Community Survey Points Kewaskum School District Toward Referendum

– District Receives Large Amount Of Input From Community

By Anne Trautner

Survey results are in, and the Kewaskum School District will likely go to referendum in November.

Last month's survey revealed that the community supports improving the high school and middle school facilities, but a price tag of $32.2 million is too expensive, according to Matt Wolfert, president of Bray Architects, an architectural firm that specializes in educational planning and design. The survey identified nine categories that the building project would encompass and gauged community support for each of those areas.

Bray Architects pared down the plans for the categories that had the least support, cutting 33 percent of the project cost, lowering the overall cost to approximately $28 million. This would lower the projected tax rate from 77 cents to 48 cents on $100,000 worth of property value.

The district's Long Range Planning Committee reviewed the survey results last week and decided that the new conceptual plan effectively met the district's most vital needs. The committee recommended on June 7 that the Kewaskum School Board go forward with a plan to improve the middle school and high school facilities at the reduced rate of about $28 million.

"After listening to the survey results, the architect came back with all of the suggestions that we could honor. It is a good plan," committee member Mugs McFadden said.

Kewaskum Students Selected For State Honors Band

By Anne Trautner

Three Kewaskum students auditioned and were selected for the Wisconsin Middle Level Honors Band.

Andrew Beine (trumpet), Dustin Pick (trombone) and Emily Halterman (bass clarinet) all just completed eighth grade at Kewaskum Middle School and will play in the state honors band.

"This is a huge deal. We have never had three students get in before. Most schools are lucky to have one student get in," Kewaskum Middle School Band Teacher Rachael Holmes said.

The students will attend a four-day band camp at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay this summer. The band will perform a concert at the Wisconsin Music Educators Association state conference in Madison on Oct. 29.

The statewide band is open to students in sixth, seventh or eighth grade. Each year around 1,200 students audition for the 300 available positions in the Middle Level Honors State Music Project, which includes a band, orchestra and choir.

"Students are selected through a very competitive audition process. This is probably the highest honor available for a middle school band student," Holmes said.

All three Kewaskum students tried out for the honors band on different days at different locations. Dustin was in Appleton, Emily went to Dousman and Andrew traveled to Sun Prairie.

"It was really nerve racking," Emily said. "I have social anxiety sometimes. I went in there and it was just one-on-one with this person I didn't know. I kind of freaked out at first."

Court Rules In Favor Of Former Kewaskum Teacher

— School District Ordered To Pay FICA Reimbursement To Former Employee

By Anne Trautner

Linda Kiser, a former middle school special education teacher for the Kewaskum Schools, has won a second case in court against the Kewaskum School District.

Circuit Court Judge James Muehlbauer ruled on April 26 that the Kewaskum School District is responsible for paying Kiser $11,946.32 in FICA taxes (social security and Medicare programs) for the $180,000 she was awarded in 2014 for back pay.

"Regardless of claimed beliefs and intentions, the revised Full and Final Release and Settlement Agreement clearly and completely unambiguously provides that the employer's contribution to FICA was not to come out of the $180,000 settlement amount," Muehlbauer wrote in his decision.

Muehlbauer also ruled that the dispute concerning FICA withholding occurred after the 2014 settlement. When she signed that agreement on July 14, 2014, Kiser agreed to not sue the district for anything that occurred prior to that date.

Kiser won a case against the school district in 2013 because the district ignored an arbitrator's order to re-hire her.

The school district protected itself with the latest case when it retained attorney Tony Renning to represent the district in court. Renning took on the district's case for $11,946.32, and agreed to waive the fee if the court did not rule in the district's favor.

"On merit and on moral and ethical rightness, we felt that it was our need to stand up to this," Kewaskum School District Superintendent James Smasal said.

The case dates back to 2010, when Kiser was fired for using physical force against four students with disabilities. The district claimed that the students had been pinched in the neck and shoulder area, pulled by the arm or pushed into chairs.

Kiser is a member of the Kewaskum Education Association, and after Kiser was fired, the association filed a grievance on Kiser's behalf. The collective bargaining agreement that existed between the school district and the association in 2010 deemed that disputes would be submitted to an arbitrator for a final, binding decision.

On May 3, 2012, the arbitrator determined that there was insufficient evidence for many of the allegations of inappropriate force and some of the physical contact had been incidental. The arbitrator found three incidents that warranted discipline of Kiser, but they were not just cause for dismissal. The arbitrator ordered the district to re-hire Kiser with back pay, except for a 30-day suspension.

Meanwhile, in June 2011, Act 10 went into effect in Wisconsin, and binding arbitration was eliminated for Wisconsin public schools.

Because the arbitrator's order came after Act 10 had passed, the Kewaskum School District took the case to circuit court, claiming that Act 10 made the arbitrator's decision invalid.

The circuit court ruled in favor of Kiser, and the school district brought the case to the appellate court.

On Oct. 23, 2013, the Wisconsin Court of Appeals also ruled in Kiser's favor, stating that the arbitration was done when an existing contract was in force, so the arbitrator's decision was legally binding.

Kiser and representatives for the Kewaskum School District signed a settlement agreement in 2014. The agreement states that Kiser was reinstated to her employment with the district on March 31, 2014, and that the district would accept her resignation effective the end of the 2013-2014 school year.

The district agreed to pay Kiser $180,000, inclusive of all back wages and benefits through the end of the 2013-2014 academic year.

The settlement agreement states that the back wages and benefits "will be subject to standard payroll taxes or deductions, income withholding taxes, social security taxes (employee's share only), or any other taxes (if any) which customarily are deducted and paid with respect to wages, as well as the deduction of the employee's contribution to the Wisconsin Retirement System (WRS)."

According to the settlement agreement, the payment also includes an offset for the employer's WRS contribution.

The district paid the employer's contribution to FICA, as specified in the settlement.

In late December 2014 or early January 2015, Kiser notified the district that she felt there had been an error in the amount the district had paid her. She felt that the district was supposed to reimburse her for her share of the FICA taxes.

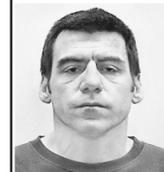

However, the school board maintained that it had paid the agreed-upon amount. In response, Kiser filed charges in July 2015.

WASHINGTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S REPORTS

Suicidal Man

On June 11 at 11:50 a.m., the Sheriff's Office received information from a family member that a Village of Richfield man in his late 20s was suicidal and believed to be on heroin.

The man had given a family member a letter earlier in the morning that contained suicidal verbiage. When the family member told the man he was going to the police with the letter, the man stated that if he did, he would commit "suicide by cop."

Responding squads arrived at the residence and noted that the man's car was gone. Another family member reported seeing the man at approximately 12:15 p.m. at a business in the City of Milwaukee. The Milwaukee Police Department was subsequently contacted and asked to watchful for the subject.

Later in the evening at about 8:20 p.m., Washington County deputies located the man sitting inside his vehicle just inside Waukesha County in the Town of Lisbon. When the deputy made contact with the subject, he had an airsoft pistol on the front passenger seat and was listening to the Washington County Sheriff's Office radio communications through a phone app.

The man was taken into protective custody without incident and subsequently transported to a mental health facility.

Personal Welfare

The Sheriff's Office received a call of a shirtless man lying in ditch and not moving on Saturday, June 11, at 6:18 a.m. in the area of Interstate 45 and County Highway D.

Upon arrival, squads located a 23-year-old Town of Barton man in the tall grass on the north side of County Highway D. He was awake, appeared to have been drinking, but not incapacitated.

