Steel from the World Trade Center sits in front of the Kewaskum Fire Station as a memorial to Andrea Haberman, who attended Kewaskum High School, and others who were lost on Sept. 11, 2001. A feasibility study is currently being conducted to finalize plans for the memorial.

Kewaskum Memorial Remembers September 11

—Area Residents Are Forever Tied To September 11th Tragedy

By Anne Trautner

Andrea Haberman's parents, Gordon and Kathy Haberman, left their home in Farmington on Wednesday, Sept. 9, to spend Sept. 11 at Ground Zero.

"It is a time for us to reconnect with families and good friends," Gordon said. "We have made such lasting friendships. Many were strangers and we became fast friends. Not only other families, but also the construction workers, police, firemen, first responders and museum people."

It has been 14 years since the Habermans' daughter Andrea was killed in the World Trade Center.

Andrea, who had attended Kewaskum High School, worked as an administrative assistant at Carr Futures, Inc., in Chicago. She was a graduate of St. Norbert College, where she had met her fiancé, Al Kolodzik.

Andrea, at age 25, had gone to New York for her first-ever business trip. On Sept. 11, she made her way to the Carr offices on the 92nd floor inside One World Trade Center. Andrea called Kolodzik after she arrived in the office after 8 a.m., and they talked for several minutes.

At 8:46 a.m., American Airlines Flight 11 struck the building. No one heard from Andrea again.

About two years after the attacks, Andrea's purse, checkbook, glasses, phone and keys were found. Those items are now part of an exhibit at the National Sept. 11 Memorial Museum.

While in New York this week, the Habermans will listen as all the names of those who lost their lives on Sept. 11 are read. It will take nearly four hours to read the 2,982 names.

"The magnitude of loss is still so powerful," Gordon said.

While in New York, the Habermans will attend a conference that is being held about a block away from the memorial.

In addition, they will visit a memorial garden at the Church of Good Shepherd in Inwood, a quiet community in northern Manhattan, where Andrea has a special headstone.

"It is a small neighborhood that had lost 14 people on Sept. 11. We are honored to have a site there in a community that understands and remembers the events of Sept. 11 on a daily basis. It is a beautiful and quiet spot, away from the hustle of the city," Gordon said.

While the Habermans are in New York, an enduring landmark stands in front of the Kewaskum Fire Station on Fond du Lac Avenue.

"Ultimate Packer Fan" Prepares For Packed Packer Season

By Anne Trautner

The Packers start their regular season on Sunday, and that means it's game time for Wayne Sargent.

The local Packerbacker is more than a just a Packer fan. He is the Ultimate Packer Fan.

Sargent has become the face known across the country as the Ultimate Packer Fan. He has been in commercials, appeared in ESPN The Magazine and has been on the front page of the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel. He gets contacted about once a month to be cast as a Packer fan in an upcoming TV show or game show.

He was one of five national winners for the Guinness Boldest Fan of the Game Contest about five years ago. Through that contest, he won a trip for two to the Super Bowl in Indianapolis and received a bronze bust statue of himself.

His latest accolade is receiving the Die Hard Packer Fan of the Month Award for September. As Mr. September, Sargent is especially proud of a collage he received.

"It is a fantastic array of artwork," Sargent said. "It touches a lot of the highlights, I guess, in my fandom."

On Sunday, Sargent is kicking off the new season by doing a voice over for ESPN's Mike & Mike show at Lambeau Field.

"They are going to attempt to cook and produce the largest brat," Sargent said.

Sargent's voice will be heard as he follows a script, most likely with some adlibbing, as a 350-foot long Johnsonville brat is cooked during the show.

Becoming A Packer Fan

Sargent, who hails from New Hampshire, has been a Packer fan since about 1965, when he was in about sixth grade.

"The first game I really watched was Super Bowl I, with the Packers and Kansas City. And the Packers won. Of course, being a kid, I jumped on the bandwagon, and became a big Packer fan. I really enjoyed watching Bart Starr play. I've followed Bart Starr and all the Packers ever since," said Sargent, who is now a season ticket holder.

About 23 years ago, Sargent moved to Wisconsin to work as a commercial plumbing manager. Sargent currently works as a building inspector for what his wife refers to as his "real" job.

However, he also works as a marketing agent for the Super Bowl I, Super Bowl II and Ice Bowl players. He also arranges appearances for some of the younger players, such as Scott Tolzien and David Bakhtiari.

But the thing he loves most is cheering on the Packers.

"I go to the majority of the home games. The ones I don't go to would be because there is a family conflict, and I'm not a big fan of preseason," said Sargent, who didn't go to the game last Thursday night.

He plans on going to all the rest of this year's games, although he's unsure about the game on Thanksgiving evening.

"It is a big family day here. It just makes it tough," Sargent said.

Sargent's wife of 33 years, Dodie Sargent, is also a Packer fan.

"I'm not as diehard as Wayne, but I am a fan. He puts his heart into it and I have to support it," Dodie Sargent said.

Wayne Sargent, also known as the Ultimate Packer Fan, stands with his wife, Dodie Sargent, in their basement. Sargent is an avid Packer collector, and the basement is filled with autographed pictures, furniture, clothing and decorations. Sargent's entire family is proud of the collection, and whoever has friends over is in charge of dusting the prized possessions. To protect the green and gold loot, the house is alarmed.

Kremer's Korner

—Guest Editorial By 59th Assembly District Representative Jesse Kremer

The Kewaskum Statesman and Campbellsport News are allowing me the opportunity to have a regular column in the paper. This is the first one. As you read it, does it make sense to you? I wanted to stay away from the technical, but get the point across as to what Assembly Bill 213 will accomplish and how EMS service works in the area.

Providing emergency medical services (EMS) to rural Wisconsin communities has always been a challenge, but more so in recent years. There are a variety of reasons for this problematic trend.

While the ability for our EMS agencies to provide greater care prior to transport has been evolving, the ability to recruit and retain trained personnel has been on the decline. It is difficult to convince a volunteer to dedicate several months to classroom training, only to be followed by the need to remain in the community when covering ambulance duty.

As a currently practicing emergency medical technician (EMT), I can attest to this time commitment. Had I not completed my training a decade and a half ago, it is highly unlikely that I would have the privilege to serve my community in this capacity today.

A few weeks ago, I co-chaired the assembly committee on Criminal Justice and Public Safety during a hearing that addressed rural EMS ambulance staffing concerns. By law, the lowest level of emergency professional that can staff an ambulance is an EMT. A minimum of two fully qualified EMTs are required to transport a patient to the hospital.

Because of this requirement, the Village of Kewaskum, for example, provides EMT ambulance service for some of the nearby communities including Boltonville and Kohlsville. Although these fire departments do have emergency personnel, the First Responders have a lower skill set and less training than EMTs.

Assembly Bill 213, authored by Representative Jeff Mursau (R-Crivitz), will provide relief for rural departments like Kewaskum by allowing a first responder to take the place of one of the EMTs onboard the ambulance. Per current practice, if a higher level of care is needed at the scene or on the way to the hospital, additional, nearby resources are called, including helicopter transportation or a nearby paramedic level agency.

As your representative and as an EMT, I am looking forward to voting in support of this bill when it comes to the floor of the Assembly this fall.

September 11th

September 11th, 2015, is this coming Friday. It is a date we all remember. The catastrophic attacks on the United States on that day in 2001 changed the way all Americans live.

A new set of enemies to our way of life began a quest to limit our freedom. Many brave young men and women joined our military to respond and protect America. Firemen and policemen would also join this fight to protect us.

Since 9-11, many of the enemies' planned attacks within our borders were extinguished before they could be carried out... some of them at the last minute.

The fight against terrorism is far from over... it probably will never be over. We can never put our guard down again, even in the rural area in which we live in. We must have a strong military and properly equip and train our local law enforcement and firemen in order to win this fight. We must also preserve the right for citizens and those who protect us to defend themselves against enemies. We can never let our guard down nor think this fight is over.

