Village may establish extraterritorial zoning authority

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- The Village of Kewaskum will be investigating zoning review rights afforded through extraterritorial zoning. The Village's Planning Commission heard briefly about the program at their meeting last month. Village trustees attended a meeting Wednesday, November 8 to take possible action on a resolution in support of the measure.

Two weeks ago this newspaper reported that the town of Kewaskum recently approved an alteration to their zoning code that went into effect on November 1. The change was allowing less stringent guidelines with residential zoning. In March of 2006 the town updated their land use plan.

The village does have in its possession a list of properties in the township that are changing their zoning from agriculture to residential district.

Vanessa Kuehner, a senior planner for the village's engineering firm Ruekert Mielke, gave plan commission members a quick overview of rights the village maintains through extraterritorial zoning review rights. A state statute allows the village a 1.5-mile radius of zoning control outside their boundaries. However, proper cooperative steps with the adjoining town must be followed. This allows the village to exercise land use control over new development that otherwise might be incompatible with the village's future growth.

Increased development, valuation credited with lowering tax rate

Village taxpayers get a break

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Increased development in 2006 is one of the reasons taxpayers in the village will see a slight drop in the tax rate they will pay for 2007. That slight drop however, will be quickly eaten up by a 10 percent increase in their sewer bills partially because of that increased development. Ultimately, a balanced, $2,521,062 budget is up for vote.

In his final presentation to village trustees, village administrator Jay Shambeau recommended that the village proceed with a sewer rate increase in 2007. Shambeau stated that even with last year's large 36 percent increase, the utility could be in the red for 2006.

This comes after the utility began costing the village an exorbitant amount of money since 2004. Since that time, the village has installed a new outflow pipe at the wastewater treatment facility, along with the current construction of the lift station near the fire station.

Shambeau stated those costs will continue to rise as the village contemplates the replacement of the wastewater treatment facility.

The water utility has a brighter picture. A three percent increase will occur. The village has renegotiated contracts with two wireless phone companies who wish to place antennas on village water towers. Details in the contracts are still being hammered out, but they are anticipated to be a decent revenue source for the village. Shambeau stated that this increased revenue will assist in keeping rates affordable for customers.

The $51,767 line item for an Engineering Liason position has also been added. The village is currently looking into making that hire. If the village does not hire an individual, that money will go into the restricted fund.

The tax levy to be collected will be $1,219,942, a 12.35 percent increase. If approved at the budget hearing, village residents can expect a $6.51 rate for each $1,000 of equalized value for 2007.

Shambeau explained that the Village ultimately realizes a decrease in the tax rate because of adding $28,144,200 in equalized value. He also indicated that the village shall receive shared revenue of $301,091 from the state.

Village residents are encouraged to attend the budget hearing on Monday, November 27 at 7 p.m. in the village council hall. An electronic copy of the proposed budget can be found on our website at www.kewaskumstatesman.com

Rahn can't defeat Republican stronghold in county, Schmidt is new Sheriff

Some of the village's first voters are shown at 7 a.m. receiving ballots in Tuesday's election. Village Administrator Jay Shambeau stated that 1,359 voters took part in the fall Gubernatorial election. This was also the first chance many voters had using the new touch screen voting machine.

KEWASKUM- The village of Kewaskum along with neighboring municipalities reported no major problems with Tuesday's mid-term election. The only locally contested race saw Washington County Sheriff's Department Captain of Operations moving up the ladder to Sheriff.

Electing a Democrat as Sheriff in Washington County hasn't been done since 1980 and once again, voters elected a Republican as their Sheriff. Dale Schmidt defeated incumbent sheriff, Brian Rahn, a Democrat just shy of a 2-1 margin. Schmidt received 33,205 votes, while Rahn received 18,729.

A number of other county races were uncontested. Voting records show that out of the 84,790 registered voters in the county, more than half, 53,690 people voted Tuesday.

Voters in the town of Wayne had their own local referendum question on whether or not the town board should appoint the clerk and treasurer. Voters said with gusto to leave things as they are. A total of 845 town residents voted in the referendum with 603 voting against allowing the town board to choose the clerk and treasurer while 242 voted in favor of the idea.

Two referendum questions across the state received significant approval from voters. The first, an amendment to the State's constitution requiring that marriage be only between a male and female, received approval from 1,256,208 voters. Forty perfect or 858,259 people voted against the amendment.

The second question, an advisory referendum on bringing back the death penalty in the State received approval from 1,159,543 voters while 928,355 voted against the idea.

Voters across the state gave Governor Jim Doyle and Lieutenant Governor Barbara Lawton, Democrats another four years. The pair strongly defeated Republicans Mark Green and Jean Hundertmark 1,135,714 to 976,670. Green party candidate Nelson Eisman received 40,837 votes.

Republican J.B. Van Hollen will become Attorney General of the state after defeating Democrat Kathleen Falk 1,060,896 to 1,051,653. It was reported that Van Hollen went to sleep Tuesday evening, not knowing if he was indeed the winner.

Second time was a charm for Democrat Dawn Marie Sass who upset Republican Jack Voight who has served four terms as the state's treasurer. Sass received 965,952 to Voight's 957,375. Libertarian candidate Tim Peterson received 59,403 votes while Green party candidate Winston Sephus received 56,957 votes.

Republican F. James Sensenbrenner received support from 190,655 voters getting himself another term. His Democratic opponent Bryan Kennedy received 110,370 votes. Trailing behind Kennedy were Green party candidate Bob Levis with 4,314 votes and Independent Robert Raymond with 3,446.

Democrat Herb Kohl also received another term garnering 1,435,498 votes. Republican challenger Robert Lorge received 628,688 votes. Independent Ben Glatzel received 24,399 and Green party candidate Rae Vogeler received 42,274.

New leaf collection going well

Hose handler Craig Gruber sucks up leaves along First Street in the village of Kewaskum while Dennis Aupperle assists with raking. The Department of Public Works' new leaf collection trailer has been working well according to DPW lead man Alan Kuehl. The village is nearing the end of the collection process but overall for its first year of use it went extremely well.

