Missoula Children's Theatre Brings "Aladdin" To Kewaskum

By Anne Trautner

When they tried out for parts last Monday, none of the area youth in kindergarten through 12th grade had seen the script for "Aladdin."

Two days later, they had their parts memorized, and on Saturday the young actors performed the show.

"It always amazing me," said Larry Ammel, a member of the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club who has been coordinating the Missoula Children's Theater production in Kewaskum for the past nine years.

So, how does the Missoula Children's Theater staff of two teach 60 students how to perform a show in one week? "We are really good," joked Jas Spencer, who led the Kewaskum's production with his coworker Thomson Jaffe.

"It really helps when you have a really good person in the community who can really get the kids interested, get them inspired to come in. And when you find kids that really do want to do this, it makes it so much fun. It makes it really easy to teach in a week when you are with kids that have that passion and have that energy and willingness to learn," Spencer said.

"It also helps that we have memorized the show," Jaffe said.

To learn their parts, the student actors used a lot of rote memorization.

"There is a lot of follow the leader, say what I say," Ammel said. "The kids who have scripts, they have to go home and study those."

Brianna Taylor, 15, said she worked hard to memorize her 40 lines.

"I've been going over them in all my free time I have after my classes," Brianna, who is a sophomore at Kewaskum High School, said last Thursday.

Brianna's first experience with theater was when she played the part of a chameleon in "Robinson Crusoe" nine years ago when Missoula Children's Theater came to Kewaskum for the first time.

"That is how my best friend and I met," said Brianna, who has since participated in middle school and high school theater programs.

Students came from across the Kewaskum and West Bend area to take part in the show.

However, not all of the students who tried out for parts were cast in the show. Only 60 students could get parts, and another four became assistant directors. There were 14 students who were cut.

"It was hard to see them, especially the little ones," Ammel said. "We all have to go through that."

But it was worth trying out for those who made it.

"They love it," said Karen Kreuser, whose daughters 7-year-old Annika and 10-year-old Calla were in the play.

Traveling Show

Spencer, who is from Northfield, Vt., and Jaffe, who is from Cohasset, Mass., did not know each other until two weeks ago.

They were assigned to travel together to bring the show "Aladdin" to communities across the country from now through May.

"There are currently 34 teams on the road like us, so 68 tour team actors," Jaffe said.

In May, that number will grow to be about 50 teams.

To bring the show to each community, Spencer and Jaffe pack up the sets, props, costumes and lights into the back of a red Ford F-150.

"The company has been doing this for 45 years, so they have their act together," Jaffe said, ignoring her pun. "They know how to make shows that fold up easily and fit in a truck."

Legislators Propose Bill To Allow Guns In Schools

— Individual School Boards Would Decide If Local Schools Allow Concealed Weapons

By Anne Trautner

People with concealed weapons permits could carry guns on school grounds in Wisconsin under a bill that was circulated last Wednesday, Jan. 13, by Sen. Mary Lazich (R-New Berlin), Rep. Rob Brooks (R-Saukville) and Rep. Jesse Kremer (R-Kewaskum). "This bill is not a mandate to the schools that they have to allow concealed carry. But it gets rid of the state limit that law-abiding concealed-carry holders could not carry on school grounds or campuses," Kremer said.

If the bill passes, it will be up to individual school districts to determine whether or not they allow the guns in their schools. If a district decides to bar weapons from its school buildings, it would have to post signs at each entrance that guns were not permitted.

"Unless the schools in the area say no, absolutely not, we don't want it, then it will be perfectly legal for a concealed permit holder to walk into a school to drop off a kid or to pick up their kid. Right now it is a felony to walk in the school with one, even if you are a law-abiding holder," Kremer said.

"It is a bad idea," Kewaskum School Superintendent James Smasal said. "We, in this area, not only Kewaskum, but in Washington County, have not, fortunately, seen this situation arise. Without there being an issue, one has to ask oneself: Why try to fix the wheel if it's not broke? Therefore, if they would choose to do something like this, I think our stance would be very simply to not allow that to happen because we don't have a problem right now. So why change the way it is now?"

December Brought Savings To Town Of Kewaskum

By Anne Trautner

December's mild weather helped the Town of Kewaskum save money for this year's budget.

The Town of Kewaskum has $60,991 of unspent money, most of which it saved because it did not use money budgeted for last month's plowing and heating bills.

Also contributing to the town's reserves is the fact that the town board did not use about $14,000 it had budgeted for construction expenses.

"We are on very sound financial footing," Town

Treasurer Daniel Stoffel said.

Next month, the town board will discuss incorporating the savings into this year's budget for road projects.

"I think we will put an agenda item on next month, what you want to do with that $60,000 item," Stoffel told the town board Monday night. "That way when you start to look at road work, you will know what your realistic budget is for next year. Obviously, it potentially could be bigger than what the budget predicted it would be in November."

Presentation On Marker Trees

The Rock River Archaeological Society will host Don Gehrke for their February program. His topic is "Marker Trees."

What did these trees communicate to people as they passed by them? Don has spent much time around the Horicon Marsh area and on the Rock River. He was intrigued by certain older trees that stood out from other trees because of their shape and location.

The third removal of the Native Americans from the Horicon area happened in 1880. Some of the marker trees are over 200 years old that are still around the Horicon Marsh. One tree is located in the City of Horicon.

The Native Americans understood tree-talk. They understood what the tree is about and the placement. Marks were left by the surveyors and the early pioneers on trees in this area. Even people today plant trees in their yards in honor of a family member that has passed on.

Don has found more information through reading books about marker trees. He has also learned from land owners that have marker trees on their property.

Don will have pictures of local marker trees and share information about them. This presentation is free and open to the public.

Please join the Rock River Archaeological Society on Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 7 p.m. at the Horicon Marsh Education and Visitor Center. Please enter through the lower level door near the auditorium for Don's presentation. The education center is located at N7725 Highway 28 between Mayville and Horicon.

