New Horizon U.C.C. will dedicate church

TOWN of FARMINGTON- New Horizon United Church of Christ will dedicate their new facility at 9663 Highway 144 North, on Sunday, April 6 at 2:00 p.m.

The Rev. James K. Burd, Association Minister of the Wisconsin Southeast Association, Wisconsin Conference United Church of Christ will deliver the Dedication Sermon. The Rev. David Schlieter, Pastor and the Rev. Robert Seater, past pastor, will share in the Dedication Service.

Rev. Seater presided over the congregation during the construction period of the church.

New Horizon United Church of Christ is a merger of St. John's United Church of Christ, Beechwood, St. John's United Church of Christ, Boltonville and St. Paul's United Church of Christ Silver Creek.

Shortly after the merger in 2004, St. Paul's building was lost in a fire. A site committee was formed to look for a site upon which a new church could be built to meet the needs of the newly formed congregation and to look ahead toward the future.

After much searching and discussion, New Horizon purchased the former TWC building in the town of Farmington, and the first worship service was held in the yet to be remodeled building, on the first Sunday of October, 2006.

A building committee was formed, blue prints were prepared, For Ever After Construction Company was hired as the contractor, and the remodeling of the former small toy factory, into the new church, started in August of 2007.

The first service of worship was held in the new sanctuary on Christmas Sunday 2007.

The public is invited to share with the members of New Horizon United Church of Christ this significant event in the life of the church.

Leister will replace veteran Goeden on Kewaskum's Board of Education

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@kewaskumstatesman

KEWASKUM- Tuesday's Spring Election brought a fresh face to the Board of Education. James Leister replaces Jean Goeden who relinquished her seat.

Leister, 42, has been a member of the District's Building and Grounds Committee for the last five years. He, along with his wife and four children, live in the town of Wayne.

When explaining his views and why he chose to run, he stated, "One of the reasons I got involved with the Building and Grounds Committee for the Kewaskum school district is that I watched my property taxes sky rocket. All I kept hearing was that the school district was falling apart and we were always asked for additional funds. There comes a point in time when you have to find out where the money is going. I don't have the answers for where it all went before I and some of the other school board members got involved. But in the last four to five years, we have spent millions to update and repair many of the facilities. Projects including Rose Hall, many new roof sections, new boilers, new lights, new windows and doors all inside our budget. My goal is to help keep a handle on rising property taxes while offering the best education and options for all types of students."

Goeden will end her school board career after serving a five-year stint that began in 2003. Prior to that Goeden served a significant number of terms but retired due to family needs.

Also running in the election were Sally Cochran and John Kenworthy.

Debbie Goodsell, who handled the election for the district reported that Cochran was the top vote-getter district-wide with 1,181. Kenworthy who currently serves as President came next with 1,145 and then Leister with 1,088.

Brett Farve, now retired from the Green Bay Packers received one write-in. Farve could not be reached to comment on whether he may move to the district to consider a political career here.

Extreme Makeover looking to come back

Do you know a hometown hero whose home deserves an Extreme Makeover? If so, the producers of ABC's Extreme Makeover: Home Edition want to hear from you.

Ty Pennington and his crew have been all across the map and now they want to drive that famous bus back to Wisconsin!

"The search is on for season six. Now that we have completed the 50 state tour, its time to find new heroes and families that need help from all over the nation. So, we are opening up the mailroom and hoping to find 22 new families," stated Diane Korman, senior producer of Extreme Makeover Home Edition.

What does it take to be picked for an Extreme Makeover? "We are looking for inspirational families that America can really root for" says Casting Director, Quintin Strack "we are in search of real heroes...people that have amazing strength and who have put their own needs aside to help someone else." In addition, to heroics, the producers are looking for families whose homes are in dire need of help. "We don't want to tear down a nice looking house. We want to see houses that look like they might fall down on their own!"

To be eligible, a family must own their own single family home and be able to show producers how a makeover will make a huge difference in their lives.

Interested families should e-mail a short description of their family story to: casting-wisconsin@gmail.com.

Nominations must include the names and ages of each member of the household along with a description of the major challenges within the home. Also be sure to explain why this family is deserving, heroic, or a positive role model in their community. If possible, include a recent photo of the family. Don't forget to include a contact phone number.

The deadline for nominations is April 14, 2008. Don't Delay!

For more information on how to apply please visit their website at: <http://abc.go.com/primetime/xtreme-home/index?pn=apply>.

Each episode of "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition" is self-contained and features a race against time on a project that would ordinarily take at least four months to achieve, involving a team of designers, contractors and several hundred workers who have just seven days to totally rebuild an entire house - every single room, plus the exterior and landscaping.

The lives of the lucky families are forever changed when they learn that they have been selected to have their home walls moved, their floors replaced and even their façades radically changed. The result should be a decorator's delight... if it can be done in time.

