Sargent wins Packer's Ultimate Fan Club Challenge

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Even among the most storied NFL franchise with perhaps the most loyal fans, Wayne Sargent stands out.

The Town of Wayne resident last year won the first Packers Partners Ultimate Fan Club Challenge and in a separate endeavor will be appearing in an NFL commercial.

Sargent submitted a photo in the contest last year and it received the most votes by Packers Partners members. The contest's theme was greatest Packer moment. Sargent's photo was a long shot of the American flag covering the entire field before last year's Dallas game. It was taken from his seat in the north end zone with the goalposts framing the flag.

For winning, Sargent received four Outdoor Club level seats to the Seattle Seahawks game last Dec. 27, a Lambeau Field parking pass, four tickets to the MVP tailgate in the Tundra Tailgate Zone, four Gameday programs, four pre-game sideline passes, four spots in the on-field ambassador line for player introductions and four tickets to the Mike McCarthy show.

Sargent liked being an ambassador. They wore gold suitcoats and gave players high fives as they ran out

Big Brothers/Big Sisters to expand programming

By Mitch Maersch

KEWASKUM- Kewaskum schools and Big Brothers Big Sisters of Washington County are expanding the after-school mentoring program to middle school and two elementary schools.

This fall, the program that pairs high school students with youngsters will operate at Farmington and Wayne elementary schools and Kewaskum Middle School, in addition to Kewaskum Elementary School where it has been running for three years.

After-school mentoring takes place on early release Wednesdays. High schoolers come to the elementary school down the block and interact individually and in groups for 90 minutes.

"We saw an opportunity where we knew the high schoolers and elementary students were both free. They're right next door to each other," said Mary Gamerdinger, executive director of BBBS.

Elementary school students were referred from guidance counselors for the program. More high schoolers signed up than were initially needed, Gamerdinger said. Many are interested in child care or education.

Twenty to 24 matches have been established. High schoolers are carefully chosen to best match their younger partners, Gamerdinger said.

Students first spend some one-on-one time with their matches and then join a game of kickball or board game with other matches. BBBS has some access to the gym and library, Gamerdinger said.

"The school has been very supportive, very cooperative with us in every aspect of this program," she said.

BBBS staff oversees the program and helps matches as needed.

"It is a mentoring program; it's not a supervised activity program," she said. "It's more than just babysitting or supervising."

One of the major focuses of the program is improving social skills of the younger matches. Playing games builds confidence, and the high schoolers encourage and support their matches in school work.

Matches in the program are evaluated just like other BBBS matches, Gamerdinger said. Teachers note the students' improvement in behavior.

"We do see these kids grow and improve through their participation in the program," Gamerdinger said. "At the same time, high school kids benefit, too."

This fall's expansion will include $6,000 from BBBS and another $6,000 from the school district. Another 40 matches are expected.

"Big Brothers Big Sisters did an excellent job coordinating everything," said Tom Fischer, former elementary school principal who moved to high school principal this summer. He said the program runs "seamlessly."

Transportation to Wayne and Farmington is still being figured out. High schoolers who can drive and live in those areas can get there on their own. The district will provide transportation for others.

Reiana

Date of Birth: 10/26/2002

Reiana is an adorable, petite seven-year-old African American girl. Reiana is described as being a great communicator, outgoing and a girl who stands up for herself. She is also described as being smart and perceptive with a charming personality. Reiana loves to go on picnics and do events out in the community such as going to the park or a museum. She also enjoys watching TV, playing with her dolls and having "play dates" with her sister.

Reiana is currently in the first grade. She attends public school for the first half of the day and attends day treatment in the afternoon. Reiana is doing well academically and needs a family to help guide her. Reiana would do best in a structured, yet loving environment.

Reiana would also benefit from staying in the Milwaukee area. She has an older sister and younger brother with whom she visits regularly. Reiana likely would do best in a home where she is the oldest child, and if possible, a family with one stay-at-home parent. She is a charismatic little girl who needs lots of love and support, and with the right family, who knows what she can achieve!

For more information about Reiana or other Wisconsin children waiting for adoptive homes, call Adoption Resources of Wisconsin at 414-475-1246 or 800-762-8063 or visit the website at www.wiadopt.org. website at www.wiadopt.org.

Reservations being taken for 2011 community garden plots

The Kewaskum Community Garden is lush, green and growing. Success has already been experienced with the first radish, zucchini, lettuce, onion and some greens being harvested.

Many had the 'garden' experience as they grew up. Imagine being 12 years old and never having held a green pea pod, knowing how to open it, knowing what delight awaits your taste buds.

"That happened to me last week when I offered the first peapod to a child. What do you think they'll say when we dig up the purple potatoes or the peanuts?" stated organizer Bonnie Wenzlaff, a master gardener who got the project off the ground this spring.

The Community Garden is not a secret; enjoy and watch as things grow. It's located just south of the Kewaskum High School soccer fields. With the assistance of talented Master Gardeners, some interesting methods are being introduced along with different vegetables.

Wenzlaff encourages community members to walk over and check out the garden, she asks simple respect for those who have put in the gardens to also be the people who pick the produce. It's not open for the community to pick.