The fight that began on 9-11 has changed my whole life. My oldest son, Lt. David Johnson, commanded a small firebase with about 65 men in Kandahar Province in Afghanistan in December, 2011 to January 2012. He was shot at almost every day he served on the front line. While leading a small arms battle on January 25, 2012, he gave his life.

It turns out he knew very well there was a good chance he would give his life if he were to perform his duties as directed. He was in one of the most dangerous places on earth.

Before he was deployed, he confided in our pastor that he felt called to lead men into battle. David felt that this is what he was supposed to do with his life and that there was a chance he was not coming back. He did not share this with Laura and I before he left. David joined the almost 8,000 U.S. military service members who have given the ultimate sacrifice for our freedom since 9-11. This loss forever changed my perspective on everything I do.

U.S. Army Lt. Col. (Ret.) Brian Birdwell's Story

As the years go by, I have had the opportunity to learn more about some of the heroes from 9-11.

Last October, I had the privilege of sharing the stage at the annual National Newspaper Association Convention opening ceremony with Lt. Col. (Ret.) Brian Birdwell. Brian was the keynote opening speaker. He sat with Laura and I for breakfast before he spoke. I remember shaking his hand before sitting next to him. The skin on his hands was rough and he did not have the ability to squeeze my hand very hard.

So It Goes

Left, U.S. Army Lt. Col. (Ret.) Brian Birdwell and currently a Texas State Senator spoke at the National Newspaper Association annual convention last October in San Antonio, Texas. He told how he survived his horrific injuries after a jet slammed into the Pentagon on September 11th. GoldStar parents and Kewaskum Statesman publishers Andrew and Laura Johnson, right, had the privilege of sharing a light moment with Birdwell at the convention. Andrew serves as a Regional Director for Region 6 (Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota) for the National Newspaper Association.

Before he spoke, we each shared our stories and immediately had a special bond. He was so nice and loving towards me and Laura.

After he spoke at the convention, I spoke to the group about how newspapers from across the country were helping the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Faces Project. I then introduced the chief operating officer of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, Lee Allen, to speak at the convention.

I thought it would be good to tell a little bit about Brian's story. This information I used came from first-hand accounts Brian told me, from his book Refined by Fire, and from a series of devotions he and his wife wrote for Stories of Faith and Courage from the War in Iraq and Afghanistan.

On the morning of September 11, 2001, Brian was watching the news of the planes crashing into the Twin Towers along with two of his co-workers at his office in the Pentagon. One of his co-workers' daughters called to tell her mom to get out of the building.

Brian thought "surely they won't hit the Pentagon... if they did that they'd have the whole U.S. military after them." Moments after the call, Brian excused himself to use the men's restroom on the second floor. Moments after stepping out of the restroom as he started walking down the hallway, an explosion blew him across the corridor.

In an instant, the building shook and there was fire and debris everywhere. The two co-workers Brian was with were instantly killed since they were in the direct path of American Airlines flight 77 that slammed into the Pentagon.

Brian could see nothing except for a yellow orange haze with black all around him. He realized he was on fire. Brian was hit hard. His legs, back, arms, face, and hair were all on fire.

As he gasped for air, he breathed in thick black smoke and jet fuel. He looked down and saw flesh hanging off his body. He was in agonizing pain. The heat was so intense that his lungs began to blister.

Luckily, the sprinkler system in the corridor went on and extinguished the fire on his body. Moments later, the locked fire door near where Brian was located opened and two officers Brian knew along with two others came to Brian's aid.

I remember reading in the book that Brian and his wife Mel wrote, "Refined by Fire," how Brian described the moment the men could not pick him up because his skin would fall off. They ended up locking arms and rolled him onto a human stretcher in order to move him so he could get medical attention. Sixty percent of his body had been burned.

Brian was certainly close to death and it was a miracle that he survived. The part of his story that I often think about is how much he has suffered just because he wore a uniform of our military. There is so much to Brian's amazing story. I highly recommend reading his entire story.

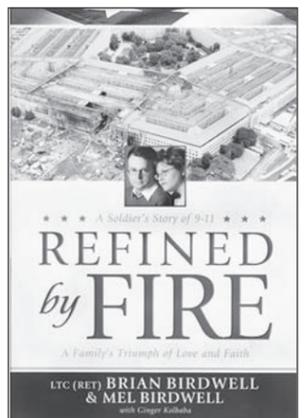

Brian suffered greatly for our country. His faith, courage, and strong support from his wife Mel helped him survive. Brian said that, "it's a great story of the Lord's grace in our lives," and is evidence that "He's still on the throne and still in charge of our lives."

He later recovered enough to go back to work and eventually retired from the military. He and his wife run a ministry, Face the Fire Ministries, Inc. where they help burn survivors as well as service members who have been wounded in combat. Brian also was elected to the Texas State Senate in 2010. His current term runs through January 2017.

It was an honor and privilege for my wife Laura and I to spend a brief moment of time with a true American hero. My time with Brian also reminded me that the events of 9-11 were real and they affected thousands of people and their families.

Brian's life and his testimony are a great inspiration to all. September 11th, Patriots Day, is a day we remember, reflect on how blessed we are, and should show our deepest appreciation to our military members as well as police and fire department personnel.

LTC (RET) Brian Birdwell and his wife Mel Birdwell tell their amazing personal story of survival and faith in their book "A Soldier's Story of 9-11, Refined by Fire, A Family's Triumph of Love and Faith."

Cedar Community Hosts Stephen Ministry Information Session

Those interested in helping older adults who are hurting through one-on-one Christian caring are invited to learn about Cedar Community's Stephen Ministry program at a special informational session on Monday, Sept. 28. An hour-long program will be held at 2 p.m. and repeated at 6:30 p.m. in the second floor Veranda Conference Room at Cedar Ridge Apartments, 113 Cedar Ridge Drive, West Bend. Christian volunteers of all ages and denominations are welcome.

Stephen Ministry began in St. Louis in 1975 as an opportunity for laypeople to extend Christian care for congregation members facing difficulties in their lives. The ministry is grounded in Jesus' command to love one another. Today, more than 600,000 Stephen Ministers have been trained, representing 172 different Christian denominations across the US, Canada and 27 other countries.

"The September 28 information session is a great opportunity for those curious about Stephen Ministry to learn more, including training provided and time commitments, and hear current Stephen Ministers' inspiring stories and experiences," said Dave Stone, Stephen Leader and Chaplain at Cedar Community.

Full 2016 Stephen Ministry training sessions will begin in January and involve comprehensive instruction, hands-on training and role-playing activities. Following commissioning as a Stephen Minister, participants are assigned to a Cedar Community resident whom they visit weekly. Cedar Community Stephen Ministers provide spiritual support in all areas, including the health and rehabilitation center, assisted living and independent living. The group meets twice each month for peer supervision and continuing education.

"What a blessing for me to be a Stephen Minister. And I believe the folks I minister to are also blessed," said Teresa Krantz, who is a part of Cedar Community's program. To learn more about the Stephen Ministry program at Cedar Community or to reserve a space at the information session, please contact Chaplain David Stone at 262-306-4202 or dstone@cedarcommunity.org.

Kewaskum Memorial Remembers September 11

An I-beam from the World Trade Center was transported to Kewaskum and now stands as a 9-11 memorial. The rusty piece of metal honors Andrea, as well as all those who were lost on that fateful day.

The memorial has not yet been completed.

"The steel will just be a cornerstone, to the credit of Larry Ammel and the Kewaskum Arts Council. The village donated the land for the memorial. It is very fitting that it is located in front of the fire department," Gordon said. "It is a real testament to the community, and I appreciate it so much."

A feasibility study is currently being conducted to finalize plans for the monument.

"When this memorial does come together, it will be beautiful," Gordon said. "It is a way to commemorate the sacrifice of the 3,000 people who died that day, and all the first responders and their dedication to service."

Gordon hopes that the memorial will help educate people about September 11 so that young people in Kewaskum can fully understand the impact it has made on the nation.

