Fire Destroys Cascade Home

– No Injuries; House Is Total Loss

By Anne Trautner

Fire ravaged through a three-bedroom home located on Highway W in Cascade Tuesday afternoon.

None of the three family members were home when the fire started. However, all their possessions were lost.

Homeowner Randy Trapp was at work when he received a call at 1:54 p.m. from the Sheboygan County Sheriff's Office that his house was on fire.

Trapp called and told his wife, Jessica Trapp, and headed home. Because of the fog, his 30-minute drive home took about 40 minutes.

Jessica Trapp, who had a 25-minute drive home from work, arrived at the house before her husband.

By the time she arrived, there was no roof and not much left of the 2,200-square foot house.

The Trapps' daughter, Ashley Trapp, who is a sophomore at Kewaskum High School, came home as soon as she heard the news and could not believe her eyes.

"I could see a couple flames in the garage, but most of the house was down," Ashley said.

Anthony Kudek Found Guilty Of Reckless Homicide

By Anne Trautner

After about one hour of deliberations on Wednesday, Feb. 22, a jury found Anthony Kudek of Kewaskum guilty of first degree reckless homicide in the drug-related death of Kimberly Landon and guilty of felony bail jumping.

Landon was found dead in her bedroom at her father's house in West Bend on May 17. She was 21 at the time.

Kudek, 28, showed no reaction as the verdict was read. He now faces up to 46 years and a fine of $100,000 on the reckless homicide charge. Felony bail jumping carries an additional six years in prison and up to $10,000.

He is scheduled for sentencing on April 18.

tencing on April 18.

Kudek, who had pled not guilty to both counts, was out on bail for a felony when he was found using drugs with Landon last May.

The jury trial, which began on Monday, Feb. 20, ended sooner than expected. It was scheduled to run through Friday, Feb. 24, although Washington County Circuit Court Judge Todd Martens, who is presiding over the case, had said that it could end earlier.

The Case

Both Landon and Kudek had a history of drug use before tragedy struck last year on May 17.

Cause Of Apartment Building Fire Is Undetermined

By Anne Trautner

The investigation into the cause of the fire at 222 Braatz Drive on February 10 has been completed, and the cause of the fire remains undetermined.

Based on property owner statements, fire department personnel statements and all the information currently available, the origin of the fire is located in the east bedroom of apartment number 7, toward the center of the room, Deputy Sheriff Detective Hope Demler found.

"There is a strong belief that the fire originated from a humidifier that was in the bedroom; however that belief can not be substantiated as fact," Kewaskum Police Chief Tom Bishop said.

Seven of the eight apartments were occupied, but all residents were evacuated safely from the building.

One Kewaskum firefighter suffered a serious medical condition on scene and was transported to Froedtert Hospital in Milwaukee. Another Kewaskum firefighter was treated on scene for smoke inhalation.

Some of the pets living in the building did not survive. Two cats were found alive after the fire was extinguished and multiple cats were killed, Bishop said.

The Kewaskum Fire Department was notified of the fire at about 7:36 p.m.

The following departments assisted the Kewaskum Fire Department: West Bend Fire Department, Campbellsport Fire Department, Kohlsville Fire Department, Newburg Fire Department, Boltonville Fire Department and an Engine Company from Fillmore Fire Department to stand by at Kewaskum's Fire Station.

The fire was brought under control after three hours and firefighters were on scene for approximately four hours.

Substantial fire and water damage occurred to all of the eight units in the building, which was owned by Bezold LLC.

WASHINGTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE REPORT

OWI Sixth Offense

The Sheriff's Office, with the assistance of the West Bend Police Department, arrested a 49-year-old Town of Polk man on February 22 at 9:21 p.m. after he attempted to elude the deputy on a traffic stop. The deputy had clocked the driver 72 mph in a 50 mph zone on County Trunk D and subsequently observed more erratic driving by the driver. The deputy attempted to stop the driver on North Main Street (County Highway D) near Green Tree Road in the City of West Bend when the operator abruptly pulled onto Green Tree Road and drove 0.7 mile after the deputy had activated emergency lighting and siren. The driver pulled into a driveway in the 1900 block of Green Tree Road and fled on foot. Fifteen minutes later, West Bend

Police officers located the subject hiding in a series of pine trees where he was taken into custody for OWI sixth offense. The individual remains in custody at the Sheriff's Office.

Traffic Stop

The Sheriff's Office arrested a 20-year-old City of Milwaukee woman after a traffic stop on February 23 at 2:24 a.m. The deputy observed the driver's vehicle southbound on US 45 near Pleasant Valley Rd traveling 47 mph with a defective headlamp. The deputy initiated a traffic stop. The operator continued south on US 45 maintaining her speed and activated her emergency flashers. The driver then exited at Highway 60 and proceeded west onto Tillie Lake Road, where she stopped in a parking lot. Upon making contact with the driver, the deputy noted the odor of marijuana from within the vehicle, noticed an open bottle of wine on the front floorboard and an unusual amount of new toiletry items packed into the vehicle.

A subsequent search of the vehicle yielded a small amount of marijuana and documents that suggested the toiletry items were purchased fraudulently in the City of West Bend. The documents and associated evidence were confiscated and turned over to West Bend Police. During the on-scene investigation, the driver began to have a panic attack and was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital by Jackson Rescue. After medical clearance, she was taken into custody for misdemeanor eluding, operation while suspended, open intoxicants and possession of marijuana.

Drug Case

A 22-year-old Brookfield man was arrested on February 23 at 12:07 a.m. on charges of possession of heroin and drug paraphernalia after a routine traffic stop. The incident occurred on U.S. 45 near West Washington Street when the deputy observed the driver's vehicle driving in the middle of both lanes on U.S. 45. The deputy made contact with the driver who indicated he was on his cell phone trying to get directions home which caused the lane deviation. During the contact, the deputy observed drug paraphernalia in the car. The deputy conducted a field test and obtained a positive reading for heroin. The man remains in custody on charges of possession of schedule I narcotic.

Village Of Kewaskum Suspends Impact Fees Another Year

By Anne Trautner

To encourage new development in the Tax Increment Finance District (TIF), the Kewaskum Village Board voted on Monday, Feb. 27, to once again suspend collection of impact fees through July 13, 2018.

An impact fee is the fee that the village charges on new development to pay for the costs of providing public services to that development.

This will add another year that the village has waived impact fees for building permits for industrial, commercial and residential construction. The village has not collected impact fees for the past several years.

"This is not painless per se. While this is a great tool to be an incentive for development, when the TIF was originally drawn up in our engineer's plan of revenue streams, they did intend for the sewer utility to recoup most of its cost in the TIF via impact fees. So while I absolutely recommend that this be approved, I want the board to be aware," Village Administrator Matt Heiser said.

Roughly speaking, the sewer impact fee per new house would be about $2,000, according to Village President Kevin Scheunemann.

"Basically we are looking for the extension to give us some stability for people who are building this summer," Scheunemann said.

Dear Editor,

Let's "Pool" Together

As an appointed committee member of the Kiwanis Park Pool, I chose to attend last Monday night's village board meeting to check on the progression of the Kiwanis Park pool project. I also wanted to volunteer my services in writing the scope of work and the bidding documents for the project that were previously going to be considered. Upon completion of stating my concerns, and while offering my services (for free) Trustee Dave Zehren took the floor only to yell, ridicule and demoralize me for my thoughts and involvement. I was in disbelief for allowing the outrage and the lack of discipline to be displayed by a public official during a public meeting.

For the last 10 years or so I have volunteered countless hours for many worthy causes for the better of this community. In 2015 I was voted as The Kewaskum Chamber's Business of the Year for my efforts representing The Little Folks School House, LLC. At the village board meeting, I feel I spoke professionally and calmly. I also feel that Board Trustee Dave Zehren's lashing out at me was unwarranted and out of order.

As pool attendance was declining, the Village was losing some $50,000 annually for operating cost. Last summer village president Kevin Scheunemann appointed a committee and the village board approved hiring a professional pool consultant. The purpose of this committee was to determine the future of the Kiwanis Park Pool at a profitable margin. The committee met for nine months, some with the consultant present. Together we were presented with many plans and options to enhance the Kiwanis Park Pool. After much controversy, it was decided the best approach was to remove the existing shade shelter, replacing it with a 1,300 square-foot splash pad. The existing bath house would be remodeled to include a new concession area. There would be eight 15-foot umbrellas placed around the pool for shade and comfort. The plan also included purchasing various large pool inflatables. There was never any thought or discussion of "lean-to's" for shade.