Due to the huge success,

2011 will see an increase to the number of plots. There is already a waiting list forming. The investment in a plot is $20 and includes water and mulch. Next year's reservations are being taken so land can be prepared in fall.

"Planting a garden is much less work and less expensive than maintaining lawnspace. It's educational. It's essential in today's world to take back our food responsibility. Without power, there is no grocery. Wenzlaff stated.

If you wish to get a reservation in, now is the time to think, ask questions and call (262) 483-6385.

of the tunnel onto the field for the National Anthem. Danny Gokey happened to sing that day, and Sargent got to meet him and got his photo taken with him.

Fortunately, Green Bay's weather didn't live up to its frozen tundra legend, at least on that afternoon.

"It was a great day. Sunny, maybe 50 degrees," Sargent said.

The Packers annihilated the overmatched Seahawks, 48-10.

Sargent took his wife and daughter, 20, and son, 15. They actually sat next to the couple with whom they share their season tickets. The tickets they won happened to be next to their club level seats.

"That was really cool. That was really strange," Sargent said.

Sentencing delayed in McKee crash

WEST BEND- The family of a Farmington man who was killed at the hand of an impaired driver will have to wait to see justice. The sentencing of Jason M. Jacobs, Lomira, who was convicted of homicide by use of a motor vehicle is on hold.

During a hearing in Washington Court Jacobs' attorney, Gary Schmaus asked Judge Andrew Gonring to adjourn sentencing because of the presentence investigation report.

Judge Gonring concurred and allowed an independent report to be conducted.

the game had bands and food and drink, "just a giant tailgate party," he said.

At the McCarthy show, filmed the next day, the Sargents met Mark Chmura.

Sargent said he is known as the die-hard Packers fan of the community.

His house is yellow and gold, and his two vehicles have vanity plates of Gpacker and Gpker.

Sargent has been a Packer fan since his plumbing design engineer job took him to Wisconsin from New Hampshire 20 years ago. He has been a season ticket holder for 15 years, winning them through a lottery.

"I'll never give 'em up," he said.

Winning the contest is providing another unique opportunity. The Packers gave the NFL his name as one of their biggest fans, and Sargent was contacted by an NFL employee in Los Angeles about

THANK YOU

Thank you to all who supported Salem's recent Chicken Dinner. This was our 35th year, and we couldn't have asked for nicer weather.

Nor could we have asked for a better community to join us. Thanks to your generosity even in these difficult economic times, we estimate that we will be able to give at least $2,500 to the Kewaskum Community Pantry building project and another $2,500 to Hands and Hearts International, a locally-based organization that does medical work in Nigeria. We expect to be able to give more when all the proceeds from the dinner are collected.

We couldn't have done it without you. Thank you so very much, and we'll see you next year.

shooting a commercial. Sargent already did a phone interview and was asked what makes him a great Packer fan.

He expects filming to be done soon, and he expects a successful season from his beloved green and gold.

"I'd say they'll definitely win the NFC North. I think they've got a chance to go all the way," he said.

Letter to the Editor

Is it just me or do the rest of you wonder where the money is? I'm old enough to tell you I was working in the late 70's, early 80's. At that time I was working as a janitor at a public school earning $7.50/hr. I remember a person building a new house in the late 70's for $35,000. I remember buying a car around $4,000.

I've got a formula that seems to work, or at least pretty close. Take these three things and double them every 10 years. Example: 35,000, 70g, 140g, 280g - seems to be pretty close. How about a car - 4g, 8g, 16g, 32g; well not exact, but close. How about your wages - 7.50, 15, 30, 60. Are you making $60/hr?

The median household income in the US is about $45,000; in Wisconsin about $50,000. Other things have changed: manufacturing accounted for 28% of our GDP, while banking, insurance, finance industry accounted for 12%; now it is flipped 180°. Hours worked have gone up - the cost of health care, food, insurance, college tuition, utilities have all outpaced wages. The number of workers per family have gone up. How about your wages?

The problem in our country economically is quite obvious - Imports vs. Exports. When companies keep lowering wages does that affect you? Example; Mercury Marine, Harley, Arandell Schmidt and many others. Of course it does - right now organized labor in the private sector is 6%. Hmm-mm! At one time one-third of all American workers were organized workers. Does anyone see a connection? How can we compete against China, India and a never ending supply of cheap third world labor? Why aren't we taxing imports, or would you rather get taxed?

I'm sick of Republicans talking about creating jobs, but yet they're the same ones conducting business in Communist China. How about creating good paying jobs? How about fairness in taxation! The fact is that middle and lower incomes pay a higher percentage of their net worth then do upper incomes. I'm convinced Walker, Neumann and Ron Johnson will lower wages, first off by eliminating unions, by eliminating prevailing wage jobs, and possibly changing overtime laws.

Will this affect you? You bet. Maybe not right away, but eventually it will. Republicans have been consistently pro-free trade. How about fair trade!? Remember one thing: At one time Wis. businesses paid 11% of the total tax burden, now they pay 4%. The difference is made up by you and me.

Big Band to perform at PIGNIC August 1

The 12th Annual Peace Church PIGNIC in Kiwanis Park will feature an outdoor worship service, music by the Kewaskum Big Band, a delicious roast pork and chicken dinner, many raffle opportunities, and plenty of fun for the kids.