"This memorial in Kewaskum is a remembrance for everyone, long after Kathy and I are gone. It is a real testament to the community, and I appreciate it so much," Gordon said. "It will be a remembrance of all those who lost their lives, but also a tribute to the resilience of America as a country."

Wisconsin's Education System Is One To Be Proud Of

By Rep. Jim Steineke
5th Assembly District

Like parents all across Wisconsin, I'm busy getting ready to send my kids back to school for another year. It's always an exciting but challenging time! During all of the last-minute preparations, it can be easy to forget just how fortunate we are to have such a top-notch education system here in our state.

In two specific areas, high school graduation rates and ACT scores, Wisconsin ranks among the highest in the nation. Our statewide graduation rate is the second highest in the nation at 88 percent, and our students have an average ACT composite score of 22.2, placing the state in second nationally.

Positive statistics like these are the result of the work of devoted educators and support staff who work tirelessly to teach our children and prepare them for their futures.

The State Assembly's top priority this session has been to keep our education system strong, and we relied on the input of teachers and parents in order to pass reforms that offer targeted solutions to various challenges presented. As a result of the constructive feedback legislators received, the most recent state budget included a $200 million increase in per pupil funding; improved school district report cards, added extra funding for our rural schools, and maximized options for students with special needs.

Yet even with these high national rankings and newly passed reforms, there are many areas that need to be addressed in our education system. Wisconsin still needs to create a successful school accountability system; the racial achievement gap is far too high; and there are too many schools that are simply failing our children in the Milwaukee Public System.

These issues, among others, are being reviewed by the Speaker's Task Force on Urban Education. This bipartisan task force is looking at ways to improve Wisconsin's urban school districts and identify tangible solutions to help improve educational outcomes. Task force members will study teacher recruitment and retention, discuss best practices to address truancy, below-average academic performance and low graduation rates, and explore ways to improve access to technology in high poverty urban areas.

Whether a school is in Milwaukee, Kewaskum, or Campbellsport, I know that the goal of all school districts in Wisconsin is to have every child graduate with the knowledge and skills needed to become successful members of society. Assembly Republicans want to partner with our school districts in achieving this goal and continuing the great work already being accomplished. I'm excited to see what the future holds for our children, and I am so proud of our education system and the teachers and support staff who help make Wisconsin one of the best states in the nation for K-12 education.

The News Office will be closed on September 17 & 18.

Kewaskum Gets New Youth Services Librarian

By Anne Trautner

There is a new face running the story times and youth activities at the Kewaskum Public Library.

Krista Mullinnix started as the new youth services librarian/assistant director on Sept. 1.

Mullinnix, who received her master's degree in library science from Indiana University with a specialization in children and young adult services this summer, will be working 30 hours a week at the library.

"I'm most excited about interacting with the kids and getting to know them. Story time is my favorite thing, reading stories to kids, and getting them excited about books," Mullinnix said.

Mullinnix hopes to make an impact with the young people in the community.

"I always liked going to the library. My children's librarian knew me from when I first started going, I got my first library card in 1996. I always had a good connection with her. She was such a good role model for me, and I'm excited to do that," Mullinnix said.

However, Mullinnix had not always planned on being a librarian. She wanted to be a pediatrician.

"I actually was going to go to medical school. I had applied to 16 schools, and then before it was time to make a decision, I decided actually I want to go work with kids," Mullinnix said.

Meanwhile, Mullinnix had spent time volunteer-spend much time with the kids. There is so much more paperwork. I had this romanticized view of what it was. It didn't stack up to reality. I liked my volunteer work better, so I decided to pursue that," Mullinnix said.

Mullinnix is filling a newly created 30-hour position at the library.

"I'm super excited to have her on board. I think we desperately need someone to come in who has a library background and who has new ideas and likes to try new things," Library Director Steev Baker said.

Baker admits he had some misgivings when he interviewed Mullinnix through Skype.

"I went into it and I thought this is probably not going to work. But then I talked to her and I thought, 'She is awesome. I can't pass her up,'" Baker said.

Mullinnix, who holds an undergraduate degree in classical studies from Hanover College in Indiana, is looking forward to working in a small-town library.

"That's kind of what I wanted in a library. I like the community you get with that," she said.

Krista Mullinnix is the new youth services librarian/assistant director at the Kewaskum Public Library. Mullinnix holds a master's degree in library science from Indiana University.

Kewaskum FFA Alumni Sponsors Tractor Raffle

Check it out! The Kewaskum FFA Alumni is sponsoring a Tractor Raffle. Last summer the alumni had the opportunity to purchase a 1948 Farmall C Tractor. With that purchase, the alumni decided to have the tractor restored and conduct a raffle with the proceeds to benefit a future greenhouse at the Kewaskum High School.

During the 2014-2015 school year, the tractor was restored by the Kewaskum High School Ag Mechanics Class under the direction of Mr. Puls. It was a fabulous opportunity for kids without a project of their own to have the tractor to practice and learn on and do in memory of fellow classmates Brent Schultz and Travis Trapp.

You may have seen the tractor on display at many local community events over this past summer. These events included Boltonville Picnic, Breakfast on the Farm, State FFA Convention in Madison, Party on the Pavement, West Bend Elevator Appreciation Day, Port Fish Day, Antique Tractor Show, and the Washington County Fair. If you have not gotten your tickets for the raffle you can purchase them at the following local Kewaskum Businesses: Grand Larson, BP Station, Richard's Kut & Style, Curve In, Gateway Café and Fire Escape in Fillmore.

Ticket prices are $5.00 each or 5 for $20.00. The raffle will be held at Early Farm Days on Sunday, Sept. 13, at noon. Early Farm Days is sponsored by the Kewaskum Historical Society and is held 1202 Parkview Drive, Just off Hwy 28 by the bridge.

This restored 1948 Farmall C tractor will be raffled off by the Kewaskum FFA Alumni this Sunday, Sept. 13, at the Early Farm Days event sponsored by the Kewaskum Historical Society. Students in the ag mechanics class at Kewaskum High School worked hard throughout the past year to restore the tractor. It has been on a tour of community events this summer to show it off and remind everyone to get their tickets.

This 1948 Farmall C tractor was purchased by the Kewaskum FFA Alumni last year. It has come a long way from this photo when it was first brought to Kewaskum High School for the ag mechanics class to restore. The students did a great job and the FFA Alumni are excited to raffle it off this weekend at Early Farm Days.

Alumni would like to recognize Reggie Rochwite for the partial donation of the tractor along with the hours and time spent by Mr. Puls and the students that worked on the tractor.

Honor Flight For Two Friends

By Anne Trautner

Ronald L. Hanson and Calvin W. Ebersold have been friends for as long as they can remember.

When they were ages 18 and 19, they enlisted in the Army on Feb. 10, 1953. They then went through basic training together at Fort Campbell in Kentucky.

From there, they were split up as they received different military assignments, but they both went on to serve in the Korean War.

Now, at ages 81 and 82, the two local veterans are preparing to go together on the Stars and Stripes Honor Flight to Washington, D.C., on Sept. 12.

Serving In Korea

Hanson, who served in the military police, saw a lot of dead bodies while in Korea.

"Every time anyone got shot, they called the MPs in," Hanson said. "We were the ones taking care of them, and you get rid of the dead ones."

Most of the calls Hanson responded to were for Korean civilians who had been shot by guards.

"They'd shoot them, and we had to go and get them medical attention or else get rid of them," Hanson said.

Many times the civilians were trying to get in to the military base to get something to eat, Hanson said.

"You feel sorry for them. They didn't have nothing, you know? They lived in little tin shacks, whatever junk they could find. They had to walk miles and miles to find some few pieces of wood so they could cook," Hanson said.

Both Hanson and Ebersold remember the harsh Korean weather.

"I spent the winter there, and it was cold," Ebersold said. "It got down close to 0 degrees, and we lived in tents."

With 12 men in a tent, one man stayed up at night to watch the heater.

"Tents, they burn pretty fast, you know," Ebersold said knowingly.

