Village President, Heiser resigns

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Publisher

KEWASKUM- Less than a week after the resignation of Village Administrator Jay Shambeau, the village's president Matt Heiser submitted his resignation shortly after 5 p.m. on Monday, April 21. In submitting his resignation, Heiser stated he wished to apply for Shambeau's position once he leaves the village.

Village trustees learned of the move through a memo from Heiser at their meeting two hours later. In the memo Heiser shared his desire to apply for the Village Administrator position.

"I sincerely apologize if this resignation feels like more unwanted change on the eve of another period of transition. Please know that I feel terrible about being absent as the Board embarks on another search process and potential interim period," Heiser stated in his memo.

Heiser began his political career in the village winning a seat as a trustee in 2000 with his term beginning in April of that year. Upon the resignation of John Kenworthy, Heiser stepped up as president. He has since won three consecutive terms as president.

In his absence Monday evening, the village board's eldest member, Andy Pesch was voted president pro tempore.

Village Administrator Jay Shambeau stated Wednesday morning a decision on the vacant village president seat will be an agenda item on the May 5 meeting. He indicated that the Board of Trustees has some options, they can appoint a trustee to fulfill Heiser's term, hold a special election, or leave the seat vacant and operate on a president pro tempore type basis.

At the same meeting, the village board accepted Shambeau's resignation as Village Administrator. His last day employed with the Village is Friday, June 6. The Board did not discuss how to fill his vacancy.

Scott Board Dukes Out Hazards

By Cheryl Scholz
Statesman Community Journalist

TOWN of SCOTT- Tempers flared and voices rose at the town hall during a special meeting on Thursday, April 17 to discuss several on-going issues regarding two township employees. The end result saw the airing of the issues but a lack of action in terms of reprimands

Over a dozen town residents attended the 7:00 p.m. meeting. Also present that evening were Supervisors Dan Morin along with newly elected Supervisors Dennis Janz and Randy Narbatovics.

The first of two issues on the agenda was regarding part-time employee Ken Willkomm, hitting an aluminum boat while moving snow with the town's road grader on January 23. The fishing boat was the property of Tim Taylor and was located on Hickory Hollow Road in Beechwood. It was reported the boat had been stored there for numerous winters.

Willkomm prepared an accident report on January 23, and it was submitted to the Town Board on Monday February 11. The report stated he was moving snow with the grader when he hit something hard, but at that time he could not identify what it was.

"I could see it sticking out of the snow. I was not going to spend three hours digging through the snow, figured I'd just wait until spring," Willkomm commented at the meeting. Taylor apparently was not aware

Barn destroyed in Auburn blaze

A Campbellsport firefighter is shown above directing firefighters at a barn that was destroyed by fire on Monday, April 21. Firefighters along with Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Deputies responded to the barn at N1367 Maple Road in the town of Auburn fully engulfed in flames at 2:49 p.m. They were later joined by Kewaskum Fire Department who provided full mutual aid. Eden, Cascade and Lomira Fire Departments provided water assistance. Campbellsport Fire Chief Jeff Lindsley stated the fire started near a tractor that was being used to blow chopped corn stalks into the barn. Attempts to put out the fire by farm employees were unsuccessful. The barn, a small out building and several pieces of machinery were a complete loss and damage was done to two silos, a shed and the adjacent farm house. Water was used to protect a nearby shed and a farm house. A large tracked excavator was brought in to pull apart hay as firefighters wet it down. "Because of the actions of the hired hand and neighbors, no animals were lost," Lindsley commented. At this time dollar estimates on damages have not been determined. While attacking the fire, Campbellsport was called to fatal car versus crane crash on Highway 67 at Highway 45. Information on that incident can be found on page 5 of this edition. Additional photos from the fire and the crash can be found online www.kewaskumstatesman.com.

The exceptional quality of meat products produced by Kewaskum Frozen Foods was recognized at the 69th annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Meat Processors, held in Madison on April 11 and 13.

At the Meat Product Show held in conjunction with that meeting, Kewaskum Frozen Foods received the following product awards:

The Wisconsin Meat Product Competition is the largest of its kind in the United States.

Meat processing plants and meat markets from throughout the state this year entered 928 individual products into 35 product categories, including summer sausage, bratwurst, ham, bacon, smoked poultry and a variety of other types of meat products.

Over 40 judges including food scientists, out-of-state meat processors, and other food-industry professionals were required to effectively evaluate the many products during the product evaluation session on Saturday, April 12. Individual products are scored for external appearance and eye-appeal, internal appearance, aroma, and taste, using a scale of 1,000 points.

The size of this product show and the quality of its entries demonstrates the important role that sausage and processed meats play in Wisconsin's meat industry and among consumers across the state.

School District will hold special meeting

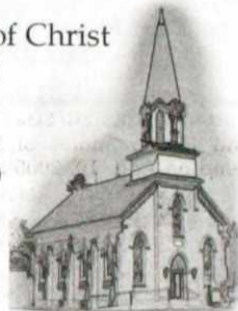

The Kewaskum School District will host a special meeting of the electorate on Monday, April 28 at 7:30 p.m. to consider leasing office space for the district's headquarters. The district currently has plans to renovate their current office building into an alternative school for the district. The meeting will take place at the current district office. Board members ran into a problem when they tried to pass a resolution at their monthly meeting April 14, to hold the special meeting. Audience member Neal Weare alleged a violation of state open meeting law because he believed the item was not properly listed on the agenda. Weare threatened that if the board voted he would request charges from the District Attorney. The board decided to hold a special meeting on Wednesday, April 16 where they quickly approved the resolution.

Woman survives crash after crane lands on car, driver killed

A 70 year-old woman from Randolph is miraculously alive after a serious accident involving the vehicle she was riding in being crushed when a crane fell on top of it while trying to avoid the vehicle after it pulled into the crane's right of way. At 3:30 p.m. the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Office responded to the intersection of Highways 45 and 67 in the town of Auburn along with the Wisconsin State Patrol, Eden, Campbellsport, Kewaskum and Cascade Fire Departments. Campbellsport EMS and City of Fond du Lac Ambulance also reported to the scene. An investigation revealed an eastbound car on Highway 67 driven by Donald L. Ohrmundt, 73, of Randolph failed to yield right of way at a stop sign to a northbound crane on Highway 45. Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Sergeant Ryan Waldschmidt stated the operator of the crane attempted to swerve to avoid striking the car, but the crane rolled over on top of the car trapping both occupants. Donald Ohrmundt died as a result of his injuries. An occupant, Donna Ohrmundt, 70, also of Randolph, was extricated in an amazing rescue lasting over an hour by paramedics, firefighters and Whealon Towing of Fond du Lac. Whealon Towing brought in a heavy duty tow truck to lift the crane off the vehicle and then used one of the conventional tow trucks to pull the damaged vehicle out from under the crane. Donna Ohrmundt was flown by Flight for Life Helicopter to Froedtert Memorial Hospital in Milwaukee where she was released later that evening. Additional photos from the scene and the rescue can be found online www.kewaskumstatesman.com.

Samans appointed to Wayne Board

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Publisher

TOWN of WAYNE- Four town residents threw their hat into the ring for the vacant supervisor seat on the town board. Plan Commission member, Mike Samans was quickly chosen and appointed by the township.

The appointment of Carl Klemme to Town Chairman left a supervisor vacancy. Asking to be considered was Scott McLellan, Robert Schulties, Samans and Art Filber.

Samans stated he has lived in the town 13 years and has served on the town's plan commission for the last seven years.

Samans' seat carries one-term meaning he will need to be re-elected if he so chooses in December. Before making a motion to appoint Samans, Supervisor Kieth Kriewaldt urged people to seek election as he will not seek re-election. Klemme concurred with a second to Kriewaldt's motion that passed.

Shown above right, Mike Samans signs his Oath of Office after the town of Wayne board meeting on Thursday, April 17.

Scott Special Meeting

of the damage until the arrival of spring when the melting layers of snow exposed the damaged boat.

Supervisor Janz made arrangements to return to the Taylor property to confirm the measurement that would determine whether the boat was parked within the easement line. If the boat were parked outside of the easement line, the Town Board would have to determine if any action would be taken to reimburse Taylor for replacement of his boat. Supervisors did not mention any disciplinary action toward their fellow Supervisor, Willkomm for his role in the accident.

