Party On The Pavement Being Held June 23rd

By Anne Trautner

Party on the Pavement will be held in downtown Kewaskum on from 10 a.m. until 11 p.m. on Tuesday.

"There's great food, there's great music, there's things to be entertained by. There will be things for kids throughout the day. People like to come after work, enjoy, and not have to cook for the day," said Wendi Dreher, vice president of the chamber and event chair.

The event will feature music all day long, Dreher said. DJ Dylan will perform from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Tim Castle & The Legends Show will perform from 3:30-7:30 p.m. The group, which has performed throughout southeastern Wisconsin and at Summerfest, offers a fun interaction with past country western music. Tim Castle and Dale Sellers offer a fun, interactive show, Dreher said.

Downtown Harrison will perform from 8 to 11 p.m. Downtown Harrison has performed throughout the area, as well as in Las Vegas. He is often referred to as the "human radio" because he impersonate other singers, from John Cougar Mellencamp to Tina Turner to Johnny Cash, Dreher said.

"The music is just enjoyable. It's not overpowering," Dreher said.

Other entertainment will be on hand as well. New this year will be a Humvee, compliments of the Army, that will have an Xbox game inside for kids to play, Dreher said.

A racecar driver coming from the Slinger Speedway will meet and greet folks.

There will be pony rides, carriage rides, a balloon artist, local dance teams, a photo booth, face painting, a bouncy house, a dunk tank and other attractions. In all, more than 50 organizations and vendors will be on hand for with special sales and services.

Free blood pressure screening will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. outside the Silbernagel Group's building at 114 Main St.

A range of food will be served, from pork sandwiches and hot dogs to cotton candy and popcorn.

"You name it, we probably will have it," Dreher said.

Candy Tree will offer freshly made funnel cakes, nachos and cheese and freshly squeezed lemonade. The shop is currently working on a special kind of cheese curds to feature for the day, Dreher said.

The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce has been planning the event for months.

This will be the fourth year the chamber has held the event. Last year it was not held because of construction, Dreher said.

The event's roots date back to the late 1980s, when Kewaskum would hold "Crazy Days," a scaled-down event, compared to what is now being offered.

"Some places have Maxwell Street Days, so about five years ago the chamber decided to resurrect the idea off of that and Crazy Days, and that is how we came up with Party on the Pavement," Dreher said.

The chamber expects at least 5,000 people to attend this year's event. Area businesses can participate from their storefronts or at the event site.

"The whole idea is to raise some funds to help the community," Dreher said.

The chamber spent nearly $8,000 to install two steel poles that hold a banner advertising the event across Highway 45, Dreher said.

There are many vendors and businesses that set up booths at Kewaskum's annual Party on the Pavement. This year's event is planned for Tuesday, June 23rd, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Noel Dedrick Wins Trip To The Daytona 500

By Anne Trautner

Noel Dedrick of Kewaskum is putting together a shadow box from her trip to the Daytona 500.

She still can't believe she won the all-expense-paid trip for two to the big race.

"It was an awesome experience, one we will never forget," Dedrick said.

It all happened because of some work Dedrick had done on her car in Kewaskum.

Car Repair
Last year, after buying her car from a dealership in the Fond du Lac area, Dedrick brought the car in for an oil change. The mechanic looked the car over and gave Dedrick a list of about $1,000 worth of work that "needed to be done."

Dedrick decided to get a second opinion.

So she took the car to Mike's Automotive Service in Kewaskum. The owner, Mike Dickmann, told her that she did indeed need a new tie rod.

Dickmann ordered the part and gave Dedrick a slip for a $10 rebate for the Moog part.

Dedrick was happy to get $10 in savings and filled out the rebate form online. She did not read the fine print, which mentioned that she would be entered into a sweepstakes.

On the Monday of Thanksgiving week, a FedEx package was delivered to Dedrick's home. The parcel contained a letter that announced that Dedrick was a potential winner of a trip to the Daytona 500.

Schimmel Announces Attorney General's Office Of Open Government

The Attorney General's Office of Open Government (OOG) is open for business.

Attorney General Brad Schimmel has announced the creation of the Attorney General's Office of Open Government (OOG) at the Wisconsin Department of Justice.

"One of my top priorities coming into office has been to work on open government issues. As Attorney General, I recognize the important role DOJ has in ensuring that the state's open government laws are properly and faithfully executed by public officials," Schimmel said. "The creation of this new office is necessary to meet my goals for increasing openness and transparency and improving DOJ's service to clients and citizens in this important area."

The new unit will be responsible for:

- Interpretation and application of Open Meetings Law, Public Records Law and other statutes and rules related to open government;

- Development of open government policies and protocols;

- Custodial services for DOJ records and effective and efficient response to public record requests; and

- Expert legal counsel to DOJ executive leaders and clients on open government issues and citizen complaints.

The number of positions at DOJ is not changing. An existing DOJ Assistant Attorney General position will be dedicated to leading this group. Schimmel announced that DOJ has hired attorney Paul M. Ferguson, who will lead the new OOG, effective today.

Paul M. Ferguson has a Bachelor of Arts degree in communication from Seton Hall University and earned his J.D. from the University of Notre Dame Law School. He held internships with the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, Cumberland County, Pennsylvania district attorney's office and St. Joseph County, Indiana public defender's office.

In Wisconsin, Ferguson worked on appellate matters before the U.S. Supreme Court and the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Family photos were a big thing on Sunday afternoon, June 7, after the graduation ceremony at Kewaskum High School. It ended up being a beautiful day to be outside taking photos.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Community service does not require any person be in elected office to be effective in public service — it simply requires that person be engaged and to take action for exception...

I continue to be engaged, following local KSD Board of Education meetings, which generally leads to questions for the board and superintendent. At the June 8th, BoE meeting, I submitted four requests:

MRA is a consulting company hired to establish a compensation program for the district in 2014. Recent expression about employee salary outside the structured program MRA was paid $45,000 to deliver, have occurred. It also doesn't appear all employees are considered in this 'compensation' discussion either. Of that, salaries will not be based on evaluations yet done as past entitlement and given for all, deserved or not. I requested clarification of the MRA program framework, including cost, comparison data with other districts, and what was actually voted on May 11th, 2015.

Clarification of contract providing legal services for the district. Recently, the business manager stated "the cost projections for legal services were only $60,000 due to the restructuring of our legal services." This statement naturally begs the question about legal support structure. I requested to see the (new?) service contract.

Confirmation that a board of education special session, held on Thursday, April 23, was posted in conformance with State Statute 19.84 (1)(2)(3)(4). As it appears to me now, conformance was not met as required.

An investigation of specific agenda items for the board of education special session held Monday, June 27, 2011, and the residual events that followed through Wednesday, July 13, 2011. The overall issue is dated yet the ramifications are severe and remain ongoing and costly to the district.

As updates occur, I will keep you posted until closure.

Sincerely yours,
Timothy Ramthun

Dear Editor,

Since 1921, the red poppy has been the memorial flower of the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary.

