Proposing Flexibility For Classroom Time

By Anne Trautner

If area school superintendents get their way, local school boards will have flexibility in scheduling instructional hours for public school students.

Rep. Jesse Kremer (R-Kewaskum) held a press conference on Monday, Feb. 1, to present his plan to draft a bill that would allow for variances in the school day. The bill would allow flexibility in what constitutes classroom hours.

"The days of traditional cookie cutter style education are over, the 8:30 to 3:30 school days are over," Kremer said.

Area superintendents and members of the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 6 stood behind Kremer as he outlined the new concept.

Public school superintendents had approached Kremer with the idea, Kremer said.

Area Students Compete In Mock Trial

By Anne Trautner

Drama unfolded in the Washington County Courthouse on Saturday, Jan. 30, as area high school students participated in a mock trial.

The case involved Sammie Smid, a homeless 20-year-old, who claimed he suffered serious injuries after police officer Robin O'Reilly used excessive force while arresting him at a park in Clearwater on July 20, 2014.

"I was just sitting on a bench in the park minding my own business and then officer O'Reilly came up and hassled me. I started getting a weird smell, and I felt a seizure coming on. I told him I had a seizure coming on.... But he kept coming toward me. I started having a seizure. After that I remember waking up in the hospital," said Ben Wescott, who portrayed Sammie Smid in the fictitious civil case.

According to Ben's (Smid's) testimony, O'Reilly knew that Smid suffered from a seizure disorder. Because of O'Reilly's brutality, Ben (Smid) said he has suffered from memory loss and more frequent seizures.

However, O'Reilly (portrayed by Kewaskum student Katie Vorwerk) contends that she had reason to believe that Smid had committed a crime and might be armed.

"Officer O'Reilly did not use force in arresting Sammie Smid," Jill Braatz, a Kewaskum High School student who was cast as O'Reilly's defense attorney, told the imaginary jury. "Officer O'Reilly handled the situation professionally and appropriately."

Mock Trials

Students from Kewaskum, Mayville, West Bend and Hartford competed in the area scrimmage held in West Bend on Saturday. While no winners were declared, it gave the teams a chance to practice arguing their cases before they compete in regional tournaments on February 13.

"It was really fun. I was shaking when I came back [from taking the stand], though," said Samantha Falstad, a Mayville High School student who portrayed a witness for the plaintiff.

According to the judging panel, the students did well in the contest.

"You all did a great job," Chris Ohlis, deputy county attorney said. "I thought the plaintiff's closing argument was very persuasive. You have great projection, Jill. You command the courtroom, and that's great. And I also like that you told the jury exactly what you wanted the verdict to be."

Wisconsin high schools have been participating in mock trials since 1983. Every year, the state bar develops a hypothetical case for the competition.

"It's pretty complex; it's usually about 60 pages long. They actually give you a fact scenario and a lengthy statement for each of the witnesses," said Deborah Strigenz, an attorney who coaches the Kewaskum High School team.

Students from across the state have all been working on the Sammie Smid v. Robin O'Reilly, et al. case.

Washington County Sheriff's Office Reports

Semi In The Ditch

On Tuesday, Feb. 2, the Sheriff's Office responded to a semi hauling a tanker trailer northbound on I41 that had went into the ditch. The tanker contained sulfuric acid however there was never any danger of leakage.

The right lane of 41 north bound was blocked until 1:17 p.m. to facilitate the removal of the semi. The initial investigation was that the operator of the semi was in the left lane and he began to feel dizzy. The driver, a 54-year-old Greenfield man, advised that he went into right lane and put his truck in the ditch when he became nauseous. A possible contributing factor was a recent change in prescribed medication for the operator. The operator was not transported from the scene by EMS and there was not any damage to the semi. The driver was given the inspection report and put out of service until no longer ill.

Accidental Weapon Discharge With Injury

On January 31, at approximately 1:09 a.m., the Washington County Sheriff's Office was notified and dispatched to a call of a subject who was shot in the Village of Newburg at 451 Main St.

Upon arrival, deputies found that a 36-year-old Village of Newburg man had accidentally shot a 35-year-old Town of Farmington man while showing him a handgun that he was trying to sell.

Deputies and a detective investigated the scene. The investigation revealed that the handgun had not been completely cleared of ammunition, and it had discharged a bullet into the arm of the victim. The round had not penetrated into any other apartments.

The discharge appears to be accidental in nature, however the Village of Newburg man was believed to be intoxicated at the time, and was taken into custody for intoxicated use of a firearm. The victim was transported to Froedtert Hospital for non-life threatening injuries, and was treated and released.

Accidental Weapon Discharge With Injury

On Friday, Jan. 29, at approximately 5:45 p.m. the Washington County Sheriff's Office was notified by Menomonee Falls Police Department that they were out with a 22-year-old male at Community Memorial Hospital who had a gunshot wound to his hand. It was believed to be an accidental discharge by the 22-year-old victim.

Deputies and detectives were sent to the Community Memorial Hospital and the victim's apartment located in the town of Germantown to investigate. The investigation revealed the victim was home alone in an apartment above a business in the Town of Germantown. The victim was cleaning his handgun, and while putting the weapon back together, the weapon discharged one round striking the victim in the left hand. The round did not penetrate the apartment, and did not cause a danger to the business below.

The discharge appears to be accidental in nature. The victim will not be facing any criminal charges.

Motor Vehicle Crash

On Friday, Jan. 29, at approximately 4:02 a.m., Washington County Sheriff's Deputies were dispatched to the 3100 block of Kettle Moraine Parkway in the Village of Richfield for a suspicious male subject yelling for help and trying to gain access to an unoccupied neighboring residence.

Shortly after their arrival, deputies located a 24-year-old Richfield man in the area. The man claimed that he was trying to access a residence recently purchased by his father, causing minor damage in the process. The man had a minor injury to his head, which he alleged came from an earlier fight. However, he refused to identify an assailant. The man was subsequently evaluated by Richfield Rescue and later refused medical transport to the hospital.

At approximately 6:36 a.m. the Sheriff's Office was notified of a vehicle that had driven through the front of the Aurora Pharmacy located at 1303 State Highway 175 in the Village of Richfield. At the time of the call it was unknown if this was an active burglary attempt and/or if anybody was still in the store. Deputies and officers from the Germantown Police Department were dispatched to the scene.

Upon the officer's arrival, a pickup truck was found to have crashed through the front of the store and was completely inside. No suspects remained on scene. A records check of the crashed pickup identified the owner as the same male subject previously located by deputies in the 3100 block of Kettle Moraine Parkway. The store and Kettle Moraine Parkway are separated by approximately 0.5 mile.

A preliminary investigation revealed the following: At approximately 2:45 a.m. the man inadvertently turned west onto the pharmacy's access driveway (likely believing it was an arterial road), and drove straight into the building. After the crash, the man fled the scene on foot and was later encountered by deputies in the 3100 block of Kettle Moraine Dr. The man had no affiliation with the house he was trying to gain access too.

Aurora Pharmacy sustained moderate structural damage and was not occupied at the time of the crash. The man was subsequently arrested and brought to the Washington County Jail for criminal damage to property, disorderly conduct, obstructing an officer and possession of cocaine.

Driver impairment appears to be the contributing factor, and the incident remains under investigation by the Washington County Sheriff's Office.

Attempted Burglary

On January 29, at 9:47 a.m., in the 900 block of Paradise Drive in Trenton, a 67-year-old homeowner reported seeing a small black car with tinted windows backed up to her garage. Just prior to her noticing the car, she heard knocking at her door. At least one person entered her home and then fled when she observed him.

She heard two car doors slam and the vehicle left. Evidence at the scene suggest more than one person was present. The immediate area was checked and the vehicle was not located.

Should I Or Shouldn't I Do My Own Taxes?

This is probably a question that is floating around in the back of your mind. This article will discuss some of the advantages and disadvantages of hiring a tax accountant for preparing your taxes.

Most of us have income and filing status changes year to year. This means that your tax situation changes year to year. Our interests, passions and hobbies change through our lifetime. This affects what can/should be part of your tax return.

It is a fact that you will pay less for a software package than hiring CPA or another qualified tax professional to do your taxes. The price of tax preparation software runs from a $20 to $150 range. There are websites that offer the service for free. A CPA is likely to charge at least $100 and upward depending on the complexity of the tax preparation.

The upfront savings of using tax software over an accountant is one of the most attractive reasons for preparing your own taxes. But do you like to keep track of numbers, transactions receipts and review your work before you file your tax return? If you enjoy and are good at this, you probably can file your tax return accurately and to your benefit. If not, a tax accountant may be the right decision for you.

A good tax preparation software package walks you through the process of preparing and filing your taxes quickly and easily. If you only have a few deductions, limited source of income and investments, and do not own property, there is probably little need to hire an accountant. However, there have been over 3,500 changes to the tax law since the year 2000.

