On A Mission To Serve

By Anne Trautner

Kewaskum native Krystal Cochran has spent the past 11 years doing Christian charity work overseas.

Cochran works with youth for the organization called Youth With A Mission (YWAM). The nondenominational Christian program offers services around the world.

"I love being able to restore hope in people's lives," Cochran said.

Cochran worked for over a decade in Australia and Papua New Guinea. While there, the 30-year-old missionary learned that the most people living in Papua New Guinea live in remote villages and have little access to healthcare.

To reach those people, YWAM has a medical ship that brings medical specialists, supplies and health services, ranging from a dentistry clinic to a surgical unit, to those isolated communities.

Cochran brought high school students aboard that medical ship so they would be able to help serve the village residents.

i4Learning Students Focus On Weather Lessons

By Anne Trautner

When students at the i4Learning Community School go out for recess, they know how to dress for the weather.

They know what the temperature is, how fast the wind is blowing and how much moisture is in the air.

The school recently purchased a weather station for about $700. The weather station reveals the current temperature, wind speed and even the phases of the moon.

Once the outside temperatures warm up, the wireless gadget will be installed in a permanent position high up on a pole outside the school. The students will be able to read the current weather information on a monitor in their classroom.

The plan is to also link the machine to the internet so that people will be able to log on to the school's website to access the information, Principal Joel Dziejczak said.

Projects such as the solar-powered weather station are possible with the support of MGS Manufacturing Group's recent donation during the i4L Pizza Sale, the i4L families and support from the community.

"This is something that students will continue to benefit from in future years," Dziejczak said.

The students agreed that the weather station was worth the investment.

"This is a really good thing for our school," student Peyton Theusch said.

Making Weather Instruments

After completing a unit on weather in their science class, the students at the i4Learning Community School know what the weather station's data means.

The students worked in groups to make barometers, anemometers, wind vanes, rain gauges and thermometers.

"We made all these by using pencils, straws, food coloring, jars, modeling clay," said Riley Kuehl, who worked with Eliza Anderson to make a thermometer.

By creating the contraptions, the students learned about each instrument's purpose and how it worked. They learned that an anemometer measures wind speed while a wind vane shows which direction the wind is blowing.

DNR Recognizes Recycling Awards Winners As Part Of America Recycles Day

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources recently recognized nine communities, organizations and businesses throughout the state for their outstanding recycling and waste minimization accomplishments in 2015.

Recipients of the DNR's annual Recycling Excellence Awards are selected based on their achievements in one of four categories: projects and initiatives; overall program; special events; and innovation. This is the award program's fourth year.

"These awards document the hard work, creativity and resourcefulness of Wisconsin's communities and continue to demonstrate the high value our residents place on responsible waste management," said Ann Coakley, waste and materials management program director. "It seems fitting the awards are announced as communities all over the state and country recognize the importance of recycling on America Recycles Day."

The Sparta High School Earth Club earned the Projects and Initiatives award for successfully establishing a food waste diversion program within their school district and greater community, including the collection, processing and marketing of the final product.

The village of West

Salem and the town of Rome, in association with the Choose to Reuse Program, received the Overall Program award. This award recognizes their ongoing commitment to provide expanded recycling and waste minimization services coupled with strong education and outreach efforts. The village of Union Grove received an Honorable Mention in this category for their continuing efforts to expand their waste diversion services through collaboration with regional programs and education.

Eau Claire County, the Incourage organization and Wisconsin State Fair received the award for Special Events. These programs increased opportunities for away-from-home recycling and waste diversion through education, long term planning and policy change.

The Innovation award was presented to the town of Auburn in Fond du Lac County and Earthbound Environmental Solutions in Eau Claire County for their efforts to expand recycling services and divert materials from landfills while providing cost savings to their communities.

More information on the awards program can be found by searching for "Recycling Excellence Awards" on the DNR website, dnr.wi.gov.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Update to Washington County Wire Fraud Investigation

The Washington County Sheriff's Office would like to provide an update to the June 23 wire fraud investigation involving county funds. The investigation centers around the County Treasurer Jane Merten making two wire transfers of county funds in the amounts of $48,560 and $39,200, into accounts at two different financial institutions.

The investigation revealed the county treasurer made the transfers based on a series of emails she believed to have originated from County Administrator Joshua Schoemann. It was believed that Schoemann was requesting the transfer of funds, but later determined that the administrator's email account was "spoofed." An outside party, with criminal intent to steal funds, was able to send these emails to the county treasurer using the sender email address of Schoemann.

Although the transactions were completed, $32,163.76 was returned to Washington County on Sept. 15, 2016, through a "fraud recall" procedure conducted by Washington County's bank.

As an update to the case, on Dec. 21, 2016, the Sheriff's Office was notified that an additional $39,235.89 was recovered through another "fraud recall."

The loss to Washington County now stands at $16,360.35.

The investigation remains open with the intent to arrest those involved and seek restitution as would be done in any criminal case.

Seating is limited and you will not want to miss this opportunity. The Dodge County Healthy Soil-Healthy Water Workshop is a farmer to farmer hosted event featuring nationally-known soil health and cover crops spokesperson, Ray Archuleta, as well as three panels of local farmers sharing their farm success stories using cover crops, no-till and strip till, and specific manure and nutrient management practices.

program begins at 9 a.m., the keynote speakers will not begin until 10:30 a.m.

Why are soil health and water quality important for your farm's future? Come hear Ray Archuleta, aka "the Soil Guy," explain how healthy soil plus healthy water equal more profits. Also speaking with Ray will be Justin Morris, a regional soil health specialist in the new Soil Health Division of NRCS, and Pennsylvania farmer Jim Harbach, who milks 1,000 cows, operates a methane digester, and farms 2,200 no-till acres.

Together these three dynamic speakers will share their passion about soil health and water quality principles and practices such as cover crops, no-till and strip tillage, and effective manure and nutrient management.

Come listen and learn from nine local producers who will share their farm success stories using cover crops, no-till and strip tillage, and how their manure and nutrient management practices improve soil health and water quality. The cover crop panel will feature Tony Peirick, Dale Macheel, Steve Smits and Damon Reabe. Ricky Kratz, Jonathon Gibbs, and Ryan Nell will speak on the no-till/strip till panel, and manure and nutrient management panelists are John Koepke, Kevin Roche and Jordan Crave.