We thank everyone who wore the poppy and helped support our veterans with a donation. Special recognition to the following local businesses Geidel's Piggly Wiggly, Tennes Ace Hardware and the U.S. Post Office for allowing us to distribute poppies. The donations surpassed all other years, which is returned to the veterans programs.

We also thank those people who attended our Memorial Day parade and service program at the Legion Hall. We appreciate your support for the veterans and our freedom.

The poppy lives on to remind us — "Lest we forget."

Dear Editor,

AG Schimel Shares DOJ Drug Take-Back Day Successes

We work best when we work together. I am excited to share with you the results of DOJ Drug Take-Back Day which far surpassed previous drug collection efforts in the state. It was the partnership among Wisconsin law enforcement, the Department of Justice and you, the community, that made that possible.

For the past four years, the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) had coordinated Drug Take-Back days on which unused prescription drugs were collected and safely and responsibly incinerated. Prescription medications flushed down the drain and put into landfills contaminate our water supply, and unused medications left in medicine cabinets, particularly prescription opiates, are being stolen and sold on the street.

Prescription opiate overdoses have skyrocketed over the past decade. Furthermore, they are the gateway drug to heroin, which is devastating families across our state. Battling the opiate epidemic is my number one priority as Attorney General. Destroying these unused medications is critically important to that effort and to the health and safety of our state.

The Take-Back events had been taking place in the spring and fall for the past four years and were extremely successful. At the last DEA-run event in September 2014, 317,000 pounds were collected nationwide, with Wisconsin near the top of the states with 34,027 pounds collected here.

After that September event, however, the feds announced they were no longer going to assist the states with funding or coordinating these efforts. Local communities had just gotten into the groove of collecting prescription meds for destruction, and law enforcement, which was storing them until the collection days, saw their secure storage rooms overflowing. This was a cause of much concern about how to continue this important program.

When I came into office in January, I met with the DOJ team as we worked to find a solution, ensuring that the medications were collected, stored and transported securely. Schneider National trucking offered two semis at no charge to haul the loads to the Covanta Indianapolis recycling center. Covanta incinerated the drugs at no charge.

It was a proud day at the end of May when the DOJ team stood at the incinerator and supervised the destruction of unused prescription medications that were collected on May 16 at the first Wisconsin DOJ-sponsored and organized Drug Take-Back event.

Through community action, together we shattered the past record for pounds collected. Over 39,000 pounds — nearly 20 tons — of prescription medications were collected, safely packaged and securely transported to the Indianapolis-based incinerator at Covanta, and they were destroyed in an environmentally responsible way. That is more than 39,000 pounds of drugs that will not harm our water supply and will not end up in the hands of our kids.

I cannot overstate the importance of this accomplishment. This is crime prevention at its finest. But it's only the beginning of our work together.

At the DOJ, we are preparing to launch a new public awareness campaign that will focus on prescription opiate abuse, the gateway to heroin. We are currently market-testing our ideas to ensure we use the most effective messaging. The effort will work to raise awareness and I hope it will dramatically change the way we address prescription opiates as a state, in our communities, within families, at medical offices and in the law enforcement community.

We have much work to do together and I hope you see my office and the Department of Justice as your strong community partner. I most definitely see you as ours.

DOJ Drug Take-Back Day Facts

The Wisconsin Department of Justice's (DOJ) Drug Take-Back Day was held May 16 throughout the state of Wisconsin. In its inaugural year, DOJ took the lead and coordinated a prescription drug disposal program, breaking records for previous collection efforts and saving lives.

- 39,783 lbs. — nearly 20 tons - of discarded prescription drugs (note: Dane and Milwaukee counties did not participate)
- At the last statewide collection in September 2014, Wisconsin residents safely disposed of more than 34,027 pounds — 17 tons — of unused prescription medications, making Wisconsin one of the highest participating states in the nation.
- 194 law enforcement agencies registered to participate. DEA had 162 in its highest year (when all counties participated)
- 152 permanent drop boxes listed on DOJ's map of locations

- 131 Take-Back events held on May 16, 2015
- 43 pallets loaded onto two Schneider National semi trucks for disposal at Covanta Indianapolis recycling center
- In 2010, the Secure and Responsible Drug Disposal Act was signed. As a stop-gap measure until federal regulations were changed, the federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) began conducting take back events to assist local law enforcement agencies and citizens in the disposal of unused prescription drugs.
- In September 2014, the federal administrative code regarding drug disposal changed and the feds announced they would no longer be conducting the drug take back program. The DEA's last event in Wisconsin was in September 2014. This created a need for local law enforcement agencies and citizens to find a means to safely dispose of excess prescription drugs.

- Local law enforcement grew to rely on the program and many now have 24/7 drop boxes for unused prescription drugs.
- They continue to offer this service to their communities but they require a mechanism to safely, effectively and legally dispose of the drugs they receive, without causing an undue financial burden on their agencies or communities. Personnel and overtime costs have been a challenge for smaller agencies, as some cannot provide an officer at take back events.
- DOJ will continue with the program, doing a minimum of two collections per year. If a need for more frequent pickups and disposals is needed, we will work with our local partners to accommodate their requests.

The Broken Chain

We little knew that morning,
 God would call your name.
 In life we loved you dearly,
 In death we do the same.

It broke our hearts to lose you,
 You did not go alone,
 For part of us went with you,
 The day God called you home.

You left us peaceful memories,
 Your love is still our guide.
 And though we cannot see you,
 You are always at our side.
 Our family chain is broken,
 And nothing seems the same,
 But as God calls us one by one,
 The CHAIN will link again.

Draining Boats And Livewells Can Stop Invasive Species In Their Tracks!

You may know to inspect your boat for weeds before you leave the lake, but did you know some of Wisconsin's worst aquatic invasive species (AIS) can spread through transported water?

Invaders like zebra mussel larvae or spiny water fleas — too small to readily see — can survive to the next lake when water is left in your livewell, buckets, bilge, motor or equipment.

That is why AIS staff in Washington County is reminding anglers and boaters to drain their gear this summer before hitting the road.

County AIS Coordinator Bradley Steckart says, "Boaters and anglers have already been hitting the lakes, due to the nice mild spring. For the most part, they have been draining their bilges and livewells, but there is still room for improvement. The Drain Campaign will give anglers a nice reminder to put their catch on ice instead of keeping it in water."

UW-Extension's AIS

Communications Specialist, Deborah Seiler, says the campaign came about based on feedback from anglers. "Across the state, anglers were telling us the rules on fish and water transport just are not clear," she said. "The DNR and our AIS partners listened, and we're trying to help spread the word and offer a good alternative."

Steckart explains that once your day's catch is out of water, the fish aren't considered live and can be safely transported home. Since fish need to be kept fresh on the road, Steckart suggests an alternative to livewells that's already preferred by many anglers: ice.

"We know some folks are used to taking their catch home in livewells," says Steckart, "but ice is a legal and better way to get those fish home. It stops any bacterial growth, and your catch won't ingest the fish toxins that concentrate in fouled, low-oxygen water, which some say affects the taste."

