2007 Budget discussed for village

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor

KEWASKUM- The Kewaskum Village Board spent Monday evening reviewing preliminary budgets for various departments in the Village. Preparing his first budget for the Village, Administrator Jay Shambeau stated it was his goal to keep the mill rate identical to 2006.

Trustees took final action on approving the Fire Department budget. A new line item that will offer fire-fighters length of service benefits was added. That line item will cost taxpayers $16,926. Fire Chief Mark Groeschel will receive a salary of $31,617, an increase of $1,035. The Fire Department will cost taxpayers $164,274 in 2007. This is up $31,379 from 2006.

Police Chief Dick Knoebel proposed a $737,293 budget. Knoebel stated that his budget reflects the purchase of replacement police vests which are set to expire. That money will come from the department's outlay account which is up.

The department will again lease a new squad car. Knoebel stated that he and Village Administrator Jay Shambeau wished to keep the 2005 Ford squad car to be used as a spare squad car and to be used by village employees when they need to travel. The car would be placed on a 2-4 year rotation. It is hoped that this will cut down on the amount of mileage the village pays out.

Are Kewaskum Schools safe from tragedy?

By Rachael Paulsen
Statesman Correspondent

When two students opened fire at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colorado in 1999, schools nationwide reviewed the safety in their own establishments. Now, seven years later, school shootings are on the rise once more, and school officials are once again questioning how safe their buildings are.

Since the beginning of the school year, there have been 25 shootings at or near schools nationwide, according to a police report. The killings began Aug. 24 when a 27-year-old man walked into an elementary school in Essex, Vt., killed two teachers and wounded two other people before turning the gun on himself. Adolescents are not the only ones performing school shootings. More instances of adults carrying out violence with firearms are making the news.

Last week in Nickel Mines, Penn., 32-year-old Charles Carl Roberts IV, a milk truck driver, lined Amish schoolchildren up against the blackboard of their one-room schoolhouse and shot five young girls before turning the gun on himself. Three died in the schoolhouse. The one-room Amish schoolhouse was demolished last Thursday to bring closure to the tragedy. Classes resumed this week in a garage on an Amish farm in the Nickel Mines area.

Two weeks ago, Duane Morrison, a 53-year-old homeless man walked into Platte Canyon High School in Bailey, Colorado, roamed the halls for an hour before molesting several girls, killing one and then himself. Before the incident, he mailed his family a suicide note, which was forwarded to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Recently, the shootings have gotten closer to home. Last week two teenagers were arrested for making bomb threats at Hartford Union High School. A note that read, "Boom, boom, boom in every room at noon, so be ready to die," was dropped in a hallway and found by another student, who turned it over to school officials. The high school was evacuated shortly before noon Friday as a precaution, but a search found no explosives. According to an Associated Press story, Matthew J. Windisch of Hartford faces a maximum sentence of 3 1/2 years in

KHS students injured in morning crash

Kewaskum firefighters and First Responders from Boltonville Fire Department work on victims involved in a one-vehicle crash that occurred Wednesday morning, October 18 on Shalom Drive in the town of Farmington. Statesman photo: Andrew Kuehl

TOWNOFFARMINGTON-Two Kewaskum High School students were injured on their way to school Wednesday morning, October 18. The one-vehicle crash occurred on Shalom Drive, west of Indian Lore Road.

The Washington County Sheriff's Department joined by Boltonville Fire Department and First Responders, Kewaskum Rescue Squad and West Bend Intercept were called to the scene around 7:15 a.m.. They found a westbound, full size Chevrolet truck in the north side ditch, impacting numerous trees.

Kewaskum EMS transported the two victims to St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend.

At press time driver Eric

Spaeth, 16, was treated and released from St. Joseph's Hospital according to Janet Ford, public relations director.

Heather May, 15, a passenger in the vehicle was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital and subsequently flighted to Froedtert Hospital by Flight for Life. Her condition was not available.

Sheriff's Department Lieutenant, Steve Gonwa, stated that the truck was westbound when it crested a hill and left the roadway to the right. The truck then went into a steep ditch line and struck a tree.

Both Spaeth and May, from the town of Farmington were wearing their seatbelts. The accident remains under investigation.

preme Court rule requires the department to digitally record all interviews with those under the age of 17 in custody by January 1, 2007. Knoebel says he will apply for a grant but with many departments going through the same thing, it's unlikely the village will receive any help. The grant offers $400. Knoebel stated that the project is likely to cost $2,000.

Department of Public Works Director (DPW) Jerry Gilles presented his preliminary budget for 2007. He indicated money is budgeted for repairs to the Municipal Building Annex's south exterior wall. Gilles plans to remove the wall and put in insulation board and finish it with maintenance free aluminum siding. The Municipal Building Annex will cost taxpayers $10,865 in 2007.

In his equipment budget, Gilles stated that he plans to replace an 11-year-old pickup truck used by the DPW. The truck is expected to cost $19,800. He also stated that he is working on a replacement schedule so the village can better fund equipment purchases.

In his street maintenance budget, Gilles pointed out that the entire stretch of Western Avenue will be resurfaced in 2007. He projected this to cost $50,000 if base course failure is not encountered.

Money will be put into the restricted fund for the replacement of the street sweeper in 2008. Curb and gutter repair as well as the signs and markings budget was increased because it was over budget in 2006.

Kiwanis Park's parking lot will receive a facelift. All lighting in the parking lot will be removed and street lights, erected and maintained by WE Energies, will be placed around the perimeter of the lot. The project is expected to cost $110,000. Funds will come from park fund balance and open space fund.

An increase in pool fees is being investigated. However, it is unknown whether they will remain the same in 2007.

The Kewaskum Historical Society has asked for assistance in re-roofing and making repairs at the Kewaskum Museum. Gilles indicated he has been in contact with the Historical Society and they have $14,000 to contribute, however, they are $11,600 short.

Gilles announced his DPW budget has actually come down $39,500 less than last year's budget. Still adjusting his budget, final numbers will be presented at the budget hearing in November. The parks budget on the other hand, will go up 61%.

