KHS Class of 2009 remembered as 'nice class' says principal

Nearly 200 high school seniors literally crossed one stage and figuratively another Saturday afternoon as Kewaskum held its annual graduation ceremony.

A few senior citizens, not high school seniors, received one of the biggest ovations. Six veterans who served the country in war and didn't receive their high school diplomas were finally honored. Two could attend, Harry and Herbert Justman. They wore caps and gowns just like the other grads and walked across the stage to receive their diplomas.

The several graduates just starting their military careers were singled out as well, receiving the biggest ovation.

Student speaker Joshua O'Brien reminisced about the past four years. After being scared of bubbler rides as a freshman, he was introduced to paintball and pellets moving at 300 feet per second during sophomore year.

"Man, the welts," he said.

Come junior year, O'Brien met more friends and addressed the opposite sex and what girls do "poor, innocent boys."

As juniors, he said his class "matured and became people."

Senior year began with an experience "that changed me forever."

The football team's loss in the semifinals, its fourth straight season its run stopped one game short of the state final, moved O'Brien. Friends were next to him at every position.

"Never in my life was I prepared for something like that," he said. "We lost the game, yes, but we gained so much more."

During senior year O'Brien said he learned "Being moral and wrong is much better than being selfish and right."

As far as his friends, "Without you guys I couldn't have made it through this place," he said.

Student speaker Michael Herriges reminded his classmates they've become one big family since setting foot in the high school on September 6, 2005.

Memories include dances, assemblies, surviving the switch to block scheduling and "getting hypnotized."

"No matter what tomorrow brings ... today we share a great achievement," he said.

Keynote speaker, English teacher Ellen Westphal-Kuphal, used a camping chair, paper bonfire and a guitar to send her message. Her song reminded graduates to "be truly good people."

Principal Christine Horbas, in asking teachers about the class of 2009, was told the class is "nice."

"This is a very nice class," she said. "I want you to know it's been a pleasure and I'm glad I've gotten to know you."

Horbas listed each of the 92 high honors (3.5 GPA) or honors graduates (3.0), and honored Shaylah Haire for missing a whopping 10 minutes of class in four years. That translates to a 99.98 percent attendance rate.

Horbas reminded graduates to believe in themselves, regardless of the circumstances.

"When the going gets tough, be tough and believe in you," she said. "Let's get these diplomas handed out so you can get out there and pursue your dreams."

Area man killed in Las Vegas

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@kewaskumstatesman.com | 262.370-0831

LAS VEGAS- An area family is mourning the loss of their son and brother after a tragic twist of fate took the life of a 22-year-old man. An investigation continues into the sequence of events surrounding the young man's life.

The Nevada Highway Patrol announced Monday, June 15 that Eric R. Nothem was running east across southbound Interstate 15 about 3 a.m. Sunday, June 14 and was struck and killed. Trooper Kevin Honea, spokesman for the Nevada Highway Patrol stated he died after running into the path of a Chevrolet sedan, as he entered the right travel lane. The crash occurred near the Flamingo Road interchange.

Nothem was taken to University Medical Center's trauma unit, where he died, Honea said. The Clark County Coroner's Office states the cause of Nothem's death was a fractured skull and injuries from a collision with the sedan, a spokeswoman for the coroner's office said.

The driver of the Chevrolet sedan stayed at the scene and voluntarily submitted blood samples, Honea said. The driver likely won't be charged, authorities said.

Nothem graduated from Kewaskum High School in 2005 according to KHS Principal Christine Horbas who made the announcement to staff on Monday.

The investigation into Nothem's death is somewhat of a mystery at this point. According to his mother Lisa, their family traveled to Las Vegas on vacation.

"We arrived there at 9:30 a.m. on the 13th and had such a good day, Eric was just in awe of everything. It

Council will oversee summer fine arts performances at Kewaskum Theatre, River Hill Park

Area Arts Council formed here

By Andrew Kuehl

andrew@kewaskumstatesman.com

KEWASKUM- A collaborative effort between the School District and Village of Kewaskum and some citizens have led to the forming of The Kewaskum Area Arts Council. The council will oversee and help manage this summer's fine arts performances at River Hill Park and The Kewaskum Theatre.

The council's charter president, Larry Ammel beamed as he shared the news this past Thursday. Stemming from a Fine Arts Retreat coordinated by the Kewaskum School District in 2007 the ball got rolling.

The council has a board of directors comprised of seven community members. In addition to Ammel are Bruce Towell, Margaret "Mugs" McFadden, Jeff Rohrer, Sherry McElhatton, Mike Krumm and Steev Baker.

The first challenge for the council will be a School District and Village of Kewaskum sponsored Fine Arts Festival in May of 2010. The group is also tasked with bringing performances to the Kewaskum Theatre.

Those performances will range from theater, film, visual arts, dance and literature. Ammel said the group does not have immediate plans except for the current events scheduled at the Kewaskum Theatre.

A film series has already begun at The Kewaskum Theatre hosted by retired English instructor and movie buff Jim Westphal. The movies are shown at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. There is no fee to attend.

"Gun Fight at the OK Corral" will be shown on June 24; "Music Man" will be shown on July 8; "Quiet Man" on July 15; "Around the World in 80 Days" on July 22; "Adventures of Robin Hood" on August 5; "Pink Panther" on August 12 and "Magnificent Seven" on August 19.

Starting on July 9, the Council will coordinate the "Music in the Park" series at River Hill Park from 7 - 9 p.m. The park will open for food and refreshments at 5:30 p.m. each night there is a performance. Admission to the performances will be free.

The first performance will feature the Kewaskum Big Band. The second in the series will feature the Big Cedar Bluegrass Band on Thursday, July 16. The Goodtime Dutchmen will perform on Thursday, July 23 to end the series.

