The beauty of the Kettle Moraine took center stage March 7 as members of the Discover Wisconsin film crew put the finishing touches on a segment featuring the Ice Age Trail.

The program will air at 10 a.m. March 12 on Fox Sports and 10:00 a.m. April 13 on Fox Channel 6 in Milwaukee.

Chad Diedrick, a managing director of Discover Wisconsin and producer of the episode, said he worked with Washington County Convention and Visitors Bureau

Executive Director Elaine Motl to feature places alongside the IAT in Washington County, including the city of West Bend, Holy Hill and its fall colors and Sunburst Ski Area.

Filming began Friday with snowmobiles and moved to snowshoers trekking along a newly-dedicated segment before moving on to Sunburst Ski Area, where the IAT has an easement.

Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce Tourism Liaison Gino Giudice said Motl approached the chamber about the winter-activity portion of the broadcast.

"What better way to show the Ice Age Trail? Everyone knows you can hike there, but it has more uses," Giudice said.

Chamber member Jody Schulz, who owns Kettle Moraine Carriages with her husband Mike, volunteered their driving expertise, horses and sleigh.

"We thought a sleigh ride would be a good addition to the segment," Schulz said.

Diedrick said portions of the trail through Washington, Waukesha, Sheboygan and Door counties will complete a four-episode DW journey along the 1,000-mile footpath.

The Kewaskum FFA hosted the District 28, FFA Speaking Contest on Monday February 3. About 40 FFA members took part in the event including Kewaskum FFA officer Aubrey Dei.

Traveling to Kewaskum to compete were Beaver Dam, Campbellsport, Dodgeand, Hartford, Horicon, Hustisford, Lomira, Mayville, and Slinger.

The speaking contest is a great experience for FFA members to learn the skills needed to speak in front of people in a variety of circumstances. The categories of the competition included Creed Speaking, Prepared Speaking, Extemporaneous Speaking, Discussion Meet, Job Interview, Quiz Bowl, and Parliamentary Procedure.

Each category had three judges score and critique the participant's ability. The judges that volunteered to help included members of the Kewaskum FFA Alumni, members of the Kewaskum School Board, KHS teachers, district administration, Washington and Sheboygan County Extension representatives and local business owners.

Many members of the Kewaskum FFA were in attendance to help with various needs throughout the contest. FFA Officers and visiting Section 10 State FFA Officer Katie Freeman, presented the awards to the first and second place winners of each category. The top two winners of each category competed at the Section 10 Speaking Contest in Fort Atkinson on March 12, with the hopes of making it to the state level of competition.

The event is hosted at Kewaskum about every seven years. Dei competed in the Job Interview category and did very well.

Restoring Hank's truck was a labor of love for son and grandsons

Timblin family restores '82 semi truck

Henry "Hank" Timblin's 1982 Peterbuilt Cabover is shown after its restoration by his son and grandsons. Hank's son Trev keeps the truck as part of his fleet at Blue Leasing Company in the town of Barton. Hank Timblin and his wife Carole founded Henry Timblin Trucking in the 1960's and ran the business in downtown Kewaskum for decades.

While most of us drive down the highway in nondescript sedans or SUVs, Trev Timblin and his son TJ get noticed on the road.

Trev Timblin, owner of Blue Leasing Corporation, is the middle generation of a trucking family that started with his late father, Henry "Hank" and Hank's twin brother William and continues with Trev's sons TJ and Tanner and several cousins. Hank's wife Carole later joined him in the business that operated in Kewaskum for more than 40 years.

Trev has been on the road for 27 years, hauling milk for a dairy in Kewaskum as an independent trucker and then steel from Chicago as a union teamster.

Now, as the owner of Blue Leasing Corporation in the town of Barton, Trev spends 60 to 70 hours per week in the office, but his rigs have participated in Special Olympics convoys, hauled Department of Defense military vehicles, food products - "everything from soup to nuts" - throughout the lower 48 states.

"It brings new challenges every day," Trev said.

Trev, who enjoys customizing trucks as a hobby, said his fleet looks sharp.

"We have high end trucks and take pride in what our fleet looks like," Trev said.

Still, he had a soft spot for his father's semi, a 1982 Peterbilt Model 362 Cabover.

"It was a pretty standout truck at that time - one of the fancier trucks around," Trev said.

