Kewaskum Village Lakes Center development slows to standstill

T. BARTON- While a Village of Kewaskum retail complex remains almost at a halt, a 61,000 square foot family sports complex hopes to open its doors this May between US Highway 45 and Sandy Ridge Road. Richard Bertram plans to build a $3 million sports complex on 100 acres he recently purchased.

Town of Barton clerk, Aggie Prunner says a concept plan had been approved by the Town Board in November. The plan unveiled by Bertram, who is also the town's chairman and seeking a seat on the Washington County Board of Supervisors, shows the center will feature a 33,000 square foot paintball field, with 27,000 square feet of turf for indoor soccer, volleyball, dodgeball and kickball. Also planned is an 18-hole indoor miniature golf course with a Colorado Rockies theme complete with a 400 gallon per minute waterfall from the second story mezzanine that will be used as a snack and beverage bar. The complex will also have an arcade with a maximum capacity of 72 machines though Bertram didn't think they would have that many upon opening. A toddler's free play area is also planned.

Bertram, 58, says that even when he was in high school he can remember complaining that there was nothing in the area for teens to do. "Once you hit the movie theater and bowling alley that was about it," he said. He hopes his new business, Ke West Sports Center, will give teens plenty of safe entertainment. He added his daughter-in-law is helping him with the project. The structure will be a metal building that should be constructed in about a month.

Focusing on family entertainment, Ke West Sports Center will be drug, smoke and alcohol free. Four 15' x 30' party rooms will also be available for birthday parties or family gatherings. Two of the four rooms will have the ability to be combined to form a

Superintendent of schools interviews to be held

By Andrew Kuehl

akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- The Kewaskum School Board will meet tonight (Thursday) in a closed session meeting to formulate questions that will be asked of six superintendent candidates at interviews also held in closed session on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week. School Board President Gordie Dickman says he feels the Bickert Group has presented excellent candidates.

"I think we have an excellent group to choose from," said Dickman. He went on to say the reason tonight's meeting is in closed session is because they do not want the candidates to know the questions they will be asking. Potentially any of the candidates could attend an open meeting and hear the questions being asked of them and then have time to formulate answers.

After next week's interviews the board will meet again in closed session to choose two candidates and set a time to visit the districts of those candidates. The board of education will then offer a contract to one of the candidates.

The new superintendent would start July 1, 2006. Interim superintendent, Scott Peterson will be at the helm until that time.

Dickman stated the board has not thought about a salary for the new superintendent but believes it will be similar to former superintendent Wayne Graczyk's contract.

