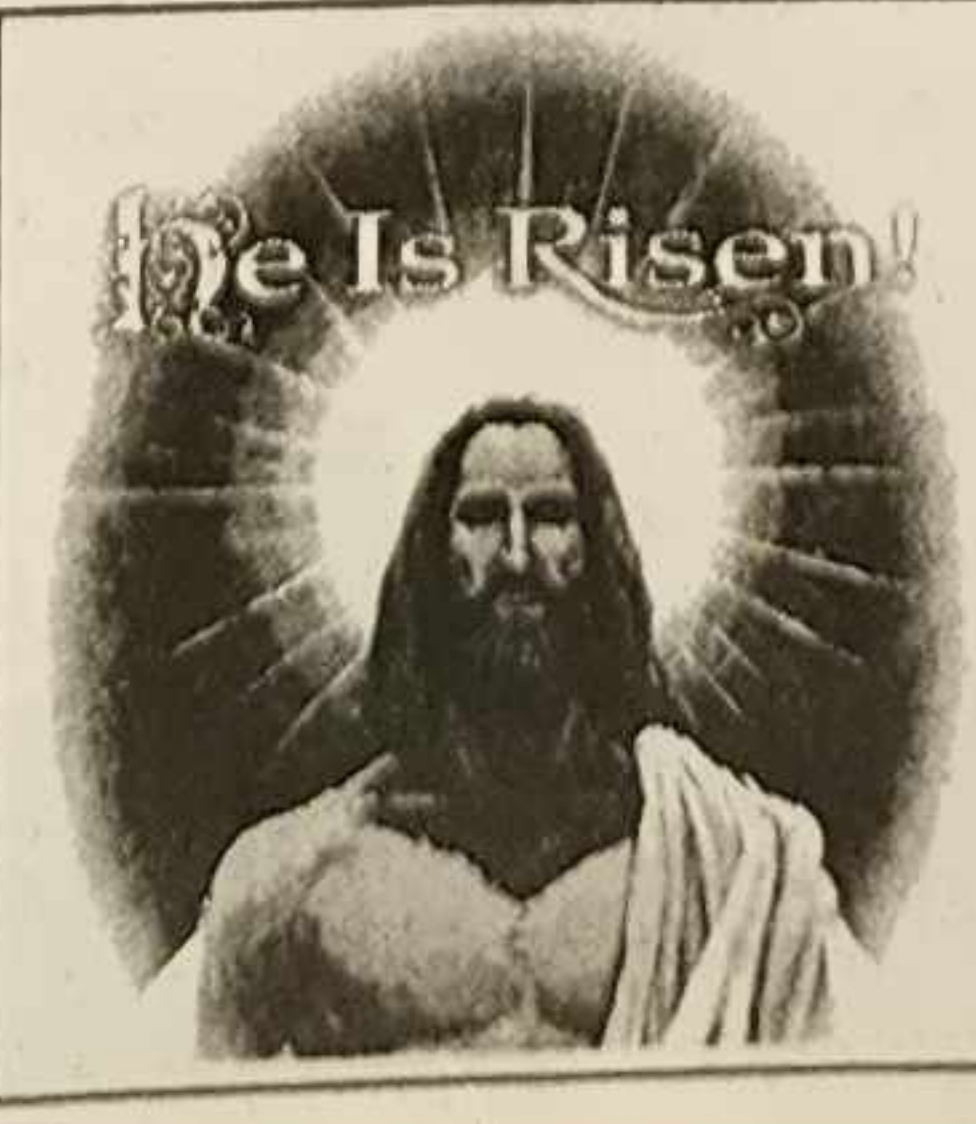

Tammy Weyer kept her seat and Neal Weare will be joining the Kewaskum Board of Education. Weyer and Weare were the only two on the ballot for the two open seats.

Weyer has been serving on the board since June 9, 2003 when she was appointed by the board to an open seat. Weare has served on the board in the past. Each was elected to a three year term.

Weare will be taking the seat of Mark Steinhardt who decided not to seek re-election.

Weyer and Weare will take officially take office on Monday, April 26 and a re-organization of the board will take place to determine the officers.

Our Staff
Wishes You a
Blessed Easter!

C-Sport Residents Begin Beard-A-Thon Contest

It wasn't an April Fool's joke when local residents began stepping up with freshly-shaven faces in anticipation of the 100-day Beard-A-Thon. And, it's not an early start for the deer hunting season. It's the Campbellsport Area Chamber of Commerce's (CACC) contest to help fund the Campbellsport Fire Department (CFD) parade. Participants will have 100 days to grow their beards.

From April 1 to the 11th, community-minded citizens will stop in at The Amber, C.C.Cody's, or King Pin Lanes in Campbellsport, or The Fin-n-Feather in New Prospect to be photographed clean-shaven and register. There will be a $30 fee and local businesses are sponsoring the event. Proceeds will be used for the CFD 100th anniversary picnic and parade celebration on July 2, 3, and 4, 2004.

