Kewaskum Classic Car Show And Benefit To Be Held Sept. 18

By Anne Trautner

For the 16th year, downtown Kewaskum will be the venue for a Classic Car Show on Sunday, Sept. 18.

The show will be held at the corner of Fond du Lac Avenue and Main Street, from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m.

This year, the show will benefit area residents Troy Krezinski, who has colon cancer, and Jason Anderson, who suffered a head injury last winter.

During the show's first 15 years in existence, it was sponsored by Grand Larsony in Kewaskum.

Last year, Richard "Kissy" Kissinger, owner of Grand Larsony in Kewaskum, announced that he was retiring from running the show. Kissinger's friends Tom Werner and Mike Schuster helped with the event since its beginning, but neither of them wanted to take it over.

Many of the participants wondered who would take over Kissinger's legacy.

But last winter, Kissy's cousin and godson, Mark "Kurly" Kissinger, joined the conversation about who would be willing to run the show.

"He opened his mouth at the wrong time, and I said you got it," Kissy joked.

Kurly, who lives in Jackson, is accustomed to being around cars.

Go-Karts Offer Education, Fun And Healing For Community Through Memorial Event

By Anne Trautner

Although many of the drivers were not old enough to have driver's licenses, some area youngsters learned what it was like to race around the track in front of the crowd at Slinger Speedway on Sunday, Aug. 28.

The young drivers raced in go-karts at the venue that normally features stockcars. But driving the small vehicles taught the kids about the basic principles of racing.

The key to winning a race is all in the strategy, according to 10-year-old Matthew Oelhafen of Wayne.

James Maas, 11, of Campbellsport, agreed.

"You have to let up on some of the corners. Like on Corner One, I bank and kind of roll down and then hit the gas," James said. "Some people hit the brakes. I don't hit the brakes. I kind of coast and then go again."

"I try to drift," explained Matthew's younger brother, 8-year-old Zachary Oelhafen. "But I am still learning the track."

The young racers have been preparing for Sunday's big race since May through Memorial Go-Kart, Inc.

Kewaskum School District Tax Levy To Remain The Same

— Community Approves Kewaskum School District's 2016-17 Preliminary Budget At Annual Meeting

By Anne Trautner

The Kewaskum School District plans to have the same tax levy for 2016-17 as it did during the 2015-16 school year.

With 44 electors attending the school district's annual meeting and budget hearing on Monday, Aug. 22, a tax levy of $11,122,982 was unanimously approved for the 2016-17 preliminary budget.

The budget will not be finalized until October, when the budget is updated to reflect changes in enrollment and state information. At that time, as other school boards do across Wisconsin, the Kewaskum Board of Education will set the final tax levy.

The district plans to keep the tax levy flat, while at the same time paying nearly $290,000 in additional principal payments toward its current debt on Kewaskum Elementary School. The district went to referendum in 1999, when the community approved an $11.7 million building project for the school.

WASHINGTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE REPORT

Unfounded Stolen Vehicle Complaint

On Friday, Aug. 26, around 6:30 p.m., the Sheriff's Office met with a 28-year-old Town of West Bend woman who wanted to report her car as stolen.

During the follow-up investigation the deputy was able to determine that the woman was arrested by a local municipal police department earlier in the afternoon for a domestic abuse type incident. It was also determined that earlier that morning, at about 4 a.m., the car she was reporting as stolen was involved in a hit-and-run accident. The vehicle went into the ditch in the area of Paradise Drive and Peters Drive in the Town of West Bend and struck a utility box. The air bags were deployed and the car was left at the scene. A note was left on the car indicating the driver would be back later to pick it up. The deputy that investigated the accident attempted contact with the registered owner that morning with no success.

The deputy assigned to investigate the stolen vehicle complaint obtained a written statement from the female. The deputy also noticed that the handwriting on the written statement matched perfectly with the handwriting on the note left on the vehicle at the accident scene. The woman finally acknowledged she lied about the stolen vehicle because she did not want to get into trouble for crashing the car.

She was arrested for obstructing.

Fifth Offense OWI

The Sheriff's Office investigated a suspicious vehicle complaint that resulted in the arrest of a fifth offense drunk driver. The incident occurred on Aug. 29 at 11 a.m. when the suspect, identified as a 62-year-old Town of Farmington man, stopped at a residence in the 9200 block of Windy Acres Drive and asked who the neighbors were.

The caller indicated the driver appeared intoxicated. The suspect was located parked at the Boltonville Pond and arrested for OWI. A preliminary breath test indicated the driver was nearly four times the legal limit. He remains in custody at the Sheriff's Office.

Motor Vehicle Accident

The Sheriff's Office responded to a motor vehicle accident involving minor injuries on Aug. 28 at 12:52

p.m. in the area of Pleasant Hill Road and Scenic Road in the Village of Richfield. The investigation revealed the driver, a 24-year-old Hubertus woman, was east bound on Pleasant Hill Road, when she overcorrected from going off road right and crashed into an embankment that resulted in her vehicle coming to rest in a deep water-filled ditch. The driver was transported to Community Memorial Hospital for minor facial lacerations. She will receive a citation for inattentive driving that caused the accident.

Motor Vehicle Accident

A 21-year-old Howards Grove man was operating his motorcycle southbound on Interstate 41 following behind his girlfriend in the area of the construction zone near Pioneer Road on Aug. 29 at 3:07 p.m. As the drivers approached backed-up traffic, the man crashed into the back of his girlfriend's vehicle. The motorcycle operator was walking and talking after the crash, but was eventually transported to Community Memorial Hospital for observation based upon EMS recommendations. During a CT scan medical professionals found a brain bleed and the driver was immediately transported down to Froedtert Regional Medical Center, where he underwent emergency surgery.

The driver was not wearing a helmet at the time of the crash. Emergency medical professionals are highly trained to evaluate manner and mechanism of injury rather than simply look at the vehicle damage. Based upon this investigation, the driver made a good decision to listen to medical professionals rather than brush off the accident as a minor "spill."

Motor Vehicle Accident

On Aug. 27 at 4:08 a.m., the Sheriff's Office responded to the 5900 block of Highway 175 for a citizen report of a subject screaming "Mom."

The responding deputies located an accident scene and identified the lone occupant of the vehicle as a 28-year-old Mayville woman. The woman had rolled her vehicle over when she left the roadway. She was arrested for OWI first offense and had a blood alcohol content of 0.16.

Update to Fatal Crash U.S. 45 At Chestnut

Street

On Feb. 15, 2016, at approximately 12:38 p.m. Washington County Sheriff's deputies and members of the Sheriff's Accident Reconstruction Unit responded to and investigated a vehicle versus pedestrian crash that occurred on U.S. Highway 45 northbound at the Chestnut Street overpass in the City of West Bend. With the recent return of toxicology results from the striking driver, our investigation has been concluded.

The investigation revealed that operator impairment, speed and cell phone manipulation were not factors in this crash. The operator of the striking vehicle was northbound on U.S. Highway 45 travelling in the right (slow) lane. As the operator approached the Chestnut Street overpass, he did observe a pedestrian standing next to a vehicle that was parked along the east shoulder of the highway. The operator attempted to move into the left (fast) lane, but was prevented from doing so by another vehicle already occupying this lane. After which, and for reasons that remain unknown, the operator briefly crossed over the east fog line, and fatally struck the pedestrian. After the crash, the operator of the striking vehicle remained on scene and cooperated with investigative efforts.

In consultation with the Washington County District Attorney's Office, no criminal charges will be filed in this matter. However, the operator of the striking vehicle will be issued a Wisconsin Uniform Traffic Citation for Unsafe Lane Deviation.

Operator and sole occupant of striking vehicle: Jonathan M. Meade, 34, of Palmyra.

Pedestrian (deceased): Ryan T. Yauck, 18, of West Bend.

