Memorial Day assemblies planned in Kewaskum, Farmington

The annual observance of Memorial Day reminds us of the support we owe to hundreds of thousands of soldiers wounded or killed while defending our country. The Kewaskum American Legion Post along with the Farmington Historical Society has assemblies planned for Monday.

The Robert G. Romaine Post No. 384 will hold their annual Memorial Day parade and ceremonial program in Kewaskum on Monday. The parade will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will start at Kewaskum High School. It will then travel south down Parkview Drive, west on Main Street and north on Fond du Lac Avenue, ending at the American Legion Clubhouse.

All Legionnaires, fire department members, youth groups and civic organizations are invited to participate in the parade. Anyone taking part are asked to meet at the high school at 9:15 a.m.

Township again denies Stern permit

By Mitch Maersch
For The Statesman

TOWN OF KEWASKUM- The Town Board has again denied a conditional use permit for Don and Sandra Stern to run a salvage yard on their East Moraine Drive property. The action was taken during the town's monthly meeting held Monday, May 18.

Town Chairman Ellis Kahn said reasons for consistent denials for the permit include the property not being cleaned up after several extensions were given and outstanding invoices totaling in the $12,000 range.

The Plan Commission last month denied the plan on a 6-1 vote. Monday's Town Board vote was 3-0.

The issue dates back to November 2007 when the town approved a conditional use permit. It revoked it on Dec. 15, 2008.

Sandra Stern said she came to the meeting to discuss the viability of the permit and their site plan, not history. She said they have a four-tiered plan they could afford. She said the zoning administrator said the plan is allowable according to town code.

Sandra said they have taken a loss to hire a contractor to move 100 cars and two buses to get them out of the view of neighbors who have complained.

Attorney James Danaher confirmed the plan is allowable in the zoning district and said the town is not against the plan.

"It's the issue of complying with the conditions of the first conditional use permit," he said.

Because conditions of that first permit were not met - triggering litigation by the town - the town does not want to approve a new permit, he said.

Town resident and former Supervisor Ellen Dettwiler spoke in favor of allowing the permit. She asked the board to forget about history and consider what having a salvage yard would mean for the town.

Supervisor Allen Hron said the Sterns were told up front years ago to get in compliance with town code, and "they defied us." The property continues to be out of compliance, he said.

The Town Board on Feb. 16 approved giving the Sterns until March 1 to get a signed contract from a state licensed recycler, give a copy to the town and clean up the property by May 1. If the town did not receive a copy of the contract, it would take court action.

The town did not receive a copy of the contract, and on March 6 the town building inspector examined the property from the roadway. The town sent a letter to the Sterns on March 18 saying they had 10 days to clean up the property. On March 30, the building inspector found the property was still not in compliance.

On March 31, court papers were filed. The Sterns had until May 3 to respond to the lawsuit. They remain in litigation facing charges of a public nuisance for junk and junked vehicles, violation of licensure code and operating a junk yard without a license.

More actions on various issues discussed and acted upon by the town board can be found on page three of this edition.

Kewaskum Dive Team called to assist in locating man in Lake Bernice

Town to look into bridge repair

By Mitch Maersch
For the Statesman

Dive team members and a deputy from the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department search for a man who was said to have entered Lake Bernice Wednesday evening and did not come back out of the water. A little over an hour from when authorities received a 911 call, the body of David Smith was found by divers. Kewaskum Fire Department's Dive Team members responded to the scene.

ELMORE (Town of Ashford)- Kewaskum Fire Department's Dive Team was one of many agencies called to Lake Bernice on Wednesday evening, May 13 to help locate a man who is said to have entered the lake and never came back out. Divers later located the body and removed it from the middle of the lake located at the corner of Elmore and Auburn-Ashford Roads.

Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Office Sergeant Ryan Waldschmidt reported that the dispatch center received a 911 call at 5:21 p.m. from a witness reporting a male had walked into Lake Bernice, went under water, and did not come back up.

Deputies responded to the lake along with dive teams from the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Office and Washington County Sheriff's Office. The Campbellsport Fire Department and EMS, along with a City of Fond du Lac Ambulance, also responded.

A Department of Natural Resources Warden responded with a patrol boat, and he and a Fond du Lac Sheriff's Office Dive Team member deployed to search the area.

Scattered showers with lightning hampered rescue efforts. At 6:09 p.m. the search was stopped due to a weather advisory. The dam on the lake was closed at 6:28 p.m. as a precaution.

At 6:47 p.m., the body of David R. Smith, 34, of Campbellsport was located by the rescuers. He was found deceased and his body was removed from the water.

Investigators from the Sheriff's Office are working with the Medical Examiner's Office on the investigation, which continues at this time.

TOWN OF KEWASKUM - The town will get a quote to put a three-foot slab to lie on bulkheads of the County Line Road Bridge. The town would rather not tear out the entire bridge, said Chairman Ellis Kahn.

The Kettle View Road Bridge will require a fieldstone retaining wall, after inspection by Washington County Engineer Scott Schmidt. Kahn said the creek is eroding the bank at the sharp turn. He said since men will have to get in the water to do the project, work will have to wait until a dry spell in summer.

Glenn Goodearle said the village of Kewaskum would like to work with the town on its new intergovernmental cooperation effort.

Goodearle attended the Kewaskum cooperation meeting along with representatives from the village, school district and town of Farmington. The school district and Farmington once worked together when a town meeting was too large to hold at the town hall. The town used Farmington Elementary instead.

The village wants to build similar cooperative partnerships with other neighboring towns, including emergency preparedness, youth sports and other events and programs.

Goodearle said the village will send the town a schedule of fine arts events at the new auditorium at the high school. Some are new programs like showing movies and performances by a new Kewaskum band.

Kahn said he is open to co-sponsoring an event with the village.

 They are the words of everyday, ordinary citizen soldiers... words sent home in letters. These letters expressed their feelings, their concerns for home and family, and their plans for the future. The letters are especially moving because they are from those who did not

A stimulus package for the average Joe from an average Joe at Rain Days

By Clark Kent
 Statesman Correspondent

Alright, maybe he's not an average Joe. Some who work with him may say he's above average, some don't, and the woman who knows said, "no comment" when we asked her. But Boltonville Fire Chief Joe Enright has a stimulus package everyone can enjoy without any red tape, pork or earmarks.

As they do every year, the firefighters in Boltonville kick off summer Memorial Day Weekend with their annual picnic in Boltonville. This year's event will take place starting Friday, May 22 and run through Sunday, May 24.

The park will open Friday evening with live music by The Toys from 8:30 until 12:30 a.m. Chippewa Rides will provide entertainment for the kids so mom and dad can have a little fun of their own.

On Saturday Copper Box will perform from 5-9 p.m. and Oil Can Harry from 8:30 until 12:30 a.m.

Food and various liquid refreshments will also be found, with all proceeds going to the Fire Department.

Sunday the ladies auxiliary will serve their delicious Turkey and Ham Dinner from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. The annual parade will step off at noon and travel through the streets of Boltonville. Those looking for a good view should arrive at least 30 minutes ahead of time.

Preparing for the last few months now, Chief Joe will put into action HIS economic stimulus plan. The plan, which has received support from both parties will give picnic goers a $1 cover to see a live performance by Pink Houses, A John Mellencamp Tribute. Once inside the tent, Chief Joe's package gets a little bit better, (again Ann would not comment on this) where you can enjoy $5.50 pitchers all night.

The Statesman's own Clark Kent has been covering this sensational news event from downtown Boltonville since Chief Joe's package was announced. He reports that Pink Houses is an 11-piece band from Madison. They've been asked to return because of their popularity with picnic partiers from 2008.

