School visioning to continue in Dec.

School district, community, plan education's future here

Margaret Liebfried walks around at the Visionary Committee, while the tables discuss the questions she provided.

Statesman Correspondent

Sitting around lunch tables in the high school cafeteria, more than 40 people, including those from the Board of Education, district administration, teachers and community members, discussed the educational future of Kewaskum's youth. The newly formed Visionary Committee assembled on Sept. 16 for the first time.

"We tried to organize it so people felt they had a place, had an opportunity to ask questions and to be involved," Superintendent of Kewaskum Schools Jim Smasal said.

The committee was created to include community feedback and input into the board committee processes in regards to how to make positive changes in the district's schools and offer direction for those changes.

"We can't fix everything, but we can prioritize the biggest deficits and look to improve," Troy Hanson, Board Treasurer, said.

At the beginning of the meeting, Smasal gave a presentation of the board's strategic goals -where the school is presently, has been in the past, and how the board hopes the school will evolve.

Margaret Liebfried, interim principal for KMS, is also an educational consultant from Minds ON M&S Associates, LLC and led the meeting. She handed out a list of four questions for the tables to discuss.

The questions asked for opinions on values for the school, school appearances, future expectations and potential obstacles.

As Liebfried expected, the discussion led participants to think of questions they had. Those questions were written on sticky notes and categorized on a board under the selections:

budget, curriculum, enrollment, process, SRO/Safety, building level questions, and building and grounds.

SRO/ Safety for example had the simple question "do facility doors auto lock at the start of school?" More complex questions required an answer/explanation such as "how do you determine which testing protocol is most effective in evaluating student performance (i.e., STAR)?"

Afterward, Liebfried asked each table to discuss their answers to the four questions with the entire committee.

"Overall, I realized there were many people from the community and all had similar themes," Thomas Fischer, principal of FES, said.

Multiple participants voiced opinions for much needed updates to the schools to prepare students for

Gilles retires as DPW director

By Andrew Kuehl
andrew@thestatesmanwi.com

The Village of Kewaskum is without a director for their Department of Public Works after the abrupt retirement of Jerry Gilles. The retirement comes days after it was revealed Village Trustees would discuss eliminating the position.

Gilles retired Friday, at the end of his shift after 22 years of service. He began his career with the Village of Kewaskum on August 15, 1991 replacing the retiring August "Augie" Bilgo, who passed away last year. He was formerly the Superintendent of Wastewater Treatment in Watertown.

At a meeting of the Village Board Monday, Village Administrator Matt Heiser, indicated Gilles' position will remain unfilled. He and Building Inspector Chad Cook would oversee the department.

Heiser also stated he will make a presentation to the board next month on how he believes the village could fill the many aspects of the job internally with staff picking up Gilles' former duties.

Heiser stated the position was one of four that needed to be eliminated due to budget constraints.

The DPW is already short staffed as lead crewman Alan Kuehl has been on vacation and is also set to retire next month.

Heiser also announced at the meeting that Ben Propson has been hired for the open position in the wastewater treatment facility.

In other employee matters, the board changed a policy that required new employees to wait 90 days for health insurance benefits. Heiser proposed the board revise the policy to allow for enrollment on the first day of the next month from when an employee has been hired.

Four out of five district schools 'exceed' state expectations

By Gay Griesbach
Statesman Correspondent

While there is always some trepidation when it comes to opening a report card, the Kewaskum School District is celebrating the state Department of Public Instruction's District Report Card rating.

Four of the district's five schools - Kewaskum High School, Kewaskum, Farmington and Wayne elementary schools all attained an "exceeded expectations" rating while the middle school earned a "meets expectations."

Overall, the district scored at 72.5 out of 100 points, which puts it in the upper half of area schools and gives Kewaskum the highest score in its conference, District Superintendent James Smasal said at Monday's school board meeting.

The DPI's accountability rating scores districts in four priority areas: student achievement in reading and mathematics on statewide assessments; student growth in those assessed areas; closing gaps for reading and mathematics achievement and graduation and postsecondary readiness, which uses several measures as predictors of college and career readiness.

"It's a credit to the teachers, support staff, aides; everyone who makes up our district has been putting their oars in the water and pulling in the same direction," Smasal said.

The district's overall score falls into "meets expectations," in the middle of the DPI's five-category scale that ranges from "Fails to Meet Expectations" to "Significantly Exceeds Expectations."

Smasal says results from the DPI report card are a concrete indicator that the district is on the right track.

"The change that has been going on in the past 18 to 24 months is starting to make sense," Smasal said. "We're starting to see a ripple effect of higher student learning. It's a good sign of what's to come."

Smasal and District Curriculum Director Darcy Budnik would like to see all of the district's schools in the "Exceeds" or "Significantly Exceeds Expectations" categories.

Budnik said overall, she is very pleased with the results.

"We went from 'meets expectations' to 'exceeds expectations' at the high school," Budnik said.

While lagging five points behind state averages for reading and math achievement, Kewaskum High School is ten points higher than the state average in closing gaps in those subject areas and exceeds state averages when it comes to being on track and in postsecondary readiness.

District wide, Budnik attributes improvements to the priority given to the Response to Intervention program in use for the past two years. RTI looks at specific student needs and addresses both student strengths and weaknesses through instruction.

She said the district will continue to focus on literacy and math and invest in professional development for teachers.

Where do our schools rate?

This is the first year the DPI has issued district report cards, which include both attendance and graduation scores. Kewaskum's overall district score for 2012-13 is 72.5 and the rating is Meets Expectations.

Farmington Elementary
2012-13 overall score is 74.7 and the rating is Exceeds Expectations. That score was 77.8 in 2011-12.

Kewaskum Elementary
2012-13 overall score is 76.8 and the rating is Exceeds Expectations. That score was 80.2 in 2011-12.

Wayne Elementary
2012-13 overall score is 77.3 and the rating is Exceeds Expectations. That score was 76.5 in 2011-12.

Kewaskum Middle School
2012-13 overall score is 68.5 and the rating is Meets Expectations. That score was 68 in 2011-12.

Kewaskum High School
2012-13 overall score is 73.9 and the rating is Exceeds Expectations. That score was 69.3 in 2011-12.

Both district and specific-school versions can be accessed online at http://acct.dpi.wi.gov/acct_accountability.

future, which included allowing teachers proper time for prep and training.

