KHS Grad Limberg Plays Deep in National Sports Media

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Sports reporting, serving as a television anchor, hosting a sports call-in radio show and doing the play-by-play for an NCAA Sweet 16 men's basketball game are all on Jeff Limberg's resume, and now the 1978 Kewaskum High School graduate has hit the ultimate in the media world with his selection to the El Paso (Texas) Sports Hall of Fame.

Limberg will be honored in a ceremony held on May 5th on the campus of the University of Texas, El Paso (know as UTEP). There are currently 300 members in the city's elite Sports Hall of Fame, but only 20-30 have been selected in the media division and soon he will be one of them.

Limberg played basketball and baseball during his days in Kewaskum High ... and by his own admission, he was a bit of a class clown.

"Mr. (George) Allmann was teaching mass media then," Limberg said by telephone last weekend, recalling how Allmann took him aside after putting a few of his antics on display, which may have helped him land up in the broadcasting field.

"He said broadcasting is something I should look at as a professional possibility. That's how the whole thing started," Limberg said about Allmann. "He really gave me a lot of direction."

Limberg said he had acted as the announcer for the high school girls' basketball games, but at Allmann's prompting, started looking around for an post-high school educational setting where he could learn the trade.

The Brown Institute, a technical school in Minneapolis, was Limberg's ticket to get started.

"I went there with the emphasis on broadcasting," Limberg said, indicating one area of study was specifically designed for play-by-play broadcast work, and, "That's what I really wanted to concentrate on."

After graduating from Brown, one of Limberg's early moves was to Artesia, New Mexico, and while he did some broadcasting of high school basketball and baseball, his major emphasis there was his own country music radio show.

That was in 1980, and a few years later, Limberg has settled in El Paso and was the sports director of KTSM TV, a position he held for three years before moving to KVIA TV, and ABC affiliate, where he was a sports reporter and anchor and where he did play-by-play of the UTEP football and basketball games.

Don Haskins was the head men's basketball coach at the time, and Limberg says working with the now Hall of Fame coach and later becoming his friend are "the highlights of my career."

Limberg said he and Haskins often have lunch together in El Paso, and he has also met such noteworthy athletic stars such as Lee Trevino, Terry Bradshaw and Lou Henson, just to mention a few.

KTSM TV as sports anchor reporter, covering weekends, and in Feb., 2003, he was named as news director for a 40-person staff at the station. In that position, he is in charge of all news content, sports and weather for El Paso's oldest station.

When asked what his favorite sport is, Limberg admits he is partial to basketball because he played in high school first under Neil Denniston on the JV team and then under Jim Westphal on the varsity, but he loves watching football, and "I'm a huge Green Bay Packer fan."

Limberg said because the Packers are playing in Houston this fall, he made get an opportunity to use his media pull to get him a couple tickets for the game.

While Limberg isn't working, he's spending time with his wife Tess, a nurse practitioner, and their two sons, Ryan and Reed. Ryan is nine and already interested in baseball and basketball, according to his proud father, who said, "He shows some skill."

Skill in the broadcasting business is something Limberg has definitely honed over the years, and he gives much of the credit to teachers at Kewaskum for the direction they provided. "I would like to thank Mr. Allmann especially for a wonderful career choice," Limberg said.

Limberg's parents, Yvonne and Tom, still live in the area and many of his eight siblings reside in southeastern Wisconsin.

Limberg said he and Haskins often have lunch together in El Paso, and he has also met such noteworthy athletic stars such as Lee Trevino, Terry Bradshaw and Lou Henson, just to mention a few.

"Actually Bart Star has been down here," Limberg said about the former Green Bay Packer great quarterback, who was plugging his book, "When Pride Mattered."

"Barry Alvarez and the Wisconsin Badgers came down in 2002 (for the Sun Bowl). That was a huge thrill, meeting him," Limberg said.

And what was the biggest game he ever did the play-by-play for? "I've done so many," he said, pausing and then indicating, "It probably was the Sweet 16 in 1982 ... UTEP beat Kansas in Dayton, and then they played Cincinnati ... Bob Huggins was probably in his first or second year (coaching there). Nick Van Exel was on that team."

In 1991, Limberg became the sports director at KROD where he initiated El Paso's first sports call-in radio show, while still doing play-by-play for UTEP, and from 1992-96, Limberg was the sports anchor reporter for KTSM TV (NBC) and also tried his hand at being a news anchor.

After a short stint in tv sales, Limberg returned to

Parents Asked to Complete Survey For Continuous School Improvement

As schools throughout the nation are facing increased federal mandates and other accountability issues such as Public School Open Enrollment, a local Wisconsin company is helping schools and districts keep an accurate pulse on just what students, staff and parents are thinking.

School Perceptions, located in Slinger, is an on-line survey company that assists schools and districts to quickly and cost-effectively gather and interpret data regarding important issues from target audiences, including students, parents, staff and administration.

Wayne 4-H News

The April meeting of the Wayne Crusaders 4-H Club was called to order at 6:30 p.m. at Wayne Elementary School. The 4-H and American pledges were recited and roll call was taken. A special emphasis project about family traditions was put on by Katelyn Dei and Mrs. Bush. The cloverbuds were then dismissed to their demonstration by the club's rabbit project. The Secretary's report was read and accepted, along with the Treasurer's. Laura Weisse reported on the Leader's board meeting where they discussed the Formal Dance on May 22.

Jill Schmitt reported on the Bowl-a-Thon that happened in March. Sue Schmitt asked the club for volunteers to help maintain the flowerbed we planted two years ago at the Fair Park. There was some interest. Volunteers were needed to help with a refreshment stand on Friday July 23 and Sunday July 25. Mrs. Wicklund was again asked to chair the June Dairy Month window painting at the Kewaskum Post office. Our club was also asked to help serve ice cream for the Dairy Banquet at the Amerahn. A sign-up sheet was passed around for that.

Mrs. Dei will be chairing our club's animal display at Breakfast on the Farm. She announced that there were too many rabbits signed up to go, and only one per family could come. She also asked if members had any goats or pigs to come too. The Bush family offered to chair our club's Duck Derby food stand. A few announcements were made and then the meeting was adjourned at 7:20 p.m.

By: Jill Schmitt
Club reporter

The improvement survey was designed to effectively measure how a school or district's key target audiences view 15 key reteach-based areas, which have been proven to impact student achievement. These areas include: Facilities, school morale, motivation, parental involvement, alcohol and drugs, instructional techniques, communications, collaboration, self-esteem, staff development, student support services, physical safety, teacher empowerment and technology.

The survey process is easy and takes as little as 10 days from start to finish as compared to upwards of three to six months for the paper survey approach. A letter will be sent to all parents/guardians with children in the Kewaskum School District inviting them to take the online survey. Parents are assigned a password and when they visit the website a customized survey is posted based on their personal and anonymous password. Survey participants are only allowed to take the survey once, assuring that the results accurately reflect the views of everyone. Surveys that do not take this safeguard often have results skewed toward a few very active participants.

In addition to parents, students in grades three to 12, staff and administration will also take a similar survey. Assessment surveys vary in length from 60 questions for parents to 80 questions for students and 100+ questions for staff and administration. Most questions are based on a Likert scale, i.e., strongly agree, agree, disagree, strongly disagree. In addition, individuals will have the opportunity to add comments after each ranking. The real difference between the School Perceptions Assessment products and paper surveys with similar content questions is that by utilizing technology, School Perceptions' surveys can be instantly tabulated and analyzed collectively. Data is accessible at anytime throughout the process in an on-line, segmented, easy-to-read report. In addition to this, results include all of the comments respondents give in each area.

The survey will be done between May 1 and May 16, 2004. While students, staff and administration will take the survey in school, parents are encouraged to watch for the envelope with the password and other instructions. They will be mailed the week of April 26.

In the Service

Samantha M. Trokan has joined the United States Army Reserve under the Delayed Training Program.

The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay reporting for basic military training for up to 270 days. An enlistment in the reserve gives many new soldiers the option to learn a new skill, serve their country, and become eligible to receive more than $7,000 toward a college education, $20,000 for repayment of college loans, and a maximum $5,000 cash bonus.

After completion of basic military training, most soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career job specialty prior to being assigned to their first permanent duty station.

The recruit qualifies for a $3,000 enlistment bonus.

Trokan will report to Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C., for basic training on August 15, 2004.

She is the daughter of Sanoi Arient of Timblin Drive, Kewaskum and James Trokan Milwaukee.

Spring Clean Up Successful For Village of Kewaskum

Paul Behring loads an old desk into a scrap metal dumpster Saturday morning at the Kewaskum Municipal Garage where Kewaskum held their annual spring clean up day. According to Department of Public Works Superintendent Jerry Gillies, villagers filled five 20-yard dumpsters with rubbish. "We had a good turn out, lots of traffic," stated Gillies of the clean up day. Yard waste collection will begin Saturday mornings soon, watch The Statesman for more information. Presently residents may bring yard waste to the garage Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.. Curbside chipping of brush is done the first and third Monday of each month.

"By uniting in the public arena, we will be a nation filled with individuals of faith," she said. "Some countries do not allow its citizens to elect their leaders much less express their beliefs according to conscience. However, America was built by men and women of deep religious conviction and it is a privilege to approach the Lord with boldness and without fear of persecution."

Retired Marine colonel Oliver North is the 2004 Honorary Chairman and will provide the keynote address at the national event in Washington, D.C. In addition to his appearance at the national observance, North has released, True Freedom: The Liberating Power of Prayer, which is this year's theme book.

The National Day of Prayer tradition predates the founding of the United States when the Continental Congress issued a proclamation setting aside a day of prayer in 1775. In 1952, Congress established an annual day of prayer and, in 1988, that law was amended, designating the National Day of Prayer as the first Thursday in May.

All the beautiful sentiments in the world weigh less than a single lovely action.

West Bend Will Participate in National Day of Prayer

As American troops continue fighting for liberty in various countries, United States citizens are preparing to celebrate their freedom to gather, worship and pray. Millions will answer the call to prayer on May 6, the 53rd annual National Day of Prayer, by flocking to observances held in public venues to intercede for the nation.

A prayer meeting will be held in the parking lot of the West Bend City Hall at 1 p.m. The parking lot is located at 1115 S. Main Street. As in previous years, President George W. Bush, all 50 governors and the governors from the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico are expected to sign proclamations setting aside the first Thursday in May as a day of prayer. Dobson's Task Force is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization and its efforts are powered by a large grassroots network. An estimated 40,000 coordinators and volunteers will host events that take place at courthouses, state capitols, city halls, parks and around school flagpoles. Many churches, firehouses and schools will ring their bells at noon to invite their communities to unite on bended knee.

The theme for this year's event is "Let Freedom Ring" and is based on Leviticus 25:10, "...proclaim liberty throughout the land to all its inhabitants." Dobson, wife of Focus on the Family founder and chairman Dr. James Dobson, said the opportunity to openly pray should not be missed.

Legion Becomes Handicapped Accessible

Clockwise, Roger Heberer, Al Barutha and Wayne Rimmel work on the new handicapped ramp at the legion hall.

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

With May rapidly approaching, thoughts turn quickly to Memorial Day, and the annual services sponsored by the American Legion Robert G. Romaine Post 384.

Those attending the event this year — hopefully there will be a big crowd of people who want to show their patriotism and remember all those young men and women fighting in the war in Iraq — will notice the Legion building, located at 1538 Fond du Lac Avenue, has received a little bit of a “face lift.”

Thanks to impetus provided by Legion Commander Al Barutha and the dedication of three Kewaskum men, Wayne Rimmel, Roger Heberer and Al Zehren, the building is now handicap accessible.

The entire project took a couple weeks to complete, and Barutha figures it will cost between $7,500 and $8,000, with all the funds provided by the American Legion.

When asked what prompted the addition of a handicap ramp, Barutha said, “You look around and everyone seems to be getting a little older ... I want to help those people. We didn’t have anything to get them in (to the building.)”

The first task was naming cochairmen, and Barutha selected Rimmel and Heberer, and there aren’t too many volunteer projects in the community or at his church that Zehren isn’t involved in, so the team was set..

“It’s got to be done according to code. It’s got to be done just right,” Barutha said, explaining the men had to research compliance rules.

The rise of the ramp could only go up one inch every foot, according to Rimmel, who said, “Basically the rest is fitting your building.”

Rimmel said help on building the ramp as secured from the Internet and from Village Administrator Dan Schmidt, and then, “Roger and I kinda put it together.”

Earlier this week, the crew completed the job when they installed the railing on the ramp.

Concerning the funding of the project, Barutha said, “We do have some of the funds set aside.” The club also recently had a brat fry at Mike’s Meats, and Barutha said, “The Auxiliary has helped us a great deal.”

The Legion has continued to upgrade the building in recent years, putting a new roof on the building and adding air conditioning. The building is available for rental at a nominal fee.

The Legion also is currently running a raffle to help provide a scholarship for high school seniors. “That started two years ago,” Barutha said.

Stoffel Elected Second Vice-Chairman

At its organizational meeting on April 20, 2004, The Washington County Board of Supervisors unanimously elected local Supervisor Dan Stoffel to the position of second Vice-Chairman, a position he previously held. Election to Vice-Chairman automatically grants him a seat on the Executive Committee of the County Board. This will be his 19th consecutive year on the Executive Committee.

This committee deals with legislative issues, salaries of elected officials, the Five Year Capital Plan, as well as general oversight of county activity. It also oversees the budgets of Administration, County Board, Library Services, the County Attorney and the Child Support Agency.

Ideas go booming through the world louder than cannon. Thoughts are mightier than armies. Principles have achieved more victories than horsemen on chariots.

Coast to Coast Disasters Activate Local Volunteer

Jim Krudwig in New York in front of a make-shift memorial for the victims of September 11.

BY SHERI BALDIKOWSKI
STATESMAN FEATURES EDITOR
sbaldikowski@kewaskumstatesman.com

When Jim Krudwig of Kohlsville retired he wanted to devote part of his time volunteering to help others. Little did he know that he would get the "reality check" of his lifetime a few years later in New York City following the 9-11 disaster. In order to follow his path, first it is necessary to learn about his background.

Jim's assuredness and diversification began with the twenty-two years (from 1954 to 1976) that he spent in the Marine Corps. He attained the rank of Master Gunnery Sergeant working as a Counterintelligence Chief and this aspect also gave him leadership skills. Among other things, his military span encompassed two active duty stretches in Vietnam, from 1966 to 1967 and from 1970 to 1971, subjecting him to split-second decision making.

During his twenty-two years in the service, Jim was stationed all over the world gaining him variable "people" skills. All of these successful attributes proved to be beneficial throughout his life, right into his retirement. Being an accomplished Marine was not enough for Jim so when his military career was completed in 1976, he went to college at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, graduating in 1980. After graduation, he moved to Madison where he first worked with the old Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations.

From there, he transferred to the Department of Regulation and Licensing's Division of Enforcement where the investigative skills he had learned in the Marine Corps could be put to use. As a Regulation Compliance Investigator, he learned even more as many of the complaints were in the various medical fields as well as veterinarians, morticians, private detectives and many other professionals.

When a complaint is registered with the State on doctors, nurses, pharmacists, or any other professionals, it was the Division of Enforcement's job to check them out. Therefore he had to learn and become familiar with medical terminology.

He would then determine if it was a bona fide complaint or a misunderstanding of some sort. Jim was hired for the job over many applicants, including several attorneys. Jim feels his previous investigative job which included military background investigations was the asset that helped him secure the position which he worked at for nearly ten years.

In 1989 Jim's wife, Judy, was offered a position as a Campbellsport School counselor so they moved from Madison to the Kohlsville area. It just so happened that at the same time, the state was beginning to audit fuel taxes and needed a fuel tax auditor in the area which required an investigative background, so Jim secured the job hands down. Part of this job was making certain that companies paid the correct Wisconsin fuel tax. It entailed a great deal of travel. In fact, he would be gone three weeks out of four around the state and to out-of-state trucking companies.