Three UW-Washington County Professors Receive Awards

Three University of Wisconsin-Washington County professors were chosen to receive an Arthur M. Kaplan Award for the 2016/17 academic year. They include: Dr. Mohan Thapa, Dr. Sandi Brunette-Hill and Dr. Margaret Hamilton. The announcement was made by Dr. Cathy Sandeen, UW Colleges and UW Extension Chancellor.

Assistant Professor of Mathematics Mohan Thapa received an award for his enduring "dedication to student success." From using 3-D technology to facilitate the mathematical connection in higher dimension to writing a book that he is currently testing in the classroom, Thapa's dedication to teaching is in evidence. Actively involved in student clubs and committees on campus as well as his department and the UW Colleges, he is also busy coordinating the upcoming annual Pi day mathematics competition, "UW Colleges Integrator of the Year."

Professors Sandi Brunette-Hill (Sociology) and Margaret Hamilton (Psychology) were honored for their joint effort in developing an independent study course, "Rich Man, Poor Man." The new and challenging interdisciplinary class will explore the topic of stratification through an innovative lens, that students are often not exposed to. It was noted that their "dedication and commitment to engaging students through high impact practices in work that delves deeply in important social issues is commendable."

The Arthur M. Kaplan Award program was established to recognize outstanding contributions made to education by UW Colleges faculty and academic staff. It pays tribute to the positive spirit that Provost and Vice Chancellor Emeritus, Arthur M. Kaplan contributed to enhance education at the UW Colleges. The Kaplan award is for $250, with matching funds awarded from the Washington County Campus Foundation.

UW-Washington County is located at 400 University Drive in West Bend. The spring semester begins Monday, Jan. 23. For more information, about the campus or to meet with an advisor, visit www.washington.uwc.edu or email student-info@uwc.edu.

Fire gutted the Leland

Oelke residence at 1208 Stark St., Kewaskum about 10:30 a.m. last Friday, destroying most of the interior, contents and personal belongings of the Oelke family. The fire apparently started in a closet surrounding the furnace in the central part of the home. Firemen fought the blaze for over an hour before getting it out. Fire damage was estimated at $5,000.

In one of the most disastrous fires in the history of the village and the worst since the big Kewaskum Malt and Grain Company blaze 32 years ago, damage estimated at between $12,000 and $15,000 was caused last Friday night when fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Miller Furniture store on Fond du Lac Avenue. The entire old portion of the building was a complete loss. The spacious new fireproof portion of the store was erected during the past year, work on it being completed last spring. With the building, the entire contents were destroyed including the huge stock of new furnishings and furniture as well as all of the furniture and personal belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. F. Miller, who resided above the store. The Kewaskum fire department arrived promptly under the calm direction of Chief Harry Schaefer. Flames were burning furiously throughout the main floor when firemen arrived, the upholstery in the furniture igniting like paper. Firemen poured between 130,000 and 140,000 gallons of water on the stubborn fire. Although the fire kept breaking out throughout the building, the firemen handicapped by 5 below zero temperatures, had the blaze under control in about an hour. Additional hours were required to completely extinguish it, and the ruins continued to smolder Saturday morning.

Births - Mr. and Mrs. Willard Klein, R.3, Kewaskum, are the parents of a daughter born Wednesday, Dec. 31. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Felix Simon of St. Kilian, at St. Agnes Hospital.

100 Years January 6, 1917

The frequency of cattle deaths in the southern part of Washington County and particularly in the Lake Five vicinity has caused farmers to organize hunting parties and if possible exterminate this species. Wolves have for years infested the swamps in that section of the state and at times entailed heavy losses to farmers' cattle.

The saloon keepers and farmers in the Kohlsville vicinity are busy making ice on the pond.

A little son brightened the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kohl, Saturday.

Strachota had a number of teams hauling a carload of soft cheese for the cheese factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Schnurr announce the engagement of their daughter Myrtle to Edward Spoerl of Knowles, Wis.

Our iceman Otto Backhaus, and crew, commenced filling his ice-house Tuesday. The ice is of uniform thickness and of fairly good quality.

Ralph Rosenheimer commenced his duties as apprentice in the Statesman office this week.

The Kewaskum Quintette furnished music at a Leap Year dance in Kohlsville Saturday night.

Weekly HEALTH TIP

WHOLE GRAINS FOR LONG LIFE

A diet rich in whole grains has been associated with lower risk of stroke, type 2 diabetes, heart attack and some cancers. So it's not surprising that recent research has linked eating whole grains to living longer. In the study, the death rate declined 7% for each daily serving of whole grains. People who consumed 3 servings a day had a 20% lower risk of death from all causes, a 25% lower risk of cardiovascular death and a 14% reduced cancer death rate. Experts think it may be the anti-inflammatory properties of the fiber (mostly from cereal) and its effect of reducing C-reactive protein that may lead to the health benefits.

Washington County To Conduct Corner Monument Survey

Washington County has contracted with the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (SEWRPC) to conduct a countywide update to the Public Land Survey System (PLSS) section corners in Washington County. The update is necessary for surveyors, mappers and planners to better utilize resources such as Global Positioning Systems (GPS) and aerial photography.

SEWRPC surveyors will be collecting survey measurements on these monuments from now until the end of 2018. Work will occur within roadways and in off-road locations, including on private property. SEWRPC will make an attempt to contact landowners beforehand if it is necessary to cross private property to access these monuments.

Drivers are asked to exercise caution if they encounter survey vehicles, equipment and personnel conducting field work.

For more information, including a link to the State of Wisconsin's Right of Trespass Law, visit www.co.washington.wi.us/hwy and click on "Road Construction & Projects."

Ideas For Parents: Easy Things To Help Your Child Succeed

- Other Adult Relationships And The Support Of Others

Why do some kids grow up with ease while others struggle? Search Institute Researchers identified specific, practical things that can have a tremendous and lasting positive impact on youth. Rather than focusing on the problems, this research concentrates on the Developmental Assets - the positive things (such as parent support and commitment to learning) that help young people thrive. The assets are values, experiences and positive qualities that young people need to help them make wise decisions and choose positive lifestyles. The more assets they have, the better.

Other Adult Relationships

Youth are more likely to grow up healthy when they receive support from three or more nonparent adults.

The Support of Others

Think back to your childhood. Was there one adult you really enjoyed talking with? Maybe it was a grandparent, a club leader, an aunt, a coach, a neighbor, an older cousin, someone in your congregation, or your piano teacher. This person helped you sort through growing up issues. Even if you can't recall any specific conversations, you will remember the warm feelings brought by talking to that person.

