CC's Place robbed at gunpoint Tuesday

The Washington County Sheriff's Department is looking for a male subject who is believed to have robbed a popular Wayne Township tavern Tuesday morning at gunpoint.

The armed robbery occurred; at 1:47 a.m. inside CC's Place, 8892 County Road W. The tavern did not have any customers at the time of the robbery.

Police say at closing time, an armed subject forced his way into the tavern and knocked the 27-year-old female bartender to the floor. The suspect then pointed a firearm at the employee and demanded money. The employee was not seriously hurt.

The suspect was described as male about 5'8" tall, medium build and was wearing a ski mask. Police believe he fled the scene with an undisclosed amount of money. The suspect vehicle may have been an older tan four-door car.

The investigation is ongoing, and anyone with information is encouraged to contact the Washington County Sheriff's Office at (262) 335-4378.

Kewaskum's Bodden clocks in 3.19 at Boston Marathon

By Troy Sparks
Statesman Correspondent

In celebration of the one year anniversary of the bombing at the Boston Marathon, the city of Boston hosted about 36,000 runners Monday in the 118th marathon and Kewaskum's Terri Bodden was one of the invited guests.

Bodden is no stranger to Boston. This was her second trip. She had no doubts that the course would be safe with tight security all-around, including the assistance of about 3,500 police officers, to observe an estimated crowd of more than one million.

"I am not worried at all," Bodden said via email. "The Boston Athletic Association had done a great job of keeping us apprised of the security measures they are taking. The runners and spectators will be safe this year."

Bodden remembered the bombings, disturbing images and the pandemonium surrounding the city for weeks and months. It was a moment that she didn't forget.

"I wasn't in Boston last year but I had close friends there," she said. "I remembered having the race playing on my laptop at work. I was personal training a client who was getting really into it also and he was so understanding of my desire to watch the front runners. At the same time, I was getting text messages tracking my friends who were running."

"The excitement turned very quickly when the bombings were announced and I couldn't get in touch with anybody because of the chaos there. It was gut-wrenching. Everybody was fine physically, but the emotional scars are still there. I'm traveling to and from Boston with those friends."

No one can just sign up to run in the Boston Marathon. You have to qualify for it. Bodden qualified for Boston with her strong showing in last year's Fox Cities Marathon. She has 13 marathons under her belt and is no stranger to the training regimen that's needed to prepare for a long race.

"The plan I follow takes me up to about 60 miles a week in the 4-6 weeks of peak training," Bodden said. "This is what makes the taper (the final two weeks before the big race when mileage goes down to about 15-20 a week) so difficult. We've grown accustomed

Police Department puts new utility vehicle into service

The Kewaskum Police Department's newest patrol vehicle is on the road. Earlier this month Chief Tom Bishop and Officer Kevin Kohn spent about a week cleaning out the marked police vehicle and switching equipment over to the new 2014 Ford Utility Interceptor they took delivery on in March. Bishop said the department is pleased with the new vehicle and will likely continue purchasing an SUV in the future due to having more space for the growing amount of equipment officers are required to travel with. Bishop reported the village paid $25,533 for the vehicle, an additional $1,682 over the price of the sedan the department normally purchased. Bishop said the resale value of the SUV would be higher, making up for the cost increase. The vehicle is similar to the Ford Explorer. The department sold their 2012 Ford Interceptor for $12,200.

THANK YOU

The West Bend Veterans Color Guard and Firing Squad visits schools during April and May to present Loyalty Day programs. After a recent visit to Holy Trinity School our group stopped in at the Gateway Cafe for breakfast. While there one of our members had a memorable visit with two lovely ladies whose children attended Holy Trinity School. We had a wonderful surprise when we went to pay the bill and discovered that it had been taken care of by the two ladies.

We would like to publicly thank them and express our appreciation for their generosity and thoughtfulness.

to doing so much more and we have to scale back, and it's hard to know what to do with our extra time and energy."

There were two things that Bodden relied on when preparing for Boston: a training partner or partners and an indoor location to put in the miles during the harsh winters in Wisconsin.

