Grill starts house fire in village

Kewaskum Fire Department was called into service on Saturday, May 10 at 9:32 p.m. Assistant Fire Chief Mark Herriges stated the fire was started by a grill that was left on after grilling and placed next to the garage. The fire started in a wall behind the grill and burned up to the top plate. It then burned through the top plate and made its way into the attic. Firefighters were then able to extinguish the smoldering fire that did not produce any exterior flames. Fire Chief Mark Groeschel stated the department responded with 20 personnel and were on scene approximately one and a half hours. Damage estimates are not available at this time. The photo above depicts firefighters cutting a hole into the roof of the home at 710 Memorial Drive. The home is owned by Mark and Lisa Landry.

Auburn will look to Beechwood, Campbellsport for fire protection

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Publisher

KEWASKUM- The village is reviewing plans to make one of the largest expenditures to date for their fire department. On Wednesday, May 7, the village's protection and public safety committee introduced a plan to purchase an aerial truck costing $800,000 to village taxpayers and townships that contract fire protection with the village's fire department. One township has now announced they will explore other options for contracting fire services.

Fire Chief Mark Groeschel explained that the current 1975 Ford C-85 truck is "tired." That piece of equipment is fitted with a 50 foot ladder and was received by the department in 1976. He went on to say that in 1989 a canopy cab was installed and a poly tank was added in 1998.

Chairmen Merle Laatsch of Auburn Township and Ellis Kahn of Kewaskum Township could face funding a possible 19% increase in their fire protection costs. Laatsch announced at the Auburn monthly meeting on Monday, May 12 that Auburn is seeking bids from neighboring Beechwood Fire Department and increasing coverage from Campbellsport Fire Department whom they currently also contract with.

The town of Kewaskum will discuss the matter at their meeting Monday, May 19. Kahn did not comment on the town's intentions.

Groeschel stated that the truck was initially scheduled to be replaced in 2007, however when looking into replacing the truck in 2006 the former village administrator stated it needed to be put off because of the lift station project in the village. In 2007 the department was given the directive from the Village Board to investigate the cost of replacing the truck.

During a needs assessment, the department decided they favor using Pierce Manufacturing of Appleton for the truck purchase because they are somewhat local and have given decent service on other equipment.

The department recently received an offer to purchase a 2006 engine. The village board has approved to pay $1,400 to hold the engine until May 15. They can then pay another $1,440 to hold it until July and then another $1,400 to hold until December. By doing this the department can pick the Chassis they want and do not have to follow the 2007 emission standards. Groeschel indicated a cost savings of about $13-15,000 with an additional $6,000 in savings by not having to change a filter every two years.

Groeschel estimated the impact on the fire contracts to be about a 19% increase coming in 2010. This does not take into consideration annual normal operational increases. "We have to work on that, I know I can't shove that down your throats," he indicated at Wednesday's meeting. A final price is still being worked out for the truck.

Groeschel reported in addition

Curriculum Director Kalina resigns, budget approved

By Andrew Kuehl
Statesman Publisher

KEWASKUM- The Board of Education accepted the resignation of their Curriculum Director at their meeting Monday, May 12. The district's budget for 2008-2009 was also approved.

Joannie Kalina began her career with the Kewaskum School District on August 13, 2002. Her resignation will become effective June 30, 2008.

Business Manager Paul Reichert stated that their plans of a replacement are not official, however, at the June Board of Education meeting there will be a recommendation made.

Kalina is currently in the middle of a two-year contract that ends in June 2009. In the past, the school district has initiated a liquidated damages clause in contracts of teachers and administrators. That clause allowed the school district to receive $500 in damages for breaking a contract. Reichert stated that because there is a mutual agreement between the board and Kalina, damages will not be assessed.

The 2008-2009 budget was accepted with a 25-cent tax rate increase. The budget will now go before the electorate at the annual meeting.

Habitat holds successful women's build here

Wow! was the word expressed by organizers of the first ever Habitat Women's Build for Washington County. Over 25 women volunteered Saturday from all walks of life and all skill levels to raise the first wall at the Kewaskum Habitat job site at 703 Glacial Lane. "There were many mom and daughter teams celebrating the Mother's Day weekend by giving back to the community. Many were from a variety of churches in the county, Peace UCC, Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Trinity Lutheran Church, St. John's Lutheran in West Bend and St. John's Lutheran Church in Jackson," stated Sherry Majewski. Habitat would like to thank Karen Kletti and Mary Steinhardt, both of Kewaskum, for taking a leap of faith and volunteering to be Site Supervisors and lead the Women's Build. Lunch was served by volunteers from Peace UCC in Kewaskum. If you are interested in putting your faith into action outside the four walls of your church and swinging a hammer to change the lives of people in your community call the Habitat office at 626-4625. Financial contributions are always welcome and needed if you are unable to swing a hammer at the job site.

to the current truck being "tired," the 50 foot is too small by today's building standards. He used a fire in 2007 at Coffee Corner as an example. "We set up in the middle of the road and were still short." During silo fires the department must request mutual aid because their ladder cannot be used.

Currently the Department has two loans they are paying on until 2010.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor and Citizens of Kewaskum,

We, the students of Mrs. Wheeler's fifth grade class at Kewaskum Elementary School, would like to tell you about a concern we have and how we tried to solve it. We are doing a Project Citizen, a service-learning project to solve problems in our community.

Our concern is the train trestle area under the Eisenbahn Trail. We have noticed that there is illegal or underage tobacco use and drinking taking place there. We went to the April 7 Village Board meeting to show the people of Kewaskum our concerns. We asked if we could pick up litter around the train trestle or trim bushes so it wasn't so wild. The County Parks Department said that it should look natural because the DNR owns it and the county crews clean that area. Someone also asked if there could be a surveillance camera set up near the trestle. The City Police said no due to lack of electricity but that they would continue to patrol the area.

We walked to the trestle a few days later and took a look around it. We saw a lot of beer cans and cigarette butts. We didn't think it would be that bad. We saw where the police would see the teens from the fire department parking lot, but we also saw how the teens could run away and hide from them. When they run to the south or southeast, they run onto private or county land outside of the city.

So we feel we are at a dead end to solve this problem. We've talked to some teenagers to see if they need a better place to hang out in Kewaskum. Maybe if we had a place for teenagers, they wouldn't have to be at the trestle. Also, not all teens are smoking or drinking there but we think there should at least be a garbage can by the trestle and a bench or trail made for fishing. Teens might feel better about taking care of the place if it looked nice.

Right now we haven't found a solution to stop underage drinking and smoking at the trestle. We're afraid that someone could get hurt by drinking too much and falling in the river. Would you like your child to get hurt at the trestle? Who can help us get garbage cans, benches, or better places for teens in our community? We'd like help to change this situation before it's too late.

Sincerely,
The concerned citizens of
Mrs. Wheeler's fifth grade class

Letter to the editor:

Click It or Ticket kicks off on May 19 to boost safety belt use

Each year in Wisconsin, approximately 700 to 800 people are killed in traffic crashes. These numbers are more than a statistic. They mask human tragedy.

Because traffic crashes are the leading killer of young people from ages 4 to 34, there are far too many funerals for children and teenagers. The tragedy is that we all know that many of these deaths could have been prevented.

To reduce deaths and serious injuries from traffic crashes, there is no solution that is more effective than getting more people to wear their safety belts every time they drive or ride in a vehicle.

But sadly, too many people are ejected from vehicles in rollover crashes as if they were shot out of a cannon because they didn't buckle up. People also are tossed around viciously inside vehicles during a crash because they were unbuckled. In some instances, an unbuckled occupant is launched into another occupant causing severe or fatal injuries to both of them.

