Candy Cane Carnival coming here for Christmas parade

Last year's parade entry by the Kewaskum Junior Women's Club. Christmas parade chairman, Kevin "Holly-wood" Stautz says plans are in full swing for this year's parade.

Among the surefire signs Christmas is right around the corner are visions of the video A Wonderful Life dancing in our heads, seeing trucks piled high with Christmas trees, toy catalogs arriving in the mail on a consistent basis, and, of course, notices about annual Christmas parades.

For those who frequent the Kewaskum parade each year, the date to circle is Sunday, December 5th, at 5 p.m., and according to chairman Kevin Stautz, this year's event should be one of the best ever.

The theme is Candy Cane Carnival, according to Stautz, who said it was recently selected by the board of directors of the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce.

And Village President Matt Heiser has been selected as the grand marshal of the parade, according to Stautz.

Stautz is working with Mike Geidel to make sure area residents enjoy the sights, sounds and sentiments of Christmas in this year's parade.

In the past, most of the parade was funded solely by the Chamber, but this year, according to Stautz, some of the money will come from proceeds from the annual golf tournament held at Hon-E-Kor Country Club last summer.

There will be the usual float competion, with monetary prizes going to the top five floats selected by the judges, but Stautz announced the competition will be extended this year to include those groups walking in the parade.

There will be prizes for the top three walking groups, according to Stautz, who said, "They've always been nice, but they can't compete with the floats."

Anyone interested in competing in either category may contact Stautz (262-626-6617) for an entry blank or people may go to the Chamber of Commerce web site at Kewaskum.org to download.

Stautz and Geidel will be able to organize the lineup of the parade better if people let them know they will be in the parade.

"There's a bit of a change this year," Stautz said, indicating instead of gathering in the Middle School, parade participants are to meet in the cafeteria of Kewaskum High School by 4:15 p.m.

"We want people to have children there no later than 4:15 ... We'd like them to be there at 4 p.m.," he said.

When the groups arrive, the parade lineup will be posted on a wall, and after finding out their placement, people are asked to have their groups get together in preparation for the 5 p.m. start time.

Village disputes land-grabbing charge

By CASSANDRA THOMPSON
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
cthompson@kewaskumstatesman.com

Nearly 300 acres of Kewaskum Township land will soon become a part of the village of Kewaskum through direct annexation petitions from property owners.

"The village's not land-grabbers," said Village President Matt Heiser in an interview on Monday night. "We are prohibited by state law to solicit property owners. The village is the recipient of annexation."

The frequency and size of land annexations into the village has township residents demanding some action from their elected leaders.

At the Nov. 8 regular meeting, the Kewaskum town hall was nearly packed with residents voicing their displeasure over village annexation.

Township village officials voted on scheduling a joint meeting to discuss ironing out its differences between the two municipalities.

Village Administrator Daniel Schmidt and Heiser said no recent contacts, to date, have been initiated by town officials on a joint meeting date.

"We have not received anything in writing," said Schmidt. "All we've had was informal discussions."

Both Schmidt and Heiser said Kewaskum Town Chair Michael Lettow and Town Supervisor Jim Koepke spoke about arranging a meeting to talk about annexations several months ago.

Lettow confirmed in a conversation on Monday night that he had not spoken recently to village officials on the other side of the aisle.

Lettow said a joint meeting between the township and the village may occur after the town board observes a meeting at the village of Jackson municipal hall.

The village and township of Jackson have established a boundary agreement, which has given the township a greater say in land annexed from the township into the village. The boundary agreement is one that the Kewaskum township board hopes to emulate.

However, Schmidt points out, the Jackson model is not an -end-all-and-fix-all for the township's annexations woes. The devil is in the details of the agreement.

"The boundary agreement delays the inevitable for five years," said Schmidt.

According to Schmidt, the Jackson agreement fosters the county fair park.

"The village picks up the services of the county fair park," said Schmidt. "And, the boundary agreement puts some financial burden on the township."

Moreover, Schmidt said the Jackson boundary agreement is set to expire in five years. Neither the village nor township is obligated to stick with the agreement beyond five years.

Heiser said he regrets the annexations have fostered a spirit of animosity between the village and township. He went on to say that the village board will certainly sit down and discuss their concerns over annexation.

"We must look at personal property rights," said Schmidt. "The village interest is to support the citizens of the village."

Miniature golf site passes first hurdle

By CASSANDRA THOMPSON
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT

Kewaskum Township is closer to getting a miniature golf course, now that the town board has giving its blessing.

With a unanimous vote, the town board gave property owners Roger and Ann Neuman permission Monday night to rezone a 10-acre site from agricultural district to park district. The Neuman's will keep their remaining 129-acre property exclusive agriculture.

The owners have proposed a driving range, mini golf course and several batting cages.

However, the township passed the rezone petition subject to five conditions being satisfied. First, the rezoning must receive the approval of the Washington County Board. Second, the town engineer must review soil-boring data. Third, the plan commission must sign off on all building plans and site plans. Last, the property owners shall obtain permits from the building inspector.

KPD receives donation for defibrillator

A check for $500.00 was recently donated to the Kewaskum Police Department by the Winninghoff family towards the purchase of an A.E.D. (automatic external defibrillator) for the Kiwanis Park pool area. Both squad cars are currently equipped with an A.E.D. unit. Having an A.E.D. at the pool would allow the life-guard staff to have immediate access and thus a quicker response in an emergency situation. Chief Knoebel would like to thank the Winninghoff family for their generous donation. The department is currently seeking additional donations to purchase the new unit by spring. The cost of a new A.E.D. unit is approximately $1250.00. Shown above, Chief Richard Knoebel, right, accepts a $500.00 check from Gerald "Butch" Winninghoff.

County - Briefs -

By Judy Steffes

Pick N Save stores to card all

The Pick N' Save stores in West Bend, as with all stores in the Roundy's Corporation, will begin to card everyone making alcohol or tobacco purchases starting November 22. The stores are adopting the new policy to prevent underage tobacco and alcohol purchases.

Wal-Mart to build on south side of Sheboygan

Wal-Mart has been given the ok to build a 212,000 square foot supercenter on the south side of Sheboygan. The Common Council approved the plans this week after Wal Mart promised to pay more than $1.7 million in street improvements. Construction on the store will begin in spring and it should be completed by the end of 2005.

Although the plans ultimately passed, three aldermen voted against the store saying with a supercenter in Plymouth and another in the Town of Sheboygan, it would be too much for the area to support.

Republicans named to finance committee

Four more Republican Senators have been named to the legislature's joint finance committee, including the committee's former co-chair, Senator Alberta Darling, who represents a portion of Washington County. Others on the committee include Senators Joe Liebham of Sheboygan, Luther Olsen of Berlin and Rob Cowes of Green Bay. Senator Scott Fitzgerald of Dodge County is one of the co-chairs of the committee.