An accountant may spend up to $7,000 for his/her tax preparation software. This is a much more sophisticated product than what is sold to consumers. These products are able to scan your information and organize line items correctly for the tax return. Because the data entry is automatic, there is less chance for human error on a tax return. The tax accountant works with other individuals and businesses beyond you. You benefit from this knowledge and experience, plus problems are avoided.

An accountant has a relationship with you so that he/she can understand your current financial situation and what your future goals are. With this knowledge, valuable tax saving suggestions can be made that a software package can't do. Examples of this are tax friendly ways to save for your children's education and preparation for your retirement. The assistance in charting out financial strategies and investments in advance can save time and money in the present and in the future. You understand the outcome of actions that you take. He/she helps you plan for taxes in future years.

Marriage, death, children, divorce, starting a new business, owning rental property, selling or buying real estate, trading stocks, setting up a trust and retirement have tax consequences. Some of these events are time sensitive. The assistance of a tax accountant in preparing for these life events can help make sure that investments and taxes are optimized for the changes.

As children get older, tax deductions can start or expire. If a child is going to school full-time until age 24, you can claim them and any educational expenses. Having a tax accountant offers you the best chance of getting a larger tax refund.

A software package prepares the tax filing. That is its only value. A tax accountant is available all year round to answer questions you may have. This can help you make smarter tax saving decisions.

People who need to do complex returns may find themselves having to sort through complex issues. Is it worth the time? An accountant is familiar with the tax system and can easily and quickly fill out appropriate tax documents.

In 2012, the IRS estimated that it takes 20 hours for the average taxpayer to complete a simple tax return. This includes the organization and filling out and filing the return. The amount of time it takes to complete a complex return increases significantly, at least an additional 50 percent. If time is of value to you, using an accountant will save you stress and time. This saved time can be used by you to enjoy life more.

In 1913, there were 400 pages of federal tax law. In 2013, there were 73,954 pages of tax law. There are 75,000 pages in the 2014 tax code for changes in social security, pensions plans and health care. 401K contributions by low and moderate income workers who save for retirement in 401(k)s and IRAs are eligible to claim a tax credit that can be worth as much as $1,000 for individuals and $2,000 for married couples.

As of January 1, 2015, investors are limited to one rollover from one IRA to another in any 12-month period. A second IRA-to-IRA rollover in a single year could result in income tax becoming due on the rollover, a 10 percent early withdrawal penalty, and a six percent per year excess contributions tax, as long as that rollover remains in the IRA. It takes a lot of time and understanding to stay up to date with changes in the Income Tax Act. An accountant keeps up to date on all tax laws and regulations. This means the recipient of his/her services receives all the credits and grants available and stays compliant with the law.

It is better to have a day to day system of record keeping for taxation purposes. A tax accountant can help you with this system. This will save you time and money regularly. If you need financing with your bank, professional financial statements are needed. Your tax accountant will be able to easily assist with this.

A single mistake on your tax return can result in an audit. This may be costly. A tax accountant organizes your information and makes accurate assessments of your finances. A software package cannot represent you if there is an audit. A tax accountant will represent you and many will cover the cost of mistakes if he/she was given accurate information. Most people do not go to jail for blatant errors on their tax forms. It generally takes the IRS three years to send out a notice, which contains a five percent penalty a year. This can be costly. If there is a big gain/decrease in your income from one year to the next, the probability of an audit is also high.

Whether or not you start working on your taxes today or later, this is a good time to consider whether you should use a tax accountant or not. You know how many hours you have coming in front of you to gather information, refreshing your memory on tax code and researching changes in the tax code. I do not want to do my own taxes anymore. There are too many tax exemptions, regulations, loopholes. I cannot keep up with the changes in tax laws. But there are many things I am good at and that is how I want to spend my time.

If you decide to use a tax accountant, there are good resources near Kewaskum. Check it out.

Life Insurance? Retirement Plans? Wills?

You're still not done protecting your family. Making your own funeral arrangements may feel awkward.

However, choosing to make the arrangements yourself not only allows you to exercise your best judgement and consider the advice of family members, it also allows you to properly manage the situation, financially and emotionally.

Most people are put at ease once they have prepared a last will and testament and designated an executor. But, frequently, a will is not read or administered until after the funeral service is conducted.

Although loved ones will be provided for once death occurs, often times the arrangements and costs of the funeral need to be addressed before the service. By preplanning, you protect yourself against unforeseen costs, as well as, protect your family against making difficult arrangements and financial decisions during an emotionally stressful time.

By selecting a comprehensive preplanning package, your specific arrangements are documented in detail and kept on file, available for activation at the time of need.

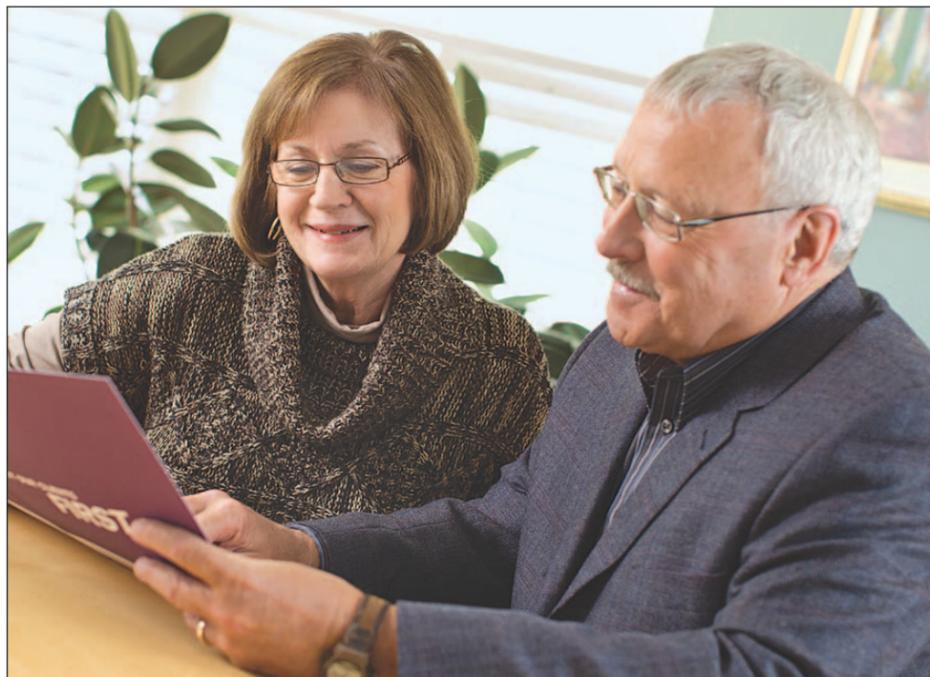

Once you've made your arrangement decisions, a payment schedule is established that comfortably fits your current income and budget. Most importantly, when a funeral home's services are required, your final wishes will be carried out.

In determining how your funeral arrangements will be financed, it's important to have up-to-date information about any insurance or government death benefits to which you are entitled.

A common misconception is that everyone is eligible for benefits through Social Security, Medicaid, Medicare, or the military. Although you contribute to these accounts during your working and service years, many people don't realize that benefits are not automatically paid at the time of death. There are eligibility requirements that must be met before benefits can be collected, and this is only after an application process.

In reviewing your own situation, it's important to find out what has been paid into your account(s), as well as making sure you are in possession of your government and/or insurance policies. This is valuable information that will help make sound preplanning decisions, while ensuring you fully understand the benefits you currently have.

"Pre need counselors are experts at reviewing insurance and government death benefits," said Matt Myrhum of Myrhum-Patten Funeral and Cremation Service in Mayville, and Kietzer-Miller Funeral Home in Lomira. "They can help prepare a customized payment schedule to accommodate any income and budget, helping give families peace of mind."

Pin And Magnet Project Supports Kewaskum Food Pantry

For the fifth year in a row, fourth- and fifth-grade students in the Kewaskum School District created handmade pins and magnets during art class.

The pins/magnets are then sold to parents, family and community members for $5. The idea began as a service project to teach students how they can use their time and talent to make a difference in their own community with their artwork. This year the group raised $6,331.

Farmington Elementary and i4Learning art teacher, Jane Mongin and Kewaskum Elementary art teacher Peggy Henke oversee the project. Mongin has a wall thermometer within her classroom. The students excitedly watch as they see the dollars raised increase on the thermometer.

FES student Sadie said, "It was fun because we got to create with clay. Sometimes people can't afford to get food and we're helping them afford the food."

KES student Marc spoke about the project, "I think the Pin and Magnet project was delightful. The money we made by making the Pins and Magnets helped the Food Pantry and it was fun!"

All proceeds (for the past five years) have been donated to the Kewaskum Food Pantry for a grand total of $30,193.