Young people need parents to talk to, but they also need other adults to bounce ideas off, to ask questions of, to laugh with, to help sort through sticky situations. Researchers have discovered that young people who have other caring adults to talk with are:

- Less likely to do risky things, such as use alcohol or other drugs or be sexually active.
- More likely to grow up successfully. Even children in abusive, financially stressed, chaotic, or otherwise difficult situations have better futures if they find at least one caring adult outside the home.
- Likely to think they can make a difference and that they matter.
- Better able to succeed in school.

Tell Them Thanks

With your child, identify all of the adults who regularly interact with her or him. Include teachers, grandparents, club leaders, coaches, cooks, bus drivers, aunts, uncles, employers, school administrators, paraprofessionals, custodians, neighbors, other extended family, and the parents of friends. Jot a short note to each one telling them how much you appreciate their care, their dedication, and their interest in your child.

Time Together

Three ways to encourage your child to build relationships with other caring adults:

- Help your child find an adult you both trust who shares a similar hobby or interest with your child.
- Play games with other families where teams consist of one family paired with children from another family.
- Use letters, phone calls, and email to keep relationships strong with caring adults who are far away.

Obesity Weighs Heavily On Wisconsinites: Rates Higher Than Previously Thought

Obesity rates among Wisconsin adults are higher than previously reported for the state.

According to findings from the Survey of the Health of Wisconsin (SHOW), a population-based health examination survey, 39.4 percent of Wisconsin adults are obese. The state's obesity rate is 4.5 percent higher than the national average obesity rate of 34.9 percent.

Obesity rates are higher in persons who are older, poor, less educated, minorities or who live in a community with high economic hardship. The prior estimate of 31 percent for Wisconsin was based on phone surveys and self-reported height and weight.

This is one of the findings reported in the latest issue of the WMJ, a publication of the Wisconsin Medical Society. The publication features findings from studies led by researchers at the UW School of Medicine and Public Health and its Obesity Prevention Initiative; the studies focus on a range of issues related to obesity and obesity prevention in Wisconsin.

"This is a concerning finding," says Dr. Patrick Remington, associate dean of public health at the UW School of Medicine and Public Health, "because it means that more Wisconsin residents are at risk for Type 2 diabetes, hypertension and other obesity-related illnesses, and, in turn, our state is at greater risk for higher health care costs and lost productivity due to these illnesses."

In addition, three of the studies demonstrated significant disparities in obesity and its causes in the areas of pre-pregnancy obesity, adolescent fitness and physical activity and neighborhood disparities in restaurant food environments.

Two additional studies that examined obesity-related policies and novel community-based interventions show that Wisconsin has marked room for improvement regarding obesity prevention, especially in terms of obesity-related health policies and in efforts to improve nutrition and physical activity.

The Obesity Prevention Initiative, established by the Wisconsin Partnership Program at the UW School of Medicine and Public Health, emphasizes the need for broad-based efforts to align research, education and community partnerships that lead to sustainable changes in obesity prevention. The Initiative, which addresses individual-level health through population-level health changes, has the potential to help Wisconsin become a national model for obesity prevention.

"Our research shows that Wisconsin could benefit from policy changes that promote healthier living," says Dr. Alex Adams, principal investigator of the Obesity Prevention Initiative. "These types of changes — like school policies that provide healthier meals and promote physical activity — result in less weight gain, increased physical activity and better health for our children and families."

Dr. Adams says, "Wisconsin has tremendous opportunity to improve the public's health by promoting nutrition and physical activity policies that will help make 'the healthy choice, the easy choice' for individuals across our state, and in doing so, reduce obesity and its related illnesses."

The Obesity Prevention Initiative is funded by the Wisconsin Partnership Program at the UW School of Medicine and Public Health. The Initiative was established in 2014 to address Wisconsin's obesity epidemic.

Published by the Wisconsin Medical Society, WMJ is devoted to the interests of the medical profession and health care in the Midwest. This peer-reviewed publication, which is available in print and electronic format, is one of the few state medical society-sponsored medical journals that publish a large amount of original research and academic content.

"This is a barometer and it measures air pressure," said student Sophia Bartelt, who created a barometer with a plastic tube, a balloon, straw and a jar.

"When the air pressure was high, the balloon would go up, and when the air pressure was low, the balloon would go down. If it is low, that means it is going to be raining, and if it's high it means that it's going to be sunny," Sophia explained.

Peyton Theusch and Matthew Eischen concentrated on creating an anemometer to measure wind speed. They used straws, cups and pencils to create the instrument.

"We had to use a lot of tape and also a pencil so it could hold onto it. And we had to color one side of it so whenever it goes around, you would be able to see it and count how many times it goes around," Matthew Eischen said.

Interactive Learning

To learn more about weather, the students at i4Learning Community School were featured on HEC-TV, an online show.

The segment featured experts from the National Weather Service in Missouri who discussed weather instruments, weather forecasting and historical weather events.

The i4L students were able to interact with the show's hosts from their classroom. The hosts and the students could see each other through video monitors and were able to converse with each other.

"The interactive video was phenomenal," teacher Angie Petersen said. "The meteorologist and his guest did such a great job engaging the kids. It was such a cool experience."

The i4Learning Community School, which is a charter school that focuses on interactive learning for multiage groups, has participated in interactive shows before. The weather program was offered free of charge.

The students could have learned the information by reading a textbook. But by doing the research, making the instruments and communicating directly with a meteorologist, hopefully the students were able to better retain the information, Petersen said.

At the end of the show, when the meteorologist asked if there were any questions, about 20 hands went up in the air.

"We didn't rehearse it; we didn't tell the students, 'You say this, you say that.' It was authentic. That was the best part. It was super cool," Petersen said. "Our students came up with some amazing, thoughtful questions.... For each question, the weather experts had impressive, easy-to-understand responses."

Some of the questions that the students generated were:

•How long does it take to create a weather forecast? (Answer: Two to three hours.)

•Do radars have to be in an enclosed area? (Answer: Yes.)

•How fast can the winds get in a hurricane or tornado? (Answer: A hurricane can have a sustained wind speed of over 200 mph. Wind in a tornado can be in excess of 250 mph.)

•What was the worst storm in history? (Answer: That depends on your perspective. One of the worst storms was Hurricane Katrina in 2005. Another was the 1896 tornado that struck St. Louis.)

