'Shrek 2' is movie in the park August 12

By Andrew Kuehl
Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

It's that time of year again; during the last stretch of summer vacation when the kids are telling you they are bored. Not wanting to give up an arm or leg, you start boggling your mind with a way to cure that boredom without a trip to the gas station. One Kewaskum teen, on his way to becoming an Eagle Scout has a solution. Come to his movie in the park project, Friday, Aug. 12.

Tyler Stamm, 16, of Kewaskum has been involved in scouting all his life. This is just the next momentous step in his scouting career, but he asked, "why not have a little fun with it?"

Stamm has been working on the project for over a year. "I've always enjoyed entertaining people, this is something for families to come together and enjoy themselves," stated Stamm.

He has chosen Shrek 2 as the movie he will play in Kiwanis Park. In addition to the movie, local vendors will offer treats, just like in an indoor theater.

Local sweet tooth extraordinaire, Chris Jung from The Candy Tree will be offering cotton candy, popcorn and other candy treats. Chefs John and Jodi Strobel from J.O.'s will serve nachos, tacos and hot pretzels. Mike Geidel and his staff from Geidel's Piggly Wiggly will be grilling hamburgers and hot dogs. To top all that off, the Kewaskum Junior Women's Club members will be having a bake sale. Vendors will open their booths at 6:30 p.m.

The movie will begin at dusk with no admission being charged. The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce is helping to fund the event.

In case of inclement weather, the event will be moved to the Kewaskum High School field house.

For more information on Kewaskum area events check out the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce website at www.kewaskum.org

Gordie Dickmann

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor

A recall effort to remove three school board members is gaining momentum. The Northern Unit Kettle Moraine Citizens for Responsible Government (NUKM CRG) hopes to remove Gordie Dickmann, Neal Weare and Beth Steiner.

The group is holding a rally on August 10 at 6 pm inside the Kewaskum Municipal Building Annex to start the petition process.

Numbers and other pertinent information will be released at that meeting. NUKM CRG says the recent payout of former superintendent Wayne Graczyk's $100,000 plus contract is what prompted the recall.

Beth Steiner

Waterfront owners- be aware of proposal to revise shoreland zoning standards

By Nancy Durn
Special to The Statesman

Shoreland zoning standards have not been revised since they were adopted in 1968. The type of development on lakes and rivers has significantly changed since then and these standards are now inadequate to prevent water pollution, shoreline erosion, and the loss of fish and wildlife habitat.

The Wisconsin DNR twenty five board Advisory Committee proposes "amendments to ch. NR 115 that are intended to allow counties more flexibility in how they regulate land use in shorelands and to give property owners more land use options, while still protecting the public interest in navigable waters and adjacent shorelands. They contain statewide minimum standards for this development that are designed to protect water quality, fish and wildlife habitat and scenic beauty along lakes and rivers. Counties, cities, villages, and towns have two years to adopt these standards after passed and may be more protective than the state standards."

The proposals can be found on the DNR website @ <http://www.dnr.state.wi.us/org/water/wm/dsfm/shore/news.htm>. Some areas of change are:

1. Hard/impervious surface limit: areas that prevent water from soaking into the ground, i.e. driveways, rooftops, patios, etc. to be set at 20 %

2. Shoreland vegetation: allows water to soak into the ground, decreasing and filtering storm water runoff carrying fertilizers, pesticides, and other pollutants to lakes and streams and reducing erosion and sedimentation. A primary and secondary buffer is proposed, with definite regulations. Changes in or new building structure or additional hard surfaces may create the need to establish native shoreland vegetation in the 35 ft. strip next to the water to filter runoff

3. Nonconforming structures: structures located closer than the 75 ft. ordinary high water mark setback (DNR has final call on ordinary high water mark with few exceptions). Any home damaged or destroyed by violent wind, vandalism, fire, or flood can be rebuilt as it was prior to the event. Ordinary maintenance and repair allowed with no limits, but there are clear definitions between that and structural alterations. Expansion allowed to some homes with established guidelines that may include mitigation.

4. Minimum lot sizes and development density for multi-family and campgrounds.

5. Shoreland setbacks: all structures shall be setback a minimum of 75 ft with four exception areas.

6. Mitigation practices: allow development flexibility in exchange for environmental stewardship practices. Two levels are proposed.

Several area residents attended a public hearing on July 26, in West Bend to become more aware of the changes being planned asking numerous questions.

Public comments were made by Roger Walsh chairperson of the Board of Commissioners of Big Cedar Lake Protection District in Washington County and a member of the Board of Directors of WAL (Wisconsin Association of Lakes) and Phil Gardett from the WCCA (Wisconsin County Code Administration) who is a member of the Advisory Committee.

In general, Walsh felt the standards needed to be set so that the lakes and rivers and wildlife contained therein will be adequately protected by the minimum standards alone. He agreed with most of the revisions, but had some concerns that some of the standards for size and density; backlots, shoreland set backs, and access corridors located in the primary buffer were not strict enough.

Gardett stated that the WCCA did not agree with the proposed amendment stating that it was too vague and unenforceable.

Public hearings were held July 12 - August 4, throughout the state.

Further information about the proposal may be obtained at the DNR website, by calling Toni Herkert, Shoreland Management Specialist (608) 266-0161 or emailing her at toniherkert@dnr.state.wi.us.

Comments may be sent via e mail through August 26, 2005 or by regular mail to:

Sunday is moving day for St. Joseph's Hospital

By Amy Swanson
Statesman Correspondent
aswanson@kewaskumstatesman

WEST BEND- Moving Day is just around the corner for St. Joseph's Hospital. After a year and a half of careful transition planning, the St. Joe's staff is excited to be moving to their new house on Pleasant Valley Road.

So, how do you move a hospital?

"Very carefully," said Mike Murphy, Vice President of Patient Care Services for St. Joseph's Community Hospital. "We will be shutting down simultaneously."

At 7 a.m. on Sunday, Aug. 7, the emergency room at the Silverbrook site will close and at the same time, the emergency room on Pleasant Valley will open. Murphy said emergency room physicians would be at the Silverbrook site until patients are either discharged or transferred to the new hospital. At 8 a.m., the staff will start to move patients to the new facility.

"Emergency" signs on the existing hospital campus will be covered up when the Emergency Care Center closes at 7 a.m. Banners covering the emergency and patient entrances will indicate that the Emergency Care Center has moved. State DOT road signs with the hospital "H" also are being removed and relocated. "No one will be abandoned," he said. "An Advanced Life Support (ALS) team from the City of West Bend will remain at the Silverbrook site for the remainder of the day on Sunday."

"A lot of thought has gone into this move," he said. "We have between 14 and 16 squads, potentially from all over the community...from Newburg to Richfield." Approximately 40 emergency medical technicians (EMTs), area law enforcement and volunteers will also be part of the move. "We have a tremendous amount of people helping."

The hospital's top priorities are to transport patients safely and comfortably to the new hospital, and to ensure that the community's emergency medical needs are met during the transition. Area EMS service providers that are participating in patient transport have made arrangements with their mutual aid partners to provide their community coverage in the event of an emergency.

Murphy said they expect to move about 40 patients on Sunday, based on the August census from the past two years. Synergy physicians will be on site at both locations to ensure a smooth transition. Plus, Murphy said, there will be one and one-half times the number of staff available to assist with the move. Only one patient will be transported per ambulance and transportation will be medically appropriate for each patient. Each ambulance will have three EMS staff, including the driver, and a nurse companion. Emergency patients will leave by the patient entrance or emergency garage. EMS providers will not communicate with the new hospital unless there is an actual emergency.

All essential equipment and services, including X-ray, laboratory and pharmacy services will be available to patients upon arrival at the new hospital. The hospital has made provisions for the operation of C-section suites at both the existing and new hospitals to accommodate any emergency C-section needs.

All departments will be fully functioning on Sunday, except the surgical service, Murphy said. Area hospitals have been given a "heads up" and are working with St. Joe's to lend a hand if needed.

The move will also be used as a disaster preparedness drill. "The scenario is that the air conditioning in the hospital goes down and we have to move to another facility...it's a measured response." The Fire Department, Jackson Emergency Medical Service and St. Joe's will staff the incident command center.

"There is a lot of excitement," he said. "The more time you spend there (PV site), the more excited you get." Plus, "We're on track and under budget."