Unfortunately, members of the CFD cannot participate in the event. According to CFD member Don Soffel, who is the chairperson of the 100th anniversary celebration. The CFD Scott air packs (used in fire rescues) will not seal properly on persons with beards. Therefore, CFD members are encouraging the community to grow their facial hair in support of the anniversary celebration.

Judging of the Beard-A-Thon is set for 7 p.m. July 2 at the Campbellsport Fire Department Park. Along with the judging, there will be a catered Schwai Fish Fry from 4 to 9 p.m. There will be games for adults and children as well as music by Road Trip, a popular local band.

Those completing the Beard-A-Thon will receive several free tickets for food and beverages at the picnic as well as a Beard-A-Thon tee shirt. Prizes will be given for the best overall beard, longest beard, worst beard, oldest person with a beard, youngest person with a beard, and the business with the most sponsorships.

The CACC is billing the Beard-A-Thon as open to both men and women. More information is available on the CACC Web site at www.campbellsport.org or the Village of Campbellsport Web site at www.campbellsport.govoffice.com.

COMMUNITY NEWS

We're Not Perfect!!

To Our Valued Readers-

In my young journalism career I have covered many motor vehicle accidents where a driver was going "too fast for conditions" Those accidents are sometimes the most serious.

Last week's edition was similar. I was going way too fast for conditions and I crashed. If you read our cover story of the Indianapolis bus crash you are well aware that I crashed hard!

I also didn't stop there. I kind of went on my own little collision course as I put together my portion of the paper (the front page).

This story was one of the more difficult articles I have written in my young journalism career. It's easier covering events when you aren't directly involved like in many large corporate newspapers. Many of the kids on those busses were kids I covered or knew and while I was thankful it wasn't any worse, it was still difficult.

Information from the crash came in quite rapidly from other media sources, each had their own views of what happened and I tried to bring it all together. The first story released was on our website. From there I took that article and added to it as information came out of Indy. This is why you might have noticed that it was very repetitive in addition to many spelling and grammatical errors.

I apologize to the kids and parents who wanted to keep this article as a memory of this event and will forever see those mistakes.

These errors were my own and were the result of the article somehow getting to press without proofreading.

The second error was the wrong piece of clip art for daylight savings time. I surely hope that this wasn't the reason there was the large turnout at Holy Trinity's 11 a.m. service on Sunday.

More noticeable errors included the price for a basketball team to enter into the Booster Club's 3 on 3 tournament was listed as $340. The actual price is $40 for team.

Lastly The Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce is having their golf outing on Saturday, July 31 not the 31st of June.

I sincerely apologize for all of these errors. I'm not going to say it won't happen again because in this fast paced environment of getting the news out before it dies, articles do sometimes get to press without proper proofreading, although, we have tried very hard to make sure they go through at least one reader and even a second.

To the reader who asked "Who is the brain of your paper?"

We don't have JUST one. Our truly dedicated staff of four work jointly to TRY and do the best job we can and we appreciate our reader's feedback to know what we can do better. This week we know for sure that it's spring ahead and fall back!

We continue to be a work in progress, comments, story ideas and suggestions can be emailed to: akuehl@kewaskumstatesman.com.

Thanks
Andrew

Appreciation is Expressed

Well, the election process, and referendum vote is over. I wanted to take this opportunity to first of all congratulate Tammy Weyer and Neal Weare for being elected to the school board. I also want to express my sincere thanks to all people not only working in support of the referendum, but those that opposed it as well. The democratic process allows for debate and differing of opinions. When the dust settles after such a vote, we need to be able to congratulate the other party and move on.

There were so many calls, many good questions, comments and opinions in Letters to the Editor, Cable TV appearances, sound bites on the radio stations and articles in the various newspapers. Each side fought in support of their views, so in many ways, both sides won. Why? Because the referendum topic was clearly debated and reviewed, what more can be asked?

So pat yourself, and others on the back. Congratulate those you know got involved, particularly those taking the time to go out and vote. It was a spirited effort on both sides, each expressing their arguments and rationale why the voters should listen to them, and the "no" votes won on the referendum. Unfortunately it doesn't make it any easier to meet the challenges ahead for future budgets.

Let us all now relax for a few minutes or days, than join together once again to work in harmony in the months ahead. After all, we all deserve it!

New Horizon Church Celebrates Joining of Three Churches

Palm Sunday, April 4, 2004, was not only the beginning of Holy Week for the members of St. John's United Church of Christ, Beechwood, St. John's United Church of Christ, Boltonville and St. Paul's United Church of Christ, Silver Creek. It was the day when the three congregations united to become New Horizon United Church of Christ with locations in Beechwood, Boltonville, and Silver Creek.

The Rev. Thomas Bentz, Association Minister of the Southeast Wisconsin Association of the United Church of Christ participated in the services by delivering the sermon and sharing in the serving of Holy Communion. As part of the 9 a.m. service at New Horizon United Church of Christ, Beechwood, the congregation witnessed the notarizing of the Certificate of Consolidation, which legally brought the new church into being.