Eliza Anderson, Riley Kuehl, Sammie Staffin and Ashlyn Aker work together to create weather instruments at i4Learning Community School.

On A Mission To Serve

Cochran and her students witnessed the profound differences that were made in the lives of the villagers.

"We met a woman who became blind at age 17, got married and had children. When she heard about our ship being in the area her family thought that maybe we could do something to help," Cochran said.

The woman and her family decided to take a chance. They traveled for two weeks down the river in a dugout canoe to meet the ship.

"When she got there, we discovered she was a perfect candidate for surgery," Cochran said.

After a 45-minute operation and a day of resting her eyes, the woman opened her eyes and was able to see her children for the first time.

"Some of the young people that I brought to these communities to volunteer have been able to witness miracles like this. Many of them have gone back to their communities to get involved in a greater way, some are studying to become doctors, teachers, pastors, fashion artists... because they see an opportunity to be a positive influence in our society," Cochran said.

Refugee Work

Cochran left on January 4 for an eight-month assignment to continue her work for YWAM, this time aiding refugees in Europe. Most of the refugees that Cochran will be working with are Syrian, but there are also Afghans, Iraqis, Nigerians and others.

Currently based in Germany, Cochran expects her work will bring her to Greece and other European countries as well.

Cochran, who has joined a team of six missionaries from all around the world, will help distribute clothing to refugees and help ensure they have a place to live. She also is leading educational programs for both children and adults to orientate them to the culture and connect them with volunteers to teach them the German language.

In addition, she will help refugees navigate through legal documents and procedures.

As with her efforts in Australia and Papua New Guinea, all of Cochran's work is 100 percent volunteer.

Since she is not compensated for the work, Cochran has worked and done fundraisers to pay for her traveling and living expenses, about $2,500 a month. Most of that has come from donations.

"I have some amazing people that get behind me. Family and friends here in the area, as well as some friends that I made in Australia, they hear what I'm doing and they want to be a part of it. They know they can't go overseas themselves, so they help sponsor me to be able to go on their behalf," Cochran said.

Local Beginnings

Cochran, who graduated from Kewaskum High School in 2005, has always been involved with her church. While in high school, she attended the youth group at Grace Christian Church in Fond du Lac.

"I didn't feel like college was right for me, and I heard about someone joining YWAM. So I went to Australia straight after high school. I tried it out for six months and loved it," Cochran said. "I've been doing it ever since."

Cochran admits that her work has some obstacles.

"The biggest challenges are being away from family and not being able to solve everything myself," Cochran said.

Before heading to Germany, Cochran was able to return home for several months and reconnect with friends and family.

Although it can be difficult, Cochran said the work is definitely worth the efforts.

"I love being able to meet people from all around the world and be able to be a reflection of Christ," Cochran said.

Krystal Cochran plays games in the water with an Australian Indigenous child. Cochran has worked as a missionary overseas for the past 11 years.

KHS Results Good At Alternate Tournament

By Judy Harlow

When weather forced the cancellation of the annual Marty Loy Wrestling Tournament in December, Kewaskum coach Scott Rhoads started looking for an event that had openings.

Officials at the annual Bauer Brawl at West Allis Nathan Hale were happy to have the Indians, who took advantage of the opportunity and placed third in this January 7 Tournament behind Muskego (202 points) and Hall (200). With athletes in 10 of the 14 weight classes, KHS earned 147 points and claimed individual titles at 106 and 132 pounds from sophomores Nathaniel Droese and Eric Bauer, who is still unbeaten on the year.

"Overall we wrestled real well," Rhoads said about the event.

Bauer breezed through the event, pinning Brandon Baitz of Hale in the finals in 4:39 after winning his semifinal match over Jonah Nelson of Whitefish Bay by major decision, 12-0.

Bauer received a bye in the first round, and with his three wins, boosted his season total to 24-0.

There were just five wrestlers at 106, so Droese (16-8) got a bye in the first round, then he beat Gee Nou Vang of Milwaukee Hamilton by pin in 1:42, and he pinned Muskego's Alex Wintheiser in 5:45 in the finals.

"What an awesome tournament for him," Rhoads said about Droese. "He was behind the whole (championship) match but got a takedown to his back and pinned him (Wintheiser). He had been pinned by that kid at Slinger."

Junior Adam Bruss came into the tourney with a perfect 16-0 mark and left with two losses and a fourth place at 113 pounds. After starting with a bye, Brus lost a 7-5 decision to Parker Bevilacqua of Muskego. He rebounded with a 2:00 pin over Joshua Finerty in the first wrestleback, but in the battle for third place, he lost a 2-1 decision to Nicolet's Ryan Kuesel.

"Both were real close matches," Rhoads said about Bruss, who is now 17-2 but has received eight forfeit wins, and, "It's hard to stay on top of your A-game when you're not getting matches."

The Indians got second places from Braden Maertz at 126 pounds and Alex Deheck at 138.

Maertz warmed up with a 15-0 tech fall against Nicolet's Robert Lagerman and followed that with a pin in 3:23 over Ethan DeClark of Franklin, moving him into the finals where he would face Drew Hebior of Wilmot. Hebior used not one but two "Spladles" to beat Maertz by a score of 8 to 7.

"Braden was the offensive wrestler," the coach said, reporting the "Spladle" was the only move Hebior was looking for.

By going 2-1 on the day, Maertz is currently 17-2 on the year.

Deheck (16-6) also cruised his way into the finals, with a 16-0 tech fall in the first round and a pin in 0:53 over Tyler Huckstord in the semis. Deheck's run ended against Hale's Marshall Rushton, who won the title with a 10-2 major decision.

"He (Deheck) fought off a real good headlock" early," Rhoads said, but Rushton "had full control most of the match."

KHS also received a third place from Mason Pomeroy (15-11), who went 3-1 on the day at 120, a fourth from Tanner Goeman (14-12) at 145, a fourth from Kyle Bath (7-17) at 152, and a fourth from Eduardo Padilla (11-15) at 170.

Kewaskum is home tonight (Jan. 12 vs. Ripon and it will be Youth Night. On Saturday, the Indians will be at the Craig Belcher Tournament at Milwaukee Hamilton, with a larger field than last year as several teams were looking to fill in their schedule after cancellation of the Loy event.

"We're looking forward to it. It should be a real good challenge," Rhoads said.

