Gateway Community Theatre presents 'Ax of Murder'

Schladweiler, Ermer, Deis take top honors at Fair

Actors in "Ax of Murder" blame the theater technician Phil Jenkins, played by Alex Strack, center, for some of their plight during a rehearsal Tuesday night in the Kewaskum Theater. Gateway Community Theatre is presenting the play Thursday, Friday at Saturday at 7 p.m. Tickets cost $5.

TOWN OF POLK - Maybe next year Savannah Dei will drive herself to the Washington County Fair.

The Kewaskum High School sophomore and FFA member received $10 per pound for her 273-pound overall champion hog "which I was pretty happy about" and knows where some of her profits are going, beyond feed and vet bills: Driver's education.

"I turned 15 and a half in April and still haven't taken it," Dei said.

This was Dei's second champion hog. She also won in 2006.

This year, Dei knew Cruz, as she named her, had a chance to place well right away.

"When I got her I said this is a really nice pig," she said.

The animal started out doing quite well as Dei brought Cruz to the weigh-in in early April, a couple months after she was born. From then, she made sure Cruz had water and food each day, gave her baths and exercised her. Cruz hit a slow spot and lost momentum part of the way through, but shaped up at the end, Dei said.

"Once a day we make sure they're walked, but we feed them about three times a day separately," she said.

Cruz daily devoured a pig food grind mix.

When it came time to judge, Dei was surprised at the result. Cruz won grand champion and her younger sister's hog won reserve champion.

"I was shocked, so overwhelmed. I had no idea I had done this well, Savannah said. "I guess hard work pays off."

The pig-showing veteran showed a steer for the first time this year and received a blue ribbon, second to the reserve champion.

"It was totally awesome. I was always busy. Even though my steer was Adam Bader doesn't work as a morgue attendant, but he already has part of the uniform.

"I can dress up like myself," said the Gateway Community Theatre member and Moraine Park Technical College student.

Well, mostly.

"Except Bader doesn't wear eyeliners," said cast mate Robert Fordham, a West Bend East sophomore.

Gateway Community Theatre is performing "Ax of Murder" at 7 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the Kewaskum Theater at the high school. Tickets cost $5.

The cast runs the gamut from middle school to middle age, something East sophomore Sam Miller appreciates.

"Ax of Murder" is a play within a play, said Gateway Community Theatre Director, Nick Brettingen, who teaches eighth grade at Kewaskum Middle School. Inside a possibly haunted theater, actors read a cursed play script and the death it tells of comes true, sending them into frantic and hysterical antics, including some adlibs.

"It's hilarious," said Bailey Kirschbaum, who has three roles in the play. Lighting switches often in the play, creating the challenge of moving around in the dark.

"Carrying bodies is really hard," Bader said.

"You get used to (the darkness) after a while," said Miller.

Kewaskum Middle School seventh-grader Leah Wilde said she is having fun playing a police officer and morgue attendant "even though we don't get to talk."

That does have an advantage, Kirschbaum said.

"We don't have to memorize a ton of lines like everybody else," she said. Unlike Brettingen's middle school productions of 50 or more actors, the volunteer theater has auditions. Twenty six made the cut this year. Last year, he only needed 13.

The cast has been practicing since June 17, he said, three days per week.

KHS project to be sold at Holy Trinity's Social Fest

Students in the construction class at Kewaskum High School with the shed they built for Social Fest.

If you've driven down Main Street recently, you've likely noticed a shed parked in the driveway of the Holy Trinity rectory. This shed is the result of a joint project combining efforts of the KHS Construction Class and materials provided by Campbellsport Building Supply.

After seeing an article in The Statesman last year, the Holy Trinity Social Fest team approached teacher Kevin Hein at KHS, inquiring about the possibility of building a shed to be sold at the Holy Trinity fundraiser. Hein was quick to accept the opportunity.

"I see this as a great opportunity to contribute to the community and also accomplish our key goals within the KHS construction class. We strive to give student's hands on experience in residential construction. Students learn first hand how to lay out joists, frame walls, install a variety of exterior siding on walls, lay out trusses, cut and install soffit and fascia, and roof. We have been building small storage sheds for the public for the past three years. In that time we have built chicken coops, storage sheds, and large on-site garages. The motto of Kewaskum's Technology Education department is "Telling is fine, showing is good, doing is better" and that's what we are trying to accomplish with this class. Building this shed has been a great project for us," Hein explained.

Campbellsport Building Supply also accepted the challenge, and provided all materials for the project. According to Joel Fleischman, President of CBS, an active community supporter, "The construction class at KHS is an ideal opportunity to build the skills of our next generation of craftsmen. We welcomed the opportunity to contribute to this project and to Holy Trinity's event."

Thanks to loading services from CBS and Russ Herriges from RH Improvements, the shed is now ready to be sold with local delivery included. Sale of the shed will take place at Holy Trinity's Social Fest at River Hill Park on August 28th. The shed, along with numerous other items will be sold during a live auction starting at 8:00 P.M..

Social Fest is Holy Trinity's annual community event, starting with a steak and roast pork dinner from 4-7 p.m., and includes raffles, games, silent auction, beverages and music provided by Jimmer's Juke Box. Details regarding the shed and the Social Fest event can be picked up from the information box on the shed, or call Tony Fleischman at (262) 626-2977 for further information.

Social Fest Tickets are available at Herriges Oil, Piggly Wiggly, BP Amoco, and at the Holy Trinity School or Parish Offices.

Letter to the Editor

Why Scott Walker?

The son of a preacher, he grew up in the small town of Delavan, Wisconsin and it's those small town values that make Scott the man he is today. Growing up, Scott's family didn't have a lot. Those lean times taught him to do more with less and he believes government should do the same.

According to Tonette, Scott's wife of 17 years, he is every bit as fiscally conservative when it comes to his personal finances. Scott drives a 1998 Saturn with 100,000 miles on it and packs the same brown bag lunch before heading to the office to save money: two ham and cheese sandwiches on wheat with mayo.

Scott's Brown Bag Guide to Government applies the same kind of small town values and common sense ideas he follows in his personal life:

1. Don't spend more than you have.
2. Smaller government is better government.
3. People create jobs, not government.

When it comes to serving the public, Scott Walker puts his money where his mouth is there too. From 2002 through 2010, Scott and Tonette Walker have given back over $370,000 of his salary to the county.

Scott has kept his promise to spend the taxpayers money as if it were his own, introducing eight consecutive county budgets without increasing the property tax levy from the year before, without sacrificing community assets that enhance quality of life.

Scott Walker is uniquely qualified to lead Wisconsin's troubled state government back to fiscal sanity. As a former state legislator and the Chief Executive of the state's largest county, Scott knows what must be done to put Wisconsin government back on the side of the people, he's willing to stand up against the entrenched special interests to do it and he has done it.

Lots of candidates make many promises, but vote for the one who has successfully kept his promises and has done it 8 times like Scott Walker.

Support and vote for Scott Walker.

Fred Boehlke

THANK YOU

Doyle appoints two judges; searching for DA

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.

Washington County Circuit Court is replacing half of its judges as two are retiring, which in turn opens the district attorney position.

Gov. Jim Doyle appointed private attorney James Poulos and District Attorney Todd Martens to circuit court judges. Poulos will take the place of Judge Patrick Faragher in Branch I and Martens will take Judge David Resheske's spot in Branch III.

Martens continues the trend of district attorney to judge as Resheske served as Washington County District Attorney before being appointed to judge a decade ago. "Todd Martens has been serving the citizens of Washington County for years, and I am confident he will continue to serve with distinction," Doyle said in a statement. "He has the intellect and temperament to be a great addition to the bench."

"I thank Gov. Doyle for appointing me to this position," said Todd Martens. "I promise to serve Washington County as a hardworking, fair and ethical judge."

Martens received bachelor of arts and master of science degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and graduated from Harvard Law School. He worked at Quarles and Brady in Milwaukee before moving to the Washington County District Attorney's Office in 1991.

Martens was elected District Attorney in Washington County in 1999 and has been re-elected to that position five times. He and his wife Lori Hanes have one daughter and live in Germantown.

Doyle has similar praise for Poulos.

"Jim Poulos' experience and qualifications will make him an excellent judge," he said. "He is prepared for this challenge, and I believe he will serve Washington County well."

"I am honored and humbled to be appointed by the Governor," Poulos said. "I look forward to working hard for the people of Washington County."

Poulos earned his undergraduate degree at the UW-Milwaukee. He received his juris doctor from Marquette University Law School. Poulos spent time serving in the U.S. Army before joining O'Meara Law Firm in West Bend where he has practiced since 1971. Poulos, his wife Carol, and their two sons live in West Bend.

To fill Martens' position, Doyle is accepting applicants through Aug. 5 for the next Washington County District Attorney.

An applicant must be a member in good standing of the Bar of the State of Wisconsin and must reside in Washington County at the time the appointment becomes effective.

