House fire displaces Barton family

A town of Barton family is without a home after a fire completely destroyed the second level of a log structure in the township on Monday, July 2. Members of seven fire departments attacked the blaze. Five children were at the residence when the fire broke out. They were safely evacuated from the premises by the time Washington County Sheriff's Deputies had arrived. The cause of the fire was unknown at press time. A complete report can be found on page six of this edition. Any breaking developments will be published on our website.

Rumble strips will stay on Highway H

By Andrew Kuehl

Statesman Managing Editor
 andrew@kewaskumstatesman

WEST BEND- The Washington County Highway Committee decided to leave a highway safety precaution alone. One nearby resident asked to have a set of rumble strips removed from Highway H.

Washington County Supervisor Richard Bertram appeared before the Highway Committee asking the committee to remove rumble strips on the highway adjacent to a home at the corner of Highways H and HH.

Bertram inquired if the rumble strips were really necessary because the Wisconsin Department of Transportation (DOT) has plans for realignment of the intersection. Highway Commissioner Ken Pesch stated that the DOT was scheduled to give the intersection an 80 degree angle sometime between 2010 and 2011.

A little over a year ago, at the urging of Washington County Board Supervisor Brian Bausch and the Boltonville Fire Department, the committee authorized the installation of the rumble strips. Since that time, the intersection has been injury/accident free according to firefighter Dennis Fechter who also spoke.

A unanimous vote from the committee left the rumble strips in place.

Bertram was the lone proponent of removing the strips. Also attending on behalf of keeping the strips was Farmington Township Chairman Gary Schreiber.

Village begins search for clerk

By Andrew Kuehl

Statesman Managing Editor
 andrew@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- The village has officially begun their search for a clerk. Trustees approved a job description for the position at their meeting Monday, June 25.

The village began thinking about hiring a clerk after a strategic planning meeting in March. Village Administrator Jay Shambeau informed the board of deficiencies taking place at the village hall.

At that same meeting Shambeau announced that he would like to create a position for a zoning administrator/building inspector, with that being the most critical position needed. It was created first and Chad Cook was hired at the meeting on June 25.

Since the hire of Cook, Shambeau has started on the search for a clerk. He currently serves in the capacity of Administrator/Clerk. He hopes to have the position filled by early September.

Shambeau said at the strategic planning meeting that once he was relieved of his clerk title he would be able to focus more of his time and energy on the village's engineering and planning needs. He hoped to work closely with the village's outsourced engineering firm and attempt to have some of that work done in-house.

The title of Deputy Treasurer is being tagged on to the position as well. Shambeau stated that treasurer, Janet Knops, is "feeling overwhelmed with payroll, and other financial aspects."

"She's sort of been the sole keeper of knowledge for some time. This position will provide some stress relief for her," he concluded. Village President Matt Heiser followed Shambeau's logic and stated he didn't like knowing there really was only one person knowing the complete financial data for the village.

The clerk would receive an annual salary between $36,003 and $41,383. The position would require flex-hours, not have union representation, and overtime in the form of comp pay. Shambeau informed the trustees that the position would not be a strictly 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. position, because the clerk would be responsible for attending board and committee meetings.

Money for the position will come from the 2007 general budget that saw the addition of a position called Engineer Liaison at $51,767. This amount will be used for both Cook's position and the new Clerk/Deputy Treasurer.

The clerk would also direct and coordinate the activities of a number of functions including maintenance of public records, elections, committee and board meeting procedures, and official minute taking duties. The clerk would also be responsible for performing the functions of the Village Treasurer in the Treasurer's absence.

The complete job description can be found on our website, www.kewaskumstatesman.com

KEWASKUM- Bob Manthei put his time card in the time clock for the last time on Thursday, June 28. After serving the village for 36 years, Manthei will hand the reins over to his right-hand man, Jim Noren.

Manthei started with the village's Department of Public Works in 1971 as a crew member. The following year, he began working with Pete Albers in the Wastewater Treatment Plant.

When Albers retired in 1994, he became the plant's lead operator. Noren then joined him in 1994.

Noren took over as lead operator on Monday, July 2. Department of Public Works Director (DPW) Jerry Gilles stated that Noren's position was posted within the DPW, and he received three applications.

Gilles recommended DPW crewmember Craig Gruber for the job. The Village Board approved the move at a meeting on Monday, June 25. Gilles stated that the switch would not occur until July 16 when Gilles expects to fill Gruber's position.