The man said that he had been drinking with friends the previous night in downtown West Bend after fishing. The man said that he had way too much to drink and decided to walk home instead of drive. The man said he became tired and laid down to rest.

The Sheriff's Office contacted the West Bend Police and was told that the police department had contact with him around 2:30 a.m. for a noise violation, but the department was not looking for him otherwise. The man was provided a ride back to his home about 1.5 miles away.

Weekly HEALTH TIP

PREVENT NIGHTTIME LEG CRAMPS

Muscle cramps are involuntary contractions of a muscle, and they are especially disturbing when they occur in the middle of the night. They can be caused by straining or overworking a muscle, dehydration, poor blood supply to the muscle or not getting enough dietary minerals such as potassium, magnesium or calcium. To ease the pain, gently stretch the muscle or walk around a bit to relax the cramp. Massaging the muscle or applying heat can also help relax it. To help prevent leg cramps, drink plenty of fluids; get adequate potassium, magnesium and calcium in your diet; gently stretch your muscles before bedtime; and loosen the sheets at the foot of your bed.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Kewaskum, Holy Trinity Parish Center Walkthrough Invitation

Dear Friends,

Successful Capital Campaign

After dreaming of a Parish Center for years, we were able to mobilize so many of our fellow parishioners and townspeople through our We Believe Capital Campaign. We want to say a hearty "thank you" to all who supported us with your prayers, ideas, involvement, and financial gifts!

Our three financial goals were:

- Goal 1 - Celebration - $1.75 million
- Goal 2 - Challenge - $2 million

Goal 3 - Transformation
$2.5 million

With $3 million raised in pledges we are exceedingly grateful to all who had a part to play in our campaign in any way. It has been a rewarding effort for all of us involved.

Invitation To Parish Center Walkthrough

We broke ground on our new Parish Center on April 1 and had our official Celebration and Prayer Service on April 17. This Parish Center, which will include gym, kitchen, café, and parish offices, will be completed on September 9.

We want to invite you to our Parish Center Open House on Sunday, June 26. At this time you will be able to view our progress, hear of some of our plans, and enjoy some refreshments.

Please mark your calendar and plan to join us if you can for:

Father's Traits

Sunday is a special day when we honor dads. I think many dads often sit in the background and are not really that interested in attention being brought to them. Yet, their role is so important to the family.

My experience in covering news for many years has shown me that disaster often strikes families without the involvement of dads. There must be something of great value in having an interactive dad with his children. What makes a father so valuable? I don't think there is a single answer but I do think that there are several traits I think of when I think of what good dads possess.

I think that by far the most important trait of a dad is that he loves his wife first and makes sure that his family is living and interacting together in a healthy fashion. Dads who are separated from their families have extra challenges but the job can be done.

Secondly, the dad's job is to be the provider for the family. A good dad sets the agenda for the direction of the family. He needs to be available and present to really make a difference. Quality time can only be achieved by spending time together.

A dad needs to set the example. It is not what dad says that is nearly as important as how dad lives his life that really counts.

Dad always looks for the best interests of his children. It is always good to get dad's advice no matter how old children may be. Remembering dad's advice can often come in handy even after dad is gone.

Good dads are supportive as well as understanding. Dads have the job of lovingly correcting their young children as well as advising older children. Good dads focus on teaching principles to live by. They help children learn the difference between right and wrong and what is important.

Dads can often see potential and can point out opportunities. They can encourage their children to be the best they can be within their abilities.

Good dads make sure that the communication line between family members is always open, even in difficult times.

No dad is perfect. A good dad admits when he makes a mistake and moves forward.

There comes a point when dad has done everything he can do as far as child raising goes. One of the hardest things dads have to do is "let go" when his children leave the nest. His job is to raise his children and then send them out into the world on their own. It is a really hard thing for a dad to let go or at least it was for me.

The role of dads changes as they get older but they are always important. It takes a lot of energy and effort to be a dad. I am sure that there are many more traits I did not mention that make dads valuable.

Although being a dad is a lot of work, it also has great rewards. Each dad has a unique job and is special.

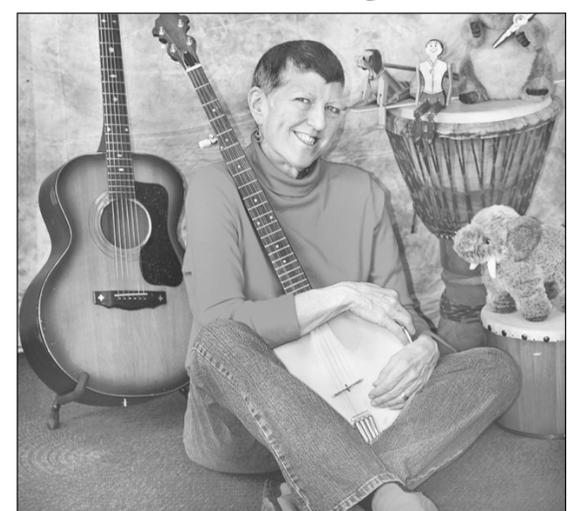

This Sunday we have a chance to say "thank you" to dad and let him know we recognize the many valuable things he does.

Family Concert With Judy Stock

Join us on Saturday, June 25, at 7 p.m. for an evening of music and merriment with Judy Stock.

The sunset concert will be held outdoors at the Mauthe Lake Recreation Area Picnic Shelter of the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit. The Mauthe Lake recreation area is located off Highway GGG south of Highway SS near New Prospect. A Wisconsin State Park System vehicle admission sticker is required. In the event of inclement weather, the concert will be held at the Henry S. Reuss Ice Age Visitor Center (located off of Highway 67 half mile west of Dundee).

Judy Stock is an engaging entertainer for all ages. Children are charmed by her great personality and her ability to include them in on many tunes. Adults will be amazed at the array of instruments she plays and chuckle at silly songs from their past. Judy's concerts are fun-filled events for the entire family.

For more information about this delightful family concert, contact the forest staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The center's phone number is (920) 533-8322 and it is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Allenton Elementary Holds Fifth Grade Promotion Ceremony

By Anne Trautner

Last week marked the end of the school year for many students in the area.

For some, like fifth-graders at Allenton Elementary School, it marked the end of an era.

It was the last time the students would ride the bus to the brick building. They would no longer be able to climb on the playground equipment during recess or spend time with a reading buddy each day. Their world was changing.

To mark the end of the year, the school held a promotion ceremony for the fifth-graders.

"You have been working hard for the last seven years (including 4K) to get to this day. Many events have happened in your life," Allenton Elementary School Principal Angie Wickus said.

To remember some of those moments, the students watched a 10-minute slide show that the teachers had created.

"No matter how long you've been here, you're part of the Allenton family and you always will be. As a former Allenton student myself, I can tell you that is something very special that will always be a part of you," teacher Heather Kiefer said.

As fifth-graders, over the past year the students had the opportunity to take part in Fuel Up to Play 60, Awesome Allenton Helpers, the Supply Closet, the school's Holiday Program, Allenton Angels, the fifth grade musical, the Art and Project Fair, Crazy 8's Math Club, Chess Club and Pickleball.

"We cannot wait to see where you will go in life and what the future holds for you," Kiefer told the students.

Because she will be moving with the students to middle school in the fall, Kiefer will glimpse a sneak peak at that future.

"Remember the power of 'Choosing Kind.' You can make an incredible difference in the world by making that choice to be just a bit kinder than necessary," fifth-grade teacher Kamron Koplitz advised the students. "Don't be afraid to try new things. You never know what just might be one of your yet undiscovered talents."