"I have many (training partners)," she said. "When you're putting in that many miles, you learn to beg, steal and borrow from anybody who has any distance they want to run, even if it only covers a portion of your total miles. I ran with clients and many friends who were also training for various events through the winter. Pam Fleischman, who works closely with me at Finish Line Training, did the brunt of my training with me. She was my savior many times."

And where did Bodden train in the winter when it was too cold to run outside?

"I did most of my running on the treadmill this winter," she said. "Everybody from the Midwest training for a spring marathon did. I did a few of my longer runs at the Pettit Ice Center, but I actually prefer treadmill running to indoor track running. I've learned to embrace the treadmill living in Wisconsin and especially this year. It was absolutely too cold to run outside this year, so I made the most of that 'moving belt' and got some quality workouts done."

Bodden left for Boston Saturday, April 19 and stayed with three close friends while she was there. The feeling of satisfaction when crossing the finish line, this time, without controversy, will be worth the trip. So will the post race celebration, understandably canceled last year, which includes a tour of the Samuel Adams Brewery.

About six miles from the finish line in Boston is a mark that will make or break runners and make the difference between continuing or dropping out.

"Mile 20 is a breaking point for many of us, with or without Heartbreak Hill," Bodden said. "I am using mental imagery already now to prepare me for that wall. Experience helps. But to be honest, training in the Kettle Moraine is the best preparation I could ask for. Heartbreak Hill can't hold a candle to Badger Road (behind Sunburst Ski Hill). I've run that hill more times than I can count."

Bodden doesn't like to run in a pack because it's very distracting and it takes the focus off doing her best. Plus, with that much concentration going on during the race, she doesn't pay attention to the crowd noise or her support group when she breezes past them. She would rather train in her worst time than drop out of any race. Finishing at Boston holds a special feeling that's different from any other marathon.

"I'm expecting the same emotional response I had two years ago when I crossed that line," Bodden said. "I have cried real tears of joy or disappointment at most of my marathons, but there is nothing that compares to the feeling I had at the finish of Boston."

Bodden had quite a sendoff for Boston and left her business in good hands.

"I couldn't begin to give justice to the support I've received from my clients, coworkers, friends and other residents of this wonderful community," she said. "I was overwhelmed with the hugs and well-wishes from everybody after teaching my last class until I return."

Bodden posted her 3.19 finish time on her Facebook page after the race.

Newburg man seriously injured after Jay Rd crash

A Newburg man was seriously injured following a single vehicle crash last week.

The crash occurred on Jay Road east of Fillmore Road in the town of Farmington Thursday, April 17 at 1:36 p.m. The accident was reported to the Sheriff's Office by a passerby.

Evidence at the scene indicates the 26-year-old man was traveling westbound on Jay Road when he lost control of his vehicle on the wet roadway.

The town road is located in a swampy area and portions of the roadway were covered with water as a result of the recent flooding. The roadway was covered with approximately one inch of water across both lanes in the area where the accident occurred. The roadway had been posted with cautionary signs for high water by the township.

The vehicle skidded out of control and entered the east-bound ditch line where it overturned and came to rest upside down, partially submerged in the North Branch of the Milwaukee River. The man was believed to have been returning home from his place of employment in Random Lake when the accident occurred.

The Fillmore Fire Department responded to the scene and were assisted by Newburg Rescue and West Bend Intercept. Rescue personnel were able to right the vehicle with a winch and then extricated the man from his vehicle and began resuscitation efforts. Based on the investigation, it is believed that the vehicle may have been submerged in the river for up to five minutes before it was discovered. At this time the extent of his physical injuries from the accident is unknown.

The Washington County Dive Team responded to the scene and conducted a search of the river to confirm other occupants had not been in the vehicle.

Newburg Rescue transported the man to St. Joseph's Hospital where he was subsequently transferred to Froedtert Hospital via Flight for Life. He was listed in critical condition after the crash; his condition is unknown at this point.

W.B. woman arrested for fatal Farmington crash

The Washington County Sheriff's Office has arrested a 28-year-old city of West Bend woman as a result of a continuing investigation into a fatal vehicle crash that occurred Jan. 23, 2014.

The Sheriff's Office completed their investigation that was confirmed through toxicology testing of the suspect. The crash occurred near the intersection of Highways A and M in the Town of Farmington and resulted in the death of a 70-year-old Cedar Grove man. The victim was pronounced dead at the scene after he became pinned between his truck and trailer that was rear-ended by the 28-year-old woman.