At 14, Trev was with him the day Hank picked up the silver and blue truck that sported turquoise pin striping from the Peterbilt dealership in Waukesha.

"I still remember the salesman's name," said Trev. "The dealership is still there."

Twenty-one years ago, the truck left the family, but since Trev knew the owner lived on the south side of West Bend, he didn't worry about not being the owner.

Occasionally he would contact the man with an offer to buy the vehicle.

"Cabover trucks aren't made anymore. Everybody wants something they can't have," Trev said.

The West Bend owner had the vehicle for 19 years, but in the summer of 2012, Trev caught him with an offer on the right day.

"I asked, he said yes. Within 35 minutes I had the money to his house. He was dumbfounded," said Trev.

Along with the truck and title, the former owner gave Trev a stack of paperwork chronicling what had been done to the truck over the past 19 years. Trev also found the original warranty card in his father's name and the address of his parent's business at 203 Main Street.

"I was very fortunate. The gentleman that had it was an old-school hot-rod guy. He kept it inside, took care of it and had painted it a flat primer grey," said Trev.

That was his style, not Trev's, who had it painted Bahama blue and metallic black.

With the help of its former owner, Trev added a few modern features, modified the rear end and stretched the wheel base, "giving it some sex appeal," Trev said.

Now that the rig was done to his liking, it was time to show it off.

Trev's truck earned first place in the 1986 and older Class 601 competition at the Waupun Truck-n-Show and a spot on the April page of the 2014 Shell Rotella calendar.

Both Trev and son TJ posed with Hank's truck on the June page of the 2014 Chrome Mafia Shop calendar - a Father's Day tribute to Hank.

It seems TJ has inherited his father's love of a sharp truck. He's been driving for five years and when he got his 2013 Peterbilt 389, he set about customizing it, earning a spot in December on the Shell calendar after pulling into the Shell Rotella SuperRigs event in Tomah, Wis. Trev earned a third place in the Classic category at that show - TJ a fourth place in Tractor/Trailer.

TJ, who has been in truck shows from Louisville Kentucky and Florida, said he was pretty excited when his truck was chosen at the SuperRigs show.

"Everybody told me I was a shoo-in, with the bright colors, but I didn't want to believe them and jinx it," TJ said.

TJ ordered the Peterbilt in a stock-solid yellow with a blue frame, but it wasn't quite right.

"When it got delivered I didn't like the colors, so I sanded it down and started over," TJ said.

While the truck is still yellow and blue, the yellow is deeper and more reflective. Adding silver pinstripe and tweaking an intense blue pattern that followed the fender lines was more to his liking.

"If I have to drive it every day, I want it to look cool, to be different than anybody else going down the highway," TJ said.

TJ takes his rig out when the weather is right, but unlike a pampered classic car, Trev said his dad's truck is still on the road regularly, and has racked up over two million miles.

"It doesn't have all the modern creature comforts, but it can do everything a big truck is supposed to do," Trev said.

With two sons in the business, Trev said it is unlikely Hank's truck will leave the family again in their lifetimes.

Village will replace totaled ambulance

By Gay Griesbach
Statesman Correspondent

The Kewaskum Village Board approved replacing an ambulance totaled in a crash earlier this year at its March 8 board meeting.

Details of the new vehicle are still being worked out.

Insurance will pay for the replacement of a $180,000 Life Line ambulance, which the village took delivery of in May, 2013.

That ambulance was involved in a three-vehicle crash January 31 at the intersection of Highway 45 and County Road

H/Badger Road.

According to information received from the Washington County Sheriff's Department, the operator of the ambulance was cited for failure to obey a traffic signal because the operator did not have the siren on and therefore it was not considered an emergency vehicle when it went through the intersection.

The village still has two ambulances in service, one of which is being rented.

The department currently has 17 EMTs and is working toward an Advanced EMT certification by the end of the year.

4-H prepare Gifts of Love

The Washington County 4-H Art Program did a "Gifts of Love" program for the elderly in the community. Various Washington County 4-H Clubs, including the Kettle Country Kids, helped decorate bags and cards. On Tuesday, February 7, 4-H youth and adults filled the bags with items donated, including personal and food items. The Washington County Office on Aging and the Meals on Wheels Program will be delivering the bags. This project will reach out to 160 elderly in Washington County.