Keeping the Indian Namesake

Now is the time! In last week's paper, Irv Haugen wrote about Assembly Bill 35. This would eliminate the Indian named public funded schools' logos or mascots. WE as residents of the village of Kewaskum (who by the way was named after Chief Kewaskum who settled in this area), must step up to the plate and take a stand for the continued heritage we all are proud to be a part of. We take pride in being from Kewaskum. We take pride in being one of the graduates of Kewaskum High School, the home of our Chief Kewaskum. We wear our colors and logos proudly and with dignity to school events and activities. The heritage of Chief Kewaskum must be preserved so we can teach our children the heritage of this great Chief and commitment to his land. For his sake, we must try and continue the true tradition of the Kewaskum Indians namesake.

Let's keep the Chief Kewaskum tradition going, as you meet with other Kewaskum graduates and residents who are also interested in keeping out school district namesake: The Kewaskum (Home of the Indians) School District.

See you on Thursday, May 28 at 7 p.m. in the Kewaskum High School Library. A graduate of Kewaskum High School and Proud of it, Wendi Dreher

High speed chase takes police through 3 counties

A high speed chase began in Fond du Lac County Friday evening after a hit and run accident on Highway 41 near Highway 175 at 10:26 p.m. David McCone, 30, of Antigo is said to have side-swiped a vehicle driven by a Hartford man. The crash happened as a Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Deputy was attempting to stop the vehicle. At 10:30 p.m. the chase entered Washington County near Highway 28. Washington County Sheriff's Department Captain Steve Gónwa reported that initially three patrol cars from Fond du Lac and two from Wisconsin State Patrol met Washington County deputies in the chase when it entered Washington County. Speeds were reported to be between 90-100 as the chase ensued on Highway 41's southbound lanes. Washington County deputies set up road spikes at Highway 33 and McCone was able to drive over the spikes and the chase continued until Slinger Police deployed a second set of spikes at Highway 144 but McCone missed them. He then exited to eastbound Highway 60 and hit another set of spikes at Highway 45 and 60 that were deployed by Jackson Police but he continued on Highway 60 through Jackson until he came to Ozaukee County and turned into a road to the Five Corners Commons in Cedarburg.

After 25 years, Fr. Ed still happy to be working for God

KEWASKUM- If you would place them on a balance, the joys would far outweigh the challenges Fr. Edwin "Ed" Kornath has experienced in his 25 years as a Roman Catholic priest

During his homily at Holy Trinity and St. Michael Churches Sunday, the Silver Anniversary of his ordination, and later in an interview at the Columbian, he touched on those topics and others.

Fr. Ed points to the "simple joys," baptizing, the gift of distributing the Holy Eucharist, working with couples preparing for marriage and "listening to people's stories," are among the greatest satisfactions of his vocation, and one of those stories, which fortunately had a happy ending, is vivid in his mind.

It was about a divorced woman with children who got involved with a man and became pregnant. Out of work, the woman didn't know where to turn, and, "She didn't know if she wanted to bring the child to life," Fr. Ed said, indicating he counseled her several times, and, "About a year later, I was able to baptize that child."

Last fall, Fr. Ed thought of the woman again at the baptism of a baby girl at Holy Trinity. "The memory came back to me when Archbishop (Timothy) Dolan came to baptize Gianna," he said, referring to the adopted daughter of Chuck and Debbie Nevismal, an adoption arranged by Archbishop Dolan after the birth parents, who have several sons, including one with severe special needs, decided they could not keep her.

Both cases point out how important the gift of life is to Fr. Ed.

"It's a joy to preach the Gospel," Fr. Ed went on in counting his joys, adding, "Through my ministry, Jesus is there."

Fr. Ed also indicated he received joy "When people come to me and say, 'Oh Father, what you said, really helped me.'"

Obviously being a shepherd to several thousand people can also include challenges, and one that comes to mind is "trying to get people to know that God really loves them ... some people are still into rules and regulations (in the Church)."

He went on that when people come to know God, "They are going to be blown away by his compassion and his mercy."

Another difficulty deals with the priest shortage - the collaboration of parishes, but Fr. Ed was quick to add, "The Spirit continues to work."

One early challenge Fr. Ed faced was understanding "that God called me and wants me as His instrument." Family members and the priests at his home parish, St. Josaphat's in Milwaukee, were instrumental in planting the vocational seed and continuing to nurture it.

"I kind of date my vocation to my first Holy Communion," Fr. Ed said, going on that his grandmother played a role in developing his faith, and, certainly my parents were models for me."

While in grade school, Fr. Ed thought he might be a priest, his first two years in high school those plans leaned more toward a life as a pilot, a history teacher or a geologist, then two young priests were assigned to St. Josaphat's, and "Their enthusiasm for the faith fired me up again."

Jean Kornath, Fr. Ed's mother, was present for Sunday's celebration, and he said,

"Mom was beaming today."

Also present for Sunday's events were Fr. Ed's cousins, classmates, priest colleagues, along with people from his former parishes, and many parishioners from Holy Trinity and St. Michael, including children from Holy Trinity School.

There were five others ordained with Fr. Ed, and he said, "All are still alive, and all are still bona fide priests."

Fr. Ed feels fortunate he has always been at parishes with schools and said if he ever feels down, all he has to do is visit the kindergarten class or younger grades. "They'll get you happy real fast," he said.

Fr. Ed enjoys ministering in an area like Kewaskum and St. Michaels. I think people here try to live their faith," he said, adding, people in smaller communities tend to get to know each other and are ready and willing to help one another.

Fr. Ed praised the staff at the school and the two parishes. "The lay staff has been excellent, and I'm happy to work with Deacon Ralph (Horner), Fr. Elroy (Pesch), Fr. (Robert) Artman. They have been saviors."

The staff members feel the same about Fr. Ed. "I think Fr. Ed has been a very good boss

... he's very gracious, very appreciative of my work, and he expresses that appreciation," said Pat Geidel, who has been the secretary for Holy Trinity Parish for nearly 18 years.

Geidel also praised Fr. Ed's ministry. "To me, he follows the Bible quote in Corinthians, the one often used in weddings, "Love is patient. Love is kind, slow to anger," she said. "His homily Sunday also talked of the need for love."

Many who attend daily Masses love the way Fr. Ed teaches about the saints.

Members of the two parishes presented Fr. Ed with gifts of cash for his summer class at Loyola University and his trip to Nicaragua in the fall, along with a G.P.S. system for his car, a life preserver for his boat trip while in Nicaragua, and gift cards.

The school children had their own celebration with Fr. Ed last Wednesday during the Grandparents Day Mass. They presented him with a beautiful stole, gift cards and a book containing their individual letters to him.

And did Fr. Ed enjoy all the attention he received? "It was a beautiful, beautiful weekend," he said. "An occasion like this is real affirming. Maybe we should all affirm each other."

Vision Walk will be 'eye-opening' experience to benefit FFB

Kewaskum resident Cheri McElhatton wants to see the community well-represented at the Inaugural 5K VisionWalk in Milwaukee's Veteran's Park on Sunday, May 31. The event will support the Foundation Fighting Blindness, a cause which is very near to Cheri.

McElhatton suffers from retinitis pigmentosa (RP), a congenital degenerative eye disease that causes loss of vision or total blindness. She has been affected for most of her life, and there hadn't been much promising research and potential for a cure until recently.

That's where VisionWalk and the Foundation step in according to McElhatton. The Foundation has been part of some very exciting breakthroughs and new research which may someday soon lead to a cure for her disease and other retinal degenerative diseases that affect more than 10-million Americans.

Their national signature event, VisionWalk, is playing a big role in raising much-needed funds to support some of the country's top scientists in cutting-edge research that has led to some amazing advances within the past two years.

"I was diagnosed 30 years ago with this life-hanging disease," explains McElhatton. "In my case, it manifested itself initially as 'night blindness.' The doctors, not knowing a great deal about retinal diseases at that time, told me I would probably lose my total sight within 10-years. Well, 30 years later, I have very little central vision left in both eyes, but I am grateful because I have substantial sight compared to others with retinal degenerative disease. My hope is to maintain the vision acuity I currently have."