We made our presentation to the board on November 28. In the end, it was tabled to consider writing a scope of work along with three separate bid packages, then advertising for public bidding as a design build project. The bids would be reviewed with the possibility of moving forward. The anticipated budget is $403,000 for the splash pad, umbrellas and the bath house. The estimate for inflatables was $25,000.

Village Trustee Dave Zehren, who also chairs the park and recreation committee, had a negative response to the plan on Monday night, just as he had on November 28's presentation.

As this project has been slow in developing, I felt as a committee member it was my place to further pursue this. Reports and news articles have stated that in two previous meetings held by the Parks committee, the proposed was discussed resulting only as a possible future option. Having paid a professional consultant and delegating a committee, apparently the three members of the P&R committee have taken this project upon themselves. At their latest meeting, they discussed the possibility of building some type of "lean-to's" for shade and purchasing a few inflatables. There's been discussion about bringing the inflatable representative back to explain the different inflatables to Dave Zehren and company. Why? Why was a Committee formed and a consultant paid to do this? Why was our recommendation not respected?

Later in last Monday's meeting, (after I had left), the P&R Committee's recommendation to the board was voted on and approved. They approved $10,000 to build four "lean-to's" with pressure-treated posts and tin roofs along with $15,000 for some inflatables. Some of the money could come from an insurance check for damages to Wildlife Park. The park and rec committee found that it would cost $17,000 to install four umbrellas, but I feel if that if the village would take advantage of the bidding process, it could enable the village to purchase umbrellas at an affordable price rather than settling with wooden lean-tos. Do you want to share your privacy and shade or would you prefer to sit under the privacy and shade of your own umbrella? Apparently, the three members of P&R and the village board have made up their mind for you. This was NOT a consideration by the committee or consultant.

Expressing my concern, I spoke of how the village has done nothing for the past 10 years or so for the residents of this community. These same residents just voted and approved nearly $30 million for school improvements. The time has come to show some appreciation for those residents who are paying for these school improvements.

Voicing my opinion, it was my suspicion the reason for delay was that the village had no one in house with the experience to write the letter of scope along with the bidding documents without hiring an outside consultant.

I have been in the trades for over 40 years. I have worked in engineering and management for the last 20. I'm a licensed plumbing design engineer, master plumber, and worked as commercial project manager. I have overseen similar projects. I have written many construction documents and have offered my services to oversee and consult throughout the bidding process at no charge.

The project was tabled until the next village board meeting. I am asking for your help and support to move forward, while voicing your opinion on this well-deserved project. Please email me your thoughts, comments and concerns to: wdsargent@yahoo.com.

Thank you,
Wayne D. Sargent

Adolph Pitt, 29, of Campbellsport, is in serious condition at St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac, since Monday afternoon when he was found wounded by a shotgun discharge at the farm home of his brother, Layman Pitt, near Elmore, with whom he resided. Sheriff L. Thalheim of Fond du Lac County said that Pitt declined to explain the discharge of the single barrel shotgun with the end of the barrel near the right side of his head. While Layman was getting a drink of water in the kitchen of the home and a housekeeper was in the adjacent pantry. Adolph went to a front room where the gun was kept and returned to the kitchen where the shot was fired. The sheriff said the brother ran about a half mile to Elmore and called a Campbellsport physician. The man was weak from loss of blood, seemingly dazed and his left side was paralyzed when police arrived. He was taken to St. Agnes Hospital and last reports heard were that his condition was unchanged.

Sylvester Volm, formerly of Kewaskum, who has been employed at West Bend, has purchased the shoe store and shoe repair shop of Roger Sukawaty of Campbellsport. He will take over the business on March 1. Sukawaty expects to enter the U.S. Military service next week.

100 Years February 24, 1917

Mr. and Mrs. John Schields celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home, three miles west of this village last Monday, Feb. 19. They were united in matrimony just fifty years ago in Addison Wis.

Peter Guepe died Saturday morning in a hospital in Milwaukee following injuries he sustained at Campbellsport on the occasion of visiting his mother Mrs. Magdelana Guepe who was then critically ill and passed away Jan. 18, Mr. Guepe was leaving Campbellsport the evening of Jan. 16. When the train Guepe intended to take reaches Campbellsport, his brother John got off. Peter stopped on the platform to talk with him and as the train was starting he took hold of the guard rail to board the train. He missed his footing and fell down in between the car and platform. His clothing became caught in a journal and he was dragged the length of the depot platform, being crushed against the side by the movement of the train. Mr. Guepe sustained a broken leg and is believed to have been internally injured.

A surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. H. Jandre on their 50th wedding anniversary Friday evening at J. Tunn's Hall, dancing was the amusement for the occasion and everyone present took a lively part.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Theusch and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gier of St. Michaels, are the proud parents of baby boys born to them last week.

Weekly HEALTH TIP

REDUCE RISK OF HEARING LOSS

Here are a few tips to lower your risk of age-related hearing loss. Avoid loud noises; noise can damage the cochlea of the ear. Don't smoke; smoking increases risk of hearing loss. Control blood sugar levels. Lose any excess weight; studies show waist circumference as a predictor of hearing loss. Try to get 30 to 60 minutes a day of exercise such as walking. Eat more fruits and vegetables; their antioxidants may help prevent damage from the byproducts of metabolism. Eat more fish; studies show eating fish 2 to 4 times a week can lower the risk of hearing loss by 20% compared to eating less than one serving a month.

The History Center Washington County's Research Center Presents Washington County Women For The Month Of March

The History Center Washington County's Research Center is celebrating Women's History Month by highlighting women from Washington County. Each day from March 1 to March 31, a different photograph and brief story will be posted to the History Center's Facebook page.

The project was sparked by the National Women's History Museum's Facebook page. Each day they highlight a different woman and her accomplishments, usually in conjunction with a birthday or significant date. The idea was to emulate this, using Washington County women during the month of March, which is Women's History Month.

The Research Center has been working on this project for some time and is excited that this aspect of Washington County history can be shared.

St. Joseph Hospital Earns Stroke Center Certification

Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin St. Joseph's Hospital has earned advanced primary stroke center from The Joint Commission. Certification verifies that the hospital administers an established, formal program to treat stroke patients effectively and consistently with the goal of improving care and outcomes. SJH is the only hospital in Washington County to achieve certification, which is valid for up to 24 months.

To be eligible, St. Joseph's Hospital had to demonstrate compliance with stroke-related standards as a primary stroke center and meet additional requirements, including those related to advanced imaging capabilities, 24/7 availability of specialized treatments, and providing staff with the education and competencies to care for complex stroke patients. The certification process included The Joint Commission's on-site review of the hospital's stroke processes to ensure evidence-based clinical practice guidelines and an organized approach to performance measurement and improvement.

"By achieving this advanced certification, St. Joseph's Hospital has thoroughly demonstrated the greatest level of commitment to the care of its patients with a complex stroke condition," said Mark R. Chassin, MD, president and CEO of The Joint Commission. "Certification is a voluntary process and The Joint Commission commends St. Joseph's Hospital for successfully undertaking this challenge to elevate the standard of its care for the community it serves."

An independent, not-for-profit organization, The Joint Commission accredits and certifies nearly 21,000 health care organizations and programs in the United States. Joint Commission accreditation and certification is recognized nationwide as a symbol of quality that reflects an organization's commitment to meeting certain performance standards.

Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin St. Joseph's Hospital, founded in 1930 by local doctors, community leaders and the Sisters of the Divine Savior, is a full-service hospital serving residents of West Bend and Washington County. St. Joseph's Hospital, specializing in women's health and birthing services, cancer care, surgical procedures and rehabilitation services, is part of the Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin health care network, which also includes Froedtert Hospital, Milwaukee; Community Memorial Hospital, Menomonee Falls; and more than 30 primary and specialty care health centers and clinics.

Planning The Event

Alumni from the Kewaskum High School Class of 1994 learned about tragedy at a young age.