Letter to the Editor

To The Editor:

After living in Kewaskum for 40 years, we had to make a 911 call for a chimney fire. Kewaskum's finest arrived in less than 10 minutes, very professionally put out the fire. Using their thermo imaging, they could tell where the hot spots were and took care of the situation.

We in Kewaskum are so very lucky to have these fine young men and women volunteering their time to protect us. So when you see them in the store, or restaurants in town, thank them for their service, and when they "pass the boot", or host their soup sampler this month, show your support... because you never know when it will be you who has to dial 911.

Dennis & Kathy Giese

Dear Editor,

Point-of-Interest: taxes and school subsidies. In 1949, Free and Appropriate Public Education (FAPE), was created and made law. Since 1949, general modifications were made to the formula process, understandable for its evolution. At one point not too long ago, Kewaskum received 65% support for public education. From a property taxpayer (levy and mill rate) perspective, the difference was approximately 35% or 1/3 of the operating budget. Currently, our legislative leaders in Madison are working to reduce State property taxes, which is good. Of concern however is that the changes to subsidized public education over time, specifically in the 1990's when the Qualified Economic Offer (QEO) and Revenue limits were established, frugal Kewaskum's revenue limit was set low and essentially now, penalizes the District. Current subsidy support levels are approximately 37% (from 65%).

Equalization aid (includes secondary and tertiary levels), categorical aid, school levy credits, revenue limits and student enrollment, are key formula factors for how much support is offered each District. With little or no control of any of these factors, Kewaskum finds itself at the mercy of how budget dollars are subjectively divvied up in the biennium budget process.

Lately, the shift to save on property tax places a burden on KSD's public education funding. My focus is the formula - it needs to be reviewed for fairness and balance for all 424 Districts. Until then, all we can do is exhaust options to control spending to prevent increased levies for needed funding. I do not support raising taxes nor do I support referendum(s). Conversely, I do support personnel and programs that deliver quality education, and therein is the challenge. My personal focus is to continue working within our means to sustain quality education with investment return to the taxpayers.

Respectfully,
Timothy Ramthun

Irish Impressions Concert at UW-WC

Irish music lovers are in luck this month as UW-Washington County will be presenting Irish Impressions performed by the Kettle Moraine Symphony on Sunday, March 23 at 2:30pm. The afternoon will feature a variety of familiar Irish tunes, Irish dancers as well as Irish beer!

The Symphony's music will definitely kick up everyone's Irish spirits as it includes many favorites, including Lord of the Dance by Ronan Hardiman, Irish Rhapsody by Victor Herbert, The Irish Washerwoman by Leo Sowerby, Pennywhistle Jig by Henry Mancini and The Girl I Left Behind Me by Leroy Anderson. Directed by Paul Thorgaard, the Irish Impressions concert also includes three dancers from Cashel Dennehy School of Irish Dance.

Founded by the late Professor Bud Asch in 1968, a professor of music at UW-Washington County, the Kettle Moraine Symphony hasn't performed on the campus for over 20 years. UW-WC Professor of Music, Dr. Peter Gibeau, started teaching at the campus in 1992 and he remembers that "the orchestra was already too big for the rehearsal space then, so we rehearsed at Badger Middle School." Gibeau recalls that while a few occasional concerts were held at UW-WC, the larger pieces couldn't fit on the stage. The rehearsal space was expanded in 2002, however the stage hasn't changed and as Peter notes, "it will be interesting to see how we all fit on stage now!"

Tickets for the Symphony's Irish Impressions concert are $18 adults, $15 seniors (over 62) and $5 for youth (under 18). Refreshments will be available for sale. Reservations can be made by phone, 262-335-5208 or email, wsh-tickets@uwc.edu

The University is located at 400 University Drive in West Bend. The theatre is located on the second floor of the campus. Free parking is available. For more information, visit the campus website at www.washington.uwc.edu.