Each episode begins with team leader Ty Pennington's now-famous "Good morning!" wake-up call, when he, along with the other designers, surprises the unsuspecting family with news that their home has been chosen to receive a makeover. Then viewers witness not only the unbelievable transformation of the house, but during the final and emotional reveal, they see how the home makeover has impacted the lives of the deserving families.

The design team includes team leader Ty Pennington, with designers Paul DiMeo, Paige Hemmis, Michael Moloney, Ed Sanders, Tracy Hutson, Tanya McQueen, Eduardo Xol and John Littlefield. New designers for this season will be Rib Hillis and Didi Ayer.

About ABC-TV's Extreme Home Makeover Edition
"Extreme Makeover: Home Edition," which has won back-to-back Emmy Awards as Best Reality Program (non-competitive), is in its 5th season on ABC. The program is produced by Endemol USA, a division of Endemol Holding. Denise Cramsey is the executive producer; and David Goldberg is the president of Endemol USA.

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

As residents of Wayne Township we're writing to express concern over the proposed new town park. At a time when fiscal responsibility is called for the Wayne Township Board appears to be looking for ways to spend money and negatively impact taxes. Ourageous! Destruction of our rural community as well as potential safety/liability issues apparently do not concern The Board, either. A new park should be a huge concern of all Wayne Township residents.

To the Editor:

The war in Iraq has been going on for five years and 4,000 Americans were killed as a result of the war. During those same five years almost 4,000 Americans were killed as a result of car crashes in Wisconsin alone. In our nation we have killed almost 200,000 Americans as a result of car crashes during those same five years.

The loss of 4,000 American lives in Iraq is a tragedy. The loss of 200,000 American lives on our nation's highways is too.

To the Editor:

It was the middle of winter when my thoughts turned to spring and it is with the changing of seasons comes February, March and April. With the melting of winter comes the warm winds of spring as the midnight dark turns light of sunshine and clouds turn into rainbows of color.

I look at the rich healthy earth and low and behold I see a sun-soaked flower poking its wee head out to say hello to everyone. It is a season of sweet songs and happiness coming all over the earth to sing worthy praises.

Hold fast your patience - I can tell - its coming - SPRING!

Scholz unseated in town of Scott

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@kewaskumstatesman

TOWN of SCOTT- One new face and one familiar one will be added to the town board at their annual meeting next week. On Tuesday, April 1, 435 residents cast their vote in the township's spring election.

Dennis Janz and Randy Narbatovics will take office at the annual meeting which will be held Tuesday, April 8 at 7 p.m.

Supervisor Cheryl Scholz will lose her seat after her first term.

Clerk Billie Jo Richter reported that Brian Zettler received 101 votes; Scholz received 165; Janz received 312 and Narbatovics received 201.

Narbatovics who served on the board from 2005 until

Dennis Janz

Randy Narbatovics

Jay Road residents burn the stake

TOWN of FARMINGTON- Citizens along Jay Road (formally County Road X) gathered for a "surveyor stake burning" party on Saturday, February 16, 2008.

The cold and snow didn't stop the festivities; after all the effort which included many meetings, detailed research, several proposals, numerous discussions, and three official votes, the weather was the least of the concerns on this day. Little could have prevented a celebration of this team's accomplishment. There were loud cheers and high five's, followed by the "burning of the unneeded surveyor stakes".

The citizens then continued the celebration with a pot luck dinner (by a fireplace indoors).

According to residents, this brings closure to an over two-year county project plan. They attributed the project a "success" due to members of the town of Farmington board, clerk Joanne Oneska county board supervisor Brian Bausch, Ken Pesch, Washington County Highway Commissioner and the county's highway committee.

Changes announced for United Way board

The Board of Directors of the United Way of Washington County announced a change in direction and a new focus for its efforts to identify human services needs in Washington County.

"Our board feels that, in order to raise the funds needed to meet critical needs within our County, we need to build on our relationships with current and new donors," explained Carole Klotz, Board President and owner of Klotz's Piggy Wiggly. "We must also help everyone understand that the best way to maintain the quality of life within our County is to make sure that everyone has access to services they need."

As part of the broader changes at the organization, Joe Calabrese will no longer be serving as Executive Director. The Board extends its thanks to Joe for his 3+ years of service to the organization and the community wishes him success in all future endeavors.

According to Board President Carole Klotz, "we're looking forward to building a successful 2008 campaign that will support our mission to measurably improve the quality of life of Washington County residents."

The United Way of Washington County currently funds over 37 programs through 20 agencies in five community impact areas: supporting people in crisis, strengthening families, developing successful children and youth, building strong and healthy communities, and promoting self-sufficiency. For additional information about United Way, the good work it does in Washington County, or to find out ways to give or how to help, visit its website at www.unitedwayofwashingtoncounty.org.

