Primary Election will be held here Tuesday

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Voters in the Kewaskum area will head to the polls to decide who they want to vote for in the Fall Gubernatorial Election on Tuesday, September 12. As is customary in a primary, voters may not cross over between parties if they want their vote to count. Voters also must have previously registered. Village of Kewaskum Administrator Jay Shambeau says at last count there were only about 900 registered correctly.

Democrats heading to the polls will decide on their choice for Attorney General between Kathleen Falk and incumbent Peggy Lautenschlager. They will also have to decide if fresh blood is needed in the secretary of state office as long time Secretary of State Douglas La Follette will receive a challenge from Scot Ross. Lastly, Senator Herb Kohl faces a challenge from Ben Masel.

Republicans will decide between Jean Hundertmark and Nick Voegeli for Lt. Governor. In probably the most talked about race locally, Paul Bucher challenges J.B. Van Hollen for Attorney General.

Democrat Candidates

Attorney General

Peg Lautenschlager, 50, of Fond du Lac did not return information regarding her campaign. Her campaign website states that she is married, with three children and two step-children. She is a 1977 graduate of Lake Forest College. She graduated from the University of Wisconsin Law School in 1980.

Lautenschlager was elected Attorney General of Wisconsin in 2002. She is the first woman to hold the office. This is her first bid at re-election.

Her website contends that before becoming Attorney General, Lautenschlager served as United States Attorney for the Western District of Wisconsin. She was the chief federal law enforcement officer for the state's westernmost 44 counties. During her almost eight-year tenure, she was responsible for the prosecution of federal criminal actions and litigation of civil matters involving the federal government.

While serving as U.S. Attorney, Lautenschlager was appointed to serve on the 15-member Attorney General's Advisory Committee. As a member of the committee, Lautenschlager met regularly with Janet Reno and other high-ranking Justice Department officials regarding various department issues. She was the first person from Wisconsin to serve on the committee.

Prior to her career with the U.S. Attorney's office, Lautenschlager served in the Wisconsin Assembly from 1989 to 1993 representing the Fond du Lac area. She chaired the Assembly Select Committee on Drug Enforcement, Education and Treatment, and Subcommittee on Corrections Systems Concerns. She also served on the Committees on Criminal Justice, Elections and Constitutional Law, Environmental Resources, Utilities and Mining, Natural Resources, Judiciary, and Education. She served as Vice-chair of Legislative Counsel Committees on Drug Enforcement and Review of Sexual Assault Laws.

From July 1985 to December 1988, Lautenschlager was District Attorney for Winnebago County. Prior to that she was an attorney in private practice in Oshkosh.

Her website also touts that she has served as interim circuit court commissioner of Winnebago County. It also states that she is a former member of the Wisconsin State Elections Board, the Governor's Council on Domestic Abuse and the Democratic National Committee.

Kathleen Falk, 55, of Madison did not return a request for information on her campaign. Her website, states that she is married with one adult son. She is a graduate of University of Wisconsin Law School, 1976. She also attended UW-Waukesha and graduated from Stanford University in 1973.

According to her website, she has received numerous professional awards and honors for 30 years of public advocacy of citizens, the environment, children and seniors. Some of those awards included: Woman of the Year (Madison Magazine 2003); Eleanor Roosevelt Award from Wisconsin Democratic Party (2002); Feminist of the Year (NOW, 2001); Elected Official of the Year from Wisconsin Parks and Recreation Association (1999); Outstanding Alumni of the UW-Waukesha (1985).

Her website also states that she has received endorsements by two of the State's largest unions, the AFSCME People Conference and SEIU, the state's largest health care union. Professional endorsements include Senators Bob Jauch and Mark Miller. She also received endorsements from many Democratic state representatives, county executives, mayors and local elected officials statewide including Manitowoc County Sheriff Kenneth Petersen, Marathon County District Attorney Jill Falstad as well as former Supreme Court Justice Bill Bablitch and former Attorney General Bronson LaFollette.

First day of school goes well

Kindergartener Noah Lawniczak receives last minute well wishes from his mom Gina on the first day of school, Tuesday, September 5. Kewaskum School District's Director of Elementary Education Kieth Kriewaldt stated that the first day of classes went very well. He stated that as in year's past, the biggest concern is bussing and addressing parent concerns. "The kids were very excited. ## Fall primary election biographies

Her background includes being the first elected County Executive of Dane County, the state's second largest county in 1997. She is now serving her third, four-year term. In that capacity her website touts that she has a strong record on law enforcement and public safety adding 105 new positions to the Dane County Sheriff's Department of which 85 were new deputy positions. She also added staffing to do more in gang prevention.

Before beginning her position of Dane County Executive, Falk served as Assistant Attorney General in the Department of Justice beginning that position in 1983.

Secretary of State

Doug La Follette, 66, of Madison, is the first cousin twice removed of former Wisconsin Governor and US Senator Robert M. La Follette, Sr. His campaign did not readily supply information to this newspaper so information is retrieved from his campaign website.

La Follette holds a Ph.D. in Organic Chemistry from Columbia University, M.S. in chemistry from Stanford University and B.S. cum laude in chemistry and business from Marietta College.

La Follette was first elected to Secretary of State in 1974 and 1982 and has served there ever since. Prior to being elected in that position he served in the Wisconsin State Senate.

Before becoming active in state politics he co-founded Wisconsin's Environmental Decade (now known as Clean Wisconsin) in 1970 with Peter Anderson. He was also an assistant professor at the University of Wisconsin. He is the author of The Survival Handbook: A Strategy for Saving Planet Earth. He served on the board of directors of Friends of the Earth. In 2003 he was elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the Sierra Club.

His professional activities include being the current chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands. He has served in that capacity since 1991. He has also served as assistant director of the Mid-American Solar Energy Complex, Minneapolis, MN and Assistant Professor of Chemistry and Ecology, UW-Parkside.

Scot Ross, 37, of Verona will attempt to unseat the long-standing La Follette touting the need to reinvigorate the Wisconsin Office of Secretary of State, bringing enthusiastic and energetic leadership. He graduated from the University of Pittsburgh with a degree in English Writing. He also earned an MA from George Washington University.

Currently employed as a political consultant, Ross served as Research Director of America Coming Together, a group dedicated to registering and mobilizing voters to elect progressives up and down the ticket in Wisconsin and other states. Most recently, he was the Democratic Party of Wisconsin's Director of Research and Message Development.

In a statement to the media, Ross stated he will put all of his practical and life experiences to work building for Wisconsin's future and helping organize progressive leaders in every corner of the state. He stated "an effective government serves its constituents first and foremost. I will."

Before becoming entrenched in politics, Ross worked as a journalist and editor. His stories have appeared in publications such as the Pittsburgh Press and The New York Times. He went on to serve as communications director on a number of statewide Wisconsin campaigns such as Peg Lautenschlager's first campaign for Attorney General of Wisconsin and the gubernatorial campaign of Dane County Executive Kathleen Falk. He has also served as the communications director for U.S. Representative Ron Kind and worked in the Wisconsin State Senate and Assembly in a variety of roles.

Secretary of State is a four-year term. The winner of this race will face Republican Sandy Sullivan in November.

U.S. Senate

After serving three terms in the United States Senate, Herb Kohl, 71, of Milwaukee will face a challenger in the September primary. Kohl has been consecutively elected to the US Senate since 1988. He holds a bachelor's degree from UW-Madison and a MBA from Harvard.

Before becoming a well known senator Kohl was involved with his father and brothers in building the family business, Kohl's grocery and department stores. He became president of Kohl's in 1970 and continued to run the stores like a family business, where everyone felt they had a stake in its success. In an effort to keep the Milwaukee Bucks basketball team in Wisconsin, Kohl purchased the team and has owned the team franchise ever since.