Administrator Shambeau presented his budget. He announced a 15% increase in health insurance costs. He also noted an increase in the outlay account for some much needed technology upgrades. The cost of putting together a subdivision ordinance was also presented, as well as revaluation that the village will go under. Final numbers from his budget will also be revealed at the budget hearing.

The two-decade-old phone system in the Municipal Building will be replaced. The monies will come from the restricted fund. It is expected to cost $10,000.

A new position is expected to be created for an engineering assistant. A $51,767 line item was added to the budget. Trustee Derek Peterson has brought up the idea of hiring an individual to assist the village with its engineering needs.

KEWASKUM- Three Lomira brothers, customers of Kewaskum Frozen Foods have purchased the business that was started in 1941. The sale, made official on October 2, includes all real estate, recipes and customers, which will ensure a smooth transition for the business's loyal clientele.

It wasn't the lack of customer service or the products

Custom Cabinetry announces huge online gallery

"Our Customers can now access over 5,000 unique knobs, pulls, and accessories for their home in our on-line gallery. "By purchasing direct from the manufacturers we are able to discount up to 50% off retail prices," explains Eric Vandermause, online sales specialist at Campbellsport Building Supply. Beisbier's company produces that prompted the sale. Quite the opposite if you ask, Steve Ries and his brothers Al or Paul. "The tradition of good service was very appealing," stated Steve.

The whole talk of the sale actually started as a joke Beisbier made after Steve and Al bought a piece of equipment from him in December of last year. "He said, why don't you buy the whole place?" said Steve.

That got Al and Steve thinking. The brothers, customers of Beisbier, work on the family pig farm raising 6,500 hogs annually and providing custom kill service to customers.

"We talked about it, called Bob and asked if he was serious," said Steve. Negotiations began in March. Paul, who owns a metal fabrication business in Fond du Lac for the past 10 years, got in on the deal and will handle the business side of the operation. Steve and Al plan to continue to manage the family farm that has been in operation since 1961.

The Ries brothers say they have grabbed the reigns from Beisbier and have continued where he left off. "All employees and recipes will remain the same. We want no interruptions," said Steve.

The three also have hired Bob to guide them through their first year of operation at which time he plans to retire.

Business has long standing history in village

In July of 1941, The Kewaskum Statesman reported the first news of Kewaskum Frozen Foods opening a locker plant and meat market in the village. At that time, locker plants were gaining in popularity because it allowed people to purchase a "locker" to store food in it that could be frozen.

The article stated that the locker plant would eliminate food seasons. Meat and produce was able to be stored in a customer's locker and be enjoyed by the patron at anytime. This also eliminated the need for canning and pickling of certain foods. At that time it was announced that patrons could save $60-$100 on their food purchases annually by renting a locker.

Kewaskum Frozen Foods was founded by Sylvester Harter, proprietor of the then, Harter's Market on Main Street in the village. The original locker plant and market was a one-story structure, 70 feet by 36 feet. The Statesman reported it was built to hold 300 lockers.

Harter passed away three years later, a casualty of the war. His wife Anna ran the business and later was joined by Greg Nigh when the two were wed. In 1961, Greg's brother, David and Beisbier began working together. In 1978 Beisbier and David Nigh became partners, purchasing the business from Greg and Anna.

The building had numerous additions and continued to grow. In 1992, Beisbier purchased David's interest in the business and became the sole owner of the corporation.

Today, Kewaskum Frozen Foods employs 41 people, one of the ten largest employers in the village. The business has received numerous state and national awards annually totaling over 100.

Sausage Plus, located in West Bend, is an outlet store of Kewaskum Frozen Foods and is also part of the sale. The Ries brothers stated operations there will also remain unchanged.

12-Time drunk driver gets 4.5 years

A West Bend man who's been convicted of drunk driving 12 times will now spend the next four and a half years in prison. Kim Liebrecht was sentenced last Friday by Washington County Judge David Resheske, who also gave the 44 year-old five years extended supervision, revoked his license for three and a half years and ordered an ignition interlock for four years.

Liebrecht pleaded guilty in August to felony charges of drunk driving and attempting to elude an officer in connection with a July 2nd traffic stop in Germantown.

Some of the conditions of Liebrecht's extended supervision include maintaining absolute sobriety, undergoing alcohol assessment, participating in any treatment or counseling recommended by his probation agent and not possessing any controlled substances without a valid prescription.

Permit extension denied for Michaels Materials

By Bernadette Mondloch
Statesman Correspondent

TOWN OF SCOTT- Michels Materials was unsuccessful in obtaining a three-year extension of a conditional use permit that is on the books for the "Kelling Pit" on County Road W. The pit has been used primarily for supplying the Highway 28 project that occurred this past summer. The pit was scheduled to be reclaimed and closed by December 2007.

Supervisor Randy Narbatovics supported by a second from Supervisor Cheryl Scholz, voted to deny the extension. All but town chairman Steve Jung voted not to deny the extension.

A zoning change from A-1 Agriculture to B-3 Business for 1.18 acres was approved for Jerry Averill, who resides at W8063 Brazelton Drive. Along with the approval, a conditional use permit was presented with the following conditions: 1. No junk vehicles can be stored on the property; 2. No more than six vehicles in need of repair are allowed outside in view of the public; 3. Disabled vehicles and parts are to be stored out of view of the public; 4. No storage of junk vehicles within any site from all sides; 5. All automotive fluids must be disposed of properly.

The topic of spreading of chicken manure has surfaced again. The board chose to review an ordinance that had been considered for adoption by neighboring Sherman township. Supervisors were asked to report back with suggestions or changes and improvements for deciding on an ordinance of their own. Supervisor Scholz told fellow supervisors, "I'd like to see an ordinance which will be fair to the applying parties and also to those who must smell it."