Ellis is back on the job after over two month suspension

By Andrew Kuehl

KEWASKUM- Kewaskum Police Officer Troy Ellis is back on the job after receiving a five-day unpaid suspension. A disciplinary hearing before the village's Police and Fire Commission (PFC) concluded on Thursday, June 28, when Chief of Police Richard Knoebel presented a settlement reached with Ellis.

Chief Knoebel suspended Officer Ellis on April 28, 2007 with pay. On May 1, Knoebel requested a gamut of charges to be investigated by the PFC. Those charges ranged from officer misconduct to use of alcohol against the 18-year veteran of the department.

The charges stem from an incident where Officer Ellis was found intoxicated, mistakenly trying to get inside his neighbor's home during the early morning hours of March 18, 2007. He was off-duty and had to be removed from the scene by a fellow village police officer and taken to his home.

Testimony in the hearing began on Tuesday, June 26. Denise Kenworthy, the homeowner was the hearing's first witness. She gave a play-by-play of the events as they unfolded shortly after she heard the family's dog barking around 1 a.m. on March 18. She indicated that her husband, John Kenworthy went to the back door of their home to find a man standing there. She then called 9-1-1. "I was very, very scared, afraid of who this intruder was trying to get into our home," she stated.

The commissioners heard a 9-1-1 recording which Denise Kenworthy made the night she believed an intruder was trying to get into her family's home. When asked, she stated that she would not like to see Officer Ellis fired over the situation.

John Kenworthy was the next person to testify before the commission. He echoed the thoughts of his wife when asked if he thought Officer Ellis should be fired. "We're all neighbors, his kid and my kid walk home from school together. We want things to get back to normal. As horrible as the night was, we didn't want to press charges. I guess I stick by that, we still feel that way. We have a community here. We have to take care of each other as much as we can," he added.

Kenworthy continued by saying he was disappointed that after the whole ordeal, Officer Ellis neglected to apologize for making a "mistake." "Troy you could have called me, come over, I wish you would have said, 'I screwed up last night.' No apology, that is hard for me. I am more disappointed in that," he concluded.

Officer Al Ratzel was the third to testify. He explained his response to the evening. He stated that in his opinion, Officer Ellis was intoxicated. "He had to be pretty high, he didn't recognize me," Officer Ratzel revealed.

Officer Ratzel stated that he swayed from normal department policy when handling the situation with Officer Ellis. He admitted that he did not arrest him because he was a fellow officer. A normal response would have seen Officer Ellis arrested for disorderly conduct, battery to a police officer and criminal trespassing.

Officer Ratzel also stated that he never handcuffed or performed a pat down of Officer Ellis. He also neglected to perform a Breathalyzer test that would have documented Officer Ellis's degree of intoxication. He just gave him a ride to his home, less than an eighth of a mile from the Kenworthy residence.

Officer Ratzel alerted the commissioners and those in the audience that a new policy has been put in place in the department, stating that if a police officer comes across criminal activity by an officer, the officer must be arrested and turned over to the Sheriff's Department.

A break was requested by the court reporter. The five-minute break turned into an over hour-long discussion between Ellis and Knoebel's attorneys. When the hearing resumed, both sides requested a continuance. Both announced a possible settlement in the matter.

Because of the continuance, testimony from Captain Steven Gonwa of The Washington County Sheriff's Department was not heard. Captain Gonwa conducted an independent investigation of the matter. Chief Knoebel was also scheduled to take the witness stand.

Ellis received a total 15-day unpaid suspension. However, the settlement states that after the immediate five days, 10 days will be held for 18 months. If Ellis does not receive any disciplinary action in 12 months five days will be erased. If he continues for another 12 months without disciplinary action, the remaining five will be dropped.

Should Ellis go 18 months without disciplinary action, the 15-day total suspension will be removed permanently from his employment record with the village. It will however reflect that he served a five-day suspension without pay.

Ellis is also required to undergo an alcohol assessment and attend any counseling recommended as a result of the assessment.

Commissioner Jeff Rother made the motion and he received a second from Tom McElhatton, to withdraw the charges, they earlier accepted from Chief Knoebel. Commissioner Ed Miller opposed the measure and stated, "we are responsible for the outcome, we haven't had a damn thing to say yet."

Attorney for the PFC Paul Alexy explained that since Officer Ellis withdrew his appeal and Knoebel withdrew the charges there was nothing for the commission to act on.