Natural gas leak in the Town of Addison

A natural gas leak forced two people out of their homes in the Town of Addison Thursday, November 11. Washington County Sheriff's Deputies say the leak was discovered at a home under construction on Applewood Court. WE Energies was called to the scene and the St. Lawrence Fire Department responded. Traffic was diverted for two hours until the situation was corrected.

WB soldier killed in Iraq

Army Reserve Staff Sergeant Todd Cornell of West Bend was killed in Iraq. Cornell was killed in the assault on Falluja on Wednesday, November 10.

He leaves behind two children. A complete obituary can be found on page 14.

Brother cleared in Paswaters killing at C-sport firehouse

A state appeals court ruled this past week that Harold Beck was not responsible for his brother in the shooting death of Kim Paswaters.

Paswaters was shot to death in 2001 at the Campbellsport Fire House by Harold's brother David Beck.

Paswaters' four children filed a wrongful death lawsuit against Harold, claiming he was liable for the murder because he failed to warn Paswaters about the threats made by his brother.

David Beck shot Paswaters because he was upset she had ended their relationship. He was sentenced to life in prison.

The parade route remains unchanged, it will proceed from the high school south down Park View St. to Main Street and west on Main until Fond du Lac Avenue, where it will turn to the north and continue to Second Street and end.

of Hartford ... a church group from Juneau."

The turnout is usually very good. "There's a couple thousand (who come)," Stautz said. "The streets are pretty full."

Stautz said the judges for the float competition will more than likely watch from a vantage point near Woody's Steak House. There are different criteria involved in the judging, including lights, music and carrying out the theme.

Two new events connected with the parade this year are the steak sandwich fry sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the raffle which is being conducted by the Friends of Kewaskum.

The prize is a beautiful decorated artificial Christmas tree which is on display in the front window of the Kewaskum Statesman office. Tickets are $1 for one ticket or $5 for six tickets.

And Santa Claus has promised Stautz he will send one of his Santa helpers from the North Pole to be in the Kewaskum parade.

Friends will also be selling hot ham sandwiches, chili and hot chocolate from 4 p.m. until the end of the parade.

After the parade concludes, there will be the annual tree lighting and singing in front of the Municipal Building, and refreshments will be provided by Thrivent Financial. Winners of the float competitions will be announced at this time.

Proceeds from the raffle and food sale will go back into the community.

Kewaskum's parade has always had good participation, and Stautz said already he has had groups from West Bend and Hartford, who have indicated they will be in the parade.

Linda Theisen, the president of the Chamber, said her organization will be selling steak sandwiches (in a tent near the site of the old railroad tracks) from 10 a.m. until the food is gone, which she expects will be 5 to 6 p.m.

"It's the community's parade. The more participation we get the better it is," he said, adding, "Actually I've got one group coming from west

Clergy Commentary

By Rev. Mark Eckert

St. John Lutheran Church New Fane

Remember when you wanted something from your parent? Before popping the question you first tried to "butter up" Mom or Dad. You would offer to be more helpful, volunteering to do a task that usually you wouldn't get near. You would be more thoughtful, taking an interest in what the parent was doing, even though you normally would not be interested in it. Maybe you would offer a compliment or two. These subtle strategies would of course send up red flags and flares for the parent often ending in the question, "What do you want?"

We try to get on someone's "good side" for other reasons as well. Maybe we are interested in establishing a closer relationship with that special person to whom we are attracted. Perhaps we are looking for a favorable referral in the future. In all these situations we are interested in receiving a benefit whether immediately or in the future.

Do we try the same tactics with God? Do we think that if we go to church or say a prayer or do some act of kindness to someone that God will sit up and take notice of us and reward us for it? Is there some way that we can encourage God to love us more?

Such an idea is common but rather foolish. Do we really think that God doesn't see through our motivations? Do we so misunderstand him that we think we have to buy His love? Dare we think that we can make Him beholden to us as if He now owes us? Such a notion is rather naive.

Beyond that, there is nothing that we can do to make God love us more. He chose to love us while we were self-centered, sinful, and unlovable. He loves us because of Jesus' paying the price for our sins. He blesses us because He loves us in Christ, not because we have done this or that. He doesn't need us to do anything for Him.

Some people do things to please God in order to be more certain of their salvation. We can never be more sure of our salvation than when God declares us righteous in His sight through the forgiveness that is ours in Christ.

We need not try to get on God's "good side" because in Christ we are already there! Loving and giving are at the very heart of who God is. We offend Him by suggesting that He should bless us because of what we have done. That's what the pagans do by offering sacrifices to their gods in order to win their favor. We could never bribe God to love us or bless us. We will never be more loved or more saved than we are right now!

Some accuse the gospel of making salvation too cheap. After all, if we don't have to do anything to make God love us, what if we chose to take advantage of the situation and live immorally, indulging in sin and expecting that it wouldn't make a difference? To begin with, our salvation was not cheap at all. While it is freely given to us by God, it cost Him the life of his own Son. It couldn't have cost Him more! Secondly, those whose hearts have been changed by God to love Him would not want to do anything against His will. We now recognize that His laws are blessings given for our good and for the good of others. We are led to love selflessly as we have been loved by God. Though we sin according to our sinful nature, we hate sin according to the spiritual nature within us. After recognizing our sin, we repent and ask God's forgiveness, not for His license to continue to sin.

God doesn't tell us that He will love us if we do this or that. We are to love Him in the same way. We ought not bargain with God, making our love for Him conditional upon His blessing us as we ask. Simply thank Him for His love and the sacrifice he offered for you. Follow His will just because you love him, not because you are looking for ... (You fill in the blank)!

Celebrating His Love
With You!

Archbishop Dolan celebrates Mass at St. Marys

Archbishop Timothy Dolan visited St. Mary's Church in West Bend recently. Archbishop Dolan honored parishioners at St. Mary's by presiding over the rosary. He then celebrated mass with members of the congregation. After mass was ended, the children of St. Mary's School sang a special song "Awesome God" for the Archbishop. A special meet and greet social was held in the gym later that evening.

Kewaskum native maltster featured In 'Wisconsin Magazine of History'

An early view of the Kewaskum Malthouse

This is the continuation of the story that has been running in previous editions of The Statesman.

by Jeff Haas

Part III

Groeschel's sense of purpose certainly reflected the work he had accomplished to guarantee the barley crop, but that was not the only front he was fighting during his first six months in Yokohama. Shortly after his arrival in August 1917, delays in the delivery of the machinery and weather combined to slow progress in the construction of the new malthouse.

By September 18 his first reports of progress on the malthouse reflected early frustrations with his new situation:

Our malt house is going up slow, first because of rain and second it's mostly all concrete work and must settle before going further. I wish there was something to do, time would go quicker. If this would be Duluth Brewing they'd give you different work but that wouldn't work here.

