KMS, KHS pause for Veteran's Day

Students at Kewaskum Middle and High Schools paused from classes to honor area Veterans, Monday Nov. 11 during ceremonies at the two schools. Propson hired for Wastewater Treatment Plant position

Cook named coordinator of DPW

By Andrew Kuehl

andrew@thestatesmanwi.com

The Kewaskum Village Board has eliminated the position of Director of Public Works (DPW) and given an additional title to their Building Inspector/Zoning Administrator all while a replacement lab tech is in the second month of working for the DPW.

Chad Cook added the third title, DPW coordinator, to his name after the Nov. 4 Village Board meeting. The change came two weeks after trustees voted to eliminate the DPW Director position. He will oversee day-to-day operations of the department.

The change comes after former Director Jerry Gilles retired Sept. 23, three days before Trustees were to have a discussion on the elimination of his position.

Cook, who started working for the village in June 2007, will manage fieldwork inside the DPW from his office in the village hall. Village Administrator Matt Heiser will handle administrative duties for the department.

The village administrative committee will meet next month to discuss additional compensation for Cook's new responsibilities. Cook is currently paid a salary of $54,835. Heiser will not receive additional compensation for his extra duties.

Heiser reported village staff and trustees continue long-range planning of the department. He stated crewmember Dennis Aupperle is in the process of becoming a Department of Natural Resources certified Operator in Charge for monthly reporting duties that were formerly handled by Gilles. Aupperle will not receive extra compensation for this.

Heiser also reported there is no longer a lead operator to the crew after the retirement of Alan Kuehl. He was not certain if this title would be filled.

At the Sept. 21 meeting the board hired Ben Propson of rural Kewaskum as a lab technician in the wastewater treatment plant to replace Craig Gruber, who resigned his position in August. Propson is currently a state certified, grade four operator and was formerly a Wastewater Operator with the City of West Bend. He began his position with the village on Oct. 7.

Propson is a full-time employee of the village and receives $25.53 per hour.

Embracing the iPad at FES

By Amy Kumrow

Statesman Correspondent

Whether the item is a tablet, a Smart Board or a phone, technology has become integrated into everyday living including educating children. Farmington Elementary School has begun the process of making iPads available for teachers to use in the classroom.

"Since I've been here, it has been a focus for me and the school of just knowing the need for our students to understand and use 21st Century skills," Tom Fischer, principal of Farmington Elementary said.

As both a principal and assistant principal at the high school, he has seen firsthand the technology skills students will need, and the use of iPads will help teach those technology skills at a lower grade level.

Julie Skelton, Kewaskum Middle School principal, had worked at Jefferson Elementary School in Oshkosh where the iPad to child ratio was 1:1.

"You actually see kids facilitate their own learning," she said. "I saw that time after time after time."

The iPad is not a substitute for teaching, but a supportive tool to reinforce math and language arts skills taught in the classroom. At the middle school, iPad minis are used by Spanish teachers to give students extra support if needed.

Fischer realized toward the end of the 2012-13 school year funds were still available and made the decision to purchase 11 iPad tablets for the school for $1,995. The district's information technology department guided Fischer through the process of choosing a tablet and help set up the iPads for use.

Local resident takes part in final Honor Flight with Young Marines

Nathaniel Lawrenz of Kewaskum, a member of The South East Wisconsin Young Marines (SEWYM) was part of a contingent who went to Mitchell International in Milwaukee Saturday, Nov. 1 to welcome back Veterans who were on the last Honor Flight of 2013.

"I got to stand next to a retired Marine and I got to shake the hands of veterans getting off the airplane. It was neat to see all the men who have fought for our great country. I even got to talk to some of them," Lawrenz stated.

Dakota Lawrenz, Nathaniel's brother, both are members of the group. The two are the only local members of SEWYM however, children from West Bend, Slinger and as far away as the Illinois border make up the group.

"We are always looking for new recruits to be a part of this hard working organization," Lawrenz explained.

The SEWYM is an anti-drug program for 8 to 18-year-olds that meet once a week at the Fox Company in Milwaukee. Members participate in drills and physical fitness while at the same time learning about not doing drugs and drinking alcohol.

"We also help Veterans and participate in parades and Veteran ceremonies. Right now we are raising money for our gauntlet we will be doing later in November, our winter encampment in December and our National Encampment in Colorado in July 2014," Lawrenz announced.

Youth interested in joining should contact Sheryl Briley at www.youngmarines.com or email sewym10@gmail.com.

Nathaniel Lawrenz is shown during a flag ceremony at Mitchell International Airport after the final Honor Flight of 2013 with a member of the Marine Corps League.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Community,

This is a letter of clarification to what Mr. Ramthun and Mr. Leister discussed in the WBKV interview. First and foremost, what was said is not what the Kewaskum School Board feels as a whole. What you heard were those two people's opinions and that's it.