Jos. Kern, Jr. of the Town of Wayne last week Saturday, while hunting about two miles south of St. Kilian found a trail of some wild animal which puzzled him, following it up it led to a hole where Mr. Kern set traps two days before. After looking at the traps, he found the animal caught and to pull it out was impossible. Not knowing what the capture was, he went to his home for an ax to dig the hold open. After digging two hours, he finally reached the animal and to his surprise seen it was a badger being almost as large as a dog. After shooting the animal several times he was able to extricate it from the hole. The badger weighed 26 pounds and measured from tip of tail to snute 41 inches. His fur was so thick that one could hardly find the skin. It was thought the animal was well advanced in age. This is the first badger caught in this vicinity.

HEALTH TIP*CAFFEINE MAY REDUCE ED RISK

Consuming caffeine may help maintain healthy blood flow and sexual function, according to new research. The new study looked at data on 3,700 men and found that those who drank moderate amounts of caffeine (the amount in 2-3 cups of coffee a day) were 40% less likely to have erectile dysfunction (ED) than men who drank little or none. Findings held even when they factored in weight, activity and alcohol, but not for those with diabetes. The authors think that caffeine may help reduce impotence by relaxing certain arteries and muscles, thus improving blood flow. This study does not prove cause-and-effect, only an association.

Continued From... Legislators Propose Bill To Allow Guns In Schools

- Individual School Boards Would Decide If Local Schools Allow Concealed Weapons

In the event of a shooter, Kewaskum Schools currently train administrators, teachers and staff to use "ALICE": Alert, Lockdown, Inform, Counter and Evacuate. The ALICE program teaches individuals to participate in their own survival, while leading others to safety, Smasal said.

Currently, one officer from the Village of Kewaskum goes into Kewaskum Elementary, Kewaskum Middle and Kewaskum High schools. A deputy from the Washington County Sheriff's Office goes into the i4Learning Community School and Farmington Elementary School on a daily basis, Smasal said.

The situation is different for private schools in the area, said Kremer, whose children attend Good Shepherd Lutheran School in West Bend.

"Obviously, the parochial schools don't have resource officers in them right now," Kremer said. "The danger is there, and right now [terrorists] have an invitation. Hopefully we will put this out there, and it will make people think twice."

"I talked to a teacher at Shepherd Lutheran right after I got elected, and she is worried about this. She's a concealed carry holder herself, and she worries about her kids, who attend Kettle Moraine Lutheran. Anyone can get in there, too, and cause a whole lot of trouble before any police show up," Kremer said.

In 1990, President George H.W. Bush signed the Gun Free School Zone Act, which put up gun limits around schools and on campuses.

"This bill will bring Wisconsin in line with the spirit of the federal Gun-Free School Zones Act by allowing concealed carry permit holders the ability to carry their legally permitted weapon onto the grounds of a school," Kremer said.

According to the Law Center to Prevent Gun Violence, 39 states and the District of Columbia prohibit concealed weapons permit or license holders from possessing concealed firearms in primary or secondary schools, within school zones, or on school-provided transportation.

In order for the bill to go into effect, the Senate would have to approve it and send it on to the Assembly. It might then be referred to the Committee on Criminal Justice and Public Safety, for which Kremer is vice chair.

Then the bill would need to be passed by the Assembly and signed by the governor. Both houses are expected to wrap up their work for the year by March.

In October, Kremer co-sponsored a bill that would have allowed people who are licensed to carry a concealed weapon to bring guns into university and college buildings. That bill has not passed, but Kremer plans to roll that out again after the next election.

Kremer started talking about allowing licensed gun holders to have weapons in K-12 schools when he ran for office.

However, Kremer said he and Brooks were not planning on rolling out this bill until next year, after the next election.

Lazich wanted to introduce the bill now because the New Berlin School Board had requested it, Kremer said.

"Doing something like this just before an election isn't necessarily good for your career because it could hurt you in the long run," Kremer said. "But we are sitting on this bill now. If something were to happen in one of our schools and we didn't pass this.... How could we sleep at night if we have this sitting in our laps and we didn't even try to do it?"

There are some guidelines Kremer would like in place if guns are allowed in schools.

"I believe that a school administrator or principal should know if there are teachers in the school carrying, and which teachers they are," Kremer said. "And the police would have to know."

Students, however, should not know who is carrying a weapon, Kremer said.

Kremer, who is a pilot, looks at how airlines handled weapons after Sept. 11 as a model.

"As the airline captain, I knew exactly who was carrying in the back of that plane, what different agencies were back there. We actually had to pre-board them, and had to know where they all were sitting before we loaded the passengers up," Kremer said. "I would hope that the schools would do something similar where they know who was carrying at that school."

School officials should know which parents might potentially be carrying weapons in the building, Kremer said.

"Our job as pilots is to protect the cockpit. Pre-September 11, we did whatever the hijackers wanted because it was all for ransoms and kidnappings. Post-September 11, it was to secure that cockpit," Kremer said.

Likewise, a teacher's job is to secure the classroom, Kremer said.

"They are not going to be running down the hall chasing this guy down. That is not what concealed-carry holders try to do. Their job is to huddle in the classroom with the kids just like they do now, but if someone reaches that door, they will hopefully be able to defend their class because right now they can't," Kremer said.

Kremer hopes this bill will be a deterrent for terrorists.

"I worry. I could see a terrorist group going after a school. It's a soft target. They could wipe the entire school out before the police ever show up," Kremer said. "My goal with this bill is to give our schools the tools to protect our kids and those who watch over them."

Veteran Mentors On Call For Contestants In 2016 Wisconsin Governor's Biz Plan Contest

Experienced mentors from across Wisconsin will be available to offer advice to contestants during the 13th annual Wisconsin Governor's Business Plan Contest.

Initial entries of 250 words are due by 5 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 31, 2016. There is no cost to enter. Visit www.govsbizplancontest.com for more information and to get started.