In a return phone call, Officer Ellis stated he did not want to comment on the settlement offer.

Chief Knoebel stated that he changed his mind after negotiations and hoped that the remedial solution would take care of the problem and prevent any future problems.

To see a copy of the settlement visit our website, www.kewaskumstatesman.com.

Local News IN BRIEF

PSC approves natural gas line projects

MADISON- The Public Service Commission of Wisconsin (PSC) has approved construction of natural gas line projects for Wisconsin Gas, We Energies and Wisconsin Public Service Corporation (WPSC).

"The PSC, Department of Natural Resources and parties to the case started working together on these applications early in the process. Their hard work has helped provide the Commission with a clear and comprehensive record - allowing us to make a fair and sound decision," said Chairperson Dan Ebert.

In a verbal decision, the Commission approved the applications from the three utilities to build approximately 85 miles of natural gas distribution lines to connect to a proposed interstate pipeline expansion project. Those built by Wisconsin Gas, We Energies will run through Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Calumet, Brown, Outagamie, Dodge and Washington counties.

"These projects will increase reliability, add needed natural gas capacity and will help foster competition in the natural gas market," said Commissioner Mark Meyer.

Additional documents associated with the natural gas distribution line projects can be viewed on the PSC's Electronic Regulatory Filing System at <http://psc.wi.gov/>. Type case numbers 6690-CG-160, 5-CG-103 and 6650-CG-220 in the boxes provided on the PSC homepage, or click on the Electronic Regulatory Filing System button.

Barton family homeless after seven alarm fire destroys home

By Andrew Kuehl

Statesman Managing Editor
akuehl@kewaskumstatesman

TOWN of BARTON - A family with young children escaped injury after a fire broke out in their new home on Tuesday, July 2, 2007 at 2 p.m. The fire took the efforts of seven fire departments to get it extinguished.

The Washington County Sheriff's Department was notified of the fire at 7587 County Highway D. A caller informed the Sheriff's Office that the home that was occupied at the time had visible flames protruding through the roof. When the fire started, five children, ranging in ages from three to 15, were inside the log home.

Deputies, along with the Kohlsville Fire Department, responded. Upon arrival deputies discovered that everyone had been safely evacuated from the home. The upper level of the two-story log home was actively on fire.

Kewaskum, West Bend, Allenton, Boltonville, St. Lawrence and Fillmore Fire Departments assisted Kohlsville firefighters. These departments were able to successfully extinguish the blaze, but not before the home suffered extensive burn damage to the upper level and roof. The rest of the home and its contents suffered smoke and water damage. A dollar estimate of the loss was not available.

Lieutenant Bob Martin with the Sheriff's Department reported the residence was in the process of being rented and the new tenants were moving in when this occurred.

The origin of the fire was unknown at press time. Fire investigators from the fire department and sheriff's department are currently looking into the cause.

There were no injuries reported by those battling the fire. The Red Cross is assisting the family.

Fire equipment from seven area fire departments lined Highway D in front of the home.

The truck flipped end over end and the car rolled over.

Hintz was flown by Flight for Life Helicopter to Froedtert Hospital in Milwaukee. Glasgow and two occupants from the truck were taken to St. Agnes Hospital in Fond du Lac.

Missing girl found at rest area

TOWN of LOMIRA - Dodge County Sheriff Todd Nehls credits one of his deputies "gut instinct" for the recovery of a missing four-year-old Green Bay girl. The deputy found the endangered girl at a rest stop along Highway 41.

The deputy came across a suspiciously parked vehicle on Thursday, June 28, around 1:45 a.m. when doing a security check at the wayside.

Upon further investigation the deputy became aware that the vehicle was stolen. He observed two adults and the four-year old sleeping inside.

A 22-year old female and 24-year old male, both from Oneida, were taken into custody for Operating a Motor Vehicle w/o Owners Consent.

The four-year old girl was also taken into custody and held until her father arrived in Juneau to pick her up.

Additional charges are expected and will be initiated by the Brown County Sheriff's Dept. and District Attorney's Office.

Stamm achieves highest rank in Scouting

75th Anniversary

Tyler Stamm, center with two of his leaders.

A Kewaskum teen credits leadership from his troop leaders after attaining the Eagle rank in the Boy Scouts of America recently. Leaders of his troop and fellow scouts recently honored Tyler Stamm for his accomplishment.

