KHS Graduation Saturday

The Kewaskum High School class of 2005 has finally reached the end of the road and will be celebrating commencement exercises this Saturday, June 11, 2005 at 1 p.m. in the high school field house.

Valedictorians are Danielle DeGroot, Rachel Dums, Amanda Magnus, Katilyn Ogi, Katie Patterson and Elizabeth Vogt. Salutatorian is Noah Schoofs. KHS principal Christine Horbas said that over 43% of the graduating class earned a 3.0 GPA or above. Thirty-five students earned 3.5 and above and 41 earned 3.0-3.499. She went on to say that she is very excited about this number of honor students, as it is almost 10% higher than last year.

This year's ceremony will be very special for one senior, as the high school band will be performing a song that he has written. Daniel West has written a song entitled "For that Reason" that will be performed under West's direction. The song has also been played by the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, which West is a member of.

School board open meeting violation investigated

By Andrew Kuehl
Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

The Statesman has uncovered a possible Open Meetings law violation with a Kewaskum School Board member. The violation comes in the form of a Friday, May 6 email sent to the school district's attorney and then sent to all the school board members.

This writer filed an open records request on Friday, May 27 with the Kewaskum School District after being tipped off that a Kewaskum School Board member may have been conducting business through email correspondence.

The Statesman first learned of this at a meeting held May 9 when the School Board reorganized after the spring election. At that meeting freshman board member John Kenworthy announced his candidacy for school board president. Incensed, Kenworthy alluded to the email saying that school board officers were chosen in advance of the meeting.

That email was sent by former board president, Jean Goeden to the school district's attorney, Paul Hemmer. She later copied the rest of the school board members on it. The email, by Goeden states, "And by the way, Neal (Weare) and I have discussed the officers' elections. We are giving Gordie the Presidency, Tammy the VP, Me as clerk... And Beth as Treasurer...I told them all we have to show unity... to the leadership team and the public. We will be

Graczyk focuses on positive, retires as superintendent

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

"This was the best place to work, the best kids, staff and community," said Wayne Graczyk, Kewaskum's outgoing Superintendent of Schools, in an exclusive interview early Wednesday morning. But he adds, "It was a good time to leave the district."

Wayne Graczyk, has submitted his letter of resignation to the Kewaskum School Board. He has been on leave for the last week and a half.

He stated the district is in good fiscal condition and test scores are up. This leaves a smooth transition for an interim superintendent and makes Kewaskum an attractive place for a permanent one. Graczyk stated he thought "Kieth (Kriewaldt) would be a great interim superintendent."

In his letter, Graczyk states his resignation becomes official as of June 30, 2005. He further added he tenders the resignation for the purpose of retiring. He came to Kewaskum in 1999 from the Hustisford School District.

The Statesman contacted the School District Tuesday morning and officials stated that an announcement will be made at the June 13th School Board Meeting. At that meeting board members will discuss attaining an interim superintendent. Watch this newspaper for more details.

Graczyk stated even though he is retiring, he is not ruling out working in a parochial or post secondary school setting. In closing, Graczyk stated, "Nothing about this is negative."

Girl Scouts celebrate Thinking Day

The USA is one of many Girl Scout/Girl Guide organizations around the world. Together, these organizations have nine million Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in about 140 countries that stretch around the globe.

Thinking Day, March 12th, is a way of celebrating girl scouts everywhere. Kewaskum Area Girl Scouts celebrated this year at the Kewaskum Annex Building by researching and discovering Girl Scouts in other countries. Each troop chose one or more countries to explore.

The country displays had activities, food, songs and many interesting facts about their country. Ireland, Greece, Japan, India, Mexico, Sweden, Scotland, Australia and of course, the good ole' USA were the countries represented on this day.

From the art of origami to giggle jars, and lots of good treats to eat, the girls collected and donated $68.16 to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. Juliette Gordon Low was the founder of Girl Scouts and the Friendship Fund was created to be "dedicated forever to good will and cooperation among the nations of the world."

This was a wonderful experience for the girl scouts and they hope to make this a yearly tradition and open it up to the public.

'Dragons, Dreams and Daring Deeds' summer library registration

The Kewaskum Public Library summer reading program is coming soon. This year's theme is "Dragons, Dreams, and Daring Deeds" and will feature weekly events such as Care for Critters from the Milwaukee Zoo, a display of the power of electricity from Discovery World Museum, a look at snakes and reptiles, and much more!

The Summer Reading Program is designed for kids K-5th grade, with prizes for reading, exciting weekly programs, crafts, and a picnic at the end of the summer. The program runs for 6 weeks starting on June 13.

Registration is June 6-10. Each child will get a reading folder to keep track of how many hours they have read. For every hour of reading they complete, they win a prize.

They also get "money" to spend in our Dragon Tales Bookstore, which will be open during July in the library. Every week, your child is invited to come to the library to participate in a special event.

Finally, we have some great incentives to reward kids for spending their free time reading. The Green Bay Packers have again donated a football autographed by the entire team. This will be given away at the picnic on July 22. We will have other prizes as well including a set of Lemony Snicket books, a stuffed dragon, and packs of family tickets to the Milwaukee Brewers.

A calendar of events will be available at the library or on our website at www.kewaskum.lib.wi.us.

Open meeting violation

working out more over the weekend, but as of now... that's how it stands."

In defense, Goeden said, "The sole purpose of the email was to identify the board members willing to accept the board officers. Nothing was predetermined in advance."

Wisconsin's open meeting law requires that all governmental meetings be preceded by a public notice, be held in places reasonably accessible to the public, and be open to all citizens unless certain exceptions apply allowing the meeting to be closed. Notice of an official meeting must be provided to the public, members of the news media who have filed a written request for such notice and the official newspaper. The notice must be given at least 24 hours in advance unless good cause is given but no less than two hours.

The open meetings law also applies to any committees, board and commissions created by a governmental body. A meeting is defined as the convening of members of a governmental body for the purpose of exercising the responsibilities of that body. If one-half or more of the members of a governmental body are present, the meeting is rebuttably presumed to be for the purpose of exercising the responsibilities or duties of the body. Wisconsin Courts have interpreted the law to apply even when there is less than one-half of the body present if the gathering is for the purpose of engaging in governmental business and the number of members present is sufficient to determine the parent body's course of action on the subject being discussed. Engaging in governmental business includes taking in information as well as making decisions.

According to The Statesman's legal counsel, the email in question clearly violates Wisconsin's open meetings laws.

In an interview, Kenworthy stated, "What happened to spur my strong reaction that night (at the meeting) was that earlier on that day I had received an email, which Mrs. Goeden had forwarded to all Board Members. That message contained within a series of messages that she had sent back and forth to the School District's legal counsel about another matter. However, as part of one of her emails to the attorney, she felt compelled to further tell him (without his solicitation) of the juicy political gossip."

Kenworthy went on to say, "I always thought that the Board VOTED on the officers, but now we discover that she has decided they are hers to GIVE and furthermore that autocratic act on her part will somehow show unity. My gosh, if this is unity, who the heck wants it? I believe that respectful dissent and the intelligent dialectic will better shape the direction of this district than homogeneity and a facade of unity. We have serious issues here; it does no one any good to gloss over them with surface and false niceties."

This is not the first time the Kewaskum School Board has had problems following open meeting laws. In 1996 then board member Ruth Schmitt requested charges against board member Neal Weare. Schmitt charged that proper notification was not given for a special meeting held to award a contract for an interim superintendent. According to the Washington County Clerk of Courts, that charge was dismissed with a few stipulations.

Editorial Comment: We do not normally condone making a big issue of negative publicity but we were reminded the integrity of the school district's official newspaper also comes into play. We therefore felt compelled to report this news to our readers.

Per a DNR directive, the Village of Kewaskum, has retained the consulting engineering firm of Ruckert/Mielke, to conduct leakage tests of the sanitary sewer system. Those test began on June 7th.

The purpose is to help locate places where clear water could possibly be entering the Village's sanitary sewers. A door hanger explaining this testing will be delivered to each property prior to testing.

The testing consists of forcing a special, non-toxic smoke into the sewer.

The smoke is manufactured for this purpose and leaves no residuals or stains and has no effect on plants or animals.

Direct contact with the smoke may cause minor respiratory irritation in some people.

If people in your building have asthma, emphysema, or some other respiratory conditions and are planning to stay in the building during the testing, contact Steve Zaleski from Ruckert/Mielke on his cell phone at 262-965-1090 or Arlyn Kurth at Ruckert/Mielke's office at 262-542-5733, so that we can discuss your case in further detail.

Kohn's Citgo gets beer license here

Even with a little opposition, Kohn's Citgo in Kewaskum was granted a class A fermented malt beverage license at the Monday, June 6 village board meeting.

Police Chief Dick Knoebel expressed his displeasure for anyone selling alcohol in a convenience store setting. His main concern, as in the past when things like this have come before the board the accessibility of the alcohol to minors.

