Kewaskum Business Owner Charged With Fraud

Gregory J. Haanstad, the United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Wisconsin, announced that Robert F. Spoerl, 69, a resident of Campbellsport, was charged in a 28-count indictment.

The indictment charges Spoerl, who operated a tax return preparation business in Kewaskum under the name J&R Tax Service, with 10 counts of assisting in the filing of false federal income tax returns, 16 counts of theft of money from the United States by filing false claims for tax refunds, and two counts of aggravated identity theft.

Spoerl is alleged to have used clients' personal information to file false tax returns with the IRS. To conceal his fraud, Spoerl provided his clients, who were unaware of Spoerl's fraud, with an accurate copy of their tax return, which Spoerl did not file.

The tax returns Spoerl did file fraudulently inflated the tax refunds claimed by the taxpayers by adding false claims for tax credits, deductions, and dependents. Spoerl then diverted the fraudulent portion of the refund to himself and paid the legitimate portion of the refund to his clients.

The indictment alleges that during the years 2011-2015, Spoerl filed more than 100 false tax returns seeking more than $150,000 in federal tax returns.

If convicted on all counts, Spoerl faces a minimum of two years in prison, up to three years in prison on each of the false tax return charges, and up to ten years in prison on each of the theft of government property charges, plus a fine of up to $250,000. Spoerl is scheduled to be arraigned in federal court in Milwaukee on March 15, 2017.

This matter was investigated by special agents with the Internal Revenue Service-Criminal Investigation. The case has been assigned to Assistant United States Attorney Matthew L. Jacobs for prosecution.

An indictment is only a charge and not evidence of guilt. The defendant is presumed innocent and is entitled to a fair trial at which the government must prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Challengers Fail To Show At Forum

– Incumbents Take Center Stage At Candidate Forum

By Anne Trautner

Voters got to know a little more about the three incumbents, Jay Fisher, Troy Hanson and Sue Ann Miller, as they answered questions during a candidate forum for the Kewaskum School Board on Thursday, March 9.

However, attendees left with more questions than answers about two of the candidates who did not show up for the event, which was sponsored by the Kewaskum Statesman.

The two challengers who are running for the school board, Bradley A. Petersen and Gregg Denman, both contacted the Kewaskum Statesman 48 hours before the forum was held, saying they would not be able to attend.

Petersen wrote in an email that he could not attend because of "unforeseen circumstances" and Denman emailed, "It is with deep regret I have to inform you that I am unable to attend the forum on Thursday."

About 35 people attended the forum, which was organized in early February, and most wondered why the two challengers were not there.

"Overall, I'm just feeling disappointed that they refused this opportunity to introduce themselves to the Kewaskum community and to answer the questions of why are you running and how are you qualified to do this job," said Robyn Bindrich, who attended the forum.

Kewaskum's Dylan Shreves Makes Cooking Debut

– Local Chef Appears On "Larry Smith Outdoors"

By Anne Trautner

Dylan Shreves of Kewaskum has always liked to cook. And he has been a fan of the "Larry Smith Outdoors" show for years.

So when the 18-year-old chef won a cooking contest and made his debut on the TV show this past weekend, it was a dream come true.

"It was a really fun experience that I never thought would happen," Shreves said.

Shreves had entered the show's cooking contest using an old family recipe that features bacon, sausage, potatoes, cheese and spices.

Then, Shreves cooked his winning recipe on the "Larry Smith Outdoors" show, with more than 300,000 viewers watching from across Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota.

The best part of it for Shreves may have been cooking with his idol, Steve "Shotgun Chef" Schafer, who has a cooking segment on the show every week.

Schafer, who got his "Shotgun Chef" nickname from hunting, said that Shreves was a natural on the show.

"Usually people clam right up being a fan, and he was spot on," Schafer said. "The way he took control of the TV show is what impressed me the most. He just came in and right away, boom, that was it. I let him do his stuff."

"I thought I was going to be more nervous than I was," he said. "I thought it was going to be a lot harder than it was. Really, all I was doing was cooking and talking and every now and then I had to look at the camera."

WASHINGTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE REPORT

Heart-Related Death

The Sheriff's Office responded to a Washington County address on March 13 at 6:56 p.m. for a report of a 69-year-old male that became unresponsive while snow blowing his driveway. Three deputies simultaneously arrived, just after four minutes from the time of call, to find the victim laying on the driveway. All three deputies started life saving efforts to include CPR with an automatic defibrillator (AED) hook up. Care was then turned over to more advanced medical personnel as they arrived. Despite the efforts of all the first responders, the victim was pronounced deceased at a local hospital.

Although it is not known at this time if these exact circumstances precipitated a cardiac event, the Sheriff's Office would like to remind individuals that have heart attack risk factors to refrain from strenuous snow removal, and more specifically, snow shoveling. That type of physical exertion can trigger a heart attack. To compound the problem, the cold temperatures also increase the risk because the arteries constrict and thereby increase blood pressure.

Multi-Vehicle Crash

Washington County Sheriff's deputies responded to a chain reaction, multi-unit crash at 10:44 a.m. on Monday, March 13, on Interstate 41 between Sherman Road and Hillside Road in the Town of Polk.

There were approximately 30 vehicles directly involved in the crash, which included eight semi-tractor trailer rigs, three heavy trucks such as dump trucks and box-cargo trucks and at least 12 passenger cars. In the immediate vicinity there were an additional 30 vehicles that wound up off the roadway in the ditch or median as a result of the multi-unit crash. These vehicles sustained no damage and were removed and allowed to continue.

Southbound Interstate 41 was shut down to thru traffic for over six hours to facilitate clean up and removal of vehicles. Officials feel it may take several weeks to conclude the investigation.

Remaining at the scene of the incident were four tractor trailer rigs for later removal when the weather and road conditions permit. All other units were removed with the collection of damaged vehicles being taken to a nearby truck stop for further investigation and collection of information.

There were five people transported to area hospitals, all with non-life threatening injuries.

