A Taste Of Military Life

– Camp Offers Challenges And Career Exploration For Teens

By Anne Trautner

Sierra Vanourkerk has wanted to be in the military since she was a young child.

So this summer, Sierra, who is a junior at Kewaskum High School, attended a three-week program at Camp Liberty in Alabama to find out what the military is all about. The program, called Extreme Military Challenge, is for young men and women ages 13-18 who want to challenge themselves to learn, grow and see if they have what it takes to go from a recruit to cadet.

At the camp, Sierra, 16, was the only female who was advanced to this year's Cadet Ranger Phase One program. That required completing numerous physical challenges.

Measuring 5 feet 1 inch tall and 110 pounds, she was by far the smallest camper. When Sierra started the camp, she thought maybe the officers would give her a break because of her petite size.

Week's Wit...

Trains, with their weight, simply must go on through, and a tie at a crossing means curtains for you.

Will your memories be there?

Will news clippings of your family's weddings, anniversaries and births be around a hundred years from now on Facebook?

Maybe not. PROBABLY not.

We will publish it the old-fashioned way, so your friends and family can know about it now - and in the distant future.

Don't let your great-great-grandkids down when they try to find out about you.

The event will be held on Saturday, Sept 9, in front of the Boltonville Fire Station, located at 9336 Bolton Drive in Boltonville.

The evening will kick off when the grills are lit up to cook hamburgers and brats at about 5 p.m. The food and beverages will be available for in the upper floor of the firehouse.

The group Rebel Grace will perform live music from 8:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. An $8 donation will be collected from those who want to hear the band.

Money raised will go toward fire equipment and training.

"It's a fun get-together," said Dennis Fechter of the Boltonville Volunteer Fire Department. "Every year, like our Rain Days picnic, our Street Dance gets bigger and better. Be sure to come out this weekend to Boltonville, where the picnic season begins and ends."

old woman.

The third occurred at 11:13 p.m. in the Town of Barton and resulted in the arrest of a 38-year-old woman for battery and disorderly conduct with a domestic abuse enhancer. She was able to post $650 bond and was subsequently released at 1:45 a.m.

Coulters Celebrate 92nd Annual Family Reunion

The descendants of the late Maria Wilhelmina "Mary" (Doms) and David Charles Coulter Sr. celebrated their 92nd Annual Family Reunion on Sunday August 6th, 2017 at Sterr Park in Lomira with 99 people attending.

Mary Doms was born on the Carl Doms farm in the town of Kewaskum on July 20, 1875 and was the seventh of nine children born to the late (Marie) Dorothea (Schliemann) and (Friedrich) Carl Doms. Mary passed away on November 23, 1920 at the young age of forty-five as a result from complications from cancer. Mary Coulter was the first burial in Salem's "new" part of their Church's cemetery.

David Coulter Sr. was born on the John Coulter, Sr. farm in the town of Wayne on June 30, 1870 and was the youngest of eleven children born to the late Sarah (McKeag) and John Coulter Sr. David passed away on May 23, 1933 at age 62.

Mary and David were united in marriage in the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church in the town of Wayne on April 9, 1896. Church is now known as the Salem United Church Of Christ in the town of Wayne.

Their union was also blessed with eleven children just like David's parents' were, whom are now all deceased, namely:

David Charles Coulter Jr. (Alice E. nee Wilke), Mildred Henrietta (George E. Krieser), Appolonia Sarah "Leona" (Alvin C. Schwartz), William John "Bill" Coulter (Kathryne B. nee Urban) and (Mildred nee Bierling), John James "Jack" Coulter, twin: Ervin John Coulter Sr. (Geraldine C. "Gerry" nee Byrne), twin: Gladys Georgia (Orvin O. Zahn), Sylvia Elizabeth (Raymond R. Schellpfeffer), baby James Thomas Coulter who died at birth, Elvira Olinda (Jack E. Erickson) and Milton David Coulter (Elva A. nee Schaefer).