Tom Knorr, Board of Directors stated, "The amount of money that the Pantry has received from the Pin and Magnet sales has been a real blessing to the families we serve. With those funds we are able to purchase perishable items that we do not receive from donations. All our families comment on how much the special items, as we call them, are so helpful in feeding their families."

Patrons of the Kewaskum Food Pantry had these comments to say about the donations made to the Food Pantry: "Being a single income family with two small children, we are always very grateful to receive items of fresh milk, eggs and meats. It helps us out so much"; "The volunteers are very special people who are always very professional"; and "I can't believe how much you have helped me and my family with a choice of fresh items."

This project would not be a success without the support of family, friends and community members who purchase the artwork. Geidel's Piggly Wiggly has also assisted the school with the project by having the art work for sale within their store.

"State agencies and lawmakers must be willing to allow tools of flexibility to work with the technologies that society demands on our educational institutions today. At the same time, we must encourage our local schools to provide results," Kremer said. "In the end, it is paramount that we continue to give our kids every tool necessary to thrive in today's society."

Currently, Wisconsin requires public schools to offer at least 1,050 hours of direct pupil instruction in grades one through six and at least 1,137 hours of direct instruction in grades seven to 12. In addition, public schools in Wisconsin are required to begin on or after Sept. 1.

"As a result, we have complexity in scheduling, and we don't have local flexibility to really meet the needs of our parents, their children, and our staffs at schools," said Ted Neitzke, superintendent of the West Bend School District.

Parochial, private and federally funded schools do not have any of those restrictions, Kremer said. Public schools should be allowed the same flexibility, he said.

The goal is to help each student succeed, according to Kewaskum School Superintendent James Smasal.

"This is all about student learning. It's all about ways that recognize some students learn faster than others, other students may need additional time," said Dr. Mary Pfeiffer district administrator of the Nina Joint School District. "Additionally, it recognizes and supports learning by technology."

Under current legislation, technology is not always recognized as learning time it is used from homes or schools. This bill would change that, Pfeiffer said.

"We needed the added flexibilities. A child can go and do a job shadow from 2 to 4, but then can come back from 4 to 5 or 5 to 6, and utilize technology to continue their education for the courses they might have missed. It would provide that flexibility for them," said Nichole Schweitzer, Shiocton School District superintendent.

The idea is not to reduce instructional time, Neitzke said.

"It's not about reducing minutes of instruction so we can cut spending. It's not about reducing minutes of instruction so we can offer less programs. It's about greater flexibility," Neitzke said.

Kremer said he wants to make sure that the potential bill could not be abused.

"If we have schools that are still failing and have a real problem getting the kids educated, then we don't want to necessarily be cutting out mandatory hours in schools, but this could be a carrot to hopefully get them to improve," Kremer said.

The bill is currently a draft in process. Kremer, who is working with other legislators on the issue, hopes to be able to present a final draft at the beginning of next year.

"One of my primary goals as a lawmaker is to ensure that every child has gotten the opportunity to succeed, whether that be in a public school setting, parochial school setting, private school setting or wherever," Kremer said.

Kewaskum Grade Schools Integrate Technology

This year, the Kewaskum School District's goal was to establish a technology-rich environment at Kewaskum and Farmington elementary schools.

Currently, each third-through fifth-grade classroom has one Chromebook for every two students. These Chromebooks are being used for a wide variety of purposes in each classroom, including literacy centers and developing research skills.

As of February 5, all 4K through second grade classrooms will have one iPad for every two students. The iPads will also bring flexibility and variety to the learning process.

In order to support the new devices entering classrooms, teachers are participating in professional development options that focus on technology tools that enrich the learning process. The Kewaskum School District Technology Team has offered multiple learning sessions during Professional Development days. Another Kewaskum School District Technology Professional Day is coming up on March 28. All district teaching staff will spend time learning about ways to integrate their classroom technology into instruction.

After participating in learning sessions, teachers meet in their professional learning communities to work on how to apply what they have learned into the classroom environment.

Students in the Kewaskum School District use a program called Kahoot to practice parts of speech. The Smart Board and iPads connect allowing students to take interactive, teacher-created quizzes.

UW-WC's Scholar Sip Schedule

—Monthly Forum Open To Public

Scholar Sip continues at UW-Washington County this spring. Great coffee and interesting conversation are the two main components of this free community forum held on the second Wednesday of each month.

Campus and guest scholars discuss research interests, recent or upcoming publications, pet projects or simply a topic of general interest. No reservations are needed and everyone is welcome to the 3:30 p.m.-4:30 p.m. informal forum, held in the library lounge.

On Wednesday, Feb. 10, Dr. Kirk Tyvela, Associate Professor of History, will discuss his new book, The History Behind Dark Lanterns: Nativism and Mob Justice in Antebellum America. Dr. Tyvela will discuss the Know Nothing political party and how it briefly flourished during the mid-19th Century, buoyed by growing tension between Anglo-Americans and European immigrants in the United States. Dr. Tyvela will also address if the Know Nothings really influenced events like the infamous "George DeBar" lynching in West Bend.

On March 9, Dr. Colleen Vachuska, Mathematics Professor will deviate from her job as Professor of Mathematics at UW-WC and instead discuss a hobby. Titled, My Other Job: Gleanings from 35 Years with Mushrooms and Mycophiles, "Based on years of involvement with the Wisconsin Mycological Society, this talk will explore the many reasons — culinary, scientific, artistic, ecological, cultural, and more — that people enjoy fungi and find them fascinating."

Dr. Gary Britton, mathematics professor emeritus, will share stories about UW-Washington County at the April 13 Scholar Sip. Britton, one of the original 1968-1969 faculty members from the campus' inception, will present, The History of UW-Washington County: Anecdotes from the Early Years.

He will share some stories about the staff, students, and campus activities that might not be generally known. Images of relevant pictures, memos, and documents will be included.

On May 11, Dr. Joseph Foy, associate vice chancellor of academic affairs for the UW Colleges, will present, The Sensational, Inspirational, Muppetational Philosophy of Jim Henson. Jim Henson, the creative mind behind such beloved works as Sesame Street, The Muppets, and Fraggle Rock, has helped define children's programming.

At the core of his creativity was an enduring belief that ideas could change the world and that a television show "could bring peace to the world in our lifetime." Joseph J. Foy, co-editor of, and contributing author to, the book Jim Henson and Philosophy: Imagination and the Magic of Mayhem will explore the ideas inspired by the creative works of Jim Henson.

From his brilliant characters to his big screen films, Foy will explore the legacy and philosophy of Henson... no strings attached!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Holy Trinity & St. Michael Catholic Churches of Kewaskum Announce $2.1 Million in Lead Gift Pledges Toward Their $2.5 Million Parish Center Capital Campaign

Dear Friend,

The power of an idea whose time has come is amazing! As you may have heard, Holy Trinity & St. Michael Churches are in the midst of our $2.5 million WE BELIEVE Capital Campaign.

With the WE BELIEVE Campaign we hope to build our new Parish Center, which will include a gym, a café/cafeteria, kitchen, and offices.

We have set three financial goals for ourselves:

•Goal 1 — Celebration Goal, $1.75 million. Achieving this will allow us to put up the shell for the whole facility.

•Goal 2 — Challenge Goal, $2 million. Achieving this goal will enable us to

1) finish some of the interior of the Parish Center,

2) do exterior restoration work on the church,

3) build our Angel Fund (School Scholarship Fund), and

4) update school bathrooms.

•Goal 3 — Transformation Goal, $2.5+ million. Achieving this goal will enable us to

- 1) finish off the entire Parish Center,
- 2) finish gym and install gym floor,
- 3) move the kitchen into the Parish Center,
- 4) upgrade technology in school,
- 5) add 40 new parking spaces to parking lot,
- 6) increase the size of our Angel Fund, and
- 7) support our Sister Parish in South America

We are very happy to report that thus far we have more than $2.1 million pledged to WE BELIEVE.

Beginning February 6 and 7 and running through the months of February and March, we will begin our Parish and Community Pledging Phase.

February 6 & 7 and 13 & 14 will be our major pledging weekends, but we will be accepting pledges at Masses and the parish office through February and March.

We mentioned community pledging because since we want to offer this Parish Center as a much needed community resource, we have been getting inquiries about how people can make a gift to the pledge to WE BELIEVE. If you wish to join us in making this a truly community effort, please stop and see Fr. Ed at the parish office or send donations to WE BELIEVE at Holy Trinity, 331 Main St, Kewaskum, WI 53040.

If you would like to make a gift or pledge from your business, or as a memorial in memory of loved ones, please see Fr. Ed or mail to WE BELIEVE.

We are excited about the possibilities of this facility, which offers gym space, café space and kitchens, because it can be used for wedding showers, wedding banquets, family reunions, all kinds of organizational dinners, and so much more.