An unlikely challenger, Ben Masel, 51, of Madison is attempting to get his name on the November ballot. Masel failed to provide this newspaper with information about his campaign. This is a six-year term.

Republican Candidates

Lt. Governor

State assemblywoman Jean Hundertmark, 52, of Clintonville has thrown her hat into the ring to face incumbent Lieutenant Governor Barbara Lawton. Hundertmark is married with two adult daughters. She is a graduate of Bryant and Stratton College.

Hundertmark has owned an A&W Family Restaurant in Clintonville since 1975. While serving in the State Assembly since 1998, she has served as Assistant Majority Leader. Her recent legislative committee assignments have included Medicaid Reform, Veterans, Labor, Education and Health. She has also chaired the Financial Institutions committee.

Hundertmark says if she moves on to the November election and is successful there she hopes to communicate with the people of Wisconsin and strengthen partnerships with federal government and local governments, so government at all levels are working together to serve the citizens of this state.

Throughout her tenure as a legislator, she has received numerous awards and honors, including: Friend of Agriculture from Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation (2004, 2005), Sanctity of Life Award from Wisconsin Right to Life (2004), Guardian of Small Business Award from NFIB WI (2002, 2004), Friend of the Taxpayer Award from Americans for Tax Reform (1999)

Nick Voegeli, 41, of Sun Prairie comes as an almost unheard of candidate. He is married, with five children and a sixth on the way and a seventh, whom he and his wife are adopting from Guatemala.

Voegeli holds an MBA from UW-Madison, a BA from Marquette University and is a graduate of The US Air Force Air Command and Staff College. He is employed as a sole practitioner consultant, Certified Public Accountant and Certified Management Accountant (Certified in Financial Management).

His past political accolades include being Deputy State Treasurer of the State of Wisconsin and is a former member of the Common Council of Sun Prairie. He is a member of The Naval Reserve Association, Reserve Officers Association and Military Officers Association of America.

Lieutenant Governor is a four year seat.

Attorney General

Paul Bucher, 51, of Merton, is looking to face either Attorney General Lautenschlager or Falk on the November ticket. He and his wife Jessica have five children.

Bucher graduated from Pius XI high school in Milwaukee in 1973 and received a bachelor's degree in social work/criminal justice from UW-Milwaukee in 1977. In 1981, he received his Juris Doctorate from Marquette University Law School.

After graduating from law school, he took a position with then-state Senator Susan Engleleiter. While with Engleleiter, Bucher worked as a Legislative Aide and later as her Executive Assistant.

Bucher joined the Waukesha County District Attorney's office in 1983 as an Assistant District Attorney. In 1988, Gov. Tommy G. Thompson appointed Bucher to become Waukesha County's District Attorney. Bucher is Waukesha County's longest serving district attorney and was most recently re-elected in November of 2004 to his 10th term.

He is a two-time Past President of the Wisconsin District Attorneys Association and a former 1st Vice President of the Waukesha County Republican Party.

Bucher stated, "I am running for the Attorney General's position to restore public confidence in that office. Accountability and responsibility are essential attributes for Wisconsin's top cop. The Attorney General's focus should be on safety, security and protecting the public. I have spent my 20-year profesecutorial career fighting for the law-abiding public and alongside the men & women of law enforcement."

Challenger J.B. Van Hollen, and his wife Lynne and two children live in Waunakee.

Van Hollen graduated from St. Olaf College in 1988 with an undergraduate degree in Political Science and Economics. He earned his law degree two years later from the University of Wisconsin Law School.

Van Hollen began his career as an Assistant State Public Defender in Spooner. In 1991, he became a federal prosecutor as an Assistant United States Attorney for the Western District of Wisconsin. In 1993 Governor Tommy Thompson appointed Van Hollen to the position of District Attorney in Ashland County. Nearly six years later, he resigned to pursue other professional interests, but was called to service again when Governor Thompson appointed him to serve as Bayfield County District Attorney. Van Hollen was later elected to the position.

President George W. Bush appointed him to the position of US Attorney for Wisconsin's Western District in 2002.

Van Hollen's website states that he initiated Project Safe Neighborhoods, a federal effort to reduce violent gun crime by enforcing the numerous laws already on the books. In its first year, he worked in Rock County to prosecute individuals for gun crimes ranging from being a felon in possession of firearms or ammo to use of firearms during violent felonies, resulting in an average prison sentence of more than five years. He later expanded the effort to Dane County and several multi-jurisdictional drug enforcement groups in rural Wisconsin. Firearms prosecutions nearly tripled during his tenure.

The Attorney General position has a term of four years.

Please see this week's insert from Washington County for polling places and a sample ballot. If you are unsure that you have registered to vote please contact your local municipal clerk for more information.

In honor of Grandparents Day Sunday, September 10, Author, Robinson shares the joy of being a grandma

During the years my daughter was growing up, each time I took a trip without her - as the airplane struggled to lift off, the engines strained, the wings tilted alarmingly toward the earth, and the landing gear groaned fatally - I gripped the armrests with white-knuckled fingers, wishing from the bottom of my soul that I had never come on this stupid trip and anguishing over the thought of how in the world my daughter would manage to grow up without a mother.

While she was small, the thought of her grief was unbearable and made my heart race with terror. When my daughter reached 11, the thought was still terrible, but I knew I was no longer quite so essential, and I began to believe she would survive. When she turned 18, I wondered, in my heart of hearts, if she might actually be happier without me. And when she was around 21, I stopped gripping so hard, so desperately, though not altogether.

When you first become a mother, your child commands the center of your gaze. This is biology at work, survival strategy; human babies need more care than others on the planet. So this is how you start out together; she, helplessly dependent; you, fiercely protective. For years, as she is growing up, you are wholly responsible for everything, and whatever goes wrong is your fault - the time she got that terrible infection and had to go to the hospital, the time you were late and the non-English-speaking babysitter walked out and left your three-year old alone in the house, the time in seventh grade with those awful girls, the time the horse kicked her. To say nothing of the times when you were mean instead of kind.

All these things would not have happened, as you well know, if you had been a better mother. You should have prevented them. They will still wake you up, years later, with a dark stab of guilt; there are things for which you will never forgive yourself. Because long afterward (forever, in fact), you will continue to carry your child as you did in the months before her birth. She is still there, just under your beating heart, a constant beloved presence, a burden and a delight.

When all my friends told me that being a grandmother was "the best," I wondered, what could be better than this? My friends shook their heads. "Whatever you expect, it will be better."

Everyone loves being a grandmother. What is it about this job that's so great? I was curious and eager to find out for myself, but this is a job you can't apply for. Whether you get it or not is entirely dependent on someone else. Your qualifications have no bearing here.

My daughter, also named

Roxana, is my only child, which makes me think of the old adage "Don't put all your eggs in one basket." If you have only one child, this is just what you've done, both literally and metaphorically. This is where all your maternal energy and intensity are focused, and it's where all your biological information is stored. This basket matters deeply.

Two years ago, Roxana was married, and I began turning into an old adage myself, wondering when she was going to have a baby. Isn't this what old women do? Aren't they always asking when younger ones are going to have babies?

I didn't feel particularly old, but I suddenly understood why they do it. As a mother, you too are part of the biological clock; its steady tick reverberates within your consciousness as well. My friends and I ask this question all the time about one another's daughters: "When is she going to have a baby?"

It's a question we can say out loud, unlike the one that precedes it: "When is she going to get married?" Those questions are taken from the same text. We're asking if our children will enter into the dance of the future, if they'll take those opening steps that lead to the next generation.

This too is biology, ingeniously at work through the emotions. These questions are intensely important, and when we hear about a wedding or a baby, delight fills us. This sudden upwelling of happiness has something to do, of course, with the particular love that you feel for a child and also with something larger, more encompassing - the longer, steady beat of life.