The class of approximately 100 students lost a number of classmates during their school years and shortly after to causes such as car accidents, trauma, suicide and cancer, as well as the events of 9/11.

Last August, a group from the class met with Haberman's father, Gordon Haberman. He told the group about the memorial project being planned for Kewaskum.

"The stories he told and what they have gone through to get that piece of steel...it was unbelievable," Teri Sivula said.

The conversation led to a discussion about all of the classmates who had been lost at a young age.

"We reflected on how ing these tragedies bring us all together," Debbie Mielke explained.

The group decided they wanted to do something to help with the memorial and to remember their fallen classmates.

So Debbie (McChain)

Mielke, Shannon (Breit) Rentsch, Nicole (Hetzl) Lentz and Teri (Roe) Sivula started planning.

"We all felt like we had to do something," said Sivula, whose best friend died at age 34 of ovarian cancer and is among those who will be remembered at next week's event.

The group went to area businesses and had a tremendous response from across the county. They were greeted with open arms.

"It has been just unbelievable to see the generosity form people. It is overwhelming," Sivula said.

The 9/11 Memorial

The goal is for Kewaskum's 9/11 memorial to remember the 2,996 people who died in the terrorist attacks on Sept. 11, 2001, and to pay special tribute to Kewaskum native Andrea Haberman.

The memorial is being designed by Dustin Melzark, an architect who graduated from Kewaskum High School. The hope is to build the memorial on the grounds of the Kewaskum Fire Station on Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum.

A committee overseeing the project budgeted about $200,000 for developing the memorial and would like to raise an additional $50,000 for maintenance.

The committee hopes to create a 501(c)(3) organization to maintain the memorial.

Mielke said that as she helped plan next week's fundraiser, she was struck by how supportive everyone in the area has been of the memorial project.

"It has been very heartwarming to see how much this piece affects people and makes them feel connected," she said.

The memorial will serve as a way for the community to remember, but also to unite.

"We all experience loss frequently. We are trying to pull the community together to remember that we all have that common thread. Together, we can move forward by valuing and building relationships with one another," Mielke said.

The Commons Pilot To Launch

The University of Wisconsin-Washington County is one of nine college campuses joining forces with the local business community and the region's entrepreneurs to launch The Commons Pilot. Modeled after the successful Milwaukee Commons project, the bold collaboration will engage up to 50 talented and motivated students in five areas of innovation challenges. Students will tackle real problems from local companies relating to one of five areas that include engineering, healthcare, retail, social, and tech, while learning entrepreneurial skills and building network connections. Fifteen local professionals from a variety of backgrounds will be assigned to the student teams and serve as mentors for the overall process.

In addition to UW-WC, students from Lakeland University, Lakeshore

Technical College, Marian University, Moraine Park Technical College, Silver Lake College, UW-Fond du Lac, UW-Manitowoc and UW-Sheboygan will participate.

Jake's Café, in downtown Sheboygan (529 Ontario Street) will serve as the location for two day-long programs on Sunday, March 19 and Sunday, April 2, with two weeks allowed in between these dates for student teams to meet.

Dr. Jackie Joseph-Silverstein, Regional Executive Officer, has been active in bringing the Commons pilot to this region. She stated, "I am thrilled that the Commons is coming to this area. In talking with students who have participated in the Milwaukee Commons projects, it is clearly a transformational experience for them. They gain confidence in their own problem-solving and creative abilities, while at the same time, through work with students from different disciplines and levels of education, they become open to the idea that there are many ways to approach a problem."

Interested students can learn more and apply online at www.thecommonswi.com/sheboygan. The deadline for applications is March 10 and there is no cost to participate. Spots are limited, with approximately 6-8 students accepted from each participating school. Area firms interested in participating should email Program Director Joe Poeschl, joe@thecommonswi.com

UW-WC is located at 400 S. University Drive in West Bend. It is one of the 14 two-year campuses in Wisconsin that make up the UW Colleges, offering small class sizes and the lowest tuition in the UW System. To learn more, visit the website, washing-ton.uwc.edu.

CAMPUS NEWS

—Students from around the world were admitted to Cornell College for the Fall 2017 semester, including Amanda Mezera of West Bend.

One of the select "Colleges That Change Lives," Cornell College in Mount Vernon, Iowa, is a national liberal arts college with a distinctive One Course At A Time curriculum. The One Course schedule provides students the chance to dive into their studies, focus more intensely on the disciplines of their choice, and learn authentically with the unique freedom to shed the confines of the traditional classroom to study off-campus, pursue research, or accept an internship--all without missing out on other classes.

Cornell is nationally recognized for its value, including by Kiplinger's, which included Cornell on its list of the 100 best values in private colleges for 2016, and the Fiske Guide to Colleges, which named Cornell College one of the 24 "Best Buys" among private colleges. An average of 93% of Cornell graduates complete their degrees within four years.

Our Students Are Making A Difference

Students raised $2,025.75 and with the Kewaskum Business Community support were able to give $5,025.75 back to local charities. The Kewaskum High School junior and senior students in the two Leadership classes, second trimester have just finished the Main Street Philanthropy Program, eleven weeks of meeting once a week in class learning about philanthropy and charities.

The Kewaskum High School and The Silbernagel Group partnered with Main Street Philanthropy to use philanthropy and giving as tools to instill values and life skills in the students, and to inspire the next generation of "philanthropists in training" by helping students to enjoy the gift of serving and giving.

The first thing the students did was to match their personal passions with compatible charitable causes. Elder care, environment protection, social justice and people with physical and mental disabilities were some of the twenty passions that the students chose from.

Students were then put in groups of four or five that matched their personal passions. They learned about the history of philanthropy and taxation.

They discussed trust and build on team trust in creating a fund raiser using their own resources. They developed a business plan to execute their fund-raiser including having a purpose and mission. There were nine fund raisers going on in the two classes during January and February. Some of the fund raisers included making, selling and delivering valentines to fellow classmates; a fifty-fifty raffle during half-time at basketball games; and selling yogurt at lunch time.

At the same time, teams are investigating charities that support their passion. Students contact local charities that support the team passions and evaluate them quantitatively and qualitatively. IRS Forms 990 and 990-EZ are studied and analyzed for the non-profit organizations. Program ratio, management ratio and sustainability are terms the students become comfortable with. Leadership traits are increased when the students do cold calls, visit the organization and ask questions, and volunteer at the organization. Each team then selects two organizations to participate in a panel discussion with other charities at Kewaskum High School. This helps each team to decide which organization/s their hard earned fund raising money will be donated to.

Students also interview mentors, family and friends in the process asking them questions as the lessons learned from money and what is important to living a fulfilling life. Students get a better insight as to what is important in life and the importance of giving back.

Organizations that were chosen by the students this year included: American Legion-Kewaskum; Fire Victims of Kewaskum; Food Pantry of Kewaskum; Friends of Abuse-Washington County; JDRF; Make-a-Wish; Shalom Wildlife Zoo; Threshold of Washington County; and Walleyes for Tomorrow.

This program would not have happened without the generous support of the business community. The generous donors included: Gruber Tool and Die and The Silbernagel Group in the Gold Category; Coffee Corner, Kettle Moraine Gardens, Kewaskum Veterinary Clinic, Lions' Club, P & C Bank, and Westbury Bank in the Silver Category; Cousin Subs, Hon-e-Kor, Ogi Chiropractic, Hair on Main, Sunburst Ski, Voss Insurance and Women's Club in the Bronze Category and Bonnie Bell Motel, Gateway, Goeden's Auto Body Service & Towing, K & D Evacuating, Kewaskum Floral, Kewaskum Frozen Foods, LK Heating and Air Conditioning, The Candy Tree in the Friends Category. Money that the donors gave to the program is divided up among the charities the students chose, allowing the donation to be larger and do more good.

One of the big lessons that the students learn is that charity and philanthropy are not the same and philanthropy is not limited to the wealthy. Students requested that each charity chosen be very specific as to how the money was going to be spent. Examples included the Kewaskum Food Pantry giving Easter candy and fish to families, the Variety Club helping a child in the Kewaskum School district and Make-a-Wish helping to grant a wish to a child in Washington County. Casey Scheel, teacher of the Leadership class said: "The students learn you can make a difference in your community without millions of dollars. You use a can do attitude and talent. The charities see what the students did, that encourages them to do more." Dona Miotke, ambassador for the program agrees. "The students learn about themselves in this program, see what needs there are in the community and experience the joy of giving-time, talent and money, what a way to learn about being a better citizen of Kewaskum."