Those interested may obtain an application form from: Office of the Governor, Attention: Libby Gerds, Appointments Director PO Box 7836 Madison, WI 53707-7863 or from Elizabeth.Gerds@wisconsin.gov.

Completed applications should be returned to Gerds at the above address no later than Thursday, Aug. 5. For more information on the appointment process, call Libby Gerds at 608-266-1212.

Kewaskum Juniors wind down after busy year

As in all organizations there seems to be a time when we need to review what we accomplished for the year. Not only did we put together a successful year but had fun doing it.

Our most prominent fundraiser is our Murder Mystery event we held in April with our September chicken dinner next in line.

Most of the proceeds from our fundraisers have been promoting the Pediatric Bags for our local ambulance services. In addition to the bags we continue our support for high school scholarships, Friends of Abused Families, Helen Mears Art contest, Every 15 Minutes Program, Arts Festival, Shop With a Cop and the new Community Food Pantry.

In addition to our contributions you will always see a smiling bunny face at the Legion Easter Egg Hunt and the North Pole mailbox at the Post Office. In February we find time to thank the village employees with a chili lunch.

Another project we wrapped our arms around this year was the purchase of baskets for the library. The idea stemmed from the First Impressions program between our village and Watford. The baskets have been purchased and you will soon find them available for your browsing pleasure.

The Juniors are getting ready for the fall events. Mark your calendars for our Chicken dinner slated for Sunday, September 26th and our Winter Willow Boutique on Saturday, November 13th. Watch for more details on this event, as it gets closer.

We are excited to start rolling again with our new leadership team in place. Karen Heberer is president, Cindy Koester, VP, Marin Siegert, secretary and treasurer Louise Martin.

If you are interested in joining us, please feel free to contact Heberer at 262-626-2816 or check out www.KewaskumJuniors.org. New members are always welcome.

Peace and quiet key to More Than Makeup Day Spa's success

Dawn Stecker, LMT, and Donna Borgwardt, owner of More Than Makeup Day Spa.

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

TOWN OF SHERMAN - Take one look at More Than Makeup Day Spa and you know this pampering or health treatment is going to be a little bit different.

That's exactly the way owner Donna Borgwardt wants it.

For starters, the spa isn't in an upscale strip mall in a metro setting. It's not in a modern building in a downtown area.

It's in a farm house that dates back to the Civil War on a mostly quiet country road and Borgwardt takes advantage of all the charm that comes with it.

"Everybody's kind of surprised. Why is there a day spa in the middle of nowhere? But that's the whole thing - peace and relaxation," said Borgwardt, a licensed esthetician.

The homestead-turned spa that housed Borgwardt's grandparents, great-grandparents and great-great-grandparents has a few rooms with their own names. The largest is the Angel Room that houses the most interesting conversation piece: the first TV in Sheboygan County.

Borgwardt's great uncle, Gary Schulz, bought the RCA Victor machine for $377 after he returned from serving as a lieutenant colonel in World War II. On the wall behind it is the original receipt of sale, a newspaper article detailing the purchase and a TV schedule from the 1940s that resembles more of a community cable listing today. TV wasn't even on every day.

Borgwardt said the salesman was first concerned reception wouldn't reach Sheboygan County, but it soon did. Schulz was able to get the one channel available.

Schulz, who was born in the house, died last August. The family found the TV in the attic and moved it to put it on display as part of an open house to honor Schulz.

Clients are intrigued by the look and design of the house, Borgwardt said, and she is working to restore it to how it was in the 1850s. The outside is already pretty close to the oldest known photo of the house she has on a wall in the Angel Room.

While the appearance may be old fashioned, the service is modern. Borgwardt and her only employee, massage therapist Dawn Stecker, take webinars - rather than take expensive trips out of state - on the latest trends and techniques in the industry, and Borgwardt has sold Mary Kay cosmetics for 25 years.

"We can still have the hominess and antique look; we're still able to keep things sanitary," Borgwardt said.

It's not just the physical atmosphere that's warm and welcoming; Borgwardt and Stecker pride themselves in getting to know their clients, both professionally and personally.

More Than Makeup Day Spa is not a part of a robotic chain that offers clients the same exact services written in a manual.

"It's a lot more personal. The clients like that, too. We know their likes and dislikes. If someone needs an extra pillow under their head or something - the little things. We personalize every single service," Borgwardt said. "We actually care about our clients. We've worked at different spas where you're a number. We get to know our clients."

"People come in and you can give them that personal care," Stecker said.

Besides that, Borgwardt said More Than Makeup Day Spa's prices are lower than most other spa - "in some cases half." Facials, manicures or pedicures start at $20 and massages at $15. Prices rise with more deluxe services. Packaged services are available.

"That's basically for the fact that when people have a need I feel it should be affordable instead of a once-a-year-treat thing," she said.

Borgwardt grew up in the Town of Sherman and always wanted to open her own spa. The Random Lake High School graduate worked as a runway model but didn't want to move to New York or Chicago to pursue the career and ended up taking esthetician classes in the late 1980s in Sheboygan before the state closed down the school.

In 2002, she had an opportunity to finish school, got her license and faced a crossroads.

"OK, what am I going to do with the rest of my life? Do what I always wanted to do," she said.

The farm house was empty at the time, and at a family meeting Borgwardt got her relatives' blessing. More Than Makeup Day Spa was born in 2004. Her parents who live down the road still own the house; she rents it for her business.

"I wanted something unique and I just thought a very homey, comfy country atmosphere would be different," she said.

Borgwardt lives with her husband, Jan, not far from the spa in the Town of Sherman. Jan runs a construction company and the two are often quite busy.

Kenworthy heads back to Tanzania Brick by Brick Concert Aug. 19

John Kenworthy is shown with some of the Tanzanian children he has helped through Brick by Brick for Tanzania.

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

John Kenworthy is going back to Tanzania to help his younger friends. He hopes to see all of them there.

This will be the executive director of Brick by Brick for Tanzania's third trip to the Third World country to check on the status of several preschools in various stages of completion, the mission of the nonprofit organization.

"I am very excited to go back. This will be my third time in country. I have a mixture of excitement and trepidation. Traveling within a nation where a child dies every 30 seconds from malaria, I am scared that perhaps not all of my little buddies from previous journeys may yet be with us," he said.

Kenworthy will check in on Malaika, a school up and running, attend dedications for King'ori and Young Roses, and see the progress of Ngarenyuki, Siima Ric Ballin Shule and CAVU Imbasseny/Nassary School, all slated to be done in summer or early fall.

I know that what we do offers hope and that will be very exciting. The Young Roses School is almost complete right now, but even when it was merely a foundation the preschool children would come every morning to the empty foundation ready for school. The mere hope brought them there," he said. "That's why we do this. To offer hope to the hopeless and give them an opportunity that we in the United States often take for granted - education."

Kenworthy, also involved in education back home as president of the Kewaskum School Board, is looking for donor organizations to match with Tanzanian communities to improve education of their youth.

Tanzania has an average family income of about $370 per year. Most cannot afford sustainable food, medical care, clean water, adequate housing or education, according to Brick by Brick. Only 57 percent of primary school-aged children attend school and only 7 percent go to secondary school. Less than 1 percent graduate.

Through its preschools, Brick by Brick helps to offer children a start in school in a safe and healthy environment, lets Tanzanian moms work outside the home and encourages older siblings to stay in school instead of joining the workforce early.

Brick by Brick will hold its fourth annual benefit concert in the Kewaskum Theatre on Aug. 19. The event will feature Suzzy Roche, a former member of The Roches who has solo hits like "Married Men" and the capella version of "The Hallelujah Chorus," and David Mansfield, one of the founding members of Bruce Hornsby and the Range who later composed music for movies ("Heaven's Gate," "The Guitar,") and performed on many CDs, the latest with Sting on 2009's "If On a Winter's Night."

Rich Ferguson will be the opening act. Showtime is 7 p.m. Tickets cost $10.

Brick by Brick for Tanzania! Inc. came out of an initiative by Trinity Lutheran Church in West Bend. Trinity was asked by members of the Sura Parish in the Meru Diocese of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Tanzania to pray for, fund and help build a small school in Tanzania.

Trinity's effort helped alleviate two of the Sura Parish's major educational hurdles in the region: lack of readiness of incoming primary school students and early exits of the majority of secondary school children.

The model was seen as one that could easily be replicated across the country. Brick by Brick for Tanzania! started as an independent nonprofit organization in October 2007. Its goal is to continue completing small projects as collaborative efforts between communities in the United States and Tanzania.

