Wayne day care provider facing child abuse charges

By Gay Griesbach
Statesman Correspondent

TOWN of WAYNE- A 54-year-old woman who allegedly broke the arm of a six month old child under her care will appear in a Washington County Court May 30.

Because Cheryl Dickman, who runs Dickman Family Day Care, was providing services at the time of the incident, she could face up to eight and a half years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Dickman was licensed by the state to care for up to eight children at her town of Wayne home on January 8, when the incident allegedly occurred. When a Washington County detective interviewed Dickman, she stated the child woke up from a nap that afternoon and was crying. When Dickman turned the child by the arm to retrieve a pacifier, she heard a "pop," the criminal complaint states.

Dickman thought she may have dislocated the child's arm, but did not notify the mother until she arrived to pick up the baby, about two hours later.

When interviewed, the mother said Dickman described the incident and told her she might have dislocated the child's elbow.

When the mother took the baby to the Kewaskum Clinic, a spiral fracture was discovered.

When reviewed by a child abuse pediatrician, the doctor said the injury was not consistent with Dickman's description of the event because of the force necessary to inflict the frac-

Gruber best of show in EWC art exhibit

Rachel Hassler and Jenalee Berry of the Kewaskum High School art department made the difficult choice of which pieces of student art to enter in the annual Eastern Wisconsin Conference Art Show.

"We enter pieces every year, we just choose a variety of media, variety of students, and the best work we have to showcase our wonderful artists," Hassler said. "This is my eighth year teaching here at KHS and the show has been going on for many years."

Hassler and Berry each picked twelve pieces of art from their students' work; they are allowed twenty-five per school. The pieces included flat drawings in pencil and charcoal to paintings to 3D pieces of sculpture, wire, and stained glass lampshade and sun catcher.

"We (teachers) collaboratively judge the work of a school other than our own," Hassler said. "Nine of the pieces win an award, and one piece from each school receives 'Best of Show.'"

Medals and trophies are given out to the ten winners and placers and the art is returned to the student after the show.

Billie Gruber, a junior at KHS, won Best of Show this year for her sculpture, Pieces of Me. "I wanted to do some pottery. I started off making it small, but as I added to it, it kept getting bigger and bigger," she said. "I was trying to compete with my brothers and thought of something they might do. Our family is artistic."

The project took seventy-four days to create, building from the ground up. Gruber has been taking art classes since middle school and hopes to study art in the future, perhaps getting a potter's wheel and creating pottery.

Man hunt ends after five day ordeal Child Abuse

By Gay Griesbach

Statesman Correspondent

A 38-year-old man is back in custody and facing charges after a manhunt that kept people in rural Kewaskum on edge for five days.

Larry James Arnold, who was at large in the towns of Kewaskum and Farmington since April 20, was taken into custody by Washington County Sheriff's deputies April 25.

Arnold will be held on charges stemming from two residential burglaries in Washington County and counts of bail jumping after he failed to make court appearances in a disorderly conduct case in Wood County, a WCSO release states.

The sheriff's office issued an alert on April 23, after Arnold's car was found abandoned on a snowmobile path in the Kettle Moraine State Forest.

Arnold, a registered as a sex offender, was convicted of second-degree sexual assault of a child in 1995, a release from the WCSO states. His criminal history includes charges of disorderly conduct, causing injury by drunken driving, eluding, resisting and obstructing officers and possession of drugs and drug paraphernalia.

Once captured, Arnold told a detective that on April 19, he had taken eight doses of Adderal, a medication that contains amphetamine and is used to treat attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) and narcolepsy.

Contemplating suicide, he abandoned his car, threw away his phone and car keys and walked into the forest with a razor blade, according to a criminal complaint from Washington County.

Arnold decided against killing himself, but spent the night in the state forest after hearing sirens.

On April 24 deputies were called to a residence in the 2700 block of East Moraine Drive when a caretaker confronted a bare-footed Arnold, who fled after an exchange with the man.

The next day a Washington County deputy responded to a burglary in the 2400 block of E. Moraine Dr. in Farmington. Arnold fled with the officer in pursuit, but was lost in a heavily wooded area.

While deputies from Sheboygan and Fond du Lac Sheriff's Offices and State Park Rangers established a perimeter, county deputies initiated a foot search.

Arnold was located hiding under an old piece of metal.

He was taken into custody, treated for possible frostbite to his feet and transported to St. Joseph's Hospital West Bend.

The child had been taken to day care at Dickman's residence four days a week since August, 2012, the mother stated in the criminal complaint.

State Department of Children and Family Service records show that Dickman's day care license was revoked because of the injury and for failing to notify the parent immediately.

Licensing records show no violations during a partial review in May, 2011 although in February, 2012, a violation is noted because Dickman did not have a current CPR AED card. By September that year, no violations are noted in a state review.

In March, Dickman was granted a $2,500 signature bond but court records note she was barred from contact with the parties involved and was not allowed to provide compensated child care.

Frozen Foods wins state awards

The exceptional quality of meat products produced by Kewaskum Frozen Foods of Kewaskum was recognized at the 74th annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Meat Processors, held in Madison April 4-7. At the Meat Product Show held in conjunction with that meeting, Kewaskum Frozen Foods received the following product awards: Grand Champion Ring Liver Sausage; Reserve Grand Champion Skinless Wieners, and Reserve Grand Champion Cheesewurst.

The Wisconsin Meat Product Competition is the largest of its kind in the United States. Meat processing plants and meat markets from throughout the state this year entered 1,052 individual products into 36 product categories, including summer sausage, bratwurst, ham, bacon, smoked poultry and a variety of other types of meat products.

Over 40 judges including food scientist, out-of-state meat processors, and other food industry professionals were required to effectively evaluate the many products during the product evaluation session on Saturday, April 6. Individual products are scored for external appearance and eye-appeal, internal appearance, aroma, and taste, using a scale of 1,000 points.