Jim and Judy liked the area, as did their daughter, Kirstin, who attended Wayne Elementary and Kewaskum Middle and High Schools. Both Judy and Kirstin are involved with Big Brothers/Big Sisters and the Wayne Crusaders 4-H. Kirstin was chosen as Washington County's "Fairest of the Fair" in 2002.

Jim continued his tax auditor position for almost ten years, and in 1998 he retired from state employment. He then started to look for some volunteer work he could do that would help others in need.

He recalls that as a child, it was customary for his family to help folks in need. He had gone to Haiti with a church mission in 1994. Jim learned of a group called "Kettle Moraine Support Services" which helps out terminally ill people. He checked it out and found out that the group was in great need of men, because out of the fifty-five members in the group, only five were males.

Jim's new volunteer job was to just sit and talk to the terminally ill, so that their spouses or family members could go shopping or to work. Jim found that men enjoyed speaking with another man which was enough reward for him. He enjoys talking to others.

He then heard from a friend that the American Red Cross was looking for volunteer drivers in West Bend to commute people to Milwaukee, for medical appointments and particularly for kidney dialysis. Jim immediately signed up, as he had a very high regard for the Red Cross because they arranged for him to come home from Vietnam when his sister in Fond du Lac was killed in 1971.

In order to become a Red Cross driver he had to take First Aid and CPR training and have a good driving record. Jim wanted to do even more with the Red Cross and learned that there is a group of trained Red Cross workers who go out to National Disasters.

West Bend did not have a participating member doing this and he volunteered. Jim relentlessly took the additional training necessitated for the work which included introduction to disaster and mass care disaster classes. Currently, he feels that he has taken between 30 and 40 training courses ranging from the basics to supervision and as wide as disaster terrorism.

In 1999 he got first hand experience when he was called out as a Red Cross volunteer in following the Hurricane Floyd devastation in North Carolina.

Among other things, he soon learned that one of the most important things in any disaster, while helping people there, is to get word to the relatives of people in the disaster areas. For this purpose the Red Cross had set up a National Welfare Inquiry Center in Ft. Sill, Oklahoma that operates 24 hours a day.

Jim assisted in this area by collecting the data on missing persons in the disaster area as it became available. In reverse, a relative (from anywhere - like Wisconsin) may contact their local Red Cross Chapter and request a search for their loved one who was located in the disaster area. This center also has a tremendous system for locating people and as a matter of fact, it was another office at that Ft Sill center that notified Jim in Vietnam about his sister's untimely death and funeral.

Seeing the importance of this type of work, Jim went to a two day logistics training program when he returned, so he could better serve the Red Cross in the future.

Following the annual Appalachian Mountain floods in 2000, Jim was the logistics liaison at Clarksburg, West Virginia. It was here that he encountered the diversified duties of a logistics coordinator, sometimes driving, sometimes purchasing, sometimes keeping track of the supplies in a warehouse.

In any area of the country, the local Red Cross Chapter's personnel know which schools or buildings would be available for emergencies.

The Red Cross also has many tons of supplies stockpiled around the country to be used for disasters. Items such as clean-up kits, food, water, cots, pillows, blankets, and other emergency items must be kept in large quantities in various locations throughout the states. Those areas that are more prone to disasters like flooding, tornadoes, forest fires and hurricanes have more items stored in that particular area.

It is the Red Cross logistics personnel that make sure that these supplies are picked up from the storage areas and trucked to the disaster area. Red Cross volunteer workers must also be picked up at airports, bus stations or other areas and brought to the site, and all of these things must be coordinated and done in the quickest possible time table.

The supplies that cannot be stored, like perishable foods, and those that are depleted quickly must be purchased by the Red Cross or solicited as donations from major manufacturers and distributors.

It is important to note that in most cases, disaster victims have nothing, so the Red Cross must act expeditiously on all matters. For example, it is not sufficient to have food and water in a storage area without trucks to deliver it to the disaster area. Likewise, to have cots and no one to set them up or food with no one to distribute, it is equally inefficient. Thus, the Red Cross logistics personnel must maintain a "cool" head to coordinate all these variables in any disaster in order to assist the victims as soon as possible.

Jim witnessed his first Level Five major disaster in the summer of 2001 when he went to Houston following a flood where Red Cross expenses exceeded five million dollars. The city received 36 inches of rain in less than 24 hours.

It was here that Jim got to see all disaster aspects and how everything worked. He witnessed first hand how a well-oiled Red Cross machine of over 1400 volunteers is only as good as its parts. Oftentimes, communities are not prepared for the enormity of a major disaster affecting thousands of people.

In a major disaster like in Houston, where hundreds of thousands of meals were served, the Red Cross solicits donations, to prevent their warehouses from becoming depleted. When not enough donations are received, they must purchase food from distributors. For example, major dairy firms in Wisconsin, like Kraft, are contacted for donations of cheese products, while Tyson Foods in Arkansas, may be asked for chicken and Frito-Lay for snacks. Even breweries donate bottled water. Bear in mind that in all of these donations, nothing is wasted.

The Red Cross is usually on the scene for the first three weeks, and then if any food remains, it is distributed to local churches, missions, or food pantries so that they can carry on serving the remaining homeless victims.

Some firms are gracious enough to donate their own trucks, but other times, transportation must be arranged to transport the food. Then, there is the problem of distributing the food by Mass Care workers after it is prepared.

For this reason the Red Cross has a fleet of specially made Emergency Response Vehicles (ERV'S) situated all over the country. They are often seen on television at a disaster. Wisconsin has two such (ERV) trucks located in Milwaukee and Madison. The truck interior is made of stainless steel so they can be quickly and easily cleaned. Smaller chapters often have obtained through a donation their own vehicle or trailer for this purpose.

The ERV trucks carry insulated containers with liners to transport the prepared food, water and cold drinks three times a day. Upon delivering the food out to a disaster site, the job is still not done, as the trucks must be thoroughly cleaned and sanitized for the next use. At the Houston disaster, there were 105 such ERV vehicles from all over the country. Jim drove one back from Houston to Montgomery, Alabama when the disaster was completed. He then flew home from there to Wisconsin. Canned or fresh food is prepared by either Red Cross volunteers or other humanitarian organizations. The Southern Baptist Church trains some of their parishioners in "mass cooking" and they do this cooking in portable kitchens on trailers. They bring these kitchens to the disaster areas and the Red Cross supplies the food which is purchased from monetary donations.

An average portable kitchen might put out 2500 meals a day, when needed. Jim said that in October, 2002 when Louisiana was hit by two hurricanes in one week, the Red Cross had eight kitchens going all at once. One kitchen alone was putting out 10,000 meals a day to disaster victims and workers. They kept finding homeless folks in swamps.

Many of these kitchens are the portable type, which are set up in a large church parking lot or mall near the disaster. One of the many different jobs Jim has done several times is purchasing food for the kitchens. A kitchen may receive up to two large semi-trailer loads of food every other day. Still other Red Cross volunteers contact companies for water or snack donations.

For example, Kraft Foods with an office in Madison donated two truck loads of snacks to the Louisiana flood to disaster within 24 hours of the call. Lumber companies donated building supplies. Printing companies may donate printing of notices where help is available. These many philanthropic companies are among the "unsung heroes" in preventing major starvation or other support in these badly hit devastated areas.

Another area of major importance is to have enough Red Cross workers after a disaster to help restore equipment and supplies back again to the "readiness" position. It is mind boggling to think of how many thousands of volunteers the Red Cross provides in these disasters. Following a string of 108 tornadoes that crossed seven states during May, 2003, the Red Cross had 15 different disaster operations going on simultaneously. Jim was purchasing fresh fruits and snacks from Sam's Club one morning and learned that all the disasters going on at the same time around the country had exceeded the Red Cross credit limit. A call was made and fifteen minutes later, the credit limit was increased and he was able to have the truck load of supplies go out to the kitchens and Service Centers.

Jim said that many people have the "mind fix" that the Red Cross just gives out coffee! But even if you are under that misconception, the questions are the same, where is the coffee coming from, how do you get it there, who is going to serve it and who will clean up after? It has to be purchased and prepared. Sometimes, it is purchased from or donated by Starbucks, McDonalds, Dairy Queen, Burger King, Culvers, local restaurants or markets, etc. Multiply that by thousands of hot meals, water and other needed supplies and one begins to understand the problems of disaster logistics.

The Red Cross and all it's volunteers truly conduct a major phenomenon in bringing relief and refuge to so many disrupted victims who are griefstricken and in shock.