In the end, all the sticky notes were viewed by everyone who were encouraged to add additions if other ideas/questions were sparked by reading the board. Those questions will be collected, and typed by the administrative secretary. Every committee member will receive a copy.

"We are going to dissect the questions," Smasal said. "We are going to try to understand the basis for some of the questions, try to glean from the questions - the answers, what general direction do they want us to head into and also find out what other information they need from us to help them lead the district."

The meeting was the first of four scheduled dates. The next meeting will be held Dec.

16 to discuss the answers and get a feel for the direction the district needs to start. At the meeting, action plans will be created to areas of interest in term of short and long-term goals.

Board member, Grace Mueller, eloquently said what it came down to. "Everybody is responsible to educating children," and a group has committed themselves to help Kewaskum's schools improve for the sake of the students.

"What we do with this determines if it is a success or not. We just can't gather this information and not do anything with it. We had to continue to do things. We have to partner with them [community] to succeed," Smasal said.

More information about the visioning committee will be published in future editions of The Statesman.

West Bend becomes second Wisconsin community to offer braille menus in restaurants

Audio and Braille Literacy Enhancement, Inc. (ABLE), in conjunction with the West Bend Lioness Lions Club, is proud to announce that West Bend will become the second community in Wisconsin to offer Braille menus in its restaurants. The cost in being covered by a $500 grant from the West Bend Lioness Lions Club, allowing ABLE to produce the menus at no charge to the restaurants located in the West Bend area.

Cheryl Orgas, ABLE's Executive Director, commented, "As a lifelong Braille reader, I appreciate how wonderful it is to visit restaurants where menus are available in alternative formats. Braille readers will be delighted to experience the independence of dining in these restaurants."

This will be an ongoing project into the winter months. As the Lioness Lions Club members receive the menus from the restaurants, they will be given to ABLE to be printed in Braille. Members will be contacting restaurants in the West Bend area to offer them the option to have Braille menus for their customers.

The West Bend Lioness Lions Club is honored to accept the challenge given at the International Lions Convention in 1925 by Helen Keller when she challenged the Lions to become the "Knights of the Blind."

District to spend $20k on updating policies with firm

By Gay Griesbach
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum School District will be bringing its policy in line with state and federal legislation with the help of a new service.

On Monday the board of education decided on the switch after presentations by representatives of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards (WASB) and Northeast Ohio Learning Association (NEOLA).

NEOLA, which will cost the district $20,000 in startup costs to devise policies and administrative rules for the first two years, came out on top.

"We have 274 policies - some are missing and some haven't been looked at for several years," School Board President Tim Ramthun said.

The district currently uses WASB to craft policy.

Dan Mallin, staff attorney presented information on WASB, which serves about 50 school districts in Wisconsin.

Mallin said WASB provides subscribers with information and resources that can then be used to devise policy locally, but board members were less than pleased with its past performance.

NEOLA representative Richard Zimman said his company assists 1,200 school districts in seven states and Wisconsin policy templates are reviewed by Green Bay law firm Davis and Kuelthau.

While WASB charges by the hour for hands-on drafting of policy, NEOLA representatives provide 25 hours to meet with district personnel to integrate current policy with the use of a template system and puts policies on line where it can be accessed and cross referenced with legal references using a word search.

The final product also comes with forms that can mesh with district policies and can also be cross referenced.

The service will alter templates, integrate and accept unique local policies which the company warrants unless changes are made that would make the policy illegal, Zimman said.

After voting to accept NEOLA's service the board tabled the first reading of a policy that outlines how agendas are prepared and disseminated until the new service takes effect.

Indians Athletics

By Jason Piittmann

Not surprising to most who know me, I enjoy finding wisdom in the world of athletics and coaching by reading about and studying other coaches. We have some great people right here, who I really enjoy learning from. I also try to learn from talking about coaching philosophy with colleagues from various sports and various high schools and colleges. Last but not least, I also enjoy reading about famous coaches. It seems that most of what I find in common with these coaches applies to many facets of life — not just coaching.

Vince Lombardi is one of the legends that come to mind when people list the greatest coaches of all time. Many people are familiar with the stories of Lombardi and his glory years with the Packers. Many of his principles have been embraced by the business world. I've read about Lombardi and other great coaches like John Wooden, Dean Smith, Ed Thomas, Dan Gable, Barry Alvarez, Hayden Fry, Lou Holtz, and others.

When I think of these great coaches, my mind always goes back to what was said by a coach that I know personally and heard speak at a coaching clinic a few years ago. Most readers of this piece won't know who he is. His name is Mark Farley, the head football coach at the University of Northern Iowa, in Cedar Falls, Iowa. UNI is an NCAA Football Championship Subdivision school (formerly Division I-AA).

Coach Farley and I are from the same hometown. He ended up being a walk-on at UNI after driving truck and not going to college right after high school. He earned a scholarship, and became an All-American before embarking on his coaching career as an assistant at UNI, and Kansas University before becoming the head coach at his alma mater.

The great lesson I learned from Coach Farley was to "treat your athletes as they would and could be." What exactly does that mean? You must have high expectations and have to develop and demonstrate a level of trust and confidence in the athletes. You have to be there to help develop them as citizens as well as student-athletes. You also need to be there to mete out the discipline and re-direct them, as needed. On the flip side of that, the athletes need to earn that trust and confidence and demonstrate that they are responsible young adults. They must also be willing to accept constructive criticism, discipline, and re-direction when it comes. Coach Farley has led the Panthers to the NCAA playoffs seven times in eleven years — including three quarterfinal games, two semifinals, and one championship game appearance. I would say his approach has been pretty successful.

In looking back at all of the highly successful coaches I've studied, they all have "treated their athletes as they would and could be." Their athletes also did the things necessary so that, in combination, they have been very successful. I think this is a recipe for success, not only for coaching and teaching, but also for nearly all facets of our lives — including parenting. With high expectations, trust, confidence, and openness to constructive criticism, the sky is the limit!

Recommendations made on use of farm equipment on public roads

Final recommendations on the use of farm equipment on public roads have been submitted to the Wisconsin Legislature for consideration.