Village zoning

Kuehner explained that the village could also order a one-mile zoning freeze one and a half miles around the perimeter where the village and township meet. However she recommended this only as a last result.

Once the village decides they want to execute their rights to extra territorial zoning rights, a joint extra-territorial zoning committee between the municipalities will be formed. The final adopted village zoning ordinance for the extraterritorial area must be approved by a majority of that joint committee. Consequently, ETZ is impossible without at least one town vote.

Land developer Gary Gavin, who was in attendance at the meeting, told the plan commission that the township made a provision to change their residential zoning to a one-acre density.

Village President Matt Heiser asked Kuehner about agriculture preservation districts and how that would come into play. This district is commonly referred to as exclusive agriculture (EA) zoning. This zoning affords a land owner using their land for agriculture, a significant tax savings but restricts land use extensively.

Gavin also gave commissioners his view of why the sudden change in the township's zoning and land use map, stating "EA (zoning) was put on there by Mr. Stoffel, the Butzlaffs and the Dorns. The Dorns wanna sell their farm so they change it. The Butzlaff's wanna sell. So all the people that were fighting for this EA (zoning), all these farmers are now retiring and wanna sell their property. That is what it boils down to. Mr. Dorn wants to sell his property and move to Ohio, the Butzlaffs wanna move. This was all set up many years ago. They were trying to preserve all this land for the farmers. You get the tax break, make sure nobody was going to convert anything less than 35 acres so that the value of the property would stay down. Now they all want to retire and (with the zoning change) the value will go up, that's the gist of the story."

The Statesman will post the results of this meeting on their website, www.kewaskumstatesman.com by Thursday morning.

Doc Mitchell Athletic Complex proposed

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Kewaskum Board of Education members will soon decide if they want to name Kewaskum High School's track and football field. The idea of naming the football field first surfaced in 2004 when a group of citizens wished to name the football field after former KHS coach and principal Ernie "Doc" Mitchell.

At the Board of Education's November meeting that will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, November 13, a proposal to begin calling the combined track and football field an athletic complex will be heard. The board will also decide if the "complex" should be named after Mitchell.

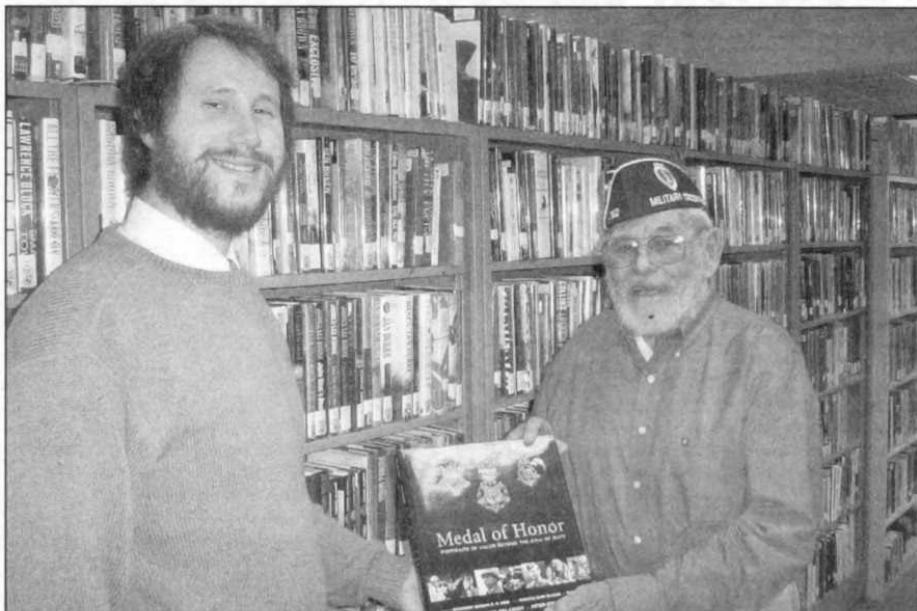

The board voted against naming the field in 2005. At that time, board policy stated that any vote on naming of a district facility had to be a unanimous vote. That policy was changed in 2006. Today, only two of those board members who voted against the naming remain on the board.

Kewaskum High School principal Chris Horbas stated "It is important to note that naming the athletic complex is being distinguished as different than naming the football field. As an Ad Hoc Committee of the Board, they do not want anybody to perceive that we are saying one football coach is more important or should be more distinguished than another football coach."

Horbas, speaking on behalf of the committee stated, "What the committee is saying is that this man, Ernie Mitchell, who was a founder of athletics for the Kewaskum School District is worthy to have a facility that encompasses multiple sports named after him." This reporter was unable to confirm records of Mitchell's role in implementing Kewaskum's school sports.

District residents are asked to contact their board of education members to voice their opinion or ask questions. The board will review the proposal at the November meeting but by policy, they cannot act on it until the December meeting.

'Medal of Honor' presented to KPL

"Medal of Honor," a Portrait of Valor Beyond the Call of Duty, was presented to Steven Baker, left, librarian of the Kewaskum Public Library by the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Department of Wisconsin Chapter and United 162 Winnebago Land. Elmer Hallen, right, a three-time Purple Heart Veteran was the presenter on behalf of the Military Order of the Purple Heart. The book has been given in honor of combat wounded veterans. It is a compilation of Medal of Honor recipients with their stories and pictures, now and then. Statesman photo: Andrew Kuehl

Thankful Remembrance

By: John A. Scocos,
Secretary, WDVA

For those who have served, it is no secret that service in the U.S. armed forces is a high risk proposition. Military service is often demanding and dangerous, and federal VA data bears that out.

Since the middle of the last century, each new U.S. war has seemed to have left a particular trademark affecting some of those veterans who served.

In the Korean War - long the "Forgotten War" - the profusion of cold weather injuries brought on by prolonged open, and often near motionless exposure to frigid temperatures in wet and dirty conditions have resulted in a host of chronic health conditions.

