School chaperone charged with heroin possession on field trip

By Andrew Kuehl
 andrew@kewaskumstatesman.com

PORT WASHINGTON- A field trip mixed with heroin and prescription drugs has a 28-year-old Town of Wayne mother facing charges of drug possession and possession of drug paraphernalia.

An Ozaukee County Court criminal complaint alleges Stephanie F. Bailey was found by a parent on a field trip in a restroom unconscious. By the time Ozaukee County Sheriff's Deputies arrived, the report states Bailey was conscious and told deputies she was dehydrated.

Second grade students and parents from Wayne Elementary School were at Pioneer Village in the Town of Saukville on Friday, Oct. 7.

The report further states another chaperone who assisted Bailey in the restroom found a coin type purse with a clear glass tube with burn marks and several hypodermic needles lying on the floor. To avoid a scene with the accompanying children she gathered the items and gave them to the deputy. Also inside the purse were clear plastic bags with what appeared to be heroin, two unknown pills, a metal spoon, alcohol prep pads and other drug paraphernalia.

Bailey later admitted to a deputy that she had used Oxycontin and heroin the evening prior to celebrate her birthday with friends.

Interim Superintendent of Kewaskum Schools David Ewald stated Bailey had undergone a criminal background check prior to the field trip however she did not have a prior criminal record so she was approved. He stated all volunteers in the school district are screened and under go background checks.

The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel reported Bailey was charged in Ozaukee County Court on Monday. She faces up to 31.5 years in prison and a fine up to $10,000 if convicted. She was released from Ozaukee County Jail on $500 bail.

She will return to court on Oct. 20.

Community forum on school lunches held

Jim Leister invited interested and willing community members to attend a Food Service meeting Monday October 3rd at the KHS library. In addition to parents, among the attendants were teachers, teacher assistants, school board members, and A'viands employees. Mr. Ewald, the interim school superintendent and school business manager Paul Reichardt also participated.

A small though randomly selected survey conducted last week of approximately 143 KHS and KMS children was reviewed. The majority of the students surveyed take hot lunch. Approximately 2/3 of the students surveyed circled "yes" to the question "Do you like the hot lunch program?"

When asked to list one thing they liked, answers included the taste, amount, variety, and healthy choices. Those who did not like the program stated taste, amount, and cost as reasons.

Many of the meeting attendees also expressed thoughts. While many positively commented on the taste and health improvement of the food including those that had eaten there for lunch, the issue of Ala Carte was discussed. This option does not have to follow the USDA regulation food standards. Students can, for an extra charge, choose pizza, burgers, chips, juice drinks, and desserts. One teacher stated he has seen students paying up to $10 for those meals.

Questions arose regarding the use of A'viand as an outsourced company. Paul Reichardt did state this continues to be evaluated at school board meetings. The initial cost A'viands presented may be higher than originally thought but still under what it has been in the prior year. Besides the new Director of Food Services, Terri Miller, being an employee of A'viands, the remainder of the Food Service employees are still employees of the KSD. Ms. Miller did state she communicates regularly with her department employees. A'viands handed out information on the current regulations they have to follow from the government. A new government subsidy law will also require lunch price increases. This will be discussed at the next school board meeting. Acknowledgement of communication error explained discrepancies for this year's changes in ala carte pricing from years past.

In the end, there were several suggestions made:

- PARENTS:
1. Talk to your kids about the new program and what options may be best for them. The rotating menu entrée and nutrition bar appear to be healthiest.
 2. Choose to opt out of ala carte by simply calling Cathy Rinzel 262-626-8427 X4151
 3. Recognize that it can take up to 3 times of trying a new food before one decided on whether this is something that is liked. This is a new food service so this may be a period of adjustment.
 4. If you have a child who is a picky or big eater, supplementing with other items should be considered as amounts of food are based on guidelines and seconds are considered unsanitary.
 5. You can opt out of the hot lunch program.

Teachers and Aids:

1. Are doing a great job of being the eyes and ears of what happens in the lunchroom.
2. Are going to work on a system where the lunch lines are improved.

A'viands:

1. Will consider morning head counts at the Elementary level to avoid food shortage.
2. Will reconsider the Newton meal options including the PB&J with crisps and muffin selection.

3. Are going to implement a Nutrition Advisory Council made up of students, KSD employees, and parents. Terri Miller will be attending several upcoming PTO meetings.

4. Information on specific nutrition labeling on all items will be made available.

5. Encourage and are willing to continue the dialog via email and future meetings.

School Board:

1. Continue to assess A'viands through cost/benefit analysis

2. Discuss upcoming potential rate change of meal programming due to Gov't regulations.

For more information, check out www.kewaskumschools.org for links to food calendar and Nutrition Service Department information. Email A'viands at aviands@ksd.k12.wi.us. Check out www.lunchbox.org if you are interested in seeing some cool stuff about what's happening with other school lunch programming. They have links to several features. Please email Paula Carlton at paula.carlton@aurora.org if you wish to hear more about our local initiative, Best U Food Force.

School Board votes to give Dreher additional compensation

By Mitch Maersch
mitch@kewaskumstatesman.com

Kewaskum High School associate principal Kristine Dreher will be receiving extra compensation for filling in for her boss, albeit after a contentious debate at Monday night's School Board meeting.

KHS principal Tom Fischer had been diagnosed with cancer early this summer. While he has been receiving treatment, Dreher has filled in for Fischer.

Interim Superintendent David Ewald, after garnering input from other district leaders, suggested a monthly bump of $1,419.50 for as long as Fisher is receiving treatment.

Board member Tim Ramthun asked about the consequences of adding an item to the budget after the budget has been approved. Ewald had mentioned the issue at a recent meeting in a discussion on hiring paraprofessionals.

"We want to be fair," said Ramthun.

Ewald said the budget would have to address the increase but after the meeting said the number is so small it will fit into the budget.

Board member Steve Jensen said he had filled in for supervisors at three jobs and in the military without any extra pay.

"I just don't see how this should be set up this way," he said.

Board president Bruce Braidigan said in his job at a fire department as acting lieutenant and acting chief he was paid to fill in.

"I believe you have to reward somebody," he said.

If the board just gives Dreher an "attaboy," then "you don't care about our teachers," he said.

Braidigan said Dreher could have said "no" to the extra workload.

Ewald said after the meeting that was not necessarily the case. Her contract has a provision if she fills in for the principal.

"It would have been difficult for her to say no," he said.

Braidigan also said the board could have said, "See you, Tom, we're hiring a new principal."

Board member Sue Miller asked if the extra compensation sets a precedent for future cases. Ramthun agreed that was a good point and asked if there was another way other than financial to reward Dreher.