Reconnecting Families, One Meal at a Time

FAMILY FEATURES

If busy schedules and digital distractions are getting in the way of family time, help is on the way. Unilever, maker of many leading food brands, recently unveiled The Family Dish, a program aimed at helping busy families discover the joys of cooking together. Anna Marie Cesario and Lauren Dellabella, experts from the Unilever Consumer Kitchens, agree that cooking is a great creative outlet, and that the simple acts of mixing and measuring together can lead to amazing conversations and memories that last a lifetime. Their advice is:

- Get Them to Plug Into You. Make the experience as meaningful as possible by designating the kitchen as a "technology-light" zone. Have them use their laptop or Smartphone to access favorite recipes, but no texting allowed. This is your chance to simply cook, connect and spend quality time together.
- Redefine Text(ing). Demonstrate the basics by cooking alongside them. Start by teaching them to read a recipe all the way through. Show them the importance of paying attention to measuring and the difference between ingredients. And, be sure to touch on the importance of food safety with hand washing and proper handling of raw foods such as eggs, meat and poultry.
- Celebrate Success. Encourage and celebrate their culinary creations and remember it's the effort, not the outcome that's important. Remember that even the simplest of time spent together in the kitchen can turn into the best of memories ... and good food!

These easy-to-prepare recipes, from Unilever Consumer Kitchens, are designed to help families save time and money using quality staples likely already in their pantries. For information and inspiration, www.TheFamilyDish.com has tips, time-saving family-friendly recipes, and videos of real moms cooking with their families. TEA PARTY

Aug. 7, 11 a.m. - 1 p.m.
Washington County Fair Grounds

To my fellow Americans

The time has come when we must decide what we are going to do. Are we going to let Washington D. C., Madison or the Village run us into bankruptcy or make our children and grandchildren pay for our lack of leadership? The time is now to stand up and attend the tea party at the Washington County Fair Park on August 7th, 11:00 am – 1:00 pm.

On a personal note, I feel our Village needs to wake up. Our lack of leadership has cost us too much. The water rates are crazy. Just because we had an over flow from a large amount of rain, we had to redo the sewer plant for $7,000,000 design plan from McMahon after not taking the $13,000,000 Ruekert/Mielke proposed. Sure am glad the village used McMahon to save us the money. Why not let developers use McMahon? Now the DNR wants us to chlorinate the water – why? Just this week, Milwaukee dumped 7,000,000 gallons of sewage in Lake Michigan, but yet WE had to fix OUR sewage treatment plant?!

Government must think we are stupid. They are raising fees on everything, which is no different than raising taxes. People cannot afford it anymore. We need to cut taxes and run the government like any other businesses does. If that means cutting government wages, equipment, etc. then do it. Our village needs to bring growth and businesses to the community. The Village and I started a business park in '05 but got scammed by the fancy land plan from California. But the time has come to move on.

I had two businesses for the business park. Both have backed away after seeing all the difficulties I had to deal with on this simple rezoning. They both told me they are not interested in dealing with the Village. Remember, we started the plan in April and still have not gotten approval from R/M or Village staff, but remember, the Village board approved it.

A member of the plan commission, with 30 plus years of surveying and development design layout experience, voiced his opinion and said the plan was reasonable, made the motion to approve it and yet it got voted down. It was Village Staff, Ruekert/Mielke and the new Village attorney – Stan Riffle (who, by the way, stated Bill Mielke is his best friend). Who is our new attorney working for? Ruekert/Mielke said the plan was not good enough.

Now after I brought my own engineer and attorney in personally to the meetings, the board voted for it as long as staff and Ruekert/Mielke approved all layouts. The list of improvement requirements is a mile long. (what a joke!) After building and developing in Kewaskum for 15 years I have moved to Sheboygan Falls to build. The reason was because the building permits in the Village of Kewaskum are over $17,000. In Sheboygan Falls the same permit is $1,000. I asked the staff at Sheboygan Falls why. He stated the impact fees are a one-time charge. On the other hand, taxes on a building are forever with a savings of $16,000. Just for the permit costs and a staff that is willing to work with builders and developers, anyone with any intelligence would take their workforce where the potential for profit would be greater and I have truly just gotten sick of working with bobble heads in Kewaskum.

As a husband, father, grandfather, business man, landlord, developer, former 10 year Village Trustee, past president and district director of the JC's for 18 years and current member of Kiwanis for 12 years, it's my feeling that if you want to live in a community, you need to give back and be pro active and help your fellow Americans. I hope to see you at the tea party August 7th!

The time has come for Americans to stand up and say we have had enough!

I am not a Democrat or Republican - I am an American.

TOWN OF POLK - A tornado warning, thunderstorm and downpour delayed but didn't stop the Washington County Fair's annual Live-stock Auction last Thursday.

But as Sale Committee Chairman Jim Hawig huddled with others in the Pavilion to wait out the tornado warning, he wondered just what would happen. Just when the auction was to start, the warning was issued and caterers put the food away. That kind of weather, and a down economy, could scare off buyers and cut into kids' earnings after putting in months of work with their animals.

"I was worried for the kids," he said.

His concern was put to rest within a couple of hours. Buyers spent nearly $150,000 on 40 sheep, 50 hogs and 38 beef cattle, not a bad sale by any standard and even better considering the conditions.

"Had a great sale," Hawig said. "The buyers is what makes the sale."

Just being part of the sale is an honor for kids. Fifty hogs were selected from a field of 128, 38 beef cattle from 60 and 40 sheep from 49.

"The right to sale is up to the judge," Hawig said.

The top animal isn't always the heaviest and isn't necessarily sold for the highest price, but it's usually among the top sellers.

This year, the top steer went for $3.50 per pound. Lillia Janz of Hi-Lite Happy Workers 4-H showed the 1,270-pound animal. Thunder Pallet of Theresa bought it.

The steer average was $1.61 per pound. The total amount sold was $82,180.25.

"We're up a little bit from last year," Hawig said.

Savannah Dei of Kewaskum FFA showed the top hog, going for $10 per pound. Thunder Pallet bought that one, too.

Hawig said this was quite a deal since hogs on the market today are selling for 56 to 58 cents per pound.

The hogs averaged $3.38 per pound and brought it a total of $44,006.50.

Ryan Bingen of Slinger FFA showed the winning sheep that went for $5.75 per pound. Farmer's Implement of Allenton bought the 144-pound animal.

Sheep averaged $3.49 per pound and brought in $17,744.75.

The total of about $144,000 is $10,000 down from last year, but last year was the second highest sale in the auction's 41-year history.

For Hawig, a farmer in the Town of Wayne who has been involved in the auction for more than 20 years and chaired the sale committee the last seven, it's all for the kids.

"Just so the kids have a good time and hopefully they learn something," he said.

Champions

a big handful - he didn't like me that much," she said.

Once the steer was moved from an outside farm to Dei's hobby farm in the Town of Kewaskum the animal came to like her a little better.

"I would get up before school at 5 and go outside, rinse and brush the steer and then go in and get ready for school. He got used to me a lot more," she said.

Dei also received some blue ribbons in the horse speed class. She encourages people to join 4-H because it's a "big family" and educational.

"It just teaches me responsibility. I'd rather be showing pigs than ... doing drugs or drinking. It keeps me so busy that I can't be doing that stuff," she said.

Five-year veteran steer shower Mike Schladweiler, a Kewaskum High School senior and FFA member, received reserve grand champion for his animal, Bruce.

Schladweiler saw his 1,620-pound beast sold for $2.50 per pound at the annual Livestock Auction. It was hard to let go.

"Yeah, it is really hard," he said.

The two had worked together for eight months.

"Just gotta feed them right and just gotta take care of them like it's a little pet," Schladweiler said. "Gotta walk them around a lot."

Bruce was kept at another farm but only about 200 yards from Schladweiler's residence. He worked with him three to four hours per day.

"It's well worth it. I like seeing my end result what I raised from a calf. I can show it off to the rest of the county," he said.

Schladweiler put his profits in the bank to save for college. He hopes to attend the University of Wisconsin-Platteville to become a shop teacher.

For recent Kewaskum graduate Lindsey Kiel, showing horses has been a way of life for a decade.

This year, her quarter horse, Baylee, received all blue ribbons in her classes. Baylee, 16, is the first horse Kiel ever had.

"I work with her every week. About five days a week I ride her. I take lessons from a trainer. You're constantly learning," she said.

Kiel rides about one hour per day on her Town of Wayne farm. If it rains, she goes to a friend's indoor arena nearby.

Judging depends much on

how the rider and horse get along.

"The rider being able to easily control the horse and having the connection with the horse," she said. "Some horses aren't cut out to be show horses."

Kiel likes horses because of their different personalities.

"I've liked them ever since I can remember," she said.

Baylee is of the laid back variety.

"She's pretty calm and easygoing. Nothing really bothers her," Kiel said.

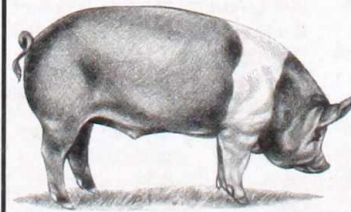

Even the fireworks on the opening night of the fair. Baylee didn't mind at all while another of Kiel's horses became a bit antsy from the noise.

