Athletic Assoc. proposes new baseball diamond in Kiwanis Park

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@kewaskumstatesman.com

Kewaskum Athletic Association Vice President Chad Cook presented plans at Monday evening's Village Board meeting for a new baseball diamond at Kiwanis Park. Village staff will now look into how park impact fees can be used to help fund the project that could begin as early as this fall.

Plans call for the diamond to be constructed in the northeast corner of Kiwanis Park, north of the horseshoe pits and tennis courts and east of the lighted diamond and concession stand. Cook explained the site was chosen because it is five acres of the park that are underutilized. The area is partially wooded and has an existing t-ball diamond.

Cook stated the association needs this field because of anticipated growth in their various sports program needs. This past season the association had 14 t-ball/rubber-ball teams, 18 boys hardball and girls fast pitch and nine mens softball teams.

Total cost of the diamond is estimated at $125,000. This includes permits, excavating, fencing, outfield, infield, lighting and a donated scoreboard from Ben Derge Memorial Run/Walk/Bike. A professional field designer would be utilized so the field would drain properly.

Village President Andy Pesch asked how the association planned to deal with traffic and parking problems on Thursday evenings and if more traffic would be generated by the project. Cook stated the problem may be alleviated with the additional field because it would broaden the mens night schedule.

Trustee Craig Garbisch asked if

School board to revisit 4K paraprofessionals

By Mitch Maersch
Statesman Correspondent

So many people complained to the School Board on Monday about the limitations of paraprofessionals in the classroom, namely in 4-year-old kindergarten, the item was added to a special meeting agenda scheduled for Wednesday.

Several 4K teachers told the board possible horror stories of what can happen without the help of paraprofessionals in their rooms, and some near close calls already.

Kewaskum Elementary 4K teacher Grace Wright said she only found out she was losing her paraprofessional on Aug. 17. While some paraprofessionals are still in some rooms, they are relegated to helping special education students only and will often take those students out of class to work with them.

She said already this year she lost a student when she took her class outside to the track. A high school student found the runaway hiding in a bush.

"When it comes to the children, this becomes a real safety issue," she said.

Coyla Scheel, who worked at KES 14 years and 12 with Wright, agreed.

"If a child has a food allergy - and this is a big one - we need to make sure that snack was out of the backpack and in the classroom with that child's name on," she said.

Scheel said 4-year-olds need help on the playground and with coats, tying shoes and in case the child has an accident in going to the bathroom. Paraprofessionals would clean the child up, put the dirty clothes in a bag take them to the office and call the parents.

Scheel said paraprofessionals also check students for head lice and escort them to the office if they have any.

Without paraprofessionals, 4K teachers can't do those things since they can't leave the rest of their students alone.

4K teacher Cathy Wilson described her "horrible" first day of school without her paraprofessional.

Two students of her went their own way "because they are 4" and one ended up in Wright's room. Two more English Language Learner students who don't speak English ended up in a first-grade classroom and refused to leave. A counselor had to get them out. Eight students wanted to use the bathroom at once, and a principal brought down one student who had an accident.

In walking students around the school, Wilson lost one and didn't know it, until a paraprofessional in special education found the student.

September's Waiting Child

Adoption Resources of Wisconsin

Jadyn

Date of Birth: 1/28/2003

Jadyn is a lively bi-racial (Caucasian and Puerto Rican) 8-year-old girl who is full of spirit, has a huge heart, and is very curious. She loves being around other children, listening to music and playing with sensory toys. She also enjoys watching football and the Backyardigans. She is looking for a family who has experience caring for a child with significant needs.

Jadyn has been diagnosed with hydrocephaly, cortical atrophy, cerebral palsy, and significant developmental delays along with hearing and vision deficits. She also has a tracheotomy tube and uses a ventilator when sleeping. Jadyn does not communicate verbally but she does know some basic sign language to communicate her needs and is very capable of expressing her emotions. Through all these hardships, Jadyn has been making a lot of progress with the support of her foster parents and appropriate services.

Jadyn regularly attends school and receives specialized educational programming, including speech, occupational and physical therapy. Jadyn is also making progress in her self-help skills and can now feed herself with a spoon, walk with a walker, and can sit up on her own. She has the fire inside to succeed and works very hard to overcome obstacles.

Jadyn would benefit from family members who are very flexible and are willing to put their whole hearts into helping her to succeed to her fullest potential. She would do well being an only child or with having other siblings. With a family who is willing to put the time, effort, and love into Jadyn, she can continue to make great progress.

For more information about Jayden or other Wisconsin children waiting for adoptive homes, call Adoption Resources of Wisconsin at 414-475-1246 or 800-762-8063 or visit the website at www.wiadopt.org.

School Board

And four boys accidentally joined the 5-year-old kindergarten line for the bathroom.

Wilson has been with the district for six years.

"I've never had a day like this. I was ready to pull my hair out," she said. "A paraprofessional would have been really nice on the first day."

Lory Olla, a former paraprofessional in Wright's room who now works with 5-year-old kindergarten, described the value paraprofessionals bring given the today's different family structure. One girl whose parents were going through a divorce cried all the time and needed attention outside of class.

"This is an aspect I don't think budget cuts can address," she said.

Karen Paul, a parent of two elementary school children, said she found out at open house that the paraprofessionals were limited to special education only.

"I was shocked to say the least," she said.

Paul said most other districts have paraprofessionals at that age, and she cited the district's surplus from the last fiscal year. It totaled more than $450,000 and was put into the district's fund balance, which sort of operates like a savings account for school districts, usually used to limit cash flow borrowing and for emergencies like boilers going. "The money is there. The need is there," said Paul.

In a later discussion on future agendas, board member Bill Kesting asked to put the item on a future agenda item. Given its immediacy, the board decided to discuss the issue for 30 minutes at 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday before an expulsion hearing at 6 p.m.

Superintendent search begins, sort of

The Kewaskum School District plans on having a full-time superintendent next year, but the process in choosing one has yet to be decided.

On Monday, the board tabled action on whether or not to hire a search firm. Board president Bruce Braidigan suggested using a firm and board member Steve Jensen agreed, adding he would like the board to see four to five candidates.

Board member Tim Ramthun suggested using the WECAN (Wisconsin Education Career Access Network) and another website, which lists openings for free, to search instead of hiring a firm.

"I think there's a way we can do it in-house," he said.

Board member Mary Miller said to try the in-house process first and if it doesn't work to hire a firm.

Jensen questioned the in-house process.

"How are we going to do the vetting when we get 15 to 20 resumes?" he said. "Who would we have in the district to do that?"

Ramthun said in the private sector he has done competency and related tests. He suggested using the district's internal process to hire other administrators and have the full School Board involved.

Board member Troy Hanson reminded the board that interim superintendent David Ewald said the early hires get the best candidates.

Miller suggested having Ramthun start assessing what's out there.

Braidigan suggested sleeping on it and bringing the issue to next month's board meeting.

Ewald addressed the rumors he has heard that the district already has a candidate. He said Karl Hertz, whom the district has worked with in the past in searching for superintendents, is not a candidate. He said Hertz is focusing more on his job of mayor and lessening his work with school districts.

Hertz is village president of Thiensville.

Outsourced cleaning continues

The Kewaskum School Board on Monday voted 5-2 to hire Mid American Building Services to clean Farmington and Wayne elementary schools, replacing for Pro One Janitorial.

Pro One, hired at the start of the 2008-09 school year, said it has had trouble finding workers and cannot fulfill its contract.

The district hiring three janitors working 12 hours at Farmington and four at Wayne would cost the district an estimated $56,400 for wages and benefits, according to business manager Paul Reichert.

Hiring West Allis-based Mid American cost an estimated $46,800 for the 2011-12 school year.

