DNR mandating village must address violations

New wastewater treatment plant estimated at $10 million

Wastewater Treatment Plant Lead Operator Bob Manthei, center, points out a situation at the plant to Village President Matt Heiser, right center, while village administrator Jay Shambeau and village board members look on during a special tour of the 35-year-old facility. The village is under fire by the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources to bring the plant and other facilities in the village up to modern standards. Village residents are encouraged to attend a public hearing on Monday, September 18 at 7 p.m. in the Municipal Building Annex. A complete article can be found on page 3 of this edition. ## Primary election runs smooth

By Andrew Kuehl

KEWASKUM- Unless you are a die-hard Democrat or Republican, you were probably one of the many who decided to stay dry and avoid the polls in Tuesday's Primary Election. A few others might have said they were getting their rain coats and boots ready for what will probably be a messy eight weeks of mud-slinging.

In what could be as big of a battle as the race for Wisconsin's top official, the governor, is the race for top cop. Those who did turn out to vote put Republican J.B. Van Hollen and Democrat Kathleen Falk in an upcoming clash for the seat.

Incumbent Attorney General, Peg Lautenschlager tearfully conceded the race, focussing on the positives of her single term as Attorney General. She received 47% of the vote, 169,371. Dane County Executive Falk received 53% of the vote, with 187,811.

Waukesha County District Attorney Paul Bucher conceded the race early, after results favored his opponent, Van Hollen. Bucher received 40% of the vote, 96,430. Van Hollen 142,176 votes or 60%.

In the village, 200 of the newly registered 900 voters turned out to vote, while 157 votes were cast in the town of Kewaskum.

Locally in both the town and village of Kewaskum Van Hollen was the clear favorite. Not the same from the donkey perspective where Lautenschlager had a small lead in the township and the two tied in the village.

Falk received 20 votes in the township, Lautenschlager took nine more. In the village each received 65.

Van Hollen grabbed 135 votes in the village compared with Bucher's 70. In the township, Bucher brought in 27 to Van Hollen's 67.

In the Democratic primary for Secretary of State, Douglas La Follette came out as the clear winner, as expected, against his opponent Scot Ross. La Follette received 230,001 votes or 71% of the vote. Ross had 29% or 93,319 votes.

La Follette was the local favorite in both the town and village of Kewaskum. In the township he received 36 votes, while Ross garnered 13. In the village, La Follette received 88 to Ross's 13 votes.

The elephants came out to put State Representative Jean Hundertmark in a battle with Barbara Lawton for Lieutenant Governor. Hundertmark received 113,433 votes or 56% while Voegeli received 90,251 votes or 44%.

Both Voegeli and Hundertmark were close in the village and town of Kewaskum. Hundertmark received 91 votes in the village while Voegeli received 88. In the township, Hundertmark had 42 votes to Voegeli's 37.

This was Village of Kewaskum Administrator Jay Shambeau's first election here. He stated " Everything went fine, there was a very low turnout. We registered an additional 75 people." He encouraged voters to register prior to the General election in November. There are still approximately 1,500 voters that need to register.

Village to hold public hearing on proposal for wastewater treatment facility here

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Village of Kewaskum residents may see the downside of years of steady growth at a public hearing for residents at the municipal building annex on Monday, September 18 at 7 p.m. to discuss the crossroads the village is at with the operation of their over three-decade-old wastewater treatment plant.

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has mandated the village to bring their wastewater treatment plant up to modern standards. A DNR representative, joined by the village's engineering firm, will be in attendance to answer residents' concerns.

Members of the Kewaskum Village Board met Wednesday, September 6, with Department of Public Works Director Jerry Gilles, Wastewater Treatment Plant Lead Operator Bob Manthei, and Douglas Nelson, project engineer with Ruekert-Mielke, the village's engineering firm, to tour the current facility and to answer questions about defects of the facility.

Village President Matt Heiser explained problems with the plant began unfolding as the village was renewing their operational permit with the DNR in the spring of 2004. It was at that same time that floods in Kewaskum and throughout Southeastern Wisconsin caused overflows and discharge into the Milwaukee River.

Manthei stated there were three different times while the flooding occurred that wastewater discharge, other than storm water, went into the river. Heiser added that this lifted an eyebrow with the DNR and brought the village under closer scrutiny when it came time to renew their operational permit.

The DNR renewed the permit, but not before handing down a "honey do list" in the form of a schedule of compliance which addressed each of the DNR's concerns. The list must be complete by December 31, 2009, the date the permit expires.

The village began acting on the plan immediately in 2005 with the implementation of numerous tests. Residents may recall the smoke testing that occurred in the village. This was one of a number of DNR mandated tests done in the village.

Another item addressed in the schedule of compliance included the rehabilitation of the outfall (discharge) pipe leading to the Milwaukee River that was constructed in 1954. Manthei stated that in addition to the wastewater pipe, a storm water pipe was added. This project was completed in 2005 at cost of $180,000 to taxpayers.

After the outfall pipe project, the next item on their list was the building of a new lift station to replace Lift Station Number 1 that is located at the south end of Parkview Drive.

The lift station, built in the 1930's was the village's first wastewater treatment plant. It was later retrofitted as a lift station in 1954 after the new plant was built at the current location. The age of the station and its close proximity to the Milwaukee River prompted the DNR to mandate the construction of a new lift station that is currently being constructed near the fire station.

The final point of the schedule compliance was the development and future implementation of a facilities plan that was done by Ruekert-Mielke at a cost of $70,000. The facilities plan outlined instructions and ideas for bringing the plant up to current DNR standards. The plan is currently available for review at the library and village hall. Village Administrator Jay Shambeau stated that the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (SEWRPC) and DNR have viewed and commented on the plan. He stated that he perceived those comments to be positive.

Manthei stated that the village has received violations just because of the age of the plant. Furthermore, it is getting increasingly difficult to purchase parts to fix components inside the plant. He went on to say that when the parts are even available, it takes up to 12 weeks to receive them. "Waiting 12 weeks for a part could put us in danger at some point," he told board members on the tour.

According to news accounts from The Statesman's archives, the second wastewater treatment facility was built on the current plant grounds in 1954. It was built to pump 450,000 gallons of wastewater daily. It is currently used today as the plant office, garage and laboratory.

Significant updates were made to the system in 1971. At the time of the makeover, the plant was pumping an estimated 600,000 gallons daily, which was over the capacity for which it was constructed. This brought the plant under close examination by the DNR. The plant was also not adequately supporting growing industry in the village such as Regal Ware and Kemps Dairy (formerly Fairmont Foods).

Cost for that upgrade was $425,678. The village received about 80 percent of the project paid for by federal and state aid. Upon its construction, the facility was built to be able to pump one million gallons per day.

Manthei praised the foresight of the village board back in 1971 when they built the larger than needed plant because it has served the village well since it was built. He indicated many communities have had to update their facilities in the last 35 years. Kewaskum residents have been spared that expense because the board planned for the future.

Manthei states that currently, depending on the weather, the plant averages 500,000 gallons per day.

He further indicated that over the past 35 years, DNR standards have changed and even though the plant was built to handle one million gallons daily, the DNR now says it can only handle 750,000. He did say however, water leaving the plant is about four times cleaner than when the plant was constructed.

If the village is forced to construct a new, expanded plant, Ruekert-Mielke has estimated construction costs to exceed $10 million on the 18-month project. Preliminary plans indicate the plant would be constructed on the property adjacent to the current plant so portions of that plant could be used for overflow in the future. According to the DNR, the plant must be built by 2009 as the permit ends December 31, 2009.

Village President Matt Heiser stated that he did not feel the village will be as lucky this time as they were in 1971, only paying for 20 percent of the project. He stated the village would however, investigate a number of financing opportunities.

Trustee Andy Pesch asked if the village could borrow for the facility and then pay it back using sewer and water impact fee money the village receives. Upon investigation, Shambeau found that impact fees might be used to repay the debt for the percentage of the facility that is attributed to new growth in the village.

Heiser also articulated that in putting together the facilities plan, Ruekert-Mielke looked at adding on to the current facility, but when it was constructed, it was not constructed in a matter that makes it cost efficient to add on to. He also stated that Ruekert-Mielke looked at the idea of running a smaller additional plant parallel to the existing plant. The plan was deemed a Band-Aid approach that would add significant energy costs and still leaves the village with a 35-year-old plant operating at 17 percent capacity.