Back by popular request, the Kewaskum Big Band will perform music from some of your favorite dance bands of the swing era. Only two years old, this group, featuring musicians from Kewaskum, West Bend, Slinger, Jackson, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac, has become extremely popular, offering a full, professional sound. The Kewaskum Big Band, under the direction of Howard Schneider, will perform from 11:30-1:00 at the pavilion in Kewaskum's Kiwanis Park.

New this year, an inflatable bounce house and slide are offered free of charge for the children. Kids can also create stepping stones or try their luck at the baseball pitch, monkey striker, bean bag toss, or golf ball game. Some in the crowd might prefer old fashioned games like egg-on-a-spoon, or 3-legged sack races. If you need to cool off, the water balloon toss is just for you! And you won't want to miss the pig-calling contest and race. Other entertainment surprises will be offered throughout the day.

The PIGNIC is accessible to all. Golf cart shuttles will offer service from the parking lot to the pavilion. The public is welcome and invited to attend. Proceeds from the PIGNIC support outreach and mission in Kewaskum, Washington County and around the world. "Nic" the Pig will tell about those who have been served by proceeds from the PIGNIC.

Dinner and raffle tickets are available at Peace Church, by calling 626-4011 or by e-mail at peace.ucc@verizon.net. "Surf Shack" playhouse tickets are also available at Gateway Café, Ogi Vet Clinic and Van Ess Dental.

The Summer We Fell Apart

By Robin Antalek

The Summer We Fell Apart

A NOVEL

"The most moving aspect of this very moving novel may be its author's relationship to her characters. By portraying each sibling's muddled life with tenderness, respect, and clear-sightedness, author Antalek proves herself to be the ultimate good parent."
—Martha Moody, bestselling author of Best Friends

Robin Antalek

You've got a lot planned this summer. You'll be busy.

The most exciting thing is that you're going on vacation. You've been dreaming about that for awhile. You're going to plant a garden this year, even if it's just in a bucket. You're also looking forward to time with friends and family.

You've got a lot going on this summer, but a lot can happen, too. In the novel "The Summer We Fell Apart" by Robin Antalek, a family unravels one hot season, and it resonates for years.

Throughout most of her life, Amy Haas was the dutiful daughter. It was she who welcomed a foreign exchange student into the Haas household the summer before graduation, even though it was obvious that Amy's mother didn't want Miriam there. Come to think of it, though, Marilyn didn't want anyone around, even her children. When she was home - which wasn't often - Marilyn sat in her room, smoking, leaving her children to raise themselves.

Sixteen months older than Amy, George Haas should have had complete control in his job, but he didn't. Teaching teenage boys to love literature was hard when hormones, not Salinger, drove the class to act. But when Asa Malik became a student at the private boys' school, George was totally befuddled. It wasn't that Asa was intelligent - which he was - or that he had so many insights to share. No, George was flustered at how quickly he fell in love with Asa's father.

Kate, the oldest Haas, had been Daddy's Girl, which was a mixed bag. Richard Haas was somewhat distant, and Kate spent her entire life raising her siblings and yearning for her father's approval. She hated that the others were so needy and she rushed to escape as soon as she could. Love then was surprisingly easy but her father had other ideas and Kate had more regrets than her heart could handle.

Was there ever a time that Finn, the second sibling and oldest brother, wasn't drunk? Amy had a hard time remembering, and Kate worried about him. Responsible Kate tried, but she couldn't fix Finn's life. Neither, it seemed, could Finn.

On the eve of a happy family event - a rarity - Marilyn reflects on the legacy she left her children by being mostly absent throughout their lives. She missed so much, but then... so did they.

While "The Summer We Fell Apart" is certainly a beautiful novel, I was disappointed. Author Robin Antalek draws you in to her story and makes you care deeply about the four Haas siblings. You hope for them, gasp at how they got to be the dysfunctional adults they are, you come to like them a lot, then the book ends. Finis. Done. We are left with shreds of unsatisfying closure and a wistful smile, both of which made me think I was missing pages.

If you're hoping for a great summer read, you can try this but you may be disappointed, too. Alas, I thought "The Summer We Fell Apart" never came together enough.

Obituaries

DELBERT M. 'DEL' PETERMANN

Delbert M. "Del" Petermann, of West Bend, died peacefully July 5, 2010, at the age of 87.

He was born on August 10, 1922, in the town of Auburn to the late Henry and Esther (nee Schaefer) Petermann. He was preceded in death by his wife of 49 years, Arleigh (nee Ehnert) and his brother, Lloyd.

He is survived by four loving daughters: Karen (Kari) Eckhardt (Edward) of Grafton; Kathleen (John) Limbach of West Bend; Judith (Tom) Frank of State College, PA; and Jeanne (Brian) Hall of Sturgis, MI.

"Grandpa Pete's" eight grandchildren: Ed, Christine, John (Tammy), Adam (Jenny), Drew (Phoenicia), Nicole (Tom), Aaron and Gretchen (fiancé Jason) were one of the great joys of his life. He is also survived by a great-grandchild, April; a sister-in-law, LaVerne Petermann of the town of Auburn, several nieces, nephews, and cousins.

Delbert was widely known and well respected in the West Bend area as he worked for over 45 years at the West Bend Company, missing only three days of work during that span.