Board member Troy Hanson said it would be worth it to keep the jobs in the community and asked for the board to put the issue on the April agenda.

Board member Tim Ramthun called business manager Paul Reichert's $56,400 figure "inflated" and said the $10,000 difference would be worth it to use workers in the community.

"My opinion is you go with the people you have here," he said.

Board member Mary Miller said she would rather see that money spent in the classroom.

Reichert said the figure was based on $15.58 per hour times 16 hours times 187 days, plus 21 percent for benefits (not health or dental).

Ramthun and Bill Kesting voted no on the motion.

iPads issue idone?

Interim superintendent David Ewald at Monday's board meeting tried to explain the iPad issue that has been smoldering around the community for weeks.

The district had purchased 14 iPads for $8,000. At one point, months ago, board president Bruce Braidigan said to his knowledge the district did not purchase iPads.

A couple of days after that, the district did. But the purchase never reached School Board level.

"It's not the cost. It's that you told us you didn't buy them," said former board member Jim Leister from the audience in the Kewaskum Theatre. "You lied to the community."

A woman in the audience of more than 60 said to the board that Braidigan told the community the district did not buy them.

Ewald said Braidigan was correct at the time he said the district didn't buy them. Ewald was aware of the purchase and said at least one School Board member wanted to try it out.

"It certainly didn't catch me as something being outrageous or foolish," he said.

Ewald called on the Policy Committee to figure out what went wrong in the process of those types of purchases.

"It happened. We will learn from it," he said.

Food in focus:

Board member Steve Jensen said the district is forming a food service focus group, "kind of a listening session," after he heard complaints at Monday's Finance Committee meeting about the new food service company the district hired this year, A'viands of Roseville, Minn.

Board president Bruce Braidigan appointed former School Board member Jim Leister to head the group, after Leister volunteered from the audience in the Kewaskum Theatre. The board meeting was moved there from the library due to high attendance, more than 60.

Weather Net update:

The Fox 6 Weather Net that former School Board member Neal Weare claimed was approved for purchase by the board, and that board member Steve Jensen disputed, was actually part of a referendum several years ago.

As part of the technology portion of the last referendum, Jane Lazarevic told the School Board a science teacher requested the Weather Net. Its purchase was put into the fourth year of the referendum.

By that fourth year, that teacher had retired and the new science department re-evaluated Weather Net and decided to spend the money on something else. Netbooks, a cart and a printer were purchased with the $12,000.

Board member Tim Ramthun said the person who came to the board with the concern (Neal Weare, though he didn't say his name) was right. Ramthun then asked if that money should have gone back into a pool to be spent with board approval.

Business manager Paul Reichert said though Weather Net was on the list of purchases originally, "plans change over time." He said Weather Net was not specifically part of the referendum (not listed on the ballot, though "technology" was), and purchases throughout the years changed.

high school teams could use utilize the field and Cook stated girls' fast pitch could use it but it would not be adequate for high school hard ball.

The construction of the diamond relies heavily on the use of park impact fees the village has charged developers and homeowners constructing new homes in the village over the last decade. Without the use of impact fees the project couldn't move forward Cook told the board.

Trustee Kevin Scheunemann was excited to see the plan utilized the fees that could ultimately be returned to developers if not used soon. According to his calculations, the village had $106,000 in park impact fees.

Director of Public Works Jerry Gilles reminded Cook and Trustees the impact fees center around neighborhood parks. When the village began charging the fees they needed to document a plan directing what the funds would be used for. He believed the village's documentation would need to be revised.

Cook agreed but stated there is also documentation specifying new baseball fields in those neighborhood parks.

Revising the plans would come at a cost, however Village Administrator Matt Heiser stated village staff would do what they could in-house and then work with Village Engineering firm Ruekert Miekele who devised the initial impact fee plan.

In addition to revising the plans the village will need to document that the new diamond is needed because of increased use by the residents who paid the fees.

Jim Murray who lives next to the proposed diamond, is the current secretary of the Athletic Association and a coach, voiced his conflicted concerns over the construction. He explained the lights at the diamond would be pointed directly at homeowners living next to the Kiwanis Park Pool on Washington Avenue. He also had concern over property values in the area of the proposed diamond, namely himself and his neighbors. "I can't see this having a positive affect (on property values) as it (the proposed diamond) gets closer. Lastly, he didn't think Cook's plan to broaden the Thursday evening men's schedule would correct the Thursday parking and traffic issues.

Murray went on and explained he is in a hard spot, "As a board, (the Athletic Association) we need this field." He also asked if the school district would be approached to help fund the project. However, he did not receive any answers to his queries.

Scheunemann motioned to go ahead with the project using as much impact fee money as possible Garbisch seconded. All Trustees approved the idea with Mike Berger voting against the proposal.

Haitian dancers to perform September 21 at KHS Theatre

On Wednesday, September 21, 2011, a group of eight young men and boys will be performing in the Kewaskum Theatre at 7:00 p.m.

This community performance will include dancing, drumming and drama. All funds raised at this performance will be used to help rebuild the two St. Joseph Family facilities in Haiti that were destroyed in the 2010 earthquake.

Tickets for the performance at the Kewaskum High School Theatre are $10.00 and will be sold at the door. Take some time out of your busy schedule and come enjoy an entertaining and educational evening, while at the same time helping others in need.

Letter to the Editor

Letter to the Editor and the Kewaskum School District Community:

Why is it so difficult to get a response from District Administration? On August 23, 2011, I submitted a four-question email to the Business Manager (Mr. Reichert) and Interim Superintendent (Mr. Ewald). The Board was copied as a courtesy. To date, I have not received an expected response from either Mr. Reichert or Mr. Ewald. Instead, I received comments from Mr. Jensen on why tax payers should pay for KSD staff to receive college credit reimbursement. He failed however to indicate how much that costs. Ms. Sue Miller commented in this same email feed, but she addressed my 9-1-11 letter to the editor, totally unrelated to the current questions. It is quite evident Administration and some board members will not answer finance questions directly, skirt issues, or just plain ignore questions asked, perhaps in hopes the question or the requestor will go away. There are two board members trying to keep the community informed, Mr. Ramthun and Mr. Hanson, and I commend them for doing their job! Previous expressions indicate they are also having similar issues getting questions answered. Why is this? A non-response only raises more questions! Why the secretiveness?

At the August 8 Board meeting, Mr. Braidigan stated he was tired of the emails, Letters to the Editor, etc. as they were seemingly portraying certain Board and Administration members in a bad image. Frankly Mr. Braidigan, so am I. If questions of concern and interest were answered timely, there would be no need for emails, etc. If there is a perceived negative image of some Board members, it is not being caused by other Board members!

The four (unanswered) questions are:

1. When the "2011-2012 Working Budget" is finalized, will a detailed line item version be online for public viewing? By "detailed" I mean a version where the public can see exactly how much is being spent on individual items and not just lumped into funds.

2. When viewing the "object definitions" in the Working Budget, I came across #291 - College Credit Reimbursement. Is this referring to the Kewaskum University? This item needs to be eliminated from the budget as tax payers should not be expected to pay for credits/degrees, especially without stipulations! Just what is the cost of this reimbursement program?

3. When perusing Board Policies 100-800 there are line item listings under each. However, I see no listings under the 900 series.

4. What is the time frame for listing "Board minutes" online? To date, there are no minutes listed for the August 8, 2011 board meeting (although it states this page was updated 9/7/11).

Respectfully submitted,
Grace Mueller

Dear Editor

As school starts this year like every year, it gives parents an opportunity to meet new teachers and talk with familiar faces. No matter which faculty member you speak with, the concerns from the teachers are overwhelming about lack of leadership and communications.