Next point, Common Core Standards is a Department of Instruction mandate, not optional. There is a lot of information out there on it but please don't take what you heard in the interview as fact, much of it was not. The next clarification is that the Kiser case should not have been discussed in any way, shape, or form and what those two Board members said was not approved prior and is most definitely not approved by the Board as a whole now.

The above paragraph is just an example of how Mr. Ramthun operates as an individual and hurts the wellness of our District. The other bigger examples include isolating, confronting, and intimidating several staff members and interfering with the operations of our schools by undermining our schools' administrative team through the overstepping his role as a Board member. I share this information with you so you understand that you have representation on the Board that does understand their role and also wants to present a positive image of our District.

Sincerely,
Troy Hanson

Parents and Citizens:

Maintaining effective communications with the public is a School Board Member responsibility. As such, I am informing you that in December of 2011, a period of time following initial implementation of Common Core State Standards (CCSS), the U.S. Department of Education changed regulations governing the release of student data to the private sector through the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). These changes occurred without Congressional authorization to do so.

A May 23, 2011 letter sent to Regina Miles (U.S. Department of Education) by representatives of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) Laura W. Murphy, Director of the Washington Legislative Office and Christopher R. Calabrese, Legislative Counsel, can be viewed in its entirety at: http://www.aclu.org/files/assets/ACLU_Comments_on_Changes_to_the_Family_Educational_Rights_and_Privacy_Act_FERPA.pdf.

Excerpts:

"This notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) represents a significant new privacy invasion. The rules allow much greater access to students' personal information by state officials not working directly on education and by other governmental and private entities that are not traditional education providers... All of this information sharing occurs without a parent or student's consent and beyond their control."

"The NPRM also greatly increases access to personally identifiable student records for entities outside the formal K-12 and secondary education systems. This definition would allow an extremely wide variety of parties to be classified as 'educational programs' and give those same parties access to the sensitive information contained in individual student records without the student's or parent's consent."

This is an element of change that enables data mining functions of Common Core State Standards by the federal government, which should deeply concern us all as it is an invasion of privacy that allows the federal government to track citizen's, for profiling purposes and otherwise.

I urge you to be informed about what has quietly been occurring in Washington, DC through our educational system since 2009.

Chief's Corner

By Police Chief Tom Bishop

The clocks have been turned back an hour, the leaves are being raked, the grass has been cut for the last time, and the temperatures have started to plummet – autumn has arrived in Kewaskum. My guess is that the next "Chief's Corner" I write I will look out my window and see a blanket of white snow covering the grass and the Village's winter parking restrictions will once again be in effect.

As a friendly reminder, winter parking restrictions, per Village Ordinance 90-96 (c), state that "no person... shall park or stop any vehicle on any public street or highway within the village between the hours of 2 and 6 a.m. from December 1 to April 1 of each year."

I generally get a lot of questions regarding this ordinance, especially from those of you with limited space for parking vehicles. I understand the hardship this places on you and your family; however it is a necessary ordinance in order to allow for our Department of Public Works crew to properly, efficiently and completely clear the streets within the Village after a snow event.

Staying on topic with parking restrictions, it might be helpful to review some village ordinances that define how automobiles may be stored. According to Village Ordinance 78-1(a), "No person shall store junked or discarded property, including, without limitation, automobiles, automobile parts, trucks, tractors, refrigerators, furnaces, washing machines, stoves, machinery or machinery parts, wood, bricks, cement blocks, or other unsightly debris, except in an enclosure/building which houses such property from public view, or upon permit issued by the village board." Please take the time to remove "junk" from your property or out of public view. Failure to do so can result in a citation being issued.

We also have an ordinance regulating how long vehicles can be parked on the roadway. Village Ordinance 90-96(a)(3) states "no vehicle (motorized or non-motorized) may remain parked in any one location on any village street, without a permit, for longer than 24 consecutive hours unless such vehicle is moved a minimum of 100 feet (pursuant to § 349.13(1)(c), Wis. Stats.)."

In addition to our local ordinances the village is also charged with enforcing state law. The state of Wisconsin requires all vehicles to be registered. If anyone has an unregistered vehicle on their property they could receive a citation.

Hopefully this answers some questions regarding parking of vehicles on Village streets and storing automobiles on your property. If you have any other questions, comments, or concerns about the parking regulations, please feel free to contact me at the police department.

Have a safe month and a Happy Thanksgiving!

Game Day Chicken touts fresh ingredients, made from scratch food

By Gay Griesbach
Statesman Correspondent

Fresh and made-from-scratch aren't necessarily two words you would associate with a pizza and chicken restaurant, but in the kitchen of Game Day Chicken, a case of tomatoes sits on a spotless stainless steel counter, ready to be made into tomorrow's pizza sauce.

"Everything is fresh made in-house," said sushinick, the restaurant's "Visionary Chef." "I take pride in my food - we wouldn't serve anything we wouldn't buy ourselves."

