More time given for Koser home abatement

PDR question will be asked on April ballot

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

WEST BEND- To buy or not to buy? That is the question Washington County residents will answer in April. The Washington County Board approved a measure to place that question on their ballot, in regards to property development rights.

Property development rights (PDR) has been a hot topic issue since last year at this time. The last time PDR came up for a vote, supervisors voted against the idea of purchasing development rights from large land owners, mainly farmers.

To fund the program the county could tap into county sales tax revenue, borrowing and possibly from property tax.

The referendum question is set to be worded in this manner: "at least $800,000 per year for 10 years" on the program on the condition that all county spending would be matched dollar-for-dollar with funds from federal, state and private sources.

Under the PDR program a property owner is able to voluntarily sell the right to develop land to the county or a land trust. In exchange, the county or land trust would be given a permanent conservation easement restricting subdivisions and non-farm building construction on the land.

Supervisor Dan Stoffel who represents the town and village of Kewaskum has been an advocate for the program.

Supervisors also agreed to create a land conservation effort by 2008 if approved by referendum voters in April.

The Kewaskum Village Board heard information regarding the abatement of the Koser residence at 211 Bonnie Lane in Kewaskum. The home was the scene of a murder/suicide/fire in June of 2006. Residents are concerned with the lack of clean up on the property. See a full story on Page 5. Statesman photo by Andrew Kuehl

Kewaskum Junior Women's Club to celebrate 40 years as an organization

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- As community service seems to take a backseat in our fast-paced world, Kewaskum residents can be proud to know that a group of young women are moving forward. The Kewaskum Junior Women's Club is celebrating 40 years as a volunteer organization in the community.

Members of the organization are currently organizing a 40th anniversary celebration commemorating their chartering with the world's largest volunteer organization, the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The celebration is Sunday, January 14, at Hon-E-Kor Country Club. A social time will be held from 12:30 until 1:00 p.m. Lunch will be served at 1:00 p.m. with entertainment and program to follow. The cost is $17.00 per person.

The group was chartered in 1967 by a group of young ladies led by Sherry Miller. Pat Peterson also played a significant role in the group's beginning.

Miller stated that when the group organized, there already was a Women's Club, but she and a number of other younger women felt the need for a junior women's club. The Junior Women's Club was thought to compliment the present Women's Club.

Miller stated, "When we started we had one or two members who worked full-time. The rest of us were stay-at-home moms and it was a chance to get out and socialize with people our age to help the community."

"We were young and thought we could accomplish almost anything. We came up with new ideas. We started story hour at the library and worked on different projects. We just filled in the gaps (working with the other service groups)," she stated.

Miller was pleased to say the group started with about 35-40 "junior women" as members. She reminisced that at that time women didn't work full-time so they were looking for an outlet for things to do and people to socialize with.

"It's gratifying to see the group continue to thrive and to see them take on different things at the park and adding things there," remarked Miller. She also stated that some of the original members' daughters are now members of the group, some in leadership positions.

The current president is Kelly (Enright) Goeden. Her mother, Ann Enright, served as the group's president from 1976-1978.

To list the accomplishments of the club, scores of pages would need to be dedicated. The Junior Women have been a shining star in the community since their inception. Annually, they sponsor a high school scholarship. They have donated to the public library, are responsible for many of the playground structures and pool appa-

Village Board one short on ballot, write-in is encouraged to file declaration of candidacy

Spring election is beginning to take shape

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

Local spring elections are shaping up. Last Wednesday, January 3, was the official turn-in day for local candidates to jump on the political wagon. One municipality, Kewaskum continues to search for a candidate to take over Andy Pesch's seat.

Pesch filed for non-candidacy in December. Incumbent trustees Derek Peterson and Tom Piwoni will all run unopposed. The same is true with Village President Matt Heiser.

As for Pesch's seat that will be vacated in April, Village Administrator Jay Shambeau says that a write-in candidate could take the seat. He stated that at anytime prior to the election, a write-in candidate could file a declaration of candidacy at the village hall.

After the election, if there isn't a write-in candidate that accepts the position, the village board can seek letters of interest from residents to fill the position.

The Board of Education in Kewaskum will more likely than not see a new face on the board. Vice President Tammy Eickermann filed non-candidacy papers almost immediately saying she wished to spend more time with family.

Bill Kesting, who unseated Neal Weare in a recall election in December of 2005, will face voters for the first time. Newcomer Mary Miller will also enter the political arena for the first time.

Not much will change in the town of Kewaskum. The only thing new is clerk Nancy Boden's name on the ballot. Boden filled the term of Sandy Stern early in 2006. This is Boden's first election.

Chairman Ellis Kahn, Supervisors Bill Butzlaff Sr. and Allen Hron and Treasurer Dan Stoffel will run unopposed.

The town of Wayne has the potential for a number of shake-ups. Long-time chairman Leander Herriges is receiving a challenge from former Supervisor Scott Weiss. Supervisors Carl Klemme and Kieth Kriewaldt and treasurer Gerald Schulz will all run unopposed. Clerk Christian Kuehn will receive a challenge from Julie Kriewaldt.

The status-quo will preside in the towns of Farmington and Auburn.

In the town of Scott, Chairman Steve Jung and Constable Steve Richter will run unopposed. Supervisors Ken Willkomm and Randy Narbatovics will receive a challenge from Dan Morin. The township's clerk and treasurer are appointed positions.

Washington County Circuit Court Judge Pat Faragher will run unopposed for a six-year term.

The Wisconsin Appeals Court has two incumbents, Daniel Anderson and Paul Lundsten who are being challenged by Edward R. Brunner. Brunner is a circuit court judge in Barron County. He recently ran an unsuccessful Appeals Court campaign in 2003 against Judge Pat Roggensack.