This incident may have been a result of another multi-unit crash backup that was being handled by the State Patrol just south of this scene. Contributing to all of these incidents is driving too fast on the snow-covered roads and white-out conditions.

Sheriff's officials were assisted by Slinger, Hartford, Jackson and the Wisconsin State Patrol. Fire Departments that responded included Slinger, Hartford, Jackson, Richfield and LifeStar Ambulance.

Officials responded to 97 crash-related calls involving an estimated 300 units between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on March 13.

Pallet USA Fire

On Tuesday, March 7, at 4:34 p.m., the Washington County Sheriff's Office was notified of a fire at Pallet USA, located at 5840 Highway 60 in the Town of Hartford. An employee contacted the Sheriff's Office to notify us of a large container used to heat wooden pallets engulfed with flames. He advised further that the fire was near other buildings and numerous other pallets.

Personnel from Hartford, Slinger and St. Lawrence fire departments responded to assist as well as LifeStar Rescue. Upon deputy arrival, the fire was mostly contained within the container. Shortly after, fire equipment began to arrive and extinguished the fire quickly. There was minimal fire damage to nearby pallets. However, no other buildings were damaged.

To assist with fire cleanup, equipment from Pallet USA was used to remove most of the burned pallets from within the container. As the material was removed, Hartford Fire remained on scene with a water presence for further fire hazards.

Hartford Fire was able to say the fire originated inside the container in the area where wiring and heating equipment was located. They believed the cause of fire was related to the equipment. The burned container was used to heat treat the wooden pallets prior to shipment. This heating process eliminates any bug or other diseases from the wooden pallets to allow for safe shipping. The container reached a maximum of 180 degrees Fahrenheit. It was approximately 53 feet long by 10 feet wide and 10 feet high.

Inside the container were approximately 500 pallets. The container and the wooden pallets are a total loss valued between $17,000 and $20,000.

There were no reported injuries. Highway 60 traffic wasn't altered as the property is well off the highway.

Drug Overdose

On Friday, March 10, at 9:02 p.m. a person was reported as driving erratic northbound on Interstate 41. A patrol deputy stopped the driver, a 35-year-old City of Fond du Lac woman, near County Highway K and observed that the passenger was experiencing a medical emergency. The deputy quickly determined the passenger, a 60-year-old Rubicon man, was in the midst of an overdose. He was unconscious and had weak breathing. Rescue was paged and the deputy administered a dose of Narcan - Naloxone Nasal Spray - to reverse the opioid overdose.

A second dose of the drug was administered when rescue arrived. The subject was transported to Hartford AMC where he regained consciousness and admitted to snorting heroin in Milwaukee. The driver was arrested for OWI first offense as she also admitted to using heroin. Assorted paraphernalia was also recovered from within the vehicle after the arrest.

Drug Overdose

On Sunday, March 12, at 1:10 a.m., an overdose was reported in a moving vehicle northbound on I41 in the Village of Germantown. The victim, a 28-year-old City of Waupun man, was unconscious and demonstrating agonal breathing. The driver was directed off the highway, and a deputy met the vehicle in a commercial parking lot in the area of Interstate 41 and Holy Hill Road at 1:13 a.m. CPR was started and between the sheriff's deputy and officers from the Germantown Police Department, three doses of Narcan were delivered. By 1:19:50 a.m., the on-scene deputy reported the victim was alert and conscious. The investigation was subsequently turned over the Germantown Police.

Update On Fraud Investigation

On Monday, March 6, the Sheriff's Office arrested a 21-year-old male from Hialeah, Florida for misappropriation of I.D. to obtain money. The incident stemmed from an investigation during November 2016 where a Town of Addison man had his credit card information unlawfully used to obtain goods and services from a retailer in Kenosha.

The investigation revealed this suspect had been committing credit card crimes with cloned credit cards throughout the state. The suspect was initially arrested by Pewaukee Police on November 9, 2016, and given a $10,000 cash bond. Another suspect from Florida posted $10,000 the following day, and the 21-year-old was out of custody until March 6.

The suspect appeared in court a second time in Waukesha County, this time not in custody, on March 6, for further proceedings on the Pewaukee incident. It was at that point Washington County investigators waited for the conclusion of that proceeding and subsequently took him into custody for our incident. He was then transported to Washington County where he now remains in custody on another $10,000 cash bond.

So It Goes

By Andrew Johnson

Candidate Forum

I want to express my deepest appreciation to the three of the five school board candidates for participating in last week's forum. They say that 70 percent of communication does not have to do with the words that are spoken. Hearing the candidates in person talk about what is happening in the district is much different than just getting their statement of position. I got a better sense as to the type of people they were seeing them in person. Since all of them were incumbents, I also got a good lesson on the thought process on the decisions the school board has made over the past several years.

I think it was disappointing for two of the candidates to cancel their appearances only 48 hours before a forum that was planned since early last month. The two challenging candidates sent a clear message to the people in the Kewaskum School District with their absence.

It is true that the upcoming Spring Election is not about some big decision. It is more about the implementation of the building program from the approved referendum and other projects already underway. I noted one positive statement from each of the three present candidates. Jay Fisher said that "we need to have kids ready to shoot for the stars." Troy Hansen said that we are "becoming a destination district." Sue Miller talked about celebrating successes and "creating a pathway" for student success. Each of these candidates came across as ordinary people who have a lot of common sense.

In addition to educating the next generation of citizens, the success of the district will have a large impact directly or indirectly on everything in our community from the value of housing to business development. No one wants to live or work in an area with lousy schools. We have good ones and that is a blessing. I gained much positive confidence about the future of the district and the area after listening to the forum. I would like to thank the current school board for allowing the forum at Kewaskum High School.

"Time For Me To Fly" Event

It was a pleasant surprise to see so many people come to the event at the Amerahn last Saturday night for the purpose of remembering the fallen from the Kewaskum High School Class of 94, as well as being a fundraiser for the 911 Memorial. I have to admit that it was difficult for me to listen to the tributes being read of those who have passed away.

