Cedarburg woman killed in crash here

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@kewaskumstatesman.com

TOWN of KEWASKUM- A 20-year-old Cedarburg woman is dead after a two-vehicle crash late Friday evening, September 2. Also injured in the crash was a 19-year-old West Bend woman.

The Washington County Sheriff's Office was notified of the crash on County Road H approximately .2 miles west of Kettle Moraine Dr. at 11:56 p.m. Deputies and personnel from Kewaskum Fire Department and Ambulance Service were subsequently dispatched to the scene.

Upon their arrival, Jessica L.

Smith, Cedarburg, was found to be unconscious and trapped within her vehicle. As a result, West Bend Intercept and Flight for Life were summoned to the scene. After being extricated, she was flown to Froedtert Hospital in Wauwatosa with serious injuries. She passed away there on September 4.

A preliminary investigation into the cause of the accident revealed Smith had been westbound on Highway H when her automobile drifted slightly right of the fog line. The vehicle then sharply veered back left and over the centerline, directly into the path of an eastbound automobile being driven by Janina R. Espitia, West Bend. Neither vehicle contained any passengers.

As a result of the accident, Highway H between Oak Dr. and Kettle Moraine Dr. was closed to traffic for approximately five hours to facilitate rescue operations and further investigation by the department's Accident Reconstruction Team.

The exact cause of the accident remains under investigation by the Sheriff's Office; however alcohol appears to be a contributing factor.

Espitia's condition could not be determined.

Food Drive highlights 9/11 Day of Service

As part of the national 9/11 Day of Service and Remembrance, the Volunteer Center of Washington County encourages citizens to donate non-perishable food items in honor of the 10th anniversary of the Sept. 11 attacks in New York City, Washington D.C. and Pennsylvania. Donations can be dropped off at the Volunteer Center throughout the month of September. Similar collections are occurring at Volunteer Centers throughout Wisconsin.

"9/11 Day of Service is an opportunity for people to give back to the local community while honoring the victims and heroes of the Sept. 11 attacks," says Betsy Wilcox, executive director of the Volunteer Center. "Individuals are asked to donate food as part of a statewide 9/11 Food Drive or to use this day as the catalyst to make volunteering an important part of their lives."

All donations can be dropped off at the Volunteer Center of Washington County Monday - Friday between 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. at 1530 Corporate Center Drive, Suite 1, in West Bend.

The statewide food drive is sponsored by Volunteer Wisconsin, a new state initiative launched this month to promote and support volunteerism in Wisconsin. Volunteer Wisconsin is the central point for volunteerism and service in the state and is a collaboration between the Volunteer Center Association of Wisconsin, the Nonprofit Center of Milwaukee, the Volunteer Center of Washington County, Serve Wisconsin and funded by a Volunteer Generation Fund grant through the Corporation for National and Community Service.

The Volunteer Center of Washington County is a not-for-profit organization that connects volunteers and resources with partner organizations to enhance the quality of life in our community. Founded in 1983, the Volunteer Center currently serves 64 member agencies with its volunteer and resource connection programs. For more information about the Volunteer Center or the new Volunteer Wisconsin initiative, visit their website at: www.volunteernow.net or call (262) 338-8256.

Letter to the Editor

To fellow taxpayers,

As school starts and we see the yellow buses roll down the streets there are many unanswered questions this year. One of the many questions that need to be asked is WHY our teachers are only paying 9% of their health plan while we taxpayers have fee after fee heaped upon us by the schools.

I asked this and several other questions to school board member Mr. Jensen. After he hung up on me three times it was apparent that he had no interest in answering any question, but rather defended the status quo.

So I ask you fellow taxpayers to consider the following: The average public employee in Wisconsin now pays 12.6% for their health plan... The average private sector employee pays between 25%-35% for their health plan. The Kewaskum School District has over a $500,000.00 surplus. Should you as a taxpayer have to pay a $60.00 fee for your student to park a vehicle in a public facility that your taxes already pay for? And that's just one of many fees created over the years. If you have a school age child you know what I am talking about.

One family I talked to paid over $400.00 in fees for their children to attend school this year. In reality these fees are just a hidden tax, an extension of your property tax. With the tools Governor Walker gave the school boards we can and should obtain savings to remove this burden from the taxpayer and the student. Public school should be a free education not a fee education.

I would like to urge you to call your school board members and ask them WHY?

Thanks for listening
Michael T Kunkel

From Matchbox cars to Slinger Speedway, Heinan is enjoying the ride

By Mitch Maersch
Statesman Correspondent

Ricky Heinan used to play with Matchbox cars in his basement.

Now, the 14-year-old is racing a real one, and has already tallied a victory.

The Kewaskum freshman got started racing last year when his dad asked him to fill in on a go-kart team. He won three races in his first time racing at Slinger Super Speedway.

Slinger racers mentored the go-cart racers, and Heinan got lucky in landing up-and-coming star Austin Luedtke. Heinan figured his racing career was over, but it was just getting started.

"It's not a cheap sport so I never thought I'd get the opportunity to. I thought the go-karts would be it. A week later, Austin comes back and tells me I need to get in the Slinger Bees this year," he said. "That was a good thing he was our mentor."

Last year, Heinan got a car and worked on it over winter, rebuilding everything but the engine. Then, he waited, even after Slinger Super Speedway's season started.

"Every day I'd just come out and look at it. Come on, I have to wait a whole other month yet?" he said. "You have to be 14 (to race). July 31st is my birthday."

That was a Sunday, and Heinan raced that night in the Slinger Bees, the starter level at the speedway. He placed 17th of 22 cars in the feature race and eighth of 10 in the semi-feature. More importantly, he and his car lived to race another day.

"I was really nervous. I didn't sleep the night before," he said. "Then I got to track, started practice and it was fun."

Heinan learned how to drive stick shift, and now "I pretty much get it up to third gear right away and pretty much leave it."

He had gotten his birthday wish.

"Yeah, it was awesome. The only I wanted for my birthday present was to not wreck the car," he said.

A few weeks later, he won the 10-lap semi-feature race.

"I shot in front. I was on the high side and the inside row had a bad start. I think I led every lap but one or two," he said. "It was a thrill, I mean my heart was pumping and it was amazing."

Though Slinger's race season isn't over yet, Heinan ended his run early. Limiting his season to five races still allows him to qualify for rookie of the year next season.

"This year top fives were my goal and I met that quite a few times," he said.

Heinan's family is fully behind him. His dad, John, is a member of the speedway's safety crew and sits in the infield ready to go at a moment's notice. His mother and brother cheer from the audience with mom in control of her emotions.

"She thinks the car's really safe. She came out in the garage and looked at it," he said. Heinan hasn't been in a wreck yet.

"I haven't hit the wall. I've bumped into a few people trying to pass them," he said. "I spun out a few times the first week, but that was it."

Heinan said his parents and sponsors have made it possible for him to race, including Glacier Hills Credit Union, Luedtke and Associates, QKA Racing, Gravel and Landscape Supply, Spring Valley, The Gentle Dental Emporium, Forever Tan, Roskopf's Towing and Goeden's Autobody.

Heinan said his two-man pit crew, Dave Kletti and Tim Zornow, are big supporters as well.

Heinan is considering getting a second car to race at Kaukauna on Thursdays next season, but that is up in the air. The rise to Slinger Bees has taken its toll on other recreational enjoyment, however. Going from go-karts that go about 45 mph and the Bees that Heinan guesses do 60 to 70 mph makes go-kart riding in the Wisconsin Dells just not what it used to be.

"This isn't that fun anymore," he said.

UWWC announces auditions for 'Lucky Stiff' September 21

UW-Washington County will be holding auditions for the fall production of Lucky Stiff on Wednesday, September 21 at 7pm in the campus theatre. The cast for the two act musical comedy includes four leading men and two leading women, all with singing ability, along with a chorus of 4-6 men and 6-8 women. Area residents, ages 18 and over, that are interested in performing are encouraged to audition. The musical comedy will be directed and designed by Brad Ford, UW-WC Communications and Theatre Professor, who is also in need of volunteers for building the set as well as with technical and behind-the-scenes work. College credit can be earned for performing or doing crew work for the show.

Lucky Stiff is a zany, offbeat and very funny murder mystery farce. Exploding on the musical scene in 1988, it was the first collaboration for the Tony Award winning team of Lynn Ahrens and Stephen Flaherty. The show won the Helen Hayes Award for Best Musical and is now performed frequently across the country.

Based on Michael Butterworth's novel, The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo, the story revolves around Harry Witherspoon, a shy, unworldly British shoe salesman who lives an uneventful life in East Grinstead, England. Harry's life takes a dramatic turn when he learns that his American uncle, Anthony, has been killed. Should Harry succeed in passing Uncle off as alive, he stands to inherit $6,000,000. If not, the money goes to Uncle's favorite charity, the Universal Dog Home of Brooklyn. Lucky Stiff encompasses old fashioned musical comedy silliness, romance without apologies and a happy ending, of course.

Four performances of Lucky Stiff are planned for Friday and Saturday evenings, November 4-5 and 11-12 at 7:30pm. All performances will be in the campus theatre, located on the second floor of the campus. For ticket reservations, phone 262-335-5208 or email: jean.kelley@uwc.edu

Scripts are available for perusal from the University library. For more information about the auditions or working behind the scenes, contact Professor Ford at (262) 335-5222 or email: brad.ford@uwc.edu. For ticket sales, phone the main office at 262-335-5208 (Monday through Friday 8am-4:30pm). Tickets are $13 adults and $10 for seniors (over 62) or youth (under 18).

UW-Washington County is located at 400 University Drive in West Bend. Free parking is available.

UW-FdL to host national touring war memorial/exhibit

The University of Wisconsin-Fond du Lac will host the nationally touring exhibit "Always Lost: A Meditation on War," Sept. 16-Oct. 28 in the University Center Commons, 400 University Dr.

The exhibit can be viewed Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m.-7:30 p.m. and Friday, 8 a.m.-noon. There is no admission charge.

An opening reception for the public will be held 5-7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 15 in the Commons. The evening will include a short program at 5:30 p.m. and light refreshments.

"Always Lost" is a unique collection of photographs, poems and prose. It began in 2008 at Western Nevada College where professors Don Carlson and Marilee Swirczek worked with students to create an exhibit that began as a consideration of the effects of the Iraq and Afghanistan wars and evolved into a powerful meditation on the effects of war on the individual.

The name for the exhibit was suggested by retired Marine Corps Major and English instructor at Western Nevada College Kevin Burns from an observation by writer Gertrude Stein: "War is never fatal, but always lost. Always lost."

Central to the traveling exhibit is a collage of photos and the names of United States military war casualties in Iraq and Afghanistan since Sept. 11, 2001.

Also included are the 2004 Pulitzer Prize-winning Iraq war combat photos of David Leeson and Cheryl Meyer courtesy of "The Dallas Morning News" and literary work of Swirczek's creative writing classes, veterans and their families.