At any point during the competition, contestants may submit their questions to veteran business mentors who have volunteered their time and expertise to assist entrepreneurs who enter by January 31. Mentors will respond directly to contestants to offer one-on-one consultation.

This year's group of volunteers includes representatives from SCORE Wisconsin and the Center for Technology Commercialization, which has federal, state and university ties.

SCORE offers free business consulting, business mentoring and business resources, plus low-cost business trainings. The CTC provides support and resources as companies bring their innovations to market, particularly with applications for grants from the federal Small Business Innovation Research/Small Business Technology Transfer programs.

As another resource, SCORE will offer access to a number of fee-based training classes around the state to all 2016 contestants at no charge.

In addition to access to mentors, contestants will receive feedback from more than 85 judges as the contest progresses.

Since its inception in 2004, more than 3,100 entries have been received and about $2 million in cash and in-kind services have been awarded. Contest categories are advanced manufacturing, business services, information technology and life sciences. Past finalists have launched companies that have raised $200 million in angel, venture, grants and venture debt over time – all while creating jobs and economic value for Wisconsin.

Produced by the Wisconsin Technology Council, the contest's major sponsor is the Wisconsin Economic Development Corp. Additional sponsors to date include Aberdean; American Family Insurance; American Transmission Co.; AT&T; Madison Gas & Electric; PowerBuy 4 You; Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren; SCORE Wisconsin; Smith & Gesteland; UW-Madison Office of Corporate Relations; and Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation. To enter, become a judge or a sponsor, visit www.govsbizplancontest.com.

Town Of Farmington Approves New Appraiser Contract

By Anne Trautner

After several months of getting quotes from appraisers, the Town of Farmington board approved a three-year contract with Grota Appraisals, LLC, on Tuesday, Jan. 12.

In November, the town board had agreed to sign a four-year contract with Accurate Appraisal, LLC.

However, board members then found out that it is against state statute to have a contract with an appraisal firm for longer than three years.

So the town board consulted with the town's attorney, Ian Prust of O'Meara Law Firm, who advised board members that their agreement with Accurate Appraisal was invalid.

Associated Appraisal Consultants, Inc., also offered a four-year contract at the November town board meeting.

Sandpiper Raises Money For Kids

— Ice Golfing Benefit On Lake Bernice

The ninth annual Ice Golfing Benefit will be held at the Sandpiper Inn on Lake Bernice on Saturday, Jan. 30th. Tee times will run from 10 a.m.-3:30 p.m., with the Sandpiper opening at 9 a.m.

In the first four years, the event raised money for prostate cancer awareness. Jeff Limbach, owner of the Sandpiper Inn, is a prostate cancer survivor. He will be 10 years cancer free this coming July. The money raised at these events went to local newspaper and radio ads for prostate cancer awareness. Jeff has said many people have thanked him for helping them catch cancer at an early state because of seeing his ads.

The following two years of the event proceeds went to the Kewaskum and Campbellsport food pantries. People who golfed brought in non-perishable food items for a free beverage the day of the event. More than $5,000 was raised at the events for the food pantries.

The seventh year of the event, Jim Freiburg, ex-president of the Campbellsport Athletic Association, mentioned to Jeff that the athletic programs for kids needed money for all the different events. Jeff decided to give most of the money raised to the C.A.A. and some the Campbellsport Wildcat Football League.

Last year's event raised $6,200 and Jeff decided to include the Kewaskum Gridiron. They received a check for $2,500. The rest of the money was split between the C.A.A., the Wildcat Football League, and other charities throughout the year.

This year, the event will be on Saturday, Jan. 30. For tee times, call Jeff at the Sandpiper Inn at 920-533-4471.

It is Jeff's goal this year to raise $10,000. Many local businesses have donated door prizes, raffle prizes or cash. Jeff Jaeger with Modern Woodman has donated $2,500 in matching funds.

It is $15 to golf the course, which includes lunch (brats, burgers chili, potato salads). Most people win door prizes and everyone has fun.

Thomson Jaffe of the Missoula Children's Theatre leads an "Aladdin" rehearsal in Kewaskum High School last Thursday. The musical featured 60 local young actors, who learned their parts in one week before performing the show for about 350 people last Saturday.

Also packed away in the truck are about 80 kids' costumes that are sized to fit most.

"But we only use 60, which is a lot of laundry," said Jaffe, who has been traveling with Missoula Theater for the past year.

"We take Aladdin with us wherever we go," said Spencer, who has been traveling for the theater company since last May.

When they travel, the teams of actors stay at different places. Sometimes they stay in hotels, sometimes in homes. But mostly, they live out of their truck, Spencer said.

The Missoula Theater Company is based out of Missoula, Mont., and employs actors from across the country.

"The home office has shows based on classic fairy tales and stories. Missoula has their own adaptation of them, and every season they rotate in and out, so old shows will come again, new shows get packed away again," Spencer said.

The theater company's musical production of "Aladdin" is not the Disney version.

"At the end of the day, it's about just being yourself," Jaffe said.

"With some funny twists and turns along the way," Spencer said.

Snowboarders practice their jumps at the terrain park located at Sunburst in Kewaskum.

Washington County Voters To Use New Voting Machine

By Anne Trautner

Voters in Washington County will use a new voting machine to cast their ballots for the next election.

The new machines will count ballots and can detect if a ballot has been filled out correctly. If there is any ambiguity in a ballot, the machine will notify the voter immediately so that the ballot can be cast correctly.

"It takes an internal picture, makes a PDF of each ballot, so if there is ever any question or a recall, they can always go back," Kewaskum's Town Clerk Nancy Boden said.

Ballots will still be filled out with markers, and the voting booths will remain the same. The only difference will be the new machine that collects completed ballots.

Each municipality in Washington County will have at least one new machine at each of its voting locations.

Each machine costs about $8,000. The county is paying 80 percent of that cost, while each municipality will have three years to pay for the remaining 20 percent, Boden said.