One of the main concerns is the superintendent's position. We have been told countless times that the public will be a part of the process along with our teaching staff. We hear nothing about candidates or the process in place to select the right candidate. We do know for a fact from our school board president, Bruce Braidigan that we are paying Anne Ignatowski, her salary plus the cost of obtaining a superintendent's certification.

So the question is: If this person hasn't been chosen for this position, why are we paying for it? And if she has been chosen, why haven't we been told?

God Bless & Go Indians!

Boehlke shares experiences in Big Apple

Andrea Boehlke

By Mitch Maersch
Statesman Correspondent

Life has changed dramatically for that theater major from a farm following that popular reality TV show.

Andrea Boehlke of "Survivor" fame now lives in New York City, has an agent and is getting auditions for commercials and TV shows.

She moved to the Big Apple not long before it felt the effects of an earthquake, then a hurricane and then commemorated the 10th anniversary of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks.

Boehlke works as a hostess at the Standard Grill.

"It is pretty fancy and trendy in the meatpacking district. I see a lot of celebrities there actually!" she emailed from her new home.

The list so far includes Lucy Liu, Glenn Close, the cast of True Blood, Tyra Banks, Phillip Seymour Hoffman, as well as famous fashion people, photographers and models.

"Actually, today I sat Justin Timberlake. We had a conversation about the menus and seating. The best part though was while Justin Timberlake was in the restaurant a little girl actually came up to ME and asked for MY autograph. How crazy is that?!" she said on Monday. "I get recognized every once in a while in NYC - not as often as in Wisconsin, but every few days."

Work was a little different on Sunday. Boehlke said she would have rather gone to Ground Zero.

"Work on 9-11 was very slow - people didn't seem to want to go out to eat," she said. "New Yorkers were definitely remembering the day 10 years ago because everywhere you went people were talking about it, there were posters and flyers. I wish I could have attended some events. There were a lot of police men in the subways."

Life in Queens "feels like night and day moving from my family home in the Boltonville/Silver Creek area," she said.

"I went from farm girl to city girl. However, I did have a bit of a transitional college life, so it's less obnoxious of a change than you would think. I went to UW-Stevens Point for theater and lived with college friends in that city, so I'm not completely new to living next to people who aren't your cousins," she said.

Boehlke has found the cliché about Midwesterners to ring true.

"People from Wisconsin are so nice, so welcoming and so accepting! There are also just oodles and oodles of people out here. The first week I was here I was smiling at everyone and talking to strangers left and right," she said. "However, that is completely exhausting and pointless! You see people you will literally never see again. In Wisconsin I wave at random people when I walk down my road (chances are I probably know them or they work for my dad, but still). If you wave or smile at a stranger in New York City, they either think you're weird, didn't see it because they were looking down or on their phone, or they ignore it. I've had people come up to me and say, 'You're not from here, are you? You smile too much to be from New York!'"

But Boehlke has found her fair share of friendly people.

"I think my favorite part is that you can meet people of every ethnicity, age, culture, religion and profession anywhere you go. I meet new people on the subway every day," she said. "Or if I don't meet people, the people watching can keep you occupied for days straight. There are such interesting people in this city! Business men and women, divas, celebrities, crazy people, homeless, kids that are way too young to have cell phones, Irish musicians, you name it - NYC has it."

Boehlke did battle homesickness a little last week, but she is still happy to be where she is.

"Even if nothing happens career-wise, it's an adventure, a learning experience, something I'd definitely regret if I didn't make the move. I know Wisconsin is always ready to have me back when I'm ready," she said.

On top of her missing list are her relatives.

"I miss my family and watching my little sisters grow up," she said. "I clearly missed a good time when Ralph Kiser visited our farm!"

And then there's the cost of living difference.

"I miss $3 drinks! Drinks cost a fortune out here - I spent $22 on a drink once because I didn't ask the price before hand. That drink was a measly rum and Coke!" she said. "It would cost me maybe $5 or $6 at the places I go back home!"

Boehlke is actually growing fonder of her home now more than she had before.

"I miss the farm and the country. I try to spend a lot of time in the parks up here," she said. "It just makes me appreciate where I come from much more. If I leave NYC with nothing but a greater appreciation and love of my hometown and area in Wisconsin, I feel like it was worth it. My state pride has grown exponentially and I'm not even there! Yet, I'm not bashing New York at all—because it's great out here too, just different."

Things may be picking up career-wise, namely auditions.

"I had a few since living here: a few commercial auditions, an audition for 'Gossip Girl' and one for 'The Good Wife.' Fall is when auditions are supposed to pick up, so hopefully that means I'll be getting more," she said.

She has landed a foot in the acting door.

"I'm an assistant to Tom Waites; Tom is an actor/director in the city, and I met him through Vincent Pastore (from 'The Sopranos' and currently on 'Famous Foods') who I met at a charity event through 'Survivor.' (the same charity event I went to a casino with Eddie Haskell from 'Leave it To Beaver!') Also, Vincent Pastore is starting up his own theater company, which has had two meetings so far. I have been invited to both of them, but haven't been able to make them yet."

And "Survivor" still carries on. Boehlke is paid to do a bi-weekly podcast for a website call SuperPass.

"Basically, I'm giving my thoughts on this next season, Season 23: 'Survivor South Pacific.' I will also be doing 'Survivor' power picks every week with a site called Xfinity and I'm the first guest on Rob Cesternino's Rob Has a Podcast (it's pretty cool to be chosen for his podcast in the Survivor world)," she said.

Queens missed the brunt of the hurricane, but Boehlke took advantage of the situation.

"I did, however, use it as an excuse to stock up on extra groceries. I didn't have to go into work, but all in all it really wasn't as bad as people were making it out to be. However, I know in some areas it was a lot worse and there was definitely some flooding. All I experienced was a bit of rain," she said.

For more information on Boehlke, she suggests following her on Twitter @andreaboehlke or adding her as a friend on Facebook, "even though I'm reaching my limit of friends on both accounts."

"Once I get a new project I am thinking about starting my own site and/or blog, but I'm going to wait until my next 'big project,'" she said.

Regal Ware to celebrate 100 Years of USA manufacturing at the 'Celebration of a Century!'

Celebrating 100 years of manufacturing high-quality cookware in the United States is a noteworthy event in these days of challenging economics and increasing trade deficits. Doing so with 80% of the workforce being employed for 25 years or more is nearly unheard of.

Regal Ware, a privately-held family-run company based in Kewaskum and West Bend, Wisconsin, will be doing just that when they hold their "Celebration of a Century!" on Saturday, September 24 at their manufacturing facility in West Bend.

Regal Ware has been crafting high quality stainless steel cookware and cast aluminum cookware in the United States since the founding of its West Bend Cookware Division in 1911. Both the "Regal Ware" and "West Bend" brand names can be found in homes throughout the world. Once thorough competitors, Regal Ware acquired the assets of the West Bend Company in 2002. As a result, Regal Ware's manufacturing history now dates back 100 years. Located just 10 miles apart in rural southeastern Wisconsin, the two manufacturing plants have been drawing on the craftsmanship and expertise of the local community for generations.

In fact, words like "generations" and "family" are central to the company. President and CEO Jeff Reigle is the third generation of the Reigle family to lead Regal Ware. His sons Matthew and Ryan are both engaged in sales positions with the company; his father, James, is Chairman of the Board, and Jeff's brother, Doug, serves as COO.

But family involvement does not stop there. Among the 400 current employees there are 22 married couples; two sets of twins; and at least six families have moms and dads, sons and daughters currently employed; and many more current employees represent the second, third, and even fourth generation of their families to be employed by the company. With more than 80% of the current workforce being part of the company for 25 years or more, Regal Ware is certainly one-of-a-kind in today's USA manufacturing environment.