Just ten days later another letter home interwove a report on progress at work with what appears to be Groeschel's first wave of homesickness,

This weather makes a man sick, rainy all the time but I guess it will soon be over. We haven't received the machinery for the malthouse yet and some was sent when I was at Milwaukee but the building isn't up either so we have time for the machinery.

Although the news about the machinery's delivery improves in October, Groeschel's lonesome mood does not. His October 22 letter begins with good news.

I just found out that some of the machinery is on the way over. These fellows were afraid they would not get it and we could not make malt this winter but if the (machinery) comes we will run about February 1st if everything goes well. It quit raining for a few days now. It rained almost every day this month too...I wish you were here. It's rather lonesome and I can tell you I would never go across again if I had to do it over for it's no fun being alone.

Letters from friends, relatives, and former co-workers helped alleviate some of the lonesomeness as did the local English language newspaper, The Japan Advertiser. Not surprisingly, the news from home kept Groeschel informed of the Prohibition movement in the U.S. Although the Eighteenth Amendment would not go into effect until 1919, local communities, counties, and entire states were voting themselves dry even before the Volstead Act became federal law. In December 1917, he learned that St. Louis County in Minnesota, where Duluth is located, was to go dry in March 1918, and he was distraught over the news of old acquaintances losing their brewing-related jobs and entire breweries shutting down. Although he responded to the news with a mixture of concern and humor - "I certainly was surprised to hear that Tony Goulder died. I suppose he couldn't stand the near beer?" over time, he began to realize the apparent savvy of his own decision, and the opportunities that the news from home offered him. On September 20, 1918, nearly a year after his arrival in Japan, he wrote:

I see by the papers that the breweries must shut down in the U.S. by December 1st. That's bad but probably I can get some second hand machinery for the new brewery. I will make a few thousand dollars then.

By September 1918, Groeschel could realistically plan on making use of the news from home because he had successfully completed the malthouse and earned a new, more lucrative contract from Kirin. Works on the malthouse had progressed slowly and the tentative startup date had been set to May 1918, just prior to the beginning of the warm season. Knowing this, on January 7, 1918, he informed Bertha of the immediate impact of the slow-down on his travel plans, and his belief that Kirin would extend his employment there:

I'm not coming home in June for we won't get the malthouse started till about May 1st and then it gets warm here. They were telling me at the office about malting next fall so I suppose they want me to stay and I surely will for I won't run across such a snap for a while again. I was going to start putting some machinery in but couldn't for we are putting up the steep tanks in the 3rd story today and that's some fun. I haven't anything to do with it but watch.

From January through May 1918, August Groeschel's letters are filled with progress updates on the Kirin malthouse, explaining that long hours and hard work were the reason for his lack of writing to various people at home. Although he points out that he is not expected to engage in any physical labor, "I haven't done hardly anything and am not supposed to, only show where things belong," and "I . . . don't even wear overalls or jacket, not allowed to . . .," his presence as the expert was required, and the work was far slower than he expected. He made no direct allusions to his health and the impact that the long hours were having, and he continued to write sporadically about his health, which appeared to be good other than the occasional reference to his cough. In early 1918 one letter in particular, though, was more revealing than most that his health was not as he usually portrayed it:

I wasn't feeling well last week, had to cough too much so I went to a doctor and he examined me. He said there was nothing the matter with me, only a little bronchitis and the tubes were plugged. He gave me too strong a med- icine and two hours after I took some I coughed blood from my mouth. I went back and told him the next day so he gave me different (medicine). He also examined me again but I was much better the next day. He injected some medicine in both my shoulders three times. He said all foreigners do that to prevent catching different diseases which come generally in spring but I am O.K. again and feel much stronger. I'm going to the doctor for last time tomorrow because I must pay him.

Despite the serious symptoms he described in February, his letters home in March and April 1918, focused on planning for Bertha and the children to join him:

I received your letter of February 22 just one month later and I had to cry for awhile for I know it's no fun living along but I guess I can manage to get you over here in a few months. I first want to find out how things run. I'm kind of busy just now and think I have the malthouse running in a month. . . They asked me in the office if you didn't care to come over. I told them you were wishing to be here but I wanted to make sure of work here first before I let you come. Then they thought I'd quit and go to the other new malthouse. I told them I wouldn't leave them and that they wouldn't understand the running of the plant. When my year is over I will get a raise in pay. . . I was going to write to Louis Gulke but am very busy just now putting in the kiln floor. I wish we were running. That's when I must put in long hours for while.

Groeschel does not return to the subject of his health until after the malthouse is up and running in May, and he has the chance to write in June:

Our rainy season starts this week and lasts a month. It doesn't rain every day but most of the time, and then it's very warm and hardly no air. This is the worst time in Yokohama and a person must be careful.

Groeschel's contract expired on June 15th, 1918. The objective and focus of the previous twelve months, construction of a four-drum malthouse for the Kirin Brewery, had been attained to his personal satisfaction. Kirin Brewery managers continued to be impressed with his performance, and offered him a new contract, allowing him time away from his malthouse duties to plan for the second contract year at Kirin. Summer is the rainy season in Japan so it was easy to lighten his load. Groeschel did use the time to plan for Kirin, but also to pursue new opportunities and offers for himself:

I was invited to Tokyo by Dr. Takamine for dinner . . . and I tell you I had a good-time. He and his son took me all over in Tokyo in their auto and he wants me to come for a week if I get vacation for he has a new brewery and malthouse to put up and wants me to advise the builders but that is to be kept on the quiet yet for we are not certain. I was invited to Tokyo Brewing Company while there but it was 5 o'clock and I told Dr. Takamine I couldn't go but will go sometime next week for they want malting drums also.

Even when he was not off, there was little to do in the office or at the malthouse, and Groeschel found himself putting in no more than four hours a day during the hot, wet summer months. The head director told him that they wanted a new kiln floor installed in August, but Groeschel wrote home that even that sizeable a project meant "only a few hours a day" of work for him. Even heavy rains in August that damaged some stored malt did not create an increased work load for Groeschel, but having been in Japan a full year, he could remark,

Not quite so bad as last year but I guess some places got it quite bad.

On September 20, 1918, the "quiet" job prospect discussed the past summer became a reality, and Groeschel wrote home:

This man that came to see me from Takamine Labs wants me to figure out a new brewery and malthouse, quite a large one. We intend to start by October 1 . . . I'm feeling better again but in August I suffered more than last year and lost a little weight but am picking up again."

IN MEMORY

In memory of ROBERT MARIALKE, who passed away five years ago, Nov. 22, 1999: God saw you getting weary So He did what He thought best

He came and stood beside you

And whispered "Come and Rest."

You bid no one a last farewell You said "Good-Bye" to none The heavenly gates just opened wide

And a loving voice said "Come."