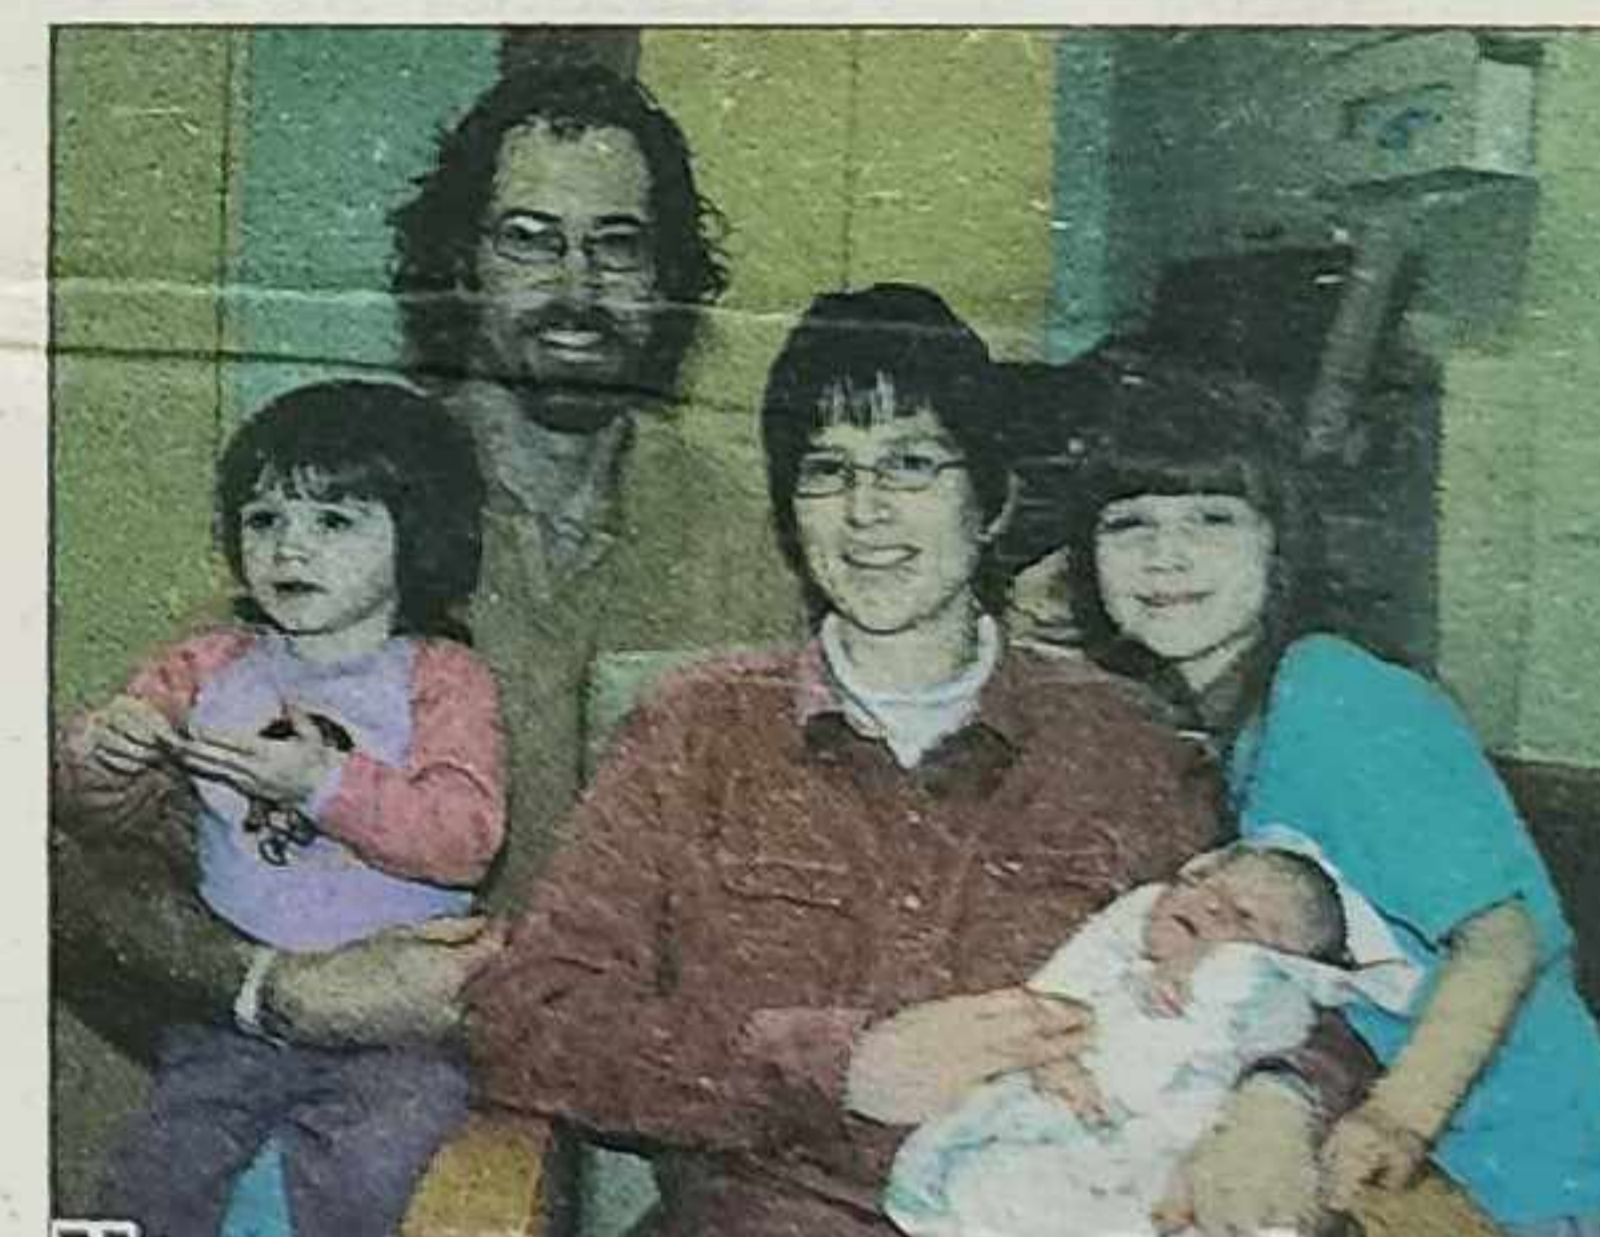

To date the Bickert Group has been paid $5,823 that equates to about 2/3 of the agreement according to Business Manager Paul Reichert.

ON THE RECORD

The Statesman reminds readers of new subscription payment procedures

Dear Readers

This past summer we alerted you to a new procedure for paying your subscription. To date the new procedure has worked well but with many of our subscription coming due, we wished to remind you of the procedure.

On the top of your mailing label you will be able to find the date your subscription expires. That date is the date your subscription is due. We no longer mail out our postcard "reminders".

Instead we will use the date on your mailing label. When your subscription is due we will use a reminder sticker. Please keep in mind this does not alter the fact that all subscriptions, must be paid in advance.

We would like to remind everyone that paying your subscription can be done a few different ways. Paying is done easily online through our website, www.kewaskumstatesman.com and can save you money. We can also automatically renew your subscription annually by placing your credit card on file. Those already in that auto renew program save $2 per year on their subscription. Lastly, you can pay your subscription by following the instructions in our readers guide on page two of every issue.

This past October we were reluctantly going to be forced to raise the yearly subscription cost because of increases in newsprint and the January 8, postal increase. We decided however, that if we could make use of the expiration date on each subscriber's mailing label we could possibly hold off another year or maybe even two on that price increase.

We feel this is a win-win plan for us and our subscribers. This new system will remain in place for one year. We will evaluate it and then make a firm decision on whether to keep the procedure in effect. We would love to hear your thoughts on this. Please visit our website and send us feedback.

Thank You
Lana Harbeck Kuehl

Development at standstill From front

Development of Village Lakes Center seems to have hit a standstill in the Village of Kewaskum TID. United Construction Group says they have a number of issues to resolve before the project can move on to the next step.

Statesman photos: Andrew Kuehl

30' x 30' room. Bertram also hoped for weekday sports leagues.

Will there be a Village Lakes Center?

That's the question on many of the minds that drive along US Highway 45 daily and see two, billboards advertising the proposed $30 million retail complex. Work on the project has come to a complete stand still.

"The ball is in the Village's court," says Rick Kozak of United Construction Group based in California. United Construction Group has presented numerous plans to the village for the property but has yet to purchase the land from Gary Gavin.

Kozak says the purchase of the land is ongoing but showed hesitation by saying, "We won't close on the property without our issues being addressed."

One of those issues is the amount of parking needed for the complex. Village ordinances state that the number of parking stalls needed for a development is determined by the number of square feet being constructed. The Village engineer, who also works for United Construction Group says 2,000 stalls are needed. Kozak says he doesn't know where to put them and would like to see between 800-1,100 stalls. He stated due to newly found wetlands on the property that ate away at his square footage, he doesn't see how 2,000 stalls are possible.

This was a story told to us by our chemistry master at school. A student wished to make some potassium hydroxide solution (aqueous) and decided to throw a large lump of potassium into a bucket of water.

Out of the corner of his eye, the professor observed what the student was about to do and hurried over. After confirming this was what was intended, he asked the student to first to stir the water in the bucket for five minutes before adding the potassium.

Puzzled, the student followed after him to ask the purpose of this action.

"It will give me time to run away," said the professor.

New books from UWWC library

Did you know that the UW-Washington County is open to the public? According to library director Marc Boucher the library is UWWC's best kept secret.

A drivers license and a short form are all it takes for the library card. Boucher says the process takes just a few minutes. Community members until the age of 18 need to have a parents signature on the form to be able to get a community card.