Locally, the exhibit has been expanded to include a "Never Forgotten" memorial to those soldiers from the Fond du Lac area who died serving our country from the Civil War period to the present day.

UW-Fond du Lac Dean and CEO John N. Short noted that the Fond du Lac aspects of the exhibit have been designed, in part, to engage the Fond du Lac community in both a remembrance and celebration of the sacrifice, dedication and contributions that local veterans and their families demonstrate in our community every day.

UW-Fond du Lac Art Professor John Scotello is curating the exhibit and working with UW-Fond du Lac student veterans and art students, local veteran organizations and the Fond du Lac Historical Society to localize the exhibit.

He has been converting some historical photos provided by the veteran organizations into digital images and several of these will be on display as eight foot tall prints.

Scotello explains that the "Always Lost" traveling exhibit is personal and introspective while the "Never Forgotten" memorial shows that the impact of war is shared with the community, especially family.

"The images in the exhibit are challenging and difficult to look at and will probably stir a lot of emotions," said Scotello. "This project is bringing together the veterans from the different wars in this experience and I hope that through the pairing of these two exhibits at UW-Fond du Lac, everyone will realize that personal experiences like these are shared."

This exhibit is the beginning of a year-long theme "War at the Personal Level" at UW-Fond du Lac.

Pearl Harbor survivor, UW-Marching Band to appear in Kewaskum Patriot Day Parade, Fall into Kewaskum

Plans for a parade to honor the 10th anniversary of the September 11th 2001 attack on America began small and have now snowballed into a mammoth parade, a memorial ceremony in Riverhill Park and ending with a family themed, old fashioned picnic dubbed Fall into Kewaskum in addition to Kewaskum's Early Farm Days celebration.

The parade will begin at 9:00 am at the Kewaskum Fire Department. One of the organizers Wayne Sargent, stated a local Pearl Harbor survivor, Jerry Jerome of West Bend will lead the parade as Marshall.

WITI Fox 6 Sports Anchor Tom Pipines, will also ride in the parade. He will be joined by The Wisconsin Firemen's Memorial with the Matt Gorniack Memorial Float. The float is a replica of the Trade Center Towers with three firefighters riding in full turnout gear.

The Renegade Rangers Mounted Shooters and Midwest Shooters Civil War Re-enactments who will also perform along the parade route. Mounted Calvary Riders and an authentic Civil War Canon pulled by a team of Belgian Horses will also be included in the parade.

The parade will conclude with an memorial ceremony and National Moment of Silence at noon. WBWI of West Bend will broadcast the ceremony.

For those interested in participating in the parade, visit the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce's website at www.kewaskum.org for registration forms.

25 Years Ago

August 1, 1986

Coach Tom Bartelt's talented Kewaskum Indians, runners-up to New Holstein's champions in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference, made it all the way to the WIAA State Summer Baseball Tournament being held at Regner Park's Carl Kuss Field in West Bend this week. The Indians reached the state tournament by beating Campbellsport, 7-3, in the Regional at Campbellsport last Tuesday and then advanced to the Sectional at Port Washington where they routed West Bend East Thursday, 11-5, and Port Washington on Friday, 11-0, in the finals for the sectional title. Members of the team include Rick Krahn, Steve Johnson, Daryl Landvatter, Jeff Miller, Mike Morell, Troy Zimdars, Mark Schlosser, Tim Rohlinger, Don Menzel, Jeff Newhauser, Tim Bingen, Tim Dettmann, Jack Aupperle, Rick Staehler and Bob Yahr. The team is coached by Tom Bartelt.

Adrienne Thull, the daughter of Marilyn and the late Norbert Thull, Kewaskum, was crowned "Fairest of the Fair" during last week's Washington County Junior Fair. Thull is a 1986 graduate of Kewaskum High School. Thull was crowned by last year's fair queen, Mona Anderson, also of Kewaskum.

This week at the Thieme-dome was the championship game between first half winner, A&M Construction and second half winner BJ & Company. (Doesn't anyone in the Goodtime League have a name instead of initials?) The game was originally scheduled to be televised on cable through WGN out of Chicago as it was going to pre-empt the normally scheduled Cubs game. However, Dome management got into a contract squabble with announcer Harry Carey. Dome management wouldn't allow Harry to shout HOLY COW for each excellent play or home run for the reason being that the Dome is in the heart of the dairy belt and they didn't want some announcer from Chicago slandering our precious bovines. So the live broadcast fell through. Fans are advised to arrive early and season ticket holders will be able to use their preferred VIP parking passes. Overflow parking will be handled by Clara Weiss's backyard or in Star Auto Salvage formerly Heffer's Auto Salvage lot. There will be NO valet parking in the last two locations. Fans arriving from the south are urged to take the Myra Bypass and ones coming from the north should take the Waucousta cutoff. There will be no reserved seats for this game. A&M had better be on their toes as their previous game was scouted by John Kleinke and his lovely young bride, Dee, accompanied by a Coleman cooler. John, by the way, was the chief scout for General George Custer many years ago. There will be no sweet corn in the VIP Lounge for this game. SPECIAL! Local prominent car dealer, Killy Honeck, has offered a slightly used 1949 Nash Kelvinator Metropolitan to the 10,000th fan to enter the Dome for the championship game. The car is a clean, one owner, low mileage beauty owned by a local school marm, who used it to drive to church on Sundays and occasional discreet midnight trips to the Panda Bar for a wee nip of the Irish. The winner will be announced later this year at the league awards banquet which will be held in the plush Bohemian Room at Barney's Bar in downtown Wayne.

John Tessar and Tom Larson have agreed to act as co-chairmen for this fall's Kewaskum United Way Fund Drive. Margaret McFadden heads the board of directors, with Jerry Gosa serving as vice president, Darlene Tessar will be secretary and Ralph Remmel, treasurer. Other board members include Gerald Zimmel, John Coulter, Elaine Vetter, Judy Harlow, Dr. Dennis Connor, Ruth Ramel, Mark Jansen, James Hammen and new members Janet Martinson, Joan Groh, Gene Akin and Mary Secor.

Thirty-one members of the KHS Class of 1951 celebrated their 35 year reunion on June 21 at the Glacier Inn in Kewaskum. Class members who attended included: Eileen Schommer Perkins, Sylvester Hawig, Cordell Stange Strack, Edward Dreher, Edgar Loomis, Thomas Rodenkirch, Curtis Link, Allan Kempf, Howard Kocher, Vincent Nigh, Paul Blumer, Carol Schmidt Koth, Allyne Ramthun Rodenkirch, Eleanor Seefeldt Ostrander, Beverly Stahl Luedtke, Joan Miller Dean, Patricia Perkins Kirschling, Mary Gruber Stutzman, Marilyn Heberer Bohn, Margaret Krell Bowe, Mary Ann Boegel Sonnenberg, Shirley Birkholz, Elvira Meyer Nigh, Marion Coulter Schuster, Lucille Butzke Fellenz, Harriet Klumb Kolbe, Jacqueline Buntjer Coppock, Joyce Coulter Wulff, Corinne Stange Koepke, Beulah Prost Hawig, and Valeria Rheingans Greget. Jacob Bruessel Jr. is the only deceased member of the class.

A daughter, Megan Rosemary, was born to Roger and Amy Zettler, Kewaskum, on July 22. Maternal grandmother is Grace Theusch of Kewaskum, and paternal grandparents are Roger and Rosemary Zettler of Boltonville. A daughter was born to Glenn and Debra Grosz, West Bend, on July 21. Maternal grandparents are Roger and Cordell Strack of Kewaskum. Daughters were also born to Patrick and Sherie Knoeck, Kewaskum, on July 21; to Jeffery and Kay Giese, Allenton, on July 24, and to Dean and Cynthia Woodley, Campbellsport, on July 10.

50 Years Ago

August 4, 1961

It was resolved by the electors of Kewaskum Jt. School District No. 1, at the annual meeting on July 24, that a tax be levied on all the taxable property of the district for operating expense for the year commencing in 1961 and ending in 1962 in the amount of $121,930.00.

Plans for the new cornerstone laying at the new Washington County Courthouse were discussed and completed at meetings of the Cornerstone and Dedication committee held at the courthouse Thursday and Monday. The ceremony will be held at 2 pm next Thursday, August 10. Reuben Schmah of the Town of Jackson, was elected chairman of the committee. A program of approximately an hour's length has been planned. Copies of the West Bend News, Hartford Times-Press and the Kewaskum Statesman will be included in the contents of the cornerstone box.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kempf, Route 2, Kewaskum, on July 29.

75 Years Ago

August 21, 1936

Hugo Vorpahl, 49, of the Village of Kewaskum, was seriously injured on Tuesday afternoon when he fell 10 feet from a platform while repairing the machinery on a stone crusher in the Northern Gravel Company pit, a short distance west of Barton, where he is employed as crusherman. Mr. Vorpahl suffered a severe concussion of the brain, several fractured ribs and chest and head injuries.

A beautiful young life was taken away on August 15, when Mrs. Andrew Roden, 32, nee Cecilia Herriges, of St. Michaels, was called to her home beyond, after an illness of five days with a very serious complication known to medical science as necrosis of enterauterene tumor, which was followed by peritonitis.

Great progress is now being made in the construction of the new Campbellsport High School building which was begun early this spring. The foundation is completed and a number of bricklayers are now laying brick on two sides of the structure.

Thousands of bushels of barley, used largely in the manufacture of beer, have been flowing into Fond du Lac during the last few days as the market reached $1.35 per bushel, equal to the 1921 price and probably one of the highest in history.

FAMILY TACO NIGHT with a TWIST

Cure the craving with some creative cooking

FAMILY FEATURES

Nothing brings the family together quite like taco night. So why not make it extra special by putting a taco twist on some other family favorites to make an easy, fun meal the whole family will love?

Whether it's the crunch that brings them to the table, the craveable taste of tacos or the ability to make their taco, their way, it's the one dinner the whole family loves.

- Do the kids love cheeseburgers? Try the Old El Paso ABC Taco (Amazing Bacon Cheeseburger Taco) recipe to change things up.
- Need something to spice up spaghetti? Make Fiesta Spaghetti Tacos, which serve up spaghetti and meat sauce in a fun fiesta form.
- Chicken nuggets, again? Spice up the flavor by adding taco toppings such as lettuce, sour cream and salsa and serving in hard and soft taco shells.

Visit www.OldElPaso.com for coupons and more ways to put some fiesta into your weeknight dinner routine.