The new facility, which will begin accepting all patients at 7 a.m. on Aug. 7, was built using evidence-based design principles to reduce the potential for errors, improve patient and staff safety, minimize stress and fatigue, increase efficiency and improve patient outcomes. The hospital also is one of the first fully standardized facilities in the country, which research has shown to improve safety and reduce errors. The new 180,000-square-foot hospital houses 80 beds, and features a modern Emergency Care Center, ICU, radiology department and New Life Center with state-of-the-art technology. SynergyHealth (www.synergyhealth.org) is a regional health system serving the greater Washington County community. St. Joseph's Hospital, West Bend Clinic and SynergyHealth Foundation are members of SynergyHealth.

Osceola man Convicted of Disorderly contact

The standoff came after Maas threatened to kill his wife and chased her around the home. The woman then called 911 and Maas went to bed.

The Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department surrounded the residence after Maas' wife stated guns were inside the house.

After five hours of attempted contact, Maas came out of the house, telling police he fell asleep and he did not know they were there.

C-Sport man injured in T. Polk crash

A 46-year-old Campbellsport man along with a 51-year-old Richfield woman received moderate injuries after being involved in a three-vehicle crash in the Town of Polk on Monday, August 1 at around 7:41 am.

The crash unfolded as Shirley Stehli allegedly turned off Highway 164 into the path of a vehicle driven by Terri Jutz, 30, of Hartford. Jutz was eastbound on Highway 60 and crashed into the path of a westbound vehicle driven by Michael Maley.

Intoxicants are not believed to have been a cause of the accident and all parties were wearing seat belts.

FDL County fair attendance down due to weather

Officials from the Fond du Lac County Fair say weather is to blame for not breaking last year's 82,000 attendance record.

Fair attendance is expected to be in the 70,000 range but official records will not be known for another month.

Village adjusts board meeting schedule

The Kewaskum Village Board voted Monday, August 1 to rearrange their meeting schedule for the remainder of August and September.

In order to accommodate for a public hearing in the Tax Incremental District and Planned Unit Development adjacent to Village Lakes Center the board decided to push back their final August meeting to the 22nd of that month.

At that meeting the board will hold a public hearing in regards to the commercial project along Highway 45 and the residential project in Nature Haven Estates along Prospect Drive.

The board then decided to cancel their September 5 board meeting because of the Labor Day holiday. They will have one meeting on September 19.

The Plan Commission will also postpone their regularly scheduled meeting on August 23 and meet on August 30.

Questions can be directed to the village hall by calling 626-8484.

ally enhanced the total "look" of this community. Since the program began in 1997, there has been a visible difference in the village's appearance, as more and more residents are planting attractive gardens to enhance their residences.

It has become a domino effect and everyone should be applauded for their diligent work and efforts to make this project a success and also be proud of their village. Thank you to those who called in to report of special residents whom they thought should be considered for beautification awards in the village. They were "justly" considered and came in the running but watch out for next year.

The Kewaskum Women's Club and the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce in addition to the Kewaskum Village Parks Committee, shares the presentation of the flowers in the 15 stone planters located throughout downtown Kewaskum.

Thank you to the community businesses and residents for water maintenance of the flower pots, which is well appreciated during these hot summer months.

Vitality shows in not only the ability to persist but the ability to start over.

EVENTS

2005 KHS Athletics Scramble to celebrate record setting 1973 boys golf team

The Sixth Annual Kewaskum High School Athletics Scramble will be conducted on Saturday, August 6th at Hon-E-Kor Golf and Country Club. Besides golfing, the annual athletic fundraiser involves a raffle, silent auction, buffet dinner banquet, awards presentation and a ceremony honoring the accomplishments of previous athletic teams. This year the program will conclude by recognizing the members (in attendance) of the 1973 K.H.S. boys golf championship team.

During the dinner banquet, prizes will be presented for hole events, blind bogeys, raffles and alumni participants. Then the winners of the silent auction and scramble divisions will be announced and awarded. The evening will culminate with the coach of the 1973 record setting boys golf team, Joe Harlow, acknowledging their respective contributions to their undefeated season.

After forty plus years of Kewaskum High School Boys Golf Program, the 1973 team still holds many team and individual scoring records. Collectively, they established the lowest 18 hole team total (305) and two of the top three nine hole scores (152, 153). Individually, members of the '73 team recorded three of the four lowest nine hole tallies (32, 34 & 35) and the lowest 18 hole score (69) ever posted.

The primary contributors to their 11-0 dual meet season and 6-0 Scenic Moraine Conference ledger were Seniors: Jim Gaffke, Tom Hensler, Jeff Koth, Chuck McClain and Steve Spoerl. Others participating in varsity competitions were sophomores: Jim Ciha, Mark Halfmann, Scott Koth, Tom Timblin and Kip Weiss. Junior Varsity competitors were Tom Behnke, Terry Buswell, Cliff Clark, Tom Edwards, John Kleinmann, Mike Rinzel, Tom Rohlinger, Jim Schaub and Scott Tessar.

All are encouraged to participate in the Athletics

Scramble starting at 2:00 p.m. or partake of the banquet dinner in their honor starting at 7:00 p.m. at Hon-E-Kor Golf and Country Club.

Golf registration forms and banquet tickets (reservations) are available at the K.H.S. Office, Smith-Hatch Insurance Agency and Hon-E-Kor Pro Shop. If you are interested in participating, sponsoring, donating, volunteering and/or attending, please call Dennis Butz at Smith-Hatch Insurance (626-2277), Scott Rohlinger at 626-2332 or Glenn Eichstedt at K.H.S. (626-2166 Ext. 4251).

This annual fundraiser not only benefits the athletic programs, but the greater Kewaskum community as well. This incredibly enjoyable event has the goal of having a positive community-building festivity that anyone can take part and pride in that benefits all participants. Whether you just want to play in an 18 hole casual contest, win prizes donated by generous area businesses, bid on many athletic mementoes or game tickets in the silent auction, enjoy a delicious banquet dinner or celebrate with the 1973 team members, come out to Hon-E-Kor to join in the festive fundraiser.

Hope to see you there, otherwise Go Indians!

Beauty and the Beast Aug. 4-7

"Beauty and the Beast," the 2005 summer show by Lakeshore Productions, Inc., will be presented Aug. 4-5-6-7 at the air conditioned Random Lake High School auditorium. Tickets will be available at the door.

This 10th anniversary show is directed by Charles Krebs, professor of theatre and communications at UW-Sheboygan, where he leads the University Theatre. It continues the Lakeshore Productions tradition with more than 80 cast members from five counties.

Krebs' first directing stint in Random Lake was the successful "Cinderella" in 2001.

Themes from "Beauty and the Beast" have appeared in plays and short stories for hundreds of years. The definitive version of the story comes from the 1991 film, "Walt Disney's Beauty and the Beast." The film became the only animated feature to receive a Best Picture Oscar nomination.

The film relates the story of Belle, a bookworm with a doting inventor for a father. When he inadvertently offends the Beast (a prince whose heart is too hard to love anyone besides himself), Belle boldly takes her father's place. She is imprisoned in the Beast's gloomy mansion, where her task becomes how to teach the Beast to love.

The film features an amazing collection of supporting characters, as well as array of beautiful and hilarious songs by composer Alan Menken and lyricist Howard Ashman. In 1994 a musical based on the Disney movie made its debut on Broadway, where it continues today.

Besides the title song, familiar tunes from the show include "Be Our Guest" and "Human Again."

Playing the lead role of Belle will be Kate Vander Velden of Belgium, a junior at Random Lake High School. Her father, Maurice, will be portrayed by veteran cast member Bob Deyo of Fredonia, who is appearing in his 10th Lakeshore Productions show.

R. J. Skrepenski of Manitowoc makes his Lakeshore Productions debut as The Beast. Assisting him in the beast portrayal will be Josh Baumann of Adell, Mark Grunwald of Cleveland, Nic Horstmeier of Random Lake and Sam Vander Velden of Belgium. Horstmeier also will portray the Prince. Zoe Lord of Fredonia appears as The Enchantress.

Five members of the comical mansion staff will be making their Lakeshore Productions stage debuts: David Bourgeois of Cleveland as Lumiere (Candelabra), Bob Eichner of Port Washington as Cogsworth (Clock), Kerri Rank of Sheboygan as Mrs. Potts (Teapot), Sam Krueger of Oostburg as Chip (Cup), and Yelena Drozdor of Glendale as Madame de la Grande Bouche (Wardrobe).

Other Lakeshore Productions veterans include Sam Vorpahl of Gibberville as folk hero Gaston with Brian Winkler of Fredonia as his sidekick, Lefue.