The Batavia Fire Department completed the ISO test on September 13th. The department has also received a $16,100 grant to purchase equipment for fighting wild land fires from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Curves of Kewaskum raises awareness of breast cancer

In an effort to recognize October's observance of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Curves of Kewaskum and its members donated over $200 to the Komen Milwaukee Race For The Cure. "Together, we can raise awareness of this important issue. We want women in the Kewaskum/Campbellsport area to know that we support them not only through fitness, but through life as well," said Mike Scheiber, Owner of Curves of Kewaskum. "It is imperative to help women realize the importance of early detection. Being aware of breast cancer is a great step, but we hope every woman will also take action." Therefore Curves of Kewaskum is waiving the service fee, until the end of October, to join Curves when you bring in proof of having a mammogram or complete breast exam in the last year.

School safety in Kewaskum

in prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted of the charge filed Tuesday, Oct. 10 in Washington County Circuit Court. The judge set bail at $1,500 and ordered Windisch to have no contact with the other teen or the high school. A 16-year-old boy who also has been a student at the school is being charged as a juvenile with the same offense, District Attorney Todd Martens said.

In September, Eric Hainstock, a 15-year-old freshman now charged with first-degree intentional homicide, walked into Weston High School in Cazenovia, Wis. and shot Principal John Klang three times with a pistol. The shooting occurred inside the main entrance after a janitor wrestled a shotgun from the boy. A story on CNN's web site states that witnesses saw Klang disarm Hainstock, making him a hero to the community, even though he died in the process.

Hainstock told detectives he was upset with Klang because the principal disciplined him a day before the shooting for having tobacco in the school, according to a criminal complaint. Hainstock also was upset because Klang and teachers failed to stop a group of kids who had been harassing him.

School safety is once again being addressed in lieu of the tragic recent events. The overwhelming majority of schools in the United States do not have security cameras or metal detectors, according to an article by CNN. Fewer than half have security personnel on campus. Between 1992 and 2002, 462 people — including students and faculty — were killed at schools across the country.

Locally, police departments have increased their visibility around schools. Washington County Sheriff Brian Rahn has patrolmen spending extra time in certain areas of the schools.

He also said if anyone in the schools sees or hears of suspicious activity, they need to tell someone about it. Schools have starting suspending more students who are acting inappropriately at school and locking down the building when necessary.

Kewaskum School officials have also spent more time making sure each building where children are present has security measures in place. Most notably is Kewaskum High School (KHS) where a police officer is on duty at all times.

Kewaskum Police Officer Barry Granrath handles incidents at the high school such as fights, disorderly students and assists students with various law enforcement issues. Just the presence of a police officer creates a somewhat safe environment for students.

KHS principal Christine Horbas reported that the high school responded to recent school shootings in the past month by practicing a number of precautionary steps. She states that every morning at 8:00 a.m. all school doors are locked with the exception of the main entry doors that remain unsecured. Visitors are asked to sign in at the school office before entering the rest of the building.

She says that two weeks ago, the entire student body practiced an "Emergency Lock Down" drill. Kewaskum Middle School does the same type of drill at a different time during the school year.

In addition to the hands-on approach teachers and administration are taking at KHS, Horbas has also connected with village and county officials to set a meeting that will review these important emergency procedures for all district administrators. The group made up of area law enforcement, fire departments, village officials, and administrators is set to meet in early November.

"Some situations are more difficult to anticipate, like the Amish school shooting. Still, we all need to understand our role if such a horrific ordeal would befall us. We need to do whatever it takes to save our students' lives," stated Horbas.

Kewaskum Middle School (KMS) principal, Ken Soerens stated his building also has all doors locked with the exception of the main front doors. The school office was moved in 2000 to better secure the middle school. Previously the office was located in the middle of the building with the office unable to monitor who came or went. "The move of the main office adjacent to the front doors gives us the opportunity to see into the parking lot and to have all visitors sign in at the front desk or to be greeted without allowing them to wander throughout the building on their own.

"KMS, like all other buildings follows our district board policy, our district's crisis procedures, and building procedures in case such situations arise. We also go through the procedures in the beginning of the year with the teachers, followed by teacher information to students. We also practice a lock-down drill every year," Soerens added.

When asked for his feelings on how the school system has changed since he first began as a teacher, Soerens, who has been with the district 32 years, stated "It still is and will always be about kids. Kids don't change, just the world around them."

Frank Lasee (R-Green

Bay) plans to introduce legislation early next year that would give teachers and other school personnel the option of carrying concealed weapons to defend themselves. Lasee believes that school personnel trained in handling weapons could better combat violent intruders or students. According to him, the method has been successful in Israel and Thailand, where terrorists once heavily targeted schools.

Sheriff Rahn does not think teachers or anyone in the schools having guns will reduce violence.

"We need to not look as strongly at the end result, but address the underlying issues of why people are bringing guns into schools," said Rahn, who also stated in past cases, bullying was mostly the cause. The D.A.R.E. program has courses at schools where they address bullying in schools to prevent students from feeling left out and having hatred toward their peers.

"They weren't part of the group, they felt like loners," said Sheriff Rahn. "The anger gets to them and they deal with it through violence."

Some people may also hold parents accountable for their children's actions. Sheriff Rahn said it helps if parents are more aware of warning signs that may indicate that their children are not doing well in school both academically and socially. Parents can only do so much once the child leaves the house, but they can "steer them down the right road."

Sheriff Rahn estimated that about 90 percent of households in Wisconsin have firearms, mostly used for deer hunting. Some of these are easily accessible to anyone; some are even displayed in cases or on the wall. There is nothing wrong with this; however, they need to be more properly secured if children are living in the household. Parents can only be held responsible for their child's actions to a certain degree. Rahn said if they knew their child was planning to take a gun to school, they would stop them from doing so.

SCHOOL NEWS

Cold weather doesn't scare kids away

Four area students compete as two-person saw teams at the Lumberjack Show. Kewaskum area elementary schools attended. Statesman photo Amber Donath

By Amber Donath
Statesman Correspondent

On Friday, October 13, the Kewaskum area elementary schools were treated to a sneak preview performance of the Lumberjack Show as part of Kettle Kountry Kolors.

Hundreds of area youngsters bundled up and braved the brisk fall wind to witness first-hand the talents of 8-time World Champion and 11-time Gold Medal Winner at the Great Outdoor Games, Jamie Fischer, 25, from Hayward, WI, and 3rd Place National Lumberjack Champion Daniel De Paz, 24, from the University of Minnesota.