After analyzing feedback from a series of town hall meetings and public input from surveys, emails and letters, the Implements of Husbandry (IoH) Study Group prepared a Phase II Addendum Report to the secretaries of the Department of Transportation (WisDOT) and the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP). Those recommendations were forwarded today to legislative transportation committees.

"The IoH Study Group did a thorough job of looking into the effect of agricultural equipment on pavement and structures," said WisDOT Secretary Mark Gottlieb. "The group's recommendations balance the need for agricultural productivity with the prudent management of our highway system."

"It's important to remember these recommendations were drafted after listening to what people in the agricultural community had to say," added Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection Secretary Ben Brancel. "These options allow farmers to do their job while recognizing the need for public safety and the protection of our infrastructure. It's now up to the legislature to decide."

Final recommendations include:

- Create a clearer, simpler definition of IoH to reflect today's agricultural equipment, which would also include a definition for commercial motor vehicles used exclusively for agricultural operations.

- Require all IoH that cross over the centerline of the roadway during operation to meet the lighting and marking standards of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers (ASAE S279).

- Create a 60-foot limit for a single IoH and a 100-foot limit for combinations of two IoH. For combinations of three IoH the limit is 70 feet, but a three IoH combination may operate at lengths exceeding 70 feet, to a limit of 100 feet, at a speed no greater than 20 miles per hour.

- Create a new IoH weight limit which is up to 15 percent weight allowance more than currently established by the federal bridge formula. This equates to a maximum single axle weight of 23,000 pounds and a maximum gross vehicle weight of 92,000 pounds except where posted and during periods of spring thaw.

- Require written authorization to exceed weight limits. Each year, IoH operators may submit a travel or route plan and request written authorization to exceed the weight limit from the maintaining authority of the roadways. A nominal fee may be charged and additional conditions may be set by each maintaining authority. IoH vehicles operating in excess of the 15 percent allowance will be fined for the amount in excess of standard gross motor vehicle weight or individual axle weight.

- Support exploration of best practices to assist in reducing the wear of roadways and structures. This includes the development of emerging innovations and best practices in manure management.

- Develop further training requirements for the operation of large IoH equipment. Age requirements are to remain as presently allowed in statute, but the group recommends developing advanced training for operating larger and heavier IoH.

- The Study Group also sees the need to advance these issues to groups such as the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) and the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) to encourage the development of national standards. This approach will foster additional research where needed and encourage manufacturers to develop more road compatible equipment.

- The IoH Study Group started examining the size and weight of agricultural equipment and the potential impact it has on public roads and bridges in fall 2012.

On Saturday, July 15, the "2nd Annual Doug "Grizz" Cox Memorial Ride" was held. This year's ride started at Bahr Time in Campbellport, traveled north to Dimo's II in Eden; then to Black Perl in St Peter; onward to Eli's Roadhouse in Plymouth, then to NanSea's Tiki Bar in Dundee. The ride's final stop was at CC's in Wayne where the local rock band Tobacco Road entertained the crowd.

About 90 motorcycles and cars traveled the scenic 80 miles. The annual ride was in memory of Doug "Grizz" Cox who lost his battle with heart disease in January of 2011. Doug's nephew Kyle Wagner of Theresa, and his son Josh Cox of Lomira organized the ride. The ride raised money for Washington County Humane Society, which was Doug's favorite charity. This year's ride raised $3,112.

Moraine Park students to build Habitat home and change lives in the process

On Monday, Sept. 9, students from Building Trades Construction Worker program at Moraine Park Technical College broke ground and began work on Habitat for Humanity home being built for two West Bend families.

Submitted photo

Moraine Park Technical College and Habitat for Humanity of Washington and Dodge counties kicked off a very special project on Monday, Sept. 9, as the two organizations joined forces to build a duplex for two deserving West Bend families.

Students from Moraine Park's Building Trades Construction Worker and Electricity programs will be working alongside Habitat crew volunteers throughout the 2013-

14 school year to help build the new home, located just off the corner of Highway 33 and Municipal Drive in West Bend. The students will do everything from staking out the building to wiring the house for electricity. All tasks will give them valuable experience in their trades.

Education isn't the only thing they are getting, according to Habitat for Humanity Executive Director Russ Wanta.

"You're changing lives and changing them for the better," Wanta said during the groundbreaking ceremony. "I know years from now you will share with others what you are doing here. You'll share it with your wife, your children and your grandchildren. You can tell them how you changed lives."

Wanta isn't the only one who thinks this is an exceptional opportunity for the students. Moraine Park Building Trades Construction Worker Instructor Don Enders, who is leading the construction portion of the project, said this opportunity is one that students don't always get to experience but one he hopes will continue into the future.

"My students are gaining valuable hands-on experience through helping with this build, but equally important is the opportunity they have to positively impact their community," Enders said. "Thank you to Habitat for Humanity and its partners for making this project possible."

In total, six Building Trades students will be working on the structural portions of the build. Once the outside structure is complete and construction continues inside, students from the Electricity program, led by Moraine Park Instructor Mike Melaney, will be joining them to complete the electrical work within the home.

This Habitat-Moraine Park partnership is also part of Moraine Park's service-learning initiative combining community service with classroom instruction. Service-learning aims to give students real-world, hands-on experience in their field while promoting the idea of giving back to the communities they live and learn in.

Poe Variety Show at Kewaskum Library

This fall, Washington County libraries are reading, thinking and talking about Edgar Allan Poe's stories and poetry and the impact he has had in American letters from literature to genre fiction. ning of entertainment including original poems, a reader's theater event and a gallery of short films inspired by Poe stories. Included in the films are the Academy Award-winning short for "The Telltale Heart" and a retelling of "The Raven" from the Simpsons "Treehouse of Horror."

A full list of events, which take place over several weeks and are in several different locations, can be found online at <http://www.neabigread.org/>

Felten named Outstanding Student by Catholic Financial Life

Catholic Financial Life presented Holy Trinity School graduate Jack Felten their Outstanding Student Award by local agent Kathie Ramthun.

The award is given to a graduating eighth grader who displays Catholic values in their daily life according to Ramthun. The award began in 2002 with Ben Schickert.

Felten was given a gift card to Cabella's from Catholic Financial Life as part of the award.

A teacher at Holy Trinity chooses the award annually. This year Mrs. Ellen Coutts nominated Felten.