New Wisconsin Polka Documentary Premieres March 6

Wisconsin celebrates family, community and life with polka. In fact, it's the law: polka was designated our State Dance in 1993.

Now, an all-new Wisconsin Public Television (WPT) documentary takes viewers inside the state's vibrant polka culture. Polka!, hosted by internationally known polka star Mollie Busta — best known as Mollie B. — premieres at 7 p.m. on Monday, March 6, statewide on WPT and Milwaukee Public Television. The program will have an encore broadcast at 7 p.m. on Saturday, March 11, on WPT.

Travelling statewide to festivals, music venues and celebrations where the polka community thrives and the rich tradition continues to grow, Busta uncovers how this lively dance arrived in Wisconsin, and why revelers young and old still love it, generations later. Viewers will visit Pulaski Polka Days, the Event in Bevent, New Glarus' Roger Bright Memorial Polka Fest, an Oktoberfest celebration in Madison, a Polka wedding reception in Burlington, a Polka mass at the Wisconsin State Polka Festival in Oconomowoc and other events across the state, and meet some of the Wisconsinites keeping the tradition alive.

Musicians and bands from across Wisconsin, including Steve Meisner, Box On, The Polka Family Band, The Goodtime Dutchmen, The Jim Busta Band and many others share stories of how polka kindled marriages, of grandmas teaching the traditional steps to the grandchildren on special occasions, and families passing the love and lore to the next generation.

"I really enjoyed being a part of Polka!, because it's a way I can bring polka to more people," Mollie Busta says. "I hope people in the audience get to turn this on and have fond memories back to the 1960s, '70s or even earlier. Or those who are just starting to listen to polka music will be reminded what wonderful music this is that brings people together."

"I've been very fortunate to travel literally all over the world playing polka music: the Caribbean, Europe, even Japan and all over the United States," she added. "But there is something special about Wisconsin. Everyone seems to know what the polka is about. People come out for all of these church picnics and special events to celebrate life with polka. That is what is unique about polka here in Wisconsin."

Funding for Polka! is provided in part by the Stanley J. Cottrill Fund, the International Polka Association, Wisconsin Dells Polka Fest and Friends of Wisconsin Public Television.

Bauer Places Fourth In Tough Weight Class While Other KHS Wrestlers Go 0-4

By Judy Harlow

For the second year in a row, Kewaskum High's Eric Bauer reached the podium at the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association (WIAA) State Wrestling Tournament held at the Kohl Center February 23-25.

Bauer, a runner-up a year ago at 120 pounds, finished in fourth place at 132 pounds. He entered the three-day meet with a 36-0 record and ended the season with a still impressive 38-2 mark, losing in the semifinals to the eventual champion, Sam Stuhl (46-0) of Ellsworth, who captured his third state title, and losing 8-4 in the battle for third place to Jordan Sarver of Nekoosa/Assumption/Port Edwards (43-5).

"His bracket was really tough," KHS coach Scott Rhoads said of Bauer, adding, "The only match he was really upset with was the last one because he wanted to win that one and take third."

Bauer started out on the right foot, needing just 1:08 to pin Wrightstown freshman Ben Durocher. In one smooth motion, Bauer took Durocher down and put him to his back with a nifty side cradle.

Bauer knew Stuhl would be in his way of a bid for a second straight trip to the finals, and soon after their semifinal match started, it was evident Stuhl is the real deal, with plenty of strength and a bevy of moves.

Stuhl took Bauer down early and was effective with his leg ride and then put in a cradle but could not budge Bauer in his effort to score back points.

Near the end of the first period, Bauer escaped, so the score was just 2-1 with two periods to go. Stuhl started in the down position and quickly escaped to take a 3-1 lead, and Bauer nearly had a big move on the side of the mat, but the two went out of bounds with no points scored.

With :42 remaining in the period, Stuhl got a takedown with a fireman's carry for a 5-1 lead, and in the third period, Bauer got one and Stuhl two, making the final 7-2.

In his first wrestleback, Bauer pinned Abraham Sell of Chilton/Hilbert in 3:38. Bauer had also pinned Sell in the sectional.

So it was Bauer vs. Sarver in the battle for third, with Sarver prevailing in the five-minute match. "The other guy was really strong," Rhoads said, adding, "That was the case in both of his losses."

After just two years of high school wrestling, Bauer has already piled up 87 wins against just four losses, and, "He even missed a tournament this year," Rhoads said.

The 87 wins may be the best record any KHS wrestler has posted in his first two years, although Rhoads pointed out the schedule now offers the chance for 45 or more matches per year, "not like the numbers we used to have."

Bauer's winning percentage (.956) is definitely the best, according to the coach.

Because he was a sectional champion, Braden Maertz did not have to wrestle Thursday, but he went 0x2 on Friday and was eliminated from further competition at 126.

The young Indian faced Chase Katzenmeyer of Evansville/Albany in the quarterfinals and was down just 2-0 after the first period as Katzenmeyer got a takedown with :21 left.

In the second period, Maertz chose the down position and his opponent was a good rider and turned him over for a pin in 3:13. It was the first time Maertz had been pinned all season.

"His opponent was really tough," Rhoads said, pointing out in most matches this season Maertz had been able to escape.

Maertz's second match was a lot closer, a 3-1 loss to Nathan Ronsman of Luxemburg-Casco. Ronsman got a takedown in the final :10 of the first period, and an escape early in the second. Maertz battled hard right to the final whistle, scoring an escape with :46 remaining but not able to complete any of his single leg shots.

"This was a good experience for Braden," Rhoads said about his freshman qualifier, who ended the year at 33-5.

On the opening night of the tournament, both Adam Bruss and Alex Deheck were eliminated after losing their matches at 113 and 138 pounds, respectively.

Bruss, a junior, was defeated by Jacek Nickowski, a sophomore from Baldwin-Woodville by major decision, 13-3. Bruss ended his year at 25-7.

"He was pretty content and excited to have been a qualifier," Rhoads said, fully expecting Bruss to go farther next season.

Deheck's match against Monroe senior, Cole Murray was a lot closer. It ended up 4-2 with Murray scoring the winning points late in the match.

"It went a lot like Alex's other matches this year. He got the first takedown quick and easy," Rhoads said, but, "It's just hard for him to preserve the lead."

Deheck ended up 29-10 on the year, with a conference title to his credit.

KHS Girls Use Long Range Artillery To Beat WB East

By Judy Harlow

Basketball coaches and fans know the best way to take a team out of its zone defense is to hit shots from the outside.

That was the big story in Kewaskum's game in its Division 2 regional basketball game against West Bend East. At first, the Suns' 2-3 zone was frustrating the Indians, who made just one out of their first 12 shots and fell behind 8-2. Once the Indians loosened up, the shots started to fall, especially from 3-point range, and with its 10 treys, KHS won the game 52-43 and earned the right to play Plymouth on February 24.

Mikayla Dogs finally took the lead, hitting a pair of shots from beyond the arc to get KHS going. Then Hailey Herriges drained a long-range shot, and then the diminutive freshman Max Paulowske finally found her shot, which was good news for the Indians and bad news for the visitors.

Paulowske hit her first long range three with 4:09 remaining in the first half and made three more right in a row, much to the delight of the KHS faithful. Suddenly, the Indians were comfortably ahead, 25-13, and the half ended at 27-13 after Herriges canned a pair of free throws with :37 to go.

"It helped us calm down a little bit," KHS coach Russ Thull said about Paulowske's bombs. "Their zone is tough."

Paulowske hit her fifth three in the first minute of the second half and got No. 6 four minutes later, giving Kewaskum a 13-point, 33-20 lead, but the Suns weren't about to waive any white flag and came flying back to cut the deficit to just five points.

Leading the East charge was its leading scorer, 5-foot, 2-inch (5-2) guard Auburn Larson, who put together a string of seven points on a 3-pointer, a regular basket and two free throws to keep her team in the game.

Then midway in the period, Megan Lemke swished two free throws and Katelyn Matenaer a 3-pointer for a 5-0 run, cutting the Indians' lead to 41-36, with 7:54 to go.

