Honor Flight guest list includes pair of Kewaskum veterans

By Judy Harlow

MILWAUKEE- There were no parades or grand welcome home parties when Don Seil and Elmer Hallen were discharged from the military after World War II, and countless other veterans had similar experiences.

Seil, who served in the U.S. Air Force from 1942-45, mainly in communications in England, France and for a short time in Holland where he held the rank T-5 (Technician 5th Grade), recalled taking a bus from Fort McCoy to Milwaukee. From there he hitchhiked to Kewaskum, lucky to get a lift from the Westerners who lived nearby.

Hallen, a sergeant won three Purple Hearts while serving with the U.S. Army Amphibian Forces in the Pacific and South Pacific from 1943-46, rode a train from Rockford, Ill, to

Seil and Hallen share once in a lifetime experience

Chicago. Then his father, who didn't recognize him at first because he had lost so much weight in the war, picked him up.

Now, 60 years later, men like Seil and Hallen are being honored for their sacrifices in a much more appropriate manner. The two were, in their own words, "treated royally" recently thanks to a relatively new program called the Stars and Stripes Honor Flight.

On Sunday, May 2nd, Seil and Hallen, plus 300 other men from Wisconsin, were flown to Washington D.C. for a day of visiting historical American monuments, and memorials commemorating World War II, the Vietnam War and even the Pentagon.

Days like these are made possible thanks to donations made by ordinary Americans, who would like to show their gratitude to those who once put their lives on the line to protect our Country.

The day, which started out at 5 a.m. at Mitchell International Airport in Milwaukee and ended after the clock passed midnight, is one neither man will forget.

"It was the most fantastic trip," Hallen said. "They treated us like we were kings."

Seil proudly showed off the medallion he and Hallen were presented on the trip.

With the help of Hallen's wife, Betty, the two applied to be accepted on the Honor Flight and got news in early April they were selected.

Since getting to Milwaukee by 5 in the morning might have been a little difficult, the two decided to stay at a hotel near the airport the night before, but Seil was quick to point out, "I never slept and neither did Elmer."

After the early wakeup call, they left for the airport where they were treated to breakfast and started boarding the plane.

"This time, because there were so many going, they chartered a 747," Betty Hallen said, and Elmer Hallen noted, "The pilots donated their time."

All were assigned to different companies so the boarding would go smoothly. When it came time for Alpha Company, Hallen and Seil eagerly entered the plane and got ready for their departure.

Quickly they experienced Surprise No. 1. According to Seil, two water trucks were parked on either side of the plane and they made a water arch over it.

It wasn't long after takeoff that emotional Surprise No. 2 began — mail call, and when each man's name was called out, he received a packet with letters and cards from relatives and friends who sent them congratulatory notes on being selected for the flight.

It wasn't the last time tears were shed by the men.

After landing at Dulles Airport in Washington D.C., they were conveyed in buses to all the major historical sites. "The first place they took us to was the War Memorial and then to the Vietnam Memorial," Seil said.

School Board passes working '10-'11 budget

By Mitch Maersch

The School Board Monday night unanimously approved a balanced, working 2010-11 budget that includes the layoff of six teachers and a projected 16-cent mill rate decrease. The budget is a $25,864,834. The general fund is slated to be $20,898,462 with a tax levy of $9,487,133.

The district is cutting a total of 7.67 staff members and adding one, a middle school Spanish teacher.

The six teachers being laid off include two middle school and two elementary school classroom teachers each, a high school math teacher and an elementary physical education teacher. Besides that, an elementary reading specialist resigned and is not being replaced and a 0.67 high school family and consumer education teacher's contract is not being renewed.

Another $153,000 is being saved through eliminating a payroll secretary, reducing paraprofessional staffing and retirements of a teacher and maintenance employee that will result in paying less salary/wages and benefits to the replacements.

Staffing reduction savings total $599,268. The School Board approved the reductions on April 12.

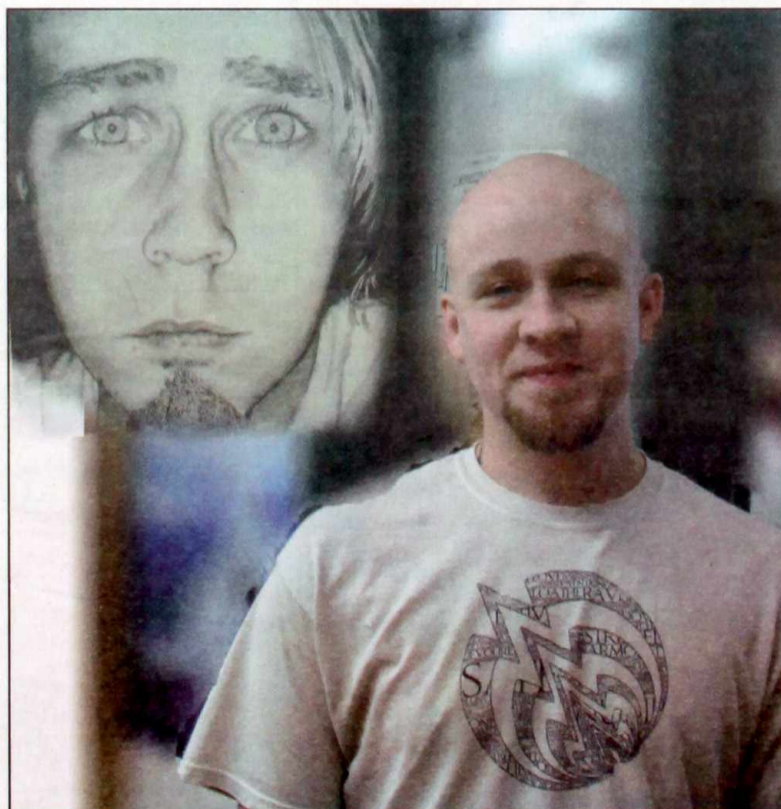

Some of the staffing cuts are driven by enrollment. The district has 40 less students this year and is expected to be down another 10 to 20 next year.

Budgets for supplies, materials and equipment were cut by nearly $46,000 while budgets for services, short-term debt, insurance and special education were up by $81,000, or 1.6 percent.

The budget takes into account the 2005 referendum has run out. It called for spending an additional $430,000 per year for five years on technology and textbooks. That is helping drive down the mill rate, now estimated to be $8.48 per $1,000 of equalized value, down from this year's $8.66.

Should the mill rate estimate hold, the owner of a $150,000 home would pay $1,272 in school taxes.