Board member Troy Hanson said the compensation is worth it.

"This is our biggest school and this is a leadership position," he said.

The job is salaried and does not pay time and a half for extra hours, he said, "so those are considerations we need to take."

The motion to pay Dreher the extra money per month passed, 4-2 with one abstention. Jensen and S. Miller voted against. Tim Ramthun abstained after pausing several seconds before declaring his vote.

A rigorous feat for feet

Kewaskum's Brunner shares his 5-month experience on the Appalachian Trail

By Sue Mroz

Statesman Correspondent

If Daniel Brunner, 22, invites you to take a hike, you'd better ask him, "How far?"

With Herculean stamina, the Kewaskum resident recently earned the coveted title of "thru hiker," by completing a 2,181-mile trek along the endurance course known as the Appalachian Trail, or the A.T.

One of the world's longest, continuously marked footpaths, the trail extends along the crests and valleys of the Appalachian Mountain Range, through 14 states, from the south terminus at Springer Mountain, Ga., to the northern terminus at Mount Katahdin, Maine. Thru hikers, traveling south to north follow the trail through Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

Those who complete the course in one season -- a period designated as 12 months or less -- are classified as thru hikers. "Section hikers" are those who complete the hike over a period of one or more years.

Employed as the head of research and development at Sno-Way International in Hartford, Brunner, son of Holly and Mark Brunner, is known as a NOBO (northbound hiker), since he hiked the A.T. from south to north, beginning the course in Georgia and completing it in Maine. Those who hike in the opposite direction are known as SOBOS, southbound hikers.

The A.T. is managed by a unique partnership between public and private sectors, including among others: the National Park Service, the U.S.D.A. Forest Service, an array of state agencies, the Appalachian Trail Conservancy and 31 local trail-maintaining clubs.

According to the Appalachian Trail Conservancy website, about 2 to 3 million people visit the A.T. each year.

Of those, between 1,800 to 2,000 attempt to become thru hikers, with one out of four of those actually achieving this goal.

Brunner began his venture on April 11 and completed it five months later, on Sept. 11. He is grateful to Terry Wendorff, CEO of Sno-Way, a manufacturer of snow and ice-control equipment, for allowing him to take a six-month leave of absence from his job (March 25 - Oct. 5) in order to hike the A.T.

"I have always been an adventurer," Brunner explained. "I have two friends -- Karen and Elliott Kasprzak from Marquette, Mich., who invited me to hike the trail with them.

"I was willing to resign from my job if necessary," he recalled. "But Terry Wendorff was supportive and excited about the fact that I wanted to hike the Appalachian Trail."

Thus, Brunner began training for the challenge, and plans were set into motion. A.T. thru hikers select trail names. Brunner's was "Jack Rabbit."

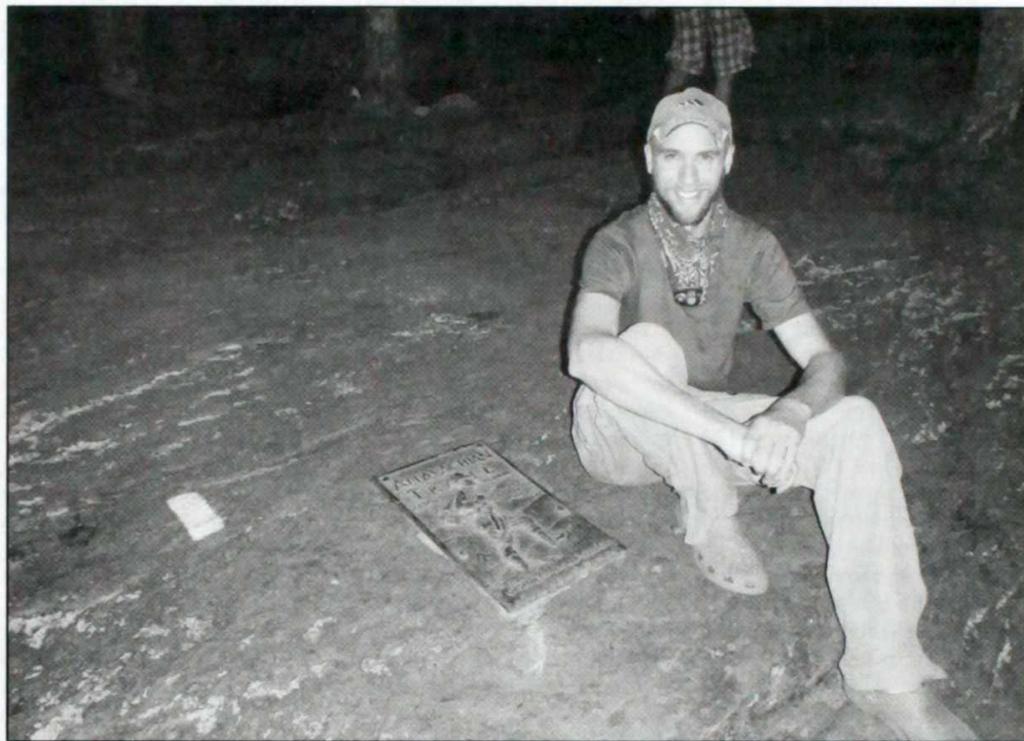

He miraculously accomplished his goal, while overcoming an obstacle that would have had most aspiring thru hikers heading for home. While Brunner was hiking through Shippensburg, Penn., he contracted Lyme disease, a serious bacterial infection, transmitted through a bite of the blacklegged tick -- so small, it is nearly impossible to see.

"I became very weak and had no energy at all," Brunner said.

He detected another symptom of Lyme disease -- a bull's-eye-shaped rash, which appeared on the inside of his right thigh.

So, with the disease in its early stages, he went to the Gettysburg Walk-in-Clinic in Gettysburg, Penn. and was diagnosed with Lyme disease. "The doctor prescribed an antibiotic, which I had to take for 21 days," Brunner said.

During his recovery, "I stayed in a hostel, [a supervised, inexpensive lodging place for travelers], for seven days and lost

5 pounds," he noted, adding that during the entire five months he lost a total of 15 pounds.

Along the trail, he hiked between 15 to 20 miles per day, while burning some 6,000 or more calories each day.

"Having Lyme disease was the lowest point of the five months," Brunner admitted. "The hostel owners were telling me I might not be able to keep going, and I was so weak that I felt I might not be able to finish." However, "My parents encouraged me to continue," he said. "They know I am very strong.

"I slowly gained back my strength," he added, "but I was weak and exhausted each day during the first few weeks I started hiking, after leaving the hostel."

Another medical problem he encountered during his venture was becoming infected with poison ivy, while hiking through North Carolina. "It was all over my body, so I had to have a cortisone shot," he said.