The Public Hearing will include presentations by Judith Gottlieb of the DNR, Andy Peterson, the village's engineer and Nelson. Also answering questions from the audience will be the complete village board joined by Shambeau, Manthei and Gilles.

Heiser stated that the board would take no formal action at the public hearing. It is strictly to gather public opinion. He stated that at some point after the public hearing, at a village board meeting before the end of the year, trustees would have to decide how to handle the situation.

When later asked about his feelings on the construction of a new plant, Heiser stated, "This could be of substantial cost to the village so it is something we cannot rush into nor is it an issue that can be ignored or minimized. As we investigate and review the situation, if we discover that there is contention among our professionals, staff, and the DNR, then it would not serve the people to move forward when we have not conclusively determined there is a need. On the other hand, if everyone is in agreement that something needs to be done, then it would not serve the people for me to hinder or obstruct working toward a village resolution."

Library sign dedication Saturday

On Saturday, September 16 at 10 a.m. the staff and board of trustees of the Kewaskum Public Library will hold a short dedication ceremony for the new library sign. The sign was paid for by the memorial fund of David Stradtman, who passed away in December of 2005. David was a library board member and educator. He wished for the library to have a way to alert people when it was open and his intention was to build a sign himself. However, before he succumbed to cancer, he decided to set up a memorial fund to purchase a sign. The sign was designed and manufactured by Woodcraft Signs in West Bend and was installed in July. Following the ceremony, the library will be open until 1 p.m., serving refreshments and offering a day of amnesty from overdue fines and library card replacement fees. Anyone with overdue items may return them without fear of fines. Likewise, replacement library cards will be free. Items must be returned on the 16th in order to have fines and fees waived. For more information, contact the Kewaskum Public Library at 262-626-4312.

Bad day for turkeys, great day for Kiwanis

Shooters at the 54th annual Kewaskum Kiwanis Turkey Shoot will have plenty to eat come November 23. Organizer, Jim Dorn stated Tuesday, "The initial results of the 54th Annual Turkey Shoot are excellent. We were busy from the opening bell until 4:00 p.m." Dorn stated that over 300 turkeys ranging around 10 lbs each were "bagged" in the event. Monies raised from the event support local charities including annual Kewaskum High School scholarships. Shown above, center, Laura Dorzok of Tomah shoots at the pistol range as her father Robert looks on. Mr. Dorzok stated he has been attending the event since the 1960's and usually takes home between four and five turkeys annually. Also shown above is a view of a family on the firing line. Dorn stated that next year's date is already set. "The Kewaskum Kiwanis looks forward to seeing everyone for the 55th Annual Turkey Shoot on September 8, 2007," he concluded.

Food Network show to air their visit to Beechwood Cheese

A few months of waiting for their Hollywood moment is over for the Beechwood community. The nationally syndicated Food Network TV show, "Road Tasted," will air their visit to Beechwood Cheese Factory, the century old cheese producer, that took place in late June of this year.

Bobby and Jamie Deen, sons of the famous Southern Belle Chef, Paula Deen, and owners of the The Lady and Sons Restaurant in Savannah, Georgia, started their Wisconsin portion of the "Road Tasted" show at The Beechwood Cheese Factory. The duo then headed south to the Sprecher Brewing Company in Glendale, where they helped create the famous root beer that is made at the plant. They ended their trip to the cheese state at Bendtsen's Bakery in Racine to sample and learn how famous Racine kringle is made.

The Food Network's website, www.foodnetwork.com states the show will air on the following days: September 17, 2006 4:30 PM ET/PT, September 17, 2006 11:30 PM ET/PT and September 18, 2006 2:30 AM ET/PT.

Despite sun, Kewaskum Early Farm Days shines

Billy Vrana of West Bend, works on a wood planer owned by Mike Vrana of West Bend. Attendees at the Kewaskum Historical Society's Early Farm Days Show held in Riverhill Park, Sunday, September 10, stated they were pleased with the vast amount of demonstrations by those showcasing tools used by the farming industry of yesteryear. Probably the most unique demonstration was the moonshine still.

Smooth sailing on Highway 28 west

Work has been progressing on State Road 28 west. Last week road crews completed milling the existing asphalt from the roadway and laid the base course of asphalt. Wet weather has put work on hold for the time being. Pending further delay from the weather, work is scheduled to be complete by November. The 8.55-mile project will resurface the road and replace guardrail at various locations. State transportation funds will pay 20% of the project with 80% federal funds for the over $2 million project

Third annual Shop with a Cop program needs help

The Christmas season is once again rapidly approaching, and Washington County Sheriff Brian Rahn and his deputies are looking for help to make Christmas a little brighter for the children in Washington County. The Washington County Sheriff's Department will be participating in the third annual "Shop with a Cop" program on December 14, 2006.

Sheriff Rahn says deputies will donate their time to take a group of children, referred through various organizations throughout Washington County, on a Christmas shopping spree. The night begins at the West Bend Moose Lodge where the deputies and children share a dinner together. Each child will be given a gift card to spend on gifts for their family during a shopping spree at Wal-Mart. The evening concludes back at the Moose Lodge with gift-wrapping, treats, and fun-filled games. Santa is even known to make a surprise visit all the way from the North Pole.

Sheriff Rahn says he and his deputies are currently looking for funding for the event to help ensure a bright Christmas for the county's youth in need. "Our goal is to take at least 50 children shopping. The sad news is being our ability to touch only a small percentage of those children on the recommendation lists," stated Rahn.

To help sponsor the "Shop with a Cop" project, please make checks payable to WCSO - SHOP WITH A COP and mail them to Deputy Mary Woerner, C/O Washington County Sheriff's Department, PO Box 1986, West Bend, WI 53095-7986. For non-monetary donations or further information, please contact Deputy Woerner at (262) 335-4386.

Yeska family holds reunion

For 17 years, the descendants of Anton and Stella (Paluka) Yeska have gathered at the Homestead in Neshkoro for their annual family reunion on Labor Day weekend. Between 60 to 70 guests arrived from Delaware, Florida, California, Illinois and various places in Wisconsin.

It was Mexican Fiesta time, thus sombreros and serapis were in evidence everywhere. The men had a round of golf Saturday morning. In the afternoon, games were played and a piñata demolished.

After 4 p.m. Mass, a feast of tacos, fajitas, enchiladas, and more were enjoyed. For dessert, a four pedestal wedding cake was provided by a niece who was married on a Caribbean cruise.

Then came talent night, emceed by Tony Kerhin Jr. There were skits by my sister Dorothy and her husband, Brian Kerhin and his wife and child, a violin solo by Michael Kurz and to top it all off, three-year-old Collin Fowle marched up on stage with a big plastic bat and sang "Take me out to the ball game."

The evening was spent playing cards, while the younger ones stayed around the campfire until the wee hours.

Sunday morning was breakfast with juice, coffee and bakery. Afternoon was a baseball game at Stan-O-Gene park.

I visited my nephew, Michael Yeska's Taxidermy Studio, where some of his game from a recent African safari are displayed. There is a zebra, an antelope, a cougar, an impala, a baby bear, numerous fish, full sized deer and turkeys mounted with a full spread of tail feathers. He is leaving for Canada soon, hoping to get a moose for his collection. One wall is plastered full of his many blue ribbons and trophies received at area sports shows.

We took a drive to the nearby "forty" where mother and I used to pick blueberries, huckleberries and hazel nuts. It's like a jungle now.

Chili was Sunday night's fare, while some of us celebrated Patty Celek's birthday at the Silvercryst Supper Club in Wautoma.

Sunday evening we played Bingo, with cash prizes awarded. We viewed pictures of two recent weddings, and greeted two youngsters born since our last event.

Already plans are eagerly awaited for next year's gathering. The Kurz family will be in charge.

Monday morning we departed.

My contribution is as follows:

Ole

We once again assemble
This long awaited year,
The days and weeks have swiftly passed,
Our lineage has brought us here.

The Yeska clan is mighty proud

Of Polish ancestry
For seventeen years we've gathered
For fun and frivolity.

The Kerhin family is in charge
It's quite an undertaking
It's Mexican Fiesta time
So lots of noise we're making!

The good Lord blessed us
once again
So we could be together
There is much anticipation
Regardless of the weather.

A wee one has joined our group
A reason for more joy
For Steve and Jeannie Fowle
A bouncing baby boy!

