Kewaskum Theatre Company To Present Musical Comedy This Weekend

By Anne Trautner

Music and laughter will be brought to town as the Kewaskum Theatre Company presents The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee this weekend.

"It is just so funny. It is a show that has so many little quirky, funny lines that there is always something in every scene. Sometimes you really have to pay attention for it, but other times it is just right out there," said Olivia Krautkramer, who plays an 8-year-old speller named Logainne Schwartzandgrubennier in the show.

Krautkramer, 19, is a Kewaskum native who studies music education and piano performance at Viterbo University in La Crosse. Like her character, Krautkramer is naturally a good speller.

"I actually won my third and fourth grade spelling bees, not to brag or anything. I retired after fourth grade, though," she said.

However, being a good speller was not required to be cast in the play.

"Sometimes we don't even spell the words in the script right," Krautkramer said.

The family-friendly show, which features live musicians, will be presented July 31 at 7 p.m., Aug. 1 at 2 and 7 p.m., and Aug. 2 at 2 p.m.

The comedic musical is about six children who are passionate about spelling. One by one, each spelling bee contestant spells a word and reveals that character's story through music.

"There is a very wide range of characters, and they each have their quirks and their background story and personalities. They are all definitely a little strange," said LoraJo Schneider, one of the shows two directors.

Mason Schuette, 3, of Kewaskum, walks his lamb at the Washington County Fair last week. Many youth from the area took animals or projects to the fair for judging. They work hard throughout the year with these animals and on these projects. It was a great week for the fair with lots of great food, good entertainment, and lots of fun for the entire family. More photos from the fair can be found on pages 10 and 11.

County Fair Auctions Benefit Youth

By Anne Trautner

This year's junior livestock auction at the Washington County Fair brought in a record amount, with a total revenue of about $300,000.

"It is getting better and better every year," said Jim Hawig, sales chair. "I don't know what to say about it, we're not really changing anything. The kids must be going out and doing their job."

Every year, the youth that are showing beef cattle, pigs or sheep send out letters in hopes of bringing in new buyers.

Their efforts have been paying off, because each year there are 12-18 new buyers at the fair.

"This year had 18 new buyers that registered, and three-fourths of them bought at least one animal, Hawig said. "Last year we had a firm that came out of Milwaukee that had just heard about it."

That buyer bought six animals last year.

"He was so impressed with the kids and the way everything went, he told me after the sale last year he was coming back. Well, he did come back. And he brought four more buyers with him," Hawig said.

To try to make the event a good experience for buyers, the Washington County Meat Animal Science Committee furnishes a catered meal for buyers before the auction.

"A lot of other fairs don't do that," Hawig said.

This year there were 73 buyers total, said Whitney Rathke of the Washington County 4-H program.

"I have worked with a couple other fairs, and this is great that there were so many new bidders to come out. There is really great community involvement," Rathke said.

He was born April 30, 1953 in Sheboygan, WI, son of the late Wilmer and Helen (Doherty) Klahn.

He attended Beechwood Elementary Grade School and graduated from Kewaskum High School in 1972.

He worked at a metal spinning manufacturing company located in Beechwood producing parts for vehicles for many years. He also had a passion for the many Javelin cars he owned throughout the years as he would "quickly" commute back and forth to work. He enjoyed the solace of the mornings and those around him daily.

He is survived by four sisters: Sharon (Gene) Gerlach of Mayville, Margaret Hoepner of West Bend, Kathy (Connie) Binger of Mayville and Lois (Ronny) Spencer of New Holstein; three brothers: John (Marlene) Klahn and Wilmer (Janice) Klahn both of Kewaskum and Jim (Kay) Klahn of Campbellsport. One brother-in-law: Jim Vetter of Beechwood; and one sister-in-law: Jennifer Klahn of Sheboygan and special friends: Gerald (Linda) Schultz of Plymouth.

Also survived by many nieces, nephews, great nieces and nephews, aunts and uncles and other relatives and friends.

He is preceded in death by his parents; his grandparents: Ambrose and Nellie Doherty and Art and Isabelle Klahn. Two sisters: Mary Pat Vetter and LuEllen Klahn; One brother: Francis Daniel Klahn, his parents; one brother-in-law: Tiny Hoepner;

Following Tom's wishes, cremation has taken place and Inurnment will be in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery in Cascade.

A memorial fund is being established in his name.

Suchon Funeral Home and Cremation Services of Plymouth is serving the family. For online condolences, please visit www.suchonfh.com.

The family would like to send special thanks to Woodland Village at Rocky Knoll Health Care Facility for all the care and compassion given to Tom over the years and the many kind neighbors and friends Tom made while living in the Plymouth area.

Black Bears In Wisconsin

The next program in the Friends of the Kettle Moraine Summer Saturday Evening Events is Black Bears in Wisconsin. The program will be held on Saturday, August 1, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center of the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit. The Ice Age Visitor Center is located off Highway 67 half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Black bears are the second largest mammal in Wisconsin behind elk. From being almost extinct within our state, bear populations have made an incredible comeback. Their range is expanding throughout the state including into portions southern Wisconsin.

Join Adam Murkowski, Dept. of Natural Resources Assistant Deer, Bear and Wolf Ecologist, as he explains about the fascinating life history and ecology of our state's black bears. Participants will learn some valuable tips for avoiding bear conflicts and living in harmony with these magnificent, but often ravenous omnivores.

For further information or directions to the Ice Age Visitor Center, please contact a staff member at (920) 533-8322. The Center's hours are Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Join The Weed Warriors

A major war is being battled in the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit against an invading army of non-native plants. We need warriors to combat these aggressive invaders such as buckthorn, honeysuckle, Japanese hedge parsley, knapweed, and garlic mustard.

Join the ranks of the Northern Unit weed warriors. Unite with Volunteer General Connie Ramthun as she leads the attack against Japanese hedge parsley. Meet her at the Ice Age Visitor Center located off Highway 67 half mile west of Dundee for the following campaign dates.

•Tuesday, August 4, 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

•Tuesday, August 4, 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Please join us in fighting this aggressive non-native plant species which can crowd out the native plants resulting in large monoculture areas. Many casualties of this invasives' war include our birds, butterflies, and other pollinating insects which cannot survive with these weeds.

Ninety percent of all plant eating insects are specialists that evolved with native plants (plants that were here before European settlement). Non-native plants can't be ingested and converted to energy by native wildlife because their chemistry is too different.

Come prepared to do battle by wearing long pants, long-sleeved shirt, and sturdy shoes. Also remember to bring along a pair of garden/work gloves, filled water bottle, sun screen, and bug repellent.