Trustee Andy Pesch agreed with Knoebel. He cast the lone opposing vote for the license. In 1999, however, Pesch cast a favorable vote for a combination class b license for Geidel's Piggly Wiggly.

Myra Zuelke, of Kohn's Citgo stated they hope to be ready beer and wine coolers to sell on July 1. They will be getting another cooler to take things out of the big cooler to make room for the beer and other fermented beverages.

WB man awaiting armed robbery charges

A 23 year-old West Bend man was charged June 1 with armed robbery after he allegedly threatened a man with a gun. Police say the incident, which happened May 27, was reported May 31. Allegedly the 23 year-old man put a gun to the throat of an 18 year-old and demanded his necklace. The conflict reportedly stemmed from "bad debt." The 23 year-old was taken into custody. He is facing charges of armed robbery, carrying a concealed weapon and recklessly endangering safety. Nobody was injured during the incident.

Hearing held for teen accused of throwing baby in lake

A preliminary hearing was held last week in neighboring Sheboygan county for a woman from Plymouth who is accused of putting her newborn in Lake Michigan. Sarah Duenk, 18, appeared in court on felony charges of concealing the death of a child and misdemeanor charges of failing to report a death and obstructing an officer. A liaison officer at Plymouth High School was the one who reported the case. Duenk initially told police the baby girl was stillborn. Authorities say she changed her story several times and then confessed she put the child into Lake Michigan. So far, the body of the child has not been found. If Duenk is convicted she faces up to 31 months in prison.

Sheriff's Dept. to sue biker group

The Washington County Sheriff's Department is suing the organizers of last summer's National Bikers Roundup. The event was held at the Washington County Fair Park last August and drew about 15,000 bikers. The Sheriff's Department says they're suing the group because they still owe about $30,000 for nearly 1,000 hours of security. The hours included more than 200 hours when shots were fired and a portion of the park had to be shut down.

This is going to be a tough claim for lawyers to solve as the organizer of the event who signed contracts with the Sheriff's Department died of a heart attack last September.

Krebs' win Kathy Hospice raffle

Last week the Statesman reported that hundreds of people turned out Tuesday in West Bend hoping to win a dream home. The drawing was held as part of a fundraiser for the Kathy Hospice.

Tom and Patty Krebs now have two weeks to decide if they want the $332,000 home or $150,000 in cash. There were a bunch of other winners as the raffle included over 100 cash prizes. Harriet Cain from West Bend went home with $1,000.

Winners of $1,000 included Kathleen Hurst from Mukwonago, Harriet Cain from West Bend, Tom Baker from West Allis and Matthew Spreeman from West Bend.

Chris Constantine from Oak Creek won the $10,000 second prize. The $5,000 prizes went to Daniel Case from West Bend and Jeffrey Porter from Saukville.

Mid-Moraine Municipal court looks at buying more space

The Administrative Committee for the Mid-Moraine Municipal Court says they want to buy space rather than continue with their lease in Jackson. The court currently leases a spot at the Tillie Lake Business Center. The idea to buy is receiving support from city leaders around Washington County however officials in Cedarburg are against the plan.

Mid-Moraine Municipal court handles citations for 13 communities in Washington and Ozaukee counties. Currently, the court pays approximately $34,000 in rent. The county's building committee has been instructed to draft a proposal to explore building purchase options.

Woman pops football and lands in jail

Fond du Lac County has been dealing with some interesting cases. A man and a woman are facing charges after they allegedly stole a ferret from Bubby's Pet Store.

In another case, a 25 year-old woman was arrested after she popped a small inflatable football being played with by some kids in her neighborhood. Police say the woman was wanted on warrants and that's why she was taken to jail.

Also a man claiming to be from the United Kingdom was busted for apparently trying to run a scam on the Country Inn and Suites. Police say the man sent an email last month looking for 35 rooms for 20 days. The man issued a cashiers check for nearly $63,000 that turned out to be counterfeit.

County endorses Samaritan Health Care program

Washington County supervisors are deciding whether to approve $2 million in borrowing to build an apartment building adjacent to the Samaritan. The 24 unit facility would specifically be assisted living for elderly residents in the county. Ed Somers said the facility would "Hopefully generate sufficient revenue to fully repay borrowed funds plus interest within 20 years." He also said the project would be completed at no cost to taxpayers. The county's finance committee has already given the plan an OK. They'll meet to officially vote on June 14th.

Mayville woman facing charges of identity theft

Debbie Spittel, 42, of Mayville, is facing charges of identity theft in Dodge County court. Spittel is accused of buying $370 worth of items using another woman's debit card. Spittel allegedly went shopping on ebay. If convicted she faces up to six years in prison and $10,000 in fines. Her next court appearance is July 14th.

WB July 4th parade back on

The Statesman announced June 1 that this year's 4th of July parade in West Bend has been saved. Parade Chairman and Seventh District Alderman Terry Vrana said a bunch of Veterans were talking after the Memorial Day parade and they thought it was a shame the 4th of July parade had been cancelled. "It got us thinking and we decided to wing it and take out a permit," said Vrana, who is hoping the rest of the community will step forward as well. "Basically we are asking people to just show up that day," he said. "We don't have time to do a lineup, so if people would show up behind Badger Middle School at 9 a.m. we'll organize things as we go."

Vrana is organizing the parade with a handful of Veteran's groups including the Barton and West Bend VFW Posts, The American Legion, AM Vets and Chapter 448 of the Vietnam Veterans. Vrana said they have no budget to work with and he's asking for volunteers and people in the community to help make this work.

To help with the Fourth of July parade contact West Bend's City Hall or email Terry at vranalock@juno.com.

Minimum wage up in county

Minimum wage recently went up in Wisconsin. The minimum, which has been $5.15 an hour since 1997, went up to $5.70 an hour on June 1. Governor Jim Doyle celebrated the wage hike with workers at a company in Racine.

Kettle Moraine Lake infested with milfoil, pondweed

Kettle Moraine Lake in the Town of Osceola continues to battle Eurasian water milfoil and curly leaf pondweed. That battle started five years ago when the milfoil and pondweed was first discovered.

The Lake Association has spent about $40,000 to try and remove the milfoil but it continues to thrive. This year the DNR gave the association a $75,000 grant to help with the problem.

Aquatic Biologist will spray the lake to remove the invasive species.

The Lake Association

urges boaters to refrain from boating in the lake if they have been at another lake five days prior. Another option is to pressure wash your boat with 140 degree water.

Sen. Grothman fights for Communion wine for prisoners

At a hearing last week by the state Senate's Judiciary Committee, State Senator Glenn Grothman continued his fight for prisoners to be given the right to receive Communion wine as part of the Sacrament received for inmates.

Corrections officials think the half teaspoon of wine will only lead to problems for those inmates struggling with alcohol abuse.

Grothman says that the Department of Corrections has resisted for more than a year as legislators and the clergy try to win approval for inmates to receive the full Sacrament of Communion.

If this headline caught your eye, chances are you've been concerned about a parent or another older loved one for some time. You may have noticed she seems to be spending more time alone. It could be you sense that he isn't eating all that well, or isn't taking his medications properly. Maybe she's just a bit too forgetful, or she just doesn't seem to be thriving.

These are all good reasons to consider Cedar Bay for assisted living. Your loved one can choose from a variety of great activities, dine on delicious meals and reconnect with other people. Rahlf's Thank Supporters

Dear Friends and Family,

I wanted to take a moment to thank everyone who came out to the "Brat Fry" on Memorial Day to help support my surgery fundraiser. Living with this disorder has been a long and difficult road for my family and I, and we cannot thank everyone enough for their kindness, generosity and support.

The adhesions have grown so much that they have attached themselves to major organs and are now constricting them, causing a severe amount of pain. I am not only grateful, but hopeful, and prayerful that this amazing surgery in Germany is the answer and relief to all of this pain and suffering.

To have the support of so many people including the Kewaskum Statesman, the Piggly Wiggly (who graciously donated all of the food and condiments for the Brat Fry), as well as family, friends and perfect strangers, is such a blessing to this family.

I also wanted to send my most heartfelt thanks to my in-laws (Betty and Jim) and the whole Rahlf family, for taking the time to orchestrate a fundraiser and for helping raise money for this costly operation.

Thank you again, your donations and support help make this upcoming trip to Germany happen! We are so grateful to all of you!!

EVENTS

Plans set for Campbellsport's 101st Firemen's Picnic

The tradition of the Campbellsport Volunteer Fire Department's (CFD) picnic and parade, celebrated annually on Independence Day, is embedded in most of the areas residents' memories as much as the rolling hills that surround this quaint village.

Fireworks, food, music, and the large parade are just a few of the traditions passed down from generation to generation. People from all over the state flock to this area to celebrate the Fourth of July and to support the CFD who are celebrating their 101st year in service.