The size of this product show and the quality of its entries demonstrates the important role that sausage and processed meats play in Wisconsin's meat industry and among consumers across the state.

I received a letter from Isabelle Muckerheide last week who thought our readers might be interested in a series on Milwaukee Public Television. The series, Mr. Selfridge, centers around an exclusive store in London, England. Isabelle says she knew the original Mr. Selfridge who is a Ripon native. While working in nearby Green Lake, she assisted in catering a dinner in his honor while visiting his hometown in 1946.

Kohlsville Fire Dept. is growing after eight new first responders and four new firefighters are in class training to volunteer time to help others in the community

There will be a lot of excitement in Beechwood this weekend as the last Cheddar Curd Day is held at Beechwood Cheese. The factory, a mainstay in the small community, will close Saturday. They aren't going quietly though, in addition to curd day a brat fry and plant sale will be held and just down the road at Beechwood Fire Department there will be an indoor rummage sale from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. There are to be multiple sellers which should result in a large variety of items for sale. Check out their advertisement in this week's edition.

The steers at Keith & Vicki Bartel's farm must really be "stuck in the mud" with all this rain, they haven't been seen out of the fence lately being chased down by neighbors to get them back in.

St. Lucas Lutheran Church will have the Confirmation of its 2013 class at 1:00 p.m. on Sunday, May 5.

The Kewaskum School District, for the first time in many years, has handed out preliminary notices of non-renewals (of contracts) to a small number of educators. According to state law, staff needed to receive those notices by April 30. Superintendent of Schools Jim Smasal stated that nothing is definitive until May 15 however.

Racing action began this weekend at Slinger Super Speedway. After spending the off-season building a new car Ricky "The Rocket" Heinan, 15, of Kewaskum, started out the day qualifying 9th out of 27 cars and finished 9th in his heat race. In the feature race he was running 8th when after the first caution the car developed a mechanical problem and ended the day for the number 26 spot. Ricky now prepares for the opener at Wisconsin International Raceway.

A talent show will return to the stage of Kewaskum High School. Choir Director Andy Dahlberg announced the show will take place on May 10th. This is a fundraiser for the middle and high school show choirs. Local residents are encouraged to participate and are sure to be mentioned in this column! Oh and a cash prize will be awarded to the winner. Applications can be picked up from the high school.

Local readers of Milwaukee Magazine couldn't have been surprised when they saw Ries' Sausage Plus Spirits of West Bend mentioned in the list of butchers offering Milwaukee's best local meat cases. Meat products from the store come from Kewaskum Frozen Foods who has annually, won awards for their products.

Ethan Boettcher appeared in Washington County Circuit Court Wednesday, April 24 asking for a bail modification to reduce his bail to $150,000 that was set at his initial appearance.

Judge Andrew Goring denied the request according to The Daily News in West Bend. Boettcher has a felony case pending in California.

Boettcher is suspected of making pipe bombs in his Farmington home. He is facing four felony charges and a misdemeanor charge for possession of drug paraphernalia.

Thanks for the comments on our social media coverage of Larry Arnold search. Recognition should go to the Washington County Sheriff's Office for their hard work in this event. Many residents stated they were locking their doors and being extra vigilant throughout the ordeal. Just because this person was apprehended is no reason to not be vigilant and lock your doors. Many knew of Arnold's convicted past, but what about those we don't know about? And, let's try not to pass judgment, that's God's job.

Kohlsville Fire Department's "SMOKER" was held April 20th. The community and surrounding firefighters came out to win a chance in the "Money Machine" and do some gambling for cash and door prizes. Leander Herriges was first in the machine and started off with money sticking to his face while in the machine. Other community members won over $7,750 in prize money. Proceeds from this event will go towards improving fire equipment. Robbie Krantz is shown above in the Money Machine.

Families try their hand at decorating an art maze at the Kettle Moraine YMCA's Healthy Kids Day Saturday. Visitors were encouraged to get active and stay healthy with a number of free activities.

The Kettle Moraine YMCA and Kewaskum Elementary School hosted two events that will allow area kids to enjoy a healthy and active summer.

On April 27, families were invited "get a jump on summer" at the Y's Healthy Kids Day.

YMCA Marketing and Membership Director Shanna Leider said the free event gave parents and kids ideas to keep healthy and active all summer long.

On April 18, three organizations came together - Kewaskum Cares About Kids, Best U Food Force (BUFF) and the Kewaskum School District - to present an Eat and Play night at Kewaskum Elementary School.

Information provided by the Y states that only 19 percent of children get an hour of physical activity and only 12 percent eat at least eight fruits and vegetables daily.

At the Y Jessica Lemberg, an education assistant at Museum of Wisconsin Art, helped visitors indulge their artistic side while getting a bit of exercise.

Youngsters climbed through tubes and boxes that were used during the MWA's recent move to add their own special touch to the maze/sculpture.

In one of the racquet ball courts, Tristan Conant, 12, Elmhurst, Ill, gave disc golf a try.

Conant, who was visiting grandparents Scott and Ruth Ann Phaneuf in the town of Farmington, says he isn't a big video gamer; he would rather play tennis, swim, hike or hang out with friends.

"I'm more of an outdoorsy type," says Conant.

So is Kendrick Miller, a member of Boy Scout Troop 762 who was "camped" outside the Y.

Miller says while he watches television and plays video games, he prefers monthly campouts, hiking and cooking opportunities offered by the troop.

Judging from his appetite for vegetable spaghetti, a blend of carrots, zucchini, kohlrabi and summer squash, Landen Jahn, 5, enjoys his veggies.

Mom Emily Jahn says she blends kale with fruit to make smoothies and tries to incorporate healthy snacks for Landen every day.

At Kewaskum Elementary, BUFF member Paula Carlton said the evening kicked off with a few contests that were popular with students and families.