For further information or directions, please contact staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. They may be reached at (920) 533-8322, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Every Two Seconds Someone Needs Blood: Red Cross Urges Blood Donations

The American Red Cross urges eligible donors to give blood in August and help meet the constant need for blood products by patients. Every two seconds someone in the U.S. needs blood.

Summer is an especially difficult time to collect enough blood to meet the needs of hospital patients. Despite travel and other activities that may cause some donors to be less available to give, the Red Cross must collect 15,000 blood donations every day to meet the needs of patients at approximately 2,600 hospitals and transfusion centers across the country.

With more summer days ahead, every blood donation is important in helping ensure blood is available for patients in need, and volunteer donors are the only source of blood for those who need it. Donors of all blood types — especially those with types AB, O negative, A negative and B negative — are needed to help ensure blood products are available to hospital patients this summer.

To make an appointment to give blood, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

A Red Cross blood drive will be held at Kewaskum Middle School on Monday, Aug. 3, from 1 p.m.-6 p.m.

How To Donate Blood

Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in.

Individuals who are 17 years of age (16 with parental consent in some states), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood donors in the Badger-Hawkeye Blood Services Region can now save time at their next donation by using RapidPass to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, prior to arriving at the blood drive. To get started and learn more, visit redcrossblood.org/RapidPass and follow the instructions on the site.

"It's definitely a comedic show so there is something funny about all of them, but it brings it all together in a message that is: You can fit in. You can find somewhere that you fit in no matter what, and it's not always about how other people view you. It's about finding your spot in your life," co-director Lindsay Dahlberg said.

At each show, there will be audience participation as four audience members are pulled up on stage.

"That is what I am looking forward to, seeing what people do and how people react," Schneider said. "Every show will be a little bit different because of the audience participation. It should be fun to see."

The script has been altered from the original Broadway version to make it family-friendly, Schneider said.

"We have taken the alternate songs of inappropriate songs and we have changed all the foul language and that kind of thing. It will be fun for the whole family," Schneider said.

The play has been fun for the actors as well, said Caitlin Brunner, who plays an adult named Rona Lisa

"It's fun watching the other actors go back in time and act like little kids. It's a hilarious show. There is a lot of childish and adult humor in it," Brunner said.

"My 6-year-old comes to rehearsal and he loves watching it," Schneider said.

This is the fifth year the Kewaskum Theatre Company is producing a musical. The volunteer cast auditioned for their parts and started rehearsal in June.

The Kewaskum Theatre Company was started by Schneider and Dahlberg. The two had attended Kewaskum High School together and had been involved with musicals and the music program.

"One time that we were both around the area, we met up and said, 'We can do this.' So we kind of pulled it together," Schneider said.

The two directors are best friends and next-door neighbors.

Schneider graduated from Kewaskum High School in 2006 and Dahlberg graduated in 2007. Dahlberg went on to get a degree in music theater. Both directors now teach piano lessons, and Dahlberg teaches voice lessons as well.

The Kewaskum Theatre Company, which is sponsored by the Kewaskum Area Arts Council, currently puts on one show every summer.

"We are hoping to expand and maybe add a holiday show or maybe a show in the spring, if we can coordinate it with the high school theater schedule," Schneider said.

Until then, the Kewaskum Theater Company will continue offering what it can for the directors' home town.

"I just love giving people in our community the opportunity to have a musical right in Kewaskum," Schneider said.

Silver Lake: Henschke Hillside Access Temporarily Closed

The public access to Silver Lake, at Henschke Hillside Lake Access, has been temporarily closed due to a recent discovery of an aquatic invasive species called Starry Stonewort (Nitellopsis obtusa).

The county, state, and Silver Lake Protective and Rehabilitation District are in the process of developing a monitoring, control, and eradication plan for Starry Stonewort. Temporarily closing the Silver Lake boat launch to motorized watercraft will minimize chances of spreading the invasive species to other water bodies within the County and State.

Starry Stonewort is a non-native species of algae in the Characeae family that grows from the bottom of the lake up to two meters tall. It is very robust, with whorls of four to six branchlets with blunt tips. It grows best in calcium-rich lakes, which are abundant across Washington County.

It anchors itself using colorless filaments (rhizoids) that resemble fishing line. These rhizoids contain up to several dozen star-shaped bulbils, which are starch reserves that can grow new individuals. Starry Stonewort has only been found in a few other lakes in Wisconsin.

Fragments and bulbils are easily dispersed between lakes by boats, trailers, and anchors holding sediment. It is native to Europe and Western Asia. It was introduced to the Great Lakes by ballast water, and has been a nuisance in other states for over 10 years.

Starry Stonewort forms

dense mats of vegetation, reducing diversity of native aquatic plant life in lakes. It can impede passageways for fish and other aquatic animals. Vegetative mats growing to the surface of the water can prevent recreational activities and reduce water flow.

There will be a meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 5, in Room 3224 from 5 p.m.-7 p.m. at the Washington County Public Agency Center in West Bend (333 E. Washington St.) to discuss Starry Stonewort.

Area Youth Attend 4-H Youth Conference At UW-Madison

Bridget Dean from Campbellsport was one of hundreds of 4-H youth who attended the 95th annual 4-H & Youth Conference at the University of Wisconsin-Madison campus in June.

She and five other delegates from Washington County joined about 500 other young people representing UW-Extension's 4-H Youth Development program in celebrating the 95th anniversary of the youth program in Wisconsin at the conference. The adult 4-H leader advising the county delegation was Angela Dulmes.

Dean said, "My favorite part of the conference was learning about and seeing the State Art teams. Their shows and exhibits were beyond amazing. I especially enjoyed the Drama Company's performance, and even got to attend the seminar put together by them.

"I learned a lot about 4-H in general, and took seminars including photography, paddle boarding, and underwater archeology. I loved meeting people from around the state, and getting to know people from my county better. There were so many things to do after the seminars, including dances, basketball, crafts, and going down State Street. The entire trip was lots of fun, and I am so glad I was able to attend."

The annual four-day conference gives youth a chance to learn about a variety of 4-H and other youth programs, experience hands-on learning in a university campus atmosphere, strengthen life skills such as communication and leadership, gain knowledge to share back home, and exchange ideas and form friendships with youth from around the state.

The delegates attended workshops and assemblies developed around the theme "It Starts with Us" which highlighted leadership, individual responsibility, goal setting, healthy living, and living up to potential. Students participate in a variety of community service projects designed to stimulate interest in replicating similar projects in their own communities.

Workshop topics included everything from communication arts to building leadership skills, healthy living, STEM topics, youth citizenship, and a host of other exciting subjects.