Wickus closed the ceremony with a quote from a well-known Dr. Seuss book, "Oh The Places You'll Go."

"Today is your day! Your mountain is waiting. So...get on your way!" Wickus read.

With that, each student in Allenton's fifth-grade class of 2016 was introduced and received handshakes, wrist bands, a promotion certificate and a "Too Good for Drugs" certificate.

Fifth-graders at Allenton Elementary School gather outside the school for a final picture. The students will begin middle school in the fall.

Moraine Park Honors Students At Annual Awards Banquet

The hard work and academic achievement of Moraine Park Technical College students was recognized during the college's annual Student Awards Banquet held last month at The Golf Club at Camelot in Lomira.

One of the night's speakers, Martin Ciriacks of Maribel, and the 2016 Moraine Park Distinguished Alumnus Award recipient, gave advice to the students in attendance encouraging them to think ahead and offer help to those entering their field.

"Help upcoming learners like yourself," said Ciriacks. "You will reach a certain level in your career when you will feel comfortable with your knowledge level. That is the time to start thinking of the next generation. You will be the one seeing workplace trends and opportunities every day. Pass that advice and knowledge on to others."

Moraine Park presented the 2016 Student of the Year Award to Rebecca Powell of Cedarburg. Continued From... Kewaskum Students Selected For State Honors Band

Emily told herself that she was just playing for this one person, and everything was going to be fine.

"And then I did it, and it was fine," said Emily, who plays bass clarinet, clarinet, drums, guitar, bass guitar and violin.

Dustin became unnerved when he was the only trombone player who showed up for his auditioning group.

"Am I in the wrong spot?" Dustin wondered as he and his trombone sat alone in a room.

But Dustin was in the right place, and went on to sight read some music and play musical scales and a solo for a judge.

For Andrew's audition, there were four trumpets.

"That was kind of intimidating because it was really good players," said Andrew, who also plays percussion, guitar and piano.

However, as is usually the case with Andrew, once he started playing the music, the nerves went away.

"I get myself really worked up before I play, and then when I play, I'm relaxed," Andrew said.

Following the auditions, the musicians had a mini-clinic with the judge.

"They asked me how in the world I was playing with my mouthpiece, because I had a standard mouthpiece. For the notes I was getting out of that mouthpiece, they said they didn't know how it was possible," said Dustin, who has since switched to a larger mouthpiece.

Emily received tips on how to improve her embouchure, while Andrew's clinician talked about different musicians and styles of music.

The Kewaskum students were at a slight disadvantage from other students from across the state. In Kewaskum, band class does not start until sixth grade, while at many other schools it begins in fifth grade.

So, the Kewaskum students have worked hard to master their instruments. They all three say that learning an instrument has helped them excel in other subjects as well.

"Honestly, I was horrible with math, and band really helped me with it. I used to use my fingers to do math, or I would try to do it in my head, but I would screw it up really easily. But then when I was able to figure out with the beats per measure, it made it easier to figure out in my head," Emily said.

"It helps with problem solving, too. If you get new music, you get to make sense of it by yourself," Andrew added.

The students are looking forward to playing with the honors band.

"It opens up what I can do with my instrument. There are different things for me to learn or different techniques to try," Andrew said.

The students have already learned something from the experience.

"Always go for what you believe you can do," Emily said.

Stroebel's Notes

—Guest Editorial By 20th District State Senator Duey Stroebel

Public Input Essential For Chinook Salmon Stocking Decision

On Monday, June 13, the Lake Michigan Committee recommended the reduction of stocking Chinook Salmon in Lake Michigan by over 60 percent, beginning in the spring of 2017. For anglers, this could upset the Chinook population in future years. Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana all contribute to the salmon stocking. Under the recommended plan, the total lake quota would be lower than what Wisconsin stocks today.

The purpose of the reduction is part of an effort to help stabilize the alewife population. The alewife has suffered from invasive species like the round goby and a high predator-prey ratio. In addition to the Chinook Salmon, many fish species caught also rely on the alewife for food.

In the 20th Senate District, particularly in Port Washington, we enjoy a robust fishing industry.

Commercial fishermen, charter excursions, and everyday sporting fishermen troll the shores of our district looking for many different species of fish.

The recommendation passed by the Lake Michigan Committee will have an impact on all fishing boats leaving the ports of Wisconsin. This is not a decision to be taken lightly. Over a decade ago, the shores of Lake Huron lost over $100 million due to economic sufferings caused by a collapse in the salmon fishery.

It is important to note that no final decision has yet to be made. Following the public hearings, the final DNR course of action will be determined before October 1. I will continue to monitor this situation by receiving updates from members of the DNR staff.

It is essential that any changes to the fishing culture of our area occur after the public have had the ability to express concerns. The Wisconsin DNR will be seeking public input at three upcoming public hearings. Additionally, constituents may contact my office at (608) 266-7513 or sen.stroebel@legis.wisconsin.gov. As a policy-maker, it is critical I hear from my constituents so that I advocate on your behalf.

The three meetings are as follows:

- Monday, June 27, at 6 p.m., Lakeshore Technical College, Centennial Hall West, 1290 North Ave., Cleveland.

- Wednesday, June 29, at 6 p.m., Brown County Library, Auditorium, 515 Pine St., Green Bay.

- Thursday, June 30, at 6 p.m., UW-Milwaukee School of Freshwater Sciences, Ballroom, 600 E. Greenfield Ave., Milwaukee.

FEATURE BUSINESS OF THE WEEK

Little Folks School House

Little Folks School House is owned by Dodie Sargent. She brings 33 years of experience, receiving her training at U.N.H. and UW-Milwaukee. The Assistant Director, Jennifer Melzark has 16 years in the field and received her training at Marian College. Along with Dodie and Jennifer are 23 employees.

Little Folks is rated 5 stars by the Wisconsin Youngstar program and Nationally Accredited. The majority of the teachers have two or four year degrees and are dedicated to providing quality childcare.

Dodie provided licensed family childcare from 1983-1997 and opened the group center (Little Folks School House) in 1997 in the Town of Wayne. After outgrowing the Wayne building, they built a bigger center in Kewaskum which opened in 2006. There are five classrooms, three age separated fenced playgrounds, a coded secured entry and camera monitored classrooms. They also provide before and after school care at Little Folks and Kewaskum Elementary School. Little Folks also serves as a teaching center for Moraine Park Technical College. Students are placed with them every semester for their practicum experience where the Little Folks teachers mentor them.

Little Folks strives to form working partnerships with families. They respect the parent's insights and concerns and want them to feel comfortable leaving their children in their care, knowing they will be safe and nurtured as they help to develop and grow.

Continued From... Party On The Pavement To Be Held In Kewaskum On Tuesday, June 21

There also will be a dunk tank and assorted activities and games for children.

WTKM 104.9 (the Voice of the Kettle Moraine) will broadcast live from the event's location from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

More entertainment includes local dance teams, which will perform from 1 to 4 p.m.

Live music includes Tim Castle & The Legends Show from 4 to 7 p.m., and the locally popular band Riding Shotgun, which will perform from 8 to 11 p.m., mixing classic country with today's top hits as well as some southern and classic rock.

Kewaskum Frozen Foods will roast a hog and offer pork sandwiches along with their famous brats and seasoned patties.

The Kewaskum Women's Club will have a build-your-own hot dog bar, and the Chamber will offer beer.