The woman is currently incarcerated at the Washington County Jail and being held without bail on the following charges: homicide by intoxicated use of a motor vehicle, homicide while operating with a detectable amount of restricted controlled substance, knowingly operating while suspended and cause death to another person, possession of controlled substance, possession of marijuana and possess drug paraphernalia.

The Gardner

Have you seen all the ads about new lawn equipment? Lawn treatments? Now is the time to give you and your children the example our heritage gave us: GROW YOUR OWN FOOD!

It's not a new concept; it's a responsibility for us to pass on to our children. Begin with Fritz Haeg's 'Edible Estate, Attack on the Front Lawn.' Your 'estate' could be a plot in a community garden, a straw bale or other container, or that wasted piece of real estate we call 'lawn.'

Why wouldn't any intelligent human at minimum, border that lawn with a border of those beautiful fern bordered things called carrots? Or beets? Did you know both these veggies have nutritious edible tops? Either takes only a six-inch wide strip of earth. Add zinnias.

Teach our children the artistry of putting a climbing bean teepee in the center of a circle garden. Pole beans have attractive flowers. Less work than lawn, MULCH is the key to little watering and lots of vitamin-enriched enjoyment.

Learning the rewards of picking and enjoying the fruits from a garden is priceless. Dry beans can be grown, dried, then shelled and cooked during our wonderfully long winters. Homegrown, homemade baked beans. Add some onions.

Winter squash add the big beautiful leaves like Hosta, but the added colors of many kinds of fruits—so many kinds, it's hard to decide which to grow. Summer squash also come in the bush variety with multiple shapes and colors. Make it fun for you and for everyone. Why not add purple cabbage?

The straw bale phenomenon was displayed at the Washington County Fair last year. Following a 12-day treatment period, the bales are ready to plant on the top as well as sticking plants into the sides. Success was demonstrated with cucumbers, lettuces, potatoes, carrots, beets and more. The entire interior of the bale breaks down (if you follow the easy instruction) into the best growing medium and is such fun to do. It's great for an annual strawberry project. Add some herbs.

When we seriously take a look at the world scene, it's no longer a choice to use our land wisely. It's essential we teach our families what we have been taught. If it's not in your heritage, now is the time to learn how to grow your own food. People are available to teach if you want to learn, Community Gardens are an excellent place to meet others of the same mind. If you do not have one near enough, consider starting one.

If nothing else, incorporate some pepper, eggplant or cabbage plants into your shrub line with a few onion plants. This is what 'sustainability' is about. Think about a nut tree or a fruit tree. Add a currant bush.

This is the time to start a new style of playing in your yard and use it for a constructive purpose—feed yourself and your family. You will find less time being spent on the gardening project than you ever spent on that golf game or perfecting the golf-perfect lawn! Add some kohlrabi.

Guatemalan mission experience to be shared Sunday at Salem UCC

A student at Ak' Tenamit carries a much-appreciated mattress to his sleeping room. Sarah and Rebecca Coulter will speak about their mission trip to members of the Salem UCC Congregation on Sunday during a special service at 9 a.m.

Salem United Church of Christ in Wayne will have some special visitors Sunday. Sarah and Rebecca Coulter will be sharing their experiences from a recent mission trip to a Mayan school in the heart of the Guatemalan jungle at 9 a.m.

The school, Ak' Tenamit was founded by Steve Dudenhofer in 1992 and currently has 500 students that live and work at the school. Students come from 26 different rural villages where government-provided education is inconsistent and limited at best, with most students ending their formal education at grade six.

At Ak' Tenamit students have the opportunity to continue their education for another six years. Students are enrolled in courses that are relevant to the needs of their rural environment such as community development and sustainable tourism.

The school provides students with educational materials, housing, medical and dental care and three meals a day. Each student is responsible for different chores that maintain the school and its student body. Ak' Tenamit is run by the indigenous communities it serves, with many alumni as current school leaders and staff.

Their mission this year is focused on repairing the school's deteriorating clinic, which not only serves the students but also all members of the nearby communities.

