BRIDGE OUT

Work has begun on the Highway 45 bridge just north of the village. The roadway is closed between Highway 28 and Highway V. Town of Kewaskum officials have closed Old Fend du Lac Road to allow only local traffic because that road can not handle the volume and weight from drivers not following the posted detour. The township has also closed West Moraine Drive, Highland Drive and Townline Road for the same reason. Town Chairman Ellis Kahn stated he had heard the project would be completed in three weeks, however the DOT could not be reached to confirm that.

Village Board attacks August agenda

By Mitch Maersch
For The Statesman

KEWASKUM- The Village Board discussed a number of items affecting village residents at their last meeting of August held this past Monday.

Village residents will have a few changes at the curb where trash collection is concerned. Effective as early as this fall, residents will be required to put their garbage in a 95-gallon bin to be picked up weekly.

A second 95-gallon bin will be used for recycling and will be picked up every other week.

The Village Board approved a five-year garbage contract with Veolia Environmental Services of Muskego, pending the formal contract matches the company's offer.

The contract takes effect January 1, 2010, but Veolia said it is willing to start switching the containers this fall in order to avoid making the change in the winter months.

After being originally denied, the Kewaskum Fire Department has received an Assistance to Firefighters grant from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

The grant is for $100,000, $5,000 of which must come from the department, Fire Chief Mark Groeschel told Village Trustees.

The grant is for an emergency backup generator and a vehicle exhaust removal system.

Garbage contract approved, changes in store

"It's $95,000 that we didn't have," Groeschel said.

The original grant was for $125,000.

Public Works Director Jerry Gilles gave the Village Board a preview of what has to happen on projects costing more than $25,000 next year, whether the village or another entity does the work.

"The prevailing wage rate will apply to projects the village accepts but does not do," he said.

Gilles recommended putting in developer's agreements that developers must pay prevailing wages if the law applies. That, he said, takes the village out of legal liability if the developer does not pay prevailing wages.

The state recently dropped the standard for paying prevailing wages dropped from projects of $234,000 or more to $25,000 or more.

Gilles has some questions on how the new rule will be executed, given paperwork will be filed multiple times due to the new standard.

"Can the state keep up with issuing them? That's the concern," Gilles said.

Gilles doubts more employees will be hired to handle the increased paperwork, given the state has been cutting staff. That could mean a delay in project approvals, he said.

Village President Andrew Pesch put fears at ease.

"It's part of the budget bill so I'm sure they budgeted for it," Pesch said, after which all enjoyed a good, hearty chuckle.

Delinquent water and sewer payments are up this year, a telltale sign of residents' ability to pay.

Through the second quarter of this year, delinquent payments total $138,615.89, up from last year's $90,000 at the same time, Village Administrator Mathew Heiser told the Village Board on Monday.

"People are hurting out there," said Village President Andrew Pesch.

Residents behind on payments receive a letter in mid-October reminding them to pay by November 1. If they don't pay by then, per state statutes, the bill gets added on to their tax bill, along with 10 percent interest.

T. Kewaskum addresses August agenda

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@kewaskumstatesman.com

TOWN of KEWASKUM- The Town Board held their monthly meeting Monday and responded to a number of items on their August agenda.

Supervisor Dan Schmidt who oversees the town vehicles advised his fellow supervisors on holding off on anything regarding the XT3 apron drive motor for International plow truck. Burke Truck and Equipment provided an estimate to replace the XT3 apron motor with a sensor was estimated to cost $721.50; without a sensor was estimated at $510.90.

Supervisors adopted Resolution 2009-07, a road maintenance agreement with the Town of Auburn. Kewaskum Township will maintain, repair, salt and plow County Line Road and the intersection of N. Mill Road in a westerly direction to the dead end and the intersection with Townline Road in an easterly direction to the dead end. Auburn Township will maintain County Line Road at the intersection of Forest View Drive in a westerly direction to the Kettle Moraine Drive intersection.

Resolution 2009-08, amending driveway permit was also approved. Previously field entrances were not mentioned where driveway permits were concerned. Because the town has had a problem with field entrances and the traffic using them wrecking town roads, field entrances were added to the town code.

The permit fee for a driveway/field entrance permit will be $830. A portion of the fee, $500 will be refunded upon the installation and restoration of the Town roadway. An additional $500 may be required to assure the placement of pavement.

A little housekeeping brought the adoption of Ordinance 2009-03, amending Chapter 7.04, regarding speed limits. During the updating of town signs, it was noted that Highland Drive had two different speed limits and Shagbark Road did not have a posted speed.

Highland Drive was dropped from 50 miles per hour to 45 miles per hour. Shagbark Road will be posted at 25-miles-per-hour.

Supervisor Schmidt gave a report on snow plow drivers and said everyone is ready for the first snow fall.

Supervisor Schmidt also reported on the various highway projects. Work on Kettle View Road is complete. A bump on Townline Road was milled off. Various curves on Kettle Moraine Drive are being shouldered by the town's road people; paving, sealing and shouldering is still occurring. Shouldering on Badger Road between Highland and Kettle View Drives will also be addressed.

Chairperson Kahn reported the sign replacement project has replaced about 40 signs and 80 remain.

Supervisors discussed and approved opening the recycling center again on Wednesdays from 5-8 p.m. Saturday hours would be 8 a.m. until noon. The hours will be effective May 15 to September 15, starting in 2010.

Clerk Nancy Boden reported she believed the recycling program would show some red ink financially for the year because the resale value of recyclable materials is lower and the state grant decreased.

Athletic Association adds flag football

School chooses recipients of service awards

KEWASKUM- For the second year, the Outstanding Service Award will be given out at Kewaskum's Homecoming game. Fifteen recipients who have served children in the Kewaskum School District will be recognized during the half-time program.

Criteria for this award included: longevity of service, impact on kids, and contribution to the School District.

Honorees will also have their name, date of induction, and volunteer contributions engraved and placed on the Wall of Outstanding Service that will be located in the Kewaskum High School entrance lobby. This wall is to be unveiled at a reception honoring this year's recipients just prior to game time.

The 2009 recipients are: Joe Backhaus, Merle Dreher,

New book features aluminum industry of Washington County

Those looking to see a bit of Washington County's rich history in the cookware industry will be interested in a local author's history of how Regal Ware of Kewaskum and West Bend Company shaped the aluminum industry. A new book is set to hit book stores on Monday, August 31.

Janean Mollet-Van Beckum the research center supervisor of the Washington County Historical Society has partnered with Arcadia Publishing to print Washington

Website shows where livestock sitting permits are required

MADISON- Point and click on a new web-based map, located at <https://datcpgis.wi.gov/livestock>, to learn which local governments require siting permits for the construction of a new livestock facility or expansion of an existing operation. From the shores of Lake Superior to the Illinois border, over 50 local governments in Wisconsin have enacted ordinances that require livestock siting permits.