This year, a Washington County 4-H member, Ted

Colwell, presented a community service workshop entitled 'Giant Pumpkins are Much Bigger Than They Appear.' Below is a description of his session: "Unlock secrets to growing giant pumpkins and challenge yourself to grow in remarkable ways. An introduction to growing giant pumpkins takes us quickly through the portal that inspires me. I share my story and invite you to step out of your comfort zone to work toward eliminating childhood hunger. Share the joy of giant vegetables, invite yourself to learn about sustainable agriculture, start a micro-green kit and empower yourself to grow fresh vegetables in small spaces. And finally accept the 2323 challenge and make your world a better place."

The Wisconsin 4-H Foundation provided financial support for this conference.

Summer Heat Safety Tips To Ensure Fun In The Sun

By Ron Rabena

The summer season and warm weather triggers an urge to be outdoors, but fun in the sun can be dangerous when the heat and humidity rise. In addition to sun burn, heat-related illnesses including heat stroke or sunstroke can send unsuspecting victims to the hospital. The human body keeps itself cool by allowing heat to escape through the skin and by evaporating the resulting perspiration. If the body cannot cool itself enough, the person could suffer from heat-related illness.

Heat stroke can progress from milder heat-related illnesses such as heat exhaustion, heat cramps and fainting. Illnesses caused by overheating can become serious, and even deadly, if not treated. Exposure to heat kills approximately 400 Americans annually.

Everyone is susceptible to heat-related illnesses, with even young healthy athletes succumbing to it. However, those most at risk include senior citizens, especially those living alone in non-air-conditioned environments; infants and children and people with medical conditions, especially those with heart disease and high blood pressure.

The classic warning symptom of a heat stroke is a body temperature that is above 104 degrees Fahrenheit, but other symptoms include fainting, dizziness and light-headedness, rapid pulse, painful muscle cramps and spasms, headache, lack of sweating despite the heat, nausea and vomiting, rapid breathing, dry, hot and red skin and behavioral changes including disorientation. If you or anyone around you has any of these symptoms, 911 should be called immediately. As you wait for emergency services, put damp and cool cloths or towels on the affected person and have them lie down until medical assistance arrives.

Being alert to the symptoms of heat stroke is vital to ensuring your own health and safety as well as your friends and family. However, as Benjamin Franklin said, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" and heat-stroke is preventable.

Take these preventative steps to prevent heat-stroke this summer:

- Avoid strenuous outdoor activities. Whenever possible, reserve outdoor activities for the cooler morning and evening hours.

- Wear lightweight, loose-fitting, light-colored clothing. Wearing too much clothing or tight clothing won't allow your body to cool down efficiently.

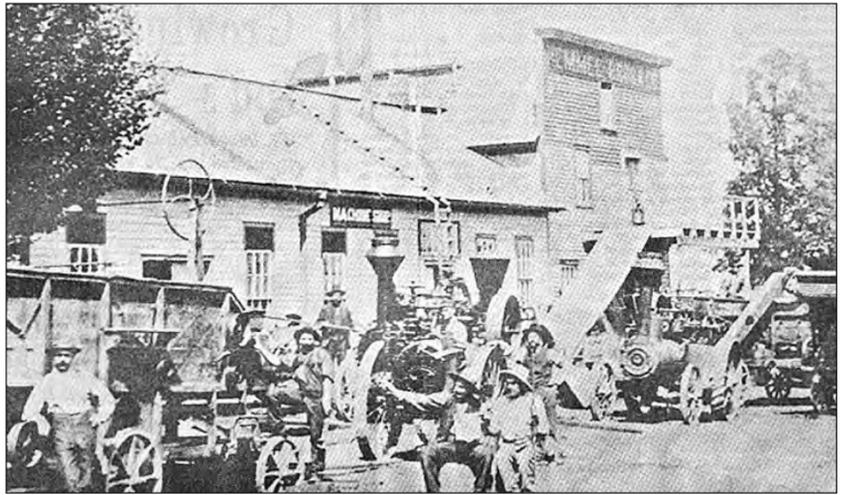

- Stay well-hydrated and avoid alcoholic and caffeinated beverages. Staying hydrated helps you maintain a normal body temperature and drinking excessive caffeinated or alcoholic drinks can dehydrate, rather than hydrate, you.

- Eat smaller meals more frequently. Eating small, protein rich meals throughout the day keeps your energy level stabilized.

- Never leave children, adults or pets in a closed, parked vehicle. In the sun, closed car temperatures can rise from 78 degrees to 100 degrees in just three minutes.

For more information on heat-related illness prevention and treatment, visit the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention at www.cdc.gov/extreme-heat, The American Red Cross at www.redcross.org/prepare/disaster/heat-wave and the Mayo Clinic.

The summer months can be the most joyful of the year, so by following these simple tips, you can be assured that your summer is full of all the family fun that you had planned.

This old photo shows the former Remmel Manufacturing Company in the early 1900s. It was located on the corner of First and Railroad Streets. It produced numerous items throughout its time including drilling-boring machines, brass and iron goods, shafting, iron pipes, fittings, engineer's tools, fire extinguishers, pulleys, pumps, hand engines and much more. By 1912, the company was known for its corn huskers and cement mixers. In 1972, the business closed with all of the final items sold at auction. The building was torn down and an apartment building was built in its place.

Moraine Park Students Compete In National SkillsUSA Championships

Two Moraine Park Technical College students made their way down to Louisville, KY, on June 22-26 to put their skills to the test at the National SkillsUSA Championships. The contest brought together top contenders from around the nation to compete in hands-on competitions in 100 different trade, technical and leadership fields.

Richard Thiemer IV, an electricity student of Kewaskum, was up for the challenge and came out sixth in the nation in the Electrical Construction Wiring Competition. Thiemer had to complete a written test, perform a practical conduit bending exercise and install a conduit system, cabling system and wiring devices. The challenge requires students to install an electrical system common in most residential and light commercial projects, mimicking what they may encounter in the industry.

"In the seven years I have been teaching, this is the highest I have seen a student from Moraine Park place at the national level," stated Mark Wamsley, Thiemer's advisor and electricity instructor at Moraine Park. "We had some really talented students competing in SkillsUSA this year, and I am proud of all of their accomplishments."

Also going up against the best in the nation was Sean Breister of Fond du Lac, who participated in the Industrial Motor Controls Competition. In this category, students install motor control equipment and associated enclosures, raceways, pilot devices and circuitry.

In order to make it to the National SkillsUSA Championships, a student must have placed first place in their category at a state competition prior. For Wisconsin, that competition took place in Madison in April.