The American Legion Post will serve Italian sausage patties, cheese fries, and Cousin's Subs will have a wide variety of sandwiches. West Bend Elevator will serve grilled cheese sandwiches and milk. Shaved ice, ice cream, popcorn, kettle corn, cotton candy, funnel cakes, corn dogs, walking tacos, fried eggplant and chocolate dipped bananas also will be offered.

"This would not be possible without all the support of all the volunteers," Dreher said.

The event dates back to the late 1980s, when Kewaskum would hold "Crazy Daze."

The event was originally created to give businesses opportunity to clear out seasonal and leftover stock at a huge one-day street sale.

Soon, restaurants became part of the event, serving food and drink to the hungry shoppers.

Before long, civic groups joined forces to raise funds at the event with bake sales or games.

The day soon became a village-wide social event, with music in the evening at several locations.

Seeking to resurrect this one-day event to promote local businesses and revive a sense of community, the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce began sponsoring Party on the Pavement in June 2011.

Though the popular malls had the advantage of having many and various businesses in one location under one roof, the appreciation of community was lacking there. Kewaskum had an ideal location to consolidate vendors and businesses for one day in one downtown centralized location at the municipal parking lot, located on the Eisenbahn Recreational Trail in the center of town.

And the rest is history. "How much better does it get to have so much fun in one parking lot?!" Dreher said.

Listening Sessions Encourage Stakeholders To Inform Education Policy

—Sessions In Madison, Pewaukee, And Eau Claire Feature Focused Discussion On Key Questions In ESSA

Teachers, administrators, parents, and others interested in education are invited to a series of public meetings that will inform Wisconsin's plan to implement the new federal education law.

In December 2015, Congress passed and the president signed the reauthorized federal education law, known as the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA). Implementation of ESSA starts with development of a state plan for public education to address key areas of the law. Listening sessions are Wisconsin's first step in that process so educators, parents, and the public have the opportunity to inform development of the state's ESSA plan.

"We need classroom teachers, school administrators, parents, and our partners in communities throughout Wisconsin to engage in the important conversations about public education," said State Superintendent Tony Evers. "We want to learn from those in the trenches about what works and where we can make improvements so our state plan can incorporate our shared experiences and values. That's the only way we can truly ensure every child graduates ready for college and career."

Listening sessions on school improvement and school accountability will be held on five dates this summer, including two virtual sessions. The Madison, Pewaukee, and Eau Claire sessions will be held from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and will open with a presentation by Department of Public Instruction staff members to provide contextual information. Small group discussions, focused on specific questions, will follow with notetakers documenting those discussions. The structured conversations from the three physical listening sessions and feedback from virtual sessions and the public comment site will shape public education policy for Wisconsin as the department develops a plan for implementing ESSA.

Educators, parents, and other education stakeholders who want to participate in the small group conversations are asked to register online at <http://goo.gl/forms/t5cFy3Eb1M>, so discussion tables can be formed ahead of the meetings. Those who don't register are welcome to attend the June or July listening sessions as an observer and may join the public conversation during the August 8 virtual session from 10 a.m. to noon or submit comments online at <http://dpi.wi.gov/esea>. Details for joining the virtual session will be forthcoming on that page.

Kewaskum Middle School has compelling facility needs that the Kewaskum School District's Long Range Planning Committee identified. A recent survey shows that the community supports a project that would address those needs, as well as needs at Kewaskum High School.

The revised conceptual plan, which links the high school to the middle school, is similar to the plan that was mailed out to residents in June. It expands the technology education space in the high school, adds a multi-purpose learning space in the middle school and renovates many of the classrooms in the two schools.

The survey was mailed out to all residents within the school district in May. A total of 1,086 responses, or 24 percent, were received.

"It is a very good response rate. The typical response rate for us is 17 to 20 percent," said School Perceptions President Bill Foster, who presented the survey results to the Long Range Planning Committee last week. "And from a statistical standpoint, when you hit 400, it is very good data."

The Kewaskum School Board formed the Long Range Planning Committee last summer to identify the district's most compelling facility needs. The committee, which was made up of about 60 community members, met monthly throughout the school year.

"This is a culmination of almost a year's worth of work by a committee that started by visiting and touring the buildings." Kewaskum Schools Superintendent James Smasal said.

The committee looked closely at the school district's facilities to provide a comprehensive evaluation of building conditions.

"You have to look 'under the hood' to see where all the difficulties are and to see all the things that we are doing, piecemealing things together and getting them to run and look good," Smasal said. "Committee members were astounded at how dilapidated, how needy, the middle school and high school buildings were."

The committee unanimously decided there were compelling needs in both the middle and high schools. The committee did not find any compelling needs at any of the district's elementary schools.

Over the past year, the committee considered many plans, including building a new high school or middle school at a different site. That could have cost the district as much as $80 million.

The committee continued reworking the plans until the cost was brought down to about $28 million.

The Kewaskum School Board will consider the recommendation at its meeting on July 18. In order to go to referendum, the board will have to vote and approve a resolution to go to referendum during the Aug. 8 School Board meeting.

In the state of Wisconsin, school districts are required to go to referendum if they want to borrow $1 million or more.

Sometime between April

2017 and April 2019, the Kewaskum School District expects to finish paying off a $19 million loan it took out in 1999 for Kewaskum Elementary School.

If voters approve a school building project in November, the new loan would kick in about the time that the old loan is retired.

If voters approve a $28 million referendum at a 3.25 percent interest rate, taxpayers would see about a 48 cent increase over the existing mill rate. That means that homeowners would pay an extra $48 per year on a $100,000 home.

Survey Results

In the School Perceptions survey, community members were asked if they would support a referendum that provides $32.2 million to fund the updates identified for the middle and high school buildings. A total of 56 percent responded yes, 30 percent said no and 14 percent were undecided.

Depending on how connected to the district affected how people responded to the survey. For example, 88 percent of district staff respondents and 73 percent of respondents who have children in the district indicated they'd likely support the base plan. However, only 34 percent of nonparents/nonstaff respondents said they would support a $32.2 million referendum.

That nonparent/nonstaff group is the largest voting group, Foster told the Long Range Planning Committee last week.

"Those are the voters you have to pay attention to," Foster said.

Survey respondents showed the most support for technical education/STEM expansion; science labs; special education; building infrastructure (such as roofs, and heating and ventilation systems); and classroom renovations.

The areas with less support were: campus safety and security; middle school cafeteria/kitchen area; music and art classrooms; and shared two-court gym.

The survey included a separate question about spending $1 million to update the outdoor Doc Mitchell Athletic Complex, which encompasses the track and football field. A total of 41 percent of respondents did not support that measure, while 40 percent supported it and 19 percent were undecided.

An overwhelming 86 percent of community members reported that they feel the Kewaskum Schools play a significant role in promoting excellence within the community. The majority of respondents, 78 percent, said that the Kewaskum Schools are moving in the right direction.

Overall, 77 percent of community members reported that they were satisfied with Kewaskum Schools.

"Kudos to our community for getting involved and giving us their opinion. This is very good data," Smasal said.

Ashford Board Of Appeals Approves Conditional Use Permit

By Andrea Hansen Abler

After more than a year of controversy, the Town of Ashford Board of Appeals has again approved a special use permit for Batzler Trucking. The permit will allow the company to run a sand pit in the township between Auburn-Ashford Drive and Haven Drive.

They approved a special use permit on August 4, 2015, for the same location. This permit was challenged in court by a group of residents. In March, a Fond du Lac judge ruled the permit was not legal because the meeting was not noticed properly.

