

Indians headed to La Crosse, come up big in relay, vaulting

By Judy Harlow

KEWASKUM- It's a little risky to change the order of relay teams in the sectional competition, but Kewaskum rolled the dice with a new anchor man last Thursday evening, and it helped the foursome of Teddy Wollner, Eric Perkins, Joey Wollner and T.J. Schlice earn a berth in the WIAA Division 2 State Track and Field meet.

"Having T.J. at the anchor, he was able to go after other runners," coach Jerry Gosa said about flip-flopping Perkins and Schlice for the sectional meet. In a very fast competition, the Indians turned in a time of 1 minute, 31.79 seconds (1:31.79) to take fourth place in the 4x200-meter relay. The top four teams were automatic qualifiers to run on the UW-La Crosse track Friday.

Not only did the Indians qualify a relay team, but Schlice and Joey Wollner finished 1-4 in the pole vault, so they will be moving on to state.

Whitewater won the boys sectional title with 61.5 points, ahead of Pewaukee, 50; Catholic Memorial, 50; and Kettle Moraine Lutheran (KML), 49. Kewaskum finished in a tie for 14th place with Lomira and New Berlin West at 25 points.

"I loved it," Schlice said about his new spot in the event. "I love having people in front of me so I can catch them."

And catch them, he did. Schlice figured when he got the baton he was in sixth or seventh place, and he picked up a couple spots to get the Indians into fourth.

KML won the race with a time of 1:31.23, so the finish was quite close.

"I think we have a good chance to place. 'We're seeded 10th, and 10 go to the finals,'" Schlice said about his team's prospects.

Kewaskum will run in the first heat Friday morning, and if they are among the fastest 10 teams, they will run in the finals on Saturday.

"Thankfully they made it," Gosa said after his boys' team suffered through so many highs and lows this spring.

Schlice cleared 13 feet, six inches (13-6) to win the pole vault, while Wollner cleared a personal best 12-6.

Schlice talked about going 14 feet after taking a disappointing third in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference meet, and he is still confident about tying that school record held by Josh Parrent, Garrett Donath and Jake Dickmann.

"I'll get it," Schlice said over the weekend, reporting he had no misses in the sectional until he got to 13-6,

Kewaskum was lucky Korth turned a pasture into plush greens

By Judy Harlow

From farm boy to United States Army soldier, to American hero, to Washington County entrepreneur.

This was the path of life taken by Gilbert "Bud" Korth, the founder of Hon-E-Kor Golf & Country Club who passed away last Friday, May 27, after a long illness.

Born in Antigo in 1925, Korth made his way to Kewaskum where he went to high school, met Loraine "Tudy" Honeck and married her in 1947.

Tudy and Bud were not only partners in marriage but also partners in the construction and operation of Kewaskum's first and only golf course.

The late Bill Bartelt and his wife Audrey enjoyed the game of golf but had to travel weekly to Mayville to play. It was reportedly Bartelt who suggested that Korth use the Honeck-Stark family farm for a golf course, and soon afterward the plan for a 9-hole course began to take shape.

Part of the old barn was used for the original clubhouse, and while Bud bartended and shot the breeze with the golfers who came to the new course, Tudy served as hostess and sometimes the cook for Friday night fish fries and Sunday chicken dinners.

Thousands, perhaps millions of golf balls have found their way into the cups since Hon-E-Kor opened in 1961, and today the course sports 27 holes and is run by Korth's son, Jim, "Jonesy" Korth, his former daughter-in-law, Jane Korth, and two granddaughters, Kelly Nerat and Katelyn Korth.

HEK has maintained its semiprivate status and currently has a membership numbering 175-200 with many others playing in weekly leagues.

The course is also home to the Kewaskum High School team and to

Patrick

Date of Birth: 5/26/2001

Patrick is a handsome nine-year-old boy with a beautiful smile. He enjoys riding his bike, camping and making things with his hands. Patrick is interested in motorcycles and ATVs. He loves to help around the house and help cook dinner. Like every kid, Patrick enjoys watching cartoons and coloring. He also enjoys going to church and finds peace in prayer, and therefore will pray often.

Patrick is in need of a high level of supervision. He is a very bright child and he receives average to above average grades in school. He does very well in reading and spelling. Patrick is in the fourth grade. He has an IEP and occasionally receives extra help from a school aide.

Patrick would benefit from a family who has a strong support system and has experience with the behaviors he possesses. If the family has other children, it would be best if they were older than Patrick. Patrick is in need of a loving and affectionate, but highly structured, family environment. Patrick has suffered a great deal of trauma and needs a family he can count on to be there for him.

For more information about Patrick or other Wisconsin children waiting for adoptive homes, call Adoption Resources of Wisconsin at 414-475-1246 or 800-762-8063 or visit the website at www.wiadopt.org.

Local Memorial Day programs held

Kewaskum heard a heroic military story that sounded like it was right out of Hollywood at Monday's Memorial Day's commemoration.

Only it was real, and it was about a Kewaskum native.

Jim Ingman was proud to share the story of his father, Einar, a war hero by any standard and recipient of the Medal of Honor.

Einar liked to work on cars so he figured he'd join the military and do just that. That was about 60 years ago.

"Little did he know that once you sign up for the military, that doesn't mean you're going to be a mechanic," said Jim.