In Wisconsin, about three out of four vehicle occupants use safety belts, which is an all-time high for our state. But we still have a tremendous amount of work to do. Wisconsin is still well behind the national average of 82 percent for safety belt use. Every 1 percent point increase in safety belt use in Wisconsin saves an estimated six lives per year.

To increase safety belt use, law enforcement agencies throughout Wisconsin will mobilize for the "Click It or Ticket" campaign from May 19 to June 1. The "Click It or Ticket" message is clear—if you're stopped by an officer and aren't wearing a safety belt, you will get a ticket. Everyone should take this message seriously.

Buckling up is quick and easy, and it provides vital protection against a violent death or a lifelong injury. Moreover, wearing a safety belt is the law. However, if you choose to ignore the law as well as common sense, an officer will be ready to provide you with a very convincing reminder.

Memorial Day at Fillmore Turner Hall

Monday, May 26, noon

"They Shall Not Be Forgotten"

a multimedia presentation to honor Wisconsin war dead.

Sponsored by Farmington Historical Society

Fillmore is located at the intersection of CTH M&H, 3 1/2 miles east of STH 144.

Farmington Memorial Day Program May 26

In a time when fewer parade participants and fewer discretionary dollars caps our Memorial Day celebrations, Americans can still take the day to consider the meaning of the day.

Memorial Day was originally called Decoration Day. It is a remembrance for those who have died during armed service. There are a number of stories about the actual beginnings, with over two dozen cities and towns claiming to be the birthplace of Memorial Day. After the Civil War nearly tore apart our nation, many people around the country organized special days of remembrance set aside to honor those who died in the war.

General John Logan, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, supported a national Memorial Day to be observed on May 5, 1868. On May 30, 1868, the first official observance was held when flowers were placed on the graves of both Union and Confederate soldiers buried at Arlington National Cemetery.

Since that time, civic organizations have sponsored parades and speeches, and in many communities, soldiers' graves are decorated with small flags. Shrinking veteran's organizations continue to sponsor public speeches, readings and music, and the occasional parade. For many years, the day was a mandatory school program, in which children would write or memorize essays and recite poems such as "In Flanders Fields." As we grow generations past the World Wars and the nuances associated with our part in southeast Asia, we enter a new century in which our citizens have been sent overseas again. Thousands of soldiers have given their lives in an effort to stop the organized spread of terrorism. Let us not become apathetic to their service, but take this day to honor them.

Farmington is only one community that has held Memorial Day in high esteem. The public is invited to share in a very special presentation beginning at noon, Monday, May 26 at Fillmore Turner Hall. In this wonderful historic setting, you will experience a multimedia program combining sight and sound as we honor six Wisconsinites (Wilhelm Ramthun, Lee Pickett, Gordon Petersen, Frances Spaeth, George Carr, and Rachel Bosveld) who did not return from service in the Civil, World Wars I & II, Korea, Vietnam and the Iraq wars. The soldiers will tell their story through their letters home. These men and women share what they went through in their time of battle, and their hopes and dreams for a future, which for them, did not come true. On a screen, photos and music will accompany the recording of the letters. Their empty uniforms will be highlighted.

After the ceremony inside the historic Turner Hall, the public is invited outside next door to Fillmore Union Cemetery to honor the war dead buried there. Traditionally, the clarion of St. Martin's Church chimes once for each soldier and a flower will be placed on each grave.

Turner Hall is located on Highway H, east of State Road 144. For more information, please contact Ellen Kesting, 692-2659. The Farmington Historical Society thanks the Wisconsin Veterans Museum, the University of Wisconsin archives, the Wisconsin Historical Society, the Washington County Historical Society, the Fillmore Turner Society, and FreeQuincy Radio Theater for their support of this project.

Sylvan Learning's Helpful Hints for Student Success: Summer is a Hot Time to Practice Writing Skills

By: Barbara Hampton, Center Director

With summer just around the corner, children will be enjoying the warm weather, fun activities with friends and vacation time. But, summer can also be an enjoyable learning experience. The summer break provides many memorable moments, and writing about them is a good way to record those memories and practice writing skills at the same time.

Parents tend to focus on their children's reading and math skills, overlooking that writing is an education fundamental. It's fast becoming the forgotten 'R'. This is unfortunate, as writing is an important part of every facet of education.

Summer vacation provides an excellent opportunity for children to explore their creative writing skills. Sylvan Learning Center offers the following tips to help parents encourage their children to write over the summer:

Pick an Engaging Topic

Persuading your child to write over the summer break may be easier if you help them identify fun and engaging topics. Suggest some timely subjects.

- For example, Independence Day on July 4th, is a good opportunity for your children to explore their own patriotism.

- Ask them if they know what patriotism is, and what it means to them. Encourage your children by helping them with some research about America, its history, people and places.

Give Story Starters

Sometimes the most difficult part of writing can be getting started. Help your children write their patriotic essays by giving them topic ideas, such as:

- I am proud to be American because...

- On the Fourth of July, my family and I usually...

- If someone asked me what my country means to me, I would say...

Sylvan Tips on Writing

- Good writing takes time. Spend time organizing your ideas and thinking about what you really want to say in your essay.

- Use the Internet or library to research your topic. Prepare an outline before you begin to write.

- Use transition words, such as "after," "although," "before," "however" and "therefore" to help your ideas flow together.

- Be willing to revise. Change your sentences and paragraphs around, add material that lends to your writing and delete material that doesn't work.

- Avoid clichés and jargon. Always keep a dictionary handy to help with spelling.

- Use a thesaurus to help you think of a new way to say something.

- Ask someone else to edit your work.

- Proofread everything. Ensure grammar, spelling and punctuation are perfect before you declare anything "finished."

- Don't rely on a computer's spellchecker to ensure proper spelling.

Write On!

Tune up in the summer.
Rock in the fall.

Don't let this summer be a vacation from learning.

- Sylvan will pinpoint the skills your child needs and develop a summer program to help master them.
- We have flexible summer hours to accommodate your busy summer lifestyle.
- It's a proven approach that inspires summer learning.

Christie offers help in finding band instruments

Are you looking for a band instrument? Do you want to sell a band instrument no longer in use? Mr. Christie, the Kewaskum Middle School band instructor, has a web page dedicated to exchanging information about musical instruments for sale.

The site will have a form that you can submit if you have an instrument to sell. The form asks for details about the instrument and your contact information. Mr. Christie will then post the information to another page. It will be up to the buyer to contact the seller and negotiate. You can be taken to this page through the school district's website www.kewaskumschools.org.

The point of this is to make the search for instruments easier, hopefully providing a reasonably priced, quality instrument for your child.

If you are unable to fill out the form you can contact Mr. Christie at KMS (626-8427 ext. 2034) or Mr. Michlig at KHS (626-8427 ext. 4566) and give them the same basic information which they can post on the site.

Since it started in 1983, the Kewaskum School District has only had a boy become District Jump Rope Champion three times...until now.

Farmington Elementary School (FES) 2nd grader Cole Suprenant recently became the fourth boy to win the contest out of the 780 participants from FES, Kewaskum Elementary School (KES) and Wayne Elementary School (WES).

Generally soft-spoken, Suprenant said, "I knew I was the one to beat." He also added that it was nice to have his mom, grandma and aunt there to see him win.

The final standings were:

Division I

1st – Talon Ralph (FES)
2nd – Saylor Schultz (KES)
3rd – Tanner Goeman (WES)

Division II

1st – Cole Suprenant (FES)
2nd – Michaela Kunkel (KES)
3rd – Hailey Herriges (WES)

Division III

A special thank you to everyone involved in making the District Jump Rope Contest a success again. The trophies and bus transportation were sponsored this year by the KES PTO. Dairy Queen supplied coupons for all participants.

Foster's return to France bittersweet

Brothers by circumstance rather than blood, Eric Turowski and foreign exchange student Thibault Foster have forged a bond that will last a lifetime.