Last year the event was highlighted by the Guinness Book of World Record, largest bratwurst. The organizers promise that the 101st will have even more events than the huge centennial celebration last year.

The CFD, the Campbellsport Area Chamber of Commerce (CACC), and many other organizations have worked hard since July 5, 2004 to keep the celebration a success. Many of the great traditional events, such as the sweet corn, the all beef patties and the Boy Scout's gaming area will be continued. There have been many new events added in the last few years and some new thrilling events have been added this year.

A preview of the full events will be on Friday July 2nd when the picnic kicks off with the sounds of Road Trip from 8:00 until 12:30am. On Sunday July 3rd, starting at 11am, the CFD will be offering Schwai's chicken dinner. To make sure you get your chicken dinner, please buy advanced tickets at Campbellsport area businesses.

For those interested in seeing some great vehicles, a car show will be held in the afternoon. The retro sounds of Rocket 88 will be entertaining the car show crowd while in the East tent the polka band Good Time Dutchman will be performing. RPM will be performing from 8:30 p.m. - 12:30 a.m.

Sunday will be a great time to bring your family as there will be many children events going on. From 2-5pm there will be free pony rides, sponsored by the Campbellsport Area Chamber of Commerce. There will also be inflatable games and rides for children of all ages. The West Bend Dance and Tumbling Troupe, an internationally known team, will be giving two free performances at 5:30 and 6:30pm. This is also sponsored by the CACC. In between their performance the Campbellsport High School Dance Team camp's performance will be held. They will also be sharing their talents with area children from the ages of 3-14 this summer at a dance camp prior to the picnic. This is a great opportunity for the children who enjoy performing in front of a crowd. The children will learn a dance routine created especially for their age. They will have one-on-one group coaching.

Mary Bilgo is still accepting camp participants. Call her for more information at 533-5041. Mary Bilgo, the energetic organizer of the dance team, promises this to be an exciting performance for the performers and the spectators.

Children's water fights, sponsored by Mercury Marine, will begin at noon on Sunday. The adult water fights will follow. To sign up for either the adult or children's events contact Mark Jungers at 533-4771. Free Face Painting by NSP Graphics will be also available July 3rd and 4th.

If you have a huge appetite this event may be for you. Starting at 7pm on July 3rd the CACC is hosting the inaugural EAT CAMPBELLSPORT Contest. Eating Contestants will have an opportunity to devour food from local chamber restaurants. As of this writing, the restaurants that are competing are not yet known; however Rhonda Lichtensteiger of Chuck's Carpentry, expects many restaurants to have some huge portions for the contestants. The contest, hosted by Campbellsport High School wrestling Coach Mark Peterson, will be an eating contest with speed and quantity being the main concern. Neatness will not be judged and "pigging out" will be the norm.

The first place winner will receive $100 in chamber bucks. It only costs $20 to enter and you get a free meal and a free t-shirt. If you think you or someone you know is up to the challenge stop in at King Pin Lanes. King Pin Lanes which is closed on July 4th in honor of the volunteer firemen, is the main registration headquarters for the EAT Campbellsport Contest.

RPM, who put on an awesome performance last year, will be rocking the mainstage from 8:30pm-12am to put a final touch on a huge day.

Before the start of the July 4th parade which begins at 12:00 noon and marches down Main Street, the CACC will be along the parade route selling raffle tickets. To be included in the parade, show up approximately at 11am on the north side of St. Matthew's Church. The lineup will be scheduled from there.

EVENTS

Kewaskum Basketball Academy to hold summer sessions

The Kewaskum Basketball Academy will be conducting several summer sessions within the month of June at Kewaskum High School. The purpose of each session is to provide an affordable basketball camp that emphasizes the fundamentals and skills involved in the game of basketball. Each session will include 12 hours of instruction, contests and games as well as prizes and awards for those involved throughout the week.

Third through Sixth Grade Students will participate in the first session which will be held from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The second session will be conducted from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. for seventh through tenth grade student-athletes. The sessions for Girls will be provided on Monday, June 20 to Thursday, June 23, whereas the boys sessions will be the following week from Monday, June 27 through June 30.

All sessions will be instructed by area high and middle school coaches at the Fieldhouse within Kewaskum High School.

Each day one aspect of the game will be demonstrated and explained, then campers will have opportunities in drills, contests and games to develop their skills. Each participant will receive a camp t-shirt, certificates and competition prizes. The fee for all campers is fifty dollars ($50) payable to the K.Y.B.

Registration forms are available at all area schools or you can contact the K.H.S. Office. All registration forms and fees are due the Friday before their session starts, therefore June 17th for the girls and June 24th for the boys participating in the summer sessions of the Kewaskum Basketball Academy.

If you have any questions or concerns, please call 262-626-2166 Extension 4251 and leave a message. One of the camp coaches will return your call. Thank You!

Campbellsport Picnic

III will follow the parade at the lower end of CFD park. Put on by the CACC, Men's and Women's Teams will attempt to pull 20 tons a maximum distance of 200'.

TRUCK PULL III major sponsors, Valley Hydro-Excavation & Tom's Quality Millwork are offering $750 cash to the first place men's team. Koffman Auto Body will also give the men's winner $250 to give to the charity of their choice. Set In Ink, owned by prominent area business woman, Liv Moyer, is the sponsor for the women's pull. The 1st place women's team will receive $250.

T-shirts for this event and more were all designed free of charge by NSP Graphics. Scott Benson, of Campbellsport Building Supply will be the driver for TRUCK PULL III. A new rocking DJ system, more bleachers and sponsorship by the energy drink RED BULL are all additions to this already successful event. All profits from TRUCK PULL III will go to improve the park bathrooms and playground equipment.

A huge fireworks display, sponsored in part by the local dentist Dr. Dean Uelmen, will be held at dusk. For a complete event listing, to offer your support, or for more information on all the events go to <http://www.campbellsport.org>.

These events offer real value for the village's residents. Many families make a long commute to work leaving little time to get to know their fellow neighbors. The parade and picnic offer an opportunity for these residents to get to know the person that lives across the street or shares the backyard. A laugh is shared, perhaps a beer is offered, and suddenly the residents of this quiet town feel a little safer and a little closer.

There are many other organizations, businesses, and individuals that help with this event including all those that have an entry in the parade or make a cash donation to the CFD. Let this article serve as a "thank you" for your often anonymous efforts. But, of course the real story is the months of preparation it requires to plan such an event.

Recently, a larger town canceled their July 4th parade due to a lack of supporters. The volunteer CFD spends hundreds of hours to make this event one that the community can be proud of. Not only does the CFD volunteer to serve our community by fighting fires and saving lives, they plan this community event to raise money and more importantly to bring the community together. It is a year round process coordinating the bands, the parade, the food (featuring the famous 100% all beef picnic burgers) and putting on the huge fireworks display on the night of July 4th to celebrate America's Independence.

The CFD and all the people that help them out hope you spread the word about the annual Campbellsport Fire Department's Picnic and Parade and this small town's cooperation to make it a success.

Pennington at Fireside Books June 11

Rochelle Pennington will visit Fireside Books, 1331 West Paradise Drive in West Bend, from 10:30 to 12:00 p.m. on Saturday, June 11 and will speak informally during a brief program. Autographed copies of her newly released book, Reach for the Stars, will be available to interested customers.

Pennington is a freelance writer and newspaper columnist from West Bend. (Pennington's new column, A Cause for Pause, will be featured in The Statesman later this summer.)

Reach for the Stars is a rich collection of wit, wisdom, and practical advice from those who have believed and achieved their greatest dreams - and makes a wonderful graduation gift. Readers will be inspired by the true stories, powerful quotations, and 'how to' suggestions encouraging each of us to aspire higher and reach for our highest hopes.

Excerpts include:

To be a champion you have to believe in yourself even if no one else will.

Four young musicians auditioned in 1962 for the Decca Recording Company. The executives there were unimpressed with the British rock group that called themselves The Beatles. They turned the group down with these words: "We don't like your sound - and groups of guitars are on their way out."

Knock the "t" off of "can't". Marathoner Joan Benoit underwent knee surgery only seventeen days before the U.S. Olympic trials, but her determination enabled her not only to make the team, but also to win the first ever Olympic gold medal in her event.

Stick to the fight when you are hardest hit. It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

Julio Iglesias was a professional soccer player in Madrid when a car accident left him paralyzed for more than a year - and destroyed his soccer career. To help Iglesias pass the time in the hospital, a nurse gave him a guitar. Although Iglesias had no prior musical plans, he went on to become one of the greatest music stars ever.

Always bear in mind that your own resolution to succeed is more important than any other one thing.

Hollywood leading man Brad Pitt's first "acting" job in California was to dress up as a chicken in order to attract customers to a local restaurant.

Remember that your "I can" is more important than your "IQ".

Grandma Moses, the celebrated American artist, didn't begin painting until she was 78 years old - and never even had an art lesson!