Einar ended up in Company E, 17th Infantry Regiment, 7th Infantry Division, in Korea, fighting in the Korean War. After the Americans took the peninsula, the Chinese built up their forces and took it back. Jim said his dad was with General Douglas MacArthur in moving the troops forward to prevent such a scenario, but politicians decided otherwise.

It came time for the Americans to cross back over the 37th parallel and take back the peninsula. On Feb. 26, 1951, Einar and a group of troops walked into a trap. The initial Chinese attack killed two American commanders and several men.

The Americans were surrounded, and surrendering was not an option. Einar stepped up to lead to take back a coveted ridge.

But three machine gun nests and many Chinese soldiers stood in the way. Einar worked his way up to the first nest, using a hand grenade and his rifle to kill all the enemies there.

Fifteen yards away, the second machine gun nest went on the attack, injuring Einar.

A Chinese soldier shot him in the face, the bullet entering his upper lip and exiting behind his left ear, taking out his left eye in the process.

Injured but determined, Einar continued to make his way to the second nest, using his rifle and bayonet to kill all the enemies there.

On his way to the third nest, he passed out from blood loss.

His heroic efforts, however, won the battle. Jim said despite having 100 more soldiers than the Americans, the Chinese gave up, figuring they underestimated the size of the American forces as a direct result of Einar's actions.

Einar woke up in a hospital seven days later, blind in his left eye, deaf in his left ear, and with most of his face missing. When he was sent home, people were amazed he could get up and walk off the plane.

Jim said President Harry Truman originally thought he was giving a Medal of Honor to a dead soldier.

"But my dad, as he is today, is a fighter," Jim said.

Einar was sent to an army hospital in Battle Creek, Mich., and had 23 surgeries in two years. He later moved to Tomahawk and worked at the Owens Illinois Paper Mill for 32 years.

"He never stopped leading," said Jim, who said he would hear stories from employees about Einar's leadership. "Like every good leader, he made everyone else better around him."

His leadership came in different forms. In the military, Einar found out a 14-year-old lied about his age to try to join and fight for his country. Einar sent him home, and to this day that man comes to visit him and say "thank you," said Jim.

Incredible as his story is, Einar would never tell it. Jim said his dad's biggest asset was his humility.

While his health prevented him from attending Monday, Einar doesn't like addressing large crowds, anyway. Jim said if dad could have made it, he would have been sitting on the porch of the American Legion Post listening to his son tell his story.

Even in smaller crowds at American Legion posts, Einar wouldn't reveal his heroism, unless someone saw the Medal of Honor designation on his license plate and would scale the building to find the recipient. Soon after, Jim said Einar would leave as he didn't like to be the center of attention.

Jim said one of Einar's popular pieces of advice was to finish what you start. He said Einar told George W. Bush at a luncheon at the White House to finish what his dad started. Jim said that work culminated with the recent killing of Osama bin Laden.

The ceremony included the traditional parade, led by Kewaskum's American Legion Robert G. Romaine Post No. 384, the reading of Kewaskum's war dead from the Civil War to today, the placing of a wreath at the front of the Legion near the American flag and the playing of "Taps."

FILLMORE - The Farmington Historical Society and Fillmore Turners Hall's Memorial Day commemoration was the culmination of part of a high school sophomore's goal.

Anna Cantrall met a Green Beret last year at a reenactment at the Veteran Affairs Hospital in Milwaukee. She said the man, known as one of the walking wounded, was angered and bitter that nobody cared about his service in Vietnam. Cantrall was then unaware of the some of the poor treatment Vietnam veterans received from the American public, given the unpopularity of the war.

"I wanted to show him that we care," she said.

Cantrall met John Kleinmaus, commander of West Bend's combined veterans firing squad and of VFW Post 1393, and the two helped develop Monday's program.

Cantrall and her younger sister, freshman Elizabeth, sang "The Price of Freedom" and "The Ballad of the Green Beret" while high school senior Rachel Doak of West Bend accompanied on piano. Anna and Doak sang "Before You Go," a song directed at Vietnam veterans, and Elizabeth recited a moving poem she wrote on Sunday night called "Who Will Remember?"

Elizabeth said she was inspired to write the poem by her pastor, who also served as an Army chaplain, who did a service on veterans.

"It just came to me," she said.

Elizabeth said the day should not be treated as a celebration.

"Memorial Day really isn't. It's a remembrance day," she said.

While the three homeschooled girls dressed in women's military uniforms were a little nervous, the work they put in was well worth it.

"I was very honored to do this," said Anna. "I was actually going to show them how much I cared."

The audience noticed. After the traditional playing of "Taps" at the cemetery, one member of the firing squad gave Elizabeth a shell. Many others told the girls how moved they were by their program.

Anna wrote a skit she and others will perform at the Washington County Fair on July 27.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

As originally promised, I need to update you on my newly established KSD email address should you prefer to communicate via the Internet: tramthun@ksd.k12.wi.us. You can see this and other pertinent contact information on the KewaskumSchools.org website.

Also, I wish for you to know that efforts to enhance community communication by creating the BCC (Board Communication Corner) are works-in-progress for both the KSD website as well as The Statesman. I view any opportunity that improves dialog, interaction, and involvement with the electorate, a priority. Several key factors for this success are necessary for all to come together. I am optimistic about great improvement beginning July 1st.