By Amber Donath
Statesman Community Journalist

There is a special group of people in the world who open their homes and their hearts to help others grow and learn. These simple and kind acts turn into beautiful and rewarding experiences for everyone involved.

One such family is the Turowski family. With one son off to college and the other a junior at Kewaskum High School, they were ready to start relaxing. However, through a series of unexpected conversations they became a host family for a foreign exchange student from France.

Thibault Foster, 17, originally from Nice, France, moved in to Jane and John Turowski's rural home on August 18, 2007.

Struggling with his English and them not knowing any French made communication more of a pantomime game than verbal conversation.

"Looking back, he has really come a long way," said Jane with a smile on her face. "At first I thought, what did we get ourselves into, but it didn't take long and Thibault was one of the family."

KHS junior Eric Turowski was always the younger brother growing up, but now finally had his chance at being the big brother (even though he is Thibault's junior by a year).

"It was kind of up to me to help him out at school and pretty much everywhere at first," said Eric.

Since his time here, Foster has gone out for soccer, wrestling and tennis, attended prom with a date, won an art award, will be attending graduation ceremonies and has made friends with people he will keep in his heart forever.

"I am not looking forward to going home," said Foster. "Yes, I miss my family in France, but I have too much fun here with my new family."

This has left his mom back home with mixed emotions, but it has also reinforced the fact it was a great opportunity for her son and that he was well taken care of.

The bittersweet date for Foster to return home will be June 18, 2008.

This is Foster's second trip to the United States and he came with no expectations other than to be open-minded and enjoy his time here. That along with his genuinely happy-go-lucky demeanor has made his foreign exchange student experience better than expected for all who have grown to know and love him.

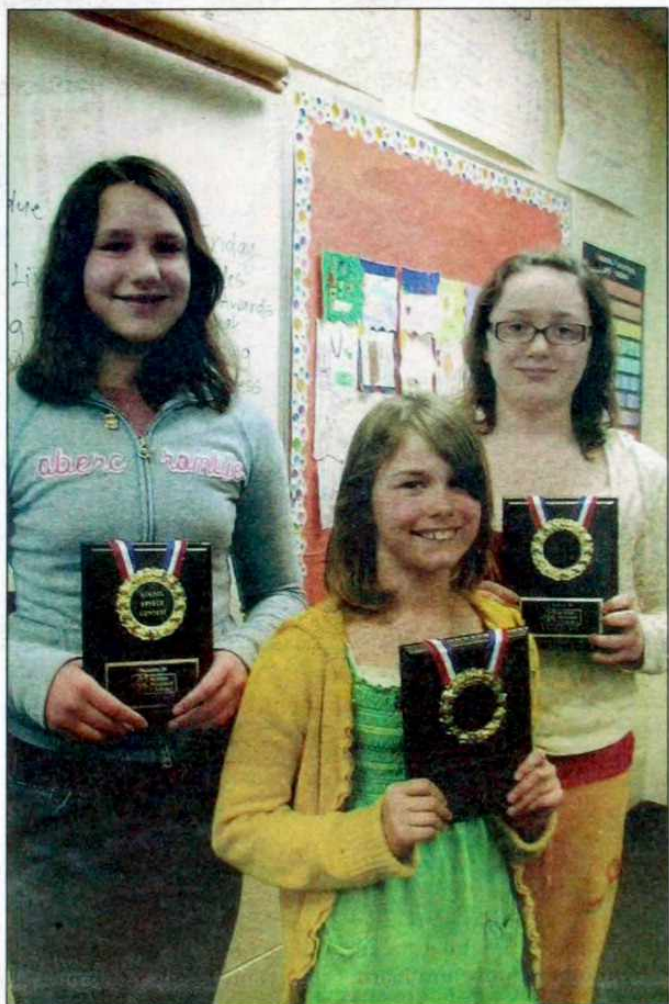

"What a change it will be to have him gone," said Jane. "Thibault and Eric love to tease each other and wrestle and goof around as if they have been brothers forever." She added, "I wasn't sure at first if this is something I wanted to do, but I am so glad John and I agreed to being host parents. There were so many new things we experienced this year that would not have happened without him here."

If you are even considering opening your home and your heart to host a foreign exchange student next year, please contact Carrie Schultz of Nacel Open Door at schulzcarr@aol.com for more information.

FES fifth graders participate in Modern Woodmen Civic Oration Contest

By Amber Donath
Statesman Community Journalist

Farmington Elementary School (FES) 5th grade students recently participated in the annual Modern Woodmen of America 2008 Civic Oration Contest.

This year's topic was "An American Landmark" and each student participating selected his or her own landmark of local or national prominence. Each speech was required to be at least three minutes long and no longer than five minutes.

After several weeks of research, writing and memorizing it came time to make their presentations at the school level. Judging is based on material organization, delivery/presentation, and overall effectiveness of the speech.

The top three contestants for FES were: 1st place Elizabeth Kruschke for Statue of Liberty, 2nd place Clair Pok for Ellis Island, 3rd place Hailey Taylor for Vietnam Memorial. Both Kruschke and Pok advanced to the District Competition on April 17 at Jackson Elementary.

During her research, Pok even discovered that her great grandmother was one of the thousands who came through Ellis Island. "I am glad I had this experience," she said. "I learned to become a better speaker and learned new facts about my family."

At the district competition, Kruschke emerged victorious taking first place and advancing to state. The district competition consisted of students from Allenton, FES, Jackson, Kewaskum Elementary School (Becca Strigenz and Ray Weishan) and Wayne Elementary School (Maranda Kurth and Chas Moede).

Kruschke selected the Statue of Liberty because "I love what she stand for." She also added, "I really enjoyed this whole experience. I learned a lot and made my family proud."

The state contest was held in Janesville on April 30. While Kruschke gave her best speech performance yet, the competition consisting of students in grades 5 through 8 was very talented and she did not place in the top three to advance to nationals.

"She did an amazing job," said FES 5th grade teacher Julie Wenzlaff. "I was so impressed with her composure and enthusiasm throughout this whole experience."

Congratulations to all Kewaskum School District participants on your achievements and efforts.

For 60 years, the Modern Woodmen of America School Speech Contest has provided student with a valuable personal and academic experience. Today the contest is and important event in many schools across the nation. More than 100,000 students competed in the local contest at Level 1 last year.

ELIZABETH MAE CUTSFORTH MEILAHN

Born May 17, 1915 in Chetek, Wisconsin, Elizabeth, known as "Betty" to her friends, was a mainstay of the community.

Betty passed away peacefully on Sunday, May 4th, 2008 at Harmony Living Center in McFarland, Wisconsin. Daughter of Arthur Earl (Eva Lavina Massey) Cutsforth, Betty graduated as Valedictorian of the 1933 class of the Chetek High School. She went on to attend the University of Wisconsin at River Falls and the UW Nursing School in Madison, graduating with a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing in 1939.

Betty enjoyed reminiscing about her early days of nursing, commenting about the brown uniforms with white aprons, heavily starched collars with resulting sore necks, starched nursing caps, cuffs that shot up over the elbow, and brown capes with turquoise silk lining. She was a licensed Registered Nurse in Wisconsin, California, Illinois, Minnesota, and Texas. Betty specialized in obstetrics, community health, and later, working until age 80 as a Registered Nurse in McAllen, Texas, she specialized in drug and alcohol addiction and rehabilitation. Her most memorable nursing experience was delivering a Christmas Eve baby at St. Joseph's Hospital in Rice Lake—in an elevator stuck between floors. She taught classes in first aid and child care, and worked many years as a volunteer in community projects, was a coordinator and mentor to the High School Nursing Club, and worked in Red Cross blood drives.