Chicken Nugget Tacos

Prep Time: 30 minutes
Start to Finish: 30 minutes
6 servings (2 tacos each)

- 24 frozen breaded cooked chicken nuggets
- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 2 teaspoons Old El Paso 40 percent less-sodium taco seasoning mix (from 1-ounce package)
- 1 to 2 tablespoons milk
- 1 box (7.4 ounces) Old El Paso hard and soft taco shells (6 hard corn shells and 6 soft flour tortillas)
- 3/4 cup shredded cheddar cheese (3 ounces)
- 1 1/2 cups shredded lettuce
- 1/2 cup Old El Paso Thick 'n Chunky salsa

Bake chicken nuggets as directed on package. Cover to keep warm. Reduce oven temperature to 325°F. Heat taco shells and tortillas as directed on box. Meanwhile, in small bowl, mix sour cream, taco seasoning mix and enough milk for desired consistency. Set aside. Fill each taco shell and tortilla with 2 chicken nuggets, cheese, lettuce and salsa. Drizzle each with sour cream mixture.

Fiesta Spaghetti Tacos

Prep Time: 25 minutes
Start to Finish: 25 minutes
5 servings (2 tacos each)

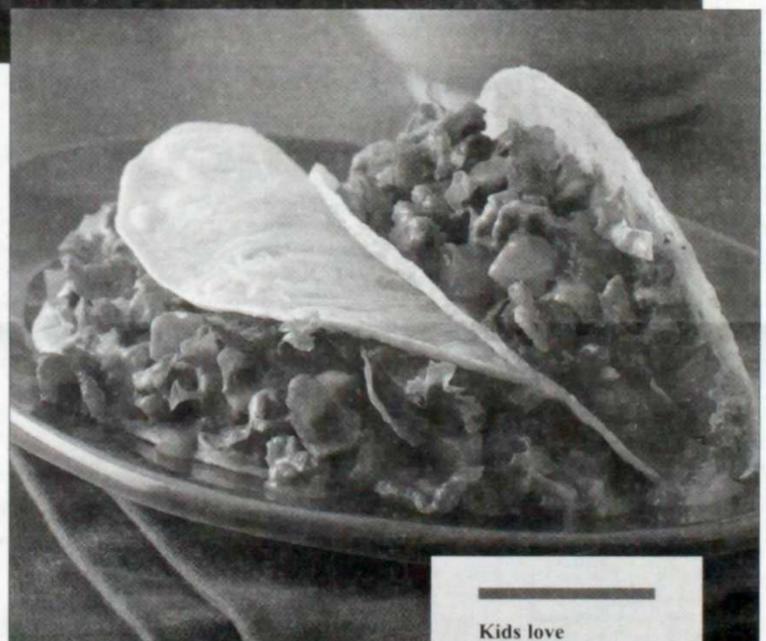

- 5 ounces uncooked spaghetti, broken in half
- 1 pound lean (at least 80 percent) ground beef
- 1 package (1 ounce) Old El Paso 40 percent less-sodium taco seasoning mix
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 1/4 cups tomato pasta sauce (any variety)
- 1 box (4.7 ounces) Old El Paso Stand 'N Stuff taco shells (10 shells)
- 1 medium tomato, chopped (3/4 cup), if desired
- 2 tablespoons shredded Parmesan cheese

Cook spaghetti as directed on package; drain.

Meanwhile, in 10-inch nonstick skillet, cook beef over medium-high heat 5 to 7 minutes, stirring frequently, until thoroughly cooked; drain. Stir in taco seasoning mix and water. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat; simmer uncovered 3 to 4 minutes or until thickened. Stir in pasta sauce; cook over medium heat until hot. Stir in cooked spaghetti.

Meanwhile, heat taco shells as directed on box. Spoon about 1/2 cup spaghetti mixture into each taco shell; top with tomato and Parmesan cheese.

Variation: If you like corn, add 1 cup frozen whole kernel corn with the pasta sauce. Cook about 5 minutes or until hot.

Kids love participating in meal time, so gather the whole family to pitch in and make taco night right — and let the fiesta begin.

Amazing Bacon Cheeseburger Tacos

Prep Time: 25 minutes
Start to Finish: 25 minutes
6 servings (2 tacos each)

- 1 pound lean (at least 80 percent) ground beef
- 1 medium onion, chopped (1/2 cup)
- 1 package (1 ounce) Old El Paso 40 percent less-sodium taco seasoning mix
- 2/3 cup water
- 1/2 cup Old El Paso Cheese 'n Salsa dip (from 15-ounce jar)
- 1 box (7.4 ounce) Old El Paso hard and soft taco shells (6 hard corn shells and 6 soft flour tortillas)
- 1 1/2 cups shredded lettuce
- 1 large tomato, seeded and chopped (1 cup)
- 6 slices bacon, crisply cooked, crumbled

In 10-inch nonstick skillet, cook beef and onion over medium-high heat 5 to 7 minutes, stirring frequently, until thoroughly cooked; drain. Stir in taco seasoning mix and water. Reduce heat to medium; cook 3 to 4 minutes, stirring frequently, until thickened. Stir in dip until well mixed. Heat taco shells and tortillas as directed on box.

Fill heated taco shells and tortillas with warm beef mixture, lettuce, tomato and bacon.

Substitution: Can't find the Cheese 'n Salsa dip? Try 4 ounces Mexican prepared cheese product, cubed, or another soft cheese that melts easily. If you prefer less spice, use regular prepared cheese product.

Indians fall to Raiders

Kewaskum's Corey Burdick attempts to control the ball during last Thursday's game against Kiel.

Kewaskum's soccer team is still seeking its first win after two close calls.

On Tuesday at New Holstein, the Indians gave up two goals in the first 11 minutes and couldn't recover, losing 2-1. Darren Campbell scored at 67:00 but that was as close as Kewaskum would get.

Against Kiel last Thursday, the Indians went to overtime and got a tough call in the penalty box, losing 1-0 on a penalty kick at 84:40. Goalie Joel Turk made five saves.

"We played hard. We were much more aggressive and physical," said Coach Luke Piwoni after the Kiel game.

Sweeper Calvin Ranker cleared several balls, paving the way for overtime.

"I thought Calvin played great," said Coach Luke Piwoni.

Another defender picked up his game, too.

"I was very impressed with the way Eric Hofmaier played today. He had been struggling," said Piwoni.

After Kiel played nearly all of the first half, Piwoni switched to three forwards and instantly had some scoring opportunities. But the Indians couldn't capitalize.

After scoring few goals all last season, Kewaskum scored early this year but now hit a slump, scoring one goal in the last four games. Piwoni said the Indians are seeing better middle and back defenses but have to find a way to put the ball in the back of the net.

"It's just taking advantage of our opportunities now," he said.

Campbell shot the ball over the goal at 71:44, and Jake Hardy shot left in the final minute of regulation.

Early in overtime, an Indian was called for a foul after making contact with a Raider dribbling in the penalty box. The Raider kicked the ball toward the corner and contact was made instantly after. Piwoni asked for and received an explanation from the official after the game.

"It's just a tough way to end the game," Piwoni said.

The Indians, 0-5 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 0-11 overall, host Two Rivers (2-3, 2-4) on Thursday and play at Waupun (0-5, 0-9) Monday.

On Aug. 26, the Indians took second in the eight-team Chilton Invite, beating out Oshkosh Lourdes, New London, Chilton, Waupun, Kiel and Shawano. St. Mary's Central won the meet by five points.

Junior Kierra Kuehl took second at no. 2 singles and freshman Becca Strigenz was second at no. 3 singles.

The next day, the Indians took second in the St. Francis Tournament of Roses, beating out St. Francis and Port Washington. Milwaukee Rufus King beat the Indians in the finals.

Senior Rae Monte took first place at no. 3 singles.

The Indians were 3-2 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference headed into this month, with wins over Waupun, Kewaunee and Kiel. They lost to Kohler and Sheboygan Falls but Coach Matt Fehlhaber said "freshman extraordinaire" Strigenz "surprised the very tough Sheboygan Falls team" with the Indians' only win at no. 3 singles.

Indians blow past Huskies 56-0

Fullback Teddy Wollner scores on a 6-yard run in the second quarter last Friday, the final touchdown in a 56-0 romp over New Holstein. The Indians, 3-0, play at Kiel on Friday.

Hey readers, it's choose your own lead today in Kewaskum's football coverage.

Kewaskum's starters still haven't put together four good quarters of football. After the first two last Friday, the coach refused to let them play anymore.

The fat lady could have sung the National Anthem last Friday, and she probably could have scored a Kewaskum touchdown or two the way that game went.

Last Friday's referees must use Sure deodorant because they kept raising their hands. The lights stayed on the entire game last week, except for New Holstein, which played in the dark all night.

New Holstein might as well have kept the bus running. Or just as well have stayed on it.

Tired yet? That's less leads than Kewaskum had touchdowns in the first half. Any way you write it, the Indians steamrolled New Holstein.

The halftime score was 56-0, which earned a running clock the entire second half and nearly every backup some playing time.

The Indians held the Huskies to 70 total yards while amassing 332 of their own. Eric Perkins had 189 yards rushing and three scores on runs of 16, 48 and six yards - all in the first half. Brad Boegel and Lance Pinchard recovered two Husky fumbles and Travis Averill blocked a punt, all which resulted in scores.

The mosquitoes and two mild rain showers got more in the way of Kewaskum than did the Huskies.

"We just came out and popped them in the nose and just kept coming at 'em. They made mistakes to help us, turning the ball over and those low snaps. Our kids took advantage of them tonight," said Coach Jason Piittmann. "That's what Kewaskum football should look like, in my opinion."

Kewaskum divided its domination up evenly, scoring 28 points in each the first and second quarter, and got plenty of people into the act. Fullback Teddy Wollner scored his first two touchdowns of the season, and his older brother, Joey, defensive back and backup tailback, scored on a run and an interception return.

"It's a great feeling. I love playing with my brother. We get each other psyched up and get each other riled up in practice a little bit, but it's a great feeling," said Joey.

The Indians knocked out quarterback Sam Cash for a play, and instantly welcomed his backup into the game. Wollner caught a tipped pass and went 34 yards the other way for a score.

"Chappy did a great job (Chapman did) and deflected the ball and I just, tip drill, and took it in for the touchdown. All I can say," he said.

Younger brother, Teddy, scored on runs of 40 and 34 yards. He finished with 110 yards on 11 carries. On the 40-yard blast, he got to the second level and the field opened wide. Nobody was between him and the end zone.

"It's pretty exciting getting a touchdown for the first time," he said. "I don't really know what I was thinking about. I was just thinking just don't screw this up and you'll get in there."

"He loves to get the chance to get the ball," Piittmann said of Teddy. "But you know, when you've got Perkins back there, hey, he's going to be the tailback. But he definitely proved he can go back there when we need him and he can be a power back so we've got some options when we need to."

Joey Wollner and Piittmann said the blowout all started up front on defense.