KHS Mock Trial Team competes in Appleton

The 2014 Kewaskum High School Mock Trial Team competed in Appleton on February 8. Students act as lawyers and witnesses and prepare a trial including opening and closing statements, doing direct and cross examinations of witnesses and making objections. This year's case was a civil matter involving a high school student who hit one of his classmates while he was allegedly texting and driving. The students had to argue if he was in fact negligent and should be held liable for monetary damages. Kewaskum High School's mock trial program is in its 12th year and was coached by social studies teacher Luke Piwoni and attorney Deborah Strigenz. The team was nominated and awarded the "Spirit of Mock Trial". They received the award because of the teams positive attitudes and excitement during the regional tournament. The award will be giving out during the Semi-Final banquet on March 9th. Team members include front row, left to right: attorney coach Deb Strigenz, Kayla Gaudynski, Annie Fiebig, Erin Thisted-Klemp, Lauren Vogt, Ellie Landreville, Julia Cotter, Alexandra Krueger, Ellie Debelak, Jeray Riffel, Mikaela Rabe, Andrew Otto. Back row, left to right, Zach Staehler, Josh Fiebig, Kyle Pamperin, Sean Murray, Josh Limbach, Andrew Ries, Taylor Nelson, Chas Moede, Amanda Plachinski, educator/ coach Luke Piwoni.

UWWC's student art contest largest ever

Thirty-four area middle and high schools will be participating in UW-Washington County's annual student art contest this year (up from 28 in 2013). Participating for the first time are: Campbellsport Middle School; Homestead High School, Mequon; John Long Middle School, Grafton; Menomonee Falls High School; North Middle School, Menomonee Falls; Port Washington High School; and St. Francis Borgia, Cedarburg. Art teachers from the participating schools will be dropping off over 500 colorful pieces of student artwork next week, as UW-WC staff and volunteers begin decorating the campus walls and bookshelves, so that the artwork can be displayed and judged.

Each school can submit up to 15 pieces of art, with teachers typically selecting the best examples of various classroom projects. Judging and selecting the best entries from these top creative entries is no easy task. This year's high school judges include: Anna Moisiadis, an art lecturer at UW-WC and artist and Graeme Reid, director of collections/exhibitions at the Wisconsin Museum of Art. At the middle school level, judges include Lynn Molenda, an art educator and coordinator of Wisconsin's Student Centered Learning in the Arts action research group and Shawn Graff, Washington County Campus Foundation board member who also serves as the executive director of the West Bend Friends of Sculpture. Recognition will be given to top middle and high school students for the best artwork in each of four media categories for middle school and five media categories for high school.

All of the artwork will be on display at the Festival of Arts on Saturday, April 5 from 10 am to 4 pm.

The artwork will be displayed by location (a change from prior years). The 14 municipalities represented include Campbellsport, Cedarburg, Grafton, Hartford, Jackson, Kewaskum, Lomira, Mayville, Menomonee Falls, Mequon, Port Washington, Random Lake, Slinger and West Bend.

Student awards will be presented by the campus dean, Paul Price, and Washington County Campus Foundation Director Iva Thelen during a ceremony that begins at noon in the campus theatre during the festival. The ceremony will include a slideshow of winning student entries. In addition to certificates, ribbons and a small gift from the campus, other awards have been added this year for the top winners. The Wisconsin Museum of Art will present the top middle and high school winners with a family-plus membership to the MOWA. Staff from the Schauer Art and Activities Center will present a free art class to the top high school winner and the Milwaukee Art Museum will present a free art class to the top middle school winner.

In addition to student artwork, the popular festival features a juried art sale with over 55 artists, musical presentations, a farmers market, a photography display, art and garden seminars and a new art make-and-take-it. The children's art projects are 45 to 75 minutes in length and are sponsored by the Schauer Art and Activities Center in Hartford. Class size is limited to 25 students per session.

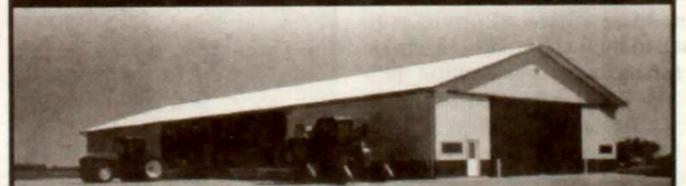

For a complete list of festival updates, including participating schools, artists, and activities, visit the campus website at www.washington.uwc.edu. Updates and photos are also available on the campus Facebook page, Twitter (@UW_WC #festivalofarts) and Pinterest. All available artist and reserved. ## KES third graders learn about producers and consumers

Autographed Nelson football Awarded

Assembly lines were set up, workers took their places at the conveyor belt, and raw materials awaited transformation. No, students were not in Detroit or the Silicon Valley, just four, third grade, classrooms at Kewaskum Elementary School.