Farm Accident

On Tuesday, Aug. 23, at 2:36 p.m., the Washington County Sheriff's Office was notified of a farm accident at the Roden Echo Valley Farm, located at 5545 County Trunk Y, in the Township of Trenton. Initial information provided to the Sheriff's Office was that a male subject had been run over by a skid loader.

The deputy that arrived at the location first was able to locate the male victim, who had no pulse and was not breathing. The Deputy also advised that one of the victim's legs had been amputated. CPR was started on the victim by the deputies on scene and turned over to Newburg Fire/Rescue workers upon their arrival. While Flight for Life was en route to the scene, the victim passed away.

Initial investigation of the accident shows that the victim was riding on a feed spreader, which was attached to the front of the skid loader, when he lost his balance and fell between the spreader and the wheel of the skid loader. The victim was run over by the skid steer, and in the process his leg was amputated.

At this time the identity of the victim is being withheld pending notification to his family.

Real life Stories Of The Washington County Jail

When dangerous contraband is introduced into the jail, the safety of both inmates and correctional staff are put at risk.

Washington County correctional officers strive to preserve a safe and secure atmosphere for everyone within the jail on a daily basis. Maintaining this environment presents some unique challenges that require a high degree of training and professionalism. The following is just one such example:

On Tuesday, Aug. 23, at 6:57 a.m., a deputy responded to the jail to investigate a drug complaint. The preliminary investigation revealed a Huber inmate returned to the jail from the previous evening, and correctional officers noticed she now appeared drowsy and out of character. As a matter of protocol, she was instructed to provide urine for a urinary analysis.

During that process the inmate, identified as a 20-year-old Town of Barton woman, removed a bag of pills from her frontal lower body cavity. The baggie contained dozens of pills, including the prescription drug Trazodone.

During the subsequent investigation it was revealed that she intended on delivering the drugs, which she did not have a prescription for, to another inmate. Trazodone is an antidepressant prescription medication that has anti-anxiety and sleep inducing effects, and the drug can react negatively with other prescription medications.

Overdosing is a very real risk that correction officers work to prevent every day. The Sheriff's Office is proud to have such a dedicated and professional group of correctional officers that maintain the highest standards. In this case, correctional staff intervened to stop what could have been a major medical emergency.

The woman's Huber privileges have been revoked and she now faces several additional criminal drug charges.

Nun From Area Found Slain In Mississippi

Sister Margaret Held, 68, a nun who was born and raised in Slinger, was one of two nuns found stabbed to death at their home in Durant, Miss.

Also found slain was Sister Paula Merrill, also 68, who had ministered with Held in Mississippi for 30 years, according to Sisters of Charity of Nazareth.

The two nuns were found slain after they did not report to their nursing jobs at the Lexington Medical Center. Their stolen car was found abandoned one mile away. Held attended St. Peter's Catholic School in Slinger and was a member of the School Sisters of St. Francis for 49 years. She taught in Kenosha for a few years before moving to Mississippi in the early 1980s.

The second victim, Merrill, also 68, was a member of the Sisters of Charity. She moved to Mississippi from Massachusetts.

Rodney Earl Sanders, 46, was arrested on Aug. 26 in connection with the deaths of Held and Merrill. Sanders was charged with two counts of capital murder.

"Any act of violence is always a tragedy for the entire community. A random act of violence makes no sense. When an act of violence is perpetrated on a sister who has dedicated her life to performing good works and serving the community in the name of Jesus, that act of violence is magnified in a multitude of ways," said Milwaukee Archbishop Jerome E. Listeki. "The perpetrator of the crime robbed not only the School Sisters of St. Francis, but also the entire Church of a woman whose life was spent in service."

Listeki. Committal will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, 3801 W. Morgan Ave., Milwaukee, at 2:30 p.m.

Other local memorial services include:

A Mass will be said in the honor and memory of Sister Margaret and Sister Paula at the St. Joseph Catholic Academy Lower Campus on Wednesday, Aug. 31, at 9:30 a.m., in St. Mark the Evangelist Church at 7117 14th Ave., Kenosha.

A Mass and Visitation will take place on Thursday, Sept. 1, at Resurrection Church, 215 Main St., Allenton. Visitation with the family will be from 4 to 5:45 p.m., followed by a memorial Mass at 6 p.m. A light luncheon will follow.

Memorials in Sister Margaret's honor can be made to the School Sisters of St. Francis, 1515 S. Layton Blvd., Milwaukee, WI 53215.

Posture Awareness Program Comes To Kewaskum

By Lori Bersch, LMT, CPE

Over the past few years I've become a people watcher. I observe how they slouch when they sit, and lean forward, head-first, mesmerized by their hand-held electronics (I'm guilty of this on occasion).

Everywhere I go I see small children displaying bad postural habits that can be harmful to their development, and elderly folks with extreme curves in their upper back causing them to walk hunched over. I'm sure you've noticed this on occasion in extreme cases.

As a Certified Posture Expert, my vision is to share information, create awareness, and educate my community on the importance of proper posture and how posture, both good and bad, can affect your overall health.

In my experience as an Orthopedic Massage Therapist who works with people suffering from back pain, neck pain, headaches and many other chronic problems, it has become very clear to me that poor postural habits are a major contributing factor to most, if not all, of these conditions. Work related stressors are one of the biggest complaints that I hear from my clients; hairdressers, dental hygienists, nurses, farmers, drivers, and computer operators, just to name a few. One of the top reasons why people miss work is because of pain caused by musculoskeletal dysfunctions. Wouldn't you much rather miss work because of something you enjoy, like going on vacation or spending a relaxing day with your family? I know I would!

I've created "My Posture Wellness" column, which you can read for the first time today in this issue's sports section, to help raise awareness by identifying common postural issues as they arise, and what to do if you're already experiencing symptoms.

The foundation of this bi-weekly, information-rich series will include topics such as sports injuries and prevention, exercise and fitness, and work-related musculoskeletal conditions related to posture. We'll discover how postural wellness relates to everyone, from infants and children to the elderly, while exploring the importance of Postural Fitness to build core stability and muscle strength to prevent injuries, while addressing muscle imbalances to allow for flexibility and mobility. I'll explain how posture affects all of the systems in your body; muscles, fascia, bones, and even your internal organs!

If you like what you read here, you'll have an opportunity to gain access to even further evidence-based information by visiting my website at www.myposturewellness.com. Internet savvy readers can follow my weekly blog and join me on social media. And finally, later this fall I'll be opening enrollment for an interactive posture workshop.

Be sure to join my mailing list to get all the latest announcements that you won't want to miss, including my January 2017 launch of "My Posture Fitness"! This is where we take it a step further and start implementing Postural Correction Programs. We're not just going to be talking about your posture, we're going to be doing something about it!

I almost forgot the best part! There'll be even more information that you can access online via my blog, facebook, pinterest, twitter, podcast, videos, and more. All of this information is free for you to share. Just like you would share your best recipes with your friends and family on Facebook, I encourage you to pass along the best postural wellness education to them too. This program is progressive and will be packed with implementable strategies for you to use right away, so I encourage you to follow along.

If you have any specific postural issues you'd like me to write about, please feel free to contact me by visiting www.myposturewellness.com.

I look forward to being your partner in your posture wellness!

Fear seems to be everywhere. Each morning seems to bring new reasons for it - the struggling economy, concerns over what will happen to our children, terror in the Middle East, the 10th anniversary of 9/11. How can we deal with fear, not so that we will fear less but that we can be fearless?

Thieves took approximately $39 in small change in a burglary at Wally's Mobil gas station on Fond du Lac Ave., sometime between the hours of 9:30 p.m. Sunday and 7:50 a.m. Monday. Entrance to the station was gained through a rear unlocked window. It is believed the thief or thieves had opened the window from the inside earlier and then re-entered the building after the station closed. Fingerprints were taken by the Kewaskum Police Department from the window.