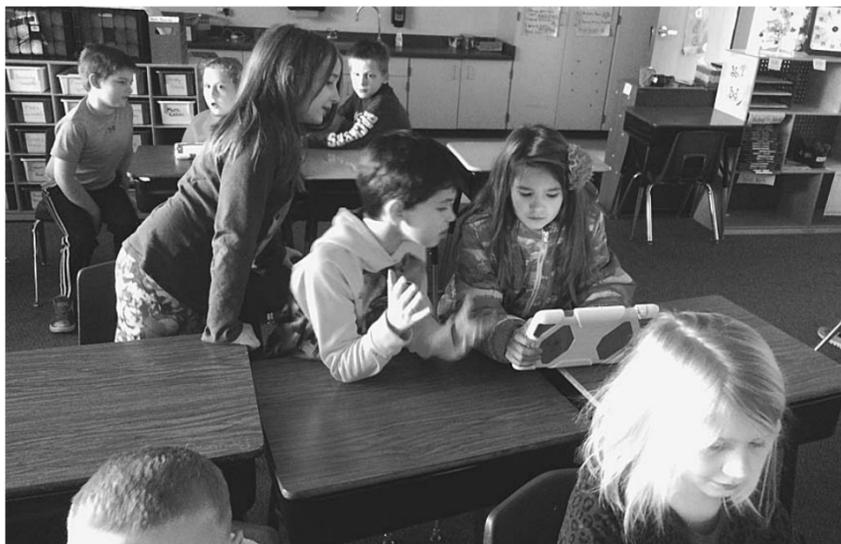

Thank you to everyone for your prayers and your support for this WE BELIEVE effort. The outpouring of interest and support is confirmation that this space is needed and this is an idea whose time has come.

In gratitude,
 Pastor — Fr Ed Kornath - 262-626-2860
 Chairpersons — Jim Wessing, Tony Fleischman, Brian Wildt and Jeff Butler

Students are assigned to represent either the defense or plaintiff. Teams can consist of six to 12 students, with three participants acting as attorneys and three as witnesses. Up to six students can serve as alternates.

The student attorneys study the case and write their own opening and closing statements. They prepare objections for questions they anticipate the other side may ask, and witnesses plan how they will answer questions.

"The kids actually develop the case, just like I would if I were preparing for trial," Strigenz said.

At Kewaskum High School, there are two teams that are coached by Strigenz and teacher adviser Luke Piwoni. The varsity team is made up of students with more experience, while Saturday was the first mock trial competition for most of the JV team members.

To make it even more challenging, some of Kewaskum's team members were at a show choir competition on Saturday, so others had to step into their parts that morning for the first time.

"It really went well for the first scrimmage. We were scrambling for who's who, because we had a lot of people filling in," said Kewaskum High School student Elyssa Debelak, who read the information for the first time that morning.

At the competitions, judges and attorneys evaluate the students on their demonstrated knowledge of legal rules and presentation skills. Winners from the regional tournaments will go on to compete in front of the Wisconsin Supreme Court in March.

"It isn't really an acting competition, though that can be part of it. It's how well did you do your opening statement? How well did you cross examine your witnesses?" said Strigenz, who brought the mock trial program to Kewaskum 14 years ago.

Learning By Trial

The students in Saturday's mock trial all dressed professionally for their day in court.

They had learned to stand up when the judge entered the courtroom and to address the judge as "your honor." Witnesses need to be addressed as Mr. and Mrs., rather than being called by their first names.

"You can't get too informal in the courtroom," Ohlis said. "The judge will call you on that."

That was just one of the tips of the trade that students received from attorneys and judges at the scrimmage.

It helps to double or triple space the opening and closing statements so that they are easier to read, Ohlis said. Also, it is important to maintain eye contact with the jury, she said.

"You want to engage the jury," Ohlis told the student attorneys.

"One of the things I was very impressed by was the fact that generally, you did not speak too quickly," said Washington County Circuit Court Judge Todd Martens. "When I started as a lawyer, I used to get routinely yelled at by court reporters to slow down."

Speaking slowly is important because it enables the court reporter to record things, Martens said.

"It's also that people can only digest information at a certain speed. You can only absorb so much," Martens said. "You all did a good job of taking it slow, and taking baby steps in presenting your case because you are presenting it to people who don't know anything about it."

Nerves made it challenging to speak slowly and clearly, the students said.

"I think being up there, you get more confidence because you know you're going to have to," Jill said.

Saturday was the first time that West Bend hosted a scrimmage, and the students were grateful for the opportunity to practice. It helped the students see what another team may find objectionable.

"That is part of it too, planning your arguments back, especially if you don't know what they are objecting to. If it is something you never heard of it, you are trying to find the rules in your notes," Elyssa said. "Last year, West Bend objected to everything, so we said that when we get home, we are going to write down everything they can object to and the reason why it can be asked."

The mock trial experience inspired most of the students to pursue a career as an attorney.

"I've always been told that I argue too much," said Kewaskum High School mock trial team member Max Stowers.

A Message From Father Ed And Our Campaign Chairs

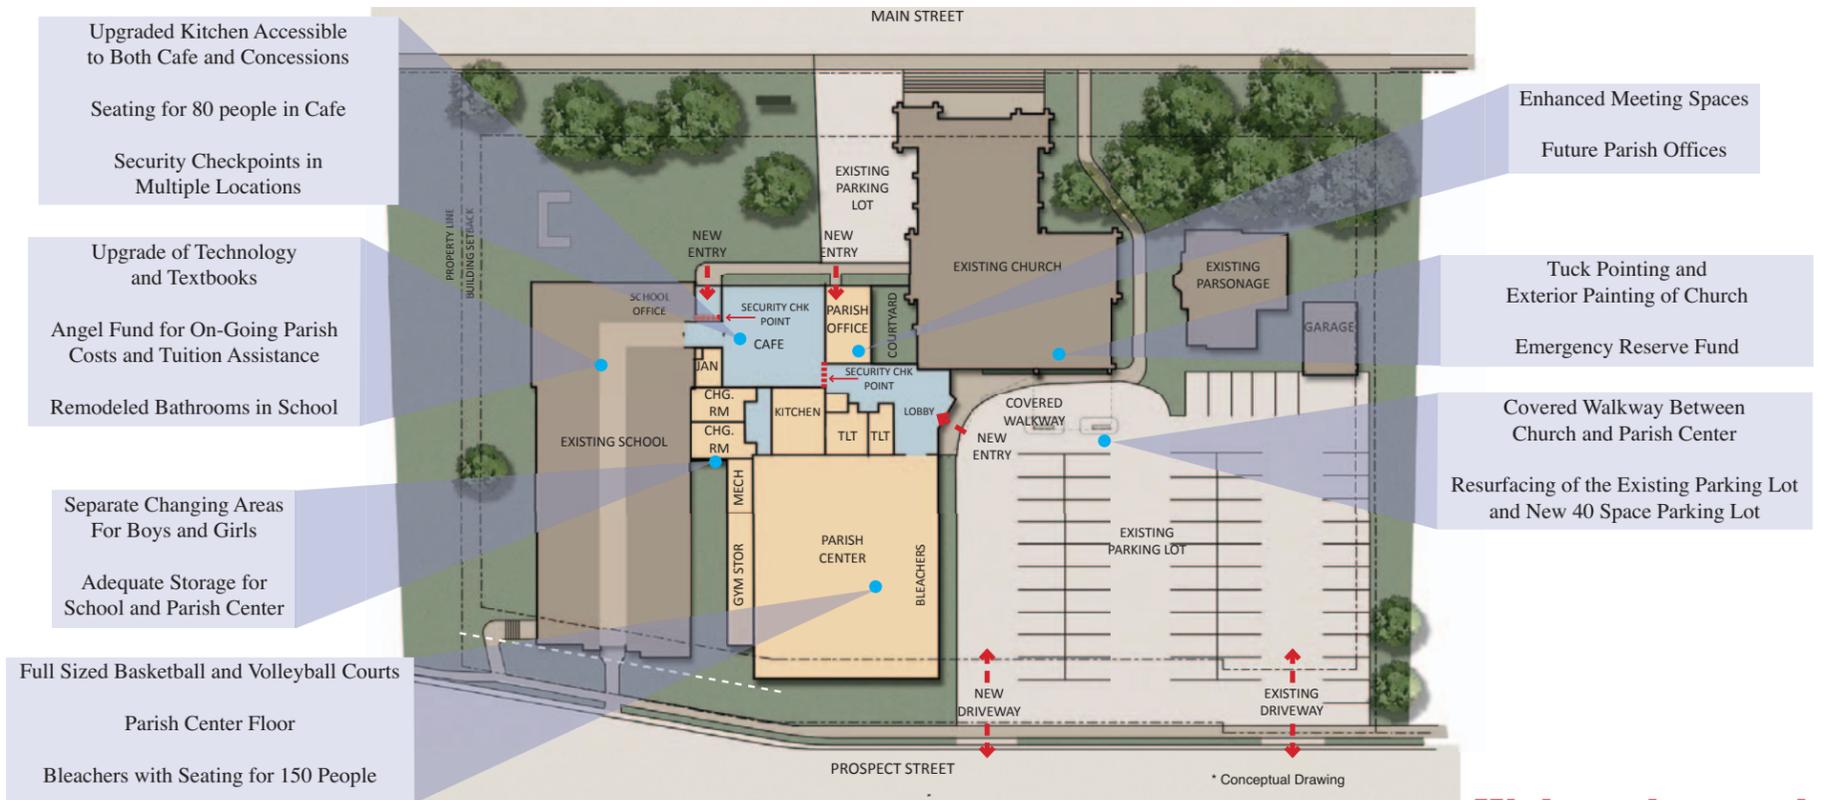

Dear Community of Believers,

It has been a blessing to serve as leaders of WE BELIEVE. If we look back at our parish - our beautiful church, our school, and our ministries over the years - we see that our parents, grandparents and great-grandparents did some amazing things here! And if we're honest with ourselves, we know they did it with much less than we have.