Neither team scored in the next minute and 35 seconds until Molly Schulteis grabbed the rebound off a Paulowske miss and put it in, sparking a 7-2 run. Also key in the run was a successful baseline drive by Herriges.

The Indians could have added to their lead had they not missed five of their next six free throws, but it didn't matter as the Suns were only able to score five points in the final six minutes, and two of those points came in the final 10 seconds.

KHS coach Russ Thull was super excited about the win because it accomplished another goal for the season — winning a tournament game, something KHS teams have not accomplished for years. Still, he admitted there were anxious minutes early in the contest.

"We were very nervous, you could tell," Thull said. "They (KHS shots) weren't falling, and we could have folded." Not his seven seniors. They knew what was on the line, and it helped light the fire with Paulowske's 18 points.

And what was Paulowske thinking after missing her first seven shots? "I wasn't going to shoot any more," she said, but, "My coach told me to believe in myself, and I did!"

Paulowske said she kept remembering Thull's shooting instructions. "He always tells me to watch my form and keep my elbows in ... and I listen."

The 18 points were a season-high for Paulowske, who thinks the Indians may be able to surprise the 19-3 Plymouth team. "I think we're ready. I think we can beat them."

Dogs and Herriges have been waiting for this moment for four years. Dogs quietly led the Indians with 19 points, hitting 7x15 shots, had an impressive five assists, two blocked shots, five rebounds and a pair of steals.

"We know the kind of shooter she is," Thull said about Dogs.

Although it was not her best shooting night, Herriges pitched in with 10 points and grabbed an impressive 16 rebounds, including five offensively.

"Hailey is Hailey. I'm not worried about her (scoring)," Thull said. "She's going to rebound. She plays good 'd', and she takes care of the ball ...

Hailey Herriges of Kewaskum scores two points in a recent game against the Chargers.

There's a reason she never comes off the court."

And what about facing No. 2 seed Plymouth on February 24? "We're excited. We're ready," Thull said. "They're going to get our best."

County Deer Advisory Council Meetings Provide Opportunity To Get Involved

Beginning March 13, County Deer Advisory Councils will review deer population data and other key information in order to develop preliminary antlerless quota and permit level recommendations on public and private lands within their counties.

Council meetings will also determine if any additional deer hunting opportunities beyond the normal seasons may be offered in 2017. Each CDAC meeting is open to the public — a meeting schedule is available by searching the Department of Natural Resources website, dnr.wi.gov, for keyword "CDAC."

"There is never a shortage of opinions on deer management, and interest in local deer councils has continued to grow as people learn more about the process and opportunity to provide important feedback," said Kevin Wallenfang, DNR deer and elk ecologist. "CDAC meetings will help shape the 2017 deer seasons."

March CDAC meetings will develop preliminary recommendations, and a public feedback period in early April will include an online survey -- councils will reconvene in mid-

April to determine final deer season recommendations in each county. Final permit levels and deer season structure will be determined at the May 2017 Natural Resources Board meeting.

Councils will accept public comments prior to forming both preliminary and final recommendations. The public may attend and provide feedback at any CDAC meeting or send comments to CDAC members — a contact list for each council and other helpful information is available at dnr.wi.gov, keyword "CDAC." For additional information, contact DNRCADACWebMail@Wisconsin.gov.

Area meetings are as follows:

•Fond du Lac County — Tuesday, March 14, 7 p.m.-9 p.m. at the City County Government Building, 160 S. Macy St., Fond du Lac.

•Washington County — Wednesday, March 15, from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. at the Daniel Boone Conservation League, 4694 Hwy. 167, Hubertus.

•Sheboygan County — Thursday, March 16, from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. at Camp Y-Koda, W3340 Sunset Road, Sheboygan Falls.

Indians Play Hard But Come Up Short Against Plymouth

By Judy Harlow

If the Kewaskum High girls basketball team was going to upset 21-2 Plymouth in a Division-2 regional game February 24, the Indians needed a good start, they needed to shoot well, and they needed to play great defense.

Kewaskum players did hustle on defense but several starters didn't shoot like they had been, while the hosts jumped out to a 27-16 lead at the end of the first half and didn't look back, winning 59-40.

"They (Panthers) played a strong game," KHS coach Russ Thull said. "We played pretty well in the first half. They hit a three at the buzzer to give them some momentum."

After the break, "They came out and played aggressive defense. They took us out of our (offensive) rhythm."

The game marked the final appearance for seven seniors, including Mikayla Dogs, Hailey Herriges, Breana Trepes, Sydney Rosenthal, Molly Schulteis, Melissa Schneider and Rachel Holt. They can hold their heads up after finishing 12-12.

Herriges went out with a bang, leading her team in scoring with 17 points and in rebounding with seven. Like Thull said a week ago, "Hailey is Hailey," and he doesn't worry about her because she will be near the top in almost all the individual statistics.

"Hailey had an excellent game. She shot very well," Thull said. Herriges hit four, 3-pointers in seven tries for a 57 percent shooting mark from beyond the arc. On her 2-point tries, she struggled a bit, hitting just 2x7.

Dogs, who drew extra attention from Plymouth defenders, finished off her prep career with eight points, but only managed to make two of 17 attempts overall. At the free throw line, Dogs was 4x6, and she was credited with four assists, five rebounds, one steal and on deflection, playing in all but 10 seconds of the game as Herriges did.

"Anytime she (Dogs) had the ball. They were doubling her," Thull said, reporting his point guard had been running a fever the two days before the game but still displayed a lot of energy.

Bre Trepes had a nice final with six points, including one 3-pointer, while Holt scored four points and had an equal number of rebounds, and Sydney Rosenthal chipped in with one, 3-pointer.

Freshman Max Paulowski, one of the stars in the win over West Bend East, cooled off a bit and managed to score just one basket.

"They keyed on her," Thull said. "Max hit a shot early, and that was it."

Plymouth's big three, Gwen Streblov, and Kalei Hering and Jessica Leider, were tough again, scoring 19, 15, and 14 points, respectively. The Panthers hit 46 percent of their 3-points and 43 percent overall.

This was the end of the line for the Indians, who were beaten by Plymouth three times this season but did manage to beat a top-three team in the East Central Conference this season and did win their first regional game in over 15 years.

This year's regional had girls playing on back-to-back nights, so the No. 2-seeded Panthers were on their home court February 25 and wound up getting eliminated from the tournament after a 62-44 loss to the No. 3 seed, Cedarburg.

Lapse At The End Of The First Half Costly For KHS Boys

By Judy Harlow

Fans and teammates gave the Kewaskum High senior basketball players a nice sendoff on February 23, but on the court, Berlin had too much depth, quickness and offensive rebounding, resulting in a 68-50 KHS defeat.

Kewaskum ended the 2016-'17 without a win in East Central Conference play, while visiting Berlin finished at 8-6 which was good for third place right behind the two conference and state D-3 powers, unbeaten Ripon and defending state champion Waupun.

Coach Don Gruber knew this game would be an uphill battle even for his starters, and he decided his seniors deserved a start for the loyalty they exhibited to the team, and they gave it the best they had. With Brady Hanson, Nick Beine, Nick Buchel, Tyler Schellinger and Nick Ellenbecker in the lineup, the Indians shot out to a 12-4 lead. Hanson, the team's leading scorer, had 10 points in the run, while Beine made a nice move inside, dropping in the team's second basket on a baby hook shot.

"I thought the seniors came out with great energy," Gruber said. "They hustled...had great shots."

Conversely, Berlin didn't shoot well early, hitting just three of their first eight shots, but that didn't last. After the KHS starters came into the game with a little over 10 minutes remaining, the visiting Indians hit their next six shots to jump into a 22-18 lead.

Perhaps Kewaskum began to press a bit in the final minutes before intermission. The Indians certainly had difficulty scoring and staying away from turnovers.

Kewaskum had just one basket during the drought, a turnaround jumper by Hanson, with the assist coming from Jared Chesak. What also hurt was not boxing out on a miss by Berlin in the closing seconds when a Berlin player slapped the ball back to Tim DeRuyter, who drained a long three at the buzzer for a 34-20 advantage.