Kiel shows horses at various shows in the area, and attends clinics and seminars to stay current with the industry. The aspiring veterinarian said she has made many friends through her hobby. She even attended the Ohio Quarter Horse Congress

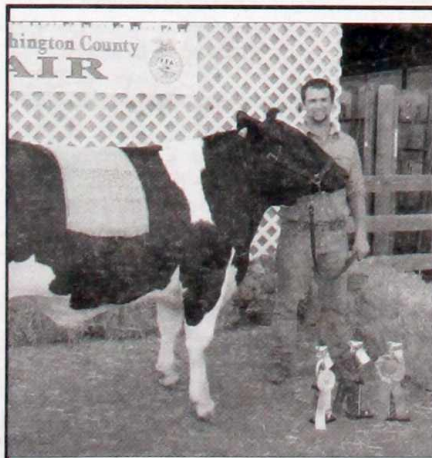

"Being able to go to all these events and shows is great," she said.

25 Years Ago

Consistently updated equipment and dedicated personnel are what have been and continue to be the backbone of the Kewaskum Fire Department. The arrival of the department's latest piece of equipment, a new ambulance, is evidence of that fact. The 1985 ambulance, with a Ford chassis and Marion body, will be used in conjunction with the present 1979 Chevrolet ambulance.

Saturday, June 15, will be Dairy Daze in Kewaskum. The third annual event, sponsored by the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, will be highlighted by a parade at 11:30 am. Preceding the parade, a Dairy Breakfast will be held at the Alvin Panzer farm, 1/2 mile north of Kewaskum. The crowning of the king and queen will take place in the park following the parade and the highlight of the afternoon will be the pig races, sponsored by the Kewaskum Jaycees to benefit Muscular Dystrophy. A pig roast dinner (none of the racers were sacrificed for dinner) will be held from 4:30 to 6 pm.

Airman Lynn E. Dewane, daughter of Charles and Diane M. Dewane of Kewaskum has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Mississippi, after completing Air Force basic training. The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the communications-electronics systems field. She is a 1984 graduate of Kewaskum High School.

The first "Goodtime League" (what a gross understatement) game of the evening at the Thiemerdome was delayed 15 minutes in order to accommodate fans caught in the traffic snarl at the Buss Farm Milwaukee River cloverleaf. Fans are urged to arrive early and tailgate in the soon to be revamped pig sty area. The first game saw Kennelly pound punchless Bartelt Insurance 8-1. Part of the problem seems that several players were in their option year and in order to keep the championship squad intact, large long term contracts were negotiated. Mike "Rags" Pfeiffer and Dennis "NMI" Reha are both 0 for May and June. Jonesy Korth dispelled any rumors by getting his first hit of the season. He turned an easy inside the park homer into a sliding out at home plate as he tripped over his cigarettes rounding third base. Worst hit by the hitting famine is pitcher Rags Pfeiffer. His split fingered super duper reverse drop sinker spinner has been finding the mark with uncanny accuracy, but to no avail. In a statement to the press, during a very despondent mood the other night, he muttered something to the effect the only good thing about Thursday night (game night) is that it is followed by Friday night. SPECIAL: In order to compete with the West Bend Centennial the VIP Lounge will have a special next week. All the Blind Robins you can eat for $3.00. It will also be Cushion Night. Bring your own cushion and you get in FREE!

A daughter, Sarah Jane, was born to Richard and Jane Halfmann, Campbellsport, on June 12. Sarah has a brother, Nicholas. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Halfmann, Kewaskum, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Goebel of Eden. Daughters were also born to David and Cindy Flasch, Kewaskum, on June 10 and to David and Gail Sauer, Allenton, on June 5. A son was born to Dale and Christine Strietzel, Kewaskum, June 7.

STATE OF WISCONSIN DEPARTMENT OF
NATURAL RESOURCES
PUBLIC NOTICE OF
INTENT TO ISSUE A
WISCONSIN POLLUTANT
DISCHARGE ELIMINATION
SYSTEM (WPDES) PERMIT
No. WI-0064599-01-0

Permittee: Beck Dairy Farm, 9179 Hwy W, Campbellsport, WI 53010

Facility Where Discharge Occurs: Beck Dairy Farm, STH 28, Town of Wayne, Washington County, Wisconsin

Receiving Water and Location: East and West Branches of the Milwaukee River

Brief Facility Description: Beck Dairy Farm LLC is an existing dairy operation located in the Township of Wayne, Washington County, Wisconsin. Operations covered under the proposed permit include the Main Farm and three satellite farms. Facilities at Beck Dairy Main Farm include: milking parlor, 2 free-stall barns (additional free-stall barns may be constructed) and 1.7 million gallon manure storage lagoon. Beck Dairy Farm LLC is being issued a WPDES permit because the current number of animal units exceeds the 1,000 animal unit threshold that requires a WPDES permit.

At the Main Farm, 740 milking and dry cows (1,036 animal units) are housed in confinement. There are also 100- 1,100 pound heifers housed on an outdoor lot (110 animal units). The following 3 satellite farms are included in the permit: Dave's farm, Oelhafen's farm and Mom's farm. Dave's farm has 125-750 pound heifers- and 25 calves (80 animal units), Oelhafen's farm has 90-750 pound heifers (54 animal units) and Mom's farm has 65-350 pound heifers (39 animal units). Total animal units for all operations is 1,319. During the course of the permit, the operation will expand to 2,008 animal units (1,340 milking and dry cows and 120 heifers).

At the Main Farm, Beck Dairy Farm LLC currently has 80 days of manure storage. A 10,000,000 gallon manure lagoon will be constructed by the fall of 2010. The new lagoon and the existing storage will ensure Beck Dairy Farm LLC meets the 180 day storage requirement of NR 243.

If Beck Dairy Farm LLC stacks manure, all concrete stacking pads must meet NRCS 313 standards and headland stacking site requests must be approved by the Department, prior to use.

There are several outdoor lots and exercise areas at the Main Farm and satellite farms. Beck Dairy Farm LLC must submit a pasture management plan for each of these areas and maintain 70% vegetation. Approximately 1800 tons of solid manure are collected from these outdoor areas and is spread according to their nutrient management plan.

With 1,319 Animal Units (AU), annual liquid manure production is estimated to be 8,000,000 gallons. Annual manure production will increase to 16,000,000 gallons after expansion. Beck Dairy Farm LLC has approximately 1,246 acres available for land spreading. Beck Dairy Farm LLC owns approximately 600 acres and rents an additional 646 acres, under long-term cropland rent agreements. Beck Dairy Farm LLC has a custom hauler and spreads manure in accordance with a Nutrient Management Plan approved by the Department. Manure will be incorporated within 48 hours of application, to eliminate run-off and odor. Manure will not be field applied when there is the potential for adverse weather conditions. No runoff of manure or ponding in fields is allowed at any time. The permittee must meet additional spreading requirements of NR 243. Manure samples will be analyzed in accordance with the requirements of the proposed permit. Land spreading rates must be adjusted based on sample analysis.

A phosphorous strategy for manure management will be submitted to the Department, as required by the proposed permit. Set-back distances for phosphorous based manure management are more stringent than those for a nitrogen-based manure management plan.

The proposed permit requires that a Nutrient Management Plan be submitted and updated annually. The Nutrient Management Plan must be approved by the Department and cover the handling of all manure. The permit will restrict winter spreading of liquid manure on frozen or snow covered ground to only emergency situations and restrict solid manure applications on frozen and snow covered grounds.

The farm is currently using feed bags. A feed storage bunker and leachate collection system must be installed by the fall of 2012. If any upgrading or modification of feed storage areas, leachate collection systems or stormwater runoff controls is necessary, plans and specifications and a written description to correct the adverse runoff conditions will be submitted to the Department.

The Department discussed the compliance schedule with David Beck on 7/7/10 and he found it reasonable and acceptable.

All runoff control and manure storage systems at all sites will be monitored by Beck Dairy Farm LLC and will be reported according to the permit schedule.

Beck Dairy Farm LLC has a high capacity well permit. Water usage is measured by meter. There are no spray irrigation systems on site.

Permit Drafter: Michelle Lehner, DNR SER Headquarters, 2300 N. Martin Luther King, Milwaukee, WI 53212, (414) 263-8498, michelle.lehner@wisconsin.gov

The Department has tentatively decided that the above specified WPDES permit should be issued for this new discharge. Persons wishing to comment on or object to the proposed permit action, or to request a public hearing, may write to the Department of Natural Resources at the permit drafter's address. All comments or suggestions received no later than 30 days after the publication date of this public notice will be considered along with other information on file in making a final decision regarding the permit. Anyone providing comments in response to this public notice will receive a notification of the Department's final decision when the permit is issued. Where designated as a reviewable surface water discharge permit, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is allowed up to 90 days to submit comments or objections regarding this permit determination. If no comments are received on the proposed permit from anyone, including U.S. EPA, the permit will be issued as proposed.