"Everyday Jack follows the path Jesus set forth for us as Christians through his words and deeds. Jack consistently practices kindness toward all his classmates and respectfulness to all adults. Academically this student consistently displays excellent study skills, gives full attention and participates in class discussion and turns in neatly done written work. It has been my pleasure to have this fine young man in my class," stated Coutts in her nomination.

Felten is currently a freshman at Kewaskum High School. His parents are Dan and Kerry Felten of Kewaskum.

Dec. 5 is last date to test at Moraine Park GED test changes to occur Jan. 2014

Individuals looking to earn their GED must complete all five parts of the test by the end of 2013, or risk having to redo the examination when the new version is implemented on January 1, 2014.

Moraine Park Technical College library services coordinator Hans Baierl, who coordinates the GED testing at the College, says the General Educational Development (GED) test is set to undergo major revisions at the end of 2013, making way for the new version in January, 2014.

"This change is particularly important for those test takers who have started the GED test but have not completed all parts," said Baierl. "If they don't complete all of the tests before the end of this year, they will have to retake all of them again. We've really been working hard to get the word out there and hope that if people know someone who has started the process that they encourage them to contact us or stop by one of our three campuses to find out what they need to do to complete it."

"The GED opens doors to endless opportunities of lifelong learning," Baierl continued. "Moraine Park offers a number of resources that aid in the preparation of the examination. The goal is to equip students with the tools they need to succeed on the GED and their future careers." Moraine Park is an official GED testing site and offers free services in a variety of formats to help students prepare for the test and earn their diploma.

Final dates to complete the current GED test at Moraine Park campuses include: Fond du Lac, Monday, Dec. 2; West Bend, Wednesday, Dec. 4; and Beaver Dam, Thursday, Dec. 5.

KMS's Grotenhuis credits community and grants for improving athletic fields

KMS fields taking shape with help from community

Kewaskum School District's Director of Building and Grounds Doug Franzen stands with KMS Phy-Ed Teacher Jeff Grotenhuis in front of a newly seeded and leveled athletic field for students at KMS.

The first phase of the Kewaskum Middle School field makeover is only the beginning of a group effort to give students a level playing field.

Faced with frustration over the conditions at the middle school's outdoor practice and PE fields, KMS Physical Education Teacher Jeff Grotenhuis found ways to improve the space by writing grants and enlisting the help of family.

"There were bare spots, an uneven playing surface - I felt it was a safety concern," said Grotenhuis, who started teaching at KMS in 2000.

He channeled his concerns into action by soliciting a donation from the Mike Farchione Memorial Foundation last October. The foundation, which honors the memory of the late Kewaskum High School student who passed away about eight years ago, gave $2,500 to help with site preparation.

Grotenhuis then applied for - and received - a $4,600 Lowe's Toolbox for Education grant in May.

Spring rains delayed the project but when the skies cleared and water drained away, Mueller Excavating out of Campbellsport took charge, using a bulldozer equipped with a GPS system that graded the 1.25-acre site within the thickness of a nickel, Grotenhuis said.

Because of the late start, Grotenhuis knew seeding needed to be done quickly and June 23, he called in his brother Jon and dad Jerry to help complete the project.

"My brother ran the tractor and my dad ran the drag and roller. I spread seed and we finished after dark. It was great to have them step in and help," Grotenhuis said.

As a result, ground on the first phase is about 97 percent covered with grass.

"I'm thrilled every time I walk to the field and see how the grass is coming in. It puts a big smile on my face," Grotenhuis said.

While physical education students can use the field for outdoor classes, it isn't quite ready for the beating it would take from soccer or football cleats.

"Now it's a matter of over seeding on the bare spots," Grotenhuis said.

He said in the future, the field will look even better, since there is about $3,500 of the Lowe's grant left to purchase supplies, fertilizers and grass seed that will be used for the over seeding and to maintain and improve the field.

In addition to the Farchione Foundation and Lowe's, Grotenhuis credits Doug Goring at West Bend Elevator, who was helpful when it came to choosing grass seed and fertilizer and giving advice when it came to timing the planting.

Doug Franzen, director of building and grounds for the Kewaskum School District says this is only the beginning.

Phase two, the varsity practice football field south of phase one, is slated for work next year.

Timing and weather will determine when phase two will begin possible fall or spring of 2014, depending upon the football program.

He estimates the cost of renovating that area to be about $6,000.

Franzen said from there, they will take a look at different programs for phase three, the present soccer field, and phase four, the field south of the soccer fields, for possibly another varsity and junior varsity football practice field.

A local resident has stepped up to contribute to work on phase two, but Franzen said phase three and four depend upon funding.

"I'm taking it one project at a time," Franzen said.

While Wednesday's storms brought more than an inch of desperately needed rain, they also brought high winds and fire. As it appeared the brunt of the initial storm had passed through the area by shortly after 7 a.m., a second line of rain and wind came through the area. Trees in Allenton were reported toppled. As the storm approached the Kewaskum area, dozens of calls were received about power lines, trees and branches being knocked down. At approximately 8 a.m., the Kewaskum Police Department received a call about arcing wires behind the William and Judy Geidel residence on Rose-land Drive. Within a matter of minutes, there was report of fire. When the Kewaskum Fire Department arrived on the scene, the Geidel's large metal garage was in flames and firemen then found fire in the home. Kewaskum Fire Chief Donald Ehnert unofficially stated it appeared that lightning may have caused electrical wires on a pole to arc, setting the garage on fire and possibly sending a power surge into the house. The garage, containing two antique cars, was a total loss and the interior of the brick home was extensively damaged.

In other parts of this village during the storm mentioned above, a huge tree in River Hill Park, north of the beer garden, broke off landing on top of the small soda stand adjacent to it causing considerable damage to the roof area. Several other trees and branches in the park were knocked down, pulling electrical wires and poles along with them.

At a meeting last Wednesday, the Kewaskum Plan Commission unanimously agreed to recommend a zoning change for a parcel of land owned by Dr. Cesar Sison of Kewaskum. The 2.4 acre parcel of land, located directly behind the Sison Medical Clinic (currently home of Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic), would be rezoned from B-2

General Service and Retail, to R-4 Multi-Family Residential. The change would allow for the construction of a fifty-unit apartment project designed for adult tenants. Administrator Dan Schmidt said the complex would not be considered a senior citizen or elderly housing project because there would not be any federal funding used to subsidize the construction.