"Sam Cash is very elusive. Last year he gave us fits and we worked really hard on the secondary staying in coverage so he had nobody to throw to if he did scramble," said the coach. "We wanted our d-line to be a strong pass rush but they needed to be under control so they kept him contained. We didn't give him running lanes. The defensive line played as a unit tonight and it made a big difference."

Senior defensive end Mike Bier made much of that difference. With the game at 7-0 and New Holstein on Kewaskum's 35, he solo tackled Cash for a two-yard loss on fourth and four, and later ran down an option play on the opposite side of the field and forced a fumble.

"We were ready to go," he said of the domination.

Perkins did have two fumbles, both recovered by the Indians. One squirted about 10 yards forward before Brendan Dowd jumped on it. It was that kind of night.

"But it's fixable. He knows better," said Piittmann.

With the game decided in the first 24 minutes, both teams rested starters in the second half. Kewaskum's backups were able to hold onto the shutout, the Indians' first since last year's first-round playoff game against Ripon (21-0).

"I wasn't as worried about preserving it as I was making sure ... keep teaching them up so they get a chance to learn and get better," said Piittmann, who calls the defense. "... the fact we did get the goose egg is nice, a little extra smile inside."

Practice was a little different for the Indians last week, and the coaches stepped up the intensity a notch after two straight weeks of winning but not putting together four good quarters of football.

"What I think helped was we pushed the kids a little harder in practice this week. We were more competitive in practice so that made it a little more game like in practice, so coming out here it's not that much different than practice. I think hopefully that's what made the payoff for us there," said Piittmann.

This week's practice was not different, holiday weekend or not.

"Labor Day doesn't exist in the world of football. We practice, we have films; we've got to start getting ready for next Friday," said Piittmann.

"We've just got to stay focused in practice and just got to come out 100 percent and play some Kewaskum football," said Joey Wollner.

The Indians next travel to Kiel, which comes off of a 20-12 comeback win over Waupun. The Raiders scored 14 points in the fourth quarter. Kewaskum and Kiel are both 3-0 and 1-0 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

"It's going to be tough. Kiel is a good team. We've just got to focus one game at a time," said Piittmann.

Three Indians earn academic all-state honors

By Mitch Maersch
Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum's baseball team hits the books as hard as it hit the ball last season.

Three Indians - Brad Boegel, Sam Olla and Tony Gonring - made the all-state academic team, an honor only 19 players across the state received for summer ball.

Members must have a 3.75 grade point average or higher, and it helps to have all-conference mention as a player. All three made the Eastern Wisconsin Conference first team. The Indians finished 17-1 in the EWC and 24-7 overall.

"Smart teams win. I think if you look over the course of the year, Coach (Jason) Piittmann has said that about his football team, too," said Coach Doug Gonring. "That's just a good starting point is to have smart kids and ones that care. If they do well in the classroom, they're going to undoubtedly do better in the field."

Boegel pitched and played first base, and made first team all-state as an infielder. Olla led the infield at shortstop and Gonring ran the outfield in center.

For Coach Gonring, it makes life as a coach that much smoother.

"You definitely don't have to explain things more than twice. Definitely makes it a lot easier, it certainly does. And it rubs off," he said.

Gonring, who nominated the trio, said he has had all-state players before, but never this many from one team.

"Well-rounded young men," he said. "They're going to be successful probably in any endeavor they choose since they're not putting all their eggs in one basket."

It's just another reason Gonring is looking forward to next baseball season. All three are juniors and will be back.

"Just awful proud that they were recognized by the state," he said.

Two other teams, Menomonee Falls and New Berlin Eisenhower, each had three players make the list.

Kewaskum's volleyball team is continuing to rip apart its competition early in the season, and it gets a chance at revenge today.

The Indians last Thursday swept Kiel at home and on Saturday won the Hartford tournament.

Today at Plymouth, Kewaskum could even the score after losing in four games at a home triple dual on Aug. 25.

In the Hartford tournament, the Indians lost to New Berlin Eisenhower, 2-0, by a combined score of 50-

32. They then beat Waukesha South, 2-0 (50-30), and Madison Memorial, 2-0 (50-31), to finish second in pool play.

In the afternoon matches, the Indians beat the No. 1 seed Hartford, 2-0, (50-39) from the other pool, setting up a rematch with Eisenhower. This time, the Indians prevailed in three games with a combined score of 63-58.

"Very exciting volleyball," said Coach Joe Moser. "Sam Smallish had to leave after the Hartford match so Catilin Rinzel stepped up and helped us get the win in the championship game."

Senior Kayla Bastian led the team with 37 kills for the tournament. Anna Aycock had 32. Heidi Johnson had 37 assists and Boehlke had 32. Kelsey Phillips made 55 digs and Bastian 43. Aycock served 13 aces. Rinzel made 21 digs in the championship match.

The Indians are now 9-2 and 3-1 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference. Last Thursday, they dismantled Kiel, a team they lost a five-game match against last season. The Indians won, 25-13, 25-22, 25-18.

Bastian had nine kills and Aycock and Becca Fahney five each. Johnson had 15 assists and Boehlke nine. Bastian, Aycock, Smallish and Boehlke each served three aces. Phillips made five digs.

Johnson said offseason preparation is keying this year's success.

"We have a lot of people that played club last year," she said. "We came together this year."

In game 1, Kewaskum built a 15-9 lead, and Smallish served to 19-9 on an ace, Bastian kill, Aycock block and Kiel mistakes.

Game 2 had ties at 15-15, 17-17 and 18-18 before Johnson took it to 23-19 on an Aycock block and tip, an Emily Faber kill and Kiel errors.

Moser rotated in some different players in Game 3, but the Indians kept on playing well.

Aycock served from 15-13 to 19-13 on a Bastian kill and tip and two aces. At 21-18, Bastian served out the game with two aces bouncing off Raiders and a Fahney set kill to an empty back corner.

It was a sweep on a night serving was off. The Indians missed 11 - "gave them half a game," said Moser.

"I still think we're not playing our best volleyball," he said.

He is pleased with his deep bench, especially how it closed out the match in game three.

"It's good to know you can put in other kids," he said. "We've got the no-cut policy but all these kids can play."

He looks forward to today's rematch with the Panthers.

"They want another crack at Plymouth. They think they can play better and beat 'em."

THE ATTACKS ON SEPTEMBER 11, 2001

On September 11, 2001, 19 militants associated with the Islamist extremist group al Qaeda hijacked four airliners and carried out suicide attacks against targets in the United States. Two of the planes were flown into the Twin Towers of the World Trade Center in New York City, a third plane hit the Pentagon just outside Washington, D.C., and the fourth plane was crashed into a field near Shanksville Pennsylvania. Often referred to simply as 9/11, the attacks resulted in extensive death and destruction, triggering major U.S. initiatives to combat terrorism. Nearly 3,000 people were killed during the attacks, including more than 400 police officers and firefighters and 246 passengers and crew on the four planes. This was the most deadly terrorist attack in U.S. history.

On September 11, 2001, at 8:46 a.m. on a clear Tuesday morning, an American Airlines Boeing 767 loaded with jet fuel crashed into the North Tower of the World Trade Center in New York City. The impact left a gaping, burning hole between floors 93-99 of the 110-story skyscraper, instantly killing hundreds of people and trapping hundreds more in higher floors. As the evacuation of the tower got underway, television cameras broadcasted live images of what initially appeared to be a freak accident. Then, 17 minutes after the first plane hit, a second Boeing 767—United Airlines Flight 175—appeared out of the sky, turned sharply toward the World terrorists from Saudi Arabia and several other Arab nations. Reportedly financed by Saudi fugitive Osama bin Laden's al Qaeda terrorist organization, they were allegedly acting in retaliation for America's support of Israel, its involvement in the Persian Gulf an economic and military superpower.

Some of the terrorists had lived in the United States for more than a year and had taken flying lessons at American commercial flight schools. Others had slipped into the country in the months before September 11 and acted as the "muscle" in the operation.

American intelligence agencies like the CIA and FBI were on the lookout for terrorist activities, but had expected bomb attacks like those of the past, or perhaps biological or chemical attacks that cause widespread terror. They were unprepared for this kind of attack. (The 9/11 Commission Report on the attacks revealed four kinds of failures: in imagination, policy, capabilities, and management.)

The 19 terrorists easily smuggled knives through security at three East Coast airports and boarded four flights bound for California, chosen because the planes were loaded with fuel for the long transcontinental journey. Soon after takeoff, the terrorists commandeered the four planes and took the controls, transforming ordinary commuter jets into guided missiles.

As millions watched the events unfolding in New York, American Airlines Flight 77 circled over downtown Washington, D.C., and slammed into the west side of the Pentagon military headquarters at 9:37 a.m. Jet fuel from the Boeing 757 caused a devastating inferno that led to the structural collapse of a portion of the giant concrete building. 125 military personnel and civilians were killed in the Pentagon, along with all 59 passengers and crew aboard the airliner.

Twenty-two minutes after the terrorists struck the nerve center of the U.S. military, the horror in New York took a catastrophic turn for the worse when the South Tower of the World Trade Center collapsed in a massive cloud of dust and smoke. The structural steel of the skyscraper, built to withstand winds in excess of 120 miles per hour and a large conventional fire, could not withstand the tremendous heat generated by the burning jet fuel coupled with the structural damage caused by the plane crash. At 10:28 a.m., the North Tower collapsed. 2,753 people died in the World Trade Center and its vicinity, including a staggering 346 firefighters, 23 New York City police officers, and 37 Port Authority police officers who were struggling to complete an evacuation of the buildings and save the office workers trapped on higher floors. Thousands of others were treated for injuries, many severe.

Meanwhile, a fourth California-bound plane—United Airlines Flight 93, a Boeing 757—was hijacked about 40 minutes after leaving Newark International Airport in New Jersey. Because the plane had been delayed in taking off, passengers on board learned of events in New York and Washington via cell phone and airplane calls to the ground. Knowing that the aircraft was not returning to an airport as the hijackers claimed, a group of passengers and flight attendants planned an insurrection. One of the passengers, Thomas E. Burnett Jr., told his wife over the phone that, "They're talking about crashing this plane into the ground. We have to do something. Another passenger, Todd Beamer, was heard saying, "Are you guys ready? Let's roll" over an open line. Sandy Bradshaw, a flight attendant, called her husband and explained that she had slipped into a galley and was filling pitchers with boiling water. Her last words to him were "Everyone's running to first class. I've got to go. Bye."

Passengers fought the four hijackers and are thought to have attacked the cockpit. The plane then flipped over and sped toward the ground at upwards of 580 miles per hour, crashing in a rural field in western Pennsylvania at 10:03 a.m. All 40 passengers and crew were killed. Its intended target is presumed to be the U.S. Capitol.