Stamm stated the most rewarding part of his journey was witnessing a dream come true for area families. Eagle candidates must select and successfully accomplish an act of leadership, recruiting volunteers to accomplish a goal. With the mentoring of area businessman, Derek Peterson, and the help of troop members, area businesses and the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, Stamm introduced Kewaskum to a new form of family entertainment, "Movie in the Park".

"I am grateful to Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce for supporting a kid with a big idea. Originally, I was just hoping the event would succeed with good weather and lots of happy faces in attendance. Deep down I was hoping it might become a new tradition like the great July third fireworks. I am so happy the Chamber decided to keep this going. It takes a lot of money and organization to make this happen free to families."

Stamm says he plans to attend the movie every summer, offering free face painting or help wherever it is needed. He recognizes the enthusiasm of area businesswoman, Chris Jung, as part of the success formula for this event. Jung chairs the event with Jeff Jaeger.

Area boys who wish to have fun while learning to accomplish goals are encouraged to check out the local troop, Boy Scouts Troop 744. Scoutmaster Neil Jurss can be reached at (262) 675-0986.

Stamm reported that his commitment toward his goal proved to be a large challenge while attending an international boarding school however, he persevered. He recently graduated from St. Lawrence Seminary High School in Mt.

Calvary.

Stamm is the son of Brian and Peggy Kober, of Kewaskum and Rick Stamm, Brookfield. He will attend Marquette University in fall.

Past leaders that made a difference in Tyler's years in scouting include past scoutmaster (and step-dad) Brian Kober, Jim Uelmen, John Kletti, Scott Waranius, Ann Neuman, Kerry Faber and present scoutmaster Neal Jurss.

On June 4, 2007, Milton and Caroline (Backhaus) Eisentraut celebrated their 75th wedding anniversary. They were married at St. Lucas Lutheran Church in Kewaskum on June 4, 1932 and lived most of their married life in Fredonia.

Johnsonville Brat sponsors Family Night at the Fond du Lac County Fair

Come enjoy a piece of heaven at the 2007 Fond du Lac County Fair! The fair gets underway with Johnsonville Family Night Tuesday, July 17th. The gates open at 5:00 pm. and there is sure to be something for everyone.

When Family Night first started in 1995 it was called Sneak-a-Peek at the fair. Later it was renamed Family Night. "This night was a way of introducing the whole family to a county-wide event at a reduced cost with local entertainment in a family orientated atmosphere," said George Stanchfield, Treasurer of the Fair Board. "This is all made possible with the help of sponsorships from area businesses".

"We are so happy to sponsor family night at the Fond du Lac County Fair. As a young girl from Campbellsport, I was always very involved with the fair," said Shelly Stayer. "I'm a very strong believer in the 4-H program and love to stroll through the buildings to see everyone's work. 4-H is an amazing way to teach children so many different skillsit is the 4-H program that taught me how to sew, knit, bake etc.... some of these skills would be a lost art today without programs such as 4-H," she continued

"At Johnsonville, it is very important for us to be a player on the global scene," said Stayer. "We now produce brats in factories throughout the world. You can now find our product in over 39 countries. At the same time it is important to the Stayer family to help support the area around Johnsonville (just outside of Plymouth). Our slogan BIG TASTE FROM A SMALL TOWN means a great deal to us and always will. Ralph specifically built a new global headquarters in Johnsonville (pop. 64) on the same property that his parents started their butcher shop."

"We are very fortunate to have a very, generous sponsor this year in Johnsonville. It's because of their support that we are able to provide these family activities at such a reasonable price," said Rose Boyke, President of the Fair Board.

One of the feature highlights of the Johnsonville Family Nights is Battle of the Bands. Battle of the Bands will be held from 5:00 to 11:00pm on the Sound Stage. Six bands will compete to claim the title of Battle of the Bands winner.

People of all ages will be able to enjoy the petting zoo which will feature a wide variety of different animals that you can experience up close.

The rides will also be ready to go! Purchase a wristband for $15 and ride most rides all night if you dare!

And of course, come hungry! The fair promises a huge assortment of food to satisfy a large variety of taste buds. From Mexican burritos to a fair favorite Johnsonville brat, you won't go home hungry.

Admission to Johnsonville Family Night will be $2.00 with kids 14 & under free. Fifty cents from each paid admission will be donated to the Boys and Girls Club of Fond du Lac. "This is just one more way the Fond du Lac County Agricultural Society can give back to the community that has supported them over the last 156 years" said Stanchfield.