The announcer, Jim Fischer, a world-class lumberjack himself, divided the students into two teams: the red team and the blue team. Each lumberjack was assigned a team and the competition began.

The lumberjacks performed a variety of events to compete against one another using real-life lumberjack skills. The excitement of the crowd was as much fun to watch as the lumberjack show itself.

"Performing in front of kids is a lot of fun," said Jamie Fischer. "They always get really excited and it makes it a lot more fun for us. We really want to give them a good show." And that they did.

The final event for the day was the Boom Run. To show how the Boom Run is executed, they brought out the crowd-pleaser Perky, the boom running Avon Terrier. She zipped across the logs on the water making the event look simple.

It wasn't until the two lumberjacks competing ran across the logs that the crowd was able to see just how much the logs bounced and rolled in the water.

De Paz was first up. He took off running, made it the first 25 feet no problem, stopping on a platform to turn around and run back. However, by now the logs are bouncing and bobbing in the water. As he got halfway back to the start, De Paz lost his balance and "splash" he fell in the frigid water. The crowd roared with disbelief and excitement.

Each lumberjack ran the event three times against the clock. The winner is decided by fastest time without falling in.

De Paz ended up falling in again on his second attempt. However, he did manage a clean run on his final attempt, which he completed, waved at the crowd, and ran into the trailer to dry off and put on warm clothes.

Fischer was able to prove why he holds the World Record in the Boom Run for both the 50-foot and 100-foot distance and achieve victory for his blue team of students.

At the end of the performance, students were given the opportunity to meet the lumberjacks. Dozens of students rushed down to shake hands, ask questions, take pictures and get autographs. The show was very rewarding to both students and performers alike.

School District policy for emergency school closings

Superintendent, Michael Krumm, has released for publication the 2006-2007 policy for school closings.

Radio stations WBKV (1470 AM and 92.5 FM West Bend), KFIZ (107 FM and 1450 AM Fond du Lac), WHBL (1330 AM and 97.7 FM Sheboygan), WTMJ/WKTI (620 AM/94 FM Milwaukee) and WISN 1130 AM/Channel 12 will be used to announce school closings. News stations will only announce a closing. If they do not announce Kewaskum, it means schools will be open. The announcement will be on the air as early as possible.

When school has opened but weather turns bad, it is recommended that parents listen to one of the above radio stations for a possible school closing announcement. The district is hesitant about closing school during the day but will do so if the safety of the students warrants it. Every effort will be made to announce school closings during the day at least an hour before dismissing the students.

It should be remembered that if school has been cancelled it means that all activities for that day and evening are cancelled as well. Also, parochial school students and special education students will not be transported when district schools close. Decisions to delay the opening of schools will be made judiciously. In cases of a late start, early childhood and four year kindergarten programs are automatically cancelled. However, afternoon classes will still operate under their normal schedule.

Help Avoid an Accident

- Sit correctly in your seat
- Keep the noise down
- Be especially quiet at railroad crossings
- Follow the driver's directions
- Treat others as you want to be treated

The Bookworm Sez

by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Probuditi!

By sChris Van Allsburg Houghton Mifflin Company $18.95 32 Pages

CHRIS VAN ALLSBURG

Little brothers and sisters can sometimes be a major pain.

They're always copying you. Whatever you do, they try to do the same but they're never as good at things as you are. Still, Mom thinks they're "cute".

When you get something, Dad makes you share it, even if it's too long or too cool or the wrong size for the little brats. Brothers and sisters can be so dumb.

In the new book "Probuditi!" by Chris Van Allsburg, Calvin learns that his little sister, Trudy, is a whole lot smarter than he thinks she is.

Today is Calvin's birthday, and he's got the whole day planned. Mama gave him two tickets to see Lomax the Magnificent at the downtown theatre, and Calvin couldn't wait to go. Even though Mama hinted that maybe Calvin's little sister, Trudy, would love to see the show, Calvin asked his best buddy, Rodney to come along.

It is, after all, Calvin's birthday, so he makes the rules for the day.

At the magic show, Rodney and Calvin watched as Lomax the Magnificent pulled a lit candle from his ear. The highlight of the show was when Lomax called a woman up from the audience, sat her in front of a swirling, spinning disc and hypnotized her into believing that she was a chicken. The woman clucked and strutted until Lomax said "Probuditi!" and the woman stopped cackling and became very confused. Rodney and Calvin laughed till it hurt.

After the show, Mama asked Calvin to watch Trudy for a bit while she went to the beauty parlor. What kind of chore is that for a birthday boy? After Mama left, Rodney and Calvin took Trudy upstairs where they had an Erector set contraption set up with a spinning disc on the end. They sat Trudy in front of the disc, and much to their surprise, their experiment worked! Calvin's little sister became a panting, drooling, howling, barking dog!

Now... what was that word? The one that would make Trudy snap out of her trance? Calvin couldn't remember it, and neither could Rodney. Maybe Lomax the Magnificent could help. Maybe he can pull Trudy out of her woofing, yapping, begging, snarling spell.

Ooooh, Mama wasn't going to be happy about this one bit.

If you've ever had or been a sibling, "Probuditi!" is going to make you nod your head in recognition. Author Chris Van Allsburg does his own illustrations in his books; he's the creator of "The Polar Express" and "Jumanji", both Caldecott Medal winners. While the drawings in "Probuditi!" are incredibly detailed, they might not be enough to capture the attention of small kids because of lack of color (the pictures are done completely in shades of brown). The story itself might also be beyond the comprehension of younger children.

Read this book to a group of older kids, though - maybe age 5 and up. They'll "get" the story quite handily and they'll love the pictures, particularly those of Trudy-as-Rover. For older kids and for reading aloud, "Probuditi!" is magic.

 4. Heat frosting in microwave approximately 10 to 20 seconds, until thinned and looking slightly like whipped cream. Place ghosts on wire rack over sheet pan lined with waxed paper. Spoon heated frosting over ghosts until completely coated. If unused frosting begins firming up, simply reheat 5 to 10 seconds.
 5. Place 2 M&M'S on each ghost for eyes. Sprinkle ground chocolate cookies on serving plate like "dirt." Nestle ghosts in "dirt." Makes 16 treats

Bear hunt has a very happy ending

Shown above are John Ellis and his son Kenny with their bear. The bear was 447 pounds live weight and 388 dressed weight.