BUFF is a group of health caregivers, wellness experts and educators who believe in the importance of healthy food. Carlton, a nurse practitioner, says in her 8,565 hours of annual clinic time, she may see a patient for an hour or two.

"For all those other hours, they are responsible for their body," says Carlton. "The more education we can have on what is important - how to eat and exercise - the healthier we can be."

Wayne Elementary Principal John Platais and Farmington Principal Tom Fischer Farmington pitted their push up and three-legged race skills against 19 fourth and fifth grade student ambassadors.

The ambassadors have been providing fellow students with challenges and tips on how to fuel their bodies and make healthy food choices throughout the school year. Fourth grade Wayne Elementary Ambassador Emma Rolf told her story, about what Fuel Up to Play 60 means to her, how she looks forward to tastings every Monday morning and likes encouraging other kids to walk around the outside of the school before starting their day.

The Eat and Play was a celebration of the ambassador's efforts as well as the culmination of their message, Carlton says.

She said about 100 parents and students turned out to snack on dairy, taste test a rainbow of veggies that included beet and jicama chips, blueberries and kumquat, and took turns tossing basketballs and footballs, playing push up tag, jumping rope, trying the hula hoop and doing a few bicep curls.

In addition to having fun, the games were part of the NFL's Play 60 Challenge and giveaways included 10 life-sized cardboard cutouts of Packer Jordy Nelson. Part of a nationwide challenge, Carlton said it could result in a visit from an NFL player to the school.

Woody finds home in Wayne Schoofs-Ziebell

By Gay Griesbach

Statesman Correspondent

It took 20 years, but Woody, a grey-freckled Paso Fino gelding found his forever home with Joe and Jennifer Merkes.

Woody, who came from the Midwest Horse Welfare Foundation, found his best friend in Joe.

"When I go in to feed him, instead of eating right away, he'll wait to get an extra hug or pat first," says Joe, who lives on a five-acre mini farm in the town of Wayne.

Although their vet tells them Woody is about 20 years old, the Merkes' only know about the past five years or so of the horse's history, and most of it isn't a rosy picture.

Jennifer Merkes says a woman lent the horse to a friend and the next time she checked on him, Woody was frightfully skinny. She turned him over to MHWF, where he was cared for, given steroids, grain, veterinary care and food.

The MHWF is a non-profit organization dedicated to finding homes for horses that otherwise might not find a caring home. Located in Pittsville, WI, the MHWF is a Global Federation of Animal Sanctuaries verified equine sanctuary. Since the organization began 13 years ago, nearly 1,000 horses have been placed in caring homes.

When Woody was in better condition he was adopted out to a couple who, when the economy took a turn, couldn't afford to keep him.

He returned again to Midwest skinny and hungry and was nursed nearer to his normal weight when the Merkes' found him.

After their 34-year-old horse Honey died three years ago, Jennifer, the more experienced rider, started to look online for a replacement.

"I'm a green rider," says Joe. "I grew up on a farm. We had cows."

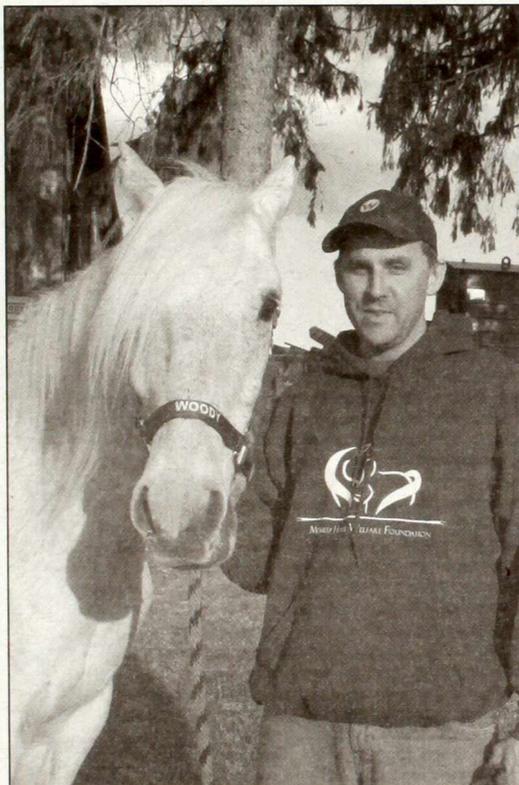

Jennifer checked out Midwest's horses and had one in mind for Joe, but MHWF Co-Director Karen Bayerl knew better.

"She handed Joe Woody's lead and I don't know what happened," says Jennifer, who suggested they continue looking. "Joe said, 'We can look, but Woody's coming home with us.'"

"When I first met Woody, I knew right away he the horse for me," says Joe. "Our seven-year-old son can ride him; he's a safe horse."

The horse came to live with the family in June last year, but Jennifer says they don't own Woody outright.

Midwest retains ownership for five years and during that time the Merkes' have to submit annual records that prove the horse has been cared for.

While Joe and his family have provided Woody with a safe, caring environment, Woody has also brought a new experience to Joe.

Jennifer, who keeps up with the MHWF forum, found that renowned trainer Chase Dodd was doing a seminar and competition in Madison April 21.

Dodd, the two-time winner of the Extreme Mustang Competition and a two-time Colt Starting Competition Champion is a supporter of horse rescue organizations and wanted to pit his skills against those of ten rescue horses and their amateur riders.

To even up the odds, Dodd used a horse that had never been ridden or saddled.

That's how Joe and Woody found themselves competing in Chase the Equine Dream Challenge.

Four of the ten horses in the competition were from MHWF, but Jennifer said they were amazed at the support got from fellow Midwest supporters, who helped with Woody's grooming and offered extras they didn't know they'd need at the competition.

Merkes came within three points of Dodd's score, and while he says if he had it to do again, he would change a few things, he adds, "Woody had fun and I had fun."