Sadly missed by his wife and family

Do Elephants Jump?

By: David Feldman

Anybody who's ever spent time with a two-year-old knows that that "frogs and snails and sugar and spice" stuff is all a bunch of hokey. Two-year-olds are really made of 45 megatons of energy, a bit of dirt, a few crayons, and ten thousand questions. Fortunately, most of us never outgrow that curiosity, we just learn to temper it. Our co-workers are thankful for that, I'm sure.

If you've ever wondered why something is the way it is, then pick up a copy of "Do Elephants Jump" by David Feldman (c.2004, Harper Collins). This is the long-awaited tenth book in his Imponderables series, and it's quite possibly the most fun and the most useful one.

About this time of year, you're probably seeing Thanksgiving decorations everywhere. Did you ever wonder why the Pilgrims are depicted wearing drab brown outfits with buckles on their hats? You might be surprised to know that buckles weren't fashionable when the Mayflower sailed, so the Pilgrims' hats likely never had any such adornment. Furthermore, most Pilgrims wore brightly colored clothing, including yellow, violet, and green garments.

Everybody knows that the early bird gets the worm, but how do birds know where to find those worms in the first place? You might think that birds hear or see the worms, or sense a little wormy movement below the ground, and believe it or not, scientists have actually studied this. Would you be amazed to know that the early bird might get his meal using a combination of all three methods?

Some of the questions posed in this book are conundrums you never knew existed. For instance, take a look at the word "Monday" in a dictionary. The preferred pronunciation is "Mon-DEE". It was that way in three of my dictionaries - I looked - and I never knew it. Why is that so? Does anybody pronounce it that way? Feldman gets to the bottom of the question by talking to orthoepists (experts in pronunciation).

And do elephants jump? Well, yes... and no.

I really like books like this. They're fun to read. You can jump in at any point without losing track of what you read last. You learn something new, usually something you can gleefully toss into conversation. And you can give this kind of book to anyone of any age without having to worry about the content. Author David Feldman has a flippant and funny way of writing, and you can tell that he enjoys sleuthing out the answers to questions that you always wanted to know but didn't know who to ask. Also in this tenth volume is a handy index that encompasses all the other books, so you can find those answers to the mysteries that keep you awake at night, wondering. Pick up a copy of "Do Elephants Jump", or put it on your Want List for this holiday season. You'll learn that "who, what, where, when, why, and how" is not just for journalism class. It's for two-year-olds, ten-year-olds, and you.

PERSPECTIVES

Letter to the Editor:

In the November 11 issue of the Statesman, there was an announcement from County Supervisor Daniel Stoffel regarding a grant for a recreational trail. This grant was a combination of state and federal funds totaling $359,072. If it looks like pork and smells like pork—it must be pork.

Anytime someone mentions a Taxpayer Bill of Rights with spending controls, the first thing we hear from teacher unions and from local officials is "we'll have to eliminate policemen, firefighters, and teachers". Well, maybe we need to keep the teachers and stop wasting money on recreational trails. I think trails like this are wonderful, but how about the people who would use the trails coming up with the money to pay for them? Let snowmobile clubs, bicycle clubs, hiking clubs, etc. have fundraising events to pay for this. This is not a reasonable use of tax dollars.

The next time you hear Governor Doyle threaten us with cutting teachers and emergency services, please keep in mind that there are plenty of areas to cut spending first. I will be contacting as many elected officials I can to try to stop this waste of our money. I wonder what our Founding Fathers would say if they knew our government would confiscate money from the citizens to pay for a recreational trail. (Or a stadium for a sports team—hmm, that's another subject).

Letter to the Editor:

AMERICA'S HEALING
WILL ONLY COME THROUGH FAITH

The only terrorists I fear are those who tell us you have the right to kill a human being through abortion. It is a scientific fact that a being in the womb feels pain, but those who favor abortion tell us you have the right to condemn these innocents to a painful, horrible death. The Pope recently thanked George W. Bush for his moral leadership, and although they originally differed on the war in Iraq, the Vatican now sees the necessity of our troops remaining there to insure democracy takes a solid foothold, as happened in Germany and Japan after WWII. Rather than becoming selfish isolationists, our nation needs patience, and the wisdom to seek God's Holy Will. Rather than declaring war upon the unborn, our nation needs the healing that can only come through a belief in the power and mercy of Christ.

Custom Cabinetry welcomes Jeremy Schrauth

Custom Cabinetry, a division of Campbellsport Building Supply (CBS) has added another designer to their sales team. Jeremy Schrauth, of Campbellsport, along with Kris Ballard help clients create their next cabinetry project—including kitchens, baths, entertainment centers, or offices.

Jeremy Schrauth brings enthusiasm and a genuine interest in his client's needs to this creative division of CBS. Jeremy has years of experience in the service industry working at a prominent local business. You might know him as "Schrauthy" from his years at King Pin Lanes, where they are known for their professional spirit and friendly attitudes. His quick smile and friendly personality is a great asset when going through the stress of a new home.

Additionally, Jeremy has taken several intense training classes focusing on design and product knowledge. His impressive list of training includes two design classes at the Kohler design center and a three-day product seminar at Great Northern Cabinetry. Studying in Chicago at the National Kitchen and Bath Association training facilities, Jeremy took intense design and conceptual bath and kitchen classes. People from as far away as California attended these elite classes. "Jeremy brings a great knowledge of superior customer service. And with his intense training he is a great tool for our clients when designing a kitchen. He is able to look at the whole project. Sometimes adding a window, or removing a wall adds so much to the overall look of a remodel job," explains Kris Ballard, Custom Cabinetry Design Manager.

"I'm happy to be part of a team atmosphere. From the initial design of the home to delivering a front door, all of us really enjoy and care about our clients. Helping design a dream kitchen is not easy, but I'm looking forward to the challenge," remarks Jeremy.

Located at 227 West Main Campbellsport, Custom Cabinetry's showroom inside CBS boasts the largest display areas in the Kettle Moraine. It showcases 6 species of wood and over 30 door styles and a seemingly unlimited number of options to choose from. Appointments are recommended. For more information or to make an appointment call Kris or Jeremy at 920-533-4412.

Christmas tree harvest boosts state's economy

Although the snow has not yet begun to fly, it's already harvest time for Wisconsin's Christmas tree producers, a group of businesses that collectively add $50 million to Wisconsin's economy each year.

"Our growers are busy year-round," says Cheryl Nicholson, Executive Secretary of the Wisconsin Christmas Tree Producers Association. "They employ workers in almost every county of the state, and they grow about 3 million trees each year on nearly 1,400 farms statewide. But this is the time of year when they get especially busy."

Now is when growers start cutting and "baling" (or wrapping) nearly 2 million trees and sending them to lots around the country. Nicholson notes that harvest of trees to be shipped out of state begins after the trees are dormant. "It's pretty neat to think that trees and wreaths from Wisconsin can end up decorating homes all over the country," she says.