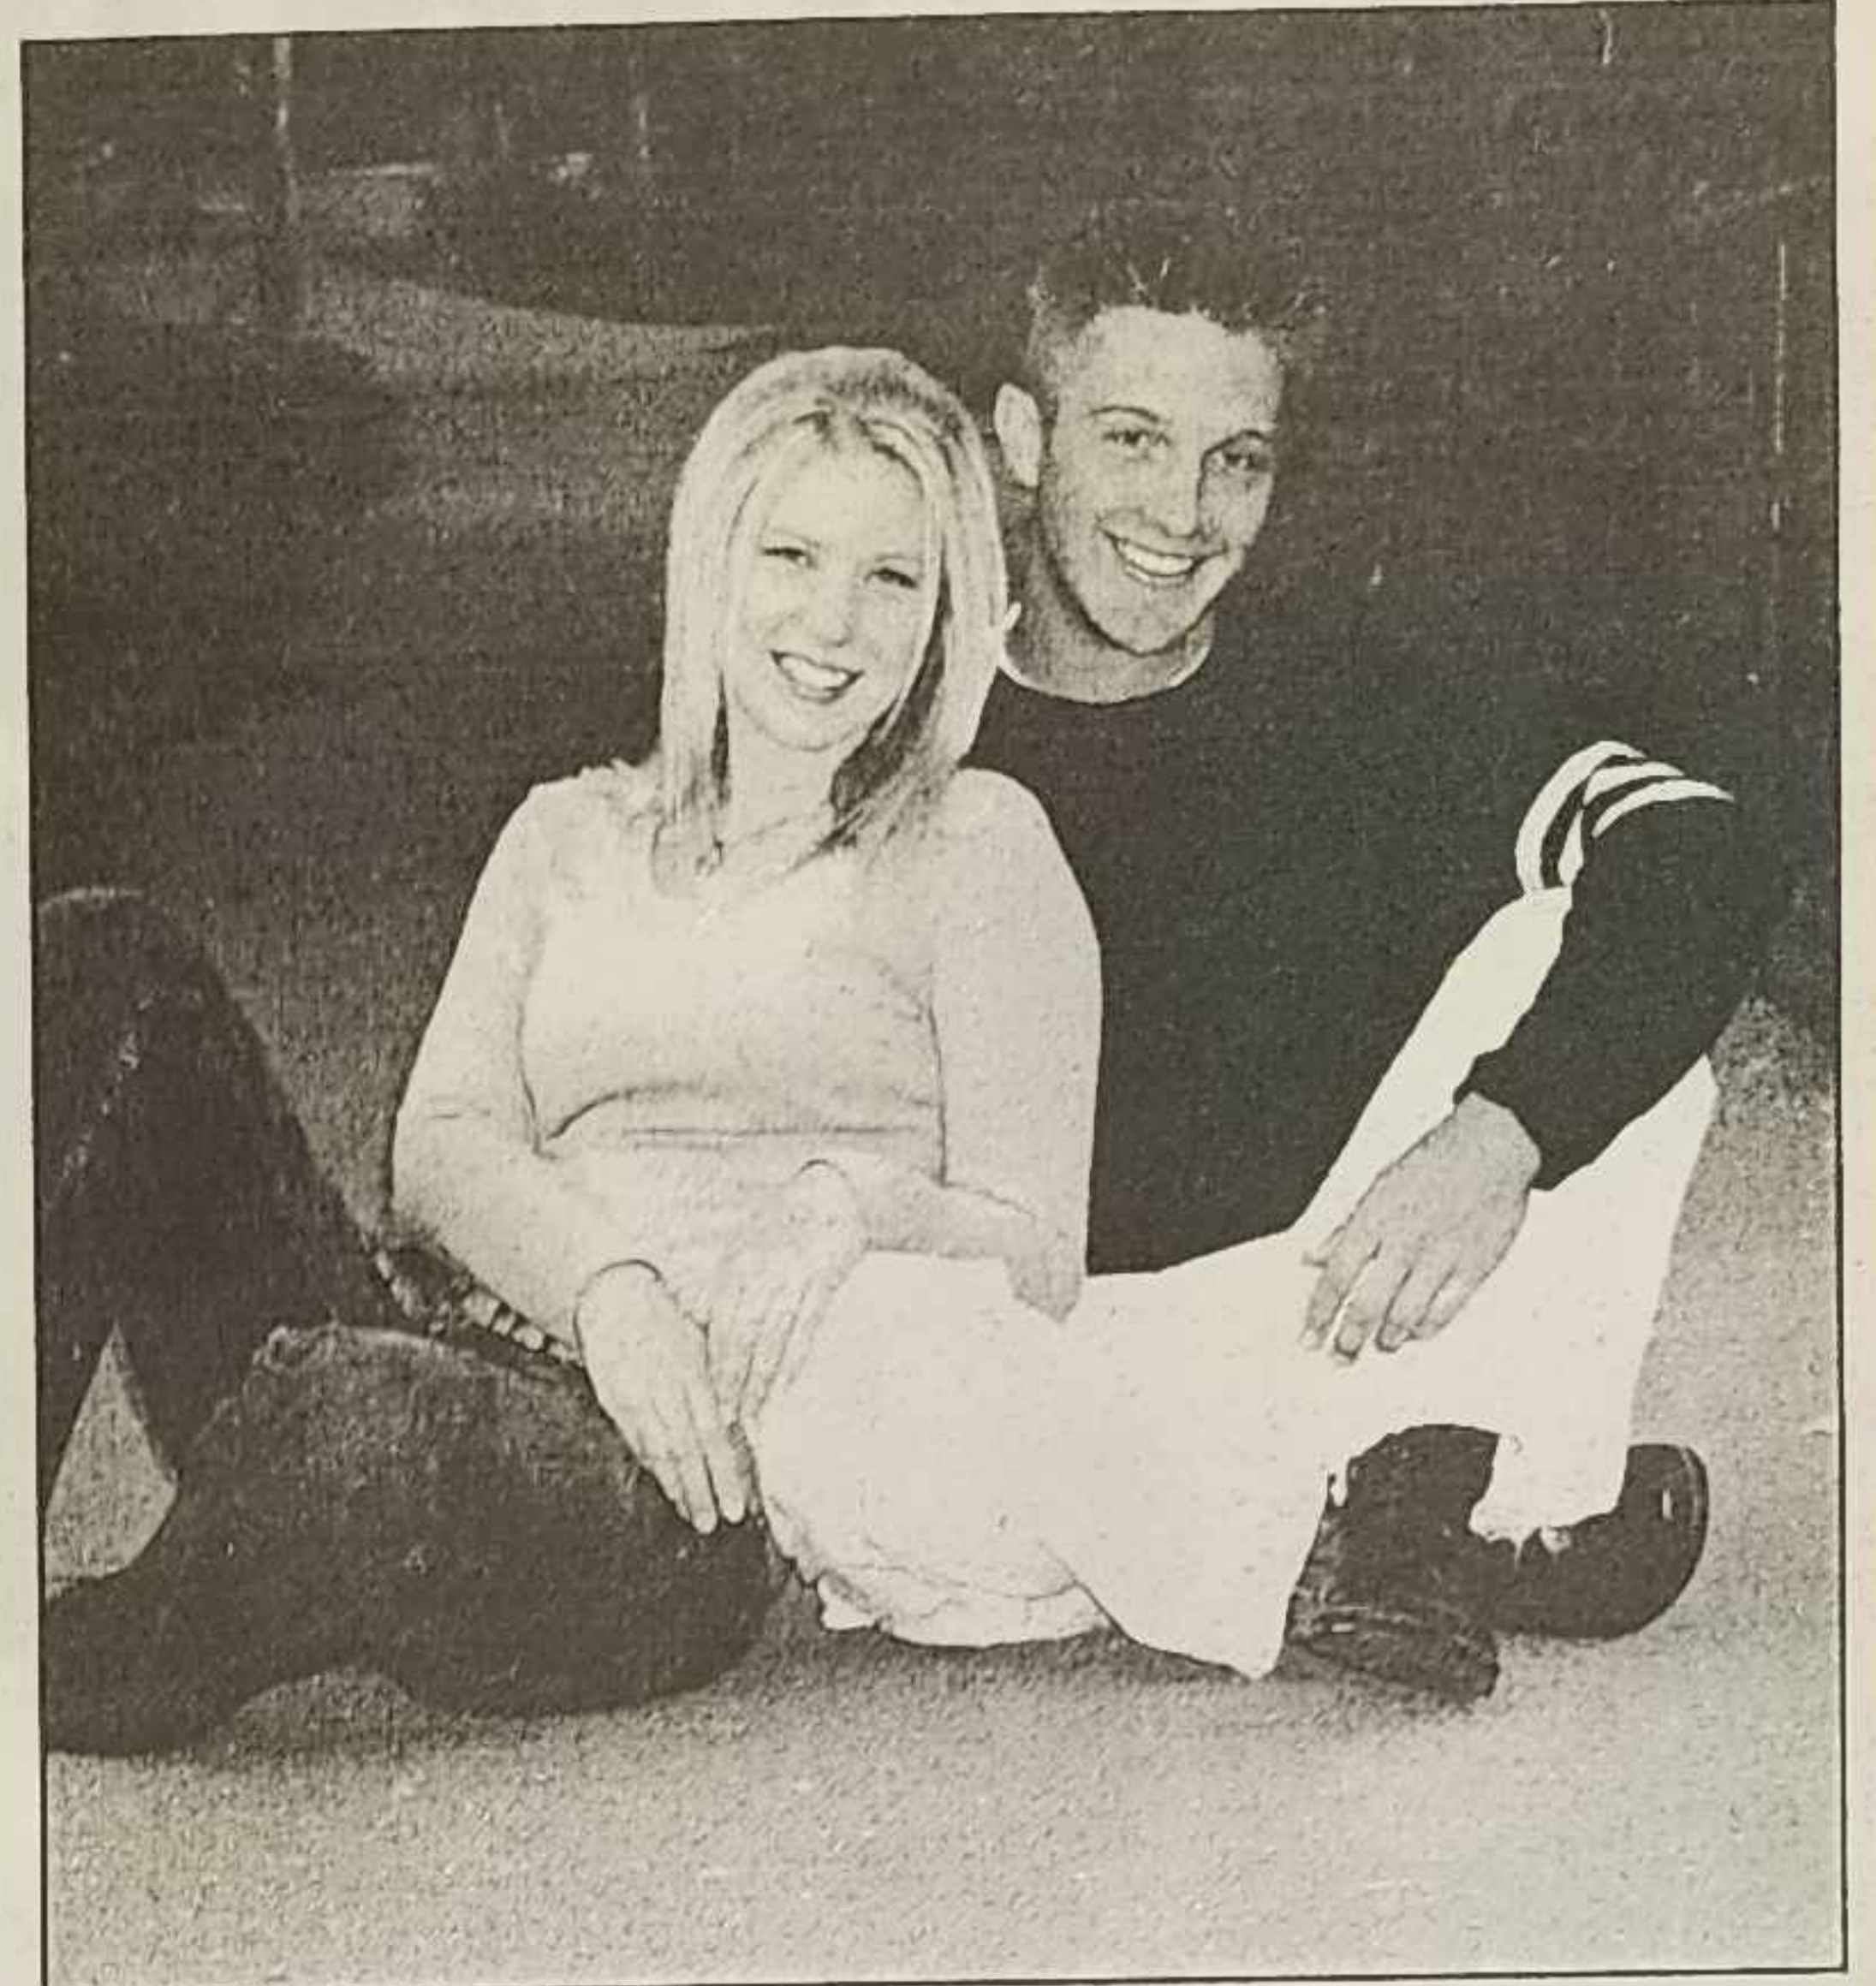

The most grievous disaster came with the 9-11 terrorist attack when Jim was asked to go to Ground Zero in New York to serve as a government liaison representative. If no one can figure out what to do, they go the government liaison rep who has to make things work. Because of the ban on flights at the time, it took Jim four days to get to New York.

When he arrived at Ground Zero it was a true "reality check" to see the monumental task ahead. The area hit was fifty some blocks but you only saw ten to twelve square blocks and there was no food to be had in the entire region. They weren't allowing any trucks in the area as they couldn't take a chance on someone blowing up the bridge or tunnel. Therefore, no food could be trucked into the area. The National Guard initially assisted in getting materials across the bridge but not nearly enough to carry all the supplies that were needed.

The troops needed 400 blankets and pillows which were not available. They called the Red Cross government liaison office which arranged for the supplies to come from New Jersey via the

Pandemonium Wrestling to Feature Coach Aupperle

KHS student, Ross Kuehl, right, gives the go-ahead to Kewaskum High School varsity wrestling coach Dennis Aupperle, as he stands up to one half of the World Tag Team Champions, Farmer Vic, at the last Pandemonium Wrestling show. Aupperle will be in the corner of the challengers as they battle the champs in the main event of a big show this Saturday, May 1st, at Skate Country. Submitted Photo

Kewaskum High School wrestling coach Dennis Aupperle will play a key role as Pandemonium Wrestling returns to West Bend this coming Saturday night, May 1st, at 7:30 p.m.

Aupperle will be in the corner of Dinn T. More and a secret tag team partner, as they challenge for the MAW World Tag Team Championship in the main event of an action packed six match show at Skate Country, located at 1950 Main Street in West Bend.

Pandemonium Wrestling is returning to the area after a highly successful debut earlier this year. The much anticipated main event will feature World Tag Team Champions Col. Blatnick and Farmer Vic defending their titles in a special "Falls Count Anywhere" contest. At the last show, Aupperle constantly berated the champs, and now finds himself as a key player in the contest.

Tickets for the event are only $12 and kids tickets (for those under age 12), are half-price. Tickets are available at the door the night of the event. Don't miss your chance to see Pandemonium Wrestling, as it returns to the area, this Saturday night, May 1st, at Skate Country in West Bend.

KM Symphony Pops Concert May 14

The Kettle Moraine Symphony brings its best show of the 2003-04 season to the stage in its annual Pops Concert May 14 at the Schauer Arts and Activities Center in Hartford and May 15 at the Washington County Fair Park. Both performances are at 7:30 p.m.

This year the Pops Concert will showcase the tunes and lyrics of Gilbert and Sullivan in an expanded program featuring the Madison Savoyards, Wisconsin's only G&S performing troupe and one of the oldest in the nation. Music from "H.M.S. Pinafore," "Pirates of Penzance," "The Mikado," and other operettas will provide a great evening of entertainment and listening enjoyment.

"This is our major event of the year, and we've planned a wonderful program," said Mark Koenig, KMS Executive Director. These are great operettas and special arrangements to please most every concert-goer. We're especially proud to be joined by the Savoyards, who have exclusively presented G&S productions for more than 40 years."

The Kettle Moraine Symphony is the area's only symphony orchestra for over 35 years, growing artistically and performing great music for audiences in West Bend and surrounding communities. Seating 60 of the area's finest musicians, its concerts inspire an enrich the arts in Washington County, and special efforts showcase Wisconsin talent and encourage young people in their musical interests.

Reserved seat tickets for the May 14 performance are only $15 and can be ordered directly from the Schauer Center box office by calling 262-670-0560.

For the May 15 Fair Park performance, tickets for reserved table seating are only $25. Call 26-334-3469 for more information on this special performance and how to purchase tickets. For full-table reservations (party of eight) at the Fair Park, ticket prices will be discounted by 20%. Both venues offer free parking, easy access for all, and beverage service.

Don't miss out on this great musical event! Early orders get the best seats!

The person who says it can not be done should not interrupt the person doing it.

Volunteer Center Hosting Computer Recycling

The Volunteer Center of Washington County is hosting a Used Computer Collection for those of you who are doing your spring cleaning and finding old computer equipment. Citizens and companies can, for a small handling fee, drop-off any used computer equipment they have to be recycled. There is a nominal handling fee for participating in this program, and the fee structure is as follows: $5 each for computer CPU's, monitors, printers, laptops and scanners; $2 each for keyboards; mice, cables and external drives are no charge.

Each citizen or company is responsible for blanking their computer hard drive to ensure the privacy of their own information. Computer Recycling is planned from Wednesday, May 5th through Monday, May 10th at the Volunteer Center office in West Bend at 239 N. Main Street. The times for drop off of equipment that would normally be discarded are as follows:

- Wed., May 5th, 9 am - 6 pm
 - Thur., May 6th, 9 am - 6 pm
 - Frid., May 7th, 9 am - 3 pm
 - Sat., May 8th, 9 am - 3 pm
 - Mon., May 10th, 9 am - 6 pm
- The Computer Recycling Program is available to all area residents and businesses. Old computers and computer systems are refurbished and sold at a low cost to non-profit and government agencies for use in educational and training programs.

Discarded equipment is linked together to form complete working systems. Any equipment that cannot be restored is broken down and used for parts. The program is an economical and ecologically sound way to get old computers out of the way for new technology.

Give your old computer a new lease on life - recycle it! Call the Volunteer Center at 262-338-8256 for more information.

Koch Selected to Participate in Scholastic Classroom Magazine Meeting

Mary Koch

NEW YORK - Scholastic, the world's largest publisher of educational magazines with 34 titles for grades Pre-K through 12, hosted its annual classroom magazine teacher advisory board meeting at Scholastic's worldwide headquarters in New York City on April 23-24, 2004. Mary Koch, a teacher at Kewaskum High School, is one of 33 teachers from around the country who has been selected to participate in this year's advisory board meeting where teachers will share with Scholastic's editors their classroom experiences with the magazines, and their curriculum needs and instructional goals.

Since Scholastic began publishing classroom magazines 83 years ago, Scholastic editors have partnered with teachers to ensure that every issue provides high-quality, high-interest coverage of current events and content-area information to help students understand and learn about the world around them. Mary will provide valuable feedback on Scholastic Choices®, a life skills magazine for students in grades 7-12. The advisory board will also focus on:

- Junior Scholastic®, social studies and current event magazine for students in grades 6-8;

- The New York Times UP-FRONT®, teen news-magazine for grades 9-12;

- Scholastic Action®, literature magazine for below level readers in grades 7-12;

- Scholastic Science World®, science magazine for grades 7-10; and

- Scholastic Scope®, literature magazine that builds reading and writing skills for grades 6-8.

"Just as teachers have come to rely on Scholastic Classroom Magazines for our age-appropriate reporting of current events, curriculum-based content, and up-to-the-minute support for classroom lessons, our editors rely on teachers to provide feedback on how our magazines can best be aligned to their curriculum, engage their students and help them develop exciting, educational lessons," said Rebecca Bondor, Editor in Chief, Scholastic Classroom Magazines. "The advisory board is a wonderful opportunity for our editors to interact directly with teachers, who we view as partners when creating our magazines, and to learn how the magazines can continue to deliver the most effective teaching materials and student resources."

Scholastic is the largest publisher of educational magazines with 34 publications for grades Pre-K through 12, reaching over 25 million students and teachers across the country. Teachers rely on these publications to enhance instruction in such subjects as science, reading and language arts, math, social studies, current events, history, geography, world languages and art. Scholastic News Online (www.scholastic.com/news), the magazine's online companion gives teachers, students and parents an additional resource with which to learn about and discuss current events in the classroom and at home.

Scholastic (NASDAQ: SCHL) is the world's largest publisher and distributor of children's books. Scholastic creates quality educational and entertaining materials and products for use in school and at home, including children's books, magazines, technology-based products, teacher materials, television programming, film, videos and toys. The company distributes its products and services through a variety of channels, including proprietary school-based book clubs, school-based book fairs, and school-based and direct-to-home continuity programs; retail stores, schools, libraries, and television networks; and the company's internet site, www.scholastic.com.

FFA Rabies Clinic Held

On March 30, the Kewaskum FFA Chapter held their annual Rabies Clinic at the Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic. People brought in their dogs and cats to be vaccinated for rabies. The turnout was great!

Doctor Ogi vaccinated over 150 dogs and cats! This number surpassed their goals and previous rabies clinic attendance.

The FFA would like to thank all of the people who brought their pets to be vaccinated. They helped to raise money for the scholarship. They would also like to thank the Ogi family and their staff for the use of their clinic and for supporting the FFA.

The Kewaskum FFA hopes to see everyone next year!

KES Students Participate in Modern Woodmen Speaking Contest

It's a self-esteem prescription for students...better known as the Modern Woodmen School Speech Contest, which helps develop confidence in the participants by providing a valuable personal, academic and community experience.

Students from Kewaskum Elementary School participated on March 31 in the contest. All participants were commended by local contest organizers for their involvement, and each received a certificate for their hard work.

The first place winner was Kate Winkler, second place winner was Ashley Thiemer and the third place winner was Austin Luedtke. Their names will be engraved on the school's plaque, and each of them received an individual plaque.

Gold pins were also given to the next seven ranking finalists. They were: Leah Gullickson, Stephen Knoll, Megan Gavin, Shawna Enright, Matt Zorn, Christine Bohn, and Sam Miller.

According to Jerry Beine, local Modern Woodmen representative, nearly 100,000 students annually take part in the School Speech Contest, which is an important part of the curriculum of teachers around the country. The contest helps young people develop public speaking skills.

Founded in 1883 as a fraternal benefit society, today Modern Woodmen of America offers financial services and fraternal member benefits to individuals and families throughout the United States.

FFA Judging Contest Held April 3

The Kewaskum FFA sent five teams to participate in a district judging competition on April 3. This contest took place at Fox Valley Technical College in Appleton.

The teams that went were the Ag Mechanics, Dairy, Horse, Livestock and Dairy Products. The contest was very challenging for everyone.

The animal judging teams had to judge and place four classes of animals. They also had to give oral reasons to the judge on why they placed a certain class the way they did. In addition, the Dairy team had to evaluate pedigrees and place them from most desirable to least. The Dairy Products team evaluated different dairy products, and the Ag Mechanics team took a test on mechanics in agriculture.

All of these competitions were very tough, but the teams from Kewaskum did well. The Ag Mechanics team took second place with Adam Vogt, sixth, Lee Schmidt, seventh, Levi Spaeth 17th and Steve Juech in 37th.

The horse team also placed second in their category. Allison Janz was second, Adam Janz was third, Kim Krogman was 38th and Erika Norem was 69th.

The dairy team took sixth place out of 37 teams. Emily Cahoon was ninth, Shannon Dwyer, 21st, Michelle Weber, 45th and Lisa Beck, 79th.

The livestock team took 10th place with Adam Schladweiler in 18th, Jesse Michals in 48th and Claire Spang in 51st.

Finally, the dairy products team did an excellent job for their first competition. Clayton Stoffel placed seventh and Zach Rate placed 29th.

All of the teams qualified for the State Competition in Madison. This activity will take place on April 30. Good luck to everyone who is going!

Every heart that has beat strong and cheerfully has left a hopeful impulse behind it in the world, and bettered the tradition of mankind.

Eckert Visits Farmington Elementary School

KHS Students to Attend World Affairs Seminar

United States Army Specialist 2nd Daniel Eckert talks to Farmington Elementary School fifth graders on April 16.

United States Army Specialist 2nd Daniel Eckert is currently on leave from the Army. On Friday April 16th, he stopped by Farmington Elementary School to say thank-you to the fifth graders!! This past fall the fifth graders raised money to purchase phone cards for Eckert and members of his company.

Mitch Luedtke donated $10.00 that would have gone into his savings account. Kelsey Koller gave her lawn-mowing money. While Brad Conroy donated his state coin collection.

After saying his thank-you and sharing the appreciation of his company, Eckert answered the students' questions about life in Iraq as a soldier.

Many students were interested in how sand affected his days; Eckert replied "We had sand in our boots, in our food, when you'd breath it was crunchy."