It is said inspiration can strike at any time, and for Brenda Strack life began to imitate art while she was milking cows part time near her town of Scott home.

Strack's first play, "Dairy Men: A Moo-sical" will premier at the Gateway to the Arts Festival Saturday, May 11.

Strack started milking cows part time for neighbors because she wanted a job close to the couple's farm, which has been in her husband Doug's family for over 100 years.

"What I didn't know going in was that there's a lot to milking cows," says Strack.

She also found it was more fun than she expected.

"At both places I worked they told me, 'If there's anything going on here you don't want anyone to know, don't tell the milk haulers,'" says Strack, who is quick to add the milk haulers she knew were never gossips. "They were traveling information transmission technicians."

She also found quiet moments that led to bovine musings.

"When you put on the milkers, you have three and a half minutes to do nothing. I was always making up jingles in my head," said Strack.

All of it found its way, in one fashion or another, to her musical.

"There's a midlife crisis, a love story – it's got it all," says Strack, adding that patrons will leave the theater "loving cows and dairymen and appreciating how important they are to the continuation of the human race."

The couple has four children – a grown daughter, Stevie, Bennett, 19, Alex, a sophomore at Kewaskum High School and Carlee, a sixth grader at St. Lucas Lutheran School. When her children were involved in plays, she'd offer her help back stage.

"I've always been drawn to the theater," says Strack.

She was in the audience when Bennett was an actor in "Cheeseheads: The Musical," a musical about a group of cheese workers at a small company who win the lottery.

On the last night of the play, the audience was invited to a question and answer session with one of the authors. A woman asked the playwright how he went through the process of writing a musical. During his explanation, he said by the time he devised a clever title, the musical became a preoccupation/Strack experienced a moment of clarity.

"I had already thought of the title. I knew I had it all in my head. I just needed to go home and put it on paper," said Strack.

While writing the play was easy for her, she didn't know a thing about writing music.

That's where Strack's solo voyage became a group effort.

She enlisted the help of her sister, Melanie Wiltse.

Wiltse, who was a vocal and piano major at Central Michigan University and the University of Wisconsin – Stevens Point, teaches private harp and piano lessons and makes harps, dulcimers and other stringed instruments at her Stevens Point studio.

Before spending time together visiting an aunt in Tennessee last year, Strack convinced Wiltse they would have nine days to figure out the music.

"She had no idea what it took to do a musical score," says Wiltse.

Wiltse had a better idea of the work involved, but once she was in the process, she found it usually takes 10 years to write and score a musical.

While Wiltse has completed the musical's piano and vocal scores, it will take a few more days to complete the written music for the pit band.

Not only has the experience brought Strack and her sister closer, she found a new friend and director in Diane Thomas.

Ford asked retired West Bend High Schools English teacher Diane Thomas to give the play a look.

Thomas, who taught literature for 30 years, has directed plays at the high school and worked with children's productions at UWWC, West Bend's Musical Masquers and the Menomonee Falls Patio Players.

She agreed to give it a read-through and provide a few tips.

"We became friends and she asked if I could direct for her," says Thomas. "Brenda is so passionate about Wisconsin dairy farmers and what they do – it's appealing to me."

It's nothing like any play I've directed or acted in before. It's spirited and funny. The music blends new with the old and Mel is a sweetheart to work with," Thomas says.

In turn, Thomas also brought in a few acting friends for auditions and retired Kewaskum High School instructors Dave Bertelsen and Larry Ammel are teaming to give the play its musical direction.

KCA: A Differentiated Experience

By Casey Bennet, Valarie Boehm, and Scott Jorlin

If you talked to your child's teacher or visited the schools lately, you are no doubt hearing more and more about the importance of differentiation in education today. Differentiation is a way to teach to all the differing abilities of the students within each class. The intent is to maximize each individual student's growth and success by meeting their current needs, rather than expecting the students to modify themselves to reach the curriculum. On any given day, the needs of the students who attend Kewaskum schools can vary dramatically and meeting these needs can be challenging. At Kewaskum Career Academy the high amount of differentiation is a big part of what makes the program work. We interviewed teachers at KCA about their experiences with the school and compared the similarities and differences between KCA and a more typical high school.

We asked the teachers, "What is different about the classes at KCA compared to the high school?" They said that KCA students are allowed to work at their own pace, and create their own educational pathways, which means they are also expected to take on more personal responsibility for their coursework and their progress. "Greater flexibility may create a more engaging curriculum, but it also creates a need for the student to take on greater control or they are likely to sink further behind." Still another teacher said that there is a lot of differentiation going on, and more one on one contact, which can build a "family atmosphere." However, the teachers reminded us that regardless of methodology, "our students are required to meet the same state and district standards as all students."

Another question we asked was: "How are the lessons different than those taught at the high school?" We were told that the instructional methods are highly differentiated, so that course work can be adapted to meet the academic needs of each student. For example, because of the smaller number of students, "we have ordered texts and materials that will meet the needs and interests of the specific student. We have used texts and online materials at various levels to get kids interested as well as from colleges to challenge those students who excel in specific areas. It's a good way to keep them from getting bored with the curriculum."

Some students find it hard to get used to these differences. Students aren't allowed to get any grade below a "C," so they may need to rework their products until they get it right. Also, because there are few lectures, the students are expected to learn the material independently, instead of having it delivered directly by the instructor. This can be difficult at first, even though they are allowed to remake their course where appropriate. One KCA teacher said, "the trick is to find something the student is interested in enough to work on it independently and use that to drive the learning as far as you can. Then, change it up and go a little deeper."

A lot of kids like the more independent environment at KCA, so we asked teachers, "Do you feel it is important to maintain that atmosphere?" We got answers such as: "Yes, I think it is important to treat kids as adults, though certain students don't handle it well." However, one teacher answered this question like this: "No, I find it important for them to maintain it. [The atmosphere] can change at any time, kids have to show that they work and function better in this atmosphere." The consistent message is to have the student take responsibility for their successes and failures and the results as well.