Kewaskum helps Stamp Out hunger

Every second Saturday in May, letter carriers across America deliver much more than mail when they walk and drive along their postal routes. They also collect the goodness and compassion of their United States Postal Service customers who participate in the National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC) Stamp Out Hunger National Food Drive—the largest one-day food drive in the nation, and probably the world.

The effort by city letter carriers, rural letter carriers, other Postal Service employees and numerous other volunteers has resulted in delivery of over one billion pounds of donations to community food banks and pantries over the past 18 years.

The USDA released some startling statistics November 16, 2009 which shocked the entire hunger relief community. Its annual study of hunger in America indicates the number of people living in the margins of hunger, struggling to make ends meet and put food on the table, has increased from 35.5 million to more than 49.1 million people. This is the largest increase reported in our history and represents an increase of nearly 14 million. This means that one in six Americans is uncertain where their next meal will be coming from.

This same report revealed that our most precious resource, our children, were among the hardest hit. A staggering one in four or 16.7 million children (an increase of 35%) reside in food insecure households – unable to consistently access nutritious and adequate amounts of food necessary for a healthy life. Insufficient nutrition puts children at risk for illness and weakens their immune system. Research reveals, in comparison to food secure children, children from insecure families are 90% more likely to be in fair or poor health and have 30% higher rates of hospitalization.

On Saturday, May 8th, letter carriers of the Kewaskum post office collected over 2200 items of non-perishable food donations that were left by mailboxes. With the assistance of Luke Piwoni, Sandi Radeztsky and many local volunteers, the food was delivered to the Kewaskum Community Pantry for distribution to those in need in the Kewaskum area. We would like to thank the Kewaskum community for their support of this important and worthwhile event. More information about the local food pantry can be obtained at their open house at the Annex on Saturday, June 5, from 12:00 to 2:00pm.

Thank you for helping the Postal Service stamp out hunger!

Gavin submits second TIF proposal to village

By Andrew Kuehl

andrew@kewaskumstatesman.com

KEWASKUM - Developer Gary Gavin has submitted a variation to a Tax Incremental Finance (TIF) District development plan he submitted to the village for review at the April Plan Commission. Village Administrator Matt Heiser stated the new plan addresses a concern raised by the Commission at their April meeting and will be addressed at a Thursday, May 20 Plan Commission meeting.

Both plans center around the northwest portion of the TIF District. In April, Gavin stated the buyer of the land wished to use the existing residential structure for his residence and an office. He was then going to erect a machine shop in the rear of the property.

Commissioners were concerned the original plan created an outlot that was not accessible to village roads. Due to the concerns, the plan only received partial support, not enough to send the plan to the village board with a favorable recommendation. The Village Board also did not approve the plan.

Gavin's new plan allows access to the outlot from Prospect Drive.

Heiser stated village staff received the new plan on the Thursday following the Plan Commission's meeting. He indicated commissioners were looking for a concept plan for the entire property, that was not submitted with the new plan.

In the past, Gavin has stated he does not have a plan for entire TIF District property at this time.

The plan will be heard before the PC on Thursday, May 20.

Poppy Days May 21 - 22

American Legion Auxiliary volunteers will distribute the familiar red, handcrafted poppies honoring America's war dead on Friday, May 21 and Saturday, May 22, designated as Poppy Day by Auxiliary Unit 384 of Kewaskum.

Planned to coincide with the Memorial Day, May 31, holiday, the annual event pays tribute to those veterans who have died in the last 80 years. It honors the millions of Americans who have willingly served their country.

Each nine-piece poppy is made by Wisconsin's disabled veterans at Zablocki VA Medical Center in Milwaukee for volunteers to distribute in exchange for a contribution which goes back to the veterans and their families.

Please join the Kewaskum

American Legion Auxiliary on Friday, May 21 and Saturday, May 22 in recognizing the sacrifices of our veterans by making a donation to the veterans poppy fund and by wearing a red Memorial Poppy on this Memorial Day, May 31.

The Legion also invites you to the Memorial Day parade at 9:30 a.m. on Monday, May 31 and the service program at 10 a.m. at the Legion Hall, 1538 Fond du Lac Ave. The Auxiliary is sponsoring a Poppy Poster contest to the second grade students in the area and will award first and second place prizes to each of the nine classes. The Poppy Posters will be on display at the Legion Hall after the program.

Enjoy the parade, the program and the food and refreshments on Memorial Day, Monday, May 31.

To the Editor:

I'm a longtime member of Our Lady of the Lakes Congregation, Random Lake, and am deeply saddened at the changing dynamic we will face later next year when, if the recent proposal for our clustered congregations becomes a reality, three of our churches will close full-time and a fourth, St. Rose of Lima, Fredonia, will be used only occasionally for the children attending the parish school there.

As Features Editor/Writer and Plymouth School Board reporter for The Review, Plymouth, I have written numerous opinion columns on an issue you addressed in your editorial -- the priest shortage. I maintain the problem lies in the mandatory-celibacy discipline, imposed upon priests as a condition of their priesthood. In my opinion, this mandate is not in accordance with Christ's teaching. In Matthew 19:12, Christ said regarding celibacy, "For there are different reasons why men cannot marry -- some, because they were born that way; others, because men made them that way; and others do not marry because of the kingdom of heaven. Let him who can do it accept this teaching."

Celibacy, remaining unmarried, is a respectful state for those who so choose. But Christ, through his teaching, wanted the decision as to whether or not to marry to be an option for all.

Many of Christ's apostles were married. Christ chose Peter, a married man, as the first leader of his church. "Thou art Peter, and upon this rock, I will build my church." Matthew 16:18.

During the first 1,000 years of Christianity, many clergy, including some popes, were married men. In addition, priests in the Eastern rite of the Catholic Church, which is united with the Vatican in Rome, are allowed to marry. However, their bishops are selected from those priests who have "chosen" to remain celibate. Another fact of which some readers may be unaware is that a couple hundred Catholic priests in the Western rite, here in the United States, are married men with families. They are former Episcopal priests or Protestant ministers who were married and then converted to Catholicism. Former Pope John Paul II and Pope Benedict XVI have allowed these married men the same privileges as those in the Western rite bound by the mandatory celibacy discipline.

Is this a double standard for the priests who are denied the option? I say it is. I was in disbelief when I read about there being married Catholic priests in this country in article appearing in the Aug. 8, 1996 edition of The Catholic Herald, the newspaper for the 10-county Milwaukee Archdiocese.