So how did they do it? They were able to do it because they had a rock-solid faith and they sacrificed!

As followers of Christ we are asked to share our faith and be part of His work - over and over again! We can get tired. We can feel, "We've done our part." We would rather someone else do it. But the Lord blesses each person so that we can join Him in His saving work. Let the Spirit of God and the spirit of those who've gone before you guide you to that place that would make them proud!

Sincerely yours,
Father Ed, Jim, Jeff, Tony and Brian

22-Year Run Streak Helping Moraine Park Dean Give Back

Pete Rettler, West Bend Campus dean at Moraine Park Technical College, is using his incredible running streak as a way to give back to Moraine Park students.

In 1994, Rettler and a college friend were looking to lose weight and vowed to go for a run every single day of the year. No matter what.

Though both men completed this challenge, it turns out that stretch of 365 days was only the beginning for Rettler.

A staggering total of more than 8,000 consecutive days — that's 22 years and counting — has now passed with Rettler, of West Bend, never once missing a daily run regardless of weather conditions, busy schedules, health status, or family and work obligations.

"I'm going to keep this going as long as I can. I can't believe I haven't had anything that's kept me from running so far. I've just been extremely lucky," Rettler said.

His personal rules for the streak include that each run must be a minimum of 1.2 miles and can only be done outdoors. He averages 2.5 miles each run, but that can range up to six miles or more depending on the day.

This year, he celebrated his 22-year anniversary of the streak with an organized run on New Year's Eve. The "Streak Scholarship Run 2016" featured Rettler going on another 2.5-mile run around West Bend; this time joined by various friends and colleagues who have run with him over the years.

And, more importantly, those joining him each donated $22 — and sometimes far more — in honor of the 22-year milestone. In all, more than $600 was raised, with all proceeds donated to the Moraine

Park Foundation for student scholarships.

"I have been extremely blessed to be able to keep this Streak going for 22 years, and 'The Streak Scholarship' is a nice way to give back," said Rettler, who hopes to make this an annual event. "The Moraine Park Foundation does a lot of incredible things to help give our students an affordable education. Having an annual 'Streak Run' will be a fun way to help continue raising awareness and giving to this great cause."

Pete Rettler, West Bend campus dean at Moraine Park Technical College, has run outdoors every day for the past 22 years. Rettler has now started an annual "Streak Scholarship Run" to raise money for Moraine Park Foundation scholarships. Replacing Your Social Security Card Online

By Bob Trotter
Social Security Public Affairs Specialist in Milwaukee

We strive to provide you world-class service. With that in mind, Social Security rolled out a new service that allows some of our customers to request a replacement Social Security card online.

The new online version of the Application for a Replacement Social Security Card allows people in some states to request a replacement card online through our secure my Social Security portal without traveling to a field office. You can create or log into your personal my Social Security account at www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount. Currently available in the District of Columbia, Michigan, Nebraska, Washington, and Wisconsin, it's an easy, convenient, and secure way to request a replacement card online.

When you open a my Social Security account, we protect your information by using strict identity verification and security features. The application process has built-in features to detect fraud and confirm your identity.

In certain cases, security experts at Social Security will contact you to ensure it is a legitimate application. We only issue a replacement card if there's no suspicion of fraud and only mail it to a verified address.

To take advantage of this new service option, you must:

- Have or create a my Social Security account;
- Have a valid driver's license in a participating state or the District of Columbia (or a state-issued identification card in some states);

•Be age 18 or older and a United States citizen with a domestic U.S. mailing address (this includes APO, FPO, and DPO addresses); and

•Not be requesting a name change or any other changes to your card.

We plan to add more states, so we encourage you to check with us later in the year!

Before you request a replacement card online, you may want to consider whether you need to get a replacement card at all. Most times, knowing your number is what's important. You'll rarely need the card itself, perhaps only when you get a new job and have to show it to your employer.

If you decide that you do need a replacement card, log into your personal my Social Security account and select "Request a Replacement Card." Next, answer the screening questions to confirm eligibility, complete personal data, and you're done!

See how easy that was? For more information, please visit www.socialsecurity.gov.

Are Free Trial Offers Really Free?

—Negative Option Marketing Can Be Tricky

For centuries, consumers have believed when they were told something was “Free” that it really was. Not always true in today’s world of commerce. “Negative Option Marketing” has changed all of that.

According to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), Negative Option Marketing is a term used to “broadly refer to a category of commercial transactions in which the seller interprets a customer’s failure to take an affirmative action, either to reject an offer or cancel an agreement, as assent to be charged for goods or services.”

“Negative Option Marketing has become more and more prevalent, and, unfortunately, abused by some,” said Ran Hoth, BBB Serving Wisconsin CEO/president. “Many times, consumers believe they are receiving a free item and later discover they’ve been charged for products or services they never intended to purchase.”

Negative Option Marketing turns the sales transaction around. Instead of a merchant having to “sell” you the product or service, the option starts with the assumption that you have already bought it. It is then up to you, the consumer, to contact the merchant and cancel the order if you don’t want to accept the offer. Unless you contact the seller and tell them that you do not want the product or service, you will automatically be billed for it. Sometimes, these offers are buried in small print in online order confirmation pages where the consumer has to uncheck a box to decline the offer, thus making it tricky to catch.

Anytime a consumer is offered a “free gift” or “trial offer” most likely there is a longer-term, more expensive negative option transaction taking place. BBB suggests you read the fine print very carefully, and pay attention to the following:

- Make sure you know the details of the offer and when the trial expires. You will be required to cancel the offer before the trial period expires. If you fail to do so, you’ll continue to receive the product and be charged accordingly.

- Do your Research. Check out the company history at BBB.org and see if others have had problems.

- Read the terms and conditions carefully, as you will be bound to them.

As well, beware of pop-ups which could lead you astray.

- Don’t click to fast. Review the order form. Look for pre-checked boxes. You may be giving permission to send you more products that you’ll have to pay for if you don’t cancel, or you may be agreeing to a strict cancellation policy and not know it.

- Monitor your credit card and bank statements. Check for unknown or recurring charges that you weren’t aware of.

- How much time do you have to enjoy the free trial offer, and what is your deadline to cancel before you incur charges?

- Compare pricing. Don’t get locked into a commitment to buy overpriced goods.

- How do you cancel (email, mail, phone) and how easy is it to do? Unscrupulous businesses may create many obstacles to their cancellation policy making it difficult to get out of free trial offers.

BBB’s Code of Business Practices requires businesses to be transparent by clearly disclosing to consumers any recurring commitment into which the customer may be entering, including information on how future billing will occur. In addition, the FTC’s Negative Option Rule requires sellers to disclose all of this information to consumers in a clear and conspicuous manner.

Consumers who think they’ve been victims of deceptive marketing and who haven’t been able to resolve the issue directly with the merchant should call their bank or credit card issuer to dispute the charge. They should also report their experiences to their local BBB at BBB.org.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

February 4, 2016

BRUSCHETTA CHICKEN BAKE

makes about 6 servings

Adapted from
www.allrecipes.com

INGREDIENTS

- 1 1/2 pounds skinless, boneless chicken breast halves - cubed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 (15 oz) can diced tomatoes with juice
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 tablespoon minced garlic
- 1 (6 oz) box chicken-flavored dry bread stuffing mix
- 2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
- 1 tablespoon Italian seasoning

DIRECTIONS

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F (200 degrees C). Spray a 9x13-inch glass baking dish with cooking spray.

Place the cubed chicken with the salt in a large bowl. Place the chicken in a layer into the bottom of the baking dish. Stir together tomatoes, water, garlic, and stuffing mix in a large bowl; set aside to soften. Sprinkle the cheese on top of the chicken, then sprinkle with the Italian seasoning. Spread the softened stuffing mixture on top.