Kewaskum Frozen Foods opened a second store in the West Bend Outlet Mall, Island Avenue, on Friday, June 17. The name of the new business is "Sausage Plus." Bev Hansen, who was an employee at Kewaskum Frozen Foods, is the manager of the new store and Marilyn Thull works as a clerk. A Grand Opening will be held in the near future.

The 26th Annual Crazy Daze Sidewalk Sale, sponsored by the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce, will be held Tuesday, June 28. The event will be held from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and features super discounts and special buys. On Crazy Daze everybody gets in the act of either selling or buying. Merchants, clubs, churches, organizations and individuals set up their stands on the sidewalk or on lots in the village as well as offering sizeable discounts in the stores and shops. Also offered is a wide variety of food with the many outdoor stands and specials offered in restaurants and taverns.

This weekend marks the 75th anniversary of the Beechwood Fire Department. A three day picnic celebration in honor of this auspicious event will be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Beechwood. In 1905 Beechwood, Wisconsin had a population of 125. There were two churches, a school, a doctor's office, two general stores, two blacksmith shops, a wagon shop, a creamery and cheese factory, two halls, a saloon, a dozen homes and miscellaneous storage buildings. It had no fire protection. Following a disastrous fire at the Fred Hintz dwelling, Jacob Horning and Arthur Koch solicited the community for funds to organize a fire department. By June 14, they had contacted 105 donors and collected $790. That money was used to buy a horse-drawn, hand-operated water pumper. Horses were borrowed from nearby barns or even from buggies parked along the street, whenever a fire emergency arose and thus the Beechwood Fire Department began their long history in the community.

On May 1, 16 young people were confirmed at St. Lucas Lutheran Church in Kewaskum. Confirmands included Kris Munson, Jennifer Schwahn, Robin Bechler, Michelle Schairer, Beth Schaefer, Vicki Rehbein, Bret Prost, David Kickman, Joshua Kesting, Shawn Neldner, Jason Schneider, Robert Wilson, William Kreis, Timothy Stern, Erik Kral, Karl Pamperin.

A daughter, Alyssa Marie, was born to Richard and Jane Halfmann, Campbellsport, on June 20. Alyssa joins one brother, Nicholas, 5, and one sister, Sarah, 3. Paternal grandparents are Joyce Halfmann of Kewaskum and the late Richard Halfmann. Maternal grandparents are Anthony and Joyce Goebel of rural Eden.

St. Matthias Catholic parish in the Town of Auburn, located on County Trunk S near New Fane, within the Kettle Moraine State Forest, celebrated the centennial of its founding on July 29 at a solemn High Mass at 10 am. The Rev. Walter Morgan is pastor of the congregation. The celebration also served as a proper observance for the recent remodeling of the structure for the 45 homeowners in the area who belong to the parish. The Mass was sung by the Rev. Elroy Pesch, O.F.M. Cap. the first "priest-son" of the parish who was ordained earlier this year. Land for St. Matthias church was purchased in 1859 with construction getting underway in 1861. The parish was dedicated on Trinity Sunday by Bishop Henni of Milwaukee, and the Rev. John Reindl of the former village of Barton was the first pastor, conducting services once a month. In 1863 the parish was made a mission to Holy Trinity Church in Kewaskum. From 1877 to 1881, the parish was a mission of St. Michael's Church and after 1881, it became a mission of St. Matthew's parish in Campbellsport with the Rev. Johann A. Bertram and Father Heller serving. Since 1907, it has been attended by the chaplains of St. Joseph's Convent in Campbellsport. It was attended by various priests for a period of 10 years until the Rev. John Bertram became pastor, a post he held for 24 years.

A field of 57 golfers of ages from 10 to 17 turned out for the Eighth Annual Junior Open Golf Tournament held at Hon-E-Kor Country Club, Kewaskum, on July 26. The competition was keen in every class, from the midgets and intermediates to the juniors. There were six trophies given, one of which was awarded to Lynn Honeck, a winner in the intermediate girls' division.

The Everglades Supper Club in New Prospect this week offered a dinner size fish fry for 75 cents.

SPECIAL VILLAGE BOARD MEETING

AUGUST 28, 2013 8:00 A.M.
The Village Board of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, met in special session in the Community Room of the Municipal Building, 204 First Street.

President Andy Pesch presided and called the meeting to order at 8:00 a.m. Board members present were Craig Garbisch, Richard Knoebel, Mike Berger, Andy Pesch, Kevin Scheunemann and Jim Hovland. Joel Serwe was excused and absent. Staff members present were Matt Heiser, Stephanie Justmann and Chad Cook. Community members were also present.

Notice of the meeting had been posted at the PNC Bank, Kewaskum Post Office and at the Municipal Building on August 26, 2013. Notice was also forwarded to the Village Board, Village Attorney, Village Engineer, and the News Media.

Administrator Heiser reviewed the DOT provisions for the Main Street/Hwy 28 curb and gutter installation east of the bridge. Currently, the curb and gutter is not being replaced east of the bridge because the project is considered a pavement replacement and not a reconstruction project. In order for the DOT to replace the curb and gutter, the project would have to meet federal standards and there would need to be a designated bike lane. A cemetery is located in this area so the street cannot be widened enough to allow for a designated bike path. If parking would be eliminated on one side of the road east of the bridge this would meet the federal standard. A traffic count was conducted on parked cars - on the north side there were 19 cars parked and the south side there were 75 cars parked. Marking issues for no parking and a bike lane was reviewed. In order to have the State pay for the curb and gutter installation it would have to meet federal standards or the village could pay to have the curb and gutter replaced in this area. Motion by Jim Hovland to allow for the installation of a bike lane on the north side of Main Street east of the bridge and to designate the area as no parking in order to meet federal standards to have the curb and gutter replaced, second by Mike Berger. Voice vote, motion carried.

Aaron Laatsch from the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce addressed the Board regarding the street decorations for Main Street. Aaron Laatsch confirmed the Kewaskum Chamber will be making a donation toward the purchase of Christmas decorations to be displayed on the new street lights. As of the meeting Aaron Laatsch estimated approximately $10,000 could be available. Administrator Heiser updated the group on the number of light poles based on the most recent proposed lighting plan from WE Energies; approximately 26 lights starting from the highway 45 intersection and including the four lights on the bridge. The group also reviewed costs for Christmas decorations at about $500 per pole. Aaron Laatsch asked for members to be part of a committee to determine the decoration designation and to review the streetscaping concept plan. Some funds may be available for the purchase of benches or trash receptacles. Trustee Craig Garbisch and Clerk Stephanie Justmann volunteered to be on the Kewaskum Chamber Committee.