When we asked, "what is the best and worst part about creating this independence for your students?" The teacher's answers were all very similar. The best part is that some students thrive on it, appreciate being treated as an adult, taking more interest in succeeding at school, and having control over their education. The worst part is that some students do not handle the added responsibility well. "Independent learning sounds great until you realize that you've never learned how to learn that way." Many students have been "almost trained by past experiences to assume failure before they even begin a task, so it is hard for them to just take an idea and run with it." That's when the opportunity for individual support is really important.

"How do you feel about working with fewer students?" Some teachers like the smaller class sizes, and some miss the bigger classes. One teacher said, "I like it, it allows you to get to know the student more in depth and personally, so you can help them more." "If you know that a student is going into one of the trades you can tailor their work to include things like technical and business communications skills like those we used when the students contacted the administration, village, and local businesses to develop the greenhouse and aquaponics projects." They wrote the grant proposal, emails, and letters that lead to the meeting, which they also attended, to gain the experience of interaction on that level. Others are collaborating on articles like this one, for publication.

Another teacher responded, "Some days I miss larger classes." Teaching larger classes is like planning, supplying, and facilitating more than seven hours of performances or meetings everyday, but when you love the content you can create some great moments that just won't work with individuals and small groups. All of the educators agree that for most students, smaller is better, because "a more specific lesson or plan will always help a student engage and succeed."

Although the students love KCA, there are some things that they don't like. The students at KCA have fewer people to socialize with, which can still get you into a tight spot because of talking too much to the people that we can socialize with, instead of working. You get treated as an adult even if you don't want to because the teachers expect you to be responsible and act like an adult and get work done in a reasonable amount of time. Even though KCA has its flaws and things students don't like, it has helped many students reach their goal of graduating and the difference, or differentiation, is a big part of that.

50 Years Ago

March 15, 1963

Plan now to attend the big fifth annual Kewaskum Dairy Day at the high school on March 23. The Kewaskum Business Association has made arrangements for an outstanding program at this event to be held in the gymnasium, agriculture rooms, cafeteria and corridors of the school. The affair, which is entirely free of charge, is again expected to attract a record attendance.

Leading Chevrolet salesmen in the two-state Milwaukee zone for 1962 were announced at Detroit this week by the company. They included Herbert A. Backhaus of Honeck Chevrolet, Inc. of Kewaskum.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hinn of Kewaskum, who purchased the Rudy Kolafa tavern at New Fane, took possession of the business on March 15. Mr. Kolafa has operated the tavern for the past 34 years and at one time also owned the present Joe Reimer tavern in Campbellsport.

Mrs. August (Anna) Hoffmann, 74, of Kewaskum, passed away at Deaconess Hospital, Milwaukee, on March 15.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Domrath of Middletown, CN, on March 8. Mrs. Domrath is the former Geraldine Guttman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Guttman of West Bend, former residents of Kewaskum.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dorzok, Route 1, Kewaskum, on March 8. A daughter was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Giese, Route 2, Kewaskum, on March 8. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Skrentny, Kewaskum, on March 11. A son was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Justman, Route 2, Kewaskum, on March 12.

April 1, 1938

With the Spring weather the forepart of the week, work was resumed in developing the Kewaskum High School grounds into a new and greatly improved athletic field. The grounds, occupied by the baseball diamond, was plowed and graded last Fall before cold weather set in. This week Otto Backhaus and son were at work seeding the field so that grass will make its appearance by the time the baseball season gets underway. Last Fall the school board purchased an additional parcel of land to the east of the baseball grounds from the August Bilgo estate for $1,250.00. This piece of land will hold the ball grounds, which will be moved approximately 200 feet east of its former location, providing a much larger playing field and eliminating the hazard of the school building in left field. The School Board also set aside $700 for the building of a new grandstand. Work on this project was delayed in fall but will be started this weekend or the forepart of next week as part of the equipment has already been transported to the grounds. The spacious grandstand will be erected in the southeast corner of the purchased parcel of land. With the acquisition of this large new area the school will have a campus upon which can be placed a football field, softball diamond and quarter mile track, besides the baseball diamond. The grounds already contain tennis courts and playground equipment.

Release of $75,000 by the state for the beginning of the long time task of creating one of the most unusual parks and forests in America, the Kettle Moraine region which extends through Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Washington, Waushara, Jefferson and Walworth counties was announced in Madison Monday. Several crews are already at work, some of them in Fond du Lac County, preparing the outline of the vast area which eventually will become one of the leading recreation centers in the country. The forest will be a meandering strip of land beginning in northern Sheboygan County, varying in width from two to ten miles and extending south and slightly westward for 100 miles. It will roughly coincide with what geologists know as the kettle moraine. This is the disintegration area of the great glacier that came down from the north in the ice ages, centuries ago and deposited its gravel, sand, boulders, and clay to form what is known as a terminal moraine. A kettle moraine is a terminal moraine marked by huge pits or kettle holes, many of which become lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krueger of Sussex moved their household furniture and blacksmith equipment into the Otto Stark building, near the bridge on East Main Street, the forepart of the week. Mr. Krueger comes to this village very highly recommended and will do general blacksmithing and welding in the former Stark shop.

Death claimed a widely known and well liked young man when Elmer Martin, 34, a resident of this village, passed away on March 28, following a brief illness with nephritis.

A village resident of the Town of Kewaskum since she was 17 years old, Mrs. Leonard Volm, 75, nee Mary Klein, passed away on March 24, death being caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

A baby girl was born to Rev. and Mrs. M.A. Gadow of this village on March 25. A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ensenbach of Route 3, Kewaskum, on March 24. A ten pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Miller of this village on March 27. A nine pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Rauch of South Elmore on March 29. The mother is the former Miss Ruth Menger of Wayne.