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

"More than worth it!" was John Ellis' comment about having to wait eight years to finally get a bear tag, and thanks to the efforts of Kewaskum guide Randy Dreher, bag one that weighed just under 450 pounds.

Ellis, who resides in Kewaskum, was not all that familiar with bear hunting techniques but he certainly learned the value of using dogs in the hunt.

"I paid another guide to sit on bait at Hurley and never even saw a bear," Ellis said Sunday, reporting the others in his 12-person camp in Hurley all did get bear.

"I was the only one who didn't get one. I didn't even see one," Ellis said of his coming up empty at Hurley and then almost giving up on hunting bear for the season.

"A couple weeks went by, and then I saw Randy, and he invited me to come with his group," Ellis went on, admitting, "I totally had the wrong idea about hunting with dogs."

Ellis said what Dreher and his crew do is use "scratch pads" which are located near bait sites in the forest or near trails. "They put dirt and sand down," he went on, and, "They see the prints, (to indicate) where they (the bears) come from and where they are going to."

From the prints, Dreher is also able to determine the relative size of the bear to see if he wants to release his Plott Hounds after it.

On the morning of October 1st, starting at 4:30 a.m. the hunting entourage headed out in search of Ellis' bear.

The group chased one bear, according to Ellis, who said, "It ran over the highway," and Dreher called off the dogs because of the traffic on the road.

This turned out to be a blessing because a while later, they found a 5-inch track, "and a deep one, too," meaning the bear was quite large.

"We released the dogs, and by 11:30 a.m. we had the bear," Ellis said, adding he was especially excited because his young son, Kenny, accompanied him on the trip.

"I was a little worried about my son Kenny getting up that early, but he was a little trooper," Ellis said. "We had a blast."

Ellis praised the efforts of Randy Dreher and his entire crew. "The whole Randy Dreher gang ... they made us feel at home, like part of the family," he said. "I would recommend them to anybody."

Ellis said Dreher has invited him to come to Wabeno next summer for dog training, and he said, "I think I'm going to take him up on it."

The bear weighed 447 pounds live weight, and 388 pounds dressed, according to Ellis, who said Chuck Dreher, Randy's cousin, was on the phone to the taxidermist even while they had the bear in the tree.

"I'm going to get a full mount," he said, indicating the hunters at Hurley only had one bear over 300 pounds, so his was much larger than theirs.

And is bear meat good eating? "Oh yeah, I'm getting ready to cook some up right now ... cooking some burgers. Bear meat is very good."

Parents Day successful for Gridiron teams

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

The moms and dads beamed Saturday, watching their sons (and one daughter, Lauren Treptow, a sixth grader) play in Gridiron football games.

It was the annual Parents Day, and the Kewaskum grade school teams won three out of the four games.

It was Matt Ballard night for the eighth graders. He scored three touchdowns to help the team (4-2) to a 24-0 shutout win over Random Lake.

Kewaskum scored on its opening drive, according to Jim "Jonesy" Korth. "We went 60 yards. We just kept it all on the ground."

The next time Kewaskum had the ball it went 40 yards for a TD, and the third drive was successful, too.

Finally QB Cody Nuernberg got into the act. He rolled out to pass, saw an open field and sprinted to the end zone for the final TD.

"Random Lake is a little down this season ... the past couple of seasons," Korth said.

Kewaskum now awaits news on their crossover games. Korth is thinking it may be Germantown but said there are a couple other teams the Indians might get for Saturday. For certain, all the games will be played in Kewaskum.

"Two plays and we scored right away," coach Tom Kudek said about his seventh grade team's 19-6 win, putting their record at 4-2.

Eric Perkins scored on a 30-yard run, but the try for extra point failed.

"Then, it took us until the fourth quarter to score again on a quarterback sneak by Sam Olla," Kudek went on, reporting the young Indians added a third TD later, with Colton Gruber taking the ball into the end zone from one yard out.

After the final TD, Olla successfully passed to Danny Bohn for the extra point.

"Defensively, Kenny Giggstead and Joshua Farran had good games," Kudek said about his linebacker and end.

One of the only concerns is the offensive line, which still needs improvement, according to the coach.

The sixth graders (2-4), who had suffered some tough losses early in the season, won their second straight game. The final score was 26-12.

The Indians recovered the opening kickoff (Brett Scoles), but on the first play, after a long run, Nathan Krupp fumbled and Random Lake recovered.

The Indians got the ball back minutes later when Random decided not to punt on fourth down at its own 5-yard line. A couple plays later, it was Krupp scoring the first of his three touchdowns.

Just before half, the Indians drove, and with :10 remaining, Krupp dashed into the end zone. Both extra point kick attempts were blocked.

Still, the Indians led 19-6 at half and added another TD

after the break.

"They played very well on both sides of the ball," coach Joe Backhaus said, noting the team was more consistent and playing with more confidence.

"(Teddy) Wollner and (Alex) Fechter led us in tackles. Wollner had 12 solo tackles," Backhaus said, reporting Scoles had two fumble recoveries.

"When we got close to the goal line, we made it count," the coach said.

The fifth graders (3-3) suffered a tough 20-19 defeat in a game in which they played their hearts out.

Kewaskum scored first on a QB sneak by Alexander Johnson, and Kurt Luedtke caught a pass for the extra point.

The youngest Indians led 7-6 at half but could not hold on as the Rams came back strong in the second half.

Down 7-13, the Indians tied the game on a run by Joey Seitz (extra point no good), then Random Lake drove and scored on a fourth down play with about four minutes remaining.

There was no quit in the Indians, who marched for a another TD by Seitz, making the score 20-19, but Johnson was tackled short of the goal on the extra points try.

"Random Lake turned the ball over to us, and we were driving. We just fumbled the ball," coach Mark Walcheske said. "We just seem to shoot ourselves in the foot."