Another new addition
Newlyweds Pat and Mary
Klier
All the way from Florida
Now our total's higher.

It's always such a pleasure
To gather in this place
As we see our loved ones
once again
There's a smile on every face.

I hope you think my simple words
Are worthy of this occasion
So have a grand and glorious time
At this Neshkoro invasion!

Auditions for 'Fuddy Meers' at UWWC

UW-Washington County will be holding auditions for the fall theatre production of Fuddy Meers on Wednesday, September 20 at 7pm in the campus theatre. The cast includes four men and three women (ages 18 and up). All of the characters have major roles, with one female senior citizen's role noted as especially challenging. Volunteers are also needed for technical and behind-the-scenes work. College credit can be earned for performing or doing technical work for the show.

Fuddy Meers was written by David Lindsay-Abaire and will be produced and directed by Professor Brad Ford. The set design will be under the direction of Emmy winning designer, Kurt Enderle, a former student of Ford.

"It's basically a whodunit," says author Lindsay-Abaire, "nobody's been killed, but Claire is a detective following the clues to putting her life together. By the end, she knows who did what to whom." He also describes it as a "parable about a woman who wants to forget her life, about people trying to forget who they are, but needing to remember what they've done."

The play's title, Fuddy Meers is actually Gertie's stroke-impaired way of saying "funny mirrors." The story revolves around Gertie's daughter, Claire, a woman of 40, who has acute amnesia and awakens each day to confusion. Surrounded by a cast of eccentric characters, Claire travels through a veritable fun house of mazes and funny mirrors to discover who she is and solve the mysteries of her forgotten life. Other characters include Richard, Claire's husband; Kenny, her overgrown eighth grade son; Millet, an ex-convict with a foul-mouthed hand puppet and split personality; Limping Man/Philip, a man who is both physically and morally handicapped and Heidi, an intense woman who may or may not be a police officer.

"Kidnapping, amnesia and oddballs make for a first rate farce" according to The New York Daily News.

Performances are scheduled for two weekends: November 3-4 and November 10-11 at 7:30pm in the University theatre. Tickets are $12 adults and $9 for seniors (over 62) or youth (under 18). The play does contain some adult language and mature themes and is recommended as suitable for the same audiences as a PG-13 film.

Scripts are available for perusal from the University library. For more information about the auditions or volunteering behind the scenes, contact Professor Ford at (262) 335-5222 or email: brad.ford@uwc.edu. For ticket sales, phone the main office at 262-335-5208 (Monday through Friday 8am-4:30pm).

UW-Washington County is located at 400 University Drive in West Bend.

The best thing to give to your enemy is forgiveness; to an opponent, tolerance; to a friend, your heart; to your child, a good example; to a father, deference; to your mother, conduct that will make her proud of you; to yourself, respect; to all men, charity.

KEYS Run/Walk October 15

Hundreds of people gather each year to participate in the annual KEYS Run/Walk held in conjunction with the Kettle Kountry Kolors Fall Festival. This year's run will take place on Sunday, October 15 at 11 a.m. Statesman file photo

The number 13 could be KEYS' lucky number; 2006 will be the 13th KEYS Run/Walk for Kewaskum and it will be held in conjunction with Kewaskum's own celebration of fall—Kettle Kountry Kolors. These two annual events bring the community together for food, games, music, children's activities, an ecumenical church service, and much more.

This year's KEYS Run/Walk will be held on Sunday, October 15 at 11:00 a.m. The race begins on the lower level of Kewaskum's River Hill Park and the course extends 3.1 miles through the streets of the village of Kewaskum. Last year the Run/Walk had over 800 registered runners and walkers and helped raise money for the 29 scholarships worth $82,700 that were awarded to the 2006 graduates this past spring. Each year KEYS is able to give scholarships to greater numbers of students because of the strong community support received, particularly through the annual 5K Run/Walk. Since its beginning, KEYS has been able to award $736,300. to 254 graduates of Kewaskum High School, quite an accomplishment for a relatively small community.

The KEYS T-shirt will be eye-catching this year with a retro look. A & W Iron and Metal and Synergy Health are major sponsors of the KEYS event and will receive the top spots on the 2006 shirt. KEYS is most grateful for the support of A & W Iron and Metal and Synergy Health as well as the sponsorship received from the West Bend Savings Bank and the 40 other sponsors this year. Look for their logos and names on the T-shirt and support them with your thanks and patronage.

Many past scholarship winners return each year to be part of the Run/Walk and they also make donations to KEYS. Their support "gives back" to current students for the help they once received toward furthering their education.

Each year the team captains, particularly the school captains, make the Run/Walk a huge success by their enthusiastic promotions in the schools. As they get students and families registered on their school team for the race, they help foster fitness in youth and promote the goal of working hard in school to be able to one day earn a KEYS scholarship. Many area businesses also form teams for the Run/Walk and support KEYS by paying the registration fee for employees.

Team members can also solicit pledges for KEYS and help themselves earn some great prizes. This year the top prize for raising $500 in pledges will earn an MP-3 player. Pledges can be raised for smaller amounts and still earn great prizes; check it out on the back of the registration form.

Registration for the KEYS Run/Walk has remained the same for several years. It is $15 for an individual or $50 for a family of four plus $10 each for additional family members. Registration forms are available at all Kewaskum schools including St. Lucas and Holy Trinity, Synergy Health locations, the West Bend Savings Bank, Miller's Furniture, and other local business places. The pre-registration deadline is September 29, 2006 and registrations can be sent to KEYS, P.O. Box 124, Kewaskum, 53040. Registration blanks can also be found on the school district web site, www.kewaskumschools.org. Look for KEYS under Kewaskum High School.

PERSPECTIVES

Letter to the Editor:

With the November 7th election under two months away, the political noise machines on the radio and television are bound to become louder and consequently more confusing with each passing day. Despite all this political noise there is one thing I am confident enough to speak out about which is the marriage and civil union ban amendment. I've written to a couple other newspapers about this issue and made my views fairly clear; I am against this amendment and I am voting no. Let me please take this opportunity to share why I feel this way.

First the Constitution is meant to protect individuals from government intrusion, yet this amendment would do just the opposite. Second, the amendment, if passed, would hurt gay and lesbian families by denying numerous rights such as the ability to share retirement and health benefits. In addition to this, the amendment would also outlaw civil unions and put legal protections for unmarried couples in jeopardy, gay or straight. Finally, I also believe that by defeating this ban we can demonstrate values such as acceptance, truth, but most importantly love.

I know there are those who disagree with me and I respect their opinion. What I hope for this editorial to do is to open up a dialogue between people in the community which is honest, truthful, and respectful. I suspect there are those out in the community who fear speaking up or don't know what to say, the best thing we can do as a community and individuals is to discuss our feelings respectfully without fear of negative repercussions. If you are unsure how you feel about the amendment or if you want to help defeat the marriage and civil union ban please feel free to visit Fair Wisconsin at www.fairwisconsin.com.

Letter to the Editor:

In paying respect to the firefighters of 9-11, we need to know why and how this tragedy took place.

After 9-11-01, President

Bush said Osama bin Laden did it. Al Quida got it's name after it branched off the Mughadeen in the late 1980's. In 1986 President Reagan called them "freedom fighters," all funded by the CIA, because they were fighting the evil empire of the Soviet Union.

On July 16, 2004, the Israel newspaper, Harnetz, confirmed that their intelligence knew two hours before that the World Trade Center would be under attack. They passed this information on to our intelligence services. I passed this information to our Congressmen Tom Petri and James Sensenbrenner Jr. and they were not surprised. This explains why there weren't any Israeli's in the World Trade Center at that time. The plane that hit the Pentagon was a drone, a plane without a pilot. Ariel Sharon, Prime Minister of Isreal said "I don't care what the American people think, I own Congress."

After Hurricane Katrina, President Bush said, "Saddam Hussein must share the blame when the Federal Government fails to live up to the responsibilities of the American people, the finger of blame should be pointed at one person and that is Saddam Hussein." That is why there is no real investigation to the events of 9-11-01.

Schumaker's art published in Highlights magazine

By Amber Donath
Statesman Correspondent

It is not uncommon for young people to have a favorite sports figure. It is not uncommon that a young person would hang a poster of that favorite sports figure in their room. It is, however, not very common for a young person to have a drawing of a favorite sports figure published in a magazine. Not common unless, of course, you are Stephen Schumaker.