Shelly Stayer and Johnsonville have chosen the Boys and Girls Club to receive the donation money from the gate on Family Night. The Stayer family has constructed and named Boys and Girls Clubs in other cities of the state the closest being Sheboygan which is home to the Ralph and Alice Stayer Boys and Girls Club. Shelly is also the co-chair of the new 12 million dollar Boys and Girls Club/YMCA in Fond du Lac. "The gate receipts will go to sponsor children in the program not building costs.

"I usually attended the Fair everyday when I was young," remembers Stayer. "My father John Reilly would volunteer his time as the auctioneer in the animal barn. Ralph's father would also attend to look for the prize hog that year. We both are very happy to have this new partnership between the Fond du Lac County Fair and Johnsonville Brats."

Little Folks celebrates Week of the Young Child

Miss Trista helps the toddlers decorate cookies for their parents to enjoy.

The Week of the Young Child took place April 23-27. This is a time when children as well as parents are recognized and celebrated.

On Monday, each parent was given a button portraying their child and was asked to wear it all week long.

On Tuesday, parents were given the opportunity to join their child for breakfast. The daycare provided pastries, fruit, juice, milk and coffee.

On Wednesday, a trivia contest was held. Each parent was asked to answer five child-related trivia questions. Anyone answering all five correctly were entered into a drawing for a $50 savings bond. The winner was Michelle Elefson, mother of Ashley and Ethan, from Kewaskum.

On Thursday, the three and four year-old children attended "The Wizard of Oz" play which was performed by the West Bend Children's Theatre. Many of the Little Folks and their families returned to the child care center in the evening for an ice cream social.

To wrap up the week, the staff at Little Folks handed out imprinted pens with the attached message, "Thank you for sharing your child with us."

The Little Folks School House appreciated the parents who support them, the children they care for, and the professional staff who keep it all together and running smoothly.

Anyone wanting more information on enrollment - in either the daycare or the school-age program, is urged to call Dodie or Jennifer at 262-626-4023.

District says goodbye to seven

By Amber Donath
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum School District (KSD) says goodbye to seven dedicated employees: one librarian, one guidance counselor, one custodian and four teachers. Their combined years of service are more than 207 in Kewaskum schools.

Sharon Blank was Kewaskum High School (KHS) guidance counselor for 10 years after teaching at Kewaskum Elementary School (KES) for 26 years.

Fred Boehlke was KHS lead building custodian for seven years and supervisor of buildings and grounds prior to that for 15 years for a combined total of 23 years. He had worked in the Hustisford School District before coming to Kewaskum.

Mike Miller has been the physical education teacher for Kewaskum and Wayne Elementary Schools for all of his 35 years. He also taught at Farmington and Beechwood Elementary Schools during his time with the district.

Leonard Soller, Jr. was a physical science, physics and astronomy teacher at KHS for 20 years.

Margaret Pecher has been a Kewaskum Middle School teacher for 30 years and taught in Kiel for five years before coming to KSD.

Kathy Roehrig has been the librarian at all of the Kewaskum Elementary Schools for 30 years. Before coming to Kewaskum, she was a substitute teacher at Silverbrook Middle School in West Bend and did some work in Wauwatosa as well.

John Stephani has taught 4th and 5th grade at KES for 33.5 years.

During their time in the district, the retirees have collected an array of memories each will take with them as they begin this new phase of their lives.

"I always looked forward to my 7th grade civics class competing against Mr. Squires 8th grade social studies class," said Pecher. "Other favorite memories I will take with me are the spelling with the champs competition and coaching forensics for 14 years, especially when we took 3rd place at State one year."

"My cutest memory was the year I was missing my math teacher's manual," said Stephani. "I couldn't find it anywhere and asked every student if they knew where it was. It wasn't until after the exam that I was able to figure out where it was. In one student's answer booklet, he or she answered question #21 - Answers may vary. I knew I found my answer key."

"I have enjoyed the students and watching them mature," said Boehlke. "The freshmen are all excited, care-free, self-conscience and trying to fit in. The seniors are a little frightened and uncertain of the future while realizing they have to work to get where they are planning to go. What a difference in four years."

"For me the memory that really sticks out is the mass moving of the library from the old KES into the new school," said Roehrig. "It was a constant line of students and staff carrying books and boxes, pulling wagons, pushing carts, etc. But the new library wasn't done, so we had to put everything in the science lab next door to the library only to move it all a second time. It was pretty crazy."