Bake uncovered until the chicken cubes have turned white and are no longer pink in the center, about 30 minutes.

Callen Cautions Against 10 Kitchen Trends

Chances are good that homeowners who spend time online have been intrigued by at least a few home trends and ideas that are all the rage on Pinterest or other social media. In the kitchen — the room that many agree is the focal point of a home — going out with the old and in with the new is especially tempting.

Although bringing an outdated kitchen up to today's standards is a good idea, designer Doreen Schofield of Callen Construction, Inc. in Muskego, a full service and award winning remodeling company serving southeastern Wisconsin since 1986, has words of caution about 10 current kitchen trends.

"Think like a buyer," Schofield said. "It's your home and your choice, but some trends that look great in theory are terrible to live with or try to sell later."

1. Odd Countertops. Several articles on do-it-yourself concrete countertops have been making the rounds on social media. The end result may not be as promised.

"Countertops are a focal point of the kitchen. It's not something you want to make yourself," Schofield said. "Choose wisely, for both appearance and maintenance."

Other trendy yet potentially regrettable countertop materials are glass, paper composite, tile, and stainless steel.

2. Metal Industrial Style. Going along with those stainless steel countertops, avoid the hip, industrial look of exposed light bulbs and metal shelving.

"Dangling light bulbs make your kitchen feel like a basement," Schofield said. "If you really want to keep the industrial feel, implement this trend with care and moderation, perhaps with stylish metal light fixtures and hardware. You don't want to have to tear out all your aluminum cabinetry when you wake up one morning and dislike it."

3. Rustic Country Style. Barn doors and splintered pallets for all. "This style has wonderful appeal when done professionally. The problem, again, is overdoing it," she said.

Reclaimed, repurposed wood is better as an accent than the main material in your kitchen. "Even if you saw it in a magazine, chances are you're going to regret using repurposed wood for your cabinetry with rustic barn doors."

4. Open Shelving. This minimalist trend calls for displaying kitchen items on shelves rather than storing them in cupboards. Countless open shelf kitchen photos and articles have been circulating on social media recently.

"This is one of the trends that looks great in a well staged photo but is likely terrible in your own home. Sure, you can grab a plate without the hassle of opening a cupboard door, but who has the energy to keep everything tidy and dusted?" she asked. "Even if you can keep it up, your kitchen may look like a kitchen supply store."

5. Faux Finishes. Homeowners are told online and in stores that they can do faux painting of walls and faux finishing of furniture themselves. "The end result of this do-it-yourself trend is unappealing," Schofield said.

She recommends a solid coat of paint, or if a homeowner desires distressed cabinetry or sponged walls, hire a professional who can make this trend as unnoticeable as it is supposed to be.

6. Over-the-Range Microwaves. It was a big space-saving trend for a while, but this setup is on the way out.

"A stylish range hood is much more attractive," she said. "We're now starting to see microwave drawers installed at a height that makes more sense." Storing other appliances in pullout drawers is also a better-received trend than using appliance garages that take up valuable countertop space.

7. Inspirational Wall Text. "Make sure it really means something to you," she said. "Most of the time, these inspirational sayings are the type that, frankly, go without saying."

8. Desk Space. Before you save that Houzz photo to your idea book, consider whether you would actually use a desk built into your kitchen island or along the kitchen wall.

"Chances are you don't need a built-in bookshelf for cookbooks anymore. You may not even have a desktop computer anymore. You can carry your tablet full of bookmarked recipes anywhere you want in the kitchen. Use that space better."

9. Chalkboard Paint. It's unique. It's fun. And when it's overdone, it makes a kitchen look like an old schoolhouse.

"One thing they don't show you on Pinterest is the mess. Do you remember all the chalk dust everywhere in elementary school? Save yourself the trouble. Or if it's too fun to resist, keep it small."

10. Too Many Trends Together. "Generally, just don't overdo it," Schofield cautions. Ideas trend because they're interesting, fun, solve a problem, appeal to the eye, or define the individual in some way, but mixing too many new and modern ideas together can have the opposite effect.

"A buyer would typically look for a kitchen that is classic in design. There's nothing wrong with putting your personal touch and style into your remodel, but it's a good idea to maintain some amount of universal appeal, especially in the kitchen."

Of course, the opposite is true as well: "If every home had the same stainless steel appliances and neutral granite countertops, we would all be bored." In the end, it's not so much the trends themselves that are the issue, but the execution of them. In a kitchen remodel, the choices homeowners make should be logical, fitting with the context of the home, and executed with skill.

Schofield emphasized that freedom of expression is important, but so is money and time. "There's no real way to avoid looking dated — we don't know what kitchens will look like in the future. But unless you have the funds to redo your kitchen every year, make choices that will look good as they age."

The Shining Stars dance team performed at Campbellsport High School on Tuesday, Jan. 19. The team is made up of special needs youth from the Campbellsport and Kewaskum areas. They also performed last week in Kewaskum at the girls basketball game.

Wisconsin Kitchen Mart Offers Kitchen Organization Tips

No matter the occasion, family always finds itself gathered in the kitchen. As the hot spot of the house, it is important to have a neatly organized kitchen to maximize efficiency and be appealing to the eye.

Matt Godfread, a designer with Wisconsin Kitchen Mart, which has provided award-winning design/build services since 1951, gave his expert advice on how to organize your kitchen.

Remove Clutter: "First things first, go through all your drawers and cabinets and remove anything that you have duplicates of, donate things you don't use, and toss it out if it is broken," Godfread said. Removing unnecessary gadgets provides room for items you use frequently and makes it easier to find what you need.

Create Stations: Create areas designated for specific activity. Prepping, cooking, cleaning, and putting food away are all part of the cooking process. By mentally assigning a specific place to each one, you'll be able to go from slicing to dicing with the ease of a restaurant chef.

Keep Things in an Arm's Reach: After you assign your stations, keep the necessary tools and utensils at these stations. "Keep your cutlery and dishes near the sink, spices and cooking implements near the stove, and chopping boards and knives near your prep area," Godfread said.

Having everything in an arm's reach will prevent you from bouncing back and forth around the kitchen. It also helps to store bulky, infrequently used items on high shelves to free the space for things you regularly use.

Make Use of Vertical Space: Every inch of space in the kitchen is valuable, so make the best of vertical space. "Adhesive hooks on the inside of cabinet doors make a great place to hold tools such as measuring cups and oven mitts," Godfread said.

Adding hooks underneath cabinets to hold mugs will also free up flat space inside cabinets and allow you to grab what you need easier.

Drawer Dividers: Keep your cooking utensils and miscellaneous items that survived the clutter removal organized with drawer dividers, which keep your utensils separated and easy to find.

Papers: The kitchen counter always seems to cumulate an abundance of papers — mail, bills, homework, takeout menus, and recipes are frequently sprawled across counters. "This creates a lot of clutter and makes it easy to lose important information," Godfread said. "Instead, organize them in a folder with specific sections for each. Attach the folder to a cabinet or magnetize it to the refrigerator."

Organization is also achieved by making sure a kitchen is designed to work for the homeowner's intended use. "Any of the designers at Wisconsin Kitchen Mart can work on developing the space so it's most conducive to the homeowner," Godfread said. "Having the kitchen designed appropriately will enable homeowners to not only stay organized more easily, but get the most out of the space."

Kewaskum High School Hosts Fiesta Fun Night

In a successful second year, more than 400 people attended Fiesta Fun Night, hosted at Kewaskum High School by the Spanish department. Members of the Spanish Club, KEY Club and Global Education helped prepare for the night and volunteered during the event. Students of all ages made and decorated musical instruments from Spanish speaking countries, including maracas, castanets, guiros and flamenco guitars. All attendees tasted Hispanic food donated by local businesses including Casa Tequila and La Mexicana of West Bend, and Bryanna's Bakery of Fond du Lac. In preparation for a school trip to Panama this summer, the Spanish Traveler's Club sold baked goods.

The highlight of the evening was a dance performance by Ballet Folklórico, a Hispanic dance troupe from West Bend. The group performed several traditional dances from different regions of Mexico, and their colorful costumes reflected the group's rich cultural heritage.

Kewaskum's Spanish department looks forward to working with local businesses, volunteers and community groups to host this event again in the future.

Magnus Is Becoming KHS's Man For All Seasons

By Judy Harlow

Oddly enough, Jim Magnus, the announcer for a variety of Kewaskum High School sporting activities, became more involved with the school after his children graduated than when they were student athletes.

Not that Jim and his wife Karen didn't attend their children's activities. "We went to everything," Magnus said, referring to the years their son played football and to daughter Amanda's competitions in high school volleyball and club volleyball.

"Basically how it (his announcing) started, I was joking around with Bob Bastian (whose daughter Breanna was also on the volleyball team)," Magnus said, recalling the two were convinced having an announcer would add some excitement to the matches.