Cheri and her husband Tom are supporting the Foundation through VisionWalk, and she is confident that with additional funding, there is a cure in sight. As she states, "it's not only important to my family and me, but to many others and their families who are also affected by degenerative eye diseases. Retinitis pigmentosa, Usher syndrome, macular degeneration, and ALL retinal diseases benefit from FFB's work. Human clinical trials are happening now, and we are hoping for a breakthrough sooner than later."

McElhatton has formed the team Cheri's 4 Sight 4 Research 4 Ever with a hefty walk goal of $4,444.44, which she just surpassed four weeks before the walk, and is now raising to double that, at $8,888.88.

The 5K walk is a family-friendly event benefitting the Milwaukee community, and is free to anyone and everyone, including pets. There will be a bounce house and giant inflatable slide, provided by Music On the Move Plus, the largest event management company in Milwaukee. The family of owner Taj Jordan has five members affected with vision loss, and has jumped on board to provide much of the equipment to run the walk at no charge.

Other attractions include the Milwaukee band, Rumor (led by another member of the Foundation, local resident Peter Borchardt, who has RP). VisionWalk will also have fire trucks, a face painter, mascots from area sports teams, and members of the Milwaukee Iron Dance Team.

The Foundation Fighting Blindness is the world's largest private funder of research for retinal degenerative diseases, and has raised more than $350 million since its inception in 1971. The Foundation funds key research around the world that is leading to very promising treatments and cures for retinal degenerative diseases. VisionWalk is an important event that will move those affected one step closer to a cure.

If you would like to find out more about the walk, you can access through the Foundation's walk website at www.VisionWalk.org and go to the Milwaukee walk page. If you would like more information about the Foundation, and the Inaugural Milwaukee VisionWalk, please contact Events Manager Steve Sroka at (847) 680-0100, or e-mail at SSroka@FightBlindness.org.

West Bend Farmers' Market to begin June 6

WEST BEND - Downtown West Bend welcomes the 2009 Farmers' Market season, which runs June 6 through October 31. No market July 4 for the holiday.

The Farmers' Market has always been a one-stop-shop for locally grown and made products. Fresh fruits and vegetables, Door County cherries, baked goods, jams and jellies, eggs, honey, cheese are just a few of the items visitors can pick up each Saturday. Returning vendors this year will continue to add to the excitement by selling bakery goods, organic produce, homemade tortilla chips, beef and more! In addition to food items, the Farmers' Market showcases indoor and outdoor plants, wool, fresh cut flowers and other garden herbs.

This year the Farmers' Market will continue to extend all the way to the North Main Street round-about. This area of the market not only increases the span of the market by several blocks, it also increases visibility from Hwy 33—enticing even more people to check out all of the fresh products and fun activities.

There are even more activities taking place at the southern end of the market in Old Settler's Park. Here market-goers can experience live music from a variety of performers or watch an educational demonstration on artisan soap making. Musical acts, ranging from folk groups to acapella acts, will fill the air with music as shoppers make their way around the market. For a complete entertainment and demonstration schedule, visit www.downtownwestbend.com.

For the convenience of visitors, plenty of free parking is available in the parking lots along the Milwaukee River and on side streets throughout Downtown West Bend.

West Bend is located off of Hwy 45, just 45 minutes North of Milwaukee. For more information about the Downtown West Bend Farmers' Market, visit www.downtownwestbend.com or call (262) 338-3909.

World's largest human truck pull event returns to Campbellsport

What is it? Teams compete to see how far they can pull a truck while close to 1,000 of their closest family and friends cheer them on. This year the truck is sponsored by Perron Trucking. Teams are divided to 3 classes by weight. There are 3 divisions determined by total weight of team: 650lbs., 1,100lbs, or unlimited weight (up to 8 people). Men, Women, or Co-ed teams are encouraged. Teams will pull different size(or weight on) trucks so all divisions will be able to pull. So sign up for one, two, or all three weight classes. Each team is guaranteed two pulls. It's not how strong you are but how bad you want it. Creative costumes are encouraged and a Spirit Award will be given to the most energetic/creative team.

Where is it? At the Fireman's Park On North Barton

Street, Campbellsport Wisconsin. It's at the far West end of Main Street.

Who can do it? Anyone over the age of 16 (minors must have signed consent from legal guardian.) It's not how big you are, it's how bad do you want it! Pull to win, or just pull to say you did it.

Is it really the world's largest? No one has ever proven it wrong. Until we hear otherwise. Yes.

What can I win? Each division winner will be awarded $200 in chamber bucks and a large trophy. 2nd place in each division will receive $75 in chamber bucks. The Spirit Award winner will receive $50 in chamber bucks.

How much is it? There is a $75.00 entry fee. Business entries will have their logos on back of all T-shirts if business team signs up by June 24th. Local organizations, sports teams, families, friends, and businesses are encouraged to have a team. It's great exposure!

When is it? The 2009 Truck Pull V will be held July 4th at Fireman's Park in Campbellsport, Wisconsin after the 12:00 parade (approx 1:30pm).

Where can I sign up? You can sign up on-line at www.gocampbellsport.com, Culley's Bar and Grill, or Campbellsport Building Supply, both on Main Street in Campbellsport. Please have entries in by July 1, 2009. All teams that register before June 24th are guaranteed a T-shirt.

Who can I contact if I have questions? Joel Fleischman 920-979-4045 or joel.fleischman@furnishanddesign.com.

What's more fun, competing or cheering the contestants on? Depends on who you are. Both is the most fun. Laryngitis on July 5th and a pounding headache is a common side effect. It is all part of the July 4th Volunteer Fire Departments Picnic and Parade. There are no carry ins allowed to the Truck Pull. Food, Drink, and Family fun are all part of the experience. Shannon Thomas from Request Entertainment will be signing the National Anthem as well as providing non-stop DJ action during the Truck Pull. Fireworks will follow the Truck Pull at dusk.

Where does the money go? This year it is going to improvements for the playground and park equipment at Fireman's Park in Campbellsport. It's for the kids!

Terry was preceded in death by his father, Lawrence; his parents-in-law, Joseph Weinert, Helen Weinert Schoofs and Theodore Schoofs; a brother, Donald (Mary) Theusch and two nephews, Timothy and Jeffrey.

A Mass of Christian Burial for Terry was held at 7:15 p.m. on Tuesday, May 19, 2009, at Resurrection Catholic Church in Allenton. Father Allan Weinert CSSR and Father Richard Stoffel concelebrated and burial was at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday in Sacred Heart Cemetery in Allenton.

KHS students participate in project GRILL

FOND DU LAC- A three-piece charcoal grill - complete with rotating grate, soda dispenser, condiment bar and radio - that was designed and built by students at Kewaskum High School joined five other original grills for the Project GRILL Unveiling at Moraine Park Technical College, Fond du Lac, on Sunday, May 3.

The unveiling was the culmination of a year-long Fond du Lac Area Association of Commerce program that connected six area high school technical education programs with six manufacturers to design, test and build working charcoal grills from scratch. The only criteria: that the grills could cook a dozen brats in an hour. The Kewaskum grill sailed through that challenge.

Kewaskum High's manufacturing partner was J.F. Ahern Co. of Fond du Lac, one of the leading mechanical and fire protection contractors in the United States. The Kewaskum grill proudly portrayed that partnership with a large J.F. Ahern logo cut out of the metal grill backsplash. Other features of the Kewaskum students' grill included maple cutting-board surfaces, a rotating grill surface, which displayed cutouts of the high school arrowhead logo, a battery-powered radio and a CO2 dispenser, which was pouring root beer for all at the event.