Steckart continues, "You also don't want that water making it to a different lake. Fish diseases or very small invasive species can get around that way. Washington County has already seen invasions in eight lakes. Big Cedar and Little Cedar contain invasive species like zebra mussels which have the potential to spread to other lakes that do not have zebra mussels."

Drying your boat for five days can help kill any AIS in residual water, but Steckart says a simple disinfection process can do the job for those who plan to change lakes sooner. "You can follow the DNR's policy for when you move your boat between lakes. Mix one tablespoon bleach per one gallon of water and put in a spray bottle. Spray it on, and keep your boat and livewell wet with that for 10 minutes. It also works for gear."

Travelers may see and hear reminders to drain their boats in other counties as well. Washington County is one of many partners in a statewide initiative to share the message. Statewide, radio stations will be carrying reminders to drain livewells from pro angler Joe Bucher and Chef Kyle Cherek of Wisconsin Foodie. Partnering bait shops and convenience stores will have reminders on their ice chests for anglers who want to pick up extra ice.

Seiler adds, "We also hear that anglers are really passionate about protecting their lakes, and will take time to remove and drain invasive species from their boats just because it's the right thing to do. No one wants to bring zebra mussels to a new lake just because they forgot to pull the plug."

It takes just a few minutes at the landing to keep our lakes beautiful and our fish healthy. Know the laws and follow the AIS prevention steps every time you leave the water.

- Inspect boats, trailers and equipment.

- Remove all attached aquatic plants and animals.

- Drain all water from boats, vehicles, equipment including livewells and buckets containing fish.

- Never Move plants or live fish away from a waterbody.

- Dispose of unwanted bait in the trash.

- Buy minnows from a Wisconsin bait dealer. Use leftover minnows only under certain conditions*

- *You may take leftover minnows away from any state water and use them again on that same water. You may use leftover minnows on other waters only if no lake or river water or other fish were added to their container.

Village Considering Charging For Special Event Permits

By Anne Trautner

The Village of Kewaskum is considering charging a permit fee for future special events.

"It would allow police to charge. Most places charge the actual cost if that officer has overtime and benefit cost," Police Chief Thomas Bishop said.

If the village decides to adopt a fee schedule, organizations running special events would be charged for set-up time and take-down time, as well as coverage during that specific event.

Currently, the village provides auxiliary officers at special events that have music and alcohol.

"If something like this was in place, we could put an assigning officer on location," Bishop said.

If the village board approves such a fee, then organizations would pay the fee when they apply for a special event permit. The fee would be set, so the organization would know up front how much it would cost, Bishop said.

Regardless of whether a permit fee is charged, the village provides police and fire protection.

"We can do it either way. It's whether it falls on the taxpayers, or on that event," Bishop said.

Village Board President Kevin Scheunemann said that he would like to make alcohol be the threshold of determining whether a fee is charged or not.

"Alcohol causes some of the issues," Scheunemann said.

Village Trustee Dave Spenner suggested that organizations could pay a refundable deposit.

The board did not make any decisions on the issue at its Monday night meeting, but is considering it as a future possibility.

Village Passes Election Audit

The village of Kewaskum passed the on-site election audit that was conducted on Nov. 4.

"Very seldom do you pass this," Village Clerk/Deputy Treasurer Stephanie Justmann said.

Kewaskum was one of the few municipalities that passed the audit, Justmann said.

Other Business

In other business Monday night, the Kewaskum Village Board:

- Approved purchasing a backup alarm dialer for the lift station.

- Approved a contract for bulk fuel and gas delivery with Herriges Oil.

- Approved a bid from Mueller Excavating, Inc. for the Moraine Court and Knights Avenue project.

"Then we bought holiday decorations and garland lighting. That went to the tune of just shy of $12,000. The chamber has paid for all of that," Dreher said. "The community, by supporting these events, helps us to give back." The event helps promote area businesses, as well as gives residents an opportunity to enjoy themselves, Dreher said. "People just love coming out. Some people come and park themselves under the tent and just enjoy the scene and the music. They seem very content to get out, so it just makes a few people feel a little brighter after the day. I like that," Dreher said.

Staycation Suggestions For Your Home's Exterior

With many families watching their spending, opting for "staycations" instead of extravagant getaways has become a frequent compromise. A staycation is a vacation from work for relaxation and leisure activities at home.

According to representatives of Callen Construction, Inc., a full service remodeling company serving southeastern Wisconsin since 1986, a wide range of upgrades, additions, and remodeling projects for the home's exterior can be done to create the ideal atmosphere for vacationing at home.

"Entertainment and relaxation doesn't have to mean taking a trip away from home," said Christopher Wittmann, CR, an exterior product specialist for Callen. "Designing outdoor spaces does take planning, but these suggestions can help turn your backyard into a staycation destination."

Wittmann said the first step is to think of exterior space like the inside of your home. "What are you trying to accomplish? Do you want space for cooking and entertaining? Do you want seating and recreation areas? Once you have an idea of what you want to achieve, you can move forward on developing the space," he said.

Deck

Homeowners can make the deck a destination by defining different activity zones within the space.

"For example, a pergola featuring vines and an abundance of plants in containers bring the surrounding garden up onto the deck and help blend the structure into the landscape," Wittmann said. "Another option is adding a hot tub or spa for long, relaxing soaks. To determine the best location for the spa, consider access to the house, privacy, and whether you want the tub in sunshine or shade."

A typical round hot tub is six feet in diameter, requiring 30 square feet of space, while a rectangular tub requires about 48 square feet. Additional space is needed for sitting and walking around the tub.

"Keep in mind that a hot tub full of water may weigh up to two tons, so it will need a foundation separate of the deck's foundation," Wittmann said.

Patio

The patio has become an extension of the home and with planning, the space can be a restful seasonal room.

"Patios are usually surfaced with brick or stone," said Wittmann. "If concrete is used, I suggest adding texture and color to imitate stone for a more natural look. It is also best to pattern the space after the home's architecture."

Outdoor Kitchen

If you are a regular griller throughout the year, eating outdoors as weather permits, an outdoor kitchen is often an excellent addition to a home.

"You don't need a fancy grill, but a countertop for preparing food, along with closed storage and a separate side burner will improve the outdoor cooking experience," he said. "Also consider adding a small refrigerator and sink to make preparation and cleanup even easier."

Outdoor Structures

A gazebo adds another aspect to an outdoor getaway. "Whether adjacent to a deck, near a pool, or within the landscape, a gazebo is its own outdoor room, providing a sheltered space for dining or relaxing," Wittmann said.

Adding tall objects, like arbors or fences, can make the eye travel upwards, creating a larger sense of space. Pergolas and trellises are other options that also help delineate zones within the space.

Additional Amenities

Fountains, fireplaces, and fire pits are used to augment the attractiveness and effectiveness of outdoor spaces.