Admiring Gaston at all times are the Silly Girls (Amanda Sagal of Adell, Sheilah Vorpahl of Gibberville and Sandra Wendler of West Bend). Brittany Arndt of Sheboygan appears as Babbette (Feather Duster), and Gary Feider of Random Lake will be Monsieur D'Arque (director of the insane asylum).

Tickets are available at the door as well as at Doegnitz Ace Hardware, 115 Allen St., Random Lake (920/994-9212).

Tickets are $8 for adults and $5 for students/children. Opening night is Thurs., Aug. 4, at 7:30 p.m. The show continues on Fri., Aug. 5, at 7:30. On Sat., Aug. 6, there will be shows at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The final production will be Sun., Aug. 7, at 2 p.m.

Siegmann's Bluegrass Gospel coming to PIG NIC

Family and faith come first to Dan and Paula Siegmann who, with their eight children, will perform bluegrass gospel music at the seventh Annual PIGNIC, sponsored by Peace Church, August 7, 2005.

In addition to Dan and Paula, the singing family includes four sons and four daughters, ages five to 22, each of whom sings and plays a musical instrument, including mandolin, violin, guitar, harmonica, dulcimer and piano.

The Siegmanns' lifestyle purposefully allows opportunities for sharing their music and faith in God, as well as a great amount of time spent with each other. The children are home-schooled, and the family operates a 120-cow dairy farm that includes an organic store featuring meat and produce raised on the farm and other natural products.

The Siegmanns, of Rubicon, perform at numerous events in southeastern Wisconsin, where their heart-felt music is well received. The public is invited to hear them perform at 11 a.m. in the Kiwanis Park Shelter, Kewaskum. For more information about the PIGNIC, call Peace Church at 262-626-4011.

A deal was recently closed whereby the Sinclair Oil Company purchased a tract of land 130 x 170 feet from August Schaefer, at the intersection of Highways 55 and 28, just west of the Schaefer residence, upon which the Sinclair Oil Company will erect a new modernly equipped filling and service station.

Part of the old James Hamilton farm of 40 acres, in section 20 of the Town of Farmington, which was purchased last May by Arthur J. Ehne of Milwaukee is to be converted into an artificial lake. About 20 acres of lowland, these being east and south of the old Hamilton home, and this part of the farm will be flooded, there being a considerable number of strong flowing springs just east of the old home to eventually fill the space intended to be flooded.

Some time last Thursday night, burglars broke into the Schaefer Brothers garage and stole $17.70 in change out of the cash register. The robbers also stole a spare tire and rim from Dr. Edwards' Chevrolet sedan. Having completed these two jobs which apparently did not net them enough money to make it worthwhile, they then tried to break into the L. Rosenheimer Store, but were apparently scared away when the burglar alarm went off.

O.F. Schwartz of Milwaukee, recently leased the soft drink parlor, park and dance hall at St. Kilian, formerly known as the William Kirsch place.

Five automobile loads of gypsies stopped off here Wednesday, while on their way south. Their visit here, however, did not last long for Chief of Police Geo. F. Brandt, was right on the job and ordered them to leave as fast as they knew how.

100 Years Ago

August 5, 1905

A telegram was received here last week Friday from Shawano announcing the death of the old Indian, Kewaskum, after whom this village was named. Kewaskum was chief of the Potawatomi Indians here at that time. He was nearly 90 years of age and of late years lived on the reservation near Shawano. (The following is an excerpt from "Kewaskum Then and Now" published in 1976). Jesse Meyers named the Town of Kewaskum for the chief in 1849, so he must have lived in the area sometime prior to that time. In "The Story of Washington County," Carl Qwickert maintains that Chief Kewaskum lived on an extremely high hill in the vicinity of the present Village of Kewaskum, which was known as "Indian Hill" and had a roomy depression on its top which protected its inhabitants from strong winds. Since he was chief, he was also his tribe's medicine man, and was respected by his people and the settlers equally.

The St. Michael's post office was closed on Tuesday and all patrons will now receive mail by rural carriers. H.W. Schnurr had a new forge built in his blacksmith shop in Kewaskum this week. A cement sidewalk was laid at the public school property this week in Kewaskum.

Vietnam War series continues with, Vietnam: The American War

By John A. Scocos
Wisconsin Secretary of Veterans Affairs

Forty years ago, two battalions of U.S. Marines in full battle gear stormed onto the beaches at Da Nang in response to a Viet Cong guerrilla attack on South Vietnam's largest airfield that killed eight Americans and wounded 130 more.

But instead of being met by gunfire, the Marines were greeted with a mob of photographers, local officials, and schoolgirls with flowers. It wasn't what U.S. military commanders envisioned. Yet it was an early lesson in an unconventional war with no front lines and an enemy hidden in plain view among the people of South Vietnam.

This year marks the 30th anniversary of the end of the Vietnam War. As we honor our Vietnam veterans this year, it is important to reflect on the attack that a decade earlier touched off the turbulent era between 1964 and 1966. In a few short months, the war in Southeast Asia between North and South Vietnam had exploded into a geopolitical shooting war between the United States and the Soviet Union.

In 1964, it was clear that America's strategy to support South Vietnam with advisers, weapons, and financial aid had not worked. South Vietnam seemed to be withering as the communist-backed Viet Cong conquered swathes of countryside. South Vietnamese soldiers deserted in alarming numbers.

American advisers were measuring the life of South Vietnam in weeks.

But an attack on the destroyer USS Maddox by North Vietnamese patrol boats in an obscure bay off the North Vietnamese coast provided President Lyndon Johnson with an opportunity to try to turn the war around. He used the attack in the Gulf of Tonkin (which many claim was exaggerated) to convince Congress that America must become more involved if it was to stem communism.

He succeeded. In response to the Tonkin attack, Congress passed a resolution giving President Johnson the authority to bring U.S. forces directly into the fight.

Johnson announced retaliatory air strikes against the North Vietnamese, consisting of 64 sorties. When the North Vietnamese government didn't fold under the pressure as Johnson had expected, he ordered new strikes to get the message across. Johnson's actions forcefully communicated that America was willing to use force against North Vietnam.

Ho Chi Minh reacted by ordering Viet Cong guerrilla raids on U.S. compounds in South Vietnam. The war was escalating before Johnson's eyes.

Johnson's Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara asked the Pentagon for an eight-week bombing campaign. Nicknamed Operation Rolling Thunder, that campaign continued for three and a half years, dropping more bomb tonnage on North and South Vietnam than the United States and its allies dropped in all of World War II.

While no battle had taken place on the beaches of Da Nang in 1965, American troops had come to Vietnam, and their numbers would grow. The war on the ground had also changed.

The first American Marine unit would be followed by two additional battalions a few days later. The first North Vietnamese Army division crossed into South Vietnam from Cambodia during the same period. And, a steady flow of regular North Vietnamese troops moved into South Vietnam.

The rhetoric also heated up. USSR President Nikita Khrushchev announced his support for "wars of national liberation," and Vietnam was high on his list. For every dollar the United States sent to aid the fledgling South Vietnamese, the Soviet Union matched, providing the determined North Vietnamese Army (NVA) with the tools to create a modern army out of its revolutionary forces.

In just a short time, the war had gone from a US-supported South Vietnamese force against Soviet-supported rebels, to an all-out war in the South between the United States and the Soviet-supported NVA.

Though on the face of things, the struggle remained a fight between the South Vietnamese army and the rebel Viet Cong, the war had become a miniature Cold War arms race, with both Communism and Democracy refusing to give ground.

In this conflagration, Americans asked its military forces to defend democracy. Some didn't understand our cause, others didn't understand how we got involved in the first place, and many Americans couldn't even place Vietnam on a map.

The reasons for our getting involved in the war will be debated for a long time to come, but there is one clear fact that will never be debated. Our troops served in extraordinarily difficult circumstances when their nation called, but many were never welcomed home when they returned. Together, we must ensure that never happens again.

That's why my agency created a new program in Wisconsin - "Mission: Welcome Home" - to ensure that our troops engaged in operations overseas are honored and welcomed home, regardless of how people feel about the task that they have been ordered to carry out.

This is the fifth in a series of 15 columns about Vietnam that will be published.

Holy Trinity/St. Michael's send 28 to Catholic Heart Workcamp

James Feind, Maggie Herriges, Megan Rinzel, Tocarra Timblin and Stephanie Rinzel pose for a picture before the evening program.