I could easily sense the pain as well as pride of those standing near me. It meant the world to me that Andrea Haberman's sister,

ANDREW JOHNSON

Julie Osmus, put her hand on my shoulder when the fallen soldiers were recognized. It was strange that I could feel her love for our country and military even though I had never met her before. She was honoring her sister whose life was taken and my son was being honored for the life he gave up; both against a common enemy of our country.

This moment was one of the highlights of my life. I recently joined the board of the 911 Memorial committee. I look forward with great anticipation to the construction and dedication of the memorial. Thank you to all who came to show their support!

Sunshine Week

This week is Sunshine Week, a national initiative to promote the dialogue about the importance of open government as well as the first amendment right to a free press. It is this right that allows this paper to be published every week. Open government rests on three ideas: open meetings, open records, and public notices. The three things are like three legs on a stool. If any one of them breaks the whole stool will fall and break.

Last week, I testified in Madison against assembly bill 70 that is attempting to take local government proceedings notices out of this newspaper. It would be impossible to really know what government actions have been or will take place without the authentic and timely verification of approved proceedings. The First Congress of 1789 ordered publication of government proceedings in newspapers. It was a decision that for 228 years has kept communities informed of town, city, school and other government business. Without them, its easy to imagine governments holding secret meetings, or giving bids to friends before other know bids are being accepted.

Observe that Congress reached-out to the public media to tell the people of their actions. It is an important principle that they did not ask the people to seek the government to find out what they were doing. Instead, the government posted their notices. It is important that the notices be posted to a third party non government media source. One of the reasons is so they cannot be altered after they are posted.

At the hearing last week, a supporter of the bill actually testified that they wanted to have the ability to post notices online so they could be changed after they had been approved and publishedcrazy! Hopefully this would never be allowed to happen. Notices are currently posted in newspapers (third party media) and online WisconsinPublicNotices.org by law. The should also be posted on local government websites if they have one. All notices must be authenticated.

Weekly HEALTH TIP

PREVENT DEHYDRATION

As people age, the sensation of thirst decreases, so older adults are more likely to become dehydrated. This may increase the risk of some health issues such as heart attack, stroke and urinary tract infections. To stay adequately hydrated, older adults may need to have set times or reminders to drink fluids. Special attention is needed during illnesses. For example, vomiting and diarrhea can quickly cause dehydration, as can just not feeling well enough to get up and get something to drink. Certain medications may cause a decrease in body fluids. Weather also plays a part in fluid loss.

Village Board Discusses Kiwanis Park Swim Pond Options

By Anne Trautner

The Kewaskum Village Board failed to take any action last Monday, March 6, on community member Wayne Sargent's offer to provide documents that the village could use free of charge to solicit bids for improvements to the swim pond at Kiwanis Park.

Sargent had offered at the board's February 20 meeting to put together a scope of work and to prepare the specifications in the bidding documents for a project for the village to get a new splash pad, concession stand, shade structures and inflatable amenities for the Kiwanis Park swim pond.

Village Administrator Matt Heiser said that after hearing Sargent's offer last month, he sought advice from the village attorney and insurance carrier to see if the village would be under any additional exposure if a volunteer solicited bids for the village rather than having a staff member or consultant solicit bids.

"The village attorney did have concerns and did recommend that we thank Mr. Sargent for his offer but politely decline. If something unforeseen would happen, the village would be limited in getting insurance coverage," Heiser said.

Sargent said that from day one his intention was simply to prepare bidding documents the village could use for review.

"My intention was never to take it upon myself to use the village as a foundation to solicit bids," Sargent said.

Village Trustee Richard Knoebel said at last week's meeting that the problem is that the village does not have the money right now to construct a splash pad at the park.

"It's nice that he makes the offer, but we just don't have the money to cover this," Knoebel said.

The village will face several large bills this year, including the Roseland Street project. In addition, it will be responsible for the Main Street expenses from when Highway 28 was redone.

The village spent $117,000 it acquired through impact fees to redo a ball diamond four years ago, Knoebel said. The village also redid the tennis courts in 2009, he added.

"So we haven't just been sitting on our hands not doing anything. Right now our money situation isn't that good. We can't spend $200,000 for a splash pad. It would be nice if we could, but it's very difficult to spend that money when you've got streets that are falling apart and you have other projects you have to pay for," Knoebel said.

"What do people want? Do they want streets or do they want a park?"

The other problem is that if the village decides to construct a splash pad, it is under obligation to use Burbach Aquatics, a firm the village used to develop a feasibility plan for the village's swim pond, Trustee Dave Spenner said.

The village board agreed to use Burbach's services in order to decide whether changes should be made to the swim pond. The village currently pays about $50,000 a year to maintain the swim pond, and village trustees were concerned with declining attendance.

A pool committee was formed and met monthly over the past year to discuss options.

In November, the pool committee recommended to the board a $403,000 plan, which included installing a splash pad, shade structures, updated bath house and new inflatable amenities.

Since then, Sargent, who had served on the village's pool committee, conducted further research on splash pads and shade structures on the internet. He found lower prices than what the pool committee had discovered over the past year, he said at last week's meeting.

Sargent said he found a company that sells umbrellas with a 10-year guarantee, with the base, to withstand winds 60 miles per hour for less than $800 apiece.

Sargent said he found a company in Wisconsin that could design a 1,500-square foot splash pad for $80,000.

"I believe I could get that $403,000 price tag below $300,000 by the village purchasing the splash pad equipment and hiring subcontractors such as electricians, plumbers, concrete and landscapers to complete the project," Sargent said.

At the pool committee's October 11 meeting, Josh Layer of Burbach Aquatics was asked about the feasibility of a splash pad.

"His comment was that splash pads typically do not add revenue to a pool. So why spend all that money on a splash pad?" village resident Lloyd Spaeth said.

The village's Park and Recreation committee will meet with representatives from Commercial Recreation Specialists, a company that sells inflatable water products, on March 24.

Mayville Lions Club Spring Dance Features Hauser Hotshots

The Mayville Lions Club is sponsoring its Spring Dance on Saturday, March 25, at the Mayville Park Pavilion with music by the Hauser Hotshots from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There will be food available and the building is handicap accessible and overlooks the beautiful Rock River.