The churches of the union have long and distinguished histories. The congregation of St. John's United Church of Christ, Beechwood, was started in 1887 and the building was finished and consecrated in 1888. The building which has housed St. John's United Church of Christ, Boltonville, was completed in 1872 as a Free Will Baptist Church. The history of the present congregation dates from 1905. St. Paul's United Church of Christ, Silver Creek traces its history back to the founding of the congregation in 1867 and the dedication of the church building in 1868. All three were originally German speaking congregations. The rich traditions of faith and their histories become the foundation of New Horizon United Church of Christ.

The Mission Statement of New Horizon United Church of Christ gives a sense of direction for the church in the years ahead. "The Mission of this congregation is to strive to be a church filled with the love of Jesus Christ, vibrant in the proclamation of the gospel, inviting, friendly and open to all people, caring for one another in prayer and deed, mission oriented and ecumenical in its outreach, a good citizen to the community and beyond, and a place where individuals and families can develop the values they need to live healthy and compatible lives."

The United church of Christ is one of America's major main line denominations.

It is a union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Churches.

The Rev. Robert P. Seater is the Interim Pastor of New Horizon United Church of Christ.

The Passion of The Christ

A few weeks ago we asked our readers to submit their reactions to Mel Gibson's movie "The Passion of the Christ." Thank you to those who submitted articles, they are as follows.

The intensity of His suffering really impressed upon me how much humiliation and pain our sins inflicted on Him. The movie showed how much He loves us. That He would die for us, paying the penalty for our sins. I think many times we take too lightly our sins, or worse yet think we have not committed any sins.

The other thing that I noticed was that the soldiers beating and scourging him were laughing and mocking Him. That's still so evident today, as people live their lives however they want, with no regard to what the Bible says. God want us to live a life that glorifies him.

I have not seen Mel Gibson's movie, nor am I planning to. In fact, what has moved me far more than any filmmaker's depiction of the death of Jesus is the media furor that has surrounded Gibson's project. As a Christian with deep and complex feelings about my faith, I am intrigued by the idea of a modern celebrity bringing Jesus out of the fringes and back into the mainstream of American pop culture. Let's face it, over the past few decades American Christianity has been transformed from a religious and ethical belief system into a multi-million dollar pop subculture: Christian rock tours sell out stadiums; poorly written, cliché-heavy Christian apocalyptic fiction tops the best seller lists; Christian bookstores sell Christian breath mints! On top of all of this, add the pseudo-Christian posturing of far-right politicians and you have a recipe for alienating the very people that Christians have traditionally sought to reach--the "sinners and tax collectors" we find Jesus sharing his meals with in the gospels.

What did it take to change this? Sadly, in our American cult of celebrity, only People Magazine's "Sexiest Man Alive" could bring relevancy back to the death and resurrection of Jesus. Only the high-profile star of "What Women Want," "Signs," and "The Road Warrior" could place Jesus back on the front cover of Newsweek and USA Today. Not since the conversion of Bob Dylan has this much chatter about Christianity been promoted by a celebrity; and it hasn't all been bad, either. Amid talk of anti-semitism, spurious quotes from the Pope and a prime time interview with Diane Sawyer, Christians saw Mel Gibson's familiar face lending authenticity to something they have believed for centuries. Far more than the actual outcome of his journey of faith (namely, the movie he made), Mel Gibson's public confessions, defenses, and humble admissions have effected my faith in a positive way.

It's not so much that a celebrity has come forward with a profession of faith, but rather that anyone in this age of cynicism would say sincerely and loudly, "His wounds healed my wounds."

No, I won't be seeing Mel Gibson's movie (I've already read the book and isn't the book always better?), but I do rejoice this Easter for the story of his own return to faith and the effect it has had on a jaded American public.

Thanks for listening,

The Legend of the Easter Egg

One day, a poor peddler went to the market place to sell a basket of eggs. he came upon a crowd mocking a man who staggered under a heavy cross on his way to crucifixion. The peddler ran to his aid, leaving the basket by the roadside. When he returned, he found the eggs transformed into exquisite designs of bright colors. The man was Christ; the peddler, Simon. And the eggs were to become the symbol of rebirth for all mankind.

-Ukrainian Folk Tale

"The Passion of the Christ" movie brought out the gravity of our sin being nailed to the cross and God's tremendous sacrifice in sending Him to earth to pave the way for our redemption.

To an old Christian as me, this movie was a very moving experience. It is hard to imagine God's love for us in providing the perfect sacrifice for our sins. It reminds me of Abraham's great faith when he went to offer his only son as an offering to God on Mt. Moriah.

In response to Isaac's question "we have wood for the burn offering but where is the lamb?" to which Abraham replied, "God will provide."

As we thank God for the Lamb of God, may we experience the joy of knowing Jesus is alive - that our sins were nailed to the cross on Good Friday and we can be certain of His forgiveness as we turn to Him. Happy Easter!