The Kewaskum Public School opened on Tuesday of this week with the largest registered enrollment in the history of the school, according to Principal C.M. Rose. The increase holds true in both the high school and grades. A total of 239 pupils enrolled on opening day, 13 more than last year when attendance was 226. Last Friday morning while serving his route, Fancher Colvin's Ford auto caught fire and was quickly destroyed. The fire was first noticed by Mr. Colvin when approaching Carl Bleck's place near Beechwood. Seeing what happened, Mr. Colvin at once stopped the engine. He had just time to save the mail. After the car was destroyed Mr. Colvin continued to serve his patrons, covering the balance of the trip with Arthur Koch of Beechwood in the latter's Jeffrey.

As work speedily resumed in starting the L. Rosenheimer Malting Plant last week, a serious mishap was experienced when their pumping equipment failed them, thereby necessitating almost a complete shut down of the plant. After being shut down for a few weeks for repairs, everything seemed to be in good working order until this accident happened. In order that the firm could give the village electric light service it was necessary to haul water for the boilers from the river. On Sunday the local fire engine and all the fire hoses were used in filling all the surplus steeping tanks. It was first thought that the broken parts of the pump could be removed, but instead were found to be so wedged in the pipes of the well that it was necessary to remove about 70 feet of piping. It is expected the plant will be in full blast by today.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Bonlender a baby girl last Thursday, also a baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Weisner this week Tuesday.

Weekly HEALTH TIP

BEER BELLY WARNING

Normal weight adults who carry more fat around their middle (apple-shaped body) have a higher risk of dying over the next ten years than those who are overweight but have a more normal weight distribution and hip to waist ratio. A recent study that looked at 15,000 people showed that abdominal obesity raised mortality rates most significantly in normal-weight men. The authors defined abdominal obesity as a waist to hip ratio of greater than 1.0, which means the circumference of the waist is as big or bigger than the hips. Fat around abdominal organs (visceral fat) has been linked to heart disease, diabetes and cancer.

 Book Title: "The Excellent Lombards"

Light 'Em Up Event Planned For September 11

There is a new lighted basketball court at Kiwanis Park in Kewaskum.

New basketball hoops were installed on a tennis court at the park on Friday, Aug. 26.

The court can now be converted from a tennis court to a basketball court, and vice versa, so that either can be used under the park lights at night.

The park is open until 11 p.m., and until now, there was nowhere for people to play basketball there once the sun set.

To celebrate the new court, a "Light 'Em Up" ribbon-cutting ceremony for the new hoops will be held at Kiwanis Park on Sunday, Sept. 11, from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Members of the Kewaskum High School basketball program will sell burgers and brats at the event.

The Kewaskum Youth Basketball program, a local nonprofit organization, purchased the new backboards and hoops for $6,400.

The Kewaskum Youth Basketball program offers basketball for youth in grades three through eight. In addition, it coordinates fundamentals clinics for children in kindergarten through second grade.

The entire public is invited to the "Light 'Em Up" event.

Chad Cook, Russell Thull, William Thull and Kory Dogs donate their time to install a new basketball hoop at Kiwanis Park.

The Truly Incredible Life Of Increase Lapham

The Evening with Nature series returns to the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit on Thursday, Sept. 8, with the program, "The Truly Incredible Life of Increase Lapham." The program is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. at the Ice Age Visitor Center, located off of Highway 67, a half-mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Increase Lapham (1811-1875) was Wisconsin's pioneer citizen scientist. Lapham's ability to observe, understand, and meticulously catalog the natural world marked all of his work, from his days as a teenage surveyor on the Erie Canal to his last great contribution as state geologist.

Self-taught, Lapham mastered botany, geology, archeology, limnology, mineralogy, engineering, meteorology, and cartography. A prolific writer, his 1844 guide to the territory was the first book published in Wisconsin. Asked late in life which field of science was his specialty, he replied simply, "I am studying Wisconsin."

Join Martha Bergland and Paul G. Hayes, authors of Studying Wisconsin: The Life of Increase Lapham, as they delve into this incredible man's life. Bergland, after retiring from teaching English at Milwaukee Area Technical College, wrote an article for Milwaukee Magazine on Increase Lapham. The research for this article became five years of research for the biography.

During 33 years at the Milwaukee Journal, science reporter Hayes often relied on the work of Increase Lapham. After retiring, Hayes continued to write, often referring to Lapham and his contributions. Completing the biography made a fitting finale to a 50 year acquaintance.

For further information, contact the staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center (920-533-8322). The center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Classic cars will be featured at the Kewaskum Classic Car Show and Benefit on Sunday, Sept. 18.

Continued From... Kewaskum Classic Car Show And Benefit To Be Held Sept. 18

"Cars are nothing new to me, it's what I have always done. Cars have always been a part of the family," Kurly said.

And Kurly has some experience running car shows.

"My father and I have run a couple car shows in the past, but nothing quite to this caliber," Kurly, 34, said. "This one is a little more of an undertaking than the other ones."

Still, Kurly is looking forward to the event.

"I couldn't come into a better situation after 15 years of it being well established. It's a matter of me coming in now and learning how it was done and keeping the ball rolling. They did the hard part of the first five to 10 years, just getting people there," Kurly said.

The car show started in 2005 to raise funds for a family in need. A total of 185 cars were featured that first year.

"We thought that was really great," said Kissy's wife, Deb Kissinger. "We went through 70 pounds of hamburger."

Since then, the show has grown every year. Last year, 438 cars paid, and about 50 more cars were turned away. Last year's crowd went through 180 pounds of hamburger.

This year, the hamburgers and brats are being donated. A number of local companies, such as Modern Woodmen, Trendsetters, KT Organic Farms and Grand Larsony are contributing to the event.

The Kewaskum Firefighters Association will sell the food and beverages, with proceeds going toward both the fire department and show's beneficiaries.

For the first time, breakfast will be served from 7 to 9 a.m.

As usual, the event will feature door prizes, raffle prizes and silent auction items to raise money for the families.

And once again, Jimmers Jukebox, a local deejay, will supply the music.

Kurly has been coming to the Kewaskum show every year. In addition, he attends other car shows within a 100-mile radius of Kewaskum with his family's four classic cars.

As he has gone to the shows this year, Kurly has been handing out the 5,000 posters he had made. Many of the people he sees at the other shows are familiar with the Kewaskum show, as it has gained recognition from car enthusiasts from Wisconsin and Illinois, Kurly said.

"It's not always the same cars. This one brings in a lot of people from all over, and brings in a lot of different cars," Kurly said.

It is a non-judged classic car show, so car owners can come and go as they please.

There is an $8 charge for the cars that enter the show, but there is free admission for spectators.

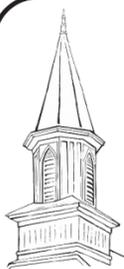

"It is for people of all ages. There is plenty to do for everyone. Plenty to look at, plenty to see, eat and drink," Kissy said.

Although Kissy has retired from running the Kewaskum show, he plans to bring his car to it this year.

"That's the fun part. You meet a lot of people, and see a lot of interesting cars," Kissy said. "It's always neat. I just wish I would have started the show when I was 25 and not 50."

To donate raffle prizes or silent auction items, you can drop off donations at the Grand Larsony or call (262) 347-9992.

During the 2015-16 school year, the district paid an extra $320,000 to help defease, or pay off early, the current referendum debt, said Julie Thoreson, business manager for the district. The current principal balance on that loan is $2.64 million, she said at last week's meeting.

By paying off the additional principal, the district is saving about $38,400 in interest, Thoreson said.

"It is just like when you pay down a mortgage early and reduce the interest rate. It is substantial," School Board President Troy Hanson said.