Go the extra yard. It makes a mile of difference.

Cesar Ritz, founder of the grandest hotel in Paris, refused to open his establishment in 1898 until he had personally slept one night in every single room in order to test the comfort and quality his guests would experience.

If your ship doesn't come in, swim out to it.

Jay Leno, in his early days of performing, would randomly enter a club and tell the manager, "I'm a comedian." He would then be told, "Get out of here." Then Leno would put a $50 bill on the bar and say, "Just let me tell some jokes, and if people leave, or if I embarrass the customers, you keep the 50." The wager always worked.

Do a little more each day than you think you possibly can.

Claude Perrin (1644-1709), the noted French painter, found his right hand suddenly paralyzed at the age of 40. Instead of giving up, he taught himself to paint so well with his left hand that his later art works are his most valued.

The way to succeed is to never quit. That's it.

Jane Austen, author of the bestselling book Pride and Prejudice, struggled for seventeen years while she searched for a publisher who was willing to print her book.

Try to keep your soul young right up to old age, and to imagine that life is only beginning.

Asked which of his works he would select as his masterpiece, architect Frank Lloyd Wright said, "My next one." He was 83.

Most people achieved their greatest success one step beyond what looked like their greatest failure.

Levi Strauss failed as a tent-maker in the 1850's, but instead of giving up on the heavy-duty fabric he had invented, he decided to use the material to make pants instead of tents. His signature "Levi" blue jeans transformed the fashion industry.

When problems arise, don't get furious, get curious.

Thomas Edison invented the light bulb after 2,000 experiments. When asked how he felt about his repeated failures he replied, "I never failed once. My invention just happened to be a 2,000 step process."

Make up your mind at the outset that your work is going to stand for quality; that you are going to stamp a superior quality upon everything that goes out of your hands; that whatever you do shall bear the hallmark of excellence.

In front of the Grenoble Museum's most prized painting was a little old man. In his hand was a brush. On his arm was a box of oil colors. A museum attendant, making his rounds, came upon the old fellow just as he was starting to repaint a corner of the canvas - a famous Bonnard painting. With a howl of anger, the attendant pounced, and the timid little man, spluttering protest, was hauled off to the local police department. The officers there were posed with an interesting problem for the so-called vandal was the painter Bonnard himself. Bonnard, who had a habit of never being really satisfied with his canvases, would try to touch them up whenever he could get near them.

Today is a new day. If you have made mistakes, even serious mistakes, there is always another chance for you. You may have a fresh start any moment you choose, for this thing called "failure" is not the falling down, but the staying down.

Comedian Tim Allen, star of the hit TV show Home Improvement, decided to turn his life around and follow his dream while serving three years in prison for drug dealing when he was a young man.

The past cannot be changed. The future is yet in your power.

In 1860, a 38-year-old man was working as a handyman for his father, a leather merchant. He kept books, drove wagons and handled hides for about $66 a month. Prior to this menial job the man had failed as a soldier, a farmer and a real estate agent. Most of the people who knew him had written him off as a failure. Eight years later he was President of the United States. The man was Ulysses S. Grant.

It is remarkable how frequently great men and women were misjudged by others before they became famous.

Albert Einstein did not speak until he was four years old and learned to read much later than other students. One of his teachers reported: "Albert is a very poor student. He is mentally slow (and possibly retarded), unsociable, and forever adrift in his silly dreams. He is spoiling it for the rest of the class. It would be in the best interest of all if he were removed from school at once."

Failure is delay, not defeat. It is a temporary detour, not a dead-end street.

R. H. Macy, founder of the famous New York City store (and namesake of the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade), failed seven times before he achieved unprecedented success in the retail industry.

You are never given a dream without also having been given the power to make it come true.

No one thought mega-star Sylvester Stallone would amount to much when he was young because he "spent as much time in the principal's office as he did in the classroom" during his school days. By the time Sylvester was 16 years old, he had been expelled 12 times. Later, while trying to break into the movie industry, he was flat broke and homeless. He could even be found sleeping in bus stations.

There are no shortcuts to anyplace worth going.

The Wright Brothers' initial 12 seconds of flight at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina (in their homemade airplane) was the result of 13 years of research and testing.

If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music he hears, however measured or far away.

World-famous artist Pablo Picasso was terrible at mathematics when he was a boy because every time he saw the number "4" he visualized a nose instead of a number, and then he drew a portrait around it.

BECAUSE HE'S YOUR DAD

Father's Day Gift Ideas for Clueless Shoppers

(ARA) - Clueless about what to give Dad for Father's Day? With so many nifty new "guy" toys on the market, there's no need to settle for yet another new tie or bottle of cologne. Here are some Father's Day gift ideas that will make him wonder how you knew what he wanted.

For the guru of the garage and yard: Two powerful new cleaning tools are perfect for the guy who loves to escape the house to clean up the garage, patio, driveway, sidewalk, pool area or basement workshop. The Hoover GUV Garage Utility Vac has a three-gallon dirt receptacle, 30-foot crush-proof hose and seven wall-mounted attachment tools to clean far-flung corners of the garage or inside the car. The Hoover SpinSweep outdoor sweeper cleans up twigs, excess mulch, grass clippings, pebbles and even empty aluminum cans without need for a motor, batteries or fuel. Hoover GUV prices range from $169-$199; Hoover SpinSweep from $99-$129. Both can be purchased at www.garagegear.hoover.com.

For the party animal: Dad will be the envy of the neighborhood if he offers drinks from his own customized vending machine or mini-fridge. The SkyBox by Maytag personal beverage vendor, the first-ever home beverage machine, dispenses 12-ounce beverage cans, bottles or a combination from four coin-free selection buttons. Another option is the SkyBox Rookie, a mini fridge on wheels that has a convenient flip-top storage bin for bowls of snacks or beverages on ice. Both have back-lit panels that he can customize with NFL, NHL, college team or NASCAR logos, or even pictures of the kids. Estimated price for the SkyBox is $607 and for the Skybox Rookie Fridge, $199. Personalized panels sold separately for $29. Available at The Home Depot, Maytag Home Appliance Centers, Maytag Stores or at www.skyboxby-maytag.com.

For the avid angler: If he'd rather be fishing on Father's Day (or any day for that matter), give him a membership in Club Rapala, an organization that allows the world's avid anglers to share tips, test lures and swap fish stories. Members also receive a subscription to North American Fishing magazine and have access to field-testing opportunities, exclusive merchandise offers, gear giveaways and more. Sporting goods retailers offer the Club Rapala Membership kit, complete with two limited-edition Rapala lures, decal and membership card for $19.99, or enroll on www.rapala.com.

For the motorcycle-minded: If your dad is the kind of guy who prefers to receive "experiential" gifts, go for the ultimate dreamed-of motorcycling experience by renting him a Harley-Davidson for a getaway weekend or vacation. Just about any Harley-Davidson is available for rental through dealerships. It's a great opportunity to try out a new model if he already owns

BALSAMIC-BLUE CHEESE PORTOBELLO BURGERS

From Southern Living magazine, March 2005; found on AOL Food

Ingredients:

2 large Portobello mushroom caps, stemmed
3 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 teaspoon minced fresh garlic
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese or Gorgonzola cheese
2 tablespoons light mayonnaise
1 teaspoon balsamic vinegar
2 whole wheat hamburger buns, split
Romaine lettuce leaves
2 tomato slices

Directions: Scrape gills from mushroom caps, if desired. Combine 3 tablespoons vinegar, oil, and next three ingredients in a shallow dish or large zip-top plastic freezer bag; add mushrooms, turning to coat. Cover or seal, and chill 1 hour, turning occasionally. Remove mushrooms from marinade, discarding marinade.

Grill mushrooms, covered with grill lid, over medium-high heat (350 degrees to 400 degrees) 3 to 4 minutes on each side or until tender. Remove mushrooms from grill, and immediately sprinkle undersides evenly with blue cheese.

Stir together mayonnaise and 1 teaspoon vinegar. Spread mixture evenly on cut sides of buns; place lettuce, mushrooms, and tomato slices on bottom halves of buns, and cover with tops. Serve immediately.

Yield: Makes 2 servings

Food for Thought

Out for Dinner?

Last weekend my husband had a complete lapse in parental judgment. He suggested we go out for dinner... as a family... in a real restaurant.

"What!" I replied in horror. "Take the kids out for dinner in public?" As parents of three young children, going out for dinner has the same appeal as going to the dentist or visiting my in-laws. However, I reluctantly agreed.

I made the kids dress nicely, so that people didn't think they were gypsies and actually belonged in a nice restaurant. I asked them to wear bold colors, so I could see them easier as they ran away from me.

We also went over the manners list. No hitting, spitting, yelling or wrestling. "We will bring our manners inside the restaurant and not leave them in the car," I said. "If you choose to leave your manners in the car, you will have to eat in the car."