Music in the Theatre will be featured on Thursday evenings in August. Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at Westbury and National City Banks, Geidel's Piggly Wiggly and Kewaskum High School.

The first performance will take place on August 6 with "An Evening with Sinatra" featuring The Howard Schneider Big Band and Frank Sinatra Stylist Ed Franks. Bruce Russell and the Rustler, a Las Vegas showband will be back for their second performance on August 13. The third annual Brick by Brick benefit concert with a performance by A.J. Croce will be held on Thursday, August 20.

The Gateway Community Theatre group will perform, "She was Only Marginally Modest" at 7 p.m. on Thursday, July 30, Friday, July 31 and Saturday, August 1. Tickets are $5 and can be purchased at Westbury and National City Banks, Geidel's Piggly Wiggly and Kewaskum High School.

Those looking to become a part of the council can contact Ammel at (262) 626-4731. Dues are $25 annually. The council will hold a community meeting to discuss the Fine Arts Festival on Wednesday, August 5, at 7 p.m. in the Kewaskum Municipal Building Annex.

lic Works and Public Services Committee last week.

"I want everybody to be aware things are still tight," he said.

Committee member Kevin Scheunemann wants to know how much of that falls under depreciation.

Scheunemann said while rates increased to build a new pump house, they don't decrease after the debt falls off. It's the same with the wastewater treatment plant upgrade.

Historic welcome sign falling into disrepair

By Mitch Maersch

For the Statesman

KEWASKUM- The village is hoping the Kewaskum Kiwanis or another community group will foot the bill to upgrade the landmark welcome sign along Highway 45 near the south entrance.

The sign is starting to fall apart, Public Works Director Jerry Gilles told the Public Works and Public Services Committee last week.

When the sign was painted two years ago, "the wood came right off of the sign board," he said.

"It's going to need to be replaced and something done with it. Maybe not immediately, but if we want community involvement we should get it started now," Gilles said.

Committee Chairman and Village President Andy Pesch asked to move the sign a little farther south to Highway H, closer to the village limits.

Gilles said perhaps the village could ask Dairyland Seed if it could put the sign on its land.

The village is now paying $100 a year to keep the sign on private land. A 10-year lease agreement was signed in 2005.

One of the sign's posts, however, is on the Eisenbahn Trail. The village had to get a permit from the county to keep it there. Gilles said getting a permit to put the entire sign on the trail is unlikely.

The committee agreed to move the sign and to keep its format and style, "partial to the historic current nature of the sign," Pesch said.

"It definitely is a landmark for Kewaskum," he said.

The village will ask the Kiwanis for financial help with the sign, since the group donated money for the original sign.

Village may mow Hwy 45 median

The village will try to pick up some landscape work as the state has cut funding forming roadsides and medians to once per year.

Public Works Director Jerry Gilles told the Public Works Public Services Committee last week the village could get a permit to mow the grass more often in the median near J-Stop on Highway 45.

Citizens may mow roadsides, but the state won't allow them to mow medians, Gilles said.

The state also won't pay for prisoners to pick up trash in the median anymore, Gilles said.

-Mitch Maersch

Sewer utility still losing money

Despite the first of six straight quarters of rate increases, the village's sewer utility is still losing money.

In 2008, the utility lost $187,000, bringing the total to $1.2 million that it owes to the general fund.

After two more rate increases so far this year, the fund is still cash tight, Village Administrator Mathew Heiser told the Pub-

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

I just wanted to write to applaud the two gentlemen who started CPR on the man who collapsed at the golf course. I believe without these two people, the wonderful work of the EMTs and police officers may not have made a difference.

I did not see or hear anything in the media about what these two men did before certified personnel arrived, and I feel they deserve a lot of credit.

I also wanted to alert people that even though you are not certified in CPR, you could make a difference if CPR is started immediately.

Kudos to both of these gentlemen.

The Kewaskum High School baseball team would like to give special thanks to Mike Geidel and Kewaskum Piggly Wiggly for their support in our brat fry. Their donations and generosity are greatly appreciated.

We would also like to thank the members of the community who came out and bought a brat or hamburger and supported us. With all your help we raised enough money to purchase some equipment that will hopefully propel us to a conference championship.

Make sure to come out and watch a game or two in the park this summer.

Seven of eight liquor license holders sold minors booze

By Mitch Maersch
For the Statesman

KEWASKUM- Call it the underage 180.

Last fall, seven of eight businesses holding liquor licenses in the village got caught selling to someone underage.

A recent test had seven of eight refusing to sell to an underage person, and the eighth was close.

Police Chief Richard Knoebel said in the one failed case the owner of Victoria's Cornerstone Inn was in the basement getting something when her boyfriend, not an employee, went behind the bar and served the underage girl a beer.

"The owner came up. She grabbed the beer out of her hands and she never got a chance to take a drink," he said.

The boyfriend received a citation for more than $300, Knoebel said.

"I was happy that we turned it around. Last time one didn't sell. This time one did, and it wasn't even an employee," he said.

The tests, done by Washington County's Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse, are held once or twice per year, Knoebel said. This time, the test came a few weeks after liquor license holders took a class on how to determine if a patron is underage or not, including fake or expired identification.

Local Modern Woodmen members plant trees in Fillmore

On May 2, local Modern Woodmen of America members gave a lasting gift to the community. Members of the West Bend Modern Woodmen Camp 2216 gathered at the Fillmore Firemen's Hall to plant a red maple tree in memory of Timothy McKee.

The project was part of the Plant a Tree Program, a nationwide program introduced by Modern Woodmen for its members in 2004. "This program ties Modern Woodmen members to the roots of our organization," says Jeff Jaeger, leader of the local Modern Woodmen 2216.