Toward the end of his trek, while hiking through Vermont, he contracted giardiasis -- a diarrheal infection of the small intestines. "This came from either unpurified water or an unsanitary privy," Brunner said, noting that he was prescribed a seven-day dosage of an antibiotic to alleviate the condition.

In training for the endurance hike, Brunner participated in trail running and mountain biking. He also carried a full back-pack, while hiking along the Ice Age Trail. "I would get on the trail at Highway H and walk about 24 miles," he recalled. "I'd set up camp along the way, then finish the last few miles, walking about 18 hours over a two-day time frame."

Plans were set into motion for the big event. Karen Kasprzak's mother and grandmother were driving down South, so they agreed to drop Karen, her husband and Brunner off at Springer Mountain, Ga. Andrew Howard, another thru hiker, alias Pink Floyd, an Iowa resident, whom Brunner met along the A.T., drove him back home last month.

Brunner's back pack weighed between 20 to 25 pounds during his venture. It held his iPhone, sleeping bag and pad, hammock, titanium cooking pot, alcohol stove, rain jacket and pants, two pairs of socks, sweat shirt, long-sleeved

Plenty of excitement, success in Gridiron tests

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

The importance of a good defense and having a good place kicker were very obvious for two of the four Gridiron teams in games played on October 8th.

Successful PATs by Ben Watzig helped the eighth graders to a 16-13 victory at Milwaukee Custer and kept their win streak going at five, while the sixth grade defense helped to secure a 13-6 victory and ran its season record to 5-0.

The eighth grade scored on its opening drive, going 55 yards with Brandon Thull finding the end zone from 12 yards out.

Custer's first possession ended with Charlie Witek picking off a pass, but after Kewaskum went 3-and-out, Custer got on the board via a 40-yard pass and a short run. The kick was no good, so the scored stayed at 8-6.

Late in the second quarter, Custer was driving when a pass was tipped, and Witek gathered it in for his second interception. (He added a third in the second half.)

Kewaskum put together another drive and scored with :26 remaining in the first half on a pass from Michael Prochnow to Jason Hansen. Again Watzig was good on the kick off Prochnow's hold.

Custer scored on a 70-yard pass on the first play of the fourth quarter, then Kewaskum chewed up 7:45 on a long drive which ended when time ran out.

"Again the line did real well. Watzig and (Sam) Fechter are doing a great job of blocking," coach Jonesy Korth said, also praising lineman Zach Thull.

"I think that clinched the northeast title," Korth said.

The sixth graders weren't able to move the ball very consistently, but the cohesive defense came up big time and time again.

"Our defense played very well," coach Joel Tietz said. "Great efforts by (Jared) Chesak, (Declyn) Gurrath and (Andrew) Neu, and (Logan) Kertscher was outstanding at corner. He had a lot of solo tackles."

The coach said Max Stowers and Zachary Ellefson "gave us good time on the defensive line."

The game opened with a bang as Dan Kreis took a handoff from Jared Otto on the opening kickoff and ran 65 yards for a touchdown.

Custer came back in the first quarter with its only score, then the two defenses took over, with Kewaskum's looking especially strong after the break.

"I changed the defense up at half," Tietz said. "They didn't get anything after that."

The teams traded turnovers late in the third quarter, and it was Kreis coming up with a fumble recovery (his first of two) at the MC 2-yard line that set up the winning score.

On first down, QB Gabe Christianson plowed into the end zone for the TD, and he added the PAT on a rollout run.

The seventh graders (0-5) are still winless after losing a 26-6 decision to an unbeaten Custer team, but coach Tom Kudek said he saw some good play from his Indians.

"We played pretty well in the first quarter," Kudek said, noting his team successfully pulled off a fake punt, but a pass and long run on the final play of the first half was "a killer," giving the hosts a 21-0 lead.

Kewaskum scored in the fourth quarter on a 5-yard run by Tyler Oelhafen. The extra point failed.

"Our defensive backs played pretty good," Kudek said, citing Nick Ellenbecker, Scott Hiltunen and Alexander Vogt. "Also I want to point out Peter Kurer, and Kyle Henk played pretty good at linebacker."

QB Ryan Prochnow scored four touchdowns in leading the fifth graders (2-3) to a 26-6 victory over Random Lake in a game played at Kewaskum.

"He had two nice long runs and two quarterback sneaks (for TDs)," coach Mark Walcheske said.

"Our 'O' line played much, much better," the coach went on, and he praised Dawson Bastian for some good running and a catch made by Luke Christianson for 35 yards that set up the Indians' first score.

After one breakdown which enabled the Rams to run for a long score, Kewaskum's defense "really clamped down on them," according to Walcheske, who praised linebacker Robby Heinen and tackle Hunter Kuehl for their efforts. Also, Hunter Grady had a couple sacks, and Talon Ralph was credited with a couple solo tackles.

All teams are at Cedar Grove Saturday for the regular season finales.

Letter to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

Friday night my wife and I and numerous family members had the unfortunate experience of attending the Kewaskum, Plymouth football game in Kewaskum.

After three quarters of good rock'em sock'em football, the final quarter suddenly turned ugly. First a late hit out of bounds penalty on Kewaskum on a Plymouth scoring drive with less than eight minutes to go in the game, started the fiasco. Then a few plays later, with the scoring drive still in motion, another late hit out of bounds on the scrambling Plymouth quarterback and another fifteen yard Kewaskum penalty. The Plymouth quarterback was carted off the field. Then to make matters worse, with the game well in hand for Kewaskum leading 33-14, and I doubt any Plymouth fan would dispute that fact, Plymouth scored and after kicking the extra point, the Plymouth kicker was leveled and a roughing the kicker penalty was accessed on Kewaskum. The Plymouth kicker was also carted off the field and taken by ambulance to the hospital.

That's right, three fifteen yard penalties of which two of those penalties I consider flagrant, in less than eight minutes. Sour grapes? Hardly, but the game did leave a sour taste in my mouth. One hates to see injuries in sports but they are part of the game especially when it comes to football. Injuries due to what I consider flagrant personal fouls, each resulting in fifteen yard penalties, even when the outcome is well in hand, are another matter.

Halloween Night Hikes Oct. 14 & 15

Marvel at the antics of the Tree-top Gliders, the stealth of Preying Mantis, and flying ability of Ruby, the Hummingbird. You'll be amazed at the wondrous features and abilities of all those in this year's forest menagerie at the Halloween Nature Hikes at the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit. The eccentric Ring Master waits to greet you as you begin your extraordinary evening adventure on Friday, October 14, or Saturday, October 15 from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The hikes will take place at the Long Lake Recreation Area located off of Division Road just north of Hwy F about one mile east of Dundee. Guided groups will leave every six minutes with the last hike leaving at 8:30 p.m. Each hike will last about one hour. The hikes are most appropriate for those over the age of five years.