The other great joy in Delbert's life was serving his Lord at Pilgrim and St. Andrew Lutheran Churches, whether he was pulling weeds in the flowerbeds or counting the Sunday contributions. He was a Church Council officer, Elder, Sunday School Teacher, Youth Director, Usher and tireless Committee member.

Del was considered a 'cornerstone' of the Kettle Moraine Dartball League in which he played for 68 years. Del was elected to the Wisconsin Dartball Hall of Fame in 2010. International Lutheran Laymen's League, AAL, Camp Luwisomo, Living Word Lutheran High School, and Bethesda Lutheran Home will miss Delbert's life long generosity, support and participation. 'Well done good and faithful servant!'

Funeral services for Delbert will be held at 11 a.m. on Saturday, July 10, 2010, at St. Andrew Lutheran Church in the town of Farmington. The Rev. Robert Korytkowski will officiate and lunch will follow the church service. Interment will take place following lunch at St. John Lutheran Church Cemetery in New Fane.

Relatives and friends may call on Friday at the Miller Funeral Home in Kewaskum from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. and on Saturday at the church from 10 a.m. until the time of the service.

In lieu of flowers, memorials to St. Andrew Lutheran Church or The Lutheran Hour Ministries are appreciated.

Additional information and guest book may be found at www.millermartinfh.com.

25 Years Ago

Pictured in the Memories photo featured this week, were members of the 1914-1915 Kewaskum High School girls' basketball team. Team members were Lydia Guth, Mae Raether, Irene Opgenorth, Lucetta Schaefer, and Gladys Perschbacher. Although they were not members of a conference at that time, the girls completed a very successful undefeated season.

By winning five events and taking second in two more, the KHS girls rolled to a second place finish in last Thursday's Eastern Wisconsin Relays track meet held in Kewaskum. The 300 meter shuttle team of Sandy Secor, Dawn Dieringer and Renee Kapp took the first blue ribbon for KHS when the final New Holstein girl stumbled and fell, coming off the last hurdle, thus allowing Kapp to pass her and win. The 900 meter hurdle team of Secor, Dieringer, and Lisa Steiner ran to a 2:42.3 clocking beating New Holstein's composite by .6 of a second. The Indian high jumpers, Lisa Fusek, Amy Kougl and Lori Batzler, won with a combined effort of 14'2", while the 400 meter relay team of Kougl, Fusek, Kapp and Debbie Felix, narrowly beat Kiel with a clocking of 53.3, only .2 off the KHS record. Also taking first for Kewaskum was the shot put team of Jenny Hintz, Patti Padden and Jodi Yearling with a combined total of 92'1-1/2" with Hintz's being the best effort at 32'3".

Putting together their best four-man total of the year, the KHS golf team defeated two non-conference foes in a triangular meet last Monday at Hon-E-Kor and placed tenth at the West Bend Invitational last Tuesday. Senior Brian Bodden scored medalist honors on Monday with a four-over-par 39 and followed this up with a team best 43 at West Bend. Greg Dean, Randy Delcore, and Eric Pearson, all carded 41's to account for Kewaskum's season best score of 162 on Monday.

A son, Shane William, was born to David and Nancy Dreher, Campbellsport, on May 9. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dreher, Kewaskum, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Marchant, Campbellsport. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kippenhan and great-grandmother is Mrs. Rose Marchant, all of Campbellsport. Daughters were born to Steven and Mary Lou Bonlender, Campbellsport, on May 13, to Dave and Lisa Do-nath, Allenton, on May 7, and to Timothy and Kim Graf, Allenton on May 8.

Dean Martin, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Martin, Kewaskum, accidentally swallowed a plastic toy bullet which he was holding in his mouth on Tuesday morning at his home. The boy was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend, where xrays were taken. Because the toy bullet was plastic the xrays did not show it and could not locate the object. Dean was then rushed to Milwaukee Children's Hospital where immediate surgery was performed to remove the bullet, which had lodged in the right side of the lung, the use of which had already immobilized. As a result of being collapsed, the lung was no longer functioning. The boy withstood the operation very well and is now coming along very nicely.

An important business deal was made in this village the past week whereby Edward E. Miller purchased the late Clem. Reinders furniture and funeral business and was granted a lease on the store building and other property. Millers will take complete charge at once. A new business will occupy the store building formerly used as a furniture store, but up to the present time we are unable to state the nature of that business, but Mr. Miller assures us that the new business will be a credit to Kewaskum and vicinity. The Reinders furniture and undertaking business had been conducted here for the past 16 years and upon the death of her husband, Clem Reinders, on November 9, 1934, the business was conducted by his wife, Florence Reinders.

Liberty Bonds, totaling $7,600, which were stolen from Michael Pesch and his sister, Katie, on April 23, 1933, were recovered at Chicago last Sunday. The brutal torture robbery, which occurred on the Pesch farm, about 1-1/2 miles northeast of this village, was believed to be near solution on April 7, with the questioning by Chicago police of two men. The loot taken from the Pesch home by four bandits exceeded $10,000 of which $7,600 of it was in Liberty Bonds. When the bonds were called in by the U.S. government recently, watch was kept for the stolen serials.