The men would crawl into mummy bags, which were sleeping bags filled with down, and zip them up over their heads.

"In the morning, your breath would freeze that zipper up, and you had to have somebody get you out of there," Ebersold said.

Ebersold's platoon was stationed halfway up the mountain on a level spot. One day, Ebersold asked why the area was covered with rocks, and found out they were in a cemetery.

"There are people buried there. In Korea, the more land you owned, the higher on the mountain you were buried," Ebersold said.

During the summer, the soldiers dealt with rain.

"I never seen it rain like it did there. It rained straight down, just poured, for three days at a time in the summer. All these Koreans were out there in their rice patties. All their rice seeds were floating away, and they were out there wading around trying to catch them so they had something to plant again," Hanson said.

During the year he was stationed in Korea, Ebersold did have some entertainment.

"The only white woman I saw in six months was Marilyn Monroe. That's pretty good, you know? She came up there to see us in a tank...Monroe's Carriage was written on it. She put on quite a show," Ebersold said.

Ebersold had to walk two miles to see Marilyn Monroe, and he had to sit in the back since the officers were in the front, but he enjoyed the show.

Ebersold and Hanson also have fond memories of the food they were served in Korea.

"That is the one thing they did, the food was very good in Korea," Ebersold said. "They had beer. They would allow you a case a week."

However, any weight the soldiers gained from the food in Korea they lost on the 19-day ship ride back to the United States.

"They could've made me a sailor instead, they could've. There were lots of seasick people. It was miserable. I never got seasick, but I think I lost about 10 pounds because you can't eat. You have to stand up to eat because the tables are made that way. You get up there and start to eat, and the guy across the table from you starts puking. That's it for eating, you know," said

Calvin W. Ebersold and Ronald L. Hanson stand beside each other with the Korean War veterans flag. The two friends enlisted in the Army together on Feb. 10, 1953. Although they were in Korea at different times, they both served in the Korean War. Now they are preparing to go on the Stars and Stripes Honor Flight to Washington, D.C., on Sept. 12.

Ebersold, who was on the boat with about 1,900 other soldiers.

Returning Home

Today, nearly 60 years later, both Hanson and Ebersold still remember what time they came under the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco.

On July 24, 1956, three years after leaving the United States, Hanson arrived back in San Francisco. He remembers going under the Golden Gate Bridge at 10 a.m.

"I got up at 4 a.m. to go under the Golden Gate bridge. I wanted to see that," Ebersold said.

No crowds greeted either man when they returned home. There were no parades or fanfare.

They went living their lives, unheralded, Hanson working in manufacturing at the Gehl Company in West Bend, for 31 years, and Ebersold working at Honeck Chevrolet in Kewaskum for 30 years.

Stars And Stripes

On Saturday, Sept. 12, through the Stars and Stripes Honor Flight, Hanson and Ebersold will receive recognition for the time they served.

The Honor Flight dates back to 2004, when Earl Morse, a physician assistant and retired Air Force Captain in Ohio, started the volunteer program in an effort to help World War II veterans visit the World War II Memorial.

The program, which is run completely by volunteers, is now open to anyone who has served in the military during World War II or the Korean War. Once in Washington, D.C., police escort veterans to numerous landmarks and memorials, as well as to the Arlington Cemetery.

Neither Hanson nor Ebersold has been to Washington, D.C. before. They are looking forward to seeing the monuments, especially the Korean War monument.

"I want to find my cousin's name on there," Ebersold said.

They also look forward to talking with the other 176 veterans that are going on the flight.

The thing they are most nervous about is getting up in time. They need to be at the Milwaukee airport at 5:45 a.m.

All participants are required to travel with a volunteer "guardian." Ebersold, who now lives in Random Lake, will travel with his grandson, Jacob Weyker. Hanson, a Campbellsport resident, will go with his stepson Jim Buechel.

Although the Korean Conflict is often referred to as the "Forgotten War," the two veterans are grateful that the Honor Flight remembers them.

"There isn't a textbook that can cover what these two men and others have seen. It is important that they are recognized," said Renee Dahman, a family friend of both Hanson and Ebersold.

Ronald L. Hanson and Calvin W. Ebersold pose together in May or June 1953. The two friends enlisted in the Army together on Feb. 10, 1953, and will go together on the Stars and Stripes Honor Flight to Washington, D.C., on Sept. 12.

Community Comes Together To Beautify Kewaskum

By Anne Trautner

Over the past couple of months, park benches, trash bins, a bike rack, planters and hanging baskets of flowers have been springing up along Main Street in Kewaskum.

The embellishments along the village thoroughfare are the products of beautification efforts made by local residents and organizations.

When Highway 28 underwent repairs last year, it got community members thinking about dressing up the Main Street corridor.

"Really, how this project started, there were no funds designated when the Highway 28 project started, for streetscaping," Kewaskum resident Aaron Laatsch said.

So Laatsch, who is on the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce, approached the chamber about starting a beautification project. The chamber then reached out to other community groups to gather funds for the project.

Laatsch formed a committee of a few residents to work on beautification.

"The focus group met a couple of times and communicated via email," Laatsch said. "We tried to sit down with the main street plan while the construction was going on. Our goal was to have a symmetrical look through main street," Laatsch said.

The group focused on upper Main Street, between the Coffee Corner Bistro and the east end of the bridge.

Donations and input came from area service organizations, such as the Kiwanis Club, Modern Woodmen, American Legion and Kewaskum Lions. The village provided support for the project as well, Laatsch said.

"It was nice having a village liaison involved, Stephanie Justmann. She was probably the most critical element. She helped procure bids, picking out the right materials, and putting finishing touches on it to make it all come together," Laatsch said.

The committee began working on the project in January or February of last year, Laatsch said.

"We raised just over $7,000, we were able to purchase benches, some trash bins, a bike rack and we also picked up four hanging baskets and some planters," Laatsch said.

The village's public works department helped place the additions along Main Street and has been watering the hanging baskets on the bridge.

Beautification committee members hope the efforts enhance the entire community.

"I travel Wisconsin a lot, and when I get into a small town like this, when I see the flags on the white poles, and I see the big flowers, that is something I want to be a part of. To me, it enhances community and brings the community together," said Bret Richards of the Kiwanis Club. "Maybe somebody would be less likely to throw a cigarette butt on the ground or a Snickers wrapper, if it looks nice."

"It was a great project, it was fun. I'm glad it turned out. It is a small element of the whole Main Street, but I think it worked," Laatsch said.

The beautification committee would like to put more planters and receptacles out on Main Street.

Any individuals, groups or civic organizations who would like to contribute to the beautification efforts should contact Aaron Laatsch at aaron-laatsch@kewaskumpig.com or (262) 626-1778.

Thull Runs Wild; Indians Keep The Kettle Moraine Trophy

By Judy Harlow

There were plenty of oohs and aahs and lots of applause coming from Kewaskum's side of the bleachers during Friday night's football game between the host Indians and arch rival Campbellsport.

Every time senior running back Brandon Thull touched the ball, there was good reason for those expressions of admiration. Thull carried the ball 15 times for 223 yards and had touchdown runs of 13, 2, 1, 52, 40 and 35 yards, all in the first half, leading the Indians to a convincing 47-8 victory in the annual Kettle Moraine Bowl.

"His breakaway speed at the end of his runs amazes me," KHS coach Jason Piittmann said, also praising Thull's power, his ability to make people miss and to run away from people. "I'm just glad he's on my team."

Kewaskum scored the first six times they had the football, and most of the drives took just five plays to complete.

Campbellsport won the coin toss but decided to defer, and the Indians marched 56 yards in six plays to go ahead 6-0. Thull went the final 13 yards, with a big hole provided by the left side of the line to start the play and Thull's power taking over at the end when he dragged the Campbellsport safety into the end zone with him.

The Cougars, who have just seven seniors this year, struggled to gain any yards against the veteran Indians, who only allowed one first down and zero total yards in the first half.