The Coulters worked with the agricultural program, which provides students with education and materials such as tools and seeds needed to bring sustainable farming practices to the student's villages.

Money raised by the Coulters went toward buying water filtration systems that were delivered to families in the rural villages. Mattresses were also purchased for the students, as many of them sleep three to four people to a bed with only a board for support. A male rabbit was purchased in hopes of supplementing their typical meal of tortillas, rice and beans with rabbit meat.

The students and staff have also developed an aquaponics farming system and are raising tilapia for an additional source of protein.

The school is looking for sponsors to help with the cost of the student's educational needs and support for additional projects around the school. Those looking to learn are invited to Salem UCC Sunday for a special worship service. A coffee social will follow the service. Those who are not able to attend the worship service can visit www.aktanamit.org.

KMS's Longdin receives WEAC award

Kewaskum Middle School math and science teacher and president of the Kewaskum Education Association (KEA), Kim Longdin, received the Tenia Jenkins Activist Award for 2013-2014.

Longdin has been the president of the KEA local union for the last three years. She was lauded by the Cedar Lake United Educators for consistently being a steady rock for others to lean on when looking for answers and support.

A press release went on to say Longdin is an example of the kind of teacher everyone should strive to be. She is kind and caring, but holds students accountable to do their best. She is willing to go the extra mile to create learning experiences for students that are engrossing, entertaining and relevant.

While Longdin is not a resident of Kewaskum, she is very much a relevant part of the community. For example, she has actively volunteered to work with a local group called Kewaskum Cares For Kids through chaperoning events and helping with fundraising efforts. She has participated in the KEYS Scholarship run, an event that raises money for post high school education for Kewaskum School District students. She has actively been involved in the group Brick By Brick for Tanzania, an organization that focuses its efforts on building schools for children in Tanzania.

The award is given to a WEAC member who has been actively involved in his/her local affiliate, UniServ, the state and/or national level, and active in his/her local home community

YMCA's Healthy Kids Day April 26

On Saturday, April 26, the Kettle Moraine YMCA is holding a free community event to inspire more kids to keep their minds and bodies active. YMCA's Healthy Kids Day, the Y's national initiative to improve families' health and well-being, features games, healthy eating, arts and crafts and more motivate and teach families how to develop a healthy routine at home.

YMCA's Healthy Kids Day, aims to get more kids moving and learning, so they can keep up the habit all summer long - a critical out-of-school time for kids' health. Research shows that without access to out-of-school physical and learning activities, kids fall behind academically. Kids also gain weight twice as fast during summer than the school year.

"One in three U.S. children is obese. This statistic, coupled with the fact that once summer hits, children will be more idle, demonstrates why it's important to help families develop healthy habits now," said Kirsten Coenen, Director of Youth Development, Kettle Moraine YMCA. "As part of the Y's commitment to healthy living, through YMCA's Healthy Kids Day our goal is to improve the health and well-being of kids and inspire habits they can continue into adulthood."

In celebration of YMCA's Healthy Kids Day, the Y offers the following tips to help families develop healthy habits:

- High Five the Fruits and Veggies - Help sure kids get at least five servings a day, the minimum number nutritionists recommend to maintain healthy childhood development.

- Foster an Early and Ongoing Passion for Books - Read to and with your kids. Help children read at every age and every stage of their development.

- Team Up for Athletic Events - Set a family goal of great health by teaming up for community or charity events like races, walks, fun runs. Bike rides, etc.

- Volunteer Together - Find a cause that matters to the kids. Open their eyes to a world beyond themselves and the rich rewards that come from making a difference.

- Lead By Example - Be a good role model - kids can be influenced by seeing how hard their parents work at home or on the job, and how rewarding that experience is.

The Kettle Moraine YMCA's Healthy Kids Day takes place at 1111 W. Washington Street, West Bend from 11:30 a.m. - 2:30 p.m. and features fun, active play and educational activities, such as healthy eating activities, a Ymazing Race, bounce houses, crafts and a photo booth. Home Depot will be onsite with a hands-on activity for the kids as well as the mascots from the Chinooks and Admirals. There will be giveaways and raffles for all who attend.