Thirdly, I want you to know that the past few weeks have been highly educational in many ways. There is more to learn to ensure I will be the type of representative you wanted when you 'hired' me on April 5th. Please know that I am and will continue to utilize local and state policy, rules, regulations, statutes and by-laws as guides to ensure proper procedure.

Lastly, it is necessary and important for me to send heartfelt thanks to the class of 2011 for their passionate desire to include a Native-American depiction in their graduation ceremonies! This request is without question a reflection of a class that has felt a loss since last fall and wishes to restore focus and inclusion of our community's history and heritage in 'their day!' I was honored to spend nearly 5hrs on Saturday, 5/28 sharing pizza and talking with several seniors while watching their artistic masterpiece come to life. I am most grateful to Trina Fellenz, Rachel Gonia, Kelsey Koller, Georgiana Abfall, Sr. Class Advisor Tami Wittkopf, and Principal Tom Fischer for enabling my awareness and presence. My participation, albeit limited, will never be forgotten...

*Respectfully yours,
Timothy Ramthun*

"The heart care I received was simply phenomenal."

- John Stahl

When John Stahl of Kewaskum, 47, began having occasional chest pains, he couldn't believe he might have a heart problem. "I've always been an athlete and an avid sportsman," John says. "I ride my bike and do a lot of walking. There's no way I could have a heart problem."

But in early August, after a late-night visit to the Emergency Care Center at Froedtert Health St. Joseph's Hospital and subsequent testing, John was diagnosed with coronary heart disease and referred to Michael Cinquegrani, MD, Medical College of Wisconsin cardiologist at the Froedtert & The Medical College of Wisconsin Specialty Clinics at St. Joseph's Hospital. Dr. Cinquegrani recommended that John undergo additional tests, which led to a stent placement procedure at the Froedtert & The Medical College of Wisconsin cardiac catheterization lab.

Only a few weeks later, John was feeling great and again enjoying his favorite outdoor activities. "If it hadn't been for Dr. Cinquegrani, I would never have survived," says John. "I'm thanking God for the care I received. Everybody, from start to finish was great. The heart care I received was simply phenomenal."

Bud and Tudy Korth

the annual Hon-E-Kor Bestball Tournament held in the spring and the Kettle Moraine Amateur event in fall.

It isn't an accident that we use the word "home" in conjunction with Hon-E-Kor and the Korths. Most members will tell you they feel like part of the family coming to Hon-E-Kor, and it doesn't take guests long to get that same emotional connection.

Bud Korth's friendly nature and his gift of gab inspired this kind of atmosphere. Those who knew him enjoyed his stories, his jokes and his immense love for the Green Bay Packers.

For the past couple of years, Korth's little corner of the world was his home and later a room at Kettle Moraine Gardens, but he still looked forward to trips to the clubhouse where he could visit with members over a cup of coffee.

Bud certainly loved people, life, Kewaskum, and the golf course that has provided so many people the opportunity to participate in a lifetime sport.

Writers Note:

Having known Bud for over 45 years and seeing as how my husband, Joe, worked for the Korths for 40 years, I have many memories of the Las Vegas Days and Polar Opens at the course, the dinner-dances, and friendly discussions we had on which football team was better in a certain year, the Chicago Bears or the Packers.

Several stories are especially vivid in my mind, the first being the day Bud and Oliver Eichstedt traveled to Milwaukee to sign up for the service.

Their parents had told them to stick together, but somehow when they got ready to take their physicals, Oliver went in one door and ended up as a Marine while Bud went in another and ended up in the Army.

The two never saw each other again until they came back from the War to Kewaskum.

Story No. 2 involved Bud and his new fiancé, Tudy, who was quite a softball player in the 1940s. While on a women's traveling team, Tudy arrived for a certain game, I believe it was at Boltonville, and she had forgotten to leave her engagement ring at home. She gave it to Bud for safekeeping, and he promptly put it in his shirt pocket.

When the game ended and the team and their fans gathered for refreshments, Tudy asked Bud for the ring, only for him to find out it was no longer in his pocket.

Bud got in his vehicle, drove back to the ballpark and with a flashlight, luckily was able to find the ring and appropriately place it back on Tudy's left hand.

Bud's history with the Packers goes back a long way. He has season tickets and until he ran into health problems rarely missed a game, whether it was pouring or snowing or the wind chill was -60 degrees. Yes, Bud was among those who braved the cold to watch history being made in the famous "Ice Bowl" win over the hated Dallas Cowboys.

Bud said his boots were filled with newspapers, which were designed to act as insulators for his feet.

While the victory warmed up Bud and his party, he admitted to imbibing in a bit of "antifreeze" after the championship had been secured.

2047 Items for Local Food Pantry Stamping Out Hunger

The annual National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC) Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive, with the help of rural letter carriers, other Postal employees and numerous volunteers, resulted in millions of pounds of non-perishable food delivered to deserving charities nationwide.

"For 19 years, the Postal Service has stood proudly to help Stamp Out Hunger in America," said Kewaskum Postmaster Monica Lepak. "Our carriers have demonstrated once again that service to the community doesn't end at the mailbox. The Postal Service's commitment to this worthy cause has never been greater."

Stamp Out Hunger — the nation's largest one-day food drive — annually collects non-perishable food to help more than 35 million people, including 12 million children, who face hunger every day in America. Despite a continued downturn in the economy, Americans have continued to support this outreach effort.