One evening last summer, my husband, Tony, and I were about to go out to dinner with Roxana and her husband, Danny. We were all in the living room of their apartment in Greenwich Village, getting ready to go. My daughter, standing in front of the bookcases, pulled on her sweater, then turned and said she had something to tell us. Her voice was annunciatory and proud. It was the look on her face, really, that delivered the message, and the room lit up with joy. Of course they had their earlier private moments of joy, we multiplied this by the length of another generation.

That was my first moment of grandmotherhood, I suppose, seeing my daughter so fresh and radiant, making her announcement, her still-slim body holding its secret. I watched Roxana during her pregnancy turn fuller and rounder as she moved toward the Day, taking on the peaceful beauty of women who are, literally, full of life. Now everything was focused on the Day. She told me her plans: a midwife, in a hospital. She was taking classes in natural childbirth. She was being aided by a doula, which was also her Pilates teacher. What, I wondered, was a doula? Explanations didn't entirely help. It seemed that the doula offered something part spiritual and part physical, but it wasn't clear to me exactly what.

One day we received an e-mail with a mystifying attachment: the sonogram. This is the baby, we were told. Here is her foot, there her head. We could make nothing of these amorphous outlines. It was exciting, but also somewhat unnerving; it seemed to me too intimate for us to see. I felt I shouldn't know what she looked like now, before she was ready to be seen, while she was still in the dreaming, while her brain was still forming, her world liquid.

But it was extraordinary: She was there; she was real.

And she was a girl.

They had chosen her name, but wouldn't reveal it. My daughter said, "If you tell people the baby's name after it's born, they say, 'Oh, what a great name!' but if you tell them before, they say, 'Oh, don't name her that. We had a dog named that, and she bit everyone.'"

She was right; still, I was dying to know. Sometimes I asked her outright.

"Is it Melchisedec?" I asked, referring to Sara Crewe's pet rat in A Little Princess.

"It might be Melchisedec," she said, laughing.

As the due date approached, Roxana was more and more enormous, the baby so demanding present that each day the birth seemed imminent. But there were some false starts, and by the date itself Roxana announced that she had given up hope. She had decided that pregnancy had become a permanent condition.

The next day, she went into labor, very early in the morning. All day I waited near the phone as the hours dragged past. Danny called periodically. The doula was there, I was told. The mysterious doula! What was she doing? She was making tea, buying groceries. She was coaching my daughter's labor. Then I began to understand.

Midwives encourage you to spend most of your labor at home, so now the presence of the doula, with her deep, intimate understanding of the body, made sense. She stayed all day. I spoke to my daughter once or twice, but she was in a removed and distant state. She was becoming taken over by the life of the body. She herself, her own consciousness, was become a submerged in it, in this mysterious force, with its violent paroxysms, its urgency, its own interior logic. She was deep in the center of the current, too far out for us to reach, and she was headed for the falls. All of us were helpless on the banks, watching. There was no way I could save her from what was coming.

All during the pregnancy we had talked about the birth, every aspect of it, but the thing we didn't mention was that birth is perilous. It's very close to death. The two things move terrifyingly near to each other, like two huge planets. Their conjunction is unthinkable.

That evening she was still in labor. She had been in to see the midwife, who had sent her back home. As I got into bed that night, I was suddenly sick with fear, terrified by all the things that could go wrong. Roxana had told me one day about how the baby's head must turn and twist and bow and straighten during the birth. I didn't want to listen, to visualize it. The chances of something going wrong seemed greater if I dwelled upon it. Now the risks seemed too immense, too dangerous to consider. And I was helpless. I could do nothing to protect her. All I could do was whiten my knuckles and grip, afraid again for her, but this fear was different - it had nothing to do with me. It was only she. My daughter was struggling in this wild current; it was she who was braving those rapids, alone in the frail craft of her body. This was something that no mother could prevent.

The following day she was still in labor, but now in the hospital. I sat waiting by the phone, biting my nails and jumping at every sound. Danny called every few hours. In the late afternoon, the phone rang.

"Hello" I said breathlessly.

"Hello, Grandma," Danny said.

"Oh," I said. I was stunned. A stillness spread out around me. My eyes filled. I couldn't think of the next thing to say. "She's here?" I asked stupidly.

"She's here," he said. "Come and see her."

My husband was due home shortly, and we were meant to be at a black-tie dinner at the opera house in an hour.

"We'll be there in 20 minutes," I said.

We arrived in our evening clothes.

They were still in the delivery room, which held a bed, a chair, and a high padded table. It hadn't been cleaned up and was still unkempt, echoing with urgency. The bed was pulled out from the wall, the sheets tumbled. On the floor was a smear of blood. My daughter was in of blood. My daughter was in a hospital gown, a transparent oxygen tube taped to her nose, an IV stand by the bed-frightening reminders of the passage she had just made.

I didn't want to look at them, but my daughter was beaming, and there was something else to look at. There was the baby, wrapped like a loaf of bread, in a striped tea towel.

She was a strange brick red - from the compression of the birth canal, from her passage from the other world. She was full of blood. She was weighty - more than eight pounds - she was gravid with life.

Her hair was thick and black, thatchy and damp. Her cheeks were full and pink, and her eyes - oh, her eyes - they were open and liquid, an indescribable color, neither blue nor brown. The color of new. Her gaze was mysterious and calm. She had never seen anything before this room, these faces. This was the world, where she would now live.

"What's her name?" I asked.

"Lucy," they said.

It was perfect, a jewel of a name.

"And what do you want to be called?" my daughter asked.

"Nana," I said. This was not what I had called my grandmother, but what we called my mother's favorite cousin, another Roxana. The baby and I each had a new name, as did my daughter. She was Mama.

"That's your Nana," my daughter said to Lucy, who gazed at us thoughtfully.

The 36 hours of labor were now behind us. The oxygen tube, the IV stand, the bloody smear - all irrelevant. I watched Lucy in the arms of my beautiful daughter, who was now a mother and also still a daughter, just as I was still a daughter and a mother and now a grandmother. This was part of the dance. These were the steps to the future.

Lucy, radiant and glowing, is the future. And she's mine, in a way, though obviously she's much more my daughter's. We belong to each other, linking past and future. As Virginia Woolf wrote, "We think back through our mothers if we are women." It's our mothers who teach us how to live in the world. And we think forward through our daughters if we are mothers, and beyond them, through their daughters.

"Would you like to hold her?" my daughter asked.

I took Lucy in my arms. I touched her bare shoulder. It was the color of terra cotta and silky, unimaginably smooth. She looked up at me with the preternatural gaze of the newborn; wise, quiet, sibylline. Her mouth was wide and delicate, the line of red lips perfectly distinct. Her black hair stood up wildly; her nose was brief and curved; her eyelashes long, dark, and fine. Her eyebrows were high and faint, the barest of brushstrokes. She was so new. I could hardly bring myself to hold her; she was so important. I could hardly bear the thought of giving her up.

I could see that her arrival - those hours in which I was powerless to help my daughter anymore - was the end of one thing and the start of another. From now on, it will be my daughter's turn to grip the armrests. This is, actually, a relief. I couldn't bear to go through it all again - the hospital, those mean girls. But here, for all those years of gripping, is my reward: Lucy. She's my retirement gift, the gold watch for being a mother.

Here is a baby for whom you don't have to grip the armrests, whom you can treasure without being responsible for everything that goes wrong.

You aren't in charge, so nothing will be your fault. Your only task is to adore her. It's like being told you no longer have to eat vegetables, only dessert, and really, only the icing.

This fortunate position - the one you couldn't apply for - is one you can't lose, either. It's yours for life: This will always be your daughter's daughter. These two will always be yours, and you, theirs. I'll always be Lucy's Nana. Maybe this is biology at work once more. It seems now that this is just what I've always wanted.