By 7 p.m., President George W. Bush, who had spent the day being shuttled around the country because of security concerns, returned to the White House. At 8:30 p.m., he delivered a televised address from the Oval Office, declaring, "Terrorist attacks can shake the foundations of our biggest buildings, but they cannot touch the foundation of America. These acts shatter steel, but they cannot dent the steel of American resolve." In a reference to the eventual U.S. military response he declared, "We will make no distinction between the terrorists who committed these acts and those who harbor them."

Operation Enduring Freedom, the American-led international effort to oust the Taliban Islamist regime in Afghanistan that supported al Qaeda and Osama bin Laden's terrorist network based there, began on October 7, 2001, less than a month after the terror attacks. Although the Taliban was initially removed from power, fighting in Afghanistan continues. Osama bin Laden was killed on May 2, 2011 in a compound in Abbottabad, Pakistan by a team of U.S. Navy SEALs. This brought some measure of justice to 9/11 victims and our country.

Who were the hijackers?

These 19 young men, ages 20 to 33, came from a variety of backgrounds, some wealthy, some poor. Many had college educations, while others dropped out from college or left home to become soldiers on the side of Muslims in Chechnya and Afghanistan. Among them were three sets of brothers. Fifteen were from Saudi Arabia, two from the United Arab Emirates, and one each from Egypt and Lebanon.

What is Terrorism?

It is difficult to come up with a definition of terrorism with which everyone will agree. The root of the word is "terror" or fear. An act of terrorism seeks to use fear to compel a group of people or a government to act in a certain way in response to violence or the threat of violence. Terrorist acts have been committed by a variety of people representing a wide range of political, religious, cultural or social viewpoints, ranging from lone individuals to large coordinated groups. Generally, a characteristic of terrorism is that the victims are often "civilians," that is people who are not in any way representative of the object of the terrorism.

Hijackers pass security screening

Hijackers Mohammed Atta and Abdulaziz al Omari pass through security at Portland International Jetport in Maine. They board a shuttle flight to Boston's Logan International Airport, where they connect to Los Angeles-bound American Airlines Flight 11.

Atta will pilot Flight 11 on its lethal course into the North Tower of the World Trade Center. Four hijackers physically subdue passengers and crew so that Atta can breach the cockpit and kill or disable the two American Airlines pilots.

Over the next hour and a half, seventeen other hijackers clear and a half, seventeen other hijackers clear security checks at Logan Airport, Newark International Airport, and Washington Dulles Airport. All presumably carry knives, box cutters or other concealed weapons on their person or in carry-on luggage. Although eight are tagged for additional screening and a gate agent flags two as suspicious, none are prevented from boarding their intended flights.

American Airlines Flight 11 takes off from Logan Airport in Boston, MA, 14 minutes behind its scheduled departure

Seventy-six passengers, 11 crewmembers and five hijackers board Flight 11. In industry terms, the Los Angeles-bound flight is "riding heavy," stocked with up to 68,400 pounds of fuel for its transcontinental run. Al Qaeda terrorists hijack the plane at approximately 8:14 am and reroute it towards Manhattan, using the Hudson River as a navigational guide.

American Flight 11 Crew Contact Airline

Veteran flight attendants Betty Ann Ong and Madeline "Amy" Sweeney, with a combined 26 years of experience, alert ground personnel to the hijacking of Flight 11. They stay on the line for almost the entire duration of the flight after its seizure by the terrorists, relaying key details about the attack such as the hijackers' seat numbers and report that the crew is unable to contact the cockpit.

Acting on Ong and Sweeney's information, American Airlines alerts the FBI, jumpstarting the investigation that will become the largest in the agency's history.

According to Sweeney, the crew attends to the safety of the passengers, providing medical care to those injured in the hijacking.

instantly killing the 87 passengers and crew on board and unknown hundreds within the tower.

The crash starts fires throughout the North Tower and funnels jet fuel down elevator shafts, igniting fireballs at the lobby and below-grade levels and burning anyone coming into contact with this combusting fuel.

The impact severs all three emergency stairwells, trapping 100's in and above the impact zone.

Investment firm Fred Alger Management and professional services company Marsh & McLennan have offices in the impact zone. Thirty-five Alger employees and 295 Marsh employees perish in the attack. Carr Futures' 69 employees, at work on the 92nd floor directly below the impact zone, also perish. Trapped by debris, they are unable to evacuate.

Bond trading firm Cantor Fitzgerald, floors 101-105, suffers the single largest loss of life, 658 employees.

I could see the big airline coming straight towards us. It looked like it was coming towards us. Didn't look like the plane was in any kind of duress. It was going straight towards what I thought was our building, but in actuality Tower 1 was right in front of us. I just stood frozen. I didn't move – I couldn't move. I just stood at the window.

Emergency Services Mobilized

The Fire Department of New York (FDNY) and New York Police Department (NYPD) dispatch units to the World Trade Center within seconds of Flight 11's crash.

On site, Port Authority Police Department (PAPD) officers begin evacuating the North Tower. PAPD headquarters in Jersey City, New Jersey dispatches additional officers from other command posts to the World Trade Center.

In July 2001, the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, long-time managers of the World Trade Center, agreed to lease the buildings to real estate developer Larry Silverstein. On September 11, 2001, both Port Authority and Silverstein Properties staff are in the building working on the transition. Their expert knowledge of the towers helps Port Authority fire safety, building and security staff coordinate the evacuation.

"When I arrived at the sky lobby level there were, uh, masses of people waiting to the elevators. And for some reason I decided to go back into the stairwell. And the heat was just like, quite intense... The intensity of the warning signs, like the sound of the alarms, it was really like ah pounding you... Anyway, so we went down and people were very calm.

There were three flows of people. The regular people like me going down. The people who were coming down from the other floors and who were very badly burned — no skin, no hair, just burned. ...They were walking or carried down by people; helped by people.

Screams were coming down from the stairwell, 'Emergency! Emergency!' ...And then the third flow of people was of course those security personnel and fire department people. Now those people were exhausted. In some of those eyes, and you could see that they knew something, and it was dangerous. They knew something. While there was no panic whatsoever in the stairwell, those people were concentrated, focused on doing their job. And while I was walking down, they were going up to their death. And I was walking down to live."

On Board Flight 175

As hijacked Flight 175 approaches the World Trade Center, crewmembers and passengers manage to contact loved ones and authorities on the ground.

At 8:59 am, Flight 175 passenger Brian David Sweeney, 38, leaves a message for his wife Julie. He then calls his mother, Luise, to report the hijacking, telling her that the passengers are considering storming the cockpit to wrest control from the hijackers.

Brian began the flight in the first row of coach, but makes his calls from a GTE airphone located in one of the last rows of the plane.

Machine: BEEP. Message 1

“Hi Jules, this is Brian. - Listen I’m on an airplane that’s been hijacked. If things don’t go well, it’s not looking good, I just want you to know I absolutely love you. I want you to do good, go have some good times. Same to my parents and everybody. And I just totally love you and I will see you when you get there. Bye babe. Despite being choked with rubble, Stairwell A remains passable. However, only eighteen people at or above the impact zone are known to have evacuated using this stairway.

“We felt and heard a loud noise.”

— Constance Labetti, AON, South Tower, 99th Floor

“I think I got to the 72nd floor, 75th floor, when we heard – we felt and heard – a loud noise. And people in the stairs start to fall down the stairs.

And what it felt like was that some – that Tower 1 – this is what I thought – Tower 1 had collapsed onto our building. It felt like somebody took the building shook it and put it back down in its place.

I was holding onto the banisters really tight so I didn’t fall but a lot of people on the staircase were tumbling down. What evidently happened was our building had just been hit.”

I was like, oh gosh, am I gonna have to jump, because I wasn’t gonna wait for the firemen. Was I gonna have to do what I just saw people doing.

Increasing Response

The NYPD calls a second Level 4 Mobilization, bringing its total deployment close to 2,000 men and women.

Minutes later, the FDNY issues a second fifth alarm. Other companies and off-duty personnel, not directly called, respond to the attacks.

In total, more than 200 fire units, approximately 2,200 police officers, and numerous others from city and federal agencies responded to the disaster scene at the World Trade Center.

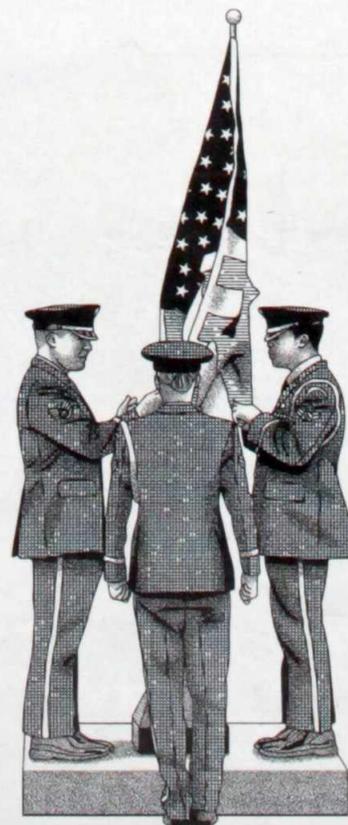

When their vehicle becomes stuck in traffic, Firefighter Gary R. Box, 37, and others from the FDNY’s elite Squad 1 run through the Brooklyn Battery Tunnel to the World Trade Center. His picture on page 8 was taken shortly after the crash of Flight 175.

Squad 1 loses 11 members on 9/11, including Firefighter Box.

On the morning of 9/11, Port Authority Officer James Francis Lynch, 47, is on medical leave, resting at his home in New Jersey. Nevertheless, he responds to the attack on the World Trade Center, using his PAPD credentials to clear police cordons and head through the Holland Tunnel.

Once Officer Lynch arrives at the towers, he immediately sets to work. As a WTC Emergency Services officer who supervised rescue equipment within the complex, he knows that his experience and knowledge of the towers will be invaluable to the evacuation efforts. He is last seen getting air packs out of a storeroom, then ascending the stairs carrying a load of breathing masks and air tanks. Officer Lynch perishes in the collapse of the South Tower.

Many civilian employees and military personnel evacuate the building shortly after the impact, while others felt compelled to rush into the burning building to rescue trapped and injured colleagues.

In total, air traffic controllers guide over 4,000 commercial and private planes to airports throughout the United States and in Canada. Local authorities and residents create ad-hoc plans to provide food and shelter to stranded travelers.

"I heard this very, very loud noise above me. It was just a tremendous roar. It was above. It sounded like it was coming towards, towards you. And then the wind, very, very fierce wind. It started lifting me up off the ground and so that's when I crouched down, the next thing – I just crouched down. I got to the corner of the staircase by the railing and I just got as small as I could possibly get, cause I'm not a big guy to begin with so and I literally – (sigh) – I guess the best way to describe it, I tried to crawl into my fire helmet, that's what I wanted to do just to protect myself. I wasn't sure what was going on, I thought the building might be coming down and I figured, uh, ok this could be it. And I was a little angry you know it was like 'Damn it, why me? Why you know it's beautiful – I'm going to die in the World Trade Center on a beautiful summer morning.' I just like, it's like a little denial and disbelief sets in and... then I started getting hit with stuff, you know, it was just debris was hitting me. It went dark and then the next thing was just total silence. Nothing. No wind. No noise. No light. Nothing. And then I started hearing noises, I started hearing like moaning and guys were starting to communicate, yell out. These were the guys I was trapped with.