On March 27, 1938, Betty married Arnold Frederick Carl Meilahn in Marion, Arkansas. Initially living near Arnold's family in Kewaskum, Wisconsin, they moved to and continued to live in Chetek. For many years they managed the Yellow Lodge Resort and Hotel in Chetek, assisting Betty's parents until the Yellow Lodge was sold in 1972. They wintered many years in McAllen, Texas. In 1997 she moved to Waunakee, Wisconsin near Madison, and in 2007 to Harmony Living Center in McFarland.

Betty published several books, including Eva's Yellow Lodge Cookbook, Johann Meilahn—Emigrant and Ancestor, Cutsforth Heritage in England and America, and The Masseys of Grenadier Island. She was active in genealogical pursuits, traveling several times to Canada, England, Scotland, and Germany for research. In addition to researching and publishing her findings, she conducted University and Technical College short courses in genealogy.

Betty was involved in community action. For over 20 years, she was the City Health Officer in Chetek, participated in the Waunakee Area Education Advisory Council, and was a lifetime member and Past Matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, most recently a member of the Chetek and Middleton, Wisconsin Chapters. While in McAllen she worked with the city government planning Texas sesquicentennial celebrations, and worked as a docent and researcher at the McAllen International Museum helping with its natural science and history displays. Betty developed several programs for the Rio Grande Valley Old Timers group. She would quip, "Here I am, a Yankee from up north, talking with a group like that about their history." After relocating to Waunakee, she was an active member of the First Presbyterian Church of Waunakee and a participant member of the Advisory Council for Elder Care of Wisconsin.

She was preceded in death by her husband Arnold and sons Daniel and John. She is survived by sons David (Elaine) in Lynnwood, Washington, William (Suzanna) in Elon, North Carolina, and James (Susan) in Madison, Wisconsin, and by grandson Carl (Amber) and great-grandchildren William and Kaytelin in Dallas, Texas, granddaughters Kathleen on active duty with the USAF in Tampa, Florida, Nancy in Austin, Texas, and Ann in Chicago.

As a committed member of the medical community, Betty has donated her body to the Mayo Clinic Department of Anatomy, where she hopes to continue her legacy of inspiration and to help others aspiring to higher medical education.

Combined Eastern Star and memorial services were held at the First Presbyterian Church of Waunakee, 5763 County Road Q, on Saturday, May 10th, 2008 at 10:00am.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be sent to the University of Wisconsin Foundation, School of Nursing, US Bank Lockbox, PO Box 78807, Milwaukee WI 53278-0807. Please indicate your gift is in memory of Elizabeth Mae Cutsforth Meilahn, to be deposited into the UW Nurses Alumni Organization Scholarship Fund.

Who was your childhood imaginary friend?

He was the pal who got you in trouble and the one who caught the blame for all your mischief. He rode in the seat next to you and shared your bed. If you had a really good imagination, you made your Mom set a place at the table for her, or you warned Dad not to sit on your buddy.

In the new book "Island of Lost Girls" by Jennifer McMahon, everybody thought Peter Rabbit was a make-believe friend to little girls in town. But the abduction wasn't so imaginary.

Suzy knew she wasn't supposed to play in the car, but it really wasn't a car. It was a submarine or anything she wanted it to be. It was also fun, until the policemen came and found a body in the woodpile next to the old wreck.

Across town, Rhonda Farr was dealing with a mess. A few days before, Rhonda was gassing up at Pat's Mini Mart when she saw a big white rabbit snatch little Ernie Florucci from the back of Ernie's mother's car. Trudy Florucci blamed Rhonda for not saving Ernestine, but Rhonda had witnessed the abduction in a daze, remembering.

Years ago, Rhonda's best friends, Lizzy and Peter, lived next door. Every holiday was spent together because the kids' fathers had been best friends, too. Once, Peter and Lizzy's father, Daniel, dressed up as a huge white rabbit for Easter.

And then Daniel and Lizzy disappeared.

It happened at the end of the summer, the year Peter directed Peter Pan. All the lake kids were in the play, Rhonda was "Wendy", and Peter wore a hand-made costume with felt leaves. The kids dug a trench behind the stage their fathers made for them. It was the perfect place to change costumes, and the place where Peter kissed Rhonda. He was 14, she was eleven.

Daniel disappeared after that, and nothing was ever the same. Peter fell in love with Tock, Rhonda went to school, Lizzy was gone and now, so was Ernestine Florucci. Everybody thought Peter did it, but Rhonda knew better.

Peter was one of the good guys. Or was that just her imagination?

Three words best describe this book: creepy.

Creepy.

And creepy.

"Island of Lost Girls" is one of those books that makes you squirm from about the fourth page, all the way to the end. Author Jennifer McMahon kept me up til 3am two nights running; first, because I couldn't put this book down, and second, because I couldn't put it out of my mind. One is never sure if Rhonda's recollections are true memories or something her brain concocted to protect her from herself, and you don't positively know if the other characters are nasty or just seem so because Rhonda has you believing they are.

Fans of suspense, mystery buffs, psychological thriller readers, and lovers of unsettling novels will truly enjoy this book. "Island of Lost Girls" is a sure treat for any reader's imagination.

Samuelson Sez A View from the Air

It is a Cessna 210, single-engine airplane that has been officially dubbed "Air Orion". For the past 24 years I have spent many hours with my pilot in that airplane traveling thousands of miles to cover agricultural events all across the nation.

I thoroughly enjoy looking at America's farmland from the air because it is so very revealing in so many ways. The past two weeks I have taken three trips in the airplane; most recently, a trip from Chicago to Cedar Rapids, Iowa a week ago. We flew at 1,800 feet because, I told my pilot, I wanted to fly low enough to see what kind of seed corn farmers were planting. I couldn't see that, of course, but I did see a lot of corn being planted across that part of America's heartland.

It always amazes me as I look down at some of the richest farm land in the world, stretching from horizon to horizon as far as my eyes can see and I marvel at the fact that we have people and machines that will turn this now-barren land into productive fields. It also takes me back to the food vs. fuel argument that gets more attention in national media every day from writers and commentators who love to blame ethanol alone for higher food prices. It just reinforces my belief that the price of crude oil is far and away the main factor in the complex arena of food pricing.

To the critics who give the oil industry a free ride, I would point out that those fields below Air Orion will need to be tilled, fertilized planted and harvested before they produce food. Each of those four trips will burn billions of gallons of expensive diesel fuel; and I would also remind them the fertilizer is petroleum-based and nearly double in price compared to last year. Oh, and don't forget it takes a minimum of six different truck rides to get the product from the farm to the dinner table, again burning a lot of expensive crude oil product. Then add this to the mix; look at first-quarter profit reports... No. 2 ethanol producer ADM - $517-million; world's three largest oil companies...BP, Shell and Exxon - combined profit of $25-Billion. I rest my case!

Now, back to the plane ride...the fields I flew over last week were brown or black and barren, but in a matter of weeks they will be bright green with very little soil showing between the rows and in a matter of months they will turn golden, as we harvest food from those fields to feed a hungry world. It is a miracle that takes place every year in this country, and I do hope that sometime this spring in that tractor cab you can take a moment to think about what you are doing to feed hungry people around the world. My final thought, if you have the opportunity sometime this summer, take a plane ride and look at your farm from the air; I think you will be pleasantly surprised.

My thoughts on Samuelson Sez.

Greater Milwaukee Foundation grants over $52,000 to county nonprofits

The Greater Milwaukee Foundation Board and boards of supporting organizations approved $52,129 in grants to Washington County nonprofits in the first quarter of 2008. Grants from donor advised and designated funds accounted for $48,880.

Some of the Washington County nonprofit agencies receiving supporting organization grants include: West Bend Education Fund ($10,000); Volunteer Center of Washington County ($9,500); Ozaukee Washington Land Trust ($5,000), Schauer Arts and Activities Center ($5,000) and Synergy Health Foundation ($5,000).