All users have access to the research databases which includes an extensive list of research tools including many full-text databases. "We encourage high school students to become familiar with our resources and are happy to help them with their research needs," Boucher says.

The library is open during the semester Monday-Thursday 8 am to 10 pm. Friday 8 am to 4:30 pm. Sunday 12:30-4:30. The library is closed Saturdays. During breaks the hours are posted on their website. Incumbents will face little opposition in Spring

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Tuesday, January 3 was the final day to officially file papers for the April election. Many races throughout The Statesman coverage area will rely on incumbents to fill seats. To no surprise, the exception is Kewaskum's Board of Education.

Up until the afternoon of the filing deadline the waters were pretty tame for the Board of Education. Steve Jensen, from the Town of Farmington, was the only candidate who filed papers for the two available seats.

After finding out that the man he and his political watchdog group just unseated was filing papers, Bruce Braidigan said "When I found out that Steve Jensen was the only person running as of 1:00 P.M. and that Neal Weare had planned on filling, I decided to run."

Weare took his papers out shortly thereafter along with Lisa Parker. The Kewaskum Board of Education will have four candidates running for two seats vacated by current president Gordie Dickman and treasurer, Beth Steiner. Both are two of the longest serving members.

Village of Kewaskum Administrator, Dan Schmidt says that all three incumbents have returned their papers. Harry Roecker, Steve Scheunemann

Yanked from his seat, Weare is determined to get back on the board and Kevin Scheunemann will hold on to their seats unless a write-in candidate emerges.

In the Village of Campbellsport, three trustee seats are up for re-election. Village Clerk, Diane Lemke says Donald Stoffel, Patrick Twohig and Michael Yahr have all returned their papers seeking another two-year term. A newcomer, Dave Schellhaass has also returned papers. The four will run for the three available seats.

The Campbellsport Board of Education incumbents, Christopher Candee, Jay Miller and James McCready will also hold on to their seats without opposition.

A number of tenderfoot candidates will fill the roster in the Washington County Board of Supervisors race. Seven of the 30 member county board will not be seeking re-election.

One of those newcomers to the county board will be elected in district nine. Gerald Schulz, Town of Wayne treasurer and Allen Blank will face off for Deborah Wilke's seat. After her appointment to the board, Wilke has chosen to forego political life.

Daniel Stoffel of the Town of Kewaskum will run unchallenged in district 10 as will Brian Bausch of the Town of Farmington in district 11.

In district 12 incumbent Kenneth Brandt from the Town of Addison will seek another term. He runs unopposed.

Richard Bertram from the Town of Barton will face no challenge taking Peter Gonnering's seat in district 13.

Elsewhere in Washington County running without opposition is vice chair of the board, Herbert Tennes, West Bend in district two; Ralph Hensel, West Bend in district three; James Schwartz, West Bend in district four; Lawrence Hoffman, West Bend in district five, Paul Tuchscherer, Town of Trenton in district six, Donald Kempf, West Bend in district seven; John Stern, T. West Bend in district eight; Donald Berchem, T. West Bend in district 14; newcomer, Joseph Gonnering, T. Trenton in district 15; Rick Gundrum, Slinger in district 16; newcomer, Philip Laubenheimer, Jackson; Thomas Sackett, Hartford in district 20; Joan Russell, Hartford in district 21; Maurice Strupp, T. Hartford in district 22; Mark McCune, T. Erin in district 23; David Radermacher, T. Richfield in district 24; Daniel Goetz, T. Richfield in district 25 and Charlene Brady, Germantown in district 27.

In district one, incumbent Thomas Smith receives a challenge from Roy Justman. In district 17, challenging Harold Groth is Joseph Walter. In district 18 Mary Krumbiegel will face William Steitz. In district 26, Melvin Ewert and Dale Peterson face off for John Kohl's seat. James Spindler Jr. will have opposition from Peter Sorce in district 28. Jerry Grosennick, Daniel Knodl and Ronald Krauss will run in district 29. In district 30, trying for Donald Roskopf's seat are Daniel Campbell, Thomas Petri and Leslie Borman.

Two Washington County Circuit Court judges will also run unopposed. David Resheske in branch three and Andrew Gonring in branch four.

The spring election will be held Tuesday, April 4. The Statesman will feature information about the candidates and their positions prior to the election. More information on a candidate's forum in Kewaskum for the Board of Education race will be featured in an upcoming edition.

Boltonville Fire Dept. to put new truck into service

Boltonville Fire Department will put a 2004 Spartan custom chassis fire pumper into service soon. Firefighters there took delivery on the new apparatus Thursday, December 29. The truck features a 330 hp Cummins ISO Engine, 3000 Series Allison automatic transmission, 270 amp alternator, 18.7 CFM Air Compressor, 1000 gal polypropylene tank, 1750 gpm Darley pump, four door-six man cab, stainless steel plumbing, foam injector system with 30 gal tank and aluminum body. The new pumper has a CAFS (Compressed Air Foam System) this type of a foam system uses type A and B foam and compressed air, meaning it uses less water when extinguishing a fire. This system has more penetrating properties than water, because water turns into steam when it comes in contact with fire. When applying type A foam to a structure fire, the surface tension is reduced thus allowing water and foam to penetrate more deeply into the material, which reduces reigniting. The foam also penetrates vertical onto interior walls and sides of buildings, which is far better than just water. The department received a $225,000 Homeland Security grant to purchase the pumper. This truck also houses Boltonville's new extraction equipment (JAWS) that was bought with donations from family members of deceased firefighters.

Housing development planned for old hospital site

The West Bend Common Council has voted to rezone 8.4 acres of the former St. Joseph's Community Hospital campus on Silverbrook Drive in the city from institutional district to single-family residential district. SynergyHealth, owner of the complex plans to divide the 17.3 acre property in half, creating two parcels. After selling the 8.4 acres to a developer for single-family homes, SynergyHealth intends to keep the remaining 8.9 most southern acres for the time being. The photo above shows the demolition done this past fall to the former emergency care wing. SynergyHealth said they are negotiating a deal to convert the four story patient wing into a long-term care facility. Also shown above, left is the 1930 portion of the hospital which now houses offices for SynergyHealth until the medical building at the new complex is complete. The Cancer Care Center at the old complex, built in 2000 continues operation at the old site.