Mary and David were also the proud grandparents of forty-three grandchildren. The first born grandchild was born on September 21, 1922, the daughter of the late Mildred & George Krieser and was given the name Evelyn Mildred Krieser (now Bodden) and the youngest grandchild was born on September 13, 1953, the daughter of the late Gerry and Ervin J. Coulter Sr. and was given the name Susan Lynn Coulter.

JASON BUTSCHLICK
Jan. 25, 1981 - Sept. 9, 2002

"A letter to our Son"

It's hard to believe that it already has been 15 years since you left us in body, but not in heart!

Remembering the song that was playing on the radio that day, "In the arms of an angel", it was so fitting. As the days, months and years have gone by; you have been thought of in so many ways.

Jason, because of your love of sports, scoreboards at HTS have been donated in your memory. Your Memorial Stone is also back in place which has a new look and saying:

"Just as your Faith was strengthened at HTS, Jason put his trust in God and was touched by God's grace and heart!"

It's taken 15 years for us to go back and look at all the precious cards and letters that we received after you left us.

They showed us how much you were loved and will be missed, but not forgotten.

As it is said, "Every ending is always a beginning!" Our faith is strong, helping us to get through every day!

Love and miss you Jay!
Dad and Mom

has been employed by the board of education: Clifford Rose - principal, Ernest Mitchell - Science and Athletic Director, Margaret Browne - Commercial, Joan Flanagan - Home Economics, Edith Hintzman - Social Science and History, Hulda Kohlbeck - English, LaVerne Bratz - Intermediate Grades, Viola Daley - Primary Grades, Grace Ganske - Grammar Grades.

In a deal consummated this week, Jos. Schoofs, Town of Kewaskum, of the Cherry Grove Dairy, purchased the interests of the Kettle Moraine Dairy from Earl Etta, Kewaskum, who operated same the past couple of years. Mr. Schoofs has already taken possession of Etta's route and is now supplying patrons of both routes in this village. The dairy handles both the fresh milk from the Schoofs Dairy and pasteurized milk from the Kewaskum Creamery Company. A branch milk route through the Kettle Moraine State Forest area, also operated by Etta, will be discontinued.

Threshing is complete in the Armstrong area and crops are reported very good. Farmers are cutting and bailing second crops of alfalfa.

Between 30 and 40 volunteers of Holy Trinity congregation gathered at the parish school grounds to saw up a number of trees recently removed from the grounds. The wood will be used to heat the church.

A team of horses tied in front of A. Perschbacher's blacksmith shop in this village, belonging to William Schleif of Five Corners, become frightened from a passing automobile last Monday afternoon, and tearing themselves loose from the hitching post dashed north on Fond du Lac Avenue at a break-neck speed. While passing by Charles Buss' residence, they suddenly swerved to one side of the street, striking a tree near the curb which brought them to a sudden stop. The sudden impact caused the team to fall and they became entangled in the harness. No damage was done to the Wagon but one of the horses was so badly injured that it had to be placed under the care of veterinarian Geo. Brandt, for several days. Luckily no one was in the rig at the time of the runaway.

Geo. Braun of New Fane, purchased a Chevrolet car from A.A. Perschbacher at Kewaskum this week.

A small blaze, which might have proven a great loss to property owners in the village, was discovered Sunday afternoon in the Westerman Brothers livery barn. The fire was started by children who were playing with matches in the barn. Luckily the fire was noticed in time and put out before it gained any headway.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Karl, twin babies, the night of August 25, both dying shortly after birth. Funeral services took place Monday, at St. Bridget's Church.

Weekly HEALTH TIP

POOR SLEEP LINKED TO WEIGHT GAIN

Too little sleep increases the risk of heart disease, diabetes, high blood pressure, stroke and depression. It also affects attention, alertness and concentration. Sleep deprivation also leads to more accidents. Now there is also evidence to suggest lack of adequate sleep may lead to weight gain. A recent analysis found that not getting enough sleep led to overeating the next day. Sleep loss affects appetite hormones. It increases ghrelin, the hunger-stimulating hormone, and decreases leptin, the hormone that signals satiety. Another study found those who got 4 hours of sleep for 5 nights gained 2 pounds more than those slept 10 hours.

Disasters Don't Plan Ahead. You Can.