The Greater Milwaukee

Foundation is a family of nearly 1,000 charitable funds, each created by donors to serve the charitable causes of their choice. Grants from these funds serve people throughout Milwaukee, Washington, Waukesha and Ozaukee counties. Started in 1915, the Foundation is one of the oldest and largest community foundations in the world with assets of $543 million.

Hunting a delicacy...No guarantees in morel mushroom search

Gary Dresen of Cassville surveys a big spread of morel mushrooms he found growing this week on the south facing forest floor near a dead elm tree.

To a rookie "moreller", it would seem that the search for the wild mushroom would progress slowly, with eyes locked on the forest floor. Gary Dresen of Cassville though, worked May 15 through the new vegetation of spring in sloping bluff country near the Mississippi River scanning far ahead, and up.

"Dead elms are a major trigger for morel mushrooms," Dresen said. "I'm looking for dead trees. A white elm that has recently died with the bark still on but starting to come off is often very good. When I find one, then I search the ground. From everything I've read the spore underneath the bark falls on the ground, winter passes and then if spring conditions including rain, temperature and soil are just right, you can find morels."

The exact science of conditions conducive to morel growth is so elusive that the mushrooms could not be grown commercially with any consistency until recently, despite the motivation of market demand driving prices as high as $15 to $20 per pound in Wisconsin farmer's markets, according to a UW-Lacrosse internet site (information below). The masses of people throughout Wisconsin like Gary and Deb Dresen who search for morels simply as hobby and table fare find the process similarly inexact.

"When wild plum trees start blooming and when lilac flowers are starting to die I start searching for morels on south facing hillsides first," Dresen said. "Morels seem to come all at once, and then that's it. Sometimes they're very difficult to find."

In many ways, the intangible benefits found in a search for the morel mushroom in April and May is like any other "hunt"; anticipation of being able to participate again following long months of inactivity; the challenge of knowing where to locate the morel with the very real chance of failure regardless of that knowledge, and if the hunt is successful, the guarantee of sitting down to enjoy the fruit of the harvest.

Professor Thomas Volk of the Department of Biology at UW-Lacrosse a widely recognized expert on the wild mushroom, considers the morel "one of the most prized and delicious mushrooms". The challenge and satisfaction found in the morel search is captured in his website at http://botit.botany.wisc.edu/toms_fungi/morel.html.

"It is possible that if one finds some dead elm trees, old apple orchards, black cherry or the results of a previous year's fire, and if there has been enough rain and if the temperature is neither too hot nor too cold and if the winter has been neither too mild nor too severe and if one happens to be in the right place at the right time, one may also find morels," he states.

"It is not easy to predict in advance of a hunt whether there will be some morels found in a particular spot, even in a known 'morel spot.' The thrill of the hunt is precisely what makes morelling so exciting...and often so frustrating."

"I thought it was hopeless," Dresen said Sunday afternoon as we pulled back vegetation to reveal scores of morels near the base of a large dead white elm. "Early in April we had 70 degree temperatures and I thought it was going to be an excellent year for morels. Then we had snow and cold, I wasn't finding anything and now the foliage is getting thick. I told you to stay home. Then I found these."

Our hunt on the Dresen 300 acre farm would ultimately find success in several locations, all initiated by dead elms. The treasures would range from numerous morels to just a single mushroom. Go figure. On second thought, don't even try.

In the family home our search concluded in the kitchen. Gary washed morel mushrooms and dropped the split halves to simply simmer in a skillet of melted butter. An extraordinary, unique aroma soon told a first time morel hunter why so many Wisconsin residents have one more reason to look forward to spring.

"Gary, there are poisonous mushrooms in Wisconsin too, right?" I asked.

"There are wild mushrooms in Wisconsin that can drop you over dead," he replied. "There are distinct differences. Deb and I have both been doing this since we were very young. These are morel mushrooms and safe."

"You know, I don't think I'll be very hungry until about an hour after I see you eat one," I said.

In reality, the morel mushroom feast Sunday was just that. May all your Wisconsin hunts end as fine.

MORE MOREL MURMURINGS

According to Botanist Kelly Kearns of the Department of Natural Resources in a telephone interview last week, the wild morel mushroom is native to Wisconsin and was probably sought for food here even by the earliest settlers. The morel, like other mushrooms she said, is not a plant but a fungi with a fruiting structure defined as a spore and not a seed.

"A spore is like a seed but much simpler," she said. "A spore has no protective seed coat; it's a little packet of DNA that goes out ready to germinate as soon as it hits the proper environment."

Classic habitat for the finicky morel, she said, is a hardwood forest with healthy and not evasive species, good leaf litter and good organic soil. "The ground generally feels spongy," Kearns said. "Morels like moist area with high organic matter. But morels are also being found more recently on the prairie, probably in micro-environments within that habitat."

Kearns said that the morel mushroom is delicious. A rule of thumb for morel hunters, she said, is that the spring search begins "when the oak leaves are the size of squirrel's ears." If you do enjoy the morel, eatable fungus is also available in Wisconsin during the fall months.

"But absolutely a lot of fungus is poisonous," she said. "Some are poisonous depending on what you eat with it."

There is a fungi that is deadly if mixed with alcohol. Go out first with someone experienced in searching for morel mushrooms."

SUGGESTED WEBSITES

Readers:

If you intend to morel hunt, may I suggest two websites. First, http://botit.botany.wisc.edu/toms_fungi/morel.html is a very interesting website for novice and expert alike written by a Botanist Tom Volk at UW-Lacrosse. Also, www.morels.com has a Wisconsin message board. In the past few days, messages have been posted from morel hunters in Iowa County, Wauzeka, Green Bay, River Falls, Price and St. Croix Counties, Washington County, Janesville, Dundee, Sheboygan, Dousman, Milwaukee, Milton, "Up North", Madison, Potosi, Mosinee, Appleton, Menominee, Marshfield, Eau Claire, Wisconsin Dells, Oshkosh, Chilton, Waukesha, West Bend, Richland Center and Lacrosse.

Tennis team faces top three teams in EWC

By Nathan Kenworthy
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum Indians boys' tennis team played the top three teams in the EWC (Eastern Wisconsin Conference) this past week, and it was a "rough week" as Coach Dan Ross put it.

On Monday, May 5, the Indians hosted Waupun at Kiwanis Park. Senior Chris Larson (#2 singles) was the only winner from Kewaskum on the day. Ross said, "he handled his guy quite easily in two sets. He actually won 10 games in a row. (That) could be an important win for him, as Waupun is in our sub-sectional and will be one of the top teams. For seeding purposes, he is helping himself immensely if he can continue winning."

Ross did change the doubles partners around, and they looked better than they had the past few weeks. The Indians lost 6-1.

The following day, the Indians traveled to Kohler where they had the "strongest singles lineup I had seen all year," stated Ross.

Senior Chris Larson, number two singles, was the lone Kewaskum winner in the contest against Waupun. Statesman photo: Kyle Wagner

He continued "I feel that our singles players are pretty competitive, but Kohlers' were at another level. There is a reason that they are ranked in the top 10 in the state as a team. We did pull out a win at #2 doubles (Ryan Gibson and TJ Corey). This was part of the new doubles alignment, and they looked very good together."

The duo (Gibson-Corey) lost the first set after being up 5-2. However, they showed great determination by winning the second set. Ross was impressed with the win because "it would have been easy to fold after losing a big lead." They then went on to win a third set tie-breaker to be the only victory for the Indians.

Kohler won the event, 6-1.

The Plymouth Panthers hosted the Indians on Thursday, May 6 at Plymouth High School. Ross considers Plymouth to be the best top-to-bottom team in the conference. The standings also stand behind Ross' beliefs.

There the Indians suffered a 0-7 defeat.