March 15, 1913

The first thunderstorm of the season occurred last Thursday night with a heavy downpour of rain. At several places roads were washed out. The river was crowded to more than its capacity hence the water overflowed all low lands adjacent which appeared like large lakes. The final accident reported was that the residence of August Kirchner, 2-1/2 miles southeast of this village, was struck by lightning, doing considerable damage. The bolt struck the lightning rod on the north end of the house and passed to the southeast corner, tearing away the siding strips and ceiling and knocking down the plaster on the inside.

Henry Bremser Sr., aged 86 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louis Habbeck, in the town of Kewaskum on March 9, after an illness of two weeks with bronchitis.

Mrs. Peter Mertes, nee Catherine Reysen, died at her home in this village March 12, after an illness of two weeks, death being due to Brights disease.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hahn of Auburn on February 28. A bouncing baby boy arrived last week Friday to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Hoerig of Kohlsville. Mr. and Mrs. Christ Hoerig, all are the happy parents of a bouncing baby girl since Thursday. A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hawig of Wayne last Wednesday.

March 22, 1913

The sad event of Mr. Oscar Teschendorf's death, of the town of Scott, which occurred on March 15, is herewith made known to the readers of the Statesman. During the morning while in the act of felling a tree, Mr. Teschendorf was struck by a smaller tree, which was broken off by means of the former, fell towards the unfortunate, striking him on the head, causing the deathly blow. His brother was present at the time, who immediately rushed to neighbors for aid. Medical aid was summoned, but before the doctor arrived the young man passed away.

Last Sunday, Palm Sunday, two classes of children were confirmed. One class of 16 by Rev. Mohme in the Evangelical Peace Church and the other, a class of five in the Ev. Lutheran St. Lucas Church by Rev. Greve. The class confirmed in the Evangelical Peace Church consisted of Melvin Brandt, Noah Brandt, Orrie Buss, Edwin Opper, Melvin Schaub, Harry Schaefer, Herman Schaefer, Ralph Schaefer, Lorinda Geidel, Louise Giese, Malinda Guth, Virginia Koepke, Gertrude Mohme, Dora Opper, Gladys Perschbacher and Elva Weddig. The class confirmed in the Ev. Lutheran St. Lucas Church consisted of August Bilgo, August Seefeld, Celesta Martin, Belinda Bassil and Alma Nordhaus.

A class of nine children were confirmed in the St. John's Lutheran Church in New Fane last Sunday, namely Amanda Stange, Alma Backhaus, Frieda Hebera, Elsie Fick, Alma Backhaus, Esther Bleck, Clara Krueger, Walter Oppermer, George Heberer and Eddie Fick.

The sudden death of Mary Anna Hammes, 15, at the home of her parents near St. Mathias, was a great shock to her relatives and many friends. She was taken ill with appendicitis in such a severe form a week preceding her death, and grew worse so rapidly that an operation could not be performed.

The amount available for the improvement of highways in Washington County this year will be $28, 290 being about three times as much as was expected last year.

Four adults leading fairly active lives can be supplied well balanced meals at a cost of $2.50 a week each. This has been proved at the practice cottage of the University of Wisconsin Home Economics Department, where young women are taught practical home making.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sauter of Beechwood last Saturday. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy of Dundee on March 12. A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Bremser, Kewaskum, on March 16. Mr. and Mrs. Jac Schiltz of New Fane are the happy parents of a little daughter who made her appearance last Monday. A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jake Kleinhans of Elmore last week Thursday.

Lady Indians start season 6-0

By Mitch Maersch

Statesman Correspondent

Kewaskum's fast-pitch softball team is off to an undefeated start, and no, it's not because the Indians had their first eight games postponed or canceled.

The Indians were 6-0 entering this week, which may prove to be the most critical in the race for Eastern Conference champ.

Kewaskum was scheduled to play at Waupun for a doubleheader on Tuesday, and at Plymouth for a doubleheader on Thursday. Both are EWC favorites, along with the Indians.

The Indians are coming off of two wins on Saturday, 21-9 over Rosholt and 9-4 over Wrightstown.

Against Rosholt, McKenzie Rosenthal and Jennifer Reicher were each 2-for-2 with three RBIs, and Erica Chesak was 2-for-3 with two RBIs. Cassidy Enright was 1-for-1 with three RBIs.

On the mound, Lindsay Winkler went 3 2/3 innings, allowing nine runs on nine hits, walking seven and whiffing three. Taylore Kohn went 1 1/3 innings, allowing no runs, one hit and striking out three. Against Wrightstown, Reicher went the distance, allowing two earned runs on five hits, whiffing seven and walking four.

At the plate, Rosenthal was 2-for-2 with two RBIs and Enright 1-for-3 with two RBIs. Winkler was 2-for-3 with two RBIs, and Kohn was 2-for-3.

On April 25, the Indians swept a doubleheader against rival Campbellsport, 5-1 and 7-2.

Reicher pitched both games. In the 5-1 victory, she allowed one unearned run on three hits, walking none and whiffing 10. In the second, she allowed one earned run on three hits, walking four, whiffing nine and hitting a batter.

In Game 1 at the plate, Reicher was 2-for-3 with one RBI. Enright was 1-for-3 with one RBI.

In Game 2, Reicher was 2-for-3 with two RBIs. Chesak was 1-for-3 with two RBIs.

The Indians led off the year on April 23 with a sweep at New Holstein, 14-5 and 13-5.

In Game 1, Reicher allowed four earned runs on 10 hits, whiffing nine and walking none. In Game 2, she allowed two earned runs on six hits, whiffing five, walking two and hitting two.

In Game 1 at the plate, Winkler was 3-for-5 with 6 RBIs, a double and a triple. Reicher was 3-for-5 with two RBIs with a double. Chesak was 2-for-3 with two doubles and an RBI.