This band is sponsored by the Mayville Inn and Midwestern Shooters Supply of Lomira.

This beautiful maple hardwood dance floor is truly becoming a destination for everyone. Dancers are traveling great distances to come to Mayville for the best dance floor you can find in the state.

The dancing season has been well attended by the young and old alike and everyone is looking forward to the remaining dances. Their largest crowd was the Charlie Justmann Band's 70th Anniversary St. Patrick's Day Dance. More than 200 people came just to visit and enjoy the festivities.

Hauser Hotshots Band is the next band to play for the Mayville Lions' polka dances. Everyone is waiting for an exciting afternoon as their high energy performance gets the people dancing and tapping their feet. Hauser Hotshots are from the New London area. The Band plays by ear and harmonize, which makes a great sounding band.

The band has longevity and have been playing together a long time. Band members are the Hauser brothers, Gary Hauserleader of the band on tenor sax and vocals; and Mike Hauser on drums; along with brothers Craig Wians on concertina and Todd Wians on bass guitar; Mark Dombrowski on clarinet and saxophone. When Mike Hauser cannot make it, Kevin Krueger plays drums and sings. The band also has Mary Jean who sits in to sing some songs in German.

The band is very dedicated to making every event a memorable and fun one, turning out a lot of enjoyable music. Hauser Hotshots are on POLKA! POLKA! POLKA! on Sundays at 11 a.m. on CW 14 and were taped for the Mollie "B" Show.

The next scheduled dances are April 1 with

Ryan Herman & The Rhythm Playboys, sponsored by Don Ramons Mexican Restaurant of Mayville (2016 Business of the Year), Easter dance; April 8 with Musical Brass, sponsored by Friends of the Mayville Public Library; April 22 with Barefoot Becky & The Ivanhoe Dutchmen, sponsored by Steve's Auto Body, Lakeview Electric, Inc., Mayville Savings, Earth Day dance; and June 3 with Brian & The Mississippi Valley Dutchmen, sponsored by KM Tours and River's Bend Inn Bed & Breakfast, June Dairy Month dance.

If you have any questions, please contact Donna Gudex-Kamrath at 920-960-5318.

The Mayville Lions Club polka dance had a record crowd last weekend at their St. Patrick's Dance. On March 25th, they will host Hauser's Hotshots.

Nuku tribe members Oscar "Ozzy" Lusth, Cirie Fields, James "J.T." Thomas, Debbie Wanner, Andrea Boehlke, Tai Trang, Brad Culpepper, Sarah Lacina, Sierra Dawn-Thomas and Zeke Smith are 10 of the 20 castaways competing on SURVIVOR this season, themed "Game Changers." The Emmy Award-winning series returned for its 34th season with a special two-hour premiere, Wednesday, March 8 on the CBS Television Network. The season premiere marks the 500th episode. Boehlke grew up near Random Lake and is the daughter of Campbellsport High School art teacher Linda Boehlke. This is her third time competing on the reality show.

Boehlke Takes On Survivor Again

By Andrea Hansen Abler

Andrea Boehlke, who grew up in Random Lake, is taking on Survivor again this season. She is a member of the Nuku Tribe on the 34th season of Survivor - Game Changers.

Andrea first appeared on the CBS reality game when she was 21 years old. She finished fifth and was a jury member on Season 22: Redemption Island.

The show then brought her back for Season 26: Caramoan. She finished seventh this time and was again a jury member.

Now, she is back. The 34th season premiered on Wednesday, March 8. This was also the 500th episode of the popular CBS television network series.

"I'm very excited," Andrea said. "I was very surprised to be asked to be back on. I was thrilled!"

She is using her previous two experiences on the show to hopefully help her this time around. Her strategy is to play somewhere in between what she did on those experiences.

Being 21 the first time she was on the show, Andrea feels she played pretty timid. She then changed it up for Season 26.

"My second season, I played very aggressive," she said.

Andrea thought about her strategy a lot before the game to try to figure out the best way to stay in the game and not be voted out. In that way, the game has changed a lot since the first time she was on it.

"It's very hard," she said. "It's evolved so much over the years. It's so much strategy. This is a game, you have to be trusted. The challenges are absolutely insane!"

Andrea grew up on a farm near Random Lake. She graduated from Random Lake High School and got her Bachelor's degree from UW-Stevens Point.

Growing up, Andrea was involved in sports. She showed cattle, pigs and horses at the county fair and the Wisconsin State Fair. She credits this upbringing for helping her on Survivor.

"I'm not afraid to get dirty or sleep outside," she said. "My parents really taught me a good work ethic."

As for her fellow contestants, Andrea competed against one of them in the past and met a few of them. She has played against Malcolm before. "I was a little nervous to play against him again," Andrea said.

Some of the participants, she has met through her job with People Magazine. Andrea has been working for People Now, the online version of the magazine.

"I get to interview lots of different people," she said.

Some of those people are her competitors on Game Changers. Some she has met through other events. Andrea is not sure if meeting these people before will help her on the show. Everyone's strategy is different and people may play the game very different than they how they are in real life.

"I think maybe it could help me, but I don't know," she said.

All of this is a very different life than the one she grew up in here in Wisconsin. Her life has moved in a slightly different direction than what she had originally planned. Andrea never thought she would be working at People Now or appearing on three seasons of Survivor.

"Absolutely not," she said. "I went to school for acting. It's kind of mind-blowing."

She was still going to UW-Stevens Point when she had her first turn on Survivor. It was during the summer before her senior year of college.

"I told everyone I was on a mission trip," Andrea said.

She couldn't say anything to her friends or fellow students until previews for the season started to air on CBS. Then, many of her friends understood why she looked so much thinner when she returned from her "mission trip."

This time around, her family plans to host viewing parties every night the show is airing. In the past, they have used the fire

Homeschool Performing Arts Club Presents Show

Crime is kickin' up dust in this original western comedy. Unlawful taxes, kidnapping, protesting - it's a never ending job for the hero, Sheriff Wayne John, and his trusty deputy, Dudley Doowrong.