They're calling out, 'Who's there?,' 'You guys all right?,' blah, blah, blah, and this kind of thing. And I realized I wasn't alone, 'cause when you're alone in a situation like that, that's like existential isolation, it like - (laughs) I mean - and then you find out you're with other people it makes you feel a lot better, even though you know you're in a very bad situation at least there's other people. But then the strangest thing happened, this beam of sunlight came right in on us, like about 8 inches long, but it was clearly

Few can forget September 11, 2001, the day that terrorists attacked the United States, hijacking four planes, crashing into the World Trade Center, the Pentagon and a field in Pennsylvania, and killing thousands. As stories of courage unraveled in the aftermath of the tragedy, thousands of Americans rallied together to support recovery efforts and each other.

In honor of those who died that day, both in the hijackings and in rescue efforts, President George W. Bush declared September 11, 2001, Patriot Day. This Patriot Day, we pay tribute to the gallant individuals who perished in 911. May we remember them always

1:00pm and Through the Day

Response at the World Trade Center Site

Throughout the afternoon, volunteers, first responders, and construction workers arrive at the site to search for survivors.

Firefighters, police officers, paramedics and other emergency service workers stream to the site to join in the firefight and rescue efforts. Operations continue around the clock.

3:00pm FDNY Rescue Civilian Pasquale Buzzelli is Rescued From Rubble of Stairwell B at WTC site

Ultimately, only 18 people deeply embedded in the debris pulled themselves out or were rescued, including 14 who were together in the shaft of a North Tower stairwell. The last survivor was found only 26 hours after the towers collapsed.

5:20pm Collapse of 7 World Trade Center

Because lower Manhattan's waterlines have been compromised, the FDNY cannot get water to fight the flames.

Adjacent to the North Tower, 7 World Trade Center had suffered significant damage in the collapse. Fires caused by the collapse of 1 WTC lead to structural instability, and ultimately, total collapse.

There are no casualties because the 47-story tower had been evacuated that morning. However, the fall of the building sends first responders racing away from the collapsing structure to save their own lives.

8:00pm Rescue Workers Locate Trapped PAPD Officers

Rescuers locate PAPD Sgt. John McLoughlin and Officer William Jimeno in the debris of the World Trade Center. They free Officer Jimeno after three hours of dangerous tunneling work. Sgt. McLoughlin's rescue takes another eight hours.

Rescue operations continue throughout the night. Thousands of construction workers, first responders, and self-dispatched volunteers converge at Ground Zero to search for survivors, improvising bucket brigades to remove debris.

Workers will extricate the eighteenth survivor, Genelle Guzman, from the remains of Stairwell B on the afternoon of September 12. She will be the last person rescued alive.

8:30pm President George W. Bush Addresses the Nation

Back in the White House, President Bush addresses a shocked nation, praising the strength of the nation in the face of the overwhelming events. "Terrorist attacks can ... shattered steel, but they cannot dent the steel of American resolve," he says. "Today, our nation saw evil — the very worst of human nature — and we responded with the best of America. With the daring of our rescue workers, with the caring for strangers and neighbors who came to give blood and help in any way they could."

The full transcript and video of the speech is at:

President Bush visits and speaks with rescue and recovery personnel at Ground Zero on September 14, 2001. A National Day of Prayer and Remembrance is observed.

Rescue, Recovery and Rebuilding

Federal, state, and local officials initiated rescue and/or recovery operations at all three attack sites, supported by thousands of first responders, ironworkers, engineers and members of the building trades.

The attacks resulted in nearly 3,000 fatalities — the largest loss of life from a hostile attack by a foreign entity on American soil. The Fire Department of New York lost 346 members of its force, the New York Police Department lost 23, and the Port Authority Police Department lost 37, the largest loss of emergency responders in a single event in U.S. history.

At the three attack sites, days and weeks — and in New York City, months — were spent extinguishing fires, searching for survivors and, ultimately, searching for remains of the victims. It took nine months to remove approximately 1.8 million tons of debris from the World Trade Center site.

In the aftermath of 9/11, donations of money and supplies poured in and thousands of people volunteered their help and support. Memorials, services and vigils were held in New York City, Washington, D.C., Pennsylvania, and all over the world.

A federal fund compensated victims' families and severely injured survivors. Families of victims advocated for the formation of the 9/11 Commission, which investigated the attacks and issued a report with analysis and recommendations.

Advanced DNA technology continues to be used to identify the remains of victims. However, human remains have still not been identified for approximately 40% of the WTC victims.

Public and private sectors partnered to support lower Manhattan's recovery, growth and revitalization, and worked to balance the need to remember and honor the victims with the need for a strong and vibrant community.

FROM TRAGEDY TO TRIUMPH
TEN YEARS LATER

National September 11 Memorial & Museum

Aftermath of 9/11

The attacks of 9/11 left the World Trade Center (WTC) site devastated, with ruins towering roughly 17 stories and debris spread well beyond the 16-acre site. Thousands of volunteers flocked to ground zero to help with the rescue, recovery and clean-up efforts, and on May 30, 2002, the last piece of WTC steel was ceremonially removed.

Memorials sprung up immediately after the tragedy and acted as impromptu outlets for grief, support, healing, and remembrance. These memorials appeared around the world in myriad forms in the days and weeks following the attacks.

Within the first two years following the attacks, plans integrating a museum, memorial, and commercial buildings were proposed and advanced. The first commercial building to re-open, the new 7 WTC, was completed in 2006.

The Memorial & Museum

The Memorial and Museum are both located on the western side of the former World Trade Center complex where the Twin Towers once stood. The Memorial was designed by architect Michael Arad and landscape architect Peter Walker. Their proposal emerged from a design competition that received 5,201 submissions from 63 countries.

The National September 11 Memorial opens on September 11, 2011, the 10th anniversary of the attacks, and the Museum will open in 2012.

9/11 Memorial Design

The Memorial remembers and honors the nearly 3,000 people who died in the attacks of September 11, 2001—in New York, at the Pentagon, and in Pennsylvania—as well as the victims of the February 26, 1993 bombing at the World Trade Center. Its mission is to:

Memorial Pool Names at Night.

The names of the 2,983 victims of the September 11, 2001 and February 26, 1993 attacks are etched in bronze around the edges of the pools.

The tree-filled plaza is lined with cobblestones, creating a space for reflection separate from the sights and sounds of the surrounding city. The trees were selected from within a 500-mile radius of the WTC site, including nurseries located in New York, Pennsylvania, and near Washington, D.C., to symbolize areas attacked on 9/11.

Now, instead of looking up at the towers, visitors look down in reflection. It is a different kind of looking, inviting us to appreciate the power of what isn't there, the power of remembering what is absent.

Aerial View.

- Remember and honor the thousands of innocent men, women, and children murdered by terrorists in these attacks.
- Respect this place made sacred through tragic loss.
- Recognize the endurance of those who survived, the courage of those who risked their lives to save others, and the compassion of all who supported us in our darkest hours.

May the lives remembered, the deeds recognized, and the spirit reawakened be eternal beacons, which reaffirm respect for life, strengthen our resolve to preserve freedom, and inspire an end to hatred, ignorance and intolerance.

Joe Daniels, President of the National September 11 Memorial & Museum, adds: "Collectively, the Memorial & Museum will remind us of the powerful and binding connection we share with one another. A connection that eclipses politics, race, economic class, and geography."

Each element of the Memorial design exists in service of these goals. A plaza of over 400 trees surrounds two enormous reflecting pools with waterfalls set within the footprints where the Twin Towers once stood. The waterfalls—the largest man-made waterfalls in North America—cascade into reflecting pools, finally disappearing into voids built into the center of each pool.

National September 11 Memorial Museum

The Memorial Museum, like the Memorial, aims to honor the victims of these attacks and all those who risked their lives to save others. It further recognizes the thousands who survived and all who demonstrated extraordinary compassion in the aftermath.

In doing so, it seeks to educate for a better future. Demonstrating the consequences of terrorism on individual lives and its impact on communities at the local, national, and international levels, the Museum attests to the triumph of human dignity over human depravity and affirms an unwavering commitment to the fundamental value of human life.

This work is complex, as Alice Greenwald, the Museum's director, has noted: "At its core, the Memorial Museum must carefully balance the act of commemoration - which has its own requirements of sensibility and reverence - with the imperatives of education, historical documentation, and fidelity to the emotionally resonant artifacts on display."

Visitors will enter the Memorial Museum through a Pavilion where two steel "tridents"—remnants of the North Tower's façade—stand in the building's atrium. The main exhibition space will be located seven stories down at the bedrock foundations of the World Trade Center.

The Museum will offer displays of artifacts from the WTC and 9/11 attacks, interactive exhibitions, contemplative areas, and programs that will convey individual and collective stories relating the experiences of survivors, responders, area residents, and eyewitnesses. A memorial exhibition will honor the individual victims of the attacks, featuring artifacts, photographs, and oral remembrances recalling the people killed on 9/11.

In addition, educational programs, such as field trips, lecture series, and film screenings, will offer deeper explorations into the events of 9/11, its historical context, the ongoing repercussions of the attacks, and the 9/11 Museum's collections. Visit www.911memorial.org/teach-learn to view current resources for schools and families.

Around the Memorial

On the rest of the WTC site and next to the Memorial and Museum will be commercial buildings, a transportation hub, and a Performing Arts Center. One of these buildings has already been completed and two are under construction. 1 WTC, the building directly north of the North Pool, will have 105 stories and stand taller at 1,776 feet than the original Twin Towers. This building is expected to be completed in 2013. The other buildings will be developed in the coming years.

Visiting the Memorial

When the 9/11 Memorial opens, construction will still be continuing at the WTC site. Millions of visitors are expected in the first year of operation and plans are in place to ensure that the visitor experience is safe and meaningful.

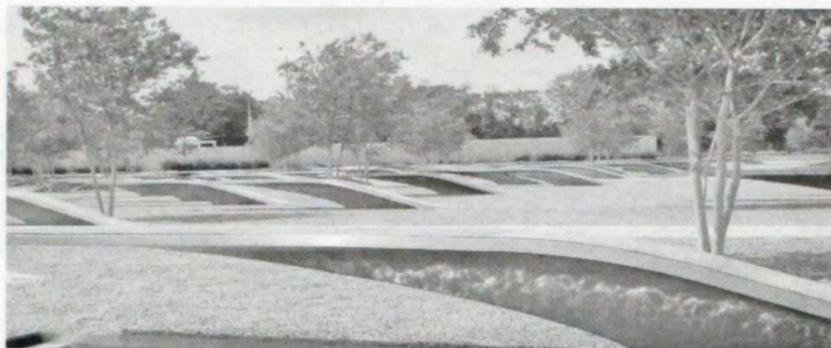

During much of the ongoing construction, visitor capacity at the 9/11 Memorial will be limited. To ensure fairness and a wide distribution of visitor passes, a temporary timed reservation system will be used for all visitors. The reservation system will help reduce potential wait times and ensure as many people as possible are able to visit. The passes will be free. For more information, visit www.911memorial.org.