The Department may schedule a public informational hearing if requested by any person and shall schedule a public informational hearing if a petition requesting a hearing is received from 5 or more persons or if response to this notice indicates significant public interest pursuant to s. 283.49, Stats. Requests for a public informational hearing shall state the following: the name and address of the person(s) requesting the hearing; the interest in the proposed permit of the person(s) requesting the hearing; the reasons for the request; and the issues proposed to be considered at the hearing.

Information on file for this permit action, including the draft permit and fact sheet (if required), may be inspected and copied at the permit drafter's office, Monday through Friday (except holidays), between 9:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Please call the permit drafter for directions to their office location, if necessary. Information on this permit action may also be obtained by calling the permit drafter at (414) 263-8498 or by writing to the Department. Reasonable costs (usually 20 cents per page) will be charged for copies of information in the file other than the public notice and fact sheet. Permit information is also available on the internet at: <http://dnr.wi.gov/org/water/wm/ww>. West ends Indians' season

Pitcher Cody Seibel tags out West Bend East catcher Zach Decent trying to get back to third in a pickle in the seventh inning of Saturday's sectional semifinal game in Random Lake. The play kept the game tied at 1-1 and set up Kewaskum's last at-bat heroics again.

RANDOM LAKE - In a season filled with late-inning heroics, Kewaskum's baseball team had just enough magic left to reach Saturday's rain-delayed sectional final.

Then, it all came crashing down.

The Indians beat West Bend East, 2-1, in their last at-bat in a semifinal and lost to West Bend West, 10-0 in a five-inning debacle. West moved to 32-2 on the season and on to Stevens Point for the state tournament while Kewaskum went home with a 27-6 record, a finale unfitting of its outstanding season.

The meeting of the top two seeds in the sectional didn't include any of the drama a fan could have wanted and was somewhat marred by a freak injury that happened on a dead ball.

Down 1-0 in the top of the second inning, Cody Nuernberg was trying to pitch out of a bases-loaded jam when it was ruled he hit leadoff hitter Davis Yach.

The call wasn't loud enough for most anyone to hear however, and the ball got by catcher Bo Seibel. West's Shane Hayes took off from third and Nuernberg came in to cover home. As he went to make the tag, Hayes spike caught Nuernberg in the head on a play that didn't matter given the ball is dead once a batter is hit.

Nuernberg, though conscious and talking, began bleeding from the head and was carted off to the locker room. Kewaskum's bench and fans went nuts, ripping the call.

Cody Seibel relieved Nuernberg and allowed one more run on a walk as West took a 3-0 lead. Kewaskum was never the same, but it may not have mattered the way Jon Nick was pitching.

"I think really it sparked us for a little bit of a momentum there but just like that it deflated us. Jon started throwing strikes and punching us out and we didn't have enough firepower to relay back and fight back today," said Coach Doug Gonring.

Players said while it was bad enough Nuernberg had to be taken out, the way he left made it worse.

"That was huge. One, the inning should have been over so they never should have scored them two runs in that inning. It should have been over and he never even should have had to leave if he got hit, but he didn't even get hit so he should've been out," said Cody Seibel.

"I think it impacted our team. It kind of chopped the morale down a little bit, but we should have kind of like taken that to heart and went out there and won it for them," said right fielder Tony Gonring.

"It hurt a lot. A couple of things led into that that should have made that not even happen at all, but it was really unfortunate. You don't like to see a teammate go down like that," said sophomore and team home run leader Brad Boegel.

"He was a key part of the team so it's a real bringer downer," said pitcher Mike Schladweiler.

Seibel allowed one run in the fourth and got in trouble in the fifth. Boegel relieved but couldn't stop West's rally and hit Harry Steldt with the bases loaded to end the game via the 10-run mercy rule.

Nick went all five innings for West, striking out nine and allowing three hits and one walk.

Kewaskum's best chance to score came in the first inning. Sam Olla led off with a line-drive single to right field and Cody Seibel grounded a single to the right side that put runners on first and third with one out. Nick then dug deep and struck out the next two batters with heat.

"We get men on first and second, that's fine. What did we do, we over swung. We didn't hit the ball in play again. You don't have to swing at stuff over your hands," Gonring said.

He said he considered a suicide squeeze, but his big hitters in Boegel and Nuernberg were up and figured he'd give them a shot at it.

Nick allowed one runner to second base the rest of the game. He would have set the Indians down in order from the third inning on if a third strike hadn't gotten away, allowing Boegel to reach first.

"He was throwing pretty good, he was hitting his spots and getting some low-ball strikes," said Tony Gonring.

"We just couldn't hit today, first game, too. I don't know," Cody Seibel said.

The Indians struggled down the stretch, coming into the playoffs on a 2-2 streak, and Saturday was no different. Gonring said the trend of striking out too much continued.

In addition, the Indians made five errors, their weakness early in the season. West made none.

In most of the game against West Bend East, the Indians looked as if their season would end right there. The Suns took a 1-0 lead in the fourth and held it until the sixth, when with one out Cody Seibel doubled to the right center wall and Boegel knocked him in with a line drive single to left.

In the seventh, Bo Seibel reached on a liner to right and reached second on a Steve Kudek walk. The Suns changed pitchers from the right handed Tyler Salentine, who pitched a gem for 6 1/3 innings, to the lefty Alec Steinmetz.

With one out and runners on first and second, up came Tony Gonring, the last hitter in the lineup. Gonring had batted lefty the entire game until now. Dad told him to switch around.

A wild pitch moved runners to second and third. With their season on the line, the Suns drew in their infield and outfield. Gonring launched a fly over the left fielder's head and kept Kewaskum's season alive.

"I was just kind of looking for something that I could hit, something just to get in play, score a runner from third. Got a good pitch and put a good swing on it," he said.

"It's a different vision," Doug Gonring said of switching his son to the right side. "All he had to do was make contact and he did and that worked out fantastic at that point."

It made the coach and the dad proud.

"Yeah, I was a proud dad and a proud coach at that time because that's exactly what we needed to happen at that point in time was a contact play," he said. "Tony has struggled offensively considerably over the course of the year. He has put the ball in play pretty well there for a while. He's probably got more RBIs than hits so that means he's doing the right thing."

Schladweiler started for Kewaskum and went five innings, allowing one run on two hits. He struck out four and walked one. Lucas Kopeschka relieved and allowed no runs on one hit and no walks in 1 2/3 innings. Cody Seibel came in and allowed one hit and struck out one, but made a bigger play to prevent a run. In the seventh, with catcher Zach Decent on second after a bloop single and sacrifice, Sun Trevor Pruett singled to left field. Decent tried to score on the play but got caught in a pickle. Kewaskum perfectly executed the play as catcher Bo Seibel threw to Nuernberg at third, who threw to Cody Seibel halfway down the base path. Seibel made the tag as Decent tried to get back to third.

Gonring was impressed with his pitchers that game.

"Both threw the ball well," he said of Schladweiler and Kopeschka.

"I just threw my hardest and gave it all I got because I knew we needed to win that first game and move on to the next one," Schladweiler said. "I felt really good about it, pitching today."

Gonring was less thrilled with how the sectional was run from top to bottom.

"This sectional was run as poor as I've seen. The umpiring has been as poor as - and this isn't sour grapes because West beat the hell out of us. To take some type of momentum and whatever one gets and add this bad of outcome. To get kids hurt and not understand the rules, I mean you've got three of 'em. Three of 'em," he said.

Rain delayed all three games from Friday to Saturday, but Gonring said the field was playable Friday afternoon and evening. Gonring said he walked it for an hour and called all three other coaches to tell them.

"I walked the whole thing. I'm telling you. There was no water on here," he said.

Moving the games made it hard on some players who were scheduled to work on Saturday. Gonring said he left one player's name off the lineup card in the East game.

"I had kids who if they missed going to work they get fired. It's hard going to get off every day when the baseball gets changed on 'em. I said go to work. It's hard enough for a kid to get a job and go play baseball," he said.

Regardless, the future of Kewaskum baseball shines brightly as the Indians only lose four seniors.

"I hope so, started five sophomores today," Gonring said. "Somewhere along the line somebody's going to pay for this stuff."

Kewaskum A's

A's drop second Rock River game of the weekend to Hartford

The A's looked to rebound against Hartford on Sunday, but this game proved to be another struggle for the A's as the offense continues to be hit or miss this season.

With the game scoreless in the bottom of the fifth, Matt Meisenheimer ripped an RBI single to put the A's up 1-0. However a base running miscue cost the A's any more scoring opportunities in the inning and the offense was pretty much silent the rest of the way.

Hartford took the lead in the top of the sixth plating two runs to go ahead 2-1 and added another in the seventh to go up 3-1. The A's tried to rally late as they put two runners on in the ninth with nobody out, but a strikeout and fantastic double play ended the game.

Nick Whitty pitched seven solid innings, but took the loss on this day as they A's couldn't muster up much offense in support.