Team Standings: 1. Muskego, 20; 2. Wilmot, 200; 3. Kewaskum, 147; 4. Racine Case, 123.5; 5. Wilmot, 108; 6. Franklin, 104; 7. Nicolet, 90; 8. Milwaukee Hamilton, 55; 9. Whitefish Bay, 52.5; 10. Cudahy, 27; 11. Milwaukee King, 25

On January 5, the Indians made the long trip to Winneconne for eight varsity matches, winning seven of them in a 57-24 rout.

With the win, the Indians are 3-1 in East Central dual meets with just two remaining, against Plymouth and Ripon. (Kettle Moraine Lutheran does not field a wrestling team.)

Winning by pin were Droese at 106, Bauer at 132, Deheck at 138, Goeman at 145, Sam Larson at 160 and Eduardo Padilla at 170.

Winneconne scored 18 points on KHS forfeits at the upper weights and a pin by Nick Grewe over Nick Wolf at 182.

Kewaskum 57, Winneconne 24

106 Nathaniel Droese pinned Gavin Coshenet, 1:47; 113 Adam Bruss won by forfeit; 120 Mason Pomeroy def. Anthony Keuntjies, 6-4 SV; 126 Bradey Maertz won by forfeit; 132 Eric Bauer pinned Brady Maxwell, 3:01; 138 Alex Deheck pinned Ryan Dowling, 1:06; 145 Tanner Goeman pinned Matt Crowley, 5:43; 152 Kyle Bath won by forfeit; 160 Sam Larson pinned Rutger Braun, 3:51; 170 Eduardo Padilla pinned Nick Braun, 3:51; 182 Nick Wolf was pinned by Nick Grewe, 0:43; 195 KHS forfeited to Bennett Krings; 220 KHS forfeited to Quinten Airola; 285 KHS forfeited to Josh Klemm.

ing off a huge win in the NFC Wild Card game against the New York Giants while the Cowboys have enjoyed a bye week preparing for the worst.

The Cowboys and the Packers have met for a total of 34 times. The series is tied at 17-17-0.

They have played against each other in seven playoff games dating back to Jan. 1, 1967, including the infamous "Ice Bowl." The Cowboys lead the playoff series 3-4. The Packers defeated the Cowboys two years ago, in the playoffs 26-21 and most recently the Green Bay fell to Dallas 30-16 back on October 16 at Lambeau.

Don't expect this game to be a walk in the park for either team. Dallas has proven to be the team to beat. When the dust settles this week's, Ultimate Prediction has the Pack still on the table winning 35-27.

Be sure to watch Wayne Sargent and the crew of "The Ultimate Packer Fan Connection" as they host a Tailgate Party live on Fox 11 on Friday, Jan. 13, from 6:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. from the Fox 11 House across from Lambeau Field.

KHS Boys Go Cold In Second Half Against Chargers

By Judy Harlow

After making good progress in two recent games, the Kewaskum High boys basketball team regressed in its East Central contest against Kettle Moraine Lutheran on January 6, especially on the offensive side of the court, losing 67-26.

"I thought our guys defended real well in the first half," KHS coach Don Gruber said about the effort, which dropped the Indians' record to 0-4 in the EC and 0-8 overall. "Honestly, I thought we ran out of gas."

After closing the gap to 26-21 near the end of the first half, the Indians gave up a buzzer-beater rebound shot to the Chargers' Joey Behm, putting the deficit at eight again.

After the break Kewaskum's offense went dormant. It took the Indians over 13 minutes to score as shot after shot missed the mark and turnovers took away other opportunities to score.

Finally with 6:18 to play, Jordan Carlton made a three-point play, but the Indians were down by 30, and missed their next three shots, negating any chance of getting closer to the Chargers.

KML was fueled by the 1-2 scoring show of Behm and reserve Andrew May, who combined for 28 points. May, a six-foot, six-inch (6-6) guard, came off the bench to pour in 11 points, nine in a six-minute stretch in the first half.

Brady Hanson, the lone KHS senior starter, led the Indians. He scored 15 points, including just two in the second half when he hit just one of six shots before fouling out.

Carlton chipped in with nine, and Jared Chesak was the only other Indian to score. He had two points.

"We just got our butts handed to us. That's all there is to it," Gruber said, quick to add, "It's frustrating being 0-8, but I'm still enjoying coaching these guys."

KHS is at league-leading Ripon tonight (January 12) and hosts Cedar Grove in a makeup game on January 13.

Three nights before, the Indians lost their second straight two-point decision to host St. Mary's Springs, 54-52, in a game they led the entire first half but struggled down the stretch, scoring just one basket in the final six minutes of play.

"It was a winnable game again," Gruber said.

KHS jumped out to a 7-0 lead with the "J" duo of Jordan Carlton (five points) and Jared Chesak (two points) hitting early baskets. The Indians held the Ledgers scoreless for the first 5:08 of the contest and went into the locker room with a 27-21 advantage, with the 6-6 Hanson scoring 16 of those points on a variety of shots and 6x8 free throw shooting.

In the second half, KHS led 33-25 after Chesak scored on an inbound play with just under 14 minutes to play.

The Ledgers went on a 7-2 run that helped them close the gap and eventually took their first lead (38-37) on Mitch Waechter's bucket with 8:41 to go.

Two minutes later, Hanson's three-point shot tied the game at 42-42, then the two teams traded baskets by SMS's Cade Christensen and Carlton, who was the recipient of a good pass by Chesak.

KHS had leads of 45-44 and 47-46 after Chesak's single free throw and a successful bonus effort at the line by Hanson, but after a KHS turnover it was Josh Maul tying the game at 47 with a single FT with just under three minutes to go.

The Indians took a three-point (50-47) lead when Hanson nailed two more free throws, but Blake Ottery's three-point play tied the game again (50-50).

St. Mary's missed a pair of free throws, opening the door for the Indians to go ahead, and Hanson responded by making two more from the charity stripe after getting fouled taking down a rebound. KHS was now ahead 52-50 with 1:03 to play, but Clay Schueffner came through with a power move inside for one final tie.

KHS was undoubtedly going to get the ball in the hands of Hanson, but when they did, he was called for a travel, and on the return trip down the court, it was Blake Ottery driving in for what turned out to be the winning basket with :8.6 second left.

The Indians got the ball across the time line, but Dan Kreis dribbled into a double team and his pass was tapped away as time ran out.

Hanson wound up with 28 points, while Carlton had nine, Chesak seven and Nick Beine six as he continues to help out in a reserve roll. St. Mary's, now 7-2 overall, had a team-high 16 from Ottery.