The unique character of the company has helped Regal Ware to rise to both national and international prominence. Regal Ware products can be found in more than 80 countries around the world.

About Regal Ware Worldwide: Regal Ware is the premier manufacturer of high quality stainless steel cookware in the United States. Regal Ware's core values of integrity, dedication, performance and pride define the company, its innovative engineering and legacy of quality manufacturing that dates back to 1911.

Regal Ware was recently named among the Top 100 Direct Selling Companies in the World; and in 2010 received the Direct Selling Association's Century Award in recognition of 100 years of manufacturing high quality cookware. Regal Ware was also named the 2010-2011 Business of the Year- large employer category by the West Bend Area Chamber of Commerce. Businesses were evaluated based on stability and growth, economic vitality, customer and client service, employee and volunteer relationships, and community leadership.

In response to recent trends, Regal Ware is committed to bringing people back to the table, and is doing so through consumer initiatives and product offerings that make cooking easier and more enjoyable. Regal Ware products include stainless steel and cast aluminum cookware available through both the direct selling and retail sales channels; and drinking water treatment systems for the home. For more information visit www.regalware.com; and view our corporate video at <http://www.regalware.com/our-company/corporate-video>.

Regal Ware will be hosting factory tours for the general public as part of their "Celebration of a Century!" on Saturday, September 24 at the Regal Ware manufacturing facility in West Bend, in recognition of 100 years of manufacturing with its West Bend Cookware division. Regal Ware acquired the assets of The West Bend Company in 2002.

Cedar Valley Center and Spa Hosts Papermaking – "Cast Molding" Class

Join in at Cedar Valley Center and Spa, 5349 County Road D in West Bend, on Saturday, Oct. 8 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. for Papermaking – "Cast Molding" with local paper artist Greg Grummer. The cost for the class is $15 and includes all supplies and a casting mold to take home.

Learn how to turn old envelopes, newspapers, grocery bags, microwave popcorn bags and more into beautiful handmade paper. This hands-on class will also show you how to incorporate cast molding into your finished product. Grummer will begin with a demonstration, followed by students making their own paper and greeting cards with casting molds.

Grummer has been making paper for Arnold Grummer's since 1985. He has taught papermaking in schools and art stores, and sells his own handmade greeting cards.

Space is limited. Advance registration is required. Extend your stay and enjoy an overnight escape and/or spa services. (Must be scheduled in advance.) For more information or to register for the event, visit cedarvalleycenter.org, call 262.629.9202 or email cvinfo@cedarcommunity.org.

UW-WC Lecture Series Focuses on China

Focus on China is the topic for six Wednesday evening lectures planned at UW-Washington County this fall. The Community Lecture Series begins Wednesday, September 28 at 6:30pm with a lecture by Dr. Gilles Bousquet, Dean of International Studies at UW-Madison. Dr. Bousquet will speak on the Significance of Education in China and offer a comparison of the educational structure in China versus the United States.

All of the fall lectures are on Wednesday evenings in room 305 and are approximately one hour in length, followed by question and answer. Admission is free and no reservations are needed. The popular lecture series welcomes area adults as well as high school and college students.

The first lecture in the series is presented by The Friends of Matt Zillig and includes a social afterwards with Chinese food samples and a beautiful Chinese artwork display in the gallery and glass display cases. The artwork in the gallery (a collection of hand-painted scrolls) is on loan from John Rohrer of Manitowoc while the artwork in the cases is from the travels of MariSue Zillig (Matt's widow).

The remaining lectures in the series include:

October 5: Chinese Medicine, with speaker Dr. Chuan Liu of the Midwest Alternative Medicine Clinic in Milwaukee. Discussion of the history of traditional Chinese medicine and alternative healing methods.

October 12: The Chinese Writing System with speaker Dr. Yea-Fen Chen of UW-Milwaukee's Department of Linguistics. Discussion of the evolution of Chinese characters and the beauty of Chinese calligraphy.

October 19: What If China Doesn't Democratize with speaker Dr. Edward Friedman of UW-Madison's Political Science Department. Dr. Friedman will discuss the implications for war and peace.

October 26: Outsourcing to China with a panel discussion that will feature several business owners and a representative from the Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation.

November 2: Chinese Philosophy and Tai Chi with speaker Dr. Mark Peterson of UW-Washington County's Philosophy Department. Dr. Peterson will enlighten the audience with a discussion of Chinese philosophy and a demonstration of tai chi and qigong.

The purpose of the lecture series is to provide fundamental information and a better understanding of a topic, which is chosen each year by the UW-WC Lectures Committee. Members of the Lectures Committee for the 2010/11 series included Sue Bausch (University Relations), Dr. Talitha Selby (Chemistry), Dr. Chris Hays (Anthropology), Dr. Tait Szabo (Philosophy), Dan Anhalt (Continuing Education), Dr. Don Muth (community representative) and SGA student representatives, Peter Nennig and Paula Doehrmann.

UW-Washington County is located at 400 University Drive in West Bend. Use the main entrance and follow the interior directional signs. Free parking is available.

UW-FdL to offer Nursing Assistant course

The University of Wisconsin-Fond du Lac and Clarity Care are offering a three-credit course this fall to prepare students to take the Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) exam and earn a CNA designation.

The classroom component is five weeks long and meets Oct. 27-Dec. 1, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, 5-9 p.m. The clinical component is two weeks long and meets Dec. 5-15, Monday through Thursday nights, 4:15-9:45 p.m.

Both the course and clinical component will be provided by Clarity Care instructors. The deadline for individuals to sign up for the course and be eligible for financial aid is Sept. 19.

This course includes classroom, lab practice and clinical experience. Many nursing programs require students to have completed a nursing assistant course with clinical component and have a current CNA certificate at time of application.

In this course (HES 150) students will learn the principles and skills necessary to provide quality resident care. These skills and concepts may be applied in various healthcare settings including nursing homes, home health agencies, assisted living facilities and hospitals. Students will learn what is necessary to be a competent and compassionate caregiver.

All students must meet with Continuing Education Director Leanne Doyle no later than Oct. 13 to review course materials and attendance policy. To schedule an appointment call (920) 929-1153 or e-mail leanne.doyle@uwc.edu.

Community invited to take part in homecoming festivities

Kewaskum High School is busy preparing for their homecoming festivities and invite the community to take part in the celebration. Events begin Sunday, September 18 and culminate with the dance on Saturday, Sept. 24.

The week starts out with the Powder Puff football game on Sunday. The FFA will offer hayrides starting at 5 p.m. with kickoff of the game at 6 p.m. The Booster Club will have the concession stand open during the game.

On Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. the boys will try their hand at bumping and spiking during a volleyball game in the gymnasium. The traditional bonfire with music will start at 8:30 p.m.

The Homecoming parade will take place on Friday, at 5 p.m. following the traditional route. Any organizations that would like to participate, should contact Jeff Steers at (262) 626-8427 ext. 4608. The Homecoming Tailgate Party will immediately follow the parade at the high school parking lot, along with a car smash sponsored by the FFA. The Indians will meet the Warriors from Waupun for football at 7:00 p.m.

The Homecoming dance will take place on Saturday in the KHS Cafeteria from 8-11 p.m. with the court being presented at 9:00.

2011 Outstanding Service Award winners announced

By CHRISTINE HORBAS

Again this year, the Outstanding Service Award will be given out at Kewaskum's Homecoming Game. Criteria for this award included: longevity of service, impact on kids, and contribution to the District.