"Fountains add the calming sound of trickling water and often serve as the space's focal point," Wittmann said. "Fireplaces can also be a focal point and define the space. Whether built-in or moveable, fire pits also draw people together and can prolong use of the outdoor space." In addition to the various components that can be created for a home's exterior, Wittmann encourages homeowners to consider other aspects of the outdoor space to ensure it is utilized to its fullest potential.

Privacy: The area needs to have a sense of enclosure, achieved through the use of fences, garden walls, pergolas, and landscaping to define the space and restrict views of neighboring houses.

Shade: You will enjoy the outdoors more by providing relief from the sun through the use of mature trees, umbrellas, retractable awnings, or pergolas and arbors planted with vines.

Furniture: There are more options than ever when it comes to outdoor furniture, including wrought and cast iron or aluminum, wood, wicker and synthetic, weather-proof furniture and fabrics.

Lighting: At a minimum, this entails porch lights that illuminate home access and provide ambient lighting. "For outdoor kitchens, task lighting is needed at the grill and work areas," Wittmann said. "Other options include wall mount down lights and dimmable electric lamps. Steps and walkways should also be illuminated for safety."

Landscaping and Gardens: Incorporating the area with natural greenery "allows the mind to rest," says Wittmann. Use of colorful and fragrant flowers, tall grasses, and gardens can bring back memories of past vacation venues.

"The fragrance of Jasmine in the air during a recent trip to Savannah, Georgia prompted the purchase of Jasmine plants from a local garden store for our own yard when we returned," he said.

General upkeep for the space is also important. "Clear and trim low hanging branches to open the view, sweep away leftover spring debris, and wash hard surfaces," Wittmann said. "Not only will this type of maintenance make the space function better, it will make it safer to walk around and play outside. Also, make sure there is plenty of space around high traffic areas like doorways and grills."

Swenson Tool & Die Breaks Ground In Campbellsport

By Andrea Hansen Abler

Swenson Tool & Die broke ground in Campbellsport recently to begin construction of their 16,250 square foot office and tool & die shop. The business will be located in the new industrial park on Highway W on the southwest side of the village.

This will be the second tenant in the industrial park. Fond du Lac County built a new garage and salt shed there last summer.

Swenson Tool & Die was established three years ago in Kewaskum. Wayne Swenson and Mark Tauschek are friends who decided to go into business together. Both had been in the tool and die business for a while and thought it would be a good idea to start their own business.

"I've been in tool and die since I can remember," Wayne said.

They currently run their business out of the old Regalware building in Kewaskum. The two wanted to expand a little bit and wanted their own building.

While looking around for a place to build, they found the Campbellsport industrial park.

"We like small communities," Wayne said. "It's centrally located to a lot of our customers."

They also reached out to the Fond du Lac County Economic Development Corporation (FCEDC). Swenson and Tauschek then utilized the free site and building planning services provided by the FCEDC to develop a concept for the new facility. The FCEDC worked with the Village of Campbellsport and Keller Inc. - Planners, Architects, Builders, and began working on the expansion project.

"Swenson Tool & Die is a family-owned business that started as an entrepreneurial endeavor and is now growing and expanding its reach in the marketplace", noted Steve Jenkins, president of the Fond du Lac Economic Development Corporation. "This company is a perfect fit for the Campbellsport Industrial Park and will provide critical services to customers in Fond du Lac County, Wisconsin and the Midwest."

FCEDC helped Swenson and Tauschek receive loan commitments from the county's Special Allocation Fund and Fond du Lac County's Revolving Loan Fund that was combined with a loan from BMO Harris Bank.

Currently, Swenson Tool & Die employs 12 full-time employees with 20 total employees. Once they are in the Campbellsport facility, they hope to add to that workforce.

"We plan on adding more employees," Wayne said. "There is room for expansion in the future here too."

The workforce is another reason they decided to move to Campbellsport. Swenson and Tauschek are hoping to pull more employees from the Campbellsport area and the surrounding areas.

Swenson Tool & Die specializes in welding and large assembly fixtures, die-making and stamping, custom machining, 3D modeling, and multi-stage press break tooling. The company sells to local and regional firms throughout the Midwest.

Construction on the new facility started in May. They hope to be ready to move into the new facility and begin production in September.

When Wayne thinks back three years, he never thought his company would be where it is today. They hoped to have a good business, but it has grown bigger than he anticipated.

"We are about double the size of where I thought we would be," Wayne said.

Keller - Planners, Architects, and Builders, a design/build general contractor with offices in Madison, Milwaukee, Wausau and the Fox Cities, is in charge of building the 16,250 square foot office and tool & die shop. The project will be done under the direction of Keller project manager, Bob Poch, and architect, Steve Klessig.

An official groundbreaking ceremony was held on Thursday, May 28. Swenson and Tauschek are excited to become a part of the Campbellsport community and to continue to grow their business.

"We look forward to joining the Campbellsport community and would like to especially thank the FCEDC, Village of Campbellsport, BMO Harris and Keller for their support through the process," Wayne said. "This team approach makes locating in Fond du Lac County efficient and easy."

70 MPH Signs To Be Installed Along Interstates This Week

County highway crews will begin installing 70 mph speed limit signs along Wisconsin Interstates this week. Weather permitting, most of the work is expected to be done Tuesday and Wednesday. For the safety of all travelers, the Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) strongly discourages media or anyone from stopping along an Interstate or other highway for any reason—including to take photos or video of the new signs. County highway crews will install around 470 updated speed limit and related signs. Last month, WisDOT noted about 726 miles of Interstate would be impacted. Following subsequent engineering analysis, a total of about 810 miles will be affected along Interstate segments currently posted at 65 mph. WisDOT has these important reminders for motorists:

 •Be alert and slow down for all roadside workers including county crews as required by the state's Move Over Law (www.dot.wi.gov/safety/motorist/workzones/move-over.htm).

UW-WC May 21st Commencement Ceremony

The University of Wisconsin-Washington County recognized the accomplishments of 150 students at the annual Commencement ceremony on Thursday evening, May 21. Students, who have recently completed or will be completing their degree requirements this summer, were recognized at the ceremony. Eight students received a four-year bachelor degree and 135 students received their two-year associate degrees for the 2014-2015 academic year. The collaborative bachelor degree programs allow students to complete a four-year degree from UW-Milwaukee, UW-Oshkosh and UW-Platteville, while attending classes in West Bend. To earn an associate degree, students must earn at least 60 college credits in five different areas and maintain a 2.0

grade point average (on a scale of 4.0). Associate degrees were presented to the following area students for the 2014/2015 school year:
 Kewaskum — RoyAlan Beaupre, Danielle Ekker, Lauren Kotowski, Raeanne Koss, Jennifer Martin, Russell Osswald, Aaron Sopinski, April Stern and Brittney Wagner; and Campbellsport — Robert Freiberg, Tyler Kubicek, Justin Pelischek and Dominic Theisen.
 An associate degree will also be awarded posthumously to the family of Kristofer Anderson of West Bend. Renewal Postcards Are Passé

— Wisconsin DMV Adds Convenience, Cuts Paper By Offering Reminders And Online Renewals Through eNotify

Although Wisconsin boasts one of the highest compliance rates for license plate registrations, the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV) makes customers' annual renewal even easier. With an eNotify (electronic notification) account, renewal reminders are sent via email/text or email and include direct links to DMV registration for easier, immediate plate renewal and no more lost reminder postcards or late fees. A Wisconsin Department of Transportation study looked at how compliant Wisconsinites are with registering their license plates annually. The most likely reason car owners gave for not renewing their license plate is the owner "forgot."