- September is Preparedness Month in Wisconsin

Wisconsin has been hit hard by flooding and tornadoes in 2017. That's why Gov. Scott Walker has designated September as Preparedness Month to encourage people across the state to take time now to prepare before disaster strikes.

"Developing a family emergency plan is important," said Maj. Gen. Don Dunbar, Wisconsin's adjunct general and Homeland Security advisor. "Everyone should have a plan that includes information on where to go during an emergency and how to communicate with loved ones if separated in a crisis."

An emergency plan should include:

- How you will receive emergency alerts and warnings.

- Where to take shelter at home, work, or school.

- A family meeting place to make sure everyone is safe. One designated location should be close to your home and the other in your neighborhood.

- A contact list in both paper copy and electronic with current contact information for those individuals you may need to reach during an emergency. Make sure you keep a paper copy in your wallet and in your emergency kit.
- Alternative methods of communications in case phone service is not available.

- Consider text messaging during an emergency. During a disaster, phone service may be overwhelmed and unavailable. Cell phone text messages may still get through because they take less band width to send and receive messages.

Also, calling long distance may be easier than making a local call. Ask a friend or family member to be your "out of town" contact. During an emergency, you can contact that person to let them know you are ok and that they can share that information with your family.

Developing an emergency communications plan is just one step to get ready for emergencies. Each week this September, Ready Wisconsin will highlight easy and inexpensive ways for you and your family to prepare for emergency situations. Continued From... A Taste Of Military Life

That did not happen.

Instead, Sierra found out what challenges she was up against. In one exercise, two campers were called out to fight against each other.

"I was just so little, and everyone else was so big, that I just got demolished every single time. I got so frustrated because I couldn't even stay on my feet for more than two seconds because they would just run and pile drive me," Sierra said.

But Sierra did not give up.

In another exercise, the teens had to "fireman" carry each other. Sierra thought that because of her small size, she would get a free ride on someone's shoulders.

"But no, I was not lucky," she said.

Sierra was assigned to carry a guy who weighed about 175 pounds. She carried him up a long hill and through an obstacle course.

"That was tough," she admitted, but she persevered.

Sierra Vanourkerk, a junior at Kewaskum High School, learns about military careers at a camp she attended in Alabama this summer.

Lifelong Dream

While growing up, whenever Sierra would see military personnel were in uniform, doing jumping jacks or other exercises, she would tell her parents, "I want to do that."

She liked the idea of being able to travel and go places all over the world.

"Anyone you talk to about me, they would describe me as a thrill seeker or an adrenaline junkie or something like that," Sierra said. "Normal life is just so boring for me...so I was looking to do something in the military."

Before Sierra enlists, her mother, Valerie Vanourkerk, wanted Sierra to be able to get a taste of what it was like to be in the military.

"Once you sign on the dotted line, you are in," Valerie said.

So Valerie did some online searching and found Camp Liberty. Located in Alabama, the three-week camp follows the Army basic training model.

"I wanted her to be sure of herself, so she would know she could handle basic training," Valerie said.

The camp serves as a career exploration program and provides exposure to the military environment.

"It is not a camp meant for juvenile delinquents. If you are kind of naughty, this is not a camp for you. This is for people who actually want to try to challenge themselves," Sierra said.

The camp draws teens from all over the world. Sierra met people from Russia, France, the Czech Republic and Puerto Rico, as well as teens from across the United States.

"It was a really neat experience," she said.

Camp Lessons

Sierra spent her first week at Camp Liberty completing a fitness week, exercising from early morning until evening.

"Everyone was so sore. I wrote a letter home one time, and said I can't even sit down using my legs. I used my arms to help me sit down on the chair. We were physically working out almost to our breaking point every single day," Sierra said.

But the camp did more than challenge the teens physically. It also taught them what it was like to be separated from their families.

Sierra wasn't allowed to make a phone call for several weeks. And when she did call home, it could only last three minutes.

Sierra was allowed to write letters home. Many of her letters were short, though.

Valerie, on the other hand, wrote long letters regularly to Sierra about what was going on at home. The separation perhaps was more difficult on the parents than their children, Valerie said.