Having just completed an economics unit, 82 third graders mass-produced products to sell to their classmates. Twinkie Hot Rods, Candy Kabobs, Dirt Cake Cups and Edible Snowmen were constructed step by step with tender, loving care. All "employees" were educated regarding their individual responsibilities on the line, and still supported one another as a team. Quality control was of the utmost importance.

One can imagine the number of raw materials necessary to manufacture 400 products. Parent Aaron Laatsch and the remarkable staff at Geidel's Piggy Wiggly rose to the occasion. They packed up and delivered much of the students' needs.

When the dirt cake cup assembly line crashed for lack of gummy worms Laatsch came to the rescue, delivering five extra packages. Kathy Ray, another parent, came armed with her blender, extra bowls and a good deal of patience to assist.

Teacher Kathleen Flaherty explained, although this manufacturing process and sale of products was fun, it was by no means frivolous. Economic derived vocabulary words and concepts sprang to life during this activity and cemented their meaning in students' minds. Concepts like supply and demand; natural, human and capital resources; producers and consumers and scarcity and abundance.

"Even though students laughed and enjoyed the manufacturing process, they also commented on the monotony and often asked to change jobs to end the tedium. Real-life experiences often are the best teacher, said Flaherty.

Mrs. Gutjahr and Mrs. Bauer's class had a two for one sale. Shown clockwise from lower left, Derek May, Carosn Rolf, Brooke Denmon, Noah Nanz, Finn Baker, Riley Dwyer and Blake Bonlender.

Throughout the school year, Kewaskum Middle School students have been working on eating healthy and being physically active. Fuel Up to Play 60 is a program sponsored by the National Dairy Council and the National Football League. Fuel Up student ambassadors meet regularly and amb tastings; opportunities for students to try small portions of new foods. Ambassadors also plan physical activities plays; times when all students are challenged to be physically active at the same time.

Recently, students who sampled the breakfast grab-and-go yogurt parfait were given the opportunity to predict the Super Bowl winner and the total score. The student with the closest prediction would win an autographed Jordy Nelson football. Seventh grader, Alex Deheck correctly guessed the Seahawks total points predicted correctly.

ARTHUR FELIX NORDIN

Arthur Felix Nordin, age 88, of Tomahawk, passed away peacefully at his residence under the care of Ministry Home Hospice on February 25, 2014.

He was born in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan in Channing on May 1, 1925 and later raised in Daggett, MI. He was the ninth of eighteen children of Axel Nordin and Signe Maria (Peterson) Nordin.

In his younger years, Art enjoyed many outdoor activities including bird hunting, deer hunting and fly-fishing. Art left his formal education early on (seventh grade) and joined his brother, Clarence, working beside their father Axel to support their large family by working as jobbers in the woods during the Great Depression.

During World War II from 1943 to 1946, Art served as a corporal in the United States Marine Corp, 6th Division, and was trained as a sharp shooter. His time in the South Pacific was spent as a radioman to his captain. He served on campaigns from New Caledonia, Guadalcanal, Emirau, Guam, and Okinawa. At the end of the war he was stationed in occupied Japan. It is notable that during the war years, Art served with four of his brothers in various branches of the Armed Forces.

After returning from World War II in the late 1940's, he began various job ventures including work as a floor tiler at Loma Linda Hospital in Chicago and traveling to South Dakota to work as a lineman installing the new high-voltage power lines to the area.

While working in Kiel, in the early 1950's, Art met his future wife, Faye Clara Schwartz. They were married in Kiel on December 6, 1952.

Art and Faye moved to West Bend in 1954 for his new job at Wisconsin Electric as a lineman and to start their family. Through his years with the electric company he moved up to the position of troubleshooter; a position he particularly liked due to its sense of independence and his interest in detecting the source of Wisconsin Electric in 1986.

Throughout the years, Art and Faye had four children: Sandra Lee (1954), Peter Jon (1955), Paul Jan (1957) and Nancy Ann (1961). Art and Faye suffered the loss of their two boys early on. Peter passed away in 1978 after a 3-year bout with AML leukemia; he was just 22 years old when he died.