Happy New Year for Gail and Brad Homuth of Campbellsport will now include Happy Birthday.

At 7:27 a.m. on January 1, the Homuth's son, Emmett William was born at St. Joseph's Hospital in the Town of Polk. He was the first baby born in Washington County in 2006.

Emmett tipped the scales at 10 pounds, 6 ounces and was 23 inches long. He is the Homuth's third child and now the little brother of Catrin, age 5 and Tessa, age 2.

"We were really surprised," said Brad Homuth of Emmett's birth weight. "Our biggest surprise was having a boy. That was the biggest shock," Gail added.

"When they were weighing him, I kept looking to see if there was something else on the scale," said Brad. Emmett even came two days early.

Emmett's older sisters are glad he's finally here. "Tessa talks about the baby a lot," Gail said. The Homuth's were glad to be home on Wednesday and Tessa wondered where the baby would fit in at home. New Year's will give the Homuth's an added reason to celebrate.

"I'm not sure how many people will be available for a birthday party on January 1," Gail said of her son's extraordinary birthday. "It was neat because all of the nurses were really excited," Gail said. "They made it a big deal."

She said two other mom's delivered babies on New Year's Eve at St. Joseph's Hospital, but there was no other competition at St. Joseph's Hospital for the first baby of 2006.

"We knew within 10 minutes," Brad said. "The nurses said they had to call Hartford to see if any babies were born there, then they told us that we were the first one in Washington County."

"It really amazed us that it is such a big deal," Gail said. St. Joseph's congratulated the Homuth's with a gift basket filled with a "My First Party" hat, hooded towels, bath lotion for Gail, a keepsake Willow Tree box, socks and a porcelain boot ornament. Gail also received two bouquets of flowers from the hospital. Catrin and Tessa were treated to a free meal at the hospital to celebrate their brother's arrival.

"Everything went really well," Gail said. "It was really neat."

The Homuth's are now looking forward to Emmett sleeping through the night, hopefully before the next New Year rolls in.

Up north in Fond du Lac County, quite a few hours later, Yasmine Scharpf, of Fox Lake, made her appearance to the world on January 2 at 4:36 am.

Yasmine was the first baby born in 2006 at St. Agnes Hospital. She was welcomed by her parents Jennifer and Charles Scharpf.

Yasmine weighed six pounds five ounces and was 18 inches long. She has two siblings: Tyler, 13, and Chelsea, 11.

According to Agnesian HealthCare's Public Relations director, Shelly Haberman, nurses from the St. Agnes Hospital Women and Infants Unit gave the New Year's baby and family a basket of baby items. In addition, the Agnesian HealthCare volunteers also donated a stuffed teddy bear.

Baking fun at Tuttle Creek

The preschoolers at Tuttle Creek Learning Center walked to Piggly Wiggly to do a little shopping! They needed to buy ingredients for cookies they baked during the first week in December. A Healthy Haven for Pets in Kewaskum

A view inside My Pet Haven shows their extensive items for pets. In the near future, they will also feature dog grooming.

By Amy Swanson
 Statesman Correspondent
 aswanson@kewaskumstatesman.com

KEWASKUM- When Harry met Dawn it was love at first sight...puppy love, that is.

Eleven years of Harry's wet kisses and warm snuggles left a life-long paw print on Dawn's heart and inspired her to open My Pet Haven, a pet store where health comes first.

"I started My Pet Haven along with Healthy Pet Net products because I love pets, and I want to do everything in my power to help other pets to be as happy and as healthy as possible," said Dawn Jennes owner of My Pet Haven.

"We care about pets, and we want to do everything we can to make sure your pet lives the happiest and healthiest life possible...I've done a lot of learning and a lot of studying." Jennes has had an online store for four years and said she was so busy, that the need for a physical store was inevitable, so last April she opened My Pet Haven, located at 250 Main Street in Kewaskum.

My Pet Haven carries health-conscious dog foods such as Life's Abundance, Flint River Ranch, and Canadea. She also carries dog clothing for dogs up to 120 pounds, dog shoes, dog toys, dog houses, dog bowls and hand-made wooden diners. They also have an assortment of collars, leashes, pet carriers, furniture, dog health supplies and grooming supplies. Jennes said within the next month My Pet Haven will also offer dog grooming.

And, that's not all. Jennes hasn't forgotten the feline friends. My Pet Haven also carries cat supplies and health products, scratching posts, T-shirts, bowls, beds, litter boxes, cat toys, pet steps and ramps. She also carries supplies for birds, ferrets, reptiles, and sugar gliders. Plus, My Pet Haven has a special Pet Lover's section and offers memorial products.

"I found out too late about the risks and the damage caused by commercial pet foods," Jennes said. "I will always regret not taking the time to really take a look at what my best friend - Harry - was consuming for most of his life. My little one had suffered through Canine Urological Syndrome, Thyroid Disease and Cushing's disease, and in the end, I lost the best friend I ever had."

"Pet food industry advertising promotes the idea that, to keep pets healthy, one must feed them commercially formulated pet foods. But such a diet contributes to cancer, skin problems, allergies, hypertension, kidney and liver failure, heart disease, dental problems and other harmful or fatal diseases."

"Give your pets what they deserve-a long, happy and healthy life. Pets don't have a choice in what they're given. You make that choice. We carry all natural pet food, treats and other natural products."

Jennes said she has always been an animal lover. She said growing up she had a lot of animals including dogs, cats, gerbils, hamsters and snakes. "I was the tom boy with the snapper turtle from out of the pond, she said. "I love animals and pets are always welcome in my store," she said. "Some of my regulars, (dogs) they come right behind the counter because they know they are going to get a healthy treat. I'm known around here as the treat lady."

There are no bones about that. Jennes and her mother make the dog treats themselves. "They are paradise, she said. The dog treats come in a variety of shapes including bones and fire hydrants. She said one of her regular customers, a dog, prefers the fire hydrant shape.

Jennes also has a bulletin board posted in My Pet Haven, which advertises approved breeders. Jennes bought Harry at a pet store without any information about his breeding. She now makes it her mission to educate people on every aspect of pets - especially dogs - and where to find a reputable breeder.