Batzler Trucking then filed another application for a special use permit for this location. The public hearing for this application was held on Monday, June 13, with a packed town hall. More than 80 people were in attendance for this hearing.

After almost four hours of discussion from both sides of the issue and little discussion from the members of the Board of Appeals, the permit was approved on a 4-1 vote. Tony Fleischman was the only member to vote against the permit. Voting in favor of the permit were Mildred Brath, Dan Wagner, Perry Weinfurter and Stanley Brath.

As part of the motion, the board approved the permit pursuant to conditions that would be placed on the operation of the sand pit. These conditions were then approved in separate motions.

The first set of conditions was a list that was decided on the first time the permit came in front of the board last August. These conditions included only mining phase one and three of the proposed site, no operation on Saturdays or Sundays, operation only between the hours of 7 a.m.-5 p.m., only dry screening at this location (no crushing), all trucks will drive to the west when exiting the sand pit, specific material used on the driveway to decrease the amount of dust produced by the truck traffic, limited backing up of equipment to avoid noise, and Batzler will pay for one-third of the cost of road cold mix wedging repairs on the road to the west of the pit where its trucks will be driving and caused damage.

The next two conditions were approved in separate motions. The first was to only allow an average of eight trucks a day in and out of the sand pit.

Earlier in the meeting, Jake Batzler stated that he thought there would be about half the traffic going in and out of that location as compared to his other mine on Haven Drive.

"I would like to produce eight to 10 loads a day out of there," Jake said.

Board members asked about the reclamation plan and how the site would be reclaimed if the company went out of business. According to the attorney, Batzler Trucking has to have a letter of credit with the county the is submitted along with the reclamation plan.

Harrison Batzler explained that the county requires $7,300 per acre, so they will have a total of $91,250 for the sand pit.

The board of appeals approved a motion to make Batzler Trucking take out a letter of credit to the Town of Ashford in the same amount as the county. They wanted to make sure the township was protected just in case something would happen in the future and the town would be in charge of reclaiming the property.

In a final motion, the board also allowed the attorney, Joseph Cincotta, for STOMP (Stop The Ongoing Mine Permit U.A.), a citizens group formed to stop the sand pit from being approved, to get a copy of the special use permit when it is finalized. The township's attorney, Val Anderson, explained that Cincotta can look at the permit and offer suggestions, but cannot rewrite it.

During the meeting, many points were brought up by both sides of the issue. Jake and Harrison Batzler told the board that they want to extract the sand out of this area. They would only be cutting into the land to extract the sand. Jake gave a history of the area to say that this area has always been used for its materials.

He also talked to the specific land owners that would be along the roadway that his trucks will be traveling on daily. Jake stated there were eight homes they would be driving by.

"I want you to know if you have a problem, I want you to call me," Jake said.

As for a time frame on how long they will be using this area as a sand pit, neither had a definite time frame. "We would like to project that we would be done with this in 10-15 years," Jake said. "It could be faster, it could be slower. My son and I are a small business. We are there to extract the material to service our customers. we do have intentions of closing that pit."

Members of STOMP had Deb Bates speak to the board on their behalf. She showed the board aerial photos of the area to give them an idea as to how close the homes are to this proposed sand pit.

Bates and two other members of STOMP also talked about the dust they are worried about coming from the mine. They stated that they already have problems with the current mine on Haven Drive that Batzler is operating. Both cited an incident in February.

"My yard was filled with sand and that is well over a mile away," said Stephanie Brehm. "My snow was brown."

Joe Nolan explained that he has to have his house professionally cleaned to get all the dust off the roof, siding and the soffits. He showed the board a bill for $3,150 for a company to come in and do that.

Other issues were brought up about possible diesel spills from equipment, well water contamination, increased truck traffic on narrow country roads and more.

Others in attendance were there to support Batzler Trucking. Some neighbors of the current Steger Pit stated they did not have a lot of complaints about the current operation and are not worried about the new one.

In the end, the board of appeals voted in favor of the special use permit with the conditions set forth.

More than 80 people packed the Town of Ashford town hall for a Board of Appeals meeting where the board was considering the application for a special use permit for the proposed Batzler sand pit along Auburn-Ashford Drive in the Town of Ashford. The town's Board of Appeals approved the special use permit on a 4-1 vote. They also applied some special conditions to the permit after approving it.

Draining Boats And Livewells Can Stop Invasive Species In Their Tracks!

You may know to inspect your boat for weeds before you leave the lake, but did you know some of Wisconsin's worst aquatic invasive species (AIS) can spread through transported water?

Invaders like zebra mussel larvae or spiny water fleas — too small to readily see — can survive to the next lake when water is left in your livewell, buckets, bilge, motor or equipment. That's why AIS staff in Washington and Waukesha Counties will be reminding anglers and boaters to drain their gear this summer before hitting the road.

Bradley Steckart, the Washington and Waukesha AIS Coordinator says, "AIS staff, as well as DNR Waterguards with a special decontamination unit will be present at different launches throughout the two-county area. Courtesy boat washes will be provided to boats containing invasive plants or animals."

Steckart says the campaign came about based on feedback from anglers. "Across the state, anglers were telling us the rules on fish and water transport just aren't as clear to them. The DNR, the University of Wisconsin-Extension, and our AIS partners listened, and we're trying to help spread the word and offer a good alternative."

Steckart explains that once your day's catch is out of water, the fish aren't considered live and can be safely transported home. Since fish need to be kept fresh on the road, Steckart suggests an alternative to livewells that's already preferred by many anglers: ice.

To help anglers out, Steckart and local partners will be handing out ice packs at boat landings on June 10-12 as part of a statewide effort.

"We know some folks are used to taking their catch home in livewells," says Steckart, "but ice is a legal and better way to get those fish home. It stops any bacterial growth, and then your catch isn't ingesting the fish toxins that concentrate in fouled, lowoxygen water on the way home, which some say affects the taste." Steckart continues, "You also don't want that water making it to a new lake. Fish diseases or very small invasive species can get around that way."

Steckart adds, "We know that anglers are really passionate about protecting their lakes, and will take time to remove and drain invasive species from their boats just because it's the right thing to do. No one wants to bring zebra mussels or spiny water fleas to a new lake just because they forgot to drain their water."

It takes just a few minutes at the landing to keep our lakes beautiful and our fish healthy. Know the laws and follow the AIS prevention steps every time you leave the water.

INSPECT boats, trailers and equipment.

REMOVE all attached aquatic plants and animals.

DRAIN all water from boats, vehicles, equipment including livewells and buckets containing fish.

NEVER MOVE plants or live fish away from a waterbody.

*You may take leftover minnows away from any state water and use them again on that same water. You may use leftover minnows on other waters only if no lake or river water or other fish were added to their container.

Otto Fires A 79 The Second Day To Finish 35th

By Judy Harlow

After getting several bad shots out of his system in the first round, Kewaskum High senior Andrew Otto settled down and came flying back with a good round June 7 in the WIAA State D-2 Golf Tournament.

"I was a little better than the first day, that's for sure," Otto said from his home on June 9. "I just hit the ball better."

When asked if nerves played a part in his first-day woes, Otto said, "I was a little nervous on the first tee. I'm not going to lie about it." He was pleased with the way he battled back, however, before taking a nine on the final hole, which "put a damper" on the opening round.

"(This was) More like he was capable of," KHS coach Glenn Eichstedt said of Otto's 39-40—79, which was the 15th best score on the final day of competition. A 75 had been low until Lodi's Jacob Michel came in with a sizzling five-under-67, which included a 32 on the back nine. There were also a 72 and 73 posted late in the day.