April 7-11 is 'Work Zone Safety Awareness Week' in Washington County

The Washington County Board of Supervisors has designated the week of April 7-11, 2008 as Work Zone Safety Awareness Week in Washington County. The Board wants motorists to be aware of the danger to highway workers, law enforcement and other emergency workers, and the motorists themselves in work zones.

Washington County Highway Department employees maintain the county trunk highway system and the state trunk highway system under contract with the Wisconsin Department of Transportation. Maintenance and construction activities are continuously done in an effort to promote the safest transportation system possible for motorists traveling throughout

Washington County.

To maintain this high level of safety, highway department employees are required to perform maintenance on the roadways while open to traffic. These work zone areas can become extremely dangerous, especially during peak traffic times. It is an all too common occurrence for vehicles to pass through work zones at unreasonable and unsafe speeds while highway workers are performing road maintenance. On average in Wisconsin, there are over 1,700 work zone accidents with 12 fatalities.

Wisconsin Law requires motorists that are approaching any emergency vehicle, tow truck, and/or highway maintenance vehicle with emergency or warning lights on to slow down. The "Move Over Law" also states that motorists must move to the furthest lane on roadways with two or more lanes proceeding in the same direction, if it can be done safely and without interfering with any other traffic. Fines for this violation are considerable, as much as $243, with three points against the license, and a suspension of the license if it involves an accident.

The Washington County Highway and Sheriff Departments are united in requesting drivers to slow down in work zones or whenever passing maintenance or law enforcement vehicles. Please help keep highway workers, law enforcement, and other emergency workers safe on our highways.

West Bend mans leads police on chase through city of WB

On Sunday, March 30, at approximately 8:05 p.m., a Washington County Sheriff's Deputy observed a vehicle operating at a high rate of speed in the area of Creek and River Roads in the City of West Bend. As the deputy attempted to catch up to the vehicle, the suspect began to ignore traffic signals and stop signs.

The deputy pursued the vehicle on several city streets reaching speed of 50 mph. The suspect lost control of his vehicle on Decorah Road just west of Eastern Avenue. The vehicle left the roadway and struck a tree and telephone pole. The suspect, a 30-year-old West Bend man, was taken into custody without incident.

West Bend Fire/Rescue responded to the scene and transported the suspect who had minor injuries. The suspect was cleared by the medical staff and was then transported to the Washington County Jail. The suspect will be facing charges of Operating under the Influence and Eluding an Officer.

West Bend Police Department assisted at the accident scene.

County receives car seat grant

The Washington County Health Department received its third grant to purchase car seats for low income families on January 10, 2008. Families are eligible for reduced-cost car seats if they are 185% or below the federal poverty level.

The Health Department will partner with agencies who serve low income clients in Washington County. Clients are screened for seats and provided a voucher by their partners. Forty clients redeemed their vouchers for car seats at the permanent fitting station at the Washington County Health Department since the beginning of the grant period.

Clients received education, assistance with installation and evaluated the service. Two-hundred-eighty-seven car seats were checked at the permanent fitting station in 2007. The permanent fitting station continues to check car seats and provide education free of charge to the public and is open from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. every Thursday. All service at the permanent fitting station are by appointment. Fifty-seven seats were checked since January 1, 2008.

Call Michelle at (262) 335-4742 at the permanent fitting station for information on car seat safety and installation.

New Fane Sportsman's Club makes donation to DARE

With the retirement of Officer Thomas Bauer, the Kewaskum Police Department's DARE officer for the past 15 years, there was a need to train a new DARE officer. Chief Knoebel contacted the New Fane Sportsman Club and asked if they would be interested in donating towards the training.

The New Fane Sportsman Club, who have donated to the DARE program for many years, stepped up and said they would donate $1,000.00 towards the training. They presented the check to Chief of Police Richard Knoebel at their annual game feed in March, which is an annual event used to raise funds for various programs and charities. Chief Knoebel said "Organizations such as the New Fane Sportsman Club are valuable assets to our community and show the generosity of people."

The DARE program involves a uniformed police officer going into the schools and teaching 5th grade students methods to avoid misuse of drugs and alcohol. It also teaches them on ways to avoid violence, bullying and vandalism.

Habitat for Humanity to host concert featuring 'Eternity'

Habitat for Humanity of Washington County just announced that they were building for the first time in Kewaskum this spring. In anticipation of the great support from the community, Habitat is hosting a FREE Benefit Concert featuring the popular Gospel quartet, Eternity at the Kewaskum Theater on Saturday, April 19th at 7 pm. Eternity delivers a fun, energetic stage show and powerful four-part harmonies in the style of the Oak Ridge Boys, Statler Brothers, Gaither Vocal Band and Signature Sound Quartet. The concert is FREE with all goodwill donations going to the Habitat home in Kewaskum.