Otto Stenschke of this village, who made a name for himself on the basketball court by winning high scoring honors while a member of the Kewaskum city basketball team in the Land o' Lakes League the past season, on Tuesday evening, was presented with a one-half foot trophy as Scoring Champion of the Northern Division of Land o' Lakes league.

The following were presented and examined at the Peace Evangelical Church last Sunday and will be confirmed next Sunday, which is Palm Sunday: Dolores Backhaus, Patricia Buss, Harold Bartelt, Evelyn Foerster, Mona Mertes, Earla Prost, Harold Prost and Marlin Schneider.

The Boy Scouts held their regular meeting on April 9, under the leadership of Scout Master Henry Lay, Curtis Romaine received the honor of being the star scout of the week. Those worthy of receiving honorable mention are Louis Bath, Francis Roden and Donald Seil.

William Schultz was the lucky guesser in the bean contest of the Quaker medicine company. He received a 32-piece set of silverware.

Quite a bit of excitement was created in Campbellsport last Sunday forenoon when Al Jewson's team ran away from a hitching post at William Murray's place and ran to the corner of Fond du Lac Avenue, then turning south and came near going into the Knickel and Straub store front. The team was caught a little ways south on Fond du Lac Avenue with slight damage to the rig.

One of the large plate glass windows in the front of the L. Rosenheimer store was broken during a recent heavy wind storm.

Kewaskum's new brass band was out Tuesday evening rendering several selections on the street in different parts of the village.

The St. Kilian boys have organized a baseball team under the name of the St. Kilian Creams and with a little more practice they will be able to challenge some outside teams.

We don't have problems... We only have solutions.

As I remember.....

By Marvin Martin

The following is an article written from the memories of Marvin Martin, lifelong resident of the Village of Kewaskum, entitled, "As I Remember." Marvin has since passed away and we came across it among the pages of our archives. Marvin's story ran in consecutive weeks in The Kewaskum Statesman beginning in 1992. We thought many residents would like to read this story once again and was worthy of reprinting for another generation of Kewaskum residents. Here are Marvin's reminiscences...

Our swimming consisted of going into the river. We did skinny dipping at the Backhaus pool which was on the river, north of Reigle Drive and also at the south side of Hon-E-Kor there was a large rock in that park area that we used. It was under water, one would sit on the rock, and we would use that for diving. The area was just below the mill dam at the northwest side of the bridge between the dam and the bridge, but there we had to have swimming suits. Early swimming suits for the boys were full suits and the girls were more like a dress and pantaloons.

We had two dams in Kewaskum which provided power for the flour mills. The last one went in 1911 and was never rebuilt. That is probably the reason the flour mill was no longer in existence.

Baseball was a popular sport and although we had no particular area for a permanent field, the first one I remember was in back of the early high school and the playground of the Holy Trinity Catholic Church and near the Slaughter House Road.

For baseball, we furnished our own bats, gloves and chipped together to buy a ball, and one ball would be about all we had. It was not unusual to see a catcher catching without a helmet and I have a mishaped nose from that. After high school ball grounds were put into order, we started the Waffando League, and often the pitchers or some other player were hired. Kewaskum Aluminum Company would often put some player on the payroll because there was a limit to the number of people you could hire.

Our weddings were primarily held in the homes, although occasionally some were held in halls. Most were church weddings and a shivaree was something that seemed to be a must. Of course, in those days, we were allowed to shoot (shotguns) in town and shotguns were used for making noise as well as large circle saw blades were pounded on and you had to get enough money for beer and lunch. The bride and groom had to come out of their home to take care of this obligation. (This was a shivaree).

In those days, our conveyance at weddings, was horse and buggy as a rule, and later on cars with signs painted all over them, and a string of tin cans tied to the back. Now it is not unusual to see limousines and again, horse and buggies at weddings.

Our weddings were made to last, not a convenience for a few years. We had more time to visit with our neighbors, yet our working days were longer than they are today. Cutting grass and seeing how nice we could keep our yards wasn't that important.

Our first sidewalks were wooden. The first cement sidewalks were put in by Strachota.

Our lives were far different than today. The cooking was done in the homes usually on wood or coal stoves. Our bathroom facilities were in our backyard. We lighted our homes primarily with kerosene lamps or lanterns and sometimes by candlelight. Families that used milk went to the farms and carried their pail of milk. The first bottled milk was produced at the Habeck farm in back of (the old) St. Lucas Cemetery (on Main Street).

Road taxes could be worked off by working with your teams and wagons on the road, or by shoveling or raking. There was one person in charge who would set the time on which this was to be done. At this time they would gather at one of the pits of gravel that was in the vicinity and the work was primarily done by hand. They would have a lunch break at which time they would have a keg of beer and some sausage and bread.

It wasn't until the 1920s that we saw hard surface roads.

In leaving Kewaskum, we did not have the overhead (bridge) on the north end. We had to cross the tracks which came out near Reigle Drive. These roads were not easy to follow going from one area to another. To West Bend we went south on 45 to the area where the "Welcome to Kewaskum" sign is located and then cross the track and again came out down near Mill Tool (Friendly Drive) and kept wandering around to get to West Bend.

We had many trains in the area and for 28 cents, you could get a round trip ticket to West Bend, and we could go south or north many times a day. For 78 cents we could go to Milwaukee and back, leaving in the morning and getting back about 10 o'clock at night.