The Kewaskum carriers collected 2047 items of non-perishable food donations left by mailboxes which were delivered to the Kewaskum Community Pantry.

"This year's food donations collected by our carriers demonstrates the generosity of our customers and the determination of our employees to come to the aid of fellow Americans in need," said Lepak.

He was a member of the team at the enshrinement ceremony when the Globetrotters were inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in 2002. He visited Pope John Paul II on in 2000, and was a Globetrotter met Mother Theresa and South African President Nelson Mandela.

A native of Peoria, Ill., Curley played at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa where he became the first athlete to have his jersey retired. He earned a marketing degree there.

Curley has been involved with charities like the Boys and Girls Club, YMCA, Family Rescue, Big Brother Big Sister, The United Way, Special Olympics, Make A Wish Foundation and more.

Curley does two other camps, one in Peoria and one in China, "so we are extremely lucky to have him coming to Kewaskum," said girls high school assistant coach Kory Dogs.

Search Curley Boo on youtube for some clips of his dribbling.

The boys' session runs 9 a.m. to noon and the girls' session from 1-4 p.m. High school and college basketball players from the area will be the camp counselors. The registration fee is $150. The rate for siblings (families with two or more kids) is $150 for the first child and $75 for each additional child. Curley will be teaching basketball fundamentals and life skills.

Kewaskum Historical Society hosts third annual Pioneer Day

Kewaskum Elementary Fourth grader Ryan Prochnow makes a length of rope at a station during Pioneer Day held at the Kewaskum Historical Society's Museum and Log Cabin.

Fourth grade teacher Danielle McCain got in on the game of Townball. Townball is the precursor to baseball.

Over 175 fourth grade students from Kewaskum's Elementary Schools participated in a rural Wisconsin school day at The Kewaskum Historical Society's museum and log cabin in lower Riverhill Park on Monday May 23. This school day was meant to give students an inside perspective of life in rustic Wisconsin.

Throughout the school day, students rotated through six hands-on stations. Each station had the general purpose of teaching an aspect of rural pioneer life. Tours of the authentic, award-winning cabin and museum showcased the living quarters of an immigrant family in early Wisconsin and raised an awareness of our local history.

The rope making, corn shelling, fanning mill, and baking stations helped students make connections between growing, harvesting, and consumption according to the rural methods that were period appropriate to pioneer Wisconsin. The candle dipping station illustrated how rural homes were self-sufficient and used all resources available to them including pig fat. Students not only learned the challenges and tediousness of the pioneer family workload, they also had an opportunity to play an exciting game of town ball, a precursor to baseball.

The day ended as students gathered together to eat cornbread they prepared earlier in a Dutch oven at the baking station. Students reflected about the day's various activities and all of the new things they learned from the knowledgeable volunteers. They couldn't wait to share these experiences and show off their homemade candies and ropes.

The following day students from Farmington, Wayne and St. Lucas Elementary Schools participated in Pioneer Day.

Fourth grade teachers applauded the efforts of the over a dozen members of the Kewaskum Historical Society for all of their efforts and dedication in making the day such a success.

The Historical Society stated they appreciated the assistance they received from local businesses, Engelhardt Dairy and Kewaskum Frozen Foods for their donations. The Kewaskum Historical Society is always looking for new members to join and get involved.

The museum is open to visitors every Sunday between Memorial Day and Labor Day from 1:00-4:00 p.m. The community is encouraged to attend the annual Early Farm event on Sunday, September 11th.

4-K'ers visit Ridge Run park

Mrs. Wilson's and Mrs. Wright's Four-Year-Old-Kindergarten classes from Kewaskum Elementary School took a field trip to Ridge Run Park in West Bend. They enjoyed the hike and being able to see turtles, frogs and a woodpecker along the way. They also looked at the various types of trees and wild flowers that were growing in the park. The favorite part of the hike was walking across the bridge over the pond. ABOVE: Kaitlyn Blank and Caleb Finger on the bridge.

The Kewaskum High

School Class of 1987 would like to cordially invite the public to its junior class prom on April 26 in Rose Hall. This year's court members include Brian Oelhafen and Shelly Petsch; Jim Schulz and Tammy Hug; Tony Hug and Sherri Batzler; Paul Ermer and Vicki Castro; Mike Coulter and Dawn Dieringer; Carl Dorzok and Michelle Fowler; Mike Loomans and Joan Van Den Heuvel; Jess Mueller and Becky Bieniek; Troy Zimdars and Tina Balon; Bruce Troeller and Jill Rimmel; King Brian Voigt and Queen Laurie Jung, and Master of Ceremonies Kevin Geldreich and Sue Bodden.

Three Kewaskum High School students have been selected to attend Business World this summer. Mitch Gebheim, Craig Hubbell and Greg Chmielewski have been the three selected by a local committee. In order to be elected you must be a sophomore or a junior in high school. Business World is a conference that gives Wisconsin's high school students a chance to learn and get an inside view on how business operates.

Amy Kougl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kougl of rural West Bend, and Jill Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Schmidt of Kewaskum, have been chosen as the Kiwanis students for the month of April.