Kewaskum Indians' Win Streak Comes To An End

By Judy Harlow

Winneconne's height was a problem for the Kewaskum High girls basketball team, but in the end it was the Indians' cold shooting that put a halt to their four-game win streak and their string of home victories which had been a perfect 4-0.

Kewaskum lost its East Central game 55-48, falling to 1-3 in league play on January 6, a night that Indian senior guard Mikayla Dogs scored her 500th point.

"We could not overcome a poor shooting night," KHS coach Russ Thull said, adding, "We also gave up 15 offensive rebounds. Rebounding has hurt us all season."

The Wolves have one starter, Sadie Kosciuk, who stands six-foot, two-inches (6-2) and another, Jordyn Ellis, is 5-11. Those two dominated the boards, combining for 12 rebounds, and 5-8 Abby Gilman came up with a team-high nine.

Kewaskum fell behind 26-17 at the end of the first half, and while the Indians outscored their guests 31-29 after the break, the comeback effort fell short.

Kewaskum hit just three of 22, three-point shots for 13 percent, leading to an 18x62 shooting night (28 percent) overall. The Indians did do well at the free throw line, converting nine of 11, but they just didn't get there enough.

Concerning Dogs' milestone, Thull said No. 500 came on a basket from the lane at the end of the second half. "She finished with 14 points and five assists," Thull said, adding, "Hailey Herriges, though undersized against the tall Winneconne team, grabbed 16 rebounds to go with 12 points."

Freshman Maxine Paulowske came off the bench to contribute 10 points.

Free throw totals told much of the story in this game, according to Thull, who reported the Lady Wolves went to the line a whopping 33 times and converted 19.

"Our effort showed up today, but we didn't take care of some little things," Thull said, reporting the score was tied at 10-10 halfway through the first period, but then Winniconne went on a run to go ahead 24-12. "From there on, we were trying to dig ourselves out of a hole, but we were not hitting the shots. I liked that we were finding ways to get to the rim, but we couldn't get the stops we needed to overcome."

KHS managed to get as close as six points, 54-48 but ran out of time.

The road won't get any easier for the Indians, who were scheduled to host second place Waupun on January 10, then go to KML tonight (January 12).

Reminder: No Ice Is Safe Ice; Ask Locals For Conditions

Wisconsin again is witnessing winter's annual sudden and severe arrival, dropping snow and temperatures to form early-season ice on ponds, lakes and rivers. The Department of Natural Resources reminds winter enthusiasts that ice should never be considered safe and early season ice conditions varies from waterbody to waterbody.

Outdoor enthusiasts — cross-country skiers, ice fishers, hikers and snowmobilers — are urged to ask local businesses and sporting organizations about the area's ice conditions before they go on the ice and be prepared if they do venture out.

The recent storms have brought sub-zero temperatures into the state, which are just starting the process of forming ice on lakes, flowages and ponds.

The DNR does not monitor ice conditions, making it individual's responsibility to learn those conditions. Good sources of local ice conditions include bait store operators, fishing clubs around lakes, ice fishers and snowmobile clubs. These are the places locally most likely to have the most current information about the lakes and areas.

The ice conditions on any lake can vary from location to location. Remember, even though it may look thick on the surface, moving water from streams, rivers and springs can cause ice to form unevenly.

People who do venture out on the ice should:

- Dress warmly in layers and consider wearing a life jacket or vest.

- Not go alone. Head out with friends or family. Take a cell phone and make sure someone knows where you are and when you are expected to return.

- Know before you go. Don't travel in areas you are not familiar and don't travel at night or during reduced visibility.

- Avoid inlets, outlets or narrow that may have current that can thin the ice.

- Look for clear ice, which is generally stronger than ice with snow on it or bubbles in it.

- Carry some basic safety gear: ice claws or picks, a cellphone in a waterproof bag or case, a life jacket and length of rope, and a spud bar to check ice while walking to new areas.

- Wear creepers attached to boots to prevent slipping on clear ice and take extra mittens or gloves so you always have a dry pair.

- If you go through the ice:

- Carry a set of ice picks in your pocket to help you climb out of the ice hole.

Once out of the water, do not stand up. Rather, walk on your forearms until the majority of your body is on solid surface.

- Try to remain calm, call for help and take steps to get out of the water as soon as possible.

The DNR also has information on its website about what to do should you fall through the ice and how to make ice claws. Learn more by searching the DNR website for "ice safety."

Moraine Park Makes Military Friendly Schools List For Seventh Year

For the seventh consecutive year, Moraine Park Technical College is pleased to have made Victory Media's list of Military Friendly Schools for its commitment in serving veterans as students.

Institutions earning the 2017 Military Friendly School designation were evaluated using both public data sources and responses from Victory Media's proprietary survey.

More than 1,700 schools participated.

"I'm so proud of our staff and students for their collective commitment in making our College a special place for military students and student veterans. Our consistent designation as a Military Friendly School affirms this commitment, and we look forward to further serving our student veterans and military members in the future," said Scott Lieburn, Moraine Park's dean of students.

This prestigious award recognizes the top colleges, universities and trade schools nationwide who embrace America's veterans as students.

Moraine Park has numerous resources available to military and veteran students, including the Student Veterans Association (SVA) club. The SVA meets regularly to provide information about educational opportunities offered at Moraine Park and to make updates to veterans benefits. The club allows students to meet with other military students and veterans as well as their supporters. This provides a support system to help veteran and military members ask questions and smoothly transition from military life to college and careers.

Schools on the list range from state universities and private colleges, to community and technical colleges and trade schools. The common bond is their shared priority of recruiting and retaining students with military experience.

Schools on the Military Friendly Schools list also offer additional benefits to student veterans such as on-campus veterans programs, credit for service and military spouse programs.

Criteria for making the Military Friendly Schools list included efforts to recruit and retain military and veteran students, results in recruiting military and veteran students, and academic accreditations. The complete list can be viewed by visiting militaryfriendly.com.

The "Military Friendly" distinction also comes at a special time for Moraine Park, which proclaimed its 2016-17 academic year its "Year of the Student Veteran." The College has hosted several events on all of its campuses this fall to honor veteran and military students, and has additional events planned for the spring semester.

This year, Moraine Park also earned national ranking in Military Times's Best for Vets: Career & Technical Colleges 2017 list. That list was released in November, and was comprised of 24 career and technical colleges who display a commitment to educating and providing opportunities to America's veterans. It was the second consecutive year Moraine Park finished in the Top 10 of "Best for Vets," with the College placing 8th on this year's list - up from a 9th-place ranking last year.