Ross said "nothing was particularly close. Junior Nathan Bandy was able to take his guy into a tiebreaker in the second set at #4 singles.

The Indians have a conference quad on Saturday, May 17 at Roncalli.

Indian kickers finish week strong in preparation for regionals

By Nathan Kenworthy
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum Indians girls' soccer team traveled to New Holstein on Monday, May 5 for their first look at the Huskies this season.

"They jumped out on us early and are a very talented team. Our girls put forth a lot of effort, but their pure talent outweighed us," said Coach Amy Piwoni.

The Huskies are tied for first in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC). The Indians did have some offensive opportunities, presented mainly from midfielder Christine Bohn. Piwoni said "she had a great game on the outside mid."

The Indians were unable to convert the five shots they had on goal. The halftime score was 5-0 in favor of the host Huskies. However, Piwoni was encouraged with the Indians performance in the second half; they were able to contain New Holstein to only two more goals.

The Huskies won the game 7-0. Senior Julie Sargent had 13 saves in goal. Piwoni said "Lindy Taylor played tough for us at the sweeper spot. Elissa Miller and Jenna Buker are working well together in the midfield."

The Indians carried the energy and effort of the second half of the New Holstein game to the first half of the home game against Sheboygan Falls on Tuesday, May 6.

Piwoni described the play of the Indians as "exceptional" in the first half. Falls was held off the board until midway through the first half. The Indians were able to get shots on goal, but none were able to reach the back of the net. Sargent made some great saves and finished the game with 15.

Piwoni believed the Indians surprised

Falls with their play during the start of the game, but, great teams are hardly ever contained for an entire game. Falls showed their power in the second half as they scored five times. "They made some adjustments at half-time and took it to us," said Piwoni.

They were successful with their passing and kept the Indians chasing the ball rather than playing defense. Piwoni was disappointed with the meltdown in the second half. The final score was 6-0.

The Indians came out slow in their next game at home against Two Rivers, but Piwoni saw the energy level rise up after Jenna Buker headed in a corner kick from Elissa Miller.

The Indians had 17 shots on goal, while holding Rivers to only five. The first half finished with the Indians leading Two Rivers 1-0. Kewaskum scored again early in the second half from another Buker goal when given a great pass from Bohn.

The third goal came from a Nicole Meyer breakaway in the final ten minutes of the game. Piwoni felt that the team's intensity was great. "We looked like we were enjoying ourselves out there. We were passing the ball around and giving ourselves numerous looks at the goal. I thought the girls played their first complete game in a while. Hopefully this trend catches on and we continue to build from this victory," Piwoni stated.

The Indians walked away with a 3-0 victory.

The Indians next play against Campbellsport today (Thursday) at home at 4:30 pm. They then play on Friday night at home against New Holstein again at 4:30. They then finish up the regular season on Monday, May 19 at Kiel.

Softball team in need of runs

By Nathan Kenworthy
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum Indians girls' softball team has been playing good defense and out hitting their opponents. However, those hits have not turned into many scores.

On Monday, May 5, the Indians visited the Plymouth Panthers. The Indians only mustered up one hit, which led to the lone Indian run in a 2-1 loss.

The following night, the Indians played "very well" according to Coach Jeff Gosse, and out hit host Waupun. "We played pretty good defense but couldn't get any timely hitting to bring in any runs," said Gosse.

Senior Megan Rinzel led the team with two hits. The Indians lost 2-0.

On Saturday, May 10, the Indians made the short trip to West Bend where they faced the East Suns who entered the game in third place in the Wisconsin Little Ten Conference. The WLT is division one as well, so the Indians knew that they would have to be on top of their game to beat the Suns.

East "hit the ball very hard and hit well as an entire team," said Gosse. The Indians also hit well but could not match the firepower of East. Erika Heberer was 2 for 2 and Brandi Wagner was 2 for 4.

The Indians play their WIAA regional game this Thursday. Gosse believes "we need to get back into our game and have timely hitting (to win)."

Brettingen back under center, this time for the Wisconsin Warriors

Former Kewaskum High School athlete Stef Brettingen, above, is currently playing in a Women's Professional Football League.

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

It makes quite an interesting trivia question.

Which former Kewaskum High athlete sells cars for Russ Darrow in West Bend and is a starting quarterback on a football team based in Kenosha.

It can't be Travis Kempf. He's currently playing baseball at UW-Stevens Point.

Is it Ryan Koepke? No. How about Chad Pivoni? Try again. How about Christopher Koth? Wrong again.

The answer is Stef Brettingen, who played several games with the Toledo Spitfire back in 2003, then got the urge again this year after going with her dad, Jeff, to watch a women's team from Milwaukee play.

"They were playing the Spitfire," Brettingen said. "I have followed them every since."

Brettingen admitted after watching the women's football game she got the itch again. "Yup, I figured I better do it while I'm young, while I still can," she said.

Tryouts for the Wisconsin Warriors were held in December, according to Brettingen, who said, "We've been practicing since January."

"There were a good 40 people originally," Brettingen said. "They kept a lot of them, but we're down to about 25 now," and she's the starting quarterback ahead of Lonnie Christianson, who is from Brown Deer.

Currently, the Warriors are 1-2, with a 30-7 victory over the Iowa Crush and close losses against the Wisconsin Wolves (13-16) and an undefeated team from Chicago (14-26).

Brettingen said the Warriors play in the IWFL (Independent Women's Football League.) "I think there are about 40 teams, competing in nine divisions.

The Warriors had a good start, with the 30-point offensive effort against Iowa. "I had one touchdown pass," Brettingen said, but she wasn't sure how many yards she threw for.

Brettingen also had a TD pass in the loss to Madison, but she admitted her team had trouble moving the ball against Chicago.

Madison had a good defense, according to the 24-year old signal caller, who said her team got the ball for one final possession in the closing minutes, but the drive stalled before reaching its own 30-yard line.

"We had a couple of problems in that (Chicago) game ... and they are not the nicest team," Brettingen said, reporting the Warriors got both its scores defensively. "Our offense got shut down."

Brettingen, who lives in West Bend, does quite a bit of traveling in order to play for the Warriors. "We practice twice a week, on Mondays and Wednesday," she said, indicating there is also a walk through once a week. The team practices at Mount Mary College in Milwaukee. Although the school does not have a football field, it does have a nice wide open area which is perfect for practicing football.

The Warriors coach is Darrell Lofton, who is in his first year working with a women's team but has been playing and coaching football for 24 years.

Most of the players are from Milwaukee and Kenosha, but, "There is a girl from Green Bay on the team," Brettingen said, adding, this team and league play at a higher level than the Spitfire, and, "It's definitely a lot more organized."

The team still has four games remaining on its schedule: May 17 at Chicago, May 31st home against Columbus (Ohio), June 7 home against Clarksville, Tenn.; and June 14 at Detroit.

The home games are played at 7 p.m. on Ameche Field at Tremper High School.

After the regular season, there are playoffs, and the Warriors are still hoping they will qualify for the second season. "We've been changing up our players," Brettingen said, indicating there is plenty of talent, starting with Milwaukee receiver Sheri Biek, who has excellent speed, and Abbey Coons, another end.

As far as her own play, Brettingen, who has been selling cars for three years, said, "I've been working on getting my footwork down. That is really hard."

A's pitchers continue to shine

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Rain wiped out Sunday's scheduled Rock River League game between the Kewaskum Athletics and Horicon, just a couple days after the A's extended their early-season win streak to three with a thrilling 4-1 victory over Mayville.

Kewaskum was outthit by the Mallards, five to four, but the A's were able to put several of their hits together for a rally in the top of the first inning and took advantage of an opportunity in the fourth to add an insurance run which helped them secure the Tri-County Nite League victory.