 "Many people appreciate the convenience of being notified electronically when it's time to renew their license plates instead of sifting through mail for the renewal postcard," Amber Graff, motor vehicle program specialist said. "WisDOT created eNotify to streamline this routine paperwork and serve our customers." Once subscribed to the eNotify service, customers can receive their license plate renewal notices by email and have text reminders sent to their mobile devices. These texts and emails include a link to the online renewal application and payment options for added convenience. Payment may be made using MasterCard, Visa, American Express, Discover credit or debit card, which will be charged a convenience fee. Another option is ACH (Automated Clearing House) which draws payment directly from a checking or savings account and has no convenience fee added. Only the website www.wisconsinDMV.gov is the official state website. Others with .org and .com are not official and may have extra charges for forms or list information that is dated or incorrect. In addition to the expanding services on its website, WisDOT connects with customers on Facebook and Twitter@WisconsinDOT.

Indians Strand 11 In 5-4 Loss To Plymouth

By Judy Harlow

In the game of baseball, there are hits, and there are timely hits.

Kewaskum had plenty of the former, 11, but not many of the latter in last Tuesday's showdown against Plymouth, resulting in a 5-4 loss to the Panthers, who take over first place in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

"We just never get the key, clutch hits," KHS coach Doug Gonring said, referring to the fact the Indians left 11 runners on base, including a pair on second and third in the bottom of the seventh after Plymouth had taken a 5-3 lead with three runs in the top of the inning.

Dean Schlice had opened the Indians' last ups with a big double to right-center, and it was here Gonring called on Dalton Poole to pinch hit. Poole looked at the first two pitches, both strikes, and missed a swing at the third for the first out, then Devyn Zillmer came up with a single, putting runners at the corners.

Zach Cain, who pitched the first four innings and came back for the seventh, got the second out when he struck out Cole Suprenant, then both runners advanced, with Schlice scoring, after the Panther catcher threw wildly to second in an effort to get Zillmer.

The game ended when Sam Schlosser hit a grounder to Cain.

"Somebody's got to seize the moment," Gonring said, disappointed with mental mistakes, problems with getting down good bunts and a general lack of enthusiasm from the KHS bench. "It's very tough to watch this."

After giving up a pair of singles and one run in the first, Michael Prochnow pitched very well for the Indians, limiting the Panthers to just two singles until the sixth when Gonring said, "Everything was up, so I thought it best to get him out of there."

With a 3-2 lead, Suprenant took over with one out and a runner at second. On his first pitch, he got Jake Steinhardt to fly out, then struck out Drew Schweiger to end the inning.

After throwing four straight balls to Jack Sacket to lead off the seventh, Gonring replaced the freshman right-hander with Andy Neu, a leftie. Schlice followed with a throwing error, trying to pick off Sacket, and then Ty Willeford dropped down a perfect bunt down the third base line, and the Panthers had runners at the corners.

Neu got Zach Gambrell on strikes, but then Gonring intentionally walked Cain and Neu walked Olig, forcing in the tying run.

Enter Schlosser to relieve Neu, and the first man he faced, Cole Karcewski, hit a double to deep left field, and just like that, the Panthers were in the lead.

The loss broke the Indians' string of four straight wins, putting their season record at 4-4. "We should have won all four of them," Gonring said, indicating his team doesn't have the "killer instinct" it had several years ago.

Cain got the win. He struck out seven, walked one and gave up four runs (two earned runs) on eight hits. Neu took the loss, striking out one, walking two and giving up two runs on one hit, Williford's bunt.

Schlice, Prochnow, who was 2x4, and Suprenant all had doubles.

Kewaskum 10, Kiel 2

On Monday, KHS took advantage of six Kiel errors to post a 10-2 victory, its fourth in a row.

Kewaskum broke the game wide open with a six-run barrage in the top of the third inning, sending 12 men to the plate. Lehmann opened the inning with a single to left field, and after a fly out, Matt Hetebrueg doubled to left, putting runners at second and third. Schlice drew a walk to load the bases, then Neu drove in a pair with a single; Schlosser was hit by a pitch, pinch runner May came home when Zach Heberer drew a bases-loaded walk.

The final runs also came home via a ground out and two walks, ending the pitching start of Jon Meyer.

Prochnow wound up going 2x3, with a pair of RBIs. Hunter Demmon got the victory, going four innings, striking out six, walking one and giving up five hits for two earned runs.

Dylan May pitched the fifth and sixth frames, giving up two hits, while Suprenant finished up the seventh, striking out two of the three batters he faced.

Late Rally Enough For Indians In Game Against Campbellsport

By Judy Harlow

Kewaskum scored four runs in the top of the sixth inning and added an insurance run in the seventh to get by host Campbellsport 8-6 in a game played last Friday night, June 12.

The Indians sent nine men to the plate in the sixth, using singles by Cole Suprenant and Michael Prochnow, an RBI double by Matt Hetebrueg, two errors, a passed ball and a wild pitch in the rally, finally chasing Campbellsport starter and ace, Jordan Dreikosen, who had a rough outing and was the victim of some porous defense.

After the Indians surged ahead 7-2, the Cougars battled back with four runs of their own in the bottom of the sixth, cutting the lead to just one run.

With the win, the Indians climbed to 4-1 vs. Eastern Wisconsin Conference foes to remain right behind unbeaten Plymouth in the battle for the final EWC title. Campbellsport is 2-3.

The game featured 10 hits by the Indians, who are now 5-4 overall.

Bille Lehmann and Prochnow, hitting in the number two and three spots, both had two hits, while all the other starters except for Sam Schlosser, had one each.

"We had a big double by Matt Hetebrueg which put us up 7-2," KHS coach Doug Gonring said, reporting Michael Prochnow continues to hit the ball well, and, "Bille Lehmann put down one of the most unbelievable suicides."

Devyn Zillmer picked up the winner, going three innings, giving up no runs on one hit. Walks were still a problem for the junior right-hander, who gave up four free passes to first base, including two in the first inning. Gonring said he went out to have a talk with Zillmer, and then, "He settled down and didn't give up a run."

Gonring called on Dylan May to pitch next. He lasted one and a third innings, giving up two runs, one one hit and a pair of walks. Prochnow followed May to the mound and was touched for four runs, two earned, on three hits and a pair of walks.

Freshman Cole Suprenant pitched the sixth and seventh and did a nice job under pressure, holding the Cougars to one hit and giving up one walk. He struck out the side in the top of the seventh, getting Fryman (looking) and Sonny Johnson (swinging) after giving up a single to Tanner Konen.