Six German students from Kewaskum High School and German teacher Frau Therese Rosenthal participated in a study tour of Germany from March 28 to April 6. The following people traveled to Germany: Ryan Kertscher, Jeff Krueger, Leighton Peterson, Debbie Pamperin, Jenny Hintz, and Anne Rosenberger. The group flew directly from O'Hare Field in Chicago to Frankfurt, Germany. They visited the city of Rothenburg and the Dauchau Concentration Camp. They explored many of Germany's historical castles and drove through the Austrian Alps and the Arlberg pass where it stopped at the Black Forest and the Rheinfalls, the largest waterfall in Europe.

Missing since February 9, when he left Waucousta to make his way home through a blinding blizzard, William Little, aged 50 years, a WPA worker, was found frozen to death Saturday in the snow on the John Ebert farm on Highway 45-55, within sight of his home on the old Campbellsport road a mile and a half south of Waucousta.

Charles D. Reed, federal meteorologist, has reported that the present stretch of cold weather is the "longest and coldest" known in 117 years or since 1819.

Joe Miller and Harold Claus, Kewaskum's two brilliant guards on the city team were placed on the Land o' Lakes league northern division All-Star Team which was picked by popular vote of opposing players, who picked two men from each team. They appeared in the All-Star game at Menomonee Falls last night which was played between stars of the northern division and southern division of the league.

Wisconsin has as many silver foxes as can be found in the entire country of Norway, Per Tuff of the Veterinary College of Oslo, Norway, recently told members of the state conservation department. Wisconsin, it is claimed, with about 300,000 silver foxes, produces 40 percent of the nation's commercially produced fur.

The folks in the St. Michaels area are realizing the meaning of isolation for the past several weeks, as the only means of travel has been by team and bobsleigh and this with great difficulty. People on off roads have not had any mail delivery for the past four weeks and those on county trunk lines have not had any mail delivery in two weeks. The parochial school at St. Michaels has been closed the past four weeks and will remain closed until the severe weather lets up and the roads will be opened so that the pupils can get there.

Farmers in the town of Osceola cut through seven fences last week Tuesday to open a track to the home of Mrs. Miles Shea, stricken with pneumonia, so that she could be removed to St. Agnes Hospital in Fond du Lac. Shovelers sided the county plow throughout Tuesday night and part of Wednesday before the ambulance could get through to remove the sick woman.

A new enterprise in the funeral and undertaking line for the Village of Kewaskum has been started and will run under the name of Kewaskum Funeral Home. William Techtman of the Town of Barton has purchased the former Mrs. Mary Jacobitz property on Main Street and is at present remodeling the same into a modern, up-to-date funeral home, of which Gerhard Reinders and Harvey Techtman will be the managers.

The long-awaited time for Harold "Mix" Marx, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marx, of this village, pitcher of the pennant-winning Kewaskum team in the Badger State League last season, has arrived, and on Monday he will start out on his journey to Lake Wales, Florida, where he is to try out in spring training camp as a rookie member of the Milwaukee Brewers baseball team of the American Association, which is composed of teams from Milwaukee, St. Paul, Louisville, Toledo, Indianapolis, Columbus, Kansas City, and Minneapolis. Due to a successful series of tryouts with the Brewers during the 1935 season, the club has approved of sponsoring his trip to the South.

March 6, 1936

The Campbellsport Fire Department was called to a blaze at the Stella Cheese Company's warehouse at about 5 pm last week Wednesday. The blaze was extinguished within a short time and little damage was done except the burning out of two motors.

March 1 marked the 25th year of the operation of the local brewery at West Bend by the Walters brothers, Charles and Martin, during which they have built up a business second to none in this part of the country. The brothers bought out the West Bend Brewing Company in 1911 from the late S.F. Mayer and the Pick family. The brewery is one of West Bend's oldest concerns, being established in 1853 by the Arzbacher family.

Again, the Grim Reaper, Death, has entered our midst and taken another prominent businessman and citizen of this village, William Ziegler, who entered his eternal sleep on February 29, at his home in Kewaskum.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Keno of this village last Friday morning.

Lady kickers win last EWC, meet WI Lutheran today

By Mitch Maersch
Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum's soccer team is rolling into the playoffs.

The Indians won two, 10-0 games over Eastern Wisconsin Conference opponents in the last week. While it's safe to say things will be different at Wisconsin Lutheran today, Coach Luke Piwoni likes that his team is back on track.

"It's just good to get back on the winning side of things and end conference on a winning note," he said.

Kewaskum beat Waupun, 10-0, in 79-plus minutes via the 10-goal, 60-minute rule on Tuesday. Last Thursday, the Indians won at Two Rivers, 10-0, in barely 60 minutes.

Against Waupun, scoring went like this: Christine Bohn on assist from Shannon Miller, (10:00); Miller, (11:00, 12:30 and 22:00); Desiri Jantz (33:00); Sam Smallish (48:00 and 51:00); Paige Lightner (53:00), Kayla Gray (penalty kick, 74:00); and Lightner, (79:30).

Goalie Kayla Bastian saved a couple of shots early and was then moved to center midfield. Cori Hoss took over in goal.

"It was good today, too, with the long weekend and everything. We came out pretty sluggish. It was just good to play together again," said Piwoni.

Last Thursday at Two Rivers, the Indians made the long bus trip worthwhile. Scoring included: Smallish from Bohn (8:25); Lightner from Bohn (9:00); Smallish (25:14); Jantz (30:02); Miller from Jess Smallish (39:47); Miller, (40:52); Miller, (41:28); Bastian (53:16); Rachel Ogi (58:08); and Bastian (60:10).