Habitat has not selected the family for the home in Kewaskum and is taking applications. Habitat homeowners, or Partner Families, are selected if they: demonstrate need for better housing; are willing to partner with Habitat through the process, and are able to afford the home.

Homes are sold to the Partner Families at no profit to Habitat. Interest is not charged to the Partner Family either. The length of the mortgage is determined by the family's ability to pay. Partner Families invest not only money in their homes, they invest time and energy. Each family is required to volunteer hundreds of hours on a Habitat home construction site and/or other Habitat projects.

Habitat builds homes for - and with—hard working, deserving families throughout the Washington County area. To date, Habitat has provided 13 hardworking families with simple, decent homes. It's a start, but not enough. Not nearly enough to help the 5,000 families that earn between 30% & 55% of the median household income and would qualify to be partner families in Washington County!

Come out and support the new Habitat project and your neighbors in need on Saturday, April 19th at 7 pm at the Kewaskum Theater. Contact the Habitat Office at 262-626-4625 for more information.

Musical Masquers to hold auditions for 'A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum'

Musical Masquers is delighted to announce auditions for the riotous musical comedy "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." Open auditions will be held Tuesday, April 8 beginning at 7 p.m. and Wednesday, April 9, beginning at 8 p.m. Callbacks will be held Friday, April 11 at Church of Christ, 501 Walnut St., West Bend. Production dates are June 20-22 and 26-28 at the University of Wisconsin - Washington County campus theatre in West Bend.

"Tragedy tomorrow, comedy tonight!" Broadway's greatest farce is light, fast-paced, witty, irreverent and one of the funniest musicals ever written - the perfect escape from life's troubles. The musical is, in a word, hysterical! The script allows actors to inhabit some of the zaniest and conniving characters in musical comedy. "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" takes comedy back to its roots, combining situations from time-tested, 2000 year-old comedies of Roman playwright Plautus with the infectious energy of classic vaudeville. The result is a non-stop laugh-fest in which a crafty slave (Pseudolus) struggles to win the hand of a beautiful but slow-witted courtesan (Philia) for his young master (Hero), in exchange for freedom.

Those auditioning need not prepare anything in advance for those auditions. Everyone will learn and sing one song from the show and also learn some simple dance steps. Everyone will read from the script during the auditions. Those auditioning are asked to bring personal calendars to the auditions so rehearsal conflicts can be listed.

"Everyone's welcome to come to audition," noted director Sharon Stier. "Untrained and trained singers, actors and dancers are encouraged to give it a try. We really are looking for actors who are eager to perform and who are committed to working as a member of a team focused on staging a high quality production."

If you have any questions about auditions, please feel free to call Stier at 414-531-0837 or 262-335-3945.

Keltie Thomas

For some kids, spring means a chance to get out and ride bike, play in the yard, pretend with friends, and mess around in the park.

For other kids, spring means mostly that summer vacation is coming up fast.

And then there are the kids who think the word "spring" is always followed by "training" and "out" doesn't just mean "not inside".

For those kids, there's "How Baseball Works" by Keltie Thomas. This is a book that explains all the things you wondered about the game, the things your dad and mom don't know, and the heroes who made baseball what it is. Did you ever wonder why some baseballs pop up and some are slammed out of the field? How are player's stats figured out? How come the field is striped and why can't you do that at home? Turns out that the answer to these questions lies in science.

First off, you can't have baseball without a ball (ever hear of a game called "Base"? Of course not! It even sounds wrong!) There are several things that make the baseball crack off the bat and fly in the outfield like it does. It has to do with the ball's jacket, its innards, the stitching, and its shape, and with the bat itself. Did you know that a wooden bat actually bends when it connects with a ball?

And then there are the tools of the game: the gloves, the helmets, the padding, and the masks. Back in the beginning of baseball, nobody played with gloves. One of the first players to use a padded glove was called a sissy, but when everybody saw how it protected his hand, everybody started using them.

In this book, you'll read about a baseball player with a streak that "shouldn't have happened" and a pitcher who instructed his outfielders to sit down before he threw the ball. You'll find out about the food that makes a great player, and the unique (winning) sounds you'll hear at a baseball stadium. If you're a kid who loves the game, "How Baseball Works" puts you right in the sweet spot for baseball this year.

Is there a kid in your life who lives and breathes baseball? Then this is a book to have around the house, especially if you're always after him (or her) to pick up a book instead of a ball for just two minutes.

Author Keltie Thomas pitches this book to kids on two levels: those who love the game will be drawn into the science part of it with experiments that are easy-to-do, and kids who are more science-minded will love the fun-to-know factoids about baseball. Parents will really appreciate that both boys and girls are represented in this book's photographs, and there's also a handy glossary in the back, so anyone can walk the bases and talk the lingo.