On Nov. 8, the district will go to referendum, and voters will decide whether the district should borrow $28.42 million to improve the facilities at the middle school and high school. The conceptual plan includes some new construction.

If the referendum passes, the impact on the mill rate is projected to be between 25 and 48 cents, and will most likely land around 36 cents, according to figures from the district's financial consultant from PMA Securities. A mill rate is how many cents a property owner pays in taxes on $1,000 worth of property.

That means that taxes for every $100,000 worth of property would increase by $36, or $72 for a $200,000 home.

Those figures are based on a 3.25 percent interest rate.

That is a conservative estimate, Hanson said. Since January, interest rates have hovered around 2 percent, so that could bring down the cost for taxpayers, he said.

In 1999, the Kewaskum community approved an $11.7 million referendum for the elementary school facility, with an interest rate of about 5.85 percent. The district refinanced in 2006 to reduce that to 4 percent interest.

The current $28.42 referendum would carry about $11 million in interest, if it is not paid off early. In comparison, the 1999 loan of $11.7 million had about $9 million in interest.

"Interest would be about a third of the cost of the [new] loan, and back in 1999, it was two-thirds the cost of the loan," School Superintendent James Smasal said at last week's meeting.

"You get a lot more bang for your buck this time around," School Board Member Jim Leister added.

The question was raised at last week's meeting of how much the tax rate would be reduced if the referendum does not pass in November.

That is not an easy question to answer, Smasal said. There are numerous variables, including capital outlay for facility maintenance, which will have an effect on the tax rate, and that makes it difficult to compute, Smasal said.

Overall, without the new loan, the tax levy would be reduced each year by about $1 million, or about 4 percent of the district's approximate $22.5 million budget, according to a presentation that Matt Wolfert, principal and president of Bray Architects, gave at last week's meeting.

Using today's assumptions, with all variables, including property values, remaining constant, that equates to the mill rate falling in the year 2019 by about $1.27 from the current total rate of $9.39, Smasal said.

The mill rate for existing referendum debt is projected to drop from $1.14 in 2017 to 79 cents in 2018 and then 32 cents in 2019 as that amount is defeased over the next couple years, according to January's Long Range Planning Committee meeting's booklet. The mill rate on the loan before the district started defeasing the 20-year debt, after the loan had been refinanced in 2006, was about 89 cents, according to school district records.

However, if the referendum does not pass, it is likely that taxpayers will still see an increase in taxes over the years to address infrastructure needs at the high school and middle school, Hanson said.

"If you don't make these changes to the 50 year-old boiler and 40-year-old chiller, you are going to have a really big maintenance budget. My estimate would be if you don't have new facilities and the new infrastructure, HVAC, electrical and plumbing, you are going to have a maintenance budget of $2 million per year, every year, and you will still have the same old issues that you had," Hanson said.

"So you can either put a new tran in the car, and an alternator, a CV joint and four tires, or you can get a new car, as an analogy," Hanson said.

Information about the tax impact from the both the 1999 referendum and the proposed project can be found on the school district's website, along with information from the Long Range Planning Committee meetings that were held over the past year.

The Kewaskum School Board formed the Long Range Planning Committee last summer. The committee's 57 members met monthly to identify the district's most compelling facility needs.

The committee met with architects and financial advisors. They toured the district's facilities as well as school buildings in other districts. Committee members reviewed school finances and identified infrastructure, educational and facility needs.

Before reaching a final recommendation, the committee weighed community input that was gathered through a survey that went out to the general public in May. The survey identified nine categories that the building project would encompass and gauged community support for each of those areas.

After gathering survey input, the Long Range Planning Committee recommended a conceptual plan to the School Board that links the high school to the middle school. It expands the technology education space in the high school, creates a new gym in the middle school and renovates classrooms in both schools. There is a new parking lot, bus drop-off area and greenhouse. The district will hold open houses this fall to provide information to the community about the building project and referendum.

All open houses will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will be held in the cafeteria. Open houses include: Oct. 5 at Kewaskum Middle School; Oct. 17 at Kewaskum High School; and Oct. 26 at both Farmington Elementary School and i4Learning Community School.

Continued From... Go-Karts Offer Education, Fun And Healing For Community Through Memorial Event

Run completely through volunteers, the Memorial Go-Kart program offers racing for youth ages 7-18. The program strives to heal and support youth through community building.

Through the organization, racecar drivers work with children and teach them about how to maintain a vehicle, the racing spirit, safety and sportsmanship.

"It is a positive, hands-on activity. The kids get to learn about mechanics on a basic level," said Brad Oelhafen, a Wayne resident who grew up around racecars and mentors nine area youth through the program.

"But the real mission is supporting families who have lost a child," said Oelhafen, who serves on the organization's board of directors.

The go-kart program raises funds throughout the year for scholarships for area students interested in pursuing an education in a trade field, welding, auto mechanics or auto body repair. To date, Memorial Go-Kart has awarded $32,600 in scholarships to area youth.

In the process, the program has kept the memory alive of other children who have lost their lives.

The Start

On Sept. 27, 2007, 13-year-old Parker Klumb and two of his friends were riding their bicycles on Highway K in Washington County. They were on their way to a convenience store after working on a school project.

A man driving 55 mph on Highway K hit the boys from behind with his four-door Buick car and drove away. Parker was pronounced dead at the scene.

At Parker's funeral, his friends told Kathy Fies that Parker had dreamed of building a go-kart and racing it with his friends.

Fies decided she wanted to help make Parker's dream come true for others.

She brought her idea of a go-kart memorial program to the community. Many were skeptical, but the idea took off.

The program has grown each year, and now consists of 20 teams in five age categories.

"We are all here because we love kids. We love the project, and we love racing. It is our passion," Fies said.

Each team is mentored by a racecar driver, and the youngsters race against one another at the Slinger Speedway throughout the summer.

Each year, the go-kart races culminate with a memorial event at the racetrack where balloons are released in memory of children who have died.

A memorial area dedicated to children in the community who have lost their lives is set up each year at the event. Pictures and mementoes are placed in the area to honor those children.

This past Sunday was the first time the memorial event was held in conjunction with the regular Sunday night races held at Slinger. Many of the drivers who raced Sunday night are mentors for the young go-kart drivers.

After the go-kart race on Sunday and before the stockcar races began, attendees gathered on the racetrack for the annual "Balloons to Heaven" ceremony.

This year, participants released some 300 balloons in memory of 47 children.

"That is one list I never want to see grow, but if parents want to add to it, they are always welcome. They pay nothing to get on that list. We want to pay tribute," Fies said.

Keeping A Spirit Alive

At this year's memorial event on Sunday, all of the balloons that were released for the "Balloons to Heaven" event were red, in honor of Parker Klumb.

"He was one of those kids who liked to do everything. We had a motorbike he loved to ride. We had a four wheeler. He was always in motion. This is a way to keep that spirit alive," said Betsy Klumb, Peter's mother.

Klumb said the event has helped her deal with her loss, and hopes that it helps other families as well.

"The balloon ceremony is really awesome. It's hard to describe the feeling when you release all those balloons," Klumb said. "It is my favorite part of the whole thing."

Every year, a message is attached to each of the balloons, and occasionally people will contact the organization after finding a balloon. Some balloons have traveled as far as New York, Klumb said.

Two years ago a Sunday school teacher in Indiana found one of the balloons in a field on her way to church.

This year, when they were released, a few of the balloons caught on a nearby fence and stayed close to the racetrack.

Most, though, headed into the light of the setting sun.

Soccer Coach Is Confident His Team Will Be Better

By Judy Harlow

Is this the year the Kewaskum High boys soccer team will get over the hump and finish in the upper half of the East Central Conference?