"That was about a 40-footer," Gruber said, indicating not being able to grab the rebound on Berlin's first miss and giving up a three "is demoralizing."

At the half, only three KHS players had scored, including Hanson, who had 15 points, Beine with his one basket and guard Brent Goeden who hit a 3-pointer from the left wing.

Five seniors, this time including Keaton Flanders, started the second half, but Berlin jumped ahead by 17 and then 20, 40-20, before Kewaskum made a run and cut the deficit to 11 (42-31) after back-to-back threes by Jordan Carlton and Chesak.

"The guys came back. I was happy with that," Gruber said. "I think it was down to 11, then they got three offensive rebounds and a layup."

Carlton had just one shot in the first half, but he got hot in the second, scoring 13 points on a pair of threes, two regular baskets and the only free throw he took.

Hanson wound up with 21 points including one monster dunk in the second half, while Berlin's Brady Polk had a game-high 23 with four others scoring between seven and 10 points.

"They're a quick team. They cover the gaps really well," Gruber said.

Kewaskum finished the regular EC season at 0-14 and was 3-19 overall. The Indians traveled to Plymouth February 28 for the first D-2 tournament game, and Hanson said he likes his team's chances. "They're a good team, but I think we can play with them," the 6-foot, 6-inch (6-6) senior said.

Scoles, Seitz Come Up Short In Regional Mat Competitions

By Judy Harlow

Neither of the former Kewaskum High athletes, now wrestling collegiately, qualified for national wrestling tournament after competing in regional tests the weekend of Feb. 24-25.

UW-Parkside junior Brett Scoles was at the University of Indianapolis for the NCAA II Midwest Super Regional vying for spots in the NCAA II Championships that will take place March 10-11 in Birmingham, Alabama. Joey Seitz, a junior at UW-Stevens Point, was in Fort Wayne, Indiana for the NCAA III Midwest Regionals.

Only the top four wrestlers at each weight class qualified for the finals, and Scoles fell short of that mark at 157 pounds, going 2-2 in the meet. In the first round, Scoles won a 6-4 decision over Garrett Hall of Ashland University, but he lost a tough match in Round 2, a 10-8 decision to Eric Mills of the University of North Carolina at Pembroke.

Now Scoles had to come through the wrestleback bracket to advance by finishing third or fourth. He got a decisive, 10-2 major decision over Greg Hilliard of Belmont Abbey College, N.C. in the first round of consolations, but was eliminated when he lost a 12-4 major decision to Samphanh Viengmany of Tiffin University.

Scoles finished the season at 23-13.

UW-Parkside had three wrestlers advance, including Nick Becker, the champion at 174 pounds who is a graduate of Hartford Union High School. UW-Parkside finished sixth in the event, scoring 75.5 points. Indianapolis and Ashland both had 101.5 points.

Seitz, wrestling at 141 pounds, went 0x2 in the NCAA III competition. He lost his opener to Grant Morrison of the University of Chicago by technical fall, 19-3 and was outpointed 18-4 by Brendan Ladd of Alma College in Michigan.

Seitz wound up with a record of 10-18 this year.

Wisconsin Hit Hard By Flu Bug

The flu bug is hitting Wisconsin hard, spiking to nearly 1,000 confirmed cases, and hundreds of hospitalizations.

According to figures from the Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) there are 936 confirmed cases of influenza in Wisconsin, compared to 176 during the same period last year. The week-to-week comparison shows that there were 591 confirmed cases reported just a week ago, an increase of 345 from the previous week.

There are also more hospitalizations for influenza this year than during the same time last year. To date, there have been over 1,200 hospitalizations of people with influenza, compared to just 235 during the same period last year.

"At this point, the number of flu cases in Wisconsin has already exceeded the number of cases at the peak of flu season last year," said State Health Officer Karen McKeown. "The flu can be especially harmful for children and people over 65, as well as those with other health problems. We recommend those who have yet to get a flu shot to get one now, and to follow common sense practices to avoid spreading viruses."

Those steps include:

- Wash your hands often with soap and water, or use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer.

- Cover your cough or sneeze with your upper sleeve, and try to avoid touching your face with your hand. If you use a tissue, throw it away after one use.

- Use your own drinking cups and straws.

- Avoid being exposed to people who are sick.

- Eat nutritious meals, get plenty of rest and do not smoke.

- Frequently clean commonly touched surfaces (e.g., doorknobs, refrigerator handle, telephone, faucets).

- If you're sick, stay home, rest, drink plenty of liquids, and avoid using alcohol and tobacco.

- See a health care provider if your symptoms persist or get worse.

Influenza numbers are updated every Friday and can be found in the Weekly Respiratory Report, or you can sign up to receive the report via email.

Moraine Park Hosting Hiring Event For Vets

Moraine Park Technical College is hosting a "Hiring and Resource" event for veterans on March 1.

The event will be held from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the College's Beaver Dam campus, 700 Gould Street, and is co-sponsored by Moraine Park and Dodge County Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM).

The event is free and open to veterans, active duty, National Guard and Reserves, as well as their family members.

The president of the Dodge County SHRM, Mary Vogl-Rauscher, had a goal for her chapter to act on a statewide pledge to support the hiring of veterans.

"Veterans are on time, have a great work ethic, and are under-employed," Vogl-Rauscher said, noting this event was a perfect way to support them.

Steve Pepper, Moraine Park's Student Veteran Specialist, was involved in the early planning stages and emphasized he wanted this to be an event where employers are actually hiring and not just promoting their companies.

Nearly 20 companies from the greater Dodge county area are participating in the event, presenting local job opportunities to support veterans and their families. All position levels will be available.

Additionally, the Wisconsin Department of Veterans Affairs (WDVA), a County Veteran Service Officer (CVSO) from Dodge County, and an Outreach Specialist from the Vet Center will all be on hand to assist veterans with benefit questions and provide information regarding the services available related to their military service.

Attendees are urged to dress for success and come prepared for interviews since the companies in attendance all have positions available. Attendees should also bring copies of their current resume and verification of military or veteran status (DD214/Veteran ID).

For those wanting assistance leading up to the event, Moraine Park's Career Center provides free employment resources, including assistance with resumes, cover letters and interview preparation. Visit moraine park.edu/careers for the Career Center schedule.

For general questions about the Hiring event itself, please call the Student Veteran Services at 920-924-3489 or visit morainepark.edu/events.

United Way of Washington County invests community dollars in root-cause programs that empower people to improve their lives through Education, Financial Stability, and Health.

Starting in 2017, United Way of Washington County is partnering with Kettle Moraine YMCA, the West Bend School District, Riveredge Nature Center, and Cedar Community to deliver a nature-based 4K school program.

There's only one other program like it in the state of Wisconsin.

"Our education investments primarily focus on school readiness and early childhood education," said Sarah Malchow, United Way's Community Impact Director. "But we're also making investments that will benefit local middle and high school students—not just in the classroom—but as they start working toward their futures."

New Employment Initiative

United Way also announced they are partnering with Washington County Workforce Alliance to launch a new program called Inspire Washington County.

"Our goal is to help prepare today's students to be tomorrow's workforce," Malchow said. "Inspire Washington County is an innovative cross-sector partnership, uniting educators and employers to address career- and life-ready skills gaps, establish a talent pipeline for local businesses, and build awareness of career and employment opportunities in Washington County."

Over the last three years, United Way of Washington County utilized community conversations to identify issues and develop strategies that address the community's top concern: a looming labor shortage and skills gap. As a community problem solver, United Way looked for a collaborative solution that addresses the root cause of community needs.

Inspire Washington County was the answer. The program aims to:

- Facilitate career mentoring options between businesses and schools
- Coordinate high-impact career-based learning opportunities with our business partners
- Assist with development of county-wide standards of work-and-life-ready skills
- Integrate employer profiles with students' aca-demical and career planning efforts

Many local companies have already signed on as early charter investors in the program, including: Broan-NuTone, Commerce State Bank, Hartford Finishing, Kerry, Maysteel, Quad/Graphics, Signicast, Sno-Way, and Steel Craft.

Additionally, Moraine Park Technical College, UW-Washington County, and the Hartford, Kewaskum, Slinger, and West Bend school districts have joined the initiative.