For more information about Moraine Park's Veterans Services, visit morainepark.edu/veterans.

Student Entries Welcome For Gov's Biz Plan Contest

Looking for a self-directed project this semester that can lead to prizes, mentoring and live connections to the business world? The 14th annual Wisconsin Governor's Business Plan Contest is accepting entries online for the 2017 competition until 5 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 31.

The contest is designed to encourage entrepreneurs in the startup stage of tech-based businesses in Wisconsin. It links up-and-coming entrepreneurs with a statewide network of community resources, expert advice, high-quality education, management talent and possible sources of capital.

It also leads to valuable public and media exposure for the top business plans and helps spur economic growth in the state. Finalists will share in more than $100,000 in cash and service prizes. There is no cost to enter.

For their initial entries, contestants will submit a 250-word (or 2,000-character) idea abstract online at www.govsbizplancontest.com. That's where contestants will also find business plan templates and other information, such as the Entrepreneurs' Toolkit. The toolkit provides business startup information and assistance, networking contacts and technical resources.

Contestants who advance to subsequent contest rounds will expand their plan in stages. More than 70 judges drawn from the finance, sales, marketing, research and technology sectors across Wisconsin will score the entries and provide feedback on submissions.

To get started, contestants will need to create a simple account at www.govsbizplancontest.com. All entries are submitted through the website. Contestants use their account to gain access to mentors throughout the process, as well as review the judges' comments and feedback.

Since its inception in 2004, more than 3,350 entries have been received and about $2.2 million in cash and services (such as legal, accounting, office space and marketing) have been awarded. Contest categories are Advanced Manufacturing, Business Services, Information Technology and Life Sciences.

Wisconsin residents 18 years old and older are eligible, as are teams from Wisconsin-based businesses and organizations. Businesses or teams from outside the state are also eligible to compete if they demonstrate intent to base their business in Wisconsin. Entrepreneurs may also enter multiple ideas, though each idea must be separate and distinct.

Companies or individuals that have raised less than $25,000 in private equity for their plans in a current form are eligible to enter. Generally speaking, private equity refers to angel and venture capital.

As with past contests, the 2017 competition will take place in stages:

•In Phase 1, which is open until 5 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 31, 2017, the contest will accept idea abstracts on the website. Entries should be roughly 250 words (or no more than 2,000 characters, including spaces) and will be graded by the pool of BPC judges. The top 50 idea abstracts will advance to Phase 2.

•In Phase 2, which runs from February 20 to 5 p.m. March 13, 2017, the top 50 idea abstracts will submit an executive summary. The top 20 executive summaries will advance to Phase 3.

•In Phase 3, which runs from April 3 to 5 p.m. April 24, 2017, the top 20 executive summaries will prepare full business plans. Judges will review the plans and pick three finalists from each of the four categories to advance to the final presentation round.

•The top 12, or "Diligent Dozen," will square off with oral presentations during the Wisconsin Entrepreneurs' Conference on June 6 at Union South in Madison.

Past finalists have launched companies that have raised more than $200 million in angel, venture, grants and venture debt over time – all while creating jobs and economic value for Wisconsin. The contest's major sponsors include the Wisconsin Economic Development Corp.

The 2016 grand prize winner was Hyde, a Madison startup company whose device is a life jacket that offers increased functionality while reducing bulk. Category winners in 2016 were Hyde (Advanced Manufacturing), Compete Phytochemical Solutions (Business Services), POLCO (Information Technology), and Lynx Biosciences (Life Sciences).

Produced by the Wisconsin Technology Council, the contest's major sponsor is the Wisconsin Economic Development Corp. Hidden In Plain Sight Exhibit Comes To West Bend

– Life-Size Re-Creation Of A Teen's Bedroom With More Than 30 "Red Flags" That May Signal Drug Or Alcohol Use To Be On Exhibit At Moraine Park

The Noon Rotary Club of West Bend is pleased to announce Hidden in Plain Sight. This program will focus on educating parents on the critical issue of prescription drug abuse, underage drinking/tobacco consumption and other forms of illegal drug use.

Located at Moraine Park Technical College in West Bend, Hidden in Plain Sight is a program that will provide a life-size exhibit of a teen's bedroom with more than 30 "red flags" that may signal drug or alcohol use. The bedroom identifies areas where teens may hide drugs, household items that can be used as drug paraphernalia, and ways they might try to cover up drug and alcohol use.

The goal is to educate parents and other adults who are influential in the lives of youth so they know what seemingly innocent items can actually be an indication of substance abuse. Guided tours of the exhibit bedroom will occur in January and February 2017.

As part of the exhibit, there will be a five-part lecture series titled The Heroin Highway. Further information on the specific dates, topics, and speakers for this program can be found at www.facebook.com/hiddeninplainsightwb.

Assisting the Rotary Club of West Bend with this project is Elevate, The Heroin Task Force of Washington County and Moraine Park Technical College.

KREMER FAMILY

Rep. Jesse Kremer Sworn Into Office for a Second Term

Representative Jesse Kremer (R-Kewaskum) took the oath of office and was officially sworn in to the 103rd Wisconsin Legislature.

Rep. Kremer is known as a common sense, unabashed conservative voice for the 59th Assembly District. He is one of 64 Republicans who will be representing the Assembly during the 2017-2018 legislative session.

Thirty-nine-year-old Rep. Kremer was joined at the inaugural ceremony by his wife Janet, and daughters Keturah (13), Miriam (11) and Michaiah (7).

"Although it was a steep learning curve, I thoroughly enjoyed my first two years of elected service to the people of the 59th Assembly District," said Rep. Kremer. "It is an honor to serve all of the constituents of this beautiful corner of the state for a second term, and I look forward to working with my colleagues in the legislature to keep Wisconsin moving forward."

For the 2017-2018 session, Rep. Kremer has once again been appointed to serve as vice chair of the Criminal Justice and Public Safety Committee.

"My extensive experience in the public safety arena, including my service as a Wisconsin National Guard war veteran, volunteer Kewaskum firefighter and EMT, and two years as an emergency services dispatcher will continue to be an asset to me as I serve as vice chair of the Criminal Justice and Public Safety Committee," said Kremer. Rep. Kremer is also a member of the Public Benefit Reform, Health, Colleges and Universities, Corrections, Constitution and Long Term Care committees.