Third-year coach John Kenworthy believes the Indians' talent level has improved but whether it will be at a level shown by the upper echelon on the league, with Plymouth, Kettle Moraine Lutheran and Berlin, is yet to be seen.

"Our intent is to be right there in the middle of the pack," Kenworthy said the day after his team's first game, which ended in a 7-4 loss to Living Word Lutheran High School in Jackson.

"We've got a lot of returning senior soccer players," Kenworthy went on. "We've got a real quick team ... We're kind of excited where we're going."

Senior leaders include the four team captains Alek Gerhartz, Conner Enright, Jacob "J.J. Heberer and Jakob Hrica. Gerhartz and Hrica are midfielders while Heberer is a forward and Enright the returning goal keeper. Kenworthy said Enright

"is looking really good this year. He worked hard in the off-season," and Gerhartz had a fast start, scoring the team's first goal just two minutes into the game vs. Living Word.

Enright gave up 3.6 goals per game last season when the Indians were 0-12-2 in the first season of the East Central Conference, 9-19-5 overall. Kenworthy is certain Enright will be better and the Indians can reverse those numbers this year, and he is counting on Heberer to provide more scoring punch. Heberer had two goals in the opener, which is half of his total in 2015.

Other returning lettermen include: seniors — Cayden Dwyer, defender and Devin Buck, midfielder; juniors — forward Luke Bindrich and defender Gavin Curtain, along with the following sophomores: Hunter Schmitt, a midfielder; Austin Fischer, defender; Hunter Kuehl, forward; and Matthew Krautkramer, midfielder.

Adding to the mix are freshman midfielder William Jens, Isaiah Cochran, and midfielder Colin Deyoung. Kenworthy raved about the effort of Cochran in the open, saying he was not intimidated by the quickness of varsity play and was instrumental in getting the Indians a penalty kick after dribbling through traffic and challenging the Timberwolves' defense.

What Kenworthy likes about this group is "There are no divas on this team. They are all team players. We've probably got eight guys who can score goals, so we're just going to keep pushing."

The Indians may struggle early defensively because, according to Kenworthy, "Three senior starters are academically ineligible for the first eight games. That made us change everything."

"These are the consequences they pay for. I have no problem (with the rule)," Kenworthy said. "We're student athletes, with the student coming first."

As far as the top contenders in the EC, Kenworthy said, "I think (defending champion) Plymouth will always be tough," along with Kettle Moraine Lutheran. The coach calls Berlin "the sleeper team," after being a tough matchup for others in 2015.

Indians Nearly Pull Off An Upset Over Plymouth

By Judy Harlow

Kewaskum played inspired soccer in its first East Central Conference game against Plymouth and at the Berlin Tournament.

The Indians (2-3) lost to the defending champion Panthers, 2-1 on Aug. 25, a game which they led until the 30th minute, and went 2-1 at Berlin on Aug. 27, beating Random Lake 2-1 and Portage/Poynette 4-2, with its only loss a 1-0 decision with Ripon.

"We played so well. We have a smart team this year," coach John Kenworthy said about the Plymouth game, reporting he urged his players to just win each two minute segment of the game and go from there.

The plan worked, with noteworthy individual efforts from goalie Conner Enright and Matt Krautkramer who moved to defensive midfield for the game.

"Connor, at goal keeper, played phenomenally," Kenworthy said, reporting he stopped 23 shots on goal. Enright also set up the Indians' goal with a long punt, which was taken by J.J. Heberer for a breakaway goal.

"I was just so proud of these guys," Kenworthy beamed.

At Berlin, playing 50-minute games, Heberer was a scoring machine, tallying one vs. Random Lake and getting a three-goal "hat trick" against the Portage/Poynette group.

KHS fell behind Random Lake, then rallied to win, with midfielder Jakob Hrica taking a nice long shot and scoring.

Against Ripon, the Indians were a little sluggish at the start, which was understandable, considering the heat. "We didn't have the effort we needed," the coach said.

The Indians finished the day well, with a good second half against the combined team. Assists on Heberer's goals were provided by Hunter Kuehl and Alek Gerhartz, while freshman Will Jens scored the final goal at 33:00. Jens "made a nice move, got the keeper to commit ... That's all he needed," Kenworthy said

Krolski's Win Gives Indians The Match Against Kiel

By Judy Harlow

Kewaskum High girls tennis coach Peter Garcia may not be a world class chef, but he came up with the perfect recipe for his Lady Indians to beat host Kiel 4-3 in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference match on Aug. 25.

With the match all tied at 3-3, it was all up to Amanda Krolski in her first varsity competition against Serena Blatz. Garcia said he told her, "No pressure, but you win, we win," and she laughed and went out on the courts and posted a 6-1, 6-1 win over her Raiders opponent.

"Following our script to a 'T,' we were strong at doubles, winning all three, and we got one singles player to win," Garcia said. "This is our recipe for success."

The No. 2 doubles duo of Brandi Geldnich and Ariaehna Grossenbacher picked up their second conference win in a close match over Kendra Preissner and Savannah Walsdorf. The scores were 7-6 (2) and 6-3.

The No. 1 team of Kassidy Lange and Hannah Preder won a tough match over Tricia Siems and Jacalyn Crom, taking the first set 6-3 and the second 7-5.

At No.3, Kallie Hoeft and Marissa Zarda completed the sweep with a 6-2, 6-4 decision. "They finally got their team to mesh and pulled off a big upset over a Kiel pair, who previously upset conference foe Roncalli. Impressive!" Garcia said.

Kewaskum is currently 1-1 in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference and 1-2 overall.

Kewaskum 4, Kiel 3

Singles: No. 1 Ashley Marti lost to Emily Dreger, 0-6, 1-6; No. 2 Emma Preder lost to Maggie Dickrell, 0-6, 1-6; No. 3 Sydney Donath lost to Amanda Brandt, 1-6, 2-6; No. 4 Krolski def. Blatz, 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles: No. 1 Lange/Preder def. Siems/Crom, 7-3, 7-5; No. 2 Geldnich/Grossenbacher def. Preissner/Walsdorf, 7-6 (2), 6-3; No. 3 Hoeft/Zarda def. Jenna Schweitzer/Kassidy Mooren, 6-2, 6-4. All KHS girls listed first.

On August 23, the Indians were shut out by a high-powered West Bend West squad, 7-0, and Garcia summed it up by saying, "We were outplayed by a better team.

Our team played hard and were competitive despite the scores."

Garcia remains optimistic, saying "I am confident we will find success as our season progresses."

West Bend West 7, Kewaskum 0

Singles: No. 1 Marti lost to Brianna Benberek, 0-6, 0-6; No. 2 Preder lost to McKayla Schlass 0-6, 0-6; No. 3 Donath lost to Emily Breckenridge, 0-6, 0-6; No. 4 Hofmaier lost to Liesel Myus, 1-6, 0-6.

Evans Beams About His Runners In Opening CC Meet

By Judy Harlow

The number of participants is up and that will bring the scoring totals down for the Kewaskum cross country teams, which saw their first action on Aug. 25, action which can be determined as very encouraging.

"Isn't that great!" second-year head coach Kris Evans said about the turnout of 20 athletes and the performances at Sheboygan Falls where the girls placed fourth with an even 100 and the boys were fifth with 98 points, running against several pretty strong teams.

Each team had a top 10-finisher. "Maela Olla, our home schooler, was fifth," Evans said. Her time for the 5,000 meters was 23 minutes, 13.11 seconds (23:13.11).

For the boys, it was Andrew Carlton, who covered the 5,000 meters in 19:23.62. "Andrew, as a ninth grader, he's in the top 10. That's wonderful," Evans said.

Junior Justin Reck also had a good outing, covering the distance in 20:02.82, good for 13th place, and sophomore Kyle Toth, showing great improvement over last year, placing 20 with a time of 20:35.03.