The first street lights in Kewaskum were arc lights. These lights would be lowered, the two carbon sticks adjusted properly and turned on at certain times of the day and night. They were located primarily at street corners, and were furnished by L. Rosenheimer Malt and Grain Company. Most of our electric lights were put in in the 1920s. I remember when a group of electricians from Oshkosh came in and did extensive wiring of homes. This was nob and tube wiring - before BX and cable wiring was done.

Sewer and water was another thing that was not done until the 1920s. Water in the homes was horse or well water. Most homes had a well pump situation outside the home. Most had a wet sink, a pan for washing hands and face and a comon pail with a dipper which was used for drinking water.

Some homes had a bath tub, others a wash tub was used and usually set in front of the stove, children taking their baths first, then the mother and then father.

Most of the heating was done by either wood or coal stoves. Often times the homes had a living room which was only open when company arrived and was usually not heated.

Early delivery of goods was primarily by wagon or rail. It was not unusual to see a salesman coming by rail with several large boxes or even trunks that were unloaded and he would hire a rig from the livery stable and go to the several small communities around to sell his goods.

West Bend was really the closest area for beer; however there were several country breweries in the area, which I will not name, but one was situated near Wayne.

The beer was delivered by horse and wagon and once a month the beer collector would go tavern to tavern to get payment for his commodity. It was not unusual to see people following the beer collector, for as a rule, he would buy a round of drinks at each tavern.

Farmers did their purchasing at the local stores and would primarily use credit. They would sell the store their commodities, get a due bill, and once a year, a reckoning was made as to who owed who.

In the fall of the year, we saw people coming in with loads of potatoes which were taken in to the different elevators and it was not unusual to see the hot stoves at the elevator heaped with potatoes and baked potatoes were consumed by the different people.

Eggs and poultry were also brought in and there were many tricks -- some of the butter and lard had something in the center to make the weight heavier. It didn't take long to get wise to these people and the items were checked by probing them.

We had three cattle buyers in Kewaskum. There was a stockyard in back of the first village hall. Cattle were brought in either by foot or by wagon. The cattle buyers would purchase or assign the cattle and they were loaded in stock yards (cars) and sent to Milwaukee or Chicago for slaughtering. This area was also used for harvesting sugar beets, a cash crop for farmers and quite a few sugar beets were raised in the early 1900s.

The stockyards were later replaced by local truckers, hauling livestock to the city, both Chicago and Milwaukee.

The last Wednesday of the month was Fair Day and we would see many buyers coming into the community, stopping farmers before they got into town, trying to buy the livestock.

During the peak period of egg laying the people would take the eggs and submerge them into a solution that would keep them for a long period of time.

Talking about eggs, it was not unusual on a Saturday morning to see people coming to Kewaskum on the early train with egg crates which they filled and returned to the city with later on in the day. It was also not unusual to see carcasses of veal that were slaughtered and the innards removed, being taken to the city in the baggage cars.

Highway 45 was put in sometime in the 1920s. Before that, if you wanted to go to Milwaukee or anywhere else of any distance, you would often have to find a spot on the way and ask for directions. It was not unusual to find someone who would misdirect you on purpose.

Our early automobiles usually had tops that were folded down and were left folded down. Windshields were split and the top portion was pushed down so there would be less air resistance. If it started to rain, you tried to put up the top and side curtains on the car. Our early cars did not have the lighting system we have today. They had carbide lights which were also used in the homes. They had a tank in which water and powder were added to create the gas.

As youngsters, we often would get a syrup pail, take some of that powder and using some saliva, put the pail cover on and then hold a match to it to see how far we could move the cover. This also resulted in serious accidents.

Our mail was delivered primarily by rail in a mail car which had a person working and distributing the mail. The mail was usually loaded from the baggage car onto the mail car, or if a flyer, first class mail was picked up by a hook on that car.

Our Sunday newspapers were brought into Kewaskum by flyer and dumped off at the intersection of Main and Railroad Streets. Occasionally these would burst, and papers would go flying all over. The newsboy had to take these papers and put the different sections together. This was often done in the depot or the post office if they were open. The newspapers that were received in the early days were Wisconsin News, The Milwaukee Journal, Chicago Tribune, Chicago Herald and The Examiner. Often several German papers out of Milwaukee were also delivered.

Youngsters also delivered The Saturday Evening Post as well as The Police Gazette.

We really had no hospitals in our early days. The West Bend hospital was not built until the late 1920s and doctors made house calls. We had three doctors in Kewaskum, Dr. Hausmann, Dr. Driessel and Dr. Elmergreen. One of the first hospitals in the area was the Driessel Hospital. When we heard of someone being operated on, we thought of death. At the age of seven, I had my tonsils and adenoids removed and all the children told me I was going to die. This operation was performed in Milwaukee because there was no place around here that did it.

We did have two dentists, Dr. Karl Hausmann, whose office was above the Lay Lumber Building and Dr. Klumb, whose office was upstairs of the Farmers and Merchants Bank.

There were two veterinarians in town, one was in the area of the show house and the other was where Krueger's Plumbing is located. Dr. Edwin Morgenroth was the name of one of them. He was "hell on wheels" and you could really hear him coming down the country roads and had better get out of his way.