"As a parent, I have grown as well. It's hard not being able to talk to your child or hug them," Valerie said.

Still, Sierra's parents, Valerie and Mike, were able to keep an eye on Sierra through videos that were posted through an online program for parents.

For them, watching Sierra's confidence and self esteem soar made it worthwhile.

The staff at the camp recognized Sierra's drive to do well.

"They talked to her about trying out for Rangers selection," Valerie said. "They said if she can get through Rangers, she will be unstoppable doing whatever she puts her mind to doing."

It was hard work, but

Sierra was up to the task and became an example for others to follow.

"You should be like her and have her kind of mind set and spirit and drive," the leaders told the other teens.

Future Plans

When Sierra returned to Wisconsin after her experience this summer, she missed the camp. She even had trouble sleeping without her weapon.

"You have to sleep with your rifle, and you can't let anybody take your rifle," Sierra said.

Each night at camp, she situated her rifle close to herself, with the butt of the rifle toward her face.

"I'd have my leg over it, my arm over it, cuddling with my rifle at night. I never had my rifle taken at night," Sierra said.

Sierra plans to enlist in the Reserves this fall.

After she graduates from high school, she would like to go to college and earn a bachelor's degree before transferring to active duty.

Her goal is to go into infantry for two to four years and reclassify into linguistics.

To prepare, Sierra is currently taking Brazilian jiu-jitsu martial arts class. She also would like to take a dance class.

"My staff sergeant said that you have to know how to dance before you can know how to fight because dancing is all about coordination and footwork," Sierra explained.

In October, she will go on a Cadet Staff Ride to Washington, D.C., and visit such places as the White House, Pentagon and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

At the end of December, she will return to Alabama for a week of winter training.

She also plans to return to Camp Liberty next summer.

In the meantime, Sierra is keeping in touch with those she met this summer. She regularly texts her camp leaders, who offer her encouragement.

"You better make me proud," her staff sergeant recently messaged Sierra.

"Yes sir," Sierra responded promptly.

She appreciates the encouragement and support from the military personnel.

"We are a little family," Sierra said.

Early Farm Days To Be Held This Sunday

By Anne Trautner

People can step back in time on Sunday, Sept. 10, at Early Farm Days in Kewaskum. The event, which is free of charge, will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at River Hill Park, located between the Milwaukee River and the Eisenbahn Trail.

Sponsored by the Kewaskum Historical Society, the event dates back to 1975. As usual, the event will feature steam and gas engines, as well as threshing and antique farm machinery.

"We will have both the main museum building and the log cabin open. We will have plenty of food, plenty to drink, and we don't charge any admission," said Ron Markus, a longtime member of the Kewaskum Historical Society.

"We will probably have a truckload of cob corn to shell and grind. And there will be a newly restored Lawson tractor there," he added.

The event also will feature horse-drawn wagon rides, a petting zoon and live music.

"We are looking to have nice weather and lots of fun for everybody. And the Packer game doesn't start until after 3 p.m., so we should have a good day and everybody should be able to go home and watch the Packers," Markus said.

World War I And The Home Front

Each year, the Early Farm Days highlights a different theme. This year's theme, "World War I And The Home Front," brings to the forefront the events from 100 years ago.

According to a century-old edition of the Kewaskum Statesman, the draft was held in Washington, D.C. on July 20, 1917, at 9:30 a.m.

Numbers between one and 10,500 were drawn from a glass bowl. At the time, there were 4,557 registration boards.

The first number drawn meant that every man holding a registration card bearing that number in all the 4,557 districts would be the first called to serve, and so on until the full number of 687,000 men were drafted.

Following are just some of the men from this area whose numbers were picked, as published in the Kewaskum Statesman on July 21, 1917:

Village of Kewaskum:

1572 Jos. Eberle
1563 Edwin Miller
1570 Louis Bath
1574 Albert Schaefer

Town of Kewaskum:

1518 A. J. Herriges
1546 Jos. P. Boden
1539 W.F. Boehrdanz
1548 F.J. Kenney
1509 Gregor Hillnes
1531 R.A. Miller
1536 J. Muckerheide
1549 E. Westerman
1560 D.J. Schraath

There will be some pictures on display at Early Farm Days of those who fought in World War I.