Eckert brought a few pictures and money to show the students. He even shared some of the Iraqi customs. One of these customs was kissing on the cheek to greet friends; this drew giggles from the students. They asked Eckert if they tried to kiss his cheeks and his response "Yeah, but I didn't let them. They don't understand when you tell them to stay back for safety reasons.

Many students were curious about the fighting and attacks. Eckert explained that many attacks are from improvised bombs thrown as soldiers drive past. This tactic caused Eckert to be thrown from a bus. Eckert stated, "I was bumped and bruised but not enough to earn a purple heart."

Another area that fascinated the students was the heat. Eckert stated that the sun rose around 4:30am and did not set until 10pm. It was so bright you had to wear sunglasses. The hottest temperature was 154 degrees. This heat caused his face to peel in the wind and blistered his hands.

Since some Iraqis are hiding behind people in crowds, it was essential to always wear his army issued brown T-shirt to identify himself as a soldier.

Students were also interested in how much water a soldier carried. Each soldier carries a backpack containing 3 liters of water and two canteens that hold on liter each.

Eckert shared that he crossed the border on day five of the war. His mission was escorting generals. He drove a Bradley and is a back-up sniper. After this, he was part of the peacekeeping force around Baghdad. When asked if he liked his job, Eckert stated "Yes." Luke Kopeschka asked "Is it scary?"

Eckert's response "Yes, but it's your job."

Elizabeth Vogt

Ashley Mellenthin

The Kewaskum Lions Club is pleased to announce the selection of Elizabeth Vogt, daughter of Ralph and Lea Vogt, Ashley Mellenthin, daughter of David and Joanna Mellenthin and David Figge, son of Deborah Strigenz, to attend the 28th World Affairs Seminar. The seminar will be held at the University of Wisconsin - Whitewater, June 13-18, 2004.

The World Affairs Seminar is a unique opportunity for high school students to be introduced to some of the most perplexing global issues and problems. Approximately 20% of the seminar participants will be high school exchange students representing some 50 countries.

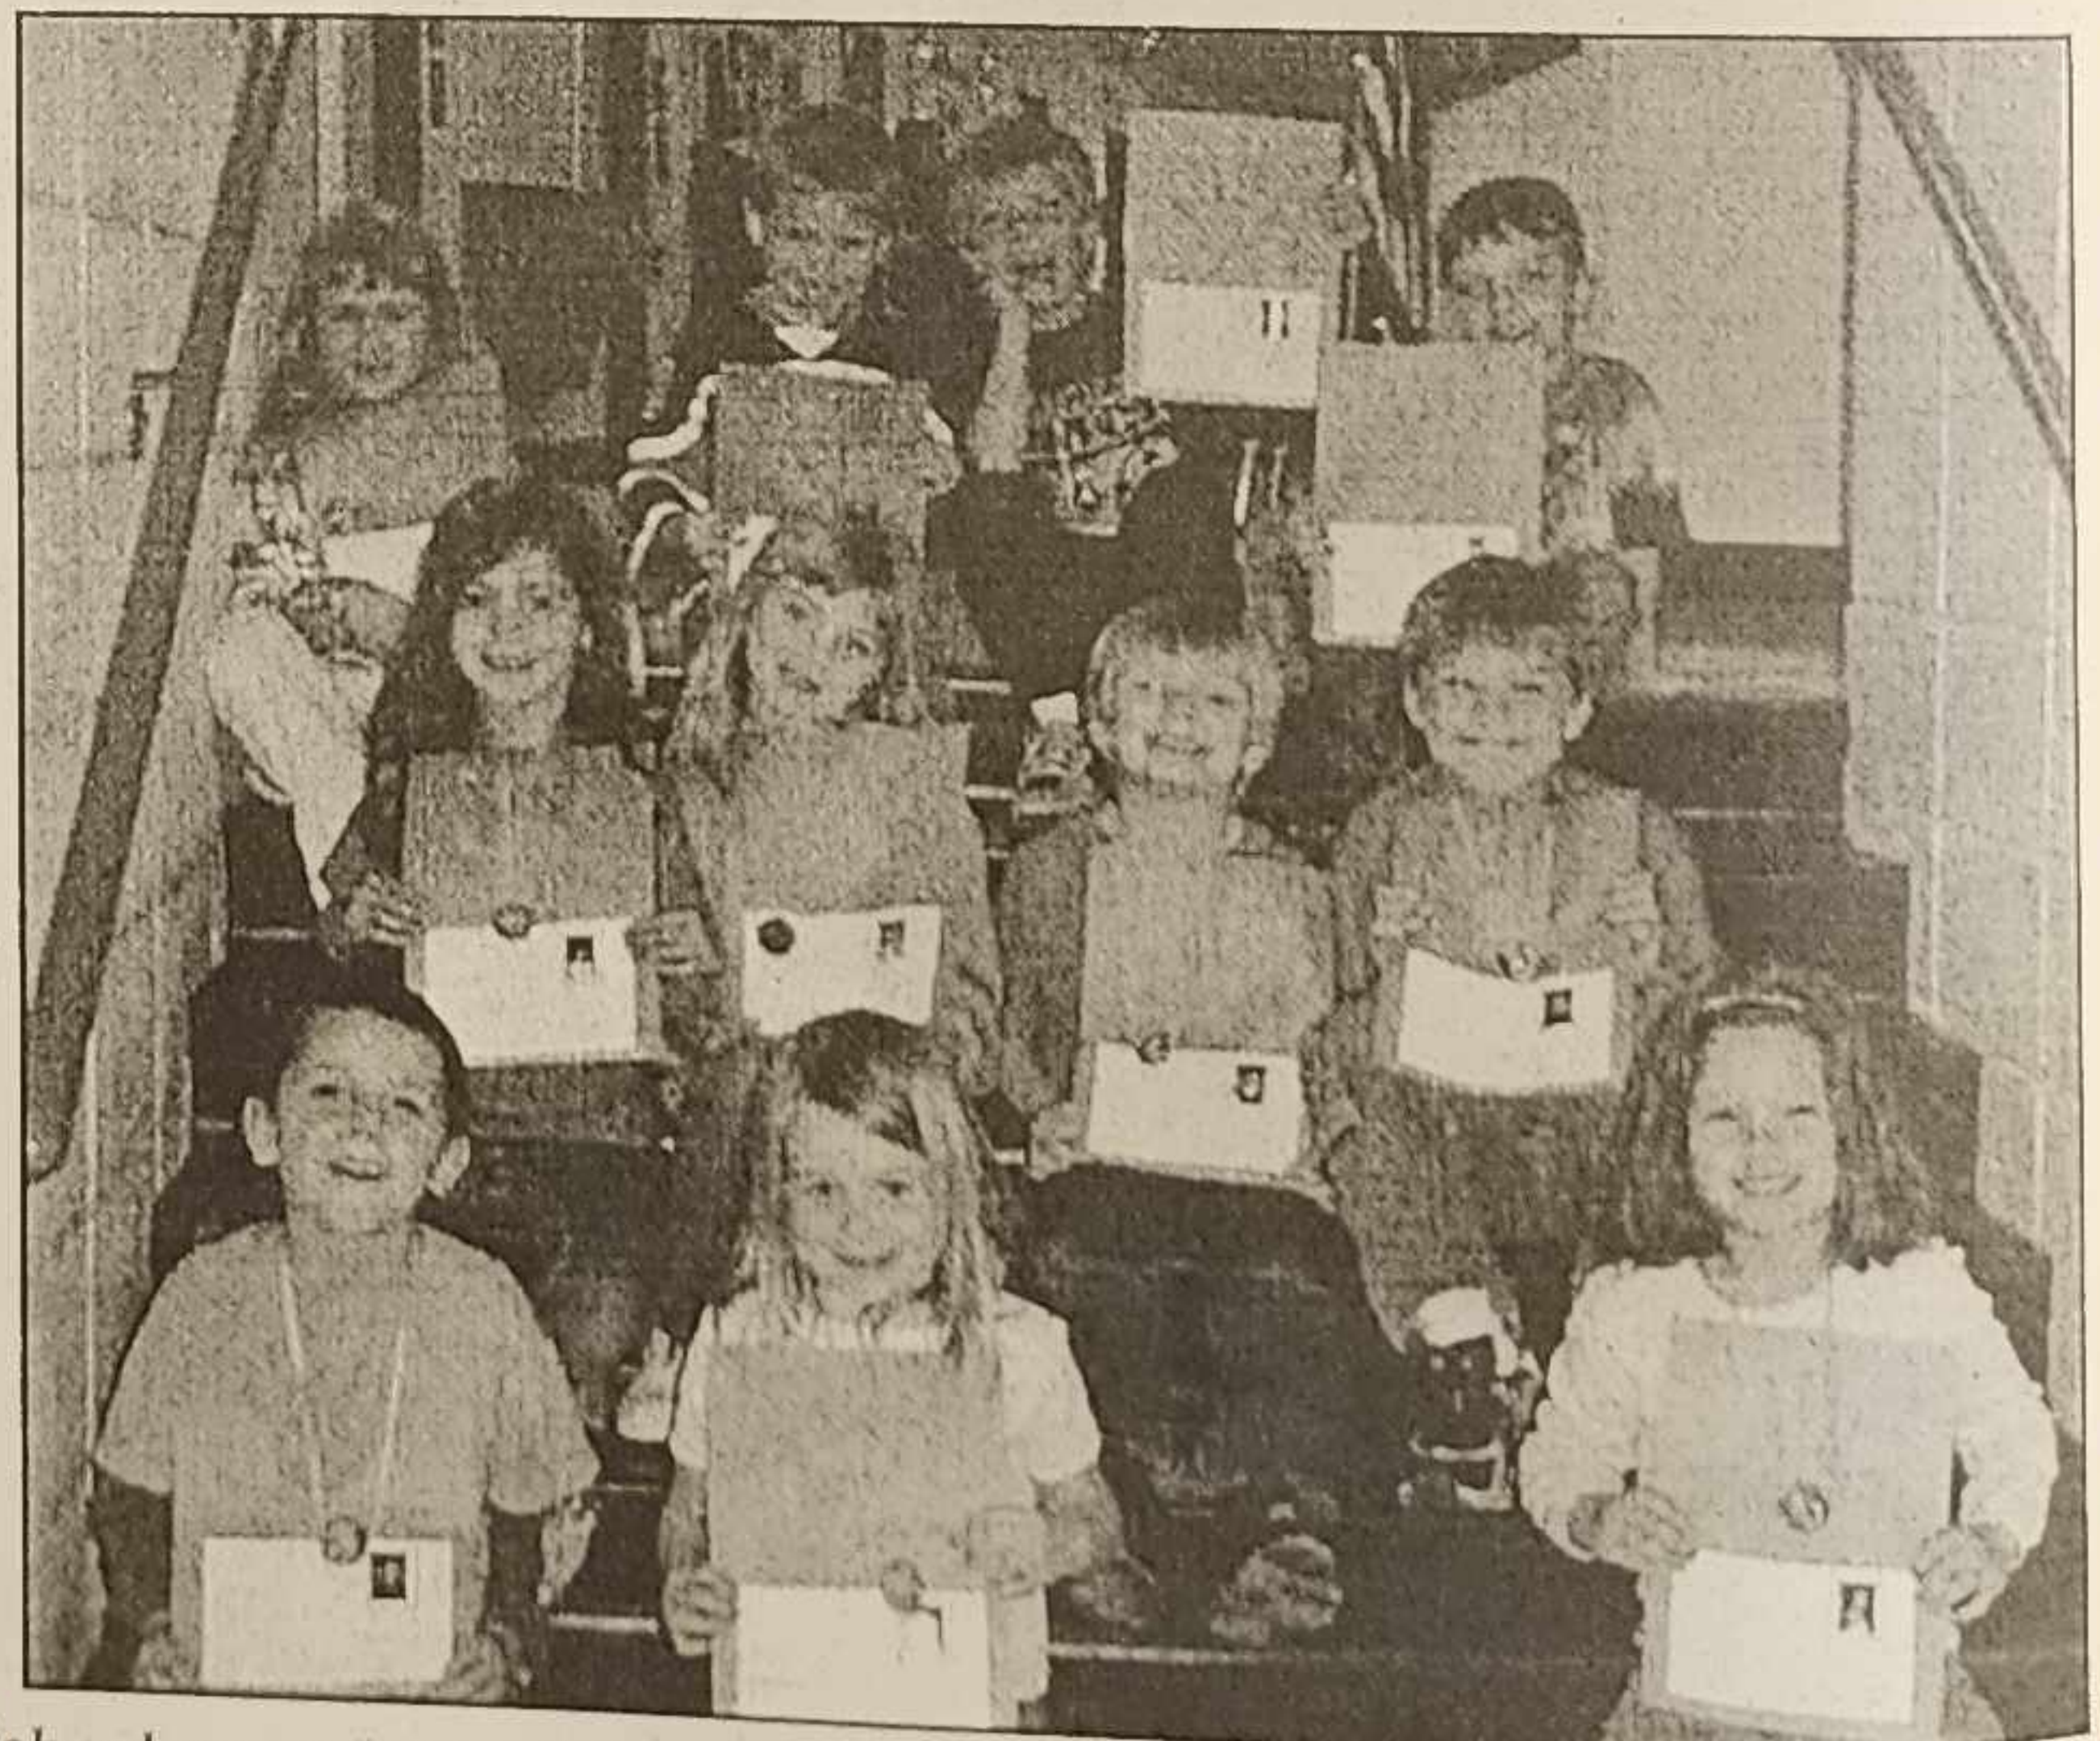

The following are comments from two Kewaskum High School students who participated in last year's seminar. Eric Vogt stated, "the World Affairs Seminar was an extraordinary experience. It allowed me to interact with young adults from across the globe. It truly was a memorable experience."

Jennifer Simmonson stated, "the World Affairs Seminar was an amazing experience. Everyone was very friendly and open to discuss world issues. Everywhere you turned there were smiles and hellos." Jennifer felt she got to know and understand so much more about world issues.

David Figge

The Kewaskum Lions hope that this experience will help our students search for peaceful solutions to conflicts wherever they may occur.