Dr. Hausmann had the first "snowmobile." He put runners on the front wheels of his car (as did others later) and was able to go cross lots in winter. Although attempts were made to shovel the roads in winter, it was a losing battle as the roads would fill up with snow quickly.

In the fall of the year it was not unusual for neighbors to go to corn husking bees to help the farmer husk his corn, with a lunch after completion. If you were building a home, it was customary for people to help with putting laths in the homes which were plastered.

People did a lot of processing of meats and vegetables. It seemed like late December was the time to slaughter pigs and process them, making sausage, rendering lard and frying down meat which could be used later on. The fall of the year was oftentimes canning time and the produce of the garden was put into storage, cucumbers were sliced and salted and put up in earthenware jars. Sauerkraut was made the same way.

In the mid-1920s, with the village becoming larger, there was a need for a larger school. There was a lot of controversy for moving the school from its original area to what is now Reigle Drive and Second Street. Several meetings were held before the voters were convinced to build a new school. This new school gave us our first real gym.

We had primary, intermediate, upper grades and high school. There were six teachers, including the principal. Sports were usually taught by the principal.

We will continue Marvin's memories in next week's edition.

Wisconsin and Illinois ink cooperative agreement addressing CWD in deer

MADISON - Wisconsin and Illinois have reached agreement on guidelines for cooperative management of chronic wasting disease (CWD), the fatal neurological disease of deer that has been confirmed in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois counties.

"The wildlife in question - whitetail deer - obviously don't recognize state lines," said DNR Secretary Matt Frank. "Science is telling us that we are dealing with a single widespread occurrence of CWD so it makes sense that we cooperate with our neighbors to the south in working to control its spread to healthy deer."

The agreement, referred to as a memorandum of understanding or MOU, identifies mutual goals for managing CWD. Wisconsin and Illinois also will develop a cooperative plan they hope will lead to a more effective and ultimately successful management program.

Wildlife biologists and wildlife health experts from Illinois and Wisconsin DNRs have been talking and sharing experiences for many years. A formal agreement signed by the two agency leaders will benefit both states by making efforts both more efficient and cost effective.

Both states have identified reducing deer densities and limiting geographic spread of the disease through herd reduction strategies as important goals. Cross-border research opportunities will be explored and the states plan to share common public messages relative to outreach and education about CWD. Staff is authorized to assist the other state when needed in CWD control activities when expected results are considered mutually beneficial. Data sharing in particular will be helpful to identifying the most effective management strategies.

"The ultimate goal in this effort is to preserve the health and quality of our white-tailed deer resource and the traditions associated with deer viewing and hunting for now and for generations to come," said Frank.

A's Update

The A's stayed unbeaten in tri-county night league play Wednesday night, June 23 with a 13-2 win over the West Bend Benders.

Austin Sarauer got the A's on the board in the 1st with a two out 2 RBI single, but that was all the A's would push across until later in the game. With the score sitting at 2-1 in the 5th, James Goodfellow blasted a two-run homer to center giving the A's a 4-1 lead.

The A's tallied two more runs in the 6th and 7th innings as Matt Meisenheimer chipped in with a RBI double in the 6th and Adam Martz an RBI sac fly in the 7th. With the game now in control, Kewaskum pushed across five more runs in the 8th.

Sarauer capped the scoring as he belted his second homer in as many games, this one being a three run home run. Rob Michalkaewicz picked up his first win for the A's throwing four solid innings. Goodfellow 3x4 (HR, 3 RBI's), Sarauer 2x5 (HR, 5 RBI's) and Meisenheimer 2x4 (2B, RBI) led the way for the A's at the plate.

On Friday, June 25 the A's traveled to Brownsville to take on the 49ers in a pivotal Rock River matchup. Both teams came in with identical 5-3 records in league play with the winner getting the inside track for the 2-seed in the division.

Brownsville struck first with a single run in the bottom of inning one. The 49ers added another single run in the 3rd pushing the lead to 2-0. Kewaskum answered with a single run in the 5th as Jason Strobel singled and eventually came around to score on a RBI single by Sarauer cutting the deficit to 2-1.

The typical pitcher's duel between Brownsville and Kewaskum ensued with neither starting pitcher giving up many scoring chances the rest of the way. Still trailing 2-1 in the top of the 8th, the A's tied the game up when Jim Ziegler led off the inning with a solo home run. Matt Meisenheimer followed with a walk, but was stranded at second with two outs as the big hit the A's needed just wasn't in the cards.

Brownsville would eventually put runners on 1st and 3rd with one out in the 9th putting an A's win in serious jeopardy. Starting and losing pitcher Ziegler induced a groundball double play opportunity for the A's which allowed them to get the second out at second base. However the relay to first was not in time and the winning run crossed the plate for the A's.

The A's now sit at 5-4 in Rock River play just ahead of numerous other teams as the race for the playoffs begins to heat up.

The A's traveled to Dotyville on Saturday, June 26, and met St. Peter in a SWABA first round game. St. Peter blasted the A's a few weeks earlier in the Plymouth Tourney so the A's looked to return the favor.

Meisenheimer led the game off with a single and eventually came all the way around to score on a wild pitch giving the A's a brief 1-0 lead. St. Peter answered right away though in the bottom of the 1st tying the game at 1-1.