Schumaker, 13, had a picture he drew of Travis Diener as a Marquette Golden Eagle published in the April 2006 issue of Highlights for Children magazine.

"My older sister is really good at art and helps teach me," said Schumaker. "I saw a picture published by another kid in Wisconsin and thought, I would like to do that. So I did."

What makes this story even more special is that Schumaker has met Diener on several occasions and seen him play as a Marquette Golden Eagle. In fact, Schumaker's older brother even helped tutor Diener while attending Marquette himself. And on August 25, 2006, some of Schumaker's family were golfing in Fond du Lac when Diener recognized them and came over to say hello.

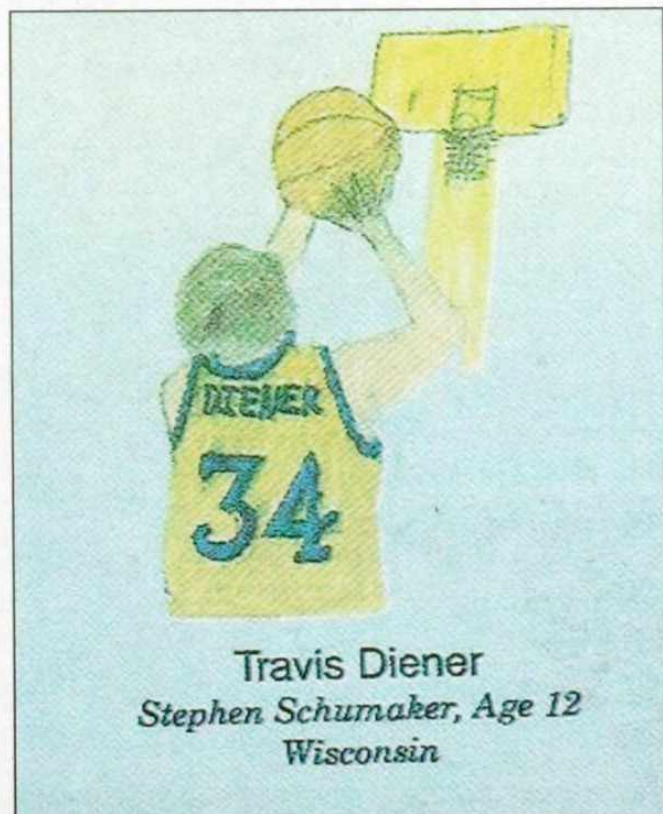

Schumaker himself really enjoys sports and is currently trying out for the quarter back position on the Campbellsport eighth grade team. He also likes reading, watching movies, playing the keyboard and harmonica, singing and playing with model trains and remote-controlled vehicles.

Schumaker is the son of Richard and Colleen Schumaker of Boltonville.

More than two million copies of Highlights magazine go 12 times a year to children's homes, schools, libraries and professional offices.

American General Mortgage opens Kewaskum branch, owner focuses efforts on helping fellow Veterans

George Waldkirch, President of American Mortgage Group shown above, says he is interested in helping his fellow Veterans at the same time helping people with mortgage loans.

By Rachael Paulsen
Statesman Correspondent

A new business has opened its doors in Kewaskum this week, not only to help those seeking a mortgage but to also help U.S. Veterans as well. American Mortgage Group, Inc of Milwaukee opened their Kewaskum branch Tuesday, September 12. Fittingly, after the five year anniversary of one the worst attacks on American soil.

American Mortgage Group, started in 2004 as a Wisconsin Mortgage Banking operation that is owned and operated by Veterans. President/CEO George Waldkirch, who grew up in Campbellsport, said that the company will donate a percentage of its sales to fund veteran administration programs.

Waldkirch stated that he spent Memorial Day weekend at Clement J Zablocki VA Medical Center in Milwaukee and was talking to the staff about the deteriorating conditions of the building. He emailed 30-40 people asking for their help in funding to improve the hospital building. Waldkirch, who served in the U.S. Marines from 1986-1992, said he did not receive any responses. Waldkirch is teaming with another former Marine who owns Veterans Realty, and making contributions.

"It turned out to be more difficult than I anticipated," he said.

Waldkirch then decided to rent half of a newly renovated building in Kewaskum to house programs such as real estate financing, residential and commercial loans, loan programs, investment and foreclosures. The building used to be Keller's Liquor Store, which went out of business in 1990. The building sat vacant for years until the owners passed away, and their son sold the building this year.

Waldkirch said he will be at the Kewaskum location, which is also home to Best Choice Siding, starting this week to oversee the opening.

"I just wanted to contribute because I was a Marine," Waldkirch said.

American Mortgage Group subcontracts five loan officers to handle loans with over 100 different lenders throughout Wisconsin. The company's estimated annual sales are $150,000 according to the company's profile on www.manta.com. Ten percent of the broker fees from every loan go to the Paralyzed Veterans of America to help with expenses such as providing wheelchairs for the disabled veterans. They also help provide funding for people in all different situations, Waldkirch said. The group has chapters in 29 different states to assist veterans.

"We are very excited to assist, and trying to get communities to see if they can help in some fashion," Waldkirch said.

According to the Paralyzed Veterans of America's web site the Veterans Benefits Department provides assistance and representation, without charge, to veterans with spinal cord dysfunction and other veterans seeking health care and other benefits for which they are eligible. Through its medical services, field services, and appellate services programs, the Veterans Benefits Department develops and administers programs that benefit PVA members and their families both directly and indirectly. In addition, when a problem is reported, PVA service officers or medical staff initiates on-site investigations or other appropriate actions needed to resolve the situation.

Popular belief is that funding for veterans is constantly being cut. However, according to Annenberg Political Fact Check's web site, the number of veterans getting health benefits has actually increased 25 percent during President George Bush's term. And if Bush's 2005 budget is approved, funding for his full four-year term will amount to an increase of 37.6 percent. This is because the number of veterans getting benefits is increasing rapidly as middle-income veterans turn to health care for the expanding network of VA clinics and its generous prescription drug benefit. It's not true to say the veterans' budget has been cut, and those veterans' benefits are being completely cut off. It is true that funding is not growing as rapidly as veterans groups would like, and are therefore calling it a cut in funding.

"Because of all the combat, there is more of a need now than before," Waldkirch said.

To obtain more information about veteran programs or make a contribution, please visit www.supportveterans.org.

American Mortgage Group is located on Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum. Waldkirch can be reached by phone at 414-453-9109. He will have the Kewaskum branch office open Tuesdays and Thursdays and by appointment.

EDWC unveils new name and plan initiative

Andrew Gumm, Chairman of Economic Development/Washington County (EDWC), and Jack Caldwell, Executive Director, announced the four major elements of its Strategic Plan today. Retention and expansion of business, attraction of new business, workforce quality and availability and governance and processes are initiatives announced through the collaboration of its 22 member Board of Directors. The plan is designed to complement efforts and plans currently in effect or being developed by area organizations, such as the West Bend EDC, Hartford Area Development Corporation, the Smart Growth plans of the county and other municipalities, and the Milwaukee 7 regional effort.

Also unveiled was the new branding of the Washington County Economic Development Corporation. The Corporation will be doing business as "Economic Development/Washington County" or "EDWC." A logo and web page are in the last stages of development with Pilch & Barnet of Madison, WI.

The rough draft of the plan will be presented to a focus group of government and business leaders in late September to gather their input. The final draft of the plan will be approved at the EDWC Board meeting in October. The plan will then be publicly disseminated.

This is an exciting day for EDWC that allows us to now move forward with our plans for a significant Marketing and Public Relations Campaign and web site development. EDWC is a not-for-profit economic development group that seeks to improve and enhance the economic vitality of the county-wide community by serving as a central voice on economic development issues, retaining and expanding the current manufacturing and commerce sectors, attracting and creating new family-supporting jobs, and supporting quality of life issues. Its 22 member Board of Directors is made up of senior level executives representing all business sectors and municipalities located across the entire County.

Ask any adult about the most challenging part of parenting, and you'll hear mumbblings of Terrible Twos and Fearsome Fours.

But then, mouths gape. Realization hits. Brave grown-ups shake in terror, thinking about The Teenage Years.

But what about them? Do teenagers deserve the reputation they've gotten? Upon graduation from college, author Jeremy Iversen decided to find out. As a twenty-four-year-old adult, he went back to school, and in his new book "High School Confidential" what he found may shock you.