Before Jenni and Travis Markiewicz opened Game

Day Chicken Sept. 21, they had both worked at West Bend's Qdoba and Travis was a manager at Culvers.

The business takes its roots from Fritz Wiedmeyer, who opened a Golden Chicken franchise in 2011 in the strip mall previously home to Mid-Cities Motorsports on Friendly Drive.

When Wiedmeyer decided to no longer pursue the business, the Markiewicz' took up the opportunity with Game Day and a made-from-scratch menu.

Pizzas are handmade and the crusts hand thrown and diners can expect a one-of-a-kind flavor, down to the unique spices and seasonings used in the chicken breading.

Jenni appreciates that one of the missing ingredients is MSG (monosodium glutamate), a food additive commonly found in "fast" foods.

Markiewicz said their most popular menu item is the 10 to 20 piece chicken dinners, which come with side options like mashed potatoes or hand-cut french fries.

Game Day has special pizza options throughout the week and recently added a Friday fish fry.

She said the cost of dinner for a family of four averages about $20.

Markiewicz recommends calling ahead since made-to-order dinners take 20 to 25 minutes to prepare, but they also offer delivery in Kewaskum and West Bend.

The name Game Day is a nod to the couple's support of the local community and Travis' love of sports.

"My husband is a huge sports fan," said Jenni. "It doesn't matter what sport; he'll even watch horse racing."

The Markiewicz' plan to build on their sports décor, contacting area schools and adding local team memorabilia to the restaurant.

Delivering Holiday Cheer to service members worldwide

Making sure those serving in the nation's armed forces receive their presents and care packages for the holidays is a priority for friends and family members of military personnel serving around the world and for the U.S. Postal Service.

"We want to remind our customers about these important mailing dates," said Kewaskum Postmaster Monica Lepak. "This will help ensure cards, letters and packages arrive in time for the holidays."

Helping to get packages on their way, the Postal Service offers a discount on its largest Priority Mail Flat Rate box at $14.85. The price includes a $2 per box discount for military mail being sent to APO/FPO/DPO (Air/Army Post Office,

Dear Friends,

As we reflect on the response to our annual renewal of financial support for our parish and its ministries, we say a simple prayer. . .

"Thank you, Lord, for the goodness of Your people."

We are grateful for your willingness to embrace stewardship as we work together to secure our parish ministries now, and for the future. Through your support, we are ministering to the sick and homebound, educating our children in their faith, feeding the hungry and building God's kingdom in countless ways.

How proud our parish founders would be to see the many ministries that have grown from the seeds they sowed long ago. This year, as we worship and work together, may we always be grounded in gratitude for all God has done for us as individuals, as families, and as a parish. Our faith is our foundation. Worshipping, working and praying together; that foundation will remain strong for generations to come.

We would particularly like to thank our 290 Holy Trinity young Christians, who painted 175 pumpkins, 150 gourds, and created over 150 beautiful posters; all expressing what their faith means to them and their love of our Lord. Also sincere appreciation to Diane P, Mary Ellen M and her team, Pat M, Sue W, the Leister Family, Frank B, Jane D, Tom T and the Finance Committee and Paul D and the Pastoral Council for their assistance and support.

Finally, none of this would have been possible without the tremendous help and coordination from Jodi Casetta, Holy Trinity Principal and Mary Straub, Director of Religious Education, for organizing our youth artwork. We had over 60 young Christians at our Masses last weekend. . .singing, serving Mass, greeting, bringing up gifts, and serving coffee, hot chocolate and hot apple cider.

We had generous Parishioners who donated the pumpkins, gourds and poster materials. Also donated were all of the mailing materials, prayer cards, signage and all of the refreshments served after the Masses. We had about 40 beautiful posters left after the 11 AM Mass, so these were donated to Kettle Moraine Gardens for their residents' enjoyment. We also want to express our gratitude for our 3 young Faith Witnesses, whom shared with us "what their faith means to them". This took courage.

Once again, thank you for helping us to live our unique mission as a parish. We promise to be responsible stewards of the financial support, time and talent you give to the work of our parish ministries.