The damage to the boat is one of several property damage accidents reportedly caused by Willkomm while operating a town vehicle. In 2006, Willkomm backed into town resident Russell Kempf, with the town's snowplow truck. Kempf was driving a John Deere Gator (utility vehicle) on the road legally and did not sustain any injuries according to reports. At that time, the Town Board voted to settle out of court and pay Kempf $750 for the damage caused to his vehicle.

In spring of 2006, the town board received a complaint from a town resident claiming Willkomm damaged a dead-end road with the snow plow and caused damage to a driveway when he used the private driveway to turn the snow plow truck around without permission. With no action being taken by the board, the resident soon requested that town snowplow drivers stay off his property. Disciplinary action was again not taken against Willkomm in either case.

The Town Board, along with residents proved the second agenda item to be the hot button issue. The town's full-time Road/Maintenance Foreman, Mark Muench was given a citation from the Sheboygan County Sheriff's Department for "Hit and Run Adjacent to Highway". The citation came his involvement in breaking off a utility pole located in the town hall parking lot with the town's snowplow truck and according to some, leaving the scene of the accident.

The accident is said to have occurred on the morning of January 31. The police report stated enough evidence was gathered at the scene to state the pole had been backed into. Tire tracks left in the snow also matched the tires of the town's snowplow truck that Muench had been operating that morning. When questioned by a deputy, Muench is said to have denied his involvement several times before admitting he did hit the utility pole.

On February 27, six days prior to the scheduled court date, Muench paid the $249 citation. On March 12, his attorney, John Hawley had the case reopened to request a substitution charge. Hawley was successful and Muench was given a charge for "Improper Signal for Stop/Turn" a non-moving violation. This move saw Muench paying a higher forfeiture, but allowed him to maintain his Commercial Drivers License (CDL).

Chairman Steve Jung gathered the attention of the Town Board to discuss the situation surrounding this accident. After a short briefing, Jung offered Muench the opportunity to address the Board regarding the situation. The board and residents attending the meeting guessed Muench's statements conflicted with the information provided by the Sheriff's Deputy in the police report. Muench reply, "I don't know where he got the information from, but it was not true."

Supervisor Janz went on to support Muench's claim by saying "Police reports aren't the gospel you know." "It was a simple accident, we shouldn't punish the guy." Additional comments made by Narbatovics, a member of the Beechwood Fire Department and Willkomm showed their willingness overlook the accident also.

After the sideline discussions ended, Supervisor Morin made a motion to terminate Muench's employment because of the incident. Willkomm quickly retorted, "You can't make that motion. It was made before and it didn't work." Chairman Jung clarified the motion to which Willkomm replied, "We'll have to get attorney."

Willkomm went on to explain he felt the town's employee handbook was too vague regarding accidents. Supervisor Morin then read a portion of the handbook out loud that stated conduct displayed by Muench qualified as grounds for termination.

Supervisor Morin's motion to terminate failed. Chairman Jung, discouraged by the Board's lack of reaction to the situation, confirmed the majority of the Town Board did not want to take any action against Muench and ended the meeting by saying to him "You must be blessed or something, I still think you did what was in this report."

BBBSWC says thank you for Bowl for Kids Sake support

WEST BEND- Over the course of two weekends in February (Feb. 15/16 and Feb. 22/23), Big Brothers Big Sisters of Washington County hosted nearly 450 bowlers during the 22nd annual Bowl for Kids' Sake fundraiser. The bowlers are the real fundraisers and without them this annual event wouldn't be a success, says Heidi Sternig the organization's Community Relations Coordinator.

Teams were organized through businesses, schools, organizations, families and current volunteer mentors. There were many laughs and good times had with the hero theme, bowling, pizza and prizes - our second goal was reached - hosting an event that people had fun at and want to return to next year.

The money raised goes to support Big Brothers Big Sisters of Washington County in matching children with volunteer mentors. "Thanks to our bowlers, their sponsors and our event sponsors, we will serve a record number of children in 2008," stated Sternig.

Day camps to be offered by 4-H

Does hiking in the woods, doing crafts, and learning about bugs and nature sound like fun activities to do in June? Washington County 4-H, in conjunction with Dodge County 4-H, will be conducting Wild Wacky Weekday Summer Day Camp at Glacier Hills Park on Monday, June 16, Wednesday, June 18, and Friday, June 20 from 8:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Youth 5 - 9 years old may participate. This year's theme, "Nature in Flight", features learning sessions with bugs, nature, crafts, recreation, hiking and more! These activities take place in an outdoor setting at the park

Registration details are available at the Washington County UW-Extension Office at 333 E. Washington Street; Suite 1200, West Bend or by calling (262) 335-4478. You can also access the registration form online at the UWEX website: <http://washington.uwex.edu>. Deadline is May 2.

Whoos's Awake? The Night Owls

The Evening with Nature will conclude its season with a very special program, "Whoos's Awake? The Night Owls." Join in on Thursday, May 8, at 7:00 p.m. to meet and to learn about those silent night sky hunters, the owls. (This is a rescheduled program from a snowed-out date on February 14.) The program will be held at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center. The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Believe it or not, many owls are now tending to the needs of their growing bundles of fluffy feathers, their owlets. Those growing young have growing appetites, so their parents, flying on silent wings, use their incredible senses of sight and hearing to capture the prey they need to survive. All this done under the cloak of darkness with only the light of the moon and stars.

The staff from the Schlitz Audubon Nature Center in Milwaukee and their live owl friends will be the featured presenters. They will explain the owls' amazing adaptations to surviving in the nocturnal world and introduce you to some of the owls that call Wisconsin home.

For further information or directions to the Ice Age Visitor Center, please contact forest staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. They may be reached at (920) 533-8322, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. "Who's awake? Me too" hoot the great horned owls. Stay awake to join in for a hoot of a good time!

Local groups to participate in national volunteer day

Many kids have little interaction with adults except their teachers and family members. May adults know few kids outside their own circle of family and friends. Local groups hope to break down these barriers by participating in Join Hands Day, a national day of service scheduled for Saturday, May 3.

Each year, adult and youth organizations across the country become partners for the entire Join Hands Day process - from the planning stages through the event - to bridge the generation gap and improve communities along the way. Members of Modern Woodmen Camps 2233 and 2216 will join together with The Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion of Kewaskum. The Chamber will put wood chips around the kiosk, located near the village parking lot on Main Street and the American Legion will help clean up the area.

Join Hands Day is sponsored by America's fraternal benefit societies, including Modern Woodmen of America. For more information about Join Hands Day, call Jeff Jaeger at 262-626-4139, or log on to www.joinhandsday.org.

Founded in 1883 as a fraternal benefit society, Modern Woodmen of America offers financial services and fraternal member benefits to individuals and families throughout the United States.

April 15, 1983

Fifteen seniors and twenty-six juniors have been chosen as candidates for Kewaskum High School's Chapter of the National Honor Society and were inducted during ceremonies held at the high school on March 24. Seniors candidates for induction were Jill Darmody, Erika Follmann, Debbie Hintze, Mary Jo Hupfer, Annette Jandre, David Jones, Brenda Kempf, Andy Kougl, Marea Kuphal, Jacky Loof, Peter Nohlmans, Mary Paul, Regina Ruplinger, Jan Schmidt and Colleen Shaw. Junior candidates for induction were Brian Arndt, James Braun, Gregg Classey, Brad Dieringer, Amy Grahl, Denise Gruber, James Hanrahan, Theresa Heller, Joan Jung, Holly Kempf, Brian Kober, Julie Koepke, Pamela Krahn, Susan Lemke, Dan Menzel, Doug Miller, Sandra Nigh, David Pesch, Mary Reader, Suzanne Schmitt, Amy Sekas, Mary Sleger, Jeffrey Squier, Beth Strigenz, Kirkland Vogt and Wendy Wilson.