The other two counters were Derek Schraufnagel (20:57.40) and Lance Grosskopf (21:37.49), good for 27th and 40th, respectively. "We've got to bring these guys closer together," Evans said, referring to his No. 4 and 5 finishers.

The veteran Haley Plachinski placed 16th for the girls with a time of 25:03.25, followed by Emma Penfield, 20th in 25:36.05; Courtney Zarda, 33rd, 27:28.20; and Melissa Schneider, 36th in 27:46.36. "Haley's improving and Penfield and Zarda are ninth graders," Evans said, optimistic they will move up as the season goes on.

The KHS girls and boys finished sixth and seventh, respectively, in the new East Central Conference a year ago, and Evans is certain they will do better this season. "I think so, I really do," he said. "We've got a lot of hard workers. They don't complain."

Kewaskum is at the Kiel Invitational this afternoon (Sept. 1).

Uhlig Sees Promise In Her Young Golfers

By Judy Harlow

With three girls shooting in the 50s and the other counter close behind, the combined Kewaskum/Campbellsport girls golf team showed a lot of promise in its first Wisconsin Little Ten Conference match of the year.

The Indians weren't able to stay with the other WLT teams but they had to feel good about their scores on the tree-lined Old Hickory course. Coach Amy Uhlig was certainly proud of their efforts in posting a 225 total.

Alivia Wisnefske was low for the team with a 52, one shot ahead of freshman Alyssa Dreher. The other two counters were Taylor Schmidt and Larisa Lindsley with 59 and 61, respectively.

"I was extremely pleased with how we played overall as a team in our first conference match," Uhlig said. "Alyssa and Alivia were very solid. They both were consistent and avoided that one blow up hole that seemed to plague many of the girls. Old Hickory is always tough due to the long rough and speedy greens."

Junior Taylor Cook did not play in the match because she was getting her wisdom teeth pulled.

Defending champion

Hartford won the meet with a 191 total, four shots ahead of Beaver Dam.

WLT Golf No. 1 at Old Hickory: 1. Hartford, 191; 2. Beaver Dam, 195; 3. Oconomowoc, 197; 4. West Bend East/West, 205; 5. Watertown, 217; 6. Kewaskum/Campbellsport, 225.

Medalist: Ashley Kulka, 42. Par is 36.

Indians Overcome Mistakes To Beat Port 21-14

By Judy Harlow

PORT WASHINGTON — Kewaskum's final non-conference game against Port Washington is unlikely to go down as one of coach Jason Piittmann's favorites of the 2016 season. Yes, the Indians got the "W" by a score of 21-14, but poor tackling, two key turnovers, being held to under 100 yards rushing and having 64 yards worth of penalties were a concern.

"We were our own worst enemy at times," Piittmann said, indicating the timing of the fumbles was especially costly.

Piittmann's counter part, John Bunyan, was probably more upset because his Pirates were whistled for 105 yards of penalties, which resulted in having one touchdown called back and halted a couple other scoring chances.

There were bright spots in the contest for the Indians, starting with the resilience of the defense that seemed to bend but not break, and the play of a couple receivers, which helped secure the victory.

Port controlled the ball for six minutes during its first drive, using Matt Ruppel's runs to move to the KHS 11-yard line before the Indians dropped Ruppel for a four yard loss on second down, hit QB Tanner Orten for no gain on third down, and then Michael Boettcher blocked Caleb Tydrick's low, 33-yard field goal attempt.

KHS, which went three-and-out on its first drive, looked sharper on the second, starting from the 20 and mixing run and pass to reach Port's four-yard line as the quarter ended.

Patrick Krier got the call on the next two plays, breaking a tackle on the second for the first score of the night from the two. Cade Peterson's kick gave the Indians a 7-0 lead.

Several minutes later, a 22-yard punt return by Kyle Pamperin gave KHS the ball at the Port 39. KHS started with a nine-yard run by Cole Surprenant and a Dalton Poole to Brady Hanson pass for nine yards, and the Indians were threatening again.

A face mask call on Port gave KHS a first down at the Port 10, but two plays later, Krier coughed up the ball, which was recovered by Ruppel at the Port 6.

The Pirates came back with a 14-play drive, but once again were stopped by the Indians' strong defense. With :35 remaining in the half and the Pirates facing a fourth and goal from the five, Boettcher was not fooled by Orten's fake and tackled him for no gain at the five.

Port's blunders started early in the third quarter. First, their return man failed to field the kick off and finally fell on it at the Port 5. On first down, Orten broke free from a couple would-be tacklers and raced alone down the right sideline for what appeared to be a 95-yard touchdown run ... except there was a yellow flag on the ground near the original line of scrimmage. The holding penalty negated the score and put the ball back inside the three-yard line.

Sophomore Jacob Lippe got the Pirates out of the hole with a 16-yard run, and on the next play, Ruppel dropped a pitchout, picked it off the turf and broke free for a 78-yard scamper, and the game was tied.

The tie didn't last long. The Indians set up shop at the 27 and after a penalty for a man being illegally downfield, Dan Kreis hauled in a Poole pass and raced 77 yards to the Port 1 before being tackled. Krier got the call from there and plowed into the end zone with 9:22 left in the quarter.

KHS took a 21-7 lead after putting together a seven-play, 80-yard march aided by a roughing the quarterback call and culminating when six-foot, six-inch receiver Brady Hanson out jumped the Pirate defender for a 12-yard touchdown.

Port Washington knocked at the door after marching to the KHS 7. Orten threw an out pattern to Lippe and thought he had the touchdown, but the official ruled the ball hit the ground, and after the Pirates protested too vehemently, the officials slapped them with a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conducted penalty. They ended up running out of downs at the KHS 29.

One play later, Port got the ball back after Poole fumbled and Grant Koehler recovered at the Kewaskum 14, and on third down, it was Ruppel running for a six-yard touchdown with 3:18 remaining and the Indians ahead 21-14.

"Dalton just made a poor pitch," Piittmann said about the inopportune fumble.

An onside kick was in order for Port, but Surprenant fell on the ball at the Port 48. Kewaskum picked up a first down on Krier's 13-yard run. The 200-pound junior carried several tacklers with him the last five or six yards.

The Indians tried on a long pass on fourth down, but there were just :07 remaining, and on the final play, Orten was flushed from the pocket and dropped the ball. Game over!

"In looking at the films, we played all right," Piittmann said, indicating there is still room for improvement.

"I thought (defensive) coach (Bobby) Bannasch called a real nice game," Piittmann went on, but said the tackling wasn't always good. "We've got to shore that up. We were in position. We've just got to make the plays."

Defensive leaders were Boettcher and Hanson. Boettcher had one sack, made seven solo tackles and seven team tackles, while Hanson had a whopping 10 solos and 18 team tackles. "Michael had a really nice game," the coach said, adding, "Brady, I thought, played a nice game also."

The rushing leaders were Krier and Surprenant with 39 and 33 yards respectively, while Kreis caught two passes for 103 yards. "We've been working with some different combinations. Danny had a couple (catches) that were really big for us."

KHS, now 2-0, travels to Winneconne on Sept. 2 for the first East Central game. Piittmann said he thought the Wolves would be competitive with the returnees they had but they are 0-2 after losses to Southern Door and Omro.

The Imminent Dangers Of Our Modern-Day Posture

Contributed by: Lori Bersch,
Licensed Massage Therapist & Certified Posture Expert

Do you remember as a kid being told to sit up straight or to stop slouching? Now, fast forward to today's time and take a quick look around. It won't take long to spot someone face-first into their smartphone, causing a condition commonly known as "text neck".

According to the American Posture Institute, up to 90 percent of the population has some type of postural dysfunction. Our modern, sedentary lifestyles have paved the way for poor postural habits that negatively affect our body's ability to function and move freely. We are facing a modern-day health epidemic as we are literally "de-evolving" at the speed of technology!