For 7-to-15-year-old baseball fans, Little Leaguers, or budding scientists, you can't go wrong with this book. "How Baseball Works" is a double play for all.

$1.5 billion available to rural businesses

Rural Development Business and Industry Loan guarantees offered

USDA Rural Development Wisconsin State Director, Frank Frassetto, announced today the availability of $1.5 Billion in Guaranteed Loans through the Rural Development Business and Industry Loan Program.

Loans are available to businesses located in rural areas or communities with populations less than 50,000.

"We are encouraging businesses and commercial lenders to review the benefits of the program as an option for Wisconsin businesses. The guarantee program provides credit enhancements for the borrower and the lender," said Frassetto. "This program helps strengthen our rural economies by providing jobs and creating a better quality of life for area residents."

Rural Development Business and Industry Guaranteed Loans offer several advantages to businesses including:

Extended loan repayment terms versus traditional financing.

Ability to restructure the debt to match the use of funds/assets.

Options for fixed rate financing for the entire loan term.

The program requires fully amortizing loans thereby eliminating traditional commercial balloon refinancing requirements every three to five years.

"America's small to medium size businesses employ over half of the private workforce and are responsible for the vast majority of our country's job creation. The credit needs of this group are quite different from the larger corporations and demand special attention and expertise," said President of Heartland Business Bank, Kevin Tenpas. Heartland Business Bank (HBB), with offices in Green Bay (DePere) and Sheboygan, and their sister bank Wisconsin Community Bank (Madison and Monroe) have been utilizing the USDA Rural Development Guaranteed Business and Industry Loan Program for the past nine years to assist their customers, business owners.

"With the help of the USDA, we are able to access capital for rural business and provide long term financing options helping to fund and support their long term needs. This type of structure provides small businesses staying power, particularly during economic slowdowns. Without this partnership with the USDA, many businesses in rural America would never benefit from the long term creative solutions we implement," added Tenpas.

The Guaranteed Loan Program is available to finance the purchase or development of commercial real estate, equipment purchases, increase or improve working capital, or debt refinancing and debt restructuring.

USDA Rural Development currently has awarded 75 Guaranteed Loans for $150 million throughout Wisconsin. The types of businesses currently participating in the loan program are manufacturing, food processing, hotels, timber/lumber processing, cooperatives, grocery stores, service businesses, restaurants, non profit organizations, commercial warehouses, residential care facilities, brewers, winemakers, and wholesalers.

For additional information on the Business and Industry Guaranteed Loan Program, contact USDA Rural Development at 715-345-7610.

Heartland Business Bank focuses on financing for small to medium sized companies in Wisconsin, the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, and eastern Minnesota. Heartland Business Bank is one of 33 lenders active in the Guaranteed Business and Industry Program in Wisconsin. Eligible lenders include any Federal and State chartered bank, Farm Credit Bank, Savings and Loans Associations, and Credit Unions provided they are subject to credit examination and supervision by either the national Credit Union Administration or a State agency.

USDA Rural Development is an equal opportunity lender with a variety of direct and guaranteed rural credit programs involving single and multi-family housing, community facilities, water and sewer development and business and industry programs. Their mission is to deliver programs in a way that will support increasing economic opportunity and improve the quality of life of Wisconsin's rural residents.

Further information on programs available through USDA Rural Development can be obtained by visiting any Rural Development office, calling toll free at 1-866-474-3600, or visiting the agency's web site at www.rurdev.usda.gov/wi.

Samuelson Sez Some unfinished business

It's checkup time this week...time to check some unfinished business items on my agenda.

Let's start with the 2007 farm bill, or should I call it the 2008 or even the 2009 farm bill? We are three months into the new year and by the end of March, still no farm bill, which means a lot of uncertainty for farmers and ranchers as we move into the planting season.

I still don't understand why, after the House finished its version of the bill in July of last year, we are still waiting for a final bill to go to the President's desk. At this point all my Washington sources say the Administration is dead serious about a veto if some of its reform demands are not in the final version of the bill. So, could we see an extension of the 2002 bill until a new administration takes over next January? I hope not.

Then, there is the issue of horse slaughter in the United States. Any comment on this issue will bring the nastiest of e-mails from horse lovers, but to those who worked to close the horse slaughter plants in the United States, I offer this advice I received from my Father when I was much younger..."Don't tear down the barn until you have a better one to put in its place."

I am now hearing the horror stories, even from serious horse people, about what is happening to horses who have outlived their useful lives. Thousands of aging horses turned loose to die of disease or starvation because their owners can't afford to dispose of them in a humane way. Or, even worse, horses shipped into Mexico for slaughter under far less humane rules than we had here in the U.S. I suggest that those of you who successfully lobbied to close the plants should now provide the plans and funding to handle this growing problem and it shouldn't be at taxpayer's expense. You should have had the "better barn" ready!