For veterans of the Vietnam War, an array of cancers and other serious health conditions has been linked to their exposure to the dioxin contained in the Agent Orange sprayed to kill off the steaming jungle undergrowth that hid enemy soldiers. Agent Orange has led to the early demise of countless thousands of veterans while leaving many thousands more debilitated.

Sixteen years later, the 1991 Gulf War, despite its relatively low rate of war casualties, left tens of thousands of veterans with a myriad of health conditions that include high rates of brain cancer, testicular cancer, Lou Gehrig's disease, asthma, and chronic multi-symptom illnesses following a virtual toxic soup of hazardous exposures. All that, and yet, after another 16 years there is still no clear way to connect the dots in some unifying way that might help these ailing veterans, or to help prevent similar outcomes in the future.

In Iraq and increasingly in Afghanistan, the technological advances in personal protective equipment that help save lives from the ever present threat of improvised explosive devices - IEDs - have also enabled the rise of the resulting signature health condition of these new wars - traumatic brain injury, or TBI - as well as complex, lasting injuries of extremities and areas not protected by body armor.

And after every war in recorded history, there have also been substantial numbers of veterans who have returned home with what is today recognized as Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), a condition that can be severely disabling, particularly if left untreated.

Recent reports show that over 90% of those serving in the war in Iraq will see actual combat, with as high as 40% of those serving returning home with PTSD.

In addition to elevated risk of death, disease, and disability by wartime service, our military service men and women have served willingly in countless roles, both state-side and overseas: from the long, cold patrols along the Demilitarized-Zone (DMZ) on the Korean peninsula, to training soldiers in the developing world; from patrolling near Soviet territory deep below the ocean's icy cold waters to standing alert in subterranean missile silos during the darkest hours of the Cold War; from dropping precious cargo in humanitarian relief missions in Berlin, Kurdistan, and Bangladesh to flying critical intelligence-gathering missions over Cuba and the Communist Bloc; from aiding in anti-nuclear proliferation efforts and counter-insurgency, counter-narcotic, and counter-terrorist operations. In the military, the distinction between "wartime" and "peacetime" service is frequently murky.

Every veteran has a story to tell, one that often varies widely from the experiences of the next. However, the sense of alert readiness, of living every moment on perpetual standby for thoroughly and frequently practiced wartime duties that may come at virtually any moment day or night, weekday or holiday, is a defining aspect of military life, one that is uncommon in the civilian sector.

And understandably, every veteran may not always be willing to share his or her military experiences, particularly with those who may not understand what it may have been like to have been forced to make difficult choices with profound consequences.

And therefore, it is even more important that at least on this one day every year - on Veterans Day, the anniversary of the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month, marking the armistice ending the War to End All Wars - that we pay thankful remembrance to all our military service men and women who have donned our nation's uniforms with the certainty of hardship, separation, and sacrifice in locations flung across the globe, and the very real risks of injury, illness, suffering, and even death. We are thankful that they do so willingly so that we at home do not have to.

John A. Scocos is the Secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs

Organizers Stautz and Geidel say Santa has confirmed visit 'Kaleidoscope Christmas' is theme for Kewaskum Christmas Parade

KEWASKUM- The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce has begun plans for their annual Christmas Parade. This year's parade, themed Kaleidoscope Christmas, will be held here on Sunday, December 3.

Kevin Stautz oversees the parade for The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce with Mike Geidel. He says they are looking for participants for the parade. "This parade's past success has been built on the people who have floats and entries, we are just simply the conductors," stated Stautz.

That being said, those interested in participating with entries should download the entry form from the Chamber's website, www.kewaskum.org or use the form on this page. Forms can also be picked up at the Village Hall and Library.

The 17th annual parade will take place at 5 p.m. and will proceed through downtown Kewaskum. Lineup will take place in back of Kewaskum High School like last year. "Not much has really changed from previous years," Stautz said. He encouraged groups to pre-register, as they will be put in the parade lineup first. Lineup will begin promptly at 3 p.m. Groups are encouraged to be there no later than 4 p.m.

Walking units can meet inside the Kewaskum High School gym and will be let out to the route from the back of the building.

Santa Claus' office has confirmed his appearance during the parade and he will be the finale. The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors will announce the Parade Marshall in an upcoming edition of The Statesman.

As in year's past, monetary prizes will be awarded. For competition there will be two classes, with four prizes in each class. Class one will include civic organizations and businesses. The top prizes in that class will be $150, $100, $75 and $50 respectively. Class two will be youth and walking groups. The prize structure for class two is $100, $75, $50 and $25 respectively.

To assist in offsetting the cost of the event, the Chamber is looking for local businesses to help sponsor the parade. Those interested in helping can contact Stautz at 262-483-4421 or 262-626-6617.

The Chamber will again have a steak sandwich stand in the downtown parking lot.

A special groundbreaking ceremony was held Friday, October 30, marking the beginning of construction work which will bring River Bend Cablevision's cable TV service to the Village of Kewaskum.

Prize winners for the best costumes at the Kewaskum PTO Community Halloween Party were Jessica Wichtowski, Sean Schneider, James Dionne, Joy Castro, J.P. Gayan, Ginger Wiesner, Jean Herriges and Heather Uhlmann.

With Kewaskum leading at the time, Plymouth came through with a last minute touchdown to edge the Indians 12-7, in the final game of the season here Wednesday night. The setback left Kewaskum with a 3-3 record and fifth place in the conference.

A daughter, Jacqueline Donna, was born to Dennis and Mary Theisen, Campbellsport, on October 31. A daughter was also born to James and Sharon Staehler, Waukesha, on October 27. The Staehlers are former residents of Kewaskum. Maternal grandparents are

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Faber, Route 1, Allenton, and maternal grandmother is Mrs. Joan Staehler of Kewaskum.