Kewaskum was led by Matt Meisenheimer 2x4 (RBI) and Jim Ziegler 2x3. The A's fall to 8-6 overall and 3-3 in Rock River league play.

A's can't hold lead in loss to Rubicon

The Kewaskum A's suffered two tough Rock River losses this weekend losing to both Rubicon and Hartford.

On Saturday in Rubicon, the A's took advantage of a Rubicon miscue in the first as Kurt Zagzebski knocked in Ty Schill to give the A's a quick 1-0 lead. Rubicon took the lead back in the bottom of the first as they plated two runs to go back on top 2-1.

The A's again took advantage of a few Rubicon miscues loading the bases with nobody out in the second. Jim Ziegler ripped a bases loaded RBI single and Dan Shea came through with a two-out 2 RBI single to put the A's up 4-2.

With the game still 4-2 in the fifth, Rubicon tallied a single run to cut the lead to 4-3. The A's still clung to a 4-3 lead in the seventh as Rubicon batted with two outs and two runners on.

Kewaskum looked like they were going to get out of the inning, but a routine fly ball, that would have ended the inning, was misplayed and two runs scored for Rubicon putting them back on top 5-4.

The A's couldn't tie the game in their final two at-bats and dropped a heartbreaker to first-place Rubicon. Jake Panzer took the tough-luck loss tossing the final two innings. Kewaskum was led by Dan Shea 2x5 (2B, 2 RBI's), Jim Ziegler 3x4 (RBI) and Adam Sarauer 2x4.

A's pull away late in Manitowoc for win

The Kewaskum A's turned away the Manitowoc Bandits on Wednesday night 15-5 in a non-league game played up in Manitowoc.

The A's got on the board in the second inning on a bases loaded RBI walk from Jim Ziegler to go ahead 1-0. Manitowoc tallied single runs in the second and third innings to take back a 2-1 lead, but Kewaskum responded back with three runs in the top of the fifth to go ahead 4-2.

The big hit in the inning came from Adam Sarauer who had a 2 RBI single, which marked the beginning of his huge night offensively.

Manitowoc tacked on two runs to tie the game at 4-4 in the bottom of the fifth off Kewaskum reliever and winning pitcher Adam Martz, but it was all A's after that.

With the game still tied at 4-4 in the seventh, Ty Schill led off with a double and advanced to third on a wild pitch putting the go-ahead run at third. Dan Shea hit into a fielder's choice to score Schill and Kurt Zagzebski followed with a monster shot out to left for a two run homer, putting the A's up 7-4.

Manitowoc responded with a run in the bottom of the seventh but the A's exploded for eight runs over the final two innings in winning 15-5.

The A's got a two RBI double from Kurt Zagzebski and RBI singles from Adam Sarauer and Ziegler in the eighth. Ryan Theisen also pitched in with a RBI walk in the five run eighth inning.

Sarauer capped his huge night with a three RBI double in the ninth to finish his night 3x5 (2B, 6 RBI's). Kurt Zagzebski 2x3 (2B, HR, 4 RBI's), Dan Shea 2x5 (2B, RBI), and Ty Schill 2x5 (2B) all chipped in with solid nights at the plate. Martz picked up the win on the mound while Matt Meisenheimer picked up the three inning save.

Kewaskum's struggles continue against Mayville

The A's continued to find ways to lose one-run games on Sunday as they fell to the Mayville Mallards 6-5. The loss puts the A's at 5-5 in the Rock River league tied for fifth place.

The silver lining for the A's is that they are only 1/2 game out of second place, but need to start winning some games here soon if they would like to be playing any playoff baseball this season.

Kewaskum jumped ahead early as Adam Martz knocked in Dan Shea with a two-out RBI in the top of the first. The A's busted out for three more runs in the third as Austin Sarauer led off the inning with a solo home run. Dan Shea followed with a double with still nobody out. A one-out walk followed by a single from Adam Sarauer loaded the bases for Jim Ziegler who dropped in a two RBI double pushing the A's lead to 4-0.

This lead quickly vanished though as two Kewaskum errors, a failed turn of a double play, and a hit batter let Mayville tie the game at 4-4 in the bottom of the 3rd inning. Another error by the A's led to a run for Mayville in the fifth putting the Mallards on top 5-4.

With the A's still trailing 6-4 in the ninth with two outs Kurt Zagzebski walked giving the A's a chance. After a wild pitch put Zagzebski on second, Martz dropped in RBI single cutting the lead to 6-5. Martz also reached second via a wild pitch, but a pop-out to second base ended this one for the A's.

Adam Martz 3x4 (2 RBI) and Adam Sarauer 3x5 led the way at the plate for the A's. Rob Michalkiewicz deserved a better fate as he took the loss tossing six innings, giving up six unearned runs. Kewaskum looks to get on a roll this week as they have a number of games.

The Bookworm Sez

by Terri Schlichenmeyer
Going Out Green

By Bob Butz
Spirituality & Health Books
$14.95 149 pages incl. resources

Though you know it's impossible – it's a piece of ground, for Heaven's sake – your garden almost looks sad.

A few dried plants are bent over in the middle. One or two missed tomatoes lay half-melted into the soil. You almost want to plant something, just to cheer it up.

But wait. Be careful what you wish for. There's one final thing to plant, but you'll want to wait a long time. Read more in "Going Out Green" by Bob Butz.

When Bob Butz's editor asked him how he'd feel about writing a book on planning a "green" burial, he knew that refusal was impossible. Heather was the kind of woman who "tends to be unaccustomed to men resisting her advances."

But the advance (money a writer is paid up-front) was small, and the time-frame even smaller: Butz was given three months to plan his own funeral. What writer could resist that challenge? After all, most funerals are pulled together in three days, and under duress. And most of them are not "green".

Less than a hundred years ago, Butz points out, we were a society relatively accustomed to death. It was common for a family to care for their own when someone died, without help (or interference) from a professional and without the "ick factor". Coffins weren't made of exotic wood or gold-plated hardware, few chemicals (if any) were involved, and this was a whole lot cheaper.

Remembering his own father's funeral, Bob Butz began to realize that natural burial - interment as it was done a century ago - was somewhat appealing, in a strange way. Intrigued, excited, and challenged, he started digging.

Literally.

He asked around, to see if he could help (or just watch) someone excavate a grave. He inquired about autopsies and discovered a few things that happen when we die. With a hunter's eye toward living and dying, he unearthed facts about death in other cultures as well as attitudes in our own society. He found "green" coffins, spoke with a caretaker for a green cemetery, and met a "death midwife" who – much like a birth midwife brings a child into the world – ushers someone's child out.

Okay, this might sound a little macabre, but "Going Out Green" is a fun book to read, as well as being helpful and informative. Author Bob Butz has a keen sense of the absurd, he doesn't offer stomach-turning, ghastly details, and he's willing to keep this subject light while he learns.

In the meantime, he lets us learn, too: cremation really isn't "green". It's easy to find instructions on building your own pine (or any kind of wood) box. Stone memorials don't guarantee memories. Laws vary differently between states. And you probably can't just plant Aunt Jane in the garden she loved.

While one could argue that nobody wants to think about dying, it's also a fact that we do. So if you're looking for a quirky book on this serious topic, grab "Going Out Green". Then plant yourself in a chair and enjoy.

Early detection needed for glaucoma treatment

More than 50,000 Americans develop glaucoma each year. Each day without treatment could take them one step closer to blindness. Nearly all cases of glaucoma blindness could be prevented with early detection and treatment.

Glaucoma is sometimes referred to as the "Silent Thief of Sight" because it can strike without obvious symptoms. Until serious vision loss is encountered, a person with glaucoma is usually unaware that he/she has the vision destroying disease. In fact, half of those suffering from glaucoma don't even know they have it - and the damage is irreversible.

Glaucoma occurs when excessive fluid accumulates within the eye and causes pressure to build. The increased blood pressure hampers eye flow to the optic nerve causing vision loss and eventual blindness.

Who is at greatest risk for glaucoma?

- People over age 45
- Family history of glaucoma
- abnormally high intraocular pressure
- people of African-American or Asian-American descent
- people with diabetes
- people with myopia (nearsightedness)
- regular long-term Steroid/Cortisone use
- previous eye injury.

Eyedrops, oral medication or laser correction are some treatments for glaucoma; however the damage can not be reversed. Early detection and treatment of glaucoma are the only ways to prevent vision impairment and blindness.

Call Advanced Eyecare in Plymouth at (920) 893-8474 today to schedule a comprehensive vision and eye health examination to help prevent possible blindness from the "Silent Thief of Sight."

Savvy Senior: Fleischman builds on success

Albert Fleischman

By Mitch Maersch

mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

CAMPBELLSPORT – Albert Fleischman openly disagrees that communities don't support their local businesses and that good help is hard to find.

He says he is living proof of both since he founded Campbellsport Building Supply in 1985.