A number of Moraine Park students competed at the state level, including Jacob Beck of Cedarburg and Tyler Wollner of Newburg who placed second and third, respectively, in the Industrial Motor Control Competition. Jared Schmitt of West Bend and Ben Loehr of Fond du Lac also placed second and third, respectively, in the Electrical Construction Wiring Competition.

In addition, a team of three students from the computer numerical control (CNC)/tool and die technologies program competed and took fifth place in the Automated Manufacturing Technology Competition. The team was evaluated on their ability to construct a part using computer-aided drafting/design, generate a tool path using computer-aided manufacturing, and then set up and machine a part using CNC machining. Team members included Kevin Boudwine of Germantown, Cody Ermer of Hartford and J.J. Pocian of West Bend.

"The pressure of competition is a good learning experience for the students," said Wamsley. "There is more pressure than when the students are in class, and there are times over the course of competition when anxiety is so thick it could be cut with a knife."

Girl Scouts Donate Birdhouses To St. Joseph's Hospital

reGirl Scout Troop 4350, West Bend, recently donated five nesting boxes for birds to Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin St. Joseph's Hospital as part of its Bronze Award Community Service Project. Troop 4350 consists of three fifth grade girls, Milla Rodriguez, Brynn Bauer and Lauren Cybell, and their project focused on building and installing birdhouses that provide nesting shelter for birds native to Wisconsin.

As part of their project, each girl was required to plan, build and install one or more birdhouses. After the girls researched different nesting boxes they donated five boxes, suitable for both wetland and prairie birds, for the SJH campus that were installed on the hospital's walking path. The troop worked with St. Joseph's Community Foundation in making the donation and in the process learned a variety of different skills, including organizational, presentation, leadership and woodworking.

Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin St. Joseph's Hospital, founded in 1930 by local doctors, community leaders and the Sisters of the Divine Savior, is a full-service hospital serving residents of West Bend and Washington County. St. Joseph's Hospital, specializing in women's health and birthing services, cancer care, surgical procedures and rehabilitation services, is part of the Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin health care network, which also includes Froedtert Hospital, Milwaukee; Community Memorial Hospital, Menomonee Falls; and more than 30 primary and specialty care health centers and clinics.

Whatever it is that is bringing the new buyers to the fair, it has caused an increase in sale for the past 14 years that Hawig has served as sales chair.

The economy seems to have very little bearing on the sale's success, Hawig said.

"Two years ago, I said I thought we were going to have a bad year because of the economy. We had a great year," Hawig said. "Right now I don't feel that the economy is right where it should be, but somehow or other it isn't showing it here. People just came and supported the kids."

Several records or near-records were set this year. The champion pig, raised by Lillia Janz, sold for a whopping $20 a pound.

In the poultry sale, Allison Loosen of the Wayne's Crusaders 4-H group, had a cornish rock hen that was auctioned and re-auctioned four times before finally someone took it. The hen raised $450, most of which will go toward 4-H scholarships, Hawig said.

The most that an animal had been re-auctioned before was maybe twice, Hawig said.

In the livestock auction,

6 percent of each sale goes to the Meat Animal Science Committee, while the remainder goes to the youth who shows the animal. Most use the proceeds for college or to purchase another animal, Hawig said.

The grand champion steer went for $10 a pound and the grand champion lamb went for $13 a pound, Rathke said.

This year's livestock auction sold 98 pigs, 66 lambs and 58 steers, Hawig said.

Those numbers are pretty consistent with past years, according to Hawig, who has been involved in the meat auction since its inception 46 years ago.

That first year, Hawig showed the champion hog.

Hawig has served on the Meat Animal Science Committee for about 25 years. He and his wife, Kathy Hawig, helped out with the fair during the years their four sons showed at the fair. This year they had one step grandson who showed.

Now that this year's fair is over, Hawig has started planning for next year.

"I'm doing it for the kids. That's what it's all about," Hawig said

Moraine Park's Student Support Services Program Awarded $1.1 Million Grant

Moraine Park Technical College has been awarded a five-year, $1.1 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education to continue its Student Support Services (SSS) program, which provides assistance for students who are low-income, first in their family to attend college or have a learning disability.

Moraine Park's SSS program, referred to as its EDGE program, is in place to help students meet their goals and graduate from college. Each year, 140 students are enrolled in the program, and their progress is closely monitored. The EDGE program offers many services to help students stay on track, including academic advising, financial aid and scholarship resources, cultural events, skills development and tutoring.

"The EDGE team provides the tools and confidence our students need to overcome challenges and earn their degrees," said Michael Smith, Moraine Park's TRIO grant manager. "During the 2013-2014 school year, 94 percent of EDGE students were in good academic standing, which is an exceptional accomplishment for the students and the program."

This grant is the second for Moraine Park's EDGE program. The first was awarded in 2010 and was a similar five-year grant from the Department of Education.

The goal of the SSS grant is to increase college retention and graduation rates by providing motivation for students, opportunities for academic development and assistance with basic college requirements. The new grant will take effect on September 1, 2015, and the college will receive $220,000 every year, totaling $1.1 million over the next five years.

Moraine Park's SSS program falls under the umbrella of Federal TRIO programs, which are federal outreach and student services programs designed to identify and provide services for individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds. TRIO includes eight programs targeted to serve and assist low-income individuals, first-generation college students, and individuals with disabilities to progress through the academic pipeline from middle school to postbaccalaureate programs. TRIO programs are administered by the Student Service area of the Department's Office of Postsecondary Education.

For more information on Moraine Park's EDGE program, please visit morainepark.edu/trioSSS.

Kewaskum Resident Wins Senior Pig Showmanship Award

By Anne Trautner

Kevin Etta's friends at Marquette University want to know what it is like raising pigs and showing them at the county fair.

"They are all interested because they had never really heard of stuff like that before. They think it's really cool," Etta said.

For Etta, who is a sophomore studying computer engineering at Marquette, showing pigs is commonplace. Last week was the 11th year Etta competed in the county fair.

He came away with the senior showmanship awards in the lightweight barrows and lightweight gilt classes at the Washington County Fair.

Each year, Etta begins working with his pigs when they are young. He and his sister, 11-year-old Rachel Etta, begin their training by walking the pigs across the 1-acre yard of their family's hobby farm in Kewaskum.

"As the summer goes on, we walk them longer, and we put out cones and we walk around those," Etta said.

They try to build up to a 20-minute workout for the pigs.

"You try to replicate what the show will be like," Etta said. "You don't want to just walk him for five minutes, and then at the show you are in there for 20 minutes. The pig is going to be really tired. That is one reason they get ornery."