50 Years Ago

November 9, 1956

Voters of the Village and Town of Kewaskum followed the trend throughout the county, state and nation by giving the Republican candidates a clean sweep in Tuesday's presidential election. Along with President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard Nixon's re-election, all of the GOP candidates for state and county offices were victorious. A record vote of 678 persons cast their ballots at the polls here.

Mrs. Kathryn Gruendeman has opened a beauty salon in her home on Habeck and Kewaskum streets under the name of Kathryn's Beauty Salon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Spradau of Route 3, West Bend, took over the Sportsmen's Bar at the intersection of Main Street and Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum on November 1, from Charles Vander Hoek who had operated the tavern since last July 1.

The Woman's Club Scholarship Ball held on November 3 in the high school gym was a complete success and they are happy to announce ticket sales went over the top and the club realized more than the needed $100, which will be placed in the scholarship fund.

Edwin "King" Backus, 62, retired on November 1 as a rural letter carrier on Route 2 out of Kewaskum after completing 39 years in the government service. A lifelong resident of Kewaskum, he is a son of the late Henry and Alvina Backus.

Henry Rosenheimer of Kewaskum had the rare honor of rolling a 297 score in his third game while bowling in his league with the L. Rosenheimer team at King Pin Lanes in Campbellsport Tuesday night. Hank connected for 11 strikes in a row and spoiled a perfect 300 game by hitting seven pins on his last ball.

A son, Thomas Steven, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schoofs, Kewaskum, on October 24. A son was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gruendemann, Route 2, Kewaskum, on November 1.

The senior class play, "My Irish Rose" will be presented on November 12 and 13. The cast of characters includes Earl Kurth, Lloyd Hron, Armond Schaefer, Leo Gatzke, Arnold Dorn, Leroy Beilke, Lucille Heberer, Florence Kumrow, Sylvia Klein, Erna Dorn, Amanda Meilahn and Edna Bier.

A Studebaker sedan, owned by Walter Muckerheide, residing about two miles west of Kewaskum on Highway 28, was totally destroyed by fire last Sunday evening after it left the road and tipped upside down. While driving south on Hwy. V, about one mile north of Kewaskum, the driver, Miss Amelia Muckerheide, in some manner lost control of the machine which left the road, and in an attempt to bring it back on the highway, the car tipped, rolled over and came to a stop bottom side up, caught fire and was totally destroyed. Luckily the glass of the windows in the car were broken allowing occupants Agnes Muckerheide, Mr. and Mrs. John Thull and daughter, Mae, to clear themselves from the wreck before the fire had gained any great headway.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Gruber of Kewaskum on Tuesday. A son was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dreher of Kewaskum on Wednesday.

From Baghdad with Love

By Lieutenant Colonel Jay Kopelman

The Lyons Press $22.95 196 Pages

A Marine, the War, and a Dog Named Lava

From Baghdad, With Love

Lieutenant Colonel Jay Kopelman with Melinda Roth

According to some accounts, we Americans spent well over $36 billion on our pets last year.

That's an awful lot of dog food, kitty litter, puppy beds, catnip toys, boxes-o-bones, and squeaky chews.

We're smitten with kittens, we're doggy delirious and we'd do almost anything for our pets. Some people, in fact, would literally go to the ends of the earth to save the life of a puppy. In "From Baghdad with Love" by Lieutenant Colonel Jay Kopelman with Melinda Roth, you'll read about a tough Marine who's turned into a marshmallow by a "soldier" on four fuzzy legs.

Jay Kopelman had been in the Marines for a long time. He served years ago, got out, worked an assortment of unrelated jobs and re-upped after 9/11. Kopelman is a Lieutenant Colonel, and a guy doesn't get to be a Lieutenant Colonel without knowing the rules better than he knows his name.

Rule Number One-A clearly states: Prohibited activities for service members under General Order 1-A include adopting as pets or mascots, caring for or feeding any type of domestic or wild animal.

So why did Kopelman fall in love with a puppy on a makeshift base in Fallujah?

He wondered that himself.

The pup was found in an abandoned building, all alone and starving. He couldn't have been but six weeks old, but he already had an attitude. An elite group of Marines discovered the little guy and brought him back to camp. Since they called themselves the Lava Dogs, the pup got the name Lava.

Kopelman tried to distance himself from the dog, but it was hard to do when the mutt insisted on sleeping on Kopelman's cot and peeing on his boots. Before long, Kopelman owned a dog and Lava owned the heart of a tough, taught-to-kill Marine.

But there was a problem: Kopelman was about to be sent home for good and there was no way Lava could get on the plane with him. Most Iraqis hate dogs, so Kopelman knew that abandoning Lava in Iraq would mean certain death for the pup. Waging a campaign of emails to save his friend, Kopelman finally found a way to get Lava back to the states. But how would he ever get him to the airport in time?

There have been dozens of books written about Iraq, the Iraqis, and the war, but this one has a feel-good ending and it will make you smile. Consider "From Baghdad with Love" as this year's "Marley & Me" in camouflage. Lieutenant Colonel Jay Kopelman tells his and Lava's story with humor, slight gee-whiz-what-am-I-doing embarrassment, and a whole lotta puppy love. Be aware that there are some "four-letter words," but it's not gratuitous and fits in with the Marine-tough narrative.

If you're a veteran of any war, you're going to identify with "From Baghdad with Love." If you're a dog lover, you're going to want to buy it for yourself and - at considerably less than $36 billion - it's a wonderful gift for all your likewise doggish friends.

Schrader, of Cedarburg. He will also be greatly missed by his niece, Sarah; and nephews, Dakota, Jacob, and Colton; all of whom Jamie held a special, deep love for; in addition to other very special relatives and dear friends. Jamie was preceded in death by his grandfathers, Peter Nehrbass and Emmet Rossow; one uncle, James Nehrbass; and his aunt and uncle, Brinda and Todd Kistenmacher.

A Memorial Service in honor of Jamie took place on Sunday, November 5, 2006 at 3:00 p.m. at the Phillip Funeral Home Chapel, West Bend, with Pastor Schoob officiating.