As soon as they had their college diplomas, Iversen says that most of his Ivy League classmates headed for corporate jobs. Iversen began to wonder if perhaps that kind of life wasn't what he really wanted. Where did his youth go? He began to think about the book and movie Fast Times at Ridgemont High. What if he did a sort of updated version of Cameron Crowe's experiences?

It took several weeks, but Iversen found a school that would accept his idea. Miramar High School in Emerald Valley, California would be his new home for the last semester of senior year. Iversen enrolled as seventeen-year-old Jeremy Hughes and became the newest member of the graduating class.

Iversen said that he decided he wanted to be one of the "popular kids" and after enduring a brief label of "narc," he managed to infiltrate the Senior Circle and befriend a few underclassmen.

There was Vic, a prankster facing expulsion; Thea, a tortured artiste who was harder on herself than any critic could be; blonde, beautiful Alexis who fended off advances from a sleazy male teacher; Charity, who hated drama but who seemed to create it; Derrick, a quiet leader battling depression; and Cody, whose grief for his best friend simmered just beneath his steroid-laced skin.

Iversen found drugs and alcohol at Miramar. He found apathetic teachers and corrupt administrators, mismanaged budgets and students left wanting for lack of money. And he found that today's teenagers don't really deserve the bad reputation they have.

From New England to Vancouver, Florida to SoCal, are teenagers all alike? Iversen says in his notes that he took some liberties with time-frame, but quotations are verbatim and events really happened. Still, while his experiences might not be universal, "High School Confidential" will nonetheless fill parents' veins with ice. The problems that Iversen's high-school peers experienced and the pressures they endured will undoubtedly face the class of 2007.

Iversen's mastery of story made me fall in love with every one of his classmates and his sense of suspense and timing made me carry this book around for days. The only marring in this reads-like-a-novel narrative is that there is no closure. Did Iversen "come clean" at graduation? I'd like to know and I think you will, too, when you read this otherwise well-done book.

If you are a parent, an educator, or if you believe that old "high-school is the best time your life" tripe, then get a copy of this book. Dude. It's, like, one of the best books you'll read this year.

Hatley, Wisconsin's Steve Kasten led the lap that counts in the 600 Pro class at the 18th annual vintage flat track motorcycle race on September 1 in Davenport, Iowa. Well it may have not been a whole lap, but by passing De Witt, Iowa's Billy Berger's Honda coming out of turn four and holding on to the finish line was what counted.

At the halfway point of the 10 lap feature, Kasten was riding in third, Berger running second and Jerry Cheney of Bloomfield, Iowa was at the point. Within one lap, Cheney slipped to second and Berger was pacing the field. One lap later Kasten moved himself into the number two spot and set his sites on Berger. Kasten held that spot till coming out of turn four on the final lap.

Keeping his Honda tight to the inside, he slid by and held on for the win. When Kasten was asked post race if he had been setting up for a last lap pass he stated, "No, I just dove to the inside and hoped like heck it would stick and not wipe both of us out."

This may have been the closest finish of the night, but not the crowd's favorite. Based on the sound from the grandstand their favorite was the Board Trackers. This class is motorcycles from the teens and could or perhaps should all be in a museum.

There was a time in history when they made banked race-tracks out of boards that were stood on end. These cycles have no clutch, they are put in gear and push started. Once started they are unable to stop and must use a rolling start, which is unique to the board track class in motorcycle racing.

The ten bikes that came from New Jersey to California put on a show that the grandstand enjoyed seeing. This is also one of those great antique classes as these motorcycles are equipped with, or shall we say, not equipped with brakes.

Kewaskum's Bill Vrana running his Triumph in the open Amateur class finished fifth in his heat race. Attempting to transfer from the semi-feature ended early when his rear wheel bearing failed.

There was Dan Vrana of Random Lake in the Open Pro Twin class also on a Triumph, running fifth in the feature when his engine seized up, ending his night.

Clifford Eckes from Marshfield ran in the hand shift class. The unique thing is that Eckes is 82 years old. When he is out racing, unlike many other racers, he remembers when some of the bikes were new.

If you have an interest in vintage motorcycles and flat track racing, the Friday of Labor Day weekend in Davenport, Iowa is the place to be. There is a swap meet as well as eight classes of vintage racing. The races bring in riders from more than 20 states, from California to New Jersey, as well as some of the best vintage motorcycles from anywhere in the country.

In August, over 1,400 people rode into Eau Claire to compete, coach or volunteer for the wild, western themed 2006 Special Olympics State Outdoor Sports Tournament. Kewaskum athletes blew the crowd away with outstanding performances in various sports.

Congratulations to the following local athletes: Brian Hanrahan, eighth place, golf and Justin S. Petermann, second place, softball team.

When taking a break from competition, athletes benefited from the Healthy Athletes tent. It offered free dental and foot exams as well as general fitness and nutritional advice from statewide health professionals as part of the "Fun Fitness and Fit Feet" program. For the fifth year in a row this service keeps athletes healthy and ready for any athletic showdown. Athletes were also given the chance to cut-loose Saturday night at a western themed ceremony and dance.

Archery deer hunting season opens Sept. 16

MADISON - The first of the fall deer hunting seasons is set to open on Sept. 16 with the start of archery deer hunting. The early archery season runs Sept. 16 through Nov. 16 and the late archery season runs Nov. 27 through Jan. 7, 2007.

State wildlife officials estimate the statewide white-tailed deer population is between 1.5 to 1.7 million animals, which they say should provide plenty of opportunity for hunters who have scouted hunting spots, renewed permissions from landowners if they hunt on private lands, and have equipment ready.

"This is an important season for archery hunters and for all deer hunters," said Keith Warnke, deer and bear ecologist with the state Department of Natural Resources.

"With the exception of the statewide youth deer hunt on Oct. 7 and 8, and the CWD hunt, there is no gun deer hunting in October," Warnke says. "This is something hunters said they wanted and we are hoping they will be successful in November. If hunters don't harvest enough antlerless deer to control growing deer populations, we'll have no choice but to bring the October gun hunt back. Everyone needs to keep in mind the need to harvest two antlerless deer for every buck in the herd control and earn-a-buck units. That is what is necessary to get a hand on growing deer populations."

Hunters can donate extra venison to the venison donation program so nothing goes to waste, remind officials. Details of the donation program are available on the DNR Web site and at DNR service centers. A list of participating meat processors is updated regularly as they sign on the Web site.

"When archers buy their licenses they should look closely at the carcass tags that come with them," Warnke says. "Three tags come with the license. Only the one marked as 'either sex' can be used to tag a buck. The others are antlerless only tags. While the other sex tag also can be used on an antlerless deer, it is the only tag they'll get that can be used on a ready."

Archers need to keep in mind that in any area of the state where a firearm deer season is open, including the regular nine-day hunt, muzzle-loader season, Oct. 7-8 youth hunt, December four-day antlerless only hunt or CWD hunts, all hunters except water fowl hunters must meet blaze orange clothing requirements, according to officials, who also stress caution in the use of tree stands.

The 2006 deer hunting rules and regulations are available on the Department of Natural Resources Web site and at DNR service centers as well as most license vendors.

Earn-a-buck

Twenty-one of Wisconsin's 135 deer management units have earn-a-buck rules in 2006. Deer management units 46, 51A, 51B, 54B, 59B, 59C, 59M, 60M, 61, 62A, 62B, 63A, 63B, 64M, 65B, 66, 67A, 67B, 68A, 74A, 80B will have EAB. A map of the 2006 EAB units is available on the DNR Web site.

Roughly 70,000 hunters will already have a buck harvest sticker with them on their opening day because they took advantage of the state's EAB prequalification program. Hunters can check the DNR Web site to see if they are listed as prequalifying for a buck sticker in 2006. Hunters can contact the Bureau of Wildlife Management from the Web site if they feel they should be prequalified but do not find their name on the list.

The EAB prequalification system was put in place during last year's deer hunting season and will be in effect again in 2006 and future seasons. Under this system, hunters who register an antlerless deer killed in any deer management unit this season that is designated EAB in 2007, will get a buck sticker that is good on both archery and gun hunting licenses. The sticker is not weapon specific, meaning hunters can harvest an antlerless deer with a bow and use the sticker with their bow license or their gun license.

Hunters looking ahead to the 2007 seasons can get an idea of which units might be in Earn-a-Buck by looking at the "EAB Watch List" described below.