The GRILL Unveiling was the first time all six high school grills were gathered in the same place. More than 200 people attended the free event, including students' family, friends, educators and business and community leaders. The visitors were welcomed by Project

GRILL Steering Committee Chair Steve Peterson, president of Mid-States Aluminum Corp., and the event got cooking when Association of Commerce Board Chair Lisa Washa, of Charter Communications, closed her comments with a rousing, "Ladies and gentlemen, light your grills!"

GRILL - which stands for Growing Readiness for Learning and Leading - is designed to interest a new generation of creative minds in the opportunities and rewards of a career in manufacturing.

KHS Student, Eric Sabel explained J.F. Ahern provided $2,500 to the school to build the grill. Josh Harbin was the project manager, Jason Geidel oversaw design, Ray Wollner and Sabel handled the woods for the countertops and doors and the Kolin Knoblauch handled assembly.

Sabel indicated he enjoyed working on the project because it gave real life experience.

"We learned how to participate as a group to build a project," Sabel said.

Wollner thought it provided communication experience that will be needed in the workforce.

The six manufacturer-school partnerships working on Project GRILL this school year were: BCI Burke and Horace Mann High School; J.F. Ahern and Kewaskum High School; MAG Giddings & Lewis and Laconia High School; Manowski Welding and Campbellsport High School; Mid-States Aluminum and Oakfield High School; and Mercury Marine and Fond du Lac High School. As well, MPTC is a supporting partner of Project GRILL, providing technical assistance and facilities.

More information about Project GRILL is available online at www.fdlac.com or by calling (920) 921-9500.

Kewaskum High School senior Jason Geidel keeps a close on the brats as Dan Haave, of J.F. Ahern Co., stands at the ready during the Project GRILL Unveiling event Sunday at Moraine Park Technical College in Fond du Lac. Kewaskum High and J.F. Ahern were partners in the program, in which the students designed and built a working charcoal grill from scratch.

A Heritage of Excellence... Treeland Resorts brings anglers, families back Boats and contestants approach Treeland Resorts to register and release fish after a morning session in the 25th annual Treeland Walleye Challenge on the Chippewa Flowage last week.

Cheryl Treland has a vivid memory as a young girl in the late 1950s vacationing at her grandfather Olaf's fishing resort on the Chippewa Flowage near Hayward. Soon to be relocated to Wisconsin from El Paso, Texas after her father's retirement as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Air Force, the self-described "suburban" family of eight children watched on a cold and rainy morning as successful anglers brought in a 42-inch musky. Call it culture shock.

"We weren't going swimming anyway because of the weather but we sure weren't going swimming after they brought that big fish in," she said. "And then they started rappin' it on the head with one of those musky clubs. I said 'Oh my God.' When we moved here, we were just a bunch of suburban kids ranging from 1st grade to just graduated high school, stuck in the woods and boonies. It was a different culture."

It would take some time before Cheryl would test the waters of the "Big Chip." But, ultimately, she would jump right in with both feet...and heart and soul... to the resort business with family roots here even before the 17,000 acre flowage was created to produce hydroelectric power in 1924.

Cheryl, with brother and business partner Harold Treland told some of their story last week during the 25th anniversary Treeland Walleye Challenge. The release tourney draws hundreds of anglers annually to Treeland Resorts from throughout Wisconsin and places afar to experience great fishing and pure Treland hospitality.

According to Harold, grandfather Olaf Treland immigrated from Norway with wife Esther to the Two Harbors region of northern Minnesota. A first wife, Oliva, had died as a young woman. In 1914, Olaf brought his farming and logging Scandinavian heritage south to the property which rests in Sawyer County on the flowage.

When Minnesota-Wisconsin Power and Light (today Xcel Energy) began planning the great reservoir to create the hydroelectricity in the early 1900s, many residents would have to be relocated from areas that would by grand design be underwater with the construction of an earthen dam. Farmers and loggers, and the Lac Courte Oreilles tribe for example, despite the objections of tribal chiefs, would be moved. On the Treland property in 1917 and 18, Power and light planners on the eve of a new age would find Olaf's homestead, cows, sawmill and planer shed and a Norwegian answer to possible relocation; "I don't think my cows will mind if they don't have to go so far for a drink of water," he said; and stayed put.

"He was a stubborn Norwegian," said Cheryl Treland who searched out the handwritten minutes of Power and Light meetings to gain an accurate historical perspective of the time. "In 1917 and 1918 they could evict people because of the flowage and the start of hydroelectricity. If you had enough land where you could live above the water level you could possibly stay."

With successful construction of the earthen dam on the Chippewa River after an initial failure and leaking the year before, the reservoir's first full head of water was achieved in 1924, she said. The joining of nine rivers, 11 natural lakes and numerous streams became the Chippewa Flowage; Wisconsin's largest wilderness lake with more than 140 islands and third largest lake after Lake Winnebago and Lake Wisconsin. Rust colored water in the east and clear water in the west reflects the diverse water sources feeding the pool from either the creeks of tamarack swamps or natural springs.

In 1928, Chicago railroad engineer Bob Cammack purchased six acres of property from Olaf and developed a fishing camp that after significant discussion was named Treeland Pines Resort. When Olaf's own first fishing business; Treland Cabins with one "e" reflecting the family name opened for business, customers sometimes came to Sawyer County confused with just which entrepreneur they had contracted with.

Cheryl and Harold's father, Oscar would be born in the farmhouse on the original property. With a college degree, Oscar would leave the family in 1941 and enter the armed service as a commissioned officer and begin a long and storied career as a WWII fighter pilot. When Oscar and mother Jonnie brought their children home to Wisconsin from El Paso, Harold was number four of the eight children and Cheryl number five.

In 1963, Oscar Treland bought out his father and began expanding with new cabins that would tally 12 dwellings within five years. The business name over the years would evolve from Treland Cabins to Cottages and finally to Treeland Resorts. "With kids helping you have a built-in work-force," Cheryl said. "Our father told us that everything we took in over the first five years would be used to expand the resort."

In 1982, Harold and Cheryl became the third generation of Trelands to achieve ownership in the resort business when they bought out the Treland Pines property from the Cammack family with close friend Jane Bidwell. The partners agreed that no money would be taken out of the business for five years. "People thought we were nuts to buy it," Cheryl said. "We all worked full time jobs and put everything back into it."

In 1986, Harold and Cheryl bought out their parents and adopted the Treeland name through incorporation. In 1996, Cheryl and her sister, Linda, purchased and renovated Oak Shores overlooking Chief Lake on the Flowage, which had seen 19 owners over the previous two decades. In 2002, the Treland Family purchased 300 feet of shoreline and eight acres about one mile from the original homestead and built 13 year-round vacation homes which opened in 2003 as Timber Cove. In 2004, the Trelands purchased Pat's Landing and, Cheryl said, demolished 14 existing buildings and raised the elevation before building 21 three-bedroom, three bath cabins which opened on May 27 of 2005.

"The dump trucks would haul away the debris from the demolished cabins and come right back with sand to raise the elevation," she said.

For children who really didn't care to get their feet wet in the Chippewa Flowage, Harold and Cheryl and family are indeed swimming in it as adults who know the value of paying dues, hard work, and an uncompromising commitment to their clientele. Hundreds of returning anglers and family members enjoying the 25th Treeland Walleye Challenge serve a testimony to not only great fishing on the Big Chip, but Treland service.

"Running a resort is a lot like being a farmer," Cheryl said. "It's not a job you can walk away from and your assets are on paper. We work with people, and grew up doing it. People that came here in 1957 or 1958 still come back."

In part, just maybe that success is due to the fact that the kids were listening when Oscar Treland shared one imperative key to resort success. "You said that you wished your wife could have come when you saw the suite you were staying in here," Harold Treland told this reporter. "We've been in this a long time. Fishermen started bringing their wives and families and long ago our dad told us that the key is keeping mama happy. The fishermen can bring in boatloads of fish but if you can't keep the wife happy, they're not coming back."