Family visited with friends from 1:30p.m. until the time of the Memorial Service at 3:00 p.m. at the funeral home. Cremation took place at Paradise Cremation Services of West Bend.

She married Floyd W. Martin in 1947 and they moved to Villa Park, Ill. in 1950. There they raised four children, all of whom survive: a daughter, Lonnie (Tim) Farr of Crystal Lake, Ill.; and three sons: Robert W. Martin of Park Ridge, Ill., Rev. James (Rev. Jennifer Dawson) Martin of Sheboygan Falls and Les Martin of West Bend.

She is further survived by seven grandchildren, Chris D'Antonio, Michelle Thompson, Elizabeth Martin Cliffe, Andrew Martin, William Farr, Michelle Farr and Nicole Farr; six great-grandchildren; a brother, Frank (Violet) Nicol of Washington; and a sister-in-law, Barbara Nicol of Oregon.

Harriett's husband, Floyd, died in 2001.

A service in thanksgiving for Harriett's life was held at Saron United Church of Christ, in rural Sheboygan Falls on Sunday, Nov. 5 at 6:30 p.m.

A time of visitation with the family was held from 4 p.m. until the service.

Revs. James Martin, Jennifer Dawson and Eric Kirkegaard officiated.

Cremation has taken place.

In lieu of flowers, a memorial fund has been established in her name.

Myrhum-Patten Funeral and Cremation Service of West Bend assisted the family.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of EDNA STANGE, who passed away five years ago, Nov. 8, 2001.

Death is a heartache, no one can heal.

Memories are keepsakes, no one can steal.

Beautiful memories are all we have left,

Of a wonderful mother we will not forget.

NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

O holy St. Jude Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance.

Help me in my present urgent petition. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked, say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and three Glorias. St. Jude pray for us, and all who invoke your aid. Amen.

This Novena has never been known to fail. This Novena must be said for 9 consecutive days, and publication must be promised.

PUBLIC NOTICE Town of Wayne Budget Hearing

Notice is hereby given that on Wednesday, November 15, 2006 at 7:30 pm a public hearing will be held before the Town Board of the Town of Wayne regarding the proposed budget for 2007 at the Town Hall, 6030 Mohawk Rd, Campbellsport, WI. The proposed budget is as follows:

SPENDING PLAN	BUDGET PROPOSED 2007
	2006	2007
ADMINISTRATION	$120,000.00	$125,000.00
PUBLIC WORKS	$175,000.00	$180,000.00
PUBLIC SAFETY	$ 85,000.00	$ 93,000.00
RECYCLE	$ 8,500.00	$ 9,000.00
CAPITOL IMPROVEMENT	$350,000.00	$415,000.00
RESERVE [CONTINGENCY FUND]	$ 15,000.00	$ 0.00
EQUIPMENT REPLACEMENT		$ 35,000.00
TOTAL BUDGET	$753,500.00	$857,000.00

The proposed budget does not result in an increase in the Tax Levy for the Town of Wayne. The Levy is proposed to remain the same for the fourth year in a row. The increased administrative expense is for modest salary increases for Town Officials. The increase in Public Works and Capitol Improvement is for road maintenance and work on Townline Rd. We have finally secured all the permits from the County, DNR and Corps of Engineers and hope to complete the project in 2007. The increase in Public Safety is based upon the 1/2 mil the volunteer fire department receives from the Town of Wayne and reflects the increase in property values. We propose to eliminate the contingency fund and implement an equipment replacement fund.

The budget will be based upon the following anticipated income:

ESTIMATED INCOME
REVENUE SHARING	$ 32,000.00
ROAD AIDS	$105,000.00
TIPPING FEES	$ 10,500.00
RECYCLING GRANT	$ 6,300.00
INTEREST	$ 15,000.00
SURPLUS FUNDS TRANSFER	$463,200.00
TAX LEVY	$225,000.00
TOTAL	$857,000.00

A special meeting of the Electors will be held to approve the proposed road expenditures of $595,000.00 (the sum of the Public Works and Capitol Improvement line items).

Clerk

An open letter to Wisconsin deer hunters

By all accounts the stage seems set for deer hunters to have a great season this year. The herd is large, farmers are working hard to get their crops in and with a little cooperation from the weather, conditions seem almost ideal.

Hunting has never been better in Wisconsin. Wisconsin ranks number one among states for single year harvest (618,275 in 2000) and also is number one among states for deer harvest over the past decade. Over the past 40 years the number of deer harvested per licensed hunter has doubled, annual harvests are up 400 percent and deer hunting retail sales pump $535 million into the state economy.

Through the Knowles-Nelson Stewardship fund, we're also making sure that hunters have access to public lands. Governor Doyle has made maintaining the Stewardship Fund a top priority. As a result, more than 160,000 acres of Wisconsin's lakes, rivers, and forests have been protected in the last four years - not only preserving land, but also ensuring that all of our children and grandchildren will have a place to go to hunt and fish, not just the ones lucky enough to own a piece of land.

I'm also pleased to say that we're doing a good job spending your license dollars effectively, a responsibility we take very seriously. A recent audit reported that 98 percent of your license dollars benefits hunting and fishing.

Wisconsin boasts 600,000-plus active deer hunters, but we realize that the enjoyment of deer hunting is measured one hunter at a time. The memories we take away from the season's hunt are the ones we experience from our stump or our stand and the people we are with.

This year, the department has made a number of changes hunters asked for - changes we hope will increase your deer hunting enjoyment. We're trying a two-year moratorium on October gun antlerless deer hunting; we've created a statewide four-day antlerless hunt in early December with unlimited cheap antlerless deer tags available in all the herd control units; we've simplified tagging and carefully explained tagging in this year's deer regulations; and again this year, every hunter shouldn't be too far from a participating venison donation meat processor so no game is wasted.