"Cool," replied my 10 year-old. "I can eat in the car by myself, while you guys eat in the restaurant."

"Well, if he gets to eat in the car, then I want to eat in the car too," argued his seven year-old accomplice.

"No one is eating in the car," I sternly announced. "We will sit nicely at the table and be polite to the waitress this time."

As we pulled into the parking lot of the restaurant, I could sense my husband was having second thoughts. The boys were in the backseat of the van, making obscene noises using their armpits and giggling hysterically.

"Okay," my husband said to me. "Are you ready?" The same words he said to me just before we got married. But, this time it was serious.

A very tall, thin and cheerful hostess told us there would be a 30-minute wait to be seated unless we wanted to sit at the bar. Perching three squirrely kids up on bar stools would be a brilliant idea, if their GRANDPARENTS were taking them out for dinner while their parents were on a month-long romantic vacation in France.

We declined the bar seating and after five short minutes, the whining started. "My legs are so weak, mom, I can't even stand," my seven-year old said. Then he started to sob for the next 10 minutes. "Great, only 15 more minutes to go," I said to my husband, who was too preoccupied watching the tall, thin and cheerful hostess while I continuously kept track of all three cherubs.

I came up short in my count, until I noticed our 10 year-old had planted himself in front of booth and just stood there hungrily watching the foursome eat. He was so close; I'm surprised they didn't claim him as one of their own.

Meanwhile, our two year-old daughter ran circles around and through my legs singing, "Happy Birthday." As her bright pink hairbow dangled near her ears.

After about 45 minutes of waiting the restaurant owner came over and asked me if there was anything we needed. "A babysitter," I replied. We were seated immediately. I should have spoke up earlier.

After one spilled cup of milk, a five-story Half- and - Half pyramid, and 200 more bars of Happy Birthday sung at the top of our daughter's lungs, our food came.

"Is there anything else I can get you?" asked our tall, thin and cheerful waitress - obviously the hostess' sister - "The bill," my husband quickly replied, as he simultaneously refereed the kicking match that was happening under the booth between our two boys.

"Sure Thing!" she agreed, ducking from the flying straw wrappers, French fries and ketchup explosions.

She didn't even ask us if we wanted to stay for dessert!

ROSE MARY TWOHIG

Rose Mary Twohig, 79, of Armstrong died peacefully on Tuesday, May 31, 2005, at St. Nicholas Hospital in Sheboygan after a valiant battle with multiple myeloma and plasma cell leukemia.

She was born in the township of Osceola on June 28, 1925, to Thomas and Mamie O'Brien Scannell. On Sept. 26, 1959, Rose Mary married Robert E. Twohig at Our Lady of Angels Church in Armstrong. It was a celebration of love joining two Irish families.

Rose Mary attended Mitchell School, Roosevelt Junior High and graduated from St. Mary's Springs High School in 1943. She continued her education at Oshkosh State Teachers' College, where she earned a bachelor's degree in education. Rose Mary was a dedicated teacher. She began her 30-year teaching career at Horace Mann Rural School and went on to teach at Mitchell and Dundee rural schools, teaching all eight grades. She then continued her career in the Campbellsport School District for five years.

After her marriage in 1959 she took time off to raise a family. Bob and Rose Mary made their home on the Twohig family farm with their daughters MaryAnn, Patti and Robbie.

Rose Mary's value of education was instilled in them, as each pursued a career in the field of education. In recent years, she cherished being "Moma" to her grandchildren.

In the fall of 1974, Rose Mary returned for another 15 years of teaching at Campbellsport Elementary School, retiring in 1990. Through her years of teaching she influenced hundreds of students, many of whom remained in contact with her, remembering her teaching style, her wit and the gleam in her eye.

Her service to education didn't stop in the classroom. She served on the Northeastern Education Association Executive Board for many years, early in her career was chairman of the State Reading Group, was a member of the Campbellsport Education Association, Wisconsin Education Association, and the National Education Association. Upon her retirement Rose Mary enjoyed serving as reporter for seven years and secretary for eight years of the Fond du Lac Area Retired Educators Association.

In June she was to receive the status of Honored Member of the Wisconsin Retired Educators' Association. Her retirement also gave her the opportunity to celebrate her Irish heritage by becoming active in the Irish History Club of Fond du Lac. Over her years of participation she held a variety of offices including secretary, treasurer and president of the Irish History Club.

Rose Mary was able to share her enjoyment of music throughout her life. She sang with Jack Wenzlaff and his band, as well as a number of other local musicians. Later, she was a 4-H music leader and in her retirement served as an organist at St. Mary's in Eden. Whether it was "McNamara's Band" or the "Celtic Alleluia," she brought enjoyment to those who heard her.

Rose Mary is survived by her husband, Bob of Armstrong; her daughters, MaryAnn (Chad) Reingold of Studio City, Calif., Patti (David) Marcinko of Oswego, Ill., and Robbie Twohig of Burlington; three grandchildren, Micaila Kelly and Egan Robert Marcinko, and Lilly Rose Reingold.

She is further survived by her nephews, Mike, Edward and Gerry; nieces, Mary Narges and Shirley Straub; her brothers-in-law, Dr. George Twohig and Leo Twohig; sisters-in-law, Patricia Twohig, Roseann Twohig and June Twohig; close cousin Robert Scannell (Bunny) of Kewaskum; and many other relatives.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Thomas and Mamie; her brothers, James and George (Marie); her sister, Isabell; her nephew, Patrick; her brothers-in-law, David and John Twohig, and her sisters-in-law, Laura May, Betty, Catherine and Florence Twohig, Nora (Herb) Niederehe and Margaret (Jerry) Fitzgerald.

Rose Mary celebrated her strong faith and family throughout her life. Along with these, she appreciated the value of education, the rural school and her Irish heritage, all of which she cherished.

A Liturgy of Christian Burial was held at 10 a.m. on Monday, June 6, 2005, at Holy Cross Catholic Church in Mount Calvary, with Father Gerald Pehler and Father Anthony Scannell officiating. Burial followed at Our Lady of Angels Cemetery in Armstrong.

Visitation was held from 3 to 7 p.m. on Sunday, June 5, 2005, at the Twohig Funeral Home, Campbellsport, and from 9 a.m. until the time of services at the church on Monday.

No Dogs in Heaven?

"It's nice to pick up a book like this and immerse yourself in a simpler, gentler world. It helps to remember that good things still happen. It's also a feast for a country lover!"
—Don Aslett, bestselling author of Clutter's Last Stand

Scenes from the Life of a Country Veterinarian

We pet owners are a funny bunch. We scandalously pamper our pets and then claim that they're not spoiled. We teach them easy tricks, then we make our friends coo over Fluffy or Spot's incredible intelligence. We buy our pets toys on the holidays, and some of us even wrap the gifts.

Guilty as charged, Your Honor.

I've done all the above, although the gift wrapping bit has gone by the wayside. Picking tape off fur is no fun.

Yes, I might be a little nuts about my dogs, but I'm not alone. In "No Dogs in Heaven?" by Robert T. Sharp, D.V.M. (c.2005, Carroll & Graf), you'll read about a veterinarian, his patients, and the people who love them.

A little while after finishing graduate school, veterinarian Bob Sharp decided it was time to settle down and be an owner of a business instead of an employee. When he heard of an established veterinarian practice that was for sale in Hillsboro, Ohio, he decided to check it out.

On his "tour" of the business - which was actually a half-day of farm calls and a tour of the county - Sharp noted that almost every farm on every road had a story connected to it. That man is afraid of snakes, and somebody pulled a practical joke on him. This family had a cow with milk fever. Down that gravel driveway, a woman lives with dozens of dogs, all of them named "Brownie". Over there, someone's cow fell down a well. Sharp quickly realized that if he bought this business, a whole community full of unique (and possibly eccentric) animal-owners came along with it.

Sharp bought the business, and now he has stories of his own to tell.

For over twenty-five years, Dr. Sharp has cared for critters and their people in southern Ohio, and this book is full of what I'm sure is only a mere fraction of the stories he could tell. Down there is a trailer that sticks out over a creek. Inside, Sharp once saw a sick calf that lay on a sofa while it was being treated. Over there, a woman took in dogs that no one else wanted, until the county shut her down. Back here, a little girl insisted that Sharp take a look at her hedgehog that had a sore foot. Down there, Sharp met the Beast that turned out to be a beauty.

And speaking of beauty... what a beautifully-written little book!

Author Robert Sharp is a born story-teller, and "No Dogs in Heaven?" is a delight. Some of the tales Sharp tells will make you laugh, some will make tears come to your eyes, and some will make you shake your head. I loved every bit of this book, though. Reading it was kind of like eating popcorn: I just couldn't stop.

"No Dogs in Heaven?" is a true pleasure, appropriate for any age, easy to read and hard to put down. Wrap it up for your favorite animal lover soon.