Livestock farmers and community residents can learn more about specific local siting regulation by using this new interactive tool developed by the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP). The web application can help you find out:

Which local governments require a permit for new and expanding livestock operations. Whether permit approval is granted under a licensing or zoning ordinance.

The number of animals (measured in animal units) that trigger the permit requirement (commonly 500 animal units or about 350 milking cows).

Local government contact or a website for finding additional information.

"While the map is a great starting point, interested people will need to contact a local official to learn more about the specific process, and other applicable regulations at the local level," explained Mike Murray, livestock siting program specialist.

After gathering basic information about local permit requirements, you can use state agriculture department's web site <http://livestocksiting.wi.gov> to delve into the details. The web site explains the state water quality and odor standards farmers must meet, as well as the permitting procedures that local governments must follow.

DATCP is committed to assisting local governments and producers successfully implement the livestock facility siting law. For assistance in understanding how the law impacts your community, or for technical assistance, contact DATCP at 608-224-4613 or michael.murray@wisconsin.gov.

County's Aluminum Industry.

The book boasts more than 200 vintage images depicting the impact of the industry on the county and beyond.

The aluminum and cookware industries in Washington County were main employers during the 20th century. Manufacturing competitors West Bend Aluminum Company and Kewaskum Aluminum Company (later Regal Ware, Inc.) began production early in the 20th century only eight miles apart. These company histories, while interesting in themselves, would be remiss without discussion of broader influences. Both companies had a substantial effect on American consumerism, women's social roles and industrial design.

Today the West Bend Company and Regal Ware, Inc. are two of the best-known makers of cookware and small appliances around the world. Their ability to survive economic depression, war and changing times are three reasons for their success and make them excellent examples of the American dream come to life. With deep roots in Washington County, they were able to spread wide nets and capture loyalty around the globe.

The authors hope the book will be "a tribute to the workers as well as a wider audience for the collections that are rarely seen."

Highlights of Washington County's Aluminum Industry:

- Proceeds from the book will support the West Bend Co./Regal Ware Museum operated by the Washington County Historical Society.

- The majority of the images come from the collection of the West Bend Co./Regal Ware Museum.

- Many of the photographs featured are of the employees doing their job.

- The book also contains interesting images of processes and factory interiors.

The paperback book will be available at area bookstores, independent retailers, and online retailers, or through Arcadia Publishing at www.arcadiapublishing.com or (888)-313-2665.

Janean Mollet-Van Beckum is the research center supervisor of the Washington County Historical Society and also oversees the archives at the West Bend Co./Regal Ware Museum.

A 2003 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee with a M.S. in anthropology and certificate in museum studies, Mollet-Van Beckum has worked in her current position since 2006. The development of a new museum focused on the West Bend Company and Regal Ware, Inc. and the large donation of information and photographs which prompted this development were the natural lead into this book.

This work is intended to share with a wider audience many of the wonderful photographs in the collections of the Washington County Historical Society and its subsidiary the West Bend Co./Regal Ware Museum collections. No doubt it will bring back fond memories and inspire the telling of more colorful stories by the thousands of loyal employees and customers these two companies had over the years. Mollet-Van Beckum regards the book as a tribute to the workers of the aluminum and cookware industries of Washington County.

Local officials hear about retaining land use rights in County's 2035 comprehensive plan

By Mitch Maersch
For the Statesman

TOWN OF FARMINGTON- Town officials from across the area heard a presentation last week from a nonprofit group aiming to retain land use rights of towns after they approve their 2035 plans due at the end of this year.

Jay Verhulst, president of The Foundation For Common Sense Inc., described how he can preserve towns' land use rights through changing the wording of their 2035 comprehensive plans at Farmington's Plan Commission meeting.

Joshua Glass, a planner with the Washington County Planning and Parks Department, told the audience otherwise, saying there is no legal weight to Verhulst's claims, citing opinion from an attorney with the Wisconsin Towns Association.

Verhulst suggests changing some wording in each town's individual 2035 plans, namely replacing "intergovernmental cooperation" with "coordination."

While intergovernmental cooperation can lead a town to lose its land use rights to other municipalities, state or federal government, coordination, he said, gives the town "a seat at the table" when land use changes are requested, such as putting a highway through a town.

Verhulst gave a few examples of how coordination has worked nationally, including in three towns in Texas slated to have a super highway splitting them up and causing residents to drive seven miles one way to get from one side of the town to the other. Through the legal use of the term coordination, the towns stopped the highway from splitting them up.

While coordination has been invoked in other states, namely out west with large portions of federal land managed by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), it has not been used in Wisconsin.

Regardless, Verhulst says "coordinate" when interpreted by courts, carries the Webster's New International Dictionary definition, "of equal importance, rank or degree, not subordinate."

Verhulst, who runs his organization with his wife, is not a lawyer but says one attorney is on his organization's board of directors who has had success out west invoking "coordination." Verhulst charges to take towns through the process to change the wording in their 2035 plans. He says he personally reaps no financial benefit from his work. A few towns up north have contracted with Verhulst's organization.

Glass brought two letters from Lee Turonie, assistant legal counsel with the Wisconsin Towns Association, in arguing Verhulst's claims.

Turonie in a letter to the town of Eagle says the idea of coordination was brought to Wisconsin to fight comprehensive planning and it does not work. It has been "massively oversold by special interest groups to local governments" in order to forward the special interest groups' agendas.

Turonie says coordination only applies to cases involving federally owned land managed by the BLM. Wisconsin has "very little" land managed by the BLM, most of it tribal land, he wrote.

"There is zero State of Wisconsin law that can be used as a basis for demanding Coordination," Turonie wrote.

At the end of the meeting, Glass told the audience it is the state's goal for towns to retain local control through the 2035 plans, not take any away. Verhulst asked Glass if he could get that statement in writing.

Art Seyfert, plan commission chairman and town supervisor, reminded an occasionally argumentative crowd that the meeting was for informational purposes only as he and the rest of the Town Board want to understand the 2035 plan before approving it by its Jan. 1 deadline.

Interest in Catholic high school is evident at county brainstorming session held Monday

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

WEST BEND— Keeping Washington County Catholic elementary schools vibrant and affordable are more important than where they are located is what 40 individuals recommended Monday evening at Holy Angels School in the first of two brainstorming sessions scheduled on the topic. And a lot of interest was shown in having a Catholic High school in the area.

Parents of varying age groups, several teachers, and even a half dozen seniors made up the six discussion teams who were asked to look at two questions, "What will/should Catholic education look like in the area (West Bend, Newburg and Kewaskum) in the next five years and secondly the same question 10 years into the future.