Many of the other things that will be displayed show what life was like in the Kewaskum area at the time of World War I.

"A lot of the equipment that is on show was made on or before the war started, and a lot of it over the years was salvaged for war efforts. It is stuff that somebody was good enough to put to the side to keep for us so that we can remember what was happening during the war period," Markus said.

Teen Connections Group Meets In Kewaskum

– Group Offers Support For Teens With Mental Health Condition

By Anne Trautner

When a teen suffers from a condition such as depression or anxiety, many times they have nowhere to turn.

"They feel so alone, that sense of isolation they might have. Maybe they don't share their feelings at home, or their homes are not as safe, from their perceptions," Peggy LaFleur said.

"When teens with a mental health condition feel like there is no one to support them, they keep it a secret, and so the problem continues to grow, and they lead a very unhappy life. Or it can lead to even worse consequences, to the point where some people consider the only way to escape the pain is to commit suicide," Suzanne Milkus added.

Many times parents are aware that something is not right. They want to help their child, but are not sure how. The parents are scared.

To help, a new group called "Teen Connections" has been formed in Kewaskum.

The group meets on Tuesdays from 4 to 5 p.m. at Peace United Church of Christ, 343 First St. in Kewaskum.

Teen Connections is a social support group that is facilitated by trained adults under the Washington County United Way and sponsored by NAMI (National Association of Mental Illness).

Led by LaFleur and Milkus, the Kewaskum group offers a safe place for the teens to share their feelings with one another. That helps them get needed support.

"There is something about a group experience at the teenage level that I think really helps kids get help," Milkus said.

Reducing The Stigma

In any given year, 20 percent of teens between the ages of 13 and 18 experience a mental health condition, Milkus said. Mental health conditions include things such as anxiety, depression, post-traumatic stress, bipolar disorder and attention deficit disorder.

The conditions do not discriminate. They strike teens in all communities, regardless of race, ethnicity or family income.

Of those with a mental health condition, 50 percent do not receive treatment, according to Milkus.

"The main reason is because of the stigma associated with mental health conditions. Either teens don't know what's going on, or they know what's going on and don't think they are going to be supported or there is no answer for them, so they suffer in silence," explained Milkus, who worked for 24 years as a school counselor in the West Bend School District.

Without treatment, individuals with a mental health condition can turn to self-harm as a way to control something in their lives, Milkus said. It can lead to eating disorders, drug or alcohol abuse, cutting or even suicide.

Teen Connections

To help prevent such outcomes, Teen Connections groups offer an opportunity for teens to get the support they need.

Teen Connections is offered free of charge. Snacks and drinks are provided.

While the group is not therapy, it is therapeutic.

"Kids feel good that they have a place to vent in a nonjudgmental atmosphere," Milkus said.

"Sometimes kids with a mental health condition are so bogged down by what is going on in their lives that they can't see what is going on, and we try to help them see that."

The group offers a safe place for teens to talk about things that are bothering them and helps them make positive decisions for themselves.

"We provide a listening ear, that safe place for them to say whatever they want because it doesn't go beyond the walls of the meeting," LaFleur said.

Both LaFleur and Milkus are mandatory reporters, so if a child is revealing anything where they feel they are going to be harmed or is threatening to harm themselves, they are required to report that.

Normally, though, the meetings offer an opportunity for the teens to support one another.

"There is something about a group experience at the teenage level that I think really helps kids get help. They learn from each other," Milkus said.

Before coming to the group meetings, many of the participants feel as though they don't fit in with their peers. Some are advanced students in AP classes, but they struggle in the social area.

"They feel like they don't fit in," LaFleur said. "So this is an opportunity to hear their peers talk, and I think that helps them become more comfortable."

PEGGY LaFLEUR

Making A Difference

A Teen Connections group was started over two years ago in West Bend. It has made a difference.

"A lot of times the teens would talk about feeling one way when they come in, and by the time they left, you could tell that their face was a little bit brighter, a little more hopeful," Milkus said.