United Way of Washington County's mission is to improve lives and community conditions in measurable and lasting ways. United Way is a volunteer-driven organization that serves all communities in Washington County. It is governed by a board of community volunteers, dedicated to providing funding and community resources for health and human service needs in the areas of Education, Income Stability, and Health.

Connections With Food Bond New And Seasoned Hunters

Have a favorite wild turkey recipe that's ready to be shared with new hunters? Share it during a spring Learn to Hunt Turkey event where food always is a major theme.

"Food is a great way for new and experienced hunters to bond," said Keith Warnke hunting and shooting coordinator for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources. "It's the perfect bridge."

Learn to hunt events are about harvesting food by also learning how to hunt with a mentor. Novices learn practical skills, such as gun handling and game cleaning, and get a primer in biology, regulations and ethics.

"Many adults who did not come from hunting families and are interested in hunting often have no idea how to start," Warnke said. "These learn to hunt events are a great way for them to learn in a controlled and safe environment with an experienced hunter. If you are interested in a new and rewarding experience, give me a call."

Winter: Ideal Time To Plan Spring Learn To Hunt Turkey Event

Learn to Hunt events truly are for interested novices who would not otherwise have the chance to explore hunting which, Warnke says, is key to successfully preserving our conservation heritage. Eating nutritious and tasty wild game has always been a pivotal part of this heritage.

Another potential benefit of the Learn to Hunt goes to the experienced hunter whose passion for the outdoor activity may be recharged by serving as a mentor during an event, or organizing an event to share expertise with enthusiastic novices.

Eating And Hunting Are Natural Partners

Recruiting and retaining new hunters, along with reengaging hunters who have not enjoyed the outdoors in a while, is a high priority for the state's and the national hunting community.

Learn to hunt events are one way to do this because they link the state's hunting heritage with food - particularly local and sustainable food that can be enjoyed through hunting. "The composition of learn to hunt events has continued to evolve, with increasing focus on food," Warnke said. "We have seen a big demand for our classes from young adults and I think it would be really easy for groups, clubs, and mentors to copy our blueprint of reaching out to adults and families."

Learn to hunt events may be scheduled before, during or after the six spring turkey periods. However, most are held in late March and early April. Interested individuals and clubs are urged to start organizing the events now to complete the necessary steps.

The department has made it easy for sponsors to organize learn to hunt events with on-line applications, reimbursement opportunities, assistance in finding event insurance and event promotions on the DNR's website.

Sponsors will need to:

- Submit a completed application form to the local wildlife biologist for approval; and,

- Should make sure at least one of the event instructors is a certified Hunter Education Instructor.

Mentors assisting in the event will need to:

- Submit an application to be a mentor.

Following the event, sponsors must:

- Submit a report of event participants; and,

- May apply for a $25 reimbursement per participant to assist with event costs.

In addition, Warnke says the program will help promote events by posting them on the Learn to Hunt page of the DNR website and the Hunter's Network Facebook page.

More information on the Learn to Hunt program is available on the DNR website dnr.wi.gov, keyword "LTH."

How Native Landscaping Is Better For You And The Earth

Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit's Evening with Nature series continues on Thursday, March 9, with the program, How Native Landscaping is Better for You and the Earth. The program is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. at the Ice Age Visitor Center, located off of Hwy 67 half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Do you want to improve your health, enhance your quality of life, heal the earth, and sustain our native birds, butterflies and all wildlings? Yes? Then planting native plants in your landscape may be just the ticket. Join Mariette Nowak, author of Birdscaping in the Midwest, as delves into the current research that supports this concept and provides tips for native landscaping from small city yards to large country lots. She will have her books available for sale at the program.

For 18 years Ms. Nowak was the director of Milwaukee County's Wehr Nature Center. She has served on the national board of directors for the Wild Ones: Native Plants, Natural Landscapes and as a board member of the Wisconsin Society of Ornithology.

For further information contact the staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center (920-533-8322). The center is open in March from Wednesday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Encouraging Children To Love Learning

As a nation, we are making a firm commitment to education. Our job as parents is to encourage our children to value learning and make a personal commitment to it. How do we do that, especially when many kids say school is boring or no fun?

Most important is to be a role model. Show your child your enthusiasm about learning new skills and information. Remember that learning doesn't happen only in school. Encourage and support children to find things that get them excited about learning – and provide opportunities (in school and elsewhere) to help them develop those interests further.

By doing so, you'll get your child excited about learning and committed to education.

Five Key Areas Of A Commitment To Learning

Search Institute researchers have identified five assets in the area of commitment to learning that are crucial for helping young people grow up healthy. Check your child's areas of strength:

- Achievement motivation – Your child is motivated to do well in school.

- School engagement – Your child is actively engaged in learning.

- Homework – Your child reports doing at least one hour of homework every school day.

- Bonding to school – Your child cares about her or his school

- Reading for pleasure – Your child reads for pleasure three or more hours per week.

Ways You Can Make A Difference

Find at least one small way to become involved in your child's school. In the process, you will:

1. Detect small problems before they become big.

2. Make a teacher's day. (The number two teacher frustration – after salary – is parental indifference.)

3. Show your child you care about her or him.

Quick Tip

Choose one new thing to learn, and let your child observe your learning process.

Kewaskum Statesman • March 2, 2017 • Page 19 'Jane Of All Trades' Event Returning To Moraine Park

Moraine Park Technical College is hosting a "Jane of All Trades" event Wednesday, March 8, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at its Fond du Lac campus.

The unique event will give women an opportunity to experience numerous careers traditionally seen as fields for men – automotive, criminal justice, IT-network specialist, electricity, mechanical design, welding, technologies, civil or process engineering, electromechanical technology and more – in a comfortable and judgment-free environment.

During this event, attendees will be able to test careers they might not have previously considered to see if it's a good fit. They also will be able to see career labs, ask questions about each program, see demonstrations and be able to see firsthand what these careers entail. Each demonstration will last roughly 30 minutes, and participants can attend up to three demonstrations.

"Opportunities in these fields are growing, the starting pay is considerably higher than traditional female positions, and the demand for women to fill these positions is unanswered," said Renae Fischer, academic advisor-NTD (non-traditional occupations) at Moraine Park.

According to the U.S. Department of Labor, non-traditional occupations for women are jobs in which 25 percent or less of the workforce are female. Many of these professions offer significant rewards for those specializing in them, including potentially higher salaries and better benefits, opportunities for advancement, ongoing on-the-job education and training and flexible work hours.

Moraine Park's "Jane of All Trades" event is free to attend. For more information or to register, contact Renae Fischer at (920) 929-2477 or www.morainepark.edu/jane.

Fan Survey: Five Reasons To Raise Backyard Chickens

"Why do you raise chickens?" Ask any flock raiser this question and the answer will be filled with passion. Backyard chickens give families wholesome, nutritious eggs, but that's just the beginning. The rest of the story was told recently through a Purina Poultry online poll.

Kristin Horvath, backyard flock associate marketing manager with Purina Animal Nutrition, says the poll was spurred from a common trend with raising backyard chickens: happiness.

"Each time we talk with flock raisers about their birds, their faces light up; chickens make people happy," she says. "But what is it about backyard chickens that brings out this joy? We aimed to answer this question through a recent audience poll."

The survey was posted to our community of chicken enthusiasts as a simple fill-in-the-blank: "I started raising chickens because _____." Nearly 200 flock raisers from across the country commented with their unique stories.

"Each story made us smile and reinforced just how amazing chicken raising is," says Horvath. "People often started their backyard flocks for practicality — farm fresh eggs, garden fertilizer or pest control. A clear trend in the answers was that this practicality quickly transformed into something more. Backyard chickens often became a part of the family."

The Purina Poultry team compiled the "My Flock Story" results and found five trend motivators for starting a flock. Here are the five most popular answers, along with a heartwarming fan story for each top reason:

1. Wholesome, fresh eggs

One of the top reasons outlined for starting a backyard flock was, of course, that you can produce your own food. When cared for properly and fed a nutritionally-complete diet, a hen can produce up to 300 fresh eggs per year.

Melissa Caughey, backyard chicken blogger of Tilly's Nest, explained that she and her family have been enjoying farm fresh eggs for over six years, ever since moving from California to Massachusetts. Her suburban story is similar to many other backyard chicken raisers, with chickens now a mainstay in many urban areas.