The groups were given 20 minutes on each question, then asked to report on their findings.

"We want to keep reasonable class sizes and high levels of parent involvement," Jim Wesp stated, indicating further that his group felt it is important to spend more energy and effort into marketing the assets of Catholic education to increase enrollments.

"We decided we wanted to dream" in our response, said Colleen Mas, whose group decided its No. 1 goal was to have the classrooms in all four schools filled within five years.

Rob Mas separated Catholic education into three areas, academics, service, "actually going with you are learning," and spirituality, which should be expanded to the point where adult formation classes are added to enhance what their children are learning in the schools.

"Kids need to have the edge in technology," according to Ross Zautner, whose group wants to see additional curriculum for advanced students, the possibility of a budget for all county Catholic Schools and wanted to address the issue of how students in Jackson could be served in Catholic schools.

Many of the groups were in agreement that all students who want a Catholic education should be able to get one. How that would be determined financially was not addressed Monday.

In going over the ground rules of the session, Gail Craig, the principal at Immaculate Conception School in West Bend, said, "I always like to let the mission drive the finances." Those present appeared to agree with this concept.

When it came to the 10-year question, it was almost unanimous the importance of opening a Catholic high school in the county, and the people felt, if need be, the school could be housed in one of the current facilities.

While Rob and Colleen Mas appreciated the small community atmosphere currently provided by Catholic schools, they were not opposed to collaborating the schools into one larger K-12 school. "It eliminates the parochialism," Colleen Mas said.

One of the groups suggested having religion classes for Holy Angels and St. Frances Cabrini combined to help lighten the load currently carried by the priests at those parishes.

Zautner suggested Catholic schools in the country combined to develop a pilot program for the entire diocese. "You have to aim high," he said after the session.

All of the ideas will be compiled, then studied by the administrators of the four schools. They will also be sent on to diocese for review and consideration.

JoAnn Karpin, the principal of Holy Trinity School in Kewaskum, was present at the meeting, along with Michael Sternig, Holy Angels' principal.

Karpin explained the principals are working on several collaborative projects for the coming year, including sponsoring one dance at each of the four schools, sharing a bus to attend a Youth Conference, alternating the site for a countywide spelling contest and having combined Masses for the various age groups during Catholic Schools Week.

Already the four schools share a substitute teacher list, so they can be assured of hiring qualified individuals to take over should regular teachers be ill or involved with educational meetings.

The principals of schools in Washington and Dodge Counties currently meeting once a month to discuss educational topics.

A similar session was scheduled for Wednesday night at St. Frances Cabrini School. Karpin was hopeful Holy Trinity would be represented at this second session. Information on the sessions came out late last week, and Karpin felt they were not received in time for parents to make plans to come to Holy Trinity.

Concerning the enrollment for Holy Trinity for the 2009-10 school year, Karpin said, "We're somewhere between 150 and 155. The last time I talked with Mrs. (Diane) Schickert (school aide/secretary), we had 150, and some new inquiries had come in (for new enrollees)." The final total will be very close to the enrollment for the past year, which Karpin said, was at 154.

School opens on Tuesday, Sept. 1, with an open house for parents scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 27 from 3 to 6:30 p.m.

No call list sign up deadline approaching

MADISON— Wisconsin residents annoyed with telemarketing phone calls interrupting their dinners or leisure activities have until the end of the month to get on the state's upcoming No Call phone list. No Call is a free service offered through the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP).

Residents must sign up for the No Call list every two years to avoid being dropped from the service.

"We currently have more than 1.8 million numbers on the Wisconsin No Call list," said Janet Jenkins, who heads up the agency's Trade and Consumer Protection Division.

August 31 is the last day to sign up for the next two-year list, which goes into effect beginning in October. Consumers can always sign up later, but they will not be on the list that becomes effective on October 1.

Jenkins reminds families, caregivers, nursing homes, hospitals, institutions, and associations for the elderly that Wisconsin's No Call law allows them to put people in their care on the No Call list. Also, parents who provide cell phones to their minor children can elect to have those numbers on the list.

"Being on the No Call list will reduce telemarketing phone calls, but not eliminate them altogether," Jenkins said. "Non-profit groups, elected officials, and candidates for office can legally make calls, and there are always shady groups or individuals who knowingly violate the law in hopes of making a quick buck. These folks often use sophisticated equipment or techniques to hide their identities, making prosecution difficult if not impossible.

"Even though some people still receive telemarketing calls, as one caller from Madison told one of our operators recently, 'Life in Wisconsin is much better since the No Call law was passed,'" Jenkins added.

Wisconsin residents can sign up their cell phone or landline numbers by calling 1-866-9NO-CALL (1-866-966-2255). It's toll-free and can be contacted 24 hours a day. A person can also sign up online at <https://nocall.wisconsin.gov/web/home.asp>.

For more consumer information, or to file a consumer complaint, contact the Bureau of Consumer Protection on the web at www.datcp.state.wi.us; via e-mail at DATCPHotline@WI.gov; or call the toll-free hotline at 1-800-422-7128.

"We're excited to have Chad take on the important position of Forage Product Manager at Dairyland. With his background, growing up on a progressive dairy farm in Eastern Wisconsin, he brings that forward-thinking perspective to this position," stated General Manager, Tom Strachota.

In his new position, Chad will develop and maintain existing on-farm strip trial product testing programs to gain knowledge of forage product performance in various environments. He will coordinate with the National Sales Leader, the Alfalfa Strategy Leader, Marketing, the Corn Product Development Agronomist and Alfalfa Research to design and implement a strategy that will stimulate interest and purchases in all of Dairyland's forage products. His primary focus will be on Dairyland's Hybrid Alfalfa and HiDF Corn Silage Products.

Lighthouse to host concert featuring three groups Aug. 22

Lighthouse Ministries, Inc., a nondenominational ministry welcomes the public to free concerts on Saturday, August 22 from 4 - 9 p.m. at Regner Park in West Bend.

There will be three groups performing.

The first group, Koine, will perform from 4 - 5:15 p.m. Koine is a six piece band from Milwaukee with a desire to bring back those great hymns of faith from years past. They have creatively transformed the hymns into a modern mix of various styles of music blends. Their desire is to show everyone the beauty and potential that lies in traditional hymns and to make them hear the words with greater meaning. The band has toured 12 different states and has been well received in the release of their three CDs.

From 4 to 5 p.m. there will be free hot dogs available.

At 5:45 national artist Don Wharton will take the stage. Wharton is from Fort Wayne, IN and has spent 30 years on the road performing over 3,000 concerts. His encouraging and uplifting style has inspired thousands of people to a greater faith in Jesus Christ.