Bring the whole family for this fun-filled, not scary evening of adventure. As you stroll through the dark autumn woods, you will meet an assembly of animal characters that are just waiting to tell you their tales. Through your nighttime journey, you will learn a little about each animal's unique adaptations and the important role it plays in nature.

There will also be exciting games and clever crafts for the kids to do before or after their hikes. The Friends of the Kettle Moraine will provide free

Fundamentals of Graphology Workshop at Cedar Valley

Join Cedar Valley Center and Spa, Cedar Community's retreat center located at 5349 County Road D in West Bend, for Fundamentals of Graphology on Saturday, Oct. 29 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Most people don't write like they were taught in school. The reason is handwriting reflects our inner nature. As we change, so does our writing.

The study of graphology is the study of learning to read the unconscious symbolism behind our writing. If you want insight into yourself and others, this class is a must. If you work or consult with other people, the information in this workshop will provide you with an additional expertise. Topics of the workshop include: Definition, background and methodologies of handwriting analysis; letter size - ego needs and sense of importance; slant - emotional expression and relation to others and line of writing - mood and inner control. Professional handwriting analyst Lisa Schuetz, C.G., teaches, consults and writes on a wide variety of topics. Her recent chapter, "Reading the Energy of Thought" was published through Deepak Chopra. She has presented at various national and international conferences, holds worldwide webinars, as well as locally.

This cost of the workshop is $150 per person which includes lunch and a 75-page informational handout. If you have attended one of Lisa's classes at Cedar Valley a $15 discount will be given. Registration and pre-payment is required. Space is limited. Overnight accommodations and spa services are also available if scheduled in advance.

Brunner

shirt, pair of shorts, and a steripen (water-purification system).

He wore out four pairs of Lasportiva running shoes along the trail. "When I'd need a new pair, I would order it online with my iPhone and have the shoes sent to the post office in a town in front of me," he said.

His other attire at the start of the hike included nylon outdoor pants, a T-shirt, and a head lamp. He used two carbon-fiber hiking poles, which resemble ski poles.

Brunner slept in his hammock most nights. But at other times, he stayed in one of the three-sided shelters along the trail. He went into town at least once each week and at those times would stay in a hostel, hotel or motel. He contacted his family while in town, as he was unable to get cell-phone reception along the A.T.

His favorite spot on the route was Greyson Highlands in southern Virginia. "There are large grassy areas with rock outcroppings there and wild ponies running around," Brunner said.

Brunner encountered the most challenging parts of the trail in New Hampshire and Maine. The mountains there contain some treacherous sections to traverse. In addition, hikers had to contend with the flooding caused by Hurricane Irene at the end of August.

The governor of Maine declared a state of emergency on Aug. 26, due to the hurricane. As a result of the flooding caused by the hurricane, many hikers chose to bypass the 100-mile wilderness area and chose an alternate route.

"The trail was still open during this time, and it was still possible to hike on it," Brunner said. "I just chose to bypass it, because I thought the streams would be too high."

He noted though that the Appalachian Trail Conservancy closed the trail in Vermont at the end of August and for part of September, due to the ravages of Hurricane Irene.

He recalled another weather-related incident, a lightning storm, which occurred while he was hiking down Mount Madison in New Hampshire, with four fellow hikers -- one of them Dharma Beatty, trail name, Raindancer. "She fell backwards on a 5-foot ledge, and twisted her knee," he said. "She fortunately landed on her back pack.

"That incident put us on edge, because we were above the tree line in the lightning storm and trying get below the tree line."

The group then encountered a mother and her two daughters, ages 8 and 14. "They were trying to go over Mount Madison," Brunner recalled. "They were day hikers, heading to Madison Springs on the other side of the mountain.

"We tried to dissuade them from doing that, due to the lightning storm," he added. "But they would not come back down. So we gave them our tent and set it up below the tree line.

"Then we had to hike down this incredibly steep mountain -- a mile of nearly vertical rock -- to a campground."

The next morning one of the members in Brunner's contingent hiked back up the mile-long stretch to pick up their tent.

Brunner spent about $5,000 on his venture. Unfortunately, his friends, Karen and Elliott Kasprzak, were unable to complete the hike, due to financial constraints. As a result, they plan to join the ranks of section hikers.

The threesome hiked from Springer Mountain to Hot Springs, N.C., a 271-mile stretch. The couple then departed, and Brunner hiked alone for 450 miles, until Dalville, VA.

At that point, he became acquainted with Oliver Taylor, a Germany resident, whose trail name was Handstand and Esther, an Indiana resident, alias Raw Indy. They hiked for 350 miles together, to Fayetteville, Penn.

Brunner then hiked alone, following his recovery from Lyme disease. He later caught up with Handstand and Pink Floyd at the train station in Wingdale, N.Y. and hiked with them and with Mladen Chingel, alias Larb, a Portland, OR., resident.

The group then reconnected with Raindancer in Massachusetts, a section hiker who left the group, as they entered Maine. She is a teacher and needed to report to her school district for the start of the school year. The rest of the contingent remained together until the end of the trail.

Brunner's meals while on the A.T. consisted of tortillas, peanut butter, tuna, pepperoni, trail mix and granola bars. "I drank water like a camel," he said, "from three to four liters per day."

When he went into town, he ate at a restaurant.

In reviewing this venture, Brunner, whose parents homeschooled him from second through 12th grades, said, "I am very glad I took this trip. It taught me a lot about how to be content with few possessions.

"I also gained a lot of self-confidence from the experience, realizing I can accomplish something big. This accomplishment transforms into having assurance I can complete smaller tasks, such as repairing my car or asking a girl out on a date."

So what does the future hold for this bold adventurer? Brunner has completed four semesters at Moraine Park Technical College. He would like to continue his education there on a part-time basis, focusing on engineering, while remaining on the job at Sno-Way.

In addition, he plans to hike the 1,200-mile Ice Age National Scenic Trail through Wisconsin and by age 30, to complete the Pacific Crest Trail, a 2,650-mile trail, running from Mexico to Canada through California, Oregon and Washington.

Ruffalo claimes another KEYS title; Grotenhuis jumps from third to first

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

KEWASKUM- Weekends are for family events, and that was certainly true this past Sunday when moms, dads and children came together for the 18th annual KEYS (Kewaskum Youth Scholarship) 5-k run.

Families, like the Biers, Carltons, Shambeaus, Bindriches, Bauers, Rosenthals, Hardys, and the Grotenhuises, just to name a few, helped to ensure the success of the event that helps provide scholarships for Kewaskum High School students.