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

It wasn't the group from Extreme Home Make Over that descended on over 40 residents in the surrounding area of Rockford, Illinois. Although after hearing testimonies from those who received the helping hand from over 300 youth from across the Midwest, one could have easily not made that distinction. That help came from a Catholic youth organization called Catholic Heart Workcamp (CHWC) and Holy Trinity/St. Michael Church in Kewaskum had 28 kids in attendance.

I spent a day with this youth group to find out just what all the hype is about. After accepting an invitation from Holy Trinity's Director of Religious Education, Sharon Warsh, I traveled to Rockford to see firsthand. What I saw I will never forget and replaying the stories of those who the kids helped, still makes me emotional.

I arrived at Bishop Lane's Retreat Center just in time to miss cleaning up breakfast from the 300 plus kids. Not so bad I thought.

From there Sharon took me to the site where two of the group's kids, Maggie Herriges and Jeff Thull were working. From the outside, after working all week on clearing brush and debris the home looked great. Inside the home though could have used two more weeks from the campers.

Jeff and Maggie, along with their work group were doing what they could to fix up the bedroom of the disabled, elderly man who lived in the home with his wife. Sadly, because of time constraints, the kitchen/dining room, where plaster on the ceiling was ready to fall onto their dining room table, could not be fixed by our group.

The same could be said for the almost 50 other situations where work was being done. Each situation had a story just like you would hear Sunday nights on Extreme Home Makeover. Many, had the same happy ending as the show. For example, Alex Herriges and David Figge's group spent their time cleaning up the yard of a gentleman, who for some reason or another, saved hundreds of hot water heaters, and now, was unable to clean the mess up himself. The group filled more dumpsters than they would like to admit. I think if David never had to look at another hot water heater, that would be fine with him.

Other groups spent their time painting bathrooms at a local YMCA, trimming bushes and trees and performing general handyman miracles for elderly homeowners. One group assisted at a abused women's shelter.

A typical day at CHWC starts at 6:30 am with breakfast at 7 am. After breakfast the campers attend a morning mass. By 8:30 am they arrive at their worksites where they work until lunch time, take a break and then work again until 3 pm. The campers arrive back at the retreat center and can shower, relax, and sleep. A 4:30 pm rosary is optional. After dinner, at 7:00 pm, the evening program begins. The day officially ends at 11:00 pm.

After visiting the different work sites, Sharon and I came back to help prepare a meal for the 300 plus campers. Through my work in the kitchen, I met "Grandma Pat" a short, stocky, grandmotherly type who I learned has been the camp grandma on 25 different CHWC mission trips all over the country. This year she traveled to Elkhardt, Indiana, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Rockford, Illinois and after leaving Rockford she would go back to her home in Indiana. "God willing, I'll be back next year," she said.

Just like my own grandmother, Grandma Pat sat me down and said, "God has given me so many gifts, this is my way of repaying him for his generosity, but in the end, I have been abundantly blessed."

I think for me, Grandma

Pat will be my most memorable part of the trip. Her personal cancer survival story is so moving, it shows how Christ works in each of our lives.

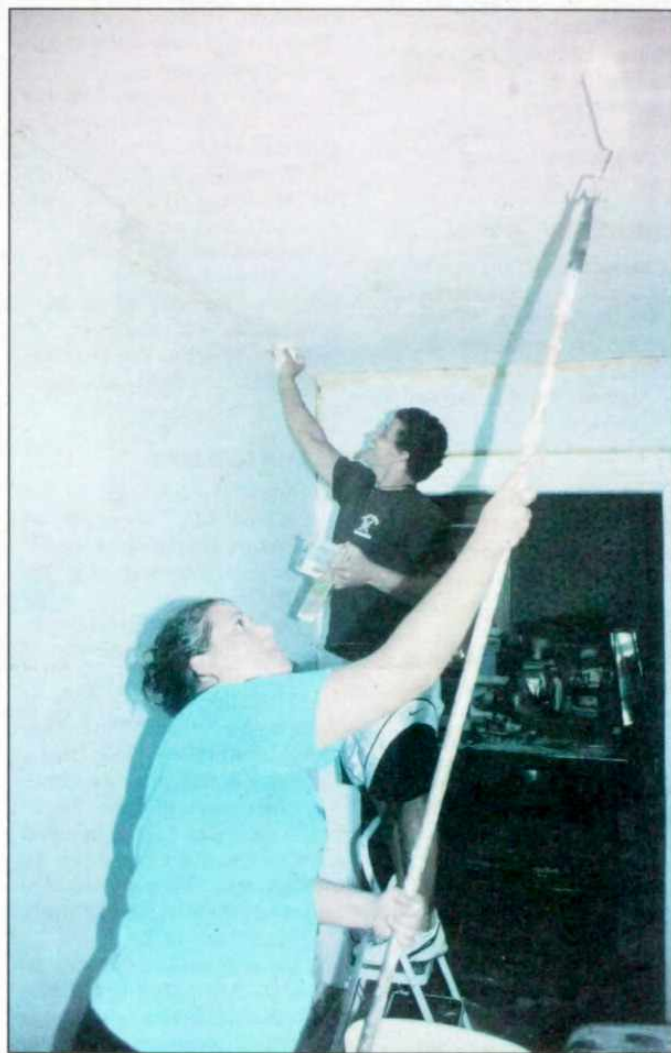

While I waited to attend a debriefing meeting I sat down with Tom Thull, one of the Holy Trinity/St. Michael campers. Tom told me this was his first trip. He came along with brothers, Tim and Jeff. This was Jeff's second year at camp. Tom said he hoped to be able to come away from camp with the same positive experience his brother Jeff did. Tom said he spent his time that week tearing old siding off a building, painting, and pouring asphalt. When asked if he'd be back next year, he responded, "yeah, I'll be back."

Tom stated that one of his favorite parts about work camp was the nightly program. Each evening, after dinner, the campers and chaperones attend a program that includes skits, and interesting, interactive ways to praise God, such as upbeat sing-along music, a skit/drama presentation by ayouth group, team reports, praise and worship songs, a message from the CHWC team and slides of the workday.

At each prayer service work groups take turns telling their fellow campers how they found God that day in their work. Mandy Carpenter, of Holy Trinity/St. Michael, stated that day, she found God in the rain that came upon many of the work groups. "The people here needed the rain and it made it easier for us to pull weeds," she stated.

At another such prayer service these 300 plus campers spent over 30 minutes in reverent Eucharistic Adoration. How David Figge, Julie Sargent and Tocarra Timblin made it through 30 minutes of Adoration without saying a word is yet another example of the Lord's work.

The prayer service I attended was open to the residents whom the campers worked for that week. More than half of the residents or representatives of the agencies the campers assisted, spent close to an hour praising the youth and thank God for bringing them to Rockford. "The good Christian spirit was enlightening," said one resident. Another stated, "You came into our community and made a difference." Each comment was made with much emotion and sincerity.

More than one resident commented on their disappointment in the local media for not attending this event and reporting on the good these campers did. I took that as God telling me, that maybe the newspaper in Rockford isn't the only newspaper that turns it head when people do good. Maybe stories of praise would be better received than car wrecks and the latest political fiasco.

Sharon explained to me that she never ever expected the kind of response she got for this mission trip. "This was truly Christ at work," she stated while she brought me up to speed on the week's events. An example, while shopping for supplies at Geidel's Piggly Wiggly, the mother of one of the campers was approached by store owner, Mike Geidel. He asked if she knew about the kids going to CHWC, she explained she was buying items for their trip. Geidel told her he heard it was going to be hot and that he wanted to donate four cases of water for the kids to take along. Holy Trinity parishioners and the St. Vincent De Paul Society also gave monetary donations.

Last year's trip was so powerful that four youth came back to form their own youth board for the parish. Sharon hoped this year's kids would come back with the same enthusiasm. "It's my hope that we can bring things like this back to Kewaskum, and continue doing the Lord's work there," she stated.

Over 8,000 campers registered for the 2005 camp season that started in June and ended in July. CHWC worked in 24 cities in 2005. All this started with one family, Steve and Lisa Walker of central Florida, wanting to make a difference.

Their first CHWC was held in Orlando in 1993 with a few parishes and only 100 participants. As Co-Youth Ministers at St. Margaret Mary in Winter Park, Florida, they were committed to helping Catholic teens grow in their faith. Their pastor at the time, was kind enough to allow them to develop the CHWC as they continued as Parish Youth Ministers. The office that once occupied a corner in their bedroom now has an office building exclusively dedicated to the growing CHWC ministry.

Their vision for the future is clear. To offer a Catholic HEART Workcamp in every state, offer two regional Workcamp gathering in the fall and spring, college spring break camps, and a Christmas camp. They want to continue offering quality service camps, serve people in need, and spiritually enrich the lives of workcamp participants.