"We were the only cheerleaders in the crowd," Magnus said about himself and Bastian.

Magnus didn't just come up with the idea. He acted on it, mentioning it to KHS Athletic Director Jason Piittmann, who invited him to announce at the volleyball matches the next year.

Piittmann then asked Magnus if he would like to try his voice for basketball games. "I said no the first year. I didn't think I was ready ... thought it would be too complicated," Magnus said, but he did watch Dave Rockhill announce some of the basketball games, and when Rockhill left Kewaskum to teach at Plymouth, he re-considered.

"I took many leads from him (Rockhill)," Magnus said. "He made the games exciting," with music during the timeouts," nicknames for the players and other innovative ideas.

Magnus said he got "more comfortable" with basketball as time went on, and, "That kind of led to football" which he has done for the past three years after Joe Rinzel decided he no longer wanted to announce.

"I know the first time I did football, it was also Parents Night on top of it (everything)," Magnus said, indicating he not only had pronunciations of players but had to get the names of the parents as well. "The first night was kind of nerve-wracking."

Now Magnus is an old hand, but his efforts don't come without preparation. For football, he usually meets with Piittmann the week before the first game to go over the names of the players. During the basketball season, "I usually come to the games early," seeking out the visiting coach in case the visiting players' names offer any challenges. Then it's off to the freshman games at Kewaskum Elementary School where he is in charge of the clock.

Right after that game is over, Magnus dashes back to the high school for the varsity game. Most times, he has 10 minutes or more to look over the names in the program, but said he once arrived just 45 seconds before the starters were to be announced for the varsity game.

The hardest part of going from one game to another is "finding a parking place," Magnus said, noting he enjoys the opportunity to announce the games, to a point where he even started doing soccer matches two years ago.

A fund-raiser enabled the school to purchase a sound system, according to Magnus, who admits, "Soccer by far is the hardest sport to announce."

Concerning any feedback he may receive, Magnus said many of the KHS athletes and parents have responded favorably, and, "Every once in a while someone from the visiting school says something. That makes you feel good!"

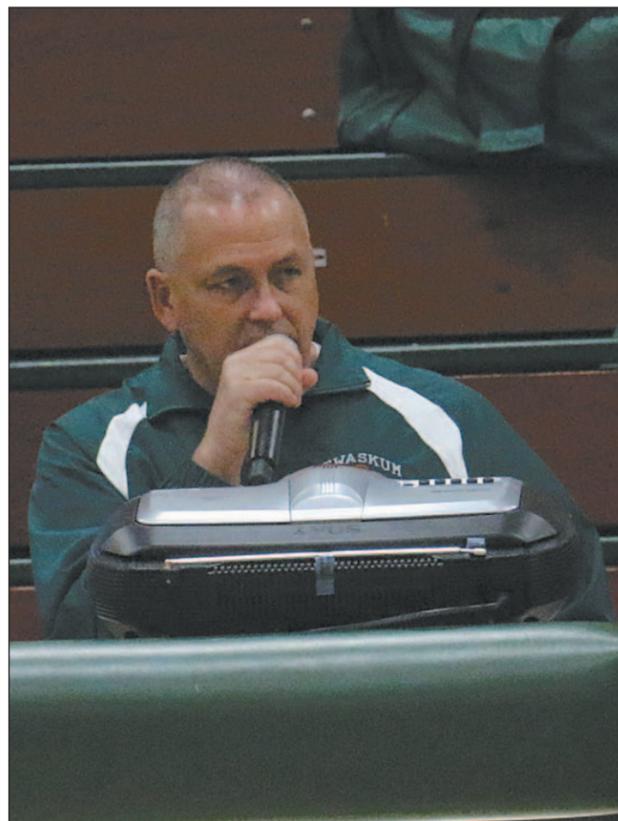

On the other side of the coin, Magnus, who is a buyer at Zuern Bulding Products in Allenton, said if you make a mistake on the pronunciation of a name, "They (fans) usually correct you.

When he started announcing volleyball, "it was strictly volunteer," Magnus said, adding now there is a stipend for announcing, but, "The pay isn't why I do it. I enjoy the sports." Plus attending basketball games twice a week "makes the winter go by faster."

Trio Of Wrestlers Go 5-0 At Laconia Test

By Judy Harlow

Handicapped by the fact two regulars were missing from the lineup, the Kewaskum High wrestling team had difficulty winning matches at the Laconia Team Tournament last Saturday.

The Indians finished at 2-3, beating the combined Chilton/Hilbert team 41-26 and Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah/ Howards Grove 46-24. while losing to the host Spartans, 45-28, to Ripon 53-24 and to Division 3 Kenosha Christian, 56-19.

Three teams, Ripon, Laconia and Kenosha Christian, all finished with 3-2 records, and Ripon was awarded the title on criteria, according to Kewaskum coach Scott Rhoads, who had no one to fill in for senior Zach Heberer at 138 and had a pretty inexperienced wrestler stepping in for senior Danny Seitz at 152.

"We had Danny Seitz and Zach Heberer out with head injuries," Rhoads said. "They went head-to-head in practice." Both have winning records this season and definitely would have helped the Indian cause.

Three wrestlers who did do well for KHS were freshmen Eric Bauer and Alex at 120 and 126, senior Ben Watzig at 195. They all finished 5-0 on the day.

"He didn't get too much competition," Rhoads said about Bauer, who improved to an impressive 38-1 record on the year, who had two pins in under 30 seconds, another in 1:11, one technical fall and one major decision.

The 11-2 major decision came against Laconia sophomore Zachary Foth, perhaps the Spartans' best wrestler. In late December, Foth finished second at 120 pounds in the On The Waters Classic in Oshkosh.

Deheck (32-5) was just about as impressive, except he didn't get a match against Laconia. In the matches he did wrestle, Deheck notched a pair of pins and shut out his other two opponents, 6-0 and 4-0.

Deheck's match vs. 2015 state qualifier Max Ward of Elkhart Lake was a big challenge. He was up to the task, however, scoring takedowns in the first and second periods for the 4-0, and even though he got ridden the entire third period, he got the "W."

"He's a real good wrestler," Rhoads said about Ward, but "I think his (Deheck's) match vs. Kenosha Christian was even bigger. He beat that kid (Cameron Calabrese) 6-0." Calabrese is 24-2 this season.

Watzig only got to wrestle three times as Laconia and Elkhart Lake had no wrestlers at 195. When he finally did get on the mat, the big senior posted one pin and one major decision and needed to go into overtime to win a 3-1 decision over another senior, Duncan Calnin of Chilton.

With his five wins, Watzig's record improved to 18-1.

Colf Rahlf (16-8) also came away with a winning record at 145. He finished 4-1, with two forfeits, one pin (over Gabe Crouse of Kenosha Christian) and one decision. He was pinned in his other match.

The other Indians struggled, finishing as follows: 106 - Nathaniel Droese, 2-3; 113 - Adam Bruss, 2-2; 132 Tanner Goeman, 2-3; 152 - Jared Rex, 0-4, and Jacob Alexander, 0-1; 160 - Sam Larson, 2-3; 170 - Eduardo Padilla, 1-4; 182, Eric Doll, 1-4; 220 - Mike Brygelson, 2-3; 285- Riley Donovan, 1-3 and Dakota Lawrenz, 1-0.

On Saturday, the Indians will be at Ripon for the first East Central Conference Tournament. Wrestling is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. The battle for the title is expected to be tight, with Campbell'sport, Kewaskum and Ripon all in the running. Campbell'sport is 5-0 but still has a dual meet against Ripon, which is 4-1. Kewaskum finished its season at 5-1.

On Saturday, February 13, KHS will be among six schools at a D-2 regional tournament hosted by Campbell'sport. The other schools involved are Lomira, which won the regional last year, Mayville, North Fond du Lac/St. Mary's Springs and Waupun. The first and second place finishers advance to the Milwaukee Lutheran Sectional.

Exciting Comeback By Indians Earns Respect But No Victory

By Judy Harlow

Being down by 19 points (49-30) with a little more than seven minutes to play might be white flag time for some boys high school basketball teams, but not the Kewaskum Indians, who battled back to outscore visiting Plymouth 22-4 the rest of the way only to fall one point short of victory.

Charlie Witek's contested 14-footer rimmed out with a couple seconds remaining, and after the ball went out of bounds off a Plymouth player, the Indians had a chance at a "catch-and-shoot" try with 00.4, but Josh Baker didn't get the ball high enough for Jason Hanson to try for a tip-in, and the Panthers escaped with a 53-52 win.

Both teams came into the January 29th game with 3-4 records in the East Central Conference. The winner would earn sole possession of fourth place and perhaps down the road will secure a better seed in the D-2 regional voting,

For the Indians, however, there was the matter of gaining respect by playing well against a traditionally strong program, and there is no question they did that.