A tired pig does not want to be shown for judges, Etta said.

"Most of them just want to go back to the pen," Etta said. "That is why a lot of them you will see head towards the corner and hug the fence, because they know the way back to the barns. It's the way back to food, water and safety."

One of the most important things about showing pigs is keeping them under control, Etta said. It is important to keep the pigs moving and to maintain eye contact with the judge, he said.

"If you are not watching the judge, you really don't know what is going on," Etta said. "Another thing, if you keep eye contact with the judge, you will know where he is so you can get your pig out in front of him and show him your pig."

Champion pigs are chosen by having the correct amount of muscling.

"You want to have a pig that is very wide and long, and you can see the muscling on it and it doesn't have too much fat covering it," Etta said. "Really, when you go buy meat from the store, you don't want it to be all fat, and you don't want it to be all muscle or it will be all dry. You want to meet that medium between."

Etta began showing his pigs as a member of the Wayne Crusaders 4-H Club. Later, when he was a student at Kewaskum High School, he showed with the Kewaskum FFA.

In the early years, Etta's favorite part of the fair was the rides. Now that he is older, the fair is all about showing his animals.

"Showing my pigs on Wednesday night is the best part of the fair. That's what keeps me coming out every year and doing it," Etta said. "I have been working all summer with these animals, walking them every day, feeding them, washing them, getting them ready, and then I finally get the final results. It's a lot of fun showing them in the ring."

He also enjoys the competition.

Etta, who will turn 20 in February, is eligible to compete in the fair one more year. Whether he comes back to defend his title depends on his summer internship next year, he said.

Lillian Oelhafen, who is 98 1/2 years old, attends her 80th Washington County Fair last week. Oelhafen said she has seen many changes at the fair over the years. Last week, Oelhafen's great-grandson Kevin Etta won the senior showmanship award in the light-weight barrow and light-weight gilt classes.

143 Local Education Agencies Receive High-Cost Special Education Aid

School districts across the state received high-cost special education aid payments earlier this month to reimburse a portion of the costs associated with the education of children whose educational needs exceed $30,000 per student.

The aid paid to 138 school districts, two cooperative educational service agencies (CESAs), and three county children with disabilities education boards (CCDEBs) totaled $5,732,590 and covered just 46.2 percent of eligible costs for 1,052 students. The local education agency (LEA) requests for reimbursement, based on costs from the prior school year, amounted to $13,780,975. Aid is calculated on 90 percent of eligible claims for direct services to individual students not covered by other state and federal special education funding. The aid is paid each year on the third Monday in June.

The Kewaskum School District received $54,088.

High-cost special education aid this year is made up of $3.5 million in state funding and $2.2 million in federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) discretionary funds that State Superintendent Tony Evers allocated to this purpose. In his 2015-2017 state budget, the governor denied the department's request to fully fund high-cost special education aid and to reimburse 100 percent of costs.

The Joint Committee on Finance adopted a motion to increase aid by $5 million in the second year of the biennium. This will be the first increase in state support for high-cost special education aid since 2006-2007.

"The budget being considered by the Legislature will provide some well overdue support to the high-cost special education aid program," Evers said. "The free appropriate public education every child is entitled to receive can put a strain on local district budgets, especially when a child has extraordinary educational needs. As general aid and per student revenue caps fail to keep pace with inflationary costs such as electricity, transportation, and heat in the winter, the tension between regular education and special education student needs increases in a way that no educator or parent wants. It's simply not fair to our kids to keep short-changing their education."

Even with a proposed increase to high-cost special education aid, according to an Education Commission of the States (ECS) analysis, Wisconsin lags other states that pay special education costs through a reimbursement funding mechanism. The ECS analysis shows a range of reimbursement rates from 100 percent in Wyoming to Wisconsin's low of 26.8 percent, with an average among the states using the reimbursement funding mechanism of about 53 percent. Wisconsin's categorical special education aid has been frozen at $368.9 million since the 2008-09 school year, and no increase is proposed for the 2015-2017 budget. Students with disabilities make up about 13.5 percent of the state's public school enrollment.

"I want to commend Wisconsin educators for their efforts on behalf of our students with disabilities," Evers said. "Although costs of educating students with disabilities continue to go up, the work of our teachers and aides to implement effective instruction and intervention practices has made a difference for our kids and reduced the numbers of students identified and requiring special education services."

The separate funding stream for high-cost special education aid started in the 2003-2004 fiscal year with the allocation of $2 million in federal IDEA discretionary funds. In the 2006-2007 fiscal year, state funds were budgeted to provide aid for high-cost special education students, raising the level of overall reimbursement to 73.7 percent of eligible costs.

High-cost special education aid has continued to be supplemented with IDEA discretionary dollars, with reimbursement rates on a downward trend since 2007.

Local Middle School Students Attend National Summit

– Program promotes healthy diet and lifestyle

By Anne Trautner

Andrew Carlton and Courtney Zarda, two Kewaskum Middle School eighth-grade students, trained with NFL players at the Fuel Up To Play 60 Student Ambassador Summit held in Chicago last week.

"It was really fun," Courtney said. "We got to do a lot of the football activities and actually play with the NFL players. We had a flag football tournament and did a bunch of passing drills and punching drills with them. It was an honor to be there."

The Fuel Up To Play 60 Summit is a four-day event that has more than 150 student ambassadors and 50 program advisors from across the country. This year, the event was held at the Bears training facility in Chicago July 22-25.

Fuel Up to Play 60 is a school nutrition and physical activity program that encourages students to eat healthy, be active and make positive changes in their schools and communities. The program, which is created in partnership locally with the Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board and the NFL in cooperation with USDA, is in more than 73,000 schools nationwide.

"The Student Ambassador Summit is an exciting leadership opportunity for students like these who are committed to making healthy changes for current and future generations," said Laura Wilford, Wisconsin Dairy Council director. "All of our Fuel Up to Play 60 Ambassadors have made great strides in the movement for a healthier nation."

In addition to working out with NFL players, students at the summit participated in a breakfast cook-off with healthy recipes, as well as visited student athletes at Northwestern University.

Courtney, whose parents are Jennifer and Rick Zarda, received a scholarship to attend this year because of the work she did this year to bring healthy food choices to Kewaskum Middle School's breakfast menu.

"Our breakfast and lunch programs really turned around. We actually feature some of our healthy items on our menu now," Andrew said.

Courtney created a healthy breakfast recipe and brought it to school administration. The item was subsequently added to the school menu.