"I have many wonderful experiences and fond memories of students and staff," said Blank. "The opportunity to help others has been very rewarding for me. It has been a wonderful journey made better by those I have worked with and will never forget."

KSD has been fortunate to have each of these dedicated individuals touch the lives of thousands of students over the years. Looking into the future there will be many changes for all of the schools and students in our district.

The group of retirees is also facing many changes in the weeks ahead. Some will be attending to all the projects around the house that have been put by the wayside. Some will be volunteering more, taking fun classes, spending more time on hobbies and traveling. They all will be finding new ways to fill their time and enjoy life.

"My house is already on the market," said Stephani. "My wife and I are going to move up north closer to where we are originally from."

"I am going to watch my 3-year-old grandson on Wednesdays as well as take a trip to Denmark for three weeks in August," said Roehrig.

"My husband and I already have two trips planned for the immediate future," said Pecher.

KSD tips its hat to all seven of the retirees.

FES students learn about East Africa

During a special presentation at FES, teacher Julie Wenzlaff, dressed in authentic clothing from East Africa, and guest speaker Heather Morgan hold hands as women often do when walking together in public. Beau Hennen and teacher John Kauth, also dressed in authentic clothing, hold pinkies representing how men walk together in East Africa as a sign of good friends.

Farmington Elementary School (FES) students had a very special guest speaker in June. Heather Morgan stopped in to share her teaching and life experiences in East Africa.

Morgan is from Port Washington and has been teaching in East Africa for two years on a temporary visa. This July she is planning on heading back to begin her third year of teaching. "I have always dreamed of teaching in Africa," said Morgan. "And I found a way to make my dream come true."

FES students had many questions regarding how children in East Africa live and are schooled following Morgan's slide presentation.

During the slide show, FES students saw East African students in their classrooms and on their playground. They saw both flats (apartments) and huts where people live as well as modes of transportation like donkeys, buses and motorized rickshaws. There was even a slide of a dust storm that Morgan experienced.

Some of the biggest reactions from the FES crowd were when Morgan explained how much warmer it is in Eastern Africa than Wisconsin: 140 degrees on a hot day and 110 degrees on a cool day; and how men and women are not treated as equals.

FES students walked away from the presentation with a much better understanding of life for a student in a different culture.

Cabin Pressure

By Josh Wolk

Hyperion, $22.95 288 pages

Remember being fourteen? Remember the uncertainty of being on the very edge of adulthood, not quite a kid but not quite a grown-up? Remember the zits, the hormones, trying to fit in, trying to be accepted? Remember trying to figure out the opposite sex?

Well, okay, so that last one happened last week. But really.... do you remember the angst of being fourteen?

Fondly, Josh Wolk remembers those days. Wanting to recapture them one last time, he spent eight weeks as a camp counselor at an all-boys camp in New England. In his new book "Cabin Pressure", he writes about his summer as a thirty-four-year-old teenage boy.

The spring before his impending wedding, Josh Wolk got a little scared. Not cold-feet, stand-her-up-at-the-altar scared, but nervous about what came with marriage. When someone gets married, doesn't that mean they have to settle down, raise a family, become responsible and stop being foolish? Doesn't that mean they have to have a - gasp! - mortgage?

And then Wolk began having thoughts about the best years of his life. When he was a teenager, he spent summers at Eastwind, an all-boy camp on the edge of a lake in Maine. Every summer was filled with friendship, fun rituals, swimming, and male bonding. Was it possible to recapture those days? Since former campers and counselors were always welcome to return, Wolk applied for a job. A handful of weeks before his wedding, he packed a trunk with clothes and towels and headed for the woods.

Assigned to the Bears' cabin, Wolk tried to settle in with a band of fourteen-year-old boys, but he felt out of place. He wasn't sure how to connect with them. His jokes were met with eye-rolls. His teases fell flat.

But if being an "old man" in a camp filled with teenagers wasn't easy for Wolk, neither was being the nearly-oldest staff member. Wolk felt self-conscious and struggled to fit in with the other counselors. Was summer camp always like this?

Do you sometimes wish you could kayak back to the halcyon days of teenagerdom? Reading "Cabin Pressure" is the first place to start. Author Josh Wolk perfectly captures teenage angst - the desperate wanting to belong; the rejection by peers; the goofy, coltish path to maturity - and he proves that those feelings never really go away, no matter how old you get. But Wolk sparkles like a campfire in his hilarious descriptions of the kids in his cabin and the closeness he begins to enjoy after a couple afternoons of backgammon and a goofy nickname session. Just by the moniker he's hung on these kids, you know exactly what each boy is like. I also laughed til I almost cried at some of Wolk's fellow counselors.