Don has inspired 15 albums and has opened for such Christian artists as Michael Card, Carman, Don Francisco and Jessie Dixon. He has worked with 60s recording sensations Paul and Paula and acclaimed actor Beau Bridges.

Don has also had some tests of faith in his life when a small commuter plane he was in crashed in the Bering Sea off the coast of Alaska. All survived the chilling water - they are the only known survivors in the history of the Bering Sea that have overcome this type of crash.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., Bill Murk, world-class premier Christian violinist, will perform. He has played at the Grand Ole Opry and before 50,000 at a Promise Keeper event. He has toured 50 states and 40 countries with a fresh approach that bridges the musical gap between generations. He has accompanied and recorded with Steve Green, Amy Grant, Fernando Ortega, Point of Grace, Buddy Greene, 4 Him and the Gaudy vocal band. Bill's eclectic style ranges from traditional, celtic, pop, jazz, bluegrass and contemporary.

This event is completely free of charge and concert goers are invited to bring their lawn chairs, blankets and picnic baskets to the park. Door prizes will be given and refreshments and pizza will be available.

To get to Regner Park, take Hwy. 45, turn east on Hwy. 33, turn left on 18th Ave, turn right on Park Ave. and enter the park on Park Ave.

When good people choose to illegally or irresponsibly use alcohol, tobacco or other drugs, these choices often negatively affect at least four other people - a parent, spouse, co-worker, child or employer. The programs and services of the Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse of Washington County help to prevent and reduce the devastating effects of alcohol and other drug abuse and addiction on individuals and their families and the community. Proceeds from the triathlon will be used to support prevention and early intervention services.

Sponsors of the event include West Bend Mutual Insurance Company, Meadow Creek Elk Farm, Washington County Parks and Planning Department, Johnson Bus, Mid Cities Motorsports, Hartford Savings Bank, Road ID and Hammer Nutrition.

Common Edible and Poisonous Mushrooms

Join in as the Summer Saturday Evening Events series at the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit continues with the program, "Common Edible and Poisonous Mushrooms of Wisconsin."

The program will be held on Saturday, August 22, from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center. The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Summer and fall are great times of year to go mushroom hunting especially if it has been a wet season. Fungi come in all shapes and colors from the white puff balls to the brilliant sulphur mushrooms and craggy coral fungus. Many people enjoy the beauty of the wide array of fungi, but others enjoy collecting edible fungi in particular many mushrooms. Even though mushroom collecting has been called the most dangerous of outdoor sports, foraging for edible fungi in the Wisconsin woods continues to grow in popularity.

Dr. Allan Parker, a very experienced mushroom expert from UW-Waukesha, will share his unique knowledge of Wisconsin's fungi including mushrooms. He will cover ways to minimize the dangers and maximize the delights of collecting and eating wild fungi.

For further information or directions to the Ice Age Visitor Center, contact the forest staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The staff can be reached at (920) 533-8322. The center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Little Folks get cool treats

The ice cream truck made a stop at Little Folks School House recently. A visit by Don's Ice Cream was pre-arranged, allowing each child to bring some ice cream money to purchase a special treat. The ice cream trucks don't usually venture out to the more rural areas such as Wayne and Farmington so it was quite a novelty for the children who don't reside in the village. The scheduled stop happened to fall on one of the hottest days we've had this summer.

Build skills now for career advancement at UWWC

If you're thinking about heading back to school to help your job search or move up the career ladder, officials at UW-Washington County (UW-WC) say it's still not too late to apply.

Martha Nelson, Assistant Director of Student Services at UW-WC, stated, "Most career counselors are stressing right now that the best economic investment people can make is to build their skills."

UW-WC's new Washington Express degree program is designed specifically to help working adults prepare for the position that they want, now that they are somewhat along in their careers." The Washington Express is an accelerated evening program, with classes held in Hartford. The fall program still has a few openings left, according to Nelson.

Students in this program attend classes just two evenings a week from 5:30pm to 8:10pm. Each class is taught in an accelerated format and is completed in three to eight weeks. Students in the Washington Express program can complete an Associate degree in approximately two years. In addition, the cohort group remains the same throughout the program, so you get to know everyone in the class.

For more information about the Washington Express program, contact Laurie Kuehn in Student Services (262-335-5250, ext. 306).

Traditional age students who still want to attend college this fall, can also apply. By registering late, class selections will be more limited, however, according to Nelson. In addition, the priority deadline for financial aid was in April, so there could be a delay in receiving aid. However, if students can work out tuition arrangements with the business office, the financial aid could potentially pay them back later.

Fall classes at UW-Washington County begin Wednesday, September 2. Students can apply online at www.uwhelp.wisconsin.edu. Paper applications can be picked up in the Student Services Office at 400 University Drive, West Bend. For more information, call the Student Services Office at (262)-335-5201 or visit www.washington.uwc.edu

Court reporting, captioning program new at MPTC

There's still time to enroll in the new Judicial Reporting program opening this fall at Moraine Park Technical College.

Presented locally through a partnership with Lakeshore Technical College, the program prepares participants for well-paying, evolving careers in court reporting, broadcast captioning, Webcasting, freelance reporting and live-event captioning.

Graduates of this associate degree program go on to provide instantaneous text transcriptions for legal proceedings, television programming and hearing-impaired individuals. On average, court reporters and captioners earn more than $60,000 a year. The U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics projects that job opportunities in this field will grow 10 to 20 percent through 2012.

Certified by the National Court Reporters Association, the Judicial Reporting associate of applied science degree program immerses students in real-world instruction at technical college campuses throughout Wisconsin. Because this is a shared program, Judicial Reporting students attend live, interactive TV classes sent from LTC to their local technical college, and take general studies classes and labs at their local college.

For more information, visit www.gotoltc.edu/judicialreporting or call (888) 468-6582, ext. 1366.

With campuses in Beaver Dam, Fond du Lac and West Bend, Moraine Park Technical College is one of 16 colleges that make up Wisconsin's technical colleges. Moraine Park offers more than 100 associate of applied science degrees, technical diplomas, apprenticeships and certificates delivered in a variety of formats — classroom, online and blended. Training and technical assistance for businesses are also offered. For more information about Moraine Park, visit www.morainepark.edu.

BY KATHLEEN FLAHERTY
KES Third Grade Teacher

This summer twelve Kewaskum students picked up paper and pencil, mixed creativity with daring, and produced twelve books, never before seen on a bookshelf. What afforded them this opportunity? They signed up for Kewaskum School District's Summer School Program and a class I offered, Becoming an Author and Illustrator. Stories of all kinds are bottled up inside all of us. Here was a chance for children to allow their characters freedom to emerge and their stories to develop.

My class format is based on a book, Written and Illustrated, by David Melton. My students not only became authors and illustrators, but editors as well. They focused on how to develop a good storyline that will capture the reader's attention and hold him or her spellbound to the very end. They became more confident in their ability to draw their own illustrations by practicing contour drawing, the pencil in hand following what the eye sees in reality.