As a result of a community partnership with Kohl's and Children's Hospital of Wisconsin focused on safety and injury prevention, Healthy Kids Days across eastern Wisconsin, including metro Milwaukee, Fox Cities, Green Bay, Manitowoc, West Bend, and Kenosha will feature valuable safety information from the Kohl's Cares Grow Safe & Healthy program. For more information on Kohls Cares Grow Safe & Healthy program visit www.kohlssafeandhealthy.com.

YMCA's Healthy Kids Day is supported by national media partners Sprout and Lazy Town.

It is essential to this community and the businesses in it that residents still try to patronize the businesses along Main Street during this construction. The businesses along Main Street are so very thankful to those customers that are still making the drive and even the walk through the road work outside to show support and concern for all of the businesses. Kohn's Corner Mart plans to remain open during the HWY 28/Main Street project but have made changes to the store hours. FES, WES students learn culture, not just language in Spanish class

Fifth graders Nicholas G., Trevor G. and Ella P. work on their eggs.

Submitted photos

Farmington and Wayne elementary students participated in making cascarones. Creating cascarones is a Mexican tradition done around Easter time by taking a raw egg, poking two small holes in one side of the shell to empty the contents of the egg. After contents are drained, the egg must dry. Once dry, the inside of the egg is stuffed with confetti and the outside is decorated.

Wayne Elementary School fifth graders pose together with their cascarones, a special project the students did to learn about Mexican culture.

Spanish teacher Rita Cannestra explained to her students that according to tradition, the cascarones are broken over someone's head to shower him or her with good fortune for future months.

The students at FES and WES brought in their own eggshells to class. In class, they created any creature, animal, superhero out of their eggshell. They also took part in cracking it over someone's head to bring them good luck.

YMCA summer camps keep youth moving, learning and exploring this summer

The Kettle Moraine YMCA is offering summer camp to give children an adventurous, active and healthy summer. YMCA Summer Camp programs offer youth fun and unique experiences with an opportunity to explore the outdoors, meet new friends, discover new interests and create memories that last a lifetime.

Summer is the ideal time for children to get up, get out and explore. But, for some children, summer means no access to recreational and educational activities to help them learn, grow and thrive during out-of-school time. As a result, some children can experience learning loss and gain weight twice as fast than during the school year. Attending Kettle Moraine YMCA Summer Camp is a wonderful opportunity for children to keep their minds and bodies active.

"YMCA Summer Camp supports the social-emotional, cognitive development and physical well-being of children," says Cindy Bellon, School Age Child Care Director, Kettle Moraine YMCA Summer Camps. "In our Summer Camp, children are in a welcoming environment where they can belong, build relationships, develop character and achieve - discovering their potential. We really encourage parents to give their children the gift of camp so that every child can benefit from the experience."

There are five reasons why children should attend summer camp:

1. ADVENTURE: Summer camp is all about a wide variety of fun adventures and new experiences, especially exploring the outdoors. YMCA camps have a new adventure for every child. Visit www.kmymca.org for details.

2. HEALTHY FUN: Summer camp offers fun, stimulating activities that engage the body and mind and also help children learn the importance of nutrition to help improve their healthy eating habits.

3. PERSONAL GROWTH: While being away from the routine back home, youth have a chance to learn new skills, and develop confidence and independence by taking on new responsibilities and challenges. Camps offer cognitive learning and social-emotional development opportunities for achievement.

4. NEW FRIENDSHIPS: Amidst the fun of camp games, songs, swimming, and talent shows, campers meet new friends and strengthen existing friendships. The relationships formed at camp are important and lasting for many youth.

5. MEMORIES: Summer camp is an unforgettable experience that will give each camper memories (and camp traditions) that will last a lifetime. Youth return to school with plenty of camp stories to share.

The Kettle Moraine YMCA offers summer camp at four convenient locations in West Bend and Newburg. Kettle Moraine YMCA Real Adventure Camp at 1111 W. Washington Street, Cedar Lake Great Outdoor Camp at Cedar Communities at 5595 Hwy. Z, YMCA McLane Camp at McLane Elementary at 833 Chestnut Street and The Y at Holy Trinity Summer Camp at 513 Congress Street in Newburg. To ensure that all youth have the chance to experience camp, financial assistance is offered to those in need. The fee includes swim lessons, open swim, field trips, t-shirt, morning and afternoon snack and lunch, free youth membership if enrolled 4-5 days a week and all camp activities.