Man uninjured after train hits stuck truck

A West Bend man is lucky to have escaped injury after his father's company vehicle was hit by a train late Thursday afternoon, August 31 at a railroad crossing in the town of Addison.

Jason Gamroth, 22, stated he saw barricades on County Road DW about a half of a mile west of Highway 41 but decided to drive around them. Unfortunately, the crossing had been dug up and Gamroth got stuck, literally.

He jumped out of the truck about 10 minutes later when a Canadian Northern Freight train came by and the Gamroth Landscaping & Grading truck was struck and totaled.

Sheriff's deputies say the train pushed the truck about 100 feet.

Doyle attends West Bend Democratic rally

Wisconsin Governor Jim Doyle, joined by his wife, Jessica and Lt. Governor Barbara Lawton rallied with local Democrats in West Bend on Sunday, September 3. In addition to his stop at St. Somewhere Cafe in West Bend, Doyle and his entourage made stops in Milwaukee, Janesville, Madison, Eau Claire and Wausau.

Doyle told the enthusiastic standing-room-only audience that there will be a series of televised debates with his Republican challenger.

Also joining the Doyle crew was Democratic congressional candidate Bryan Kennedy. Kennedy told the crowd that it will take the exposure of what he calls Jim Sensenbrenner's radical record for him to gain victory in November.

Woman in road run over by deputy

The Wisconsin State Patrol at DeForest is handling the investigation of an unusual accident early Labor Day morning in Dodge County. The bizarre accident has left a 41-year-old woman in critical condition at a Madison hospital.

Deputy Peter Mantai was patrolling County Road I in the area of a Labor Day party at the Sportsman's Club in Pumpkin Center when he says he felt his squad car hit something. What he hit was a woman who was laying in the roadway.

Dawn Chmela was transported by ambulance to Beaver Dam Hospital and subsequently taken to Madison's UW-Hospital.

Dodge County Sheriff Todd Nehls has handed the investigation over to the State Patrol to avoid a potential conflict of interest.

County looks at new radio system

WEST BEND- Washington County's radio communications committee met Thursday morning, August 31 to hear from as many as 16 companies who would like to sell a new radio system. Cost for the new system is expected to cost taxpayers around $11 or $13 million.

An earlier plan for a county-wide dispatch system is no longer an option according to Sheriff Brian Rahn.

The new system is expected to add some new towers but will not include the multi-million dollar remodeling of the dispatch center. Sheriff Rahn expected the new system to be in place by 2008.

Good news from United Way

It can be hard to find enough "big brothers" for all the boys waiting to be matched with a volunteer mentor. Because of this, the Match Program of Big Brothers Big Sisters provides activities for children waiting to be matched.

"Sam" was a frequent participant in Big-for-a-Day activities of the Match Program that is funded by the United Way of Washington County.

Activities such as a trip to Cedar Lake all helped "Sam" become more open and interact more with adults. These activities also gave a new male volunteer the opportunity to see that he would be a good match for "Sam".

Thank you, Match Program, for serving children by matching them with volunteer "big" mentors.

Runner seeking pledges in honor of Danielle Yanke

Danielle Yanke

Danielle Yanke felt on top of the world this year as graduation from Kewaskum High School was approaching. After all, she'd had a full and successful four years there. She was graduating as a class valedictorian, was a Regal Ware scholarship recipient, and for two years had been chosen for an all-conference soccer team to name just a few of her proudest accomplishments.

But her world changed drastically four days before graduation when, after undergoing surgery for an abdominal mass, it was confirmed that she had a rare, but highly curable, form of ovarian cancer. She made it to graduation and then spent the summer receiving chemotherapy. She completed her treatment on August 21 and moved into her dorm at UW-Madison on August 30th, where she plans to pursue her goal of becoming a physical therapist.

She and her family would like to thank everyone in the community who has known about her condition for their outpouring of prayers and support. It is in knowing that spirit of generosity that they now ask one favor.

A family friend, TJ Sorensen of Green Bay, will be running in the Briggs and Al's Run and Walk on September 16th to help raise funds for Children's Hospital of Wisconsin. It will be his 10th year participating in the event and each year he runs in honor of a child who is dealing with a serious illness. This year he has chosen to run in honor of Danielle. While Danielle did not receive her care from Children's Hospital, she and her family are asking for your support in this cause to help many other children and their families who must face the daily challenges and hardships of serious health conditions. Children's Hospital of Wisconsin is a nationally recognized facility and we are fortunate to have such close access if needed.

To obtain more information about the race, Children's Hospital, or Danielle's story, log on to www.firstgiving.com/tjrnsfordanielle. A donation can be made by credit card via the secure website or by mailing a check to TJ Sorensen, 453 Winding Waters Way, De Pete, WI 54115. Checks should be payable to Children's Hospital of Wisconsin and must be received by September 14.

Sign dedication at Kewaskum Library

Join the library staff and board of trustees of the Kewaskum Public Library for a short dedication ceremony for the new library sign on September 16th at 10am.

The sign was paid for by the memorial fund of David Stradtman, a library board member and educator who passed away in December of 2005. Mr. Stradtman's wish was that the library have a way to alert people when it was open and his intention was to build a sign himself. Before he succumbed to cancer last winter, with the sign still in the planning stages, his desire was that a memorial fund be created in his name in order to purchase such a sign.

The sign was designed and manufactured by Woodcraft Signs in West Bend and installed in July of 2006.

After the dedication ceremony, the library will be open until 1pm, serving refreshments and offering a day of amnesty from overdue fines and library card replacement fees. Anyone with overdue items may return them without fear of fines. Likewise, replacement library cards will be free. Items must be returned on the 16th in order to have fines and fees waived. For more information, contact the Kewaskum Public Library at 262-626-4312.

Kiwanis Club announces addition

The Kewaskum Kiwanis Club has added a 50 bird shoot to their outstanding line-up at their 54th annual Turkey Shoot this year. The Turkey Shoot is going to be held at the New Fane Sportsman's Club, which is located at N838 County Road G, north of Kewaskum, on Saturday, September 9th. The event will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., rain or shine.

The 50 bird shoot will have High Gun and Lewis Class options. The Lewis Class option allows shooters who are novices or are just getting into the sport to have the same chance of winning as expert shooters. The 50 birds will be shot in two rounds of 25, switching traps between rounds.

The 50 Bird Shoot is in addition to the other activities that the Turkey Shoot is famous for, such as the rifle range, pistol range, trap shoot, basketball shoot, golf drive, dart toss, bow and arrow shoot, compound bow shoot, BB gun, raffles, food and refreshments. Regal Ware will once again be there with their truckload of savings.

Meet the Resource Managers of the Northern Unit

The Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit's Evening with Nature Series begins its new year with "Meet the Forest Managers of the Northern Unit." The program will be on Thursday, September 14, starting at 6:30 pm. It will be held at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center, which is located off of Hwy 67, half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

The Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit along with all state forests throughout Wisconsin are certified for being managed in a sustainable manner. As part of this certification, the public is invited to learn what's in the works for the coming year and beyond for the Northern Unit. Resource managers will provide insights into the issues surrounding the multitude of recreational uses in the forest and the management of its fish and wildlife populations.

Participants will have a chance to hear from Jerry Leiterman, forest superintendent, about the new bike trail between Mauthe and Long Lakes, the construction of a shower building at Mauthe Lake and the planned improvements for the Horse Riders' Camp. Learn what's happening with wildlife management projects/issues from Dale Katsma, wildlife manager. Improvement of the Lake Fifteen Creek trout habitat will be addressed by John Nelson, fisheries manager. Mark Sessing will talk on the Long Lake Shore Land Habitat Project.

Forester Tim Beyer will touch on how invasives are being controlled and the status of the reconnaissance of the forest's natural resources. An update on the status of endangered resources within the Northern Unit will be provided by Owen Boyle, a Bureau of Endangered Resources ecologist.