On their first possession, Campbellsport gained zero yards in two rushes and Austin Narges' pass on third down fell incomplete, forcing a punt that carried to the Kewaskum 35-yard line.

KHS quarterback Michael Prochnow picked up five yards on first down, then hit Steven Nurkala with a medium range pass only to have it called back because of a holding call.

On the very next play, the Indians crossed Campbellsport up with a screen pass from Prochnow to fullback Berat Elmazi, who rumbled 51 yards to the Campbellsport 51 19 before being tackled.

Three plays later, it was Thull going between left guard and tackle for two yards and his second TD. The Indians went for the 2-point conversion, calling on Thull, and he crashed into the end zone for a 14-0 lead.

Once again, it was three-and-out for the Cougars, and on fourth down, punter Connor Kissinger started to run, then pulled up to punt, and the ball never got more than a couple feet off the ground, rolling just six yards to the CHS 42.

Seven plays later, Thull got the final yard for his third TD. This drive was highlighted by a 19-yard pass to Nurkala who was wide open and tackled at the one.

Down 21-0, the Cougars went to the air after taking the kickoff back to the CHS 34. It looked like Narges' pass was going to pick up some big yardage but Josh Baker, in tight coverage, grabbed the ball away from the CHS receiver, putting the Indians in business at the KHS 38.

After Prochnow was called for grounding, Baker caught a short pass, and then Thull got the call and responded with a burst up the middle that concluded in the end zone 52 yards away.

All this action came in the first quarter, and more excitement was to come. Thull ended a four-play drive with a 40-yard run and finished off his night with a 35-yard scamper with 4:11 to go before half.

Most of the time it was Dalton Espitia and Adam Fechter at left guard and tackle, although Ben Watzig started in the line and also was responsible for some of Thull's yardage. Because he is so important to the defense, "We wanted to limit Ben's snaps tonight," Piittmann said.

When it was suggested Thull might want to take this trio out for steak dinners, Piittmann said, "and then some." Piittmann also stated "Elmazi had some nice blocks in those drives."

The second half started with a running clock, but Campbellsport scored on its second possession when Narges picked up 44 yards on an option run, and on the next play hit Erik Freiberg with a perfect strike for a 33-yard TD pass. Narges ran for the 2-point conversion, putting the score at 40-8.

Piittmann called on his reserves to finish up the game, and he got a nice effort from junior Alex Vogt, the starting halfback on the JV team. Vogt only weighs 140 pounds, but he showed his ruggedness and quickness, totting the ball 17 times for 70 yards and one touchdown with 2:59 remaining.

Campbellsport threatened one more time, using a 42-yard run by Trevor Ramthun and a 13-yard pass reception by Ramthun to reach Kewaskum's 15 yard line. On the next two plays, however, Kewaskum's "D" got tough and pushed the Cougars back to 30 when the game ended.

Piittmann said he was glad to have the week over, noting the first week it is always difficult to keep the players focused, although admitting, "We knew we should handle them," because of the experience factor.

Defensively, the Indians were led by Baker, who had three solos and six team tackles, while reserve and special teams player, Michael Boettcher had four solos and nine team tackles.

While he was pleased with the victory, Piittmann was not happy with some of the untimely penalties. "We've got to clean up some silly stuff," he said. "You can't afford to make those mistakes."

Returning after sitting out the Port Washington game because of his ejection at West Bend East, Charlie Witek caught one pass for 14 yards and a first down but injured his ankle on the play and did not return.

Thull boosted his season rushing total to 558 yards, which is sixth best in the state. He is averaging 186 yard per game, 12.1 yards per carry and currently has 11 touchdowns.

By Judy Harlow

A near sweep in singles helped the Kewaskum High girls tennis team to a convincing 5-2 victory over host Kiel on September 3.

With this win, the Indians improved to 2-1 in the East Central Conference.

"The No. 2 and No. 4 singles picked up their first conference wins," coach Peter Garcia said, beaming about the play of Hunter Garcia and Julie Vollmer, who both won in straight sets. Soccer Team Still Looking For First Win

By Judy Harlow

After holding their own in a pre-season scrimmage against Campbellsport, Kewaskum High soccer coach John Kenworthy felt his team had a legitimate chance of beating the Cougars in East Central league play, but in the September 1 game played at Kewaskum, the Indians simply did not have enough firepower to stay with the visitors.

The final was 4-0, but the game was scoreless until the final 54 seconds of the first half when Sonny Johnson, the Cougar's junior center midfielder, got his first goal.

It was Johnson who also got CHS started on the right foot in the second half, scoring goal number two just 2:46 after the whistle blew.

Vinicius Aganette got into the act at 62:38, and then Johnson hit number three for the "hat trick" at 78:10. On his last goal, Johnson charged in from the left side and lofted the ball over the head of KHS goalie Connor Enright, who had no chance at stopping it.

"We knew Sonny Johnson is a good player," Kenworthy said, adding, Aganette is a foreign exchange student. "We heard he was on a semi-pro team from Brazil," Kenworth said.

Kewaskum got off plenty of shots, especially late in the game when the Indians peppered goalie Seth Tacke with attempts. Freshman Matthew Krautkramer hit the left post with one of two good tries he had. The second was headed for the left corner of the net when Tacke made a diving stop.

Joe Sanborn also came up with a couple late shots on goal, but neither went in.

"We never quit," Kenworthy said to his players afterward, praising them for their efforts. "We had our chances. Joe had shots ... Matt Krautkramer had a couple chances, and Hayden (Koralewski) came up on defense and turned in some nice play for us."

Kewaskum was credited with 22 shots, and Kenworthy said there's a saying in soccer, "if you get nine shots you should have a goal," so he felt his team should have had a pair of them.

And was the 90-degree heat a factor? Perhaps, according to Kenworthy, who said, "We wore out at the end."

On Thursday, the Indians lost another 4-0 decision, this time to Winneconne, which is one of the favorites in the EC race. With the loss, the Indians are 0-3 in the EC and 0-5-1 overall.

"Though they were a little banged up with injuries, they are still a formidable team and should challenge Plymouth and KML for the title," Kenworthy said, reporting Winneconne scored three of its goals in the first seven minutes, mostly from set play situations.

Kenworthy indicated he played Michael Anderson in the nets in the first half and went back to Enright in the second. Kenworthy said Anderson wasn't too blame for the early goals, but with the change, the Indians played much better.

"We played tremendously on defense and in goal. We strung together passes on offense. In so many ways it was our best half of soccer yet. We had looks at shots although only three were taken, but we still were moving the ball and playing better as a team. This for me is a game that could be a turning point. We saw that we could match up with the big boys," the coach said, praising first-year player, Sean Brockman, for his effort on the wing and J.J. Heberer for his work at the defensive mid.

Kenworthy said he can't wait until Thursday (today) to host Ripon. "We are a better team than the one that faced them in the Berlin Tournament."

Indians Have Trouble With Campbellsport's Ace In The Middle

By Judy Harlow

It's taking coach Laine Letitzke a bit longer than expected to get his Kewaskum girls volleyball team to gel, but the second-year coach is still confident the Indians will be winners in the near future.

In their East Central Conference opener played in Kewaskum on September 3, the Indians lost to arch rival Campbellsport, 18-25, 20-25 and 13-25., the team that bounced them out of the regionals a year ago.

"We played much better than we have in the past and are making great strides in being a complete team," Leitzke said but added, "We need to tone down our unforced errors and put more pressure on the opposition."

The game statistics backed up Leitzke's assertions. In the three games, Kewaskum's kill leader was Amanda Schaller with just four kills. Elizabeth Lightner and Hailey Schicker were next with three apiece.

Haley Kleinhans led in assists with nine, and in digs, Ellie Landreville and Lightner finished 1-2 with four and three, respectively.

"Campbellsport's big middle had a big night as we did not execute our defensive game plan," Leitzke said, happy the team has a week before the next conference match so the team can be "more prepared than we were tonight. It'll come!"