The Bookworm Sez
By Terri Schlichenmeyer
My Sister's Keeper
By: Jodi Picoult

Why were you born? Every child wonders that at some time in his or her life. Was your birth carefully planned, eagerly anticipated, all your baby things awaiting your arrival? Or were you a bit of a surprise, unexpected, but welcomed nonetheless? Most everyone would agree that every child deserves to come into this world wanted... but how would you feel if you knew that you were conceived not necessarily because your parents wanted another child, but because you were needed to save someone else's life? Anna Fitzgerald has always known why she was born, and in "My Sister's Keeper" by Jodi Picoult (c.2004, Atria Books), Anna has had enough.

When Kate Fitzgerald was two years old, she was diagnosed with a form of leukemia that was aggressive and usually fatal. Her only hope was a transplant from a family donor, and when her parents and her older brother, Jesse, were found incompatible, doctors told the Fitzgeralds that a future child could be a possible donor. Nine months later, Anna, chosen from a lab dish for her genetic compatibility, was born and her cord blood was whisked away to save Kate.

When Anna was five, Kate had a relapse, and Anna was needed for a platelet donation for her sister. A few years later, it happened a second time, and then a third. Anna, like most kids, hated being in the hospital and having surgery, yet, for as long as she could remember, she understood that the procedures would save her sister. But this time is different: Kate's body is shutting down, and she needs a new kidney. Sara, the girls' mother, assumes that Anna will be the donor, but Anna has other thoughts. She's decided that she's finished with being her sister's spare parts factory. Though she adores Kate and wants to do what's right for her, thirteen-year-old Anna has hired a lawyer, and is suing her parents for medical emancipation. What follows is a trial that tears apart a family, but brings them together in a most surprising bombshell of a way that you absolutely can't miss.

Author Jodi Picoult has crafted some completely believable people in "My Sister's Keeper", and in a nice reader-friendly twist, each chapter is written in one character's voice and printed in "their" font, so that it visually looks like a different person is telling the story. I was fascinated with this novel, partly because it's a darn good book, and partly because what happens is entirely possible. While I thought at first that Anna was a little too precocious, I came to realize that it was because she needed to grow up way too fast. I loved Anna's brother Jesse, a little boy in a grown-up body who was a surprising, not-so-quiet anchor in the family.

If you're a Jodi Picoult fan, you will positively want to read this book. If you've never read any of her books, "My "Sister's Keeper" is a perfect place to start.

Dear Editor,

It was 4:30 am on March 24th and I was loading the car with various snacks, video games, music CDs and everything else a teenager requires for a long bus ride. My son's trip was bitter sweet for me, as it was the first trip he was taking with out his family. I knew he would have fun, but he would also be spending his 16th birthday away from home.

We spoke a few times while he was away, but the phone calls were just long enough for him to tell me that he was having a good time and that nobody had gotten into trouble yet. Then, at about 2:00 pm on March 29th, I got a phone call from my sister. She had just happened to hear about the accident on the radio but didn't know many details. I quickly called the school, but at that point in time, they still did not know much. I started thinking about who might have taken their cell phones along on the trip and whether or not I'd be able to locate their numbers.

I started calling everyone I knew, but it wasn't much help because often times I did not even find anyone at home to help. By this time I was also getting phone calls from other relatives who had also heard the news. Finally I heard of a number for the Red Cross in Indianapolis and I made a call. From there I was able to learn that my son had been taken to the hospital but had just arrived back to the Red Cross Center. It was reassuring just to hear his voice! He filled me in on what had all happened and why he had to go to the hospital, but most importantly, that he was okay. What a relief!

The reason I'm writing this to you today is that I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Christie family. Both of their children were on the trip as well, and in the midst of all the confusion and their own personal concerns the Christies made sure that the other kids were helped by rescue personnel and everyone was taken care of. My son has had previous medical concerns and Mrs. Christie made sure that the EMT's were aware of his medical history. Kudos again, to the Christies and the other chaperones on this very memorable trip.

P. Clayton

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of JACK THEUSCH, who passed away one year ago, April 8, 2003.

So suddenly his gallant soul took flight

But his name's carried on in our hearts to stay.

As we think of the things he used to say

So he is not gone.

He's only moved on

Into a brighter, more wonderful dawn.

For men like him were not born to die

But, like the sun that shines in the sky,

They warm the earth and the hearts of men

And in happy remembrance they live again

So while he sleeps and his voice is still

His spirit goes on and it always will.

Sadly missed by family and friends.

I wish to thank you in your mercy toward me and mine. The person must say this three consecutive days. After three days the favor requested will be granted even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted.

Pesky Insects Beginning to Re-emerge as Temperatures Warm Up

MADISON — With the return of warmer weather, people are not the only ones beginning to move about more actively. Insects many homeowners thought they'd finally said goodbye to last fall are also finding the warmer spring days to their liking and are emerging from their wintering sites under home siding and woodwork, and from attics, mulch and wood piles.

Ladybeetles

The swarming, house-invading orange and black beetles that were so bothersome in the fall are not native to Wisconsin and are more correctly known as multi-colored Asian ladybeetles. Like all ladybeetles they are predators, feeding on aphids, scale insects, mites and some pollen. In this regard they are beneficial as their insect prey are considered pests on crops, home and garden plantings.