Five recipients who have serviced children in the Kewaskum School District will be recognized during the half-time program on Friday, September 23, 2011. Honorees will also have their name, date of induction, and volunteer contributions engraved and placed on the Wall of Outstanding Service that is located in the Kewaskum High School entrance lobby. This updated wall is to be unveiled at a reception honoring this year's recipients just prior to game time.

The 2011 recipients are: Debbie Cotter, David Donath, Leander Kempf, Art Marquardt and Ronald Theusch

The School District hopes you will join them to honor these worthy volunteers. Please plan on attending the 6:00 p.m. reception on September 23rd in the KHS cafeteria and the 7:00 p.m. football game.

KHS construction class looking for projects

The Kewaskum High School construction class is looking for projects to build. If you are interested in a small storage shed or a small custom building (ice shanty, deer blind, playhouse, chicken coop or bus stop) no bigger than 10' x 8', please give Kevin Hein a call at the high school (262 626 8427 extension 4806) or E-mail him at khein@ksd.k12.wi.us.

The only cost to you will be materials and arranging delivery. This is a great way to support our students and at the same time receive a well constructed, high quality building.

GLEN M. EHNERT

Glen M. Ehnert, age 77, of Elm Grove was called home to be with our Lord and Savior on Saturday, September 10, 2011 at Franciscan Woods in Brookfield.

He was born on June 12, 1934 in West Bend to the late Glenway and Malinda (nee Quandt) Ehnert. Glen was raised on the family farm in New Fane. He graduated from West Bend High School and later from Valparaiso University where he earned his masters in aeronautical engineering. Glen worked for North American Aviation for many years before changing careers and working for various companies as a mechanical engineer. During that time Glen also enjoyed operating a side business as a professional photographer.

Glen loved to fly airplanes and was a former member of the EAA Experimental Aircraft Association. He was also a former member of a barbershop quartet and current member of the Dairy Land Theater Organ Society, the Wisconsin All-Users Computer Club, and the Vagabond Social Club. Glen was very interested in politics and religion. He loved ballroom and Polka dancing and enjoyed making home made wine. Glen will be remembered by his family and friends as being a kind and courteous man who was always willing to lend a helping hand.

Glen is survived by his special friend of 10 years, Marge Ekstowicz of Brookfield; nine cousins, Byrdell (Ivan) Schulz of Campbellsport, Val Rae Wettstin of California, Pat Collins of West Bend, Delmar (Maria) Ehnert of Florida, Sandy (Jon) Hilton of California, Richard (Joan) Ehnert of Campbellsport, Barbara (Homer) Justman of West Bend, Cheryl (Harry) Beall of New Fane, and Pamela (Dennis) Jacak of New Fane; and many other dear relatives and close friends.

Funeral services in honor of Glen will be held on Friday, September 16th at 11:00 am at the Myrhum-Patten Funeral Home in West Bend. Burial will follow in Washington County Memorial Park. Visitation will be at the funeral home on Thursday, September 15th from 5:00 pm until 8:00 pm and again on Friday from 10:00 am until the time of service.

Memorials to the family are greatly appreciated.

Myrhum-Patten Funeral & Cremation Service of West Bend is assisting the family.

IN MEMORY

In memory of JUDY DREHER, who passed away one year ago, September 18, 2010.

As sadness still overcomes me,
Tears in silence often flow.
Memory keeps you ever near
to me,
Though you died one year ago.
Loving thoughts of you my
dear,
Are treasured still with love sincere.

In my heart you are living yet,
I loved you too dearly to ever forget.

*Sadly missed,
Floyd "Fuzzy" Dreher
& family*

IN MEMORY

In memory of JOHN 'JACK' ZALEWSKI, who passed away one year ago, September 16, 2010.

We sat beside your bedside, our hearts were crushed and sore;
we did our best to the end,
'til we could do no more.

In tears we watched you sinking,
we watched you fade away,
and though our hearts were breaking,

You left behind some aching hearts,
that loved you most sincere,
but life is but a stopping place, a pause in what's to be, along the road to sweet eternity.

We all have different journeys, different paths along the way, we all were meant to learn
some things,
but never meant to stay.

Our destination is a place far greater than we know, for some the journey's quicker,
for some the journey's slow.

Some may think you are forgotten,
though on earth you are no more,
but in our memory you are
with us,
as you always were before.

Your precious memories are for keepsakes,
with which we never part,
God has you safely in his keeping,
but we have you forever in our hearts.

day and night by

The Kewaskum Village Board was informed Monday night that the village's number two well has been taken out of service because of caking leaks. Village Administrator Dan Schmidt said the well is expected to be down for at least one week while repairs are made.

The Kewaskum Lions Club will be holding their 13th annual chicken bar-b-que on Sunday, August 17, in River Hill Park. In conjunction with the bar-b-que the Lions will sponsor their Kettle 20 foot race. The three runs are the 12.4 mile, 5 mile and 3.5 mile which will begin at 9 am with five divisions for men and three for women. As an added attraction a "White Elephant Auction" will be held at 2 pm. There will also be games, beer and soda and hamburgers served and live music by the Normie Dogs Orchestra.

A new family member is expected to arrive next week on the doorstep of the Arnold and Vivian Hlin Magnusdottir of Iceland will spend the next year attending Kewaskum High School while living with the Stommel family which includes one daughter, Annette.

The annual meeting of the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce was held on July 23 in the community room of the municipal building. New board members are KB Lettering, K & L Hardware and Kennelly Pharmacy. The three remaining members on the board are Gust Insurance, Jaeger Sewing Machine and Honeck Chevrolet. After the meeting lunch was served compliments of Bier's Jewelry.

Robert Schreffler was recently named Kewaskum's Outstanding Young Farmer for 1986 by the Kewaskum Jaycees.

The 1985-86 Kewaskum High School choir with a third place finish in the Six Flags Great America Choral Festival on May 9 and 10. The festival, sponsored by Educational Tour Consultants, featured choruses from Virginia, Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois. Members of the Swing Choir who attended were Kevin Kumrow (drummer), David Prunty, Tom Strigenz, Chris Charland, Ron Theusch, Joel Fleury, Bruce Troeller, Ryan Kerschner, Corey Garbisch, Dennis Johnson, Keith Bartelt, Curt Ayer (bassist), Adrienne Thull, Jackie Schoofs, Carla Anderson, Cheryl Kurtz, Amy Koughl, Michelle Ann Nigh, Beth Bartelt, Leah Kuphal and Candi Goeden. David Bertelsen is the Director.

Champion New Holstein and runnerup Kewaskum dominated the EW All-Conference baseball first and second teams. Kewaskum had two repeaters from the 1985 All-Conference team in catcher Tim Dettmann and standout pitcher Don Menzel. Dettmann, who wound up a close second for the batting title, and third baseman and pitcher Bob Yahr were two of the seven unanimous selections on the first team. Dettmann batted .484 in the conference, right behind Rulseh, of New Holstein, who hit .500. Coach Tom Bartelt said that Dettmann was the best catcher in the league, without a doubt. Although he missed a couple of the early season games with an injury, Menzel had a 6-2 record in the conference and 9-2 overall, with a stellar earned run average of 1.67. Coach Bartelt believes if Menzel would have pitched the whole season, he also would have been a unanimous choice. Yahr also had an excellent season playing at third base and as the number two pitcher. He hit .380 and while pitching had an ERA of 2.49. Kewaskum outfielder Jeff Newhauser and Jack Aupperle were named to the conference second team. Newhauser batted .342 and had 25 hits in 73 trips to the plate. Aupperle hit .337 with 31 hits in 95 at bats. Indians who received honorable mention were shortstop Rick Staehler and outfielder Tim Bingen.