Finally, when are we going to end the ridiculous waste of time of changing our time twice a year? I have lobbied for years to either go to daylight saving time or standard time the year round; after all, Arizona and Hawaii never change their clocks and they seem to do just fine. And to those of you who think we add an hour of daylight, remember my definition of daylight saving time...it's like cutting a foot off the bottom of the blanket and sewing it on the top to make the blanket longer; it doesn't work!

My thoughts on Samuelson Sez.

FAMILY FEATURES

Spring is the perfect time for a lively brunch with friends and family. Light dishes packed with bright flavors can be paired with refreshing cocktails to make a delicious menu. With a few key ingredients, putting together a brunch can be easy.

Start off with marinated olives — savory little bites of wow that few guests will be able to resist. Lindsay Olives offers a broad variety of olives, so you can experiment with different flavors.

As a main dish, serve up an elegant frittata. A frittata is a firm Italian omelet that can be served warm or at room temperature. Mixing herbs into the eggs makes every bite taste like spring. If finding and storing fresh herbs is a challenge, try Gourmet Garden squeezeable herbs and spices, which are ready to use for up to three months and can be found in the fresh produce section of most grocery stores.

Simple drinks that complement the food flavors are a must. Ready-to-serve margaritas like Jose Cuervo Golden Margarita are a convenient way to entertain with style. They can also serve as a great base for creating delicious new cocktails simply by adding fresh ingredients.

These easy recipes can be made ahead of time, so all you have to do on brunch day is sit back with friends and enjoy.

On Wisconsin Outdoors

With the Dick Ellis Experts

SAFETY FIRST...
Means never sorry in the field

Young students about to graduate from a Wisconsin DNR certified Hunter Education Course line the trap line as part of field curriculum at the Columbus Sportsman's Association. The course is available statewide, and mandatory before new hunters born after January 1, 1973 may participate.

The sounds rolling over the Columbus Sportsman's Association property March 29 echo across each of Wisconsin's 72 counties, carrying answers to the growing questions hovering over the very future of hunting in America. In the United States, participation in the hunting sports continues to decline, according to a survey released in November of 2007 by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service. Throughout our state though, Hunter Education Programs utilize experts in firearms safety and hunting to introduce mostly young people to the shooting sports.

In Columbus Saturday, the muffled reports of .22 rifles, shotguns and muzzleloaders carry from various field stations as students receive hands-on training in safe and proper firearms use to reinforce extensive classroom curriculum. To the east, a group of students is learning a hunter's responsibility of placing a killing shot and the high priority placed on recovering a hit whitetail deer. Following a simulated blood trail through wooded terrain is part of the training. Orienteering with a compass and field first aid is being taught here; treestand safety and crossing a fence safely with a firearm there. Inside the Association clubhouse building, arrows thud against targets in the basement range that also is used in indoor .22 rifle training.

The DNR-certified Hunter Education Program is available statewide and mandatory for any person wishing to hunt born after January 1, 1973. As seen in Columbus Saturday, new participants of all ages welcome the opportunity to become an active member of Wisconsin's still vast hunting community.

With numbers so important to the future of hunting, Paul Mayer and fellow certified instructors bring a certain sense that the right people are on the job. Mayer, the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation Instructor of the Year in 2004, has taught 3,300 students since becoming certified 23 years ago and teaches seven classes annually. With instructors Randy Radtke and Harvey Linde, who became certified together with Mayer in 1984, the number of graduates directly taught by the trio is close to 10,000.

"Our core group of instructors (that number an astronomical 30 here in Columbus alone Saturday) collectively has more than 500 years of teaching experience," Mayer said. "We were named the Wisconsin Hunter Safety Organization of the Year in 2006. This class of 30 students graduate today and 60 were in our last class. Ten girls are in this class. We're seeing more girls and parents. We encourage the parents to participate. We had a 76 year old woman in one of our classes. She probably taught us as much as we taught her."

Although the state required minimum of curriculum to graduate from a Hunter Education Program is 10 hours, the Columbus Sportsman's Association requires 20 hours from its students. Mayer believes that is the minimum necessary to send new hunters into the field with the proper introductory training, in particular with firearms. As impressive, the Association conducts Hunter Education Programs as part of summer school curriculum at Beaver Dam and Columbus Middle Schools, complete with firearms on school property.

The 20 hours of curriculum includes seven hours of field time on graduation day to reinforce classroom instruction. Hands-on classroom instruction addresses the five types of firearms actions, loading, unloading, ammunition types, safe zones of fire and distances, and the various kinds of safe firearm field carries. Videos and film from the DNR introduces the imperative aspects of landowner respect, conservation and wildlife management. A personal visit from Conservation Warden Heather Gottschalk here in Dodge County and other regionally stationed wardens statewide to discuss hunting regulations and responsibilities is included. Students must pass a written test in the classroom and a practical test in the field before receiving the Hunters Safety certificate that will enable them to hunt.