Sometimes the students are asked to rate how they feel at the end of one session compared to how they were when they came in. Many times there is an improved score.

"That is empowering to see," LaFleur said.

With about 20 in the West Bend group there, some of the teens did not have close friends at school.

But they were welcomed into the group.

"The teens in the group have never looked down at someone who has been cutting themselves or attempted suicide," Milkus said.

Rather, the teens in the group formed a bond, and after a while, they started exchanging phone numbers with one another.

"Most of the teens talk about feeling like a family because it is a safe place and other people are willing to listen," Milkus said.

Milkus has seen a dramatic change with some of the participants. For example, the West Bend group includes a couple high functioning teens with autism who had never been invited to a birthday party, and now are part of a group. They get together outside of the meetings and do things, such as go to high school football games.

"When I told one of the parents last January that we had two kids like that, she started to cry because she's never had her child be invited to anything," Milkus said.

"Those are the things that we can't make happen. But they seem to happen on their own, if given enough time," Milkus said.

Because of those social connections, a lot of the students keep coming week after week to the group.

KHS Offense Is Slowed Down But Indians Still Get The "W"

By Judy Harlow

No one could have seen this coming.

After gaining 425 yards against Milwaukee Lutheran and 531 against Merrill, fans of the Kewaskum High football team (3-0) were expecting another display of offensive power against Campbellsport (2-1) on September 1. Instead the Indians were held to just 228 yards, turned the ball over four times and really struggled on third down situations and found themselves in a barn-burner that went down to the final play of the game.

With Campbellsport inside the Kewaskum 5-yard line with a couple seconds remaining, Eli Bartelt saved the day when he blocked Trey Birschbach's 20 yard-field goal attempt, and the Indians escaped with a 15-12 victory, their third straight and first of the season in East Central play.

With the win, the Indians also keep the Kettle Moraine bowl for another year.

"They had a good game plan for us. They attacked our inexperienced players up front," KHS coach Jason Piittmann said, adding, "When you turn the ball over that many times, it hampers things."

The first quarter was scoreless as neither team could muster much offense. "We traded punts," the KHS coach said, Kewaskum scored first, early in the second quarter on a 30-yard pass from Tony Steger to 6-foot, 5-inch sophomore Joshua Bocher, who made a beautiful play on the ball.

"He's (Bocher) been working with us as a back-up," Piittmann said. "We gave him some chances, and he came up with a big catch."

Piittmann decided to go for two points on the conversion, using his "Daffy Duck" formation, but "It didn't go. They stuffed Patrick (Krier)," the coach said. Still KHS had a 6-0 lead.

Campbellsport came right back with a scoring drive of its own, moving 63 yards in 12 plays with Nicholas Narges going into the end zone for a one-yard touchdown run. Campbellsport also tried a two-point conversion, but the run failed, so the score was 6-6 until late in the quarter when the Indians sacked CHS quarterback Connor Kissingner for a 10-yard loss, forcing a punt from deep in its own territory.

Kewaskum's Gabe Christenson came through the line and blocked Jack Malloy's punt attempt, which hit the goal post and rolled out of the end zone for a safety, giving the Indians an 8-6 lead at half-time.

The Indians stretched their lead to 15-6 after opening the third quarter with a 61-yard march which started with Tyler Degnitz returning the kickoff to the KHS 39-yard line.

On first down, Steger dropped back and found Christenson for a 42-yard pass to the Campbellsport 19. Krier got the call to carry the ball on the next five plays, starting with a nine-yard run and ending up with a three-yard touchdown with 9:48 remaining in the period. This time, KHS went back to its trusty kicker, Cade Peterson, who successfully booted the ball through the uprights for a 15-6 lead.

Campbellsport, which has just five seniors and not enough players, for a JV team, went three-and-out on its next possession, and after Cole Neis intercepted Steger, the Cougars returned the favor when Jerod Otto intercepted Kissingner.

"Jerod Otto made a real great pick," Piittmann said. "He made a great play on the ball."