Fleischman said if you can compete on price with quality products, local support will come. Pay employees and good workers will follow. At his company, it has.

"We've got great employees, phenomenal employees," he said.

Three original employees have grown to more than 120 today, the most the company has ever had.

"I never dreamt we'd be this big," Fleischman said.

The 59-year-old raised in a family of 10 on a dairy farm next to St. Kilian began building pole buildings right after high school graduation in 1969 and worked his way up in the industry. Sixteen years later, he found he was traveling too much for his job at a building company and left to start his own. He struggled to find financing, but got the company going. "That was a challenge to say the least. Took an act of God to make it work," he said.

Dale Michels, founder of the Michels Corp., took Fleischman under his wing and served as a sounding board. Fleischman, a down-to-earth straight shooter, thought he could run a successful business and is still intrigued today with how others run theirs.

One factor helped Campbellsport Building Supply succeed early.

"We started out and got a lot of local support," Fleischman said.

That support continues today. Fleischman's greatest satisfaction is driving by buildings and homes his company had a hand in constructing.

The company has expanded several times since its inception, both at its home site and across the area. Michels told Fleischman to buy up his neighbors when he could, whether the company needed the space at the time or not, so the price doesn't skyrocket later. Framed photographs on Fleischman's office wall show the company's expansion throughout the years. Half an acre has grown to 11.5.

In 1999, the company added a yard in Berlin and in 2004 another in Kiel. In 2009, it bought the struggling Drexel Interiors in Brookfield which it successfully runs today. The 65,000-square-foot facility has 34 kitchens on display.

Today's biggest challenges are making sales and finding quality products from vendors, Fleischman said.

"We've got a lot of vendors going out of business," he said.

While Fleischman said nearly every town had a lumberyard years ago – Theresa, Eden, Mayville, Horicon – today they are quickly becoming part of history. Michigan is nearing zero and Fleischman said the same thing could happen in Wisconsin.

Campbellsport Building Supply has struck a balance between being big enough to buy in bulk and compete on price – "We buy railroad cars of lumber all the time," Fleischman said – and small enough so there's "no Eiffel Tower of overhead."

Sales have not suffered, but profitability has been lowered. Last year, the company was 16.2 percent up in sales. In 2008, it was 11 percent up and in 2007 13 percent up. And this year is off to a good start, Fleischman said.

In its 25 years, the company has limited work weeks to 40 hours during tight times but never had a layoff, Fleischman said.

Fleischman's son, Joel, was brought on in the late 1990s and became company president three years ago. Albert remains vice president.

"I own 50 percent, he owns 50 percent and the bank owns 90 percent," Albert said with a laugh.

Fleischman's wife, Joan, works in accounts payable and that completes the family employees, despite Albert's clan of 10 and Joan's nine, none of whom live farther than Sheboygan. Fleischman said he learned not to mix too much family with business years ago.

Campbellsport Building Supply does nearly all of its work with contractors, mostly on residential projects. Agricultural and commercial buildings make up 10 to 20 percent of sales. The company will help customers design and measure their projects – it has a kitchen showroom

Find a friend at the Washington Fleischman County Humane Society

The Washington County Humane Society (WCHS) was formed in January, 1960 and in 1978, the shelter opened at its present site serving approximately 1000 animals annually. An addition to house the animals was built in 1994.

WCHS currently cares for approximately 3400 animals annually. When animals enter the facility, they are immediately inoculated. Prior to going up on the adoption floor, all animals are assessed, and cats and dogs are tested for Feline Leukemia and FIV. "We are fortunate that we do not have to euthanize for space, and animals are euthanized only for aggression, and serious non-treatable illness. Some animals are also placed with breed rescue groups. All of our cats, dogs and rabbits are spayed and neutered prior to being adopted, and although we do not have a vet on staff, we have a visiting veterinarian who performs spay/neuter, and several vets in the area who provide us with low-cost services. All dogs and cats are microchipped prior to leaving the shelter, and we provide follow-up and support for our adopters," stated Marnie Brown, Executive Director.

WCHS is fortunate to have a very high adoption rate, and are able to routinely help out other Wisconsin shelters, transferring in dogs from crowded facilities who need assistance. Dogs are taken outside three times a day but they particularly enjoy long walks with our Best Foot Forward volunteers.

Several volunteers come in daily to provide lots of socialization, exercise and attention, and play groups are not an uncommon sight for dogs either in the courtyard or in the training facility. A Canine Behavior Specialist works with individual dogs, and trains staff in behavior modification techniques.

The number of cats in Washington County continues to be a concern, and WCHS works tirelessly on their behalf. Every necessary step to reduce stress is taken, and cats are provided with places to hide and perch depending on their personality. Once they are moved up to the adoption floor, they reside in communal rooms, cages or individual "condos." Many volunteers are involved in the Feline Intervention Program, where they provide individual attention, grooming, playing and cuddling with the cats.

Two additional programs address the serious problem of the cat population in Washington county. "We have a Trap/Neuter/Release program for feral cats from the unincorporated municipalities, and plans are underway to educate our cities and villages about the benefits of TNR," stated Brown. Additionally, a low-cost spay/neuter program (Barn Buddies) for outdoor barn cats is offered. Both these services have been extremely well received. If there is room, these services are offered to out-of-county residents.

Community outreach

plays an important part in their mission. A humane educator visits area schools and daycares, and groups often visit the shelter for tours. "Each summer we offer Romp with the Animals, a summer school program designed to promote responsible attitudes and behavior to animals and the environment." A Pet-A-Pet Therapy Program for nursing homes and hospitals. Perhaps our most valuable service is our Safe Pets/Safe People program where we shelter the companion animals of abuse victims until they are in a safe environment," Brown stated.

Research shows the benefits of having a companion animal in our lives, and seniors are encouraged to visit the shelter and adopt. Cats two years and older are no charge, and fees vary for dogs. However, the Purina Pets for People program allow seniors 60+ to adopt with a $50.00 discount. Prospective adopters need to fill out an application, show proof of home ownership or provide landlord information, and fulfill a 24-hour waiting period.

Visit WCHS for your new best friend...where dogs bark less and cats purr more!

and this year added a window showcase - and provided a list of contractors to do the job.

The company's work runs the gamut: churches, schools, houses, complex dairy farms and chicken farms. Fleischman takes joy in them all.

"I'm just as proud of some of those decks we do as some of the churches," he said.

Fleischman said green homes are still in their infancy. Today, energy efficient buildings are the hottest thing in the industry. "Everybody's looking to save money on everything and we're right on top of that," he said.

Most work lands somewhere in Wisconsin "Local support has been phenomenal," but the company will go wherever the contractor does. One job is being done in Nebraska, another in Montana and another in the Upper Peninsula.

And Fleischman knows he has to return that community support.

"If we take money from a community we need to give it back," he said.

Once the student of Michels, Fleischman has come full circle to become a "father figure" to others.

Already a grandfather five times over, Fleischman enjoys working on his tree farm and spending time on his cottage in St. Germaine. As far as his career, he remains undecided.

"I still don't know what I want to be when I grow up," he said with a smile.

Dear Savvy Senior

Auto Aids That Can Help Senior Drivers

Dear Savvy Senior,

I've heard that there are different gadgets or devices you can buy for your car that can help older drivers. I've lost a lot of flexibility over the years and have a hard time getting in and out of my car, and my wife struggles with arthritis in her hands which causes her some problems too. What's available that can help keep us mobile?

Stiff Driver

Dear Stiff,

There are lots of gadgets and devices on the market today that can help make driving easier and safer for seniors. Here's a breakdown of some popular budget-friendly products that can help with a variety of needs.

Mobility and Flexibility

Each year in the U.S., an estimated 37,000 people age 65 and older are injured by simply entering or exiting their vehicle. If mobility problems or limited range of motion is hampering your ability to get in and out of your car, look over your shoulder to back-up or merge into traffic, or even reach for your seatbelt, here are some items that can help:

Handybar: This is a portable support handle that inserts into the U-shaped striker plate on the door frame that helps with getting into and out of the vehicle.

Car Caddie: This is another type of portable handle that hooks around the top of your door window frame giving you something to hold onto while getting out of the car.

Swivel seat cushion: A round portable cushion that turns 360 degrees to help older drivers and passengers rotate their body into the car.

Panoramic (or wide-view) rear view mirror: These attach to your existing rear view mirror to widen your rear visibility and eliminate blind spots so you can see traffic without significant neck or body rotation. It also helps during parking.

Convex (or wide-angle) side view mirrors: These attach to the existing side view mirrors to improve side and rear vision.

Easy Reach Seat Belt Handle: This is a six-inch extension handle that attaches to your seat belt to make it easier to reach.