EXTRA!!! BJ & COMPANY WINS 1986 THIEMERDOME CHAMPIONSHIP!! The championship game between BJ & Co. and A&M Construction was a real slugfest with BJ & Co. winning 8-5. The one-man wrecking crew from BJ & Co. fielded "Boomer" Schultz. He fielded flawlessly at shortstop and was sucking up groundballs like a Hoover. He also had two home runs with the second one coming late in the game when the ball was as soft as a bag of rags. BJ's hummer, John Kleinke, contained A&M's mighty Crass brothers hitless for the entire game. Some of John's pitches had so much arch on them that there was moisture on the ball by the time it hit the plate. The final voting for "Player of the Year" is completed and the Dome's in-house IBM computer has spit out the following results: Leon "Boomer" Schultz 6,650,795 votes; Verne "Sno Cone" Ludwig, 6,650,794 votes; Mike "Rags" Pfeiffer, 18 votes; Jeff "Rabbit" Ramel, 3 votes (Peggy, Ruth and Reuben voted). There is still lots of excitement at the Dome this season, as this week is the start of the Round Robin Tournament. ATTENDANCE: 397. LATE EDITION SPECIAL! Thiemerdome management has just announced that it is just entering negotiations with the Chicago Tribune to purchase the contract of Ex Cubbie ball girl Marla Collins. Captain Dick first must clear this trade with the organization's treasurer, Evie Thieme, because for one certainly knows the wrath of a jealous woman. The male fans of the Dome are in hope that the Cap can pull this one off.

A daughter, Kathryn Ann, was born to Bret and Jenny Warner, Campbellsport, on July 27. Paternal grandparents are Roy Warner, Kewaskum, and the late Kathryn Warner. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dreher, Kewaskum. A daughter, Heidi Ann, was born to Harold and Carol Kreif, Campbellsport, on July 24. A daughter, Tara Nicole, was born to Robert and Linda Stahl, Campbellsport, July 25. A daughter was also born to Thomas and Lisa Schulz, Kewaskum, on July 30.

A son Joshua Michael, was born to Ron and Ann Ruplinger, Campbellsport, on July 17. A son, David, was born to Tom and Sherry Caves, Campbellsport, on July 21.

The parish school building on Park View Drive, under construction since last November, will be dedicated at St. Lucas Lutheran Church August 13. Members of the building and planning committee are: Dr. R.G. Edwards, chairman; Ray Schaefer, Max Okrusch, William Guenther and Desmond Smith. Serving on the building fund finance committee are: Clark Werner, chairman; Walter Van Veen, Arnold Butzke, LeRoy Bier and Orval Behnke.

Edward J. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. "Pat" Miller, of Kewaskum, received word from the Wisconsin State Board of Health, advising him that he was successful in the funeral directors' and embalmers' license examinations which were held in Milwaukee on July 25 and 26.

The Kewaskum 4-H'ers are very proud and fortunate to have two of their members representing them at the State Fair August 11-20. Mariel Seefeldt, Kewaskum, was chosen from many applicants to play in the State 4-H Band. Ann Schaefer of Kewaskum won a Blue Ribbon at the Washington County Fair and at the Washington County Fair Dress Revue for the beautiful work she did on her white wool dress. Ann will model the dress at the State Fair.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alois Wiesner, Barton, on August 5. Mr. Wiesner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Wiesner of Kewaskum. Sons were also born to Mr. and Mrs. Jac. Bruesel, Kewaskum on August 7, and to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Backhaus, Route 2, Kewaskum, on August 8.

The monthly meeting of the Northern Kettle Moraine Recreation Association was held at the Everglades in New Prospect on August 14 with about 18 members present. The following membership committee was appointed: Joe Gruber, Fred Ramer, Dick Edwards, Dr. F.E. Nolting and "Cheri" Haushalter. The group wishes to obtain members. All money will go into advertising the Northern Kettle Moraine area. Dues are $12 per year. This is an active and progressive organization for the advancement and betterment of the entire area.

The Wisconsin Gas Company is sponsoring a series of gas equipment installation and service lectures for local appliance dealers and plumbers. The purpose of the meetings is to acquaint the dealers and servicemen with gas equipment regulation and installation methods. Those attending the meetings include E. Jeske, Jack Jadro, Harvey Ramthun and son, Frank Krueger and son, Charles Miller and Frank Felix.

A daughter, Janet Lee, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alton Westover, Gordon, Nebraska, on August 11. Mrs. Westover is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoffman of Kewaskum. A daughter was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hensiak, Kewaskum, on August 11; to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew (Gene) Gruber, Kewaskum, on August 11, and to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dorn, Kewaskum, on August 14.

Sixth, eighth graders win opening Gridiron games

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum Gridiron teams opened the 2011 season last Saturday, posting a 2-2 mark in games played in Kewaskum.

The sixth graders unleashed the most potent offense, resulting in a dominating 25-7 victory over Slinger. On their opening series, the Indians went 55 yards, with Cole Suprenant going the final eight for their first touchdown.

The Indians put 13 points on the board in quarter 2, the first on a 35-yard run by Tony Steger. The extra point came via a Suprenant run. This touchdown was set up by a long punt return by Patrick Krier.

Late in the quarter, Suprenant took a handoff from Gabe Christonson, bowled over two Owl defenders, then out raced every to the end zone for an 80-yard run.

Brandon Heckendorf thwarted a Slinger drive when he intercepted a pass to end the half.

After the break, the coaches started giving second and third string players a chance to play, but after Slinger got its only score, Kewaskum came back with a 51-yard TD pass to Suprenant.

"The offensive line did a wonderful job," coach Joel Tietz said. "Center William Walters did an excellent job." Defensively, Faton Elmazi had eight tackles.

Concerning the great enthusiasm displayed by his players, Tietz aid, "They're ready to go."

The eighth graders led off the day's activities with a 12-6 win. The young Indians put together a pair of long drives for their two scores but both kick attempts were no good.

Early in the second quarter, Kewaskum capped an 60-yard march with a 7-yard pass by Michael Prochnow to Charlie Witek.

The Indians got their other score with 1:43 left in the third quarter when Ben Watzig plowed over the goal line on a short run. This drive covered 80 yards, with Brandon Thull breaking loose for one 40-yard scamper.

The Indians got their other score with 1:43 left in the third quarter when Ben Watzig plowed over the goal line on a short run. This drive covered 80 yards, with Brandon Thull breaking loose for one 40-yard scamper.

"(Josh) Baker had some nice tackles," one coming all the way across the field, according to coach "Jonesy" Korth.

"(Berat) Elmazi played a good game at linebacker. We played a good game defensively," assistant coach Rollie Mall said.

Coach Tommy Kudek's seventh graders started off their game in grand style, with a long scoring drive, but that was the only points they scored in a 12-7 defeat at the hands of Slinger.

Kewaskum scored with 2:03 remaining in the first quarter on a 3-yard run by Michael Boettcher, and they added the extra point on a pass from Dalton Poole to Jacob Heberer.

Slinger came back with a TD on its first drive, then surged into the lead and held on for the win.

"We had a couple long drives, but penalties hurt us," Kudek said. "Too many penalties and too many mistakes."

Kudek said Dalton Espitia had a nice game at right tackle, but beyond that declined to single out any other players.

The fifth graders had to play a team from Brookfield and wound up on the short end of a 27-6 score, and coach Mark Walcheske had trouble finding a lot of bright spots.

"We didn't execute at all, defensively and offensively," Walcheske said, noting the youngest Indians might have been a little too nervous for their very first tackle game.

The Indians were down 21-0 at the half, then got a TD from Ryan Prochnow on a running play.

"We also had an interception in the third quarter," Walcheske said, unsure who caught the ball because the play happened on the other side of the field.

Following the turnover, "We got to the 1-yard line, but couldn't get it in," the coach said. He did cite Jacob Schlosser for some hard running.