This year some 2,000 junior boys and girls throughout Wisconsin are selected to represent their schools and community at a state gathering of Wisconsin school students at the Badger State program. This year Mary Sleger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sleger, Route 1, Kewaskum, Sandra Nigh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Nigh, Kewaskum, and Julie Koepke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koepke, Kewaskum, were the three junior students selected from the top third of the junior class girls. Doug Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller, Kewaskum, and Kirk Vogt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Vogt, Kewaskum, were the two junior boys from the top half of their class.

In Regional Freestyle Wrestling competition, Wade Jepson, Kewaskum High School freshman, qualified to participate in the State Freestyle Tournament to be held at Wisconsin Rapids April 23. Rosie Kuehl of Kewaskum, stopped in at the Statesman last week to show us an Easter egg that she had cracked and cut in half. To her surprise, the egg had no yolk but was completely all white. This is a rare occurrence and a first in Rosie's lifetime. Too bad Rosie didn't crack open the egg on April Fool's Day. Then she could have given it to Wes for a "yolk."

A son, Bradley James, was born to Leslie and Marilyn Kaschner, Florida, on April 10. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kaschner of Kewaskum. A daughter, Kristin Margaret, was born to Tom and Denise Grudzielanek of Missouri, on March 31. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bud Schmidt of Kewaskum. Kristin has one brother, Michael.

A barn and large storage shed belonging to Phil. Schellinger at Kohlsville was destroyed by fire last Thursday noon. The fire started in the hay loft of the barn. in Kewaskum at present, and was standing over the saw when suddenly the engine started up by itself. How it happened Mr. Schnurr does not know. He dropped to one side and thus escaped being cut to pieces. As it was, his coat and overalls were torn to shreds, but otherwise he was not injured excepting a few scratches on his leg and hand.

Family sought for 08/09 foreign exchange student

As this school year comes to a close for the students studying at Kewaskum High School from all over the world next year's students are looking for families. The first student looking for a host family is a 16-year-old girl from Germany.

Carrie Schulz of Nacel Open Door arranges opportunities for students coming to Kewaskum. She says the process is more than just putting a young man or woman on a plane.

The student is first interviewed in his or her country, and must pass a lot of scrutiny. Then, the student's papers are sent to the USA and coordinators choose the students they feel would work best in the various schools they organize for.

Foreign exchange students are then chosen for a school. The search for a host family then gets underway.

Interested families contact Schulz and she interviews them. The willing host family must complete an application, and members must subject themselves to criminal background checks and have references, which are checked.

Schulz visits with the family and takes photos of the home, family and bedroom.

The only cost for a host family is food. However, students pay for their own school lunches.

The first student chosen for KHS is Lisa from Aalen, Germany. She is scheduled to arrive in August and stay for 10 months.

Lisa's interests include computers, photography, travel, basketball, bicycling, soccer/rugby, swimming, volleyball, ballroom dancing, art, modern music among other things.

Lisa currently lives with her father who is a physician; her mother who is a nurse; three brothers and a sister. She is somewhat comfortable with living with children.

For more information, please contact Schulz at schulz-carr@aol.com

KHS students depict life during Holocaust

English 12 students at Kewaskum High School recently spent time researching different aspects of the Holocaust as well as concepts related to it: genocide, prejudice, and stereotyping. They took their research and turned it into an exhibit for a museum. The Rose Library at the school was then transformed into a museum showing the students' exhibits. Kewaskum Middle School eighth graders visited the museum while they were also studying the Holocaust. "This was a valuable way for students to experience the research process and target their writing to a specific audience," stated instructor Tiffany Zarling. Show to the right is an exhibit by Tyler Swanson, Josh Holl, Matt Ratzel and Aaron Gobel.

Certain Girls

By Jennifer Weiner

New York Times bestselling author

certain girls

Practically since the beginning of time - or at least in the last couple hundred years - mothers who give birth to daughters have looked at those scrunchy newborn faces and into the future, with thoughts of playing dolls, making cookies, sharing secrets, and wearing mother-daughter dresses.

The daughters, as soon as they were old enough to have independent ideas (read that: teenagerhood), looked long and hard, considered their mothers with slight disdain, and thought about asking for a DNA test.

In the new book "Certain Girls" by Jennifer Weiner, a mother who loves her daughter fiercely is trying to understand why her daughter is so fiercely trying to pull away.

"Let's have a baby."

When Cannie Krushelevan-sky's husband, Peter, said those words, Cannie panicked. Didn't they already have a baby?

Okay, true. Joy was almost thirteen and about to celebrate her bat mitzvah. Yes, Joy wasn't really Peter's biological daughter. And then there was that little operation that makes it impossible for Cannie to have more babies. But Peter wants a child and Cannie begins to think of surrogacy and baby-soft skin against her cheek.

Back when Joy was small, before Peter came along, Cannie became a writer. She sat at her keyboard and pounded out her frustration at her life, her lesbian mother, her not-so-nice father and Joy's father, also absentee. When Big Girls Don't Cry was finally published, it became a literary sensation and Cannie was a star.

But that was a lifetime ago. As Cannie watches Joy dance the hora at a bat- and bar-mitzvah, Cannie thinks about her beautiful daughter and how she must always keep her safe.

Across the room, Joy cringes. Her mother is so embarrassing with her big laugh and her large bustline bursting out of her dress. Why can't she be normal? It's bad enough that Joy has to go through life with hearing aids (which everyone notices), but to have a mother like hers....? It's the worst.

As Joy pulls away, Cannie pushes. Where was the little girl she used to cuddle? Who, Joy wonders, is her mother, really? If Cannie's book was thinly-veiled reality, then Joy doesn't want to know. Was her mother one of those "certain girls" she was always warning Joy about?

Have you ever had a mother? If you have and you're looking for something to give her for Mother's Day this year, "Certain Girls" is a good choice.

Author Jennifer Weiner is a first-class storyteller, and I loved all her characters, from the typical-teenage-angst-suffering, too-smart-for-her-own-good Joy to Grandma Anne who is hip, cool, and completely, charmingly uninhibited. Typical of any novel by Weiner, this book will make you smile, it's got a few laugh-out-louds in it, and if you've ever been a mother with a daughter (or the other way around), you'll see yourself in about, oh, every other page.

Be aware that there are some "four-letter" words here, but nothing you haven't read before. Ignore them and enjoy this novel. "Certain Girls" should certainly be on every girl's beach-airplane-vacation list this year.

Samuelson Sez Time to review farm safety

Twice a year I climb into my "Farm Safety" pulpit to preach farm safety. I do it at planting time and I do it again at harvest time, perhaps the two most dangerous seasons on farms and ranches. There are times I wonder if these lectures on being careful and safe are really necessary.

After all, you are adults and you know farming can be a dangerous occupation and you know that you must be careful. Yet whenever I think I am overdoing it, I hear from one of you telling me that you suffered a serious injury in a farm accident or you lost a family member in a farm accident, because you took the attitude that "accidents always happen to somebody else and not to me." A lady in Iowa who lost her husband in a farm accident several years ago, wrote to me and said don't ever stop preaching safety.

So I will continue to preach farm safety, because I don't like losing anybody in agriculture, particularly in an accident that could be avoided. When it comes to avoiding accidents it takes people who are mentally alert, who are wide awake and who don't always take the fastest way, but hopefully will take the safest way.

Now, in many parts of the country, a lot of farmers are getting very nervous about the wet, cold spring and the delay in planting. I know what that means. Once the fields dry and the sun comes out, that planter that has been loaded and ready to go, will roll non-stop; probably 24 hours a day, and that is when things get a little dicey. That is when fatigue can set in and cause you to make decisions you wouldn't normally make; or rain is coming your way and you just have to get that last field planted before the showers arrive.

One theme you have heard from me many times is "perhaps the most important twenty minutes you can spend in that tractor cab at planting time is taking a nap, to just refresh yourself and be ready to go again." Then, of course, make sure the equipment is in good working condition; make sure that all your safety protection equipment is in place and working; make sure you have the Slow Moving Vehicle emblem mounted in a visible place on the back of the tractor or equipment that you will be moving on highways and county roads. The last thing you want is for some motorist to come over the hill or around a curve and impale himself on your corn planter. That happened to a friend of mine three years ago and he still worries every time he is moving equipment on the highway. The motorist survived his injuries, the corn planter didn't.