Kewaskum hosts new East Central foe Winneconne tonight. There has been a change in start times for volleyball games this season, with the JVS and freshmen playing at the same time, starting at 5:30 p.m., and the varsity matches starting at 6:30.

 In their home opener on September 1, the Indians started slow and couldn't recover, losing to Mayville (6-4) 16-25, 12-25, 25-23 and 20-25.

Perhaps the tough opening week took its toll on the Indians, and, once again, their lack of varsity experience showed, according to Leitzke, who said, "Youth is a big factor on this team. The older players are doing a good job leading. We just need more time to get it all together."

Leitzke went on, "We were a bit slow at the net play, and in scramble plays."

Leading the team in kills were Schicker, Schaller and Lightner with seven, five and four, respectively, while Kleinhans had a team-high 13 digs and Sarah Butschlick chipped in with eight.

Kewaskum had just five aces, three by Butschlick and two by Schaller. Senior Ellie Landreville and Schaller led the team in digs with seven and three, respectively.

Even In A Bigger Field, Krier Is Among The Elite Finishers

By Judy Harlow

The Kewaskum High cross country teams had a little more difficulty in the Kiel Invitational than they had in their opener at Sheboygan Falls, and the reason was simple — there were a lot more teams, and some perennial powers, in the meet held on September 3.

Led by senior Emily Krier, who brought home a medal for taking fifth out of 114 runners, the Lady Indians finished 10th out of 15 teams with 237 points. The girls' race for this event was 4,000 meters, 1,000 shorter than the one at Sheboygan Falls.

Krier covered the 5,000 meter course in a time of 16 minutes, 42.9 seconds (16:42.9), less than a minute out of first place (Sophi Bolich of Plymouth, 15:36.3) and just 10 seconds out of the runner-up spot.

The other Kewaskum counters were Hailey Herriges, who turned in a second-ever varsity cross country run. Haley Plachinski was 59th in 19:11.3 while Ellie Debelak placed 64th in 19:28.8 and Sydney Rosenthal was 110th in 22:35.3.

The boys struggled but had enough runners to count in this meet, taking 13th out of 15 teams with 340 points.

Again, sophomore Justin Reck did a stellar job, running an 18:56.2, which was good for 25th place, and freshman Kyle Toth had a nice run, hitting the finish line in 20:27.7, which was good for 51st place.

The other KHS counters included: Jacob Loehr, 88th, 22:17.8; Anthony Leister, 95th, 22:42.5; and Blake Miller, 99th, 22:50.9. No comments were received by KHS coach Kris Evans in time for the Statesman's deadline.

This Friday, the Indians will be among a large contingent at the annual Mike Hurlburt Invitational at Mayville.

Hartford Leading The Way In WLT Golf

By Judy Harlow

After three Wisconsin Little Ten golf matches, Hartford is still a perfect. The Orioles, who have talent and depth, posted a 181 on the Red Nine at Hon-E-Kor CC in Kewaskum. Counting their low four scores of 42, 46, 46, 47, they nipped Oconomowoc by three shots. In third place was the combined West Bend East and West team with a 191, followed by Watertown, 191; Beaver Dam, and 199.

Kewaskum had three players, led by senior Leah Wilde's 48. Next came freshman Grace Kober, who shot a 65 in her second varsity match, and Taylor Cook carded a 77.

Kendra Swanson of Beaver Dam captured the medal with a solid 4-over-par 40.

On August 31, led by Amy Holzer's 4-over par 40, Hartford dominated with a four-person score of 173. Next came West Bend East/West with 190; Oconomowoc with 192, followed by Watertown's 202; Beaver Dam with a 203.

Kewaskum had another incomplete score but the Indians did have three players for the first time. Senior Leah Wilde tied for sixth overall with a 46, while freshman Grace Kober started her varsity career with a 54, and soph Taylor Cook struggled with her putting and ended up with a 76.

"Leah had another solid round," coach Amy Uhlig said. "(I'm) Hoping she can come in below 45 at our home meet."

About Kober's play, Uhlig said, "Grace's score blew me away. She's made huge strides with her short game, which was crucial for her going into this meet."

Current standings: 1. Hartford, 8 points; 2. West Bend, 8; Oconomowoc, 10; Beaver Dam, 11; Watertown, 12; Kewaskum, 18.

Students take part in the summer running program that was offered this summer. Wayne and Andy Bohlmann volunteered to organize an opportunity for kids to run three times a week during the summer to help prepare students for fall sports.

Golf Outing To Benefit Kewaskum Boys And Girls Club

A Happy Hour Golf Outing to benefit the Boys and Girls Club in Kewaskum will be held on Thursday, Sept. 24 at Hon-E-Kor Country Club in Kewaskum.

Registration will be from 3 to 4 p.m., with tee-off at 4 p.m. The outing will be done by 6:30 p.m. The cost to golf is $25.

Hole sponsorship is available for $25. Companies wishing to do this should provide an electronic logo to lukes@wcbgc.org.

The outing will help provide area youth with impactful programming and a safe, positive environment that allows kids to learn and grow, all while having fun. The Kewaskum Boys and Girls Club boasted an average daily attendance last school year of 85 kids between the morning and afterschool programs, with a total of 246 enrolled members.

This year, the Kewaskum club anticipates serving 95 kids per day. Through donations, a caring, passionate and well-trained staff works with local youth, with the support of the Kewaskum School District and its community members.

"Having the support of the Kewaskum community is something that we have always appreciated, whether that is golfing in our event, being a sponsor, or by simply making a monetary donation. Your contribution will help us keep the Boys and Girls Club a strong presence in the community and will allow us to continue building great futures for the youth of Kewaskum," said Max Roy, Kewaskum unit director.

The Boys and Girls Clubs of Washington County has been in existence since 1998. Over the past 17 years the organization has expanded to include the communities of Hartford, Kewaskum, Jackson and West Bend.

For more information about the golf outing or to make a donation, contact Max Roy at maxr@wcbgc.org or (262) 334-3732, option 3.

Krueger Turns Back Otto In HEK Finals

By Judy Harlow

Bolstered by a 1-over-par 71 on the Red and Blue Nines, Jay Krueger claimed the 2,015 Men's Club Championship at Hon-E-Kor Country Club on September 6, winning 7-and-6 over Kewaskum High School senior Andrew Otto.

"I was hitting the ball well," Krueger said Monday, between number two and three Red while laboring away on yet another round of golf. He reported he shot 36 on the Red Nine and 35 on the Blue before ending the match on White number 12.

Krueger said Otto started well enough. The match was tied after number eight, and "He kind of gave me number nine when he hooked his drive" and ended up with a double bogey.

The two men made the turn to Blue, and this is when Krueger surged into a comfortable lead, taking Nos. 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7 and 8. "Match play is a game of momentum. He was kind of pressing (to get it) and struggled," Krueger, a teacher and the golf coach at West Bend East, said.

Down 8 with 10 holes to play, Otto tried to battle back and did get one back at No. 11 where he made a birdie and Krueger's birdie try rimmed out. The match ended on the next hole.

Krueger was very complimentary of Otto's game and the way he conducted himself. "I was very impressed with him as a high school senior ... I've watched a lot of high school golfers, and he is one of the classiest I've seen or played with."

"I think I played pretty poorly ... decent on the front (Red), but on the back pretty bad," Otto said Monday. He did have two birdies, on No. Red No. 2 and White No. 11.

When asked if he was nervous," Otto said. Not really, actually." And does he think the experience will help him in the future? "It was a great experience I'm going to be able to take into the next golf season," he said.

This is Krueger's second title at Hon-E-Kor. "I joined here in 2000. I won it my first year (a 2-and-1 decision over Craig Anderson). It's been 14 years in between," he said, indicating he does plan on playing in the Kettle Moraine Amateur, which is coming up on Saturday and Sunday, September 19-20.

"I'll be here," Krueger said of the event, which is a 36-hole medal play event in flights. Otto, who once played high school football and baseball but now concentrates solely on golf, also plans to compete in the tournament.

Applications are currently available in the pro shop.