At Treeland Resorts, they are coming back. For information on lodging or the 2010 Treeland Walleye Challenge call 715-462-3874 or connect with www.treelandresorts.com.

Washington County Rebels

Par on final hole gives Wietor, Gagnon HEK title

The Washington County Rebels 8th Grade Club team went 20-2 this Spring. The team combines local talent from the Washington County area including players from Slinger, Germantown, Hartford and Kewaskum. The team hopes to continue their past success as they continue with AAU summer basketball events May through July. Front row, left to right, Adam Musha, Tanner Schieve, DJ Bednar, Nick Thiel and back row: Coach Randy Jacklin, Jakob Anderson, Tom Beine, Joe Kretlow, Hunter Flanders, Cal Jacklin, Coach Terry Ball.

By JUDY HARLOW

On Sunday, Ty Wietor accomplished something his father, Dick, and uncle, Dave, were never able to do.

The 25-year-old Ty Wietor, playing with Slinger native Keith Gagnon, won the 25th annual 36-hole Hon-E-Kor Bestball Tournament, edging defending champions, Craig Anderson and Joe Doherty by one stroke, 141 to 142.

Oh sure, Dave and Dick Wietor have won the First or Second or Third Flights in the past but never the Championship, which is reserved for those who have handicaps from zero to six.

"They played great. They're both long-ball hitters," tournament chairman Larry Sterr said about the champions as the participants relaxed on the 19th hole Sunday afternoon.

How true. Posting an even par 70 in Saturday's opening round in gale-like winds was quite a feat.

"That was probably the windiest (conditions) I've ever played in," Sterr said, pointing out the impressiveness of their score, which was the lowest of the day by three strokes.

Anderson and Doherty have more tournament experience that Wietor and Gagnon, but the winners didn't fold. In fact, they extended their lead to four shots by posting a 2-under-par 33 on the Blue Nine Sunday. Their round included a deuce on the par-3 fourth hole and a birdie on No. 9.

Things got exciting on the White Nine, however, as the runner-up team battled back to a tie on No. 6 on the White. Anderson and Doherty birdied Nos. 1 and 3 on the White, then picked up another shot with a par on the long No. 4. After both teams parred No. 5, Wietor and Gagnon struggled on the sixth hole, and the game was on.

Both teams carded par threes on No. 7, and both took bogies on the peninsula hole on No. 8, meaning No. 9 could determine the winner.

It was here Wietor missed a birdie try, then dropped in a 4-footer for a five, and the best Doherty and Anderson could do was get a six, giving the younger team the win.

This was the silver anniversary of the event, which began when Wietor and Gagnon were just babies. This was their second year of partnering up in the tournament.

There was a tie for third place between Jim "Jonesy" Korth and Jim Rohlinger and Todd Rathkamp and Dale Konieczny. Both had 149 totals, the former on scores of 77-72, and the latter 74-75.

Jay Krueger and Jeff Anderson combined for a 79-71—150, while Shaun Timblin and Chad Schlagenhaft turned in a 151 with a 78 and a closing round 73.

In the First Flight, which drew 13 teams, the winners were Scott Leitheiser and Ryan Doherty with a 76-74—150, one shot ahead of Larry Sterr and Dan Gibbon (78-73) and Craig Falk and Dave Badden (75-76). Falk and Badden got the nod in a playoff.

Taking fourth were Joe and Michael Volesky with a 77-75—152, and in fifth came Dave Wietor and Dale Jung with their 80-75—155.

Clark Pearson and Tim Taylor won the Second Flight, starting off with an 81, then cutting off seven strokes the second day for a 74 and a 155 total, one shot ahead of Tom Bartelt and Dick Wietor (80-76). Finishing third were Mike Matenaer and John Powell with a 77-79—159.

Taking the title in the Third Flight were Glen Milkus and Brain Dreher, carding a pair of 81s for a 162. In second were Ken "Buck" Averill and Mike Maurer with 80-86—166. They won a tiebreaker over Chuck Rondorf and Chuck Boegel.

There were seven women's teams who played 18 holes with handicaps. Emerging as the winners were Jane Korth and Roxanne Volesky with an even par 70, one shot in front of Pat Laduha and Marian Gehl.

"Next year, we hope to have a bigger turnout ... hope to have over 50 teams," Sterr said, reporting, "We had over $6,500 in prizes."

A's tally two victories over weekend

Panzer Leads A's to Extra Inning Win Over Mayville

The Kewaskum A's squeezed out their second victory of the season over the Mayville Mallards on Friday night in a Tri-County Night League game.

Jake Panzer ripped a RBI double to score the go-ahead run in the top of the 10th, and sealed the 3-1 victory on the mound, to pick up his second win of the season.

Nick Whitty started on the mound and tossed six solid innings before leaving with the game tied at one apiece. Panzer threw the final four innings in picking up the victory. Whitty and Panzer combined to strikeout 15 Mayville hitters, while only allowing six hits.

The A's jumped ahead in the first inning as Matt Schilter reached on an infield single to start the game. He would later score on a Dan Shea infield single to put the A's up 1-0.

The A's struggled offensively on this night as Mayville ace Tyson Apfelbeck did a great job of keeping the A's hitters off-balance.

The A's wasted scoring chances in the fifth and eighth innings, but pretty much went quietly in every other inning before the 10th.

Austin Sarauer started the top of the 10th off with a walk, and a sacrifice bunt by Dan Shea put Sarauer into scoring position. Panzer, making his first at-bat of the night, ripped a RBI double past the third basemen to score the go-ahead run. Jason Strobel followed with a RBI single through a drawn-in infield to put the A's up 3-1 as they held on for their second victory of the year.

Leading the A's at the plate were Jason Strobel 2x4, RBI, Adam Martz, 2x4 (double) and Matt Meisenheimer, 2x4.

A's Top Horicon in Rock River League Victory

The A's bats started to come alive on Sunday as they jumped all over the Horicon

Honkers 17-2 in a Rock River league game. The win puts the A's at 3-1 overall and 2-1 in the Rock River league. It was a solid day all around for the A's as they pounded out 17 hits and A's pitchers only allowed one hit for the Honkers.

The A's tallied three runs in the second inning to go ahead 3-0. Jason Strobel led off the inning with a double to deep left and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Jim Ziegler. Nick Whitty and Austin Sarauer followed with RBI singles to account for the other two runs in the inning. Kewaskum put another run on the board in the third as Jake Panzer lifted a two-out RBI single to left to score Strobel who had reached earlier in the inning on a single.

After plating another single run in the fourth, the A's exploded for five runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to go up 10-0. Back-to-back singles by Dan Shea and Strobel opened up the inning, and Kurt Zagzebski followed with an RBI double. That brought up Panzer, who ripped his first home run of the season, a three run homer to left. Austin Sarauer drove in Adam Sarauer on a fielder's choice to finish off the scoring in the inning.

It was all Mitch Huffman would need on the mound today as he retired all 15 batters he faced through five innings. Huffman was lifted after five innings for John Holt. Holt was nearly as successful as an error led to one run, but still no-hits for Horicon. The bid for the combined no-hitter ended in the eighth, as Horicon blooped a single into right off reliever Jim Ziegler. Bode Witzlib closed out the pitching for the A's in the ninth. The A's again struck out 15 opposing hitters for the second straight game.

Jason Strobel led the A's at the plate going 4x5 (5 runs scored), while Nick Whitty chipped in with a 3x3 day and two RBI's. Dan Shea went 3x5 (double) and Panzer finished 2x2 (HR) with three RBI's. Kurt Zagzebski added 2x5 (2 doubles) and three RBI's.