In the race for Wisconsin Supreme Court, Washington County Circuit Judge Annette Ziegler has thrown her hat into the race along with two others. Joseph Sommers, a practicing criminal defense attorney from Oregon, and Linda M. Clifford, an attorney from Madison, will join Ziegler in attaining Justice Jon Wilcox's seat who is retiring.

The Statesman will run more information about these races, including candidate profiles and polling places closer to the election in April.

Scott officials to meet regarding center sale

Town of Scott officials will meet Monday, January 15 to make a decision on whether or not to keep their community center. The meeting was scheduled to be held at the town hall, however, because of the large number of citizens expected to attend, it was decided to hold the meeting at the community center.

Beginning at 7 p.m. both sides will have the opportunity to state their case in the matter.

Town Clerk, Billie Jo Richter says that supervisors will decide the fate of the community center and plans to listen to both sides.

The town of Scott Community Center is located at N1360 Highway 28, in Batavia.

ratures in Kiwanis Park.

Perhaps their largest undertaking was the creation of the nature trail in the northwest corner of Kiwanis Park. That trail is perhaps the gem of the park for walkers and hikers alike. Nancy Malvick is said to have been instrumental in the project's organization. The club received district and state conservation awards for the project.

The ladies have also given financial aid to other organizations like the Kewaskum High School Booster Club, Kewaskum Education Youth Scholarships (KEYS), Friends of Abused Families, Kewaskum 4-H and the list goes on.

For some organizations, giving money is the easy part. It's developing community programs and social events that are their strong point. The Kewaskum Junior Women have done both. Most recently, their annual murder mystery event, grows in popularity each year. The group also helps the community prepare for Christmas shopping by hosting "A Kettle Country Christmas" craft show.

However, some programs continue to thrive through the years. Did you ever wonder who was responsible for the letters to Santa mailbox at the Kewaskum Post Office? The Junior Women. Did you wonder where the new welcome to Kewaskum signs came from? The Junior Women.

In their early years, the club took on the responsibility of providing many community support items vital to a community's success. Many of these items have now been overtaken by our schools and government entities, but it was the Junior Women who took on the role of community mothers, starting ear and vision testing programs, kindergarten screening, helping as chaperones at high school dances and functions, holding bicycle and babysitting safety clinics, children's fingerprinting programs and immunization clinics.

The group rallied the community for national causes such as the March of Dimes, St. Jude Bike-a-Thon, Cystic Fibrosis, and Cerebral Palsy.

The group has 21 members, but is always looking for bright faces seeking to change the community they live in. Those interested in becoming a part of the group can contact Goeden at 262-626-8893.

Neighbors listen to progress of clean up of Bonnie Lane fire

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Concerned neighbors received information on the destruction status of a home on Bonnie Lane in this village. The burned out structure has been vacant since June of 2006 and neighbors stated it was painful look at. An end may be in sight as insurance companies close the books on the property.

As The Statesman reported last week, some neighbors of the property at 211 Bonnie Lane were upset with the lack of clean-up progress after the devastating fire. Village Administrator Jay Shambeau stated just the opposite.

Shambeau explained that the village's building inspector began taking action on August 11. Gordon Hoffmann sent a letter to Christine Sheridan, the ex-wife of William Koser who owned the property. In the letter he asked Sheridan to "clean up debris, broken glass, etc. from fire damage."

Hoffmann sent a second notice on September 20 and a third on October 23. Village attorney Gerald Kiefer got involved after Sheridan ignored the letters. He sent a letter on October 25 ordering the debris cleaned or the village would take legal steps to abate the nuisance. After that letter, Shambeau stated the property was cleaned.

On December 6, Kiefer sent another letter asking that an opening on the gable near the west-end of the home be enclosed. Sheridan, who was present at the meeting stated that she recently complied with the order, stating that it was too difficult to visit the property close to the holidays.

"I want this to move along as fast as it possibly can," she stated.

She also stated that because her name was not on the insurance policy she ran into problems. "I (recently) signed some papers for them to pay off the mortgage off," she concluded. It is believed that once the mortgage is paid off on the property, she can have the structure razed.

Village ordinances do not give a clear outline of how a situation like this should be handled. Bonnie Lane neighbor, Roger Strack inquired about having the ordinances re-written so a similar situation doesn't arise again. Village President Mathew Heiser assured Strack the ordinance will be brought up at a future village board meeting.

A time frame to raze the structure was not determined. "This was a terrible tragedy and I live next door. I have to get up every morning and look at this," stated one of the neighbors.

The home was the scene of a fire which was intentionally set after a believed murder-suicide in which William Koser is thought to have shot his daughter, Elizabeth Koser, 7, set his home on fire and then shot himself.

Village Administrator/Clerk

On December 20, the Kewaskum school liaison officer met with a Kewaskum High School student, who was reporting her mobile phone missing. The student told the officer that she went home because she didn't feel well.

She left her phone in her locker, inside a duffle bag. At 3 p.m. her boyfriend went to get her duffle bag out of the locker. The phone was missing.

The student was unsure if the locker was secured. There was no forced entry to the locker.

The student's parent contacted U.S. Cellular. She was told the phone was used to make several calls to the phone's voice mail box, and also to Green Bay.

The parent then called the Green Bay number and was told by the person at that number who had been calling.

The student was questioned and admitted to using the phone. At one point in time, he dumped the phone into a garbage can. He later retrieved the phone and turned it into authorities.

The student was issued a citation for theft.

On December 27, at 8:34 a.m. a Kewaskum Police Officer was dispatched to a home in the 1100 block of Roseland Drive for a vehicle vandalism complaint.

The complainant stated she had walked past her vehicle at approximately 8:25 a.m. heading towards the Mobil gas station. When she returned at approximately 8:34 a.m., she noticed someone had paint balled the back of her car.