Before I left for home from my day at the camp, Sharon shared something I will never forget, "I say it but now I know you can be Jesus here on earth. I never really actually felt that until after this experience. That's an awesome feeling!"

FLORENCE C. HRON

Florence C. Hron, age 87, of Kewaskum, entered eternal life on Friday, July 29, 2005 at St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee.

She was born on August 16, 1917 in West Bend, the daughter of the late Nicholas and Ida Gonnering, and on November 9, 1940, she was united in marriage to Lloyd R. Hron, Sr. at Holy Angels Catholic Church in West Bend. Her beloved husband preceded her in death on November 10, 2004.

Florence was a member of Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Kewaskum, the Christian Women Society and the Women's Altar Society. She was also a charter member of a "study" club dedicated to the discussion of current issues, and she held these members as very dear friends.

Florence was a devoted wife and loving mother to her five children, and a doting grandmother to her many grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Her unique creativity let her enjoy many years of making beautiful crafts. She also had a love for reading, assembling jigsaw puzzles, shopping, rummage sales, antiques and miniatures, which led to numerous collections. Her greatest collection stemmed from her firm belief in angels and inspired her to start an angel collection that was beyond compare.

IRMA A. BAUER

Irma A. Bauer, nee Sell, 101, of West Bend, died Thursday, July 28, 2005 at the Beechwood Rest Home where she had resided for the past nine years.

She was born on Feb. 23, 1904 in Kohlsville to the late Carl and Alma (nee Metzner) Sell. She was baptized, confirmed and married at St. John's United Church of Christ one mile south of Kohlsville on the corner of Hwy. W and Beaver Dam Road.

She attended the Kohlsville school and West Bend High School. After graduating from Milwaukee County Normal School she began teaching in the local rural schools in the town of Wayne.

On June 2, 1927 she married Victor Bauer and together they farmed the Bauer Homestead in the town of Wayne. To supplement the farm income, Irma began working for the Washington-Ozaukee County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, a position she held for over 30 years, retiring in 1984.

Both Victor and Irma were active members of St. John's United Church of Christ, Kohlsville. Irma was the church's organist for many years.

Due to Victor's poor health, they sold the farm in 1973 and moved to Deerfield Ave. in West Bend. Her husband preceded her in death July 9, 1975 and Irma continued living alone.

Irma became active in many organizations. She enjoyed her homemakers, Young at Heart, and Senior Citizens group and also loved to play cards, mainly Sheephead. She became a volunteer at the Washington County Historical Society and was honored with a plaque for her many years of service.

But above all, she put her family above everything. She loved to spend time with her grandchildren and great-grandchildren and they in turn loved her as much. Irma and her aunt, Linda Becker, sewed many, many quilts, with all family members receiving a much cherished quilt.

Due to failing health, Irma entered the Beechwood Rest Home in 1996, it being close to her daughter's home near Cascade. She lived there until her death.

Irma's love of genealogy, found her writing many family histories. Much of that information has been handed down to her daughter who continues to do family histories.

She leaves to mourn, two children, Clifford (Helene) Bauer of New Hampshire, and Joyce Gerlach of rural Cascade; six grandchildren, Jeffery (Bonnie) Bauer, Nancy (Charlie) Shaw, Steve (Debbie) Bauer, and Ann (Ed) Parsons, all of New Hampshire, and Wayne (Sue) Gerlach and Todd (Tracy) Gerlach, both of rural Cascade; 11 great grandchildren, other relatives and friends.

She was preceded in death by a sister, Amanda Albrecht, a brother-in-law, Adam Albrecht, and a son-in-law, Edwin Gerlach.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, July 30 at 7:00 p.m. at the Myrhum - Patten Funeral Home, West Bend. Rev. David Wernecke officiated and burial was in St. John's United Church of Christ Cemetery, Kohlsville, on Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Visitation was at the funeral home on Saturday from 4:00 p.m. until the time of service.

Trace Evidence

by Elizabeth Becka

Hyperion c.2005 $22.95

Tis the season, as they say.

The season for camping and car trips, bug bites and back-to-school shopping, sultry nights and summer reruns. Yes, crime drama fans, tis the season for desperately watching repeats of your favorite TV shows, waiting for brand-new episodes to fill your evening.

Instead, why not pick up a copy of "Trace Evidence" by Elizabeth Becka? It's the next best thing to a "CSI" episode.

Evelyn James, forensic specialist for the Cleveland Medical Examiner's Trace Evidence Department, has seen it all. To Evelyn, death is nothing new and people die in messy ways. Some, though, are particularly chilling.

The girl was undoubtedly very pretty when she was alive. She was young and slim with long hair and delicate features. Despite the freezing weather, she was wearing shorts when divers pulled her from the river. She was also wearing chains, and a cement-filled bucket around her feet.

What kind of monster would chain someone up, force her to wait while concrete dried around her ankles, and then throw her in the frigid water to drown? Evelyn didn't know the answer, but this girl's family deserved one. Evelyn has a daughter of her own, and she can only imagine how the dead girl's parents would feel.

Then a second girl is found strangled on the riverbanks. She had been thrown in the water, but she obviously escaped; there were traces of cement around her calves and chain-like bruises on her wrists.

Something else makes this girl different from the first dead girl. This young woman is African American. She's also the mayor's daughter.

Detective Bruce Riley, Evelyn's colleague, is sure that the murders are the work of local organized crime boss Mario Ashworth. Riley believes that Ashworth is somehow behind every crime committed in Cleveland.

Riley's partner, David Milaski, thinks that solving this crime is going to mean looking a little further than a stereotypical gangster scenario. Ashworth may know something, but Milaski isn't sure what that might be.

Evelyn knows in her heart that the killer will strike again. Next time, it could be anyone's daughter.

Even Evelyn's.

I've read my share of these kinds of novels, and I always wondered: can some author, somewhere, possibly write a detective thriller that wasn't predictable and formulaic? Not yet - but Elizabeth Becka comes pretty darn close. Becka, herself a forensic specialist, puts plenty of reality into her book. The small details that Becka includes in Evelyn's job are completely believable and real medical terms are used, so there's no "dumbing down" for readers. Even the autopsy scenes are realistic.

To the negative, Evelyn is a wonderful character, but I thought that the romance subplot was contrived and rushed. While the culmination of the story was very exciting, I was disappointed in the ending (see above: contrived and rushed).

All in all, this is a pretty good book for a first novel, and it's definitely worth a try. Pick up a copy of "Trace Evidence". It beats a television repeat any old night.

Larson named 2005 United Way campaign chair for county

Rick Larson

Rick Larson, Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer at West Bend Savings Bank has been selected by the United Way of Washington County Board of Directors to serve as the 2005 Campaign Chair.

As Campaign Chair, Larson will lead United Way's annual fundraising Campaign to reach a goal of $1,056,000. The 2005 Campaign, which runs from September through December, involves eight divisions and 21 loaned executives.

"I am honored to be the chairperson for this year's Campaign," said Larson. "My family and I have been very fortunate to live and work in Washington County. I look at this as a great opportunity to give back to my hometown, which is very important to me."

Larson is a West Bend native, who graduated from West Bend East High School in 1979 and the University of Wisconsin - Madison in 1983. He joined West Bend Savings Bank in 1984 and became a member of the West Bend Savings Bank (WBSB) Board of Directors in 1996. At WBSB, Larson is responsible for all day-to-day activities of the bank, its branch offices and its subsidiaries, which include insurance, investments and mortgage lending. He is also an elected member of the Strategic Planning Council for Fiserv; the nation's largest data processing company handling transactions for the financial services.

Larson is also a member and past president of West Bend Noon Rotary; board member and officer of the West Bend Urban Redevelopment Corporation; member of the West Bend Country Club, where he also served as past board member, past treasurer and past president. He was elected to the United Way Board of Directors in 2004.

Larson is married to Sherri Larson, Senior Manager of Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage - West Bend and Menomonee Falls. They have two children, Samantha, a student at the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee and AJ, a student at West Bend West High School.

"I ask that everyone please consider making a contribution to the United Way this year. Together, we can help thousands of people, many of whom we may never meet, but who's quiet thanks will be felt each and everyday," said Larson. "Realizing United Way funded programs help people in a time of need, it's appropriate that our theme for the 2005 Campaign is When It Matters Most. Because, When It Matters Most is right now."