For more information, visit www.kmymca.org or contact Cindy Bellon at (262) 247-1049 or cbellon@kmymca.org.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of ALICE STROBEL, who departed from us 40 years ago, April 25, 1974.

Loving memories never die,
As years roll on and days pass by.

Deep in our hearts a memory is kept,

Of one we loved and never forget.

Someone remembers,
Someone cares,
Her name is whispered
In someone's prayers.

A smile, a tear,
A thought sincere,
How often we wish that
You were here.

*Lovingly remembered and deeply missed
by the family*

Despite the fact that District Administrator David Heather could not provide any specifics that would brighten the picture for the future of Beechwood Elementary School, the Kewaskum Board of Education voted not to place an advisory referendum to concerning possible disposition of the school on the spring election ballot.

A unique water purification device for home use that kills bacteria and virtually eliminates heavy metals and toxic contaminants found in drinking water was introduced at a press conference in New York by Regal Ware, Inc., Kewaskum. The new system uses multi-stage filtration, aeration and thermal treatment to eliminate harmful bacteria, viruses and cysts and to substantially reduce heavy metals and toxic contaminants found in drinking water.

Ricky Steiner of Kewaskum was among the approximately 750 candidates for graduation in December at the University of Wisconsin - Whitewater. Steiner, husband of Beth Steiner, Grafton and son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steiner, Kewaskum, earned the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration in accounting, magna cum laude.

Vivian Stommel, a member of Holy Trinity Catholic Church and the Kewaskum community, has been presented the "St. Anne Award" by the Adult Recognition Committee of the Milwaukee Archdiocese Catholic Committee on Girl Scouting. Stommel won this award based on her long hours and commitment to others, including volunteering with the Kewaskum Girl Scouts, directing the children's choir at Holy Trinity, cake decorating, and planting trees in Kiwanis Park. Vivian and her husband, Arnie, and daughter, Annette, reside in Kewaskum.

The seventh grade girls' Kewaskum Middle School basketball team completed their season of competition with a 3-9 record. The team was taught the basic skills of basketball by coach Brenda Mueller and improved a lot through the season. Members of the team include Rachel Wilz, Shannon Breit, Vicki McElhatton, Sara Tykac, Jenny Krieser, Missy Radtke, Amanda Thieme, Amy Schuster, Angela Limberg, Lesly Cook, Terry Roe, Barb Land, Joanne Lemke, Tammy Kamrath, Cara Cechvala, Michelle Gundrum, Debbie McChain, Cheryl Michaels, and Krystum Ammel.

The Kewaskum Middle School girls' eighth grade basketball team finished another very successful season under coach Dennis Reha. Their final season record was 9-12 and the team finished second in the conference. Members of this year's squad were: Marty Schlice, Debbie Schlice, Robyn Winninghoff, Yvonne Schlice, Christa Schmidt, Julie Mertz, Nicky Cayner, Rachele Krahn, Julie Wagner, Kristin Krebs, Becky Braun, Amy Justman, Jenny Thull, Jenny Gundrum, Jenny Van Assche and Rachel Howell.

Although Kewaskum only had nine wrestlers participate in the ten-team tournament in Fond du Lac on January 7, they fared well, placing fourth. Chris Charland and Dennis Aupperle were the two Indian wrestlers coming home with first place finishes.

50 Years Ago

November 15, 1963

A young rural Kewaskum man was killed in an auto crash November 9 when his car left a town road and crashed into a ditch west of the village. Victim of the fatal crash was William W. "Billy" Janssen, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Janssen of Route 2, Kewaskum. Authorities reported that he was killed instantly in the mishap. Janssen would have been 22 years old November 18.

Miss Judith Catherine Falk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer W. Falk, Route 2, Kewaskum, and Roger Lickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lickman, West Bend, exchanged wedding vows during a Mass in Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Kewaskum on November 9.