So friends, this is an order. Be alert and safe during planting time. We need you, your family and friends need you and you want to be around to watch your kids and grandkids grow up. I'm leaving the "Farm Safety" pulpit now, but I'll be back in the fall!

My thoughts on Samuelson Sez.

Sign up now for Dairy Disaster Assistance program

Eligible dairy producers can now sign up for the Dairy Disaster Assistance Program (DDAP-III), said Gretchen Smith of the Washington-Ozaukee FSA Office.

"DDAP-III will compensate producers for production losses that resulted from cattle and yield losses and produced milk had to be dumped because of lack of electricity, closed milk plants, damaged containment equipment, and other related issues," said Gretchen Smith, County Executive Director.

The sign-up will conclude May 5, 2008. Producers are encouraged to call the office at 262-335-4860 to make an appointment to sign up.

A producer's operation must be in a county designated a major disaster or emergency area by the President or declared a natural disaster area by the Secretary of Agriculture between January 1, 2005, and December 31, 2007. Counties contiguous to such counties will also be eligible. Producers in counties declared disasters by the President may be eligible, even though agricultural loss was not covered by the declaration, if there has been a FSA Administrator's Physical Loss Notice covering such losses.

Under proposed DDAP-III regulations, the following are some of the eligibility requirements producers must meet to receive benefits:

- Producers must have produced and marketed milk any time between Jan 1, 2006 and Dec. 31, 2007.

- Producers must have suffered dairy production losses attributed to the declared natural disaster during the eligible period in an approved area.

Losses will be calculated by comparing the expected base annual production (from 2003 and 2004) and the actual production and average number of cows in the dairy herd for the applicable disaster year(s).

To find more information about the DDAP-III visit our website at www.fsa.usda.gov or to apply for the program, contact the Washington-Ozaukee FSA Service Center.

On Wisconsin Outdoors

With the Dick Ellis Experts

A DIFFERENT VIEW... Mentors, PETA find no common ground

First time turkey hunter Matt Dingle, center, wrote an essay to his Phy Ed teacher and hunting mentor Mike Hart (rt) stating why he wanted to learn to hunt spring turkeys. The result several weeks later was this gobbler taken in Adams County. Also pictured is Matt's dad, John Dingle.

Physical Education Teacher Mike Hart called mentoring a young student in the Wisconsin Youth Turkey Hunt "the best lesson I ever taught." With a near 23 pound Adams County Tom the end result of a classroom assignment and field tutoring, Hart encouraged other hunters to pass on the challenges and traditions of hunting to young people who might otherwise never have the opportunity.

"As the teacher I provided the opportunity for this young student to learn what turkey hunting was about," Hart said of the experience with 7th grader Matt Dingle of Greenfield and his father John. "The student, though, provided the teacher with a completed assignment and the satisfaction that a new father and son hunting team would be joining the turkey hunting fraternity in the woods in 2009."

PETA, (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals), took a different perspective when Northwestern Middle School in tiny Poplar, Wisconsin near Lake Superior photo-showcased similar hunting accomplishments of its young students on a bulletin board. Science teacher Russ Bailey posted the photos. But Northwestern Principal Ken Bartelt received a letter from the animal rights organization that claims 1.8 million members, that in part also claimed, "a well documented link between violence against animals and criminal behavior against other humans." PETA urged prohibiting the displays of future photos, a request Bartelt, a non-hunter, respectfully declined.

"The hunting wall...sets a precedent for a dangerous mindset that glorifies and even rewards violence," wrote PETA representative Sangeeta Kumar. "Violent acts toward animals have long been recognized as indicators of a dangerous psychopathy that does not confine itself to animals."

"According to published reports," the letter continues, "in every recent school shooting a consistent warning sign preceded the attack: all the young killers abused and/or killed animals before turning on their classmates."

In an e-mail response to this reporter April 16, Principal Bartelt offered a telephone interview but said that he was "really trying to have this issue subside." He attached his own response to Kumar that addressed her written statements. PETA, although posting Kumar's letter on its website, did not post Bartelt's letter.

Bartelt wrote to Kumar that correlating hunting with increased violence in our society and with youth did not hold merit. "If hunting did indeed lead to violent behavior, then there would have been much more violence in our society in past generations when more people hunted compared to today," his letter states.

"Hunters are not a growing number in our country. Their numbers have declined as our society has changed to a more urban lifestyle. Yet violence has increased dramatically in our society at the same time the number of hunters has decreased. Violence in our society is from a wide-range of social and family influences, not from hunting. Hunters are taught respect for weapons and what they should and should not be used for..."

Teacher Mike Hart, of the Greenfield School District would whole heartedly agree. Although thousands of Wisconsin youth statewide ages 12 to 15 are required to successfully complete a hunters education program stressing field ethics and gun safety as part of the curriculum, Hart took the inaugural journey a step further, requiring student Matt Dingle to write an essay about the reasons he wanted to hunt prior to the trip.

With assignment complete, Matt and his father spent the weekend at the Hart property near Wisconsin Dells, where setting a blind and learning to shoot a shotgun at targets within range to ensure a quick kill were part of the field training. When the big Tom fell where it stood without taking a step, Matt had learned there is far more to any hunt than filling a tag. Dues paid in the form of preparation, though, make the successful ending far more likely.

"As Matt and I approached the bird," Hart said, "the smile on his face and the happiness felt by the entire group was why this hunt was organized."

Again, Bartelt's letter echoes that thought. "Hunting is a part of the culture not only in our schools but in many parts of the country, and especially so in northern Wisconsin" he wrote to Kumar. "Hunting in many cases is a family activity that has been passed down from generation to generation. Families spend weeks before hunting season getting ready and often time planning their family vacations around hunting season."

"Students here at school get excited about it and it seems that's all they talk about before and after they return. These aren't violent students-they are taking part in family culture and it's important to them. Between hunting and Packer games-not much else is bigger in these families' lives when the fall season rolls around. The hunting wall is an extension of that culture here in our community."

YOUNG HUNTERS, WRITERS FIND SUCCESS IN TURKEY FIELDS

The table was turned a bit on this writer this week when two brothers sent their beautifully written accounts of experiences in the turkey fields during the statewide youth hunt. Mike (15), and Matthew (12) Ludwig hunted in Walworth County with their Dad and Mentor John Ludwig. Jared Kurth 18, would also serve as mentor to Michael.

Although practicing for weeks to gain proficiency with his bow and arrow and shooting excellent groups to 30 yards, Matthew found the challenge with the live targets in the field more difficult than the range. He light-heartedly wrote in his essay, "Four whiffs and a Bang" of his four misses with arrows on Gobblers. But, he also wrote, "The Toms wouldn't come into my decoys and they would just keep on strutting, fighting and gobbling. This was an awesome experience for me because that is the first time I saw turkeys do that while hunting."

Matthew put away the bow, for now, and tagged an 18-pound double bearded Jake Saturday afternoon with his shotgun.

Mike Ludwig has been shooting his bow in preparation of his last youth turkey hunt every day since the 2007 deer season. He had tagged two deer with his bow last season, but as he wrote in "Practice, Persistence and Payoff", because the autumn hunt had also included a fall miss with the bow on a turkey "I really wanted to redeem myself."

A long wait in the blind that included listening to gobbling and watching a big Tom far off culminated when a large gobbler began to flirt with the decoy, but out of range. "He came out strutting, and this was the first time I had ever seen a turkey strutting while I was hunting," Mike wrote. "This Tom was very vocal, gobbling around 10 times. This was the first time I had ever seen a turkey gobble in the wild."

At 23 yards but with the Tom facing him, Mike still was not comfortable taking the shot. At 30 yards, a shot finally did present itself, Mike unleashed an arrow as Jared manned the video camera, and the Tom fell in its tracks. The big bird would weigh in at 25.5 pounds with a 10-inch beard and 3/4 inch spurs.

"To some it may not be anything to get worked up about," Mike wrote. "But for me it was a day I will never forget."

Young Kewaskum athlete places 5th in national snowboarding competition

Dwyer soars to new heights

Shown above is Cayden Dwyer after dropping out of the starting gate in the Boardercross race. He was seeded the fourth fastest out of 40 kids.