Was I alone in believing this is a double standard. I needed to find out. Thus, I phoned a dozen Catholic priests in Ozaukee and Sheboygan counties to ask their opinions, then recorded my findings in a Sept. 10, 1996 article in The Review.

All but one of the priests, who noted he was undecided, said the option to marry should be available for all priests, with the majority adding it is a double standard to allow some, but not all that option.

This year in the March 8 edition of the National Catholic Reporter I read an article, "Exceptions to celibacy rule puzzle priests," by Cindy Wooden, Catholic News Service.

She points out that the Pontifical University of the Holy Cross, run by Opus Dei in Rome, held a theological conference on priestly celibacy in Rome on March 4 and 5. She notes there were repeated questions by priests about the exceptions made in the Eastern Rite Catholic Churches and for clergy coming from the Anglican church, regarding allowing those priests the option to marry.

"If celibacy is so tied theologically and spiritually to priestly identity, why the exceptions?" the questioners asked.

Wooden quotes Father Laurent Touze, a professor of spiritual theology and author of a book on the future of priestly celibacy. He said during the conference, "In the eyes of many, the church hierarchy and especially the Apostolic See [the Vatican] seem to hold contradictory positions on priestly celibacy. On the one hand, there is a firm insistence on the non-negotiability of celibacy, while at the same time, there are granted exceptions to celibacy, including Pope Benedict XVI's provisions in later 2009 for ordaining former Anglican ministers as Catholic priests.

"If these exceptions are possible, why not abolish a frequently contested discipline and at least make it optional?" Touze asked.

This is my question as well. Mandatory celibacy is a matter of church law, not divine law. Thus, church officials could change its legislation concerning the mandate, if they should decide to do so.

In a Sept. 16, 1999 "Question Box" column in The Catholic Herald, Father John Dietzen provided some history about the celibacy mandate. The first general law in the Western church, binding clergy to a celibate life came in the late part of the fourth century, with decrees by popes, beginning with Pope Damasus (366-84), and regional councils in Europe and Africa.

During the next 700 years, marriages of priests, deacons and bishops were held to be unlawful. The movement toward clerical celibacy culminated for the universal church in the 12th century, with the First and Second Lateran Councils declared such marriages were not only illicit, but invalid.

Much later, in 1563, the Council of Trent reaffirmed the law of clerical celibacy. Against opposition, however, the council declared mandatory celibacy is a church law and that it could be changed. My hope is that this law, which has unfortunately resulted in hundreds of priests leaving the active priesthood, will be changed in the near future. I feel many priests who left their ministry would return if that were to happen, and that optional celibacy would encourage many more vocations.

I'm not looking for anything new -- but only to restore what the church originally had -- clergy who were allowed the option to marry.

Honor Flight

Elmer Hallen and Don Seil of Kewaskum are shown at Gen. Mitchell International Airport after returning from Washington D.C.

Hallen said his favorite stop was naturally the World War II Monument and Arlington Cemetery.

"What a beautiful ceremony," Seil said about the changing of the guard, with Hallen adding, "I don't think there was a dry eye at either place. I know mine weren't (dry)."

Surprise No. 3 came around 4 p.m., according to Seil who said their personal guide for the day, Lt. Col. Laura Ryan, announced she had just gotten clearance to take them into the Pentagon.

"We called her (Lt. Ryan) our guardian angel," Seil said, reporting, "She pushed Elmer around (in a wheelchair) the whole day."

And everywhere the men went, they were greeted and saluted with the utmost respect.

When it came time for departure, most of the men were tired but filled with gratitude for those who initiated the idea for the Honor Flight and those who donated to make these trips possible.

"Charlie Sykes collected $250,000 on his radio show, and many other individuals gave money," Betty Hallen said, indicating Wisconsin reportedly has seven Honor Flight groups, and trips are becoming more frequent because of the ages of the World War II veterans.

When they arrived back home in Milwaukee, the grand finale of surprises started to unfold.

Bands and a welcoming committee, numbering around 2,500, lined the route from the exit steps to the terminal. Elmer said he first looked for Betty, and when he found her he soon saw the face of his grandson, then other grandchildren and his own children.

Seil's nephew and niece from Appleton were among those present.

"There was pandemonium when we got back," Seil said. "We didn't expect this at all."

The two men arrived back in Kewaskum well after midnight and pretty well rested the entire next day.

"I want to thank Larry and Louise Martin for taking us down (to Milwaukee) and bringing us home again," Seil said, and Hallen sent thanks to his great-grand daughter, Megan Klein, who although she was unable to come to the airport, sent him a beautiful note of congratulations.

"We certainly hope all the World War II veterans taken advantage of this opportunity," Betty Hallen said.

For those wishing to help other veterans make the trip to Washington D.C., you may send donations to: Stars and Stripes Honor Flight, Box 636, Port Washington, WI., 53074.

Boys and Girls Club 5K June 6

The Boys & Girls Club of Washington County and West Bend Mutual Insurance Company present "The Silver Lining 5K for Kids" on Sunday, June 6, with the starting line moving to the Boys & Girls Club facility in West Bend. The Silver Lining 5K for Kids will be a 3.1 mile run/walk for all, followed by children's races for ages 9 and under. Electronic chip timing will be used to record race times for registered runners.

"The 5K for Kids has grown tremendously since its inception in 2003," said Jay Fisher, Executive Director of the Boys & Girls Club. "The participation in the 5K and the support of the local community has been overwhelming. We are expecting close to 1,000 registrations."

The proceeds from the 5K will allow us to add new features and programs at our three locations, and will support the Club's scholarship program, said Fisher. The Boys & Girls Club has centers in Jackson, Kewaskum and West Bend that provide social, educational and recreational activities to 1800 members, ages 6-17.

Individual, family and team registrations will be available. Any individuals or businesses interested in entering a team, serving as a team captain or volunteering can contact Fisher at 262-334-3732.

Same-day registration will begin at 9:00 a.m. on Sunday, June 6, and the 5K run/walk will start at 10:30 a.m. Two children's races will follow at 11:30 a.m., a ¼ mile for ages 6 and under (with or without parents) and a ½ mile for ages 7-9.

Pre-registration deadline is Wednesday, May 19 to guarantee a t-shirt. Pre-registration is $20 per person for the 5K and $60 for a family of four (immediate family members only). Children's race registration is $10 per person. Same-day registration will be $25 per person for the 5K, or $75 per family of four.

— Bonny Ruelle

Jack and Bonny Ruelle of Jackson are lifelong residents of Washington County and both of their children were born at the New Life Center of St. Joseph’s Hospital. When nine-year-old Max complained of mild but persistent abdominal pain last September, Jack and Bonny decided that as a precaution, a visit to the Emergency Care Center at St. Joseph’s Hospital was in order.