The evening will start with an open house from 6:30 to 7:00 p.m. This will be followed by a presentation by the forest staff and resource managers including time for questions and comments from the audience. This is a wonderful opportunity to learn about how the Northern Unit is being managed and to offer your opinions on how the Northern Unit should be managed and what amenities should be offered.

Jeff Waala of Kewaskum stopped his car south of St. Michaels on Forestview Road when he noticed he drove over something last Thursday morning. He got out of the car and to his amazement, saw it was a large rattlesnake. He noticed the snake was still rattling and knocked it out, then picked it up with his hands and put it in a box which he had in the car. Waala was on his way to work at Mequon at the time. He called the DNR and they said there were no rattlesnakes around here. He then took it to the Ice Age Natural Resource office at Dundee and Rich Van Osch, naturalist, identified it as a Canebrake Rattlesnake, a southern species found in the swamps of the south. It is assumed that the rattler had been kept in captivity and released in the area. Van Osch stated that Waala's report of the rattler was a first for this area. The snake measured 3-1/2 feet with a 2 inch rattler.

Mrs. Moe has taught in the Kewaskum school system for 25 years. She was honored for this accomplishment as well as for teacher of the year.

There were 331 persons from this area who attended Kewaskum Night at the Mil-

Cochran Sign merges with sign magnate Appleton Sign

Cochran Sign Company in St. Michael's has recently merged with Appleton Sign Company of Neenah. New owners expect to bring in additional salespersons to work from the St. Michael's location.

By Rachael Paulsen
Statesman Correspondent

Chris Cochran of West Bend, former owner of Cochran Sign Company, Inc. of St. Michael's has had a mid-life change of plans. He recently sold his award winning company to another leader in the sign business.

Cochran Sign Company has joined forces with Appleton Sign Company of Neenah. The sale recently became complete according to Appleton Sign President Mark Wildenberg. He also added that Cochran Sign Company will retain its name in the merge.

Wildenberg stated that Cochran wanted to go in a different direction. The pair knew each other from having served together on the Wisconsin Sign Association a few years back.

"They have a good presence," Wildenberg said. "He's (Chris) an upright guy and it's important to keep that great reputation."

Wildenberg said Appleton Sign's channel-letter fabrication department will most likely be moved to Cochran's 17,000-square foot building to make room for new stations. The new stations will act as an assembly line and produce a more focused line item.

"Kewaskum will focus on letters and we will focus more on pylons and monuments," said Wildenberg. "So each person will have one job instead of three."

Combined, the two companies employ about 45 people. Cochran Sign, which is about one-fourth the size of Appleton Sign, will be increasing their employment with more salespeople. This will help control the timeliness and quality of the products and services.

"We have work for them to do and they have work for us to do, so it works out pretty well," said Wildenberg.

Employees at Appleton Sign are all university-degreed, industry-trained technicians who do logo and graphic design, fabrication, installation and service and support. They produce signs as small as car decals and as large as highway signs and everything in between including vehicle graphics, illuminated signs, window graphics and bank and restaurant signs. The central Wisconsin company is one of the largest sign manufacturers north of Milwaukee, and build everything they sell including bending their own letters.

Cochran Sign, a 20-year-old business, makes signs for various companies in the surrounding cities, including Kapco Inc., Kettle Moraine Lutheran High School and Hidden Farm. They also make welcome signs for cities.

Wildenberg said he anticipates doubling business as a result of the merge.

"We will definitely grow. It's a huge opportunity," he said.

They have a nationwide customer base including Thrivent Financial Services, Bergstrom, SCA Tissue, Bank One and Alliant Energies. They also manufacture products for Canada and Mexico. Wildenberg said, "Our job is to please the eye and make it marketable."

An average sale for Appleton Sign is about $6,000 and takes about two to three weeks to finish. The company does not do any advertising, but since their building is located next to Highway 41 they already have some exposure. Their customer base grows from word-of-mouth.

Mark and Nancy Wildenberg started the company in 1984 as a vinyl repairing business whose main customers were car dealerships and restaurants, according to their web site, www.appletonsign.com. They grew to become one of the top 10 in the business.

In 1992 they sold their Dr. Vinyl franchise and started a graphics and sign company then named Special T-Graphics Sign. As they produced fleet graphics for U.S. Oil Company, their customer base once again expanded.

Six years later, they purchased Appleton Neon and Sign Company and formed a full-service manufacturing and installation business.

In 2000 they purchased Sign-Tech of Wisconsin, a direct competitor in the business, and made a decision to combine the three businesses, forming Appleton Sign Company. Now its four owners are: Phil Van Thiel, Larry Turkow, Marv Grall and Wildenberg.

The Bookworm Sez

by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Escape from The Carnivale

By Dave Barry & Ridley Pearson
Brilliance Audio $9.95 2 hours

Being a kid isn't easy.

Everywhere you go, people tell you what to do and what not to do. Temptation surrounds you and some things are just impossible to resist.

It's hard to heed your elders when you're a kid.

In the new children's audio book "Escape from the Carnivale" by Dave Barry and Ridley Pearson, performed by Jim Dale, it's doubly hard for Little Scallop and her friends to listen to the grown-ups. There's adventure to be had, and they don't want to miss it.

Little Scallop, Princess of the Mollusk tribe, is very envious of her bigger brothers. They get to spy on the Pirates on the other side of Mollusk Island. They have adventures. Little Scallop is only allowed to play in the cove with the mermaids, and while that's a lot of fun, it's not very adventurous.

Little Scallop's two best friends, Surf and Aqua, are mermaids who live in Parrot Cove, but they've explored the sea and they know secrets. Beautiful secrets, like the undersea cave where gigantic pearls are there for the taking. Aqua, Surf, and Little Scallop have been warned to never, ever stray from the safety of Parrot Cove, but who can resist the temptation of pearls?

It's a lovely night for clam hunting, but an unexpected storm arises and Surf and Aqua get lost. Little Scallop thinks maybe this adventure is a bad idea. It's an even worse idea when Surf is captured in a net, hauled aboard a decrepit ship named The Carnivale, and placed in a tank with strange-looking sea-creatures. Ebenezer Crookshank, captain of The Carnivale, is overjoyed to have caught a mermaid, and since this one speaks English, she'll be the headliner of their show. All Crookshank needs now is a sea-serpent, and he'll have riches beyond his grandest dreams.

Rushing back to Mollusk Island, Little Scallop runs to Neverland, in search of Peter Pan. Pan is away, but James, being the eldest and in charge of the Lost Boys, agrees to help free Surf from Crookshank and his men.

On the other side of the island, Peter Pan's old nemesis is hard at work, building a driftwood raft. Captain Hook saw The Carnivale out there on the water. A ship like that could get him off the island and away from the nasty crocodile that wants Hook for his dinner.

But who will reach The Carnivale first?

I'm just a wee bit beyond the age group that "Escape from The Carnivale" is meant for, but I still found it exciting. Jim Dale, who is the performer on this audio book, has won a Grammy, a Tony, and seven Audie Awards, and his reading makes this story one that will keep you sitting in your van in the parking lot, engine running, until the track ends or the next chapter begins.

When you see this audio book on the shelf, go ahead. Be tempted. Grab it and get ready for adventure. "Escape from The Carnivale" is a book you're going to want to net soon.

PRAYER OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN

(Never known to fail)

Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven. Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my Mother. Oh Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (pray three times). Say this prayer for three consecutive days and then you must publish it and it will be granted to you. Grateful thanks.

PERSPECTIVES

Letter to the Editor:

Our family was contacted by the West Bend Daily News a few days following my father's unexpected death. They were interested in doing a story about my father's dedication to his family and his friends. We were first hesitant of the idea but we decided to honor their request.

Following publication of the story on August 31, our family was deeply saddened and disappointed with the inaccurate information provided by the reporter of the article.