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum's Cayden Dwyer is probably one of Sunburst's best customers, or at least this blossoming snowboarder puts in way more hours at the ski hill than any average nine-year-old.

Dwyer isn't average, however, not when it comes to snowboard competitions. He proved that in late March when he placed fifth out of 50 young athletes in the Grommet Boys 8-9 division of the United State of America Snowboarding Association's national tournament held on Copper Mountain in Colorado.

Funny, in a state which its highest peak (Timm's Peak near Wausau) is just 1,952 feet above sea level, Dwyer was able to finish ahead of many from Utah, Colorado, California and Oregon with its many mountain ranges reaching high into the sky.

Here's where Dwyer's work ethics and downright lack of fear come into play.

When asked how many times he practiced at Sunburst this past winter, Dwyer said, "Every day," except when he was in Midwest Snowboard competitions held at Devil's Head, Grand Geneva or Olympia facilities.

For Dwyer, seeing Copper Mountain which soars to an elevation of 12,000 feet, it was a dream come true, and to his mother, Krista, it was a nightmare.

"I really almost thought about pulling him out," Krista Dwyer said, recalling the first time she saw the hill and specifically the 15- to 30-foot jumps on the slopestyle course.

This was definitely higher and more challenging than the 2007 nationals, which were held on North Star Mountain in California.

But Cayden had no fear, or at least he didn't let his mother see that he was scared to compete on such a challenging course. "He just kept saying, 'Mom, I'll be OK,'" Dwyer said, and everything did turn out and even better than expected.

Young Dwyer qualified for the nationals by placing high in midwest competitions during the season. What was amazing was he qualified in all five, including slopestyle, half-pipe, boarder cross, slalom and giant slalom.

"I competed in maybe about 30 events in the Midwest snowboard competitions," Cayden said, adding he was feeling pretty good about himself because of how he did against Hunter Maines, a good snow boarder who lives in Mequon.

"He (Maines) beat me a couple times ... then I beat him the whole rest of the season,"

Cayden said proudly, and his mother was quick to point out besides being fierce competitors, "They're also very good friends."

At the nationals, Cayden placed fourth in slopestyle, which is his best event. "We were hoping for the top fifty percent," Krista Dwyer said, considering many of the others in his class have grown up snowboarding in the mountains. "He really turned heads out there. It was amazing," she said.

In slopestyle snowboard competitions, the athlete negotiates the jumps on the course, then performs jumps and stunts on the "boxes" and "rails" which are located near the end of the course.

"That's Cayden's big thing," Krista Dwyer said about her son going over these sections of boxes, which stand four feet high and are 15-20 feet in length.

Cayden received a score of 67.5 on his best of the two runs. Time is not a factor in this competition, just the degree of difficulty of the tricks and how the snow boarder performs them.

Cayden also placed ninth in the half-pipe, indicating his favorite trick is "Probably a five-forty," a spin in which he rotates in one complete turn and then another half turn.

The half-pipe is a course with walls, which are 20 to 22-feet high. When asked what happens when you fall on a trick, Cayden said, "You don't get a good score."

Cayden was superb in the Giant Slalom, taking fourth, and in the Slalom, he was fifth overall.

In the boardercross, which is a snowboard race against five others, Cayden had the most difficulty, finishing 25th.

The family returned from Copper Mountain on April 6th, and even though the snowboarding season was over here, it didn't mean Cayden stopped thinking of his favorite sport. "I'm going to Mt. Hood (Oregon) in June ... just for a snowboarding camp," he said, and until that he will spend his spare time skate boarding, playing baseball or wake boarding.

And in the back of his mind, the third grader at Kewaskum Elementary School is already looking ahead to next year's nationals!

Double places and nine firsts not enough

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Just how much of a part does depth play for a high school track team?

Taking last week's quadrangular at Plymouth as an example, the Kewaskum High girls "double placed" in 10 events and pushed the host Panthers right down to the wire.

Plymouth wound up with 110 points, and the Indians came in with 98 in what was essentially a two-team race. Waupun and New Holstein were far back with 44 and 10.

What also helped the talented KHS team was coming up with nine first places, and had they claimed the 10th which was expected in the pole vault, just seven points would have separated the top two teams.

"It was super windy up there," coach Jerry Gosa remarked about Tuesday's meet. "The weather didn't make for good times, but when you look at the times the teams we were against had ... we ran well. I was pleased with the results."

Plus, the KHS veteran coach gave Plymouth credit for its efforts. "Plymouth is really quite strong," he said. The Indians did well in the sprints, hurdles, high jump, and in the relays, where they recorded three first places and one second.

Jessi Forbes, Jessie Liniewski, Nichole Kison and Kelly Uelmen combined to tour the 800 meters in a time of 1 minute, 56.16 seconds (1:56.16) for one of the firsts, and a whole different foursome, Heather Schmitt, Ashlie Roeske, Rachel Yocum and Megan Struck were victorious in the 4x100 race with their clocking of 54.17.

There were just two teams competing in the 4x800 relay, and the Indian quartet of Brooke Waala, Tonya Janssen, Jessica Beaupre and Crystal Lepp came in 28 seconds ahead of Plymouth with their time of 12:40.40.

Kewaskum's only second in the relays came in the 4x400 where Megan Thornton, Struck, Yocum and Schmitt were beaten by Plymouth, 4:26.67 to 4:47.70.

Uelmen, in her fourth year on the KHS varsity, captured first place in the 100-meter dash, running a 14.32, which gave her a .46 cushion on Plymouth's Theresa Gielissen, the runner-up in the race.

The junior Liniewski turned in a solid 29.40 to win the 200, and Haley Gregoriou finished fourth in the race at 31.60.

Liniewski added another win to her resume, taking the high jump by clearing 4 feet, 10 inches (4-10) with Candace Beine finishing fourth at 4-8, falling a couple spots because of more misses.

Kewaskum piled up good points in the distance races, with foreign exchange student Helen Schoenborn taking fourth in the 800 (3:02.17) after placing third in the 1,600 (6:16.42) where Janssen was right on her heels with a 6:18.16, good for fourth.

The other Indian firsts included: Kison in the long jump, 14-11.75, Liz Potter in the 10 high hurdles (18.75) and Gregoriou in the 300 hurdles (53.62), with Potter in second place (55.47) good for 10 team points.

The 400 was a good event for the Indians with Schmitt and Ashlie Roeske third and fourth in 69.61 and 75.97.

Alissa Clapper ran well enough in the 100 hurdles to finish third (19.45), but her day did not go well in the pole vault where she has been a consistent winner. "She went down the runway, slid into the box and got hurt," Gosa said, noting the injury is not serious but it kept her from vaulting the rest of the afternoon.

After the Indians play host to the Washington Country Outdoor Meet on Tuesday, they have two days to prepare for the annual Alzheimer Invitational on Friday.

Geidel shares medal in first competition; KHS golfers start off with a fourth

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

It was pretty much as coach Glenn Eichstedt had anticipated.

Junior Ethan Geidel is definitely one of the premier golfers in Eastern Wisconsin. His Kewaskum High team will show inexperience at the Nos. 3 to 5 spots, especially early in the season, and Plymouth is still the team to beat in the EWC.

That's pretty much how things played out in the opening mini-meet of the year on the Quit Qui Oc Golf Course. This was also the first competition of the year because tournaments at Horicon and the Washington County Invationals were cancelled because of the weather conditions.

"Plymouth returns four of their top five golfers from their 2007 championship season," Eichstedt said. "Therefore, to no one's surprise, Plymouth won with a 166 total."

After suffering through a dismal '07 season, Campbellsport started nicely with a 172 for the runner-up spot, then came the Indians and Sheboygan Falls at 175, and on the tiebreaker, the scores of the fifth men for both teams, Falls got the nod for third.

The Indians had to settle for fourth, while newcomer Waupun finished fifth at 176.

Geidel came in with a 3-over-par 38 on the course. He shared medalist honors with Campbellsport's Hayden Serwe, then came two of the first-place Panthers, Corwin Rhyhan and Alex Hints, along with Kiel's Brandon Gries, who all were a shot back with 39s.