"He played the wind better today, and he actually two-putted 11 greens in a row," Eichstedt went on about Otto's round, which gave him a 171 for the 36-hole state test, good for a tie for 37th in the field of 51 players.

"He had one bad drive, number 11. He put two in the trees," his coach said of his comeback round.

Otto played very steadily, with six pars on the front nine and seven on the back, including the final six holes. If there was one hole he would like to take back, it had to be No. 12 where he struggled to post a six on a par-three. His tee shot landed in a bunker and after failing to get out of it on his first try, Eichstedt said he chipped over the green into another bunker, finally got on in four and two-putted.

"My putting was a little better Tuesday," Otto said, adding, "I think Monday I three-putted seven times" on the large and fast greens.

Otto certainly enjoyed the state experience and his entire senior season where he finished second in points in the East Central Conference, right behind his teammate, Sam Schlosser, who won Player of the Year honors.

As for the summer, Otto said he will continue to practice and enter several tournaments, including the Wisconsin Men's State Amateur qualifying tournament, which will take place at the River Club in Mequon on July 8.

Otto is also looking forward to beginning his collegiate career at Lakeland College near Howards Grove. There the golf season starts in fall and includes several tournaments in the spring.

"I met a few of the players when I went there to visit," Otto said, noting the Muskies play their home meets at The Bull of Pinehurst Farms in Sheboygan Falls. "It's one of my favorite courses," he said.

The KHS golf team was scheduled to hold its banquet/awards night on Friday, June 10, celebrating the team's East Central Conference championship and a D-2 regional championship.

Riffel Is Unanimous; Three Others Honored In EC Soccer Voting

By Judy Harlow

The East Central Conference soccer coaches quickly saw how talented Kewaskum High senior attacker Jeray Riffel is, just as the Eastern Wisconsin Conference coaches were aware of her offensive efforts in the past.

Riffel, undoubtedly the most prolific soccer player ever to play for KHS, was a unanimous selection to the all-ECC first unit at a meeting that took place recently, and KHS Luke Piwoni pointed out "This is her third year in a row she's on the first team."

It would be hard to argue with 29 goals and 13 assists, which are the numbers Riffel put up this year, despite being a marked woman on the field.

"We had three, second teamers, which was good considering where we finished," Piwoni went on about having his keeper Courtney Aker, attacker Molly Schulteis and defender Hailey Herriges honored. All are juniors.

"She constantly works her butt off to improve," Piwoni said, indicating Riffel was certainly his team's "focal point. The other teams come after her."

"You don't get a player like that coming around every year," Piwoni went on, noting, "Everyone understands what she brings to our team ... She's a great kid and did everything she could to help Kewaskum soccer."

Riffel's numbers as a four-year Indian starter are certainly impressive. She started out her freshman year with seven goals and three assists, and improved on those totals to 19 and nine her sophomore season. The junior season, Riffel contributed 17 goals and seven assists, and her final year, was better than ever, with 29 goals and 13 assists.

"That's a school record for both," Piwoni said about Riffel's season totals of 72 goals and 32 assists.

While she was a unanimous pick, Riffel did not receive Player of the Year honors. That award went to Abi Aswege, an attacker on the Kettle Moraine Lutheran team, co-champs with Plymouth with 11-2-1 marks. KML had four players named to the first unit, while Plymouth was represented by three.

Riffel, Aswege, Sydney Robinson, a sophomore from Plymouth, and Tiffany Anderson, a senior from Campbellsport are the conference's nominees for all state consideration.

Also developing into upper level players in the ECC this spring were Aker, Schulteis and Herriges. "I was very excited to see Courtney and Hailey get some recognition," the coach said, figuring Schulteis was pretty automatic with her 13 goals and nine assists to complement Riffel's games.

Aker finished the season giving up an average of 2.64 goals per game, which is not bad considering how young the Indian defenders were this season. Herriges helped Aker keep that number under three with her consistent hustle and defensive skills.

"They faced a lot of pressure," Piwoni said, happy the other EC coaches saw how skilled they are.

While she did not receive post-season honors from the conference, Piwoni praised the efforts of senior Emily Krier, who split her time between soccer and track this spring. "Both seniors were great leaders," he said.

KHS finished sixth in the new conference with a 4-8-2 record.

Indians Score A Dozen In Win Over SWCHA

By Judy Harlow

After hearing New Berlin West postponed its June 8 game with the Indians, Kewaskum High baseball coach Doug Gonring changed his pitching order for the home game against SWCHA (Southeast Wisconsin Christian Homeschool Athletics) to keep his pitchers sharp for upcoming conference games.

Andrew Neu (two innings) and Michael Prochnow (one) responded with three no-run, no-hit innings, and their Indians teammates staked them to a 7-0 lead. The Saints came back with a five-run inning against Devyn Zillmer but the Indians added another five runs to their total en route to a 12-6 victory.

"The kids came out of the gates hitting the ball well," Gonring said afterward. After starter Luke George recorded the first two outs, Neu went to the opposite field for a single, Prochnow was hit by a pitch and Cole Surprenant drew a walk to load the bases. Jared Chesak was at the plate when George threw two wild pitches, giving the Indians a 2-0 lead.

In the second, Brent Goeden led off with a single up the middle and the Indians had two aboard when Zach Heberer's fly ball to right field was dropped. The next man up, Tony Steger, singled to short left, but the relay throw was in time to get Goeden at home, leaving runners at second and third.

Another wild pitch made the score 3-0 before Dalton Poole came through with an RBI single to left (4-0), and later Neu singled to right to score Poole (5-0).

Kewaskum added three more runs in the third on singles by Chesak and Heberer, a fielder's choice and a two-run double by lefty John May.

An eight-run lead appeared safe until Zillmer took over the mound, giving up a leadoff walk, followed by a single, a double by Chris Brown and three more singles, closing the gap to 8-5. At that point, Gonring gave the ball to May, who pitched the rest of the fourth, and the fifth. He ran into trouble in the fourth, loading the bases before Chesak picked off Nick Pontarelli at third and Seth Dittmer to hit a ground out to Neu at first.

Poole finished up the last two innings. He gave up a walk and a single for a run in the final inning before Andrew Lesniewski popped out to Neu.

The Indians had added one run in the fourth on an RBI single by Goeden, and four more runs in the fifth gave the Indians some breathing room on singles by Steger and Poole (RBI), a run-scoring double by Prochnow and an RBI single by Neu.

Gonring said he wanted to get some of his younger players some extra innings in this game. "I think some of the kids came up pretty sharp."

Neu went 3x4 at the plate and gave up zero hits in two innings on the mound. Poole, Goeden, and Steger all chipped in with two hits as the Indians had 14 off George and Caleb O'Neal, who came on in relief after one out in the sixth. Farley Gleason finished up the final one and 2/3 innings, giving up just one hit.

"Had I had a game tomorrow (June 8), it would have been three (innings) for one pitcher and four (innings for another) or four and three," Gonring said, adding, "You have to keep your pitchers sharp."

With the win, KHS improved to 6-3, while the Saints are 14-17.

KHS Wins On Timely Hit By Chesak In Eighth

By Judy Harlow

West Bend East had Kewaskum's number in 2015, tipping the Indians 5-3 and 3-2, and the Suns, 1-6 in the North Shore and 2-8 overall, nearly pulled off the improbable at Kiwanis Park on June 9 against the Indians who came in a 3-2 and 6-3.