There were approximately six or seven paintballs that hit the car. She didn't notice the damage on her way to the gas station.

During his investigation the officer found approximately 50 vehicles parked in the area and no other cars were paint balled.

Character cannot be developed in ease and quiet. Only through experience of trial and suffering can the soul be strengthened, ambition inspired and success achieved.

Remembering

The following is an excerpt from Menagerie, a collection of writings from students in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference

Reminiscing about the past,
While trying to create a future.
Picking up lost memories.
Trying to put them back together.
So confused on how something happened.
Forgetting why you did the things you did.
Wondering if past experiences will meet you.
Regretting bad times, forgiving the wrong.
Correcting the bad and helping the good.
Feeling strong and yet so weak.
Feeling free and yet so trapped.

Feeling so brave and yet so scared.
Feeling so old and yet so young.
Giving advice, while taking it in.
Remembering...
It's all the same.

Increase in national funds awarded to United Way

Washington County has been chosen to receive $62,897,000 in 2007 to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the county. The amount awarded was based on the total number of unemployed within the county as compared to other jurisdictions and is a 109.85% increase over the $29,972 awarded for 2006.

The funding award was made by a National Board that is chaired by the Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and consists of representatives from American Red Cross; Catholic Charities, USA; National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.; The Salvation Army; United Jewish Communities, and United Way of America.

The local United Way

board is in charge of distributing funds appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-need areas around Washington County.

In 2006 funding priority was giving to programs that provided rent and utility payment assistance to eligible individuals and mass shelter.

A local board, made up of the United Way of Washington County, American Red Cross, Catholic Charities, Department of Social Services, Friends of Abused Families, St. Vincent DePaul Society, Salvation Army, United Church of Christ, Youth & Family Project, and other agencies and individuals, will determine how the funds awarded to Washington County are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service agencies in the area.

Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local agencies chosen to receive funds must: 1) be private voluntary non-profits or units of government, 2) have an accounting system, 3) practice nondiscrimination, 4) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs, and 5) if they are a private voluntary organization, they must have a voluntary board. Qualifying agencies are urged to apply.

Public or private voluntary agencies interested in applying for Emergency Food and Shelter Program funds should contact Joe Calabrese, at the United Way of Washington County office, (262) 338-3821, by Monday, January 22nd.

Two face charges in Dodge County drug bust

A lengthy investigation culminated January 5, in Dodge County. According to Sheriff Todd Nehls two men in their 20's were arrested on drug related charges.

"This involved delivery of product to Dodge County for further distribution," stated Nehls.

The first man was a 26-year-old from Milwaukee. The second man, also from Milwaukee, was 23 years old.

The 26-year-old was the target. The list of charges submitted to the DA included: Possession w/intent to deliver THC/marijuana, possession w/intent to deliver cocaine, two counts and possession of drug paraphernalia Nehls stated that the distribution operation operated from Southeast Wisconsin to Dodge County. The arrests were made on STH 41 at STH 67.

The investigation was led by the Dodge County Multi-Jurisdictional Drug Task Force and State of Wisconsin Dept. of Justice-Narcotics Bureau (Appleton & Milwaukee offices). Other agencies included Wisconsin State Patrol (ground and air), Lomira Police Department, and the Lake Winnebago Area Meg. Unit.

The 26-year-old will be facing both federal charges and state charges. He was in possession of 28.6 grams of marijuana (found on his person), and approximately 139.6 grams of cocaine located in the vehicle at time of arrest.

"I give a lot of credit to our county Multi-Jurisdictional Drug Unit and local law enforcement. It is the teamwork and cooperation we enjoy within the law enforcement community that allows great arrests like this to occur," stated Nehls.

Auditions for Lafferty's Wake to be held at UWWC

You don't have to be Irish to audition for UW-Washington County's spring play - but it wouldn't hurt. Auditions for Lafferty's Wake will take place on Thursday evening, January 25, beginning at 7pm in the campus theatre. The cast for the Irish wake includes ten men and ten women (ages 18 to 70). An additional five to ten actors are also needed for an improv performance planned during the Irish dinner that will be served in the campus cafeteria prior to the show. Volunteers for technical and behind-the-scenes work are also needed. College credit can be earned for performing or doing technical work for the show.

Lafferty's Wake features old Irish songs, jokes, jigs, a little weeping and wailing, lots of stories and even the spirit of Lafferty himself, who shows up to add his own two cents' worth. The cast includes Charlie Lafferty's widow, his sweet daughter and bumbling son-in-law, a parish priest and other friends who gather to celebrate the life and times of ramblin' gamblin' Lafferty. The wake takes place at Rory's Pub, Lafferty's home-away-from-home.

Lafferty's Wake will be produced and directed by Theatre Professor Brad Ford. Schwai's Catering will serve an optional Irish dinner (complete with corned beef and cabbage and an Irish cr me cheesecake for dessert) in the campus cafeteria prior to each show. Performances will be held on two weekends: March 2-4 and 9-11 in the University theatre. The Friday and Saturday dinners are at 6pm with the play starting at 7pm. The Sunday dinners are at noon with a 1pm curtain.

For more information about the auditions or volunteering behind the scenes, contact Professor Ford at (262) 335-5222. Scripts are available for perusal from the University library.

Tickets (with Irish buffet dinner) are $25 adults or $22 for seniors (over 62) and youth (under 18). Theatre tickets only (without dinner) are $12 adults or $9 seniors/youth. Dinner reservations are required at least one week prior to the performance. For ticket sales, phone the main office at 262-335-5208 (Monday through Friday 8am-4:30pm). UW-Washington County is located at 400 University Drive in West Bend.