Arthritic Hands

Drivers who have arthritic or weak hands may find the tasks of turning the ignition key to start the car, or twisting open the gas cap to fill up, difficult and painful. Items that can help include an "easy-to-grasp key holder," which is a small handle device that attaches to your car keys to provide additional leverage making it easier to turn the key in the ignition or door. And for help at the pump, a "gas cap turner" makes removing the gas cap a breeze. Another comfy add-on is a "steering wheel cover" that fits over your existing steering wheel to make it larger in size and easier to grip.

Sensitivity to Glare

Aging eyes almost always become more sensitive to glare. A fantastic item that can help is the "Sun Zapper Glare Shield" – a device that clips right on to your existing sun visor to remove sun glare without obstructing vision. It also comes with a special sliding shield that lets you block extra-bright glare spots.

Small Drivers

Most seniors shrink a little as they get older (due to gravity and osteoporosis) and for those who were small to start with, it can be difficult seeing over the steering wheel, or reaching the pedals without being too close to the airbag. Solutions include getting an orthopedic (wedge-shaped) seat cushion that supports the back and elevates you a few extra inches to help you see. Or foot pedal extensions that allow you to reach the gas and brake pedals while keeping you 10-to-12-inches from the steering wheel. These cost around $200 and need to be installed by a professional.

Shopping Tips: All of these items (except the foot pedal extensions) cost under $40, and can be found online at a variety of locations. Some good shopping points include Amazon.com, Dynamic Living (888-940-0605; dynamic-living.com), ActiveForever (800-377-8033; activeforever.com;) and AutoSport (800-953-0814; autosportcatalog.com).

Top Tools for Online Retirement Planning

Dear Savvy Senior,

I've been searching on the Internet for retirement planning tools and calculators and am not sure where to turn. Which sites can you recommend that are easy to use, provide good information and don't charge a fee?

Calculating Carl

Dear Carl,

When it comes to getting a handle on your financial situation and gauging how much you'll need to retire, the Internet offers a buffet of tools and calculators that can be very helpful. Here are some good sites to help get you started.

Retirement Tools

Some of the best retirement planning tools and calculators on the Web today, are offered through large financial service companies. While the purpose of these tools is to entice new business, most companies don't require you to be a client or purchase their products to use them. Here are four dandy sites to use (try several and compare), all of which are free.

WealthRuler: Available at TD Ameritrade, this tool charts your retirement outlook and suggests ways to help you develop a plan to reach your goals. Go to www.tdameritrade.com/planningretirement/wealthruler.html and plug in your financial information (taxes, planned financial events, yearly income, projected Social Security, IRAs and other investments) to get your results.

Retirement Income Calculator: Provided by T. Rowe Price (www3.troweprice.com/ric/ric/public/ric.do), this tool uses the Monte Carlo methodology to project whether your retirement-income needs will be met based on your savings, assets and age.

Vanguard Retirement Center: Provides retirement advice, along with different calculators depending on your needs and age: More than five years to retirement, less than five years to retirement, and already retired. See <https://personal.vanguard.com/us/plannededucation/retirement>.

MyPlan Retirement Quick Check: Offered by Fidelity (Fidelity.com/myplan) this site starts with a fun "Snapshot" introduction that puts your retirement reality in perspective, and will help you create a plan to help you reach your retirement goals.

Other Resources

If you don't like the company sites, there are many others you can turn to for free retirement planning information and calculators, such as:

Choose To Save: Created by the Employee Benefit Research Institute, this site (Choosetosave.org) offers the Ballpark Estimate retirement planning worksheet, more than 100 online calculators, savings tips and links to resources to help you manage your finances and plan your retirement.

My Military Career: The Unexpected

By Wallace R. Daggett

We had gone through ground schooling in B-29s. B-29s were listed as heavy bombardment aircraft in the 40s and early 1950s. From ground schools we started flight schooling in Texas. We received advanced training in Kansas and finally survival training in Nevada. From the beginning, we eleven were together as a crew. We were awaiting our orders, after being sent to California for a flight to Japan. Our ultimate task was to fly combat over Korea.

At 03:00 hours (3 a.m.) on this particular day, I was awakened and told "Grab your gear. There's an open seat on a plane going to Japan." I inquired about the whereabouts of the rest of my crew but was told by the Sergeant, "Don't worry about it, just get your ___ over to Operations and don't be late. A civilian contract aircraft will be waiting for you."

As I was getting settled in my seat in the aircraft, I only saw one other person from our crew aboard. It was 1/LT. Fred Treyz, my aircraft commander.

After a long flight with landing stops in Hawaii and Wake Island, we finally reached our destination, Tokyo, Japan. To reach Yokota Air Force Base, my aircraft commander and I traveled in an army bus that was seemingly long and miserable. We still didn't know the whereabouts of the rest of our crew but hoped to be able to relax until they caught up to us. We were told it would be the next day when they all would reach Yokota AFB.

Later, as I was settling down in the crew quarters assigned us, I was told to get something to eat as I might need nourishment. I was late in finding the mess hall, a dining room, where I could eat.

Finally I found the correct building where my aircraft commander was speaking to a Mess Sgt. I realized the noon meal had already been completed and in those days if you didn't eat at the hour scheduled you went hungry. However, my aircraft commander and I were given a meal. It is not normal procedure for officers to eat in enlisted men's mess halls, but someone higher up must have anticipated I would not get a meal and Lt. Treyz was sent ahead to make sure we both ate.

Later that afternoon, I was ordered to report to Flight Operations. Again, Lt. Treyz was ahead of me.

At this point in time, I must tell you, neither of us had flown any aircraft in over a month. We were extremely rusty by the time we got to Japan after two weeks in survival school and a two week furlough.

We were driven to a huge building to pick up heavy flying clothing and gear we would need to fly a mission. I thought they were sure in a hurry to outfit us not realizing what was about to happen. I remember thinking, "Was this the real thing?" It wasn't long before I found out it was. I had only been in Japan a few hours and I had expected to be able to brush up on my emergency procedures as a flight engineer, etc. That was not about to happen. I had no knowledge where the plane was parked on the base and it was getting dark by this time. My worries were short lived as Operations took Lt. Treyz and myself by truck to where the plane was parked. We were told, "This is your plane for a few hours." Neither of us could believe this was happening to us this soon.

I was nervous as I started the engines and performed my pre-flight. I almost forgot to check the bomb bay to see what we were carrying. It was only a momentary thing as I needed that information to fill out my weight and balance check.

Lt. Treyz turned to me from the pilot's position and asked if I was ready. What could I say? All those months and months of training and the moment had finally come. We were about to fly our first mission. It was scary, my mind raced, had I done everything and then the Control Tower ordered our plane to taxi to the runway. Lt. Treyz looked at me and said, "Let's roll!" I shoved all four throttles forward and prayed for the best.

It was a rough mission. As we taxied the aircraft to its parking spot on the base, my aircraft commander looked at me in a way I had never noticed before. He locked the brakes and said, "Wally, you can shut down the engines." He always called my Sgt., never Wally. I realized he must have felt like I did.

We had been in Japan twenty four hours and the rest of our crew arrived the morning of the second day. I was laying in my bunk and jokingly asked what had held them up as Treyz and I had already a mission under our belt. It took some time before they believed us.

There were three squadrons assigned to the 98th Bomb Wing by Gen. Curtis LeMay. They were the 343rd, 344th and the 345th. The 345th squadron did radar jamming, dropped leaflets over enemy territory in North Korea warning them of an impending bombing raid the next day if they did not surrender and flew bombing missions.

Due to the extreme shortage of qualified personnel, Lt. Treyz and I were ordered to fly for the 345th that first evening after our arrival in Japan. General LeMay felt strongly that if you were trained to do a job there was no excuse, simply put, do your job.

The nine members of the 345th crew that we flew with that night did get an aircraft commander and flight engineer permanently assigned to their aircraft soon afterwards.

We were assigned to the 344th Bomb Squadron but we actually were all intermixed in the 98th Bomb Wing when flying a mission as generally a third of each squadron flew a mission.

When Operations brought us together for briefings or during debriefings, we would see these guys we flew with that night again. You might share a pencil or conversation before a mission or afterwards. You always felt you would make it back safe from a mission.

Such was not always the case! This crew that we had flown with, their luck had run out. During a difficult mission their aircraft had been severely hit by enemy fire and they had two engines out. They made it back to our base in Japan but approximately a mile away from the runway they were losing their power fast and were headed for the dependent housing area. Their aircraft commander managed to divert that area and his aircraft crashed into the bowling on base. The tail section of the aircraft slid into the base laundry. Luckily because it was just sunrise there were no casualties on the ground but the only survivor was the tail gunner. There was no fire or explosion so they must have run out of fuel.

Lt. Treyz was like a brother to me. We had shared an experience together in which we recognized our abilities and respected each other. Our crew had been hand picked and we became a lead crew in the skies over Korea. Lt. Treyz sometime later received the Distinguished Flying Cross on a particularly rough mission we had been on.

After our tour of duty the eleven of us went on to other duties or back home in the States, but during those months we were together, we were family.