East scored a pair of runs in the top of the fifth to take a 2-1 lead, but the Indians came back to tie the game in their half of the inning and, thanks to Jerad Chesak, pushed another run across in the bottom of the eighth to escape with a 3-2 victory.

The contest featured another outstanding KHS pitching performance, this one by sophomore Cole Surprenant, who struck out 12 and gave up just five hits.

Kewaskum scored a single run in the first after leadoff man John May, facing a full count, drilled a double to left field, went to third on a ground out and scored on a sacrifice fly to left field.

Surprenant gave up singles in the first and second but was never in trouble as he struck out four and got two other outs on fly balls.

Fast forward to the fifth when Dakota Skenandore doubled to left field, then it appeared he was going to be stranded there as the next two Suns, Sam Scherzer and Logan Cunningham, lined out and popped out. Nate Farrington came through with a bloop double to center, and two Suns scored on the play.

KHS had base runners in the second, the third and fourth but couldn't push any runs across as Dalton Poole struck out to end the second, May was caught stealing in the third and Andrew Neu hit into a double play to end the fourth.

In their half of the fifth, the Indians got the run they needed to tie the game when Devyn Zillmer reached first after a dropped third strike, Zach Heberer followed with a single to left, and both moved up on a wild pitch by Kegan McGinnis. When the next man up, Tony Steger, hit a ground out to short, Zillmer dashed home, putting the score at 2-2.

Surprenant faced just three batters in the sixth, striking out two, and three in the seventh, notching strikeouts number 10 and 11.

Kewaskum had a chance to end the game in regulation as Surprenant opened the seventh with a base hit, but his courtesy runner, Jacob Heberer got picked off first base, and then Zillmer and Zach Heberer came through with back-to-back singles. McGinnis got the next two outs as Steger lined out to center and May lined out to first.

Surprenant showed no signs of tiring in the eighth as he put down the Suns 1-2-3, getting Nick Rosenthal to strike out for the final out.

After one out in the eighth, Mike Prochnow got hit by a pitch, moved to second on a ground out and raced home when Chesak, the Indians' catcher, delivered the game-winning single to right.

KHS had nine hits off McGinnis, including two by May, Zillmer and Zach Heberer. Farrington got two of East's five hits.

The win puts Kewaskum in fourth place in the North Shore.

Current North Shore standings (as of June 11): 1. (tie) Homestead and West Bend West, 6-1; 3. Whitefish Bay, 5-2; 4. Kewaskum, 4-2; 5. (tie) Cedarburg and Grafton, 5-3; 7. Germantown, 3-4; 9. (tie) West Bend East, 1-6 and Nicolet, 1-6.

Writer's Note: Wissports, which has statistics on Wisconsin High School sports, has Kewaskum's NS record erroneously at 5-2. This included a win the Kewaskum girls softball team had against West Bend West near the end of the season.

Trio Of Indians Among The EC's Elite; Two Others Make Second Team

By Judy Harlow

There were three excellent softball teams in the new East Central Conference, and the trio, including co-champions Waupun (13-1) and Winneconne (13-1), and third place Kewaskum (10-4), pretty well dominated the all-conference voting which took place recently.

In an unusual nomination system, determined by the places teams finished in the standings, Waupun and Winneconne were allowed to nominate eight of their players. Waupun garnered four spots on the 16-person first team, two on the second team and another two received honorable mention. The first team picks included sophomore pitcher, Megan Van Ruiswyk, infielder Kyra Verheyen (unanimous), infielder Danielle Hopp and utility player Hannah Harder.

Winneconne also had four, first team picks, including pitcher Annika Gereau, catcher Kylee Whitford (unanimous), infielders Riley Kies and Sam Olson, one of the second unit and two others received honorable mention.

All five of Kewaskum's nominees were honored. The Indians' outstanding pitcher, Kennedy Lehn, made the first team, along with outfielders Maddie Geidel and Maddy Lehmann, while juniors Brittany Williams and pitcher/infielder Bre Trepes were picked for the second unit.

"She had a heck of a year for a freshman pitcher," KHS coach Jeff Gosse said about Lehn, who went 5-4 in league play with an amazing 0.85 earned run average, and impressive 111 strikeouts and just 17 walks. All of her losses came by one run, to the two co-champs.

Lehn was also good at the plate for the Indians, hitting at a .405 clip (17 hits in 42 at bats), with four doubles and 10 runs batted in (RBIs) in the 13 games she played.

"She's a gritty kid ... did a good job defensively when she played at short-stop," Gosse went on. "She's got a great future ahead of her."

Even though this was her first season on the varsity, Geidel batted like a seasoned veteran, going 17 for 41 (.415) with seven doubles, a pair of triples and nine RBIs.

"She was beyond expectations," Gosse said of Geidel's clutch hitting, indicating it was great having her make such a quick transition to varsity ball because, "We had some major holes to fill" after five starters graduated in 2015.

"I was happy to see her get recognition," Gosse said of Lehmann, who missed two of the 14 EC games after getting hit in the back by a thrown ball. Lehmann was "a very intelligent player" and willing to play any position, according to Gosse.

Lehmann hit .452, with 14 hits in 31 trips to the plate, one double and five RBIs.

Both Williams and Trepes were first team picks a year ago in the old Eastern Wisconsin Conference, but with new players mixed in from other schools, they received second team acclaim this spring. Williams had to miss several games after a foul ball hit her in the face mask. Still, she hit .375 with 12 hits in 32 at bats, with three doubles and three triples and 10 RBIs.

"She had to work to catch Kennedy," Gosse said, reporting Williams moved around in the Indians' lineup to number two and cleanup and even leadoff where she was successful at getting on base.

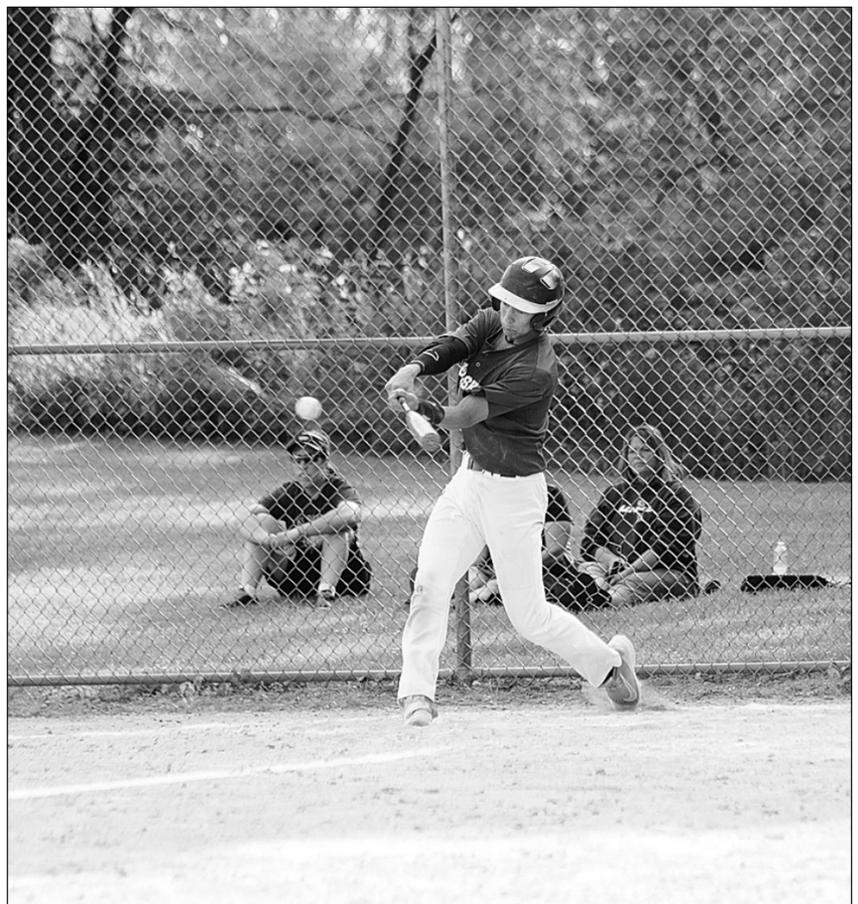

"I was disappointed with this one," Gosse said about Trepes not making the first team as a utility player. "I don't know what they were looking for. Once again, here's a girl who can play all the infield spots."