My Pet Haven is open Monday through Friday from 10 am- 6:30 pm and Saturday

Here are a few tips Jennes offers to keep your pet healthy:

- * Always make sure your pets have water to drink. During warm weather be sure to give them fresh water often. All pets need fresh water every day.

- * Spay and neuter your pets to avoid unwanted babies.

- * Be sure your pet wears an ID tag in case it gets lost.

- * Make sure your pet gets plenty of exercise.

- * All pets need healthy food every day.

- * You shouldn't feed your pets people food or food that is meant for other animals. This could make your pets sick.

- * Find a good veterinarian.

Pets come in all shapes, colors, and sizes. They all need special care and lots of love

- * Select the correct pet for your family. Dogs need a lot of exercise.

- * Keep your pet healthy. Take them to see the vet once a year.

- * Feed your pet correctly. Give your pet the right food and Vitamins if your pet is more active than normal, and especially for older pets.

- * Keep your pets clean and remember to clean their beds.

- * Brushing your pet's fur will help your pet stay clean.

IN MEMORY

In memory of "SHEISTY" SABISH, JEFF who passed away six years ago, Jan. 8, 2000:

We are connected,
My son and I,
By an invisible bond
Not seen by the eye.

This bond does its work
Right from the start.
It binds us together
Attached to my heart.

I know that it's there
Though no one can see
The invisible bond
From my son to me.

The strength of this bond
Is hard to describe.
It can't be destroyed,
It can't be denied.

And though you are gone,
Though you're not here
with me,
The bond is still there
But no one can see.

It pulls at my heart
I am bruised... I am sore,
But this bond is my lifeline
As never before.

I am thankful that God
Connects us this way,
With a bond and a love,
That death cannot take away!

*Forever loved and forever missed

Forget me not
Don't seem much,
But mean a lot.

Just a memory,
Fond and true
To show dear,
How we think of you.

Food for Thought

By Amy Swanson

Jingle Bells and Sirens

My mother-in-law made her annual Christmas guilt call just before the holiday.

"What are your plans for Christmas?" she asked my husband, who turns into an eight year-old child whenever he hears his mother's voice.

"I'm not sure yet, I have to check with Amy," he quivers, putting the blame back on me because I am the wicked daughter-in-law.

For the past 20 years my husband and I have spent the holidays together. My husband is the oldest of three children in his family and the only sibling that is blissfully married - WHATEVER - and the only sibling to produce exceptionally well-behaved - gift sucking grandchildren, so it has always been a struggle to divide our time between my family and his. Especially because there is no way that I'm going to cut into time spent with my family at the holidays. That's just too bad. He knew I wasn't very flexible before I pushed him into marrying me. That's his fault.

Anyway, we usually spend Christmas Eve with my in-laws and my sister-in-law, who come to our house for dinner after church. I cook a nice dinner (or we have pizza) and we open gifts from each other - or, we just open gifts from them because we didn't buy them anything.

Getting together Christmas Eve has become more meaningful since the year the ambulance arrived.

It was a dark and snowy evening...that's supposed to set the tone...our four-year old son said he wasn't feeling good, and lobbied to stay home. In a weak moment my husband and I voted in his favor. Maybe he actually was sick, so we decided to stay home.

My mother-in-law and sister-in-law came over for dinner. My mother-in-law, who had heart surgery a few months earlier had even made Manicotti - my husband's favorite - and brought it with her, along with a car full of desserts - by mistake - for Christmas at her house the next day.

As we were eating dinner, my mother-in-law passed out right into her plate. My sister-in-law acted quickly as my husband and I frantically shoveled more Manicotti into our mouths - we don't get home cooked meals very often, and I'm sure my mother-in-law would understand.

We called 911 and the EMT's quickly bolted through the door.

Our four-year old, thinking the ambulance was there for him, panicked and jumped off of the couch shouting, "Okay, I'm not sick, I was faking it. I'll go to church...I'm not sick. Don't take me."

Busted on Christmas Eve. What would Santa think?

As the EMT's worked on my mother-in-law, my husband and I cleared the table - and the rest of our plates - c'mon we didn't get to finish our meal and there was nothing we could do to help anyway.

As my mother-in-law was being wheeled out the door on a gurney, she miraculously sat up and grabbed the doorway demanding my sister-in-law put the cookies in her car... I'm sure she was afraid that we would eat them all and there would be nothing left for the big Christmas Day Gala at her house.

Which is where we are expected to be every year, including this year. Except, I don't think I'm feeling well....

You'll Never Nanny in This Town Again

By Suzanne Hansen
Crown Publishing c. 2005 $22.00 289 pages

her dream.

And then she was sent to an interview with "a family in the entertainment industry." Little did she know that the job would mean working for one of the most powerful men in the biz.

What followed, Hansen claims, was a year of nearly-round-the-clock duties, bizarre and ever-changing rules, major hissy fits about minor occurrences, and children whose caretakers came and went all too often. Just after a year of employment, Hansen reluctantly realized that she was miserable. When she told her employer that she needed to quit, he nastily uttered the words that gave her book its title.

Ahh, I love a good scandal and "You'll Never Nanny in This Town Again" is deliciously full of them. For most of us, it's a lot of fun to read about famous people and their peccadillo-filled lives. Hansen lived with them. In her book, she's candid, she's funny, and she's slightly outraged at the way women - and sometimes men - are treated by the very people who hire nannies to care for their children.

Don't think, though, that everybody in Hollywood has that attitude. Hansen also writes about her months spent with stars who hired her and accepted her as part of the family, and how she returned again and again to help them out in emergencies. There's no scandal in that, but it balances the book out nicely.

If you've ever wondered what it would be like to work for the Rich and Famous, then put the kids to bed, ignore the housework, and snuggle up with "You'll Never Nanny in This Town Again". You'll never want to put it down.

If you've ever taken care of an infant, you know that it's a job best suited for someone with eleven hands.

You deal with diapers and laundry, 2 am feedings through a maze of exhaustion, housework that doubles by the hour, and you wonder if you'll ever dress in anything other than sweats and T-shirts again. Seems like you're always on the move and life can be pretty shaky.