The Plan Commission of the Village of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, held their regular meeting in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street. Chairperson Mathew Heiser, called the meeting to order at 7:00 p.m. Andy Pesch and Andrew Kuehl asked to be excused and were absent. It was noted that Andrew Kuehl submitted a letter of resignation. The following Commissioners were present: Commissioners Frank Beesten, Theodore Meilahn and Richard Schmidt. Also in attendance was Mr. James Koepke.

The meeting was opened with a Moment of Silence and Pledge of Allegiance.

On a motion made by Frank Beesten, seconded by Theodore Meilahn and carried unanimously by voice vote the Plan Commission approved the minutes printed for March 22, 2005.

The Plan Commission reviewed the certified survey map for James and Jill Koepke, 8561 Prospect Drive. Comments from the Village Engineer and a Village Attorney were so noted and discussed. 1) It was noted the recording of the CSM could not take place until such time that the Nature Haven Plat is recorded. 2) Discussion on the proposed placed of an easement to serve lot 3 with sewer and water coming from Prospect Drive between lot 1 and lot 2. Mr. Koepke acknowledged the need for said easement and indicated the full 16 feet should come off the rear of lot 2. 3) The fact that the existing single family home is 26 feet, set back from the ROW versus the 30 feet required in the Zoning Ordinance can not be corrected, but would indicate that the Plan Commission and Village should be aware that this creates a legal non-conforming lot. 4) It was also noted that the vision triangle of 20 feet by 20 feet should be so noted on lot 2. 5) The signing of a consent and waiver would also be a condition of the signing after approval of the CSM. 6) It was further noted that a temporary construction easement would be required on the east side of lot 1 and lot 2 adjacent to Prospect Drive. The footage is estimated to be 15 feet. Mr. Koepke had a concern that all of the trees are not removed, but he would work with the Village and Engineers.

Richard Schmidt asked why the Koepkes wouldn't be better off just dividing the parcel into three lots instead of four lots. It was also noted he did not like the angle of lot 1 and lot 3. Mr. Koepke indicated he is doing it this way to maintain his value. On a motion by Frank Beesten, seconded by Theodore Meilahn, to recommend approval of the CSM with the noted changes and timing requirements, as well as the owners signing a consent and waiver for the cost and that the owner work with the Engineer on the temporary construction easement. The Plan Commission carried by majority the action to send the CSM to the Board as noted herein, by voice vote. Richard Schmidt voting "Nay".

The Plan Commission then reviewed the CSM/Vacation Map for Fred Gildersleeve as discussed at the November 9, 2004 meeting of the Plan Commission. It was noted that no additional lots were being created and that all of the remnant land is being attached to the existing parcels. On a motion by Theodore Meilahn, seconded by Richard Schmidt and unanimously carried by voice vote the Commission recommended the approval of the CSM/Vacation Map with one adjustment that being the vision corner an Lazy Lane and Bel Ric Drive. (20' x 20') The final will come back to the Commission before going to the Village Board.

Chairperson Mathew Heiser entertained the motion for adjournment. On a motion made by Richard Schmidt, seconded by Frank Beesten for adjournment. By a roll call vote 4 "Aye", 0 "Nay", 2 "Absent". Motion passed. Meeting was adjourned.

UW falters in NCAA races, but Gosa has great rowing memories

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

If anyone thinks there is sacrifice in participating in high school athletics, they should talk with Colleen Gosa, who just wrapped up four years on the University of Wisconsin women's rowing team. There is ten times the commitment required at the collegiate level.

Gosa was home this week for the first time since January. With early morning and afternoon practices, competitions, travel, and carrying a load heavy in the sciences, there isn't much, if any, free time.

Anyone who has ever seen a rowing race knows the competitors are absolutely spent after a race. The athletes have to be at peak aerobic condition to participate, and hours of training go into the six- or seven-minute races.

Still, Gosa, who lettered in the sport the past two years, would not trade the experiences she was able to enjoy as an intercollegiate athlete ... even considering she and the other seniors on the rowing team missed their college graduation.

"We had 10 seniors on the team. We all decided to compete," Gosa said, explaining the graduation date fell on the same day as the Central Regional that was held in Tennessee.

The decision panned out well for Gosa and her teammates, because they did so well in Tennessee, they received an invitation to the NCAA finals in Rancho Cordova, California. The Badgers did not fare well in California, however, finishing 12th out of 12 teams in the race for the team title, after placing 11th a year ago.

California ended up as the team champion with 67 points, four ahead of Virginia. Ohio State had the best finish of the Big Ten schools, placing fourth with 42, and the Badgers picked up 13 points, eight of which came from the varsity four team, which had a successful outing at the CSUS Aquatic Center on Lake Natoma, placing a program-best fifth.

In the first race of the competition (on May 26th) for Gosa's varsity eight boat, "We were kind of caught by surprise," Gosa said, indicating in recent races, the Lady Badgers were getting off to fast starts, but not this time.

Rowers normally take shorter strokes to get the boat going, but this time, "We were down by quite a bit ... We just stayed there for most of the race," she said.

The result was the Badgers finished sixth out of six boats with a time of 6 minutes, 33.61 seconds (6:33.61). Yale won the heat in 6:22.06.

The second race in the afternoon repechage (second chance race) "was a lot better for us," Gosa said, pointing to a better split time after 500 meters. "We were able to have contact with the other boats (from Michigan, USC, Tennessee, Michigan State and UCLA) but the boat slowed in the third 500 meters and finished sixth out of seven boats, this time with a clocking of 6:56.23.

In this race, the UW boat lost its speaker system, which is "frustrating for the racers" because they do not know their timing and stroke pace.

Wisconsin still had one more race, the one held May 28 to determine 13th through 16th places, and here the Badgers finished second, to place 14th overall. It was an improvement after the 16th by the UW varsity eight a year ago.

The Lady Badgers were just nipped by Michigan State in this race, and according to the UW website, coach Bebe Bryans said, "The varsity eight had a fabulous race in the grand final. It was really close. They were down going into the last 500 and just put on a great charge. They needed one more stroke to overtake Michigan State. It was a fabulous race from the top three boats."

"Saturday was definitely our best race," Gosa said, satisfied she tried as hard as she could.

When asked if she misses all the practices, Gosa said, "a little bit. It's hard, but you enjoy it."

Gosa is staying in Madison this summer, finishing up one final course, working and waiting to hear if she will get into the Loyola Medical School.

"Right now, I'm on the waiting list," she said, explaining she was not able to get all her applications out in time for many of the other schools, mainly because of her rowing schedule.

If Gosa does not get into Loyola this year, "I'll have to re-apply in the fall," she said.

Findlay makes the best of his opportunities; helps A's win a pair

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Bob Findlay might be a relative newcomer on the Kewaskum Athletics home talent baseball team, but he is quickly becoming an adopted favorite son.

Findlay had an important hand in both of the A's wins over the past weekend, including a rain-shortened 2-0 decision over Pardeeville on Saturday and a thrilling 6-5 victory over arch rival Slinger on Sunday. Both games were played at Kiwanis Park in Kewaskum.

Saturday's Tri-County game was scoreless until the bottom of the fifth inning when the A's came up with two runs.

According to team spokesperson Jim Ziegler, Josh Parrent led off Kewaskum's half of the fifth with a base hit, and then Findlay bunted and was safe when Pardeeville tried unsuccessfully to get Parrent at second.

The two A's base runners safely pulled off the double steal, then the Pardeeville pitcher tried to pick off Parrent at third. The throw was wide, and Parrent scampered home, then later, when Findlay made a break to steal home, the Pardeeville pitcher balked, and Kewaskum had a 2-zip lead.

"Right after that, it started pouring," Ziegler said, indicating the game was called because of the rain.

Jake Panzer got the victory. He pitched all five innings, gave up just two hits and struck out seven.

Sunday's Rock River League game was a pitching duel for eight innings, according to Ziegler, who said Kewaskum led at that point by a score of 2-0.

In the top of the eighth, Slinger scored an unearned run to pull closer to the A's, but the hosts rallied for three runs in the bottom of the inning. Three straight singles, by Cory Immel, Steve Ketter and Jason Strobel (an RBI) parlayed the first run, then after Adam Sarauer struck out, Strobel hit into the second out, without a run scoring.

Findlay didn't want to leave the runs stranded. He promptly doubled both of them home, for a 5-1 lead.

Strobel, the A's player/manager, called on Ken Immel to come in and pitch, but he didn't have his usual stuff on the mound, giving up two singles before getting an out, then another single and a double, which helped Slinger inch within a run of the hosts.

The next Slinger batter reached when the shortstop muffed his ground ball, allowing the fifth run to score, tying the game at 5-5.

Ziegler said it was at this point that Strobel brought in Findlay to pitch, and he got the team out of the bases-loaded jam when he got the next man to hit a grounder to the third baseman, who touched the bag for the force out.