The A's returned to the field on Wednesday, as they traveled to Watertown to take on Oconomowoc at 7:30pm. It was the start of a run of five-games in five days for the A's. They play at Denmark (Thursday, 7:30pm) and at Brownsville (Friday, 7:30pm) before hosting Watertown on Saturday, 1:30pm in Kiwanis Park. The A's finish off their string of games on Sunday as they travel to Hustisford for a Rock River game at 1:30pm.

Anglers will reap rewards

MADISON- For great trout fishing this summer, anglers will want to check out a recently released report detailing new trout habitat improvement projects on more than 100 miles of streams in 35 counties, Wisconsin fish biologists say.

Such habitat projects often lead to eye-popping increases in fish populations at the habitat improvement sites, particularly a few years after work has been completed.

A recently released report on inland trout stamp revenue expenditures from 2004 - 07 details how $5,222,564 in trout stamp funds were spent, where habitat work was done, and summarizes projects that took place in 35 counties.

"Many anglers seek out streams with habitat work, knowing that good fishing will likely be found there," says Larry Claggett, Department of Natural Resources coldwater fisheries ecologist. "And since it takes a couple of years for the fish to respond, anglers should really start seeing the benefit of an improved fishery from projects in this time-frame."

Since 1978, anglers have had to purchase a trout stamp (now $10) to fish inland waters, with the funds going to restoring and improving trout habitat. Overall, the DNR fisheries program has restored more than 750 miles of trout stream, and each year, maintains many miles of previous habitat work and keeps more than 750 miles free of beaver dams in northern Wisconsin.

There is also a significant amount of revenue from general fishing license fee sales that supports inland trout habitat work. During 2004 to 2007, nearly an additional $1 million was spent on improving Wisconsin's inland trout streams.

Gilbert Creek in Dunn County is great example of habitat work well received.

In-stream trout habitat improvement projects completed on Gilbert Creek resulted in restoration of more than 2.5 miles of outstanding native brook trout water with densities up to 6,000 per mile, of which 700 per mile exceed the legal length limit of eight inches.

"The trout stamp program is very successful and directly benefits the angler," Claggett says. "Our goal is to make sure the trout are healthy, have good habitat and increased natural production, and that anglers have a great fishing experience. The program is as strong as ever thanks to trout anglers continued commitment to the sport and purchase of trout stamps."

Anglers looking for more information on where the habitat work was completed can purchase a private book; Todd Hansen's 2008 "Map Guide to Improved Trout Waters of Wisconsin".

Track/field: Relays are very competitive; KHS girls take 3rd

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

CAMPBELLSPORT- The Plymouth girls track team got a wake-up call last Tuesday afternoon.

The Panthers were undoubtedly expecting to win the annual Eastern Wisconsin Conference Relay, but Sheboygan Falls had ideas of its own and claimed the title, scoring 87 points in the competition.

Kewaskum, still not at full strength, did well enough to place third with 77 points, then came New Holstein in fourth with 69, Two Rivers, 68; Kiel, 46; Waupun, 34; and Campbellsport, 0.

"I thought the girls did reasonably well," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said. "We missed someone like Nichole Kison. It hurts to have someone like that injured."

The Lady Indians came away with three first places, one or two short of what they had aimed for. As expected, the KHS foursome of Haley Gregoriou, Anna Butler, Bryanna Keller and Jess Liniewski finished first in the 4x200-meter relay, combining for a time of 1 minute, 52 and .62 (1:52.62).

The KHS high jump trio proved it's a talented group. With Liniewski going 4 feet, 10 inches (4-10), Candace Beine and Whitney Bastian clearing 4-8 and 4-6, respectively, they were easy winners. Their 14-2 total was eight inches higher than the runner-up team from New Holstein.

The pole vaulters also finished first, even without Alissa Clapper who had missed some recent practices and did not compete.

Karla Stoffel cleared 8-0, while Kassie Legate went over 7-6 and Stephanie Yahr made 5-6.

The sprinters had hoped to double in the 4x100 but had to settle for second place at 52.65, .18 of a second behind the winners. "We just could not catch Sheboygan Falls," Gosa said about his foursome of Gregoriou, Butler, Keller and Liniewski.

Triple jumpers Beine, Keller and Sabrina Boehlke had good outings, which contributed to a second place. The best of the bunch was Beine, with 29-08.5, then Keller went 27-08.5 and Boehlke 25-11.

The long jump was very competitive for second and third place between the Indians and Waupun. In the end, Kewaskum came up 2.5 inches short. Butler had the best jump for KHS, going 13-9, then came Heather Schmitt at 13-4 and Megan Ringwell at 12-10.

Kewaskum had a pair of thirds, coming in the discus and the 1,600-meter sprint relay.

Together discus throwers Lacy Taylor, Amanda Meyer and Molly Potter came up with a total of 252 feet. Taylor was the best at 94-5.

The relays also includes a 1,600-sprint medley relay where one girls runs a 400, two run 200s and the anchor takes the baton the final 800 meters.

In this event, Gosa called on Ringwell, Tess Bandy, Bastian and Jessie Beaupre, and they responded with a 4:46.62, good enough for third.

The Indians also finished fourth the 900 hurdle relay. Gregoriou was clocked in 50.0 to top the hurdles. The others were Potter with a 57.3, and Grace Pok, who was clocked in 60.8.

The Lady Indians will be at Ripon for a Division 2 regional on Tuesday, May 26.

Track/field: Vaulters bring home 1st place gold

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The Kiel High School boys were surprise winners of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Relays last week, using an even 100 points to take home the title ahead of Two Rivers (82) and highly regarded Plymouth (80).

It was a case again of not having enough athletes for the Kewaskum team, which wound up fifth with 53 points behind a win in the pole vault, a second and a couple of third places.

Jake Dickmann cleared 13 feet (13-0) to lead the Indians vaulters. Freshman Joey Wollner, who has improved rapidly this spring, made 10-0, and Romeo Johnson 9-6 for a total of 32-6.

"I give them a lot of credit. They were vaulting in the dark," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said.

The second came from Brandon Zolp (200), Eric Perkins (100), Nick Olla (100) and Scott Steldt (400) in the 800-meter sprint medley, with their clocking of 1 minute, 43 and .05 seconds (1:43.05).

The high jump trio of Dickmann, T.J. Schlice and Trent Ellis placed third on respective jumps of 5-10, 5-8 and 4-10 for a composite 16-4, while long jumpers Steldt, Eric Turowski and Perkins went 16-8, 17-11 and 16-0 respectively for a total of 51-7, good for third.

There were disappointment in the two short relays. The 4x100 foursome was looking good until a glitch in the final handoff was costly.

"They were leading it ... should have won it," Gosa said, noting the first handoff from Turowski to Olla was "a thing of beauty," but there were problems with timing on the final exchange, and they fell back to third (46.02).

Handoff problems also had a lot to do with the fact the 4x200 quartet only placed fourth.

Triple jumpers Turowski (36-1), Zolp (34-2) and Dickmann (35-1) combined for a 105-4, good for fourth.

Gosa figured he had fewer than 20 varsity athletes to compete in the event. "We don't have the numbers. That's for sure."

Boys golf: KHS golfers experience an up and down week

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Following the Kewaskum High School golf team this spring is like watching NASCAR drivers. One minute, they're up with the leaders, and the next they crash.

That pretty much sums up how the Indians' final week of Eastern Wisconsin Conference mini-meet action went. They finished third in the May 11 competition at Waupun and used the surge along with Kiel's drop to sixth place to shoot right back into second place in the overall standings.

On Wednesday, back on the Quit Qui Oc Golf Course, Kewaskum's golfers from No. 3 through 5 took a nosedive, giving Kiel a slight advantage going into Monday's (May 18) 18-hole conference finale.

Plymouth won both meets, thus the Panthers have already clinched the EWC title.

The Panthers came in with 165 strokes, one ahead of last-place Campbellsport and three in front of New Holstein and Kiel. Kiel lost the tiebreaker, which might eventually help the Indians finish second overall.