They differ from native "ladybugs" in that they are very well adapted to agriculture and human-modified landscapes while the native beetle is more diffuse and occupies many different environments. They are generally harmless but can bite if provoked and stain clothing or other fabrics if crushed. Repeated exposure causes an allergic reaction in some people.

"Lady beetles congregate in clusters in the fall to find overwintering sites, often entering homes seeking warmth," says Linda Williams, Department of Natural Resources forest health specialist. "The beetles become active again in February and March on warm sunny days. As spring approaches they will leave their overwintering sites and head back to the fields to feed on aphids."

In their native regions of Asia, the lady beetles overwinter in cracks and crevices of rock faces and cliffs. In Wisconsin, they've found houses and other man-made structures a suitable substitute

"Part of what makes them an abundant insect is their longevity," says DNR entomologist, Andrea Diss. "Up to 20 percent of beetles out and about at any one time are three years old. The females can lay eggs all three years of their life and they can produce several generations per year."

The Asian ladybeetle was introduced into the United States at several different times, going back as far as 1916 to control pecan aphids and now are found in all states east of the Mississippi, says Williams.

"They do a very good job of controlling aphids including soybean aphids," she says. "They are so successful that some entomologists are concerned they may crowd out our native beetles."

Despite rumors to the contrary, Williams notes, they were not released in Wisconsin by the DNR and they are not a threat to forest trees. During the majority of the warm months of the year they stay in the wild going about their business of eating other harmful insects. It's only when the weather turns cold that they come to our attention as they seek shelter for the winter.

"The Asian ladybeetle has a bitter taste so birds leave them alone," says Williams. "As for keeping them out of our homes, prevention is the best line of defense. Cracks as small as 1/16th of an inch can be a highway for them to enter a structure. Once they are inside the house, vacuuming or sweeping the beetles up is the best way to remove them. Regular household insecticides that contain permethrin should be effective to kill the beetles indoors but once sprayed they may bleed from their joints staining fabrics and walls."

The University of Wisconsin Extension has a fact sheet with more information on Asian ladybeetles available on their Web site at www.uwex.edu/ces/wihort/gardenfacts/X1050.pdf - Exit DNR

Cluster Flies

Cluster flies are large bumbling flies that look like ordinary houseflies. They are parasites of earthworms and normally don't bother people, but in the fall, like ladybeeties, they cluster about our homes and buildings seeking warmth. They emerge from their hiding spots again in spring as temperatures warm up.

"Like ladybeetles, prevention is the best defense — sealing up your buildings and keeping them out," says Williams. "When you first see them congregating in the fall you should try to vacuum them up at that time, before they have a chance to get underneath the boards and woodwork of your house where they like to overwinter. You can use a commercial spray that contains permethrin, cyfluthrin, or cypermethrin, but once they're under the woodwork it's difficult to attack them with insecticide."

"The flies don't breed in our homes but are a nuisance. And, the more earthworms you have around your home, the better they like it. Isolated houses in the country are especially prone to invasion, since they offer the only warm shelter for miles around."

Female cluster flies lay single eggs in cracks in the soil. The eggs hatch in three days and the larvae seek out their food source — earthworms. After burrowing into a worm they feed for a few weeks before pupating and emerging as an adult fly. There are typically three to four generations a year. Neither the larvae or adults are considered detrimental to forest trees or landscape plantings

The Virginia Cooperative Extension has information on cluster flies on their Web site at: <http://www.ext.vt.edu/departments/entomology/factsheets/clusterf.html> - Exit DNR.

Wisconsin's Economy Depends on Farming Life Insurance Important to Transition Planning and Farm Survival

As the number of farms in Wisconsin continues to decline, more than the livelihood of the state agricultural producers is threatened. Given agriculture contributes close to $40 billion to the state's economy and provides direct employment for 22% of the workforce, the quality of life of every Wisconsin citizen is threatened. Experts are urging producers to take action now to ensure their farms will survive in the future.

While producers generally recognize the need for insurance to protect farm investments such as livestock, equipment, buildings and crops, they often overlook protecting their families and/or business partners should the unexpected, such as an untimely death, occur. Transition planning without adequate life insurance coverage is a gamble and can ultimately result in no farm to transfer, another Wisconsin farm lost.

"Life insurance can help keep the farm intact for remaining family members in the event of a death, or it can at least provide the time and resources for them to continue the farm operation until a sale of assets can be organized in a proper manner," says Doug Derends, vice president, FCS Financial Services, a member of the Wisconsin Farm Credit System. "It also provides protection for a remaining business partner to buy out the deceased's family, if needed, and still have adequate cash flow to hire outside help and maintain a viable, profitable business."

When looking at the amount of life insurance needed, the industry standard recommends five to ten times annual living costs, says Jane Randall, customer service specialist, Badgerland Farm Credit Services, a member of the Wisconsin Farm Credit System. Of course, this depends on a number of factors unique to each producer's situation. For instance, the number and ages of family members, the insured's income, equity position, current level of debt and the level of debt the operation can maintain yet remain financially viable need to be considered.

Furthermore, Berends recommends other questions be asked. For example, what are the future plans for the remaining family members or business partners with respect to the farm operation? What lifestyle do you want them to have? Do you want to be able to provide for future college costs?