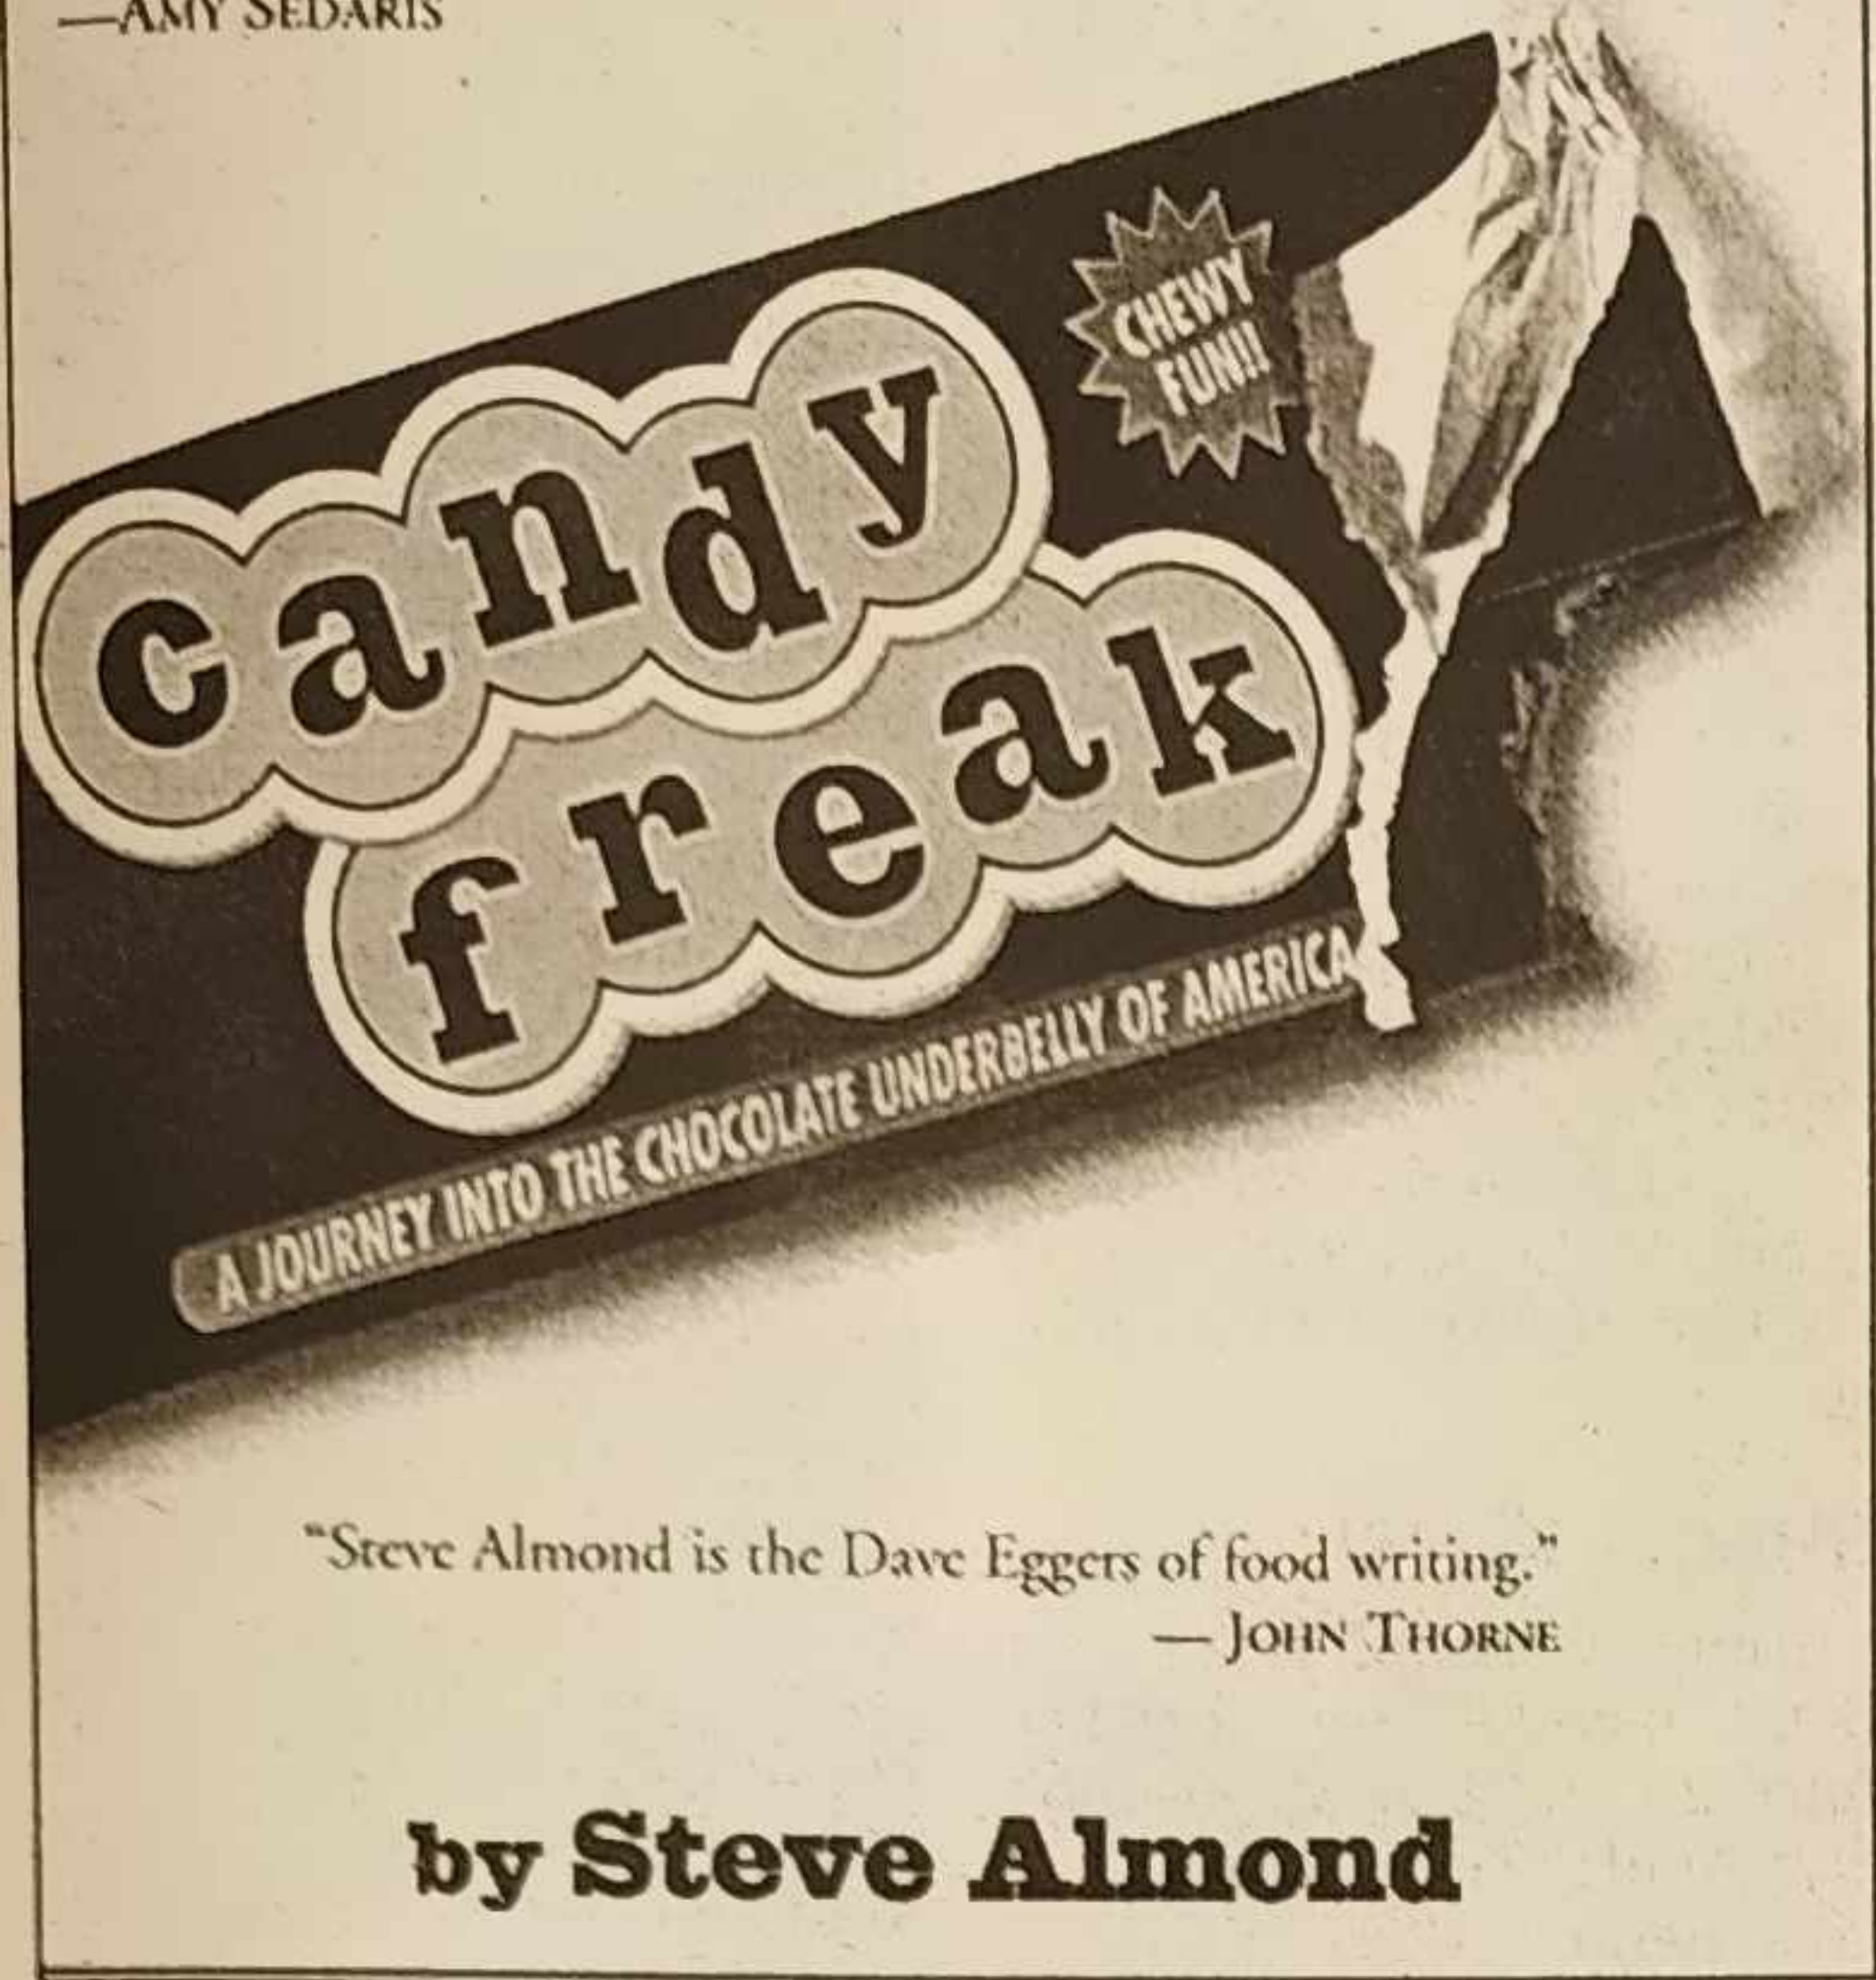

The kindergartners in Mrs. Rohrer's class at Farmington Elementary School were busy this past week. They were learning how to care for the Earth. The class spent time cleaning up the school grounds, singing songs about lending the Earth a hand, eating Earth-friendly snacks - such as veggies and dip, and brainstorming other ideas about how children can do their part. They also made an Earth necklace, shown above, to remind them to lend a hand to keep the Earth a healthy and happy place.

Candy Freak
By: Steve Almond

"I got a real sugar rush and cluster headache reading this bittersweet book by Steve Almond-joy, the sugar daddy himself. I won't sugar coat it—this book is one sweet treat."
—AMY SEDARIS

nia (Big Hunk and Abba-Zaba), Almond takes you on a pilgrimage to find the small candy makers who are still hanging on, still making the candy you remember from your childhood. And did you ever wonder why you can't find your old favorites anymore, even if you know they're still made? The truly sad and outrageous part of this book is the little-known explanation for that. Hint: it's all about money.

Aside from the biography / travelogue aspect of "Candy Freak," there are familiar names in this book that will make your taste buds dance. Necco Wafers. Sixlets. My personal long-gone favorite, the Milk Shake Bar, is mentioned and mourned. Lik-M-Aid, Pop Rocks, Jujubes, Dream Bars, Boston Baked Beans, Mike & Ikes, even a 1930's candy bar called Chicken Dinner are all in this book.

Author Steve Almond knows his candy, and one could certainly call him a connoisseur. His loving descriptions of chocolate sounded like a fancy wine aficionado's ravings. Undoubtedly, you will remember many of your favorite childhood candies while reading this book. Undoubtedly, you will crave something sweet while learning about how chocolates are made. And undoubtedly, you will laugh, because "Candy Freak" is a slightly nutty, tasty little book.

Way back when you were in school, you probably learned that there are four basic food groups: meats, vegetables, fruits and grains. That's what the ladies who served your school lunch would probably have told you, anyhow. Savvy people know that there are other, more important, basic food groups: chocolate cake, chocolate candy, chocolate chip cookies, and chocolate frosting. If you agree, you're a person after my own heart and someone Steve Almond, author of "Candy Freak" (c.2004, Algonquin Books of Chapel Hill) would also like to meet.

Growing up, Almond (yep, that's his real name) says he was a lonely, geeky boy with an almost obsessive love for sweets. His infatuation with candy was cultivated by his father, a man who also had a huge fondness for confections, who loved to mix up a batch of homemade fudge or marzipan, and for whom candy was a way to keep the peace in the family.

Almond spent much of his childhood looking for ways to get more candy, and as he grew up, he never outgrew his attachment to sweets. As an adult, he drove his friends crazy, talking about candy. He asked strangers about their favorites. He began to hoard certain kinds of chocolates. When Caravelle bars were discontinued, Almond began a quest to find out if anyone else was anguished by this grave mistake.

While searching for the reason behind the discontinuation of Caravelle bars, Almond learns that other really popular, fantastic candy bars are also disappearing at an alarming rate. He also finds that he can actually tour candy factories, see how candy is made, and even - oh yes - even get free samples. From Idaho (Spud Bar) to Sioux City, Iowa (Twin Bing), Nashville (Goo Goo Bar) to Kansas (Valomilk) to Califor-

Governor Doyle Announces Spring Challenge 2004

Linda Walter, Washington County Health Officer, is encouraging all county residents to join Governor Doyle's Spring Challenge 2004 to get active. The Governor is urging adults and kids of all ages to become more physically active, by registering via a new website - www.wisconsinchallenge.org.

Walter reports a recent phone survey commissioned by Aurora Health Care and done in partnership with the Washington County Health Department found that 53% of adults in the county report insufficient activity and 59% of the adults were overweight. She states, "Unfortunately, you don't need a survey to know that as a society we need to get more active and modify our diets to promote a better energy balance." The Healthy Washington County Committee also identified obesity and lack of physical activity as a priority in its 2001-2006 Community Improvement Plan.

Governor Doyle has said, "Over 60% of Wisconsin's adults are overweight or obese, and many are not physically active. We need to change this. While this Challenge is not focused on weight loss, it is about motivating everyone in Wisconsin to get active. Good nutrition, balanced lifestyle choices, and regular exercise are all components of being healthy." Obesity is poised to overtake smoking as the leading cause of preventable death in the United States, according to new research released last week by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The Wisconsin Governor's Challenge is an easy-to-use and free program designed to encourage everyone in Wisconsin to get active. Residents can log on to www.wisconsinchallenge.org to register themselves and their family, friends, or co-workers for the program. They can then use the website to record their activity on a daily or weekly basis. Those who don't use the internet can fill in a paper log. "All it takes is 30 minutes of activity a day for adults and 60 minutes a day for kids, five days a week for six weeks," Governor Doyle said. "From gardening to running, there are over 100 activities to choose from, so there's something for everyone - whether you are just getting started, or staying active is already an integral part of your life." Registration is confidential and you can monitor your own progress privately or compare your activities with others if you register as part of a group.

Coast to Coast Disasters

Krudwig in front of the remains of a house after the wildfires that ripped through Southern California.

Pandemonium reigned at ground zero and Jim, as government liaison had to dig in to get help and get things moving. Disaster rescue workers, firemen, policemen, and utility workers, had to wear breathing masks with canisters that were supposed to last 60 hours. But with the tremendous amount of pollution in the air, the canisters were useless within a day.

The Red Cross brought in 2,500 pounds of dog food alone as the rescue dogs were very valuable there. Workers would follow behind the dogs with flashlights and wait for them to "sniff" people out so they could be rescued, hopefully alive. Later they sniffed out bodies. Special boots were needed for the dogs' feet as the fire ashes were still burning or hot. Supplying boots, raingear, and flashlights, in itself was a major project, but getting food and water into the area was a horrendous task. Jim worked tirelessly as did so many other thousands of volunteers.

However, because he had to have his mask off to talk to the disaster workers, he breathed in too much of the polluted air and had to go home after three weeks due to the development of a severe cough. Jim was lucky to come home to recuperate but the breathing problems for the New Yorkers were far from over.

A few months passed, and you cannot keep a good guy down, so when Jim was sufficiently recovered from his cough, they asked him to go back again to New York, as trained help was much needed. He went back as a Mass Care worker.