Funds raised through the 2005 Campaign will support 47 health and human service programs to help improve the lives of Washington County residents. United Way's 24 Member Agencies work closely with United Way to offer community solutions to community needs.

The baby carriage was invented in 1848 by a New Yorker named Charles Burton. His earliest model was a large box with four wheels and a handle attached to it. It wasn't a hit in America, however, and Burton moved to Britain. Queen Victoria took a liking to his invention and other moms soon followed suit.

PERSPECTIVES

Will Congress undermine the Bush economic expansion

By Jack Kemp

The federal government's strong economic report on second-quarter GDP growth is proof positive the Bush tax-rate reductions continue to fuel a robust economic expansion. In fact, overall economic activity in the second quarter of this year was even more vigorous than the reported 3.4 percent GDP growth announced by the Bureau of Economic Analysis at week's end.

According to the BEA, private businesses reduced their inventories, but there is no indication that this inventory draw-down resulted from a lack of confidence by businesses that is leading them to reduce production. Indeed, the best indicator of business confidence, business investment in plant and equipment, rose at an annual pace of 9 percent last quarter. The bottom line is that even while businesses drew down their inventories, output accelerated at a well-above-average annual rate. Depleted inventories will have to be rebuilt in the near future, and with business confidence high, that is a harbinger of healthy growth ahead.

There are no theoretical limits on how long economic expansions can last. The so-called "business cycle" is really a "policy cycle" as economic growth, rising revenues and a prosperous country tempt Congress, the president, state legislatures and governors to expand government programs to buy votes, which creates political pressure to increase taxes to pay for the spending. Frequently in the past, wrong-headed theories of monetary policy at the Federal Reserve Board - which hold that persistently high rates of economic growth are inflationary - have led the Fed to stall economic growth by starving the economy of liquidity.

To date, at least, the Fed doesn't seem inclined to trigger an economic downturn by restricting liquidity unduly. The Congress and state legislatures, however, show every sign of being up to their old tricks of taxing and spending the economy into the dirt. States like Virginia, which raised taxes last year using deficits as the excuse, are now enjoying large and growing surpluses, but rather than cutting tax rates, they are squandering the surpluses on higher spending.

The Republican-controlled Congress also continues to spend money like a drunken sailor. While the surging economy raised revenues and cut the budget deficit some $100 billion beneath the level projected in January - a huge "prosperity dividend" - Congress remains on a profligate spending binge that threatens continued economic growth. That is why it is a priority for the House and Senate leadership to move quickly and extend or make permanent the capital gains and dividends tax-rate reductions before the uncertainty over the fate of these provisions and out-of-control federal spending cause investors to hold back and send the economy south.

Liberals, of course, focus on long-term deficit projections rising into the stratosphere and claim taxes are too low. To the contrary, higher taxes would only derail our prosperity and therefore are more likely to worsen the deficit picture than improve it. Long-term budget deficit projections are driven by one thing and one thing only: a projection that long-term federal spending will rise from its current level of about 20 percent of GDP to more than one-third by midcentury. It's the spending, stupid.

While Congress has yet to raise taxes, there appears to be growing sentiment by some Republicans in Congress to raise the Social Security wage cap under the guise of "reform." Moreover, every day the Bush capital gains and dividends tax-rate reductions remain in limbo acts just like a tax cut in waiting. The uncertainty built into U.S. tax policy as the expiration date for the Bush tax-rate reductions on capital gains and dividends nears threatens to cause investors to begin pulling back, which will quickly affect business confidence and performance. Thus, every day that goes by without a clear indication from Congress that the tax-rate reductions will be extended undermines the economic expansion.

I hope the president will take his veto pen out of mothballs and put a stop to this runaway spending. I also urge the House and Senate leadership to make a priority the extension of the capital gains and dividends tax-rate reductions before the uncertainty over the fate of these provisions causes investors to hold back and undermine the expansion.

Letter to the Editor:

After attending the Kewaskum School District Annual Meeting I'm more confused than ever as to the reason the District Superintendent was relieved of his duties. I sat there for about 35 minutes listening to how great the school system was working and how well the children of this district did in their testing - far ahead of any previous testing and above many other schools in the State of Wisconsin.

I'm still mystified for the reason of the superintendent's dismissal. When you pay-off someone to not talk it certainly leaves a very bad impression. How many Superintendents has this district had in the last 12 years? How many left the district with extra dollars to keep silent?

The more you hear the more confused you get. I doubt that this matter will go away and it should not until all parties tell the truth.

Letter to the Editor:

It's hard to believe the 154th Fond du Lac County Fair has come and gone! It seems like just yesterday the Fond du Lac County Agricultural Society met to decide The Beach Boys, Lonestar, Cheap Trick, and Sara Evans would perform on the Grandstand.

So many people make the Fair happen each year in Fond du Lac County. The success of the Fair is dependent upon the volunteers who work hard all year long for this annual event. Whether it's teaching youth exhibitors how to sew or care for an animal, or working behind the scenes on judging day, volunteers are important.

Exhibitors, young and old, geared up for another year of displaying their projects at the Fair.

The youth in the county come together once a year to show what they have learned, volunteer in Fair food stands, and take on leadership roles in their club's Fair activities.

Community organizations and area businesses support the Fair by contributing to youth activities, providing services to fairgoers, and exhibit in the Expo Building and surrounding areas on the Fairgrounds. Whatever their involvement, it is all important to the success of the Fair.

More than 75,000 people "Took the Drive to the 2005 Fond du Lac County Fair." While the weather didn't always cooperate during the day, the Fond du Lac County evenings welcomed crowds to the Fairgrounds to see the exhibits, listen to the music, visit with concessionaires, and take part in carnival activities.

The Fair Board has already begun the planning process for the 2006 Fond du Lac County Fair, to be held July 19-23, 2006. We look forward to bringing numerous family activities and top notch entertainment to next year's Fair.

Again, special thanks to everyone involved with the 2005 Fond du Lac County Fair. Your support and participation is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
The Fond du Lac County
Agricultural Society

To the Editor:

Wisconsin's taxpayers owe a debt of gratitude to Congressman Tom Petri. As the influential Vice Chairman of the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, Congressman Petri deserves credit for securing nearly one billion dollars in additional funding for our state's highway system. This money will go toward the building of new roads in Wisconsin with Congress' recent passage of its six-year transportation funding bill.

Each state's share of highway funding is based on a complex formula that divides up the taxes that we pay on a gallon of gasoline. Historically, Wisconsin has been shortchanged by the federal funding formula, only receiving an average of 77 cents for every dollar that we contributed to the highway trust fund (HTF) between 1956 and 1998. Due to Congressman Petri's instrumental role in the last highway funding bill negotiations in 1998, Wisconsin's share rose to $1.02 per dollar paid into the trust fund and many new roads were built in our state.

During the debate over the highway bill this year, it appeared that Wisconsin's success would be short-lived. In fact, an early House version of the highway bill would have dropped us to 92 cents per dollar paid into the trust fund. However, Tom Petri again skillfully negotiated a funding formula to secure a positive rate of return for Wisconsin, this time increasing it to $1.06 for every dollar we pay into the fund. This represents an average of $712 million a year for Wisconsin's highways, a 30.3% increase over the previous six years, which adds up to nearly one billion additional dollars.

For far too long, Wisconsin residents have paid more taxes to Washington than we received in federal spending. Due to Congressman Petri's efforts, we are finally being treated fairly on our highway taxes. For this, we owe him our sincere thanks.

Sincerely,
Paul Ryan
Member of Congress

Van Ess prepares for college athletic career, then life as a minister

Stuart Van Ess, playing goalie, began playing hockey at the age of four and hopes to play hockey in a Division 1 program during college.

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Stuart Van Ess is logging a lot of frequent flyer miles this summer for trips to Boston, MA. and Providence, RI., and when he isn't on a plane, he's traveled by car to other places, including Terra Haute, Indiana.

The fact is his mother, Gayle, has barely had to wash his clothes or bedding... he's had so little time to spend at his home in Kewaskum.

The trips to the east are all connected to Van Ess' participation in hockey and lacrosse, two sports he has excelled in as a high school student at Gilmour Academy, which is located in a small town right near Cleveland.

While hockey will always be Stuart's favorite, it's hard to say which sport will be his ticket into college, hopefully a Division 1 program which has a strong program in one or both.

The trip to Indiana was one of Christian service, another of Van Ess' concentrations and one he hopes eventually will be his life's calling.

"Summer had been so busy, anything and everything going on," Van Ess said during a brief home visit recently and just days before he was preparing to leave for Rhode Island.