Last season we put the Earn-a-Buck prequalification program in place at your request. We've navigated a few bumps in the road in getting this program going but it's been a great success. In a couple weeks, more than 70,000 hunters will hit the woods in Earn-a-Buck units with a buck harvest sticker in their pocket because they shot an antlerless deer last year in those units. And, since these buck stickers are not weapon specific, there's still time to take an antlerless deer with your bow and use the resulting buck sticker with your gun this year.

We've cut back greatly on the number of hunting days in the chronic wasting disease (CWD) management zones. You asked us to modify the CWD zone season to rekindle the excitement of an opening day, we listened. We also made the entire deer hunting season in the CWD zones unlimited either sex. Last year we tested for CWD in the northeast region; this year we test in the west central area and next year in the north. While we work to contain this disease in the south, it's important that we remain alert for signs of it in other areas of our state.

Hunting is the most effective tool we have for managing Wisconsin's deer population. Your efforts help to balance deer with their habitat and our social tolerance for them. We have a large herd again this year: It's estimated at 1.5 to 1.7 million. Many of our management units are over population goals. We need every hunter and hunting party to harvest two antlerless deer for every buck to get a handle on deer numbers.

While we're excited about this year's prospects and I hope you are too, I'd be remiss if I didn't remind every hunter and hunting camp that the number one thing on everyone's mind should be safety. Each and every day as you head out into the field think about safety. Continually ask yourself if what you are doing is safe for you, safe for the people you hunt with and safe for the hunters in the woods around you. As hunters, our goal should be an incident-free season.

Good luck.
Scott Hassett

Trio of Lady Indians are honored in EWC volleyball voting

Gosse returns as head girls basketball coach

Left to right, Christina DeGroot, Bekki Heberer and Marissa Dehler were all named to the Eastern Wisconsin all-conference volleyball team.

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Christina DeGroot and Marissa Dehler were "givens" on this year's Eastern Wisconsin all-conference volleyball team, but when the Indians also had Bekki Heberer named to the first unit, it was like a clean sweep for coach Renee Altendorf.

DeGroot, the Player of the year for 2005, finished second in the individual balloting, which ended with no Player of the Year being named.

"The votes were divided between Christina and the girl from Sheboygan Falls," Altendorf said Sunday, reporting Kelsey Mauer of the tournament champion Sheboygan Falls team ended up No. 1 in number of votes received while DeGroot was second.

When fans think of DeGroot, her jump serve and all-around talent make her stand out. "She had 188 jump serves attempts with 56 aces (just under 30 percent)," Altendorf said, reporting the 5-foot-9 DeGroot also came up with 90 digs and 102 assists.

"For her hitting, she had 194 attempts and 72 kills," Altendorf reported. Both are team highs.

Concerning DeGroot's major assets, Altendorf said, "Her serving really helped us out a lot," and, "She was able to run our offense" efficiently.

What Altendorf really likes about DeGroot is the way she has been a role model for the freshman Erika Heberer. "She will work with her one more year, then I expect Erika to take over," the coach said.

Dehler, who is the team's Libero and spends much of the time near the floor digging up balls that most would give up on, also boasted some great statistics and was praised by the second-year coach.

"Marissa had 210 serve receptions, with only 10 errors," Altendorf said, adding Dehler came up with a whopping 205 digs in conference play.

When Becky Rodenkirch went out with a thumb injury, Dehler moved into the regular rotation for one match, and while she did very well spiking in that game, "It really showed we needed her in the back row," Altendorf said.

When asked what she will miss most about Dehler's play, Altendorf said, "I'm going to say her being able to read the defenses," and, "just her all out push on the court."

Heberer's play in the front line earned her a berth with the elite players in the conference.

"I expected her to make the first team. I pushed for her to be on the first (team)," said Altendorf about Heberer, who won the final spot on the first unit.

The elder of the Heberer sister act, Bekki had 134 service attempts with nine aces, and she had 193 kill attempts, with 67 kills and just 19 errors.

Heberer wasn't just an offensive player. She also helped the Indians defensively, evidenced by her 143 digs.

"When we needed a point or a side out, Bekki was the one we would get the ball to," Altendorf said.

Kewaskum, which won the conference dual meet title but finished second behind Sheboygan Falls in the EWC Tournament, had no players on the second unit. Freshman Erika Heberer received honorable mention in the balloting.

Heberer adjusted quickly to varsity volleyball play and was one of the Indians' leading servers and passers. Her stats included 189 serves with 26 aces (second on the team) and just 13 errors. She also had 47 kills and 120 assists.

Campbellsport, which finished about the middle of the EWC standings, had two players, senior Kallie Benike and Libero Alyssa McGray, named to the second team. Bry Timblin, who transferred from Kewaskum High to Campbellsport last year, was given honorable mention.

The EWC will take on a new look next year, as Roncalli departs to a league with smaller enrollments, similar to its population, and Waupun takes its place.

Volleyball fans are already awaiting some big matchups between the Indians and Warriors, who had their four-year state championship (Division 2) run end this year.

"I think it's going to be a good challenge for my girls," Altendorf said, but she's not conceding anything to the Warriors. "They lost some of their big girls. They weren't able to win state this year. They're just like any other team ... just because it's Waupun, it doesn't matter."

The Indians had hoped for a chance to play the Warriors in the Waupun Invitational but that didn't materialize because the Indians lost their first three matches and ended up seventh in the event.

He's back.

After a one-year break, Jeff Gosse is returning as the head girls basketball coach at Kewaskum High School.

Gosse was selected over two other candidates who applied for the job, according to Tom Fischer, the associate principal at KHS.

"The decision was made last Wednesday," Fischer said Monday. "We interviewed three people. Only one was in-house."

Gosse had coached girls basketball for several years, then relinquished the job after the 2004-05 season. Dave Kraft took over the job last year, and with just one senior, the team did not win a single game.

Kraft, who works at Harley Davidson in Milwaukee, resigned last spring, saying the time commitment with coaching and his work load was too much to handle.

Charles Kazel was hired to replace Kraft but resigned recently for personal reasons, according to Jason Piittmann, the athletic director at the school.