The following units are on the "watch list" for 2007, 22A, 23, 24, 25, 27, 46, 47, 51A, 51B, 54B, 54C, 57, 57B, 59B, 59C, 59M, 60M, 61, 62A, 62B, 63A, 63B, 64, 64M, 65B, 66, 67A, 67B, 68A, 68B, 74A, 77C, 77M, 80A, 80B, and 81.

Doubles units pace third place finish

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum High girls tennis team had to settle for third place in Saturday's annual St. Francis quad meet, but there was no question the Indians had the best doubles teams in the competition.

The KHS Nos. 2 and 3 doubles teams won titles, while at No. 1, a new team formed by Allie Kowalczyk and Karissa Dums, who normally play at No. 1 and 2 singles, combined to win silver medals.

"Terrible weather conditions, cold and windy, made serving and lobbing difficult, but could be a benefit in the long run," Coach Dan Ross said about the event.

Ross' girls came in third with 12 points. Host St. Francis captured top honors with 19 points and Port Washington came in with 16. Milwaukee Hamilton was a distant fourth with 2 points.

Winning gold were Lauren Hughes and Kelsey Goetsch at No. 2 doubles and Katie Gaynor and Darcy Dickman at No. 3.

"Their toughest match (Hughes and Goetsch) was second against St. Francis. They won in a tiebreaker,"

Ross said, indicating the third set was a 10-game super tiebreaker.

Their set scores against St. Francis were 4-6, 6-1 and then 10-6 in the tiebreaker.

Against Port Washington, Hughes and Goetsch responded to the pressure with a pair of 7-5 wins.

Gaynor and Dickman started off with a convincing 6-4, 6-2 win over St. Francis, then received a forfeit from Hamilton before falling to Port 5-7, 3-6.

Three teams ended up tied at 2-1, according to Ross, who said his girls got the nod "because they won the most overall games."

"We switched the lineup around for fun," Ross said, referring to having Kowalczyk and Dums together at No. 1 doubles. The new twosome lost to St. Francis 3-6, 6-3 (4-10) and easily defeated Milwaukee Hamilton, 6-0, 6-0.

Emily Boden, Ashley Corey and Anna Gitter all finished 1-2 at No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 singles, respectively.

Kewaskum entertains Kohler in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference match this afternoon (Thursday).

Youth waterfowl hunt Sept. 16-17

MADISON - The 2006 Youth Waterfowl Hunt will take place Sept. 16 and 17 and provides an opportunity for youth aged 12 to 15 years to learn waterfowl hunting with an adult relative or mentor in a relaxed atmosphere. The regular 2006 Wisconsin waterfowl season opens in the north zone on Sept. 23.

All license and stamp requirements are waived for eligible youth duck hunters on these two days, but in order to participate, youth waterfowl hunters must have successfully completed a Wisconsin Hunter Education Course, or similar hunter education course from another state, province or country.

"This is a great time to take a kid hunting," said Ken Van Horn, migratory bird ecologist with the Department of Natural Resources. "Once the regular season starts, competition for hunting spots increases as do hunter numbers, which can have an impact on bird behaviors and movement patterns. Youth are key to the future of hunting and fishing traditions; time spent now can build a lifelong commitment to conservation and outdoor shooting sports."

On Sept. 16-17 only persons age 12-15 may hunt ducks. All youth hunters must be accompanied by an adult chaperone age 18 years or older. The adult may not accompany more than two youth hunters. Adults in the Exterior Zone may hunt geese during the youth hunt, if they have an Exterior Zone Canada goose permit. Adults hunting in the Horicon or Collins Zones must have the appropriate goose permit for that zone and time period.

Youth wishing to harvest a Canada goose must be HIP (Harvest Information Program)-registered. Information on this requirement is available on the waterfowl hunting pages of the DNR Web site.

They must possess the appropriate Canada goose permit, for the zone in which they are hunting. Kills must be reported at 1-800-994-6673. Youth hunting in the Exterior Zone must comply with bag limits, permit validation and harvest reporting rules. Youth taking a Canada goose in either the Horicon or Collins zone must possess a valid goose permit for that zone. Any time period for that zone is valid. Bag limits and tagging rules apply.

All regulations for the regular season apply. Bag limits are the same as for the regular waterfowl seasons opening a week later. Rules and bag limits are detailed in the 2006 Wisconsin Waterfowl Regulations available on the Hunting and Trapping Regulations page of the DNR Web site or at DNR service centers and license vendors.

Doubles teams lift Indians to first tennis victory

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

A good week for the Kewaskum High tennis team!

First, the Lady Indians came close to winning, dropping a 4-3 decision to host Chilton, and two days later, they claimed their first victory of the season, a 4-3 decision over Kewaunee.

"My prediction comes true," coach Dan Ross said, indicating he felt his team would win one of these matches.

"The No. 1 doubles pulled out a fantastic win. (Kelsey Goetsch and Lauren Hughes) lost a big lead in the second set (5-2) and fell behind in the third (1-3). Then they shut them (Carmon Breitlow and Kim Bruening) down, winning five in a row," the coach said.

The final score was 6-3, 5-7 and 6-3.

"Allie (Kowalczyk) looked very good," Ross went on, reporting her first set win, by a score of 6-2, "was close to domination."

Ross also reported Darcy Dickman and Katie Gaynor (No. 3 doubles) looked good. "They were down early in their first set and then took control." Their win came via scores of 6-3, 6-0.

The KHS coach liked the mental toughness of Kerrie Winter and Emily Boden in their three-set win, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1.

"Both our Nos. 2 and 3 doubles have two-game winning streaks," Ross said, adding, "Kewaunee is not a bad team. I know this doesn't mean much, but they beat Two Rivers earlier this year. Two Rivers beat us, 6-1, earlier ... I'd say we've improved."

KEWASKUM 4, KEWAUNEE 3

Singles: No. 1 Kowalczyk dec. Meg Schiller, 6-2, 7-5; No. 2 Karissa Dums lost to Beverly Pence, 3-6, 3-6; 3. Ashley Corey lost to Kelli Gasparka, 4-6, 3-6; No. 4 Anna Gitter lost to Andrea Sevey, 4-6, 3-6.

Doubles: 1. Goetsch/Hughes def. Breitlow/Bruening, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3; 2. Winter/Boden def. Lauren Krakeel/Kelli Schleis, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1; 3. Dickman/Gaynor def. Jamie Fiala/Amie Chaloupka, 6-3, 6-0.

"It was a tough loss, but obviously we are playing much better," Ross said of Tuesday's defeat to the Chilton Tigers.

Ross was tickled by the effort of Ashley Corey at No. 3 singles. "Ashley played a great match ... smart ... intense and outlasted her opponent," he said about Corey's 5-7, 7-6 (7-5) and 7-6 (7-0) win.

The other wins came at Nos. 2 and 3 doubles, and each went just two sets.

Winter and Boden were in control, evidenced by their 6-4, 6-3 win, while Dickman and Gaynor only needed two sets to win 6-2, 6-4.

"The doubles side looked good. I see a lot of improvement here," Ross said, indicating the girls are good listeners, want to be better and, "Advice seems to be sticking with them."

CHILTON 4, KEWASKUM 3

Singles: 1. Kowalczyk lost to Ruby Gross, 3-6, 3-6; 2. Dums lost to Sarah Geiser, 1-6, 2-6; 3. Corey dec. Heidi Meyer, 5-7, 7-6 (7-5), 7-6 (7-0); 4. Gitter lost to Nicole Oberdorf, 2-6, 1-6.

Doubles: Goetsch/Hughes lost to Maria Holzer/Kaylyn Enszer 6-3, 2-6, 1-6; 2. Winter/Boden def. Emily Schwabe/Casey Gerhart, 6-4, 6-3; Dickman/Gaynor def. Alyssa Enszer/Heather Vanne, 6-2, 6-4.

All Kewaskum girls are listed first.

Kewaskum is now 1-3 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 1-4 overall.

He's happy at the wheel of his sprint car

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Many American men look forward to September weekends, hop into a pair of blue jeans, then settle in their recliners with remotes in hand and watch a variety of college and professional football games.

Don Goeden might enjoy watching the Packers on Sunday afternoons, but he much prefers his weekends be spent on any dirt track in the midwest, racing his sprint car.