As the texts grew, and illustrations multiplied, they took turns at the author's chair. As they read or shared their latest illustration the rest of us would give feedback, first as compliments and then possibly a suggestion for making a change. Authors were free to accept a suggestion or to dismiss it. Day after day, students' imaginations found their way onto paper. Titles were chosen, dedications in place and authors' pages completed. At last, the final day arrived, family members gathered to hear the books read, "hot off the press". As class time was nearing an end and students were heading out the door, I could hear children talking together about a plot for their next story, music to a teacher's ears.

IN MEMORY

In memory of FRANK WERHANOWICZ Oct. 4, 1931 - Aug. 19, 2002

I Remember...
Your face, your brown eyes and those little Polack ears,
I still can't believe you have been gone seven years.

I Remember...
Your abundance of tools, your assortment of garage coats,
Your love to fish bluegills, your yellow fishing boat

I Remember...
Your garage parties, people swinging from the bar,
When we got our license you bought us each a used car.

I Remember...
You were always making wood, extra heat for winter, How you would use our jack-knife to take out our splinters.

I Remember...
You sitting in your recliner, you'd have us take your boots off,
The pump house you built with its little bitty loft.

I Remember...
Summer vacations by your Mom, the stories of your past
Time doesn't stand still, but memories last.

We will never forget you!

*Mike, Pam,
Peter, Luanne,
Elly & Kati*

I would like to thank everyone for all your prayers, cards and visits while I was a patient at Community Memorial Hospital, and Pastor Henning for the special prayers.

Thanks again for all your prayers and cards, telephone calls, flowers and food, while I'm recovering at home.

"I think it stinks," said Town of Scott resident Clara Trapp, as she and about 120 other Kewaskum School District residents heard the school board vote 4 to 3 to close Beechwood to effective the end of the 1983-83 school year. The decision came after an hour and a half discussion between the board and Beechwood area parents who were seeking to change the board's previous decision to divide classes between Beechwood and Farmington, shuttling students between the two schools. In a sense, the two schools "won the battle, but lost the war" because the end result was not the one they wanted or expected.

Principal Clark Pearson presented his last class of Kewaskum's 190 graduating seniors during Friday's commencement ceremony.

Each year some 2,000 junior boys and girls from throughout Wisconsin represent their schools and community at a state gathering of Wisconsin school students. The Kewaskum delegates are sponsored by the local American Legion Post and the Kewaskum Kiwanis organization. This year, Amber Charland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fran Charland, Kewaskum; Sandra Secor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Secor, Kewaskum, and Julie Strancke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strancke, Kewaskum, were the three junior students selected from the top third of junior class girls. Gary Butzlaff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loran Butzlaff, Kewaskum, and Jon Etta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Etta, West Bend, were the two junior boys from the top half of their class.

New officers were elected by Robert G. Romaine Post 384 of the American Legion, Kewaskum. Fred Kleinke, the new commander, took over at the Post's meeting on June 11 at the Legion clubhouse. The following list of officers will assist Commander Kleinke: 1st Vice Commander, Pat McFadden; 2nd Vice Commander, Mike Chesak; Chaplain, Joe Doll; Sergeant-at-Arms, Harold Boettcher; Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, James Korth; Historian, Marilyn Haug, and Judge Advocate, Roger McKenna.

Marine Pvt. Randall R. Gau, son of Norbert and Donna Gau, Kewaskum, and Marine Pvt. Robert A. Lemke, son of Jean Lemke, Kewaskum, have both completed basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

Twins, Keith Francis and Kent Francis, were born to Steve and Jane Joas, Campbellsport, May 27. A son, Adam Joseph, was born to Francis and Doreen Ru-plinger, Campbellsport, May 20.

Judy Rinzel and Norman Rodenkirch were selected as Kewaskum High School representatives at Badger Girls State and Badger Boys State. The girls will meet in Madison from June 10-17 and the boys will meet at Ripon from June 10-13.

Two years of work and planning will finally become a reality for 14 Explorer Scouts on June 6 when they leave for a week's canoe trip in Canada, The 14 Explorers who will make the trip are David Hanselman, Robert Berg, Edward St. Mary, Robert Ewert, Walter Ewert, Harvery Ramthun Jr., David Opperman, Tom Bartelt, James Fickler, Jack Weddig, Robert Butzke, William Sengpiel, Robert Kroncke and Ralph Perkins. The three leaders will be Edwin Fickler, Harvey Ramthun Sr., and Ned Sengpiel.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schoofs, Kewaskum, on June 1. Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lohse, Kewaskum, and to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rauch, Kewaskum, both on June 1.

With all the splendor of the Catholic Liturgy, Holy Trinity Church of this village, was the scene of a most solemn and impressive service on Tuesday morning. The Reverend Aloysius S. Fellenz, one of Holy Trinity Parishes favorite sons, offered up his First Solemn High Mass. The young priest was escorted by a joyful procession, amid the joyful ringing of the church bells and the melodious strains of the organ to the church which some years ago had been the scene of his baptism, First Holy Communion and Confirmation. The symbolic bride was little Rhea Gadow of Barton, her bridesmaids were Harriet Stoffel of Kewaskum and Mary Agnes Laufer of Belgium. The train bearer was Jerome Heitpas of West Bend and pages were Nathan Nigh and Alan Stoffel of Kewaskum. Father Aloysius S. Fellenz is the son of John P. Fellenz and the late Helen Mahlberg.

Three men were arrested and one of the largest alcohol distilleries ever uncovered in Fond du Lac County was seized Thursday night when

A Look at Life

ROCHELLE PENNINGTON

Small Kindness Yields Large Impacts

Kindness. I came to fully understand its impact in only a few short minutes while taking one of the more important examinations of my life.

The test was oral, and the test giver was a radio announcer. The classroom was my car.

While traveling along in the rain on a recent Monday morning, a voice coming from the little speaker next to my steering wheel asked, "Can you name the last Nobel Peace Prize winner?"

I knew I should remember, but the name escaped me. While I was trying to think, more questions were asked: "Can you name a recent Pulitzer Prize winner?" Again, I couldn't. "Can you name athletes who received gold medals in the last Olympics? Or the last woman to be crowned the Miss America?"

Or...or...or. No...no...no. Music, literature, art, government officials, scientists—I was zero for zero and wondering how many listeners were answering correctly.

And then it happened. A question was asked that I could answer: "Can you name the last person who told you they loved you?" My heart remembered, vividly and without hesitation, my elderly mother who I had visited that morning and shared a cup of coffee with. She waved to me from the back door when I left, yelling after me, "I love you!"