November 4, 1938

Joseph and John Klumpjan, cousins, who spent the last two months in Germany, returned to their home on the Harter homestead in the town of Auburn Sunday evening, where they are employed. Their aunt, Mrs. John Wagner of Fond du Lac and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Weyer of Lomira accompanied them on their journey. While abroad, Joe Klumpjan visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Klumpjan at Velen, Westfalen, Germany and his brothers and sisters. His mother is very much improved after suffering a serious illness. This was his first visit with them in 11 years. John visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Klumpjan, and his sisters, his first in 10 years. Mrs. Wagner, a native of Germany, had not been there for 35 years. Although the time of their absence was comparatively short, they had quite a few experiences during this time, the last of which was that they were passengers on their return trip aboard the German liner, S.S. Deutschland, the ship which was afire in mid-ocean last week Tuesday and of which so much was read in the large daily papers last week. The ship left Bremen, Germany, on October 20 and arrived in New York October 28. They traveled on the Erie railroad from New York to Chicago. When questioned about the fire while aboard ship, Joe and John said they were in the third class dining room, eating when they heard an explosion, which shook the tables and chairs and immediately thereafter smoke started to sift into the room. They were not allowed to return to their staterooms, not even to get their life belts, however, there was not much hysteria. A few of the women cried, but for the most part everyone was calm. Third class passengers were sent to the other side of the ship in the first class section and as the fire lasted several hours, mattresses were placed on the floor and they slept there. Joe and John stated they slept through most of it and knew little of what was going on but later learned that the staterooms they had occupied had been used by the fire fighting crews who bored holes through the walls for the transmission of chemicals to control the fire; also that 22 of the sailors were overcome by smoke. Their aunt, Mrs. Wagner, and quite a few other passengers, could not sleep and spent most of the night peering through portholes at the ocean and were very much relieved when they saw the lights of smaller boats around them about three in the morning. The members of the crew had the fire out by that time. As to the war question between Germany and Czechoslovakia, Joe Klumpjan stated that he did not at any time think there really would be war, but a few of the people were afraid there might be. John Klumpjan said that some of the people were such zealous followers of Hitler that they were willing to do whatever he said. Otherwise they read practically the same thing about it in the papers over there and heard the same speeches on the radio that we did over here. When told that in press bulletins here in the United States, Americans citizens were urged to come home immediately, the two claimed they knew nothing about that. They had little trouble getting through the lines, although the officials there were a little more strict than in this country. As to the unemployment problem, there was none in Germany. All who were able had work and the people were all comfortably, if not extravagantly, situated. While there John Klumpjan took a trip up the Rhine River. They enjoyed the trip and the visit with their folks, but were glad to get back to the United States.

St. Bridget's Catholic Church in the town of Wayne was the scene of the marriage of a popular young couple on October 29, when Miss Isabelle Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Campbell of the town of Kewaskum, became the bride of Albert Karius, son of Mrs. Caroline Karius of the Town of Polk.

Murray is bright spot for Indian golfers

By Judy Harlow
Statesman Correspondent

Sophomore Sean Murray shot an 84 to lead Kewaskum's golf team in a talent-laden Wisconsin PGA Junior Foundation/Madison Edgewood Invitational April 21 at the Maple Bluff Golf Course in Madison.

Murray, the lone returning regular from 2013 squad, shot 44 and 40 to finish in a tie for 34th with six other players at 84. Murray's card on the back nine included two pars and a birdie 2 on the No. 13 hole.

Dylan Allen of Waukesha Catholic Memorial captured the medal with a 1-over-par 72. Middleton won the team title, posting a 305 from its low four scores, 13 strokes ahead of runner-up Lodi.

Kewaskum finished 22nd in the field of 23 teams, coming in at 389.

Second low for the Indians was another sophomore, Sam Schlosser, who was tied for 73rd at 94. His nine hole scores were 45-49. Next low was Greg Rate at 101, and then came Sawyer Schmidt, who posted a 107.

Tennis players eager to put their skills to the test

Nelson looks to move up from No. 3 singles to play at the No. 2 spot, and for the first couple of meets, Cochran tried Limbach, Buth and Moede at the other two singles spots.

Strack and Moede played at No. 1 doubles a year ago; Buth and Limbach were at No. 2 doubles, while a new partner must be found for the sophomore Prochnow, whose partner at No. 3, Ian Kenworthy, graduated.