“We walked in about midnight,” Jack explains. “Max wasn’t in severe pain, but he clearly wasn’t himself. He kept saying, ‘I’m fine, I’m fine.’” When the initial examination and X-ray didn’t immediately identify the cause of Max’s discomfort, a more detailed diagnostic exam was performed using the hospital’s 64-slice CT scanner. The scan revealed a perforated appendix, a condition normally accompanied by extraordinary levels of pain.

“I remember the doctor saying to me, ‘You’ve got one very tough kid,’” Jack says. “Max had emergency surgery shortly thereafter, and today he’s doing great.”

The Ruelles are grateful for the high-quality care their son received at St. Joseph’s Hospital. As Bonny explains, “It’s incredibly important to have St. Joseph’s emergency care nearby. The affiliation with Froedtert has just made it that much better. You always know that you’re getting the best care possible.”

Gruber wins National Art Award

By Amber Donath
Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum High School (KHS) 2009 graduate Dru Gruber has received a 2010 National Scholastic Art & Writing Gold Medal Award for his drawing "Spark of Life" which was submitted by his KHS art teacher Mary Forstner.

Gruber will be recognized for his work at the National Celebration in New York City on June 9 & 10. Celebration events include the Awards Ceremony at Carnegie Hall and the opening reception of the Awards Exhibition at the World Financial Center's Courtyard Gallery. Gruber will also participate in a day of behind-the-scenes arts and culture events where he will have the chance to meet other artists and writers and learn about creative careers from studio artists, designers, art gallery directors and New York City cultural leaders.

More than 165,000 works of art and writing were submitted to regional programs of The Scholastic Awards this year. Approximately 11,000 earned Gold Keys, the top regional honor. Art and literary professionals then reviewed the Gold Keys, awarding National Gold and Silver Medals and American Visions & Voices Medals to exemplary works. In all work, judges look for three core criteria: 1) Originality, 2) Technical Skill, and 3) Emergence of a Personal Vision or Voice.

At the national level, $10,000 scholarships are given to 15 graduating seniors who earn Portfolio Gold Medals in the Art, Photography, General Writing and Nonfiction categories. A select number of Portfolio Silver Medalists will earn $1,000 Notable Achievement Awards. Additionally seniors who earn Portfolio Gold Medals or Portfolio Silver Medals can leverage partial to full-ride scholarships from a network of 60 arts universities and institutes, which annually earmark $3.9 million in financial aid.

Gruber's award-winning work is among the top 1% of all the works submitted to the awards this year making it one of the most outstanding works in the nation. And he joins the ranks of the elite few who have been selected over the 87 years of The Scholastic Art & Writing Awards, the preeminent showcase for student creativity. Accomplished artists and writers including Richard Avedon, Mel Bochner, Truman Capote, John Lithgow, Joyce Carol Oates, Zac Posen, Sylvia Plath, Robert Redford, and Andy Warhol were recognized as teenagers.

Fifth graders take Movin' and Munchin' title

Kewaskum Elementary School broke last year's record in its month-long Movin' and Munchin' competition that teaches children to eat healthy and exercise. The school traveled a total of 111,908 miles, 17,000 past last year. A mile is earned by practicing healthy habits like eating fruits and vegetables, not drinking soda and exercising for 15 minutes. "This is tremendous," said Diana Miller, a special education teacher who helped run the program. "It's a great way to get them started and we hope they continue." Deb Hubbard's fifth-grade class won the competition, traveling 8,333 miles. Each student received a medal at an all-school assembly May 5. All participating students received a certificate. Staff participated as well and racked up 10,254.5 miles. The program is run by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction and involves Wisconsin Olympians Suzy Favor Hamilton and Casey FitzRandolph, who came to speak at KES last year. How High the Moon

By Sandra King
Bantam Books

$15.00 paperback 357 pages

Remember thinking that adults were a pretty strange lot?

When you were young, the grown-ups in your life did lots of things that didn't make any sense. They cried when they were happy. They yelled at the news, but they never missed it. They told you that you shouldn't lie, but they fibbed all over the place.

It never made any sense.

When you're a kid, adults are like beings from another planet - which was scary when you remembered that you'd be one someday, too. But in the new novel "How High the Moon" by Sandra Kring, a little girl may need to grow up too quickly.

Ten-year-old Isabella "Teaspoon" Marlene had an awful lot of afflictions. She tended to pipe up when she shouldn't. She said "ain't" and "gonna", which aren't really words. And she did an awful lot of spying on Teddy, who'd been raising Teaspoon since her Ma left them to chase her dreams five years before.

The thing was, Ma's dream could've easily been Teaspoon's dream, too. Teaspoon was a great singer and a not-half-bad dancer. Everybody said so, even Mrs. Fry, who lived next door with her great-grandson, Charlie, whose father was in the clink.

But life wasn't all a cup of, uh, tea. Mrs. Carlton, Teaspoon's fifth-grade teacher, thought Teaspoon needed "feminine influence", and she threatened to flunk Teaspoon if Teaspoon didn't become a part of a new mentorship program, The Sunshine Sisters. And that was how Teaspoon became Brenda Bloom's Little Sister.

Everybody in Mill Town, Wisconsin, liked Brenda Bloom.

Brenda was just about as perfect as anybody could get, and she took Teaspoon under her wing, teaching her how to speak properly and giving her small jobs around the Starlight Theater. Teaspoon had loved the Starlight for years, and working there was a treat. It would be a great summer, especially since Brenda's mother decided to put on a grand show in the newly-remodeled Starlight. She wanted all the Sunshine Sisters to star in the gala - and that meant Teaspoon, too.

But such excitement wasn't enough to keep everything smooth in Mill Town. Teddy started keeping company with Miss Tuckle, even though he was supposed to be Ma's boyfriend. Brenda started acting all noodley around Johnny Jackson, even though she was engaged to an almost-doctor.

And then a certain visitor arrived on Teddy's doorstep...

If you mix Little Orphan Annie, Pippi Longstocking, and Punky Brewster together, you'd get Teaspoon Marlene, a child that initially borders on obnoxiousness. No problem, though: author Sandra Kring's main character kinda grows on you as the story unfolds and Kring gives Teaspoon a wonderful supporting cast, including a sidekick who steals the show, a crew of typical small-town-1950s neighbors, and a heart-of-gold adult who holds it all together. Such pleasant extras turn a near-annoyance into a genuinely charming story that's perfect for book groups or just for fun.