In Game 2, Reicher was

3-for-3 with three RBIs and two doubles, and Melanie Juech was 1-for-4 with three RBIs. Chesak was 2-for-2 with a double, and Winkler was 2-for-4 with two doubles and an RBI.

Coach Jeff Gosse said the soaked spring actually helped cause the extra time inside helped the girls focus.

"I would say the couple weeks off not playing really helped us in terms of hitting," he said. "We've been very aggressive hitting. From day one and all the way through so far." Reicher, the EWC Player of the Year two years ago, is again dominating on the mound.

"Jenny is pitching well," Gosse said.

Defensively, the young Indians have room for improvement.

"We've got a few things to iron out on defense," said Gosse. While the doubleheaders seem grueling, Gosse said he prefers them to playing five games per week. It allows for practice time and for time to let the team rest. Monday, he said the team was done with practice by 5 p.m.

"We're not going to run into the ground," Gosse said.

The hot start has helped the team mentally as well, especially given its youth.

"I think it's very important, especially with such a young group of kids. Keeps them positive, keeps them working hard. Keeps them willing to learn, keeps their interest up," Gosse said.

Kewaskum entered the week 4-0 in the EWC. Plymouth was 4-1 and Waupun 2-0.

The U7 Gators hosted the Slinger Wave on Saturday. Isaac Morales had multiple saves on defense. Hayden Johnson displayed excellent hustle. Olivia Olson, Autumn Rabe, and Elliot Kemp played good offense. Teamwork and determination helped the Gators to a 4-3 win.

The U7 Wolves played the Slinger wave on Saturday. Wyatt Tye almost scored a goal from all the way across the field off a goal kick. Timothy Hafeman played an aggressive game and Alexander Severance had great hustle down the field and prevented a goal.

The U8 Lions played Slinger and came away with a 3-3 tie after controlling the play for the majority of the game. Carson Rolf, Morgan Adams and Brooke Denman scored for Kewaskum.

The U8 Comets were excited to finally have some nice weather and to be able to get on the field. The entire team played with enthusiasm and energy but lost to the Jackson Lions.

Kewaskum's U9 Eagles hosted the Slinger Cardinals. Sienna Derks played stout defense, and Kiera MacFarlan helped keep a strong offensive pressure that resulted in a 2-1 win.

The U10 Hurricanes did very well given they only had one practice outside and are a brand new team. Luke Bauman scored for the Hurricanes and over-all we are encouraged to see each team member improve as the weeks progress.

The U10 Kickers played Jackson and stretched their winning streak to 13 games dating back to May of 2012. Emma Rolf lead the way with 4 goals. Kennedy Adams added 2 with Lilly Schlosser, Ally Denman and Alyssa Butz each scoring one. Another fine performance by all of the Kickers

See www.kewaskumsoccer.com for information about KYSO and game schedules. Home games are played at Kewaskum Kiwanis Park.

Rapid fire scoring lifts the Lady Indians to first win of season

The Kewaskum High School girls soccer team is shown at New Holstein's goal box during their conference opener on Thursday. The Indians fell 3-0 to the Huskies.

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Scoring was contagious Tuesday afternoon for the Kewaskum High soccer team.

Shannon Miller's unassisted goal just 9 minutes and 37 seconds (9:37) into the contest was the first of 10 by the Indians (1-5) in their 10-1 romp over Two Rivers, and it was their first win of the season.

"It was good to get this one. It should be a fun week for us ... with the four games," KHS coach Luke Piwoni said. "I hope they will all be competitive."

The senior Miller wound up with a "hat trick" three goals, the other two coming at the 18:42 and the final at 55:51 when she sent a bullet into the high right corner of the net against the Raider goalie.

Less than a minute after Miller's first score, Becca Strigenz used her speed to beat a defender and bear down on the goalie for a successful one-on-one goal.

By half, the lead expanded to 6-0 as Jaray Riffel took a pass from Miller and scored at the 21:18 mark and Chelsea Herriges scored her first goal of the 2013 season at 26:14.

Then senior Sarah Boettcher joined the scoring party at 38:00, with the assist going to Riffel.

At the break, Piwoni urged his girls to focus on trapping and passing, and he didn't have to wait long to see evidence of his instruction as Strigenz scored just 56 seconds into the half on a nifty pass from Riffel.

The rest of the goals were all solos, however, with Herriges alertly booting in a ball that had deflected off the goalie after a shot attempt, and Boettcher doing the same in the final minute.

The Indians came close to ending the game early as there were a couple near-misses around the 63-minute mark, just before lightning was sighted to the northwest of the field, prompting a 40-minute delay in the contest.

Two Rivers scored its lone goal off Herriges, who had come on in relief of starting keeper, Ana Gerhartz. It was Herriges' first time in the nets.

Piwoni was excited to get the first win and pleased with better passing and spacing. Concerning the back-and-forth passing of Miller and Riffel, Piwoni said, "They started to work together real nice in the middle ... Both have goal scoring ability so that's nice."

Defensively, "I thought Rae Koss played a nice game. She's our outside right defender," Piwoni said, also praising Olivia Krautkramer, saying, "She always plays a strong game at stopper."

Last week, the Indians lost their Eastern Wisconsin Conference opener to New Holstein 3-0 and then dropped an 8-1 non-conference match to West Bend on Friday.