Dallas Brass concert funding received

UW-Washington County has been selected to receive funding from 2006-2007 Performing Arts Fund, a program of Arts Midwest funded by the National Endowment for the Arts with additional contributions from General Mills Foundation, Land O'Lakes Foundation, and Wisconsin Arts Board.

Performing Arts Fund brings top-quality performances to regional audiences, plus educational and residency activities for people of all ages. Through its support, it initiates tours in the nine-state region by regional, national, and international performing artists with all events reaching underserved audiences.

Arts Midwest's Executive Director, David J. Fraher stated, "UW-Washington County is to be commended for their commitment to serving their community with this distinctive event. Residents in West Bend, Kewaskum, Germantown, Slinger and surrounding communities will have the opportunity to see the exciting work of the Dallas Brass, many for the first time, and Arts Midwest is proud to support this work and UW-Washington County."

The Dallas Brass concert is scheduled to perform on Sunday, February 11 at 4pm at the campus, located at 400 University Drive in West Bend.

The Dallas Brass concert is "intended for the whole family - from ages 5 to 95," according to Michael Levine, the group's founder. Levine notes that "their goal is to entertain and enrich by playing great music, while showing our audience how much we enjoy what we do." The concert, featuring a unique blend of brass instruments with a full complement of drums and percussion, is being planned in conjunction with the Fine Arts Festival, which will take place from 1pm to 6pm. Band students from Germantown, Kewaskum, Slinger, and West Bend schools will participate in a clinic and rehearsal with the Dallas Brass prior to the concert and then perform the grand finale with the band. Concert tickets are $12 for chair seating and $9 for bleacher seats and can be obtained by phoning the campus at 262-335-5208. A limited number of discounted tickets are available to UW-Washington County alumni as well as middle and high school band and art students.

In addition to the Performing Arts Fund grant, the campus also received a donation for the Fine Arts Festival and Dallas Brass concert from Walmart Corporation in West Bend.

Arts Midwest: Based in Minneapolis, Arts Midwest connects people throughout the Midwest and the world to meaningful arts opportunities, sharing creativity, knowledge and understanding across boundaries. Arts Midwest connects the arts to audiences through the nine-state region of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin. One of six non-profit regional arts organizations in the United States, Arts Midwest's history spans more than 25 years.

National Endowment for the Arts: The mission of the National Endowment for the Arts is to enrich our nation and its diverse cultural heritage by supporting works of artistic excellence, advancing learning in the arts, and strengthening the arts in communities throughout the country. Established by Congress in 1965, the Arts Endowment is an independent agency of the federal government and is the largest annual funder of the arts.

Adventures in Darkness

By Tom Sullivan

Nelson Books $24.99 240 Pages

As you get older and the days begin to move at the speed of light, it's natural to long for the endless days of your summertime childhood.

Remember lying on the ground, watching ants? Making forts and pretending you were a spy? Remember rainy afternoons spent playing Monopoly or Mystery Date on the porch with your cousin or best friend? Now imagine not being able to see the ants or the fort or the game. Imagine, in fact, not being able to see anything at all. In the new book "Adventures in Darkness," author Tom Sullivan remembers with fondness the summer of his eleventh year.

When Tom Sullivan was born prematurely in 1947, he was given a high amount of oxygen which saved his life but destroyed his sight. Despite doctors' recommendations, Sullivan's parents - his mother, Marie; and his father, Tom, a boisterous, bar-owning Boston Irishman with a love for alcohol, gambling, and baseball - kept their son at home until Tommy was old enough for kindergarten.

At age five, his parents enrolled him at The Perkins School for the Blind and while Sullivan says he knows now that his Perkins "experience" wasn't so bad, he longed to know the world beyond the fence around the school's compound. After several incidences of mischief - including a Tom-Sawyer-like boat trip into the Boston Harbor - Sullivan was expelled from Perkins.

It was the start of a magical, normal summer.

Sullivan says that the first thing his father did, much to Marie Sullivan's chagrin, was to take young Tommy to see the Red Sox on opening day. While Sullivan sometimes admits that he feared his Da, he knew that his father understood the need for a childhood filled with friends, adventure, and all the things that sighted children enjoyed.

Over the summer of his eleventh year, Tommy Sullivan rode a horse and a bike, both for the first time. He found a best buddy who, fifty years later, is still his friend. Sullivan joined Little League and he learned to defend himself against bullies. He began to appreciate his sister, his mother, and his father who made all the adventures possible. And during this time, Tom Sullivan's parents learned that their sightless son could see a bright future.

Do you long for a time a time when TV programs were black-and-white and skies seemed bluer? Then you'll want to read this book. "Adventures in Darkness" is part sweetly-told memoir and part love story for a father who desperately wanted to give his son a normal life during a time when institutionalization was generally recommended for children with handicaps. Although author Tom Sullivan's digressions might befuddle you now and then, his child-like boyhood awe and affection for his Da makes for a gentle story that I think you'll enjoy.

If you always wished you could re-visit a more innocent time or if you're in the mood for a charming bit of nostalgia, pick up this book. "Adventures in Darkness" is a memoir you should definitely see yourself reading.

PERSPECTIVES

To the Editor:

On Monday, January 15, the Town of Scott will hold a meeting of the electors to determine the fate of the community center. The electors will vote the same night whether to keep or sell the community center.

Some Town of Scott residents have been asking questions such as: Why would the fate of the community center not be on a ballot? What would all the non-profit organizations do without the community center? How much money would the town save? I have heard rental bookings are increasing. If the building was sold what would happen to the adjoining Firemen's Park and ball diamond?

The reason why the community center was not on a ballot is because it would have cost extra for our town to have this done. And even if 1,000 people voted to sell the community center, the law states a township must still have a meeting of the electors to sell town property.