Proper posture is a key component to optimal health and wellness. Prolonged periods of poor posture cause muscles and connective tissue to tighten into the position that they have been in for long periods such as sitting at a desk all day. Have you ever noticed the longer you sit, the harder it is to get up and moving? Over time this can create pain or make us susceptible to injury, causing us to adjust our posture to stabilize, which leads to more dysfunction, which leads to more pain and compensation, and the cycle continues. Ultimately this pattern affects not just the muscles and tissues, but also the surrounding joints and our physiology (how our body systems synchronize and work together for optimal function). We'll talk about how it affects our "insides" in a later issue.

Most postural dysfunction is caused by repetitive movements, or lack of movement such as sitting. Posture isn't just important while we are sitting or standing, but also while we are in motion like when we exercise or play sports. Poor posture can lead to excessive strain on our postural muscles. This makes them more prone to injury when we put additional stressors on muscles and joints that are not functioning properly and performing optimally. Have you ever tried to do a hard-core workout after not exercising in years and then ended up hurting yourself? I'm sure it's happened to the best of us, myself included.

Common symptoms of bad posture are muscular soreness, neck pain, back pain, and headaches. If postural imbalances go uncorrected, further problems can occur such as spinal degeneration, arthritic joints, decreased respiratory capacity, digestive issues, decreased balance, and migraines. These conditions can prevent a person from efficiently performing basic activities of daily living. Can you imagine experiencing pain or discomfort while doing simple daily activities such as cleaning your house or playing with your kids? Unfortunately, some of you already do.

Some factors that contribute to poor posture commonly include stress, obesity, pregnancy, weak postural muscles, injuries, abnormally tight muscles, and wearing high-heeled shoes. In addition, decreased flexibility, a poor work environment, incorrect working posture, and unhealthy sitting and standing habits can also contribute.

Posture changes slowly over time, so it's not something that most people take notice to until they start feeling symptoms such as mentioned above. They may not realize that poor posture has anything to do with their symptoms, leaving the underlying causes of their symptoms untreated and likely to resurface to cause problems in the future. It's reported that postural and musculoskeletal problems are the number three reason for all doctor visits. With the soaring costs of healthcare, a little prevention now can add up to big benefits in the years to come.

Receiving regular therapeutic massage is a great way to maintain range of motion and joint flexibility when good postural health is present. But what if we already have problems due to poor posture? Restoring structural balance throughout the body with orthopedic massage allows us to focus on the rehabilitation of musculoskeletal dysfunctions caused by poor posture.

Orthopedic massage involves range of motion assessment and postural analysis, along with manipulation and movement of soft tissues to reduce pain and dysfunction.

In our next column we'll explore the different types of soft tissues and the common musculoskeletal conditions that can occur when postural dysfunction is present.

Curious to know if you have any habits that may contribute to poor posture? Visit our website for this week's FREE Expert Report, "10 Modern-Day Habits That Cause Poor Posture", and receive this BONUS: "Benefits of Proper Posture". Go to www.myposturewellness.com.

Lamonte Gets His Second Win And The Points Race Tightens At Slinger

By Dan Margetta

Just a few weeks after capturing his first career super late model feature win, Gary LaMonte was back in victory lane for win #2 Sunday night at the Slinger Super Speedway following the 60-lap main event while just five points now separate Steve Apel and Chris Blawat in the battle for the track championship with just one night remaining.

"Ever since the Nationals we've had something figured out and it's giving me tons of rear grip at the end and we just kill them off the corners," LaMonte told the crowd from victory lane, "And now that we've got the bugs worked out of me, we've got a great car and have tons of confidence so we can go out and have some fun."

Lowell Bennett and Ryan DeStefano brought the field to the green flag as Bennett led the opening laps with DeStefano right beside him. Contact between their two cars entering turn one on lap two resulted in both drivers getting sideways with DeStefano spinning around as the incident also collected track championship contenders Steve Apel and Chris Blawat along with Nick Wagner. Blawat and Wagner were able to continue but Apel, who was piloting Duke Long's car after his own ride was severely damaged last week, retired from the event, putting a major dent in his championship points lead.

Grant Griesbach assumed the lead for the restart and chose the inside lane, leaving second place Rob Braun to take the top side with Brad Mueller, Gary LaMonte, and Alex Prunty doubling up behind them. Griesbach held the lead as racing resumed but was pressured heavily by Braun from the high lane while LaMonte used the outside lane to edge into third place ahead of Prunty and Mueller. Griesbach and Braun battled side by side for several laps before Braun eased ahead from the top groove as Griesbach's car began to dance slightly off the corners. LaMonte also worked his way around Griesbach for second place just before the caution flag waved again on lap 14 when Fred Winn's car went for a spin after racing with Mitch McGrath for position farther back in the field. Braun held the lead from the inside lane on the restart while LaMonte quickly fell into line behind him a lap after the green flag waved as Prunty, Mueller, and Blawat all went to work on getting by Griesbach for third. LaMonte's car cut off the turns better than Braun's and on lap 17 he was able to duck to the inside exiting turn two to take the lead as Prunty also worked his way past Braun for second. Both Mueller and Blawat also passed Braun for position before he left the speedway with mechanical issues as LaMonte continued to lead over Prunty. Prunty kept LaMonte honest as the leaders worked their way through lapped traffic with Blawat sitting third while Mueller exited the race after cutting down a tire while running fourth. Prunty closed in slightly in traffic but LaMonte proved to be too strong as he drove to his second career super late model feature victory. Alex Prunty finished a close second while Chris Blawat finished third and closed to within five points of Steve Apel in the battle for the track championship with just one week remaining. Brad Keith overcame mechanical problems earlier in the night to finish a strong fourth while Kelsey Dassow posted her career best finish with a fifth place run. Lowell Bennett finished sixth ahead of Nick Wagner and Tim Lampman while Jerry Eckhardt and Brad Mueller rounded out the top ten.

Gary LaMonte was the fastest qualifier with a lap at 11.308 seconds.

Dan Jung crossed under the checkered flag first in the 40-lap late model feature but later failed post race technical inspection and was disqualified.

Jason Thoma led the opening lap from the pole position before Dan Jung drove around from the outside lane to lead lap two. Kyle Chwala and Steven Schulz also followed Jung from the outside and into third and fourth as Thoma fell to fifth just ahead of Mike Held, Jeff Way, and Jordan DeVoy. A spin by Scott Roberts in turn two on lap ten drew the first caution flag with Jung leading over Chwala, Schulz, Thoma, and Way. Jung maintained the lead on the restart as Schulz moved into second ahead of Chwala as Way, Held, and DeVoy also got around Thoma for position just before the caution waved again when Jake Vanoskey's car spun in turn two. Jung once again maintained the lead as racing resumed as behind him Chwala, Held, and DeVoy, the three track championship contenders all advanced into second, third, and fourth just ahead of Schulz and Way. Chwala, Held, and DeVoy raced close and intense as Jung pulled away out front. Once the championship contenders approached lapped traffic on lap 29, their race took a turn for the worse. Chwala led DeVoy by about a half car length with Held directly behind as they approached a lapped car and as they tried to thread the needle with the lapped machine on the inside, contact between Chwala and DeVoy's cars sent DeVoy's car ricocheting off the lapped car and into Held's machine. Held's car climbed up the side of DeVoy's car before slamming hard into the turn one wall. Held was not seriously injured in the mishap and quickly exited his car and was animated in his displeasure with the other two drivers as the race was under the red flag. As Held's damaged car was removed from the speedway, DeVoy and Chwala were sent to the rear of the field for the restart as Jung chose the inside lane for the restart. Schulz and Tyler James also chose the inside lane while Jeff Way and Ryan Gutknecht took to the outside as racing resumed. Now back to green, Jung continued to lead as Way's car began to drift wide off the turns allowing Schulz to move into second. On lap 30, Way's car kicked loose again but this time, he spun across the field exiting turn four as the caution waved once again. Jung led on the single file restart over Schulz and over the final laps, Schulz pressured Jung by making some attempts to pass on the inside. Each time however, Jung was able to hold on and he drove to the win as Schulz edged Tyler James in a side by side finish for second.