The National 9/11 Pentagon Memorial

Pentagon Memorial

The 184 souls lost in the terrorist attack at the Pentagon on September 11, 2001, when hijacked American Airlines Flight 77 crashed into the Pentagon, were mothers fathers husbands, wives, children, brothers, sisters, coworkers, flight crew, friends, patriots.

The Pentagon Memorial captures that entrance of the Memorial. Etched into the granite zero line is the date and time of the attack: "SEPTEMBER 11, 2001 9:37 A.M." Visitors to the Memorial may look up a victim's name and birth year on the locator stone within the Pentagon Memorial Gateway. On age lines with multiple victims, the Memorial Units are organized by birth date along that line.

Victims from the same family are linked by a plaque at the end of the pool of water, which lists their family members who also died in the attack, forever binding the family together.

The Pentagon Memorial Landscape

Within the Pentagon Memorial, 85 Crape Myrtle trees are clustered around the Memorial Units, but are not dedicated to any one victim. These trees will grow up to 30 feet to provide a canopy of shade over the Memorial for years to come.

The Memorial's stabilized gravel surface is bordered on the western edge by an Age Wall. The Age Wall grows one inch per year in height above the perimeter bench relative to the age lines. As visitors move through the Memorial, the wall gets higher, growing from three inches (the age of Dana Falkenberg) to 71 inches (the age of John D. Yamnicky). The Age Wall draws the eye to the Memorial for drivers passing by on Washington Boulevard and the adjacent Arlington County Bike Path, while ensuring solitude for visitors. Ornamental grasses mark the boundaries of the Memorial.

The Pentagon Memorial design was developed by Julie Beckman and Keith Kaseman. Their vision for the Memorial was selected from more than 1,100 submissions by a panel of architects, family members, and public figures in the Washington, D.C. area, including two former Secretaries of Defense. The Pentagon Memorial is the first national memorial dedicated to the horrific events that unfolded on September 11, 2001 — events that claimed 184 lives at the Pentagon, and thousands more around the United States. The Pentagon Memorial is also dedicated to future generations that they might reflect upon and renew their faith in shared American values.

The Memorial Units

Each Memorial Unit is a cantilevered bench, a lighted pool of flowing water, and a permanent tribute, by name, to each victim, in one single element. Each memorial bench is made of stainless steel and inlaid with smooth granite. Each Memorial Unit contains a pool of water, reflecting light in the evenings onto the bench and surrounding gravel field.

Each Memorial Unit is also specifically positioned in the Memorial to distinguish victims who were in the Pentagon from those who were on board American Airlines Flight 77. At the 125 Memorial Units honoring the victims of the Pentagon, visitors see the victim's name and the Pentagon in the same view. At the Memorial Units honoring the 59 lives lost on Flight 77, the visitor sees the victim's name and the direction of the plane's approach in the same view.

moment in time at 9:37 a.m. when 184 lives became intertwined for eternity. Each victim's age and location at the time of the attack have been permanently inscribed into the Memorial by the unique placement and direction of each of the 184 Memorial Units.

Elegant and simple, the Pentagon Memorial serves as a timeline of the victims' ages, spanning from the youngest victim, three-year-old Dana Falkenberg, who was on board American Airlines Flight 77, to the oldest, John D. Yamnicky, 71, a Navy veteran, also aboard Flight 77 that morning.

The Pentagon Memorial Gateway

The 184 Memorial Units within the Pentagon Memorial are located on the age line according to the year the victim was born. The age lines, denoted by stainless steel strips that cross the Memorial, begin at the zero line, which spans from the Gateway to the

Flight 93 National Memorial

Flight 93 National Memorial

In the hours and days following the crash of Flight 93, the final chapter in the horrible bravery and heroism emerged. Flight 93 was the only one of the hijacked planes that failed to reach its intended target. Flight 93 was just 20 minutes from Washington, DC, and had the passengers and crewmembers not taken decisive action, it is likely that the plane would have been used to crash into the U.S. Capitol or the White House causing unimaginable destruction.

The "ordinary" people on board Flight 93 were anything but. They were men and women, mothers, fathers, and children. They were executives, technicians, students, and retirees. They were young and old, black and white, Americans and foreign-born visitors. Yet despite these

The Memorial

When completed, the Flight 93 National Memorial will be the only unit of the national park system chronicling the events and personalities of September 11, 2001. Creating a place that not only remembers the 40 heroes of Flight 93 but also inspires ordinary citizens to act in their own heroic ways is what the Flight 93 National Memorial is all about. The components of the Memorial are:

The Sacred Ground is the heart of the Flight 93 National Memorial because it was here that the plane with all 40 passengers and crewmembers aboard crashed on September 11, 2001. A memorial plaza will offer a viewing position of the meadow and hemlock grove, which absorbed much of the devastating impact. The plaza will terminate in a "wall of names" – white marble panels inscribed with each of the names of the forty passengers and crew, parallel to a black careened in this direction toward a stand of hemlock trees. Passing through the wall and across a plaza, visitors will be standing at an overlook with a sweeping view of the Field of Honor. At the end of the walkway will be a sloped glass plaque inscribed with the memorial's mission statement.

A common field one day. A field of honor forever. May all who visit this place remember the collective acts of courage and sacrifice of the passengers and crew, revere this hallowed ground as the final resting place of those heroes, and reflect on the power of individuals who choose to make a difference.

The Visitor Center will be located just inside the Entry Portal, between the large concrete walls designating the final flight path of Flight 93. The Visitor Center will be of the educational and interpretive hubs of the Memorial, where visitors can learn both about the Flight 93 story as well as about the layout of the Memorial park. A portion of the Visitor Center will be devoted to exhibits.

The Learning Center will be located a short distance away. The Learning Center will be able to host temporary or traveling exhibitions about September 11, and its spaces can be easily adapted for small or large groups to host lectures, films, or other apparent differences, they all possessed undeniable qualities of the human spirit – courage, bravery, selflessness – that enabled them to join together in an extraordinary way and achieve the first victory in the war on terrorism.

The passengers and crew of Flight 93 will be permanently honored at the Flight 93 National Memorial, set at the site where their final struggle ended in a rural field near Shanksville, Pennsylvania. The Flight 93 National Memorial was created by an act passed by Congress and signed by President George W. Bush on September 24, 2002.

The Field of Honor is the largest and most prominent of the Memorial's unique design features. Measuring a half-mile in diameter and adjacent to the memorial plaza, the bowl-shaped Field links the entire Memorial through sightlines and pathways.

The Entry Portal is the opening to the Flight 93 National Memorial. The portal will be marked by two parallel concrete walls that trace the final trajectory of Flight 93 as it descended toward the crash site.

Visitors approaching the Entry Portal will pass through its twin walls along a symbolic black walkway called the Flight Path. Immediately visitors will be brought back to 10:03 a.m. on September 11, 2001 when Flight 93

A large area just below the entry portal overlooks the western edge of the impact site of Flight 93 and provides a key vantage point to view the entire Memorial site.

The Tower of Voices will dramatically mark the main entrance to the Flight 93 National Memorial from Route 30. Reaching 93 feet into the air, the Tower will feature 40 wind chimes for each of the passengers and crewmembers and serve as an audible reminder of their selfless act of courage in the final moments of Flight 93.

Understanding 9/11

Foundations of Islam

Islam (a word that literally means "surrender to the will of God") arose in Arabia with what Muslims believe are a series of revelations to the Prophet Mohammed from the one and only God, the God of Abraham and of Jesus.

These revelations, conveyed by the angel Gabriel, are recorded in the Qur'an (sometimes titled Koran). Muslims believe that these revelations, given to the greatest and last of a chain of prophets stretching from Abraham through Jesus, complete God's message to humanity. The Hadith, which recount Mohammed's sayings and deeds as recorded by his contemporaries, are another fundamental source. A third key element is the Sharia, the code of law derived from the Qur'an and the Hadith.

Islam is divided into two main branches, Sunni and Shia. Soon after the Prophet's death, the question arose of choosing a new leader, or Caliph, for the Muslim community, or Ummah. Initially, his successors could be drawn from the Prophet's contemporaries, but with time, this was no longer possible.

Those who became the Shia held that any leader must be a direct descendant of the Prophet; those who became the Sunni argued that lineal descent was not required if the candidate met other standards of faith and knowledge.

After bloody struggles, the Sunni became (and remain) the majority sect. (The Shia are dominant in Iran.) The Caliphate – the institutionalized leadership of the Ummah – thus was a Sunni institution that continued until 1924, first under Arab and eventually under Ottoman Turkish control.

Many Muslims look back at the century after the revelations to the Prophet Mohammed as a golden age.

Rise of Islamist Extremism

The ensuing centuries after the golden age of Islam saw the rise in power of European nations and then the United States of America, with Western culture and values becoming dominant on the world stage. The dominance of Western powers and ideals led to feelings of resentment among Muslims, many of whom felt oppressed, many of whom lived in poverty, many of whom embraced values at odds with those of a Western culture that they felt had become increasingly materialistic.

Islam is both a faith and a code of conduct for all aspects of life. For many Muslims, a good government would be one guided by the moral principles of their faith. This does not necessarily translate into a desire for clerical rule and the abolition of a secular state. It does mean that some Muslims tend to be uncomfortable with distinctions between religion and state, though Muslim rulers throughout history have readily separated the two. To extremists, such divisions, as well as

Denouncing waywardness among the faithful, some clerics have appealed for a return to observance of the literal teachings of the Qur'an and Hadith. One scholar from the fourteenth century from whom Osama bin Laden quoted, Ibn Taimiyyah, condemned both corrupt rulers and the clerics who failed to criticize them. He urged Muslims to read the Qur'an and the Hadith for themselves, not to depend solely on learned interpreters like himself the existence of parliaments and legislation, only prove these rulers to be false Muslims usurping God's authority over all aspects of life. Periodically, the Islamic world has seen surges of what is often labeled "fundamentalism."

but to hold one another to account for the quality of their observance.

The Islamist extremist version of history blames the decline from Islam's golden age on the rulers and people who turned away from the true path of their religion, thereby leaving Islam vulnerable to encroaching foreign powers eager to steal their land, wealth, and even their souls.