The Indians finished 6-8 in the EWC and 7-10-2 overall. Lutheran faced Division 1 schools in the Wisconsin Little Ten Conference and went 3-4. The only common opponent the two teams faced was Beaver Dam. Lutheran won, 3-1, while the Indians lost, 2-1, in overtime.

Lutheran has a No. 4 seed and Kewaskum a No. 5. The winner takes on the winner of No. 1 Shorewood versus no. 8 St. John Antida on Saturday.

"As long as we're prepared and ready to go, it should be a close, tight game," said Piwoni.

Local area youth hunter Haylee Schwengel was successful in harvesting a tom turkey on April 3, 2011. Haylee's turkey weighed in at 26.2 pounds with a 10 inch beard and 1 1/8 inch spurs. Haylee participated in the hunt sponsored by The Gateway Gobblers and New Fane Sportman's Club. Her mentor was Al Muench.

Indians bring down the Suns, Raiders in early season play

By Mitch Maersch
Statesman Correspondent

There the Indians were, down 3-1 with only three hits to their credit going into the bottom of the seventh last Friday.

This is a time last season when Kewaskum's baseball team came to life with late-game dramatics. It couldn't happen again, could it?

The opponent was West Bend East, the same team the Indians beat in the last at-bat in last year's sectional semifinal.

The Sun's Mitch Martin went a strong five and a third innings, giving way to Alex Van Treeck, who got Lucas Kopeschka to ground into a hard-hit double play to end a scoring threat in the sixth.

In came Alec Steinmetz, the same pitcher the Indians beat last season. He walked Corey Burdick and leadoff hitter Sam Olla. Power hitter Brad Boegel, 0-for-2 at the time with a walk, then ripped a line drive to left center that rolled under the fence for an RBI ground rule double, holding Olla at third and preventing the tie.

Cody Nuernberg followed with an RBI single, but Boegel, the winning run, got caught in a rundown between third and home after deciding too late to go back to third as the ball would have easily beat him to the plate. Boegel made it entertaining for a while before being tagged out diving back into third.

Up came junior catcher Brandon Chapman, with one out and Nuernberg on second. Chapman had two strikeouts and a fly out to his credit so far. This time, he connected. One swing sent the ball sailing toward left field, enough to clear the fence and secure a 5-3 victory.

"I was just looking to get a hit. I just wanted to hit the ball," Chapman said.

He didn't know it was a homer right away.

"I was hoping," he said with a laugh. Then he saw it clear the fence.

"I was surprised. I was really excited. I don't know what to say."

"Brandon's had a struggle all day today, had a bad day at school, I guess, and comes up with a better day at the ballpark," said Coach Doug Gonring.

He said it was the sixth inning that sparked the comeback. Tony Gonring hit a standup double to left center, and Mike Schladweiler walked on four pitches before the double play.

"I think the double play that was hit as hard as it was. Guys swung the bat a little better in the sixth inning," Doug Gonring said. "Maybe the sixth inning turned this game around completely. We're early and we haven't had a lot of success. We've had some trouble putting the ball in play. Hitting is contagious just like striking out is contagious."

In the seventh, it became a plague.

"We just told ourselves we need to hit the ball, because we haven't hit it all day," said Chapman.

Gonring felt sorry for East's losing pitcher, but he'll take the victory.

"Poor Alec Steinmetz. He's a good friend of mine. That's baseball, though," he said.

Tony Gonring saved the Indians from having to come back from a larger deficit in the top of the seventh. He had just moved to center field from right, and ran down a Matt Schubert fly ball, lunging at it over his shoulder to save at least a leadoff double.

Schladweiler provided some inspiration of his own. After being hit in the leg by a pitch in the fourth inning, he left and returned later to pitch the sixth and seventh to get the win.

"Schlady took one off the knee, Tony made a hell of a catch out there, Schlady showed the toughness," said Doug Gonring. "Sometimes good plays turn the tide."

Gonring said he was disappointed with Boegel over-running third but chalks it up to aggressiveness. Gonring said he wanted to see if the centerfielder fielded the ball cleanly before telling Boegel to go or stay.

Boegel started and went five innings, allowing two runs on five hits, walking one, hitting one and whiffing five.

A game like this, especially for a young and inexperienced team like Kewaskum, can go a long way, Gonring said.

"I think a young team like this it helps them and makes them push. They have to learn how to win, and that's what they weren't doing. And it makes them be more of a team. We've got some team chemistry. When you lose, you pull apart," he said.

Gonring said he will be looking into fixing the fence in the outfield. Frost had opened space between the bottom of the fence and the ground.

On Tuesday, Kewaskum got its first Eastern Wisconsin Conference win at home against Kiel, 12-6. The Indians' big inning was bigger than the Purple Raiders, which made the difference.

Kewaskum scored eight runs in the third to Kiel's four in the fourth. The third went like this: Chapman made an out, Garrett Yahr singled, singled, Tony Gonring homered, Schladweiler walked, Cory Burdick struck out, Olla was hit by a pitch, Boegel was hit by a pitch and Nuernberg walked.

Kewaskum followed with four straight singles by Chapman, Yahr, Gonring and Schladweiler before the final out was made.

Kiel went through three pitchers in the frame.

"It was a fun inning to say the least," Gonring said.

Schladweiler started and went 3 and one third innings, running into trouble in the fourth. Kopeschka finished up.