The Christmas tree industry spreads more than just holiday cheer, however; it delivers a $50 million yearly boost to Wisconsin's economy, most of it in the form of trees exported to other states and other countries. About 350,000 cut trees stay within the state and are sold through wholesale buyers. "Cut your own" tree farms are located throughout the state and are a popular option for consumers.

According to the National Christmas Tree Association, sales of real trees have fallen in recent years due to increasing popularity of artificial trees, most of which are made in China. But Wisconsin, ranked fifth in the nation in Christmas tree production, is fighting back, making it easier for consumers to buy a real Wisconsin tree.

"Visit SavorWisconsin.com to find the Wisconsin Christmas tree grower nearest you," says Rod Nilsestuen, Secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. "Buying a Wisconsin Christmas tree or custom-made greenery boosts the economy, helps growers and keeps our environment green and growing."

"Choosing a beautiful real Wisconsin Christmas tree is a great way to support your local and state economy and to create holiday traditions and memories with your family," Nicholson adds.

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF WISCONSIN DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES PUBLIC NOTICE OF INTENT TO REISSUE
A WISCONSIN POLLUTANT DISCHARGE ELIMINATION SYSTEM (WPDES)
PERMIT NO. WI-0021733-07-0

Permittee: Village of Kewaskum, 204 First St., PO Box 38,
Kewaskum, WI 53040
Facility Where Discharge Occurs:
Village of Kewaskum, 1000 Fond du Lac
Ave., Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin

Receiving Water and Location:
Milwaukee River, East/West Branch, downstream of Kewaskum Dam

Brief Facility Description and Summary of Proposed Changes: The Village of Kewaskum operates a 0.75
MGD activated sludge plant built in 1971 with phosphorus removal and seasonal disinfection. Waste biosolids are aerobically digested, stored onsite in a 1.1 Mgal storage tank and land-applied by contract hauler onto approved agricultural sites.
The 1955 plant was upgraded in 1971 for 1 MGD and 4,000 lb BOD with secondary effluent limits, but many changes have altered that original design flow and load. The estimated 'annual average design' flow now is 0.75 MGD with loaded at 2,250 lbs BOD. Average flow is at 73% of design; BOD load at -45% without hauled waste and up to 70% with hauled waste. The pre-aeration tank and primary cannot handle present peak flows, there are also hydraulic limitations at the end of the plant. Changes to the permit include:

*Add biweekly influent monitoring for phosphorus and ammonia.

*Effluent DO study needed in 2005 to re-established basis for a reduced limit at the plant site; without study, limit will increase to 6.0 mg/L daily minimum in April 2006.

*Add weekly avg interim chloride limit, monthly monitoring, and chloride reduction actions.

*Add chronic whole effluent toxicity limit and quarterly monitoring in 2008-09, and an associated 3-yr. compliance schedule for a Toxicity Reduction Evaluation.

*Add monthly Copper, Total Recoverable monitoring in 2008 to collect data for next permit issuance.

*Add compliance schedules to address excessive clear water entry and inadequacies at the plant and main lift station; correction of effluent flow monitoring and outfall problems; an SSES, clear water removal actions & LS#1 upgrade; and necessary plant upgrading.

Basin Engineer/Permit Drafter: Judith
Gottlieb, DNR, SER Headquarters, 2300
N. Martin Luther King Dr., Milwaukee,
WI 53212, (414) 263-8636.

The Department has tentatively decided that the above specified WPDES permit should be reissued.

Limitations and conditions which the Department believes adequately protect the receiving water are included in the proposed permit. Land application of waste shall be done in accordance with permit conditions and applicable codes.
All land application sites shall be approved prior to their use. To receive a list of approved sites, or to be notified of potential approvals, contact the basin engineer.

The Department has determined that a water quality-based effluent limitation (WQBEL) for chloride is needed in this permit to protect aquatic life. As allowed under s. NR 106.83(2), Wis. Adm. Code, the permittee has requested a variance to the chloride WQBEL. In support of this request, the permittee has submitted documentation intended to demonstrate that the cost of complying with the WQBEL through the use of end-of-pipe wastewater treatment may cause substantial and widespread adverse social and economic impacts in the area where the discharge is located. The Department concurs with that assessment. In an effort to achieve chloride effluent reductions that are practically and economically achievable within the term of the proposed permit, the Department and the permittee have mutually agreed upon specific permit terms that include an interim limitation, a target limit (or value, as the case may be), and certain source reduction activities. As allowed under s. NR 106.83(3), Wis. Adm. Code, these requirements are contained in the proposed permit.

Persons wishing to comment on or object to the proposed permit action, or to request a public hearing, may write to the Department of Natural Resources at the permit drafter's address. All comments or suggestions received no later than 30 days after the publication date of this public notice will be considered along with other information on file in making a final decision regarding the permit.
Where designated as a reviewable surface water discharge permit, the U.S.
Environmental Protection Agency is allowed up to 90 days to submit comments or objections regarding this permit determination.

A public informational hearing may be held if response to this notice indicates significant public interest pursuant to s.283.49, Stats., or if a petition requesting a hearing is received from five or more persons. Requests for a public informational hearing shall state the following:
the name and address of the person(s) requesting the hearing; the interest in the proposed permit of the person(s) requesting the hearing; the reasons for the request; and the issues proposed to be considered at the hearing.

Information on file for this permit action, including the draft permit and fact sheet (if required), may be inspected and copied at the permit drafter/basin engineer's office, Monday through Friday (except holidays), between 9:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Please call the permit drafter/basin engineer for directions to their office location, if necessary.
Information on this permit action may also be obtained by calling the permit drafter at (414) 263-8636 or by writing to the Department. Reasonable costs (usually 20 cents per page) will be charged for copies of information in the file other than the public notice and fact sheet.
Permit information is also available on the internet at: http:// www.dnr.state.wi.us/org/water/wm/ww.
Pursuant to the Americans with Disabilities Act, reasonable accommodation, including the provision of informational material in an alternative format, will be made to qualified individuals upon request.

On a motion by Trustee Andy Pesch, seconded by Trustee Steve Scheunemann and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board authorized the removal of the stop sign mid block of Edgewood Road south of Brooklane Drive, following the completion of the boulevard south and then the placement of the one-way directional arrows. Also with this motion the Board authorized the placement of a stop sign at the northeast corner of the intersection of Edgewood Road and Knights Avenue.

Board Representative for the Plan Commission, Trustee Andy Pesch announced a scheduled Plan Commission meeting for November 9, 2004.

Board Representative for the Library Board, President Mathew Heiser announced a scheduled Library Board meeting for November 8, 2004.

Mid-Moraine Municipal Association Legislative Committee Representative Trustee Andy Pesch announced a Legislative Committee Meeting scheduled for November 10, 2004 at 7:00 p.m.