Non-profit organizations have the option to use the Batavia School as it is their right as a taxpayer to use a publicly owned building.

The taxpayers would benefit from selling the community center by recouping the money invested over the years. We have had only two paid rentals making the building a loss of $9,000 - $10,000 annually. The building would also be added to the tax roll.

As for the land; if the building was sold the Firemen's Park and ball diamond are not included as per the contract with the Batavia Fire Dept. when they gave the community center to the township.

As many people know, the current condition of the building is in need of repair. The things that need to be fixed or updated include the following: the roof, siding, new windows insulation added, and the bathroom and kitchen facilities updated. The water has failed numerous tests for not being safe to drink. The underground oil tank needs to be removed and the upstairs is in need of a total remodel.

I do not have a problem with having a community center as other townships do. But if we are going to have a community center, we need to make sure we have a building our township can be proud to own. Unfortunately that means putting much needed money into the building. If we cannot afford to do this, we should sell the building.

Thank you for your consideration and please keep Monday, January 15th at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall open.

Randy Narbatovics
Town of Scott Supervisor

To the Editor:

Town of Scott Community Center - Pro or Con?

Over the years the Hilltop/Community Center has cost taxpayers of the Town of Scott a considerable sum of money. Since 1998 through 2006 it has cost taxpayers $101,890.28, and in 2007, the Town estimates another $11,117.00. In this same period revenues were $28,065.00 (revenue numbers were unavailable for 2006). All figures come from Town of Scott annual reports or budgets. We would be happy to verify these numbers to anyone. These are just the day to day/year to year expenses.

The community center has a lot of other issues that will become very expensive to Town of Scott taxpayers. For example, there is still a buried fuel tank, and environmental issue that is never cheap to rectify. The water has failed state tests several times. It needs a roof, siding, electrical, plumbing and heating/air conditioning work. Not to mention it could use a lot of remodeling inside. This could amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. We have been involved in some club functions that have used the community center. Upon arrival, we found the rest rooms so filthy we had to clean them ourselves to make them useable. We actually had to work on several toilets so they would even flush. We would encourage every Town of Scott taxpayer to drive over and take a look at the community center.

We do understand non-profit organizations use the community center and need a place to go. We don't understand why they can't use our town hall, we already heat and maintain it and it has a nice hall that we believe would meet their needs nicely.

We've talked to a lot of people of the Town of Scott and we've heard a lot of stories of the good times and what a nice place this used to be. We truly hope, if sold, the community center finds its way to someone that really cares and wants to make this a good and viable business and bring it back to what it once was for the people of our area, and will make it an asset, not a burden, for our community.

On January 15th at 7:00 p.m. the town will hold a special meeting to determine whether to keep or sell the community center. We believe some of the supervisors and a few residents are trying to sneak this meeting in without much input from the taxpayers of the Town of Scott. Don't let this happen! It would cost $250.00 to put this on the ballot at election time to get a true opinion of the voters of the Town of Scott. Our town is choosing to determine the fate of the community center with a few people on a Monday night. We believe in putting this on a ballot would be the proper thing to do. Be at the town hall on January 15th at 7:00 and Pro or Con, let your voice be heard.

DAYS GONE BY

25 Years Ago

January 8, 1982

A barn on the Fred Meyer farm on Mill Road, west of New Fane, was destroyed by fire early Sunday night. The fire was discovered by Ronald Felten, nephew of Robert Felten, who rents the dairy barn from Meyer. Mrs. Wilmer Felten said her son Ron had gone next door to help his uncle with the milking. The younger Felten walked outside and saw flames in the upper part of the barn. The Felten were busy milking their second shift of cows when the fire was found. Sixty-five cows and several calves were removed to safety from the burning barn. Fire companies from Beechwood, Campbellsport and Boltonville came to aid Kewaskum firemen battle the blaze. Firefighters worked to keep the fire from reaching two other buildings on the west side. A gravity box, elevator and a quantity of hay in the barn belonging to Meyer's son Carl, were also destroyed. According to Kewaskum Fire Chief Augie Bilgo, there was also some minor damage to two Kewaskum fire trucks when the paint became charred from the intense heat. The Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department is said to be investigating the cause of the fire. This is the fourth barn to burn in the same immediate area in recent years. Barns on the Wilmer Felten farm directly east of Meyers, the Albion Lehnerz farm to the south and the Henry Oppermann farm to the north, have all been destroyed by fires.

Residents of the area were still digging out Wednesday after the worst snowstorm in three years. The snowing and blowing started late Sunday night and continued all day Monday under blizzard conditions. About 15-1/2 inches of snow fell in this area in the storm, which was accompanied by 20-40 mile per hour winds, gusting up to 50 mph. Snowdrifts six to eight feet deep were reported in Fond du Lac County with four to six foot drifts reported in Washington County.

School board incumbents Byron Gessner and Gerald Secor will be facing stiff competition in the primary election, for their seats on the Kewaskum School Board next April. A last minute filing brought the number to five who are seeking seats on the school board. Besides Gessner and Secor, Ralph Horner Jr., Mrs. Joan Rosenberger and John Spoerl will be on the February primary ballot.

Two candidates filed papers to run for three seats which will be open on Kewaskum's Village Board in April. Incumbent trustee Paul Blumer is seeking re-election as is incumbent Richard Schmidt who is seeking his first full term as a village trustee. Incumbent Raynor Herriges has decided not to seek reelection. Commissioner Bill Martin stated Herriges' vacant seat leaves the village with three options. A write-in candidate may run for the third vacancy, the board may appoint an individual to fill the position or the board may decide to operate with six members until the next election.

Linda Borchert of Kewaskum received a plaque in recognition of her community services as librarian for 30 years from Joe Schwind representing Modern Woodmen Camp 2233.