"Kopeschka came in and shut the door. He really did well," Gonring said.

Kewaskum had 15 hits. Tony Gonring was 3-for-4, Schladweiler 2-for-2 with two walks, Burdick 2-for-3, Nuernberg 2-for-4 and Yahr 2-for-5.

Last Saturday, Kewaskum lost, 7-4, to Homestead. Gonring said it was a well-played game but the Indians left 11 runners stranded.

Chapman hit another bomb hours after his game-winner, and Olla was 2-for-2 and Yahr 2-for-4. Nuernberg pitched five innings and took the loss. The Indians made two critical errors in a four-run fifth inning.

Today, Kewaskum heads to Plymouth to go for EWC win No. 2. Gonring said it won't be as easy as going 17-1 last season.

"Every team will be a little tougher than they were last year," he said.

On Saturday, Kewaskum plays at Germantown and on Tuesday at rival Campbellsport

A chilling end to boys' golf season

ELKHART LAKE- "Rain, rain go away" was the cry of the 40 golfers involved in a WIAA Division 2 Regional Tournament held at the Quit Qui Oc Golf Course near Plymouth on Wednesday.

The trouble was the rain never did go away as the players had to contend with the very wet and cold conditions from the first tee to the 18th green.

Eastern Wisconsin Conference Schools swept the top three positions, and Winnebago Lutheran Academy (WLA) captured the fourth and final qualifying spot for the sectional that was to be held at Campbellsport on May 31st.

As anticipated, Plymouth was No. 1 in the standings with a 334 total, led by Geno Kiela III, who shot a 6-over par 76.

Sheboygan Falls and Kiel were tied for second at 348, then came WLA at 353.

Campbellsport missed qualifying by three shots, while Kewaskum finished seventh out of the 10 teams, with a 365.

Campbellsport's Ryan Newbury placed second an 84, then there was a three-man playoff for the fourth and final spot with Chilton's Danny Mallmann edging Tony Gonring of Kewaskum and Campbellsport's Jake Blatz.

The playoff went just one extra hole (par-5 No.1), according to Kewaskum coach Glenn Eichstedt, who said Gonring was in excellent position after Blatz hit his drive out of bounds.

Hitting last, Gonring hit a slice and wound up in a bunker, Eichstedt said. He was short on his third shot then chipped to within 12 feet.

"Tony was hitting the ball well but not putting well," Eichstedt said, reporting his No. 1 man chipped in for par on No. 13, then proceeded to miss three putts of 10 feet or shorter, two of them for birdies, on Nos. 14, 15, 16. "He makes one of those and he's in the sectional."

Gonring, who was very consistent Wednesday with a pair of 43s, had qualified for the sectional last May.

The other KHS counters were Alex Larsen at 44-45-89; Nick Banks with a 45-47-92 and Dan Bohn with a 46-52-98.

"Then I made it on my second try."

Schlice is now using the school's 14-foot and 14-6 poles and has gotten accustomed to them in a hurry. "I've gotten a lot more practice in on them," he said, adding his goal is to make the one of the top spots on the victory stand Friday.

"The kid who really came through in the clutch was Joey. He had two misses at 12-6. Then his third attempt was probably the best vault of his life. He was way over," Gosa said. "It was probably the happiest I've ever seen a kid."

Kewaskum's 4x100 relay took fifth with a time of 44.73, .02 out of fourth place. "They obviously ran extremely well in the slow heat," Gosa said.

The results of other KHS athletes in the meet are as follows: pole vault — Corey Burdick, 8th place, 11-0; girls discus — Molly Potter, 11th, 93-08; pole vault — Mikkin Abfall, 8th, 7-6; and Tess Bandy, tie for 13th, 7-0; and triple jump — Aly Backhaus, 11th, 31-09.

Ashlee Stahl finished seventh in the high jump after clearing 4-10. "She was clean at 4-6, 4-8 and 4-10," Gosa said, adding, "On her first attempt at 5 feet, she just barely hit the bar. Had she made that, she probably would have qualified for state."

Division 2 field events and preliminary races will take place at La Crosse on Friday. The pole vaulters are slated to begin at 9:45 and running events at 9:30.

Season comes to an end for lady Indians

Defensive lapses and the lack of a big hit brought the greatest fast-pitch softball season in school history to a sad close on Tuesday.

No. 2-seeded Kewaskum had a chance to enter its half of the seventh inning down one run, but No. 3-seeded Slinger scored two runs on an insane play in the top of the frame to make the deficit and final score 5-2.

The Indians made some uncharacteristic mistakes in the field, both in communication and physical play. It wasn't the same team that won the Eastern Wisconsin Conference outright.

"I don't know. We didn't talk today. I don't know if it was just the communication that hurt us, but we didn't really talk out there," said senior catcher and co-captain Abby Amerling.

"They were really aggressive on the base paths and it just flustered us. We weren't used to that," said teary-eyed senior centerfielder and co-captain Liz Schaller.

"We were like shell shocked. It looked like for the first time we played with some fear. I don't know if it was the fear of losing, if you do lose it's over. I don't know what it is," said Coach Jeff Gosse. "We were timid. We weren't aggressive. We made some mental errors. We made some physical errors, and against good teams you can't give them four or five outs per inning. It's going to come back to haunt you. We were lucky to hang with them."