"The name Modern Woodmen honors the pioneer woodmen who cleared the forests to build homes and secure futures for their families. Modern Woodmen offers financial services to help clear away members' financial burdens. ## Farmington Land Use Plan discussion tabled

For the Statesman

TOWN OF FARMINGTON— One request for a land division in an area zoned agricultural has the Plan Commission looking at growth areas across the entire town.

One landowner near Fillmore wants to divide a lot into a smaller size than the agricultural zoning requirement of one lot per five acres. The land is located within one fourth of a mile of a hamlet area on the southwest edge of Fillmore.

The town wants to establish one-fourth of a mile radius around all of its growth areas, or hamlets, but that's not what its land use map presently shows for the specific portion in question.

If the growth area is extended, the land would be zoned residential and the lot size requirement would drop to 1.5 acres.

The Plan Commission tabled action on the request and began to look at growth areas in Boltonville and St. Michaels to see if the one-fourth-mile radius exists there.

The Plan Commission tabled action on the request and may discuss the issue at next week's Plan Commission meeting if time allows. Any changes to the map would come to the Town Board for final approval.

Next week's Plan Commission meeting begins at 7 p.m. on Tuesday at the town hall, 9422 Highway 144

Gov. Doyle approves funding for projects at West Bend Municipal Airport

Governor Jim Doyle has announced $237,895 for projects at the West Bend Municipal Airport. One project will design and reconstruct Runway 13/31. The other project will install an upgrade to the automated weather observation system (AWOS). The Governor's action releases $67,947 in state funds to help complete the projects. The City of West Bend is contributing $19,948, and the Federal Aviation Administration is providing $150,000.

According to Craig Butler, airport project manager with the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, the runway project will repair the pavement of Runway 13/31, which has deteriorated to the point that safety for arriving and departing aircraft is a prime concern. The AWOS project will enable the Federal Aviation Administration to continue to publish aircraft instrument approach procedures that have lower minimums. These lower minimums will provide inbound aircraft greater access to the airport.

The projects are scheduled to begin in April 2009 and should be completed by December 2009.

The airport consists of two runways, parallel taxiways, apron area, connector taxiways, terminal building and auto parking lot. Together, the runways accommodate about 51,000 aircraft take-offs and landings each year.

Home Furnishing News, a trade publication targeted to buyers and senior executives at both the retail and supplier levels, has recognized Regal Ware's American Kitchen™ line of cookware with their 2009 Award of Excellence in the category of Cookware: Enamel on Steel.

The product, introduced at the 2009 International Home and Housewares Show in Chicago, is a brand extension of Regal Ware's stainless steel version of the American Kitchen cookware line which was introduced in Fall 2008.

"Enamel on stainless steel will offer an exciting alternative for today's modern kitchen," according to Randy Schickert, senior vice president, Custom Brands & Retail. "We wanted to offer the consumer the option of having a high-quality, American-made set of stainless steel cookware that offers an entire set with non-stick cooking surfaces and exterior bright, dynamic, trend-setting colors."

The enamel on stainless steel American Kitchen product will be available beginning Fall 2009.

Zuern Building Products is pleased to announce that it has achieved Certified Green Dealer™ status after its staff participated in voluntary educational training and testing on good green building techniques and green product choices in lumber and building materials.

The Certified Green Dealer Program was created under the auspices of LBM Journal, a national trade magazine serving the lumber and building material industry. The Program is based entirely on demonstrated understanding by lumber dealer personnel of "best practices" building science and green building basics. A lumberyard or building material dealer location can become a Certified Green Dealer™ if 75% or more of its sales personnel view a series of Web-based training videos (and pass seven tests and a final exam) about building basics, green building, and green building products.

This national training Program is the first of its kind in North America to provide lumber and material dealer personnel with educational information about green building basics, and it requires that participants view online video modules and take rigorous tests to demonstrate knowledge of green building techniques and green product choices.

"We're very pleased to have achieved the Certified Green Dealer™ designation," says Brian Zuern, Purchasing & Marketing Manager at Zuern Building Products. "Investing in this training for our sales staff helps show our commitment to helping our customers make good choices for the environment, and in doing our part to recommend more earth-friendly products. We also want to make sure that we help educate our customers about 'best practices' in building techniques so that their building projects are both energy-efficient and make the best use of our resources."

Zuern Building Products supplies a full line of building materials to professional builders and homeowners. The company has three expan-

A.J. Croce will perform at Brick by Brick benefit concert here

A.J. Croce will lead the performers at the third annual Brick by Brick benefit concert being held in The Kewaskum Theatre on August 20.

tour as an opening act, Croce has now completed a highly acclaimed seventh CD of new material, "Cage of Muses."

Featuring the singer/songwriter's formidable chops on both piano and guitar, "Cage of Muses" has garnered four-star reviews in Rolling Stone magazine and is quickly becoming a mainstay on college and alternative radio. David Wild of Rolling Stone has called Croce, "...one of our greatest young songwriters" while country music legend, Willie Nelson has commented that, "A.J. Croce has wisdom beyond his years. With his music, he represents his generation with a profound sense of honesty in his lyrics and quality in his delivery. The future of entertainment is safe in his hands!"

Aside from Croce's music, the concert will feature a celebrity silent auction (autographed items from entertainment luminaries such as Natalie Merchant, Anne Rice, Richie Furay, Leonard Maltin amongst many others as well as from several local sports stars) and may hold several other surprises including a short video tribute to David Carradine and his music.

Tickets for A.J. Croce and the third Annual Brick by Brick for Tanzania! concert are available at a price of $10 and can be obtained at the Kewaskum High School, Geidel's Piggly Wiggly, Westbury Bank (Kewaskum branch), National City Bank (Kewaskum branch). All proceeds will go to Brick by Brick for Tanzania!, Inc. and the current preschool projects.