Sons were born to Dale and Karen Matthies,

Kewaskum on December 30, and to Daniel and Denise Reilly, Kewaskum, on December 28. A son was also born to Ronald C. and Lynne Reigle, Minneapolis, Minnesota, on December 28. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald O. Reigle of Kewaskum, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Perkins, also of Kewaskum.

The downstairs apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Brunner in the Mrs. Frank Bohn home, a half mile south of Kewaskum on Highway 45, was broken into and burglarized on Sunday while the Brunners were away. The burglars gained entrance to the home by removing a kitchen storm window and then breaking the inside window glass and raising the window. They apparently were more intent on committing vandalism than burglary.

Richard Romaine of Madison, a son of Elwyn M. Romaine of Kewaskum, has resigned as chief announcer at radio station WMFM Madison to enter the U.S. Army. He was inducted into the service and left from Hartford on Wednesday to begin active training at Fort Leonard Wood, MO.

At a dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loran L. Backhaus of Kewaskum, the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to George Hanrahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hanrahan, also of Kewaskum, was announced.

Edwin Backus, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Backus, Sr., Kewaskum, has been inducted into the army and left Hartford Wednesday to begin active training. Before leaving for service Backus was employed as a substitute rural mail carrier out of Kewaskum.

August F. Kirchner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kirchner of Route 2, Kewaskum, recently joined the air force through the Fond du Lac air force recruiting office. After enlistment ceremonies he was flown by commercial airliner to Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, where he will take the prescribed course of basic training.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Alois Braun, Route 2, Kewaskum, on January 6, and to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Huebner, Route 1, Kewaskum, on January 9. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rosbeck, Menomonee Falls, on January 3. Mrs. Rosbeck is the former Sharon Coulter of the Town of Wayne.

January 5, 1907

Henry Klug of New Fane died last Friday morning. He had been sick since the third of December from injuries received in a runaway which he had while coming home from Kewaskum. He was 40 years of age and leaves a wife, three little children, an aged mother, three sisters and two brothers.

The William Voigt farm near Boltonville has recently been sold to Mr. Hiller for $7,000.

A baby boy was born to August Zuehlke and his wife of Wayne last Friday evening.

The owner of a dog shall have the dog revaccinated against rabies by a veterinarian when the certificate expires or within three (3) years of previous vaccination. KYB players attend Bucks game

Members of the Kewaskum Youth Basketball teams traveled to Milwaukee for KYB night at the Milwaukee Bucks game this past Friday night. They had close to 70 attendees who saw the Bucks fall to the Cleveland Cavaliers and LeBron James. The KYB Group received "VIP" treatment from the Bucks which included getting into the Bradley Center early and getting courtside access to watch the players warm up. KYB players were also able to go into the tunnel and high five players from both teams as they came out of the locker room and onto the floor. Many of the kids actually gave high 5's to NBA superstar LeBron James, NBA All Star Michael Redd, and other Bucks and Cavalier players. Shown above are some of the KYB attendees.

Recruitment underway for foresters

MADISON - People interested in a career helping protect and enhance the Wisconsin's public and private forests have until Feb. 2 to apply for positions as professional foresters with the Department of Natural Resources.

The department will be hiring 10 to 12 entry-level foresters, according to Wendy McCown, director of the DNR Bureau of Forestry Services. The department has about 150 permanent field forester positions and routinely hires entry-level foresters to fill vacancies resulting from retirements, McCown said. The entry-level Forester Class of 2007 will join the department in June.

"DNR foresters work not only on the state-owned and county-owned forest lands but also with private landowners, who hold nearly 60 percent of the forests in Wisconsin," McCown said. "Foresters offer guidance to help landowners meet their objectives for their property and, at the same time, maintain forest sustainability. That means meeting the social, ecological, and economic needs of today while maintaining options for future generations."

DNR foresters perform a wide range of duties integral to sound forest management, according to McCown. DNR foresters:

- Offer technical assistance and help owners of forested properties tap into financial assistance to implement sustainable forestry practices.

- Explain and recommend forest protection measures involving fire, insects, and disease.

- Protect public health and safety through the suppression of wildland fires.

- Lead sustainable forest management on state-owned lands.

- Partner with counties to manage county forests.

- Advise landowners about tree- and shrub-planting projects.

- Provide advice to prevent soil erosion during harvesting.

- Administer forest tax law programs, such as the Managed Forest Law.

- Offer technical assistance on forest-related issues to county and local governments.

- Undertake forest inventory tasks, including interpretation of aerial photographs, establishment of plots, and mapping of forested areas.

"DNR foresters are the primary resource that residents can turn to for advice for caring about wooded property," McCown said. "These individuals provide personalized hands-on service and are a source of information - not just on statutes, administrative rules, and programs but also on the best way to maximize the value and enjoyment of an important state resource."

DNR foresters also play an important role in fire control. They work with communities and local fire departments to assess wildfire risks and take steps to reduce those risks. When wildfires do occur, they may lead the initial attack, working closely with local fire departments to protect structures and lives. Following a wildfire, foresters investigate the fire's cause, map the burned areas, and determine a financial estimate of damages and suppression costs.

Most foresters have graduated from a college or university with a Society of American Foresters-accredited bachelor's degree in forestry. McCown said forester candidates come to the DNR from a variety of backgrounds. Some are recent college graduates; some have had experience with other government or private sector employers.

New DNR foresters go through intensive training to learn what they will need to know to implement the state's forestry program. Most Wisconsin counties have at least one forester assigned to serve residents, county and local governments, and businesses.

More information on applying for a forester position and forms and background information are available on the DNR Web site. Information is also available from the local DNR Service Centers.