Hang with them they did. Kewaskum gave up a run in the first inning on a leadoff single that ended with Emily Held going all the way to third due to a misplay in the outfield.

In the fourth, after a pop out, walk, single and ground-out, no. 8 hitter Paityn Albers cracked a two-RBI single to left center to give the Owls a 3-0 lead. It was the clutch, two-out hit Kewaskum couldn't get the entire game.

The Indians battled back with a run in their half of the fourth. Schaller led off with a fly ball smash down the left-field line for a standup triple, and Jenny Beiswenger grounded out to score her.

In the sixth, Schaller led off with a soft single to right field and then stole second. A throwing error on a Beiswenger grounder let her score.

All the Indians had to do was hold at 3-2 and score one run in the seventh. Slinger instead put the game away.

A walk, bunt sacrifice and error put runners on first and second with one out. No. 2 hitter and the Owls' pitcher, senior Alyssa Belling, laced a line drive to right field that started perhaps the craziest play of the season.

Courtesy runner Stephanie Martin, running for Albers, scored from second as she beat the throw home. The ball got away, and Held got stuck in a rundown between home and third. Amerling put the tag on with plenty of time to spare when Held tried to score.

In the meantime, Belling tried for third. Amerling fired to get her but the ball got away. The throw home bounced away and the Owls scored two runs on three plays at the plate, all in one at-bat.

As enthralling as the play was for entertainment value, it took the air out of the Indians and made a difficult comeback all the more improbable, even with Kewaskum's leadoff hitter starting the seventh.

No. 3 batter Jenny Reicher fouled off a few pitches before singling in between third and short, but that's all Kewaskum could muster.

"We wanted this game bad. We wanted to move on and to get to the next regional game. Tough loss," Reicher said.

Schaller closed out her career with a 3-for-3 day, including the triple and two singles, one a line drive to center on an 0-2 count in her first at-bat.

"It's definitely what I wanted my last game, but I'm pretty bummed it's our last game. I was seeing the ball - I don't know if it was my ambition, my drive; I was just on top of it," she said.

Reicher was 2-for-4, including a double that bounced off the left-center fence on a fly, cutting through gusty winds blowing toward right field.

walking three, hitting one and whiffing just two.

Kewaskum's pitching and defense handled Slinger's top hitters in check, but the bottom four got five hits, two walks, two RBIs and scored one run.

"Their bottom of the order killed us. They put the bat on the ball. Something we haven't seen in a while," said Gosse. "You've got to give their bottom of the order a lot of credit because that's what won the game for them."

Belling went the distance for the Owls, allowing two runs on eight hits, whiffing five and walking one.

"She wasn't fast. She located the ball well," said Gosse. "She kept us off bay - she'd slow down her motion and just sort of float one in a little high. You saw a few of them take whiffs at it and after they'd realize, oh boy, what did I do?"

Still, the Indians had at least one runner on base each inning but stranded 10, five in scoring position. Their best chance came in the third when leadoff hitter Courtney Krueger singled on a fly to right, and Michele Marquardt reached on an error. But Belling got Reicher and Amerling, Kewaskum's version of Ryan Braun and Prince Fielder, both to pop out to end the inning.

The next best chance was after Reicher's two-out double. Amerling laced a line drive to left center. The centerfielder ran over and had to raise her hands well above her head to reach out and catch the ball, saving a run.

"Yeah, it was so close, especially if I would have hit it a little harder and right over her head because we could have used it," Amerling said.

"We just could not get that big hit. We've been living on the edge for a while, getting that big hit. Sooner or later the well was going to run dry," said Gosse.

The Indians' defensive communication issues continued for the second straight game. In the sixth, a short pop fly that drifted into short center drew three players who all called it, and nearly caused a serious collision. Shortstop Caitlin Rinzel caught the ball.

"That's the most frustrating part because we've been talking about that and talking about that," Gosse said.

The Indians missed out on another home game as No. 4-seeded Kettle Moraine Lutheran beat the No. 1 seed, Graf-ton, 9-6. Kewaskum would have hosted its third straight playoff game today.

The Indians closed the season with the best record in school history, 18-6, and won the school's first EWC title in softball.

"I'm really thankful for that," said Schaller.

"It's feeling good, I guess. We accomplished something this year, at least. From here on out it will just keep getting better, we hope," said Amerling.

Kewaskum loses some key seniors but returns its ace pitcher.

"Us underclassmen, we have to know it's a tough loss but we have to come back next year knowing we have potential again and just bring that back," said Reicher.

Kewaskum 10, Brown Deer 0 (5 innings)

In the opening regional playoff game last Thursday, it was difficult to pick out the best player: Reicher on the mound or Reicher at the plate.

"Yeah, that's a tough decision," said Gosse.

Reicher tossed her first career no-hitter that was one communication glitch from a perfect game, whiffing six and walking none.

At the plate, Reicher was 3-for-3 with three RBIs, including a home run over the left-center fence in the first inning and a double.

"I didn't think it was out right away, but it was, so that was great," Reicher said about her dinger.

On a short fly to left in the third inning, Rinzel collided with leftfielder Erica Chesak and dropped the ball. The play was ruled an error that blew the perfect game.

Schaller, Marquardt and Beiswenger each went 2-for-3, and Chesak had a triple. Kewaskum had 12 hits.

Marquardt closed the game in the fifth with an RBI single to center. The contest lasted 55 minutes.