Trustee Jim Hovland excused himself at 8:30 a.m.

The graphics to be used on the banner advertising the Kiwanis Pool for the 2014 swim season were reviewed. It was decided to have a banner drafted and presented to the Village Board for approval.

Review of the 2014 Park budget included the rental fees being charged for the park shelters and ball diamonds. Zoning Administrator Chad Cook will research the fee structure from other communities and Administrator Heiser will research how often the parks are being rented. The number of swimmers for the month of August at the Kiwanis Pool will also be reported.

Motion by Richard Knoebel to adjourn at 9:10 a.m., second by Craig Garbisch and carried by roll call vote. Garbisch-aye, Knoebel-aye, Berger-aye, Pesch-aye, Serwe-absent, Scheunemann-aye, Hovland-absent. (5-0-2)

Gridiron teams pile up the points

By Judy Harlow

Statesman Correspondent

In four games played Saturday at Cedar Grove, Kewaskum teams outscored the host Broncos 126-26, with three shutout wins.

The eighth graders remained perfect (3-0) and set the tone for the day with a 35-0 shutout, and again the passing game was spectacular.

Gabe Christenson had a pair of TD tosses in the first half, the first a 15-yarder that went to Dan Kreis and the other hauled in by Cole Surprenant, covering 25 yards.

The other first-half score came on a five-yard run by Patrick Krier, a touchdown set up by the hard running of Krier and Tony Steger.

Christenson and Kreis teamed up again for a 45-yard bomb in the third quarter, and the final TD came via a short run by Steger.

Surprenant kicked two PATs and when the snap was botched on another, he passed to Kries for a one-point conversion.

Coach Jim "Jonesy" Korth reported his QB hit nine of 11 passes, despite having to deal with a strong wind.

Defensive players cited included Colton Bennett (sack), Faton Elmazi, William Walters, Krier (interception) and Colton Fox.

In the seventh grade (2-1) game, Cameron Dodge had touchdowns runs of 55, 25 and 80 yards and caught a 50-yard TD pass as the Indians romped to a 41-19 victory.

"He just gets through the hole and he takes off," said coach Tom Kudek of Dodge.

The other TDS were scored by Alex Deheck (10-yard run) and QB Danny Breuer (20-yard TD run), who also ran for a point after touchdown (PAT).

Eduardo Padilla was successful on a PAT kick.

The Indians were up just 27-19 at half as the defense gave up three scores.

"Our defense did not play very well in the first half," according to Kudek, who said, "We made some adjustments at didn't give up a point in the second half. They all played well in the second half."

The sixth graders (2-0-1) were victorious but the score was a lot closer, 32-26.

J.J. Thull ran for two touchdowns, according to coach Paul Anderson, who also reported Eli Bartelt and Justin Anderson each ran in for touchdowns. Jay Horning scored the final touchdown on a pass from Brady Stern.

Defensively, Reagan Drickson recovered a fumble and, "Other key defensive plays came from Luke Moris, Braden Maretz and Josh Bocher," Anderson said.

In the fifth grade (2-0) game, the Indians' defense was "outstanding," according to coach Jeff Logan, the "D" helped to produce an 18-0 shutout victory.

Logan was not at the game because of a funeral, but the game report indicated Ethan Williams had a forced fumble and Nick Goettl an interception.

Offensively, QB Michael Daniel had an excellent game, scoring on three touchdowns, two of them covering 80 yards.

Building process continues

Randy Backhaus' second year as cross country coach at Kewaskum will be more successful than the first because this fall he will field two full teams instead of one, which was the case in 2012.

"I've got five guys so I've got a team," Backhaus said. "On the girls' side, I've got a couple new girls but I lost Jeray Riffel to tennis."

Once again, Caley McClyman is expected to lead the Lady Indians. The veteran junior just got better and better last fall, culminating with a 13th place finish in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference meet held at Two Rivers. Her time of 17 minutes and 30 seconds (17:30) earned her a spot on the all-EWC second-team.

Kewaskum placed fifth among the eight EWC teams.

Also earning letters a year ago were senior Jessica Nurkala, juniors Amanda Plachinski and Annie Fiebig.

Other top candidates are sophomores Ellie Debalek and Emily Krier, who was a starter on the school's soccer team in the spring. Debalek is also an experienced runner, having participated in track as a freshman.

The team began practicing on August 19, and right from the start Backhaus could see several did some off-season training and bring a competitive mindset to the program.

McClyman heads that list. "She looks real good," Backhaus said. "I think she's in better shape this year than last year."

Two lettermen return for the boys, including senior Jared Sanborn and sophomore Zack Heberer. Sanborn was the Indians' highest finisher in the EWC competition, placing 28th overall.

Senior Josh Fiebig decided to join the program after participating in soccer, while two freshmen, Zack Geidel and Josh Radke, reported on the opening day and are learning the ropes of the sport.

"Having a full team will help these guys. It was tough last year," Backhaus said.

As far as the teams to beat in the EWC, Backhaus said, "I think it's going to be similar to last year," indicating Plymouth always has strength in numbers, Sheboygan Falls is strong, and Two Rivers is "right up there."

Backhaus fully expects the girls will move up a spot or two, and he will be content if each of the boys makes steady improvement.

Wilde, Eutsey both break 100

By Judy Harlow

The field was daunting. Most of the powerhouse prep girls' golf team were at the Appleton West Terror Invitational last Saturday.

Brookfield Central and Brookfield East finished 1-2 with 340 and 351 strokes, respectively, while Kewaskum rose to the occasion, placing 16th out of 23 with a 417.

"I was very pleased with our play as a team. This is the best showing that we've had all year. It really helped having Leah (Wilde) and Emily (Eutsey) both break 100," coach Amy Uhlig said.

Eutsey led the team with a 50-45-95, tied for 30th in the field of 106.

"Emily was ecstatic about her round. This was a huge milestone for her. I'm very happy for her, as she's come a long way in four years," Piwoni said.