"This way we all have the same machines, which makes it so much easier for programming costs," Boden said.

All municipalities in Washington County previously had the same machines.

"They were just really, really old," Boden said. "They were always breaking down."

The new equipment will make its debut in Ozaukee and Fond du Lac counties this year, as well.

Voters will be able to submit their ballots into a new machine in any direction. The machine will record both sides of the ballot and store up to 4,000 ballots at a time.

The new machines have a ballot counter and a touch screen.

They are also hand-capped accessible and have a handheld control for people confined to a wheelchair.

If someone submits a blank ballot, the machine will beep and a prompt on the screen will notify the voter. If the voter decides to correct the ballot, a button allows the ballot to be returned to the voter before the ballot is cast.

If the voter wishes to leave an oval blank, there is a button that tells the machine to go ahead and take the ballot. Voters do not have to vote on all contests; those that are voted on will still count.

The machine also notifies a voter if a ballot has an ambiguous mark, meaning that an oval was not filled in sufficiently. That way the voter can correct the ballot so the vote will count.

If someone votes for more candidates than allowed or votes both yes and no on a measure, the machine will spit out ballot and notify the voter that he or she has over-voted.

The voter will then have the opportunity to correctly fill out a ballot. Otherwise, over-votes for a candidate or measure are not counted.

Once a ballot is accepted, the machine dings so that the voter knows that the ballot has been counted.

The machine also detects when a write-in vote has been cast, and those ballots are separated within the machine so that poll workers can easily count the votes.

"We only count write-in votes now for registered write-ins, so we don't have to worry about Snoopy or Charlie Brown or anybody like that," Boden said.

To write in a name, fill in the oval to the left of the selection to write in a name. Then, clearly print the name on the solid line provided on the ballot and fill in the oval next to the name that is written in.

In the Town of Kewaskum, a poll worker will be located near the new machine to help voters cast their votes, Boden said.

"The machine will tell you what's wrong for a few seconds, and then we tell the voter you need to take this back to fill it out correctly. We try really hard to not look at the ballots," Boden said.

To cast a vote in Washington County, voters must present a photo ID. They should use the marker that is provided to completely fill in the oval to the left of the response of their choice.

The Spring Primary will be held on February 16, and the Spring Election is on April 5.

Nancy Boden, clerk for the Town of Kewaskum, shows the town board how the town's new voting machine works. Voters in Washington County will use the new type of machine to cast their ballots for the next election. Washington County Focuses On Priority-Based Budgeting

By Anne Trautner

Washington County is taking a new approach to its budgeting process.

"We are working on what they are calling priority based budgeting," County Supervisor Daniel Stoffel said. "They are breaking down everybody's budget, instead of things like telephone, electricity and personnel, they are breaking it down into a problematic way. In other words, how much do you spend on doing this particular thing?"

There currently are about 1,300 programs in the county, Stoffel said. Priority-based budgeting will assess the need of each of those programs.

"The next step is to evaluate each of those programs for their necessity, whether they are statutorily required or we do them just because we think they are a good service for the community or because people demand them," Stoffel said.

The county lost more state aid this year, and the county board anticipates that budgets will get tighter.

"This way we will have kind of a ranking of those programs. Not that they are not valuable, it's just that this way we can cut programmatically," Stoffel said.

Previously, when the county would make cuts, department heads would be told to cut a certain amount out of their budgets. It was up to the department heads to figure out what to shave off their budgets.

For example, the manager of parks might be told to cut $50,000 from the budget, and the manager would have to figure out how to accomplish that.

"This way we can say, 'Well the tree sale is nice, but can we really have staff time and renting of a building to have the tree sale?' That way you can just cut that program, and say OK, no more tree sale, and you've got that money gone out of the budget," Stoffel said.

The new process will benefit the county, Stoffel said.

"I think it's a good exercise in terms of really taking a look inside the county and really understanding what we do, why we do it, and whether those programs are necessary," Stoffel said.

In addition, it will help determine if any services are being duplicated within the county, Stoffel said.

"In two or three years, we are going to see more significant budget cuts yet. This will be helpful in terms of just trying to become more efficient and cutting out some of the things that are nice, but maybe not necessary. I think programmatically it's very good because you are really looking internally, making some decisions on what's important to the county and the people," Stoffel said.

Will your memories be there?
 Will news clippings of your family's weddings, anniversaries and births be around a hundred years from now on Facebook?
Maybe not. PROBABLY not.
 We will publish it the old-fashioned way, so your friends and family can know about it now - and in the distant future.
Don't let your great-great-grandkids down when they try to find out about you.

Washington County Sheriff's Office Reports

Fire Report

On January 17 at 8:28 p.m., a 52-year-old Janesville man was operating a semi operator loaded with cardboard when the brakes on the trailer locked up, resulting in a small fire. The driver was northbound on Interstate 41 traveling from Menomonee Falls to Kaukauna when he noticed a fire on the rear wheels of the trailer.

He stopped on the off ramp of Cty Highway D and disconnected the tractor from the trailer after calling 911. Kohlsville Fire Department responded and extinguished the fire, containing it to the rear axles. The box of the trailer did not burn but needed to be towed away as a result of the fire. The off ramp was shut down for about 2.5 hours during clean-up operations.

Disorderly Conduct Arrest

On January 16 at 8:54 p.m., a 30-year-old Town of Jackson man was arrested for domestic-related disorderly conduct charges after he armed himself with a sledge hammer during an argument with several family members. During the incident he damaged a desk, computer, dresser and deck to the home with the sledgehammer. Upon deputies' arrival, he was no longer armed with the hammer. He was taken to the jail for disorderly conduct.

Mental Health Incident

On January 15 at 1:38 p.m. a deputy responded to the jail lobby for a male subject who was making suicidal statements to shoot himself upon his release from jail. The 26-year-old City of West Bend man was being released on a $1,500 cash bond for failure to appear on a prior obstructing charge.