Because of Courtney's efforts, breakfast participation at Kewaskum Middle School this past year significantly increased, said Paula Carlton, Andrew's mother who also serves as a volunteer advisor for the program at the school.

"We know through surveys that a lot of kids were not eating breakfast, and we know how important eating breakfast is. So not only were they now eating breakfast, but they were eating a really healthy breakfast as well," Paula Carlton said.

Both Andrew and

Courtney attended the summit last year when it was held in Dallas, Texas.

Last year, Andrew, who is the son of Paula and Todd Carlton, was named a state ambassador for Wisconsin, so he attended the summit free of charge. This year he had to raise the $750 fee.

But it was worth it, he said.

"The best part about Fuel Up to Play 60 is all the different events you can do and all the prizes you can win," Andrew said.

Through those incentives, Andrew feels the program has helped keep him healthy.

"It definitely helps me a lot," Andrew said.

About three years ago, Kewaskum Middle School students in the Fuel Up to Play 60 program started tasting different vegetables, according to Paula Carlton.

"They have evolved into having a veggie of the month program, where the veggie appears on the school menu a couple different times. They start out the month by having the kids taste the veggie, because a lot of kids may not have tasted it before, and then hopefully that will get them to where they are actually eating it," Paula Carlton said.

The program branched out into the community this past year. Geidel's Piggly Wiggly in Kewaskum started featuring the program's vegetable of the month as well.

"That way kids can go home and say, 'I had this veggie,' and then parents go to the grocery store and buy it and it is kind of now encouraging the whole community to be healthy," Paula Carlton said.

About 50 students are involved with the Fuel Up To Play 60 program at Kewaskum Middle School, Andrew said. The students meet for 30 minutes a day to develop a healthy lifestyle through diet and exercise.

"It really is a great program that really turned everything around. Our lunch menus weren't healthy. We weren't getting enough outside time. We didn't have the right equipment. We didn't really do much. So it really turned everything around and made our school a better place," Andrew said.

End Of An Era For The Eastern Wisconsin Conference

By Judy Harlow

While Kewaskum and Campbellsport baseball teams may still play each other in non-conference games in the future, their game on July 10th marked the end of an era in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

It was a good baseball conference, and the two schools - Kewaskum and Campbellsport from 1980 until this year and Campbellsport from 1993 when it left the old Flyway league - certainly made their marks in the storied 35-year run.

Campbellsport won solo titles in 1994, 1998, 2000, 2001, and 2005, and the Cougars shared the title with New Holstein in 1999 and 2002. Kewaskum took the championship five times, in 1992, 2006, 2010, 2011, and 2012, shared the title with New Holstein in 2009 and with Kiel and Plymouth in 1990.

The late Hubie Diekvoss had some very good seasons as Campbellsport's coach before retiring to move in North Carolina. He was followed by the late John Osterman, who took the reins for a couple years, then Jerry Raether was named as head coach and he held the position for 21 years, from 1991 to 2012, before the current coach, Kyle Twohig, one of Raether's former players, took over.

Kewaskum has had six different coaches over the three-decade span, starting with Mike Theiler (1980-81), who no longer lives in the area. Next came Perry Koth, who led the Indians for three seasons, from 1982-84.

Tom Bartelt started as the JV coach at KHS for two seasons before being elevated to the top spot in 1985, and he served as head coach until 1992. Doug Gonring came aboard for one year before leaving for a similar position with his alma mater, West Bend East. Then it was Mark Heise at the helm from 1994 until 2000, and Dave Donath served as head coach from '01 to '07, and the next year Gonring came back and had held the position ever since.

Koth enjoyed his battles against Diekvoss. "There were some really good games. They were close games," he said.

Concerning the best season in his tenure, Koth said it was the year the Indians finished second to Plymouth.

"Plymouth had a good pitcher named Meyer," Koth said, reporting the last meeting between the two schools ended up 2-1 in Plymouth's favor, in a pitchers' duel between KHS' Jeff Geidel and Meyer. The win gave the Panthers the title.

Best play that year? No doubt about it. It was the Indians' triple play vs. Plymouth. "It was a line drive behind second," Koth said, indicating they had runners at first and second and his second baseman, Dave Donath, he moved over toward second to hold the runner.

Donath snagged the line drive, stepped on second for out No. 2 and threw quickly to first to get the runner who had been going on the pitch.

Koth said other members of that team were Ric Leitheiser, Randy Westerman, Steve Yahr and Brian Larsen.

When Bartelt, who led the Indians to one solo title and one shared title and WIAA state tournament appearances in 1986 and '89, said one of his favorite games against Campbellsport came in the '96 campaign.

"I know we had a tough game against them. They had a good team... It was the first time we went to state," Bartelt said recently about the regional opener which ended with KHS winning 10-3 over the Cougars, whose season ended at 16-4. In that game, Don Menzel struck out 13 Cougars, including six in the final three innings.

In the sectional, the Indians topped East 11-5 and shut out Port Washington 11-0 to earn a trip to the state tournament at Regner Park in West Bend.

In the opener, Mark Schlosser, the father of current KHS second baseman Sam Schlosser, hitting not one, but two home runs in the win over Franklin, lifting Kewaskum to a 9-5 victory.

"Those were his first home runs of the season," Bartelt said.

Others on that team included: Jeff Newhauser, Rick Staehler (who is now a physician), Bob Yahr, Tim Dettmann, Jack Aupperle, Tim Bingen, Troy Zimdars and Tim Rohlinger.

Bartelt, who retired from the Kohler Company several years ago, still attends many of Kewaskum's varsity home games and even some of the JV games.

Heise recalls his first year how "They were 20-1, and their only loss was to us."

The game was to have been played at Kiwanis Park in Kewaskum, but rubber ball teams had games scheduled, so the two teams played in Campbellsport with KHS as the home team.

That night runs were at a premium, so Heise called on Chris Canter to bunt in a late inning, and he beat it out for a hit. Heise also had Tony Fitts bunt, and when the Cougar fielder threw the ball away, he had Canter just keep running, and he scored the winning run.

"You know the team that always gave us trouble and kept us from winning titles was New Holstein," Heise said, noting, "We ended up second three times, twice to New Holstein and once to Chilton."

Looking back, Donath said, "usually all the games against Campbellsport were memorable, they had good players and were well coached... By the end, we were getting better."

Donath said he was blessed with some very good pitchers, including Travis Kempf, Bob Ogi, John Holt, Matt Parrent and Matt Hartmann.

When he ranked his teams, Donath said 2001, when the Indians were second in the EWC and 2006 when they were conference champs, are on the top of the list.