Ty Schill led off the game with a single and promptly stole second and third, eventually scoring on a one-out double by Steve Ketter.

Player/manager Jason Strobel followed with an RBI triple to deep right-center field and Adam Martz's ground ball to second allowed Strobel to score, giving the A's a 3-0 lead.

In the fourth inning, Strobel and Martz drew back-to-back walks, and both advanced on a bunt. Two on and in scoring position with no outs, but the best the A's could do was add a single run on Matt Parrent's ground out.

Kewaskum had just one hit after the first inning, but luckily pitchers Mitch Huffman and Cory Tjader were downright stingy on the mound. The two sparkled, with Huffman giving up just three hits in six innings of work. He allowed no runs and struck out four Mallards, while walking two.

Tjader came on to work the last three innings, giving up a leadoff home run in the seventh, then bearing down to hold the Mallards scoreless the rest of the way. He earned the save.

With the victory, Kewaskum continues its great start. This Friday night, the A's have a date at Pardeeville in Tri-County Nite League action starting at 7:30 p.m.

The A's open their 2008 home season on Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. with Hustisford coming to the Kewaskum Kiwanis Park for a Rock River game at 1:30 p.m.

"Hopefully our fan base will begin to build this season, starting with the first game," Jim Ziegler, team spokesperson said. Ziegler also reported the high school players who played with the A's for these early games will be joining their prep teams this week, "but the remaining players we had in college will all be back for Friday's game."

KHS boys record three firsts in conference relays

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

It wouldn't take three guesses to figure which areas the Kewaskum High boys' track team was strong in at the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Relays held in Campbellsport last Tuesday night.

As has been the case all season long, the shot putters, discus throwers and pole vaulters were very impressive, and all three were victorious in their events, the discus throwers most impressive of them all. They helped the Indians to a fourth place with 73 points.

A lack of depth in the running events hampered Kewaskum, while Kiel, scoring in every event but the pole vault — the school in Kiel does not have a pole vault pit — claimed the team title with 95 points, followed by Two Rivers with 81 and Plymouth with 79.

Seniors Ben Boettcher and Tyler Swanson, along with freshman Josh Boettcher, combined for a total of 389 feet and 3 inches (389-3).

Ben Boettcher had the best toss of the night. It sailed 154 feet and 9 inches (154-9), while Swanson was next at 133-8, and the younger Boettcher hit a mark of 100-10.

Boettcher also had a good effort in the shot put, and KHS coach Jerry Gosa has been waiting for this to happen. After starting strong, then hitting a plateau in the 43-, 44-foot range, Boettcher let loose with a toss of 45-11.75, and Swanson wasn't far behind at 43-8.75.

In the pole vault, Jake Dickmann had an excellent afternoon, sailing over the bar at 12-6, with Kevin Schellinger next at 11-0 and Dan Treptow 9-6.

In addition to their victories, the Indians had a pair of second places, one third and five fourths.

The sprint medley foursome of Dan Dymond, Nick Olla, Matt Donath and Scott Steldt combined for a time of 3 minutes, 52.79 (3:52.79) 3.97 seconds behind the winning Plymouth team.

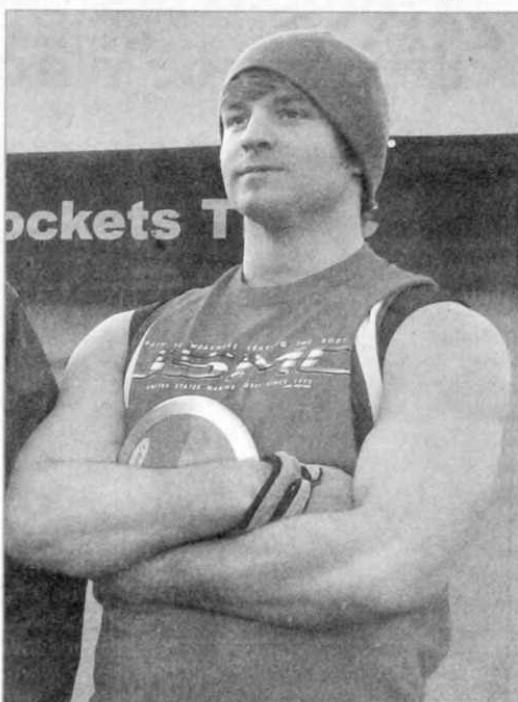

In the high jump, the KHS trio of Dickmann, Dymond and Olla posted a total of 16-8, four inches behind Kiel. Dickmann made a height of 5-10, followed by Dymond's 5-6 and a 5-4 by Olla.

The 4x400-meter relay quartet (Dymond, Jon Komp, Zach Amerling and Zach Herriges, had a clocking of 3:39.12, which was good for third in the event.

The fourths came in the following: 800 meter relay (Komp, Amerling, Dylan Kenworthy and Eric Turowski), 1:41.25; 4x100 relay (Turowski, Donath, Amerling, Olla), 46.40; 4x200 relay (Komp, Amerling, Kenworthy, Donath), 1:38.34; Long jump (Steldt, Amerling, Turowski), 51-4; and Triple Jump (Turowski, Brandon Zolp and Dickmann), 105-10.

Turowski had the best long jump of the three, going 17-9, while Dickmann had the best triple jump, which measured 35-9.5.

Gosa was excited to see what his athletes would do in the EWC Track and Field Championships at Plymouth on Tuesday (May 13).

Shown above is Ben Boettcher holding his favorite discus, which he has affectionately named "Karen". It is the one he's throwing the best with this year. Submitted photo

Kempf helps Pointers to WIAC baseball title

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

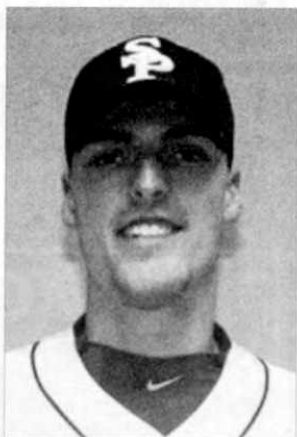

Travis Kempf and the UW-Stevens Point baseball team are on their way to the NCAA Division III regionals!

According to information from the school's web site, the former Kewaskum High standout athlete helped the 23rd-ranked Pointers to a 7-5 victory over UW-Whitewater in the weekend WIAC (Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) Tournament held at Witter Field in Wisconsin Rapids.

Then on Saturday, they defeated 8th-ranked Warhawks again, this time by a score of 3-0 to secure the tournament title for the seventh time in the 11-year history of the event.

Travis Kempf, currently a senior, improved to 6-0 as he struck out three and scattered five hits in earning the win in Friday's contest.

Brad Frank was 2-for-3

Travis Kempf

with two RBIs to lead the Stevens Point offense.

In the title game, Garrett Nix, a junior from Osseo-Fairchild struck out nine and allowed just four hits in the victory. Doug Coe went 2x4, blasted a home run and had a pair of RBIs (runs batted in) to lead the Pointer offense.

Stevens Point opened the tournament with a 10-0 shut-out win over 10th-ranked UW-Oshkosh on Friday afternoon. The Pointers came up with three home runs in the game, including a 3-run shot by Doug Coe in the top of the third inning.

With their three victories in the double elimination tournament, Stevens Point improved to 28-14. The Pointers became the first third-seeded team to win the WIAC title.

The regionals were set to begin yesterday, May 14th.

Big schools take top spots

Smack dab in the middle. That's where the Kewaskum High golf team finished May 2nd in the annual Port Washington Invitational held at the Hawthorne Hills Golf Course, and considering several of the teams in the field, this was quite respectable for the Indian linksters.

Brookfield Central claimed the team title and had plenty of room to spare ahead of runner-up Menomonee Falls. The Lancers came in with a total of 387 strokes from their five players, while the Indians were next with 407.