How do Hollywood's movers and shakers - the ones who "have it all" - get it all done? You'll find out when you read "You'll Never Nanny in This Town Again" by Suzanne Hansen.

Every high school class has one: the kid who enters senior year with mediocre grades and no idea what comes after cap and gown. Suzanne Hansen says that she was one of those kids. When graduation loomed, she applied to the Northwest Nannies Institute. Hansen always loved kids and she had been babysitting since she was nine years old. NNI seemed like a perfect place to start a career.

After finishing nanny training, Hansen set her sights on Hollywood. She left her family and boyfriend back in Cottage Grove, Oregon, and headed for Tinsel Town.

Once in California, Hansen began making interview rounds. A few disastrous meetings with famous families didn't deter her. A rule-laden opportunity with a big-name former Playboy Bunny didn't faze her. Ankle-biting dogs didn't make her lose sight of

Better play is a good sign from KHS girls team

BY JUDY HARLOW

OK, so the Kewaskum High girls varsity basketball team is still winless, but the Lady Indians (0-10) do deserve a lot of credit for their efforts in the second game in last week's Mid-Moraine Classic played in Kewaskum. They lost to Kewaunee, a 31-28 loss in the consolation game Friday after being ahead 22-21 with 4:21 remaining.

"(There were) a couple miscues down the stretch for us," Kewaskum coach Dave Kraft said after his team was unable to hold on to that lead.

Still, when posed the question of whether his team grew up in the game, Kraft was quick to answer, "I hope so. At half-time last night (a 50-20 loss to Random Lake), I jumped on them. They came and weren't ready to play ... today I would see a difference in their eyes. I could see fire!"

The Indians were a bit sluggish in the first quarter, falling behind 12-1, but then they came alive with 12 points the next eight minutes to cut the early deficit to six, 19-13.

The situation got even brighter in the third quarter when the visiting Indians — both teams have the same nickname — went scoreless and Kraft and the Kewaskum fans started to feel a win might be a good possibility.

A free throw by Taylor Long, the only point scored by either team in the final 3:30 of the third quarter, put Kewaskum within three points of the lead at 16-19.

The turnovers and missed shots continued into the fourth quarter until Jenni Wicklund drove the lane for a basket, and now the score was 18-21 in Kewaunee's favor with 6:08 to play.

Kewaunee put up an air ball on its next trip down the court, then Sam Droese broke free down the lane, grabbed a pass and sunk an eight foot shot. Now Kewaunee's lead was just one (21-20).

Droese was fired up and used her speed to steal the ball and move quickly down the court again. One of the Kewaunee players cut off her drive, but Droese managed to get off an off-balanced shot, and it found the bottom of the net for a 22-21 Kewaskum lead.

The advantage was short-lived as Kendra Selner, a 5-foot-8 junior, made one of two free throws to knot the score at 22-22 with 3:11 remaining, then 12 seconds later, she scored on a 12-foot shot, giving Kewaunee the lead for good.

Senior Casey Sinicky scored her lone basket of the second half, padding the lead, and Selner added a 3-point goal and two more free throws down the stretch to hold off Kewaskum.

Alyssa Jung and Long both made single free throws with 1:29 remaining, and Droese swished a baseline jumper with :02 left but it wasn't enough for the win.

Selner led the winners with 13 points, a mark duplicated by Droese, who tallied eight of her points in the fourth quarter.

"We put in a new offense a couple weeks ago to open the lane for penetration so Sam can use her strengths," Kraft said, indicating he used it a lot in the second half Friday and even though it is new, it produced some good looks at the basket.

Wicklund and Long both chipped in with five points. "For being as short as she is, she (Long) gets in there, and she fights," Kraft said, indicating he is pleased when the girls play hard, even though they might not win.

Taylor was also named to the all-tournament team. Each coach got to put one girl on the unit, and the championship team had two representatives.

Also praised for her play Friday was Shaylah Haire, a third freshman starter with Wicklund and Kelsey Goetsch. "She did a nice job on the boards for us. She's a nice strong kid," the coach remarked.

Kewaskum: Droese 13, Tiffany Hedlund 2, Wicklund 5, Jung 1, Goetsch 2, Long 5. 3-point goals—Droese. FTs—5x15. Fouls—11.

Kewaunee: Jackie Papham 2, Ashley Christian 2, Selner 13, Sinicky 6, Beth Wotachek 2, Holly Kerkovitz. 3-point goals—Selner. Fts—4x8. Fouls—13.

Concerning Thursday's 50-20 loss, Kraft said, "It was just the opposite, the intensity level." Kewaskum went scoreless the first period and never recovered.

"They looked like they slept until noon," Kraft went on, indicating the parents also remarked about the Indians' listlessness.

Long paced Kewaskum's scoring with six points, and Melissa Hammen and Haire both had four.

"We're kind of the walking wounded right now," Kraft said, "and they're all guards."

Droese lasted just two minutes in this game when her knee started to act up, according to Kraft, who said the trainer decided it was best she did not play.

Staci Dieringer was the high scorer for the Rams. She had 16 points, and S. Eichler added a dozen.

Rhoads is king of the hill in major mat test in Oshkosh

First for the good news. Kewaskum High standout Scott Rhoads captured first place at 152 pounds in the annual On the Waters Classic wrestling tournament held last Thursday and Friday at the Kolf Field House on the UW-Oshkosh campus.

Also, by scoring 154 points, the Indians placed 14th out of a large field of 54 teams. They were ahead of perennial power Hartford (19th, 131.5), Eastern Wisconsin conference rival Campbellsport (29th, 119) and new rival Lomira (32nd, 106).

In the finals, Rhoads edged Aaron Middelstaedt of De Pere, 2-0. The only points came on a reversal early in the second period.

"Scott wrestled an excellent tournament," KHS Coach Dennis Aupperle said. "He was really in control the whole match. Mittelstaedt is the No. 2 ranked kid at 152 in Division 1 right now."

The coach went on, "He (Rhoads) was very focused on every match, since he has placed every year, finishing third last year and second his freshman year."

In the two days of work, Rhoads, a defending Division 2 state champion, was a perfect 6-0.