If you're packing for vacation and need a book, this one is a good tuckaway. For you, reading "How High the Moon" makes plenty sense.

In an early morning fire Wednesday, flames completely destroyed the farm home in which a Town of Wayne family of five was living on Highways 28 and W, several miles west of Kewaskum. The family escaped uninjured by fleeing the burning residence but all of their belongings were lost. The dwelling, which burned to the ground, was occupied by the Donald Schickert family and was discovered by Mr. Schickert around 5 am when he woke up and smelled smoke. The Schickert family was asleep on the first floor and apparently did not notice the fire until it had gained considerable headway. When local firemen arrived the entire roof of the dwelling was already enveloped in flames so that the firemen could do nothing to save the building but prevent the fire from spreading to other farm buildings, owned by Walter Theusch.

The second annual Dairy Daze event will be held this Saturday in the KHS gymnasium and agriculture department. Candidates include Cathy Herriges, Dorothy Reindl, Virginia Campbell, Judy Theusch, Karen Fickler, Gelane Vetter, Darlene Prost and Sandy Oppermann. Each vote costs a penny and the girl receiving the most pennies will win. The monies will be donated to a local charity.

Otto Stenschke, Kewaskum's clever and speedy forward, is the scoring champion of the Northern Division of the Land o' Lakes basketball league which came to a close on Sunday.

The dusty snow which fell over portions of Wisconsin recently was caused by fine dirt from the snowless wheat fields of Kansas. Drawn up into the snow clouds two to three miles above the earth's surface and carried by the air currents on the snow, it finally was left covering the fields, streets and sidewalks of the Badger state, according to Eric Miller, chief of the Madison bureau of the Federal Weather Service.

August Degner of the Town of Farmington suffered cuts to his lips requiring five stitches and has several teeth knocked out, necessitating his spending the night in the hospital in West Bend, as the result of a collision between his 1926 Ford coupe and a 1927 Chevrolet coach last Friday.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dreher was christened last Sunday by Rev. Gerhard Kaniess. The little fellow received the name Earl John Jr.

March 15, 1935

Johnny Basler, young southpaw pitcher, who hurled for the Kewaskum baseball team in the Badger State league last summer is now in Austin, Texas, where he is working out for the coming season. If he makes good he will be signed by Shreveport. Basler is the fourth player from the Kewaskum team in the past two years to go to the leagues. Other players who were developed by Kewaskum while a member of the Badger State league are Stanley Hodge, who will try out with Grand Rapids this year; Eddie Murray who is trying out with the Cincinnati Reds of the National League and Fabian Gaffke, who has been signed by the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association and who is expected to be one of their regular outfielders this season. He will roam the outfield with veterans like Holland, Harriss and "Buss" Arlett. Gaffke led the Badger league in batting two years ago, as did Murray last year.

Wayne Rossman, 28, employed as a painter by the Barton Corporation, manufacturers of washing machines, was instantly killed last Saturday morning in Barton when he drove his automobile into the path of a North Western train No 206. Rossman had left the plant and was enroute to his home in that village when the accident occurred because of his failure to see the onrushing train.

Kewaskum is to have a new industry, an iron foundry. The Gilson Foundry Company, who have been in business at West Bend for a number of years will locate here and operate an up-to-date foundry on the Math Rimmel sawmill property on Wilhelmina Street about April 15.

Photographer Edward C. Miller has invented a new apparatus for taking flash-light pictures which is something real wonderful. The old method of taking flash-light pictures was by lighting the illuminating powder with a fuse, which was dangerous in operating and sometimes caused fires. With this new apparatus the danger is entirely eliminated. The flash is set off at the same instant the exposure is made, with an electric battery and thereby making a perfect picture.

Jacob Becker had the middle finger of his left hand badly smashed last Tuesday by a horse stepping on it while he was shoeing the animal.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Nick Hammes last Friday. A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knoebel last Saturday.

Two cars loaded with malt by the L. Rosenheimer Malt and Grain Company, were badly wrecked here last Monday. The smashup was caused by a string of cars left standing in the side track, without the brake being set which started running down the track, which is on a decline, and crashed into two cars of malt at the point of the switch as the two cars were being pulled out of the malt house tracks. Both cars were derailed and so badly damaged that the grain had to be transferred into other cars.

John H. Martin, rural carrier on Route No. 5, experienced a runaway last Saturday, three miles north of St. Michaels, while covering his territory. The roads being in such bad condition he was forced to drive over a stone pile and in some manner was tipped out, being unable to stop the horse. It proceeded at a breakneck speed up to Bernard Haack's place, where it was caught. The only damage done was to the cutter, which was considerably broken. Mr. Martin started to cover the remainder of the route on horseback, but upon reaching Johnny Bremser's place, the latter willingly offered to take him over the route with his team and sleigh.

On Wisconsin Outdoors

With the Dick Ellis Experts

A number's game...Wisconsin deer, bear and wolf populations in 2010

This black bear tried to cross the highway near Clam Lake last year but turned back when the writer exited his truck with a camera. After running back 70 yards, Ellis found the bear sitting in the forest as if contemplating, "now how the heck do I cross with that pest in the way". Bear numbers are up in Wisconsin.

Traveling last week on Highway 17 south of Rhinelander, a sow and three black bear yearlings crossed 200 yards in front of the truck and posed for a photo on a hill before disappearing into the northern forest. Mama Bear wore a unique white 'V' marking on her chest. I took the first dirt road east into the woods in pursuit intent on better photos and was soon waiting out the dark crew as they peeked at me from behind a tree at 60 yards. A farm dog had other plans and crashed our party.

I thought of the black bear that stood in our cabin yard in broad daylight last fall in Vilas County. The several bears we had encountered on Newcomb Lane leading to our cabin in spring and summer. The bear that had attempted to cross the road near Clam Lake in Sawyer County during daylight hours before retreating from my approach and sitting down in the forest for my camera as if contemplating just how he was going to get by this pest standing on the road.

And I thought too of the first wolf I had seen in the wild while deer hunting last November. Although I spend the most time in the field, I was the last in our party to encounter a wolf on the move. Before recent seasons, in fact, I had rarely encountered bears in the field either, with the exceptions of working with DNR biologists in dens with cubs to gather research data.

Last week too, on this same trip I encountered two deer on my hunting turf and took more photos. It hasn't been a frequent sight in Unit 34 and with a 59 percent decline in the deer gun harvest last year; it's a sight always welcome. You really don't know what you've got till it's gone.