KEWASKUM- On Thursday August 20th, at 7:00 p.m., the Kewaskum Theatre in the Kewaskum High School, the 3rd annual Brick by Brick fundraising concert will go on as planned with A.J. Croce stepping up to replace the previously-scheduled David Carradine whose much-publicized death in Bangkok, Thailand was both a personal and organizational loss for the tax-exempt 501(c)(3) NGO, Brick by Brick for Tanzania!, Inc.

"Of course our hearts go out to David Carradine's family and friends," John Kenworthy, Executive Director of Brick by Brick stated. "David was our friend and supporter and we mourn his loss as both an artist and as a person. That being said, we are absolutely overjoyed that an artist of A.J. Croce's stature would step up for us in our efforts to build preschools in Tanzania, east Africa."

For A.J. Croce, fine musicianship runs in the genes. The son of legendary singer/songwriter Jim Croce, Adrian James Croce began playing piano professionally at the tender age of 12 and hasn't slowed down since. Discovered by blues great B.B. King who asked Croce to join his

Musical Masquers presents 'Hello Dolly' at UWWC Theater

With opening night right around the corner, the cast and crew of Musical Masquers are proud to invite you to an evening of music and laughter as they present "Hello Dolly." Based on the play by Thornton Wilder, with music and lyrics by Jerry Herman, this beloved musical is guaranteed to bring you an evening of pure enjoyment. Making his debut as director, Steve Paykel is no stranger to the theater, having appeared in many other shows including, "Fiddler on the Roof" and "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

Larry Loomans has taken on a new role as well producing his first show with Musical Masquers.

The show has become a true family affair for the leading characters. Starring as the irreplaceable Dolly is Deanna Gibeau. Deanna has appeared in several Musical Masquer productions and is enjoying playing a role so different than "real" life.

Playing opposite her as Horace Vandergelder is her husband, Peter Gibeau. Peter has also appeared in several shows, notably "Fiddler on the Roof" and in his "real" life is an associate professor of music at UWWC. Completing the family affair, Sophia Gibeau is in the chorus.

Several cast members are making their debuts with Masquers in this performance. Zak Mellgren has been an active member of the local homeschool drama group and plays Cornelius Hackl. Edward Wuclide will take on the role of Ambrose Kemper and describes his casting as a "shock." Alan Jordan has been involved in the theater in other venue and will play the Judge. Amanda Gresch portrays Ermengarde and is a student at UWWC and is this year's recipient of the Musical Masquers' scholarship.

Sharing the role of Ermengarde will be Christine Pollnow, who has appeared in many productions with Masquers as well as other theater groups. Also sharing roles will be Andrew Helman and Jonathan Wells in the role of Barnaby Tucker. Andrew has performed in other musicals, such as "Beauty and the Beast," while Jonathan has been active with many drama companies since the age of 5. Playing Irene Malloy, Collette Merrill has been in many other productions and is happy to be sharing the stage with her best friend, Sheena Delong. Sheena has appeared in two other Masquer shows including "Cabaret." Tonya Fordham takes on the role of Ernestina and, although this is her first acting role, she has directed for Musical Masquers and is currently serving on the board of directors.

Rounding out the list of characters are two long time Musical Masquer veterans, Fred Luft as Rudolph Reisenweber and Jeff Brigham as the Court Clerk.

The chorus and dancers completing the cast are Johannah Hensler, Ashley Vickney, Stephanie Smith, Kate Warren, Samantha Schneider, Erika Salmeron, Christa Thorin, Megan Schlefke, Jennifer Hron, Maggie Balistreri, Amy Kottke, Cassandra Mullen, Pat Gergetz, Kevin Aubrey, Scott Pollnow, Pete Smith and Larry Loomans.

"Hello Dolly" opens June 19 with subsequent performances on June 20, 21, 25, 26, 27. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m., except for the matinee on June 21, which will be at 2 p.m. All performances are in the UWWC Theater. Tickets are available at the West Bend branches of M&I Bank and at the door.

MPTC provides credits to Project Grill students

Moraine Park Technical College has announced they will provide three credits of advanced standing to the 62 students who successfully completed Project GRILL.

Project GRILL is a Fond du Lac Area Association of Commerce program that paired high school technical education students with manufacturing partners in a challenge to design, test and build working charcoal grills from scratch. The teams worked throughout the school year to complete their grills; the finished products were unveiled recently at a public event at MPTC.

The three credits, which have an estimated 2009-2010 value in excess of $350, are good at any of the three MPTC campuses.

"MPTC is pleased to partner with the Association of Commerce, local businesses and local high schools on Project GRILL," said Jim Eden, MPTC's executive dean of instruction. "Activities like Project GRILL provide students a window into the world of work and an opportunity to work in teams and show off their creative skills."

GRILL, which stands for Growing Readiness in Learning and Leading, was designed to interest a new generation of creative minds in the opportunities and rewards of a career in manufacturing.

The GRILL student-business teams are required to meet frequently throughout the school year to review design concepts and challenges, production and testing methods, and work together on any other challenges that come up along the way. The students all toured each of the six manufacturing sites, and the business people, in turn, toured the schools. The finished grills, which varied greatly in size, appearance and amenities, will be on display at the annual downtown Fond du Lac Fondue Fest, Saturday, September 12.

It was recently announced that all six schools and all six manufacturers will return for Project GRILL 2009-2010. More information about Project GRILL is available online at www.fdlac.com or by calling (920) 921-9500.

3...2...1...Blastoff!