Another question, and again I had the answer. "Can you name the last person who hugged you?" Certainly. Most definitely.

Still others: "Can you name a person who showed you kindness recently?" Of course! "Can you name a person to whom you showed a kindness recently?" Again, of course! Yes, of course! "Can you name someone whose smile makes a difference in your day? Or a teacher whose dedication made a difference in your life?" Yes, yes, I know! Oh, who to choose? There are so many!

The announcer spoke of the neighbors, co-workers, friends, and even strangers who touch our lives, and I continued to smile. He spoke of helpfulness, of generosity, of thoughtfulness, and of charity. I felt like laughing out loud. What a way to start one's day! And on a Monday! And in the rain!

The announcer's lesson would fit in a nutshell: Kindness matters. It is longed for, and lived for—and remembered.

When all is said and done, the mighty accomplishments and praiseworthy achievements of the past and present will certainly leave their imprint on humanity, but our individual hearts will recognize, first and foremost, the simple deeds of love and kindness which have left their imprint on our humanity.

Truly, to give love and receive love in the common moments of everyday life are goals as worthy as all others.

"Do all the good you can, by all the means you can, in all the ways you can, in all the places you can, at all the times you can, to all the people you can, as long as ever you can."

JOHN WESLEY

"Make a rule and pray to God to help you keep it, never, if possible, to lie down at night without being able to say, 'I have made one human being a little wiser, a little happier, or at least a little better this day.'"

seven federal agents invaded an abandoned farm three miles north of Dundee. The district in which the distillery was seized was one of the "wettest" in Eastern Wisconsin during Prohibition days. Distilleries were found in the vicinity of Dundee frequently and on one occasion alleged distillers engaged a federal agent in a gun battle. The plant apparently was a new one, probably set up in the last two months, agents said. When agents opened valves on the mash tanks, a veritable flood of mash filled the barn. Agents worked all night dismantling the still.

The Salutatory was given by Miss Agatha Tiss; Class History, Elsie Sommers; Class Poem, Vivian E. Colvin; Oration, Harry W. Backhaus; Class Prophecy, Rose Ockenfels; Class Will, Edna Altenhofen; Valedictory, Cora A. Colvin. Other members of the class were: Alvin Gottsleben, Walter Schneider, Agnes Kuehl, Leona Backhaus and Clara Heinemann.

Mrs. August Heberer of New Fane was badly injured last Monday while taking milk to the factory. She was taking a can out of the wagon when suddenly the horses ran away. Mrs. Heberer was thrown out of the rig on a large pile of wood. The wagon passed over her. She received painful injuries but not of a serious nature.

Joseph Strachota, who was awarded the contract to build 1600 running feet of cement for the village, commenced on the job last Monday.

Contractor Louis F. Brandt is putting up the new storage building for A.A. Perschbacher in Kewaskum this week.

Nonprofit network, WisconsinEye marks two-year anniversary

MADISON— Two years after the launch of its broadcast operations, WisconsinEye is making good on its promise to deliver first-quality, non-partisan coverage of public affairs statewide to a growing audience of citizens and students of government.

The private, multimedia network, which launched on the Internet and cable television in mid 2007, celebrated by providing residents with independent, gavel-to-gavel access to the state budget process for the first time in state history and when the stakes in Madison have never been higher due to the severe economic recession.

Chris Long, president and chief executive of WisconsinEye, says the network's well-received programming is evidence of success in its mission to encourage citizen engagement and more informed public dialogue.

"The legislative leaders who conceived of WisconsinEye believed in the power of information to invigorate democracy and stimulate public involvement," Long says. "With two years of successful operations under our belts and a number of journalism awards now lining the walls, we are proving the wisdom of their vision. Citizens, educators, businesses and nonprofit organizations statewide are all finding value in the government and public affairs programming that we provide."

WisconsinEye operates under a seven-year agreement with the Wisconsin Legislature. The network records all Senate and Assembly floor sessions, many legislative committee meetings, all Supreme Court oral arguments and executive branch events in their entirety and without commentary through 70 digital camera locations inside the state Capitol.

WisconsinEye broadcasts on Charter Cable Channel 995, Time Warner Channel 163 and via the Internet at www.wiseye.org. The private, nonprofit network also is working in partnership with newspapers and broadcasters around the state to make WisconsinEye's content available for their news operations at no cost for the benefit of local readers and viewers.

Since its launch, the network has covered more than 1,200 hours of legislative proceedings, all freely available on demand at www.wiseye.org. Meanwhile, viewership of WisconsinEye programming is steadily increasing. Since January, video streaming at wiseye.org has increased 65 percent and the number of visitors has increased 55 percent.

State leaders credit WisconsinEye with establishing a convenient way for people in all parts of the state to access government decision-making and gain insight into the state's executive, legislative and judicial processes.

At the same time, WisconsinEye's camera locations in the state Capitol have been helpful in providing a direct link to the public regarding news and important policy developments at the Wisconsin Department of Justice. Attorney General J.B. Van Hollen has observed that WisconsinEye's coverage has created an important video archive and reference tool for those interested in issues ranging from gun ownership to drug enforcement initiatives.

WisconsinEye also serves as a valuable tool for students and citizens by documenting all oral arguments before the Supreme Court.

Members of the Wisconsin Legislature have praised WisconsinEye's efforts to capture Senate and Assembly action around the clock when necessary. The network's coverage of this year's biennial budget debate marks the first time in the state's history that a complete recording of the proceedings is available for review by the public.

WisconsinEye, a private, nonprofit 501(c)(3) corporation, is unique among the more than two dozen C-SPAN-inspired state networks in that it receives no direct or indirect state support, thus ensuring its editorial independence. In addition to funding from foundations, organizations and corporations, WisconsinEye is supported by fees from commercial distributors and plans to add program sponsorships to its revenue base.

WISPolitics Week in Review

Former attorney consulted on pardons, other issues without license

The calendars of Gov. Jim Doyle and his Chief of Staff Susan Goodwin show that Chandra Miller Fienen, who resigned amid the news that she wasn't licensed as an attorney in Wisconsin, was consulted on matters including pardons, emergency management and education issues.

Miller Fienen graduated from the University of California-Berkeley Law School and practiced law in that state before coming to Wisconsin to serve as an executive assistant at the Department of Commerce. She moved to Doyle's office in July 2008 as chief legal counsel/senior adviser, according to e-mails WisPolitics obtained.

According to calendars for Doyle and Goodwin from July 2008 through May 2009, Miller Fienen had four meetings with Doyle to review pardons and nine meetings described as "legal counsel" or "regarding a legal matter" with Doyle, Goodwin and other governor's office staff.

Doyle told WisPolitics he was aware that Miller Fienen hadn't passed the state bar exam when she was hired, but expected her to do so within a month and was told she had.