Gary LaMonte set fast time then won his second career feature on Sunday, Aug. 28, at Slinger Speedway.

Ryan Gutknecht finished fourth and Brian Holtz was fifth. Jung failed post race technical inspection after the event and was disqualified.

Jordan DeVoy was the fastest qualifier with a lap of 12.246 seconds.

KHS Coach Said His Spikers Will Need Time To Mesh

By Judy Harlow

The 2016 season started with a bang for the Kewaskum High volleyball team, which finished 1-2 in the opening East Central quad meet hosted by Winneconne with the top two conference teams, Winneconne and Kettle Moraine Lutheran from last year participating.

Kewaskum drew Kettle Moraine Lutheran, the eventual winner of the competition, for the first round and wound up losing 9-25 and 16-25. Against the host Wolves, the Indians lost Game 1 13-26, then rallied to push the hosts to overtime before losing 24-26.

The Indians used the momentum they had built in the second match to top Ripon by scores of 25-26 and 25-22.

"It was a rough start for us," KHS coach Laine Leitzke said. "Playing your first two matches of the season against the Nos. 1 and 2 from conference last year, we had our work cut out for us. We did not perform well right away."

Leitzke was very pleased with the way the Indians performed in the second game against Winneconne, but unfortunately, "We were unable to complete the comeback."

The night ended well, according to Leitzke, who said, "We turned around and took care of business against Ripon. We have a lot to learn about each other and have some time before our Tuesday match against Slinger to work on it."

Veterans like Sarah Butschlick and Elizabeth Lightner were key contributors for the KHS team. The junior Butschlick had nine kills, 10 blocks, 30 assists and two aces on the night, with Lightner, a senior, chipped in with nine kills and 10 blocks.

Other team leaders were: kills — Amanda Schaller, 19 and Morgan Kappler, 11; blocks — Alexandria Durn, 12; and assists — Schicker. Schaller and Brelynn Scoles, the only freshman on the varsity, each had a pair of aces.

After the Aug. 30 non-conference match against Slinger, the Indians travel back to Winneconne Sept. 1 for an EC dual meet.

Local Church Gets New Roof

By Travis Senn

Those driving through Campbellsport on Fond du Lac Avenue often have their gaze met by the First United Methodist Church. While certainly not the largest church in the area, the church has been a part of the town since it was built in the early 1900s. Despite only having a congregation of about 35 people and no minister, some might say the church has never been in a better position, thanks to the help of local businesses and the leadership of Paul Seymour.

Seymour has been running point on a project that has been in the works for almost seven years. The mission? To build a new roof for the century-old church.

"The roof was starting to really get bad," explained Seymour. "We knew something had to be done. It was just a matter of deciding what to do and how to raise the money."

With a small congregation, raising the money certainly was not going to be easy but the size also allowed everyone to be apart of the decision making process.

"With a church this small, we don't have committees or anything like that," said Seymour. "We simply got everyone together and discussed what we were going to do."

The group originally considered a third round of Asphalt shingles to replace the most recent one in order to cut costs, but ultimately, they decided metal roofing would last much longer and was worth the extra money. Again, raising funds wouldn't be easy but everyone helped, even the community.

"We had a number of fundraisers and generous donors," said Seymour.

"But even after that we were only halfway to our goal."

That's when Drexel Building Supply stepped in. They generously offered to cover the rest of the expenses for the project to allow the group to take the next step. Now, it was simply a matter of finding a contractor. However, the project hit another snag.

"Because of the various shapes and steep angles of the roof, a lot of local contractors didn't really want to take on the project," explained Seymour.

Eventually, the group found a contractor based out of Milwaukee to take the job. They began construction in early May and finished around the middle of June.

The small church has some spots inside that will need some attention but can breathe a sigh of relief now that this project is off their shoulders.

First United Methodist Church on Fond du Lac Avenue in Campbellsport put a new metal roof on the building this summer. The project took seven years to come to fruition, but the small congregation is very grateful it is done and that worry is off their minds.

United Way Announces $348,750 In Education Program Funding – Focuses On School Readiness

School readiness is the first step on the path to a successful life. Children are born learning, and the critical period between birth and school can determine a child's future.

90% of brain development occurs before a child enters the classroom, so early learning is key. Children from low-income families may already be 1-2 years behind their peers when they start school. United Way of Washington County knows that education is one of the building blocks for a successful life. That's why they're committed to improving school readiness, promoting early grade reading, and advancing personal development.

In June, community volunteers reviewed applications for United Way education program funding. Eleven nonprofit agencies applied, requesting a total of $496,250. After interviewing agency representatives, the volunteers worked together to evaluate each application and arrive at a consensus.

"Selecting programs is not an easy task," said Pete Rettler, West Bend Campus Dean at Moraine Park Technical College, and volunteer chairman of the United Way Education Panel. "All of these nonprofits are doing great work, but we had to prioritize the programs that most effectively address the root cause of community issues and demonstrate the ability to help kids succeed in school and in life."

The panel volunteers selected seven programs, including three programs that are new to United Way: Dream to Succeed – Casa Guadalupe Education Center, This program creates a brighter future for Latino high school students by helping them develop social skills, identify their strengths, explore career opportunities, set goals, and plan financing for post-secondary education or vocational training. United Way's investment is allowing this program to expand into the Hartford community.

Children's Literacy Initiative – 4C Family Center of Washington County, this new initiative will increase school-readiness by training parents of young children. The program will empower parents to be their child's first teacher and to create a home environment that promotes language acquisition and literacy development.

Nature-Based 4-K – Kettle Moraine YMCA, this innovative collaboration provides children with access to high-quality, nature-based instruction at Riveredge Nature Center. The program includes an intergenerational component that promotes volunteerism among seniors at Cedar Community Campus.

Each education program will receive United Way funding through 2019, contingent on successful year-end reviews. United Way's investment in education programs totals $348,750 annually. United Way of Washington County recently transitioned to a three-year funding cycle. Every year, applications are accepted under one of their three focus areas: Education, Income Stability, and Health. Next year, applications will be accepted for income-stability programs.

"United Way is able to invest in these important programs because of the generous people in our community," said Kristin Brandner, Executive Director. "Without the help of our incredible donors, advocates, and volunteers, we wouldn't be able to support this meaningful work. On behalf of all the children who will benefit from these programs, I would like to thank the community for being a part of our team."

2017-2019 United Way Funded Education Programs: Match Mentoring – Big Brothers Big Sisters of Washington County; Youth Academic Success – Boys & Girls Clubs of Washington County; Dream to Succeed – Casa Guadalupe Education Center; At-Risk Youth Intervention – Elevate; Children's Literacy Initiative – 4C Family Center of Washington County; Nature-Based 4-K – Kettle Moraine YMCA; Birth-to-Three Early Intervention – The Threshold.

United Way is also mobilizing local individuals, businesses, and volunteers in order to help children prepare for school. United Way's goal is to create 2,500 Bright Start Bags for preschool children across Washington County. Each backpack will contain books and educational materials that help parents teach and prepare their child for school.

Volunteers will assemble the school-readiness kits at the "United for Our Future" event on September 29.

Our mission is to improve lives and community conditions in measurable and lasting ways. United Way is a volunteer-driven organization that serves all communities in Washington County. It is governed by a board of community volunteers, dedicated to providing funding and community resources for health and human service needs in the areas of Education, Income Stability, and Health.