Wilde carded a 52-47-99, good for a tie for 39th.

"Leah was a little upset with her score as she took an 11 on #8 due to some trouble in the woods," Uhlig said.

Destiny Duarte and Heather May also had good outings, coming in with 55-55-110 and 53-62-115, respectively.

Behind excellent scoring from its No. 1 and 2 players, the combined West Bend West/East girls' golf team ended Beaver Dam's run of victories September 16 at Oconomowoc Country Club.

Jackie Halverson and Mandy Fiorentino shot 42 and 44, respectively to lead West Bend to a 183 total, two strokes ahead of Beaver Dam, which got a three-over-par 38 from medalist Abby Chase. Beaver Dam had won the previous three Wisconsin Little Ten matches.

Hartford also came in under the 190-mark with a 189, followed by the host Cooney at 193, Watertown, 213; and Kewaskum, 225.

Wilde continues to shine for the Lady Indians, posting a 47. Eutsey battled back from a tough first hole to come in with a 53.

Duarte and May shot 62 and 63, respectively.

The final mini-tour meet was scheduled for September 18 at Beaver Dam. Uhlig announced her girls would not be competing because of the funeral of a former classmate Sarah Boettcher.

CC trio shines in Waupun test

Back at full strength, the Kewaskum girls' cross country team placed fourth in the Phil Leader Invitational hosted by Waupun on Sept. 17.

Running at the Fond du Lac County Park, the Lady Indians, led by Emily Krier, came in with 91 points. Watertown Luther Prep took home the team trophy, scoring 24 points, with the host Warriors second with 43.

Krier continues to shine for coach Randy Backhaus' club. She placed fourth in this event with a time of 17:02. "She just missed 17:00. That's her next goal," Backhaus beamed "She's very driven ... very competitive."

Backhaus was also happy Caley McClyman returned. "She's on the way back," he said, referring to the fact she missed the Kiel meet because of illness.

McClyman placed 12th overall (18:13), while Ellie Debalek was close behind, taking 14th with an 18:17. "She's (Debalek) getting the hang of the longer races," Backhaus said, pointing to the fact Debalek is more of a short distance runner in track.

"Amanda and her sister (Haley) stepped up," Backhaus went on about the Plachinskis who were 29th (19:49) and 35th (20:25).

The boys' meet was a lot closer, with Luther Prep edging Waupun, 46-51. KHS was sixth, with 173 points just four behind Markesan.

Josh Fiebig placed the KHS boys with his 15th place (19:26.00).

"Josh had a very good run. He's starting to get confident," Backhaus said, adding Jared Sanborn (26th, 20:27) "has been moving up."

Phil Leader Invitational Girls' team scores — 1. Luther Prep, 24; 2. Waupun, 43; Mayville 80; 4. Kewaskum, 91; 5. Markesan, 160; 6. Luther Prep B, 160; 7. Oshkosh Valley Christian, 184; 8. Markesan, 252.

The midfield and forwards worked the ball up the field well, with Tyler Gildemeister and Samwise Baker both having great games. Tough award this time goes out to Hunter S., for taking a hard hit to the mouth - verifying why mouth guards are warranted.

The Kewaskum girls' tennis team took on a couple powerhouses in a tournament hosted by West Bend East Sat. Sept. 14

The Indians held their own in a 3-3 draw with Wisconsin Lutheran in the opener, then lost to West Bend West 1-6 and also to Plymouth, a regular conference foe, by the same score.

At No. 2 doubles, Gabrielle Wade and Maddy Kreis came away with a 3-0 record. They defeated Danielle Schmid and Brittany Mani of Wisconsin Lutheran 6-2, 6-1 and beat Plymouth's Sienna McNeil and Paige Stoney 6-1, 6-4.

The Indians duo also battled hard against West's Molly Kellog and Maria Brunette before falling in a tie-breaker. The scores were 4-6, 7-5 and 4-10.

"They're at a competitive level," Wade said about the West pair, and she and her partner agreed the experience will help them, considering this is the first year they are playing together. "I played some singles and some doubles (last year)," Wade said. Kreis' partner a year ago was her sister, Mallorie, who graduated.

When asked if they played together in the summer, Wade said, "We did actually," and after a month of competition are enjoying some success.

"We get along good. We're good at communicating," Kreis said.

When asked which is the better server, Wade said to Kreis, "Your serves are more accurate," to which Kreis responded, "If Gabby gets a good serve, it will be hard."

The two know they have won seven times together and hope to build on that start.

"We want to do well in the sectionals and throughout the rest of the season," Wade said.

Against Plymouth on Sept. 10, only Wade and Kreis came away with a victory. They defeated McNeil and Stoney 6-4, 7-5.

"We have a young team, only one senior on the team, and they fought hard in the 90-degree weather against Plymouth," coach Elizabeth Johnson said.

Lady Indians find predicament in Plymouth

By Troy Sparks

It showed in their match at Plymouth, September 17. There was nothing wrong with Coach Joe Moser giving the girls a three-day weekend following their win at home against Kiel on Sept. 12, but he didn't expect them to fall flat against the Panthers.

"I don't think it hurt but it didn't help," junior Jessica Fieweger said. "We needed a day off to sleep in and get a little rest because we've been getting up early for school and then on Saturdays, getting up early for the game."

It was the first time in a while that Kewaskum had only one volleyball game in a week. Some used the time wisely and others had an ACT test to take. Trying to get back into the rhythm after a long layoff isn't easy.

In the first game, the Indians hung tough early against the Panthers tying the game five times, the last at 9-9. A 7-0 run by Plymouth gave them the breathing room they needed. The Panthers closed out the set by outscoring the Indians 9-2 to win, 25-11.

"We kind of came together as one," Fieweger said. "And then we kind of fell back apart."

Kewaskum took a deep breath and got ready to battle Plymouth in the second game. Facing a 6-2 deficit, the Indians rallied to tie the game at 6-6. An ace by senior Steph Henk put them ahead 7-6. The visitors stretched their margin to two points (8-6), but then Plymouth made up their minds to show who the superior team was to avoid getting embarrassed on their home floor.

A tip-in by Plymouth gave them their first lead in game 2 at 9-8. Eight kills by the Panthers down the stretch did in Kewaskum. Something crazy happened that was worth noticing. The Indians thought they had a point at the time when they needed a break, when they trailed the Panthers 13-9.