Father Ed
Holy Trinity Pastor

Yours in Christ,
Jim Wessing

Gerhartz releases second album, holds concert

By Amy Kumrow
Statesman Correspondent

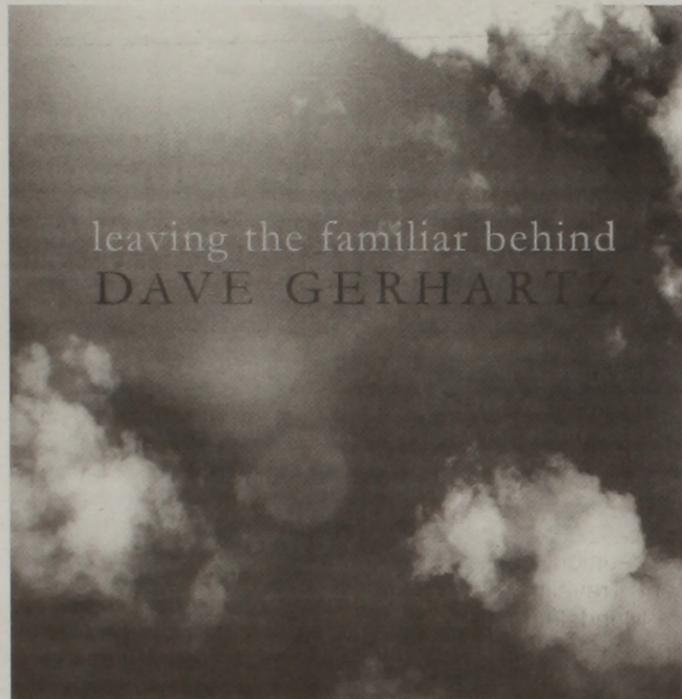

Dave Gerhartz grew up with music as part of his life, singing in the Holy Trinity School Choir as well as listening from the choir loft, but he couldn't have foreseen how music would be a part of his later life. Gerhartz will return to Holy Trinity to perform songs off his second album, "leaving the familiar behind," at a concert Saturday, Nov. 16.

According to Gerhartz, his first album, "Hear You Call" in 2011, had been written as a way to process his faith and life; whereas, his second album chronicles his struggles and joys of "carrying out that call and putting his faith into action."

But putting faith into action meant leaving behind the securities he once held close such as a stable financial future and job security.

"I realized most worldly things, like a steady paycheck, are those things, which in the end, didn't mean as much to me as they once did," he relayed. "I didn't want my fears to stand in the way of doing what I was called to do."

Gerhartz made the decision in 2013 to move from full-time, public school teaching to focus on writing his music and sharing his story with others. This change in direction, he felt, would offer the best opportunity to be authentic and serve others.

He hopes telling his story will highlight those common experiences everyone shares in living out their faith. "At the end of the day, in everything I do, I do knowing I have to trust in him [God]," Gerhartz said.

His concert will be at Holy Trinity Church in Kewaskum Saturday, Nov. 16 at 7 p.m. He will play all the songs off his new album as well as a few old ones. There is no charge for tickets; however, a free will offering to support Gerhartz and his music will be taken.

Both of Gerhartz's CDs are available for purchase at Coffee Corner Bistro and J-Stop Citgo in Kewaskum.

Food pantry receives over one ton of food thanks to middle school food drive

Kewaskum Donates Over One Ton Of Food!

BY AUSTIN FISCHER

Hunger in America is something that often gets overlooked in American's eyes. This is one of the worst oversights considering that we are the wealthiest country in the entire world. On average, 50.1 million people in America are food insecure. Kewaskum Middle School is trying to lower that number.

Throughout September and the beginning of October Kewaskum Middle School's communications class has been studying hunger in America. They found out that there was a need and decided to help. They decided to organize a food drive benefiting their local food pantry. The middle school's goal was to get each student to bring in one food item. That would be 419 items donated to our local food pantry.

The seventh and eighth grade communications classes went on a field trip to the food pantry. Here we found out what items the food pantry needed. From that field trip we found out that the most need items are cereal, canned carrots, corn and beans, rice, canned tuna, canned tomato sauce, canned fruits, canned potatoes, canned soup, and boxes of potato mixes. There are a few items that the pantry won't accept - such as food that is past its expiration date.

The reason why Kewaskum is doing the food drive is because hunger is something that lots of people don't think is very important. There's not a country on the planet where people are not food insecure. Lots of actions have taken place in America to decrease hunger. Recently, "The Better Nutrition" act was passed. That congressional act put more money in school lunches; six cents were given to the lunch nutrition. That's great but they had to get that money from somewhere ... so they took six cents from the food stamp program and gave it to school lunches. On average, 47 million Americans are on food stamps.

Kewaskum Middle School donated 2,737 boxes and cans of food to the food pantry. The middle school had a contest through their advisement. The winner with the most donated food was Mr. Shultz's advisement, with 2,001 cans of food. Mr. Schultz's advisement wrote a letter to Mr. Kjer who works at Lakeside Foods. Lakeside Foods was able to donate one ton of canned goods.

Friday, Oct. 18, food donated from Lakeside Foods arrived and was unloaded at Kewaskum Community Pantry. KMS sixth grader Grace Kjer got the project going. Her father, Nate Kjer, a Lakeside foods employee organized the donation with his boss upon receiving a letter from KMS teacher David Schulz. The pantry received 85 24-can cases (2,040 cans of vegetables) weighing 2,000 pounds (1 ton of food).