The Indians placed sixth at 173, the same score turned in by Two Rivers, which earned fifth because of the tiebreaker, the scores of the fifth meet.

After eight meets, Plymouth has 10 points, with Kewaskum and Kiel next at 27. New Holstein is a distance third with 39.

"We are still struggling to find a third and fourth varsity score," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said. As was the case, the first time the Indians played at Elkhart Lake this year, "We had difficulty with approach shots on the front nine at Quit Qui Oc. They had hard greens that would not hold approach shots."

There was one major bright spot, however, that being the play of senior Ethan Geidel, who was the low individual for the day with his 2-over-par 38. Next came Matt Schwister and Geno Kiela, both of Plymouth. The were one shot back with 39s.

Unfortunately, Geidel will not be able to successfully win his third straight Player of the Year title in the EWC.

"I don't have a chance to win it," Geidel said Saturday. "I was too inconsistent early in the season."

Currently Geidel has 47 points in the competition (the medalist in each meet receives 10, 2nd place nine, third place 8, etc.) while Kiel's Brandon Gries had 69 and Kiela has 57.

Kewaskum's other scores Wednesday were: Nick Gutbrod, 41, Tony Gonring 46, Mike Korth 48 and Max Dorn 50.

Gutbrod, who was a second team all-conference player last year, is currently sitting in the 13th spot and needs to get to the top 10 to win the honor again.

Gonring and Korth have nine and seven points, respectively.

Right now, Eichstedt is more concerned about his team earning second place. "We must beat Kiel Monday at (Whispering Springs) in order to maintain our second place position," he said.

Indians 3rd at Waupun

Just when it looked like Kiel was gaining a grip on second place, the Indians came flying back to draw two points ahead of the Raiders.

In a meet held at the Rock River C.C., Plymouth was the winner with 160 strokes while the Indians came in third at 167.

A trio of Indians, Geidel, Gonring and Korth, had 40s, and the fourth counting score was a 47, matched by Gutbrod and Dorn.

Eichstedt has been looking for consistency like this at the top spot, but there still was too large a gap between the top counters and the fourth score.

After the conference tournament, the Indians go to Hawthorn Hills on May 26 to play in a Division 2 regional hosted by Random Lake.

Golf: Indians 2nd in EWC

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

FOND DU LAC- Beat Kiel. Beat Kiel. Beat Kiel.

That was foremost on the minds of Kewaskum High School golfers Monday in the 18-hole Eastern Wisconsin Conference Tournament (EWC) at the Whispering Springs Golf Course.

That mission was accomplished, so the Indians finished second overall in the EWC standings.

The inspired effort also had an added bonus. The Indians' 338 total gave them first place in the tournament, one stroke ahead of perennial champion Plymouth.

Kiel and Sheboygan Falls were deadlocked for third place back at 351 — Falls got the higher place on the tiebreaker — then came Two Rivers at 352, followed by New Holstein, 357; Campbellsport, 364; and Waupun, 370.

Kewaskum's three seniors, Ethan Geidel, Nick Gutbrod and Michael Korth, came through in a big way on the neutral site. Geidel was second low with a 78 on a pair of 39s and just three shots from Plymouth's Tyler Feldman.

Gutbrod, who has been hampered by inconsistency this spring, had the fifth best score, a 43-39-82, but that wasn't enough to earn second-team all conference honors.

Korth, in just his first season on the varsity, finished with a 41-47-87, while freshman Tony Gonring carded a 46-45-91.

Plymouth wound up with 14 points from the mini-meets and the tournaments, with Kewaskum second at 29, followed by Kiel, 35; Sheboygan Falls, 48; New Holstein, 51; Two Rivers, 51; Campbellsport, 63; and Waupun, 69.

Junior Brandon Gries of Kiel was the Player of the year, with Geno Kiela of Plymouth next in points and Geidel third.

Rounding out the first team were Feldman and Jon Criter of Plymouth.

Making the second team were: Hayden Serwe of Campbellsport, Plymouth's Matt Schwister, Kurt Mayer of New Holstein, Justin Walsh of Sheboygan Falls and Cody Retlich of Kiel.

Plymouth's Dan Knaus is the 2009 Coach of the Year.

Soccer: Indians lose shut-outs, win shut-outs

By Andrew Kuehl

andrew@kewaskumstatesman.com | 262.370-0831

A number of shut-outs plagued the Lady Indians soccer team last week as they faced a number of talented teams in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC). One thing's for certain however, even with the lack of scoring, the Indians are being recognized in the EWC as not being a team where challengers can just assume a win.

Sheboygan Falls 2, Kewaskum 0 Monday, May 4 - home

The lady Indians didn't have enough when it came to managing the offense of conference foes Sheboygan Falls. The Falcons came in feet-a-blazin as they quickly scored after three-and-a-half minutes of play thanks to Allie Danneker.

The Indians neglected to control the ball as the Falcons worked as a team to keep the ball near the Indians' goal box.

Indians defender Lindy Taylor took a hit shortly before the end of the half but quickly returned.

The half saw Sheboygan Falls ahead with their one score. They came into the second half scoring after five minutes of play on a shot by Cassie Spoerl, who was assisted by Ashley Entinger.

Trying to score for the Indians was Jess Smallish who tried a quick run up left field only to be stopped by Claudia Neiman who caught up and took possession of the ball. Smallish would again try for a shot in the last minute of play as she ran up the field taking possession, from Stephanie Haslerand. Smallish long kick was caught by the Falcons' goalie.

In addition to Smallish's attempts, the Indians tried for five more shots, two a piece from Sam Smallish and Christine Bohn and one from Karissa Uelmen.

Jess Smallish thought Sheboygan Falls had the edge on defense. "Defense kept jabbing in and with us not pressuring the ball right away when they had their backs to us." However, she thought the team had progressed since an earlier meeting in the season where the Indians suffered a 8-1 loss.

Kewaskum's goalie, Paige Lightner again provided excellent coverage thwarting 13 Flacon attempts resulting in a 84% save ratio.

"I thought we played extremely hard tonight and stayed with one of the top teams in the EWC. I can't remember the last time we were this close against an EWC powerhouse," coach Amy Piwoni stated.

Plymouth 2, Kewaskum 0 Wednesday, May 6 - home

Making up an earlier conference match the Indians allowed another shut-out.

The Panthers came out with an early attack as Jessie Harder made a direct hit to the net in just under three minutes of play. The Indians soon realized they had their hands full with a strong Panther offense which took most of their steam.

The half saw Plymouth ahead with their early score. The loss of Sam Smallish at the half didn't help either. Smallish stated she thought she pulled a hamstring in Monday's match.

Lightner was red hot after her early wake-up call in the game and denied the Panthers 14 shots. However, in the last 10 minutes of play, the Panthers' offense got a little stronger allowing another score by Sarah Potts.

Jess Smallish, Bohn and Elissa Miller each tried a shot but were unsuccessful.

Lightner stated the early goal had an effect on her play saying she believed the entire team was depending on her. She contributed Plymouth's win to their speed but was quick to say she believed her teammates are definitely getting more confident and comfortable with each other.

New Holstein 8, Kewaskum 0 Thursday, May 7 - home

While they improved their play against Sheboygan Falls, the same could not be said for their second match against the Huskies from New Holstein in a conference match. The Huskies dominated the Indians who allowed a 8-0 shut-out in the first half of the game. On April 27, the Indians only allowed three goals and had one of their own.

"We came out very sluggish and New Holstein took advantage of us right away. After playing extremely well against Plymouth and Falls earlier in the week, I was pretty disappointed with our effort," Piwoni stated.

Bohn attempted two shots while Jess Smallish and Miller each tried once. Leading the defense for the Indians was Lightner who defended 15 of the Huskies' shots.