"That year was really special," Donath said about 2006 when his son, Garrett, was on the team with Ross Stockhausen, Dan Shea, Jon Olla, Parrent and Logan Staeger.

"We hit the ball real well," Donath said, recalling the 13-1 win over Campbellsport and the 8-1 victory over West Bend West in the sectional, clinching a state berth. "West had beaten us the week before," he said.

In the win over Campbellsport, Shea hit a grand slam homer in the top of the seventh, and Parrent's 2-hitter was the key to the win over West.

Unfortunately, the Indians ran into Hartland Arrowhead in the state opener in Stevens Point, losing to the Warhawks 8-1.

Gonring was not available for comment over the past weekend. Previously he had remarked their records, Campbellsport would always give his team a battle in the tournament series. The two teams were in different sectionals this year, but KHS went 3-0 vs. the Cougars in league play. All three of those games were fairly close.

Raether looks back at his association with the Eastern Wisconsin Conference with a great deal of pride. "Kewaskum, New Holstein, Plymouth, Sheboygan Falls, there were some good matchups," he said, adding, "We had some really good games with Kewaskum when they had the (Travis) Kempf kid, the (Matt) Parrent kid. Both teams were solid at all nine positions."

Raether was pretty well convinced the good battles vs. EWC teams prepared them for tournament action against larger schools. CHS made three trips to state under Raether, in 1996, 1997, and 2000.

"I think the second one, we finished second (to Cedarburg)," he said, indicating in one of the tournaments, the Cougars knocked off Waukesha North, which was unbeaten or had one loss. Raether said a group of Waukesha fans skipped the first game, figuring their team was a cinch to beat Campbellsport, and when they were parking, they asked him when North played next. Raether was happy to be able to tell them his team bounced North out of the tourney.

When it comes to top players, Raether said, "Jim Ziegler pitched for UW-Oshkosh for four years and he went to the College World Series once."

Other good players included Josh Stoffel, Tim Rowe, Corey Immel and Steve Ketter, who, Raether said was "probably the best player I ever had."

"For the most part, I was really blessed with good players, who were good people and good teammates," Raether said.

Raether was at the finale between the two schools, noting he wanted to watch Jordan Dreikosen and Bennet Krueger, who were on his last team when they were freshmen.

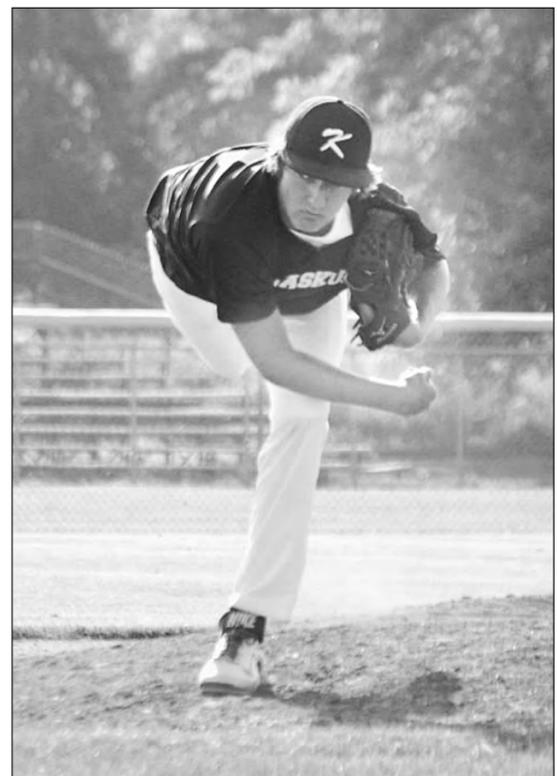

Twohig knew all about the Campbellsport-Kewaskum rivalry when he took the job because he played for Raether, graduating in 1999.

"I played against Jason Strobel (Kewaskum's center fielder). Later, "We coached against each other as JV coaches," he said.

When it comes to a favorite game against the Indians, Twohig only has to turn back the clock one year when the Cougars beat the Indians 17-0.

"Everything we hit dropped, and everything they hit got caught (that night)," Twohig said, noting Dreikosen was pitching that night and struck out nine Indians in four innings.

Even though Campbellsport is moving to spring ball next season with the new East Central Conference and Kewaskum is staying summer with the North Shore, there is a chance the two teams will play each other, according to Twohig, who Michael Prochnow fires in a pitch for the Indians during their final regular season game of the summer in Campbellsport on Friday, July 10. The Indians had a good season to end their tenure in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

A's Blank Benders Behind The Arms Of Suprenant And Neu

The Kewaskum A's got a glimpse of their bright future Tuesday night, July 21, as four high schoolers from Kewaskum made their debut in a 5-0 win over the West Bend Benders. Cole Suprenant dazzled on the mound tossing seven shutout innings to pick up his first career win. He allowed just one infield single to go along with 11 strikeouts on the night. Suprenant gave way to Andy Neu, who also just gave up one infield single in two innings of work. Neu finished with five strikeouts in his A's debut.

Offensively, the A's got things going in the fourth inning when an Andy Neu RBI single plated the A's first run of the game. Nick Rosenthal followed with a bases loaded walk to make it 2-0 Kewaskum. Veteran Adam Sarauer extended the A's lead with a RBI sacrifice fly in the 5th and a two RBI single in the 6th to push the lead to 5-0. Suprenant and Neu made that score hold up as the A's picked up their third win in a row to move to 17-18 on the year. Tony Steger 3x4 (2B) and Adam Sarauer 3x3 (3 RBI's) led the way at the plate, while Brad Young and Suprenant each chipped in with two hits on the night.

Make or Break Week for the A's

The A's find themselves in a make or break week with their Rock River playoff hopes on the line. Despite their struggles all season long the A's still control their own playoff destiny. The trek toward securing a playoff spot begins with three home games this week, starting with a game against Slinger Wednesday night in West Bend.

Sheboygan Too Much For A's in WSL Playoffs

The up and down WI State League season came to an end for the A's on Saturday night as they dropped a 12-2 game to the Sheboygan A's in a consolation playoff semifinal game. Sheboygan put up a pair of runs in the 2nd inning and never looked back from there. One of the few bright spots on the night were Brandon Mantz and Austin Sarauer (RBI) who each collected three hits.

Kewaksum Concludes WABC Pool Play With Win

In their third and final pool play game of the WI Amateur Baseball Classic, the A's topped the Everest Merchants by a 7-1 score. Even with the win though, the A's failed to advance to Sunday's final round based on their earlier pool play loss to Plymouth.