Indians start too late vs. Plymouth

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Playing against powerful Plymouth definitely requires an opponent to bring its "A game," but that wasn't the case Thursday when the Kewaskum High soccer team turned in a lackluster effort in the first half and wound up losing 6-1.

"We played the first half like poop," coach John Berst said, indicating he gave his players a little lecture at intermission, and they responded in a positive manner.

At half, the score had been 5-1, and the Panthers were held to just one more goal in the second.

Dan Parker scored for the Indians. His goal came about 11 minutes into the first half, according to the coach, who said Plymouth is currently in first place in the EWC but does have a loss or two this season.

"The Player of the Game for us was Nick Gutbrod in goal," Berst said, reporting he had about two dozen saves. "He was just outstanding."

Gutbrod was replacing starting goalie, Ryan Nuernberg, who had another commitment, according to the coach, who said, "I asked him (Nick) to step in, and he did. He was probably the only one on the positive side of the ledger."

On Monday afternoon, the Indians played hard but still could not match the offensive output of a good Campbellsport team.

The Cougars scored a goal in each half for a 2-0 victory. Goal No. 2 came off a deflection on a corner kick, according to KHS coach John Berst, who said the first goal was scored when one of the Campbellsport players juked one of his defenders, and, "Ryan (Nuernberg, goalie) couldn't get down quick enough" on the ball which was speeding to the right of him.

Concerning his team's chances, Berst said, "We probably had, I could say, at least ten legitimate shots on goal," adding the Indians did a good job in the first half moving the ball and building up play.

Cited for their fine play were Nick Gutbrod and Alex Rauch. "They were the two midfielders ... gave us a number of good opportunities," Berst said.

The coach also praised Dan Schladweiler, who came back from an injury and "did a nice job in center." Another player who is making major contributions to the team is exchange student Anders Thomes, who "did a good job winning the ball and creating the transition from defense to offense.

With the two losses, the Indians fell to 1-12 overall. Kewaskum was scheduled to conclude EWC play at Kiel on Monday, and the Indians' first tournament game is scheduled for this afternoon at 4:30 p.m.

Gibson, Herriges land all-conference CC berths

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Team wise there wasn't much to talk about as far as the Kewaskum High cross country teams were concerned in Saturday's Eastern Wisconsin Conference meet, but two of the Indians, senior Bobby Gibson and freshman Zack Herriges, were outstanding, finishing among the top seven individuals.

Gibson covered the five kilometers around the Campbellsport Elementary School in 17 minutes and 5.59 seconds (17:05.59), good for second place overall and just five seconds behind the overall winner, Kiel's Jordan Trutschel (17:00.92).

Herriges, who has gotten better and better every meet out, turned in an excellent effort. His time of 17:42.27 was good for seventh place, so both earned first-team, all-EWC honors.

"Windy and cool conditions," Coach Dave Drexler said. "Bobby and Zack didn't let that hold them back from reaching their goals. Each had a strategy going into the race, and it paid off. First team, all-conference is something to be proud of."

Kewaskum had to settle for sixth place as a team. The Indians came in with a total of 122 points. Plymouth won the title in a very close finish. The Panthers just nipped Two Rivers 69-70.

Kewaskum's No. 3 runner was Tyler McElhatton, who placed 26th at 18:53.37, just .27 of a second out of 25th place.

The other two Indian counters were sophomores Aaron Monte (20:09.51) and Austin Yadro (20:45.94) in 41st and 46th places, respectively.

With Gibson the Indians' only KHS senior, the future looks bright for next season and beyond.

The Kewaskum girls had difficulty competing with the likes of Sheboygan Falls and Plymouth. The Indians, behind only one top-25 finish, wound up with 191 points.

Falls captured the title and did so convincingly, scoring an impressive 37 points. Plymouth was a distant second at 61.

Ashley Bender of Sheboygan Falls turned in a time of 16:02.21 for the four kilometers for first place. She had a seven second lead on the runner-up, Noelle Grall of Manitowoc Roncalli, who had a 16:09.42 clocking.

Best for the Indians was Tonya Janssen in 17:45.62, good for the 21st spot. She had a lead of 44 seconds on Kassie Legate, who crossed the finish line in 18:28.99, good for 33rd place. Then came Vanessa Schellinger, who placed 38th in 18:59.19.

The other three KHS counters were Kristin Vogt (19:47.35) and Crystal Treptow (24:07.72) in 47th and 52nd places.

"A few personal bests today from Tonya, Kassie and Matt (Butzke in the JV meet, 22:30.06)," Drexler said. "Both Matt and Zack are realizing their potential, and their times and efforts are reflecting that."

One last comment from Drexler pertained to next week's Division 2 sectional at Mayville. "Bobby has one focus right now — to make it through sectionals" and advance to state.

EWC boys team standings: 1. Plymouth, 69 points; 2. Two Rivers, 70; 3. Kiel, 77; 4. Sheboygan Falls, 105; 5. New Holstein, 11; 6. Kewaskum, 122; 7. Roncalli, 146; 8. Campbellsport, 209.

Girls team standings: 1. Sheboygan Falls, 37; 2. Plymouth, 61; 3. Two Rivers, 95; 4. Campbellsport, 122; 5. Kiel, 144; 6. New Holstein, 150; 7. Roncalli, 157; 8. Kewaskum, 191.

Indians win 4th straight EWC title but can't get past Falls in the tourney

One goal is reached but another falls short

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

With a new format in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference volleyball competition, the Kewaskum High team had the possibility of doubling its fun ... but the team from Sheboygan Falls blocked the Indians' path toward winning the EWC Tournament title Saturday.

By finishing a perfect 7-0 in dual meet play, and after Saturday's semifinal win over Campbellsport, Kewaskum was crowned as conference champs. It was the Indians' fourth conference title in a row.

The tournament title went to Sheboygan Falls, which beat the Indians not once, but twice in the competition.

First Sheboygan Falls, which knocked off Plymouth in an early match Saturday, dealt the Indians a 25-27, 25-23 and 15-13 defeat in the thrilling final match of pool play at Sheboygan Falls.