The run would also not be possible without the help of a dedicated committee, and here again, one family, the Zemlickas, stood out when it came to volunteer efforts.

It is was an especially good day for the Grotenhuises because wife and mom, Amy Grotenhuis, came away as the overall winner in the Female Division, defeating a very formidable runner in the process.

Grotenhuis, who had finished third in the 2010 event, moved up two spots to win the event in 19 minutes and 49 seconds (19:46), which was 26 faster than she ran last year.

Former All-American distance runner and new Kewaskum School Board member Sue (Daggett) Miller finished second at 20:16. Angela Demback was third with a time of 23:03.

"I've always come in second or third. This was the first time I won, so I was pretty excited," Amy Grotenhuis said, indicating her husband, Jeff, a teacher at Kewaskum Middle School, and sons Logan and Cael participated.

Amy Grotenhuis, who teaches physical education in Watertown, started running while she was a student, and, "I just never stopped," said said, indicating she led for the first mile, was passed by Miller then a short time later took over the lead and stayed there.

In the winner's circle for the Men's Division, a familiar face reappeared. Andy Ruffalo of West Bend turned in a beautiful race and coasted to a 48-second victory. His time was 16:39, five seconds off the record he set a year ago. He has now won the event the past three years.

Finishing second and third, respectively, were Jason Mayer and Paul Lester with times of 17:27 and 18:41.

"We had an extremely nice day," Jerry Gosa, the President of KEYS, said Sunday night. "Things went very well."

Concerning the number of participants, Gosa said, "I think we had about 675. We were down a little this year. We all know the economy is not great."

Not all the 675 run or walk, according to Gosa, who thanked those who do not run but still help the event through their contributions.

After preparing the past week and coaching two big middle school track competitions, Gosa was certainly happy he has a good committee to depend on, starting with race coordinators, Connie Zemlicka and Jenny Gerhartz, Zemlicka's daughter.

"Connie does a great job," Gosa said. "They get the whole family involved."

Howard Zemlicka helped design the new course, which has been used the past two or three years. "It's an interesting course," Gosa said, indicating it starts and finishes at Kewaskum High School, winding through the northeast portion of the village and uses a part of the Eisenbahn Trail.

Gosa, who is in charge of securing sponsorships for the event, said it will take some time to collect data to determine the proceeds from the day. He did have figures on the number of scholarships it helped support this past spring. "Last May we have out 33 or 34 scholarships totaling $95,000," he said.

Concerning the largest turnout by one of the groups, Gosa said The West Bend Mutual had over 30 participants. Their participation in the event is "very generous ... very helpful," he said.

1. Andy Ruffalo Men's Champ, 16:39
2. Jason Mayer M 30-39, 17:27
3. Paul Lester M 50-59, 18:41
4. Jeff Schreiber M 40-49, 19:00
5. Jeffery Lambrecht M 30-39, 19:41
6. Nick Bier M 16-18, 19:47
7. Amy Grotenhuis Female Champ 19:49
8. Nathan Kempf M 19-29, 20:04
9. Sue Miller F 30-39, 20:16
10. Dave Kudek M 40-49, 20:16

Runners complete a stretch of the race on the Eisenbahn Trail.

Three foreign exchange students have arrived at Kewaskum High School for the 1986-87 school year. Two students are sponsored by the AFS and one by the EF exchange organization. Anna Noble, an EFFF (Education Foundation for Foreign Study) student comes from Hagagymnasiet, Sweden. She is staying with the Bruce Falk family in Kewaskum. Petra Mayerhofer is an AFS student from Vienna, Austria. She resides in Kewaskum with the Thomas Radman family. The third exchange student attending KHS this year is Hlin Magnusdottir, an AFS student from Egilsstaour, Iceland. She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stommel and Annette, her host sister.

On a 41 to 8 vote, with two abstaining, support staff of the Kewaskum School District voted overwhelmingly last week to establish its own union. The Kewaskum Education Support Staff Union membership will be made up of regular full and part-time teacher aides, secretaries, cooks and custodians. The next step will be the filing of papers and election of officers.

While the Kewaskum School District's proposed 1986-87 levy was down by almost 2% from last year, it just barely managed to garner enough votes for approval at the Annual Meeting, being passed by the slim margin of 49 to 44. With a gross levy of $4,119,950 which includes $4,052,950 for the General Fund and $67,000 for the Debt Service Fund, less an estimated tax credit of $506,531 the district's net levy will be $3,613,419.

The Kewaskum School District affirmed its 1985 decision that the Bel Ric subdivision area is no longer considered hazardous and children living in that area will be regular to school.

The regular meeting of the American Legion, Robert G. Romaine Post No. 384, Kewaskum, was held on September 8. Pat McFadden was elected Chairman of the Executive Board. Other members of this board are Merv Thompson, Rich Taylor, Clayton Stautz, Marv Kleinke, Mike Chesak and Lloyd Teeselink. Any Legionnaires' wives who are interested in starting a local auxiliary unit at the post should contact Marilyn Haug.

In the beginning of last year's racing season at the Slinger Super Speedway, Russ Heberer of Kewaskum was one of the principle sponsors of #72 Willie Goeden's late model. Today Russ is on the track doing "what he always wanted to do" and that is to race. About midseason of 1985, he was sitting in the stands at Slinger and noticed a sportsman stock car with #72 on it and a "For Sale" sign taped to the body. The rest is history! Russ had to have the 1984 Firebird body, Chevy powered stock. This year, with a little more experience under his belt Russ has proven himself capable of running with the best by qualifying sixth for the past five weeks in a field of 30 cars and placing in the money spots in the 10 lap heat races and the main feature events.

A daughter, Katie Jo, was born to John and Brenda Klotz, Campbellsport, on August 18. Sons were born to Gary and Jody Schmidt, Kewaskum, on August 29, and to Darwin and Marie Tackes, Kewaskum, on September 6.

After 50 years of dedicated service, Harry Schaefer has resigned as Chief of Kewaskum's volunteer fire department. The board appointed Armin Oppermann, Assistant Chief, to fill the post on a temporary basis. During Mr. Schaefer's reign as chief, the fire department has undergone monumental changes. From hand-drawn equipment with the river and the Rosenheimer Malt and Grain Company well, the only dependable sources of water in 1931, to our modern department equipped to fight all types of fire in any imaginable place in 1961, the progress is unbelievable.

Wally Cudnohoske has opened a Mobil service station in the Lee Honeck garage building on south Fond du Lac Avenue. Wally leased the building from the Mobil Oil Company which had previously leased it from Honeck. The new proprietor took over the business on September 9.