Now for the bad news. Defending Division 2 place winner, Nick Bartley, was not ready for such extension action because of his injured knee, and his replacement at 145 pounds, Jake Sabel, who has been doing an excellent job all season, was injured in a match Friday morning. Now he will be out of action for at least a week, according to Aupperle, who said, "He strained a muscle and had to injury default to 12th."

Sabel had won his first three matches, Aupperle said, indicating, "He wrestled well, take away the injury. Overall, he is doing an excellent job, wrestling very well."

Others who earned major points from placing were junior Eric Ogi at 140 and Jake Turowski at 189.

Turowski went 4-2 to place sixth. Aupperle said he lost a tough match in the semis, falling to Justin Hartwig of Manawa 5-4 in sudden death overtime.

"Hartwig is the No. 1 ranked kid at 189 in Division 3," Aupperle said. "He (Turowski) lost another close match to Kyle Orthovert of Sturgeon Bay (10th ranked in Division 2) 2-1. He's right there with all these guys. He has wrestled some solid kids all year."

"Ogi finished at 5-3. He was eighth ... not his best tournament, but placing in this is really an accomplishment. He will come back strong for Tuesday and the end of the season," Aupperle said.

Stephan Kattar, Jon Hawig, Mason Smith and P.J. Krueger (215) didn't place, according to Aupperle, who said, "PJ lost a match 6-4 in overtime that would have gotten him to place. The other three were in every match and did a nice job."

Jon Olla and Dan Shileny both finished 3-2 and neither placed.

With defending champion and perennial power Luxemburg-Casco not in the field this year, the battle for the team title was wide open. Stevens Point took over the vacated top spot, piling up 313 points, 28.5 points more than Freedom. Ashwaubenton wound up third at 229.5, and rounding out the top five were Green Bay Preble with 22 points and Menasha with 212.

Kewaskum was at Plymouth on Tuesday. "We're kind of slowing down for a while, which is a good thing. We can use the extra time to cover some things and get on the right track for the end of the season."

Johnson sizzles; leads Brown Deer to Classic crown

Senior Paul Gaynor, left, turned in two very good efforts for the Kewaskum High basketball team in the recent Mid-Moraine Classic hosted by Kewaskum. In the championship game, Gaynor, left, brings down a rebound in front of Josh Johnson (34) of Brown Deer. The Falcons used a 23-point third quarter to win the title by a score of 68-56.

If Kewaskum High basketball fans didn't know about Brown Deer's Robert Johnson before Friday night's championship game of the Mid-Moraine Classic, they certainly do now.

Johnson, a 6-foot-1 senior guard, was a one-man wrecking crew for the Falcons, scoring a game-high 29 points and leading his team to a 68-56 victory over host Kewaskum, which stayed close until midway in the third quarter before sputtering offensively.

"When I look at the statistics, what jumps out at me is in the second quarter we had a lot of turnovers, and they weren't because of their press. They were what I called unforced turnovers," KHS Coach Glenn Eichstedt said about the contest, which featured the 1-2 scoring KHS punch of Matt Parrent (23) and Paul Gaynor (8) against Johnson and his athletic but mediocre shooting teammates.

Thanks to a putback bucket by Parrent and a late hoop by reserve Austin Flanders, Kewaskum was only behind by three points at the end of the first quarter, and the Indians rebounded from a nine-point deficit in the second to keep the game close.

Again, it was Parrent using his power underneath the basket and his ability to hit from long range, leading the way. His 3-pointer from the baseline with 2:11 before the break followed by Gaynor's reverse lay-up drew the Indians to within six at 25-19.

Unfortunately, Gaynor missed the front end of a bonus attempt with :55 to go. Parrent also was off target on a late attempt, and Brown Deer didn't have any better luck on its last shot, so the score stayed just as it was.

Kewaskum got off to a good start after the break, with Parrent taking a nifty pass from Gaynor, scoring and getting fouled in the process. His 3-point play made the score 25-22, and within the next 30 seconds, Parrent connected on a turnaround jumper, and just like that, the score was 25-24 in the Falcons' favor.

Here is where Brown Deer's Josh Johnson and Ashton Crawley came alive briefly, combining for four points, along with two by Johnson, for a 33-28 lead.

Then came a 15-2 run by Brown Deer, and Kewaskum High announcer Dave Rockhill just kept repeating Robert Johnson's name over and over. He had eight of the 15 points, helping the Falcons to take control (48-34) by the time the third-quarter horn sounded.

Brown Deer had scored 23 points in that quarter, and Johnson still wasn't finished with his scoring spree. He opened the fourth with back-to-back 3-point bombs, and the Falcons stretched their lead to 19 at 55-36.

The Indians never gave up, rallying for 11 straight points, but they ran out of steam and time after that. In the impressive run, Zach Wollner scored five points, Gaynor went 4x4 at the free throw line and he also scored from short range with 4:08 left in the game, cutting the deficit to 55-47. The rest of the way, Brown Deer outscored Kewaskum, 11 to nine.

"Our second half defense wasn't very solid," Eichstedt said. "We didn't get in a very good rhythm defensively."

Robert Johnson and Crawley were named to the all-tournament team by their coach, while Gaynor was Kewaskum's pick to be on the squad after playing two very good games in a row.

To go with his eight points, Gaynor led the Indians in assists. "He had four or five assists to Matt alone. He was very good at dishing the ball," Eichstedt said.

With a split in the tournament, Kewaskum ended the 2005 portion of its season at 1-8. The Indians host Kiel (0-7) tomorrow (Friday) night.

"In the big picture, the tournament should be good for us ... it should help us to get to the next level," Eichstedt said.

Offense struggles; Indians defeated by Sheboygan Falls

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent
jharlow@kewaskumstatesman.com

Had the Kewaskum High boys basketball team been able to duplicate its Dec. 15 scoring effort against New Holstein, it would have won handily over Sheboygan Falls last Tuesday.

The Indians' offense struggled, however, hitting just two baskets and 10 total points in the second half in a 41-26 home loss to Sheboygan Falls.

The loss gave Kewaskum an 0-4 mark in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, and the Indians slipped to 0-7 overall.

"Holding Sheboygan Falls to 41 points was good, but we only scored 26 points," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said about the contest, which was again close at half, with the Falcons leading 22-16.