"Having enough life insurance will allow the protection of equity, lifestyle and heritage," says Randall. "Overall, it offers producers peace of mind."

For more information, producers should contact their local Farm Credit office to talk with a life insurance specialist that will evaluate their individual situations and make recommendations to meet their individual needs. Farm Credit offers a variety of credit-life or term-life insurance products to eligible customers.

The Wisconsin Farm Credit System includes four associations: AgStar Financial Services, Badgerland Farm Credit Services, FCS Financial Services and GreenStone Farm Credit Services. All are part of the Farm Credit Services nationwide network of cooperative lending institutions helping maintain and improve the quality of life in rural America and on the farm through a constant commitment to competitive lending, expert financial services and advice and a feeling of partnership with customers. With more than 85 years of agricultural lending experience, the system is the largest single provider of agricultural credit in the United States.

The Royal Order of the Purple Shaft With Barbed Wire Cluster During the Korean War

As a flight engineer, I had 20 months of schooling which consisted of seven months of airplane and engine mechanic school, two months of engine specialist school, seven months of flight engineering school, half dealing with physics and aerodynamics of flight and half with B-29 mechanics and emergency procedures, etc., two months of flight school, two months of combat crew training and then the final two weeks of Escape and Evasion school in the Sierra Nevada Mountains for all members of the flight crew headed for Korea.

I was part of a lead crew of the 344th Bomb Squadron of the 98th Bomb Wing. Being a B-29 lead crew we were the best at what we did. This meant our plane was the first over the target. All the other aircraft when flying a mission followed our command. This meant we had the best navigator in our Wing to locate that target. The bombardier had to be the best in the Wing. This was the status quo for every member of our crew. In other words we were the Top Guns, so to speak. If you couldn't perform to the maximum you didn't hang around long. Our motto was "The Best Always."

You are only as good as your team is as a whole and this certainly is true when flying. This includes the entire ground crew assigned to our aircraft. The ground crew consists of mechanics who are all specialists in their field be it radio, radar, sheet metal, hydraulics, instruments, electrical, propellers and engines that make sure our airplane is ready to go. The ground crew worked all hours, whatever it took, to have that plane ready to go. I often came out and spent time with the ground crew between missions. It helped in establishing a camaraderie as we never felt anyone was any better than anyone else because of rank. I am proud to say we had one of the best records in the 98th Wing with no aborts in 35 missions. No one man could cause this to happen. It took teamwork between the ground crew and the flight crew to make us a lead crew. Unfortunately the ground crews never received the recognition they deserved, in my opinion.

Other crews went home (stateside) after 25-30 missions but our Wing Commander informed us that he couldn't release us at this point. He was short lead crews, so we were still needed. Besides flying our combat missions we became a test hop crew checking out the engines installed on aircraft. The new engine had to be checked out in flight. We also were an instructor crew for replacing crews in the Wing. Consequently we ended up flying 35 missions.

For exceeding the normal missions flown by crews during the Korean War our Commanding Officer Lt. Col. Keith Whitaker awarded our crew the order of the Purple Shaft Certificate and ribbon with a barbed wire cluster. This cluster actually represents two shafts. I believe this certificate and ribbon was our Commanding Officer's way of expressing his personal gratitude to us for our continuing to do our best when getting the shaft for having to remain longer.

I am proud of all the honors I received during my military career but this certificate and ribbon, although never officially authorized or recognized as a legitimate award, was the most endearing to me and I proudly wore the ribbon overseas while with the 98th.

Slow Down in Work Zones, Fines Double

You know that winter is ending and warm weather is on its way when bright orange barrels and flashing signs pop up on interstates and other highways to mark road construction work zones. But driving through these zones is not like a stroll through a garden of spring flowers. Highway work zones are extremely dangerous places with heavy equipment maneuvering in congested areas and workers just a few feet from traffic.

"Because of many unpredictable hazards and obstacles due to construction, speeding in work zones is irresponsible and dangerous. It also can be expensive because fines double in work zones," says State Patrol Superintendent David Collins. "In addition to workers and equipment, work zones frequently have narrow lanes and uneven pavement. Driving through a work zone can be challenging under the best of circumstance, but your reaction time and margin for error are reduced significantly if you speed."

Rear-end collisions are the most frequent type of crash in a work zone. These crashes are caused primarily by inattentive driving, following too closely, and driving too fast. In the past five years, Wisconsin has averaged about 2,000 work zone crashes annually with 11 fatalities. Most of the fatalities were motorists.

To prevent crashes and save lives, fines for traffic violations in work zones are double the usual amounts when workers are present.

"The fines for speeding in a work zone range from $193 for 1 to 10 mph over the limit all the way up to $863 for 35 mph or more over the limit. You also could have between three and six demerit points added to your driving record," Superintendent Collins says. State Patrol officers are specifically assigned to many work zones, and they will strictly enforce posted speed limits."

For more information about highway work zone safety, contact Superintendent Collins of the Wisconsin State Patrol Division Headquarters in Madison at 608-267-7102 or your local State Patrol District office.