The game remained here until the 6th when Dan Shea was hit-by-pitch with two outs. Sarauer followed putting together a great at-bat fouling off at least a half-dozen 2-2 pitches before singling back up the middle, allowing Shea to get to third.

A little luck proved to be on the A's side as an errant pickoff attempt of Sarauer at first base, sailed down the right-field line, allowing Shea to score the go-ahead run from third. This was more than enough for winning pitcher Mitch Huffman as he dominated after picking up his first victory with the A's on the season.

With the win the A's advance to the second round of the SWABA tourney taking on the winner of Muskego/Oconomowoc. The win puts the A's at 13-12 on the season.

The Kewaskum A's were knocked out of the Plymouth Tourney Wednesday night, June 16, as St. Peter drubbed the A's by a score of 13-6. St. Peter wasted little time putting up two runs in the first inning to jump ahead 2-0.

Kewaskum responded in the bottom of the first as Meisenheimer led off with a double and came around to score on a Kurt Zagzebski single to put the score at 2-1. That was as close as it would be the rest of the game though.

St. Peter exploded for nine runs in the third inning building a 12-1 lead, thanks in part to numerous Kewaskum miscues in the inning. The A's put 5 runs on the board in the 3rd, to cut the lead to 12-6, but it was too little too late as the A's failed to make the Plymouth Tourney championship for just the second time in the last six seasons.

On Saturday June 19 the A's traveled to Menasha for a first round NBC tourney game against Denmark. The A's continued to struggle in tournament games as they fell to Denmark 8-2.

The A's maintained a 2-1 lead into the sixth, but starter Adam Martz ran out of gas on the mound and with no relievers available the A's failed to keep the game close.

The A's took a 2-1 lead in the fifth as Meisenheimer and Shane O'Hagan collected RBI's in the inning, but the A's found themselves knocked out of the NBC regional tourney. Meisenheimer led the A's offensively as he went 4x4 (2B, RBI).

Kewaskum looked to get back into the win column Sunday, June 20 as they traveled to Slinger for a Rock River matchup. The A's struck first in the second inning as Sarauer belted a solo home run to put the A's on top 1-0.

The A's were back at again in the fourth as Sarauer ripped a RBI single and Jake Panzer followed that with a RBI double. Still in the fourth, with runners on 2nd and 3rd, Ziegler dropped in a two-RBI single putting the A's up 5-0 after four innings.

Kewaskum added a few insurance runs in the fifth as Adam Martz drove a two-RBI

Kewaskum remains undefeated!

Kewaskum's Brandon Zolp steals second in the ninth inning after a line drive single to left field in the ninth inning last Friday against Plymouth. The Indians won the game, 5-3, on a home run by Brad Boegel to guarantee a share of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference title. Due to a computer glitch, this week's story was lost in cyberspace. It will be published next week.

double into the gap and Sarauer followed with an RBI single to make the score 8-0. With the A's leading 9-0 in the bottom of the sixth, Slinger got on the board with a three-run homer, but the A's lead was too much as they hung on for a 10-5 win.

Martz led the way offensively going 3x5 (2B, 2 RBI's), while Sarauer 2x5 (HR, 2 RBI's), Meisenheimer 2x5, and Panzer 2x4 (2 2B, 2 RBI's) chipped in with productive days at the plate. Ziegler picked up the win on the mound tossing the complete game.

The Kewaskum A's picked up a big Rock River win on Sunday, June 13 knocking off Hustisford 5-0. Dan Shea supplied the offense and Ziegler shut down Hustisford on the mound as the A's moved to 4-3 in Rock River play as the season nears its halfway point.

With the game scoreless in the third, Ziegler and Meisenheimer ripped back-to-back singles to put runners on the corners with no one out. Ty Schill followed with a RBI single to put the A's up 1-0.

That brought up Shea who crushed a home run to left putting the A's up 4-0. Kurt Zagzebski followed with a walk and eventually came all the way around to score on a wild pitch to put the A's ahead 5-0.

This was all the offense needed on this day as Ziegler tossed the complete game shutout, yielding seven hits to go along with six strikeouts. Meisenheimer and Schill led the A's with three hits on the day, while Ziegler and Nick Whitty each chipped in with two hits. Shea finished 1x5, but the one hit was the big three run homer in the 3rd.

The A's dropped two non-league games to Denmark Saturday, June 12 in Kewaskum. In game one, the A's fell behind 3-0 early, but clawed their way back tying the game at 4-4 in the 7th.

However, Denmark took advantage of a Kewaskum error in the 9th to plate what proved to be the winning run. Kirk Poss took the loss on the mound tossing six solid innings, but a couple errors at the wrong time wasted his solid performance.

In game two, the A's fell behind 4-0 after one inning that proved to be too much to overcome. The A's collected only four hits in the 2nd game in losing 7-2. On the day the A's were led by Meisenheimer 3x7, and John Cetnar 2x6.

The A's picked up a Plymouth Tourney win on Friday night, June 11 over Grafton by a score of 2-0. The A's tallied single runs in the 1st and 3rd innings as that proved to be more than enough for Whitty who tossed the complete game two-hit shutout. Kewaskum was led by Meisenheimer as he went 2x3 (2 2B's).