Paul suffered from a benign meningioma (brain tumor) that was discovered in 1989. Even though the tumor was removed, it left him with daily grand mal seizures to which he succumbed 11 years later; he died in 2000 at the age of 43 years.

Before moving to Tomahawk four years ago, Art resided in Daggett, MI, since 2005, a move that took Faye and him back to the UP of Michigan to his roots after living in the West Bend and Kewaskum areas of southern Wisconsin for 51 years; 41 of those years in the same house.

Art was preceded in death by his wife, Faye. She passed away February 22, 2009. They had been married 56 years.

Art enjoyed moving to Tomahawk in 2010; first renting then owning his own home, spending time with his daughter Nancy every day, reading the Milwaukee Journal-Sentinel, and dining at the Tomahawk Family Restaurant.

Reading was a passion throughout Art's life. His literary interests included history, most non-fiction and a good western novel. As an avid reader, he loved going to book sales at the various local libraries and had a substantial home library of his favorite books.

As he grew older, the number of books he read increased exponentially. Toward the end of his life, he read day and night. Keeping him supplied with reading materials became a real endeavor. What he lacked in formal education, Art made up for in his love of reading; he truly was a self-taught man.

Survivors include two daughters, Sandra Lee (David) Huehner, of West Bend and Nancy Nordin Bushar of Tomahawk; one grandson, Jonathan Withrow Huehner, of West Bend; a special sister-in-law, Waltraud (Margret) Schwartz, of Germany. Art was also an honorary grandfather to his former daughter-in-law and son-in-law's children (Melva and Martin Stockwell) of Salem, who includes Andrew Stockwell of Seattle, WA, Patrick Stockwell of Chicago, IL, and Katherine Stockwell of Madison.

Further survivors include his brothers, David Nordin of Tucson, AZ, Douglas Nordin of Menominee, MI, Robert (Shirley) Nordin of Daggett, MI, and Ronald (Julee) Nordin of Wallace, MI. Surviving sisters include Elsie Goss of CA, Manette (Donald) Raboin of Stephenson, Judy Nordin of Merritt Island, FL, Gloria Hannon of Sterling Heights, MI. He is also survived by numerous nieces and nephews and their children.

Those preceding Art in death include his parents; his wife, Faye; his sons, Peter and Pau; his siblings, Ernest, Margaret, Selma, Mildred, Nicanor, Clarence, Ethel, Glen, and Beatrice; nephews, Brian, Clifford and Nicanor Jr, and a niece, Jean.

A memorial service for Art Nordin will be held at a later date in the UP of Michigan.

As Art suffered from a rare type of neuropathy from his toes to his knees making ambulation difficult, the family requests that memorials be sent in Arthur's name to the Charcot-Marie-Toussain Association, P.O. Box 105, Glenolden, PA 19036.

Generations Funeral Home is assisting the family. View obituary and leave online condolences at generationsfuneral.com.

The family would like to offer a special thanks to Corette, the Tomahawk Ambulance crew, the staff at Sacred Heart Hospital, Riverview Rehab, and Ministry Home Hospice for their kindness, caring and professionalism in making Art's last days as comfortable and memorable as possible.

25 Years Ago*December 2, 1988

Taxpayers are apparently satisfied with Kewaskum's efforts to contain operating costs and keep budget increases as low as possible since no one came to Monday night's public hearing on the proposed 1989 budget. A drop in the assessed valuation, along with increases in the county, state, school and vocational education taxes are the reasons the village will see its gross tax rate rise to $27.13 per $1,000 of assessed valuation for 1988. Less this year's tax credit of $2.57, which is down one cent from last year, the end result is a net tax rate of $24.56 for 1988. That represents a 4.5% or $1.06 increase over the 1987 net tax rate of $23.59.

Sandi Amerling has purchased Village Hair Stylists from Dolores Marschke, who has moved from the area. Sandi intends to run the salon much as it always has been. Brenda Niel will still be working and an addition to the staff will be Terri Huck. Terri was working in Fond du Lac and has moved to Kewaskum.

The Kewaskum area's first annual tree lighting and community carol fest is planned for Monday, December 12, beginning at 6:30 p.m. You are invited to gather round the Christmas tree in front of the Municipal building on First Street to help fill the village with beautiful music of the season.