Numbers of Wisconsin deer and bear and wolves surely correlate with each other at least to a degree and fluctuate for the most part based on the management decisions of man. We'll see where it all travels in 2010 as summer speeds toward September and the bear and archery seasons that start it all. But right now, there's enough chatter on the outdoor writer's wire regarding it all to keep things interesting. Here's some of the noise.

The DNR has with approval from the Natural Resources Board (NRB) has designated 66 Deer Management Units (DMU) as regular units with traditional nine-day gun hunts with buck plus antlerless quota rules. This is an increase from 62 regular units in 2009. According to the DNR, "Antlerless deer harvest is carefully managed by permits in regular units and 18 regular units will have no antlerless deer harvest permits available to deer hunters in 2010. This is up from 13 units with no antlerless permits available in 2009 and is the fastest possible way to increase herd populations in units where the herd is below established goals."

The DNR with support of hunter groups including bowhunters is proposing eliminating harvest of antlerless deer by bowhunters in gun quota units that do not have antlerless permits available. Public hearings on this proposal are scheduled for May 17 in Rhinelander, May 18 in Fitchburg and May 24 in Green Bay. For details connect with the DNR website.

For 2010, 46 DMUs are designated as Herd Control Units with deer herd number estimated to be at least 20 percent above established goals. There is an unlimited supply of antlerless deer harvest permits available in these units, many in agricultural regions. Herd control units will also have an October 14-17 antlerless deer only gun hunt. There are 22 DMUs designated as Chronic Wasting Disease Management Units in 2010. These units have unlimited earn-a-buck rules and will be included in the October 14-17 antlerless only hunt.

The Wisconsin black bear is thought by many experts, including Wisconsin bear guides and hunters, to have a significant impact on the deer population through the predation of fawns in the spring. It is a fact that the carefully monitored Wisconsin elk herd at Clam Lake has not been able to increase numbers as hoped in large part due to the predation of calves by black bears. Wolves also prey on adult and young elk.

Bear population numbers just a few years ago thought to be approximately 13,000 are now believed to be much higher. The results according to the DNR of a recent two-year mark-recapture study conducted by UW-Researchers with significant help from the Wisconsin Bear Hunters Association estimates the bear population to be between 26,000 and 40,000 animals.

Last year, 7,310 harvest permits were issued with hunters tagging 3,900 bears. Although the harvest was the highest in history, the statewide success rate of 53 percent in Wisconsin four hunting zones fell below the three year average of 59 percent.

Brrrr, golfing was not much fun in Port Invitational

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

SHEBOYGAN FALLS—Good battles for first and third place erupted at the annual Vander Pan Track and Field Invitational Friday afternoon, with Sheboygan North eking out a 149 to 145 victory over Plymouth for the title, and the host Lady Falcons finishing ahead of Kewaskum for the third spot, 74 to 66.5.

Had the pole vault been held, almost assuredly, the Indians would have jumped ahead of Sheboygan Falls for third.

The highlights for the Lady Indians were wins in the 4x200-meter relay, the high jump and triple jump and seconds in the 100, 4x100 relay, and the 300 hurdles.

Amanda Witek won the high jump for the second meet in a row. This time she did not make 5 feet 1 inch (5-1) like she did at the New Holstein quad, but the conditions were far from being ideal, so her effort of 4-10 was good.

The 4x200 relay was an impressive winner, coming in 2:52 seconds ahead of Sheboygan North. Haley Gregoriou, who returned earlier in the week from an athletic code violation, moved into the lead-off spot with the three regulars of Anna Butler, Bryana Keller and Mikkin Abfall. They combined for a 1:53.04.

Once again, Candace Beine had a good outing, starting with her win in the triple jump. Her best for the day measured 33-03.50, which was her best effort of the season, and she placed third in the high jump, clearing 4-06.25.

For the 4x100, Heidi Johnson remained in the No. 1 spot, then came Butler, Keller and Abfall, and they earned a second place with a time of 54.66.

Gregoriou added a solid second in the 300 hurdles, covering the distance in 50.56 seconds, just .15 out of first.

Keller chipped in with a second place in the 100 with her season-best time of 13.64 in the finals, which was .41 of a second faster than she ran in the preliminary. "That was very good," Gosa said. "She had a good start, and she ran well."

Other top-eight finishes included: 400— Ally Backhaus, 6th, 1:05.28; 100 hurdles — Val Hedlund, 5th, 18.57; 4x800 relay — April Stern, Abby Backhaus, Sabrina Boehlke, Ariel Sanders, 7th, 11:31.40; long jump — Butler, 8th, 14-0.

"We have a handful of girls with nagging injuries," Gosa said, hoping all will be 100 percent for the May 18th conference meet at Two Rivers.

According to the DNR, many hunters said bait stations went cold prior to the season, and attribute that to abundant mast crops pulling bears to natural food.

The question still begs to be asked; if the bear population is as high as 40,000 animals and they are significant predators of fawns, is harvesting approximately 10 to 20 percent of the bear population annually enough? Or, should additional bear harvest permits be issued?

In 2010, hunters over bait in September will have first crack, and hunters with dogs begin their season later. Hunters could legally begin baiting April 15. Season in Zones A, B and D where hunting with dogs is allowed run from September 8-14 with aid of bait and with other methods not utilizing dogs; September 15-October 5 with aid of bait, dogs and other methods, and October 6-12 with aid of dogs only. Season in Zone C where dogs are prohibited runs September 8 through October 12 with aid of bait and other methods not utilizing dogs.

Another predator with certain impact on the deer herd is the wolf, which is federally protected in Wisconsin. Although exact numbers of the wolf in the state and specific numbers of deer killed per wolf annually has been debated, it's safe to say that most deer hunters will agree that there are too many wolves taking too many deer.

The DNR has submitted a petition, applauded by Wisconsin hunting groups, to remove the gray wolf from the endangered list. Wisconsin's petition joins similar action filed by Minnesota in March. It is anticipated that Michigan will also follow suit.

"The Gray Wolf has been fully recovered in the state of Wisconsin with the current minimum population of wolves estimated to be near 720 animals," said Jack Nissen, President of the Wisconsin Wildlife Federation, which represents 168 hunting, fishing, trapping and forestry organizations in the state. "This number far exceeds the 100 wolf population goal set by the federal government as the threshold for delisting the wolf as an endangered species."

Girls rebound with third at Pewaukee, boys struggle without Zolp

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

PEWAUKEE- After not running up to par in the Washington County Outdoor meet, Kewaskum's girls track team bounced back to take third at the annual Altheimer competition in Pewaukee last Friday.