One of his major jobs this time around, for example, was to supervise the distribution of approximately 10,000 donated air purifiers to the people who lived in the immediate grid area around Ground Zero. These air purifiers were just another example of how businesses came forward and donated these huge quantities to assist at ground zero.

Jim said that because of the 9-11 holocaust, the Red Cross went broke, as no money was coming back into the Red Cross, particularly on a local basis. Most aid was going directly to New York and other disasters around the country were going without assistance. Today the Red Cross is still financially hurting and had to cut back considerably, making it necessary to work primarily with donations. It is slowly coming back, but people only have so much to give to the Red Cross and other charities.

It is also hard for the Red Cross to get back in the "black" again when disasters do not take a vacation! In 2003 alone, the Red Cross covered more than 600 disasters around the country and Jim responded to calls four times for major disasters. In March, he went to a flooding disaster in Roanoke, Virginia.

In May, he assisted following tornadoes that devastated Jackson, Tennessee. In October, after Hurricane Isabel hit several Atlantic coastal states and the shore of Maryland so hard it lifted ships onto the dock at Baltimore, he was also called out. The biggest calamity, however, came in November with the Southern California wild fires.

Jim and his wife, Judy were vacationing in Branson, MO when he got the call. He left on November 2, for San Bernadino, California where he was assigned to serve as a logistics specialist at the American Red Cross Disaster Relief Operation headquarters at the old Norton Air Force Base. After a few days, he volunteered to go down to El Cajon, near San Diego, where the fires had hit particularly hard.

In response to this one small part of the overall fire disaster, the Red Cross provided shelter for 12,608 homeless evacuees and provided almost 68,000 meals and snacks. Sixteen Red Cross Emergency Response Vehicles (ERVs) provided food, drinks and snacks to evacuees and emergency workers as well as moving equipment and supplies to assist with the relief operation. An additional fourteen Red Cross ERVs from adjacent states were recruited and deployed toward Southern Cali-

When Jim arrived in Southern California, there were seven major fires, but the fire particles became airborne and blew with the wind to start other fires, so by the end, he said, there had been fifteen large fires. There were 3500 homes burned to the ground and many more fire damaged.

Jim recently was called to go up to the flooding disaster in Antigo where more than 400 people were being fed and many stayed in a shelter until they could return to their homes. When compared to large disaster he has been on, Jim said that the Antigo flood was small but to those who were driven from their homes, it was very large. He said that even a single house fire disaster can disrupt a family for a long time. They often lose everything and have to start over. The Red Cross is there to help.

Jim feels that we hear and see these things on the news, but detach ourselves because it does not affect us directly. According to Jim, when you see the burned-out shells of homes, or those lost in floods or tornadoes, when people have nowhere to go, it becomes very real.

Jim's training and background has made him an integral part of the Red Cross Disaster Relief program. He is only one of many much needed volunteers in many areas. Although he attempts not to be gone more than four times, that usually takes about three months of his time each year.

In the meantime, he continues to offer his services to the American Red Cross by conducting classes on disaster training. Thus, other people who are interested can attend class and begin to volunteer themselves.

In the Red Cross, approximately 95% of the people are volunteers with the majority in the 50's to 70's age group. There are some younger people who are very much needed, but they are limited because they have jobs back home. Anyone interested in helping their fellow man can call the West Bend Red Cross Office at 262-334-5687.

Ten years ago there were only 8,000 or 9,000 nationally trained in disaster work. However, with the multitude of pestilent occurrences, the Red Cross knew they needed many more trained people. Thus they now have some qualified people in each of their many units around the country. The West Bend Chapter has about ten trained volunteers who are available to assist when local disasters occur in Kewaskum, Jackson, Newburg, Allenton and the surrounding area.

When there are such compelling causes in the Red Cross, Jim does not like to hear people who say they are "bored" in their retirement. Jim's burning ambition can only be calmed by the "warm, fuzzy" feeling he gets from helping his less fortunate fellow man in their time of great need. He says that he gets far more out of his participation than he puts into it.

OBITUARIES

ALVINA ANN 'BEANIE' MALICKI

Alvina Ann Malicki, nee Kabacinski, age 84, died Friday, April 23, 2004 at Bay Area Medical Center, Marinette.

She was born on March 16, 1920, in Green Bay to the late Jacob and Eva (Ostrenga) Kabacinski.

She married Arthur W. Cordes on April 27, 1939, who preceded her in death in 1959. She then married Leo Malicki on December 29, 1962. He preceded her in death in 1977.

She is survived by a son, Gerald Cordes; sisters, Irene (Stanley) Piwowarczk and Bernice Koza, both of Crivitz; half-sisters, Adeline Peters of California and Rose Witkowski of Greendale; brothers, Michael (Sylvia) Kabacinski, Chester (Ramona) Kabacinski, both of Crivitz and Norbert (Deloris) Kabacinski of Middle Inlet. Also surviving is a sister-in-law, Rose Kabacinski and a brother-in-law, Paul Gocht; three grandchildren, David (Elaine) Cordes of Campbellsport, Donna (Glenn Pietschmann) Page of Kewaskum and Diane Haunfelder of Slinger; seven great-grandchildren; two great-great-grandchildren; many other relatives and friends.

She was preceded in death by a brother, Anton Kabacinski; a sister, Agnes Gocht; four half-brothers, Raymond, Henry, Joseph and Edward; a half-sister, Helen Kabacinski; a brother-in-law, Emanuel Koza; and her daughter-in-law Suzanne Cordes.

Frinds may call at the Rhodes-Charapata Funeral Home, Crivitz on Saturday, May 1st, at 11 a.m. with the memorial service at 12 p.m. followed by a brief burial service at St. Mary's Cemetery, Crivitz. The Reverend William Stengel will officiate.

The Rhodes-Charapata Funeral Home, Crivitz, is serving the family.

JUDITH A. HEINEN

Judith A. Heinen, nee Justen, of West Bend, died on Friday, April 23, 2004 at St. Joseph's Community Hospital at the age of 64.

She was born on Aug. 18, 1939 in Milwaukee to the late Edwin W. and Janet F. (nee Kendrick) Justen.

On Oct. 27, 1962, she was united in marriage to Ronald H. Heinen at the former Holy Angels Catholic Church in Milwaukee. In 1974, the couple settled in West Bend. In 1979, she became employed at Kohl's Department Store.

Judy was very active and involved in many different crafts. She helped to organize craft and bake sales at her church and was also an organizer for various craft fairs. She began selling craft items out of her home, which eventually led to "Christmas in the Country," drawing customers from various parts of the state. This craft sale featured many of her own items but also included the work of many other crafters. She was also involved in the Magic Marketplace and many major craft fairs throughout the states.

In addition to her crafting, she was a collector of teddy bears, including "Cherished Teddies," and also loved dark chocolate, dark winter nights and traveling. She and her husband traveled most of the country, but would venture out West every year to visit family.

She was a member of the Homemakers Club.

Survivors include her husband; three children Michael E. (friend Jackie Johnson) and Scott A. (Mary), both of West Bend, and Cindy (Larry) Zingsheim of Kewaskum; four grandchildren David, Ashley and Sara Heinen and Samantha Zingsheim; one sister, Patricia A. (Charles W.) Walters of Belgrade, Mont.; sisters-in-law, one brother-in-law, nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

Visitation was at the funeral home on Monday, April 26, from 4 p.m. until a prayer vigil at 7:30 p.m. and also Tuesday morning from 8 until 9 a.m.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, April 27, at 9 a.m. at the Schmidt Funeral Home, West Bend, with a Mass of Christian Burial at 9:30 a.m. at St. Mary's Immaculate Conception Catholic Church with Fr. Robert Bales presiding. Burial followed in Holy Cross Cemetery, Milwaukee.

In Memory

In loving memory of BEULAH BACKHAUS, passed away on April 29, 2003, one year ago and is sadly missed by her family.

A mother lies in peaceful sleep.
Her children shed silent tears,
as she enters into her eternal home,
Their hearts are filled with fears.

But she will raise again when called,
And we will greet her where,
The days are never cloudy,
And there is no earthly care.

So let us dry our tear-stained eyes,
And look to God above;
Whose kindness in time of need,
Will replace our loss with love.

Tuttle Creek Expands to Accommodate More Children

Shown above is the newly renovated two-year-old room. The room sports cheery colors and a spacious play area.

Tuttle Creek Learning Center, Inc. has recently expanded its facility at 1623 Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum, going further into the Peterson Warehouse. With the addition of 1,200 square feet, the center now covers a total of 3,100 square feet. In addition to the new carpet, vinyl, and other improvements, the expansion allows them to split the age groups to a further degree and to accommodate more children.

Construction started in November and was completed in April.

They have divided the children into four rooms by age as follows: six weeks old to one year, toddlers one to two, two year olds, and children three to four years old. This enhanced classroom set-up allows space in each room for eating and sleeping. This is an advantage all the way around as more specific activities can now be carried out in conjunction with the capabilities of each age group.

The center takes full day children up to five years old. It also offers before and after school care through age eleven for the parochial schools. At Kewaskum Elementary School, Tuttle Creek Learning Center provides "Club Cool" for ages six through eleven in the cafeteria for the before and after school hours.

Audra Beyer started the business in August of 1997 at the same location. She added "Club Cool" in 1998. In 1999, an additional infant and toddler room was added. In 2002 the outdoor play area was expanded to include more specific equipment for toddlers under two. Thus, the history of Tuttle Creek has been one of continual growth and progression with their newest addition putting another notch to their successful ladder.

Most of the teachers in the center are college majors in Early Childhood Education and are serving their internship there before graduation.

Daring ideas are like chessmen moved forward; they may be beaten, but they may start a winning game.

Village Board Meeting Minutes

Regular Meeting
April 5, 2004
8:00 p.m.

The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in Regular Session in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Mathew A. Heiser presided. Trustee Harry Roecker and Trustee Robert Stoltzmann asked to be excused and was absent; all other Trustee Members were present. A quorum was present.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion by Trustee Andy Pesch, seconded by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the minutes of the March 15, 2004 meeting were approved as printed.

Mr. Timothy Rohlinger, Mr. Timothy Heberer and Mr. Alan Ratzel were present to discuss future needs or improvement for the KKCP ball diamonds. The process regarding how to have funds allotted in the budget to accomplish such improvements was discussed. Further discussions will be scheduled with list requesting work brought in for discussion.

Discussion was held on the replacement of the scoreboard on the NE diamond funded by the Jeff Sabish Memorial Ball Tournament and Athletic Association along with the potential of moving the existing scoreboard to the SW diamond. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board authorized the replacement of the scoreboard and relocating of the old scoreboard.

A public hearing was held on the application of the Kewaskum Athletic Association, Inc., Kewaskum Kiwanis Park, Kewaskum WI for a Class "B" Fermented Malt Beverage License for the period commencing April 15, 2004 and end October 15, 2004. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Andy Pesch and carried by the majority roll call vote, the Board closed the public hearing. Roll call vote was 5 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 2 "Absent."

The Board reviewed sealed bids received for the Riverview Drive Sanitary Sewer, Water Main and Street Improvements Phase 1 project as opened on April 1, 2004 at 2:00 p.m. by the Village Engineer as follows:

Mainline Sewer & Water Inc., Wauwatosa, WI	$397,001.40
Super Excavators Inc., Menomonee Falls, WI	$515,772.50
Globe Contractors Inc., Pewaukee, WI	$610,024.50

It was noted the engineers indicated everything was in order regarding the low bidder and that the bid was approximately 28% below the estimates.

The Board reviewed sealed bids received for the Riverview Drive Sanitary Sewer, Water Main and Street Improvements Phase 2 project as opened on April 1, 2004 at 2:00 p.m. by the Village Engineer as follows:

Advance Construction Inc., Green Bay, WI	$1,450,532.20
Mainline Sewer & Water Inc., Wauwatosa, WI	$1,580,512.03
Musson Brothers Inc., Brookfield, WI	$1,634,658.50
Globe Contractors Inc., Pewaukee, WI	$1,814,605.50
Super Excavators Inc., Menomonee Falls, WI	$1,867,887.50

It was noted the engineers indicated everything was in order regarding the low bidder and that the bid was approximately 20% below the estimates.

Fire Chief Mark Groeschel asked to be excused and was absent.

Police Chief Richard Knoebel asked for permission to sell the 2002 Ford squad car. On a motion by Trustee Thomas Piwoni, seconded by Steve Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the sale of the 2002 Ford squad car.

Director of Public Works, Jerry Gilles reported on the following:

1) Informed the Board that the parks are already in use and ball is being played on the diamonds.

2) Reported that over the winter of 2003/2004 the water utility experienced nine water main breaks, of which two were on Clinton Street and two were on Riverview Drive.

3) Water tower # 1 is currently being filled and should be placed into service next week.

On a motion by Trustee Thomas Piwoni, seconded by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the issuance of the Operator's Licenses for 2004 upon proper payment of fees and documentation for the following:

Trustee Thomas Piwoni, Chairperson of the Protection & Public Safety Committee had a couple of items for discussion as follows:

1) The parking of vehicles at the intersection of Parkview Dr. and Third St.. On a motion by Trustee Andy Pesch, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board authorized painting a section of curbing on the southwestern corner of the intersection of Third Street and to place a two hour parking restriction on the east side of Third Street between the northern most two driveways. It was also noted additional parking restrictions should be reviewed over the summer months for all of Third Street.

2) The placement of stop signs on the new streets exiting onto Edgewood Road within Woodland Creek. On a motion by Trustee Andy Pesch, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the placement of four stop signs on the new streets existing onto Edgewood Road within Woodland Creek. It was noted that the State DOT/County would install the signage existing onto a Federal, State or County Highway.

Trustee Steve Scheunemann, Chairperson of the Park & Recreation Committee announced a scheduled meeting for April 19, 2004 at 7:15 p.m.

Board Representative for the Plan Commission, Trustee Andy Pesch reported to the Board on the Plan Commission meeting of March 23, 2004 the following:

1) Review of some alternate language for the proposed Zoning Ordinance regarding building height limitations and signage.

Board Representative for the Library Board, President Mathew Heiser announced a scheduled Library Board meeting for April 12, 2004 at 6:30 p.m.

Administrator Schmidt, on behalf of Trustee Robert Stoltzmann, the Mid-Moraine Municipal Association Legislative Committee Representative, announced a meeting scheduled for April 14, 2004 at 7:00 p.m. in the Village of Jackson. President Mathew Heiser asked for someone to volunteer to attend on behalf of the Village of Kewaskum.

Trustee Andy Pesch reported on the Mid-Moraine Municipal Association meeting of March 24, 2004.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt reviewed the letters and information to be sent out regarding the informational meeting for the Riverview Drive (CTH "S") Phase 1 & Phase 2 projects, scheduled for April 22, 2004 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building Annex, 1308 Fond du Lac Avenue. The Right of Entry and consent and waivers to be used on the projects were also discussed.

Review of sealed bids received for the Riverview Drive Sanitary Sewer, Water Main and Street Improvements Phase 1 project as opened on April 1, 2004 at 2:00 p.m. by the Village Engineer and as recommended by the Village Engineers. The low bidder was recommended. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the contract with Mainline Sewer and Water Inc., Wauwatosa, WI the low bidder for the Riverview Drive Phase 1 project at a cost of $397,001.40.

Review of sealed bids received for the Riverview Drive Sanitary Sewer, Water Main and Street Improvements Phase 2 project as opened on April 1, 2004 at 2:00 p.m. by the Village Engineer and as recommended by the Village Engineers. The low bidder was recommended. On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the contract with Advance Construction Inc., Green Bay, WI the low bidder for the Riverview Drive Phase 2 project at a cost of $1,450,532.20.

On a motion by Trustee Steve Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Andy Pesch and carried by majority roll call vote, the Board approved the application of the Kewaskum Athletic Association, Inc., Kewaskum Kiwanis Park Kewaskum, WI for a Class "B" Fermented Malt Beverage License for the period commencing April 15, 2004 and end October 15, 2004 as heard at public hearing. Roll call vote was 5 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 2 "Absent."

On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote the Board appointed Dennis Butz as the agent for the aforementioned.