Discussion on the proposed Library budget for 2005 was revisited. The Board was informed the 2005 budget for the Library is reflecting a $5,040 increase or 3.8%. In reference to the Village's tax support of the Library that is proposed to increase by $2,407 or 2.7%.

Resolution No. 2004-22 A To Request Exemption From The Washington County Library System Tax Levy Under Provisions Of Wisconsin Statutes 43.64(2) as attached hereto:

The Village Board reviewed the proposed Police Department budget for 2005 and the letter of explanation prepared by the Police Chief. Capital expenditures for the department were discussed. The potential of adding one extra hour per day for the Police Clerk was also discussed and questioned as being necessary. A portion of the School liaison program cost in the amount of $20,000 will be funded by the Kewaskum School District.

The Administrator reviewed the budget in its entirety reflecting an increase of $32,139.00 or 5.1%. If the Police Clerk addition of one hour would be removed the increase would be reduced by $4,271.00 changing the increase to $27,868.00 or 4.4%.

The Park and Recreation proposed budget for 2005 capital expenditure was reviewed indicating the account would decrease by $36,218.00 or 46.2%. The general related budget accounts reflect a decrease of $42,831.00 or 23.9% for Park, for Pools a decrease of $3,055.00 or 5.7%, Summer Recreation a decrease of $1,231.00 or 26.5% and Celebration an increase of $2,545.00 or 22.2%.

The Department of Public Works, general accounts equaling 21 in number reflect an increase of $90,498.00 or 19.3% and wrapped in with all such related accounts the overall increase of $45,926.00 or 6.4%. It was noted the Director's request for an additional employee was not included in any of the budget numbers for 2005.

The schedule prepared for the proposed preparation and establishment of the Tax Incremental District 2 was reviewed with the Board.

The overall review of the entire general proposed budget for 2005 was discussed. If the tax rate were to remain status quo at $6.35 per thousand of assessed value the difference between revenues would equal an increase in the levy by $77,619.00 or 6.4%. (equaling an increase of 40¢ per thousand of assessed value) The Board reviewed options as to what type or amount of an increase they would like to see as to the preparation of the notice for public hearing. The consensus was to prepare it not to exceed a 3.9% increase or 25¢ per thousand.

On a motion by Kevin Scheunemann, seconded by Trustee Thomas Piwoni and unanimously carried by voice vote, the Board approved holding a special meeting on Monday, November 8, 2004 at 7:30PM for the purpose of reviewing the "Notice for the 2005 Budget Public Hearing," review of the Water Department 2005 Budget and 2005 Water Pollution Control Budget.

On a motion by Trustee Thomas Piwoni, seconded by Trustee Harry Roecker and carried by the majority roll call vote, to adjourn to closed session under Chapter 19.85(1)(c) of the Statutes to discuss employee performance data and evaluation for Village Employees over which the governmental body has jurisdiction. Roll call vote was 6 "Aye" 0 "Nay" 0 "Absent."

CWD reward program continues for second year

MADISON, Wis. — The Chronic Wasting Disease Reward Program, a joint effort between Whitetails Unlimited and the Department of Natural Resources that rewards hunters and landowners for their efforts to help control CWD, is in place for its second year in the disease eradication zones this deer hunting season.

The CWD Reward Program awards $400 for each deer harvested that tests positive for CWD. The $400 is split with $200 going to the hunter who harvested the deer, and the other $200 going to the landowner from whose property the deer was taken. Whitetails Unlimited, a conservation organization dedicated to white-tailed deer and their environment, will be issuing the reward checks along with a free one-year membership to their organization as test results become available.

"Landowners and hunters continue to be the key to success in controlling CWD in the state," said Alan Crossley, CWD Program Leader with the DNR. "We hope the CWD Reward Program provides incentive for landowners and hunters to shoot more deer in the disease eradication zones, reducing deer density and helping control the disease."

The CWD Reward

Program, which was first piloted during the 2003 deer hunting season, recognizes and rewards landowners and hunters who harvest deer to control CWD in a disease eradication zone (DEZ). The program is in effect for its second deer-hunting season, which started Sept. 18, 2004, and ends Jan. 3, 2005. If hunting under the authority of landowner permit, the season extends until March 31.

The reward program fund consists of $250,000 from DNR funds. Money remaining from the $250,000 after all hunters and landowners have been paid for CWD-positive deer, will be distributed in $20 increments to hunters in the DEZs that harvested deer during the season. If funds are not sufficient to cover all registered deer, a random drawing will take place. A hunter's name will be entered into the drawing once per deer registered. If a hunter registered five deer during the season, he or she will have five chances of getting $20. The $20 checks will be distributed at the end of the hunting season when all CWD testing is complete.

"It is important to recognize both the efforts to remove CWD-positive deer from the DEZs and the importance of overall deer density reduction, which is why we award the $20 payments," stated Pete Gerl, Executive Director of Whitetails Unlimited. "Lowering the deer density reduces the chances of CWD transmission from a sick deer to a healthy deer and is a very important tool for controlling the disease in the state."

With landowner approval, trained DNR personnel are available to aid landowners in reducing deer numbers on their property or removing sick-looking deer. If DNR personnel harvest a CWD-positive deer, no hunter payment will be issued. However, the landowner on whose property the deer was shot will still receive $200.

Like the past two years, hunters will receive a postcard from the DNR if the deer they harvested tested negative for CWD. The DNR will contact hunters and landowners by phone if the deer tested positive. Additionally, hunters can access test results at dnr.wi.gov, under "Chronic Wasting Disease in Wisconsin." The online results database will be updated automatically as test results are returned from the lab and hunters who harvested positive deer are properly notified. More information on CWD is available at this site as well or by calling 1-877-WISCCWD.

Volleyball players have much to celebrate

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Amid the food and frolic, there were awards to be given out at the annual Kewaskum High girls volleyball banquet held last week in the school's cafeteria.

Varsity coach Dave Rizzardi reviewed the 14-0 Eastern Wisconsin Conference season, which saw the Indians earn their second straight EW title, and he touched upon the tournament play, highlighted by a win in the Indian Invitation and a third-place finish at Waupun, which is the best finish Kewaskum has had in that power-packed competition.

"We ended up 26-6-2 for the year, which I believe is our identical mark as last year," Rizzardi said, indicating the two ties come from going 1-1 against a couple teams in tournaments.

"This group of kids ... they were so easy to work with, to get along with," Rizzardi said, thanking Danielle DeGroot and her family and all the others responsible for the celebration commemorating his 25 years of coaching volleyball at KHS.

"I appreciated everyone's efforts," the coach said, praising the parents for their support throughout the season and saying this was the best parent group he has had.

Rizzardi had each girls present her parents with a bouquet of flowers, and the 10 girls on the varsity received letters, statistic booklets, team pictures on plaques and a souvenir volleyball which could be used to obtain autographs from their teammates.