If the smell of wood smoke, the feel of a cold, wet swimsuit, or another round of "Kumbaya" fills you with nostalgia, then pick up a copy of "Cabin Pressure" and remember those days again. I'm sure, when you close the back cover, you're going to want s'more.

Be on on the lookout for deer ticks

As warmer weather increases and people spend more time outdoors, state health officials remind people to be on the lookout for ticks that can cause Lyme disease and to take steps to protect themselves.

"Most people who develop Lyme disease in Wisconsin are exposed to infected ticks between May and August," said Dr. Jim Kazmierczak, State Public Health Veterinarian at the Department of Health and Family Services. "Lyme disease can be treated with antibiotics, and is treated more easily when detected early."

One early symptom of Lyme disease is a characteristic "bullseye" rash; consisting of a reddened area, often with a clear area in the middle, at the original site of the tick bite. The rash typically expands to cover a large area (usually greater than two inches), or may even appear in several places on other parts of the body. However, not everyone develops the rash.

"If someone lives in or has spent time in areas where deer ticks are common and develops symptoms such as fever, headache, chills, pain in the muscles or joints, enlarged lymph nodes, or facial paralysis, they should immediately consult their health care provider," added Kazmierczak.

Lyme disease is caused by a bacteria carried by small ticks called deer ticks, which are found in many parts of the US, including Wisconsin. The disease can cause debilitating arthritis as well as serious heart and nervous system problems. The greatest risk of developing the illness is during June and July.

In 2006, there were 1,456 cases of Lyme disease in Wisconsin residents - most cases occurred in the western and north-central parts of the states. In 2005, there were 1,441 cases.

The following are preventative measures people can take to avoid tick bites, thereby reducing their chance of getting Lyme disease:

- Avoid wooded and busy areas with high grass and lots of leaf litter since ticks prefer these areas. If you do go into areas like this, try to stay in the center of a cleared trail to avoid brushing up against tall grass and shrubs.

- Use effective tick repellants and apply according to the label instructions. The US Center for Disease Control and Prevention recommends that adults use repellants with 20-30% DEET on exposed skin and clothing to prevent tick bites. Repellants that contain permethrin can also be applied to clothing.

- Wear long-sleeved shirts and long pants to help shield you from ticks. Tuck your shirt into your pants and tuck pant cuffs into the top of your socks or boots to create a "tick barrier." Light colored clothing makes ticks easier to spot.

- Frequently check for ticks - and remove them properly. Ticks actually have to bite you and remain attached for at least 24 hours to transmit Lyme disease. Deer ticks are small and may be difficult to find, so tick checks must be done on all parts of the body carefully and thoroughly.

- Remove attached ticks slowly and gently, using a thin-bladed pair of tweezers. Avoid cursing the body of the tick by grasping them at the point of skin attachment. Avoid folk remedies like petroleum jelly, nail polish remover or burning matches - they are not safe or effective ways to remove ticks.

- Protect your pets from tick bites by checking your dog or cat for ticks before bringing them inside. While there is a vaccine available for pets to prevent Lyme disease, it will not stop the animal from bringing ticks into the home. Speak to your veterinarian about topical tick repellent available for your pets.

Visit <http://dhfs.wisconsin.gov/communicable/LymeDisease/index.htm> for more information about Lyme disease and other tick-borne disease, or contact your local health department.

Indians double their pleasure

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Sports Correspondent

Over the years, a good rivalry has developed between Kewaskum and Plymouth, so the Indians certainly enjoyed cleaning house on the Panthers last Monday, June 25.

With respective 10-5 and 8-4 wins at Plymouth, Kewaskum gained a sweep for the season over the Panthers. More important, however, was the fact the victories keep Kewaskum (12-4) in the race for the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC) title.

There was no question this was a big night for senior infielder Casey Scheel, who was a perfect 4x4 in the first game, with three RBIs. "I think he was 10x10 (getting on base) for the day," KHS Coach Dave Donath said.

Scheel, an excellent lead-off man all season, started the game off by getting hit by a pitch, and that was the beginning of what turned into a 7-run barrage.