FES teacher awarded part of US Cellular funds

Several Kewaskum Middle School students participated in the annual Rockets For Schools competition in Sheboygan on May 15th and 16th. Students were required to build, paint, and finish a five foot rocket, and create a payload experiment to go inside the rocket. They were also asked to create a presentation to explain the process and payload, as well as the lessons they learned from each. KMS sent two rocket teams for the first time this year, and despite extremely windy conditions, both were successful launches. As part of the Rockets For Schools experience, students were able to hear an astronaut speak about his experiences, visited the new space museum at the armory in Sheboygan, and participated in being support staff for other school's launches. The team would like to recognize and thank the Kewaskum Kiwanis club for their generous donation, which made the event and experience possible for our teams. Shown above are the two teams from KMS.

U.S. Cellular has awarded Lora Schreiber of Farmington Elementary School over $640 in funding as part of its national Calling All Teachers campaign. The wireless company granted teachers across the country more than $1 million to help erase classroom needs.

Mrs. Schreiber's funded project will help her fourth grade class by providing materials for learning about nature's plant and animal relationships.

Teachers across the country submitted projects through the Calling All Teachers campaign. Projects included everything from textbooks and pencils to projectors and easels to help enrich the learning experiences for students. In Wisconsin, over 300 requests were funded, totaling over $158,000.

"Giving back to our communities is part of our culture at U.S. Cellular," said Chris Rathsack, director of sales for U.S. Cellular in Wisconsin. "Our schools are essential to our communities, and I am pleased to see so many teachers in Wisconsin are receiving funds through this campaign." During the Calling All Teachers campaign, Mrs. Schreiber submitted a request for classroom supplies to DonorsChoose.org, a non-profit Web site that links donors with educators facing shrinking budgets. From there, U.S. Cellular selected her project to fund.

When U.S. Cellular launched the campaign three weeks ago it planned to fund $1 million worth of teacher requests through DonorsChoose.org but the response from teachers was beyond expectations. The Web site received more than 2,000 submissions in the markets where U.S. Cellular does business.

"The response to this campaign from teachers across our footprint was so incredible that we couldn't imagine leaving any of their classroom projects unfunded," said Rathsack. "Our teachers go above and beyond for their students every day. So we decided to go above our original million-dollar budget to support all of them."

U.S. Cellular has committed to helping schools in 2009-2010 through funding and volunteerism. Earlier this year U.S. Cellular awarded $1 million to 10 schools across the country through its Calling All Communities campaign, including Assumption High School in Wisconsin Rapids. For more information about Calling All Teachers, visit uscellular.com/callingallteachers or your local U.S. Cellular store.

To date, 88,000 public and charter school teachers have used the site to secure funding for $30.3 million in books, art supplies, technology, and other resources that their students need to learn. ## The Bookworm Sez

by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Beyond the Miracle Worker

by Kim E. Nielsen

Remember the last day of school before summer vacation?

Oh, for sure, your brain had checked out weeks before. There would be no learning, no writing, and very little sitting still. The long school year was over and a seemingly-unlimited summer stretched ahead.

Now imagine how your teacher felt.

By most accounts, being a teacher is the most frustrating, thrilling, teeth-gnashing, wonderful job anyone could have. So now, in celebration of a summer out of school, here's a book about the woman who may be the world's most famous Teacher: "Beyond the Miracle Worker" by Kim E. Nielsen.

Born into poverty to Irish immigrants in 1866, Anna Sullivan was ten years old when she landed in the Massachusetts States Almshouse, a horrible place she "spent her life... trying to forget." Although Anna (later, Annie) hadn't yet attended school, it was impressed upon her that education was the way to a good future. So when a state official visited the almshouse, the fourteen-year-old, never one for shyness, reportedly found him and demanded an education.

Because she suffered from an affliction that left her nearly blind, Annie was sent to the famed Perkins Institution. Six years later, the formerly-illiterate girl graduated as valedictorian but with no job prospects. When someone recommended that she become a teacher, she dismissed the idea immediately.

Near the end of the summer after graduation, the owner of Perkins forwarded a letter to Annie from a Mr. Keller in Alabama. Keller was looking for a governess for his "little deaf-mute and blind daughter."

Reluctantly, but with no better ideas for the future, Annie took the job.

Much has been written about the "little savage" Helen Keller when Annie Sullivan arrived in Alabama, and Helen herself (as well as many biographers) took up the story after the famous "W-A-T-E-R" lesson.

Lesser-known is the story of the rest of Annie Sullivan's life.

For a time when Helen was still young, Sullivan had a tumultuous love-hate relationship with her former Perkins headmaster, which resulted, in part, in a grave scandal involving possible fraud. As Helen grew up, Sullivan fretted over her own future, assuming that she would never fall in love or have a family (Sullivan did, eventually marry). And although she fought fiercely for rights on behalf of Helen Keller, Anne Sullivan wasn't always just Keller's Teacher.

Exhaustively researched and not always complimentary, "Beyond the Miracle Worker" goes way beyond all the stuff you read in school about the complicated, headstrong woman who gave Helen Keller words.

Using documents and diaries, author Kim E. Nielsen offers the sometimes heartbreaking, often frustrating life and work of Anne Sullivan Macy. While the narrative can occasionally become tedious, Nielsen gives readers a definite sense of the times and social mores under which Anne Sullivan lived, as well as some juicy tidbits about a woman that history often glosses past.

If a biography is on your reading to-do list this summer, "Beyond the Miracle Worker" is a worthy one for you. Grab this book and learn a thing or two.

and burial followed in Holy Angels Cemetery. Visitation was at the church on Saturday from 10:30 a.m. until the time of Mass.

In lieu of flowers, memorials to the American Diabetes Association or the Full Shelf Food Pantry would be appreciated.

Myrhum-Patten Funeral & Cremation Service of West Bend assisted the family.

The Broken Chain

We little knew that morning that God was going to call your name.

In life we loved you dearly.

In death we do the same.