Take this past weekend for an example. Goeden and his crew were on the road Friday for the six and a half hour trip to Superior for a night show, then on Saturday it was off to New Richmond, and after that race concluded, there was a long ride home again.

Goeden's finishes, an eighth at the 3/8's-mile Superior Speedway and a third at New Richmond, made the trip very worthwhile, according to the Kewaskum IRA (Interstate Racing Association) pilot, who is currently ninth in the points standings, despite the fact he has been unable to compete in all the shows this summer.

"It's been a lot of fun," Goeden said Sunday night about his races the past three weeks, including the fifth and third he posted the weekend of Aug. 24-25 at Menomonee and Rice Lake. "Our goal was to be competitive in races, and we've been doing that."

Friday night, things went well for the veteran racer. In qualifying, Goeden finished second with a time of 13 and .26 seconds (13.26) just .08 away from the fast time of the night posted by Kerry Madson, who recently raced in the prestigious Knoxville Nationals.

"In the heat race, we started sixth and finished third," Goeden said, indicating the top five in each race moved on to the "A" Main, which was a 25-lap event.

Goeden and his No. 78 were cruising in the event

when he ran into a little bad luck. "We started sixth, we were running third with four laps to go when we had a right rear tire cut down."

With a couple of his competitors rolling their cars, "We were able to fix it (the tire), and we finished eighth."

"Last night we ran at Cedar Lake Speedway at New Richmond," Goeden went on. "They had 37 cars there," which was more than made the trip to Superior.

The setup was not quite right for qualifying that night, according to Goeden, but after finishing 18th, the crew made some adjustments that helped.

"We won the heat race and finished third in the main," Goeden said. "We were running second the whole race, and a guy passed me on the final lap ... We ran well though."

The winner of this race was Mike Reinke of Sheboygan Falls, who is currently sitting in second place in the points standings.

"It was a really fast track," Goeden said, indicating, "We had a good weekend."

This Saturday night, Goeden and the other IRA drivers will get to show their driving skills closer to home, competing at the Dodge County Fairgrounds in the Dick Witt Memorial race.

Witt, who died of cancer two years ago, was the long-time flag man at Slinger Super Speedway, and he acted in the same capacity for years at the Plymouth Fairgrounds in the Eastern Wisconsin racing circuit.

The popular Witt was also the traveling flag man for IRA for several years.

Racing gets underway Saturday night with qualifying at 6 p.m.

There are two other IRA shows and one World of Outlaws show remaining for Goeden on his 2006 racing calendar, and then he will take a seat on his recliner for several months until the new season begins.

Once the fire was lit, the KHS volleyball team ruled

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Once coach Renee Altendorf got the fire started in her Kewaskum High volleyball players, they were pretty unstoppable against Sheboygan Falls last Thursday night.

Playing at home for the first time, the Lady Indians fell behind by one game, then took the next three to start the Eastern Wisconsin Conference season on a high note.

The game scores were 25-21 in favor of the Falcons, and then all Indians, 25-15, 25-18, and 26-24 in a thrilling conclusion to a night of pretty good volleyball.

"The first game we came out very slowly," the second-year coach said. "The girls just could not get into it."

Like Jekyll and Hyde, the Lady Indians had another side to them, however, and started to dominate in Game 2. "The next two game we came out with a little more fire," Altendorf said, but the Indians had to come from behind to claim the final game.

"In the fourth match, we were doing good, and then the score was 20-24. Christina DeGroot served the last six points to win the game. Becky Rodenkirch also helped out with the last six points with her blocking at the net," the coach said.

Kewaskum came up with 10 aces in the match, led by DeGroot, who had four and Rodenkirch, who chipped in with three.

One very important statistic was the kill total ... 33 in the four games. DeGroot and Rodenkirch led the team in that department with eight apiece, while junior Danielle Mueller came in and added six.

Freshman Erika Heberer contributed seven digs, with Marissa Dehler and Rodenkirch each adding four.

On Tuesday night, the Indians put on quite a show from the serving line, to trounce visiting Slinger, 25-9, 25-13, 25-18, and 25-19.

The Lady Indians served up an unbelievable 17 aces, led by freshman Erika Heberer, who came up with seven. Three of the KHS starters, DeGroot, Rodenkirch and Bekki Heberer, all chipped in with three automatic winners from the serving line.

"The girls did a great job serving this match. In the first game, Bekki Heberer had 12 straight serves, and in the third game, Christina DeGroot had a total of 12 serves," Altendorf said. "That was the big part of the game."

The second-year coach went on to say that the girls had good defense, "along with running the fast offense to bring home the victory."

The Lady Indians recorded 11 kills, led by Rodenkirch's four and another four by Erika Heberer.

Marissa Dehler was her usual self in digging up spike attempts by the opponents. She had a team-high six, complemented by five from DeGroot and Stephanie Rinzel.

Kewaskum is home against New Holstein tonight, then heads for the Waupun Tournament on Saturday.

Gridiron teams go 2-2 Missed opportunities, injuries hamper KHS soccer team on opening weekend

Scatback Brad Conroy scored two touchdowns and set up another with a long punt return, leading the Kewaskum eighth grade team to a 30-18 win over Hartford in the season opener for both teams. Fall weather greeted players and parents for the first round of 2006 Gridiron games. The eighth graders started out with a bang, defeating Hartford by a score of 30-18. When the seventh graders took center stage, they put together three touchdown drives for a 19-7 win.

The two younger teams suffered tough losses, the sixth graders dropping a heart-breaking 13-12 decision while the rookie fifth graders came up short in their game against Pewaukee, 12-6.

Brad Conroy ran back the opening kickoff about 65 yards to give the Indians a quick lead, and later in the first half, QB Cody Nuernberg hit Matt Ballard with a TD pass, covering 20 yards.

The eighth grade teams exploded for three touchdowns in the fourth quarter to break their game wide open.

On the first play of the final quarter, Nuernberg turned in a nifty 32-yard run for a touchdown. The score was set up by Conroy's long punt return.

On their next drive, the Indians drove to the 6-yard line where Conroy plowed into the end zone.

Minutes later, Andy Schreier picked off a Hartford pass and didn't stop running until he found the end zone 35-40 yards later.

After the final two TDs, the Indians tried kicking for the extra points but both failed.

Hartford got its final points on a pass and a PAT in the final minute of the game.

"A nice start," coach Jim "Jonesy" Korth said. "Hartford is always a good win."

"We practiced well Thursday, had a lot of enthusiasm," Korth said, adding it carried over to Saturday.

"Ryan Ogi played good defense at left end ... Matt Ballard at right end, and (Paul) Gutjahr at middle linebacker," Korth said, and defensive coach Gil Delaurier added, "(Kyle) Wessenberg, our defensive tackle, did very well and Mitchell Cochran at nose guard."

Coach Tom Kudek's seventh graders took a 12-7 lead at intermission and added a second TD after the break toward their win.

Kudek said Colton Gruber scored twice, and Joshua Farand caught a short pass from Joey Wollner for the other Indians TD.

The lone extra point came on a run by Wollner.

"Our offense was moving the ball well," Kudek said, and, "Our defense forced a lot of fumbles."

Kudek called linebacker Kenny Gigstead the standout on defense, and the only offensive lineman he cited was center Brad Boegel who did a nice job opening holes.

For the first quarter, it looked like the sixth graders were going to breeze to victory, but mistakes were costly.

On the first series of the game, Kewaskum moved the ball for a while, then had to punt but got the ball back when Hartford fumbled the return. One play later, Hunter Flanders reversed his field and went 40 yards to give the Indians a first down at the 6.

Jarret Sargent passed to Zach Hedlund on the next play for the score.

Hartford failed to get off another punt, but Kewaskum fumbled at the 3-yard line. The visitors returned the favor, and the Indians recovered, but the decision to go with a half-back option pass backfired as Kewaskum was intercepted in the end zone.

Kewaskum's other first-half TD came via a 22-yard run by Nathan Krupp.

In the second half, Hartford closed the gap with a 60-yard end run, and later tied the game when one of the Indian punt returners touched the ball. Hartford picked it up and went five yards to score. A successful option pass proved to be the difference.

"Alex Fechter. He plays a solid defensive end, and Ted Wollner in the middle," coach Joe Backhaus said, also lauding Brett Scoles "who plays a strong corner."

"Other than that, we let it slip away ... We had it," Backhaus said.