Hunger

BY DAWSON BASTIAN

Hunger is huge; 50 million people are hungry in the United States. We need to do something about it. One in six people go to sleep hungry in the US, that means 50 million individuals go to bed without enough to eat. When most people think about hunger they think of a sad child in a bed, or a group of homeless people on the side of a road. The truth is HUNGER IS HUGE. Today, hunger doesn't only affect the poor man on the side of the street. People with food insecurity could have been recently laid off, struggle to pay the bills, and can't put food on the tables.

Kewaskum Middle School just did a food drive to help out the community. Each advisement competed against one another to see who could bring in the most food items. Mr. Schultz had the winning advisement. We did this activity from September 20 through October 4. The result was big with a whopping 2,737 food items donated to help with Kewaskum's food insecure. Hunger is huge; 50 million people are hungry in the US. We need to help.

Kewaskum Middle School Helps the Hungry

BY SEVENTH GRADE COMMUNICATIONS CLASS

Kewaskum Middle School has communications classes for seventh and eighth graders. This class is working on real-world communications; announcements, articles and letters. We are combining the class with service learning projects. Our first service learning project was the Kewaskum Food Pantry.

Our service learning project began when we watched a documentary called, "A Place At The Table" about hunger in the United States. Here we learned about food insecurity ... when people don't know where or when their next meal will be. Fifty million Americans are food insecure, this means one out of every six people in America don't know when they will eat again.

The communications classes then toured the Kewaskum Food Pantry. Mr. Knorr volunteered his time to let us come in and answer our questions. We learned that about 30 - 33 families use the food pantry every Tuesday and Thursday in Kewaskum.

Kewaskum Middle School began a food drive. We tied it in with homecoming. Mr. Knorr said this time of the year is hard on the food pantry. They need our help. Each advisement in the middle school collected donations.

Mr. Schultz's advisement wrote a letter to Lakeside Foods and asked them to help with our food drive. Grace Kjer's dad works at Lakeside Foods. They donated 85 boxes of canned vegetables! With this one advisement, the sixth graders won the competition. Seventh grade came in second in our competition and eighth grade finished in third place.

Overall, KMS collected 2,737 items for the food pantry. Our classes got to deliver the food to the food pantry. Mr. Knorr was proud of how the middle school is helping our community.

Hunger Across America

BY CHRIS ELLEFSON

In a country known for its wealth, 50 million Americans struggle to find their next meal. Adults who suffer from hunger live shorter, are less healthy and have less happy lives. They are more likely to be obese, more prone to mental illness and more likely to get a deadly disease. Hunger is bad for adults, but it's worse for children.

Hunger and obesity are all across America. Hunger and obesity go together and kids who do not get good nutrition during their initial years of growth will be struggling for the remainder of their lives. One in five American children go to bed hungry each night.

Most people think about hunger during the holidays. People see a ton of food drives happen right around Thanksgiving and Christmas. But the rest of the year is hard. Food insecurity is a year-round issue affecting millions of families around the world.

The summer months are the most difficult time for food pantries. During the school year, hungry children get most of their daily calories from free or reduced priced school lunches. When school is out, those calories have to come from somewhere else. There are summer meal programs, but 17 million children struggle to get meals in the summer. The summer meal programs usually don't have enough money to get enough food for all the hungry people.

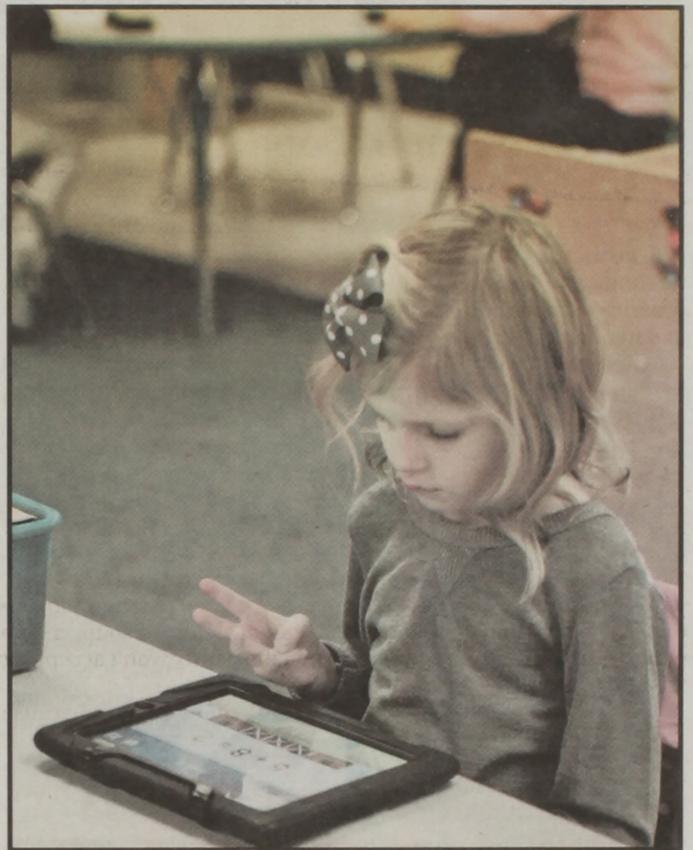

Many schools and charities help to donate food to food pantries. "Move for Hunger" works to get food from people's homes that would usually be thrown away and get it to a food pantry where someone who needs it will get it.