The bottom of the ninth didn't start out all that well, as the first A's batter made an out, but then Jake Spaeth singled, Cory Immel singled and Ketter was hit by a pitch to load the bases.

Ziegler said Strobel struck out for the second out, but then Sarauer delivered the game-winning hit.

Kewaskum had 13 hits in the contest, led by Cory Immel's three hits. Findlay, Sarauer and Ketter all chipped in with two hits.

With the wins, the A's are 3-1 in Tri-County play, 4-3 in RR action and 7-4 overall.

"Last weekend, the A's shutout Waupun 8-0 in a Rock River game behind the five-hit pitching of Ziegler.

On Sunday, Kewaskum came out on the short end of a 9-5 decision. "It was close early, then we made a ton of errors," Ziegler said.

Kewaskum plays Plymouth in the Plymouth Tournament on Wednesday night, then play host to Clyman in a Tri-County game Saturday and travel to play powerhouse Oakfield on Sunday. Currently Oakfield is 7-0 in RR action, according to Ziegler.

Indians gain split in EWC baseball action

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

The 9-5 victory over host Sheboygan Falls was welcome last Friday night, but Kewaskum High baseball coach Dave Donath was certainly wishing he could have been in two places at one time that day.

While his son Garrett was vaulting his way to a tie for eighth place in the Division 2 pole vault at the state meet in La Crosse, Donath was boarding the bus to direct his team's activities against the Falcons.

The game went well, with Josh Meyer picking up his first win of the season, giving up seven hits and four earned runs in the decision. Meyer struck out four and walked two. The win was also the Indians' first in EW play.

Donath said Jon Roskopf finished up the seventh, facing just three batters.

There were plenty of stars for the Indians, who piled up 11 hits and stole nine bases. Unfortunately the Indians left a dozen runners stranded, a statistic Donath was not pleased with.

Catcher Jon Olla led the KHS hit parade, going 3x4, while stroking two doubles and stealing two bases.

Olla is batting in the No. 3 hole, in back of leadoff man, Meyer, who had two hits in five trips to the plate and a run scored, and sophomore Dan Shea, who went 2x4, with a double and two runs scored.

Senior Abe Foerster chipped in with two hits, including a double.

Kewaskum scored single runs in the first three innings but found themselves down 4-3 at that point. The Indians tied the game in the fifth, then scored four times in the sixth to put the game away.

The sixth was kind of a strange inning, as the Indians got hits from Meyer and Shea, and then did not have another one.

"They were very gracious to us," Donath said, reporting Olla walked to load the bases, Matt Parrent hit into a fielder's choice, but after the force play at home, a wild throw passed first base allowed the first run to score.

Staeger got hit by a pitch to load the bases again, then after a strikeout, Foerster drew a walk, which forced in the second run, and later a run came in when Jake Junk struck out but the catcher dropped the third strike for a passed ball.

Brandon Suemnicht took the loss for Sheboygan Falls.

Cleanup hitter Ross Stockhausen was ejected from the game and will miss the next game, according to Donath, because he hit the catcher a bit high while trying to score.

On Tuesday, the Indians played Kiel, a team Donath is figuring will not be a contender and yet they could not beat The Raiders, dropping a 6-5 decision in EWC action.

When asked if Kiel was any good, Donath said, "No ... matter of fact not at all."

Roskopf drew the start for this contest and lasted four innings. Foerster came on to relieve Roskopf in the fifth, went three innings and took the loss.

"We dropped a fly ball in there," Donath said, indicating the pitchers were not totally to blame for the defeat.

Just as disappointing as the dropped ball was the lost opportunity to score a pile of runs in the first inning.

"Josh Meyer led off the game, reaching on an error," Donath said. "We scored three runs in the first, had the bases loaded and no outs, and we didn't score any more" as the next two men up struck out and Kiel pitcher Marcus Rumpff got the third out on a ground ball.

The No. 2 hitter, Shea, singled, and Olla followed with an RBI double, and Staeger later singled in Shea, and Steiner's hit produced the third run.

For the game, Steiner was 3x4 with an RBI, Staeger went 2x4, with a triple and Shea was 2x4 with an RBI.

With the split, the Indians are 1-2 in the EWC and 5-3 overall.

Today (Thursday) the Indians are at Campbellsport at 5:30 for another EWC contest, and tomorrow they entertain Roncalli for a doubleheader that gets underway starting at 4 p.m.

Indian golfers struggle in sectional meet, settle for eighth place

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Dreams and reality turned out to be miles apart for the Kewaskum High golf team last week. The Indians concluded their season, finishing a disappointing eighth in the Division 2 sectional tournament held at New Berlin Hills.

Waukesha Catholic Memorial won the meet, firing a very respectable 317 for the low four scores on each of the two nine holes.

Led by junior Chad Piwoni, the team's lone sectional qualifier a year ago, Kewaskum had to settle for a 355, even losing to Campbellsport (348) for the second straight time after finishing ahead of the Cougars in most of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference meets.

Piwoni had "a solid round," according to coach Glenn Eichstedt, who reported the junior veteran came in with scores of 43 and 41 for an 84.

Next came junior Jason Jahnke, who earned all-Eastern Wisconsin Conference honors recently. He shot a 92, starting off with a 49, then improving by six shots on the back nine for a 43.

Two of the three seniors on the club struggled in their final high school appearances.

Adam Lehnerz started out with a 45, then slipped three shots to a 48 for a 93.

Josh Riebe was off his normal average, playing the 6,517 yard layout in 45-49-94 and did not even count for the Indians.

Luke Koch was more in line with what he had been shooting all season long, and he was consistent. His 42-44 produced an 86 on the par-71 layout.

"We came up short of our team goal score," Eichstedt said. "We did not take advantage of this rare opportunity to qualify for the Division 2 State Tournament.

Still, Eichstedt said the contributions of the seniors contributed greatly to the Indians' overall improvement and success this spring. And he is looking forward to having Jahnke and Piwoni lead a very competitive contingent Indian team next season.

Finishing second, behind Waukesha Memorial, was New Berlin West. The Vikings also qualified for the state competition, which was held Monday and Tuesday at the University Ridge Golf Club in Verona.

Danny Behm of Kettle Moraine Lutheran was an individual qualifier. He shot a 79 at New Berlin Hills and wound up third in the race for the medal among those not on one of the two qualifying teams.

We will have to repent in this generation not merely for the hateful words and actions of the bad people but for the appalling silence of the good people.

Donath sparkles in state meet, finishes 2nd with record time

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

The stars from Kewaskum High came out in the daylight Friday and Saturday in the Division 2 portion of the annual WIAA State Track and Field Meet held in La Crosse.

Shining the brightest among the Indian qualifiers were seniors Amanda Donath and Eric Nass, along with one of the boys' relays, the girls 4x200 relay and pole vaulter Garrett Donath.

The Kewaskum girls team, behind Donath's stellar second in the 400-meter race, and the seventh by the 4x200 relay, scored 10 points to finish 27th in the Division 2 standings, while the boys came up with 6.5 points, which put them in 43rd overall.

KHS coach Jerry Gosa said he was proud of all the efforts of his athletes, especially Donath, who worked extremely hard this winter and spring.

Gosa had remarked last week he figured Donath would be following Caitlin Dodge of Dominican and hoped everyone else in the finals of the 400 would be chasing Donath. That's exactly how the race unfolded.

Dodge won with a sparkling time of 56 and 76 hundredths seconds (56.76) — she was even faster in the qualifying Friday with a 56.41 — then came Donath giving it everything she had for a 58.08.

The day before, when it was a lot less windy, she set a KHS record of 57.75 to earn a spot in the finals.

"Amanda ran very well ... a 57.7. That's a very good time," Gosa beamed, reporting Donath's time at state last year was 59.5, so she dropped nearly two seconds this year.

When asked if Donath planned to run in college, Gosa said, "Yeah, she's going to run for UW-Oshkosh.

Nass made it to the victory podium and earned three points for the boys with his sixth place in the 400. It came on a fine time of 50.84, which included a .10 drop from Friday's preliminaries.

"I still don't think he's come close to hitting his potential," Gosa said of Nass, adding he came a long way in the last two years.

All season long, the goal of the boys 4x400 relay was to make the top six and they were successful, finishing sixth in 3:27.52, a little bit slower than Friday's time of 3:26.17, which was fourth best in the preliminaries.

Making up this quartet were Donath, Nick Bartley, Zack VanWormer and Nass.

One of the teams should have been disqualified (in the finals)," Gosa said, reporting how a runner from another school handed off the baton, then stepped right in front of Bartley as he was preparing to hand off to Zack VanWormer.

Amanda Donath

"Zack had to go back and get the baton," Gosa said. "We easily lost three to four seconds ... Literally Zack and Eric Nass had to run their best splits just to get the sixth."

Friday's time also broke the school record which the same foursome held.

Donath cleared 13 feet (13-0) for the second straight meet, and that was enough to put him in a tie for eighth place and give the Indians' final half of a point.