KHS' No. 2 man, junior Nick Gutbrod, finished in a tie for the sixth spot with a 41, and from there the scores climbed to a 45 from Paul Marchant, John Beiswenger's 51 and a 56 from Jeremy Neuenfeld.

"Kewaskum will have to gradually get better in order to finish within the top three as they have the previous five years," Eichstedt said.

After competing in the second EWC mini-meet Monday at Sheboygan Falls and an invitation on Wednesday, the Indians take the short ride to Campbellsport this afternoon (Thursday) for another conference competition.

EWC first Mini-Tour event — at Quit Qui Oc

1. Plymouth, 166; 2. Campbellsport, 172; 3. Sheboygan Falls, 175; 4. Kewaskum, 175; 5. Waupun, 176; 6. Kiel, 178; 7. Two Rivers, 181; 8. New Holstein, 203.

Gutbrod, Geidel take top spots in golf test

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The best the Kewaskum High golf team could finish in the middle of the pack at last week's Sheboygan Falls Invitational, but two of the Indians brought home some hardware for finishing first and second in the event.

Junior Nick Gutbrod shot an impressive 79 to capture the medal, while Ethan Geidel was next high out of the 45 players with an 84. The meet was played on The Bull at Pinehurst, generally acclaimed as one of the more difficult courses in south eastern Wisconsin.

Nicolet won the team title with a 360 total, just six shots ahead of Port Washington, then came little North Fond du Lac in the third spot with 374, one shot ahead of Kewaskum. Brown Deer was fifth with a 376, and from there the scores soared to a 390 by Waupun, 393 by the host Falcons, 417 by Cedar Grove and 488 by Laconia.

No other information was provided on the event by KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt.

Subtracting the scores of Gutbrod and Geidel, the other two Indians counters averaged 106 on the long and difficult course.

Title number two includes many excellent efforts

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

How sweet it was for the Kewaskum High girls track team to win the annual Kewaskum Invitational last Friday.

Thanks to some excellent performances in the sprints, relays and long jump, the Indians piled up 125 points to surpass the other four schools in the event.

Random Lake took second place with 115, then came Kiel with 60; New Holstein, 52; and West Bend East, far back with 18.

The Indians claimed seven individual first places and another two victories in the sprint relays.

KHS coach Jerry Gosa got plenty of point production from senior Kelly Uelmen, juniors Nicole Kison and Jessie Liniewski along with soph Heather Schmitt.

"Nichole Kison went over sixteen (16) feet for the first time in the long jump," Gosa said, picking this winning effort as one of the highlights. Then there was also Uelmen's win in the 100 with a time of 13 seconds (13.0) flat.

"That's a good time," Gosa said about the 13 by his senior leader, who also anchored wins in the 4x100-meter and 4x200 relays.

The foursome of Jessi Forbes, Liniewski, Kison and Uelmen posted a tie of 52.5 in winning the shorter of the two relays, and that's a pretty good time for this early in the outdoor season.

Gosa made a change in the 4x200, inserting Haley Gregoriou as the leadoff runner in place of Forbes, then came Liniewski, Kison and Uelmen for a fine 1:50.9.

"You need to get under 1:50" to place in major events, according to Gosa.

Liniewski had a great day. Along with her two relay wins, she led the field in the 200, turning in a time of 27.1, .2 of a second ahead of Kison, giving the Indians 14 points in the event.

Schmitt won the open 400, and her time was a solid 1:05.6, and another win came from senior Liz Potter in the 100 hurdles. Her time in that race was 17.8, and once again it was 14 more points for the Kewaskum team, thanks to Gregoriou's 17.9 for a second in the race.

The 300 hurdles was a good event for the Indians, who had Gregoriou in the second spot at 52.8, and Potter next with a 53.8.

Gosa was thrilled with the efforts of foreign exchange student, Helen Schoenborn, in the 1,600. "Helen almost broke six minutes in the mile," Gosa said, referring to Schoenborn's 6:00.0 in the event, which was good enough for second place, just two seconds out of first.

Tonya Janssen continues to help the Indians with her points from the distance races. First she ran the 1,600 and finished fourth with a 6:24.8, and later she ran the 3,200 and came in with a 14:07.5, good for fourth.

Gosa was also very happy with sophomore Brooke Waala. "She ran well ... had her best time," Gosa said, noting Waala's 2:43.0 was good enough for fifth in the 800.

In the field events, the highlights included: the 1-2 finish by Candace Beine (4-10) and Liniewski (4-8) in the high jump; Karla Stoffel's win in the pole vault (8-0); Lacy Taylor's second in the discus (92-03); and Schmitt's fourth in the long jump (14-14-08).

This is Kewaskum's second title of the 2008 season. The other came in the Washington County Indoor competition.

Field event athletes lead the way for KHS boys team

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The 1-2 finish in the pole vault, the 1-3 effort in the discus and the second and third places in the shot put were definitely the highlights for the Kewaskum High boys track team in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference quadrangular at Plymouth on April 15.

"These continue to be real strong events for us," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said about the three field events, which helped the Indians score 84 points to finish second behind a good Plymouth (99 points). New Holstein, normally one of the strong teams in the conference, had to settle for third place with 64, while Waupun, in its first year in the EWC, was last with 22.

Jake Dickmann and Kevin Schellinger dominated the pole vault, as both cleared 11 feet, 6 inches (11-6), which was pretty good on a day when there was a great deal of wind. Dickmann got the win based on fewer misses.

Seeing as how this was the first outdoor competition of the year, it was the first time the discus throwers have had the opportunity to throw, and both Ben Boettcher and Tyler Swanson started off with a bang.

Boettcher's best effort, and the best effort of the day, sailed 156-11.50, and Swanson, who took third, came in with a 137-01.

In the shot, the two KHS seniors were unable to match the 45-9.50 of New Holstein's John Weber but they weren't far off. Boettcher took second at 44-9.50 and Swanson was third at 44-5.

Boettcher contributed one more team point with his fifth place in the 100-meter dash where he was clocked in 13 and .27 seconds (13.27), one place behind teammate Jon Komp, who turned in an 13.11.

All the times of the sprints were hampered considerably by the wind, according to Gosa.

Dickmann continues to high jump well. Despite the wind, he cleared 5-10 in gaining the double win. Senior Dan Dymond added a third in the high jump by going over 4-6.

Another field event that produced good points was the long jump where Scott Steldt and Zach Amerling wound up 4-5 at 16-10.25 and 15-10, respectively, and in the triple jump, Brandon Zolp earned three points via his 36-8 in the triple jump.

Kewaskum got two places in the 400 with sophomore Scott Steldt and Dymond in the third and fourth spots at 57.36 and 57.40, respectively.

After missing the majority of the indoor season, sophomore Zach Herriges is starting to work into competitive shape. He ran a time of 2:10 flat in the 800, an event he normally does not run in. That time was good for third place and newcomer Tim Hall was right behind him, in the fourth spot, with a 2:11.

The Indians also came up with two placed in the 1,600, with Herriges third in 5:12.71 and Tyler McElhatton in fifth at 5:33.56.

Another bright spot was provided by sophomore D.J. Ermer, one of the team's few hurdlers. Ermer placed third in the 11 highs (19-52) and came back with another third in the grueling 300s (48.22).

The Indians posted seconds in all four relays. In the 4x100, it was Steldt, Dymond, Zolp and Dylan Kenworthy combining for a 48.95, then in the 4x200, Komp, Dymond, Kenworthy and Amerling were clocked in 1:41.26, behind New Holstein's 1:36.80.

In the 4x400, it was Dymond, Herriges, Zolp and Steldt crossing the finish line in 3:47.94, while Herriges, McElhatton, Hall and James Pok earned a time of 9:32.52 in the 4x800.

All in all, it was a good start to the outdoor campaign.

Lady Indians track camp is on an optimistic high

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

There are some good sprinters on the team and plenty of depth in the high jump.

The team has a pole vaulter who can win a lot of meets, and there is talent on the relay teams, in the middle distances and the hurdles.

What this all adds up to is the Kewaskum High School girls track team has the potential to be a top finisher in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC) and a lot of the annual invitationals it participates in.