Starting at the CHS 44, Steger's pass to Bocher fell incomplete, then Krier battled for nine yards, and it looked like the Indians would pick up a first down. Steger had trouble with the snap, however, and Dylan Homuth fell on it for the Cougars, who started their final scoring drive on their own 39-yard line.

On second down, Kissinger ran an option play, and sprinted 61 yards to paydirt. The Cougars again failed on a 2-point conversion, making the score 15-12.

"He (Kissinger) was able to turn the corner and go," Piittmann said.

About Campbellsport's final possession, Piittmann said, "They had a broken play or two, and their quarterback is elusive. That ended up costing us."

What cost Campbellsport was the fact one of their coaches went on the field during an injury time out, according to Piittmann, who said he brought it to the attention of the official, who took away one of the Cougars' two remaining timeouts.

"They had to spike the ball twice at the end," he went on, and about the field goal try, added, "We were able to get great penetration in the middle and knock it down."

Steger was held to 11 yards in 11 carries and hit just 8x18 passes for 125 yards and two interceptions. Krier rushed for 66 yards in 18 carries, a 3.7 yard average. Elmazi was the leading receiver with four passes for 56 yards.

Kissingner led the CHS rushers with 56 yards in 17 carries, while Narges added 37 in 15 rushes. "Our d-line did a nice job," Piittmann said. "The whole defense played well."

"We were just happy to get the win," Piittmann said, indicating he told his players "No style points ... let's get ready for Winneconne. That's the next step."

One bit of good news for KHS. Two hundred and ninety pound tackle Riley Donovan will make his first appearance Friday against Winneconne. When asked if he will go both ways, Piittmann said, "Most likely," although in the games he missed, the team was able to develop a little depth in its line.

About Cole Surprenant missing the game against the Cougars, Piittmann said, "He's a little dinged up right now. We thought we'd rest him."

Winneconne lost a 7-0 decision to Ripon in its EC opener. In other games, Plymouth crushed Waupun 41-6, while Berlin rolled over Kettle Moraine Lutheran 42-6.

Schaller, Others Help Indian Spikers Gain A Sweep Over Campbellsport

By Judy Harlow

In the end, Kewaskum had a bit more experience and a little more power at the net in its opening East Central Conference volleyball match against a young and scrappy Campbellsport team, winning in three games, 25-20, 25-19 and 25-12.

"We started slow," KHS coach Laine Leitzke said about the August 31 match, crediting the Cougars' fine defensive play for the Indians' early woes. "They defended really, really well."

What turned the match around, according to Leitzke, was "We switched our lineup. It gave us a little more energy, and we were able to pull away from them," in Game 3.

The lead changed hands four times in Game 1 before Holly Henk served four straight points for a 22-18 KHS advantage. Then Amanda Schaller jumped high for a power kill to go up 24-21, and Henk scoring the winning point with a perfectly placed, cross court dink that found the floor.

The plucky Cougars, who have just two seniors this year, stayed right with the Indians in Game 2 until near the end. KHS had one, three-point lead (16-13) midway in the game before the Cougars came back on a pair of kills by Madilyn Danza to tie the game at 17. Then Hailey Hasenberg stepped to the serving line, and the Indians came up with four straight points and a 22-17 lead.

CHS got the serve back and scored the next point, but the offense stalled with a couple hits that were long or into the net, and the Indians won 25-19 for a 2-0 lead.

In Game 3, the Indians were working on all cylinders while the young Cougars may have tired. Starting with an ace by Sarah Butschlick, a successful kill and then a double block by Schaller and Carolyn Stockhausen, KHS jumped out to a 6-0 lead.

Eventually the Cougars cut the deficit in half, in part to a good doubled block by Skylahr Murphy and Morgan Freeman, then KHS outscored the visitors 19 to 9 the rest of the way for a 25-12 win and a 1-0 start in EC play.

Near the end of the match, it was Morgan Kappler serving several winning points. "She had a good little run for us ... kept it low and fast. She helped us pull away," Leitzke said.

It was fitting the final point came from Schaller on a power kill. She wound up with 13 kills to lead the Indians, and she was definitely excited about doing well. "I think we needed to get our energy up ... get together as a team," she said afterward. "Overall, it was really fun."