As students received those certificates Saturday, one girl attending for every two boys in the class seems to reflect positive changes for an uncertain future. Those growing numbers of women participants will be a welcome voice as hunting and 2nd amendment rights are challenged in legal arenas and at the polls. One young lady, Ashley Wagner, is recognized for having the highest score in the class on the .22 range. Jacob Horneck is recognized for his high score on the trapline.

Before dismissal, the students repeat in a collective voice four rules of the range. They will, they vow in unison, treat their guns as if they were loaded; point their guns in a safe direction; be certain of the field with their targets; and keep their fingers off of the triggers. A collective voice is exactly what Wisconsin and America will need to support the future of hunting.

"License sales are down," said Mayer. "When I was younger the regulations were in one small booklet that you could carry in your shirt pocket. Now there are so many regulations that it's overwhelming and you almost need a lawyer to keep up with them. This is a fast paced society. The media too often portrays firearms and hunting in a bad light. But firearms have kept this country free. It's our heritage to hunt and to own firearms. The more you handle a firearm safely, the more you subconsciously begin to handle it right. When you handle it properly, hunting is the most fun, ongoing education you will ever experience."

DeGroot makes college choice and can hardly wait to get on Warhawks' court

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

It's a high-powered program, but Christina DeGroot, the talented setter/server/hitter on the Kewaskum High volleyball team, figures she's got the skills it will take to play for University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

Even though she decided in late November or early December to play for the 2008 National Collegiate Athletic Association Division 3 runner-ups, official word of her decision was not released to the media until last week.

DeGroot had talked about playing for Carthage College, but she said "Whitewater was my first choice."

DeGroot was the second athlete to commit to the Warhawk team, and another may have been added, according to the 5-foot-9, four-year starter.

"There are two others as of right now," DeGroot said about the incoming freshmen class, and when asked if she knows any of them, she added, "Yeah, one of them is actually my roommate for next year."

"I knew her from a couple years ago," DeGroot said regarding Sofia Sanches, a 5-10 outside hitter from Janesville, Wis.

When asked whether UW-Whitewater has a great tradition in the sport, DeGroot said, "Oh yeah." The Lady Warhawks won the WIAC (Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) regular and post-season titles last fall. The Warhawks went 36-5, advancing to the NCAA Division III championship match, and this was their 16th consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance.

The Warhawks won NCAA championships in 2002 and in 2005, the first year Stacey Boudreau took over for the legendary Kris Russell.

DeGroot has prepared for this moment for nearly a decade. Concerning her start in the sport she specialized in, DeGroot said, "I think I was in third grade," and she was quick to note her older sister, Danielle, who plays for St. Norbert College in DePere, helped her develop a love for the game.

The other person responsible for getting her revved up for volleyball was Jill Wittmann. "She's my neighbor," DeGroot said about Wittmann, who finished her career at UW-Stevens Point last fall, all-academic honors as a back row specialist.

When DeGroot reached KHS, she was an immediate starter, and she earned first-team, All-Eastern Wisconsin Conference and All-Washington County honors the past three seasons. As a sophomore she was named as the EWC's Player of the Year, and as a senior, DeGroot was a co-captain and team MVP. She led the Lady Indians to the Division 2 regional finals where they lost to Kettle Moraine Lutheran, the eventual undefeated state champs.

During her senior season, DeGroot recorded 551 assists, 130 aces, most on her powerhouse jump serve, 16 blocks and 194 kills.

Since the Indians were knocked out of the WIAA Tournament in November, DeGroot began playing club ball almost immediately to preparing for her collegiate career.

Playing for the prestigious Milwaukee Sting requires DeGroot to make two or three trips per week to the Waukesha County Technical College for practice ... and then there's travel to tournaments.

"It's gradually improving," DeGroot said about the Sting team. "We've actually been in some tough tournaments" which she believes will help the team in the upcoming regional competitions.

This past week, the Sting was involved in a tournament sponsored by the new Junior Volleyball Directors Association. "It showcased some of the top teams in the nation," DeGroot said, indicating there were teams from Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Nebraska and even one team from Canada in the event held in Wisconsin Dells. "We took 18th out of 48. It was actually better than we hoped to do."

DeGroot, who plans to major in business, is being looked at as a setter. "They (Lady Warhawks) are graduating six seniors. They were all starters," I believe," DeGroot said, noting the team still has some good juniors, who she will compete against for playing time.

The Warhawks' No. 1 setter was Kristen Dettman of Pulaski, who was first team All-WIAC, finishing her career with a school high 5,307 assists and a single match high of 69 against Wittenberg (OH), third high in the school's record books.