Danielle DeGroot was named as the team's MVP for her solid efforts as strongside hitter and back row passer.

During the season, DeGroot missed just six of 415 serving attempts for a 98 percent effort. She also had 348 digs and pounded down 227 kills, which put her at the top of the KHS team standings in that category for the second year in a row.

DeGroot and the other two seniors, Briana Bastian and Amanda Magnus, were the team's tri-captains. All three received all-conference acclaim, DeGroot as a unanimous first-team pick and the other two on the second unit, with junior libero, Marissa Dehler.

Bastian, who played in the middle, led the team with 44 solo blocks and 27 block assists, while Magnus was an all-around and did a little bit of everything for the team, including kills, passing and coming up with digs.

The other letter winners included: juniors — Katie

Schroeder, who posted 403 assists, best on the team; Leeann Kison, outside hitter; Robbi Bode, back row; sophomores — Bekki Heberer, a middle hitter who was one of the team's best servers and an up-and-coming front row player; Bry Timblin, weakside hitter; and freshman — Christina DeGroot, an all-around.

"In my 25 years here, I don't know there was a year when I started a freshman, so Christina was pretty special," Rizzardi said.

Rizzardi also praised his two assistant coaches, Kelly Marquardt and Heather Noworatzky, who have been with him four and two years, respectively, and helped "make the season go smoothly from the first day of practice."

JVs just miss .500 mark: "It was a year of ups and downs," JV Coach Kelly Marquardt said about her squad, which ended up 6-8 in the EW, just missing its goal of reaching .500.

Marquardt said the girls worked well together, and, "Whether we were winning or losing, they always tried to have fun."

JV players included: Zara Gerez, Stephanie Rinzel, Megan Rinzel, Lauren Larson, Caytlin Sprinkman, Ashley Weis, Emily Sedgwick, Ruth Koch, Becky Rodenkirch, Sarah Rudzitis, Emily Aycok and Jordan Geidel.

Stephanie Rinzel was the team's best defensive player, Larson was the best offensive player, Rodenkirch took home Most Improved honors and Geidel, who exhibited good intelligence on the court, had the most aces, with 46.

Freshmen learn skills

Coach Noworatzky said at times her girls performed brilliantly, and at other times, they had difficulty executing, resulting in a 4-10 mark in the EW, 6-11 overall.

What pleased the second-year coach the most was, "They (the girls) worked really well together," contributing to a fun season.

Noworatzky had 15 players on her team, including: Danielle Mueller, Tocarra Timblin, Alyssa Jung, Anne Lieven, Julie Sargent, Heather Parsons, Kelly Simonis, Elizabeth Potter, Kayci Lorenz, Jordyn Pfeiffer, Kayla Wilkum, Jocelyn Abfall, Brooke Wodsedalek, Meghan Szczerbinski and Brianna Rahoy.

Danielle Mueller was honored as the Most Valuable Hitter and overall MVP, while Timblin was the Most Valuable Defensive Player, Lorenz was the team's best passer and server, and Pfeiffer was the Most Improved player.

Coaches agree Parrent is the best tight end in the EWC

BY JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

There were a lot of oohs and aahs from the crowd when junior halfback Garrett Donath carried the ball for the Kewaskum High football team this fall, but it was the passing game that drew the most attention in the recent Wisconsin Conference balloting. Sophomore tight end Matt Parrent was the lone Indian selected for first-team honors, and the guy throwing the ball to him, junior quarterback Chad Piwoni, was elected to the second team. Junior end Jeremy Gurholt picked up a couple votes to earn status on the honorable mention list.

Joining these KHS standouts on the second unit were Donath as a running back and Zach Holm as a defensive halfback.

As expected, co-champions Sheboygan Falls and Plymouth — both ended with 6-1 marks — cleaned house in the voting. Plymouth signal caller Mitch Adams was named as the Offensive Player of the Year, while Eric Meinert, a senior tackle from Sheboygan Falls, garnered the top defensive honors.

"You know, I was pleased," KHS Coach Jason Piittmann said about the outcome of the voting. We would have liked another first-team pick but for a 3-4 team in conference, we had the respect of the other teams."

Kewaskum finished in a tie for fifth place with Two Rivers in the final EW standings.

Parrent, a big target at 6-4 and 215 pounds, really started becoming an impact player in the game against Manitowoc Roncalli played at Camp Randall in Madison.

Parrent caught an 11-yard

TD pass from Piwoni with 3:16 left in the game, helping the Indians to draw even with the Jets.

A couple minutes later, Piwoni found Gurholt on a 37-yard strike, sealing a 14-6 victory.

Parrent added touchdown catches in the games against Kiel, Campbellsport and Plymouth. He wound up with 21 receptions for 260 yards (12.4 yards per catch), which topped all tight ends in the league. Most of the others were used mainly as blockers.

Parrent was also the only tight end to be among the top 10 receivers in the league.

"I didn't know, as a sophomore, the likelihood of his making the first team," Piittmann said. "I was very happy he was able to get that recognition."

Right from the first day of practice, Piwoni showed he wanted to be the team leader, and his passing was impressive at times. Perhaps his best game was the one against Sheboygan Falls when he brought the Indians from 14 points down to a point where they were going for the tying score in the closing seconds before being stopped at the SF 17-yard line.

In that game, Piwoni went 11x22 for 179 yards.

For the season, he completed 60 of 122 passes (49.2 percent) for 851 yards and nine TDs. He had just four interceptions.

Piwoni's passing yards were second best in the conference, and he finished third in completion percentage.

Donath surpassed the 1,000 yard mark in rushing. His 160 yards in the final game at Plymouth put him at 1,020 for the season. In the EW, the speedy junior who has great power and determination, ended up with 716 yards in 146 carries for a 4.9 yard per carry average. The 716 yards made him fourth in the EW, just three yards behind Trevor Schill of Campbellsport.

Piittmann said Donath wound up in a tie for a spot on the first team but lost in a vote off to senior Shannon Fitzgerald of Two Rivers.

"He was very deserving," Piittmann said of Fitzgerald, also praising Donath, who finished sixth in EW scoring with six touchdowns and eight extra points for 52 points.

"They had good junior years," Piittmann said about Donath and Piwoni. It's nice to know we have some quality kids to work off next year. We have a threat to be effective on the ground and in the air."

Holm was an excellent tackler, and, "He greatly improved on his pass coverage this season," according to Piittmann, who said, "It always seems like we have wrestlers who are great open-field tacklers."

Holm, the second leading tackler on the team with 82 tackles, wound up with one interception and probably a TDs.

"He had three good seniors ahead of him (in the voting," Piittmann said, noting Donath, who had two interceptions and was a very good hitter.