Girls basketball practice opened Monday. The Lady Indians play their first game on Nov. 21, hosting West Bend East in a non-conference game.

Freshmen follow suit, also have a great season

The Kewaskum High School freshmen football team also went undefeated this year and in honor of that accomplishment, the players decided to shave their heads. Thirty four of the thirty five students shaved each others heads after school at their victory party.

The Kewaskum High freshman football team was just about as good as the junior varsity.

One tie kept them from joining the unbeaten ranks, according to coach Tim Rohlinger, who said the biggest game of the season came right near the end when his young Indians rallied to tie Kiel 8-8.

Otherwise the Kewaskum team won convincingly, including the first two games when it started out with a 38-14 decision over Roncalli, followed by a 58-14 rout of Two Rivers.

Not even Plymouth managed to challenge the Indians, who pounded the Panthers by a score of 42-6.

Sheboygan Falls, normally a power in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, was able to hold Kewaskum to two touchdowns but could not score on the Indians, who won 14-0.

Then came wins over New Holstein (34-8) and Campbellsport (45-0) surrounding the Kiel decision.

"We had several lopsided victories, but the most memorable one was the come-from-behind tie with Kiel," Rohlinger said. "We were down 8-0 with three minutes to play and were able to score and convert the two-point conversion."

Scoring the touchdown for the Indians was Cody Seibel on a short run, and Jordan Blank caught a pass from Cody Lemke for the all-important extra point.

The big play in the drive was a halfback pass from Seibel to C.J. Bowe. The play covered 30 yards.

There are no sudden deaths in freshman football so the score stayed at 8-all.

"(This is) a group of kids that played very well as a team," Rohlinger said. "This class has the right type of player in several of the key positions."

Rohlinger said it was very satisfying to beat Sheboygan Falls and to hold Campbellsport without a first down was also memorable.

O'Handley, Cody Seibel, Dillon Engelman, Mike Eggert, Beau Backhaus, Steven Chapman, Dan Treptow, Andrew Luedke, Derik Muckerheide, Scott Steldt, Jacob Imler, Jason Sabel, Brad Wolf, Dylan Tischendorf, Weston Rodenkirch, Cody Enright, Brian Bottelman, Jacob O'Brien, Josh Boettcher, Saylor Gilbert, C.J. ## Top notch wrestling clinician coming to Kewaskum

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Young wrestlers living in the Kewaskum area have a great opportunity coming up this weekend.

The newly formed Kewaskum Indians Wrestling Club (KIWC) is offering an excellent clinic Sunday, Nov. 12 in the Kewaskum High Auxiliary Gym from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

Officials of KIWC have landed one of the top collegiate coaches in the state, Mike DeRoehn, to direct the free clinic. DeRoehn is the head coach at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh.

According to KIWC president Joel Dziedzic, DeRoehn was recently named as Wisconsin Wrestling Federation State coach, which, Dziedzic says, means, "he is in charge of promoting the sport of wrestling in Wisconsin and coaching Wisconsin teams on the national level."

The doors open at 10:30 a.m., and officials of the KIWC, Dziedzic, and vice president Dennis Aupperle, have stressed the clinic is for experienced wrestlers and also for boys and girls who have never wrestled and would like to find out what the sport is all about. It is open to all young people from kindergarten through eighth grade.

Clinic participants will have to register with a parent or guardian. It will be necessary for them to sign a waiver form before the clinic gets under way. Participants should bring shorts, T-shirt and wres-ting or athletic shoes.

"I'm extremely excited for the start of the Kewaskum Indians Wrestling Club. We have received a tremendous amount of support from everyone in the community!" Dziedzic said. "With the high school team doing well the past few years, wrestling is gaining a lot of interest."

In past years, many youth wrestlers have been members of the clubs in West Bend or Campbellsport, and now Kewaskum has its own club and will stress fundamentals in its approach to coaching the sport.

"We are also hosting a youth (K-8) tournament on Saturday, Jan. 6," Dziedzic said.

For those who missed the KIWC registration Monday, there is still time to sign up with Dziedzic or Aupperle. The club registration fee is $45, which includes a club T-shirt and USA Wrestling card. If there are two wrestlers in one family, the second one is charged $40. A deposit of $10 is also required for the rental of a club singlet.

Practices will be held from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday evenings in the Kewaskum High School Auxiliary Gym, according to Dziedzic, who said the first practice is Monday, Nov. 13th. For additional information, Dziedzic can be contacted at 262-224-7645 and Aupperle's telephone number is 626-1008.

The KIWC also has a web site at kewaskumwrestling.com.

Passing attack saves the day; Kewaskum wins a 29-26 thriller

Indians stage amazing comeback after falling behind 18-0

Waupun running back Wade Williams is brought down by two Indians defenders in the first half of Saturday's Level 3 game in Kewaskum. After falling behind 18-0, the Indians outscored the Warriors 29-8 the rest of the way to win the game 29-26. Statesman photos by Judy Harlow

After a slow start, the defensive unit of the Kewaskum football team came alive and used gang tackling to halt the Waupun runners. Above, Jake Turowski (60) and Jon Wicklund (9) converge on Luke Marwitz. Ready to help out is Tom Thull (55).

When its running game was stymied Saturday evening, the Kewaskum High football team went to its potent air attack and turned in what has to be one of the most thrilling comeback efforts ever recorded in Division 3 playoff action.

Down 18-0 late in the first half to a very fine Waupun team (10-2), the Indians put together an impressive 70-yard drive before the break, then scored twice more in the third quarter to take the lead, lost the lead for 42 seconds and regained it for a 29-26 victory.

The win puts Kewaskum, now 11-1, among the "final four" of Division 3 for the second year in a row, and now the only team that stands between the Indians and a trip to Camp Randall Stadium in Madison is Greendale, a 28-10 winner over Madison Edgewood.

"We've mentioned Madison in practice," KHS coach Jason Piittmann said, but only in the context of the one-game-at-a-time approach he has been stressing during the playoffs. "It's still a dream, but now it's a lot closer to reality."