After a sacrifice bunt by Nick Olla and a fly out by Dan Shea, Matt Parent drew a walk, Logan Staege singled in one run, another came home on back-to-back walks to John Holt and Austin Petrin. Then Nick Ebert's single was good for two RBIs, Ben Butler singled in another, and, in his second at-bat, Scheel doubled home the final two.

Holt was the winning pitcher for the Indians. He went the distance, giving up six hits, striking out five and walking five. Four of the five Panther runs were earned, according to Donath, who said, "He still struggled with his control, but he got the job done."

In Game 2, Ebert (5-1) took over the mound duties and only allowed four hits. The junior right-hander struck out four and walked five.

Scheel didn't get any hits in this game but still got on base five times, drawing three walks and getting hit three times. Ebert certainly helped his own cause, blasting a solo home run in the fourth inning. It was one of three hits he had on the day, going a perfect 3x3, with three RBIs.

"No one else had multiple hits," Donath said, adding Jordan Petrin did come up with a clutch single in the top of the seventh, scoring the seventh and eighth runs of the game.

While the KHS coach wants his team to focus on one game at a time, he was looking ahead just a little, wondering how the seeding meeting will come out Friday, to determine the pairings for the regional and sectional in the WIAA Summer Baseball Tournament.

The meeting for the seeding will take place in West Bend. Donath said the following teams are in the sectional with Kewaskum: West Bend West, West Bend East, Cedar Grove/Belgium, Ransom Lake, Port Washington, Campbellsport, Ozaukee, Slinger and Oostburg.

Singles by Staege, Olla key comeback win

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Sports Correspondent

Until the fifth inning in Friday night's game with host Sheboygan Falls, there were some anxious moments for the Kewaskum High School baseball team. Down 2-1, the Indians needed some key hits and got two, first from catcher Logan Staege and then from Nick Olla, propelling them to a 6-2 victory over the Falcons.

The win was Kewaskum's (15-4) sixth in a row in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC), keeping their hopes alive for a share of the title with New Holstein, which is 17-1 and was idle Friday night.

Sheboygan Falls got two runs off John Holt in the bottom of the third, on a walk, a double by Jacob Juedes, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly.

Staege's single in the top of the fifth gave the Indians the lead, and Olla, who has been a little quiet at the plate in recent games, smacked a 2-run single in the sixth to give the Indians a bit of insurance.

Holt was the winning pitcher. Rick Martin took the loss for the Falcons, whose record dropped to 5-13 in the EWC.

Kewaskum coach Dave Donath was not available for comment on the game Saturday morning, in time for the Statesman's early deadline for the Fourth of July. Craig Hoffmann, who is in charge of keeping baseball standings for the EWC, provided details on the game.

Kewaskum was slated to host New Holstein in a showdown game Monday at 5:30 p.m. With a win, New Holstein clinches the title. If Kewaskum comes out on top, the Indians still must defeat Campbellsport on Friday and New Holstein must lose its remaining two games for the two teams to share the crown.

Effort earns KHS pitcher a win and a steak dinner

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Sports Correspondent

John Holt has had some good numbers while pitching for Kewaskum High School's baseball team this season, but in recent weeks Nick Ebert has established himself as the Indians' No. 1 chucker.

Take Thursday night, June 28, for an example. Ebert scattered six hits, struck out three and walked none in leading the Indians to a 7-2 victory over host Two Rivers. "After six innings, he had 52 pitches. He was under 70 pitches for the game," KHS coach Dave Donath said. "That's amazing!"

What's just as amazing is, "The first inning, he had a three-pitch inning ... the first one I've had in seven years,"

Donath said, noting, "I owe him a steak dinner" because of a standing offer the coach has had with his pitchers for what has to be considered a perfect inning.

About the only negative Donath could think of was that Ebert gave up a base hit on a 0-and-2 count.

While Ebert, now 6-1 on the season was holding the Raiders in check, Matt Parent was leading the offensive charge in the Indians' sixth straight win. Parent went 3x4 with two runs scored and three runs driven in. "He hit a bomb ... in the fifth, he hit a 3-run shot to right-center," according to Donath, who said that broke the game wide open.

Jordan Petrin also helped out with a two-run single in the top of the seventh. "Other than that, it was pretty much about Nick Ebert," Donath said.

The win put Kewaskum's record at 14-4 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC) and 18-6 overall.

New Holstein is still atop the EWC standings, and Donath said, "They've got to lose three games, and we've got to win three and we get a share ... It's a very long shot."

The Indians were slated to entertain the Huskies Monday night.