Prior to his release, correctional staff at the Washington County Jail requested a deputy respond to the jail to investigate the threats rather than simply release the subject. The jail staff, Washington County Acute Care Services and deputies worked together to assess the subject's mental health status. After evaluation, the subject was determined to be a risk to himself and he was taken into protective custody.

He was subsequently transported to a mental health facility. This is a prime example of Washington County Correctional Officers doing what is ethically right versus what is easy.

Temporary Restraint Order Violation

On January 15 at 2:50 p.m., a 51-year-old Village of Richfield man violated the terms of his 72-hour no contact prohibition after being arrested the previous evening for domestic abuse. After his release from jail on January 15, the man left a voicemail on the victim's phone stating that he had been released from jail. The same deputy that initially was assigned to the domestic abuse investigation also happened to be assigned to the contact prohibition investigation.

During the subject's initial arrest, the deputy provided him with a copy of the 72-hour no contact order. The deputy not only provided the copy of the order to the man, but also read it word for word. After having the no contact order read to him, the suspect also signed it indicating he understood he could not have any contact with the victim for 72 hours following his arrest.

The investigation revealed that the man was released from jail and used an unsuspecting citizens phone to illegally contact the victim. The suspect made the comment to the citizen that he was trying to get back to the Village of Richfield. It was also determined that the subject called for a local taxi to take him to a local restaurant.

Through some follow-up with the taxi company, it was determined that he was still at the local restaurant and had made arrangements to be picked up again and taken to the residence in the Village of Richfield, where the initial domestic incident occurred. The Sheriff's Office immediately requested the assistance of West Bend Police Department to make contact with the suspect at the restaurant and detain him until sheriff's deputies arrived.

Sheriff's deputies arrived and took him into custody. This is an example of the criminal justice system, including different law enforcement agencies, working together to protect the victims of domestic violence.

Successful Use Of Narcan By Washington County Deputies

On January 15 at 5:07 p.m., a 34-year-old Town of Trenton man was found slumped over in his vehicle by his roommates in the driveway. He was unconscious, had shallow breathing and was not responsive to voice or touch. The first responding deputies noticed the victim had pinpoint pupils, indicating an opioid overdose and was gasping for air.

Deputies administered four 2-mg doses of nasal Narcan, which immediately began to counter the effects of the opioids. West Bend Fire Department personnel arrived and administered an additional one 1-mg dose of liquid Narcan intravenously. The subject was transported to St Joe's for medical treatment and was medically cleared. He was transported to the Washington County Jail on a probation hold stemming from prior narcotic possession charges.

Opiate Overdose Of Huber Inmate

Less than two hours after administering Narcan to a

Town of Trenton man, on January 15 at 6:55 p.m., deputies responded to jail for a 22-year-old Hartland man who was found unresponsive in the Huber dorm by correctional officers. West Bend Rescue administered four rounds of Narcan, and the subject came around.

He was transported to St Joe's for medical clearance and returned to jail, where he now is no longer eligible for Huber status. The incident remains under investigation. The subject was released to go to his employer on January 15 at 6 a.m. and he returned to the jail at 5 p.m.

Rescue Call At Jail

On January 17 at 8:32 p.m., a 24-year-old City of Oshkosh woman who is three weeks from her pregnancy due date was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital after complaining of contractions. She was returned to the jail around 1:15 a.m. after being treated for back pain related to the pregnancy.

These types of rescue related calls may seem pretty mundane but there is a lot of coordination that needs to take place between the jail, rescue personnel, deputies needed for security and hospital staff. The woman is being held at the jail on straight time status for a probation detainer and thus requires a higher level of security planning.

OWI Case

On Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 2:06 a.m. the Washington County Sheriff's Office Communications Center received two different 911 calls regarding a white Ford Focus that was "all over the road" on Interstate 41 northbound in the area of Lannon Road in the Village of Germantown.

A Washington County Sheriff's deputy located the vehicle on U.S. 45 near Paradise Drive in the City of West Bend. It is not uncommon for citizens to report vehicles using the phrase "all over the road," but the vehicle was using both lanes of traffic and both shoulders. The deputy was not able to immediately get the license plate number off of the vehicle due to the operator's poor driving.

Both the deputy and the witnesses determined it was too dangerous to get close enough to read the license plate initially. Once the vehicle was stopped, the driver was identified as a 24-year-old Racine man. As the deputy approached the vehicle, the driver tried to hide alcohol under the passenger seat. When questioned about his whereabouts, the driver told the deputy that he thought he was in Racine.

The man was arrested for 1st offense OWI and later turned over to his mother. A search of the vehicle yielded a bong, marijuana and THC butter, which also resulted in additional citations.

GREAT FUTURES START HERE.

IMPACT.
It's more than just a word here at the Boys & Girls Club. It's a mission. Every day when kids sign in to Club, we have the ability to make an impact on a child that we hope will last longer than just the time they spend at the Club. It's crucial as a Boys & Girls Club that five essential ideas are stressed to ensure that we make an impact on all of our members. This includes safety, that all kids are emotionally and physically safe in the Club space; trained staff, that all staff are trained to not only supervise our members but to teach them valuable life skills and deal with various backgrounds of youth; opportunity, that all members have an opportunity to grow as an individual and be involved in something they might not have a chance to do elsewhere; expectations, that all members understand that in life there are expectations to be met and that the Club will help children to meet positive expectation; fun, that all members genuinely enjoy their experience at the Club with both the staff and other members.

Impact is what the Club is all about. For my staff and myself, showing up to the Club is much more than a job. Yes, technically it's a business or sorts, but we stress that we're in the business of changing lives. And we do so by following what we call a formula for Impact. By following those five crucial ideas mentioned previous, getting kids in our doors, and putting on programs and activities that serve a purpose of expanding knowledge and skills, we're able to make a bigger impact on the lives of youth.

We do our best to reach out and help those kids that really need us most. We've had some really amazing success stories here at the Kewaskum Club in the past years and we don't plan on slowing down. And it's due to this formula for impact that we're able to make these success stories a reality.