My father was married to my mother, Mary (Marx) on November 25, 1972 and raised four boys. My father was also portrayed as being, and I quote from the reporter, "not a particularly religious person." That false statement made by the reporter was not only very upsetting, but could not be further from the truth.

While we cannot change what was written on August 31, I can let you know my father was a very caring, dedicated man to his wife, family and friends. Whether you knew my father personally or just read the story, our family wishes you to remember him for the man he was, not from some distant reporter's point of view.

Letter to the Editor:

Where is Liberty Found?

I spent a portion of my young life in a Wisconsin farming community about 50 miles from my current home. It was the most wonderful environment and I suppose the memories of that time brought me back to Wisconsin. It was clean and healthy in every way. Yes, it was full of hard work, but void of dark things that oppress the spirit. It was a time of innocence and of being innocent.

However, since the time of innocence, I've lived on both coasts of our nation and even obtained some college degrees, something else I never intended to do. But the acquisition of that knowledge, of things true and false, has added nothing to my spirit.

The acquisition of knowledge places burdens on the soul and God never intended that we should be simple-minded creatures. But the spirit is a different matter and I find myself longing for those days of freedom: days not shadowed by dark things.

Those were days when we played baseball in a cow pasture. It was the playground of our two-room elementary school. Some might call it a simple life. But of all my years in school, Mrs. Burt is the only teacher's name I remember. It was a time of peace and those days of innocence remain in my heart.

That quiet symbol of freedom was torn down a number of years ago; but I have two of its desks that I used as a child. They're a wonderful reminder of those days in the past: days now replaced with a building that has no windows for the light provided by God.

So now I wonder if the hearts of those children know the peace of innocence that cries out in my heart? Do they not find themselves dodging pies of a different sort? The kind that oppress the spirit and pollute the body and soul? But saving the environment?

They're being robbed of their innocence, by thieves who have always hid themselves in the name of love. So we no longer understand the meaning of freedom. It's not the liberty for the lawless, but the liberty from the lawless.

This kind of freedom can only be known by upholding "the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God." This is what Thomas Jefferson understood, and wrote, in the opening statements of our Declaration of Independence.

Yes, the mantra of the Separation of Church and State is a lie. It is not found within the first amendment and the congressional record clearly tells us that it was written to support the Christian faith, but to keep any single denomination from becoming a State Religion.

But, we have enemies who oppose our nation, who say that the Author of Life will not be one who says what is good or evil. So they continually work to Separate the State from the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God.

Through crooked judgments and the fear of crooked lawsuits, we are being made to be ashamed of that which is good. So now we give place to the will of evil, in the name of tolerance, as if this is what makes us creatures of love, and honor.

But will you stop the sexual war against gender? Will you not return to innocence and vote YES on November 7th to preserve God's marriage? Will you not build windows that bring in the light for living creatures? Or will you only build dead things? Do you really want to abort the hearts of children and destroy yourselves in doing so? Oh God! Save us from ourselves!

Rick Alstad

They're back, and KHS spikers look good again

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

If Saturday's competition was any indication of what kind of season it will be, fans of the Kewaskum High volleyball team had better fasten their seat belts. They are in for an exciting ride!

The Indians breezed through and won all three matches in pool play at the Hartford Tournament, then had to survive two close and thrilling games against Sheboygan Falls to get into the finals before falling in a pair of 24-26 decisions to Madison Memorial, a team they had beaten earlier.

Coach Renee Altendorf was thrilled to see her girls do so well in their first competition of the season.

"We had to play Madison Memorial again. The girls were ready to play them again," Altendorf said, but, "We just could not get a run long enough to get the last two points in our favor."

The Lady Indians came up with four service aces in the final two games, two by freshman Erika Heberer, and one each by Becky Rodenkirch and Bekki Heberer, two of the seniors Altendorf is counting on to provide a lot of leadership this fall.

Rodenkirch also provided a team-high five kills against the Spartans, while Erika Heberer and Christina DeGroot chipped in with four and three, respectively.

DeGroot and Erika Heberer led the team in assists with eight apiece.

"The girls played hard and for our first tournament, they did great," Altendorf said about the second-place effort.

In their semifinal match, the Indians were up to the task of the strong battle put up by the Sheboygan Falls Falcons, winning two nail-biters by scores of 28-26 and 25-23.

"The first game got started off very bad," Altendorf said. "We were down 9-22, and we came back to win."

There was just one ace in the two games, by Erika Heberer, but the Indians had 15 kills, led by Rodenkirch's seven and three by DeGroot.

"The first game got started off very bad," Altendorf said. "We were down 9-22, and we came back to win."

In pool play, the Lady Indians dominated Waukesha South by scores of 25-14 and 25-11, polished off Cudahy 25-16 and 25-11, then finished up with a 14-25, 25-12, 15-10 decision over Memorial.

About the win over South, Altendorf said, "The girls started the match off strong. Our serving was good, and we had a lot of opportunities to score off our quick offense."

The coach was also very pleased with the setting. "Erika did a great job setting, along with Christina," she said.

KHS had nine aces, led by Megan Rinzel's three, while Bekki Heberer led the team in kills with nine.

Erika Heberer had a whopping seven aces to lead the Indians over Cudahy. DeGroot, Rodenkirch and Bekki Heberer each contributed three kills.

The first match against Memorial gave the Indians a chance to show their mettle after struggling to keep the ball in play in the early going.

"They came around in the second game and really stepped it up," Altendorf said. "In the third game, Christina served the last three points to end that game," and, "Becky Rodenkirch had a block to win the match."

After a non-conference match against Slinger Tuesday, the Indians host Sheboygan Falls tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. for what is expected to be a barn-burner in the first Eastern Wisconsin Conference competition of the season.

Opening soccer loss is disappointing to coach

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

The combination of New Holstein's experienced players and potent scoring proved to be too much for the Kewaskum High soccer team last Thursday.

Visiting New Holstein put on quite a show, scoring five times in the first half and another two after the break for a 7-0 win in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference opener for the two schools.

"We came out flat" and struggled, KHS coach John Berst said Monday about the contest, which drops the Indians' season record to 1-3. "From a coaching standpoint, it was pretty disappointing."

"Credit New Holstein. They're more talented ... a deeper team," Berst said, indicating his team had trouble with the speed of Mike Forstner and Sam Depies. When asked how many goals Depies, a returning all-conference player had, Berst said, "at least two."

Forstner also had a pair of goals for the winners.

The KHS game plan was to play "small ball," with more passing in triangle patterns, but, "It's like they forgot what we talked about," the coach said.

There were a couple of players who executed well, according to the coach, who started with a junior midfielder. "Dan Parker played real well. I think he created a couple shots on goal," Berst said, noting Parker has made big strides in his game since playing on the JV team last season.

Berst also cited his goalkeeper Ryan Nuernberg. "Ryan didn't do a bad job. He played pretty smart and within himself," the coach said of his senior goalie, who played behind Nate Kenworthy all last season. "We've got some new guys across the back (on defense). It will take a little time."

Offensively, "Dylan Kenworthy played pretty good up top," Berst said, reporting his Indians "had eight or nine opportunities to score ... but we didn't convert."

Kewaskum was at Two Rivers on Tuesday and hosts Manitowoc Roncalli this afternoon (Thursday) at 4:30 p.m. All games are played on the field to the east of the high school.

Kowalczyk comes up with win at No. 1 Improvement seen in tennis play

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Even though they were a long way from victory in the team scoring, the Kewaskum tennis players looked much more polished at Two Rivers on Aug. 29 than they did the week before against Plymouth.

"We played much better. I was happy with the effort ... would have liked more wins," KHS coach Dan Ross said about the 6-1 defeat to another of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference tennis powers. "Several very close sets. Unfortunately we came up short on most of them. We are still working on how to close out sets."