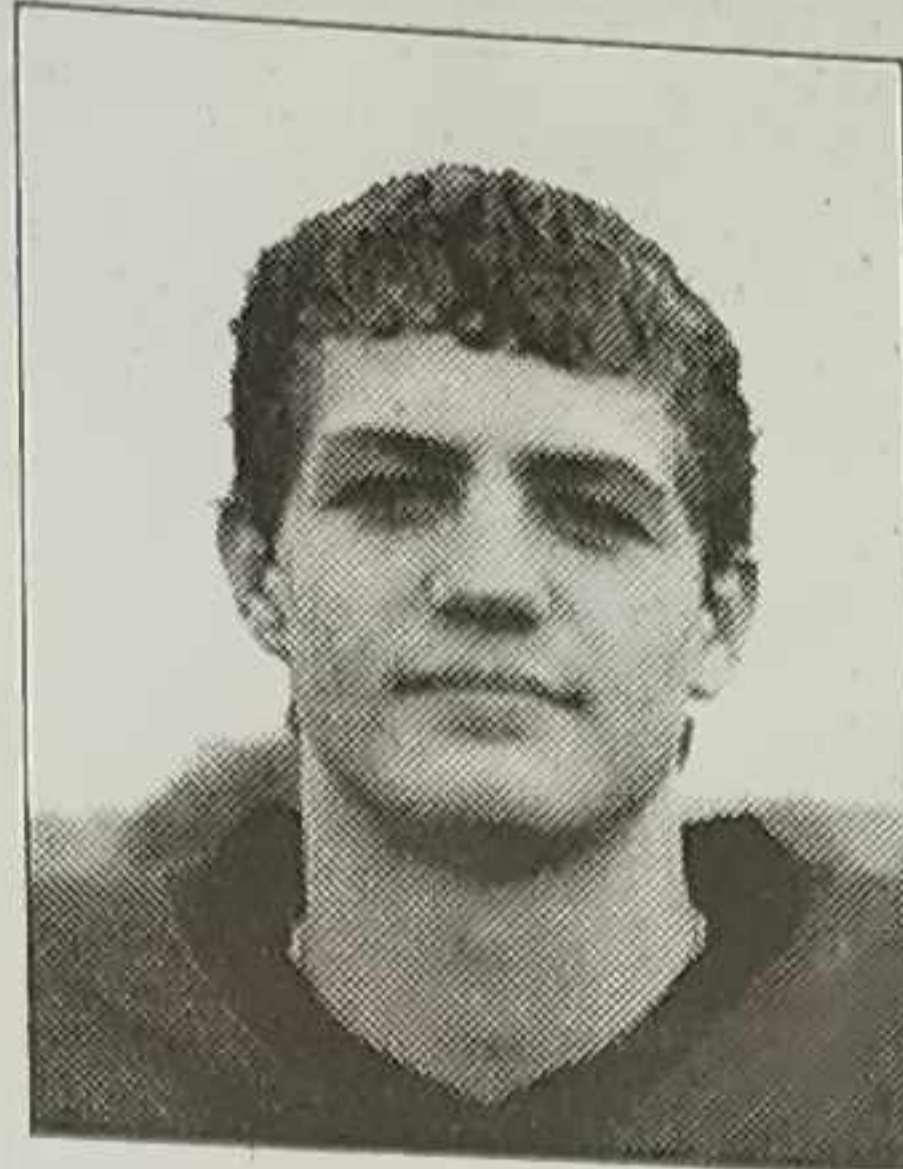

The second-year coach also said Jung, who played left tackle, was "definitely the leader of the offensive line." Piittmann went on that Jung was responsible for protecting the quarterback, which he did very well, and added, "He's just a great kid all around."

In his first year as a starter, Herreriges made great strides as the season went along. "He really held the edge pretty well," Piittmann said, reporting Stockhausen had the third best punting average and may have done even better had he not been injured and missed several games early in the conference season.

With more experience, Lady Indians are hoping to move up

By JUDY HARLOW
STATESMAN CORRESPONDENT
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

A year of experience should do wonders for the girls on the Kewaskum High basketball team and their coach.

Jeff Gosse, starting his second year at the helm of the Indians' hoop program, now knows what to expect from the other teams in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, especially Manitowoc Roncalli, Two Rivers and Plymouth, who finished 1-2-3, respectively, in the EW last season and are figured to be in the mix of the title race again this winter.

The girls, led by Lindsey Keller, a second-team all-EW pick in the 2003-04 campaign, are more aware of what it will take to improve on their 3-11 EW finish (4-17 overall) and move to a position for a first division finish.

"It's nice to have a veteran squad," Gosse said after the first week of drills. "They're doing things without me having to tell them."

Keller, a 5-foot-9 inch senior, is one of five returning letter winners and four starters from last season. She averaged 13 points and seven rebounds per game as a junior.

Next comes sophomore Bry Timblin, who was elevated to the varsity midway during last year's campaign and finished with a 6.0 point scoring average.

After having an excellent tennis season, senior Rachel Breese should come into the season with a great deal of confidence. She scored five points per game last year and was one of the better rebounders, with five per game.

Gosse also has 5-7 senior Paige Thelen back to play the center spot. She scored four points and hauled down four rebounds per game a year ago.

Katie Kurer, Breese's doubles partner in tennis, is the other letter winner. Kurer is more of a defensive specialist. Last season, she came up with three steals per game to go with four points.

"My first group is pretty experienced," Gosse said, indicating another of their trademarks will be their aggressive play. "I've got a real aggressive team. They play very physical ... They take pride in that reputation."

With a lack of a dominant big girl, Gosse expects his team will have to use quickness to be successful. "We can cause a lot of people trouble because of our quickness," he said.

Gosse is working with a varsity squad of 11 girls and says junior guard Jacque Kwaterski, a 5-6 junior guard, and Sam Droese, a sophomore guard, are promising newcomers.

"She will play a lot," Gosse said about Droese, who isn't real tall at 5-7 but is very "springy."

As far as the offense they will use, Gosse said, "Our new offense takes advantage of what we have ... Everybody's pretty much going to have a chance" (to score). We're going to look for advantages ... That's where we're attacking."

Concerning the top contender in the EW this winter,

Gosse said, "My pick is going to be Plymouth ... I think Two Rivers will be tough and Roncalli. After that it's pretty much a toss up."

Gosse will be assisted by the veteran Dave Kraft, who will direct the JV program, and newcomer Lois Volesky, who will be the freshman coach. "She played high school ball," Gosse said about Volesky.

The Indians open at Manitowoc Lutheran tomorrow (Friday) night. The JVs play at 6 p.m. and the varsity at approximately 7:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, the Indians entertain West Bend East in a non-conference competition, including freshmen (6 p.m.), JVs (6 p.m.) and varsity at 7:30 p.m. Then on Friday, Dec. 3, the EW season opens with Kewaskum hosting Two Rivers