Indians Participate In Badger Classic

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Pairings for the annual Badger Classic were announced recently, and in one of the four games which will be played at Camp Randall Stadium on Sept. 18th in Madison, the Kewaskum Indians will take on Manitowoc Roncalli High School.

"We play at 12:30 p.m.," KHS football coach Jason Piittmann, who also serves as athletic director for the school, said last week, reporting the coach from Roncalli had called him a couple months ago to see if Kewaskum would be interested in participating.

Kewaskum was slated to play the Jets in Manitowoc, so the Indians will not be giving up a home game to play on the UW campus. Both schools are members of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

Piittmann said with construction going on at the stadium, only two dates were available for the Badger Classic in the fall. The September date was selected.

"Getting the kids a chance to play on the new surface ... it's a great opportunity," Piittmann said.

The Badger Classic games have been a tradition since the early 1990s. The Classic is sponsored by the Wisconsin Football Coaches Association.

Burns Proposed in Washington, Ozaukee, Milwaukee and Dodge Counties

Milwaukee, Wis. - The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources is proposing to conduct prescribed burns during April and early May at locations in Washington, Ozaukee, Milwaukee and eastern Dodge counties. Burn sites typically range in size from one to 60 acres. Potential burn sites are located at the Theresa, Allenton and Jackson wildlife areas, the Loew Lake Unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, Harrington Beach State Park, Havenwoods Environmental Center, and other sites on private and public land in Washington and Ozaukee counties. About 1,000 acres in total may be burned.

Prescribed burns are conducted to increase plant diversity and stem density on grasslands, for site preparation for seeding warm season grasses, to set back undesirable woody vegetation or other invasive species, and to improve waterfowl brood and migration habitat. A primary goal on upland sites is to improve nesting habitat for bird species such as mallards, blue-winged teal, pheasants, bobolinks, dickcissels and grasshopper sparrows. Burning is also conducted on wetland sites where levels have been drawn down to improve habitat for waterfowl and other wildlife by providing more areas of open water and a larger variety wetland plants.

This type of project does not have the potential to cause significant adverse environmental impacts; therefore, the Department has made a preliminary determination that an environmental impact statement will not be required for this project.

Burn proposals may be reviewed at the Pike Lake DNR office, 3544 Kettle Moraine Road in Hartford. Questions or comments regarding the burns should be directed to Wildlife Management staff at the Pike Lake DNR office, telephone 262-670-3409.

Girls Softball Team Loses Season Opener

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

When a high school girls fast-pitch softball team has to start over with new pitchers, there are bound to be some rough edges, and they were pretty obvious Thursday when the Kewaskum Indians suffered a 14-4 loss to host Plymouth in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference opener.

"We gave up way too many walks ... 14 of them," second-year coach Jeff Gosse said. "On top of that, we had three hits batsmen."

Losing pitcher Kristen Mantz nearly got out of the first inning without too much damage. "Six (of the seven runs) came with two outs," Gosse, said. "We opened the door there. A lot were on walks and wild pitches."

Was it a case of Mantz being too nervous? "It was a combination of things, and this was new for her," Gosse said, explaining Mantz had been his third baseman last year and is switching to pitching because the team's starter during the 2003 season, Kayla Sauer, graduated.

The Indians, who equaled Plymouth's hit total with four, were blanked by Lindsey Grahn for the first four innings. Then they rallied for four runs in the top of the fifth before Grahn regained her composure and was able to hold the Indians at bay the rest of the way.

Junior Amy Holm had a great day at the plate for Kewaskum. She went 2x3 with a triple and a single, according to Gosse, who reported, "She drove in two runs."

Beth Boedeker had one of the other two hits, "a nice drag bunt," Gosse said, indicating she got it batting left-handed when she is naturally right-handed.

Rachel Breese had the other Indian hit. Again, it was a nice bunt, according to Gosse, who is happy his team has 11 days before its next game and home debut, against non-conference foe Elkhart Lake on April 12th.

"It's going to be a little learning curve," Gosse said about having a new pitcher and a totally new outfield. "We need a little more consistency. That's going to come with time. After that, we'll be OK."

KHS Fastpitch Season Preview

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT

His infield returns pretty much intact, but Jeff Gosse, the second-year head coach of the Kewaskum High girls fast-pitch softball team, knows he has his work cut out for him developing a new pitcher and a new outfield for the 2004 season.

Kewaskum, which finished 10-6 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and in a tie for third place in the standings last spring, returns six letter winners. The Indians are led by shortstop Beth Boedeker, second baseman Amy Holm and Kristen Mantz, who will be switching from the infield to pitcher and is expected to supply a great deal of offensive power.

"She batted over .400 last year," Gosse said about Mantz, a senior who started at third base a year ago but will try her hand at pitching for 2004.

Boedeker was "about a .290 hitter," according to Gosse, who reported she did a great job of getting on-base, finishing up over .500 for her on-base average.