The lone win came at the premier No. 1 singles position where senior Allie Kowalczyk overcame an early deficit to best Jenny Weina 6-3, 6-4.

"Allie played very intelligent and won fairly easily. It was a good win against a solid player," Ross said.

Seniors Darcy Dickman and Katie Gaynor went to three sets against Kelly Hagerty and Maider Yang before falling 4-6, 7-6 (7-5) and 4-6.

"The No. 3 doubles had a chance to win. We couldn't finish it when the opportunity was there," Ross said. "I definitely can't fault the effort though," nor could Ross fault the effort of any of his doubles teams, who all showed "marked improvement."

After a match at Chilton on Tuesday, the Lady Indians, 0-2 in EWC play and 0-3 overall, are hosting Kewaunee this afternoon (Thursday) at 4:30 p.m.

Kewaskum will take 2-0 mark into EWC opener

Passing arsenal powers Indians past Cedar Grove

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Last season, the running game was pretty much the "bread and butter" of the Kewaskum High football team, but after the first two games of 2006, it's pretty safe to say the Indians can score via the pass with a great deal of success.

On Friday night at Cedar Grove, senior quarterback Casey Scheel threw for four touchdowns and ran for another as Kewaskum buried the Rockets 42-15.

"Those guys had great games ... (Jon) Wicklund, (Matt) Parrent, (Eric) Ogi," KHS coach Jason Piittmann said about his two starting ends and wingback, who gathered the majority of the 207 yards worth of passes thrown by Scheel, who completed seven of 10 throws after the Rockets decided to try to stop the Indians' run game.

"They gave us a look we hadn't seen before," Piittmann went on, explaining Cedar Grove, which lost its head coach Jeff Rondorf — Rondorf took the new job as West Bend East athletic director — about a week into the preseason. It took a while, but Kewaskum adjusted to the five-man front, and Piittmann said, "We were able to exploit their secondary."

Kewaskum scored on its opening drive, which covered just 50 yards after the hosts were penalized 15 yards for not having the field properly lined.

"We started off at midfield, which really helped us," Piittmann said, reporting Wicklund scored the Indians' first TD on a 27-yard pass from Scheel.

In the second quarter, the Indians filled the air with long passes, three of which accounted for scores and helped give them a comfortable 35-0 advantage. First, Scheel found his big 6-foot-4 split end, Parrent, who grabbed a pass and rambled 65 yards for a TD. This was followed by a Scheel 1-yard run, making the score 21-0, and then came another 14-yard pass from Scheel to Wicklund.

Parrent later got into the act one more time, going 17 yards with a Scheel aerial for the fourth TD in 12 minutes.

Piittmann said the third TD, Scheel's sneak, was set up by Kewaskum's defense, along with a pass to Wicklund, who carried the ball to the one before being tackled.

On the opening drive of the second half, the Indians tacked on their sixth and final touchdown on a 23-yard scamper by Dan Shea. "He made a good cutback on a sweep," Piittmann said about his senior running back, who rushed for 90 yards in the win over East and added 37 more Friday night in seven carries.

Sophomore Brian Backhaus kicked all six PATs for the Indians.

With better than a 35-point lead, there was a continuous clock in the second half. Cedar Grove scored twice in the fourth quarter to avoid the shutout. The Rockets' first score was on a 1-yard run by Austin Legler, and the next on a short run by Joe Frede. Brandon Garcia kicked the first point, and a 2-point conversion — a pass from Jordan Peterson to Chris Peterson — was added after the second.

The Rockets rushed for 136 yards and only gained 29 passing for a total of 165 yards. Kewaskum gained 70 yards rushing to go with the 207 in the air for 277 total. Wicklund caught three passes for 79 yards, Parrent two for 82 and Ogi two for 32.

Defensively, Piittmann lauded the work of his linebackers and end Jake Turowski. "The linebackers, as a whole, did very well," the coach said, praising Mike Pfothenauer, Logan Staeger and Jack Breese, who had five, six and six tackles, respectively.

"Eric Ogi had another interception," Piittmann went on, also citing Turowski for some excellent work turning in plays on the end, so the linebackers could make stops with little or no gain. "Jake played another solid game."

About the only area in need of improvement is the offensive line. "We were inconsistent to say the least," Piittmann said. "We coaches will take the heat for that because we didn't properly prepare them for a 5-man front" and blitzes Cedar Grove was calling.

A perfect 2-0 in non-conference action, the Indians start the Eastern Wisconsin Conference season this weekend with one of the "automatic" opponents.

Kewaskum is at Manitowoc Ronalli (0-2) Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

In other games involving EWC teams on Sept. 1, Campbellsport (101) was nipped by Mayville 28-25, Kiel blanked Howards Grove 28-0, Plymouth (0-2) was defeated by Waukesha Catholic Memorial 18-3.

Sheboygan Falls moved to 2-0 with a convincing 45-21 victory over Ripon.

Indian golfers struggle on tough WBCC

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

For most of the Wisconsin Little Ten golfers, playing at West Bend Country Club was a whole lot more difficult than competing at Old Hickory Golf Course, but not for those representing Oconomowoc High.

Cooney posted a 203 last Monday, just one shot off the mark they posted at Beaver Dam the week before, to coast to its second straight victory of the season.

Taking second for the second meet in a row was Hartford, 26 shots back at 229.

Kewaskum, which has a young team and is only able to field four varsity players, finished sixth of the seven teams again, coming in at 272.

"A tough day at WBCC, rainy conditions throughout the morning," new coach Amy Piwoni said. "It was playing tough as expected, but the pins were still in the club championship positions from the weekend tournament."

Once again Renee Wetzel led the Indians, but she had to settle for a 61 which included three 8s on her card.

The other KHS counters included Jordan Benike with a 67, Caitlin Van Wormer, 70; and Becky Weber, 74.

"The girls avoided trouble for the most part but found difficulty hitting the greens, and putting was also a problem for us," Piwoni said. "We have to learn that tempo is extremely important if you want to putt well and accurately."

WLT Match No. 2, Team scores: 1. Oconomowoc, 203; 2. Hartford, 229; 3. West Bend West, 230; 4. Watertown, 250; 5. West Bend East, 255; 6. Kewaskum, 272; 7. Beaver Dam, 275.

Medalist: Abby Johnson of Oconomowoc, 40

In a dual meet held on August 23 at the Emerald Hills Golf Course near Two Rivers, the Kewaskum team posted a season-best 241, but the host Raiders came up with a 225.

Renee Wetzel topped the Indian scorers with her 48, an all-time best for her. She was one shot off the medal mark of 47 turned in by Stephanie Milmo.

For KHS, Van Wormer, Jordan Benike and Becky Weber shot 63, 64 and 66, respectively.

"Renee played very well," Piwoni said. "She had two pars in her round"

Wetzel stayed away from trouble and had a good putting day, according to her coach, who said, "Renee is a solid and reliable player who is looked to for leadership."

Piwoni went on, "Caitlin and Jordan are on the brink of where we need them to be," and added Weber "continues to improve every day and is building confidence in her game. She is very tough and competitive and has lots of potential."

Long putt on No. 18 saves the day for Anderson

On the sixth hole on the Blue Nine, Clark Eichstedt hit his second shot short of the green, then used this chip to get close and make the par putt. The Kewaskum native played good golf but lost on the final hole when his opponent, Craig Anderson, sunk a 35-foot birdie putt.

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

It was a dramatic finish to a classic battle between two talented veteran Hon-E-Kor members.

Craig Anderson of West Bend and Clark Eichstedt, a native of Kewaskum, were deadlocked in their match for the Men's Club Championship Monday afternoon, standing on the long 18th hole, perhaps looking at the fact a playoff was a good possibility.

Eichstedt had the easier of the two putts, but the 18-foot try would certainly be no "gimmee" even though it was below the cup.