KYSO kicks off first season

Saturday September 10th, Kewaskum Youth Soccer Organization (KYSO) hosted Richfield and Hustisford for their first games of the season. Games were played at the Kiwanis Park. KYSO has five teams ranging from U6 to U12. The weather was great and parents and kids enjoyed the morning. Some of the games were very competitive for many of the team's first time playing. As the day went the soccer improved. The U12 team played in Hartford.

Lady Indians sweep Cougars on Parent's Night

The Indians caged the Cougars with a sweep Tuesday evening at home. Libero Kelsey Phillips is shown getting ready to bump the ball during the second match.

Kewaskum's volleyball roll continued Tuesday night against next-door rival Campbellsport.

The Indians swept the Cougars right out of the Fieldhouse, 25-22, 25-21, 25-19, and moved to 5-1 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 10-2 overall. On top of that, it was Parents Night and the fight against breast cancer night, and much of the crowd was in hot pink.

There was no letdown after beating Plymouth on the road last Thursday, a game the Indians circled after losing to the Panthers early in the season.

"We just always come fired up against Campbellsport," said Coach Joe Moser. "I still think we've got a lot more to work on, a lot more to improve and fix and we'll be a tough team."

While it was a sweep, the Indians capitalized on several Cougars' errors, including more than a few rotation violations. Junior middle hitter Anna Aycock said the team sometimes played down to the competition.

"I think we could have played a lot better against them. Hopefully, next time when we play another team at home we'll play a lot better and show them what we can do," she said.

Senior Kayla Bastian led the team with 16 kills, and Whitney Bastian had seven. Junior Kelsey Phillips and Kayla Bastian had eight digs each. Heidi Johnson had 14 assists and Sabrina Boehlke 13.

The Cougars only had two leads all night, both in the third game and short lived. Kewaskum never had huge leads as Campbellsport sometimes fought back to tie or get within a point or two, but the Indians were almost always ahead.

The Cougars cut the Indians' lead to 19-18, 20-19 and 23-22 in game one before Kewaskum closed it out. Kayla Bastian fired a kill from the back row to the back corner for point 24. Phillips ended game one with an ace off a Cougar's leg who presumably wanted to let the ball go.

Four points was the biggest margin in game 2, with Indian leads at 4-0, 10-6, 14-10, 18-14 and 22-18.

Campbellsport closed to 22-20 before a net serve gave the ball to the Indians. Sam Smallish served out the game, using an Aycock block, Becca Fahney kill and Aycock kill for the final three points.

The Cougars took a 5-1 edge in game 3, and Moser was on the verge of calling timeout. He hadn't used one all night.

"I tell my bench I'm going to call timeout if we don't get the next one. And for some reason every time I say that we side out so I don't have to call timeout," Moser said. "So apparently I'm going to have to say that as soon as we lose the ball because it always seems to work. I try not to call too many timeouts. I like to keep the rhythm of the game going."

Campbellsport hit the next ball out, and Aycock promptly served Kewaskum to a 7-6 lead, one it wouldn't relinquish the rest of the match.

Middle hitter Whitney Bastian closed out the game and match on kill that bounced off a Cougar dig attempt and flew out of the court.

"We didn't let up in the third game which we've done in the past. Aside from that early run they had, we brought it back, put on our run and finished all the way to the end," said Moser.

Hot pink was the team color Tuesday as the Indians and their fans participated in the fight against breast cancer, including some otherwise manly football players who reached out and touched the feminine side of their wardrobe. Even socks and tights.

Campbellsport had its own fan base, and midway through the third game an Indian fan began doing pushups every time Kewaskum scored a point. The Cougars' fans answered, and back and forth it went, all in good fun. (Until Friday, of course, when the two football teams will try to destroy each other.) Exercises expanded to various types of pushups - one arm, on a chair, clapping - and crunches and squats.

Even Moser was impressed.

"When you see crowds in the stands like that ... and they're cheering, I thought it was a great, positive atmosphere. I didn't hear a single negative thing all night. I was super pleased with both the Campbellsport fans and our fans," he said.

At Plymouth last week, the Indians won a thriller in game one, 29-27, and then smoked the Panthers, 25-15, 25-16. It was revenge for a four-game loss at a home triangular early in the year.

"Plymouth, we played amazing," said Aycock. "When we played this team (Campbellsport) ... we kind of played down to their level."

But it beats last season when the Indians went 0-for at home and were winless in five, five-game matches.

"I really think that our team this year plays as a group. We all get along. If one person's having a tough time we help them out and we never give up," Aycock said.

The Indians, winners of five in a row, play Saturday at the Slinger Invitational and at Sheboygan Falls next Thursday.

"We had a tough practice yesterday. We've got to work hard again tomorrow because we've got to keep movin' on," said Moser.

Scores come down in match at Watertown

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

After four Wisconsin Little Ten golf matches, the Hartford's Lady Orioles are still perfect. They have finished first in all of the competitions, including the latest, which took place at Watertown Country Club on Sept. 8.

Once again, Watertown battled Hartford for the top spot, but the Orioles finished three shots ahead, 187-190 on the strength of Jordan Kenney's medal-winning, 7-over-par 43. Then came Beaver Dam with a 213, followed by West Bend, 221; Oconomowoc, 223; and Kewaskum, 233.

While the Indians were still in last place, coach Amy Uhlig was encouraged by the team's total, agreeing it was a confidence-builder. "Oh yeah, definitely," Uhlig said, praising all of her starters.

"It was good to see April Gilane come in with the 52," Uhlig said, adding her sophomores, Jennie Rimmel and Emily Eustey, scored well with their respective 60 and 63. "I knew they could do it (hit in the 60s)," the coach said.

Brittany Duarte carded a 58, which could have been a lot better without wasted shots on the greens. "Right now she's having trouble putting," Uhlig said, intending to have her put in extra time on this part of the game.

With the most recent results, Hartford is comfortably in first place with 4 points, while Watertown is next with 8 and Beaver Dam with 12. West Bend and Oconomowoc are tied with 18, and Kewaskum, rebuilding this fall, has 24 points.

On Sept. 6th, the Indians struggled in their match at West Bend Country Club, a course which many of them had never played before.

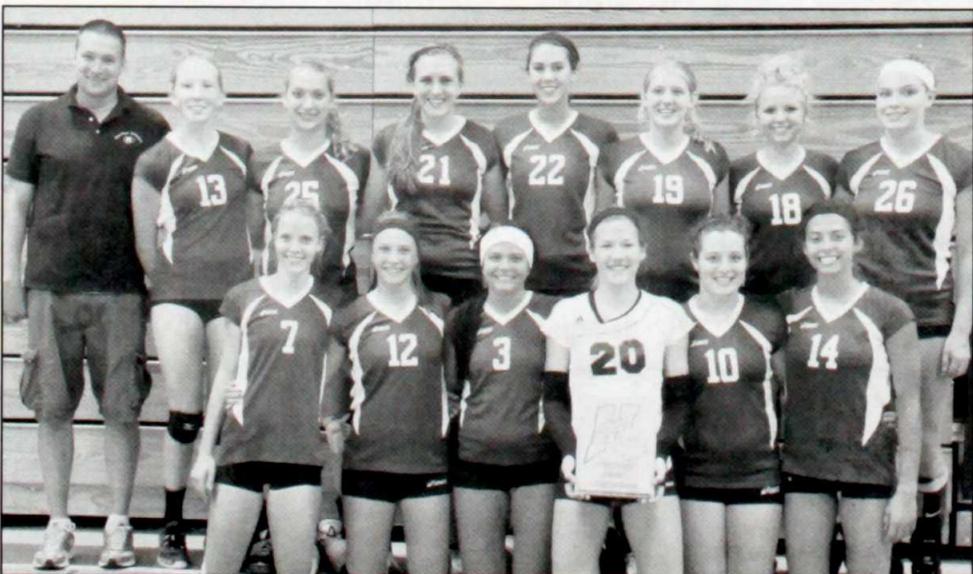

Once again Hartford was in the top spot, courting a 203 total, just one stroke in front of Watertown. Beaver Dam finished third at 216, followed by West Bend, 225; Oconomowoc, 232; and Kewaskum, 269.