Opposing pitchers will face Boedeker hitting from both sides of the plate. While she is a natural right-handed hitter, Boedeker will switch hit, according to Gosse, who said, "I require all my girls to (switch hit)."

Returning to her regular spot at second is junior Amy Holm. "She came up from the JV's midway through the season, and she started right away," Gosse said. "She's a .300 hitter. She's our other power hitter," in addition to Mantz.

"Beth will hit No. 1, then Amy is No. 2, followed by Kristen," Gosse said. "I always believe in hitting my best players right away to put pressure on the other team."

Gosse can also depend on senior Laura Schladweiler, who will hold down the bag at first. Her batting average was in the high .200s last season. "For the most part, we're pretty solid" in the infield, Gosse said, but, "The outfield is all new."

Junior Rachel Breese and senior Becky Junk won letters last year as reserves, and both have won starting roles this spring. Breese will hold down left field and serve as the team's No. 2 pitcher, while Junk, who blew out her knee in the third game in 2003, is slated to be the starter in center.

Gosse has been impressed thus far with freshman Tiffany Hedlund, who will play third while Mantz is pitching, and he says Theresa Trott will get the nod in right field.

Gosse had hoped to have veteran Katie Dorn back behind the plate, but she is out for the season because of a knee injury suffered during the basketball season.

Sophomore Corin Groth has stepped up and shown she can do the job there, according to the coach, who said, "She has a strong bat and a strong arm."

One thing for sure, the Indians will have a little more depth this year. "We have 34 girls out for softball," Gosse said, including 14 on the varsity and 20 out for the junior varsity. "This is an all-time high. Last year, we barely had enough for the two teams."

Just where does Gosse expect his team will finish in the EW? "It depends on our pitching. All our pitchers are first-year pitchers," Gosse said. "I graduated eight seniors off last year's team," including Kayla Sauer, who pitched most of the games.

Despite the question marks, Gosse is optimistic about the future because, "There's a lot of talent in the freshman class."

Campbellsport is the defending EW champ. "They only lost two games last year, we we gave 'em both of the losses," Gosse said, reporting the Cougars have a new coach and return their starting pitcher.

KHS Girls Place Eighth at Oshkosh

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

The prep girls track and field teams from Kiel, Two Rivers and Kewaskum all made their marks in the annual Oshkosh Indoor Invitational held at the Kolf Field Sport Center on March 30th.

Kiel turned in an impressive time in the 4x400-meter relay toward amassing 65 points and capturing the title, while Two Rivers wound up third with 54.3 points, and the young Lady Indians, looking very competitive in several events, finished eighth with 24 points.

"We did well," KHS Coach Jerry Gosa said, reporting the two major highlights as Amanda Donath's second in the open 400 and the third place by freshman Sam Droese in the 800-meter run.

Donath, a talented sophomore, was clocked in 62 and .66 seconds (60.66), just a couple tenths of a second off the school record, which is held by Ginger Wiesner.

Despite the great time, Donath had to settle for second place in the race, which was won by Kiel senior, Heidi Herberlein, who hit the finish line in 60.10 seconds.

"Amanda ran a great race.

KHS lost its opener to Plymouth.

The team's next game is scheduled for Monday, April 12th at home against Elkhart Lake, which had competed in the EW for several years but is not part of this year's conference lineup.

Gosse is assisted this year by Jason Last.

She really went after Herberlein and the school record," Gosa said. "She is a great competitor."

Droese surprised the coaches and herself by taking third place with a time of 2:35.53, knocking off more than eight seconds off the time she posted in the Washington County Indoor test.

"We sent in a seed time of 2:37.2, hoping that it would get her into the fast heat, and it did," Gosa beamed. "She doesn't have a lot of experience running the 800, and we hoped that the field would pull her along. She ran a very good time."

Another top-five finish was compiled by the 4x400 relay team. Lindsay Keller, Rachel Dums, Paige Thelen and Donath combined for a 4:29.7, which was good enough for fourth overall.

"Kiel ran an incredible indoor time of 4:15.93," Gosa said, indicating the Purple Raiders have picked up right where they left off last year, winning the Division 2 state title in the event.

"We will be all right. We just need to keep working hard," Gosa said of his quartet, and another relay, the 4x100, also added a sixth place (1:57.38), which was good for three team points.

The runners on that relay were Donath, Amanda Magnus, Dums and Ashley Turner. "I think we have good potential here," Gosa said.

The veteran coach was also pleased with Dums' 12th in the triple jump (30 feet, 2 inches, 30-2). This was her first time in the event, and, "She jumped better on each of her four jumps. She appears to have a lot of potential in this field event."

Katie Paterson didn't duplicate her effort of 8-6 in the County Indoor Meet but her 7-6 was good enough for a tie for seventh in the pole vault. Magnus helped out with a 10th in the long jump (15-51/2).

Both the KHS boys and girls teams will be involved in the State Indoor Meet in Madison this Saturday (April 10th).

Gosa expects the competition to be very tough in this event but said he likes to have the meet on the schedule because "It gives the kids one more chance to go after the school's indoor records."

The first outdoor meet of the season will be held on Thursday, April 15 at Campbellsport.