Doyle spokesman Lee Sensenbrenner said Miller Fienen passed the exam, but it's not known why she never received accreditation through the bar. The flap resulted in Republican charges that the administration was flouting state law.

Voter ID not part of election plan

The Government Accountability Board unanimously approved a five-year election administration plan aimed at maintaining the state's compliance with the federal Help America Vote Act through 2014.

But the board elected to exclude a voter ID requirement from the election plan, a board spokesman said, because board members decided the requirement "is not an appropriate expenditure of federal HAVA funds." Board members also felt that a decision about voter ID is a policy matter best left to lawmakers.

The 2009-2014 Election Administration Plan was approved last month by the Wisconsin Election Administration Council. The plan must also be approved by the Joint Committee on Finance, and a number of the plan's provisions are subject to approval by the Legislature and the governor.

The meeting also featured a report on concerns aired by elections clerks and others at public hearings about increased costs and potential for fraud should the state adopt a proposed early voting system. Some clerks advocated delaying such a program until after 2010 or 2012.

Testimony from all of the public hearings will be presented to the board in a final report on early voting scheduled for October. The Election Administration Plan calls for a potential early voting pilot program for 2010 after local officials faced record numbers of in-person absentee voters last year.

Panel to schedule hearing over unauthorized Veterans home spending

The co-chairs of the Joint Finance Committee have refused to do a passive review of a request for an additional $701,000 from the Department of Veterans Affairs to cover unauthorized expenses incurred at the Veterans Home at King during 2008-09.

JFC co-chairs Sen. Mark Miller and Rep. Mark Pocan sent a letter saying instead they plan to schedule a hearing to consider the request.

According to the Legislative Fiscal Bureau, the unauthorized expenses included a fire truck and a pharmaceutical tablet packaging system.

The Department of Veterans Affairs has requested that the Department of Justice's Public Integrity Unit investigate the expenditures. DOJ spokesman Bill Cosh said the request is being reviewed.

Kewaskum A's advance in playoffs

A's Lock up #2 seed in upcoming Rock River Playoffs

The A's were able to secure the number 2 seed in the upcoming Rock River Playoffs as they defeated Oakfield 13-3 in Brownsville Monday night (August 3).

The A's jumped ahead 2-0 in the first thanks to an Austin Sarauer two RBI double. The A's pushed their lead to 3-1 on a Dan Shea RBI single in the fourth, but Oakfield scrapped together two runs in the top of the fifth to tie the game at three apiece.

The A's blew the game open in the sixth as they sent 13 batters to the plate and scored eight runs. Nick Whitty had a big two RBI single in the inning putting the A's on top for good. Jim Ziegler picked up the win on the mound tossing seven innings and Jake Panzer followed with two perfect innings of relief.

Leading hitters were Dan Shea 3x4 (3 RBI), Austin Sarauer 2x4 (2B, 3 RBI) and Nick Whitty 2x5 (2 RBI).

A's Shut Down at Hartford

With Rubicon defeating Brownsville on Saturday and the Rock River Northern Division title no longer a possibility, the A's looked to lock the number two seed in the playoffs with a win over Hartford on Sunday. Hartford had other ideas though as they knocked off the A's 3-1.

The A's couldn't cash in on numerous scoring opportunities as they left 11 runners on base and hit into two double plays on the day. Taking the tough luck loss for the A's was Mitch Huffman who gave up five hits to go along with 11 strikeouts.

A few timely hits by Hartford was enough to give them the victory. Leading the way at the plate was Matt Meisenheimer who went 3x5 with a RBI.

A's Give One Away in Plymouth Championship Game

The A's found themselves in position to knock off the Brownsville 49ers for the second consecutive year in the Plymouth Tourney Championship on Wednesday night, but one bad inning left the A's on the losing end of the 9-8 game.

The A's jumped all over Brownsville pitching early on, scoring eight runs in the first four innings.

Matt Meisenheimer got things started with a one-out single in the first. After Austin Sarauer reached on an error, Kurt Zagzebski ripped a two RBI double to left to put the A's up 2-0.

The A's stayed hot at the plate in the second as Adam Sarauer and Nick Whitty reached with consecutive singles. After a sacrifice bunt by Jake Panzer, Jake Spaeth blasted a pitch off the rightcenter field fence for a 2 RBI triple. Meisenheimer followed with a sac fly and it was 5-0 Kewaskum.

Kewaskum kept the momentum rolling in the fourth with a two-out rally. Meisenheimer had an RBI single and Shea followed with a RBI double. After Austin Sarauer was hit by a pitch, Kurt Zagzebski drove a RBI single to right to make it 8-0 A's.

Starting pitcher Jake Lathers cruised through five innings giving up only one run, which came on a ball that was lost in the lights. But in the sixth, Brownsville put together a few hits and walks and took advantage of a few Kewaskum miscues to cut the score to 8-4. Lathers was relieved by Jim Ziegler with Brownsville still batting in the sixth, but he did not fare much better as three consecutive hits by Brownsville put the 49ers on top 9-8. Shell-shocked by the quick turn of events, the A's never really recovered and would go on to lose 9-8.

A's Remain Unbeaten in Rock Playoffs With Win Sunday

The Kewaskum A's remained unbeaten in the Rock River Playoffs with an 8-2 victory over the Lebanon Whitetails Sunday afternoon.

The A's struggled early against Lebanon starting pitcher, Zach Lauersdorf, but the toll of Lauersdorf throwing two complete games already this week may have begun to show in the fourth.

With Kewaskum trailing 1-0 in the fourth inning, Jake Spaeth walked to leadoff the inning. Spaeth was able to get to third base thanks to a throwing error and a wild pitch and came into score on a Kurt Zagzebski RBI single tying the game at 1-1.

The A's took advantage of another Lebanon miscue in the fifth as they loaded the bases with two outs, but were only able to score one run, thanks to an errant throw back to the pitcher.

Kewaskum tacked on a single run in the sixth inning as Austin Sarauer reached on a single, and eventually scored on a wild pitch. The A's put the game away in the seventh inning when they plated three more runs. Matt Meisenheimer doubled to lead off the inning and scored on a one-out RBI single by Spaeth. Shea reached on a fielder's choice to load the bases and Austin Sarauer followed with a two RBI single past a drawn-in infield to put the lead at 6-1.

The A's also picked up an insurance run in the eighth and ninth innings as they scored at least one run in each of the final six innings. Jim Ziegler got the win on the mound tossing eight innings, while giving up two runs on seven hits.

Jake Panzer threw a scoreless ninth to closeout the victory. The A's were led at the plate by Nick Whitty 3x5 (2 2B), Kurt Zagzebski 3x4 (2B, RBI) and Austin Sarauer 2x5 (2 RBI).