It broke our hearts to lose you,

you did not go alone;

for part of us went with you,

the day God called your home.

your love is still our guide;

and though we cannot see you,

Our family chain is broken

and nothing seems the same,

but as God calls us one by one,

the chain will link again.

The Kewaskum High School Chapter of VICA - Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, recently received word that they took first place in the National Stanley Tools Mass Production Contest, sponsored by Stanley Tools in Columbus, Ohio. Club advisor Bill Stangl explained that the goals of VICA are to help prepare students for a career in industry. In entering the contest, club members must first come up with a project idea. They did this through a market survey of several proposed projects. The group decided on a can crusher.

The project was to be mass produced and consist of 90% wood. Students then had to design the product including jigs and fixtures to mass produce. To enter the product in the contest, the club had to send two samples of the crusher along with a complete set of working drawings. Pictures and drawings of the jigs and fixtures and a bill of materials for the project also had to be submitted. To date the club has produced and sold 50 "crushers" at a cost of $5.95 each. The club was awarded the Stanley Gold Hammer Award and each member received a certificate from Stanley, a key ring and Stanley tape measure. Team members are Brian Kober, Jeff Eisenmann, Mike Kirchner, Eddie Reindl, Roger Mueller, Scott Ader, Steve Kuphal, Jeff Igel, and Brian Kumrow.

By a 7-0 vote, the Kewaskum School Board approved the request of Clark Pearson to resign as principal of the Kewaskum High School and return to teaching status as an instructor in the Math Department.

Shaw literally ran away from the rest of the competition, finishing first in a record time of 2:09.0. Mike Steinhardt and Dan Menzel each won one event and placed second in two others.

With the only opposition on the ballot being for the trustee offices, the vote cast in Tuesday's spring election in the village was comparatively light. A total of 247 votes were cast, which is only about one-third of the number of eligible voters in the village. Two of the present trustees, Wayand Tessar and Joe Eberle, were re-elected to office for another two-year term. The third trustee elected is Cyril N. Wietor, a newcomer who won out over Carl F. Schaefer.

Albert Buss, son of Mrs. Herman Buss, had his arm taken off below the elbow last Saturday when he was working with William Heberer's traction sawmill on Charles Johnson's farm in the Town of Farmington. He was occupied in putting the belt on the sawdust carrier which had slipped off when the belt became tangled and jerked his right arm into the teeth of the saw. Buss is now at Dr. Heidner's hospital at West Bend and is reported as doing well.

The elections last Tuesday passed off very quietly. There was no opposition to the regular nominated ticket in either the village or the town, consequently, very little interest was taken. ## Baseball: Indians earn decent wins on the road allowing 3-0 record

By Nicole Kuehl
Statesman Staff

The Indians took to the road last week to face two EWC challengers and brought home wins for the team.

Kewaskum 6, Plymouth 5 Thursday, June 4, Plymouth

Brandon Zolp started the game with a single, later stealing second. Nick Olla and Cody Seibel each tallied outs and then Brian Backhaus came up to earn another single which advanced Zolp to third and eventually home on error, while Backhaus was able to get to second on one error as well. Cody Nuernberg finished out the inning for the Indians.

With Olla pitching, Plymouth led off their half of the inning with three singles, which eventually led to two runs, giving Plymouth a one run lead at the end of the first.

The second inning was scoreless for the Indians as the team had a strike out by Chapman, and a caught fly hit by Bo Seibel. Steve Kudek earned a base hit, but the inning ended when Zolp earned an out.

The Panthers and Zak Suchon led off with a single and was later able to score on two Indian errors. The outs came with a fly ball, a strike out and another caught fly. The Panthers ended with a 3-1 lead.

Both teams were scoreless in the third inning. Brad Boegel came in for the Indians and allowed only one hit, and tallied three swinging strike-outs.

Nuernberg led off the for the Indians with a base hit. Chapman followed with a swinging strike out, during which time Nuernberg was able to steal second and get to third on an error. On yet another error, Bo Seibel took first and Nuernberg was able to score, leaving the Indians down 3-2. Bo Seibel went on to steal second and advanced to third on yet another error by the Panthers. Bo Seibel came home on a wild pitch by Suchon. Steve Kudek made his way around the bags, giving the Indians a 4-3.

The fourth inning was a quick one for Plymouth as they earned three outs with a caught line drive and two swinging strike-outs.

Backhaus was able to score the fifth run of the game for the Indians. He earned a base, stole second and advanced to third on a wild pitch. He was then able to score on a hit by Nuernberg.

The Panthers attempted a come back in the fifth, but were only able to tie up the game at 5-5. They started off with two strike outs, followed by a walk, when Justin Rooker came up to hit a home run with a full count.

The sixth inning was scoreless for both teams.

The top of the seventh saw the Indians score two as both Olla and Backhaus made their way around the bags. Both got to first on walks and advanced on a hit by Harbin. Nuernberg had a base hit, sending Backhaus home. Chapman walked and Plymouth brought in a new pitcher. Tevor Thiel came in to close for the Panthers.

The bottom of the seventh began with a caught pop fly and a double and a walk for the Panthers. Cody Seibel came in to finish out the game. The last out of the game came on a fielder's choice, keeping the Panthers scoreless.

Boegel took the win for the Indians, tallying 11 strike-outs and three walks for the game. Olla, Harbin, Nuernberg and Schladweiler each earned RBIs.

Kewaskum 9, Two Rivers 3 Tuesday, June 9, Two Rivers

The game really began in the second inning. Boegel stepped up to the plate for a single, with hits followed by Brad Boegel and Mike Herriges. Steve Kudek hit a sacrifice bunt. Brandon Zolp and Nick Olla followed with hits.

All but Kudek would be able to score in the inning, giving the Indians a 5-0 lead.