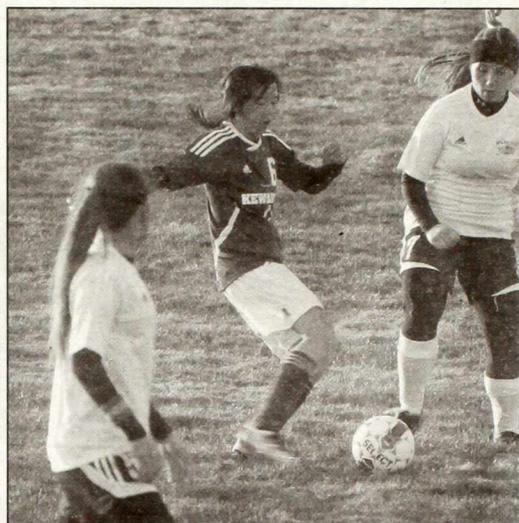

Concerning the loss to the Huskies, Piwoni said, "The score at half was 0-0. We played a good first half, and it was a back-and-forth game with each team having opportunities to score."

One area of improvement was better communication, according to Piwoni, who said the Huskies scored three times in the first 15 minutes of the second half, which was too much to overcome.

Gerhartz made nine saves in the match.

Against the West Spartans, the Indians took a 1-0 lead on a goal by Miller at the seven-minute mark.

"We came out aggressive and were on the attack," Piwoni said, but then, "West started to pick up the aggression and their speed and quickness began to give us problems." Gerhartz had three saves and Hailey Taylor, who took over in the nets in the second half, had 2 saves.

D1 teams edge out Kewaskum track teams at county meet

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

In a field with four Division 1 teams, including a couple powerhouses, the Kewaskum High track teams had little chance for success in the annual Washington County Track and Field Meet held at Slinger on April 23rd.

The Lady Indians came in with 45.50 points to finish seventh. West Bend West overwhelmed the field, scoring 185.50.

In the boys' competition, it was perennial power Germantown leading the field, amassing 165 points, 20 in front of West Bend West, Kewaskum, missing several key performers with injuries and hampered by a lack of depth, finished last with just 16 points.

No doubt about it, the long jump was a good event for the Lady Indians, with freshman Ellie Debelak leaping 15 feet, 3 inches (15-3), good for second place. Fellow classmate Haley Kleinhans added another team point with her eighth-place finish (13-11).

Senior Ashlee Stahl continues to high jump well. Despite having to perform in rainy conditions, Stahl jumped 4-feet, 10 inches (4-10) to finish third in the field. Freshman Megan Ackatz cleared 4-8 for eighth place.

Freshman Abby Reysen came up with an excellent effort in the open 400-meter race, circling the track in 1 minute and 5.13 seconds (1:05.13), good for third place and another six team points.

Pole vaulters Jessica Nurkala and Lauren Treptow cleared 7-6 and 7-0, respectively, to take third and fourth place.

The relay teams also had some success, led by the talented Debelak. In the 4x200, Debelak teamed with Ackatz, Haley Kleinhans and Kristina Lepp to place sixth at 2:00.87, while Debelak, Lepp, Reysen and Sammie Wiskerchen provided a sixth in the 4x400 (4:36.37).

Debelak also picked up a seventh in the 100, with a clocking of 14.03, and the 4x800 relay, comprised of Caley McClyman, Amanda Plachinski, Nurkala and April Stern, took a seventh in the 4x800 relay (11:30.56).

On the boys' side of the ledger, the top place was a third by the 4x100 relay. Teddy Wollner, Brandon Thull, Joey Seitz and Brandon Mikolajczak covered the lap in 47.52, good for fourth place, and the same group turning in a 1:40.32 in the 4x200, good for sixth.

The Indians also got a sixth by the 4x400 relay (3:59.77), with Andrew Buelow, Kevin Etta, Jason Hanson and Greg Rate carrying the baton.

Mikolajczak placed seventh in the 100-meter dash after running a time of 12.19, while the freshman Hanson performed well against more experienced athletes, taking seventh in the 1,600 (4:57.39) and eighth in the high jump (5-6).

Normally the Indians do well in the pole vault, but their top vaulter was not at the meet and Tristan Marx failed to make the opening height.

KHS golfers hit the links... finally

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Finally golfers were able to compete with the sun shining and temperatures in the high 60s.

Under these ideal conditions, Sheboygan Falls fired back-to-back 26s to win the team title by eight strokes at the annual Campbellsport Cougar Scramble held last Saturday at the Auburn Bluffs Golf Course.

"Sheboygan Falls set an all-time record of 52," Kewaskum coach Glenn Eichstedt said, adding, "I think they had something like five eagles." The 52 is 20 under par.

Kewaskum finished seventh in the 10-team field, coming in with a 34-30-64. "Nothing really good, but it was nice to play in warm weather," Eichstedt said, adding the scramble gave his players a chance to work on their games minus the pressure connected with individual play. The team's four seniors, Mike Holt, Nick Banks, Adam Waala and Dustin Heberer, played in the event.

St. Mary's Springs was second at 60, then there were two teams tied at 61 and two more tied at 62.

On Monday, the Indians had a less-than-auspicious Eastern Wisconsin Conference debut, but they weren't alone as five of the eight conference teams ballooned to high scores between 204 and 241 at The Bull in Sheboygan Falls.

The host Falcons were pretty impressive, firing a 166 from its top four counters, including Matt Andrews and Matt Bachmann, who finished 1-2 with respective scores of 38 (2-over-par) and 40.

Perennial power Plymouth also fared well, coming in a 177. Campbellsport placed third at 187, followed by Kewaskum, 204; New Holstein, 207; Waupun, 219; Kiel, 223; and Two Rivers, 241.

"We were talking about trying to shoot somewhere around 180 ... good Lord, we weren't anywhere near that,"

Eichstedt said, but again it was very windy and cold.

Freshman Sean Murray led the Indians scoring parade with a respectable 46, which put him in a tie for ninth overall.

"He's done a nice job so far," Eichstedt said of Murray.

The three senior counters, Holt, Waala and Banks struggled with scores of 49, 52 and 57.

KHS had five matches, including three invitationals and two EWC matches this week. They are at the Port Washington Invitational Friday and the New Holstein Invitational Saturday.