"He's entrenching himself in a position where he is doing some good things," Gonring said about Suprenant. "He's a strong kid."

Dreikosen, Campbellsport's ace, threw 125 pitches, striking out eight and walking three. He gave up nine hits.

After conference games against winless Two Rivers (June 15) and Sheboygan Falls (June 16), the Indians host New Holstein this evening (Thursday) and are at Homestead for a non-conference game on Saturday.

Current KHS batting averages: Prochnow-12x23, .521; D. May-3x8, .376; Neu-8x22, .363; Hetebrueg-9x27, .333; Lehmann-10x31, .322; Schlice-8x27, .296; Demmon-8x32, .250; Suprenant-7x28, .250; Schlosser-2x11, .181; Zillmer-4x28, .143; Heberer-1x10, .100.

Prunty Back Out Front At Slinger

By Dan Margetta

Slinger, Wis., June 14—Dennis Prunty drove to his second super late model feature victory of the season Sunday night at the Slinger Super Speedway as he bested Steve Apel and Brad Mueller to win the 60-lap main event.

"This is the car Ross Kenseth is going to drive in the Slinger Nationals," Prunty told the crowd after winning in his familiar number 42 ride instead of the number 22 car he drove to his other victory this season, "I didn't want to give him a car we didn't know would be good or not, so someone should call him tomorrow and tell him it's pretty good."

"I got through traffic pretty good and I got to Dennis (Prunty)," Apel said after starting from the sixth row, "then at the end I was just hanging on, but fast time and second place is nothing to hang your head over, it was a good night."

"I was good early," third place Brad Mueller stated, "At the end, Dennis (Prunty) and Steve (Apel) started getting away. I was really tight down in (turns) one and two and loose in three and four, it is what it is and at least we are on the podium."

Chris Blawat and Kelsey Dassow occupied the front row at the drop of the green flag and Blawat immediately drove to the lead from the inside lane. Dennis Prunty, who started third after John DeAngelis experienced mechanical issues before the green flag, also used the inside lane to charge by Dassow for second and then at the completion of lap one, he took to the high side to challenge Blawat for the lead, completing the pass a lap later. Rob Braun, Brad Mueller, and Steve Apel also used the inside lane to advance into the top five. The only caution flag of the event appeared on lap four after an incident between Kelsey Dassow and Dan Church in turn four as Prunty led over Blawat, Braun, Mueller, and Apel. Prunty chose the outside lane for the restart and Blawat chose the inside while behind them, Braun and Apel followed Prunty up top while Mueller took to the inside behind Blawat. As racing resumed, Prunty maintained his lead from the outside while Braun and Apel eventually prevailed as well on the outside as they both swept around Blawat and into second and third respectively. Mueller also switched to the high side to make his way around Blawat as Dave McCardle moved up to challenge for the fifth spot. By lap 16 with Prunty still out front, Apel and Mueller were able to edge to the inside of Braun to take over second and third place while McCardle also used the inside to grab fourth ten laps later. Apel and Mueller began to try to track down Prunty for the lead as the front runners began to encounter lapped traffic during the race's middle stages. Apel closed to Prunty's bumper while in the traffic but despite several looks to the inside, was not able to make a serious challenge for the lead. In the final laps, Prunty threaded his way through the traffic and drove to his second feature victory of the season. Apel finished second and maintained his division point lead while Mueller took the checkered flag in third. Dave McCardle completed the best race of his season with a strong fourth place run while Dale Prunty drove from deep in the field to finish fifth. Mike Egan and Dan Church finished sixth and seventh respectively while Brad Keith, Josh Wallace, and Chris Blawat rounded out the top ten.

James Swan won the 30-lap super late model semi feature over Braison Bennett and Lowell Bennett. Rich Loch finished in the fourth, the final transfer position, while Nick Wagner was fifth. Lowell Bennett, Brad Keith, and Brad Mueller all won super late model heat races and Steve Apel was the fastest qualifier at 11.411 seconds.

Alex Prunty survived a late race restart to capture the victory in the 40-lap late model feature to score his 30th win at the Slinger Speedway.

Jack Stern and Jordan DeVoy paced the field the green flag and DeVoy quickly raced out into the early lead. Alex Prunty began to work his way forward from his sixth starting position as he took over the second spot by lap five ahead of Stern, Ricky Heinan, and Kyle Chwala. The action at the front of the field was tight as Dan Jung and Mike Held also advanced to join the lead pack with the top seven cars racing in close quarters. A spin by Corey Funk off turn two while racing amongst the leaders on lap eight produced the first caution flag with DeVoy leading over Prunty, Stern, and Heinan. During the incident Brittney Helmers made contact with the pit entrance wall in turn two and retired from the event. DeVoy chose the inside groove for the restart and Prunty immediately took to the high side with the choice paying off as he charged into the lead as racing resumed. DeVoy held tough in second while Heinan and Chwala used the inside lane to take over third and fourth with Stern falling back in line in fifth. The race remained steady for a few laps before the caution waved again on lap 14 for a spin by R.J. Braun in turn two. As the leader, Prunty remained committed to the high side and he chose the upper groove, leaving DeVoy the inside while third running Chwala followed in Prunty's tracks on the top side. Prunty was able to keep the lead as the green flag waved and Chwala used the high lane to pass DeVoy for second. Prunty and Chwala opened up a significant distance on the rest of the field while DeVoy fended off challenges from Dan Jung and Mike Held for third. The comfortable gap enjoyed by Prunty and Chwala was erased on lap 37 when a spin down the backstretch by Braun resulted in the third caution of the event. Prunty and Chwala looked to settle it out on the restart for the final three lap shootout and Prunty quickly charged to the lead. Chwala fell into line directly behind Prunty and made a final challenge on the last lap which fell just short as Prunty took the checkered flag for the victory. Chwala finished second while Jordan DeVoy, Mike Held, and Dan Jung rounded out the top five.

Joe Bongiorno scored his first career Slinger Speedway victory in the first late model heat race while Tyler Schley was victorious in the second event. Alex Prunty and Kyle Chwala both turned in the exact fastest qualifying time at 12.292 seconds with Prunty being awarded the fast qualifier honors because he set the time first.

Members of the Kewaskum High School trap team had a good 2015 season with some outstanding shooting. The freshmen produced some really good scores for their first year on the team, including Jake Moser who made first team all-conference. The women out-shined many in the conference and Hannah Antonia was the All-Conference Woman High Gun. The team received a lot of help and support from the school district; Johnson Bus Company; the New Fane Sportman's Club, who provide the team a club to shoot at; Jeff Geidel and Marlene Heberer. Bird Records Take Flight; Call For More Volunteers Goes Out While volunteers helping survey Wisconsin birds have already lit up the record books before prime nesting season even begins, survey organizers are calling for more avid and interested birders to join the cause to provide the most comprehensive account yet of the birds that call Wisconsin home.

"Already, volunteers are setting new records for the atlas survey and changing what we know of the breeding bird landscape in Wisconsin," says Nick Anich, Wisconsin Breeding Bird Atlas coordinator for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. "We've had some great findings so far. But there is still so much more to learn and we need more volunteers to help better our understanding of Wisconsin birds."