Progress is being made rapidly at present and things are beginning to take shape at the new village park and dam site. The dam has been completed with the exception of guard rails and the stop logs, which have been received and will be put in place next week. The Brown Construction Company of Fond du Lac is now at work dredging the river and excavating in the river bank for the pond above the dam. For this pond, excavation will be made to widen the river to 250 feet for a distance of 200 feet along the river. From here on to the bridge on Main Street the river will be widened to 130 feet to the center of the pond excavation will be made at a depth of eight feet to supply a diving pool for swimming, etc., while the remainder of the river, as far as the bridge, will be dredged at a depth of 5-1/2 feet in the main channel and two feet in the river proper. Part of this will be transformed into a sandy wading beach for the kiddies. The park is expected to be ready for the coming winter season and the sports that come with it. A ski slide will be erected and a fine ice skating pond will be built.

"School Days." Again local pupils will answer that old familiar summons next Tuesday morning, September 8, when classes will be resumed at the Kewaskum public school starting at 9 am. The parochial school will start one day later on Wednesday, September 9.

Christ H. Schaefer passed away at his home in the village on August 31 after an illness of four years with nephritis followed by a stroke of apoplexy.

The L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Company plant was visited by fire early last Tuesday morning and completely destroyed the malt house and elevator. The origin of the fire is not definitely known. The fire was first noticed at about 6 a.m. by Joseph Schlosser and John Weddig who saw flames shooting out of the second story windows in the malt house. An alarm was sounded immediately by the ringing of the fire bell and within a few minutes the village fire department with the apparatus was on the grounds. By that time the interior of the malt house building was already in flames and it was evidenced at once that the fire could not be controlled and that the malt house and elevator were doomed, so their attention was directed to keeping the fire from spreading to the adjacent buildings. The engine house, boiler room and electric light plant were saved only by the prompt use of the steam pump in the boiler room which forced sufficient water to save these buildings. The fire, which swept through the malt house burned for over two hours before fire broke out in the large elevator passing over 100,000 bushels of barley. This was the most dangerous time of the fire. Everybody expected that this would spread throughout the village, but fortunately the wind was in a favorable direction. The interior of the malt house by this time had been gutted by the flames. The original malting plant was built by the Rosenheimers in 1889 and enlarged in 1898 to increase the capacity to 600,000 bushels per annum. The loss on grain, buildings and machinery will be between $150,000 and $200,000 with insurance to cover the loss fairly well. The buildings that were destroyed were the frame elevator, 56x66, covered with sheet iron which was fully equipped with all the latest machinery, and the malt house was a brick building, two stories high, 76 x 114 feet in size and a dry kiln building 39 x 78, 72 feet high. The officials of the malting company informed us that the elevator and malt house would be rebuilt immediately.

George H. Schmidt, editor and proprietor of the Statesman, and Miss Clara Mertes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N.J. Mertes, were married at the home of the bride's parents last Tuesday.

The residence of August Backhaus, 2-1/2 miles north-east of this village, was struck by lightning last week Friday night. The bolt entered the building at the chimney and passed along the eaves trough. Outside of a bad scare, the only damage done was the tearing down of the chimney and the ripping of the eaves trough in one corner. All members of the family claim it was a warm bolt as the house soon after was filled with smoke.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Metzger of Kewaskum last Monday. A baby girl was born to Robert Lamert and his wife of New Fane last Thursday. A ten pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Heilman of Kewaskum on August 25, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Riley of Boltonville are the proud parents of a baby boy.

The Director of Public Works Jerry Gilles reported on the activities of the DPW. Storm sewers were repaired and replaced at Railroad and Prospect Street, the Bio Solids Tank was repainted, wood chips were replenished for the playground equipment, restoration of the dive platform and street sweeping was completed.

3. Consensus of the Board was to bring forward a resolution to ban concealed weapons from public buildings within the Village.

4. The revised distressed TIF law removes the minimum life requirement of seven years and pushes back the sunset date to 2015. This will allow the TID #2 to be extended an additional ten to thirteen years however, the area the TID#2 encompasses could not be amended, no new costs could be added to the project and the debt would still need to be repaid as scheduled. The process to declare the TIF distressed will involve an initial meeting by the Joint Review Board, a public hearing, recommendation by the Plan Commission, approval by the Village Board and a final approval by the Joint Review Board. The Board requested more information on the distressed TIF process including a synopsis of the pros and cons.

The Clerk Stephanie Justmann announced:

1. Congressman Jim Sensenbrenner will be holding office hours at the Municipal Building on Tuesday, September 27th at 9:00 a.m.

Chad Cook for the Kewaskum Athletic Association presented the project to construct a new baseball field at Kiwanis Park. The project will include a multi-purpose diamond and will be located on five acres in the NE corner of the park north of the tennis courts. Due to growth there is growing anticipation in numbers for sporting events at the park for tournaments, practices and hosting more home games. Thirty-seven residents in the park area were visited on September 7th by the Athletic Association to explain the project and to notify them when the project would be presented to the Village Board. The approximate cost of the project is $125,000 including permits, excavation, fencing, outfield, infield, scoreboard and lighting. Chad Cook explained the possibility of using Park Impact fees toward the portion of the project that is contributable to grow. Currently there is $128,000 in the Park Impact Fee Fund that will be forfeited by 2013 if not spent on new projects due to growth. The Facility Needs Assessment and Impact Fees Study would need to be amended to determine the contributable portion to this project. Jim Murray a coach and member of the Kewaskum Athletic Association Board expressed there definitely is a need for an additional diamond but stated he had concerns about the lighting, the diamond being located 135 feet from his property line, parking, congestion and the need for the KHS to contribute proceeds for using the park diamonds. Sectional efforts are a bright spot

Statesman Correspondent

KAUKAUNA- From August to late September, there were some frustrating days for the inexperienced Kewaskum girls golf team, but come tournament time, there was a light that shone out of the tunnel.

Brittany Duarte and April Basterash qualified for the Division 2 Sectional hosted by Freedom on Oct. 4, and the two gave a good account of themselves, shooting 102s on the Irish Waters Golf Course.

The two Lady Indians were far off the qualifying standards — The Prairie School and Denmark finished 1-2 with respective scores of 334 and 359, while it took an 84 to advance to the state tournament — still coach Amy Uhlig was well satisfied.

"They both went out on good notes, shooting their best rounds of the season," Uhlig said, reporting Duarte, a junior, came in with nines of 55 and 47 for her 102. The 47 was the first round in the 40s by any of the Indians this year.

Basterash was very steady as indicated by her 50-52.

"We had a goal of trying to break 100," Uhlig went on, reporting Basterash ended with a nine on the last hole, keeping her from the 90s while Duarte had two bad holes on the first nine, so "Obviously she came back nicely on the back nine" where she had a birdie.