One woman who believes DeGroot will make a quick adjustment from the high school to the college game is her prep coach, Renee Altendorf.

"I think she'll do very well. I know they were looking for a setter, and she will do a great job for them," Altendorf said. "Last year, we needed her to hit as well as to set. This year I use her in what I thought she would be best."

And is DeGroot excited to play collegiate volleyball? "Very ... I'm so ready!" the new Lady Warhawk said.

Great Season for Parrent, UWWC Wildcats

By Nathan Kenworthy
Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum High School alum Matt Parrent played hard night in and night out in high school, even when his strong play didn't always translate into a victory for the Indians. His play hasn't changed much, but he got to taste victory more often this year than his four varsity seasons combined.

He led the Wildcats in scoring as a freshman with 14 points per game and was arguably the most valuable player for his new team, the University of Wisconsin-Washington County Wildcats.

The Wildcats enjoyed one of their finest seasons ever, going 18-9 and finishing second in both the conference and conference tournament behind only UW-Waukesha.

The team is coached by former Kewaskum teacher Scott Poole.

While Matt Parrent is the only former Kewaskum player on the team, Justin Schneider, who resides in Kewaskum and was home-schooled, also played on the team. Former Campbellsport basketball player Mitch Tarras completes the local players.

The team had three players named to the all-conference team, with Aaron Lofy and Matt Erickson, both of Hartford Union High School, being named to the second team. Taking first team honors was Kewaskum High School's alltime leading scorer and rebounder, Matt Parrent. Parrent, Lofy and Erickson were all invited to play in the WCC All Star game March 2 at UW-FDL.

Smith and L.J. Pinchard place in State Kids test

Lucas Jon Pinchard ended up taking fifth place in his division in the tournament.

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

A pair of fifth graders, Zach Smith and Lucas Jon Pinchard, placed fifth at the annual Wisconsin Kids Folkstyle Wrestling Tournament in Madison this past weekend.

The Kewaskum Indians Wrestling Club had five representatives in the tournament, and Smith and Pinchard were the only ones to place.

Smith, competing in the 94-pound weight class, went 3-2 on the day, starting off with 4-2 decision over Jared Sharenbrook of the Sun Prairie Champions and following that win with a pin over Aaron Hartwig of Medford in 2:31.

In the semifinals, Smith was out pointed by Travis Heggenga of Wausau, 4-1, and then in the loser's bracket, he lost to Sharonbrook by fall in 36 seconds.

Smith, who had been sick the week before the state competition, mustered enough fire to pin Muskego's Connor Price in 1:30, giving him fifth place in the 16-man bracket.

Pinchard, who weighs 120 pounds, needed just 1:10 to pin Josh Seitzner of Columbus in the first round, then he outlasted Kaleb Crook of RC Wrestling in a donnybrook that ended up 12-11.

Pinchard's first lost was a 0-6 decision to Brandon Vieth of Cashton, and he lost his next match to Cole Van Enkervort of Bay Port, 9-2.

The young Indian finished off his day in grand style, however, besting Mitchell Kramer of Berlin 9-2 for fifth place.

Fourth grader Alex Phillips was far from 100 percent going into the tournament. Like Smith, he was slowed by the flu, and it took its toll. Phillips lost his first match, getting pinned by Marshall's Jason Meyer in 2:49.

In the second round, Phillips rallied with a 9-2 victory over Michael Steel of New Richmond, but then he was pinned by Trent Rider of Iowa Grant and was eliminated from the tournament with a 1-2 record.

Also going 1-2 was 115-pound sixth grader Kurt Luedtke. Luedtke ran into a buzz saw in Bradly Anderson of Portage in the first round, losing 1-10.

In the second round, he pinned Brian Halverson of Iowa Grant in 1:40 to keep his hopes of placing alive, but then Luedtke lost to Taylor Huenink of Waupun, getting pinned in :30.

Lance Pinchard, who had a very good eighth-grade season and should help the Kewaskum High varsity in the future, went 2-2 in the tournament, winning his first match, a pin over Estefan Morales of Deforest Gold Medal in :34.

Pinchard, who weighs 140 pounds, was outscored 8-4 by Ryan Cone of Sauk Prairie in the second round, then bounced back with a pin over Derek Peat of Iowa Grant in 2:34.

Pinchard's second loss was a 1-0 heartbreaker to Neenah's Ryan Bonikowski, and that was the end of his day.

Three of the matches seventh grader Teddy Wollner (150 pounds) was involved in were decided by pin. In the first he was pinned by Coleman's Isaac Nowak in 1:58, then he came back strong to pin Lucas Lauer of New Berlin in a quick 25 seconds, then he put Adam Wachowiak's (Stevens Point) shoulders to the mat in 2:51.

Wollner's day ended with a 6-9 loss to Waupun's Brady Huenink.