Indians stay perfect in EWC wrestling action

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Their driver could have stayed on the bus and kept the vehicle warm...the Kewaskum wrestlers ended their Eastern Wisconsin Conference match against host Manitowoc Roncalli that quickly Thursday night.

With the Jets forfeiting four weight classes and the Indians posting five pins and gaining two other technical falls, Kewaskum came home early with a 64-9 victory.

With the win, Kewaskum is 4-0 in conference action with another weaker opponent, Two Rivers, next on the schedule - the match was held Jan. 9 - before Jan. 16th and 23rd showdowns against Campbellsport and Sheboygan Falls, respectively.

"The dual went quick with all the forfeits," coach Dennis Aupperle said about the decision, which boosts the Indians' overall mark to 8-1.

The best match of the night, according to Aupperle, came at 145 where ace Eric Ogi pinned Matt Gille in 5:03.

"Gille is actually a 140-pounder. He wrestled up to wrestle Eric," the coach said. "He (Gille) was fifth his freshman year at 112 at state and third last year at 125 in Division 3. Eric really took it to him. He didn't give up a point. That was pretty much the match of the night."

With the win, Ogi moves to 17-2 on the season and came within one win of hitting the 100-victory mark.

"Overall, Eric is 99-20 for his career," the coach said. "He would have been there (at 100) a while ago if he didn't blow his knee out at Oshkosh his freshman year."

And what is it like to be able to coach a kid like Ogi? "Having Ogi on the team is a pleasure," Aupperle said. "He is the kind of kid that leads by example, had excellent work ethics. He is a leader, not only on the mat, but in school and in any other activities he involves himself with. He is an excellent role model for the high school kids as well as the youth."

Also posting a quick pin was sophomore P.J. Krueger at 215. It took him just 34 seconds to put Jesse Samz's shoulders to the mat, giving him an 18-3 mark for the year.

Jacob Turowski continues to roll at 189. He needed only 1:56 to pin Ryan Russell, hiking his season record to 17-3.

Others earning pins were: Ray Wollner at 152, and Ben Boettcher at 171, with Stephen Kattar (119) and Cody Seibel (160) winning with 15-point technical falls.

Those still unbeaten in the EWC are: Andrew Haugen at 103, Kattar, Ogi, Wollner, Turowski and Krueger.

The Indians are at Oostburg for a non-conference match Thursday. "Oostburg has a pretty nice team," Aupperle said.

Kewaskum 64, Roncalli 9
103 Haugen won by forfeit; 112 Calob Olla won by forfeit; 119 Kattar won by tech fall over Joe Samz, 21-4; 125 double forfeit; 130 Nathan Seitz lost to Jacob Harvey, 3-9; 135 Jeremy Parker was pinned by Matt Kiel, 1:43; 140 Mason Smith won by forfeit; 145 Ogi pinned Gille, 5:03; 152 Wollner pinned Paul Schwehl, 5:13; 160 Seibel won by tech fall over Brian Wells, 16-1; 171 Boettcher pinned Bob Masse, 1:12; 189 Turowski pinned Russell, 1:56; 215 Krueger pinned Jesse Samz, :34; 285 Tyler Swanson won by forfeit.

A win to remember

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

It is not likely Bobby Bannasch will ever forget his first home victory as the head coach of the Kewaskum High boys basketball team.

Consider Bannasch lost his top defender in the second quarter after being called for a flagrant foul, his point guard had to leave the court in the third quarter to get a new jersey because he was bleeding from a cut above the eye, and the game went into overtime after KHS and Kiel ended in a 54-54 deadlock at the end of regulation.

The Indians prevailed, however. Behind the strong closing efforts of Matt Parrent and with help from Dan Parker and Nick Olla, who are becoming contributors to the varsity program, Kewaskum won the Eastern Wisconsin Conference game 68-62.

The Indians, now 2-3 in EWC action and 2-5 overall, outscored the Raiders 14-8 in the extra period with the 6-foot-4 Parrent contributing seven of them, including a 3-point aerial that got them off to a good start in the four-minute extra period.

Marcus Rumpf, one of the better Kiel shooters, answered with a trey to tie the game again, but then Kewaskum reeled off five straight points, three by Parent (on a layup after a nifty pass from Parker, then a free throw), and two free throws by Casey Scheel.

The run definitely elevated the Indians' confidence, and every time Kiel would edge closer, the hosts would answer with clutch free throws. With 38 seconds remaining, Dan Shea converted one of two, then 11 seconds later, Parker went to the line and swished two for a 67-62 advantage and Parrent made one of two with nine seconds left for the final margin.

The effort left Bannasch elated. "My coaches worked extremely hard during the game. I want to make sure they get some credit," he said, and, "My players worked their butts off."

One of the keys was balanced scoring after Parrent's game-high 25. Scheel chipped in with a dozen, including a pair of 3-pointers in the second quarter, helping the Indians to a 35-25 lead at the break.

Parker also added 12 points, and he drew special praise from Bannasch. "He's had a couple nice games," Bannasch said, confident he can now rely on the junior guard to be a contributor.

The sophomore Olla played the entire overtime and scored one basket to go with another one he scored in the fourth period, giving him four for the game.

And John Holt was steady as he has been in all the games this year. He scored ten points before fouling out midway through the fourth quarter.

"I think we played very unselfishly tonight," Bannasch said. "They (the Indian players) were looking to give each other help. When you do that, great things are going to happen."

Senior guard Jack Breese went scoreless but played good defense until he was called for the eliminating foul. "I guess it was a flagrant technical foul," Bannasch said. "It was unintentional. He turned and caught him (a Kiel player) with an elbow."

At times, it looked like the players could have used football helmets, leading Bannasch to say, "They are a very physical team," and the majority of his players are also more physical than they have been in the past.