On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Steve Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the waiving of the building permit fee for the Robert G. Romaine American Legion Post # 384 regarding the construction of a handicap ramp at 1438 Fond du Lac Avenue.

Administrator Daniel S. Schmidt reviewed the status of the "WELCOME TO KEWASKUM" sign on USH "45." There have been several new donations and community support for an attractive sign to the entrance of the Village. The Village received $1,000.00 from Regal Ware Inc., $200.00 from the Kewaskum Historical Society Inc. and $100.00 from the Kewaskum Women's Club. Donations of shrubs and trees have been donated as well. It was noted that the Administrator and Director of Public Works have been discussing how to put together specs to bid the project. After consideration it was determined that the best direction to proceed with is to do the work in house, meaning the Administrator and Director of Public Works would oversee said work and the Department of Public Works would complete said work. On a motion by Trustee Andy Pesch, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved the landscape work to be completed by the Department of Public Works and that if any funds remain from the donations they would go towards other Village signage.

Action was taken on a Proclamation of Recognition of Administrative Professional's Week April 18-24, 2004 as attached hereto:

On a motion by Trustee Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and carried by the majority roll call vote, to adjourn. Roll call vote was 5 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 2 "Absent".

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Water Quality Certification

Docket # 3-SE-2004-67-0106MW

Canadian National Railroad, 1625 Depot Street, Stevens Point, WI 54481 has filed an application with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources for water quality certification under Section 401 of the Federal Clean Water Act, Section 281.15 and 281.37, Wisconsin Statutes, and Chapter NR 299, Wisconsin Administrative Code.

The project is located in the Sections 18 and 19, Township 12 North, Range 18 East, in the Town of Wayne, Washington County. The property includes existing railroad right of way. The project consists of creating a parallel set of tracks ("siding extension") immediately adjacent to the existing tracks. The 11,000-ft. siding extension will impact 1.04 acres of 83K- (broad-leaved deciduous, scrub/shrub, palustrine) type wetlands.

The Department has evaluated this proposal and determined that this activity will meet the standards found in Section NR 299.04, Wis. Admin. Code, and certification is granted.

If you would like to know more about this project, contact Benjamin Callan, Milwaukee Service Center, 2300 N. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Drive, Milwaukee WI 53212. Reasonable accommodation, including the provision of informational material in an alternative format, will be provided for qualified individuals with disabilities upon request.

The following conditions are part of the certification:

1. The application shall notify the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources of his intent to start the discharge at least five business days prior to the beginning of the discharge. Within 5 business days after the completion of the discharge, the applicant shall notify the Department Resources of the completion of the discharge.
2. The applicant shall allow the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources reasonable entry and access to the discharge site to inspect the discharge for compliance with the certification and applicable laws.
3. Appropriate erosion control measures must be in-place and effective during every phase of this project.
4. Your erosion control plan must meet or exceed the standards found in the Wisconsin Construction Site Best Management Practices Handbook.
5. The applicant is responsible for obtaining any permit or approval required by municipal zoning ordinances and by the Corps of Engineers before starting the project.
6. Authorization hereby granted by the Department is not transferable.
7. You must supply a copy of this permit to every contractor associated with this project.
8. No other portion of the wetland may be disturbed beyond the area designated in the plans dated 12-09-03.
9. The siding extension approval does not authorize any railroad interference of existing road, drive, or trail crossings.
10. You may not remove vegetative cover earlier than 24 hours before grading commences.
11. The removal of vegetative cover and exposure of bare ground must be restricted to the minimum amount necessary for construction. Areas where soil is exposed must be protected from erosion by seeding and mulching, sodding, diversion of surface runoff, installation of straw bales or silt screens, construction of settling basins, or similar methods as soon as possible after removal of the original ground cover as described in the Wisconsin Construction Site Handbook (BMP's).
12. Construction must be staged so that no more than 2000 linear feet of topsoil is exposed at any one time.
13. Appropriate erosion control measures must be in place and effective at the end of each working day.
14. This permit has been issued with the understanding that any construction equipment used is the right size to do the job, and can be brought to and removed from the project's site without unreasonable harm to vegetative cover or fish or wildlife habitat.

15. No portion of the bank or upland that is altered or disturbed and, as a result, unstable may remain unprotected for more than 7 days.

16. The de-watering plan must be approved by the Department in writing before any on-site de-watering may take place.

17. You are not allowed to temporarily or permanently stockpile excavated or fill material in the wetland.

18. You must maintain a log of the erosion control inspections, repairs made, and rain events. This must be made available to Department personnel upon request and must remain on the project site at all times work is being performed.

19. Site stabilization between October 1 and April 15 requires sodding or seeding and mulching (with a non-toxic tackifier).

NOTICE OF APPEAL RIGHTS

If you believe that you have a right to challenge this decision, you should know that the Wisconsin statutes and administrative rules establish time periods within which requests to review Department decisions shall be filed.

To request a contested case hearing pursuant to section 227.42, Wis. Stats., you have 30 days after the decision is mailed, or otherwise served by the Department, to serve a petition for hearing on the Secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 7921, Madison, WI, 53707-7921.

A request for contested case hearing must follow the form prescribed in section NR 2.05(5), Wis. Adm. Code, and must include the following information:

1. A description of the Department's action or inaction which is the basis for the request;
2. The substantial interest of the petitioner which is injured in fact or threatened with injury by the Department's action or inaction.
3. Evidence of legislative intent that this interest is not to be protected;
4. An explanation of how the injury to the petitioner is different in kind or degree from the injury to the general public caused by the Department's action or inaction.
5. That there is a dispute of material fact, and what the disputed facts are;
6. The statute or administrative rule other than s. 227.42, Wis. Stats., which accords a right to a hearing.

This notice is provided pursuant to section 227.48(2), Wis. Stats.

Dated at Milwaukee Service Center on April 23, 2004.

NOTICE OF THE BOARD OF REVIEW FOR THE VILLAGE OF KEWASKUM

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Review for the Village of Kewaskum, of Washington County, Wisconsin, shall hold its first meeting in the Council Room Meeting Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street on Thursday, May 13, 2004 commencing at 1:00 PM to 3:00 AM.

Please be advised of the following requirements to appear before the Board of Review and procedural requirements if appearing before the Board:

No person shall be allowed to appear before the Board of Review, to testify to the Board by telephone or to contest the amount of any assessment of real or personal property if the person has refused a reasonable written request by certified mail of the Assessor to view such property.

After the first meeting of the Board of Review and before the Board's final adjournment, no person who is scheduled to appear before the Board of Review may contact, or provide information to, a member of the Board about the person's objection except at a session of the Board.

No person may appear before the Board of Review, testify to the Board by telephone or contest the amount of assessment unless, at least 48 hours before the first meeting of the Board or at least 48 hours before the objection is heard if the objection is allowed because the person has been granted a waiver of the 48 hour notice of an intent to file a written objection by appearing before the Board during the first two hours of the meeting and showing good cause for failure to meet the 48-hour notice requirement and files a written objection, that the person provides to the Clerk of the Board of Review notice as to whether the person will ask for removal of any Board members and, if so, which member will be removed and the person's reasonable estimate of the length of time that the hearing will take.

When appearing before the Board, the person shall specify, in writing, the person's estimate of the value of the land and of the improvements that are the subject of the person's objection and specify the information that the person used to arrive at that estimate.

No person may appear before the Board of Review, testify to the Board by telephone or subject or object to a valuation; if that valuation was made by the Assessor or the Objector using income method; unless the person supplies the Assessor all of the information about income and expenses, as specified in the manual under Sec. 73.03(2a), that the Assessor requests.

The Village of Kewaskum has an ordinance for the confidentiality of information about income and expenses that is provided to the Assessor under this paragraph which provides exemptions for persons using information in the discharge of duties imposed by law or of the duties of their office or by order of a court. The information that is provided under this paragraph, unless a court determined that it is inaccurate, is not subject to the right of inspection and copying under Section 19.35 (1) of Wis. Statutes.

The Board shall hear upon oath, by telephone, all ill or disabled persons who present to the Board a letter from a physician, surgeon or osteopath that confirms their illness or disability. No other person may testify by telephone.

Respectfully submitted,

STATESMAN SPORTS

Game Fish Season Opens May 1

MADISON - Saturday, May 1, is the opening day of Wisconsin's 2004 regular inland fishing season, and weather notwithstanding, it should be one of the best yet, the state's top fisheries official says.

"We've finally had a normal spring, Wisconsin's waters are brimming with fish, and anglers are ready to get out on the water after a long, cold winter," says Mike Staggs, director of fisheries management and habitat protection for the Department of Natural Resources. "Warm, sunny weather would be the icing on the cake."

Wisconsin has a lot of anglers and a lot of fish: nearly a quarter of adults fish, compared to 16 percent nationally, and Wisconsin is second only to Florida as the top destination for non-resident anglers. Non-resident anglers spent a whopping 3.74 million days fishing in Wisconsin, helping generate a total economic impact from sport-fishing of $2.3 billion and $90 million in sales, fuel and income tax revenue, according to the American Sportfishing Association.

Wisconsin anglers catch 48 million fish and keep about one-third of them, according to a 2000-01 mail survey.

Walleye and bass are the most popular targets, but anglers catch more panfish -- bluegill, yellow perch and crappie -- followed by walleye and largemouth bass.

Anglers from Wisconsin and elsewhere will have plenty to cast for opening day, May 1, when the game fish season opens on inland waters for walleye, sauger, and northern pike statewide. The largemouth and smallmouth bass southern zone opens May 1 with a minimum length limit of 14 with a daily bag limit of five fish in total. The largemouth and smallmouth bass northern zone opens for catch and release only from May 1 through June 18; from June 19 to March 6, 2005, there's a minimum length limit of 14 inches with a daily bag limit of five fish in total. The northern zone is the area north of highways 77, 64 and 29.

The musky season opens May 1 in the southern zone and May 29 in the northern zone, with Highway 10 the dividing line.

The seasons for rock, yellow and white bass, panfish, bullheads and rough fish, catfish, cisco and whitefish are open all year. Check the 2004-2005 Guide To Wisconsin Hook and Line Fishing Regulations for special regulations listed by county, for regulations on the Great Lakes and boundary waters, and for tributary streams to Green Bay and Lake Michigan.

Kewaskum Soccer Team Nipped by Sheboygan Falls

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

KEWASKUM — With moms and dads on hand for the annual Parents Night game, members of the Kewaskum High soccer team were determined to get a win on Monday against visiting Sheboygan Falls, but they fell just short.

Sheboygan Falls broke a 0-0 tie with a goal at 66:18, then held on for the 1-0 win.

The goal came on a long kick from the left side that got past Cora Werdemann near the right post.

"We played a well-fought game," KHS Coach Marie Lippe said. "Our defense played well. Katherine Hunter and Katie Uelmen played exceptionally good defense."

Going against the wind put the Indians on their heels for the first 40 minutes, but they managed to keep the Falcons away from the goal. "The first half was maybe 80-20 (percent in Kewaskum's half of the field.). It was a lot more 50-50 in the second half. We had maybe six shots on goal, but we just didn't have any power on them," Lippe said.

The offensive players lauded were Krystal Cochran and Danielle Yanke. "They played really well ... Danielle is such a hustler. She doesn't give up," Lippe said.

Kewaskum is now 1-5 in Eastern Wisconsin Conference play and 2-11 overall.

A tough tournament

There are times in athletics when a team is just plain outmanned, and that was exactly the case for the Kewaskum High girls' soccer team last Saturday when it played in the Washington County Tournament right after Eastern Wisconsin Conference matches against Kiel and Plymouth.

"They've got a lot of year-round players," Lippe said after finishing last in the tournament, which was held at Germantown.

To make matters worse, the Indians were without four regulars, who were participating in the state solo ensemble competition.

"We went 0-3, and we didn't score any goals," Lippe said.

On Thursday, April 22nd, the Indians lost to Plymouth 7-0.

"Plymouth is a great team with excellent ball control and speed," Lippe said, indicating she was proud of the efforts of her goalie and a couple other girls.

Werdemann had 15 saves, according to Lippe, who said, "She had one fantastic save when she came out on a one-on-one and dove for the ball and saved it."

Lippe went on, "Everyone played with a lot of heart and really hustled hard, especially Danielle Yanke and Cassie Delgado."

In the game against the Kiel Raiders on April 20, the score was 9-1. "We were completely outplayed," Lippe said.

ONE DOLLAR BILL

They say that the number 13 is an unlucky number. This is almost a worldwide belief. You will usually never see a room numbered 13, or any hotels or motels with a 13th floor. But think about this: 13 original colonies, 13 signers of the Declaration of Independence, 13 stripes on our flag, 13 steps on the Pyramid, 13 letters in the Latin above, 13 letters in "E Pluribus Unum," 13 stars above the Eagle, 13 bars on that shield, 13 leaves on the olive branch, 13 fruits, and if you look closely, 13 arrows. And, for minorities: the 13th Amendment.

Five Weekends of 'Marsh Melodies' Events Planned at Horicon Marsh

HORICON, Wis -- Visitors to Horicon Marsh this spring can shake off the last of their cabin fever by attending any or all of five consecutive "Marsh Melodies" weekends of spring activities and events designed to blend people with the bountiful wildlife and history of one of Wisconsin's preeminent marshlands.

"Spring brings with it a plethora of opportunities and beauty as wildlife awakens from its winter slumber," says Bill Volkert a Department of Natural Resources educator at Horicon Marsh State Wildlife Area.

The five Marsh Melodies weekends are intended to be a guide to the mysteries of nature at the marsh, Volkert says. The activities kick off Saturday, April 24 with a "Bats, Rats and Habitats" weekend, which includes a tour to the largest bat hibernaculum (cave site for overwintering bats) in the Midwest, an interactive frog program for the kids, and much more.

Other weekends include:

*May 1-2 - Native American History. Experts will provide presentations, stories and insights into the local cultural history, along with museum quality display of local artifact collections and a live archeological dig. Children's programs, an authentic buck skinnners camp, various activities and tours of the prehistoric effigy mounds in the area provide something for the entire family.

*May 7-10 - The 7th Annual Horicon Marsh Bird Festival. With more than 275 species of birds having been sighted at Horicon Marsh over the years, the Bird Festival offers numerous opportunities to see the abundant wildlife of the area. This event will offer walking and bus tours of the marsh with experts, demonstrations of bird banding, live presentations with hawks and owls, children's programs and many other opportunities to experience the birdlife of the marsh, which has been designated as a "Globally Important Bird Area". The weekend includes a 24-hour "Big Sit" during which participants will try to identify all the birds seen and heard from one area of the marsh during from midnight Friday to midnight Saturday.

*May 15-16 - Splendor of Wildflowers. Horicon Marsh's woodlands and nearby parks create a natural woodland display. Visitors will be able to hike the woods with experts to see and identify native wildflowers, learn about Wisconsin's natural communities and find out how to landscape with native plants. There will be also a Native Plant Sale.

*May 22-23 - Pedal & Paddle the Wetland. This weekend is devoted to the recreational use of the Horicon Marsh. Canoeing with the help of shuttle service and expert guides offers an opportunity to explore the interior of the largest freshwater cattail marsh in the U.S. There is no better way to truly experience the Horicon Marsh than to travel through it by water. The other way to experience Horicon Marsh is through bicycling and a Marsh Melodies Bike Tour will offer participants a 10 to 40 mile self-guided ride along the Wild Goose State Trail, around the Horicon Marsh and through the communities of Mayville, Horicon and Burnett. Pre-registration is required for the bike tour. Contact the Mayville Area Chamber of Commerce for details at (920) 387-5776.

Marsh Melodies is conducted through a partnership of public and private agencies, including the Mayville and Horicon Chambers of Commerce; Horicon Marsh Boat Tours; Friends of the Horicon Marsh International Education Center; Horicon Marsh Bird Club; Rock River Archeology Society; Mayville Main Street, Inc. and the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

UW-Fond du Lac to Offer Three on Three Summer Volleyball Camps

FOND DU LAC - Several volleyball camps for youth are being offered this summer through the Continuing Education Office at the University of Wisconsin Fond du Lac, in conjunction with Fond du Lac Volleyball Club.