So, if you're looking for a place to send your kids, we're always taking registrations. If you're a community member who is looking to help change some lives through volunteering some time, we're always looking for more people to come in and help. Whether it's basic supervising or teaching our members a valuable skill that you'd like to pass down, we're always open to those new ideas.

In the time being, the Kewaskum Club has begun its eight-week IMPACT program session. Monday through Thursday we have at least three programs (one at 4:15-5 p.m.; one at 5-5:30 p.m.; and homework help 4:15-5 p.m.). Feel free to give us a call, email or check out our website for more information.

Until next time, we want to continue to thank those in the community who help support our mission. We've truly had an amazing past year, and we hope to keep this momentum going for years to come.

Legendary Albino Deer Killed After Car Accident

An albino deer that has become a Holy Hill legend affectionately named "Merlin" was killed after being struck by a car in the 5500 block of Highway 167 on January 12 at 4:11 p.m.

The Washington County Sheriff's Office responded to the incident after a vehicle struck and critically injured an albino deer.

Prior to the deputies' arrival, a citizen stopped and noticed the deer was injured and needed dispatching. The 75-year-old Town of Erin man, who is a legal CCW permit holder, decided to shoot the deer with his pistol.

The deer was not immediately put down. Another area resident, a 62-year-old Town of Erin man, used the other man's pistol to shoot the deer again.

When the deputies arrived, the deer was deceased.

Through the investigation, deputies determined the two subjects discharged the weapon in a safe direction and off of the roadway. One concerning issue was that the pistol shots took place close to a couple of other residences.

Both individuals were advised of the statutory obligations of discharging a weapon while on the lands of another under 941.20(d). Washington County investigators determined not to pursue any further law enforcement action.

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources was contacted and advised the albino deer could be release to the motorist that struck it. The Sheriff's Office was asked to forward our reports to the DNR and they would handle any and all DNR violations that may have occurred.

Kewaskum Indian Mat Men Have A Big Week

By Judy Harlow

With Kettle Moraine Lutheran dropping its wrestling program earlier this season, Kewaskum had an open date and filled it with the Craig Belcher Tournament hosted by Milwaukee Hamilton.

"The tournament went really well," KHS coach Scott Rhoads said. The Indians piled up 346 points, 47 ahead of the Sauk Prairie reserves, to bring home the team title. Martin Luther was third with 262, followed by Dodgeland and Riverside with 242 and 219, respectively.

Winning titles for the Indians were Eric Bauer at 120, Alex Deheck at 126, and Mike Bryngelson at 220. All went 5-0 on the day.

Bauer improved to 32-1, opening with a bye, followed by a 10-1 major decision over Pewaukee reserve Jacob Duncan (5-5). Next he pinned Jack Schilling (10-8) of Shoreland Lutheran in 1:43 and followed that up with a pin in 2:57 over Sauk Prairie's Cam Maier (9-8). He finished off the day with a quick pin in 1:03 over Dalton Kientz of Dodgeland, who was 18-12.

Deheck, 27-5, also had an easy day, starting with a bye and then posting four straight victories, starting with pin in :55 over Noah Dregne of Milwaukee Washington (13-12). His other two victims were Trey Miller of Wauwatosa Reserves and Adam Pape of Sauk Prairie. He pinned Miller (5-5) in 1:46 and Pape (10-5) in :50.

Bryngelson (10-9) was sick for the match against Ripon on Thursday but recovered to have a banner day, which included back-to-back pins over Cole Malterer (3-12) and Jawaun Battle of Milwaukee King (8-3) in 2:54 and 4:46.

Then, in the fourth and fifth rounds, the big junior pinned Nic Sorg (7-3) of Sauk Prairie in 2:30 and Dajarrie Tomlinson (7-5) of Milwaukee Bay View in 0:58.

Danny Seitz, who is having a good year, also had what Rhoads called a "figurative first," noting, "They made some hefty mistakes at that tournament," which was suppose to use a scramble format for the number of entrants in each weight class. Rhoads explained about the middle of the tournament, the officials discovered if the 152 and 160 pounders would continue wrestling to determine the champion, they would go over the legal limit of matches for a day, so they determined all four who were 5-0 would be champions.

Seitz, now 24-9, started out with a 0:57 pin over Trayveon Hines (2-8) of Milwaukee King, then continued with a win over Jacob Pape (4-2) over Sauk Prairie, a 7-2 decision over Cudahy's Austin Pielsnik (14-6), a pin in :35 over Austin Kadinger of Hustisford (8-6) and a pin in :62 over Dodgeland's Malachi Dornfeld (13-12).

The Indians also got seconds from Cole Rahlf at 145 pounds and Ben Watzig at 195 pounds. Rahlf (12-7) finished 4-1, starting with a 14-second pin against Edgar Jusino of Milwaukee Pulaski (2-3). Then in order he pinned Curtis Fisher of Hamilton (14-12) in 2:56, John Farness of Martin Luther (14-12) in 1:40, His lone loss came at the hands of Ryan Neu at Dodgeland who pinned him in 5:00.

There were 13 wrestlers at 195 pounds, and Watzig took second by virtue of an opening round bye, followed by a pin in 4:00 over Jared Taylor (3-2) of Wauwatosa Reserves, a 12-1 major decision over Brandon Nutt (2-3) of Pewaukee, and a pin in 1:26 over Dalton Goldsmith of Fort Atkinson (9-18).

In his last match, Watzig suffered his first loss of the season, a 5-4 defeat in double overtime by Jaxson Seufzer of Dodgeland, who is currently ranked number two among Division 3 wrestlers.

The match was deadlocked at 4-4 at the end of regulation and the first extra minute of overtime when, according to Rhoads, nearly had a takedown in the final seconds.

Seufzer rode Watzig out in the first :30 of the second overtime, and Seufzer got the win and improved to 28-2, when he escaped from Watzig (13-1) in the final 10 seconds.