"He really had two nice vaults at 13-6," Gosa said. "His vault at 13 was great. he was over by nearly a foot."

The winner of the pole vault was Evansville's Mark Cufau, who cleared 14-3.

In the high jump, junior Luke Herriges had an off day, only managing to clear 5-10 before bowing out. He tied for 10th place in the competition.

Switching to the girls, the 4x200 relay set a KHS record of 1:47.01 Friday, then was a bit slower Saturday but still earned seventh with a time of 1:47.20.

Carrying the green and white banner for the Indians in this race were Donath, Lindsay Keller, Katie Patterson and Jessi Butler. All four are seniors and have had great success in sprints, relays and middle distances during their track careers.

"Their handoffs Friday and Saturday were excellent," Gosa said. At the start of the season, "We didn't expect this relay would get to state, but they ran with a lot of heart and determination and focus."

Patterson cleared 9-0 in the pole vault but did not place. Her effort put her in a tie for ninth, and the top eight earned team points.

"She did not have a good day," Gosa said, indicating this was too bad for Patterson because, "You like to see your seniors finish up good."

Junior Sam Droeese was involved in the high jump on Friday. She cleared 5-0 and was 13th in the field.

Donath also advanced to state in the open 200, and her time of 26.49 Friday got her in the finals. The 26.98 she ran Saturday was good enough for ninth overall, just out of the money.

The track team members and their families gathered for a pot luck dinner/awards ceremony Tuesday at the school.

Under latest proposal, only Waupun would join EWC

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

More people were happy after last week's athletic conference realignment meeting than they were coming into the session, which was another step to determine the future of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and a couple of its members.

The meeting was run by Deb Hauser of the WIAA.

According to information provided by Kewaskum Athletic Director Jason Piittmann, Kewaskum is pleased with the latest proposal, which has Two Rivers remaining with the EWC, Waupun taking the place of Roncalli and Chilton staying in the Olympian League.

Because of the wide gap in enrollment between itself and at least four of the current members, Roncalli officials want to leave the EWC and probably will get its wish if the latest plan goes through. This plan has Roncalli going to the Packerland, rather than the Olympian which had fewer sports offered to its participating schools and not as many freshmen teams as Roncalli was used to.

Roncalli has about an 85-percent participation rate in athletics from its students and wants to make sure the students will be able to continue this trend in sports the school currently offers.

The two schools unhappy about the second proposal were Chilton and Two Rivers. At the May 26th session attended by principals and ADs of the current eight EWC schools, plus those from Chilton and Waupun, they both voiced disapproval with what was discussed on May 10.

"Chilton will remain in the Olympian Conference," Piittmann said. "This was their desire all along and they have received strong support from their fellow conference members to be retained in the OC,"

Two Rivers was "adamant about not leaving," Piittmann went on. "They have absolutely no desire to move to Conference X and preferred having three long trips to Kewaskum, Campbellsport and Waupun" rather than move to a different conference.

Piittmann said Waupun had been looking for a conference "that is a good fit and where they feel welcomed." About the biggest concern having Waupun come into the league is the 90-mile trip from Two Rivers to Waupun, but Piittmann said once the 151 bypass is done in Fond du Lac, "the trip should be smooth as it should be all freeway driving."

Piittmann can see a lot of positives having Waupun come into the EWC. "Waupun fits in with our league in terms of enrollment," which is projected at hitting 779 for next year, Piittmann said, indicating this will be the second largest in the league, with projections of decline in the next couple of years, as is the case with several other EWC schools.

"Their program offerings match very well with the EWC schools," Piittmann said.

Unfortunately, this proposal is part of a large package for schools in northeastern Wisconsin, and if there is strong objection by any one, the entire proposal is out.

"Exactly ... which seems to stink," Piittmann said of the all-or-nothing format.

While the EWC schools would be happy to see Waupun come in, Piittmann said, "Conference X will be the big bugaboo ... nobody wants to go there."

The proposal will be voted on in September by participating schools. "The Board of Controls gets it in October, then there is a 40-day window of appeal," Piittmann said.

If this proposal is approved by the WIAA, the change would go into effect with the 2007 school year.

Little girl catches biggest fish in J.A.K.E.S. competition

Kids, kids and more kids, well over 100 of them gathered for a group picture at the annual J.A.K.E.S. Fishing Day held at the Milwaukee Rivers. Volunteers planted 500 bluegills the morning of the event, and there are probably still some there for the catching.

Megan and June Marx enjoyed a full morning of fishing at the Milwaukee River on Saturday as part of the 14th annual J.A.K.E.S. Fishing Day sponsored by the local chapter (Gateway Gobblers) of the National Wildlife Turkey Federation.

jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Tiffany McFarland still hasn't hit her seventh birthday, but she may already want to start thinking about a career as a fishing guide.

McFarland not only caught the biggest bluegill in Saturday's 14th annual J.A.K.E.S. Fishing Day, but she also registered the largest fish of the day, a 26-inch northern pick.

McFarland's bluegill measured 8.75 inches. It won in the 5-6-year old division, and it was .125 of an inch larger than the one caught by Anna Aycock, a fourth grader at Holy Trinity Catholic School.

Two others girls, Kaylee Berge and Alexandra Krueger, won trophies for their respective bluegill catches in the 3 and 4-year old category and the 7&8 category.

Boys dominated the two older age groups. Jordon Markham won for 11-13 year olds. His fish was 8.5 inches long, while James Wiedmeyer had the biggest bluegill (8.25 inches) for entrants who were 14 and over.

"She won two of 'em (trophies)," Richard Knoebel, one of the volunteers at the event, said about McFarland.

"She had a good day," Gary Panzer, another volunteer, quipped.

Jim Schaub, who heads up the committee on behalf of the sponsoring group, the National Wild Turkey Federation, reported 135 young people, representing 77 families, registered to fish on Saturday. With many of the participants' parents also fishing, Schaub estimated 227 people fished and stayed for lunch.

One of the youngest fishermen was Brandon Schreffler, 3, of Kewaskum. He is the son of former Kewaskum High volleyball and basketball standout, Kelly Schreffler.

After patiently watching his bobber for a couple hours, Brandon finally saw it go under the water, and he landed the 10-inch sucker on his line in short order.

Megan Marx 5, of Kewaskum, also joined in the action, but she wasn't sure she was having fun.

"It's a beautiful day," her mother, June Marx, said, to which Megan answered, "No, it's not because I'm not catching anything."

Still, Megan and most of the other kids had big smiles on their faces, especially after picking up one of the donated prizes given to all participants.

"We ended up putting in 500 fish," Schaub said, and he was pretty certain a lot of the fish were still at large after the three hours of fishing Saturday. "Oh yeah, it was pretty busy down there today," he said Sunday.

Willie Mays has been the only player to hit four home runs in one game and three triples in another.

The Bike Writer

By Judy Steffes

Statesman reporter, Judy Steffes, now The Bike Writer is shown before leaving Kewaskum for her tour Monday.

The Statesman has teamed up with reporter Judy Steffes on a travel column. In the coming months The Statesman will follow Steffes as she completes a solo bicycle tour of Canada, Ireland, England, Europe and New Zealand.

Making the decision to begin a travel column was rather easy, however, making the decision to leave a job I loved and 'all my comforts of home' took a lot of faith and support from friends and family.

My advisors made it clear, I had enough experience to make 'all my wildest dreams come true.' I've had test tours from Wisconsin to Colorado, South Dakota, Minnesota and Canada. For me, biking would be the easy part. The challenge would be organizing the adventure.

My family and friends quickly stepped to the plate to handle my house, finances, and communications in case of emergencies. My friends have worked to inspire me. Mary Fiegel, who ran Jam for Kids in West Bend, passed along several Special Olympic pins. "The symbol is internationally known and will open doors for you," she said.

The Statesman is giving me an 'ongoing education' in print. In need of a 'handle' for the column I asked friends for suggestions. Some of the ideas included: "On the Bike Again" by Judy (and Willy), "8 countries and 2 pairs of underwear," "A bike ride once hey," "Road Kill up close," and the ever popular "Warriors."

My trip begins shortly out of Shawano, Wisconsin. I've yet to plan my route, but I intend on heading north into Canada. Like past tours, I will stay overnight in churches. They provide safe shelter at an inexpensive cost. I will travel between 50 and 100 miles a day. My gear, complete with luggage, tent, sleeping bag, bike pump and tools weighs about 60 pounds.

I normally have no idea where I will end up from day to day and I will pass along stories from the road. Past experiences include the Boulevard of roses in Minnesota, the paraplegic in Esterville, Iowa who helped me fix my bike, the 'mother superior' who wouldn't let me stay at her church for fear I was an axe murderer. I dubbed her Attila the Nun.

I want to thank all of the businesses in the community who have believed in me by supporting this trip. Please solicit the advertisers, The Statesman and talk up...