Trepes batted .447 (17x38) with 10 doubles and 11 RBIs.

When asked about how the voting was done in this new league, Gosse said, "I don't like the way we did it," pointing out there was no consultation with the coaches before this format was voted in.

Braun Gets First Feature Win Of The Season

By Dan Margetta

Rob Braun patiently waited in second place for most of the wild 60-lap super late model main event on June 12 at the Slinger Super Speedway before making his way around defending track champion Steve Apel in the closing laps to capture his first feature victory of the season.

"We've had a rough year and it's been frustrating," Braun stated from victory lane describing his team's effort this season, "I was in the garage until four o'clock in the morning, sitting there almost falling asleep, working on this thing trying to get it ready."

Braun started from the pole position but it was outside front row starter, Steve Apel who quickly established himself as the leader, leaving Braun to battle Conrad Morgan for second place ahead of Grant Griesbach, Nick Wagner, and Alex Prunty. The first of many caution flags waved on lap eight when Mitch McGrath's car looped around in turn three while battling for position with James Swan.

Apel chose the outside groove for the restart and once again charged to the lead as Morgan maintained second while Griesbach, Braun, and Prunty disputed third place. Eventually the inside groove prevailed as Braun and Prunty both moved past Griesbach, dropping him into a battle over fifth with Brad Mueller. While Prunty continued to challenge Braun for third, Mueller made repeated attempts on the inside to get by Griesbach in fourth, but couldn't complete the pass as his car would slide loose off the corners.

Mueller's car eventually broke loose off turn four on lap 27 to draw a caution flag with Apel leading over Morgan, Prunty, Braun, and Griesbach. Once again Apel chose the outside lane leaving Morgan the inside and after two aborted attempts at restarting, the green finally appeared but only for a lap as Duke Long's car broke loose mid-pack and bottled up the cars of James Swan, Brad Keith, and Brad Mueller in turn three with Swan's car resting atop the left side of Keith's machine.

A similar lineup for the restart with Apel again choosing the high lane and Morgan on the low side produced nearly the same results as just after receiving the green flag, Morgan's car drifted a bit wide off turn four where it was tagged by Prunty and sent spinning off the front straightaway producing yet another caution period. Prunty and Morgan were placed at the rear of the field for the next restart which left Apel leading over Rob Braun, Griesbach (a graduate from eighth grade this week), and last week's feature winner, Chris Blawat.

After another aborted restart which resulted in Duke Long and Morgan turning sideways deep in the pack in turn four, the field finally put in some green flag laps with Apel continuing to lead over Braun and Griesbach. However, three laps later, the yellow flag would wave again for an incident between Mike Egan and Mitch McGrath in turn four on lap 31. Apel maintained the lead despite some serious challenges from Braun in the inside groove while Griesbach held off Blawat and Ryan DeStefano for third.

As racing resumed, Apel used the outside groove to keep command over Braun while Blawat used the inside lane to take third away from Griesbach while John DeAngelis and Alex Prunty moved forward to challenge DeStefano over fifth.

The racing action came to a halt on lap 36 when Conrad Morgan's car pounded the turn four wall nose first before crumpling to a stop in the infield as the red flag was displayed. Morgan (65 years of age) was assisted from his car and transported to a local hospital for precautionary reasons.

Once the track was cleared and racing resumed, Apel again used the outside groove to power into the lead over Braun, Blawat, and Griesbach while Prunty used the inside lane to move around DeStefano for fifth. DeAngelis attempted to follow Prunty's inside move around DeStefano but the two made contact, looping both cars down the front straight to draw yet another caution on lap 45.

On the ensuing restart, Apel continued to use the outside lane to keep the lead, however, Braun wouldn't let him get away and made repeated attempts to turn under Apel for the lead. Behind the top two, Blawat began to close from third while Alex Prunty worked his way around Griesbach and into fourth just before yet another yellow flag appeared on lap 53 for an incident between Fred Winn and Pat McIntee in turn one.

This time however, Braun wasn't ready to let Apel get away from the outside and he stayed even in the inside groove as the two raced door to door for the lead with the laps counting down. Braun was able to edge ahead slightly at the line with five laps to go and then took sole possession of the top spot a lap later as Apel pulled in behind him just prior to the final caution flag waving for debris on the backstretch on lap 57.

Braun was ready for the three lap shootout and he held off Apel to capture his first super late model feature victory of the season. Apel finished a strong second and took over the championship points lead while Alex Prunty finished third and moved into second place in the point standings. Chris Blawat followed up last week's winning run with a solid fourth place finish and Grant Griesbach scored his best super late model feature finish in fifth. Ryan DeStefano finished sixth followed by DeAngelis in seventh while Duke Long, Brad Kossow, and Fred Winn rounded out the top 10.

DeAngelis won the 30-lap super late model semi-feature over Mike Egan and Brad Kossow. Pat McIntee finished fourth to transfer to the main event and Tim Lampman took the checkered flag in fifth. Super late model heat race victories were recorded by John DeAngelis, Brad Keith, and Steve Apel. Brad Mueller from Random Lake, was the fastest qualifier with a lap of 11.291 seconds.

Fawn Season!

Admire From Afar, Mom Is Near

State wildlife officials remind outdoor enthusiasts the best way to enjoy Wisconsin's whitetail fawns being born now through early July is from afar because their mother is nearby even though you don't see her.

Dianne Robinson, Department of Natural Resources wildlife expert who chairs the Keep Wildlife Wild program, says spring is when well-meaning people discover fawns alone, mistakenly believe they are in trouble and take unneeded action that may harm the animal. A fawn's best chance for survival is with its mother.

"Wild deer moms care for and protect their young differently than human mothers," Robinson said of the state's official wild animal. "It is normal for wild deer mothers to leave their fawns unattended for long periods of time. Keeping fawns hidden and alone is actually an adaptation to protect them from predators."

Robinson says her best advice to spring callers concerned about fawns is simple: "Leave it where it is. Do not touch the fawn as scent is one of its natural protectors." Is it hard to know if a deer fawn is truly in need of help?

"Absolutely," Robinson said. "And we do understand people want to help and that's a wonderful sentiment. However, to really help, don't touch the animal and call a licensed wildlife rehabilitator if you are truly concerned for its welfare. Remember, a fawn's best chance for survival is with its mother."

If you find a fawn and are concerned about its safety, visit the DNR's Keep Wildlife Wild website, dnr.wi.gov, by searching keyword Keep Wildlife Wild, or visit this factsheet specific to fawns [PDF].

If the fawn is injured or known to be orphaned, contact your local wildlife rehabilitator by visiting the DNR's website, dnr.wi.gov, and searching keyword rehab. If you require additional assistance, contact the DNR Call Center at 1-888-936-7463.