Grafton placed third at 409, and rounding out the top five were the host Pirates at 424 and West Allis Hale at 436.

In sixth place was Nicolet with a 439, then came Kewaskum at 441. The remainder of the field was as follows: Brown Deer, 447; Pewaukee, 450; a tie between Brookfield East and West Allis Central at 451; Germantown, 458; Shore-wood, 505; and St. Francis, 534.

Brookfield Central had three players among the top five but none of them could wrestle the medal away from Grafton's Wes Wahlberg, who carded a 2-over-par 74 on the day. Brad Jakubowski of Central was next with a 76.

For the Indians, it was Paul Marchant leading the way with a 40-44-84, then came Ethan Geidel, who carded a 42-43-85; and Nick Gutbrod, 44-42-86.

Rounding out the scoring were John Holt and Jeremy Neuenfeld with 91 and 95, respectively.

In this competition, all five scores count.

"Obviously the scores in the nineties didn't help us," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said, adding, "Ethan and Nick didn't shoot very well. Last year in the regional there, they shot seventy five and seventy seven."

Still Eichstedt said this is a good tournament for his team because it includes some good Division 1 teams and also a couple strong Division 2 teams.

Lady Indians sprint, jump, hurdle their way to EWC relay title

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Plymouth may have been the favorite, but the Kewaskum High girls' track team came away with the big prize in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Relays last Tuesday at Campbellsport.

The Lady Indians won five events, piling up 103 points to end up with a 10-point cushion on the Panthers in what was essentially a two-team race.

Two Rivers, normally one of the powers in the EWC, finished third with 77 points, just ahead of Sheboygan Falls, 71.

Rounding out the scoring were: Waupun, 46; New Holstein, 30; Kiel and Campbellsport, with 13 apiece.

The victory was fourth of the season for Kewaskum, which also captured titles at the Kewaskum Indian Invitational, the Washington County Indoor Meet and led the Pewaukee Altheimer competition when it was called with three events to go.

KHS coach Jerry Gosa said his team had enough depth in certain events to surpass the Panthers, "but in the conference meet next week Plymouth is going to give us fits," especially in the distance races.

While they weren't able to dip under the one minute and 50 seconds mark (1:50) again, the foursome of Haley Gregoriou, Jessie Liniewski, Nichole Kison and Kelly Uelmen raced to a time of 1:50.6 to win the 4x200-meter relay by a full three seconds.

The 4x100 unit was equally as successful, winning in 51.87, with a 1.15 second lead on runner-up, Sheboygan Falls. Members of that group were Jessi Forbes, Liniewski, Kison and Uelmen.

The threesome of Gregoriou, Liz Potter and Grace Pok won the 900 hurdles with a time of 1:58.33. Gregoriou had the best time of the three with her 50.37, just ahead of Potter's 52.35, then came Pok in 55.61.

The sprint medley team was also the best of the EWC bunch, and this win was by an impressive 10 seconds. Taking home the win were Liniewski, Forbes, Uelmen and Kison.

And finally the high jump team was also No. 1 on the day. Candace Beine cleared 5 feet, 0 inches (5-0), and Liniewski had another good day in the event, going over 4-10. Then came Georgianna Abfall going 4-6.

For the day, Liniewski captured four first places, while Uelmen and Kison were in on three victorious teams.

"Well, she's (Liniewski) a talented athlete. She's a good sprinter, and in a relay meet like this, there are three events that cater to good sprinter like her or Kison or Kelly (Uelmen)," Gosa said.

The KHS coach also cited Kison for her efforts, stating, "She ran a real nice 400 leg in the sprint medley."

Long jumpers Kison, Heather Schmitt and Karla Stoffel combined for a 39-1.25. No information was available on the individual jumpers.

The distance runners also helped out with a third place (six points) in the 4,800-meter relay. Tonya Janssen, Crystal Lepp, and Helen Schoenborn were clocked in a composite 19:05.45.

There were three other third places. They included: 300-hurdles, Alissa Clapper, Gregoriou and Potter, 59.99; 3,200-meter relay, Schmitt, Beine, Bryana Keller, Stephanie Abranovich, 10:54.3; and discus Lacy Taylor, Georgianna Abfall and Amanda Meyer, 260-0.

The best individual effort among the Indians was the 101-6 by Taylor, her personal best.

Kewaskum was at Plymouth May 13 for the annual EWC Track and Field Championships. Field events get started at 3 p.m. Lomira hosts the Division 2 regionals the Indians are in on Tuesday, May 20th, and the top finishers there advance to the WIAA Division 2 sectional at Kewaskum.

Panther golfers are on top again

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

It's just very difficult to find a chink in the armor of the Plymouth High golf team.

Playing on the Fox Hills National course near Two Rivers, the Panthers won their fifth Eastern Wisconsin Conference mini-tour event last Thursday, posting a 163 for its low four players.

Plymouth's Corey Rhyon captured the medal with a 1-over-par 37, and he also is the leader in the race for the EWC medal. Another of the Panthers, Jon Criter, carded a 40 to finish fourth, and their two other counters posted scores of 42 and 44.

The host Raiders, currently in sixth place in the standings, soared to second place on its home course with a 172, a stroke ahead of Kewaskum.

Once again the Indians were led by talented junior Ethan Geidel who carded a 40. Three players were tied with 40s for the second spot, but Geidel slipped to third based on a tie-breaker via the scorecard.

Nick Gutbrod's 41 just missed a top-five berth, but from there the scores jumped to a 45 and 47 by John Beiswenger and John Holt.

Sheboygan Falls helped the Indians out by taking fourth place with 180 and finishing ahead of Waupun (5th, 181), and Campbellsport (7th, 183), who were the closest to them in the battle for second place.

In the battle for the medal, Rhyon has 37 points, while Geidel, who won the honor in 2007, is tied for second with Criter and Kiel's Zack Matznick.

Gutbrod is currently sitting in a tie for No. 5 with two other players who all have 41 points.

With this meet, Plymouth has just seven points, while the Indians have 20, Waupun 23 and Campbellsport 26.

"We improved our status in the E.W.C. by increasing the points difference between us and third-place Waupun to three (points) with one mini-tour meet remaining," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said, indicating his team will host the 18-hole tournament on May 16 and are hoping to "confidently challenge the field with some obvious home-cooking advantages."

Indians fall back after sixth place finish

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Even though they will host the Eastern Wisconsin Conference tournament on Friday (May 16), chances of the Kewaskum Indian golfers winning the 2008 team title are pretty well out of the question.

After winning the meet at New Holstein, Kewaskum took a dip last Monday at Waupun, finishing fourth and falling 11 points behind league-leading and defending champion Plymouth.

Playing on the home course (Rock River Country Club) of the conference newcomer, Waupun, Plymouth won the meet with a 155 total, thanks to a sizzling 2-under-par 34 by Tyler Feldman. His teammates posted scores of 40, 40 and 41.

Finishing 14 shots behind the Panthers was host Waupun at 169, one shot ahead of Kiel. Then came Kewaskum at 178, followed by Campbellsport and Sheboygan Falls 178; Two Rivers, 183; and New Holstein, 195. Campbellsport earned fifth place on the basis of the scored posted by the fifth players.

Kewaskum had its Nos. 1 and 2 men finish among the top five. Junior Ethan Geidel carded an even par 36, and Nick Gutbrod, also a junior, came in with a 39 and lost the fourth spot on the tiebreaker, the score on the sixth hole.

KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt reported senior John Holt, who just moved up to the varsity, a couple weeks ago, shot a respectable 45, "but we were unable to muster a fourth individual score under 50," which, he said, still would not have been enough to displace the Panthers.

Paul Marchant's 51 was the fourth counter. Jeremy Neuenfeld struggled and had to settle for a 54, which did not count.

Campbellsport was paced by Taylor Pelot's 43.