Dan Gibbon won the First Flight, topping Mike Voleksy 9-and-8, while Tom Kakubyczk defeated Rick Averill (no score available) to win the Second Flight and Pat Kent took honors in the Third Flight, nipping Manny Alvarado, 3-and-2.

Archery Deer Season Is Perfect Time To Brush Up On Tree Stand And Harness Safety

Wisconsin's archery and crossbow deer season opens Saturday, Sept. 12, and that means it's time to review how to stay safe in your tree stand.

Tree stands can greatly enhance a deer hunter's chances of harvesting a deer, but DNR hunter education administrator-warden Jon King says stand-related incidents also are one of the leading causes of injury to hunters.

"A few minutes reviewing these easy-to-apply safety maneuvers can prevent a fall that could bring a fast end to any outdoor fun this fall," King says. "The first simple safety tip is to always wear your harness."

Here are the rest of Warden King's tree stand safety tips:

Always wear a full-body harness when in a tree stand, as well as when climbing into or out of a tree stand. Tree stand harnesses have an expiration date and should be replaced upon that date or if a fall occurs.

Always maintain three-points-of-contact while climbing into and out of the tree stand, either two hands and one foot or two feet and one hand, at all times. "Most falls happen when climbing in and out of the tree stand," said King. "Consider using a lifeline or another similar product to prevent a fall at this point."

Always use a haul line to raise and to lower your unloaded firearm or bow.

Attach an additional foot strap to the body harness — this will relieve pressure on your upper legs and help to avoid suspension trauma.

More information, including how to take a free tree stand safety course, can be found by searching the DNR website, dnr.wi.gov, for "tree stand safety."

2015 Wisconsin Fall Hunting And Trapping Forecast Now Available

Many fall hunting and trapping seasons are just around the corner, and this year's Wisconsin Fall Hunting and Trapping Forecast is now available. Highlights for fall 2015 include electronic registration and updates to the FFLIGHT program — it has never been easier to find a place to hunt in Wisconsin.

"Whether you're hunting game or fowl, this year's forecast is a must read as you prepare to head out into the woods," said Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources Secretary Cathy Stepp. "Here at DNR, we are very passionate about our resources. The forecast is a great example of our efforts in making sure everyone in the field has a safe and successful experience."

To view this year's hunting and trapping forecast, visit dnr.wi.gov and search keyword "forecast."

Those in search of public hunting and trapping grounds are reminded to check out the department's Public Access Lands atlas. The atlas includes all DNR properties, as well as nearly all federal and county-owned lands. You can download and print these maps free of charge from your home computer. For more information, search keyword "atlas."

A Conservation Patron license provides all the basic fishing and hunting privileges at a great price — $165 for Wisconsin residents, a price reduction of nearly one-half when compared to the value for each item included. For Wisconsin residents under the age of 18, a Conservation Patron license costs only $75.

Hunting and fishing licenses can be purchased through the Online Licensing Center on the DNR website, at all authorized license agents, and at DNR Service Centers (Hours for service centers vary; check the DNR website for service center days and hours of operation; DNR Service Centers are not open on Saturdays).

DNR Customer Service staff is available to assist the public online and via phone from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., seven days a week. Spanish and Hmong bilingual customer service representatives are also available. Customers may reach customer service at 1-888-WDNR INFO (1-888-936-7463) or by e-mail at csw@dnr.wisconsin.gov.

September 12 Marks Opening Of Archery And Crossbow Deer Hunting Seasons

With fall right around the corner, September 12 marks the opening of the 2015 archery and crossbow deer hunting seasons. These seasons will run concurrently statewide, from September 12 to January 3, 2016.

"We're expecting a good year in the field," said Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources big game ecologist Kevin Wallenfang. "I've heard quite a few reports of does with triplets in the farmland areas, and many northern folks I've talked to say their deer sightings have increased compared to the past few years."

In its second year, the crossbow season will continue to provide an additional hunting opportunity for many hunters throughout Wisconsin. Those interested in using both a conventional bow and crossbow may do so by paying full price for one of the licenses and purchasing a $3 upgrade for the second license. Hunters will use the same buck tag and antlerless tags issued with their first license of choice.

Archery and crossbow deer hunters will again be allowed to hunt during the regular nine-day gun deer hunt in November, and will have the opportunity to fill a gun deer license tag using crossbow or archery equipment.

According to Wallenfang, deer numbers vary significantly both locally and across the state. A mild winter in 2014-2015 seems to have boded well for fawn recruitment, and antler development appears to be very good in most areas. Hunters in 12 predominantly forested counties will see buck-only hunting again this year as part of continued efforts to rebuild the deer herd in these areas.

For a look at the statewide outlook for hunting of all types in Wisconsin this fall, check out this year's fall forecast (keyword "forecast").

During any open gun deer seasons, archery and crossbow hunters are required to follow the same blaze orange clothing regulations as gun hunters. All deer hunters are reminded to be especially careful when climbing into and out of deer stands - state recreational safety specialists say statistics show this is when most injuries occur.

All harvested deer will be registered electronically in 2015. Hunters will have three options for registering their deer: by phone at 1-844-426-3734 (1-844-GAME-REG), online at gamereg.wi.gov, or electronically at a participating in-person registration station (keyword "registration stations"). A link to the electronic registration system will also be available through the Pocket Ranger app for mobile devices.

Electronic registration is simple, fast and convenient for hunters. The registration system will prompt hunters to answer a series of questions and generate a 10-digit confirmation number, which must be written on the carcass tag attached to the harvested animal. Hunters are reminded to carry a pen or pencil with them to write the 10-digit number on their tag. When this registration number is written on the tag, the animal is considered legally registered.

All deer must be registered by 5 p.m. the day after the deer is recovered. Hunters must retain the tag with confirmation number as proof of registration until the deer has been consumed.

For more information regarding electronic registration, search keywords "electronic registration."

Deer hunters are encouraged to check out the frequently asked questions page for more information regarding several rule changes for 2015. The FAQ feature provides brief responses to a wide variety of deer hunting questions, ranging from deer management unit boundaries to antlerless permits. To view the FAQ page and more information regarding archery and crossbow deer hunting, search keyword "deer."

To receive email updates regarding deer hunting in Wisconsin, visit dnr.wi.gov and click on the email icon near the bottom of the page titled "subscribe for updates for DNR topics," then follow the prompts and select the "white-tailed deer" distribution list.

Brad Mueller of Random Lake, number 89, won the feature Sunday, Sept. 6, at Slinger Speedway. Steve Apel, number 51, of West Bend won the season championship.

Sargent's five children, ages 21-40, are all Packers fans, but they have had to adjust to their dad's fanaticism.

"They think he's a little wacky to start with," Dodie Sargent said. "When he first started wearing the jersey with the patches, back then he was wearing the yellow Spandex. My kids that were in college at the time were embarrassed by that."

"Please, don't let Dad wear the pants," the kids would beg.

Sargent eventually transitioned from the spandex to wearing the gold jeans he wears today.

"Dodie makes them out of white Levis. She dyes them Packer gold because you can't buy them. Now I have the complete game-day attire," Sargent said.

Going to a game with Sargent is an experience, Dodie Sargent said.

"Game day with me isn't normal, by any means. It is a hectic day," Sargent admitted.

"It used to be that we would set up outside our vehicle and have a tailgate grill, meet with friends and have a good time. Now, we drive up, we get out, and we are probably stopped a hundred times between the car and the stadium, just to take pictures and talk with people," Dodie Sargent said.

So the Sargents now go to a designated tailgate spot to meet up with other Fanatics.

"Other people come to us now. It just makes life so much easier. And the press know that is where we are at, so they'll come and they'll interview us," Sargent said. "You don't have a lot of time to yourself really until the game starts."

Sargent relishes the attention.

"I love people, and that's a big part of the whole thing, and I don't mind taking pictures with the fans and talking with them. It's very humbling sometimes. You get people coming up to you and they are shaking and they are crying, asking to have your picture," Sargent said.