Nathaniel Droese finished second out of eight wrestlers at 106 pounds. After a bye, the young freshman pinned his first opponent in :26, then won a 3-0 decision, posted a pin in 3:53, while losing a 7-3 decision.

Adam Bruss finished third at 113.

Kewaskum 43, Ripon 36

On January 14, the Indians handed Ripon its first conference loss. With wins in the final two matches by Eric Doll and Ben Watzig at 182 and 195, respectively, the Indians turned a 36-33 deficit into a 43-36 victory.

"Ben had a great match," Rhoads said about Watzig's 10-second pin, adding, "Danny Seitz (152) had a really big match. That wrestler (Nicholas Retzlaf) came in with a good record." Seitz came away with a 7-2 victory.

Getting pins for Kewaskum were: Eric Bauer and 120, Alex Deheck at 126, Zach Heberer at 138, Cole Rahlf at 145, Sam Larson at 170 and Watzig.

Campbellsport is still atop the EC standings with a 5-0 record, while KHS and Ripon are 4-1.

KHS hosts Plymouth tonight its final conference match.

KEWASKUM 43, RIPON 36

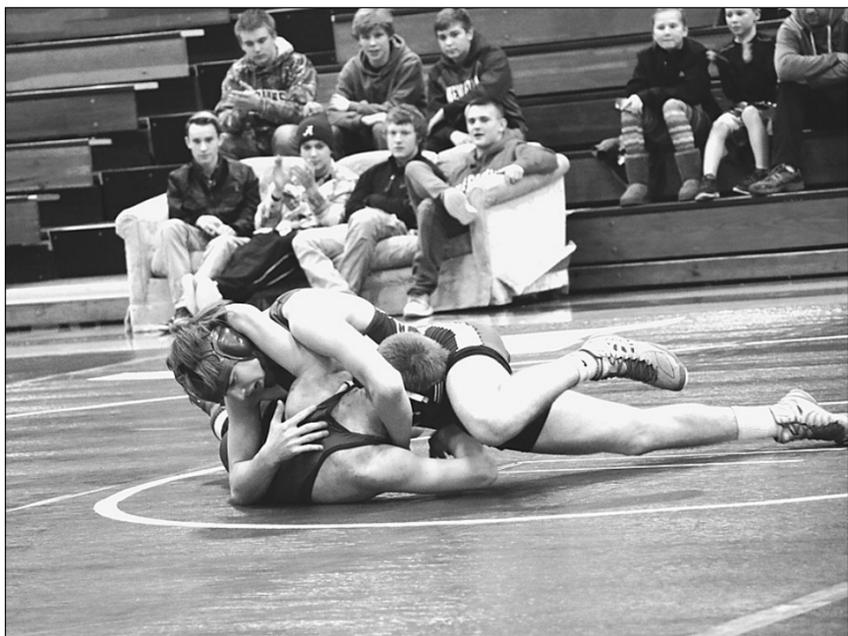

220 KHS forfeits to Ryan Socha; 286, Riley Donovan is pinned by Cody Jacobson, 0:47; 106 Nathaniel Droese is pinned by Bradley Gabrielski, 1:53; 113 Adam Bruss is pinned by Zachary Beck, 3:12; 120 Eric Bauer pinned Trenton Keplin, 1:00; 126 Alex Deheck pinned Ian Schraufnagel, 5:12; 132 Tanner Goeman is pinned by Ryan Cody, 2:26; 138 Zach Heberer pinned Wilson Agamaite, 0:20; 145 Cole Rahlf pinned Brandon Kuphal, 1:35; 152 Danny Seitz beat Nicholas Retzlaff, 7-2; 170 Sam Larson pinned Hut Amend, 1:14; 170 Eduardo Padilla was pinned by Brady Kuphal, 3:48; 182 Eric Doll won by major decision over Jonathan Ellis, 13-5; 195 Ben Watzig pinned Terrance Beck, 0:10.

All Kewaskum wrestlers are listed first.

Top EC Teams Overpower KHS Girls

By Judy Harlow

Powerful performances on both ends of the court propelled the visiting Kettle Moraine Lutheran girls basketball team to a 50-27 East Central win over Kewaskum on January 15.

The win was the Chargers' 11th in a row and keeps them atop the EC standings with a perfect 7-0 record, a game ahead of Plymouth.

Kewaskum lost for the fourth time in a row and still has just one EC victory to its credit.

"They've got a lot of athletes on that team," KHS coach Russ Thull said about KML, which led 25-11 at intermission. "They are so deep."

Thull complimented coach Jason Walz for the great job he has done running the Charger program. He said "It's a program to look at, how we want to be in a couple of years."

The Indians offense struggled to get shots against the swarming KML defense, and when they did get shots, they were rushed and missed the mark. "We shot 23 percent," Thull said. "It's tough to win on 10 field goals."

Kewaskum did not have a single player in double figures. Hailey Herriges led the team with seven points, including one three-pointer in the second half.

Senior post player Sammie Wiskirchen, who had averaged 16.0 points in her last five games, was held to just three points on 1x7 shooting. "They keyed on her. Again Jason (Walz) was well prepared," Thull said, adding, "That's what she's (Wiskirchen) going to see because she's having a heck of a year."

Mikayla Dogs, struggled offensively, hitting just 1x11 shots, but she did contribute three rebounds, three steals and one assist.

Top scorers from KML were Lyndsey Soderback and Sydney Rossow with 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Thull was pleased with his team's defensive effort and the drop in turnovers from the first half to the second. "I thought defensively we played very well," he said. Also, the Indians committed just six turnovers after the break, which was "a huge improvement for us."

Kewaskum played without reserves Rachel Holt, Sydney Rosenthal and Kaila Kirst and that definitely hurt. "Sydney will be back next week. She had a separated shoulder," Thull said, adding Kirst is able to do some shooting now but still no scrimmaging after the concussion she suffered in indoor soccer early in the season.