Joshua Rahlf provided the lone points for the fifth graders. The TD came on a 55-yard punt return, according to coach Mark Walcheske, who said Pewaukee scored one touchdown in each half for the win.

Pewaukee scored on the second half kickoff, and after that, "We shut down Pewaukee and we had good field position but could not capitalize," Walcheske said, declining to point out any individuals because "There was nobody who really stood out."

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Time after time, the Kewaskum High soccer team was on the attack in Thursday's home game against Manitowoc Roncalli, but not one of the Indians' shots found the net, and the Indians ended up on the short end of a 2-0 score against their Eastern Wisconsin Conference foe.

"We had 25 shots on goal. I think we hit the crossbar like six times," Coach John Berst said, obviously disappointed in the outcome but not the effort. "The kids played hard. I really think we took the game to them."

The Jets' scores, one in each half, came on counter attacks, according to Berst, who said, "We did a lot of things really well. I think we controlled 70 percent of the game."

Berst said defensively, "I thought the whole midfield played well ... Alex Rauch and Dan Parker, and I think Dan Schladweiler played well."

On offense, Stephan "Bud" Kattar was cited. "Bud Kattar had at least two shots off the post from his outside mid," the coach said, adding, "I thought Dylan Kenworthy brought a lot of energy to the offense."

On Tuesday, the Indians were leading host Two Rivers 2-1, then the injury bug bit, and they gave up three goals toward a 5-2 loss.

"We kind of ran out of gas. We had just two subs," Berst said. "Dan Schladweiler got hurt. Dan Parker got hurt. T.J. Corey got hurt, and this all happened in the first 10 minutes of the second half. We ended up playing 30 of the last 40 minutes without subs."

Scoring for the Indians in the first half were Parker and Schladweiler. When asked if there were any assists, Berst said he didn't think so because "It was like a human scrum."

Berst tried sophomore Nick Gutbrod in goal and said, "He did a very nice job. He had a good, strong game."

Because of the lack of depth, Berst is trying others at different defensive positions, and said, "I thought one of the guys I was impressed with was Kyle Stoffel." Since missing the first week of preseason, Stoffel has been working hard in practice, and, "He's getting good, consistent results."

Consistency is what Berst is hoping to develop as the season goes on. Right now many of the boys who played on the JV team last year are suffering from "transitionitis," meaning they have had difficulty adjusting to varsity caliber play, and some others still lack the focus needed for all 80 minutes to get a win.

These were Kewaskum's first two conference games, putting their EWC record at 0-2 and overall mark at 1-4.

A three on a par-5 hole is not an everyday occurrence, but Bob Graff's card included one on Sept. 8 at Hon-E-Kor Country Club.

The West Bend golfer hit a big drive, then reached the 485-yard hole with his second shot, a 3-iron and sunk a 20-foot putt for his eagle.

Ogi has a big scoring day as Indians run over Roncalli

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

For the second game in a row, the Kewaskum High football team eclipsed the 40-point mark, and again the Indians secured the victory with a potent second quarter.

Behind a good mix of run and pass, the Indians made host Manitowoc Roncalli their third straight victim, 42-0, in Saturday's Eastern Wisconsin Conference opener.

"We had an excellent second quarter," KHS coach Jason Piittmann said several hours after his team posted its second shutout of the 2006 season.

Eric Ogi got a chance to show his offensive skills in the second quarter, and he helped the Indians take a 28-0 lead at intermission.

First, Ogi gathered in a 30-yard pass from Casey Scheel. This score came just a minute and a half into the period, and good things were still to be provided by Ogi and Company.

The second TD came via an 11-yard run by Ogi (2:45), and after the Jets were unable to move the ball and got off a short kick into a stiff wind coming off Lake Michigan, the Indians went into their hurry-up drill, and it was Scheel and Matt Parrent hooking up this time with 20 seconds remaining.

The play covered 15 yards, and Brian Backhaus tacked on what would be his fourth of six PATs (points after touchdowns).

As much as he liked the second quarter, Piittmann was thrilled with his team's first drive, which ended with Scheel finding Jon Wicklund with a 10-yard scoring pass.

"That first drive took five minutes and 30 seconds," Piittmann said, and then, "We were able to take advantage of field position in the second quarter because of a strong northeast wind."

It wasn't the wind that set up touchdown No. 5, however. It was a fumble recovery by 6-foot-2, 240-point defensive tackle, Tim Thull. "Tim Thull stripped it (the ball) and recovered it," Piittmann said, indicating a few minutes later, Ogi added his third touchdown of the afternoon, a 20-yard scamper, making the score 35-0 and prompting a continuous clock the rest of the game.

In the fourth quarter, KHS scored one more time, with reserve Nick Ebert getting the call from the 1-yard line.

The Indians had just under 400 yards in total offense, with 294 of that coming on the ground. Dan Shea led the running attack. In his first 100-yard day, he carried the ball 10 times for 137 yards, including one 50-yard scamper.

Ogi had four rushes for 40 yards, while Scheel added 34 yards in seven tries.

It was obvious from the rushing numbers, the offensive line performed well. "The offensive line was solid, very solid," Piittmann said. "The Thulls (Tim and Tom) played well. J.J. Logan played well."

Piittmann noted there were concerns about moving the Jets' jumbo defensive tackle, 6-7, 280-pound Dudek, but, "He didn't give us any problems at all."

What also helped was getting good blocks from other backs, according to Piittmann, who said, "We had some great lead blocks. I remember on one play Jack Breese made a great lead block for Ogi."

Defensively, the linebackers were solid again, led by Mike Pfothenauer, one of the team's four captains. "Mike Pfothenauer had a very good game. He had ten tackles," the coach said, reporting Tony Lewko added six tackles, and, "He had a good game at defensive end." Lewko was playing for Jake Turowski, who was out with an infection in his knee. Turowski should be ready for this week's game, according to the coach.

Logan Staeger had one interception, and Chad Hackbarth added another. "He (Hackbarth) returned it 30 yards. That set up the final score," Piittmann said.

The Indians, 1-0 in the EWC and 3-0 overall, will undoubtedly remain high in the Division 3 rankings this week and should have no problems in tomorrow's game against Two Rivers, which was blasted by Sheboygan Falls 30-0.

Also on Friday night, New Holstein topped Campbellsport 31-14 and Plymouth came away a 31-7 winner over Kiel.

Golfers move up to 4th; Wetzel's good play continues

They struggled again at the long West Bend Country Club, but the Kewaskum High golfers certainly played well on their home Hon-E-Kor course on Thursday, resulting in their highest finish of the season in Wisconsin Little Ten Conference play.

Kewaskum placed fourth of the seven-team behind a score of 236, just two shots behind West Bend West.

For the fourth straight WLT meet, Oconomowoc was the winner. The Cooney girls came in with an even 200, three shots ahead of Hartford, which now has four second places.

West finished third at 234, followed by the Lady Indians, West Bend East, 238; Watertown, 250; and Beaver Dam, 284.

The meet medalist was Abby Johnson of Oconomowoc, with an 8-over par 44 on the Red Nine.

"I was very pleased with their performance," first-year coach Amy Piwoni said about her golfers, who were again led by Renee Wetzel's 53. "Renee was very strong for us again. Her consistency is invaluable."

Senior Becky Weber helped in the Indians' ascent. "Becky continues to improve each week. She is really contributing to the team," Piwoni said. "This (57) was her lowest round of the year. Her hard work is paying off."

The other KHS scores were a 60 by Jordan Benike, 66 by Caitlin Van Wormer and 67 from Rachel Gavin.

"Jordan played well, and Caitlin continues to improve her game," Piwoni said.

On Tuesday at WBCC, Cooney came in at 203 and Hartford 205, followed by West, 226; East, 238; Watertown, 245; Kewaskum, 256; and Beaver Dam, 267.

Wetzel turned in the low card for KHS with a 59. "Her first hole tripped her up a bit," Piwoni said, referring to the ten she had on No. 1. Still, she battled back and finished with a bogey and par on the final two holes.

Weber was next for KHS at 61, and the coach said, "Becky improved 13 strokes over her last match at WBCC. She is hitting the ball very well."

Benike came in with a 66, while Gavin and Van Wormer posted 70s.

The current standings are as follows: 1. Oconomowoc, 4 points; 2. Hartford, 8; 3. West Bend West, 12, 4. (tie) Watertown and East, 19; 6. Kewaskum, 22; 7. Beaver Dam, 28.