Here at Kewaskum Middle School we did our own food drive. We did a competition between advisements and the winning advisement was Mr. Schultz. His group had a total of 2,041 items. The second place advisory was Ms. Tallman with 122 items and third place was Mrs. Forstner with 102 items. The food drive went from September 20 to October 4 2013. We did this by challenging kids to bring in at least one food item and see how many we could get. The total number of items was 2737. We did it to help the hungry people of Kewaskum.

Fischer approached the Farmington Elementary Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) with the idea of bringing iPads into the classroom. With PTO funds remaining from the 2012-13 school year, the PTO purchased five more iPads for the 2013-14 school year to continue Fischer's initiative.

Sarah Moris, president of the PTO, stated, "We feel good about bringing technology to students." With the budget low for the beginning of the 2013-14 school year, the PTO is working hard to raise money to purchase another five for the school.

The goal is to have 25 iPads, enough for every student to have one in the classroom, versus a small group rotation schedule that children at Farmington currently use.

"It's about increasing student engagement, increasing student achievement, and offering one more way to reach the kid to teach them," Skelton said about using iPads in the classroom.

Currently only the kindergarten and first grade use the iPad as part of classroom learning. According to Fischer, Elisabeth Bergmann (first grade) and Amy Hammersmith (kindergarten) had more familiarity with the iPad through experience and/or volunteered for training.

More teachers are expected to attend workshops and conferences throughout the year with the goal for every teacher to feel comfortable using the iPad in their classroom. For the higher grades at Farmington, iPad availability will also alleviate the need for students to go a computer lab for research.

"They are available to everyone - 4K has begun using them now, second grade just asked and third grade is using them more, so it's kinda just building up without any mandates," Fischer said. "Teachers are naturally realizing this is a good tool and want to use them more."

"They know how to use them better than I do. They find levels I didn't know were there," Hammersmith.

First-grader Brett Hackert's favorite game app is "Line 'em Up." When asked why he enjoys the game, he replied, "I have to put the numbers in order up to 10. I can make it harder and harder."

Teachers decide which math and language arts apps to use by listening to recommendations from co-workers, websites, seminars or parents. Kaden Schmit, kindergartner, said, "My mom is the one who told us about it (Monkey Word School). We have it at home."

Most of the children were so engaged on the iPad, they didn't want to look up to talk.

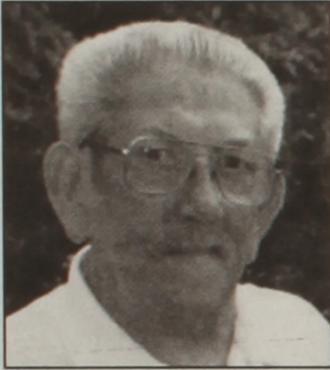

"We will continue to bring more iPads and other technologies into the school to continue our goal to engage students in their learning and to develop 21st Century skills," Fischer stated. "This is a goal that our school community continues to support and be a part of."

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of TIMOTHY J. MCKEE, who passed away five years ago, November 14, 2008.

Loving memories we will never forget,
Sadly missed along life's way
With silent thought and deep regret,
We think of you every day.
No longer in our lives to share,
But in our hearts you are always there.

Sadly missed by

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of PATRICIA HERRIGES, who passed away one year ago on November 16, 2012.

Though her smile is gone forever,
And her hand we cannot touch,
We still have many memories
Of the one we loved so much.

Her memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part
God has her in His keeping
We have her in our hearts.

Washington County's Junior Fair completed its 1988 five-day run with even better weather and higher temperatures than last year. And, as usual, its 19th Annual Livestock Auction was one of the most successful in the surrounding area. Beverly Schulz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schulz, Town of Wayne, was selected as Washington County's 1988 "Fairest of the Fair."

The 1919 Kewaskum High School girls basketball team was pictured in the Memories feature this week. The photo included Camilla Driessel, Esther Raether, Cecily Runte, faculty member Miss Noddelman, Florence Groeschel and Aleda Mertes. One girl was unidentified. Also in the photo was the coach, Edwin "Spatz" Miller.

A daughter, Alissa Jo, was born to Peggy and James Rohlinger, Sawyer Air Force Base, Michigan, on July 31. Alissa has one brother, Justin. Approximately 40 people were in attendance to hear the presentation of the proposed 1988-89 budget for the Kewaskum School District at its annual meeting Tuesday night. The proposed budget of $7,373,443, represented an increase of 4.74% over the 1987-88 budget of $7,039,915.