The reality of losing the game was certainly evident in the early stages of the game as Waupun shredded Kewaskum's defense, going 70 yards on its first drive to score with 7:40 left in the period.

Waupun QB Ryan Rasmussen broke free for a 50-yard option run to the KHS 11, then on a fourth down, Matt Pollock dove for three yards and got a first down on the 1. Pollock got the call again and went into the end zone standing for the game's first score.

Apparently the Warriors do not have a kicker, forcing them to go for 2-point conversions, and on the first one, the Indians' emotional leader, linebacker Mike Pfothenauer, got his hand on Rasmussen's pass and knocked it harmlessly to the ground.

Kewaskum's first possession resulted in a fumble on a pitch, and linebacker Jake Larsen came up with the ball at the KHS 37.

On first down, Rasmussen hooked up with Luke Marwitz on a pass play which appeared to be a second TD, but a holding call brought the ball back. That drive was halted when Rasmussen was hit hard and coughed up the ball to KHS linebacker Logan Staeger.

Kewaskum picked up seven yards on first down, but was limited to two yards on the next two, bringing up a fourth down and one situation at Waupun's 43.

Dan Shea hit the line of scrimmage with a full head of steam but was halted in his tracks short of the 42, thus Waupun got the ball back on downs.

The Indians held for three plays, then Waupun looked to be setting up for a punt, but instead, Rasmussen went to the air and found Max Sheahan for a 20-yard gain and a first down at the KHS 33.

Rasmussen's option run gave the Warriors another first at the KHS 6, and two plays later, Pollock had his second TD, this one a 3-yarder.

Again, the Warriors tried to run for the two points, but Jon Wicklund stopped Marwitz short of the goal.

After a three-and-out by the Indians, Waupun was marching again until the holding call wiped out a nice run by Rasmussen to the 1, and eventually the drive was halted at the 8.

Kewaskum's offense was still sputtering and had to punt the ball back to Waupun with 4:53 to go in the half, and the Warriors took advantage of the short field, moving 40 yards to a third TD by Pollock, this one coming from the 1 with 2:14 to go.

It seemingly was now or never for the Indians, and Casey Scheel and his fine receiving corps made sure it was now. Starting at the KHS 30, the Indians picked up big chunks of real estate on a pass to Wicklund and two straight passes to Matt Parrent, who didn't go down until he got to the Warriors' 4-yard line.

On the next play, Scheel faked a handoff into the center of the line, then gave the ball to Eric Ogi who waltzed into the end zone. After a successful PAT by Brian Backhaus, the Indians were only down 18-7.

"They (Warriors) were awfully tough in the middle, but Sheboygan Falls said we could pass on them," Piittmann said.

The Indians certainly proved that in the second half, going 74 yards on its first drive to score again.

Ogi's third down catch was the big play in the drive, giving the Indians a first and goal, and on second down, Scheel followed his center, Zach Groeschel, into the end zone.

Piittmann made the decision to try to go for two points, and Ogi was alone in the right side of the end zone and screaming for Scheel to throw him the ball. Finally, the senior quarterback saw him and it was an easy catch, making the score 18-15 with momentum definitely now on the side of the Indians.

When asked if there was a turning point in the game, Piittmann said, "The first series in the second half. We came back and scored and got back in the game ... then the defense got the ball back for us."

Matt Donath's sack of Rasmussen ended Waupun's next possession, and the Indians needed just two minutes to score again and take a 22-18 lead. This time Scheel and Wicklund hooked up for a dandy 29-yard pass and catch, and suddenly it was the Indian fans with plenty to cheer about and the Waupun faithful silent.

Early in the fourth quarter, Waupun tried its luck in the air and was successful on a 57-yard strike from Rasmussen to Larsen, who had beaten Wicklund on the play. A pass to Seth Hopp earned Waupun the 2-point conversion, making the score 26-22, but the Indians weren't about to let the game slip away from them and struck like lightning after Waupun's squib kick to keep the ball away from Ogi.

The "Good Hands Man" Parrent gathered in one pass that took the ball to the Warrior 20, and two plays later, Scheel's pump fake gave Parrent a little time to break free over the middle. The ball was delivered perfectly to about the two, and Parrent dashed into the end zone. Backhaus' kick was low but still cleared the uprights, and the Indians were back out front 29-26.

The Warriors threatened once more, going to the KHS 24 before a couple incomplete passes forced them to give up the football.

Kewaskum was then able to successfully move the ball on the ground to Waupun's 4 where Ogi went into the end zone only to have the apparent TD called back by a hold. It didn't matter as time was now on the Indians' side, and Scheel took a knee on the final play.

And why were the Indians able to stop Waupun's running game after the break? "We changed up our defensive scheme a little bit," Piittmann said, indicating the change "kept our linebackers free so they could make the tackles."

He went on, "In the second half, we had a little attitude. We got more physical."

And when it came to the top defenders in the game, none stood taller than Pfothenauer. "Pfothenauer did an outstanding job," the coach said, adding, "In the second half, our defensive ends, (Jake) Turowski, (Tony) Lewko and (Mike) Bunkelman played great, and our kickoff coverage did a good job."

Scheel wound up passing for 274 yards, hitting 15 of 28 passes. Parrent had five catches for 112 yards, while Wicklund caught three for 63, Ogi four for 61 and Shea three for 38.

Kewaskum was limited to 53 yards rushing, led by Scheel's 27 yards. The Indians' longest run, a 14-yard by Scheel late in the fourth quarter, helped them pick up a first down and keep the ball from Waupun.

Waupun ground out 229 rushing yards with Rasmussen and Pollock gaining 75 and 64, respectively.

Piittmann said he had a little bit of a scouting report on Greendale. "They're a lot like us. They like to spread it out," the coach said.

Kewaskum and Greendale will play at West Bend on Saturday at 4 p.m.

The Indians were named WTMJ Channel 4's "Football Frenzy Team of the Week." The segment is set to air Thursday at 6pm on channel 4.