The ninth grade volleyball camp for girls will run June 21, 22, 23 and 25, 6:30-8:30 p.m., and Saturday, June 26, 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. This camp is designed specifically to hone skills to prepare incoming freshman for try-outs. Athletes will review serving, passing, setting, hitting and defense. There is a limit of 32 girls. The fee is $59 and includes a t-shirt. Athletes registering for this camp and the 14th Annual Girls' Volleyball Camp will pay $100, a savings of $18.

The 14th Annual Girls' Volleyball Camp is for girls entering grades 9-12 and will be held June 29, 30 and July 1, 12:30-4 p.m. Participants will learn the fundamentals of setting, passing, blocking, serving and spiking. They will also be instructed on how to roll and sprawl safely. Offensive and defensive strategies will be covered. The goal of the camp is to develop athletes into skilled all around volleyball players. Enrollment is limited to 32 students. The fee of $59 includes a t-shirt. Athletes registering for this camp and the ninth grade volleyball camp for girls will pay $100, a savings of $18. The director, Pete Sorensen, is a USAV Level one and two National Certified Coach.

The grades, six, seven and eight volleyball camp for girls will run June 29, 30 and July 1, 8:30 a.m. - 12 p.m. Participants will receive individual and group instruction moving from single-skill drills into team concepts. Some volleyball experience is required. The fee is $59 and includes a t-shirt. The director is Pete Sorensen.

The grades six, seven and eight volleyball camp for boys will run July 26-30, 6:30-8:30 p.m. and Saturday, July 31, 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. This is a rookie camp specifically designed for boys who've never played competitive volleyball, but think they would like to give it a try. This camp will cover the basic of serving, passing, setting and spiking. The camp is intended to give participants a jump on the middle school league this upcoming winter. The fee of $59 includes a t-shirt.

For more information on any of these camps or to register, call 920-929-3622 or visit the UW-FdL website at www.fdl.uwc.edu/cont_ed.html.

Fishing With the Pros

BY MARK WALTERS

Hello Friends,

On a recent Mississippi River fishing trip, I met Bill Ortiz. Ortiz lives near Dodgeville and is a professional fisherman who last year won the Professional Walleye Trail (WPT) Angler of the Year award.

Ortiz invited me to spend a couple of days scouting Lake Winnebago and area waters for a WPT walleye tournament. I figured this was an excellent opportunity to learn something and accepted his invitation.

Saturday, April 17
High 74, Low 45

There are 120 professional fishermen and the same number of amateurs in this year's tournament. The tournament lasts three days. The total weight of each day's catch (up to six walleye per day) goes towards each professional's and amateur's chance to win.

Amateurs fish with a different pro each day. The pro with the greatest weight of fish caught at the end of the tournament wins $50,000, a lot of prestige and points toward the Angler of the Year award.

The amateur with the greatest total weight wins a $15,000 boat and receives a lot of valuable learning experience. This is just about how every pro in the circuit got started.

This morning, Bill Ortiz picked me up in his brand new 21-foot Tracker Tundra that is pushed by a 255-horse Mercury with a 15-horse Mercury kicker by its side. It beats the heck out of my '67 Star Craft pushed by a '69 25-horse Johnson.

Ortiz, like the other 120 pros working out of Winnebago this week, is trying to find fish that will make weight. They must measure 15-inches for the tournament even though the chain of lakes has no size limit.

Our first method of fishing would be planer boards and crankbaits - the bread and butter of tournament walleye fishermen. Bill Ortiz is partial to the Shap Rap. On this day, walleye are not hungry for crankbaits. We are fishing Lake Butte des Morts and it is incredible how many people are either fishing from shore or from boats.

Our next stop is on the Fox River between Winnebago and Butte des Morts. I learned something on this stop. While trolling among about 50 boats, we are working flies weighted with 1 1/2-ounce sinkers and no live bait. We picked up a half dozen walleye in the 13- to 16-inch range.

More importantly, we have several conversations with other fishermen who give us valuable information, telling Ortiz where walleye are being caught, how deep, and what on. In this business, one good tip can make you $50,000.

Monday, April 19
High 55, Low 40

Anybody who had enough iron in his system to fish today got beat up badly. We fished in a steady 30-mile-an-hour wind and headed up the Wolf River to Fremont to see if we could learn a thing or two. At this point, Ortiz and I have become comfortable with each other, and I have learned more about this line of work in two days than I have learned in the previous 43 years of life.

Once you have won a few tournaments, most of your gear, whether it is rods or boats, comes free or at a greatly reduced price. For manufacturers, there is no better or frequently-used source of advertising than endorsements from professional fishermen. Just Ortiz's tackle box and fishing rods are valued over $35,000.

I have come in contact with several pros and amateurs and honestly must say that I am caught up in the excitement of this week's tournament.

There is not a pro out here that was born into his or her present situation. A typical pro on the PWT circuit has worked a full-time job or still does and fishes whenever possible. Most cut their teeth on small, local tournaments and then go as an amateur in some big tournaments. This is basically done by sending in your name and check and hoping you make the list.

Once you go pro, you have to be a businessman as much as a fisherman to earn your gear and then, most importantly, you have to win or place well in tournaments.

Next will, I will write how Bill Ortiz does each day and I will also pick an amateur and tell you his results.

See ya on the water!

Kewaskum Boys Win Track Invite, Girls Take Fourth

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

KEWASKUM — Most good track teams are built around a solid foundation of seniors, but the upstart Kewaskum High boys team is getting winning efforts from talented sophomores and juniors. Younger runners like Nick Bartley, Zach VanWormer and Garrett Donath are picking up good points, along with the veteran Josh Meyer and junior Eric Nass. As a result, the Indians have become very competitive.

Zach VanWormer

In the April 23rd Indian Invitational, Kewaskum picked up 10 first places to outscore new Berlin West for the title, 95-92. Pewaukee finished third with 51 points, while Chilton came in with 31. Two of the biggest events for the Indians were the 400-meter dash and the 4x400 relay. VanWormer and Donath finished 1-2 in the 400, with respective times of 53 and .06 hundredths second (53.06) and 53.73.

"He really came on strong," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said, referring to VanWormer's finish after the race was a dead heat with 100 meters to go. "Zach just has another gear. He just goes then," Gosa said.

The foursome of Meyer, Donath, VanWormer and Nass posted an excellent time of 3:34.68 in the 4x400 relay. "The highlight there was Eric Nass, who anchored in 51.7," according to Gosa, who said, "We've got some good 400 runners."

The veteran coach also praised Nass for the way he is improving in the triple jump.

Nass won that event with a leap of 39 feet, 8 and 1/4 inches (39-81/4). "He improved by over one foot,"

Gosa said, reporting Nass, who just started triple jumping this season and is now just eight inches shy of the school record held by Mike Steinhardt.

Bartley was the top man in the 800 where he was clocked in a respectable 2:06.71, with teammate Meyer second in 2:09.48.

"He led the whole race," Gosa said about Bartley.

Meyer came back to win the 1,600 in a time of 4:52.43, while senior Mike Wagner doubled in the hurdles, winning the 110 highs in 17.46 and the 300 lows in 44.49.

Gosa was also tickled with the effort of Bob Gibson in the 3,200, an event where the Indians have previously had trouble finding points. With his time of 11:01.33, Gibson picked up a third, netting three team points.

"He put us in position to win the meet," Gosa said about Gibson.

Other notable efforts came in the following events: Josh Uelman, second in the 100-meter dash (11.95); Donath, first in the 200 (24.54); the 4x100 relay of Nate Steiner, Nass, Ross Stockhausen and Uelman, first in 46.72; and the 4x800 relay comprised of Matt Parent, Gibson, Justis Clayton and Zach Holm, 9:00.60; Luke Herriges, second in the high jump (5-10), Jacob Sabel, second in the long jump (17-06) and Scott Rhoads, second in the pole vault (10-6).

Competing without one of its aces, the KHS girls team had to settle for fourth place with 62 points. The competition was very close, with Chilton and Pewaukee tied at 70, and New Berlin West two points back at 68.

"Obviously the girls meet was very close," Gosa said, indicating hurdler and relay runner Rachel Dums was held out because of a strained quadriceps, and, "She definitely would have been a factor."

Junior Amanda Donath ran well, according to Gosa, who said her winning time of 1:01.2 was her best of the season, and she reached another goal when she came back with another 1:01 to anchor the 4x400 relay team to a second place in 4:28.07. The other girls on the quartet were Lindsey Keller, Amanda Magnus and Paige Thelen.

Amanda Magnus

Donath also added a third place in the 200, running the distance in 27.91.

Katie Patterson won the pole vault (8-0), while Magnus went 15-08 in the long jump, good enough for second place. "That's decent," Gosa said, reporting Ashley Turner "continues to improve" in the sprints, taking third in the 100 (14.14) and helping the 4x200 relay (Jessie Butler, Kayla McCormack and Magnus) to a win in 1:55.57.

Eastern Wisconsin and 0-3 overall.

"Mitch Paulus looks strong," KHS Coach Dan Ross said after the two matches. "He's 3-0 this year."

Mitch Paulus

After three matches this season, the Kewaskum High tennis team is still looking for its first victory. The Indians came very close to making a breakthrough on April 22nd when they split with visiting Kewaunee in singles but only managed to win one of the doubles matches and ended up on the short end of a 4-3 decision.

Senior Nic Luther and Sophomore Mitch Paulus gave the Indians a 2-2 draw in the singles matches. Luther cruised to a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Bill Rice, while Paulus didn't lose a single game in his 6-0, 6-0 blowout win at No. 4 over Eric Neumeier.

The junior duo of Nate Johann and Adam Ziebell, playing at No. 3, survived a long three-set competition over Andrew Baher and Paul Jorgenson for the lone victory in doubles.

In a marathon battle, the two Indians came out on top, winning the tie-breaker 7-6 (8-6) after splitting the first two sets.

Manitowoc Roncalli may not be strong in many spring sports, but the jets proved on Tuesday they are pretty adept when it comes to tennis.

Host Roncalli toppled the Indians 6-1 on Tuesday in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference match.

The lone winner that day for Kewaskum was Paulus, who overpowered John Daun 6-0, 6-1.

With the losses, Kewaskum's record stands at 0-2 in the

Also lauded was Luther, who runs into a little stiffer competition at No. 2 singles and still is currently 2-1.

"The doubles play is improving," Ross went on. "Our No. 3 doubles got their first win, and the other two are playing tough ... just having a hard time finishing off games and sets when they have the lead."

Kewaunee 4, Kewaskum 3

Singles: Eric Vogt lost to Dan Penie, 2-6, 1-6; Luther def. Rice, 6-2, 6-2; Josh Bryant lost to Blake Main, 2-6, 2-6; Paulus def. Euemeier, 6-0, 6-0.

Doubles: Abe Foerster-Kyle Lickel lost to Jacob Kumpfer-Tyler Siver, 3-6, 2-6; Andy Marx-John Carpenter lost to Adam Neven-Alex Price, 5-7, 3-6; Johann-Ziebell def. Baher-Jorgenson, 6-2, 1-6, 7-6 (8-6).

Roncalli 6, Kewaskum 1

Singles: Vogt lost to Phil Hanke, 1-6, 1-6; Luther lost to John Salutz, 4-6, 3-6; Bryant lost to Matt Strong, 3-6, 6-2, 2-6; Paulus def. Daun, 6-0, 6-1.

Doubles: Foerster-Lickel lost to Ryan McDonald-Devin Gust, 2-6, 3-6; Marx-Carpenter lost to Ryan Duescher-John Wolff, 4-6, 2-6; Johann-Ziebell lost to Matt Rodewald-Andy Waak, 3-6, 3-6.

KHS Girls Softball Team Goes 0-2 To Start Off Season

Becky Junk, left, backs up shortstop Beth Boedeker as she tries to stop a Campbellsport player from stealing second base.

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

KEWASKUM — Typically the defensive play has been adequate, but the Kewaskum High girls fast-pitch softball team is struggling at the plate and those struggles led to a pair of losses last week, a 13-5 decision to Eastern Wisconsin Conference foe Campbellsport and a 12-2 defeat at the hands of Port Washington.

In the April 23rd home game against the Port Pirates, members of the North Shore Conference, the Indians managed just one hit.

"The Port pitcher was on," KHS Coach Jeff Gosse said, reporting the lone base hit was a single by Becky Junk in the bottom of the fourth inning. Junk, who is one of the only Indians having success at the plate, drove in two runs with her hit.

"We weren't smart. We had a lot of girls go down looking," Gosse said, reporting the Port pitcher had a good off-speed pitch that fooled the Indians. As a result, 11 Indians went down on strikes.

The game should not have been as lopsided as it was, according to Gosse, who said, "We gave 'em 10 runs in the first inning" on three huge errors and eight walks.

Gosse decided to go with Kristen Mantz pitching, and she struck out the leadoff batter, but a passed ball by the catcher allowed the runner to reach first. Then came what should have been a double play ball, but, "We ended up getting nobody," and that scenario was repeated seconds later.

It was at this point Mantz got a little flustered and started trying too hard and couldn't get the ball over the plate.

Gosse let Mantz pitch the next couple of innings, then called on Rachel Breese, who shut down the Pirates for the last three frames, giving up just two hits.

When the Indians hosted Campbellsport, currently unbeaten in the EW, on April 20, they spotted the visitors seven runs in the early innings but came back to within two in the bottom of the fifth.

Mantz provided the big blast, a two-run homer to narrow the gap, and then RBI singles by Junk and Breese closed the gap to 7-5.

A steady rain began to take its toll on the diamond at this point, and the game was called after the top of the sixth.

"By the end, they were playing in mud," Gosse said, reporting Breese was so cold she started losing feeling in her fingers.

Six Indians had hits in this game, including Beth Boedeker, who was 1x2.

With the losses, Kewaskum is 0-3 in the EW and 0-6 overall.

"We're going to try a few new things," Gosse said, indicating he is going to bring Courtney Uttech up from the JV team and may do a little shuffling at the catcher spot.

"These girls have been so unselfish ... especially the seniors," Gosse said, reporting they are all willing to play different positions in an effort to help the team win.

Indians Golfers Third In First EWC Match

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Paced by Chad Piwoni's 38, the Kewaskum High golfers opened their 2004 Eastern Wisconsin Conference season with a third-place finish at Manitowoc on April 20.

Piwoni's 38 was just 3-over-par on the Meadow Links Golf Course and was about equal to the temperature, which hovered around the freezing mark as the final foursomes completed play.

"He had one birdie and four bogeys," KHS Coach Glenn Eichstedt said about Piwoni's effort, which placed him tied for second overall behind Jake Horst of Plymouth, who shot a 37. Plymouth had four players in the top 10 and won the meet with a 157 total.

Kiel placed second out of the eight teams with a 160 total from its low four scorers, and the Indians were next with a 162.

"For us this was a good start for the conference season," Eichstedt said, reporting Adam Lehnerz posted a 40, putting him in a tie for sixth overall, while senior Ryan Koepke and Luke Koch both shot 42s.

What was tragic about Koch's score was the fact he hit three balls out of bounds, including two on the same hole where he ended up with a seven.

Eliminating just one of those penalties would have given the Indians a tie for second.

Eichstedt was not surprised to see Plymouth ahead of the EW pack. "They are expected to win it, again," he said, but added, "Kiel might be catchable this year."

Indians sixth at Washington County Meet

On Saturday, April 17th, the Indians struggled to keep pace with most of the other Washington County teams, placing sixth out of seven teams with a 430 total.

In the 18-hole competition played at the Washington County Course in Hartford, Logan Olds of West Bend East (who plays out of Hon-E-Kor CC) captured the medal with an impressive 69, while Hartford grabbed the team title with a 394, counting scores by the low five of six on each team.

Kewaskum was paced by Lehnerz, who was very consistent with his nines of 42 and 42 for an 84.

Next came Koch with an 85, Koepke and Piwoni with 86s and Peter Paulus with an 89.