At a special meeting following the annual meeting Tuesday night, the Kewaskum Board of Education unanimously approved the hiring of Dr. David Heather as the district's new administrator, filling the vacancy left by the resignation of former District Administrator Penny Kleinhans. As a result of the severe electrical storms last Thursday and Saturday evenings, several buildings around this vicinity were damaged by lightning. A barn of Frank Hayes in the town of Ashford was struck early Friday morning with fire following, which completely destroyed the building. The dwelling house occupied by S. C. Wollensak and family located on North Fond du Lac Avenue, was struck during the heavy electrical storms early Sunday morning. The damage done was very slight. The bolt first struck the chimney on the north end of the house and passed along the eave troughs to the south end where it ripped off several pieces of siding. On its course it blew out the electric light fuse block, which set fire to the curtains below it. Mr. Wollensak noticed the room was ablaze and rushed to extinguish the fire before it could gain headway. The Silver Creek Methodist Church was also struck by lightning early Saturday morning and destroyed by fire.

Another tarantula was captured in I.J. Marx's confectionary store one day last week. While John Strachota, John Schaefer and a gentleman friend from Milwaukee were in the store last Thursday evening they noticed a large spider on the wall. Upon closer investigation, it was found to be a large tarantula.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Uelmen of St. Michaels was brightened last Friday by the arrival of a little baby boy.

VOLLEYBALL

The numbers posted by the UW-Washington County women's volleyball team this fall couldn't have been better. The Lady Wildcats finished the year at 20-0 in match play and 52-0 in set play, something that no other Wisconsin Collegiate Conference team had ever done in the sport before.

UWWC recently finished its perfect season with a win over UW-Barron County in the finals of the WCC Tournament.

"The team was outstanding and played an awesome tournament. I could not have asked for more from them," UWWC Athletic Director/coach Debbie Butschlick said. "Everyone has a role to play on the team. They fulfilled their specific roles, and they all connected during the tournament. I am so proud of everyone."

One of the women who really "connected" in the tournament was Whitney Bastian, a former volleyball standout from Kewaskum. In the 25-17, 25-19 victory over UW-Barron County, Bastian, who graduated from KHS in 2012, was spectacular at the net, going a perfect 15x15 with seven kills. This effort came on the heels of her 7x9 effort that produced five kills in the 25-10, 25-16 win over UW-Manitowoc in the semifinals.

The Lady Wildcats started out with an 8-0 mark in pool play, including victories over UW-Richland Center (25-9, 25-13), UW-Fond du Lac (25-9, 25-17), UW-Marathon County (25-21, 25-22) and UW-Baraboo (25-9, 25-12).

The team was comprised of nine women, including Bastian, four players from West Bend and one each from Germantown, Hartford and Kaity Murphy from Campbellsport.

WRESTLING

Collegiate wrestling got underway in Wisconsin this past week, with several dual meets and tournaments, including the annual Pointer Open hosted by UW-Stevens Point.

The meet drew 10 teams, plus a lot of unattached wrestlers. Among the entrants were Brett Scoles, a freshman at UW-Parkside and Scott Rhoads, the new head coach at Kewaskum High School. The two rank Nos. 1 and 2, respectively, in most victories at the school.

Rhoads finished 2-2 to take fourth place in the 184-pound weight class. Rhoads opened with back-to-back pins over Korey Kleinhans (UW-Oshkosh, 4:57) and James Hennick (UW-Eau Claire, 2:41) before losing to Matt Rieckhoff of UW-Eau Claire 5-3 in the semifinals, and then in the consolation match, he lost to Josh Cormican of UW-Eau Claire, 9-6.

After receiving a bye in the first round, Scoles, seeing his first collegiate action, had a tough draw. He didn't last long against UW-Oshkosh standout, Nazar Kulchytsky, who pinned him in 1:29 and eventually won the title at 165 pounds.

Kulchytsky, who is from Sosnivka, Ukraine, has won two NCAA III title. Last year, he finished 44-1 and for the second year in a row was named the WAIC (Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) Wrestler of the Year.

In the first round of consolations, Scoles received a bye, and then he lost a 5-3 decision to Ben Thome of UW-Stevens Point.

FOOTBALL

The UW-Stevens Point football team (22-4, 4-5) gave UW-Whitwater (6-0, 9-0) all it could handle last Saturday but fell short in an upset bid, falling 17-7.

The score was tied 7-7 midway through the second quarter when the Warhawks' Justin Howard dazzled the crowd with a 99-yard kickoff return, giving Whitewater a 14-7 lead.

The lone points in the second half was a Warhawk field goal.

Once again, senior Cody Seibel was a standout on the Pointers' defense. He was in-involved in 16 tackles, including eight solos and one tackle for a loss.