Rep. Kremer represents the 59th Assembly District, which includes Southern Calumet, Western Sheboygan, Northern Washington and Eastern Fond du Lac Counties. Rep. Kremer's office will continue to be located at 17 West in the Wisconsin State Capitol, and he can be reached at (608) 266-9175 or by e-mail at Rep.Kremer@legis.wisconsin.gov. His legislative website can be found at www.RepKremer.com.

Ideas For Parents: Easy Things To Help Your Child Succeed

Why do some kids grow up with ease while others struggle? Search Institute Researchers identified specific, practical things that can have a tremendous and lasting positive impact on youth. Rather than focusing on the problems, this research concentrates on the Developmental Assets – the positive things (such as parent support and commitment to learning) that help young people thrive. The assets are values, experiences and positive qualities that young people need to help them make wise decisions and choose positive lifestyles. The more assets they have, the better.

Caring School Climate

Youth are more likely to grow up healthy when their school provides a caring, encouraging environment.

School Climate: What's The Forecast?

Most people like the weather to be warm and sunny, and most students like their school climate to be the same. According to Quest International, an educator training organization, "School Climate is the feel of a school – the mood and atmosphere you sense the moment you enter a school building." You want a climate that promotes learning. A cold, dreary school climate isn't one your son or daughter would want for a very long time.

What causes a school to have a warm, positive climate? A lot depends on how people interact.

When your son or daughter comes into contact with a lot of different people during the day, that affects the school's climate. It may start out with the way your bus driver treats your child, or the way other students interact with her or him. Then there could be an interaction with a school secretary, counselor, teacher, coach, cook, custodian, and so on. The way people feel about the school will affect how they treat each other, and vice versa.

One person's attitude can make a significant difference. At one school in Minneapolis, Minnesota, everybody could count on the school secretary. She always had a smile on her face and knew everyone by name. In fact, students often stopped by to see her because she always helped them feel so valued and cared for. When she retired, she received over 1,000 flowers one from each student.

That school rarely had a rainy day in its climate.

Time To Advocate

Three ways to improve the climate at your child's school:

- Learn as much as you can about your child's school, the policies, the politics, and the general mood
- Get involved with a parent-teacher organization. Create a spirit of cooperation. Teachers, administrators, volunteers, and parents all want the best for kids.
- Talk with your child about his or her thoughts and feelings about the school. Encourage your child to share those opinions with others through student government, a letter to the school newspaper, or simply talking to a teacher or administrator.

Pursuant to Section 174.052, Wisconsin Statutes, notice is hereby given to all owners of dogs in Washington County that dog licenses and rabies vaccinations are required.

Vaccination by a licensed veterinarian against rabies is required of all dogs (Section 95.21(2)) within 30 days after the dog reaches four (4) months of age and revaccinated within one year after the initial vaccination. The owner of a dog shall have the dog revaccinated against rabies by a veterinarian when the certificate expires or within three (3) years of previous vaccination. The certificate of rabies vaccination must be presented to the collecting official before a dog license may be issued.

All dogs five (5) months of age or older require a license. The minimum license fee for neutered males or spayed females is $3.00, upon presentation of evidence attesting to the same, and $8.00 for the unneutered male or unspayed female dog or one-half of these amounts if the dog became five (5) months of age after July 1, of the license year. The governing body of any town, village, or city may raise the minimum dog license tax. Any person who keeps multiple dogs or operates a kennel may apply for a multiple dog license. The fee is $35.00 for twelve (12) dogs or less and additional $3.00 for each dog in excess of twelve (12).

Dog licenses may be obtained from your local town, village or city treasurer or designee during the course of any given year. Dog owners should notify their treasurer if their dog is given away or has died, so that you will not be considered delinquent. An affidavit of death is available.

PENALTY

"We must do everything we can to reduce the tax burden on Wisconsin taxpayers."

Snow Blower Safety Tips: Keep Best Practices In Mind This Winter

—Outdoor Power Equipment Institute Reminds Home And Business Owners About Safe Handling

With winter snows arriving, homeowners, contractors, and business owners will again rely on their snow blowers to clear driveways and walks. The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI) is offering tips for safe and correct use of snow blowers.

"Your indispensable winter friend, the snow blower is ready to be powered up and it's important to keep safety in mind," says OPEI President and CEO Kris Kiser.

Be sure to prepare and consider the following tips before you use your equipment:

Prepare Before It Snows

Review your owner's manual and check your equipment. Check your owner's manual for safe handling procedures from your manufacturer.

If you forgot to drain the fuel last winter before storing your snow blower, drain the tank now. Adjust any cables. Check the auger (the snow blower should always be completely powered off when you are checking the equipment). Know how to operate the controls. You should be able to shut off your equipment quickly.

Prepare your fuel and handle it properly. It's important to have the right fuel on hand for your snow blower — movement and fuel availability may be limited during a snowstorm. Be sure to use the correct fuel, as recommended by your equipment's manufacturer (for more information on fueling properly see www.LookBeforeYouPump.com). Fill up the fuel tank outside before you start the engine and while the engine is cold. Never add fuel to a running or hot engine.

Be sure to clean the area you intend to clear with your equipment. Snow can sometimes hide objects that if run over by a snow blower, may harm the machine or people.

Doormats, hoses, balls, toys, boards, wires, and other debris should be removed from the areas you intend to clear.

Dress appropriately. Wear safety glasses and footwear that can handle slippery surfaces.

Operate Your Equipment Safely

Key Safety Tip: Never put your hands inside the auger or chute. Use a clean out tool (or stick) to unclog snow or debris from your snow blower. Your hands should never go inside the auger or chute. Make sure the snow blower is in the off position before addressing any clogs.

Turn OFF your snow blower if you need to clear a clog. If you need to remove debris or unclog snow, always turn off your snow blower. Wait for all moving parts to come to a complete stop before clearing any clogs or debris.

Only use your snow blower in visible conditions. Never operate the snow blower without good visibility or light.

Aim your snow blower with care. Never throw snow toward people or cars. Do not allow anyone to stand in front of your snow blower. Keep children or pets away from your snow blower when it is operating.

Use extreme caution on slopes and hills. Use caution when changing directions on slopes. Do not attempt to clear steep slopes.

Know where your cord is. If you have an electric powered snow blower, be aware of where the power cord is at all times. Avoid tripping. Do not run over the power cord.

More safety tips and information are available at www.opei.org.