Cochran is working with a squad of 17 players and likes the overall talent level exhibited by this group.

"We've got some freshman talent and some others have grown quite a lot since last year," Cochran said.

Looking at the power chain of the 10-team EWC, Cochran said, "I know Kohler is pretty strong and Plymouth is pretty good. Other than that, I don't know very much."

Kewaskum finished fifth in 2013 after beating Kewaunee, Chilton and Waupun. None of the Indians won any all-conference honors, but Lehmann, who advanced to the Division 2 sectionals in 2013, said, "Maybe we can change that this year."

The Indians split in their first two matches, falling to West Bend West, 1-6, while defeating St. Mary's Springs 6-1. Lehmann is off to a 2-0 start, while most of the others are 1-1.

Kewaskum was scheduled to play in three matches this week, including its EWC opener versus Kewaunee (April 22) and Manitowoc Roncalli April 24.

Cochran is being assisted by Julia DuQuaine, a first-year English teacher at the school.

Jacob Cochran has gone full circle with the Kewaskum High School tennis program, playing on the team while he was a student and now taking over as head coach for the departed Matt Fehlhaber, who resigned last year because of career responsibilities.

Cochran said recently he spent the first weeks getting acquainted with his players and "working on fundamentals, forehands, backhands and overheads, getting all these solid. Also, we're getting them to move their feet ... move all over the court."

Kewaskum has an uphill climb to move into the ranks with some of the Eastern Wisconsin Conference powers, but Cochran feels his team has some talent.

"I think we've got the potential to go pretty far," he said, indicating he has seven returning letter winners, including a couple of his singles players, led by junior Bille Lehmann, who will be at the No. 1 singles spot for the second year in a row.

Other returning lettermen include Taylor Nelson, Josh Limbach, Chas Moede, Garrett Buth, Michael Prochnow and Alex Strack.

Lady kickers go on a scoring spree against Rams

By Judy Harlow

Statesman Correspondent

Just four games into the 2014 season and already Kewaskum's soccer team has scored 20 goals, including a season-high and perhaps a program-high 10 in a shutout win over host Random Lake April 16.

Coach Luke Piwoni is understandably pleased with the way girls like Jeray Riffel, Liz Bauer, Maddy Longdin, Hailey Herriges and Molly Schulteis have stepped up to fill the void left by the graduation of Shannon Miller, but he tempered his excitement a bit after this game because the Lady Rams have been struggling this spring.

Still, scoring eight goals in a half is an impressive offensive showing.

It took the Indians just four minutes to get on the board, with the freshman Bauer starting off the fireworks with an unassisted goal. She also scored goal No. 2 just two minutes later, with Riffel getting credit for the assist.

Then Riffel beat the Ram keeper with a goal at 9:00 and a brief 120 seconds later, it was Bauer securing the early three-goal hat trick on an assist by Riffel.

Longdin saw all the fun her teammates were having and joined in with a goal at 22:00 after a nice pass by Becca Strigenz.

Riffel got her second goal at the 25-minute mark. It was unassisted.

The Indians still weren't finished. Schulteis got into the act, scoring at 31:00 and again at 37:00. Riffel assisted on the first and the second was a solo effort.

At intermission Random Lake changed goalies which led to a little better second half.

"She actually played very well," Piwoni said about the replacement. "She made some good saves."

Kewaskum was successful on two more offensive thrusts, with Herriges getting goal No. 9 at 42:00 on an assist by Emily Krier and Riffel secured her second hat trick of the season at 77:00. Piwoni was surprised the game wasn't halted at that point because of the 10-goal mercy rule, which goes into effect after the 60th minute.

"I don't know if he didn't know (the rule)," Piwoni said or, "Maybe he just thought we should play it out" because there were less than three minutes to go.

Riffel and Bauer currently have eight and six goals, respectively.

Emily Koller was in the nets for Kewaskum, and she was never challenged as Random Lake didn't have a single serious shot.

"Our entire defense played well. They didn't allow them (Rams) to get a good look on goal," Piwoni said.

With the win, the Indians have improved to 3-1 overall. The Indians hosted Eastern Wisconsin Conference foe Kiel April 22. They face their first major test of the year when they travel to Plymouth April 24 to take on the co-defending champion Panthers.