The news on Holt, a good rebounder, was not good. She is out for the remainder of the year because of a back problem.

Kewaskum, 1-6 in league play, was scheduled to host West Bend West on January 19, and tomorrow (Friday) the Indians will be at Ripon, a team they lost to 63-60 in overtime in their first meeting.

Thull said he is anxious to see what his girls can do against conference schools in the second round of action.

KEWASKUM 11-16-27

Kewaskum: Lizzy Bauer 4, Breana Trepes 3, Mikayla Dogs 6, Sammie Wiskirchen 3, Samantha Brown 3, Molly Schulteis 2, Hailey Herriges 7; Three-point goals—Trepes, Dogs, Herriges. FTs—5x12. Fouls—12.

KM Lutheran: Lyndsey Soderback 13, Sydney Rossow 10, Alyssa Shipley 6, Annika Eller 5, Cassidy Leikam 4, Payton Schneider 4, Sharla Boelke 4, Kimberly Zimmer 2, Sydney Stern 2; Three-point goals—Soderback, Eller (2), FTs—6x10.

Kewaskum 40, Waupun 63

The Indians' 63-40 loss to Waupun January 12 was a case of too many turnovers and not being able to handle the Warriors' six-foot, two-inch post player, Sydney Flier.

"The girls played hard ... really battled," Thull said, but it was pretty much the same story,

"offensive rebounding, turnovers and inability to hit three-point shots."

Kewaskum had 22 turnovers and made just 3x19 three-point attempts, according to Thull, who said, "I thought offensively we did a fairly good job, finding some holes in the 2-3 zone. We needed to attach more, but Waupun makes it tough with six-foot, two-inch Sydney Flier in the middle. We did get some looks from three."

"What hurt us is that we allowed too many transition points due to our turnovers. We are giving our opponents an extra 15 points a game because of those two things," the coach went on, noting the Indians were able to get 15 offensive rebounds, led by Sammie Brown, who had seven. "I thought Sam (Brown) played some good minutes for us and was really active on the offensive rebounds. Sammie Wiskirchen also had a strong game" with a dozen points, eight rebounds, one blocked shot and one steal.

Molly Schulteis chipped in with 11 points, seven rebounds and one steal.

Indians Stay Close For A Half But Can't Overcome Second 'Valley'

By Judy Harlow

There are a few statistics that told the whole story of the Kewaskum-Ripon boys basketball game, which was played on January 15th.

One team went to the free throw lines 16 times, converting 14 of them for an impressive 87 percent clip. The other got to the line on just three occasions, making two.

In the turnover department, it was 10 for the one team and 19 for the other.

If you guessed the team with more free throws and fewer turnovers won, you would be correct, and that team was Ripon, which posted a 56-44 victory to remain unbeaten in the East Central Conference with a mark of 5-0, the same record the final Eastern Wisconsin Conference champion Waupun team has.

"For us, it's a learning curve. We learned we could play with a good team," KHS coach Don Gruber said afterward. "I told our guys every game has some peaks and valleys. A good team comes back from the valleys." His KHS team came back from the first valley but not the second.

The game started out as a duel between the Indians' six-foot, six-inch junior Brady Hanson and Ben Vander Plas, Ripon's six-foot, seven-inch junior ace. Hanson nailed two three-pointers early for the Indians while Vander went inside twice and then hit a three-pointer, putting the Tigers' in the lead 7-6.

After Hanson's second three, KHS did not score for the next 3:47 until Hanson was successful on a drive to the basket with 11:53 left in the first half. At that point, Ripon was up 19-8, and the Tigers stretch that lead to 22-8 with a Vander Plas free throw, followed by a Vander Plas blocked shot which led to a basket by Tyler Pick.

Then the roles were reversed. Ripon had a cold spell, and the Indians started an 11-point run, which saw them get within three points, 22-19. Charlie Witek started things off with back-to-back baskets, and Hanson was successful on another drive. Two of these baskets were set up by nifty assists from Michael Prochnow.

With the score 19-14, reserve Tyler Schellinger helped the Indian with a three-point basket, and on Ripon's next possession, he grabbed the rebound after an errant shot, only to have Hanson throw it away. Kewaskum got it right back, however, as Ripon's Andrew Radloff was called for an offensive foul. Prochnow wasn't about to let this opportunity slip away, and he drove in for a score, and now the score was 22-19.

In the final four minutes of the half, the Indians scored just four points while Ripon added five for a 27-23 halftime advantage.

The Indians battle hard in the early stages of the second half to stay close, and they came up with another surge. A tip-in by Witek, followed by Sam Schlosser's layup brought Kewaskum to 30-32, than Hanson drained his third trey of the night, and the Indians were up 33-32.

Not for long, however, as Vander Plas came right back with a nice move on his defender for an easy basket, which started an 11-point Ripon run, and Ripon stayed in the lead from then on.

KHS got within six (40-46) on Schlosser's three pointer, but Ripon closed the with game with a rebound basket by Pick, and 6x6 free throw shooting, including four by Eddie Muench and two by Vander Plas, who led his team with 22.

For the Indians, it was Hanson with 19, Witek 10 and Schlosser seven. Hanson grabbed a team-high nine rebounds, had four assists but also committed six turnovers.

"The thing with Brady (taking many of the first-half shots) is we were trying to get some fouls on Vander Plas. He's a smart player. It didn't work," Gruber said.

With the loss, KHS fell to 1-4 in the EC and 4-7 overall.

Ripon was playing without its number two scorer, Luke Loewe (21.1 points per game) and apparently will be playing without him the rest of the season. "He had a foot injury but has quit the team," Gruber said.

The Tigers's head coach, Dean Vander Plas, was also not at the game. One Ripon fan said they were told he was "unavailable" for the game, but Gruber said recently there was an issue about inaccurate varsity statistics and wondered if his absence was connected with that.

After Kewaskum's game at Campbellsport (January 19), the Indians return home Friday to host Berlin.