Despite the Indians struggling with their digging, "the first game it was close," coach Renee Altendorf said. "There were a lot of back and forth points."

In Game 2, Sheboygan Falls shot out to an early lead, then, according to Altendorf, "Erika Heberer brought us back in the game by running off five straight serves, with two aces ... We just could not win the last two points."

Altendorf was confident her girls would play hard in the third and deciding game, but she didn't figure they would have as hard a time with their passing as they did.

"We played hard but needed to go a little harder to win," Altendorf said, adding, "This match I really needed Emily Aycock to step up her game, and she did a great job in the middle and as an outside." Aycock, a junior reserve, ended up with four kills and chipped in with three digs.

The highlights of the match were 27 kills and nine aces by the Indians. Bekki Heberer was on fire at the net, coming up with a sizzling 10 kills, followed by six kills by Christina DeGroot and Erika Heberer.

The ace leaders were DeGroot and the freshman, Erika Heberer. Each was credited with three.

"By losing this match, that made us second in our pool, and we had to play Campbellsport in the crossover," Altendorf said.

Campbellsport came out and beat Kewaskum 25-20 in the first game of their semifinal match, then the Indians got down to business and rolled to two straight wins, by scores of 25-10 and 15-5.

"The first game we could not do anything. We struggled with hitting and passing," the coach said. "We were not the same team that had just played a great match with Sheboygan Falls."

A whole new attitude seemed to take over in Game 2, as Kewaskum used nine straight serves by Erika Heberer (with one ace) to rebound. "This match was going our way," Altendorf said. "The passing and hitting were there."

The big momentum change sparked the Indians to be even more determined, according to Altendorf, who said, "We wanted it so bad. The first game we came out ready to play. In the third game, Christina served nine straight passes to win."

The Indians had earned a rematch with Sheboygan Falls, but unfortunately they could not reverse the earlier outcome. They did win Game 1 by a score of 25-19, then ran out of gas and fell 17-25 and 13-15 in the next two.

"The first game, we came out rolling," Altendorf said. "Everything was going our way."

Oh how fast their fortunes were reversed, however, as they fell behind 10-1 in the second game before battling back to 17.

"We could not pass on serve receive, and we could not get a hit in the court," Altendorf said, reporting Game 3 was tied 13-13 and "We just could not break the serve."

The results of the first and second matches in pool play are as follows:
Kewaskum vs. Two Rivers, 26-24 and 25-9.

Kewaskum had four blocks, including two by DeGroot, and the Indians came up with 19 kills, including six by both Heberer sisters and five by DeGroot.

Kewaskum started slow but in Game 2 had two big runs, one of nine points by Stephanie Rinzel and the other, a six-pointer by Bekki Heberer.

Kewaskum vs. New Holstein, 25-18 and 25-13.

The Indians had a whopping 10 aces, led by DeGroot's six, who had a run of seven jump serves in the first game, including four aces.

In Game 2, Emily Sedgwick came up with a run of seven serves, and "Stephanie Rinzel had a great game with 14 digs," according to Altendorf, who said Bekki Heberer's spiking was on, to the tune of seven kills.

Kewaskum hosted Mayville Tuesday night in an opening-round game of the Kettle Moraine Lutheran regional. The winner moves on to KML Friday night for the semifinals, and the finals will be held Saturday.

KHS spikers end regular season with a perfect mark

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

If there was any question about the Kewaskum High volleyball team bouncing back after a rather humbling finish in the recent Washington County Tournament, coach Renee Altendorf received the quick answer last Tuesday night at Campbellsport.

The Indians proved they are quick healers, bouncing back with a convincing 25-18, 25-19 and 25-23 victory over the host Cougars to end the dual meet season in Eastern Wisconsin Conference play with a perfect 7-0 record.

"This was a good match to end our dual season. The girls played hard and had a great match," Altendorf said, lauding the play of two of her seniors, Marissa Dehler and Bekki Heberer, and junior Christina DeGroot, the EWC's Player of the Year last season.

Using her powerful jump serve, DeGroot came up with six of the Indians' aces. Freshman Erika Heberer was next high with four.

DeGroot also contributed eight assists and eight of the Indians' 24 kills and came up with 10 digs.

"Bekki Heberer did a great job with her hitting," the coach said about one of her main hitters, who came up with six kills to go with 19 digs.

And returning to her old job as the team's Libero, Dehler had a good outing. "She did a great job digging," Altendorf said, looking at the fact Dehler came up with an amazing 34 digs.

Altendorf played all 11 of her girls and seven of them came up with one or more kills. Junior Emily Aycock had the most among the reserves, with four.

Altendorf said in the second game Erika Heberer started off the game with 10 serves, giving the Indians a 9-1 lead. The third game was the only one that was close, according to the coach, who said, "There was a lot of back and forth and when we would serve a run, we would lose it with bad serve receive. Still, in the end, the Indians prevailed."

Why is it that whenever you attempt to catch something that's falling off the table you always manage to knock something else over?

Ogi's run gives Kewaskum an exhilarating 13-7 win in two OTS

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

He didn't know what play his offensive coordinator had called, but Kewaskum High football coach Jason Piittmann sure liked the outcome.

On Kewaskum's first down of the second overtime, Eric Ogi, wingback, took a handoff from Nick Olla and sprinted to his left on a counter play. The blocking was good. There were just a couple Kiel defenders in his way, and the 150-pound senior spun out of their grasp as he darted into the end zone.

Game, set and match Kewaskum, by a score of 13-7, boosting their Eastern Wisconsin Conference record to 5-1, tied for first place with Plymouth, which ran roughshod over New Holstein, 42-21.

"We had been talking about running a counter. I wasn't sure what Rock (Dave Rockhill) had called," a drained Piittmann said afterward.

The Indians players, coaches and fans erupted after the marathon game, which ended with starting quarterback Casey Scheel sidelined by an injury he sustained while trying to pass on a fourth down with :44 remaining.

Several Kiel players converged on Scheel just as he prepared to throw, and it appeared as though the Raiders hit his right arm just as it started forward. Scheel was obviously in pain when he left the field, but beyond that, Piittmann wasn't sure how serious the injury was.