The banker's got his eyes on the land of the poor Widow Cracker, and the no-good outlaw gang is rustlin' up trouble; that is, until they get sick and tired of losin' to the hero each and every time.

But what's a sheriff to do if there are no bad guys to fight? Will he leave town? Will the town of Low Humidity Chasm be left high and dry? Will the bad guys win at last?

Come see "How the West was Dun, or Left High and Dry in Low Humidity Chasm," a play by Christopher Gieschen, to find out what happens. The play is produced through special arrangement with Pioneer Drama Company and will be presented by a local group of homeschooled actors who promise to keep you laughing throughout their performance.

"How the West was Dun" is the 10th annual production of the Homeschool Performing Arts Club (HSPAC), a non-profit organization of homeschooled children who perform each March for the public. Ranging in age from 4-18 years old, the children performing on stage also help to choose the script, paint the set, make pieces for the set, make or find their own costumes, gather props, and create drawings for the advertisements. In her eighth year as director of HSPAC is homeschooling mother, Nicole Schauer.

"How the West was Dun" will be performed at the UW-Fond du Lac Prairie Theater, 400 University Drive, Fond du Lac. Show times will be Friday, March 24, at 7 p.m. and Saturday, March 25, at 1 p.m. There is no admission charge; it is free for all ages. There will be a freewill offering for those who would like to make a donation.

For more information about this production, or about joining the Homeschool Performing Arts Club during the next school year, contact Dawn Doll at 920-921-4565.

department and may do that again. Andrea hopes to be able to get home to join everyone for at least one of the viewing parties, but she is not sure what her schedule will allow.

She is definitely grateful for all the fans in this area who have cheered her on during Seasons 22 and 26.

Of course, the show has already finished taping, but Andrea cannot reveal anything from the show. She can say that it was a fun time and she is glad that she participated again.

"I am very glad that I went," she said. "It is such a crazy experience."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Kewaskum School District Voters,

I am a 2015 high school friend of Bradley A. Petersen. And if you think about it, what a better person to evaluate YOU, than a friend from high school.

With Bradley, nothing was just a chapter in a history book. It was a story behind the war and he would find out more about the topic than what was required. History was his passion.

That's how Bradley will be when he becomes a member of the Kewaskum School Board. He requires more than what was said for the referendum. Yeah... The referendum is now changed AGAIN! Destroy/demolish/raze/tear down/wreck/abolish the MS! Did you see this option on the beautiful folded brochure?

Now if Bradley was on the board, you voters would have been given this option, and the plan/blue prints for a new MS would have been added. If you looked at the very well printed folder of "the Plan," you could see some of the flaws. Accommodating the grandparents who would come and see their grandchild in various sports/basketball/volleyball didn't have a handicap entry. Bradley thinks of his grandpa, Irv Lepp, if he wanted to come to the HS. Parking for the handicap in all aspects of the bulding plan.

Out of all the incumbents, I feel none of them really thought "out of the box!" Its too bad that NONE of the present board members even thought of the elderly. Bradley has the foresight to think ahead, which apparently none of the board members/incumbents have, since they scratched all the other plans and are starting from the beginning! A NEW two-story MS. Is this the option that the administration had in the first place??? Interesting.

Spent all that money/tax dollars on a plan to connect the schools and now spend more tax dollars on a plan to building a new school. This shows this Kewaskum School Board is not very conservative or money conscience. Vote for conservative/having the foresight of where our tax dollar is going, Bradley A. Petersen and Gregg Denman.

Please vote on Tuesday, April 4th. Let's get the real story on the referendum.

Sincerely,
Taylor Nelson

Hello Taxpayers.

Well, as you can read in this newspaper, the school board members have now taken your $28,420,000 and used it for another plan. Yeah, think about it, they had a plan to connect the Middle School and High School with a big gym and all the amenities. They sold you on it. Some board members came around and sweet talked you about how great that plan was. The plan has this and will improve the activities of the students, etc. etc.

NOW since you voted

YES for the referendum, they have seen fit to take that money and use it differently. NOT wisely with shared opinion! So how honest would you say these board members are?

It's time for a change: If you have ever met Bradley A. Petersen and Gregg Denman, you will understand why you should vote for two candidates for the Kewaskum school board. They would be at least honest and forthright to give you, the taxpayer, the truth. NOT change the plan in the middle of the stream! BUT then the school board members/incumbents have your tax money and now they could care less what the taxpayers thoughts or opinions are.

So it's time for change: vote for two Bradley A. Petersen and Gregg Denman on Tuesday, April 4th.

Sincerely,
Dale Vetter

Washington County Ice Squirt C Team Wins State Championship

On Sunday, March 5, the Washington County Ice Squirt C team won the Wisconsin Amateur Hockey Association Squirt 2C State Championship.

The Ice defeated Kenosha 5-4 in sudden death overtime in the first round then defeated DePere 4-3 to advance to the championship game. The game winning goal was scored in sudden death overtime to defeat

Fox Valley to claim the title.

"The kids never gave up and came together to accomplish a goal they set. Coming back in the third period in each of the three games shows what kind of heart the kids have. I'm very proud of this group of players for their hard work and dedication," said head coach Greg Petermann.

Washington County was host to this year's Squirt 2C tournament and the two-day event drew more than 400 people from around the state to the area, according to Brandon Bayer, Manager, Kettle Moraine Ice Rink.

"We're very proud of our home team as well as all the hockey families who participated and volunteered to host this event," said Bayer.

Enrollment Open For Habitat Incentive Programs

The Voluntary Public Access and Habitat Incentive Program, with funding from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service, is currently enrolling new properties in 52 eligible counties throughout Wisconsin.

Enrolled landowners can earn income through opening their property to year-round public hunting, fishing, trapping and wildlife observation.

Lease rates vary by land cover, ranging from $3/acre for agricultural land, $10/acre for grassland or wetland and $15/acre for forest land. VPA leases will expire on August 31, 2020. Landowners participating in other conservation programs are encouraged to apply, including:

- Conservation Reserve Program (CRP);
- Conservation Reserve

Enhancement Program (CREP);

- Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQI);
- Wetlands Reserve Easement (WRE); and
- Managed Forest Law (MFL) (closed).