"It seems like we haven't been able to do both (play good offense and defense)," the coach said. "We're one-dimensional."

None of the Indians hit in double figures. Junior forward Matt Parrent topped the KHS scorers with eight points, and he had the same number of rebounds.

From there, the scoring dropped off to five points by both Paul Gaynor and Zach Wollner.

The Indians hit just two of 17 shots in the second half for a very dismal 12 percent.

Kewaskum had one basket, a 3-point effort by Casey Scheel, in the third quarter.

The lone basket the final eight minutes was produced by Mitch Paulus, who scored from the paint.

"Our shooting (in the second half) was poor," Eichstedt said. "They took away the middle, and we couldn't hit from the outside."

Jacob Juedes, who was the quarterback for the Falcon football team last fall, topped all scorers with 17 points. Included in his total were three, 3-pointers, including a pair in the first half. Sheboygan Falls came up with five, 3-pointers in the contest.

The Falcons' shooting average in the first half was 42 percent (8x19), then they slipped slightly to 39 percent (6x16).

Sheboygan Falls is currently 3-1 in the EWC and 4-2 overall. Sheboygan Falls: 12-10-11-8 - 41

Kewaskum 8-8-5-5 - 26.
Kewaskum: Gaynor 5, Wollner 5, Scheel 4, Parrent 8, Austin Flanders 2, Paulus 2. 3-point goals—Wollner, Scheel. FTs—8x12. Fouls—22. Fouled out—Gaynor.

Sheboygan Falls: Eric Rooker 7, Juedes 17, Jack Roelse 2, Ryan Douglas 9, Brandon Suemnicht 6. 3-point goals—Juedes (3), Douglas (2). Fts—4x15. Fouls—15. Fouled out—none.

Former KHS gridder receives honor at UW-Platteville

PLATTEVILLE — Corey Darmody, a Kewaskum High graduate, has been named as the Most Valuable Offensive Player on the 2005 UW-Platteville football team.

Darmody, a 6-foot-2, 245-pound sophomore, was the team's starting center last fall. He was also one of two UW-Platteville players who received honorable mention in the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Conference (WIAC) balloting at the end of the season.

The young Pioneers — Darmody was one of five new starters in the offensive line — struggled during the fall season, winning just one non-conference game and going 0-7 in WIAC games.

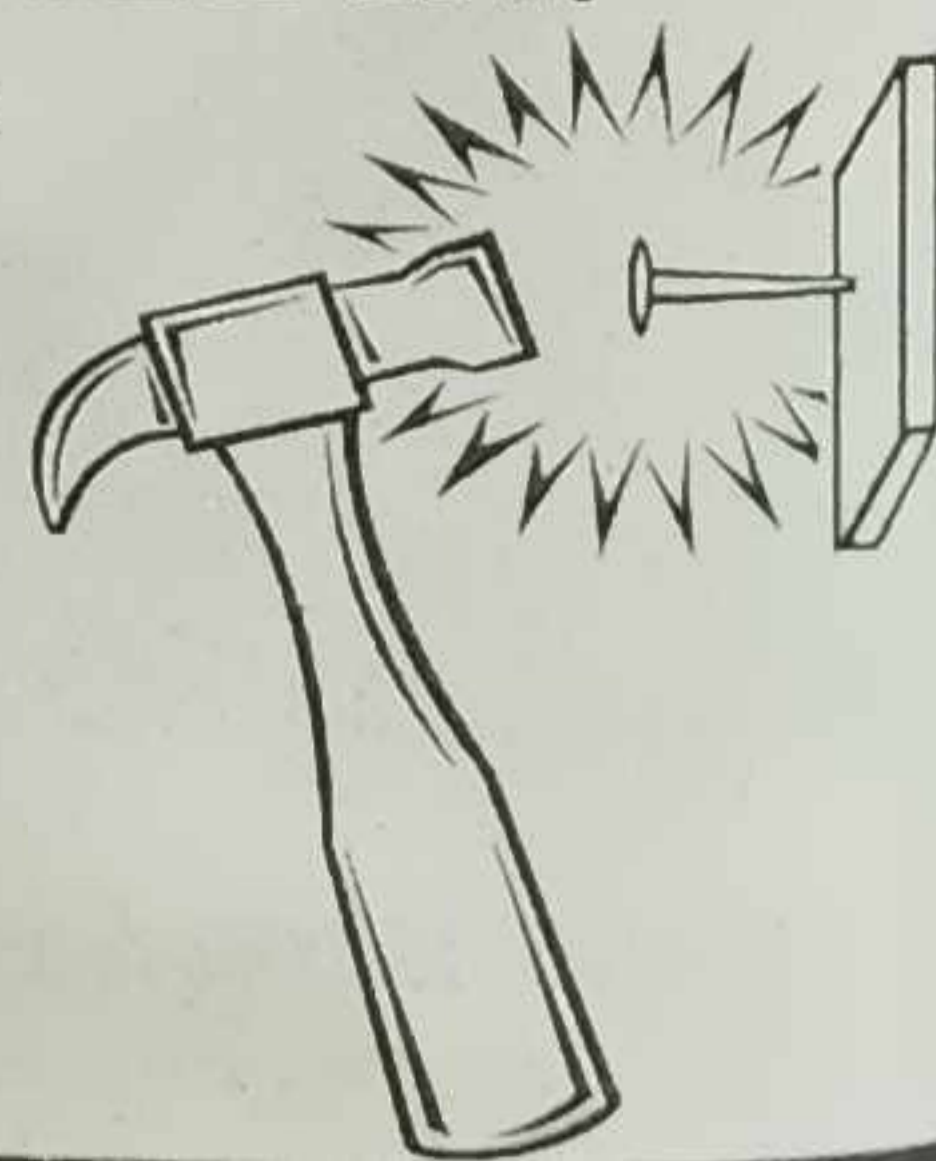

Still, the Pioneers averaged 229.2 yards per game passing and also opened holes for an attack that featured back-to-back 100 yard rushers for the first time since 1996.

Another Washington County athlete, David Pietrowiak, a sophomore from Germantown, received one of the Pioneers' top honors. As a punt returner, he earned the team's Special Teams MVP award.