Becoming the Ultimate Packer Fan
Sargent's official reign

as the Ultimate Packer Fan started eight years ago when he won the first contest put on by the Packer Partner Club of Champions, a Packers-based fan club.

Shortly after winning the contest, Sargent was asked to appear in an NFL commercial.

"I went to the casting and did the commercial, and people started calling me Ultimate," Sargent said.

Sargent had a custom jersey made, and his wife, Dodie Sargent, put a couple patches on it. People from around the world soon started sending Sargent patches for his jersey. The shirt now has some 50 patches on it.

Sargent is one of 140 super fans from across the country who belong to the Professional Ultimate Fans Association.

"It's a very difficult organization to become part of," Sargent said.

The elite club of superfans focuses on sportsmanship and raising money for charities.

Sargent started the Ultimate Packer Fan Connection, which over the years has featured appearances in Lambeau Field by Packers players Ahman Green, Dave Robinson, Eddie Lacy, DuJuan Harris and Chris Jacke, as well as Vince Lombardi's daughter. The organization has raised money for the Make-A-Wish Foundation, the Kiwanis organization for children with autism and for children with leukemia.

In addition, Sargent is involved in numerous local charities in the area. He is on the board for Jam for Kids, Inc., and belongs to the Kiwanis Club of Kewaskum. He also raises money for the Hunger Task Force and Hometown Heroes. Sargent does not make any money from any of his charity work.

Becoming the Ultimate Packer Fan is not an easy thing to do, Sargent said.

"It takes a long time to become the Ultimate Packer Fan," he said. "The biggest problem is my guard is always up because there is always someone videotaping me." But the title has its perks.

"Just because I wear this goofy jersey, I've gotten to meet all these people. It's fun," Sargent said.

Sargent, who has an extensive Packer collection, knows most of the Packers players and people in management. They get together regularly and visit each other in their homes.

"At first you're star-struck because here's all these guys on TV, and you see them on commercials and on games, but now after meeting so many of them, they are normal people," Dodie Sargent said. "I never would have thought that someday Chris Jacke will be sitting right here. Even some of the older players will tell stories about their time with Vince Lombardi, it is so interesting. I could sit for hours and listen to that."

Likewise, the players look up to the ultimate fans.

"They really do appreciate having the fans. The current players now, we are admired by them. When we go to training camp, they come up to us. It's pretty cool," Sargent said.

Johnsonville Ambassador

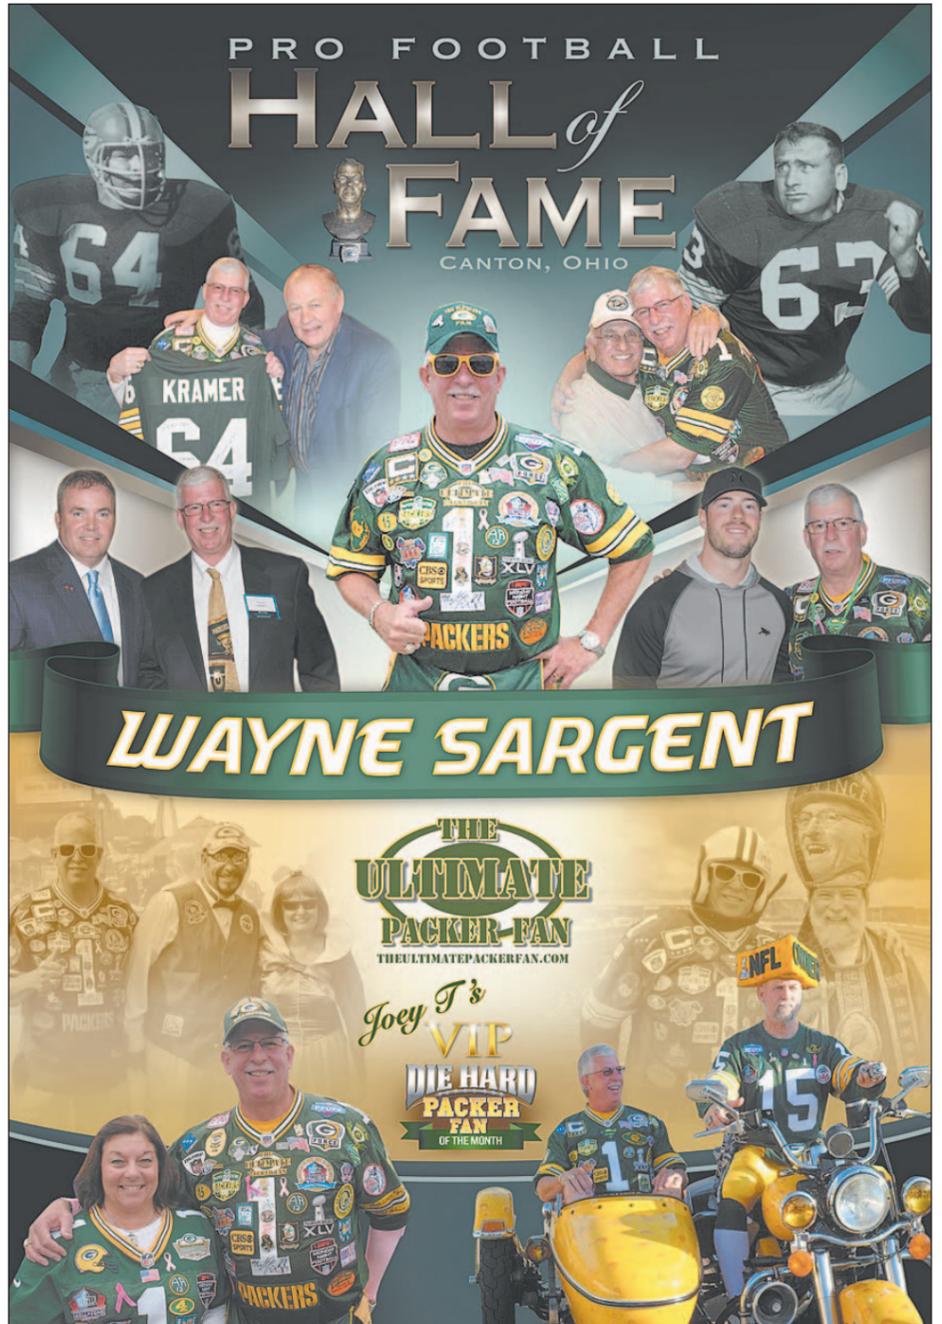

Sargent hopes that his stint on Sunday in the Mike and Mike show goes more smoothly than when he appeared on the Rachael Ray Show for the NFL Food Experience earlier this year.

Sargent, who has been dubbed the Johnsonville Ambassador, represented Green Bay as he cooked Johnsonville brats and competed against Colts, Patriots and Seahawks fans.

Before going to New York City to appear in the show, Sargent had to get NFL approval to wear his Ultimate Packer Fan jersey. He went through all the correct channels and received the OK.

Sargent flew to New York City and checked into his hotel room, feeling all set.

"I get up the next morning at 5 a.m., and I'm going to go to Good Morning America, so I went to put on my game-

Wayne Sargent, also known as the Ultimate Packer Fan, is spotlighted in a collage he received from Die Hard Packer Fan Club for being named Die Hard Packer Fan of the Month for September. Sargent, who is proud of the accomplishment, is impressed with the artwork on the collage.

day gear, and I realize I had forgotten my jersey at home. So here I am, going on Raechel Ray and I don't have my jersey. I'm just beside myself," Sargent said.

Sargent called a friend, who got the jersey and drove it to the Milwaukee airport.

"There was only one flight that would have made it on time. We had to go through common freight. I went down there, and there was a woman there that was bawling her eyes out because she lost her dog in a divorce, and by the time the woman got away, the computer had clicked off, and they couldn't send my jersey,"

Sargent said. "I freaked out. I mean, what am I supposed to do?"

Sargent ended up going to a store and purchasing an Aaron Rodgers jersey.

"That's why I'm wearing the number 12 on the Rachael Ray Show," Sargent said.