In the early stages of the game, "They played pretty tough defense on us ... and we got called for a lot of travels," KHS coach Don Gruber said, indicating those turnovers — some of them he felt were questionable — and missed shots allowed the Panthers to have extra chances on offense.

Still, the game was fairly close, with each team making four to six-point runs to counter the other.

Plymouth led 18-9 before Michael Prochnow buried a three-pointer and Brady Hanson popped in a turn-around jumper, bringing the score to 18-14, then the Panthers' Cody Kuhn swished one of his patented rainbow jumpers with 1:42 to go and Alex Shutter drove in for a layup at the buzzer for a 23-16 advantage at the break.

The second half didn't start all that well for the Indians who were the victims of Shutter's drive down the baseline for a basket.

Things could have gotten away from Kewaskum at this point, but Sam Schlosser came to the rescue, hitting a long three-pointer right in front of the Indians' bench. Schlosser was knocked to the floor but was unable to convert the free throw he was awarded. Still, KHS had cut the deficit to six, and quickly it was just four, 21-25, after Prochnow successfully banked in a shot.

Here's where the Panthers started to pull comfortably in the lead, outscoring Kewaskum 15 to 5 in a five minute span. At the 11:15 mark, Shutter hit a three-ball for a 40-25 advantage, and the Panthers kept the momentum on their side right on to the 49-30 lead when Gruber switched to a pressure defense.

"Our guys were really pressing ... trapping," Gruber said, and slowly but surely, the Indians were chipping away at the lead and moving the MO (momentum) to their side. First, Prochnow knocked down a three, then Schlosser made all three free throws after being fouled beyond the arc, and added two more charity tosses when he was fouled trying a shot at the 6:10 mark.

Witek's steal and ensuing lay up, off a Josh Baker assist, brought the margin to single digits at 49-40, and the large Parents Night crowd was starting to feel their team had a shot at winning.

Prochnow's two free throws cut the margin to seven, Schlosser added one free throw, and then it was Prochnow again, hitting a 10-footer from the baseline and now the difference was just four, 49-45.

After Gage Nischke missed a reverse layup with 2:30 to go, Gruber called time out to set up a play, a play that went to Brady Hanson on the right wing. His three-point shot was on target and KHS was now down just one, 48-49.

Next Witek came up with an interception and on his drive was fouled by Kuhn. The first free throw bounced around the rim and dropped through and the second was perfect for the Indian's first lead, 50-49.

Plymouth broke a long drought seconds later when Kuhn was fouled and made both free throws (50-51), then Gruber took another time and called for the "Malone" play, one he saw the Malone University women used very successfully. It worked to perfection. Witek wound up alone under the basket and scored for a 52-51 lead with :48 to go.

Plymouth worked the ball in to Will Hunter, who was fouled. Hunter made his two free throw with :32 remaining, and Kewaskum was unable to connect on three chances it had at the end.

"That last foul on Charlie ... It looked like he was in pretty good position on it," Gruber said.

About the last two plays, the coach went on, "I was looking for a shot by Charlie at the top of the key. He got a good look at it."

Gruber praised Schlosser for sparking the comeback. He hit the long three, and he made his free throws," Gruber said. "Finally, in the second half, we settled down a little bit and made them play some defense.

KHS, now 7-8 overall, was led by Hanson, who had 16 points, nine coming in the second half after he struggled shooting in the first half. Prochnow and Witek chipped in with 14 and 10, respectively.

Plymouth got 16 points from Shutter and Kuhn, who had 23 against the Indians the first time around when Plymouth won by 13 points.

After traveling to Winnecone February 2, the Indians travel to Waupun tomorrow (Friday).

Turnover Woes Result In Road Loss

By Judy Harlow

The Kewaskum High girls basketball team has fallen on hard times in recent East Central Conference games, the most recent a 53-34 loss to host Berlin on January 29.

Once again, the Indians suffered from their lack of scoring punch and that situation was the direct result of turnovers and all the fouls called on them.

In the first half, Kewaskum, which had defeated Berlin earlier in the season by a score of 55-36, mustered just 16 points.

"The story of the game was turnovers. We had 32 of them," KHS coach Russ Thull said. "Berlin switched up their defenses a ton and really kept us out of getting any rhythm on offense. We need to do a better job reading defenses and making the proper pass."

"We started out down 16-4," Thull went on. "We fought back and closed the gap to five points with four minutes remaining in the half, but then Julia Willoway took over and led the Berlin Indians on a 12-0 run that closed the first half."

The Indians shot well on their 2-point attempts, hitting 13x32 for 40 percent but failed to his any three-pointers in 11 tries.

Sammie Wiskirchen, the team's five-foot, 11-inch senior post player, continues to shine. She had a team-high 17 points on 6x10 shooting from the floor and five of 12 free throws, an area where the team continues to struggle. They successfully converted eight of 17 from the charity stripe, a 40 percent effort.

Wiskirchen hauled in a team-high 11 rebounds for a double-double, and she had one steal.

Mikayla Dogs and Hailey Herriges added seven and six points, respectively. Dogs dished out four assists and blocked one shot, while Herriges had seven rebounds, including four on the offensive end of the court.

Silloway, a 5-8 senior guard, led the hosts with 27 points. "During this game, she set the school record for most points scored in school history," Thull said. "We held her to 14 points earlier in the season, but she was really good going to the rim as well as hitting contested outside shots."

With the loss, the Indians are 2-8 in EC play and 6-11 overall. After playing at Plymouth on February 4, the Indians are home tonight (Thursday) against non-conference foe, Omro.

Kewaskum 23, Campbellspport 26

On January 26, the Indians hooked up with their arch rival Campbellspport in a defensive battle, which was won by the Cougars 26-23.

Herriges hit iron on a three-ball with under 30 seconds remaining, and the Indians got a second chance to tie the game after Alivia Wisnefske missed the front end of a bonus with 14.2 second to go.

Thull called a time out to set up a play. Dogs inbounded the ball to Wiskirchen, who passed it to Herriges, who was covered. She attempted a pass to Trepes, which was too high and went out of bounds as time expired.

Thull said the plan was to get the ball to Herriges for a three-point attempt. "We wanted Hailey. We thought she was open. She just didn't pull the trigger," Thull said. "I couldn't fault Hailey. She just didn't think she had the look."

"Both teams grinded it out," Thull said. "I thought we actually played pretty well, holding a team to 26 points," but, "We gave up too many offensive rebounds ... gave them too many second shots."

The Indians also struggled offensively, and Thull said, "We've just got to find a way to put up a few more points."

Wiskirchen, coming off a 28-point performance in the win over Ripon, led KHS with 11 points. She drew constant attention from the Cougars. "They really focused on Sammie inside. They doubled her down low," Thull said.

The Indians led 21-20 when Becca O'Brien hit her only basket of the night, a 12-footer, to give CHS the lead with 8:31 to play. Kewaskum was unable to score for the next 4:16 until Dogs made a pair of free throws.

KHS again played without Rachel Holt (lost for the season - back problem) and Kaila Kirst, and Campbellspport's Tiffany Anderson, who scored 16 points in the teams' first meeting, missed the game due to an injury.

Hanson And Witek Combine For 53 Points In Win Over Rockets

By Judy Harlow

Once again, it was the 1-2 scoring punch of Charlie Witek and Brady Hanson leading the Kewaskum boys basketball team to a 75-71 non-conference victory over host Cedar Grove.

Hanson scored 27 points and Witek hit 26 in the January 25 win, which was the third in a row for the Indians, who have moved back to the .500 mark at 7-7.

KHS held a one-point lead at the break and outscored the Rockets 41-38 in the second half.

"The guys are learning how to win," Gruber said, reporting his team was up by 28-14 with about 6:00 left in the first half, "but they (Rockets) had a little flurry at the end to bring it down to one."

KHS went on the offensive in the second half, going up by as many as 11 points (58-47) when the Rockets hit nine unanswered points, including a pair of three-pointers by Reid Hilbelink to take the lead.

Witek hit a 15-footer to tie the score at 66-66, then Sam Schlosser, who wound up with 11 points, drained a rainbow jumper for a 70-67 advantage and followed that up with a pair of free throws for a five-point, 72-67 lead.

The Rockets answered with a bucket, and the Indians closed out the game with Witek hitting one of two from the free throw line, and Hanson made two of four after Cedar Grove was called for a technical after an intentional foul.

"We hit 11 out of 23, three-balls" for 55 percent, Gruber beamed. "Brady hit seven out of nine."

The rebounding leader for the Indians was Michael Prochnow with 11.

Cedar Grove, which didn't have a single senior in the game, was led by Hilbelink's 23 points. The Rocks were red-hot at the free throw line, successfully making 18 of 19, while the Indians struggle in that department, converting just eight of 18 or they would have had an easier time down the stretch.