The Lady Indians started off with a bang, winning the Washington County Indoor Meet but where they end up will depend how hard they are willing to work and how much intensity they take to the competitions, according to Jerry Gosa, the team's veteran coach and productive taskmaster.

"We have a lot of depth and talent," Gosa said recently about the 2008 team, but there is a bit of a downside in that, "We have a lot of kids who didn't run this winter, and it shows."

Wisconsin's long winter didn't help much, according to Gosa, who said the team had only gotten on the outdoor track about three times prior to April 1, but, "I think there are a lot of other schools in the same boat."

Gosa is certain he has a couple good team leaders this spring, namely Kelly Uelmen, a four-year sprinter and relay runner on the varsity, and junior Alissa Clapper, who has already cleared 9 feet (9-0) in the pole vault and has shown she can run the hurdles as well.

They are among 22 returning letter winners from

'07. Only two of that number are seniors, including Uelmen and Liz Potter, who runs the high and low hurdles for the team.

Potter has had leg problems in the past, but Gosa is hoping she will stay healthy this year.

Concerning Uelmen, who does well in the 100-meter dash, Gosa said, "We need to develop a little more interior fire in her."

There are two foreign exchange students on the team, and one of them, Helen Schoeborn from Germany, is already showing she will help the Indians in the distance races.

Another pleasant surprise for Gosa has been the improved efforts of Tonya Janssen, a junior letterwinner in the distance races. That duo could help the Indians "double place" in the 1,600, a factor which helped the team win the County Indoor where it had two girls place in seven events.

Along with Uelmen, sprinters returning include Jessi Forbes, Nichole Kison and Jessie Liniewski. This group placed third in the WIAA Division 2 State Track and Field Meet last spring and knocked .5 of a second off the old school record.

Kison ran the open 400 a year ago and was a consistent point-getter in the long jump. Gosa is counting on her again but may also switch her more in the 800 in an effort to help the team.

Liniewski has topped 4-10 in the high jump and needs to add two or three more inches to get an opportunity to win the event. She and sophomore teammate Candace Beine, another letter winner, should push each other in the high jump.

Forbes is expected to run the open 200 and perhaps another relay.

The Indians would have solid high jumpers but Amanda Witek transferred to West Bend West at the start of the last school year and came back. Because of the transfers, she is not eligible for varsity meets this season, according to Gosa.

Still "high jump should be good for us," Gosa said.

"The hurdles could be good," Gosa went on, noting he has Clapper, Potter and two others, sophomore letter winner Haley Gregoriou and junior letterwinner Grace Pok. Other letter winners include Stephanie Abramovich, Kelsey Guth, Amanda Kleppin, Kassie Legate, Crystal Lepp, Amanda Meyer, Rachel Stoffel, Lacy Taylor, Megan Thornton and Brook Waala.

About the only weak event might be the discus where the No. 1 thrower from last season switched to soccer this year.

Concerning the frontrunners in the EWC, Gosa said he thinks New Holstein and Two Rivers look like they have good talent. He went on, "Based on what I saw last night at Oshkosh, we are not going to be happy to have Catholic Memorial in our sectional." Memorial won the Oshkosh Indoor meet with a whopping 53 points.

Concerning his own team, Gosa said, "If the girls put in as much time and energy as the coaches, they'll have a good season. It will be interesting."

Gosa will again be assisted by Jason Meinen (middle distances and jumps), Josh Parrent (pole vault), Matt Gundrum (weights) and Randy Backhaus (distance races). The one newcomer is LuAnn Potter, an alumna of the KHS program who will direct the hurdlers. Gosa handles the sprinters and relays.

With little depth, Indians have their work cut out for them

Individual accomplishments and improvement are the two things coach Jerry Gosa will be looking for from his 2008 Kewaskum High boys track team.

With six veteran seniors on the squad, the addition of senior Jonathan Komp, who transferred to the school last fall, and the return of speedy Zach Amerling, who skipped the sport last spring, Gosa is convinced the Indians will do better against Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC) competition. He also knows, however, there isn't the depth for them to challenge for the title or titles in most of the other major meets.

Already this spring, the weight duo of Ben Boettcher and Tyler Swanson, have shown they will be major point contributors.

"In the shot we should do well, and the discus," Gosa said of the two, who finished 1-2 in the discus in the EWC Conference Championships last May.

In the County Indoor, Boettcher added several feet to his personal best in the shot put, and his effort of 47 feet, 11.5 inches (47-11.5) netted him a second place.

"I know both of them have been in the weight room," the coach went on, adding what's nice is, "They work well together."

Switching to the high jump and pole vault, the Indians have junior Jake Dickmann, who has already recorded a person best 6-0 in the high jump, and "He's cleared 11-6 in a meet and 12-0 in practice in the pole vault," according to Gosa.

Dickmann's teammate and friend, Kevin Schellinger, has turned in a vault of 11-0, and, "He's been working hard," Gosa said, but quick to point out in the EWC placing will require vaulters to reach 12-0 or 12-6.

Swanson, Boettcher, Dickmann and Schellinger are among the 10 letter winners Gosa had, and Amerling was awarded a letter in 2007, his freshman year.

The other vets are seniors Dan Dymond, Dylan Kenworthy and Tyler McElhatton, who compete in a variety of events. Dymond will run the open 400 and relays, as well as compete in the high jump.

Kenworthy also has a spot on one or two of the relays, and once the teams get some outdoor competition, Gosa will find another event for him to be in.

McElhatton is a very dependable distance runner. He will be one of the entries in the 3,200 meter race and is likely to double in the 4x800 relay or run the open 1,600.

The top distance runner is expected to be junior Zach Herriges, who got a later start on the season while he was involved in driver education.

Concerning Herriges, Gosa said, "He's going to have to be one of the leaders in the two-mile," and adds sophomore Tim Hall, a transfer from West Bend West, could develop into a distance runner.

"There's good potential in the 4x400 relay," Gosa said, noting he is looking at Kenworthy, Dymond, Scott Steldt and Brandon Zolp for this event, with a couple other possibilities. Steldt and Zolp are sophomore letter winners, then there's Amerling, who can long jump, run sprints or relays.

"It's going to take him a while" to get back to get past where he was as a freshman, Gosa said, confident Amerling will help the team.

The weather certainly hasn't helped any of the jumpers, who went into the first two indoor meets without any practice.

One obvious difficulty Gosa and his assistant coaches are facing is finding talent among the freshman class because currently there are just four frosh out for the sport.

Kewaskum will host a couple major meets this spring, including the annual Washington County Outdoor Championships on April 22, and a Division 2 sectional on May 22.

Boys tennis singles promising; doubles need experience

By Nathan Kenworthy
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum Indians boys tennis team is trying to translate experience into victories this spring. Every singles player has at least one year of Varsity competition.

Senior Dan Parker will be looked at as the leader of the team, having played four years of Varsity singles and this will be his second year at #1 singles. He took fourth last year in the conference, and will be looking to place high this year as well.

The rest of the team didn't earn many wins last season, but will hopefully learn from their mistakes and use that experience towards putting W's on the board this year.

On the doubles side, there are not any returning Varsity players and everyone has new partners this season. That inexperience will prove costly throughout the early part of the schedule, as the players will work on their teamwork and cohesiveness.

That is not to say that they won't succeed, as some of the combinations have showed flashes of ability, but will need to turn that potential into consistency.

Boys golf team returns with two letter winners

The late arrival of spring certainly hasn't helped prep golf teams in their efforts to prepare for the upcoming season.

Coach Glenn Eichstedt found a solution for a loss of time on the Hon-E-Kor golf course ... he took a dozen of his players to Lafayette, Indiana for the spring break, and they managed to get in 27 holes several of the days on the Purdue University layout.

The Indians are pretty well set on their Nos. 1 and 2 men, but Eichstedt still must come up with three other starters and have them develop in a hurry since the season is fairly short.

Concerning returning letter winners, "I only have two," Eichstedt said recently, pointing to juniors Ethan Geidel and Nick Gutbrod. In Geidel, the KHS coach has the top returning player in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC).

Based on the best seven of eight scores in the EWC mini-meets and the 18-hole conference tournament, Geidel captured the medal and undoubtedly will be a marked man this spring, at least in the eyes of the returning Plymouth Panthers.