Uhlig knew losing five seniors from the 2010 squad would be hard to overcome, but she said, "We got better as the year went on, and I think we'll continue to improve."

Indians prowl past Panthers remaining undefeated

The Indians' Mack Donath stops the Panthers's Eric Roberts on the opening kickoff of the second half during Friday's game against Plymouth. The Indians won 33-28.

It could have been one of those calls legends are made of - an onside kick moments after taking a one-score lead that led to another touchdown and changed the course of an entire season.

There's where Kewaskum was last Friday night against fellow undefeated conference rival Plymouth.

After taking a 12-7 lead in the third quarter and taking some momentum, the Indians bounced the kickoff past the right hash mark and recovered. Barely 30 seconds later they were up, 20-7, and never looked back.

Behind a career night for star running back Eric Perkins, the Indians won the game, 33-21, and a share of the conference title for the first time in three years.

The call invoked the memories of Sean Payton's onside kick to start the second half that keyed the Saints' win in Super Bowl XLIV a couple of years ago. It looked like Bill Cowher's surprise onside to put Pittsburgh back in the game against the Cowboys in Super Bowl XXX in 1996. It could have gone down in the annals of Kewaskum football history and given Coach Jason Piittmann career-defining guts.

It was, in fact, none of those things.

"No. it was a squib kick that he mis hit," said Piittmann.

Strong legged junior kicker Hunter Flanders, who can reach the end zone on kickoffs, was instructed to try a squib kick. This boot, however, looked more like an onside kick than a squib, bouncing around unpredictably for seemingly minutes on end. Junior Nick Banks jumped on it and held on.

"One of the guys hit it backwards and I just turned around and grabbed it," he said. "It was amazing, just the greatest feeling in the world."

It led to some of the greatest feelings in the world the Indians will ever have - as they were later reminded by one of the finest alums now serving in the Marines - beating the Eastern Wisconsin Conference rival that beat them the last two years to win the EWC.

And it included some of the worst feelings and some of the scariest moments on a football field. A late hit out of bounds on Plymouth's quarterback Kollin Neills late in the game sent him off on a cart and got an Indian ejected and thus suspended for this week's game. Roughing the kicker two plays later sent Jack Heginbottom off on a stretcher, treated as if he had a serious neck injury.

Both players were later reported to be OK and could play this week.

"A lapse of judgment a little bit. We don't teach dirty play. It's a game where kids get going fast and sometimes things happen. I apologize that they did happen but that's not who our program is. I strive for us to be a hard hitting but clean program," said Piittmann.

The several-minute delay in the game to tend to both Panthers put a damper on an otherwise special night. Kewaskum walked off the field in near silence as if they had lost their first game of the year, some Indians emotional and others too shell shocked and embarrassed to talk.

Almost lost in the mix was Eric Perkins' career-high five-touchdown performance, which he called one of his one of best all-around games of the season. Perkins had 30 carries for 169 yards, about his average output for the year, and only racked up 15 yards on his longest run when he often sprang one for 50 at least once per game.

But he was playing against one of the best defenses in conference and the best he's faced yet this year, and he took his game to the next level. A juke here, a spin move there, then a sprint to the outside to outrace the Panthers - Perkins put it all on display in the second half.

"He showed speed, he showed power, he showed his agility," said Piittmann.

"Right in the halftime all of us were just so upset at how we were playing so we just came out and tried to get the ball in players' hands, we all went to work," said Perkins.

He got some help from an all-conference line that began to dominate up front and downfield, especially on the right side led by Brad Bottleman and Garrett Yahr.

"We do not want to lose and we wanted the perfect season, and we had to come out a lot tougher in the second half. I think we were staying on our blocks longer and actually getting downfield. In the first half we were getting stoned at the line," said Yahr.

"We just had to pound it down and keep moving the ball and keep staying on our blocks to open up bigger holes," said Bottleman.

The Indians and Panthers played to a stalemate in the first half, the difference being another botched extra point attempt by Kewaskum, which has had trouble of late. A new long-snapper and holder have been tried to solidify the kicking process.

Down 7-6, Kewaskum held the Panthers to a three and out to start the third quarter and scored on their first possession. Perkins started and stopped, and ran through arm tackles to score from 15 yards out on an off-tackle run.

After recovering the wannabe squib kick on Plymouth's 35, Perkins took a swing pass on the move, spun around one defender and bolted his way for a 20-yard gain. Then he raced down the left sideline and did his patented dive to the end zone, reaching the ball past the pylon as he slid well past the goal line.

Plymouth mounted a drive to try and answer, but a tipped pass fell into an Indian's arms and Kewaskum had the ball back at its own 35.

Quarterback Sam Olla rolled to his right and found his first read covered. He bought enough time to let tight end Andy Doll come all the way across the field and hit him in stride for a 27-yard pickup.

Olla, Perkins and fullback Teddy Wollner mostly took over from there, with Perkins finishing the drive from 10 yards out. It was 27-7 with 51.7 seconds left in the third and Kewaskum could nearly taste a share of the EWC title.

The Panthers fielded the kickoff and stepped out of bounds at their own three, and after two short first downs that looked to cover about nine yards each, Neills hit Jake Klemme on a 78-yard bomb down the right sideline. At 27-14, the game was far from over.

The teams exchanged punts and the Panthers had tightened its defense to try to stop Perkins. Olla made note and executed the next biggest play of the game, a bootleg down the right sideline for 48 yards, taking the ball to Plymouth's 13. He said he didn't find a need to tell anyone about it except offensive coordinator Russ Cross.

"No one was respecting me at all, so told Cross I'm booting and not telling anyone," he said. Olla stayed true to his word, faking the handoff to Perkins and turning and sprinting untouched for most of his run, juking one Panther before being pushed out of bounds.

"Oh no. No one knew. Eric ... he stopped right in the backfield and started looking at me," he said.

Perkins later scored again and it was 33-14 with 3:59 to play. The game was on ice.

The Indians have a share of the EWC title with their first win over Plymouth in three seasons and can win the championship outright this week with a win at Sheboygan Falls.

"It's great. It was our goal this year to beat these guys and now we've got more goals," said Banks.

"Like we said at the beginning of the week, this is our first week of the playoffs. Now round two comes next week," said Perkins.

They don't want a repeat of last week's poor play toward the end of the game.

"That was just embarrassing," Perkins said.

"Just stupid football. Got to clean that up," said Yahr. "It feels really good, but it would have been better if we didn't do stupid stuff."

A win this week means more than just a conference title. It could likely lead to a No. 1 seed in the playoffs rather than a No. 2 seed the last couple of years, and thus possibly an extra home game in the postseason.