The Lady Indians did well in the spring relays, the high jump, triple jump and long jump, which all added up to a third place finish with 94.5 points.

The host Pirates scored 128.5 points to win the team title, followed by Mayville at 99.5.

"Pewaukee is tough. It's like our sprinters versus their distance runners," KHS coach Jerry Gosa said, and this time the Pirates came out on top.

Kewaskum's sprinters set a meet record in the 4x100-meter relay. Heidi Johnson, Anna Butler, Bryana Keller and Mikkin Abfall combined for a time of 52 and .42 seconds (52.42).

Butler's sister, Jessie, and Keller's sister, Lindsay, were part of the foursome (along with Katie Patterson and Katie Uelmen) that held the record (52.72) since 2005, according to Gosa. Concerning Friday's race, he said, "Keller, running in the third spot, put us in the lead."

Abfall, who Gosa said is

"the fastest girl on the team," is also having leg problems, which kept her from being able to run the 4x200 relay, and with the alternate not available, the Indians weren't able to field a team in the event.

Another win came from Amanda Witek in the high jump. Competing for the first time since sitting out on an athletic code violation, Witek cleared 5 feet (5-0).

When it came to other highlights, Aly Backhaus was right at the top of the list, according to Gosa, who said, "I'd say one of the really nice things was Aly Backhaus who dropped another 1.5 seconds off her time in the 400," running a 1:03.20, good for fourth.

"Candace (Beine) also had another good meet (First in the triple jump, 33-03.25, 2nd in the long jump, 15-03.75)," Gosa said. She's become a real versatile athlete."

Backing up Beine in the triple jump was sophomore Sabrina Boehlke, who placed third with a jump of 28-00.25, while Butler added a fourth in the long jump (14-08.50).

Kassie Legate added a first place in the pole vault, clearing 9-0 for the first time this season.

And then there was freshman Ashlee Stahl, who was fifth in the 800 with a time of 2:34.88. "She dropped 2.34 seconds ... it's the fastest time we've had in years," Gosa said.

Running without senior Brandon Zolp, the KHS boys had to settle for seventh place with 50 points. Mayville came out on top with 109, with Pewaukee second at 95.

"Brandon Zolp has shin splints so bad, the trainer wouldn't let him run," Gosa said.

Without Zolp, the Indians missed points in the triple jump and actually didn't have enough sprinters for the 4X200 relay.

The Indians still managed to win the 4x100, with T.J. Schlice replacing Zolp. "We actually stole T.J. from the high jump for a minute or two," Gosa said, reporting his handoff was a little shaky, "but he did it." Others on this relay, which ran a 45.42 were Eric Perkins, Teddy Wollner and Mat Toles.

Schlice won the pole vault by going 12-0 but was unable to duplicate the effort of 6-4 which he came up with in the County Outdoor. He did go 6-0, which was good enough for enough for second.

Scott Steldt placed in two events, fourth in the high jump (19-03.75) and eighth in the 200 (24.99).

Once again, no points were scored in the weights and distance events, which continually hamper the KHS team.

Fourth place includes couple top efforts by ladies

SHEBOYGAN FALLS- Good battles for first and third place emerged at the annual Vander Pan Track and Field Invitational Friday afternoon, with Sheboygan North eking out a 149 to 145 victory over Plymouth for the title, and the host Lady Falcons finishing ahead of Kewaskum for the third spot, 74 to 66.5.

Had the pole vault been held, almost assuredly, the Indians would have jumped ahead of Sheboygan Falls for third.

The highlights for the Lady Indians were wins in the 4x200-meter relay, the high jump and triple jump and seconds in the 100, 4x100 relay, and the 300 hurdles.

Amanda Witek won the high jump for the second meet in a row. This time she did not make 5 feet 1 inch (5-1) like she did at the New Holstein quad, but the conditions were far from being ideal, so her effort of 4-10 was good.

The 4x200 relay was an impressive winner, coming in 2.52 seconds ahead of Sheboygan North. Haley Gregoriou, who returned earlier in the week from an athletic code violation, moved into the lead-off spot with the three regulars of Anna Butler, Bryana Keller and Mikkin Abfall. They combined for a 1:53.04.

Once again, Candace Beine had a good outing, starting with her win in the triple jump. Her best for the day measured 33-03.50, which her best effort of the season, and she placed third in the high jump, clearing 4-06.25.

For the 4x100, Heidi Johnson remained in the No. 1 spot, then came Butler, Keller and Abfall, and they earned a second place with a time of 54.66.

Gregoriou added a solid second in the 300 hurdles, covering the distance in 50.56 seconds, just .15 out of first.

Keller chipped in with a second place in the 100 with her season-best time of 13.64 in the finals, which was .41 of a second faster than she ran in the preliminary. "That was very good," Gosa said. "She had a very good start, and she ran well."

Other top-eight finishes included: 400— Ally Backhaus, 6th, 1:05.28; 100 hurdles — Val Hedlund, 5th, 18.57; 4x800 relay — April Stern, Abby Backhaus, Sabrina Boehlke, Ariel Sanders, 7th, 11:31.40; long jump — Butler, 8th, 14-0.

"We have a handful of girls with nagging injuries," Gosa said, hoping all will be 100 percent for the May 18th conference meet at Two Rivers.

High jump and 4x200 relay are highlights for boys at Vanderpan

SHEBOYGAN FALLS- Plymouth added another feather in its track cap Friday, overcoming horrendous weather conditions to win the prestigious Vanderpan Invitational and out pointing the two Sheboygan schools in the process.

The Panthers came in with 129 points while Sheboygan South and North were second and third with 98.5 and 91 points, respectively.

Kewaskum, shut out in the hurdles, distances and weights, finished seventh with 41 points, a total which really does not indicate a true picture of the team because a couple top athletes are nursing injuries and coach Jerry Gosa pulled a couple others out of events to prevent further injuries.

No question, the high jump and 4x200-meter relays were the two best events for the Indians.

Junior T.J. Schlice, who has become a "triple threat" this spring, cleared 5-feet, 10.25 inches (5-10.25) to take second in the event, while freshman Jordan Hansen was third with a leap of 5-10. Together the two contributed 14 points in the event.

Schlice was expected to place among the top three in the pole vault, but that event was canceled, and he scratched from the 200 finals. "He's got some shin problems," Gosa said.

The 4x200 quartet ran well enough to take third place in a fast field. Helping toward the time of 1 minute, 38.84 seconds were Eric Perkins, Teddy Wollner, Brandon Zolp and Mat Toles.