"It's a (lacrosse) camp for bettering myself for next year," Van Ess, who is 5-feet-10 and 190 pounds, said, reporting many collegiate coaches are expected to be in attendance.

Even bigger is the Prospects Tournament that will be held later this month in Boston

"in front of about 130 college scouts." Obviously, Van Ess is gearing up to do well there because it will showcase his goal-keeper talents in front of a large audience of those who make decisions on handing out college scholarships.

Van Ess already has a pretty impressive resume for the scouts, including being named first team, all state in lacrosse for the spring, 2005 season, Ohio Position Player of the Year, and the MVP on his high school team.

Last year, in his first year out for lacrosse, Van Ess was tabbed as Most Promising Player on his team and received honorable mention in the all state balloting.

The lacrosse coach had lost his senior goalie and asked Van Ess to come out for the sport after finding out he was a hockey goalie.

"A lot of the skills from hockey and lacrosse transfer," Van Ess said. "It was an easy pick up."

Still, hockey is No. 1 in Van Ess' mind. "I just love hockey. I've been playing for 13 years," he said, and that doesn't count his baptism to the sport in his cousins' basement in Milwaukee.

"My cousins shot on me in the basement," Van Ess said. "They used me as a dummy."

This was a good initiation to hockey for Van Ess, especially considering one of the cousins, Danny Guenther, advanced to a level where he was chosen to be on the University of Wisconsin hockey team.

For Van Ess, his start came on a Washington County Youth

Hockey Association team (WCYHA), and in his first year in the Mite C League, he led his team to the state title.

That wasn't the only time Van Ess, who started the sport at age four and switched to goalie at seven, was a member of a state team either. When he moved on to Wisconsin AAA hockey, base out of the Pettit Center, he again led the team to a state championship.

"They (AAA) had a lot more games ... one of the reasons I went, and a higher level of hockey," Van Ess said about his switch.

For his first year of high school, Van Ess attended Brookfield Academy in suburban Milwaukee, then decided he wanted to pursue hockey in a prep school. His first choice was prestigious Shattuck St. Mary's in Fairbeau, Minn., but St. Mary's had 11 goalies for three teams.

Van Ess sent applications to several other schools and said Gilmour was "the second school that accepted me ... We have 400 kids, give or take. Sixty kids live in the dorms with me," he said, indicating there were students at the school from New York, Virginia and even Canada.

For a while, Van Ess was the only student from Wisconsin, but this year, there will be one other Wisconsin boy enrolled there.

Van Ess said he enjoys competing on a high school level, rather than playing AAA. "It's exciting playing for your school," he said, and this year will be especially exciting because he wants to move up to varsity starter and earn a scholarship.

"We travel across the nation and go up into Canada a couple times," Van Ess said, reporting there were three goalies on the team last year, and in the 12 games he started, he was 11-1 with five shutouts.

"I want to play my best," Van Ess said. "My goal is to take the starting spot. I think I can do that if I have a good tryout."

Hockey officially starts in late October, but Van Ess said, "As soon as I get there (in late August), I will probably be on the ice the second day."

Whatever happens with hockey or lacrosse, Van Ess is pretty well set on what he wants to do with his life.

"I actually want to be a minister," Van Ess said, indicating he plans to go into religious studies, a more general course, or pastoral studies, which emphasizes preparation to be a minister.

Already Van Ess knows he has a desire to help others. Along with his sports camps and tournaments, he also found time to participate in two Habitat for Humanity programs this summer, and five altogether, including four with his Peace United Church of Christ parish and one with Gilmour.

When the time is right, Van Ess will be more than happy to trade in his skates and pads for a place standing at the pulpit.

Athletics get big efforts from starting trio

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

They were like the Three Musketeers for the Kewaskum Athletics on Sunday.

Behind the "all for one and one for all" motto, Steve Ketter and Adam Sarauer took care of the run production, while Jim Ziegler handcuffed visiting Oshkosh for a 5-0 shutout victory in Rock River action at Kiwanis Park.

Both Ketter, the team's first baseman, and Sarauer, the A's crackerjack catcher, went 2x3 in the game, with Sarauer driving in three runs with his singles.

In the first inning, Jake Spaeth got hit by a pitch, promptly stole second and roared home on the first of Sarauer's hits.

In the third, Sarauer's sacrifice fly drove in Ketter, who had walked and stole second and third. The big blast in the inning came earlier, however, as Cory Immel led off with a home run that cleared the fence in right-center field. The homer was the sixth of the year by Immel, according to Ziegler, the team's spokesperson.

The A's added an insurance run in the fifth, and again the Ketter-Sarauer duo was involved. Ketter reached on a base hit, advanced 90 feet on a wild pitch, stole third, and scored on Sarauer's single.

When asked about Ketter's base stealing in the game, Ziegler said, "He had three. We had six as a team."

Ziegler was a little shaky in the first inning, then he settled down to pitch a strong game, giving up just three hits in eight innings. The big right-hander struck out eight and walked three before giving way to Nick Whitty, Campbellsport High ace, who pitched the final inning and gave up just one hit.

"In the first inning, they had a couple guys on," Ziegler said, reporting the leadoff man got a single off him but ended up getting stranded at third base.

Ziegler, who commented his fastball and changeup were working Sunday, said a 6-4-3 double play got him out of a jam in the sixth inning.

With the win, Ziegler is 7-2 on the year. By shutting out Oshkosh, his ERA dipped below the 2.0 mark.

In addition to Ketter, Sarauer and Immel, Josh Parrent chipped in with two hits for the winners, who are now 10-5 in the Rock River.

"Oakfield is still leading and Brownsville is second," Ziegler said, reporting the A's are in third, alone or tied, depending how Slinger did on Sunday. "Rubicon is right there, too. It's pretty even."

"We have a big game coming up Sunday," Ziegler said, referring to the A's date at Slinger on Aug. 7th.

Before Sunday's game, Kewaskum travels to Horicon Friday night for a matchup against DeForest in the semi-finals of the annual South-eastern Wisconsin Amateur Baseball Association (SWABA) Tournament. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

The Eau Claire Express has a new starting pitcher, and that pitcher, Travis Kempf, has a new destination in the fall. He's transferring to UW-Stevens Point where he will have three years of eligibility left.

"I'm relieved. It's been a burden the last month and a half," Kempf said by cell phone Saturday night after the Express won a 4-3 decision which was aided by Kempf's seven good innings of work on the mound.

Kempf was on scholarship at the University of Illinois-Chicago (UIC) but had philosophical differences with the pitching coach there and decided it was time to take his talents elsewhere. He recently spoke with the coach at UW-Stevens Point, Pat Bloom, and decided that was the place for him.

"I wanted to go to a program that will have a lot of success," Kempf, a 2003 Kewaskum High graduate and holder of the all-time basketball scoring record at the school, said. Stevens Point came within one win of going to the Division 3 World Series this spring, and the school was searching for new pitchers for 2006.

Kempf admitted he had looked into a couple junior colleges, but the ones he considered were pretty far away from Kewaskum, and Bloom pointed out to him Stevens Point is just a few hours from home.

Kempf will be eligible to play for Stevens Point in the spring. "I got my release from UIC, so I could go anywhere I wanted to," he said, adding, "I know they (the Pointers) lost three of their top five pitchers this year." Plus, Bloom does not adhere to a strict, three-inning pitching rule like at UIC, which Kempf thinks will give himself a chance to show his talents to the professional scouts.

Concerning his play with the Express, Kempf has done well in two recent starts. Against Wausau on July 24th, "I went six innings, gave up five hits and no earned runs," he said, reporting he did not figure in the decision. "We ended up losing the game though."

Kempf didn't get a decision on Saturday either, but the Express won. "Tonight I pitched against St. Cloud. We won 4-3. I went seven innings, gave up no earned runs ... just two hits."

Kempf and the Express were in Madison Wednesday night and play another game against the Madison Mallards tonight. As of Saturday night, the Express was 7-12 this half of the season and 21-32 overall. The regular season comes to an end on August 14th.

Carlson's set for good showing in X-Games

Don't look for Ben Carlson to be blinded by the bright lights of Los Angeles.

When he visits there next week, Carlson, 20 and a 2003 graduate of Kewaskum High School, has his sights set on just one thing — winning the Super Moto competition in the Summer X-Games.

"It will be (televised) live next Sunday, which is the seventh of August," Carlson said in a phone interview last week, reporting the show is to be broadcast at 3:30 p.m.