"A very rough evening," Uhlig said about her team's woes, but quick to point out, "I only had one girl who had seen the course before."

Also, the veteran April Basterash missed the meet (and the one Thursday) because of illness, and, "That hurt us."

Duarte led the Indians again, posting a 58. Gilane was next at 60, and it was definitely the last three holes (8-5-9) that prevented her from being in the mid-50s.

Jennie Rimmel and Emily Eustey were the others counters with respective scores of 74 and 77.

The Kewaskum varsity volleyball team won the Hartford Invite Volleyball Tournament on Saturday, Sept. 3. Pictured left to right front row, Heidi Johnson, Caitlin Rinzel, Hope Hansen, Kelsey Phillips, Kelsey Heberer, Ashlee Stahl. Indians overpower Raiders in 53-12 battle

The Indians' Brad Boegel breaks through the grasp of Raiders Jake Groth (on the ground) and David Esswein. The Indians defeated the Raiders 53-12 Friday evening in Kiel.

KIEL - Coach Jason Piittmann never experienced this before.

While a repeat performance after a 56-0 shellacking was much to ask, Kewaskum's football team sure gave it a ride last Friday. The Indians built a 45-0 halftime lead and cruised to a 53-12 victory over Kiel.

Kewaskum (4-0) has outscored its opponents 101-0 in the first half the last two games.

"I've never had that before," said Piittmann.

Kiel likely never saw a runner like Eric Perkins, either, and the Raiders didn't see much of him last Friday, either getting turned around or witnessing a blur going by.

Perkins ran for 162 yards and three touchdowns on nine carries (18-yard average). One electrifying run in the first quarter served as the highlight. From the Kiel 44, Perkins started running right with blockers ahead and made his way downfield. He cut left, stopping Raiders in their tracks, then stopped on a dime and cut back right, waltzing right by defenders who looked to be stuck in mud. Perkins looked to almost be toying with defenders.

A sideline that has seen that from the senior more than once was even amazed. It was Barry Sanders-like.

"Blockers kept blocking the whole time. It was really nice," said Perkins. "I was just trying to get it into the end zone."

The offensive line opened large holes, and blocking for Perkins can be an adventure.

"It's a good deal. He just runs hard and sometimes you don't even have to throw a block because he can just make people miss," said all-conference tackle Mark Miller.

"It's so fun you know, you just give him that little crease and he's gone. It's that simple," said all-conference guard Mark Herriges.

Sometimes, they even know where Perkins is going.

"We were just told that he's free to cut back and do whatever he needs to do to get in the end zone," Miller said.

"Not always but if we're going the other way I always like to block to the whistle because, you know, he might cut it back and then that's when we get those touchdowns."

"It all depends what the defense gives you," said Piittmann. "They were pursuing hard which gave a lot of cutbacks, so that allowed him to do a lot of his fancy footwork."

What the defense wasn't giving the Indians would just take. They jumped out to a 28-0 lead after the first quarter and followed with 17 more. Brad Boegel got the scoring started on the first drive, catching a 15-yard fade from Sam Olla over his shoulder.

On defense, the Raiders gave away the ball twice on interceptions, both right to Indians, barely 90 seconds apart.

Linebacker Brandon Chapman had the first when he dropped back, turned around and got hit in the hands.

"I just took my drop. It was right there," he said.

Boegel had the other, a bullet right to his gut that made him fall backward. The Indians capitalized on both with touchdowns.

If the game had a turning point, aside from the kickoff, it came early in the second quarter. Kiel had driven deep into Kewaskum and threatened to score. On first and 10 from the 14, Quarterback Geddy Norby scrambled for no gain. On second down, he ran left for six.

On third down, Norby passed to Austin Field to the left, and the running back looked to turn and score. But Chapman stuck him hard with his chest and held on, stopping Field dead in his tracks. The pile moved backward as other Indians joined in, holding the play to a gain of three.

On fourth and one, Norby jammed it up the middle for barely half a yard as the Indians line collapsed inside. The referees didn't need a measurement; first down, Kewaskum.

"That was big. If they would have scored they could have got some momentum," said Chapman.

"That was big," said Piittmann. "They moved the ball. That was a big play for us."

The Indians answered with a 95-yard scoring drive that took 2:31. From the 17 on first and 10, Olla hit a wide open, streaking Brendan Dowd, who bobbed the ball twice before hauling in a 25-yard gain. Joey Wollner topped the drive off with a 19-yard touchdown run to the right, untouched.

Hunter Flanders nailed a 40-yard field goal as time expired in the first half - with five yards to spare, and the Indians again could rest their starters for half a game.

"The kids were focused, they came out and they got off the ball quick. They did a great job. They just dominated from the start," said Piittmann.

In the second half, Teddy Wollner took a pitch left, cut inside the block and slid down to the sideline and sprinted for a 29-yard score. It was a textbook sweep.

On the extra point, holder and backup quarterback Michael Holt took a high snap and never hesitated. He never tried to get the ball down and instantly rolled right, looking for a target. Dowd pulled the ball down out of the air for the two-point conversion. That's about how things went for Kiel. Piittmann knows it will only get harder from here. Next up is adjacent rival Campbellsport, which took Two Rivers, one of the conference favorites, to the wire two weeks ago, losing 22-19. The Cougars are 3-1 on the season and 1-1 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

"We know it's going to get a lot tougher and it starts this week with Campbellsport. You throw the records out the window when we play," Piittmann said. "It's going to get tough now. There's no doubt about it."

Last week, Campbellsport beat Sheboygan Falls, 34-20, outscoring the Falcons 20-3 in the second half.

Kewaskum, Two Rivers and Plymouth are tied for the conference lead, all at 2-0.

Soccer team tallies first victory of the season

By Mitch Maersch

Kewaskum's soccer team waited until the playoffs last season to get its first and only victory.

This year, it came more than a month earlier.

The Indians beat Two Rivers, last Thursday, 2-0, to notch win number one on the season.

Kewaskum took the lead 26 minutes in when Ian Kenworthy scored on an assist from Sawyer Buck.

Nick Bier added a goal at 37 minutes and Kewaskum hung on.

Joel Turk made 12 saves.

Kewaskum almost made it two in a row at Waupun on Monday. The Indians lost, 2-1, after taking the lead just 33 seconds after the game started.

Jake Hardy scored almost instantly, but the Warriors came back with goals at 5:30 and 6:50. Kewaskum couldn't score again. Turk made 12 saves.

The Indians, 1-6 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 1-12 overall, play at Sheboygan Falls on Thursday, host Mayville on Monday and host rival Campbellsport on Tuesday.

Stern, Backhaus finish close in Mayville invite

By Mitch Maersch

April Stern and Abby Backhaus ran with each other to finish one second apart at last Friday's Mike Hurlburt Invitational at Mayville.

Stern led the girls with a time of 20:25 on the four-kilometer course. Backhaus was next at 20:26.

Allie Schmidt finished in 22:59.

"The team is hoping that was the last of the heat wave and the fall weather will stick around for cooler meets," said Coach Heidi Korth.

The team was scheduled to run Tuesday at Rock River Hills Golf Club in Waupun and Saturday at Ripon.