Kewaskum Picks up Victory on Day 1 of Playoffs

The Kewaskum A's knocked off Madison L.T. 10-2 on Saturday in a Rock River Playoff game. Madison L.T. jumped ahead 2-0 off Kewaskum starting pitcher Mitch Huffman in the top of the 1st, but Huffman settled in from there and shut down L.T. over the next six innings allowing no more runs. Jake Lathers threw two scoreless innings of relief to seal the victory for the A's.

L.T.'s lead was shortlived on Saturday though, as the A's put up nine runs over the first two innings. Matt Meisenheimer got things started in the first with a walk, followed by singles from Dan Shea and Austin Sarauer to load the bases for Kurt Zagzebski.

Meisenheimer scampered in on a wild pitch during the at-bat and Zagzebski eventually ripped a sac fly to left to knot the score at 2-2. Jason Strobel blooped a double into right to give the A's the lead and Whitty dropped a double of his own to put the A's up 4-2 after one complete inning.

The second inning was more of the same for the A's as Adam Sarauer lifted a solo home-run to left, his second homer of the year. Jake Panzer followed with a single. After a sac bunt from Jake Spaeth, Meisenheimer again walked to put runners on first and second.

Dan Shea delivered a RBI single putting the score at 6-2. Austin Sarauer singled to load the bases for the A's and Zagzebski followed that up with a RBI single. Nick Whitty capped the scoring in the inning with a two RBI single back up the middle pushing the A's lead to 9-2. This was more than enough support for the A's as they cruised to the 10-2 victory.

Leading the way at the plate for the A's were Dan Shea 3x4 (RBI) Nick Whitty 2x3 (2B, 3 RBI) and Adam Sarauer 2x4 (HR, 2 RBI).

Kewaskum Wins Nite League Playoff Thriller Over Lannon

The Kewaskum A's knocked off the Lannon Stonemen Thursday night 10-9 in 12 innings in a Tri-County Night League playoff game. It was the A's third extra inning victory in their last six games and the first time they have won at Lannon in a significant number of years.

The A's jumped ahead in the first as Matt Schilter led off the game with a single and Jake Spaeth followed with a double to put runners on second and third with no one out. A passed ball brought in Schilter for the first run and Jason Strobel followed with a two-run home run to put the A's up 3-0 before the hosts even came to bat.

The A's picked up single runs in the second and third innings. Spaeth had a two-out RBI single in the second to score Schilter and Strobel had a RBI single to score Kurt Zagzebski in the third to push their lead to 5-1.

Lannon came storming back in the bottom of the third as they sent 10 batters to the plate scoring 6 runs. The big blow was a grand slam off A's pitcher Nick Whitty that snuck just inside the foul pole in right. Trailing 7-5 in the fifth, the A's loaded the bases on singles by Spaeth and Austin Sarauer and Zagzebski. Nick Whitty jumped on the first pitch he saw for a grand slam to put the A's back on top 9-7. Lannon didn't stay down for long as they scored two quick runs to again tie the game at 9-9.

A game that started off as a slugfest quickly turned into a pitcher's duel. Jake Panzer came on in relief of Whitty in the sixth inning and tossed seven innings of shutout ball.

In his first lengthy appearance on the mound in quite a few years, Panzer dazzled to keep the A's in the game. Lannon also countered with solid pitching after the fifth though. The A's did not get the clutch hit in innings 6-11 that they needed, but in the top of the 12th with two-outs, Austin Sarauer ripped the go-ahead single to right plating Schilter. Panzer worked out of a jam in the bottom half of the 12th inning to preserve the victory.

Donnelly fires a 104; Indians 11th at Watertown

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

WATERTOWN- Consider coach Amy Piwoni satisfied after her girls golf team opened with a 442 total and an 11th place in the annual Watertown Invitational on August 14,

"Not bad for a first meet after just four days of practice," Piwoni said Tuesday morning.

The meet was won by the Milton foursome, which scorched the Watertown C.C. layout with a 358 total, with each girl averaging just under 90. Finishing second through fourth were; Divine Savior/Holy Angels and Pius XI, tied with 377s for second; and Kettle Moraine at 380.

The Indians' total put them in the 11th spot overall out of 14 teams, most of them double the size of Kewaskum.

Leading the Indians in scoring was junior Danielle Donnelly, who carved a 104. "I think she had 51-53," Piwoni said, noting Donnelly wasn't happy with the way she started out, struggling with her putting on the quick Watertown greens.

"I saw her get a couple pars," Piwoni said, pleased with the way Donnelly battled back to gain a respectable score.

Kate Winkler and Heather Zuehlke were next at 107 and 108, respectively, then came Sienna Warnecke and Megan Gavin with 118s.

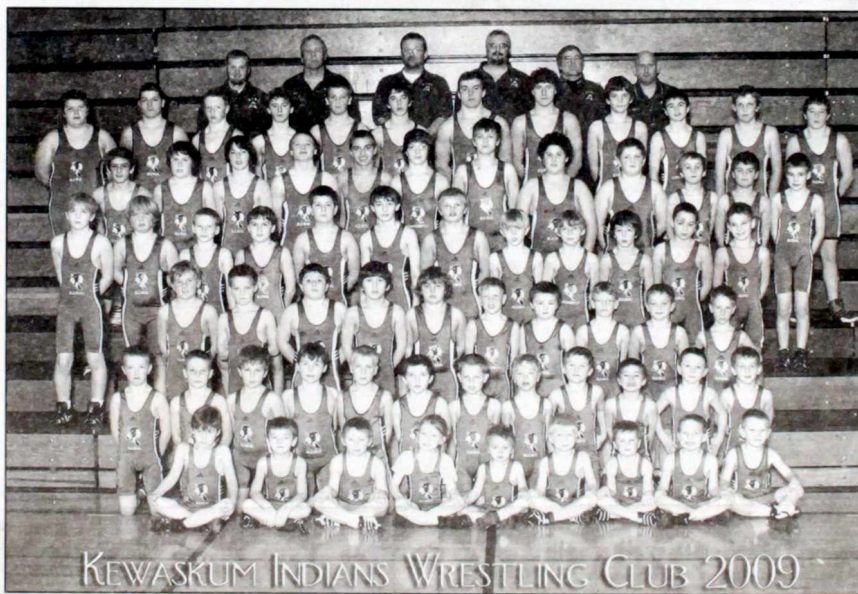

Capturing the medal for the day were April Ohlendorf of Kettle Moraine and Michelle Jacobson of Fort Atkinson. Both shot 80s.

The Indians start play in the Wisconsin Little Ten Conference on Monday, August 24 at Beaver Dam. "Then we're home (at Hon-E-Kor Country Club) on Thursday," Piwoni said, optimistic this will be a good year for her Indians.