Technical assistance and financial incentives are available to enrolled landowners who implement recommended wildlife habitat practices.

VPA landowners reported very high overall satisfaction with the program in 2016. Little is required for enrolled landowners beyond providing for public access. Under state statute, landowners are generally immune from liability for injuries received by individuals recreating on their lands. DNR provides compensation for damages to property or crops that occur as a result of opening land to public access.

Visit the updated VPA-

HIP website to find out more information and to apply to enroll in the program. Interested landowners should contact Anne Reis, DNR VPA-HIP Coordinator, for more information at 608-279-6483 or via email at Anne.Reis@wisconsin.gov.

DNR Launches 2017 License Year Sales

If you like to hunt, fish, boat or just get outdoors and enjoy Wisconsin's wild side, the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources encourages you to visit GoWild.Wi.Gov.

Licenses and permits for hunting, fishing, trapping and more are on sale through DNR's Go Wild system, an online portal dedicated to the numerous recreational opportunities made possible by sound management of Wisconsin's natural resources.

DNR's 2017 Conservation Card features a hunting theme. The optional personal conservation cards offer one of several ways to provide proof of hunting, fishing and other license and stamp purchases.

DNR's 2017 Conservation Card features a hunting theme. The optional personal conservation cards offer one of several ways to provide proof of hunting, fishing and other license and stamp purchases.

"Our top rankings in the Boone and Crockett and Pope and Young record books for trophy whitetail bucks, top-tier turkey and black bear hunting, world-record musky and exceptional walleye, trout and bass fishing are just a few reasons why hunting and fishing are so popular in Wisconsin," said DNR Secretary Cathy Stepp. "The Go Wild system makes it easier than ever for our hunters, anglers and other outdoor enthusiasts to enjoy Wisconsin's wild side with all of the licenses and access information they need in one place."

The system, introduced in 2016, secures licensing information electronically and enables customers to provide proof of their purchases through an optional personal conservation card, an authenticated Wisconsin driver's license, a plain paper print out or a pdf display on a mobile device such as a smartphone. Thanks to its 24-7-365 availability, the Go Wild system also expands the opportunities to purchase fishing and hunting licenses, as well as register boats, ATVs, UTVs, off-highway motorcycles and snowmobiles beyond the hours offered at vendors or DNR service centers.

Mark Rappe, of the DNR Bureau of Customer and Outreach Services, said licenses purchased for the 2016 license year remain in effect through March 31. Licenses purchased on or after March 8 are valid immediately for any open season.

Conservation Wardens Need Help

When the new license year begins, anglers fishing Michigan and Minnesota boundary waters, as well as the Great Lakes, are again reminded they must possess a paper copy of their license to be legal. The paper printouts are needed because law enforcement officials in the surrounding states do not have access to the Wisconsin database. Wardens say that having the paper license handy will expedite license checks and allow enthusiasts to stay focused on their outdoor activity.

For tag species such as wild turkey, in 2017 hunters must again possess their carcass tags while hunting and validate tags immediately upon harvesting, Rappe said.

Following the regular license year sales that began on March 8, the sale of left-over spring turkey permits begins on March 20. This year, sales for Zone 1 permits begin at 10 a.m. on March 20; Zone 2 permits on March 21; Zone 3 permits on March 22; Zone 4 permits on March 23; and Zones 5 and 7 on March 24. A total of 105,463 spring turkey permits will be available in all and leftover sales will continue for all zones on March 25, again starting at 10 a.m.

Fees for the 2017 license year remain the same as last year. To learn more, visit GoWild.Wi.Gov or visit the DNR website, dnr.wi.gov, and search "Go Wild."

Informational resources include fact sheets, descriptions of how and when certain forms of proof of license purchase apply as well as tagging information for a variety of game.

Prune Trees In Winter To Help Prevent Oak Wilt

Now is a good time for tree pruning, when temperatures are cold, according to Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources tree health experts.

"Pruning is a good practice to help create or maintain good branch structure and minimize many tree pest and disease problems. However, if you are going to prune oak trees, it is important to do it in winter to prevent introduction of oak wilt," said Paul Cigan, DNR Forest Health Specialist for northwest Wisconsin.

This is because:

- Oak wilt is a fatal disease of oaks. It is spread by beetles that feed on the sap of tree wounds, but they are not active in the winter.

- Without leaves on the trees it is easier to see and prune broken, cracked, hanging or competing limbs.

To help reduce the spread of oak wilt another way, do not move firewood.

"Many oak wilt infections in new areas are likely the result of infected firewood or other raw oak wood being moved from areas with oak wilt," according to Cigan.

Leave oak firewood where it is cut for one year, or until the bark is naturally loose, to prevent the spread of oak wilt.

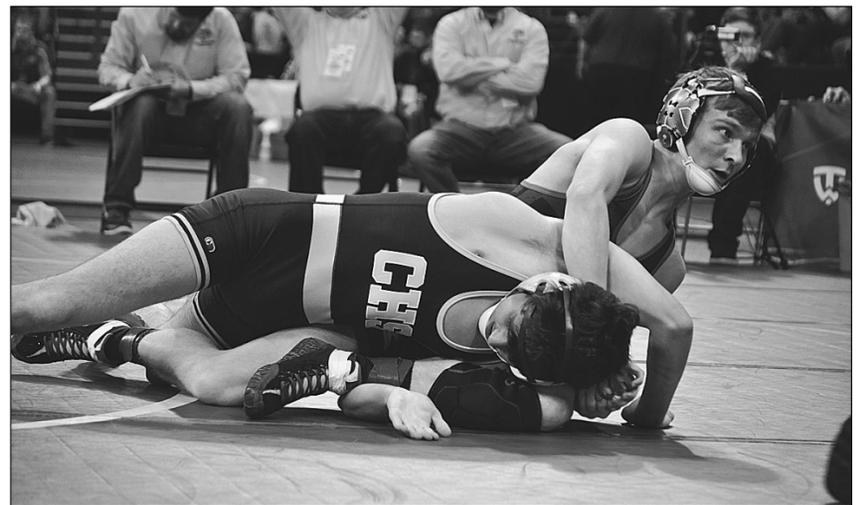

Oak wilt is commonly found in the southern two-thirds of the state. It is creeping north, but is still uncommon in much of northern Wisconsin. Taking precautions to prevent the spread of oak wilt will help keep it that way.