Scheel had suffered a cut over his left eye in the Mid-Morraine Classic Tournament and the wound was hit again in this game, according to Bannasch, who said, "He kind of looks like Rocky Balboa," the fighter Sylvester Stallone has played in the movie series.

About Parrent's play, Bannasch said, "We've been talking all year long about how he's the leader" and how the team wants to get the ball in his hands when the game is on the line. "I think we took a step in that direction tonight," he concluded.

Kiel was led by Walsh and Ben Miller, who scored 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Kewaskum was at Slinger Tuesday night, and Bannasch knew his team was in for a tough challenge. "Austin Kearns is a dominant player. We're going to have to shut him down and play some very good basketball to have a chance to beat them," Bannasch said.

11th loss is a major disappointment for girls coach

BY JUDY HARLOW
Statesman Correspondent

Would this be the night everything would come together for the Kewaskum High girls basketball team, and it would end its 30-plus game losing streak dating back to 2004-05?

That's what ran through coach Jeff Gosse's mind Friday evening as he and the Indians headed for Kiel to play the Lady Raiders.

Two hours later, on the return trip, Gosse was dejected. No win and the effort was less than stellar.

Turnovers and poor scoring plagued the Indians who lost the game 49 to 24.

With the loss, Kewaskum fell to 0-6 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 0-11 overall.

"Our kids didn't show up to play," Gosse said Monday. "We got out hustled and outplayed."

Kewaskum managed just four points in the first quarter, were behind 21-11 at half time, then allowed the Raiders to score 17 points in the third period to break the game wide open.

"We had more turnovers than we had shots," Gosse said, referring to the statistics that showed the Indians only got off 28 shots while committing 29 miscues.

And how many of Kiel's points came off those turnovers? "A ton," Gosse said,

Jenny Wicklund was the leading scorer for the Lady Indians, scoring nine points, with four baskets and one free throw. "She played good but... she also had eight turnovers," Gosse said, frustrated with the lack of concentration which has plagued his team all season long and can't occur in the upcoming games because they are all against quality opponents.

After Wicklund's nine points, next high was Jess Liniewski with four points on a pair of baskets.

Kiel had three players in double figures, led by Jessica Genke, who popped in 14 points. Sage Lang and Becky Schneider contributed 13 and 10, respectively.

Once Kiel got a comfortable lead, it went to a zone defense, according to Gosse, who said, "We don't have shooters. That really hurts us" against a zone.

Rebounding was also a weak area for the Lady Indians, according to Gosse, who said, "We had 11 defensive rebounds... That's all."

Nicole Kison and Kelsey Goetsch have been the Indians' leading rebounders, but Gosse said they have trouble playing against girls who are tall and husky because they still don't have enough strength to compete against them.

Kewaskum hosts Campbellsport tonight (Thursday), one of the stronger EWC teams, and Gosse warned, "Our next five games are all tough."

Six wrestlers claim titles in first ever KIWC Tournament

In the first-ever youth wrestling tournament hosted by the new Kewaskum Indians Wrestling Club, six members of the home team walked away with championships Saturday by finishing with perfect 3-0 marks.

The champions in the meet, which drew nearly 400 participants to the Kewaskum High School gym, included:

Luke Bindrich, in the grades K-2 39 to 42 pound division; Brent Goeden, K-2 49-53 division; Derek Aupperle, grades 5-6, 112 to 115 pound division; Kurt Luedtke, 5-6, 102-106 division; Teddy Wollner, 5-6, 120-134 division; and Bo Seibel, grades 7-8, 103-113 pounds.

The new Kewaskum club has 55 wrestlers, and 49 of them competed Saturday. Along with the six champions, 17 more young athletes placed second, meaning they finished the day at 2-1. They included: K-2 — Eric Bauer, Nathan Block, Jared Dexter, Alex Dykema; grades 3-4 — Zachary Heberer, Brandon Wade, Alex Phillips, Lucas Jon Pinchard; grades 5-6 — Joey Seitz, Austin Goeden, Logan Dreher, Justin Zolp; grades 7-8 — Jarred Koffke, Austin Goeman, Mitch Luedtke, Robert Maertz, Lance Pinchard.

Those taking third places were: K-2 — D.J. Smith, Adam Bruss, Tanner Goeman, Michael Boettcher, Jon May, Keaton Flanders, Micha Dykema; grades 3-4 — Travis Trapp; grades 5-6 — Nick Bier, grades 7-8 — Michael Bier.

Taking fourth places were:

K-2 — Caleb Reif, Arik Muckerheide, 3-4 — Noel Bindrich, Sean Bruss, Jeffrey Martz, Trent Webster, Sawyer Witekaitis, Max Hardy, Bradley Bunkelman; 5-6 — Cody Muckerheide, Caleb Dykema, Max Maertz, Zackardy Luedtke; 7-8 — Mack Donath, Dan Schuette, and Brad Bettleman.

"Over 28 different clubs were represented at the meet," Wendi Dreher, who headed the registration for the event said, reporting teams came from as far north as Wisconsin Rapids and Manitowoc, and as far west as Laconia and Columbus.

"We were thrilled for our first year," Dreher went on. "We're only an eight-week old club."

Neighboring

Campbellsport, represented by 48 wrestlers, won the trophy in the team competition, which is determined by the finishes of ten designated wrestlers. Wade Roberts is the coach of the Campbellsport club.

Taking second and third in the team standings were Fond du Lac and the X-Factor, a team from Manitowoc.

Because it was serving as host team, Kewaskum decided against entering the team competition.

Stan Maertz was the main coordinator of the tournament, with Jim Otten in charge of equipment. Other club officers are: Joel Dziedzic, president; Dennis Aupperle, vice president; Dreher, treasurer; and Jodi Aupperle, secretary.