Raincoats, rubbers and umbrellas sheltered 123 students daily as they found their way to the Kewaskum High School where school has opened for the 1938-39 term.

Four years ago while working in his garden in the village, John H. Martin lost a valuable moonstone ring he was wearing. Last Saturday, while his son-in-law, Norton Koerble, was digging in the same garden for angle worms, he unearthed the root of an old cabbage and upon observing something shiny clinging around the root, discovered the ring. The ring is in as good a condition as when lost and Mr. Martin once more wears a moonstone ring.

In a very charming early autumn nuptial rite at which the Rev. Philip Vogt officiated on September 14, in Holy Trinity Church, Miss Kathryn Marx, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Marx of Kewaskum, became the bride of Carl Malischke, son of Mrs. Charles Malischke, Wauwatosa.

Girls bowling team builds for the future

By Judy Harlow

Statesman Correspondent

'Wait until next year' was the cry of members of the Kewaskum girls' bowling team after they finished an even 9-9 for the 2014 campaign.

"We finished OK. We struggled a little bit near the end of the season, which is what I expected because they were young and inexperienced," first-year head coach Kyle Wesenberg said, adding the team jumped out to a 9-2 mark before struggling trying to adjust to the different lanes.

Wesenberg's varsity squad included Cierra Werbelow and Melanie Otten, Becca Strigenz, Rosa Rozitis and Sammy Jan-esch, with Werbelow and Otten his top performers.

Concerning the team's biggest win of the season, Wesenberg pointed to the match against Cedarburg.

"We were down two games to one and we won the last two to win the match," Wesenberg said.

The high individual score of the year was a 206 but he couldn't recall who had it.

Janesch, Rozitis and Alexis Philips, who bowled on the JV for much of the season, all competed in the recent individual sectional, which was held at the Circle B near Grafton.

"They did OK. They were all improving," Wesenberg said.

In the team sectional held at the Lakeshore Lanes in Sheboygan, Kewaskum finished seventh out of eight teams. The top three teams berths in the upcoming state competition, and that's where Wesenberg wants the season to end in 2015.

"I have the feeling we can get the girls to state next year," he said, indicating he wants them to go out with "a memorable moment."

And how did Wesenberg enjoy his first year as a head coach? "I liked it a lot," he said, eager to see how much his team will improve in the future.

Scoles places in pair of 'opens'

By Judy Harlow

Statesman Correspondent

When you are a freshman in a collegiate wrestling program, you long for the "open" meets to gain experience and work on developing a higher level technique.

Former Kewaskum High standout Brett Scoles did both on February 8 when he got the chance to compete unattached in the Blugold Open held in Eau Claire. Scoles, a freshman at UW-Parkside, finished fourth out of 20 wrestlers at 165 pounds.

After receiving a bye, Scoles defeated Sean Huls by a score of 8-4, but in the next round he was beaten 9-5 by Alex Anaya, an unattached wrestler from St.

Cloud, MN.

Moving to the consolation bracket, Scoles posted back-to-back 7-1 victories over Ryan Behnke of Eau Claire and Mathew Laugen of Eau Claire. Those wins gave Scoles the right to battle for third place, but his opponent was again Anaya, who beat him for a second time, this time in a 14-5 major decision.

The previous week Scoles placed second in the Harper Open held on the campus of Harper College in Palatine, Illinois.

There were eight athletes in the 165-pound class and Scoles opened with two wins by major decisions, 10-1 and 10-2 before falling to Bryce Alexandar of Hannibal LaGrande, 8-4.

Lions roar past Indians in D3 playoff

By Troy Sparks

Statesman Correspondent

LOMIRA - What dogged the Kewaskum girls basketball team all year was reflected in their first round exit from the Division 3 playoffs. The Lions hosted the Indians in their 49-29 setback.

Two things were evident: responding to pressure and not playing complete games. When teams applied the full court press, the Indians had trouble breaking it down and it was no different when the Lions did it. After the lightbulb came on in the players' heads to mount a comeback in the second half, it was too late.

"That was the story of our season," Kewaskum coach Kory Dogs said. "It was the tale of two halves. We outscored (Lomira) in the second half (19-14). Lomira plays good man-to-man defense. We knew that going in. They're not a real high-scoring team. They don't shoot threes very well, but they did tonight."