"This is a current problem for which we can still make a difference," according to Cigan. More information is available on pruning, oak wilt and firewood.

Trees should be pruned throughout their life to maintain strong structure and remove dead wood. "Pruning should not remove more than 25 percent of the live crown of a tree. The lower third of trunks of deciduous trees should be free of limbs," said DNR Urban Forester Don Kissinger.

Find the DNR pruning brochure at dnr.wi.gov, search "tree pruning." Certified arborists who offer pruning and other tree care services can be found at waa-isa.org/arborists/search.asp. For more information search the DNR website dnr.wi.gov, for keywords oak wilt and firewood.

"How does not showing up help you earn trust? What does it say about your ability to make decisions on the spot? What does it say about your cooperation? What does it say about your accountability to the public?" Bindrich asked.

"I thank the candidates who did show up. I have been going to board meetings for the past four years, pretty much every single one. And there were things that I learned about the candidates that I didn't know before the forum, so I thought that was good. It would have been nice to hear from everybody," Bindrich added.

Sarah Malchow, community impact director for the United Way of Washington County, served as moderator for the forum.

The evening began with opening remarks by Andrew Johnson, publisher for the Kewaskum Statesman.

Malchow followed, welcoming the audience and candidates. She reviewed the rules of the forum, which was not a debate. Instead, it was a venue for candidates to explain their viewpoints on various issues.

Malchow asked the candidates a series of questions that were submitted by the general public to the Kewaskum Statesman over the past several weeks.

First, the candidates were given an opportunity to introduce themselves and explain why they were running for the school board.

Fisher, who has been on the school board for three years, has five children in the Kewaskum School district. He has worked for the Boys and Girls Clubs for 26 years, serving as executive director for the Boys and Girls Clubs of Washington County for the past 18 years.

"It has been a pleasure to serve on the school board," Fisher said. "I have dedicated my life the last 26 years to working with kids."

Hanson, who works as a certified public accountant, has four children who attended Kewaskum schools. He has been on the school board since 2011 and currently serves as the board president. He has been involved with various civic organizations. He is a past president, of the West Bend Area Chamber of Commerce and has served on the Downtown Bid District Board and the West Bend Noon Rotary. He was awarded Rotarian of the Year in 2004.

Hanson said his background in accounting has proved to be useful while serving on the school board. Six years ago, he helped revise the district's financial statements so that they show where the budget is at from one year to the next.

Like Hanson, Miller has served on the school board for six years. Miller, who works as vice president of marketing and business development for Commerce Bank in West Bend, has worked in banking for 18 years. She has two children who attend Kewaskum schools.

"I feel like we have done a lot of great things. The mill rate has decreased $1.10 over the last three years, and the property tax levy has remained flat over the last three years. The student literacy rate has increased 15 percent and the fund balance has increased from 15 to 21 percent over the course of the last three years," Miller said.

When the candidates were asked what they felt the primary responsibility of a school board member is, Miller said that she believes the role is to develop policy and the budget. She said that as the budget has been shrinking over the years, it is important to make sure the district uses its current resources in the best manner possible.

"I think a big piece is encouraging the staff and students and community by recognition," Miller said.

Fisher agreed that it is a primary responsibility for a school board member to develop policy and to be fiscally responsible. He does not feel that it is a school board member's main job to manage day-to-day operations within the district.

Candidates were asked what they will do to attract and retain high quality staff. All three incumbents agreed that competitive salaries and benefits are important.

The three incumbents also all said that it is equally important to have a good working environment where employees feel valued.

Hanson pointed out that two years ago the board put together a fair and rewarding compensation program after working with administration and staff.

"We made great efforts to maintain the health insurance coverage at minimal increases whenever possible for the staff to make sure we have a good benefit package," he said.

"I think another big deal is making sure we are providing development and growth and continuous education," Miller said.

Candidates also were asked their opinions on whether space and improvements were needed for athletic fields.

All three incumbents

Incumbents Jay Fisher, Troy Hanson and Sue Ann Miller answer questions during a candidate forum for the Kewaskum School Board on Thursday, March 9. There are five candidates running for three open seats in the April 4 election. After giving 48 hours notice that they would not attend the forum, which had been planned since early February, candidates Bradley A. Petersen and Gregg Denman did not show up for the forum.

said they felt it was important to offer good athletic space. With the referendum passing in November, the district will gain some updated athletic space.

"I believe the way the new middle school will be laid out, we will gain some green space, which is really important," Hanson said. "The expansion of the middle school gym and having it next to the high school gym will create great opportunities for teams to practice together to be able to run tournaments here, which creates kind of a fun culture."

The district is creating more green space for athletic fields through referendum, private donations and its capital project, Hanson added.

"I would agree that it is very important to have athletics, and it even gets into the wellness part of it," Miller said as she pointed out the importance for students to learn about nutrition and exercise.

"To me, athletics is an extension of the classroom," Fisher said. "I think updating our middle school gym is crucial. I am a fan of astroturf on the football field. I see a lot of schools have that for not just a football team, but for recess you can just do so much with an astroturf field. You want to be proud of your athletic facilities."

Candidates were asked whether they supported the referendum. It was perhaps the question that created the most passionate answers, with a resounding "yes" all around.

"We are just trying to make the facility the best possible for the future, and so I was an advocate for the referendum," Miller said.

"I must say I love the referendum," Fisher said. "I think Kewaskum kids deserve this and shouldn't have to take a backseat to anyone. If you look around other school districts to see what they have, that is what Kewaskum should have."