The action stopped after Kewaskum put the ball over the net, assuming they were awarded the point that would have made the score 12-10. The official instead gave the point to Plymouth for a 13-9 advantage.

"Everyone just kind of thought it hit the floor and we were excited (about the point)," Moser said. "I guess the officials saw it another way."

Moser inserted Erin Matusinec into the lineup in the second game to add some height to the front line. Matusinec and Henk are the tallest players on the Indians team.

"She's a right side player so she blocks the other team's right side, and it was probably (Plymouth's) biggest attack," said Moser. "So we put her in there to try to help slow their offense down. Out of everyone, she played the best. She was very smart with the hits. She was able to get to some touches on some blocks," Moser said.

Plymouth won the second game, 25-18 to lead 2-0.

It was a seesaw battle in the early part of game 3 with the first and only tie coming at 5-5. Once Plymouth took the lead, they increased their margin to as many as 12 points at 22-10. They won 25-16.

It was the same old routine for Kewaskum. They fell into some bad habits and had mental breakdowns, but Plymouth will take a 3-0 sweep anytime.

Kewaskum's overall record (4-12) was nothing to worry about. Besides, Plymouth has bigger fish to fry. They are in second place behind Eastern Wisconsin Conference leader and undefeated Waupun, and their showdown in a couple of weeks could determine the league championship.

The Panthers won six of the eight games last year against the Indians in their two meetings but split their two meetings in 2011. That was the last time Plymouth lost in a three-game set to Kewaskum.

"We just played bad," Moser said. "Everyone seems to make tonight their bad night of the season. If one kid is bad, sometimes a team can pick 'em up and play around them but when four or five of your kids on the court are having a rough night, it's really tough."

Kewaskum played in the Slinger tournament September 21 and lost to Oshkosh North in two games, 25-11 and 25-21. They lost in three games to host Slinger, 11-25, 25-22 and 2-15, Elkhorn, 25-13, 25-18 and Grafton, 25-15, 25-16. Kewaskum had only six girls available for last weekend's tournament. Next up for the team is a home match with rival Campbellsport, Thursday, September 26, at 7:15 p.m.

On the bright side, the Lady Indians are still undefeated at home at 2-0. Who knows? They might play another five-game marathon against the Cougars.

TR no match for Lady Indians

By Judy Harlow

Statesman Correspondent

The improvement being made by the Kewaskum's girls' tennis team was obvious last Thursday afternoon when the Indians posted a 6-1 Eastern Wisconsin Conference victory over Two Rivers.

"The Kewaskum ladies played well and worked their strategies on the court," coach Elizabeth Johnson said.

The Indians got three wins in singles, including the No. 1 spot where Jeray Riffel took care of Megan Sosnosky in short order, winning 6-1, 6-2.

Riffel always gets the opponents' top player, a tall order, especially for someone who is competing in the sport for the first year.

Also winning in straight sets was Rachel Luedtke at No. 2 single, and Hunter Garcia picked up a forfeit.

The doubles teams earned a sweep. The only match that went three sets came at No. 1 where Becca Strigenz and Jess Etta outlasted Ashley Kakuk and Gabby Yokiel 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

At No. 2, Maddy Kreis and Gabrielle Wade continued their winning ways, coming out with a 6-3, 6-1. This is their eighth victory of the season. Against EWC foe, they are 4-1.

"The ladies are improving with practice and playing all the dedicated players throughout the conference gives them

Mistakes aside, Indians prevail in Kiel road trip

By Troy Sparks
Statesman Correspondent

KIEL - There's only so much that Kewaskum Coach Jason Piittmann can preach to his football team in the locker room on the missed opportunities that causes them to shoot themselves in the foot every time. The Indians had a better second half performance to beat Kiel, 26-6, September 20, at Fifrick Field, winning the last 10 games against the Raiders.

Penalties dogged the visiting Indians in the game along with dropped passes and a costly fumble in their red zone late in the half by sophomore running back Brandon Thull that would have left the Raiders facing an uphill battle.

"We have that tendency to shoot ourselves in the foot," Piittmann said. "We did a better job of overcoming it. We went back to (Thull) and we got faith in him. We got to show faith in him and he did a good job."

Thull made up for his mis- cue in the second half with a 31-yard run in the fourth quarter on a third down conversion that led to Kewaskum putting the dagger into the hearts of the Kiel faithful with a score late in the game, which put the Indians up 20 points.

"When you do something like (making a mistake), you got to shake it off and come back the next play," senior quarterback Brett Boegel said. "With that turnover, you got to come back the next play, get rid of it and come out and play defense. And he did excellent on defense." Thull, like some of his teammates, play both ways.

Kewaskum (4-1 overall, 3-0 conference) got their first break of the game on a fumble by Kiel running back Aaron Field, which was recovered by senior defensive lineman Josh Rahlf. The Indians began their drive to score at the 2:13 mark of the first quarter on six plays, which included two first downs that carried over into the second quarter. Boegel converted a fourth-and-nine at the Kiel 27 into a touchdown pass to senior receiver Matthew Ringwell with 11:53 remaining in the half for a 6-0 lead.

The Raiders responded with a six-yard TD run by Field, which was set up by a 61-yard run by quarterback Jack Meunier, with 10:47 left in the second quarter. Both teams missed their extra point kicks. The Indians struck back on their next possession and breaking a 6-6 deadlock on a nine-yard scoring strike to senior tight end Greg Rate in the left corner of the end zone more than two Kiel defenders. The missed kick gave the visitors a 12-6 advantage.

"Brett threw it by the cornerback and that was a good play by the coaches," Rate said. At 6-foot-4, he had a height advantage over the 6-0 linebacker Austin Lieburn and 5-6 defensive back Tanner Woepse. Rate also made a big play on third down with a 22-yard catch that put Kewaskum in the red zone for the third time of the half, which they attempted to score before the fumble wiped out the opportunity to add on to their six-point halftime margin.

The Indians' defense turned up the heat on the Raiders (2-3, 1-2), allowing them only two first downs in the second half. Four of Kiel's six turnovers in the game were committed on an interception and turning the ball over on downs three times. Kewaskum scored 12 points off two of Kiel's turnovers (interception, lost fumble).