A letdown should be avoidable. Sheboygan Falls is at 4-2 in the EWC at 5-3 overall.

"They're in the playoffs. Plus the fact, you know, we don't want to share it. We want to win it outright," said Piittmann.

Notes: A real hero was presented the game ball in the post-game huddle on the field. Josh O'Brien, 2009 Kewaskum grad, was in town visiting friends and family before going back to Camp Pendleton in California for three weeks, and then heading to Afghanistan. The Indians stood up from their one-kneed stances to applaud their former teammate.

"He was a key part of our team here a couple years ago (lineman). We have that connection with our kids that once you're part of our program you're always part of the program whether you're here or whether you're halfway around the world," said Piittmann. "Just wanted to wish him the best and he gave the guys a great message, too. You remember these nights forever. During desert training, you remember football games under the lights. Don't do stupid things and get yourself in trouble."

O'Brien is an artilleryman in the Marines.

"It's good to be home, remembering where you came from," said O'Brien as he stood on the sideline before the second half was about to start.

He said being home helps remind him of why he is willing to serve in the first place.

"I'm going to protect my country for towns like this," he said, calling Kewaskum a friendly place "you'd never want anything bad to happen to."

Lady netters nearly win Waupun road trip

WAUPUN - Up and down, back and forth, the momentum swung like a hot potato Tuesday in a matchup of two of the conference's top volleyball teams. Several-second rallies lasted seemingly for minutes on end, with fans on both sides inching toward the end of their seats with each passing ball.

Kewaskum pummeled Waupun in the first game, and then lost the next two with a valiant comeback attempt falling short in the second followed by a blowout in the third. The Indians used another improbable comeback in game 4, this time pulling it out to force a fifth and deciding contest.

A fittingly nip-and-tuck game ended with Waupun on top, foiling Kewaskum's bid to beat the Warriors in who knows how long. In a playoff-like atmosphere, the Indians lost, 25-10, 23-25, 16-25, 25-21, 11-15.

Senior Kayla Bastian led Kewaskum with 25 kills, mixing in her power, tips and sets to keep the Warriors' defense off balance. When she wasn't pounding it down the line, she softly set it from the left to right corner, finding an open spot there most of the night.

"Kayla was great. First game I think she was eight for nine, eight kills in nine attempts. I'm glad she's on our team," said Coach Joe Moser.

Junior middle hitter Anna Aycock had 15 kills, six blocks and four aces. She served as an annoyance up front all night long for the Warriors, matching some of their usually strong blocking.

Heidi Johnson had 30 assists and Sabrina Boehlke 12.

"Man, the way we came out in that first game I was excited. That's the way I know our team can play. We had, I think, two errors in that game," Moser said.

Waupun came out flat on its senior night, and it looked like the Indians could sweep if the rest of the match went like game 1.

This was the first season in recent memory that Kewaskum actually had a real chance to knock off one of the state's most dominant programs in the last decade or so, and the Indians knew it coming in. Unlike other years, the match wasn't a forgone loss, usually in a sweep.

The Warriors, however, didn't exactly give up their stranglehold on the Eastern Wisconsin Conference (EWC) willingly.

In game 2, Waupun's blocking and digging picked it up a notch, building a 17-7 lead and forcing Kewaskum to call timeout. Johnson then served the Indians back to 17-16, and Kewaskum tied the game at 18-18 on a Sam Smallish ace. The Indians came back from double digs down and had all the momentum on their side. Ties ensued at 19-19, 20-20, 21-21, 22-22 and 23-23 before a Warrior block and kill ended the game in the home team's favor.

The Warriors used the momentum to cruise in game 3 and for most of game 4. Down 14-7 in the fourth with the match looking to be over, back came the Indians again. Smallish served them to 18-16, and two monster Bastian kills tied the game at 19-19.

This time, Kewaskum wouldn't let up.

Aycock served the game to 24-19, using a Whitney Bastian tip, two Kayla Bastian kills and an ace off a diving Warrior for point 24.

Whitney Bastian blocked a ball right to an open middle for game point, and the teams were tied, 2-2, headed into the final.

In a game that didn't have a two-point difference until Waupun had a 10-8 edge, Kewaskum's passing and attacks weren't quite enough. Waupun survived and kept itself in the driver's seat for another conference title.

Some Indians became emotional after coming so close in such a draining match. The ball passed over the net several times on many points, sometimes in pinball-like fashion at the net, others in hard kill attempts tipped, blocked or dug out. Neither team gave in, and errors were few and far in between in a quality volleyball match.

Kewaskum slipped to 8-2 in the EWC, and Waupun moved to 9-1. Plymouth on Tuesday was scheduled to play Two Rivers, a game on paper that should have moved the Panthers to 9-1.

It makes Saturday's EWC mini-tournament at New Holstein in which all teams each play four matches all the more interesting. Waupun and Kewaskum play again, and Waupun faces off with Plymouth, which handed the Warriors their only conference loss.

"Hopefully, they've got a chip on our shoulder and we can play hard and we can work on some pass, serve receive this week and clean that up because that's the one thing that really killed us," said Moser. "We couldn't get the ball to our setter and that took away all of our good hitters and then we're pretty one-dimensional."

One thing is for sure. Kewaskum can come back, regardless of the score.

"We're pretty good at playing from behind. They don't give up. We've got fight, that's for sure, and we'll play all the way to the bitter end," Moser said. "But it just wasn't our night."

On Saturday, Kewaskum plays Kiel, Two Rivers, New Holstein and ends the day with Waupun.

Last Thursday against Two Rivers, Kewaskum won, 25-17, 25-14, 25-16. Kayla Bastian had nine kills and Aycock eight. Johnson and Boehlke each had seven assists. Kelsey Phillips had eight digs and Bastian seven.

Heat slows down Indian runners

Kewaskum's cross country team didn't set any personal records last week but all the runners pushed through the heat.

Jared Sanborn led the boys at the 5-kilometer course in Columbus Parc in Campbellsport, running a 21:19 for 45th.

Matt Vogt and Ian Airaudi ran together, finishing two seconds apart. Vogt came in at 23:23 in 65th and Airaudi in 23:25 in 66th.

For the girls, Tess Bandy finished the 3K in 67th in 21:51. April Stern ran a 22:31 for 73rd.

Allie Schmidt, still recovering from an ankle injury, ran a 25:16.

"The weather was hot and a steep hill slowed down many runners. Although no Kewaskum runners finished with a personal record, they all pushed themselves," said Coach Heidi Korth.

The Eastern Wisconsin Conference meet will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at Kewaskum High School.

When one of these looks you in the headlights look for one of the only body shops in the downtown Kewaskum area.