A Declaration of War by al Qaeda

In February 1998, the 40-year-old Saudi exile Osama bin Laden and a fugitive Egyptian physician, Ayman al-Zawahiri, arranged from their Afghan headquarters of al Qaeda for an Arabic newspaper in London to publish what they termed a fatwa issued in the name of a "World Islamic Front." A fatwa is normally an interpretation of Islamic law by a respected Islamic authority. Neither bin Laden, Zawahiri, nor the three others who signed this statement were scholars of Islamic law. Claiming that America had declared war against God and his messenger, they called for the murder of any American, anywhere on earth, as the "individual duty for every Muslim who can do it in any country in which it is possible to do it."

Three months later, when interviewed in Afghanistan by ABC-TV, bin Laden enlarged on these themes. He claimed it was more important for Muslims to kill Americans than to kill other infidels. "It is far better for anyone to kill a single American soldier than to squander his efforts on other activities," he said. Asked whether he approved of terrorism and of attacks on civilians, he replied: "We believe that the worst thieves in the world today and the worst terrorists are the Americans. Nothing could stop you except perhaps retaliation in kind. We do not have to differentiate between military or civilian. As far as we are concerned, they are all targets."

How did bin Laden – with his call for the indiscriminate killing of Americans – win thousands of followers and some degree of approval from millions more? The history, culture, and body of beliefs from which bin Laden has shaped and spread his message are largely unknown to many Americans. Seizing on symbols of Islam's past greatness, he promised to restore pride to people who consider themselves the victims of successive foreign masters. He used cultural and religious allusions to the holy Qur'an ists who blame the eventual destruction of the Caliphate on leaders who abandoned the pure path of religious devotion. He repeatedly called on his followers to embrace martyrdom since "the walls of oppression and humiliation cannot be demolished except in a rain of bullets." For those yearning for a lost sense of order in an older, more tranquil world, he offered his "Caliphate" as an imagined alternative to today's uncertainty. For others, he offered simplistic conspiracies to explain their world.

Bin Laden also relied heavily on the Egyptian writer Sayyid Qutb, a member of the Muslim Brotherhood executed in 1966 on charges of attempting to overthrow the government. Qutb mixed Islamic scholarship with a very superficial acquaintance with Western history and thought. Sent by the Egyptian government to study in the United States in the late 1940s, Qutb returned with an enormous loathing of Western society and history. He dismissed Western achievements as entirely material, arguing that Western society possesses "nothing that will satisfy its own conscience and justify its existence."

and some of its interpreters. He appealed to people disoriented by enormous change as they confront modernity and globalization. His rhetoric selectively drew from multiple sources and centers on recurrent themes – Islam, history, and the region's political and economic malaise. He also stressed several grievances against the United States throughout some segments of the Muslim world. He inveighed against the presence of U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia, the home of Islam's holiest sites. He spoke of the suffering of the Iraqi people as a result of sanctions imposed after the Gulf War, and he protested U.S. support of Israel.

Despite his claims to universal leadership, bin Laden offered an Islamic history designed to appeal mainly to Arabs and Sunnis. He drew on fundamental-

Many Americans have wondered, "Why do 'they' hate us?" Some also ask, "What can we do to stop these attacks?"

Bin Laden and al Qaeda have given answers to both these questions. To the first, they say that America had attacked Islam; America is responsible for all conflicts involving Muslims. Thus Americans are blamed when Israelis fight with Palestinians, when Russians fight with Chechens, when Indians fight with Kashmiri Muslims, and when the Philippine government fights ethnic Muslims in its southern islands. America is also held responsible for the governments of Muslim countries, Bin Laden stated flatly, "Our fight against these governments is not separate from our fight against you." These charges found a ready audience among millions of Arabs and Muslims angry at the United States because of issues ranging from Iraq to Palestine to America's support for their countries' repressive rulers.

Bin Laden's grievance with the United States may have started in reaction to specific U.S. policies but it quickly became far deeper. To the second question, what America could do, al Qaeda's answer was that America should abandon the Middle East, convert to Islam, and end the immorality and godlessness of its society and culture: "It is saddening to tell you that you are the worst civilization witnessed by the history of mankind." If the United States did not comply, it would be at war with the Islamic nation, a nation that al Qaeda's leaders said "desires death more than you desire life."

9/11 NATIONAL DAY OF SERVICE AND REMEMBRANCE

MyGoodDeed, which represents the interests of many 9/11 organizations, was the first group to formally call for September 11 to be designated as a federally-recognized National Day of Service and Remembrance. Progress was made early when, in 2002, President George W. Bush declared September 11 "Patriot Day" to honor both the victims and heroes of the September 11 attacks, and highlighted the spirit of service by launching USA Freedom Corps. In 2004, Congress unanimously passed H. Con. Res. 473, expressing the sense of Congress that September 11 should be a national day of service and compassion. In 2008 President Bush amended the Patriot Day proclamation to specifically include "volunteering" as an appropriate form of remembrance. In 2009, Congress, in a bi-partisan, bi-cameral action, passed the Edward M. Kennedy Serve America Act, which for the first time authorized the President of the United States to formally designate 9/11 as a National Day of Service and Remembrance. On September 11, 2009 President Obama amended the Patriot Day proclamation to officially and permanently make 9/11 a National Day of Service and Remembrance, as requested by Congress and the 9/11 community. ## 9/11 MEMORIAL

LADY LIBERTY HISTORY:

"Lady Liberty" is a remarkable and inspiring example of collective, creative response to 9/11. Shortly after September 11, 2001, a fiberglass replica of the Statue of Liberty was placed outside of a New York City firehouse that lost 15 men at the World Trade Center. Quickly and spontaneously, the statue became adorned with tribute items - mass cards, condolence notes, badges, hand-made tribute art, and many other items. Covered head to toe, the statue exemplifies a form of artistic response to tragedy that contributes to healing while building a sense of community.

detonated approximately 1,200 pounds of explosives in a rental van in the underground parking garage at the World Trade Center (WTC), below the Vista Hotel (3 WTC). The terrorists fled the area after setting the bomb to explode. The explosion created a five-story crater in the sub-grade levels of the towers and undermined the floor of the adjoining hotel.

The terrorist attack on the WTC killed six people: four members of the Port Authority's World Trade Department, a Windows on the World employee; and a visitor to the complex. Over a thousand people were injured, including 88 firefighters, 35 police officers, and one EMS worker.

1998 Bombings of the U.S. Embassies in Kenya and Tanzania

On the morning of August 7 bomb-laden trucks drove into the U.S. Embassies – about 10:30 a.m. in Nairobi, Kenya and 10:39 a.m. in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania.

The attack on the U.S. Embassy in Nairobi destroyed the Embassy and killed 12 Americans and 201 others, almost all Kenyans. Over 4,000 people were injured. The attack on the U.S. Embassy in Dar es Salaam killed 11 more people, none of them Americans.

Interviewed later about the deaths of the Africans, bin Laden answered "when it becomes apparent that it would be impossible to repel these Americans without assaulting them, even if this involved the killing of Muslims, this is permissible under Islam." Asked if he had indeed masterminded these bombings, bin Laden said that the World Islamic Front for jihad against "Jews and Crusaders" had issued a "crystal clear" fatwa. If the instigation for jihad against the Jews and the Americans to liberate the holy places "is considered a crime," he said, "let history be a witness that I am a criminal."

2000, U.S.S. Cole

On Thursday, October 12, 2000, while refueling at a port in Aden, Yemen, the U.S. Navy destroyer Cole was attacked by two suicide bombers navigating a small motorboat full of explosives. The explosion occurred around 11:18 a.m. local time, killing 17 crewmembers and wounding 39 others.

Witnesses later said the boat, which sidled up along the ship's port side, came so close prior to the explosion that sailors aboard the USS Cole exchanged greetings with the two suicide bombers, who stood at attention just before the explosives detonated. The explosion occurred as crewmembers had begun lining up for lunch in the galley, and blew a hole 40 feet wide in the side of the ship. The blast was likely caused, CIA officials believe, by a "shape charge," explosives molded into the hull of the boat.

How-To Guide for Schools: Commemorating September 11, 2001

The tragic events of September 11, 2001 changed the U.S., and the world, forever. For those who were old enough to watch those events unfold, that day and the aftermath of the attacks has left an indelible mark. For those too young to remember, the legacy of 9/11 shapes their lives as a central event in history.

Many schools will want to commemorate the 10th Anniversary of September 11, 2001 and find ways to honor and remember those who lost their lives. HISTORY offers this guide to provide suggestions for 9/11 activities and commemorations.

ALL SCHOOL ACTIVITIES:

1. Organize an all-school assembly with simple readings or announcements about why we should remember 9/11 and those who lost their lives. Since September 11th falls on a Sunday, schools may want to organize these assemblies on Friday, September 9th or Monday, September 12th.
2. Many communities were affected by 9/11 and lost family and friends in this tragedy. If any children at your school lost family members or friends, dedicate a memorial or plant a tree to honor those who were lost.
3. Many brave Americans – from firefighters to police to everyday citizens – courageously helped others on 9/11 and in the aftermath of the attacks. Schools may want to establish a "Community Spirit Award" to honor those in your community who have contributed to making your school a better place. These awards can be offered in honor of the outpouring of sacrifice and generosity after 9/11 that so many Americans remember.
4. Collect small contributions for the National September 11 Memorial & Museum, the Flight 93 National Memorial, the National 9/11 Pentagon Memorial, or another 9/11 Memorial of your choice.
5. Another way to honor the memory of 9/11 is for students to donate time through service projects. Visit Service Nation or Operation Honor Cards to get started, or organize a service project at your school or nearby.

CLASSROOM ACTIVITIES:

1. In classroom time, have students review a timeline of what occurred on September 11, 2001. Review on a map where and when the 9/11 attacks took place. Advanced high school and college students can also review the 9/11 Commission Report.

2. Have students take time for a free-writing exercise about what they remember about 9/11/2001, or what they have learned about that day from others. Have students share these writings, if they feel comfortable, in a larger class or group.
3. Creative projects can be an effective way for students to work through their emotions about difficult topics such as 9/11. Working in small groups, have students design a mural or poster about 9/11 and what it means to them. Students may also want to design their own 9/11 memorial.
4. Have students locate newspaper articles published in the days after 9/11 online or at the library and create a 9/11 scrapbook or notebook. The New York State Archives 9/11 Memory & History site has great tips for preserving related items: www.nyshrab.org/memory/index.shtml
5. Middle school and high school students can play a role in preserving the history of 9/11 by interviewing community members about their memories of what happened that day. You may want to link with a local history museum or historic society to organize a 9/11 oral history project.

HISTORY: Documenting 9/11

HISTORY has produced several important specials that capture the experiences of those who lived through 9/11. These programs also give context for the timeline of events and insight gathered in the aftermath. Access classroom guides to many of these programs at: www.history.com/classroom.