Geidel hits the long ball off the tee, is handy with his irons and most days is a solid putter, so he has the game to take him the final step, to the WIAA Division 2 State Tournament, which has escaped him in his first two seasons as a member of the varsity team.

Geidel had to settle for an 82 at the Bull in last year's second, missing a berth in the state meet by one place.

Geidel had a little slump at mid-season last year, according to Eichstedt, who said, "He finished fairly well in the regular season and the regional," and wound up averaging around 40.1 per 9-hole round for the year.

"He will have to lead us, and he seems pretty relaxed and confident he can do that," Eichstedt said. "He's certainly a shoot in the thirties without being at his best."

Gutbrod did well in his first year on the varsity, and Eichstedt said, "He evidently hit a lot of balls this winter, and I think he's a capable No. 2, but beyond that I don't know where we'll go."

Obviously it is going to be difficult to replace Casey Scheel, who developed nicely into the No. 2 man in the conference in '07, and the Indians lost two other regulars, Andy McDonald and Ryan Nuernberg, to graduation.

The Indians led Plymouth at the halfway point last year but a sixth-place finish in the second-last conference meet at Quit Qui Oc eliminated their title hopes.

Enter senior Paul Marchant, John Beiswenger, Jeremy Neuenfeld and Russ Osswald. From this list are expected to emerge the three replacements. "Marchant played some varsity but mostly JV last year," Eichstedt said, so he does have experience.

Beiswenger, a lefty, shot in the low to mid-40s in Indiana, and Eichstedt said, "I think he'll be a steady fourth or fifth kind of player."

Neuenfeld, a junior, recently came in with a 41 at Camelot, according to Eichstedt, who said, "He's just kind of a solid kid," while the sophomore Osswald came along nicely at the end of the '07 year.

As far as which team will be strong in the EWC, Eichstedt looks to perennial power Plymouth. "I think Plymouth has four of its top five back," he said, also indicating Kiel could be stronger with the return of Brandon Gries and other regulars.

The addition of Waupun to the conference will be interesting, the coach went on, because not many of the teams have played the Rock River course very often. "That will be an advantage for them (Warriors)."

Kewaskum was scheduled to open the season in the Horicon Invitational, an event the Indians normally do well in, but the meet was canceled because of the weather. They were set to participate in the County Tournament on April 12, then start EWC play, at Quit Qui Oc in Elkhart Lake, with Plymouth hosting the event.

If the Kewaskum Indians softball team expects to contend for the conference title this season, it will do so behind its superior speed and athleticism.

Coach Jeff Gosse also wants to see his team "advance beyond the first round in the WIAA tournament." We have an intriguing mix of experienced players and talented younger players."

The team returns three all-conference players, with Junior Shaylah Haire (2nd team Catcher), Senior Brooke Wodsadelek (2nd team Pitcher), and Junior Brandi Wagner (Honorable Mention Infield).

There are five other letter winners that are returning, which include Senior Stephanie Rinzel (Infield), Senior Megan Rinzel (Infield), Senior Danielle Mueller (Infield), Sophomore Ashley Faber (Outfield), and Sophomore Erika Heberer (Pitcher/Outfield). First year varsity players are Junior Amanda Schneider (Infield), Sophomore Erika Koffke (Catcher/Outfield), Sophomore Anna Butler (Outfield/Infield), Sophomore Monica Dehler (Infield), and Sophomore Haylie Hansen (Outfield).

Gosse believes "the team's greatest assets are having an experienced batter in Haire and Wagner, and the great athletes throughout the lineup." The outfield will compose of all sophomores, a potential scare to most coaches but Gosse is "very excited about this very talented, speedy group of youngsters. Offensively, we have very good power hitters and excellent speed throughout the lineup."

The Kewaskum Indians girl's soccer team had a record number of players come out for the team this season with over 40, a note of great progress made by the program in recent years.

However, Coach Amy Piwoni also wants to improve on the number of wins this season. Piwoni expects to compete and challenge each team in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

"We have to work hard together in practice everyday so we can execute during games. My goal is to instill a competitive drive in all the girls and I envision us having success down the road as we gain more experience," Piwoni explained.

Piwoni will be looking for Elissa Miller, Christine Bohn and Amber Struck to control the midfield. "The offense is going to start through the center midfield and they all will play key roles. We have good speed this year and adding Nicole Meyer to the forward mix should give us a pretty solid attack," Piwoni hypothesized.

Defensively, the Indians are young but that is not to say that there is not leadership in the back. Piwoni expects senior goalkeeper Julie Sargent to have a big year in the goal.

Piwoni says she is "optimistic that the team will finish around the middle of the conference. The girl's just need to believe in themselves, and they will taken seriously by the other teams."

Piwoni adds "the program is improving because we are getting some talented athletes that have prior playing experience. We have had success the past few years at the junior varsity level, and I'm confident that this will show at the Varsity level as well."

Tips to help prevent sports injuries in young athletes

Millions of children, ages five to 17, participate in the fun and excitement of sports activities every day as their parents happily cheer them on in the stands. However, the fun can soon turn to fear and panic when a child is injured.

According to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, more than 3.5 million sports-related injuries in children under the age of 15 are treated in hospitals, clinics and emergency rooms each year. Long after the panic and immediate treatment, are there possible problems that could appear later and what can parents and coaches do to protect their kids?

"Contact sports put young athletes at serious risks for severe injuries and most parents don't realize that the bones, muscles, tendons, and ligaments in children are still growing, making them more susceptible to injury. Therefore, parents and coaches need to learn ways to decrease their child's risk," says Anne Packard-Spicer, DC, DAC-CP, an associate professor at Northwestern Health Sciences University, in Bloomington, Minnesota. "Parents also need to pay careful attention to their children's complaints of sports-related aches and pains, because if left untreated, permanent joint damage can occur, hindering their physical growth."

According to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), 80 percent of sports-related injuries in children result from playing football, basketball, baseball or soccer. Two-thirds of these injuries are soft-tissue injuries, including sprains (tearing of a ligament) and strains (tearing of a muscle or tendon). Only five percent of children's sports injuries involve broken bones.

Dr. Packard-Spicer offers the following suggestions to help guide young athletes to safety:

- Wear protective gear and make sure it fits properly and is sport-appropriate. "Only use equipment specifically designed for the sport your child is playing. I've seen some kids wear football cleats for soccer and due to the peg underneath the shoe, they end up tripping," says Dr. Packard-Spicer.

- Kids should play by the rules. Not playing by the rules results in fouls and penalties, which increases the likelihood of injury.

- Parents and coaches should be aware of the appropriate body mechanics and physiology behind each sport. "It's key for a coach and for parents to understand what body positions and stretching techniques best protect a player," says Dr. Packard-Spicer. "A classic example of an incorrect technique that can possibly tear ligaments is a hurdle stretch that has kids stand on one leg and reach their other one off to the side. The correct method is to bend the elevated leg and hold it or tuck it close to the back side of the body."

- Don't play through the pain or with an injury. "It's important to respect the healing process and to abiding playing when one has an injury," says Dr. Packard-Spicer. "Also, know your child and the signs that he or she shows when in pain, and instead of telling him to 'tough it out,' pull him out of the game to prevent an actual injury."

- Kids need chiropractic adjustments. "Kids as early as age seven complain of transient back pain. Children, especially those that play sports, need chiropractic adjustments to ensure spinal stability, muscle balance, to improve biomechanics, and to have optimal nerve functioning," says Dr. Packard-Spicer. "Chiropractic adjustments in childhood can help prevent chronic back pain and joint problems in the future. Most people think these type of adjustments are only for adults wanting to relieve certain conditions including colics, asthma and relaxes."

- Good nutrition is important for bone building. "Especially for kids, it is important to eliminate the 'junk' food from their diets and to add the necessary fruits and vegetables, calcium and protein that help build strong bones," added Dr. Packard-Spicer.

- Warm-up, cool down, and be conscious of your movements. Warm-up and cool down stretches are necessary to prevent muscle spasms and they help promote good body mechanics. "Make sure children don't rush through stretches and are aware of their motions," said Dr. Packard-Spicer.