The survey, last done 20 years ago, helps assess whether populations of bird species that nest and raise their young in Wisconsin are increasing, decreasing, or staying the same. The results will shape bird conservation efforts over the coming generation. Read more in "A Historic Bird Survey," in the February 2015 Wisconsin Natural Resources magazine.

Bird Survey Yields Rare Finds And Must-See Photos

Volunteers have set new records for birds not documented in the previous atlas survey, including:

Pam Campbell of Menomonie spotted a pair of Eurasian collared-doves building a nest in a tree in Dunn County, a species not found nesting here during the first atlas survey conducted in the late 1990s.

Another species confirmed for the first time in this atlas survey is the whooping crane, one of the two most endangered crane species in the world. The Whooping Crane Eastern Partnership has been working for the past decade to release cranes in the wild in Wisconsin in hopes of building a self-sustaining population in the eastern U.S. The cranes were sighted on their nest at the Necedah National Wildlife Refuge; other pairs are nesting in Adams, Wood, and Marathon counties.

Thomas Wood of Menomonee Falls confirmed black-necked stilts as breeding in Wisconsin, a welcome observation since this species was recorded breeding in Wisconsin for the first time during the previous atlas. Wood observed this striking species nesting in Dodge County.

Dale Bonk of Mount Horeb confirmed that a long-eared owl was breeding in Dane County; this rare owl was not found at all in the county in the previous atlas survey and was only confirmed then in five counties statewide.

Volunteer Opportunities Beckon Birders; New Web Feature Showcases Nesting Songbirds

Kim Kreitinger, president of the Wisconsin Society for Ornithology, one of the organizations behind the survey, says now is a great time to join the effort because the migration is winding down. Aside from shorebirds, most of the birds you see here in June and July are birds that nest in Wisconsin, so volunteers don't have to sort out which are migratory birds headed to or from Canadian nesting grounds.

"It's safe to assume that the vast amounts of songbirds you encounter are on their breeding territories. Understanding the places they frequent, the habitats they use and the times of year in which they raise young are critical to conserving them," Kreitinger says.

A new Breeding Birds and Summer Mothers feature on the DNR website showcases pictures of many of the breeding birds people will see this summer and also some that organizers are particularly keen on learning how they're faring since the first Wisconsin Breeding Bird Atlas was done in the 1990s. The web feature also contains links to wso-birds.org/atlas, where people can learn about volunteer opportunities and find a link to the data entry portal.

Volunteers look for and document breeding behaviors of birds, everything ranging from a male singing a courtship song to a pair building a nest to a mother feeding her young. The survey seeks to confirm the presence and abundance of different species in every corner of the state.

Bill Mueller, director of the Western Great Lakes Bird & Bat Observatory, one of the other sponsoring organizations, says that people can volunteer for the survey according to their desire, expertise and time. Birders who know a lot of species are encouraged to sign up to survey a three mile by three mile block of land. Birders can intensively survey their block over one breeding season or spread it out over the five years.

Birders with interest but less bird identification experience or less time are encouraged to turn in individual sightings of nesting birds they see while they are outdoors hiking, biking, camping, or even while sitting in their backyard.

"The second Wisconsin Breeding Bird Atlas is critically important to help us understand how Wisconsin bird populations are changing," he says. "And, it is fun, and a great way to learn more about the natural world."

More than 1,600 people participated in that 1990s survey, and Mueller and other organizers hope more will get involved this time around. Volunteers can enter their data online using a customized atlas portal to eBird, a web-based reporting system many birders already use to keep track of their bird sightings and scientists use to harness the power of millions of birdwatchers worldwide. Such technology, along with advances in digital and smartphone cameras, also have made it easier and quicker to verify unusual observations.

In addition to WSO, DNR and the Great Lakes Western Bird and Bat Observatory, the Wisconsin Breeding Bird Atlas II is co-organized by the Wisconsin Bird Conservation Initiative.

Real-Time Results Available Now For Bird Surveys Statewide And In Your Area

The survey's use of a specialized online data entry system allows volunteers, organizers and the general public to see real-time the results of the bird survey to date. Here are a few statistics as of June 1, 2015.

•Nearly 40 percent of 1,246 priority survey blocks have already had some data recorded.

•335 species have been reported, of which 146 have been confirmed as breeding.

•As of June 1, Aaron Holschbach of Arena was leading in species confirmed nesting in Wisconsin with 52 followed by John Kivikoski with 50 and Brad Zinda with 47.

No Gardening Space — No Problem

By Melinda Myers

Brighten up your patio, deck or front entrance with containers. They're an excellent way to add color, fragrance and beauty where plantable space is limited or non-existent.

Set a few containers on the front or back steps, in the corner of your deck or other location where they can be enjoyed. Try stacking and planting several containers to create a display with greater vertical interest. Check the views when looking from inside the house out as well as when enjoying the space outdoors. Strategically place containers for the greatest viewing pleasure.

Save even more space by using railing planters. You can dress up the porch or deck by filling these planters with colorful flowers and edibles. Make sure they are sturdy and easy to install. Reduce time spent installing and maintaining with easy-to-install self-watering rail planters, like Viva balcony rail planters (gardeners.com).

Don't limit yourself to flowers. Mix in a few edibles and bring some homegrown flavor to your outdoor entertaining. You and your guests will enjoy plucking a few mint leaves to flavor beverages, basil to top a slice of pizza or sprig of dill to top grilled fish.

Herbs not only add flavor to your meals, but texture and fragrance to container gardens. And the many new dwarf vegetable varieties are suited to containers. Their small size makes them easy to include and many have colorful fruit that is not only pretty, but delicious.

pansies. Dress up a plate of greens with edible flowers for a gourmet touch. Or freeze a few pansy flowers in ice cubes and add them to a glass of lemonade or sparkling water.

Include flowers like globe amaranth (Gomphrena), Lisianthus, and daisies that are great for cutting. You'll enjoy your garden inside and out throughout the season.

And don't forget to plant some flowers for the butterflies to enjoy. Zinnias, cosmos, and marigolds are just a few that are sure to brighten any space, while attracting butterflies to your landscape. Salvia, penstemon and flowering tobacco will help bring hummingbirds in close, so you'll have a better view.

So make this the year you select a container or two that best fits your space and gardening style. Fill it with a well-drained potting mix and combination of beautiful ornamental and edible plants to enjoy all season long. The additions are sure to enhance your landscape and keep your guests coming back for more.

Kewaskum Library Could Face Decrease In Materials

By Anne Trautner

The Kewaskum Library could see the number of books and materials it has available shrink significantly over the next year, Village Trustee Dave Spenner said Monday night.

The library belongs to a group of area libraries that share materials so that all the libraries have a larger selection available.

However, some of the libraries in the group are leaving to join a different library association, Spenner said. As those libraries leave, the number of available materials decreases, Spenner said.

The library board is considering whether it should join another group, Spenner said.