West Bend West 4, Kewaskum 0 Friday, May 8 - home

A non-conference match saw the Indians again taking a loss in this match against the Spartans. Coach Piwoni described a better effort but Lightner's injury hurt the team as she could only play one half.

The half saw the Spartans leading the Indians by three.

Piwoni stated scoring was possibly hampered with center midfielder Sam Smallish absent from the game. She's usually good for at least a goal a game.

"It was definitely a better effort than the previous game, but we were more even with this team than the score shows," Piwoni explained.

Jess Smallish and Jenna Buker came through with a shot each, while Bohn tried twice.

Lightner defended 10 Spartan shots and allowed three goals. Relieving Lightner was Lindy Taylor who saved five Spartan shots and allowed one through.

Port Washington 2, Kewaskum 0 Monday, May 11 - home

The Pirates came to Kewaskum for some even matched non-conference play however the Indians could not produce any successful offensive plays. Lightner still injured, was unable to tend the box but played the field the entire game.

The Pirates' Anna Wendland was first to find the Indians' net 2:37 into the match after Indians goalie Valerie Paulus, let the shot slip past her. This left the score 1-0 at the half.

Addie Buechler was next to score for the pirates shortly into the second half. Paulus caught the shot but it left her hands and found the net.

The Indians and Pirates each had seven shots during the game. Bohn

Kewaskum 4, Two Rivers 0 Tuesday, May 12 - Two Rivers

A long road trip provided a shutout of their own for the ladies. The Lady Indians came out strong with three of their four scores in the first half.

Buker started the offensive attack as she was assisted by Jess Smallish, Sam Smallish was the next to find the net followed by Bohn. The half saw the Indians with a 3-0 shutout.

Piwoni stated, "Wind was a huge factor. However, we were able to overcome that and pick-up another conference victory. We shared the ball well, but could not capitalize as much as I would've liked to. Our defensive line was strong as we only allowed one shot by Two Rivers."

Lightner left the net to Paulus and played both halves for the offense scoring once, assisted by Sam Smallish.

The Indians offense definitely was in attack mode with a total of 22 shots provided by Sam Smallish, Miller and Bohn with five a piece, Lightner with four, Buker with two and Jess Smallish with one.

Paulus defended a lone shot by the Purple Raiders.

Kewaskum 6, Waupun 1 Thursday, May 14 - Waupun

Hard work paid off for the Lady Indians on this road trip as they received a conference win against the Warriors. Piwoni reported the team closed the door from the get-go and did just that.

"We controlled the ball possession and tempo of the game right away," she boasted.

By the end of the half, Buker, assisted by Jess Smallish, and Miller, assisted by Bohn each found the net once for a halftime score of 2-0.

Playing on a very wet field, much like they are used to at home, did not alter the attack one bit. Coming on even stronger in the last half, scoring was achieved by Sam Smallish, Jess Smallish, Bohn and Savannah Robar.

The Warriors came through with a score later in the second half.

A total of 17 shots were attempted by Miller with four, Jess and Sam Smallish with three each, Bohn and Buker with two and Amber Struck, Heather Schaller and Robar with one a piece.

Lightner tended the net and defended three Warrior attempts.

"It's going to be an exciting end of the season run," Piwoni reported.

Kewaskum 1, Cedar Grove-Belgium 1 Friday, May 15 - home

Playing in their swamp, the Lady Indians let a non-conference match end in a tie.

Bohn scored the Indians' only goal in the match before the end of the first half. Ariel Beutel provided a Rockets score for the tie.

The Indians went for the net 16 times. Sam Smallish, Miller and Bohn four times each, Jess Smallish and Buker each twice.

At the end of the game, a muddied and wet Indians team decided to leave the outcome a tie.

Piwoni encouraged the team to try and pull out a win but was unsuccessful. "I was disappointed with the tie because I thought it should've been a win for us."

At the end of the play Friday, the ladies were 5-6 in conference play, 6-11 overall.

Softball: Unable to hit, ladies are scoreless in two conference matches

By Andrew Kuehl

It was a rough week for the lady Indians as they came up empty in the wins column. They were especially hurt as they traveled to Waupun and were shut-out twice.

Elkhart Lake 8, Kewaskum 4 Monday, May 11- Elkhart Lake

After two explosive wins in Sheboygan Falls the ladies traveled for a non-conference game against the Resorters.

Monica "Mo" Dehler scored a home run for the ladies on her only hit for her four at bats. Not only was it a home run for Dehler, but she also earned three RBI's. Liz Schaller, Abby Amerling and Amanda Schneider were able to score on Dehler's grand slam.

The Indians were unable to capitalize at the plate with very few hits for the remainder of the game.

Erika Heberer pitched all seven innings. She threw five walks, seven strikeouts and allowed nine hits and eight runs.

Waupun 8, Kewaskum 0 Waupun 20, Kewaskum 0 Tuesday, May 12- Waupun

It wasn't pretty the next day as they traveled for a conference double-header against the number one ranked Warriors. The team was unable to make plays at the plate showed as was shown in the double shut-out.

Haylie Hansen, Schaller, Dehler and Shaylah Haire were the only players able to hit in the first game.

Heberer pitched all seven innings allowing 10 hits, a homerun and two walks. She threw three strikeouts.

It got worse in game two. The Indians only played five innings before the mercy rule came into play.

Ashley Faber achieved the lone hit for the Indians which got her to third base.

Heberer was relieved by Courtney Meyer after one inning. She allowed 17 Warrior hits and 20 runs in four innings, two of which were homeruns.

The Warriors have an unblemished conference record this season as they ended their regular season with their games against Kewaskum.

Plymouth 5, Kewaskum 0 Friday, May 15- Kiwanis Park

After two great winning games against number two ranked Campbellsport there was hope the Indians could pull off a win at home to end their week. However, pitching by the Panthers' Emma Olig, who was coming off of five straight shut-outs, didn't let that happen.

The Indians defense held the Panthers offense pretty well. Dehler had a great play in the top of the third where she ended the inning by sliding and reaching for a grounder from Olig.

The Panthers put themselves on the board in the fourth as bases were loaded and a single from Sam Carr allowed Danielle Klister to score. The run may have been avoided, had Haire been able to catch a hard throw from Meyer who fielded Carr's hit.

Meyer later ended the inning with bases still loaded as she caught a pop fly from Sydney Holdridge.

Plymouth scored again in the fifth as they capitalized on a Klister line drive up the foul line in left field which allowed Lauren Pieper to score from second base.

Heberer came in to relieve Meyer in the sixth.

Erika "Pebbles" Koffke attempted a double play when she fielded a single from Kaitlyn Hoffmann but Hoffmann was a little too quick for first baseman Amanda Schneider.

Hoffmann later scored off a Pieper hit to center field. Sydney Holdridge scored off a Olig hit to right field that was missed by Brandi Wagner. Olig would later make the last score for the Panthers as she advanced on an infield hit by Dani Grahn.

The sixth and seventh innings ended quickly for Indians as Faber and Pebbles popped balls to Allie Iserloth who caught both consecutive hits in the sixth, Abby Amerling ended the sixth as she struck-out. Hansen and Schaller started the seventh with consecutive strikeouts and Heberer's pop fly caught by Pieper was the game.

Meyer allowed six hits, four runs and gave four walks. She threw two strikeouts. In comparison, Olig threw 10 strikeouts and played the entire game.

"Overall it was a well played game, pretty clean. She (Olig) was in control of the pitch, we didn't have plate discipline," Head coach Jeff Gosse said of the game.

Koffke agreed, "I think she

OUT! Ashley Faber eyes a popfly from Plymouth's Danielle Klister in the top of the sixth. Faber's catch ended the inning.

was a great pitcher, it was hard to hit off her."

The Indians met Slinger for a non-conference game on Tuesday at Kiwanis Park. On Thursday, they will travel to Kiel for a regional play.

The Indians lost a double header to Kiel 2-3 and 5-9 in April.