Everest jumped ahead with a single run in the top of the first inning, but the A's answered the call in the bottom of the inning with a run of their own on a Harry Steldt two-out RBI single. The game didn't remain tied for long either as Jake Spaeth's RBI single in the second inning gave the A's the lead for good.

The A's added a single run in the third inning on a Randy Finger bases loaded walk and put the game out of reach in the fifth inning plating three big insurance runs. Austin Sarauer (RBI single) and Blake Fleischman (2 RBI single) had run scoring hits in the big fifth inning.

Brad Young pitched his best game of the season to pick up the complete game win (7IP, 4K's 5 Hits) on the mound. Jake Spaeth led the A's offensively going 4x5 (2 RBI's), while Austin Sarauer, Harry Steldt and Brad Young each contributed two hits on the day.

The Pewaukee Muskies would go on to win the 24 team tournament Sunday, July 19, with a convincing 10-1 win over the West Allis Nationals in the championship game.

A Kewaskum baseball player gets a good lead at first base during their final regular season game of the summer in Campbellsport on Friday, July 10. This was the Indians final season in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

Kings Put Beating On A's

The WI State League regular season came to a disappointing end Thursday night as the A's fell by a 13-3 score to the Kenosha Kings. The A's actually held a 3-2 lead heading into the bottom of the third inning, but sloppy defense and a hot hitting Kenosha team made that a short-lived lead.

Kam Koplitz got the A's on the board in the first inning with a two out RBI double and Drew Giesen dropped in a RBI single in the second inning to tie the score at two apiece.

With the game still tied in the third inning, Brad Young led off the inning with a double and came around to score on a Koplitz RBI double giving the A's a brief 3-2 lead. Kenosha responded with two runs in the bottom half of the inning to regain the lead and erupted for seven runs in the sixth inning to put this game out of reach. Jordan Dreikosen (4IP, 4 Hits, 2ER) suffered the loss on the mound, but was not aided by some very sloppy A's defense on the night (6 errors). Brad Young (2B) and Kam Koplitz (2 2B's, 2 RBI's) led the way offensively.

A's Batter Shorthanded Lakeside (IL) Legends

On Friday night, July 17, the A's topped the short-handed Lakeside (IL) Legends by a 16-4 score in their second pool play game of the WI Amateur Baseball Classic.

Adam Sarauer's 2 RBI single in the bottom of the first inning gave the A's an early lead they would never relinquish. The game was put out of reach in the top of the second inning when the A's sent 15 batters to the plate and pushed across nine runs.

In the big inning, Nick Rosenthal (RBI single), Austin Sarauer (2 RBI double), Harry Steldt (2 RBI double), Rosenthal (RBI single again), and Ty Schill (RBI single) all collected run scoring hits in the inning.

Lucas Kopeschka was the beneficiary of all the run support on the mound as he picked up the complete game win (3ER, 5 K's, 5 Hits). Ty Schill, Harry Steldt and Nick Rosenthal all had multi-hit games for the A's.

Wood In The Water Gaining Wider Welcome

The benefits of wood in the water have long been known to natural resource managers; now, growing numbers of citizens appear to be taking an active interest in the subject.

While a tree may live 140 or more years on land, its useful life may continue for another 300 years under water as it provides food and shelter for organisms ranging from caddisfly larvae and mayfly nymphs to yellow perch, bass, walleye, muskies and more. Scott Toshner, a Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist based in Brule, said as many as 15 species of fish have been observed living in and around a single submerged tree in a northern Wisconsin lake.

"At some point in their lives, every fish species in our inland waters uses wood, whether it's for spawning, finding a food source or seeking shelter," Toshner said. "I've observed walleyes on the deep end of downed trees, perch and musky can drape their eggs on the branches and juvenile fish can find insects or a place to hide. It's a carbon source that benefits everything from microorganisms to top predators."

Within hours of falling into the water, tadpoles, minnows and other small fish begin to hover in the branches of a tree, followed by an army of shredders and filter feeders — insects and other species that begin their lives by nibbling on the wood or the beneficial algae that soon coats it. Yet on many lakes, this natural cycle needs a helping hand since dying trees are typically removed before they put people and property at risk.

The good news is that citizens around the state are wading in, working in partnership with DNR to put more wood in the water through projects including "fish sticks," shoreline habitat improvements and traditional fish crib projects, said Ben Heussner, a DNR fisheries biologist based in Waukesha.

"We're seeing more people talking about fish sticks and shoreline improvement projects at their lake association meetings," Heussner said. "Efforts that a few individuals make really catch on as others begin to notice and we're seeing people out on their pontoon boats checking out some of the completed projects including the fish and wildlife they're attracting."

Tom Koepp, chairman of the Pewaukee chapter of Walleyes for Tomorrow and manager of the Lake Pewaukee Sanitary District, said he continues to get questions about his group's fish sticks project on Pewaukee Lake, among the first in southern Wisconsin to take advantage of an improved permitting process. Fish sticks projects involve placement of trees that are cabled together and anchored to the shoreline.

Koepp and his crew took the additional step of draping the trees with rocks to ensure they stay in place on the bottom. The Pewaukee Lake project, completed last year, involved placement of several tree sections dropped just offshore of Walk's Island near the west end of the lake.

"You can't go into these types of projects saying that you need 100 of them to make a difference because every one of them, whether it's fish sticks or shoreline restoration can have an impact," Koepp said. "If you're smart about these things, you can get woody structure back into a lake that has a developed shoreline without interfering with places where kids swim or people keep their boats."

Other lakes with recently completed fish sticks projects or efforts in the works include Lake Nebagamon in Douglas County, Lake Marion in Dane County and Lower Genesee Lake in Waukesha County. Toshner said more than 29 lakes have completed fish sticks projects in the last seven years.

Nearly a dozen additional habitat restoration efforts including fish sticks projects are in the works thanks to grants to local government, lake and conservation organizations provided through DNR's Healthy Lakes initiative, said Shelly Thomsen, a DNR water resources management specialist. Generally, woody habitat projects are beneficial if there are fewer than 200 trees in the near shore water per mile of shoreline, the DNR experts said.

Search the DNR website, dnr.wi.gov, for fish sticks projects to learn more including how to apply for a general permit that allows multiple fish sticks projects to be completed over a period of up to five years. Interested lake groups, communities and property owners are encouraged to contact Thomsen to learn more about assistance that may be available while a local DNR fisheries biologist may be able to provide insight on habitat opportunities.

Additional information about the benefits of wood in the water is contained in a publication developed by UW-Extension and UW-Stevens Point in cooperation with DNR called "A Second Life For Trees in Lakes: As Useful in the Water as They Were on Land."