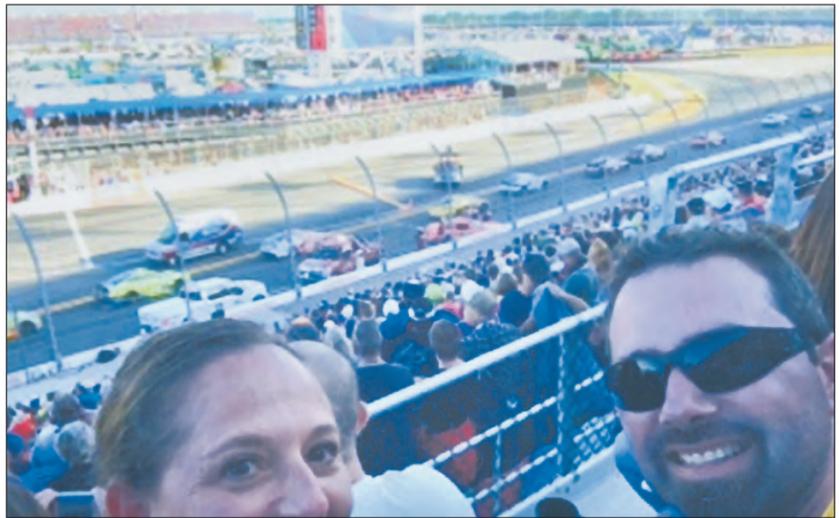

In addition, the library board has wrestled with staffing issues recently as there have been some retirements, Spenner said.

Facing the staffing changes, the library board decided to create a new children's/assistant librarian position.

In order to fund the new salary, cuts would need to be made in other areas, Spenner said.

"Most likely that would mean they actually buy fewer materials. Fewer new books, fewer periodicals and things of that nature, in order to offset what this new position would cost," Spenner said.

Village Says No To Trucks

By Anne Trautner

Kewaskum resident Colin Hartnett will have to walk or find other transportation to get to the dump truck he drives for work.

He cannot park the dump truck in his driveway at 1021 Milan Dr., the village board decided Monday night.

The short stretch of Milan Drive in Kewaskum where Dairy Queen, Little Folks School House and Gateway Cafe are located does not seem to be a residential area to Hartnett.

Every day, Hartnett sees semi trucks driving past his house where he lives with his wife and their five young children, Hartnett said. The trucks are making deliveries to those businesses, which are his neighbors.

Because the area appears to be a business district to him, Hartnett had hoped the board would decide to zone that section of Milan Drive a commercial route.

The new zoning would have allowed Hartnett to park the dump truck he drives for work in his driveway.

However, the Kewaskum Village Board decided to not make a change in the ordinance.

The semis that pull out of Dairy Queen and Gateway Cafe onto Milan Drive are in violation of a village ordinance because they should be entering and exiting from the businesses' driveways onto other roads.

There is only one point of access for semis to get in and out of the Little Folks School House parking lot, so those trucks are permitted to drive onto Milan Drive, according to the village ordinance.

"If it's a safety issue, [driving my dump truck] is the same as all the vendors. With it being such a short route, I don't see a problem with it," Hartnett said.

Hartnett said that because he does not drive his truck in the area during the day, he poses less of a safety hazard than the large trucks that go up and down the road throughout the day.

However, village trustees said that the issue was wear and tear on the roads, not safety.

"It has to do with weight, it's nothing to do with safety standards," Village Trustee Richard Knoebel said. "That highway is not built for that weight."

If trustees would approve a change in ordinance for Milan Drive, then the board might have to do the same for other roads as well, Knoebel said.

"You could get people who want to park other semis in town," Knoebel said. "If you allow one, you have to allow them all."

Village trustees voted unanimously against changing the ordinance. Village Board President Kevin Scheunemann abstained from the vote because of his personal involvement as Dairy Queen owner.

Shoe Collection To Help Those In Need

The Silbernagel Group is collecting new or slightly used shoes for adults, children and infants. The collection will be held at the group's office at 114 Main St. in Kewaskum from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Tuesday during Party on the Pavement.

The shoes help those in need in the United States or another country. The shoes go into areas that have natural disasters such as tornadoes or hurricanes, or areas where basic human needs need to be met.

Shoes have power. They protect people from disease and help them move place to place.

The Silbernagel Group will continue the collection between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, through July 10.

The Silbernagel Group presently has 81 pairs of shoes and counting. Help the group reach its goal of 200 pairs.

"It said that in order to receive the prize, you need to give them everything except a blood sample and the key to my front door," Dedrick said. "So I was very hesitant, and I set it down. I didn't get excited or anything, it just seemed kind of fishy or scammy."

But Dedrick brought the letter to Westbury Bank in Kewaskum, where she was told the letter looked legitimate, so she had it notarized.

Then Dedrick took the letter to Advanced Auto Parts in Kewaskum and to Mike's Automotive for verification.

Lisa Krezman, who works at Mike's Automotive, made a couple calls to confirm that it was a valid offer from Moog, a company that manufactures auto parts.

"There was some craziness with it. At first we were like, is this a joke?" Krezman said.

But the Moog representative said, "Holy moly, someone form your little town won the grand prize!"

The Trip

Dedrick indeed was the winner of an all-expense paid trip for two to the Daytona 500.

Dedrick and her husband, David Dedrick, made arrangements for their children, 10-year-old Kyle and 5-year-old Braelyn, to stay with their grandparents while they were away.

And on Feb. 20, the Dedrick couple was flown to Daytona. The airline tickets, hotels and transportation to and from the race track were all paid for. The Dedricks got to attend the Florida 300 on Feb. 21, as well as the Daytona 500 on Feb. 22.

"All because of a car part that shouldn't have ever been needed to be fixed, and a $10 rebate, and there we were," Noel Dedrick said.

For the big race, they had seats in the front stretch, level one, row 26.

"The view was awesome. The sight, the sound, the smell," Noel Dedrick said.

Before going on the trip, neither Noel nor David Dedrick were not race fans.

"That kind of changed our tune. It was the neatest thing ever," Dedrick said. "I try to tell everybody now to put that on your bucket list. It was fabulous."

Working Together

Dedrick's opportunity happened because of different companies coming together, according to Rich Gazdecki of Advance Auto Parts in Kewaskum.

"We're able to work together in this town to provide customers these opportunities," Gazdecki said. "The nice thing was we had the program available through Moog, and we offered it to our dealers to get it out the customers, and it all worked in line in unison. That is a beautiful thing."

The customers are the ones who benefit from that cooperation, Krezman said.

"From a small town or a big town, it was just nice to know that everybody is still helping each other out with these opportunities," Gazdecki said.

After returning from Daytona, Dedrick brought her car in for another oil change at Mike's Automotive.

Dickmann looked the car over and said, "Noel, you are not going to believe this, but the other tie rod is loose."

Unfortunately, there were no rebates or prizes this time.

"But for many, many reasons he has my business forever," Dedrick said. "He just comes across as a very honest mechanic."