"I was a very, very strong yes. I would talk to anyone who would listen and yell it from the rooftops about this referendum for many, many reasons," Hanson said as he pushed the two-minute limit on his answer. "This was a multi-year development to put this referendum together. There was painstaking time put into it. Not just preparation to put plans together, but how it was supposed to be done. How it was going to be financed. What really needed to be attacked with this referendum. It was done the right away."

Hanson said the low interest rates made the time ideal to correct old facilities that had structural and infrastructure issues.

"I can't wait to see it come together because it really is part of Kewaskum's staying on this path of being a destination district," Hanson said.

All three candidates also agreed that the district's top priority should be improving students' scores on the ACT and making sure that students were ready for college and careers by the time they graduated from high school.

"If the kids want to shoot for the stars, we should give them an opportunity to shoot for the stars," Fisher said.

"I think is our goal to help create a pathway to help students succeed into the future," Miller said. "There is something called career cruising. I think that is going to become very vital and important, where we can partner with other businesses, and they can get real experiences to see what those different fields are like, and then they can make a determination from there."

All three incumbents agreed that the current board works well together.

"I respect our whole board because we are able to function without disfunction. I think that is an important piece in today's age because everybody seems ready to fight," Hanson said. "We can work cohesively as a group to express personal opinions and get great things done."

The Spring Election will be held on Tuesday, April 4.

County Board Poised For 2017 Strategic Planning

The Washington County Board is preparing for strategic planning next week and soon the Executive Committee will set the county administrator's goals for 2017. The goals set indicate the items of the highest importance to the county. In 2016, every goal was achieved.

The top accomplishments in 2016 include:

1. Completion of the County's new Fiscal Health Tool and Resource Alignment Diagnostic Tool. With these tools, the county produced its first Five Year Financial Plan which is now available online;

2. Initiation of the county's new onsite health clinic, set to open in July, estimated to save tax payers nearly $1 million in the first three years;

3. Collaboration with numerous other local government entities for shared services including the City of West Bend, Waukesha County, Ozaukee County and the Kewaskum School District; and

4. Completion of the county's newly implemented leadership training by approximately 50 percent of qualified employees.

A full list of 2016 goals and accomplishments can be found adjoining this release. In the coming weeks, these goals will be highlighted on the County's Facebook page.

"When you step back and look at everything accomplished in 2016, it's pretty impressive. We have an excellent Team in place right now who are all very goal driven," said County Administrator Joshua Schoemann. "I have no doubt that any goals given by our Board for 2017 can and will be achieved."

– Local Chef Appears On “Larry Smith Outdoors”

Schafer said he was impressed with how polite Shreves was.

“He was very pleasant,” Schafer said. “I had a good time with him.”

The Contest

Shreves entered the contest a couple months ago after seeing it advertised on the show.

Then about a month later, shortly after his 18th birthday, Shreves was informed that he was one of three winners for the contest.

“When I found out I had won, I went berserk,” Shreves said.

He messaged his mother, Jessie Goratowski, right away.

“I didn't even know he had submitted his stuff. I was really excited for him,” said Goratowski.

Goratowski has known Larry Smith since before he started his show, and has followed him ever since, she said.

Shreves told the good news to his coworkers at Michaleno's Pizzeria, where he works as a cook.

And he told his friend Corey Plamann, who is also a big fan of the show. Plamann agreed to drive Shreves to Berlin to record the show at Schafer's home.

Schaefer was impressed with Shreves as soon as he talked with him.

“He was one of the politest kids I interviewed on the phone when I asked him about recipes,” Schafer said. “I knew right away that we had to have him on the show.”

The Recipe

Shreves' winning family recipe was developed when Shreves was about 8 years old.

“It really is just a throw-together recipe. We were out camping and we didn't really have much to cook, but we didn't feel like running to the store, and so everybody kind of threw something into a pot and we made do with what we had. It turned out to be really good, and we have been making it ever since,” Shreves said.

The dish does not have an official name.

“Usually people say, ‘Hey, can you make that potato bacon thing that you made the last time? That was really good,’” Shreves said.

For the show, Shreves was a little nervous that the dish would not turn out.

He cooked on a smaller skillet than he normally does.

Also, there were a lot of bright lights that were used for filming, and those lights heated the area before Shreves even began cooking.

And Shreves did not have the same seasonings he normally uses for the dish. Instead, he used seasoning that Schafer had gotten through a sponsor.

But Shreves' worries were unnecessary.

“It turned out as good as it does at home, so I was happy with that,” he said.

When he first looked at the ingredients, Schafer admits that he did not think the concoction would taste very good.

After all, a dish made with that bacon, baloney sausage, potatoes, shredded cheese and spices did not sound too appealing.

But after tasting the dish, Schafer turned to his daughter and said, “Oh my goodness, this actually is really good. I think I found our new potato recipe for the morning.”

After The Show

After the show was recorded, the entire crew got to taste Shreves' dish.

“It was gone instantly. Everybody loved it,”

Schafer said.

They did leave a little extra to bring to Larry Smith, who was fishing somewhere in Wisconsin.

Shreves hopes that maybe the experience will help catapult him into culinary school.

“It's definitely something I would be interested in,” Shreves said.

And who knows, maybe Shreves will be found cooking on more shows in the future.

“He said he won't forget me once he makes it big,” his mom said.

To view Shreves on the “Larry Smith Outdoors,” go to the YouTube episode that was published on Mar 13, at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tJu9dcOKIWO>.

Do you know what's happening in your child's school?

Wisconsin law says it's your right to know – but that right may be going away.

If Assembly Bill 70, Senate Bill 42 and the Governor's Budget as currently written are approved by the Wisconsin Legislature, school boards, city councils, village boards and county boards will no longer be required to print a summary of their actions in your local newspaper and on the statewide public notice website, www.WisconsinPublicNotices.org.

For example: No school district budgets would be required to be printed in local newspapers.

Contact Representative Jesse Kremer, Senator Duey Stroebel, and Governor Scott Walker and tell them you want your school board's business to remain in your local newspaper and on the statewide public notice website, www.WisconsinPublicNotices.org.