"One of the reasons why I love my chickens' farm fresh eggs is their proximity to me," she said. "You can't get much more local than food sourced from your very own backyard."

"After we got our first eggs, I realized the difference was much more than the location," Melissa added. "When I first cracked open an egg from my girls, I was amazed. I could not believe how electric orange the yolk was and the stiffness of the yolks. My family agrees: fresh eggs are simply the best."

2. Simple sustainability
Sustainability was noted as another top reason for getting started raising backyard chickens. Many families started raising chickens to positively impact the environment, often creating synergies with their lawn and gardens.

One chicken raiser, Kim S., from Wisconsin wrote: "I decided to live a healthier life and chickens were a part of the solution to knowing what goes into the food we eat. I found an amazing connection between the chickens and our garden. My birds help fertilize, eat weeds and control insects."

Other fans also commented on similar backyard synergies, with one fan referring to her chickens and garden as a "backyard ecosystem" with the chickens playing a critical role in her family's sustainable lifestyle.

3. Family education
Many fans also highlighted the positive power that flocks have on families. Parents shared how their backyard flocks have taught their children where food comes from, helped them connect to nature and instilled lifelong lessons of dedication and responsibility.

A top story came from a mom named Megan S. who lives in Indiana. Megan wrote about her daughter who has worked to overcome a sensory processing disorder.

"My daughter learned about chickens through 4-H and wanted to get some for a project," she explained. "What a great decision for us to get started! Chickens have truly been a positive experience; they are the first sport or activity my daughter has loved. She's learned a ton — from responsibility to chicken facts — and, best of all, the chickens love us right back. Now we go to poultry shows along with 4-H and we're going to bring the chickens to our local nursing home for a visit. I'm so glad that chickens are a part of her childhood."

4. Chicken TV
The fourth benefit found in the online survey was a phrase known only to true chicken enthusiasts: "Chicken TV." This expression is a fun descriptor for watching the antics of backyard chickens.

Many flock raisers shared tales of their birds' individual personalities and characteristics. The responses highlighted the uniqueness of each breed and, though there are commonalities, you can quickly learn each bird's distinct personality.

"For me, it's all about their personalities," said Amanda H., a chicken raiser in Oklahoma. "I've been hooked ever since my husband built our coop and we bought our first nine chicks. I love learning more about them and sitting out in the run with them, listening to them cluck and keep each other in line. The yummy fresh eggs are just a bonus!"

5. Backyard therapy
Rounding out the list were perhaps the most heartwarming testimonials: stories that highlighted chicken therapy. Fans bravely shared how adding chickens into their lives have helped them overcome challenges like depression and given them a meaningful outlet when dealt a hard hand.

"I had PTSD and wouldn't leave my house," wrote Tara R., New Jersey. "My stepmom sent me a poultry magazine and told me when I was ready she would set me up with chickens. It took a few months of magazines, but I got the chicken bug!"

"Before I knew it, I was spending all my time outside," she continued. "I was going to the feed store. I was smiling. I was getting my life back. I am now an avid breeder and have a small poultry business started. Chickens are the best therapists."

Horvath says that similar inspiring stories are shared with the Purina team consistently.

"Chickens are amazing pets, but they're so much more than that," she says. "Chickens are making a difference. Whether it's a small flock in Texas helping a young boy remain positive through chemotherapy treatments or a classroom coop where fourth-grade students learn about biology, backyard chickens are making an impact across the country."

The day had not gone the way Ashley had expected. Just one day earlier, on Monday, Feb. 27, Ashley had turned 16 years old and had gotten her driver's license.

Then, on Tuesday, she had the day off from school because juniors had ACT testing. So she was set to celebrate being 16.

"I thought it was going to be a great day. I thought the foggy weather was going to lift up and everything would be good," Ashley said.

"I just want my room back," she added.

A small group of people stood on the front lawn of the five-acre lot and watched as firefighters worked to extinguish the smoldering fire.

"They were going in every direction to get water," Daniel Schmidt said.

By the time most of the fire fighters arrived, fire had already consumed most of the house.

"They couldn't have done anything; it all went so fast," Phyllis Schmidt said. "It is devastating."

Fortunately, no one was injured in the fire.

"We are all three still together, and that's all that really matters," Ashley said.

No one knew Tuesday afternoon how the fire had started.

"We have no idea what caused it. I left this morning and windows were shut, doors were locked, everything was unplugged," Ashley said Tuesday.

This is not the first time the Trapp family has experienced tragedy. In 2014, Jessica and Randy Trapp lost their 16-year-old son, Travis Trapp, in a car accident.

"The worst part about this is my son's stuff. That is all we had left of him," Jessica Trapp said.

To assist the family, donations of cash, checks and gift cards can be dropped off at the Piggly Wiggly service desk. Donations will be personally delivered to the family.

Landon had moved to Florida on March 9 in an effort to stay clean from drugs. She moved back to West Bend on May 14, her mother, Jessica McConkey, testified during last week's trial.

According to Facebook messages, Landon and Kudek intended to meet each other and use drugs on May 16.

On July 14, Kudek told police that he had picked up Landon in the City of Brookfield on May 16. Landon had a small plastic vial of heroin at that time, Kudek said.

The two then went to Milwaukee and purchased approximately $30 to $40 worth of crack cocaine and drove back to Kewaskum to smoke the crack cocaine, according to police records. They then returned to Milwaukee to purchase an additional $60 worth of crack cocaine, according to the police report. They smoked that before he dropped Landon off at her father's house, according to the criminal complaint.

Kudek told police that he did not see Landon use heroin, but had believed that Landon was going to use heroin once she was in her home.

Kudek dropped Landon off at her father's house in West Bend at approximately 2:30 a.m. on May 17, Kudek's attorney, Deborah Ann Strigenz said in her closing statement last week.

Both Landon's father and her uncle, who lived at the residence, saw Landon lying in her bed before they left for work the morning on May 17. When he returned home from work at about 4 p.m., Landon's father, Timothy Landon, discovered that she was dead.

Reaching A Verdict

To determine Kudek's guilt in reckless homicide, the jury had to find Kudek guilty beyond a reasonable doubt in four factors:

1. Kudek delivered a substance.

2. The substance was cocaine, a controlled substance.

3. Kudek knew or believed that the substance was cocaine, a controlled substance.

4. Landon used the cocaine that Kudek delivered and died as a result of that use.

The first element, to deliver a substance, is a simple term, according to Assistant District Attorney Sandra Giernoth said.

"It means the transfer of something from one person to another," Giernoth said.

As an example, Giernoth handed a pen to an officer in the courtroom.

"I delivered a pen. It is that simple. There is nothing more required," Giernoth said.

However, in her closing statements, Strigenz questioned whether Kudek could be found guilty of delivering crack cocaine.

Kudek was the one driving the car, which does not mean that he delivered drugs, she said. It actually could have been Landon who transferred something to Kudek, Strigenz argued.

"This wasn't a case where Kimmy was an unwilling participant," Strigenz said. "[Kudek] did not bring the drugs to her. They were together at the time these drugs were bought. She was not an inactive participant. She was not coerced. In fact, she asked Tony to go with her to get those drugs."

To help the jury decide whether Kudek was guilty of the fourth element, that Landon had used the cocaine alleged to have been delivered by Kudek and died as a result of that use, both the state and the defense called expert witnesses to the stand.

Both witnesses examined autopsy results, which showed that Landon had both cocaine and heroin in her system.

The state's witness, Dr. Christopher Long, a forensic toxicologist, testified last Tuesday that cocaine played a substantial role in Landon's death. In fact, Landon had such large amounts of crack cocaine in her system that it caused her to have a pulmonary embolism, which caused her lungs to fill with fluid, making her unable to breathe, according to Long.

In contrast, Dr. Susan Rice, a toxicologist, testified for the defense that there were too many unknown variables to say conclusively that Landon's death was caused by cocaine. The timeline was uncertain, and the heroin found in Landon's body played a substantial role, Rice testified.

In cross examination, Giernoth questioned Rice's credentials and suggested that Rice testified in order to be paid $3,700.

Kudek did not take the stand during the trial.

A pre-sentence investigation has been ordered.

Anthony Kudek listens as a guilty verdict is read in a Washington County courtroom on Wednesday, Feb. 22.