Anderson's was twice as long and would break from left to right, but always the tough competitor and knowing the HEK greens like the back of his hand, he was going to try to give it his best try.

After stroking the ball, Anderson watched as it moved closer and closer to the cup, breaking softly ... and then dropping in!

With a little fist pump and jump, Anderson celebrated his third and most important birdie of the day.

Now it was "Ike's turn, and he said later he faced a similar putt in his 19-hole win over Jeff Anderson, Craig's son, in the morning round.

The putt headed for the hole but nudged the cup and failed to go in, and the match was over.

Once again, Anderson claimed the Men's title, and after checking the plaque on the wall of the clubhouse, said, "This is five" in a row and nine titles altogether.

About his having to putt first on No. 18, he said, "In match play, you've always got to think the other guy's going to make his."

And what was especially satisfying about his 35-footer going in, Anderson said, "It wasn't an easy putt. It probably had two and a half feet of break ... I never made a putt like that to win a match."

Neither player led by more than one hole the entire match. Eichstedt took a 1-up advantage on No. 4 Blue when Anderson took a bogey on the par-3 hole.

Eichstedt missed a golden opportunity on No. 8 when his drive ended up just 10 yards in front of the green, but his chip took a hard hop and landed 15 feet past the cup, and he missed the birdie try.

Anderson was 22 feet away, and his first putt went five feet past, but he sunk it for a par.

Anderson applied pressure to even the match on No. 9, where Eichstedt's second shot hit the bank and rolled back in front of the green. Anderson's birdie try was rolling down the hill and right for the hole but slid by the right edge.

The result was two more pars and Ike maintained his 1-up lead with half the match over.

Anderson was right on target with his second shot on No. 1 White. The ball settled less than three feet from the hole for an easy birdie while Eichstedt came up short, landing in the trap, which he ended up doing a couple more times during the round.

"I went in the sand on 10 and 15 ... that's terrible," Eichstedt said. "That's my weakness right now. It used to be a strength."

Anderson's par on No. 11 gave him the lead after Eichstedt came out of the sand and was still not on the green after three shots.

Both men parred Nos. 12 and 13, and both were just off the left of the green on the par-3 No. 14 hole. Eichstedt had a nice chip and was able to drop his five footer dead center, while Anderson's 10-foot par try slid off to the right.

Eichstedt successfully scrambled from the sand to make a par on No. 15, and Anderson's birdie try missed by inches, so the two remained tie, and the same was on No. 16, but this time Eichstedt had the birdie opportunity which came up a foot short.

Both players called No. 17 a tough hole Sunday because of the precarious pin placement on a downslope.

"My second shot on No. 17 wasn't good," Anderson said, noting the pin placement was "nasty." He wound up three-putting.

"You saw 17 ... a nightmare pin placement," Eichstedt said after watching his chip onto the green seemingly settle a foot from the cup only to continue to roll eight feet past. He missed the comebacker, so both ended up with bogeys.

It was either man's match at this point. Both hit two solid shots to get into position to hit the green, and in the end it was Anderson and his "flat stick" determining the outcome.

To reach the finals, Eichstedt used a par on No. 1 to defeat young Anderson, a sophomore at West Bend West, who had bogeyed 18, prompting the playoff.

Craig Anderson was pitted against Jason Jahnke, a recent graduate of Kewaskum High, but the match went just a couple of holes.

"He just quit after two and a half holes," Anderson said. When asked if there appeared to be any reason for the withdrawal, Anderson said, "Not that I am aware of."

Anderson had three birdies and three bogeys during the round for an even par 70. Other than for 17, he said he played well.

"You can't afford to give any holes away," especially to a player like Anderson, Eichstedt said, and about his final putt added, "I knew what I was going to do. I just didn't hit it hard enough."

"I thought Clark was going to turn back the clock today. I thought today was hit day," Jim Dean, who caddied for Eichstedt Monday, said, referring to the fact his last title came in 1986.

Both men currently had nine club titles to their credit.

Craig Anderson was the medalist in the 36-hole medal competition, leading to the finals. He shot a 75-72 for a 147, while Jeff Anderson came in at 150 with a pair of 75s and Jahnke next at 151 (74-77).

In fifth out of the 14 trying for spots in the final four, was Jay Krueger, 80-74—154, and next, in a tie for sixth, were Ethan Geidel (79-78) and Jim Rohlinger (77-80) at 157.

Jim Kleinke won the First Flight in two extra holes over Scott Leitheiser, Manny Alvarado whipped Jim Volesky 4-and-3 in the battle for the Second Flight title, and John McKay captured Third Flight honors with his 1-up win over Chuck Kleinke.

There were under 10 entrants in the Women's Division, which turned into a handicap event. Kelly Marquardt beat Dianne Kleinke 4-and-3 in the finals.

Next up at Hon-E-Kor is the Kettle Moraine Amateur on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 16-17.

NOTICE OF PARTISAN PRIMARY ELECTION
SEPTEMBER 12, 2006

OFFICE OF THE WASHINGTON COUNTY CLERK TO THE ELECTORS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given of a partisan primary to be held in Washington County, on the 12th day of September, 2006, at which the nominees for the offices named below shall be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in the appropriate office, are given under the title of the office under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, in the sample ballots below.

INFORMATION TO ELECTORS

Upon entering the polling place, an elector shall give his or her name and address before being permitted to vote. Where ballots are distributed to electors, the initials of two inspectors must appear on the ballot. Upon being permitted to vote, the elector shall retire alone to a voting booth and cast his or her ballot except that an elector who is a parent or guardian may be accompanied by the elector's minor child or minor ward. An election official may inform the elector of the proper manner for casting a vote, but the official may not in any manner advise or indicate a particular voting choice.

At the partisan primary, the elector may select the party of his or her choice or the ballot containing the names of independent candidates for legislative office.

Where marksense voting is used, the elector shall fill in the oval next to the party of his or her choice. The elector shall then fill in the oval next to the candidate's names for whom he or she intends to vote under the party of his or her choice. To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the elector shall write in the name of the person of his or her choice in the space provided for a write-in vote, and fill in the oval on the write-in line. To write in a name for an office that does not appear on the ballot under the party of his or her choice, the elector shall fill in the oval in the write-in section on the ballot, and write in the name of the person. Write-in votes are not permitted on the Independent ballot. Where touch screen voting systems are used, the elector shall depress the button next to the party of his or her choice. The elector shall then depress the button next to the candidates' names for whom he or she intends to vote. To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the elector shall type in the name of the person of his or her choice in the space provided for a write-in vote.

In order to qualify for participation in the Wisconsin Election Campaign Fund, a candidate for legislative office must receive at least 6% of the votes cast on all ballots for the office for which he or she is a candidate, in addition to other requirements.

The vote should not be cast in any other manner. If an elector spoils a mark sense ballot, he or she shall return it to an election official who shall issue another ballot in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. If the ballot has not been initialed by two inspectors or is defective in any other way, the elector shall return it to an election official, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place. The elector may spoil a touch screen ballot at the voting station, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one elector. Not more than five minutes' time shall be allowed inside a voting booth or touch screen booth. Sample ballots or other materials to assist the elector in marking his or her vote may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked. After casting his or her vote, the elector shall leave the voting booth, properly deposit the ballot, and leave the polling place promptly. After an official touch screen ballot is marked, the elector shall leave the polling place promptly.

After an official marksense ballot is marked, it shall be inserted in the security sleeve so the marks do not show. After casting his or her vote, the elector shall leave the booth, insert the ballot in the voting device and discard the sleeve, or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit.

An elector may select an individual to assist in casting his or her vote if the elector declares to the presiding official that he or she is unable to read, has difficulty reading, writing, or understanding English, or that due to disability is unable to cast his or her ballot. The selected individual rendering assistance may not be the elector's employer or an agent of that employer or an officer or agent of a labor organization which represents the elector.