With Boegel once again pitching, the Raiders were unable to score.

The third inning saw three up, three down in the Indian half.

Two Rivers was finally able to score in the bottom half, bringing the game to 5-2. Boegel walked the first Raider batter and then struck out the next. The second out came with a fly caught by Bo Seibel. A triple by Raider Steve Schug allowed two runners to score. The third out came with a caught fly.

The fifth inning saw Nuernberg take first on a walk and steal second. Bo Seibel earned a hit and allowed Nuernberg to score. Hits by Boegel and Herriges allowed Seibel to score after tagging the bag each time.

Mike Schladweiler came in to pitch for the Indians in the fifth inning. The inning ended quickly with two caught flies and a throw to first.

The sixth saw the Indians score two more runs with help from errors by the Raiders. Olla and Cody Seibel made their way around the bags giving the Indians a 9-1 lead.

In the seventh Two Rivers was able to score one last run that began with a walk, ending the game 9-3.

Boegel took the win with two strike-outs and two runs. Olla and Herriges each tallied two RBIs.

Nothem killed in Las Vegas

was like someone who just opened his eyes to the world. We had all gone down to Fremont Street for the night and came back to the strip around 10 p.m. We were at a place right next to our hotel (Imperial Palace) until midnight when my husband and I went up to our room for the night. He stayed down with three of the other people. He was with older adults. Then he went up about 1:30 and he said he just wanted to see the strip yet for a bit. He talked to his girlfriend on the phone about 2:15, right by the motel. He was pronounced dead at 3," his mother recounted.

"No way would he have gone miles to the freeway and started running across it in that amount of time. He was drinking, but he was not impaired whatsoever. He also had $300 in his wallet that was missing. He had to have been somehow thrown in a car and either pushed out on the freeway or jumped out, he would have never gone there. I told him earlier, never go off the strip, and he said 'I won't mom, I'm not stupid,'" Lisa continued.

Law enforcement will not confirm the possibility that Nothem could have been abducted, robbed and thrown from a vehicle. While this type of crime is commonplace in Las Vegas, especially on the strip, it rarely ends in murder.

Lisa Nothem stated she has had a difficult time trying to get answers from law enforcement. "We had such a hard time even getting anyone to call us, much less give us any answers, I can't believe they are treating this like that. To them he was just another drunk kid. Even if he was drinking, he could never have climbed barriers and run across a freeway four miles away from our hotel in that short of a time," she stated.

In working with The Las Vegas Sun, a sister publication to the daily Las Vegas Review Journal a reporter confirmed the difficulty in getting answers surrounding the case.

"Someone stole my beautiful son and tossed him like a piece of garbage. He was the most wonderful person, loved by many, and will be so dearly missed. He is and will always be my angel," Nothem continued.

Danielle Dreher of Kewaskum went to school at UW-Stevens Point with Nothem. "He was such a wonderful person, so full of life, always a smile on his face. It is truly a tragedy," she stated.

The Las Vegas Sun broke the story on their website. It quickly became a popular story with over 75 readers commenting on the article. The article and comments can be found at www.lasvegassun.com.

If These Walls Could Talk...
Memories part of Bob Ellis Classic

Bob Ellis Classic Coordinator Patricia Strutz, a northern Wisconsin musky guide (info@ablondandherboat.com) caught and released a musky during the event."

When we put a new bathroom in this old cabin in 2007, we found a note on a two-by-four scribbled some 50-odd years ago by my uncle, Bob Ellis. He was a young man then, building four cabins staggered on 1500 feet of lakefront on the Manitowish Chain near Boulder Junction in Vilas County. He was literally building his dream so that he might follow a bigger dream of fishing muskies, hard and often.

We found out from the scribbled note that it was raining that summer day and the exact time when he worked alone in the quiet of northern Wisconsin. Bob has been gone for two decades this year. But his nephews and nieces and our spouses who found the note, scribbled something personal back to him, signed the piece of lumber, dated it and put it back in to hide across the ages until maybe someone else finds it on some rainy tomorrow.

There are old memories up here on the top of Wisconsin. Our family vacationed at Uncle Bob's, invading his resort once a year with a ruckus that only seven kids can bring. But it seems that new secrets like hidden notes or people from yesterday pulling up to the pier to tell a story that they remember most about Bob Ellis never end.

Bob's nephews and nieces bought the cabins when Bob was killed in a boat collision while row trolling on a November day for muskies on Papoose Lake in 1989. We didn't have homes. We didn't have money for luxuries like cabins and property. But some memories are priceless and you find ways not to lose them forever. Papoose, anyway, was the lake several years before where Bob had taken his biggest musky, a 41 pound fish mislead by a home-made bait crafted during the winter months and brought to its end by an old man fishing in an unstable, 12-foot rowboat; a boat he would often push across ice to find the open water and the big fish he so loved to chase.

Work and stories elsewhere have kept Lori and me away too long in 2009. This weekend, I arrived at the cabin and began the annual chores of raking pine needles and oak leaves and cutting shin-high weeds and grass. My brother and cabin partner, John Ellis, was futilely trying to coax water up an old well in the garage next to more dates scribbled on lumber by Uncle Bob that told him exactly when the sandpoint well was pulled and re-driven over the years. 2009 will be added to that workman's journal. To the east, my brother-in-law, Bob Johnson, hammered away at a new deck on the Uncle Bob property he had purchased with my sister Barb.

If you walk into our small cabin, you will find musky baits hanging from strip boards nailed at the top of bedroom walls, some of them the Bob Ellis specials made with care so long ago. When Bob died, my brother Jim Ellis began to make the home-made lures. I know it was part of his grieving for a lost uncle. His not-so-good first baits evolved into killer baits over the years. Those of us who row troll...all of us... catch more muskies and big walleyes on Jim Ellis Specials over the deep water that Uncle Bob coveted for big fish than any store-purchased lure.