Opponents who played Kewaskum seemed to have career scoring nights, but the lesson the Indians learned this past season hopefully will be applied next season.

"Teams get hot against us," Kory Dogs said. "We need to work on our defense. (Lomira) found the holes and knocked (the shots) all down."

Lomira's Michaela Luedtke made three from downtown and had a three-point play to score 12 of the Lions' 23 first quarter points. She finished with 21. The hosts made five threes in the first quarter alone and only one the rest of the game. The Indians center Erin Matusinec's two inside baskets and a free throw from junior Maddie Kreis was all the scoring in the first that the Indians got as they faced a 23-5 deficit entering the second quarter.

The Lions played conservative in the second quarter when they scored only 10 points, but the Indians didn't take advantage. Turnovers, missed shots and defensive breakdowns indicated that the green-and-white wasn't focused on the task at hand. They trailed at the half 35-10.

The bright spot for the Indians was Matusinec, who scored a team-high of nine points. If she would have made all of her free throws, she would have been in double figures, but she converted 3-of-4 from the line while getting quite a workout on the defensive end. Matusinec's battle on the blocks against Lomira's big freshman center, Shelby Sparks, was like her trying to move a baby grand piano by herself.

The Indians' Molly Schulties attempts to steal the ball from the Lions' Haley Cole while Hailey Herriges stands ready to assist during the Division 3 regional game hosted by Lomira on Tuesday, March 4. The Indians were upended by Lomira 49-29.

"She was big," Matusinec said.

Since there were no departing seniors on the Kewaskum team, everyone is expected to return to improve on their 3-20 record going into the 2014-15 season, which is the last season the Indians can make some noise before they face tougher teams in the new conference under the realignment plan.

Deheck, Bauer and Bruss win titles in KIWC test

By Troy Sparks

Statesman Correspondent

Leading the contingent of 29 wrestlers competing in the March 9 Kewaskum Indian Wrestling Club's annual tournament were a trio of champions, Nicholas Deheck, Eric Bauer and Adam Bruss.

Bruss, in his first year of wrestling, went 3-0 in the bracket for 97-106 pounders born between 1999 and 2000. All three of his wins came by pin and reportedly this was his very first championship.

Bauer, a veteran in the sport and an excellent technician, recorded two pins and two decisions in winning the five-man bracket for wrestlers weighing between 97 and 112 pounds and born in 2001 or 2002.

Deheck also had an excellent outing, going 3-0 at 66 pounds in the 2005-'06 class. The three wins were all by decision.

Kewaskum also had nine second places, including: 1999-2000 — Luke Bindrich and Sam Larson; 2001-'02 — Sam Melzer, Nathaniel Drose, Braeden Maertz; 2005-'06 — Brent Krejarek and Stone Pommeroy; 2007-'09 — Elisha McCain and Xane Kleinke.

Third-place finishers were: 1999-2000 — Erik Muckerheide; 2001-'02 — Mason Pommeroy, Alex Deheck and Eddie Padilla; 2005-'06 — Nick Stautz and Jace Rhoads.

Others who participated included Seth Schwai, Mitchell Becker, Connor Steldt, Mason Heberer, Alex Butler, Tanner Goeman, Kannon Muckerheide, Adam Beck, Ben Butler, Cayden Beck and Jaden Rhoads.

Co-coaches of the KIWC, Mark Deheck and Justin Rhoads, were very pleased with their athletes and the turnout for the event which drew 270 young athletes, according to Deheck.

Clubs participating Sunday included Arrowhead, Grafton, Fox Valley Elite, West Bend, Germantown, Hartford, Dodgeland, Slinger, and Askren Wrestling. Also, someone from Gillett came to wrestle in Kewaskum.

"Our little guys in K-2 did pretty well," Rhoads said.

"The turnout was good ... It went well. There were no hitches," Deheck said, indicating the club did the brackets ahead of time, and, "That worked out pretty slick."

"It was good competition," Deheck went on, offering thanks to all the area clubs who came to the tournament and "to all those who donated their time to make it a success."

Older members of the club will be participating in a regional tournament in Fond du Lac this coming weekend. Those finishing first or second in their weight classes advance to the state meet.

Adam Bruss, a first year wrestler for the Kewaskum Indians Wrestling Club, took first place in his bracket at the club's annual tournament this past weekend.