"He got hit as he was throwing the ball," the coach said, adding, "I don't know anything right now" concerning the seriousness of the injury or his status for Thursday's game at Campbellsport.

One thing Piittmann was certain of is how important Scheel is to the KHS offense. "He is a key part of our offense, and he's having a real good year," the coach said.

So who would Piittmann call on in relief if the Indians would get the ball back? John Holt, the junior who is listed as the backup and starts in the defensive secondary or the sophomore Olla, who has led the JV team to an impressive season.

Piittmann said right away the assistants lobbied for Olla. "Nick is used to our shotgun offense," Piittmann said.

Kewaskum didn't have to wait long to see Olla in action. On the first play after Kiel had taken over on downs, Mike Pfothenauer intercepted an Evan Walsh pass and bulled his way down the field to the Kiel 29-yard line.

At this point, KHS fans were thinking their team would score and end the game in regulation.

The Indians had too many men on the field for the first play, however, and were penalized five yards, then Olla kept the ball and picked up seven yards to the Kiel 28.

After a time out, Olla stepped back to pass but it was intercepted by Walsh, who hugged the ball and wisely went to the ground at the Kiel 11.

With 11 seconds in the half, Kiel coach Michael Nate wasn't about to gamble so he had Walsh take a knee, and time ran out.

In the first OT, going to the south end zone, Kewaskum started with a procedure penalty and after two incomplete passes, Kiel was whistled for pass interference, but it was not enough yardage for a first down.

Then, on fourth down, Olla fumbles, and Kiel's Ben Miller recovers.

Kiel gained just six yards on three rushing plays on its try to score from the 10, and then junior Corey Mathes missed a 20-yard field goal by a couple feet (wide of the left upright).

The Kiel scouts and even some of the Kewaskum people in the press box felt the kick was good, but the officials signaled no good.

The two teams stayed on the south side of the field for the second OT, and after two runs for five yards and an incomplete pass, Mathes tried another field goal, and this one was way off the mark.

Apparently Ogi wanted to go home because when he got the ball, he showed tremendous determination to score, and he did.

The carry was just Ogi's third for the night. The other counter tried by the Indians in the second quarter was stopped for a 10-yard loss.

For the game, Dan Shea was held to 43 yards in nine carries. Scheel completed 16 of 36 passes for 143 yards, and the one touchdown, a 10-yard strike to Matt Parrent with 28 seconds left in the second quarter, capping a 73-yard drive which started with 3:30 left on the clock. The big plays in the drive were an 11-yard option run by Scheel, a nine-yard carry by Jack Breese, a screen pass to Shea for nine yards and a key 13-yard pass to Parrent, putting the Indians on the Kiel 22.

This drive came after Josh Kurtz picked off a Scheel pass and rambled 85 yards for a touchdown.

Kewaskum threatened to score three times but each time came up empty. The Indian's first drive of the game ended with Scheel getting sacked for a 13-yard loss at the 35.

A high snap from center on a Kiel punt attempt gave the Indians the ball at Kiel's 18, but four plays later, Kurtz came up with his interception.

"Kiel, was what I expected, physical, tough play," Piittmann said. "They blitz a lot. They're strong. That's their game."

The Indian defense was just as strong and tough, holding Kiel to 81 yards rushing. Especially dominant were end Jake Turowski and the linebacker Pfothenauer. "He (Pfothenauer) even at one point said, 'Blitz me,'" Piittmann said, adding he was very pleased with the way Turowski, Logan Staeger and Ogi stuffed the sweep on the left side, and Mike Bunkelman and Joe Paulus did the same on the other side.

Kewaskum is at Campbellsport tonight.

The "big brown" seemed to be everywhere Sunday morning, and no, it wasn't the famous parcel delivery services ... just walkers and runners from in and around Kewaskum who were helping to raise scholarship money for Kewaskum High School students.

The annual KEYS (Kewaskum Youth Scholarship) Run/Walk took place, and this year the event drew 856 participants, all clad in brown t-shirts and dedicated to cover the five-kilometer course that wound around the west side of the community.

"We really got very lucky Sunday," race director Jerry Gosa said. "We had a good turnout, especially considering how bleak the weather had been the past week."

Gosa said 751 people had pre-registered, and, "We had 105 walkups," he said, reporting, "We had excellent support from our elementary schools."

The staff from the schools also turned out in full force to support the event. "We had 93 on the teachers' team, which is the most we've ever had."

While the large majority of participants are not serious runners, there are always some very fine athletes who enjoying coming to the event. A newcomer, Bethany Brewster of Madison, provided the highlight of the day. She won the event with a new record time of 16 minutes and 48 seconds (16:48).

"This time is incredibly fast," Gosa said. "She's a former UW-Madison runner. She knocked 50 seconds off the record," which was held by Sue Daggett-Miller (17:38).

Gosa said Brewster, who was in the 19-29 age group, finished in sixth place overall, and, "We've never had a woman finish that high up."

The overall winner was Milwaukee's Andy Ruffalo, who turned in an excellent 15:49. "He signed up Sunday morning," Gosa said, not knowing much else about the talented runner.

Finishing second overall was Brad Theyerl of Fond du Lac, with a time of 16:11.

"He (Theyerl) had been the last five, six years," Gosa said. "He just thinks we have the greatest course ... flat, with just enough turns."

Jason Meyer, a former New Holstein High and collegiate runner, who crossed the finish line in 16:20 was third overall.

"This was one of our better years," Gosa said. "We broke 1,000 once. That was seven or eight years ago."

Last year, KEYS awarded 29 scholarships totaling $82,500, quite an increase from the $500 award made its first year of existence, back in 1986.

"That represents the interest earned off what we have," plus some from what they take in from fund raisers like the run, Gosa said.

Gosa asked that anyone who did not receive his or her medal contact him, and the medal will be sent out.

The winners of the various age groups with their times are as follows:

Ages 1-7 — Maxwell Schickert, 29:34; and Hannah Benson, 33:05.

Age 8 — Tyler Lustig, 48:21 and Samantha Wiskirchen, 38:40.