Last week, Jim Ellis and Bob Johnson returned to represent our family in the 6th Annual Bob Ellis Classic, a row trolling tournament held in his honor and superbly coordinated by Patricia Strutz, a northern Wisconsin musky guide with her own expertise in row trolling and musky chasing. Friends of Bob Ellis and row trollers in all shapes and makes of boats come to simply fish for muskies and remember a life lived well. Strutz calls it "an eclectic group full of camaraderie and spirit."

Jim and Bob returned also to Papoose, the deep lake where Bob's life ended but also where he caught his largest fish. A plaque at "Bob Ellis Landing" reminds visitors to use the water with safety and respect. My brothers launched no doubt hoping that some of the Uncle Bob magic would shine down on their efforts. But they also launched armed with Jim Ellis Specials.

Twenty minutes after setting out, Bob Johnson waved Jim over. A musky conservatively measured at 44-inches had already fallen to a Special over 60 feet of water. Two hours later, a 41-inch musky fell for the same Special in deep water. Both fish were released, and Johnson would claim first and second place in the Bob Ellis Classic. More memories.

Day-time work done at the cabin this weekend, we launched our row trollers and set out to work the deep with the sun slipping in the west. Usually, at this time of year, with enough family row boats on the water we can find the occasional big suspended walleye and a cooperative musky or two over a few days of fishing. Not this time.

Before the long drive back to the Milwaukee suburbs Sunday, there were boats to pull from the lake, and a few clean-up chores to tend to. Two musky rods were stowed, and I hung two musky baits on the strip board in the bedroom; back in line with all of the other the old and battered soldiers of yesterday's musky battles. If these walls could talk, I think.

Then again, in a Bob Ellis cabin... sometimes they do.

BOB ELLIS CLASSIC BRINGS TROLLERS, FISH

According to Bob Ellis Classic Coordinator Patricia Strutz, the 6th Annual event was held in June, a return to the roots of the first classic after four consecutive October tournaments. Beautiful weather and good fishing, she said, helped make the decision a good one.

Participating anglers brought crafts ranging from vintage restored rowboats to modified canoes and skiffs to a brand new cedar strip boat built by Cindy and Kim Neurohr. Famed guide and Hall of Fame inductee Buckshot Anderson rowed in one of fellow hall of famer Porter Dean's rowboats. More women and youths participated than ever before.

Each of the three lakes that rowers could choose to fish produced muskies. In addition to Bob Johnson's winning fish at 44 and 41 inches taken on Papoose, Presque Isle produced a third place "big fish" for Ted Scharl in 84 feet of water. Three muskies were also caught and released on Crab Lake. George Jacques and Mark Zahn took fourth place trolling a Cisco kid in 35 feet of water, and Leon and Gary Duffin took fifth place with a 38 inch fish on Crane bait in six feet of water. Finally, Strutz caught a "small musky" in 16 feet of water on a crankbait.

Dickmann reflects on state vaulting Soccer All-Conference awards announced

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

What a great way to finish his senior season!

Jake Dickmann, Kewaskum High's lone male representative at the WIAA State Track and Field Meet in La Crosse, concluded his successful career in the sport, standing on the second rung of the victory stand.

Dickmann cleared 14 feet even (14-0) in the action-pickman pole vault event. It was his best effort by six inches and put his name in the KHS record book alongside Josh Parrent, the school's current pole vault coach, and Garrett Donath, who, since he left high school, has quickly developed into one of the University of Wisconsin's top rugby players.

Dickmann said earlier this week, he knew he was going to have a good day in the event and that he was satisfied with the way his season went.

E2I would have liked to have gotten first, but second's not bad," Dickmann said, recalling the day unraveled.

"It was nice and sunny, and we had a tailwind," Dickmann said about the conditions in La Crosse on June 5th.

Dickmann had one early miss at 12-0, but he said, "That was because the standards were too far back." Once that was resolved, the lanky athlete just kept gaining height after height, 12-6, 13-0, 13-6, and 13-9, all on the first try.

He finally missed one try at 14-0, then came right back and flew over the mark. And did he think he was going to go over at 14-0? "I did," Dickmann said, adding, "I went over by about six inches."

River Valley's Scott Liegel, cleared 14-0 on his final attempt, but he won the competition by going over the bar at 14-0 on his first try.

"Jake vaulted great," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said. "What was really neat was after missing at 12 feet, he made five straight jumps, including 13-9, which he had never made before."

Not only is Gosa proud of Dickmann's athletic endeavors, but he praised the young man for the kind of person he is. "You couldn't ask for a nicer kid," he said.

"It was also neat for Josh Parrent. He gets to coach the kid who tied his record," Gosa said.

Dickmann started as a high jumper and hurdler in middle school, then started vaulting midway during his freshman season.

"Alissa Clapper kind of sparked my interest to do it," Dickmann said, reporting he cleared 11-6 as a freshman, 12-6 by the end of his sophomore year and 13-0 as a junior. He was happy to add a foot to that mark this spring.

This is not the end of the line for Dickmann as a pole vaulter either. "Next year, I am going to UW-Oshkosh, and I plan to do track there, too.

Of course, the standards will be a little higher, according to Dickmann, who believes the school record there is 17 feet.

"My guess is he will just continue to improve," Gosa said. "I don't think he has come close to reaching his potential."

Amanda Witek cleared 4-10 to finish 15th in the high jump. "She made the opening height, which was 4-10, then she couldn't make 5-0," Gosa said, figuring Witek was a bit nervous in her first, figuring Witek.

A track wrap-up will appear in next week's edition of The Statesman.

Jake Dickmann