Things didn't go quite as well in the 4x100 relay where the same foursome came in with a 48.68 clocking, good for the fifth spot. "For some reason, the 4x100 did not have a good day," the coach said.

Perkins, a sophomore, had a good outing in the individual events, finishing fourth in the 100-meter dash with a time of 12.03 and take fourth in the long jump (17-08.75) on a night when the runway was more than just damp, making takeoffs a real challenge.

Other top-seven finishes included: 440 — Scott Steldt, 6th, 56.84; and the 4x800 relay — Kyle Phillips, Kyle Ruppinger, James Pok and Pat Porter, 7th, 9:42.

Zolp did not compete in the triple jump, but Gosa is optimistic he will be ready to go next week.

The quad meet scheduled for May 11 at Campbellsport was canceled because of more rain and cold. The Indians now have time to prepare for the Eastern Wisconsin Conference Track and Field Meet at Two Rivers on Tuesday, May 18th.

Lady Indians second in EWC

Monica Dehler slides into second on a RBI single in the first inning of the game against Howards Grove.

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

The offense has come around to complement consistent pitching.

Now the question is just what to do once Kewaskum's fast-pitch softball players get on base.

Base running blunders led to three double plays at Howards Grove on Monday that helped extend the game to seven innings. Kewaskum won, 13-3, in the non-conference game that could have easily ended after five innings via the 10-run mercy rule. The Tigers are full of youth without a senior on the roster and no junior varsity program.

"We asked the kids this weekend to be really aggressive on the base paths. Well, tonight we got it but we were a little too aggressive on the base paths," said Coach Jeff Gosse. "We made some mistakes but it's something we can work on tomorrow night in practice. It gives us a starting point."

The Indians are 13-4 overall, 9-2 and in second place in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference. Waupun is 8-0 and Plymouth is 7-3.

The Indians had runners on base every inning and blew up for 13 hits, three each by Monica Dehler, Jenny Reicher and Ashley Faber. Reicher had three RBIs, and Erica Heberer and Michele Marquardt each had one hit and two RBIs.

Kewaskum had three extra-base hits. Dehler had a triple to left center, Heberer smacked a line drive double to right field and speedy Liz Schaller grounded a double through the left side.

"I think we picked it up a lot by the end of the game. We were a lot more aggressive on the bases, obviously. We were really quiet in the beginning and you could see that. We kind of broke out toward the end so that was good," said Heberer.

"The team really goes as Dehler goes. She was hitting tonight, we won. This weekend she struggled hitting, we struggled," said Gosse. "When she's in a groove it just seems like everyone's in a groove."

Up 7-0 in the third, the Indians had runners on second and third after a Schaller infield single and Caitlyn Rinzel walk. The suicide squeeze was on for Faber, who executed the bunt.

Schaller started for home but thought better of it, fearing she would be tagged out.

In the mean time, Rinzel broke for third and Schaller ended up being tagged out as two runners headed to the same base.

Faber, seeing Rinzel run to third and being aggressive like her coaches told her, broke for second and was tagged out when Rinzel ran back to second.

It was a circus double play - one of a combined five in the game - and the Indians only scored one run that inning. Dehler clocked a triple to the left-center gap to score Rinzel. "That just comes down to you've got to watch, especially in that safety squeeze," Gosse said. "We just have to walk through it and talk through it. We've got to be aggressive but tone it down a little and be smart about it. We have to be looking who's in front of us, what runners are in front of us, what the situation is."

Another double play came on a lineout to third and throw back to first to get the runner in the fourth inning. A third acme in the fifth on a fly out to center and throw back to first. Heberer (9-2) allowed three runs on seven hits and three walks. She fanned seven. She continues to work with her catcher, Marquardt, on calling their own pitches, a change the coaches made a week ago. "I like it better with Michele just calling them because she knows - she can see better, like, what's working what's not with the batters," Heberer said.

The Indians turned two double plays of their own, both on line drives to Jennifer Beiswenger at second base who threw back to first to catch runners off the bag both times. Beiswenger made a great catch on the first one in the third inning, snagging a hard smash out of the air and taking away a hit.

In last weekend's tournament, the Indians lost to two top-tier teams, Weyauwega-Fremont, 6-1, and Wrightstown, 3-2. Weyauwega-Fremont, 14-2, is ranked 13 in Division 3, according to wisports.net.

"Erica pitched fantastic this weekend. She went toe to toe with the pitcher from Weyauwega-Fremont, one of the best pitchers around. Best we've seen this year by far," Gosse said.

He said his team fell apart in one inning.

"After that she matched her pitch for pitch. We let her down, mental errors, physical errors. It's a shame because she should have won that game," he said.

"We played 14 innings this weekend. We outplayed the teams we played for 12 of those innings," Gosse said. "What happened in those two innings ... We had lapses in fundamentals. And the kids realized it. That was a huge thing that we took away from that. And I think they realized not to fight us anymore on it. As one of the seniors said this weekend was what cost us the tournament was our fundamentals."

At rival Campbellsport last Thursday, Kewaskum built a four-run lead and hung on for a 5-3 victory. The Indians threw two runners out at home early in the game that came back to save them.

Reicher, a freshman pitcher developing in a future star, allowed seven hits on five walks and struck out eight.

In the first inning, Rinzel fielded a soft liner behind second base and threw out a Cougar on a close play at home for the third out. Schaller gunned down another from left field in the third inning. Marquardt fielded the throws cleanly and put on the tags, the fourth game in a row the Indians got an out at home.

"Both really close plays. Both throws were, like, right on target, so it was really easy for me to make the tag," Marquardt said. "Those are really big because that could determine the game in the end if we don't get a couple of extra runs here and there."

"That was the game, you know. Outfield played a nice game tonight," Gosse said.

While the five runs weren't an explosion, it was better than the dismal offense earlier in the week. Even the outs were hard-hit balls. Gosse said it helps that his team is seeing high-quality pitching.

"The speed's picked up. Our kids aren't in there swinging and hacking away. Now they're in there - they've got to go in and they've got to hit. They hit the ball very well tonight. We ran the bases real well tonight," he said.

The Cougars came back in the bottom of the seventh. Cleanup hitter Nicole Whitty blasted a towering rocket down the left field line that hopped to the wall to score two runs before Reicher forced a fly out and ground out to end the game.

Heberer, the victim in left field at the time, did her best Ryan Braun imitation when Trevor Hoffman pitches - twisting her neck to watch the ball.

"That one girl just crushed that ball. I thought it was out of here," Gosse said.