Carlson can hardly believe how his career in racing these machines has taken off since the days he went to J.R. Schnabel's house to race his dirt bike on the Schnabel's track in the backyard.

"His sister Stephanie was in my class ... she said her brother had a track," Carlson recalls about his early days in racing. "He (Schnabel) got me going."

"I was always racing ... It was a little niche for me," Carlson, who lives on Little Green Lake, went on, explaining he has advanced to a point where he is competing in the AMA circuit and is currently among the point leaders.

"This year I'm third in AMA, and I'm winning the Canadian National Series," Carlson said, indicating there are two tracks in Wisconsin that host AMA races, namely Road America in Elkhart Lake and in Shawano.

On most tracks, Super Moto races hit speeds of 70 to 80 miles an hour, and on the bigger tracks, they hit the century mark, according to Carlson, who said, the courses range in size from one to 2.5 miles.

"They are 80 percent asphalt and 20 percent dirt," Carlson said, indicating the track in California is a road course, with lots of twists and turns. Oh yes, and there are jumps on the course.

The Summer X-Games is "an all-invite" competition, according to Carlson, who said 20 Super Moto drivers have been invited to the X-Games because of their showings in national and international competitions.

"They'll be 20 of us in the final event," he went on, noting there will be qualifying and heat races prior to the big event, which is a 45-lap competition.

Endurance will definitely be a part of the race, Carlson said, adding, "Your pit stops make a difference ... kinda being smooth and not making any mistakes ... a combination of the three" will lead to a spot in the winner's circle.

Carlson relies a lot on the help of his mechanic, Elliot Tho, who is from Milwaukee, and he is happy to have financial support from a large wine company, Generations of Sonoma Wines, J.M.C. Racing and Course Super Bikes, where he works part-time.

Local sponsors included Strobel Oil and Propane and First Concrete Cutter out of West Bend.

Tuesday. ESPN periodically brings reports on the Summer X-Games, and people from Kewaskum will be excited to see Carlson compete at this high a level.

According to Bruce Koenig, an area racing fan, Carlson had a good start in Shawano Saturday night, with a fifth in time trials where he posted a clocking of 1 minute, 24.582 seconds (1:24.582).

This was the third round of AMA (American Motorcyclist Association) Super Moto Championships.

In the 15-lap feature race, Carlson came out of the first turn of the first lap in eighth place, but by the time they reached the starting point again, he was in fifth.

Koenig said in an email Carlson made his way up to fourth place by lap 6, and on lap 10 he took advantage of Chris Gilmore's (Oxford, MI.) mishap — Gilmore lost control and dumped the bike in the dirt section of the course — and moved into third place.

On the last lap, Ben was able to regain a spot on the podium, coming out of a tight right hander just one corner from the finish third in the race.

Supermoto final race two was a little disappointing after the front end washed out on the 15th of 16 laps. Carlson had been running third to that point, but the washout sidelined him and gave him 21st place in the second race.

Still, Carlson maintained fourth place in Supermoto points.

KHS season comes to a painful ending vs. Spartans

Kewaskum High shortstop/pitcher Josh Meyer (right) finished the season with 27 stolen bases, including this one in the tournament game against Random Lake last week. Unfortunately, the next two Indian hitters made outs, so Meyer was unable to score. The Indians won the game 10-6.

A berth in the annual WIAA State Baseball Tournament was there for the taking Friday, but the Kewaskum High baseball team just couldn't come up with the key hit it needed and wound up on the short end of a 5-1 score in its sectional semifinal game against West Bend West.

"We had our chances ... We had runners on base every inning but the second and seventh," KHS Coach Dave Donath said about the loss. West went on to shut out Campbellsport 16-0 in the finals, sending the Spartans into the eight-team state competition which took place July 26-27.

The Indians, who finished up with an 18-13 record, started off well, as leadoff hitter Josh Meyer singled off Kris Kolhouse, and Jon Olla followed with a single for a great scoring opportunity.

"We couldn't do anything the rest of the inning though," Donath said, reporting Dan Shea lined out to short, then there was a strikeout and a pop out.

In the third inning, the Indians had two base runners, and Donath said, "We had two on in the fifth and the bases loaded in the sixth.

Kewaskum scored its lone run in the sixth when Matt Parrent and Ross Stockhausen singled, then pinch hitter Chad Piwoni came through with an RBI single.

After two outs, Casey Scheel drew a walk off Kolhouse, who then got Meyer to fly out to right field for the third out.

West, now 27-2, scored a pair of runs in the first and two more in the second to jump out front 4-0, but it wasn't a matter of the Spartans getting any big hits off starter and eventual loser Abe Foerster.

"He pitched well enough," Donath said about Foerster. "A ball that should have been caught gave up two runs (in the first)."

Donath went on, "They scored two runs without the ball even leaving the infield" when Foerster hit a batter, there was a "botched bunt" and a suicide." That scenario took place in the second inning.

Both teams had seven hits.

Foerster gave up six, walked none and struck out one Spartan. He gave up five runs, and four of them were earned, according to Donath, who called on Meyer to finish up the final one-third of an inning. He gave up the other hit.

Kolhouse struck out seven and walked a pair.

Donath was satisfied with the team's final record but said, "We had our chances to improve on that."

The only seniors on the team were Foerster and Meyer, the team's top pitchers. Still, there is plenty of offensive power returning, with Parrent, Stockhausen, Olla, Shea and Logan Staeger back.

New Holstein is the lone Eastern Wisconsin Conference team left in the WIAA tournament. The Huskies topped Sheboygan Lutheran 7-0 to win the Elkhart Lake sectional. In the semifinals, the Huskies eliminated Two Rivers 11-8.

New Holstein (21-6) was slated to play Ashland in the first round at state, while West's first opponent was Arcadia (25-3).

Win puts Athletics in good position for RR playoffs

With four games left on the 2005 Rock River schedule and a playoff berth still on the line, the Kewaskum Athletics home talent baseball team must continue its winning ways and did so Sunday, topping host Waupun 12-7.

"We're at least tied for third place ... We could be alone in third," player/spokesperson Jim Ziegler said Sunday night after recovering from the steamy outing.

Four teams make the Rock River playoffs, and the A's are closing in on one of those spots, thanks to Ziegler's fine pitching effort and the hitting of Adam Sarauer, Steve Ketter, Jake Spaeth and Cory Immel.

Ziegler pitched seven innings in the heat, scattering five hits and giving up just one earned run. He struck out one and walked one. When he left the game, the score was 12-1.

Paul Hoenecke, who just finished up his freshman year at Kettle Moraine Lutheran High, came in and pitched the next inning and two-thirds. When asked if Hoenecke got hit pretty hard, Ziegler said, "A little bit. He got his feet wet," giving up six runs. Then, "Jake Panzer came in to get the last out."

Sarauer was the offensive leader for the A's. He smashed a pair of doubles, good for five RBI. In the top of the seventh, Sarauer cleared the bases with one of his doubles.

Ketter, Spaeth and Immel also added two hits, which helped Kewaskum improve its RR record to 9-5.

The lone home run for the winners was a solo shot by Tim Rowe.

Shawn Scott took the loss. He lasted just four innings, giving up 10 hits and nine runs. He struck out two and walked two.

The A's defense sparked, according to Ziegler, who said the team did not commit a single error. "We did well today. I only had one strikeout, so there were plenty of chances."

On Wednesday night, the A's traveled to Watertown to play Oconomowoc in a Tri-County Nite league game, and for the first seven innings, it looked like they might win. Oconomowoc rallied in the seventh and eighth, however, picking up seven runs in those two innings for an 11-8 decision.

"We had built up an 8-4 lead but got a little sloppy at the end," Ziegler said, reporting Jake Panzer took the loss in the complete-game effort. Panzer yielded 17 hits. He struck out nine and walked three.

Reffler was the winner, going eight innings while giving up 14 hits, striking out five and walking four.

Ketter had the hot bat Wednesday, going 4x5 with three RBI. Spaeth and Ziegler both chipped in with three hits, and among Ziegler's hits was a double that scored a pair in the top of the second inning.

Kewaskum didn't have any home runs, "but we did surrender three. A grand slam in the eighth by Mike Mitchell gave them the lead."

With the loss, Kewaskum dropped to 5-5 in the Tri-County, and Ziegler said, "Most likely we're done in the Tri-County."

Kewaskum, 18-10 overall, was scheduled to face Cedarburg in the championship game of the Plymouth Tournament on Thursday night, but the game was called off because of rain.

Ziegler said tentatively the game will be made up on Wednesday, Aug. 10.

Congratulations