Brother Bo, a junior, chipped in with five solos and five assists.

Reserve Joe Paulus had one tackle for the winners.

At Eau Claire, UW-Oshkosh (5-1, 8-1) quarterback Nick Olla had a career day, throwing for a personal-best four touchdown passes, all to Caleb Voss. Olla completed 10 of the 13 passes he threw in the contest.

The Titans led 35-0 at intermission and wound up winning by a score of 42-14.

Olla also ran for 26 yards in five carries.

On Saturday, WIAC teams complete the regular season, with Oshkosh hosting UW-Platteville at 2 p.m. for Senior Day and Stevens Point playing UW-Stout in Menomonie at 1 p.m.

Indians alum Cody Lemke, a senior at Lakeland College looks to be helping his fellow Muskies remain in the hunt for a Northern Athletics Collegiate Conference title. Lakeland hosted Concordia Chicago this past weekend in a 62-7 blow-out.

Lakeland still has a chance for at least a share of the NACC regular season title if it can defeat Benedictine this coming Saturday in Lisle, Ill., and if Wisconsin Lutheran College defeats Concordia University Wisconsin. Concordia Wisconsin clinched the NACC's automatic berth to the NCAA Division III playoffs with a 49-41 win over Aurora (Ill.) University 49-41 Saturday.

The Muskies take on Benedictine in their season finale Saturday at 1 p.m.

Lemke has a team-best 60 tackles and was credited with fumble recoveries from this weekend's game.

North Dakota State rolled to its 18th straight victory, romping over Illinois State 28-10. Eric Perkins played but did not have any catches for the Bison.

Family time is at the center of trapshooting hobby for Mosers

Three generations of trapshooting Mosers, Ray Moser, Jake Moser and Gary Moser.

By Gay Griesbach

Statesman Correspondent

The art of trapshooting is a family affair for three generations of Mosers.

Jake and his father Gary took up the sport after winning free passes for archery and trap time at the Newburg Sportsmen's Club about six years ago.

The senior member, Gary's uncle Ray Moser, 86, has been shooting since 1956.

Ray started at the West Bend Barton Sportsman's Club, where he ran the trap shooting committee for 15 years, until the property was paid off.

Then he started traveling.

"I've shot against some of the best in the world and beat them," Ray said.

And that's not an empty boast.

He traveled to Tucson, Ariz., to participate in the Winter Chain Shoot and returned with a trunk full of trophies, shooting high-overall for the week. He went to Scottsdale because he wanted to hit a few clays at The Shot Yard. There, he impressed Arizona Hall of Famer Jerry Hauser, who had the highest average in the world at the time.

In Florida, he bested trapshooting legend Frank Little.

"Trapshooting is a sport that, on a given day, you can beat the best in the world," Ray said. "You have to look around and say, 'I don't think anybody here can beat me today,' but if they beat you, you have to be the first one to congratulate them."

Ray has been the West Bend Barton Club Champion seven times, on the All-State Team 13 times and was inducted into the Wisconsin Trapshooting Hall of Fame in 2002.

To date, he's discharged 535,000 rounds.

By donating a $1 million living trust to the new Wisconsin Trapshooting Association facility in Rome, Wis., Ray helped make it a reality.

Gary said he hadn't done much trap shooting until Newburg.

After a year of practice shooting, with Jake coming along to watch, Gary bought his son a 1975 Browning Citori.

Gary enjoys the camaraderie of the sport and looks at it as something that gives the pair some father/son time together.

"I started too late in life to be a good shooter, but I look forward to the time we spend together. I enjoy that Jake gets into it so much," Gary said.

A local distributor for Matco Tools, Gary found customers and friends who also wanted to participate in the sport and when the Fillmore Sportsman's Club had an opening, they formed their own Monday night team.

Jake, an eighth grader at Kewaskum Middle School, said trap shooting has taught him respect, responsibility and hones his ability to make quick choices accurately.

"Birds come out, sometimes at 90 mph, but more usually at 44 mph. They come at any angle and I've got to be ready to shoot," Jake said.

Over the past six years Jake has shot statewide and in league and competition, managing a perfect score 15 times in 25 straights and twice in 50 straights.

"It's a different challenge every time you go out and shoot," Jake said.

Gary and Jake shoot at the Fillmore, New Fane and Campbellsport clubs.

Ray, Gary and Jake started shooting together about two years ago at the West Bend Barton Club during a Kiwanis competition.

Ray would like to see Jake carry on the Moser legacy.

"He's doing quite well," Ray said. "Jake has the potential. He has a desire and likes winning."

As a Christmas present last year, Ray signed Jake up for the Amateur Trapshooting Association.

The ATA governs the sport's rules and regulations, as well as seeking ways to enhance the sport and stimulate participation.

Jake was on the opening squad in Rome July 16 at the Wisconsin State Shoot at the Wisconsin Trapshooting Association's new facility.