Schaller said as a senior leader, she feels she must "stay in position," and "really get excited when the other players do well." She said it helps this season to have more seniors, six, and this has factored into the team's success.

"All six seniors are really coming together, providing leadership and talking on the court," Schaller said, also praising the coach for a technique of where the net has been raised a couple inches at practice, which is helping her jumping. "Each time I jump higher and higher to get the ball over the net," she said.

"Defensively we could have done better," Leitzke said. "We've got to defend our 10-foot line a little better."

Other statistical leaders for the night included: digs — Hasenberg, 10; Assists — Morgan Denlinger, 10, Butschlick and Brooke Espitia, 8 each; Kills — Brelynn Scoles, 9; and blocks — Stockhausen, Butschlick and Kappler, 3.5 each.

Catrin Homuth, a six-foot senior, was effective for the Cougars at the net, while Murphy had success digging up many KHS attacks.

The Indians, 1-0 in EC play and 6-3 overall, entertain Winneconne tonight at 6:45 p.m.

In a road game on August 29, the Indians, still playing without its middle hitter, Liz Lightner, defeated Princeton in a match that went four games, 25-21, 16-25, 27-25 and 25-23.

"We started slow and unenthusiastic. In the third set we fell behind 4-15 and that is when we started to fight," KHS coach Laine Leitzke said. "We saw the team come together and push back to 14-15, we lost them a bit later in the game 20-25 and fought back again to win the set."

Senior Amanda Schaller and sophomore Brelynn Scoles led the team in kills with 11 each, while Sarah Butschlick had the most assists, 20, and the most aces, four. Scoles and Morgan Denlinger chipped in with four and three aces, while Carolyn Stockhausen and Kappler were the top blockers with 3.5 and three, respectively.

When it came to defense and coming up with digs, four players stood out, including Hailey Hasenberg, who had 18; Schaller and Scoles, 11 each and Butschlick with nine.

"It wasn't always pretty but we persevered together, and that is why we left their gym with a win," Leitzke concluded.

After Three Straight Wins, KHS Netters Run Into Powerhouse Kohler

By Judy Harlow

It has new players, but the Kohler High girls tennis team maintains its winning tradition year after year. The Blue Bombers, undefeated in Eastern Wisconsin Conference action, ended Kewaskum's three-match win streak on August 31, beating the host Indians 6-1 with all six victories coming in straight sets.

"Kohler had a young but very talented team," KHS coach Peter Garcia said. "They defeated us pretty convincingly."

KHS' lone winner was Megan Krotski at Number 4 singles and she battled hard to win that win over Taylor Sager. Sager won the first set 7-5, then Krotski dug deep and posted a 6-4 win to pull even with her opponent and would not give up in the third set, outlasting Sager with a 7-5 win.

"She was the brightest start tonight," Garcia said of Krotski. "She and her opponent were still on the courts at 6:40 p.m.," battling it out in the third set.

"The third set is marked by neither player being able to hold serve. Back and forth it goes, Megan ahead by one and can't hold. Kohler ties but can't hold so tied again. Five straight times over 10 games this scenario repeats itself," Garcia said. "In Game 11 Megan holds and then finally breaks in game 12 to win the set and her match 5-7, 6-4, 7-5."

"Grace Marchello continued to show improvement against a strong base line player with a big serve in a losing effort by a 1-6, 2-6 score," the coach said of his Number 1 singles player.

Kohler 6, Kewaskum 1
Singles: Number 1 Grace Marchello lost to Shelby Horth, 1-6, 2-6; Number 2 Emma Preder lost to Erin Pellegrino, 2-6, 3-6; Number 3 Amanda Krotski lost to Stephanie Spieth, 0-6, 0-6; Number 4 Megan Krotski def. Taylor Sager, 5-7, 6-4, 7-5

Doubles: Number 1 Brandi Geldnich/Ariahna Grossenbacher lost to Ava Hoffmann/Elly Udovich, 0-6, 1-6; Number 2 Sydney Donath/Kallie Hoefft lost to Sarah Sobecki/Olivia Gross 6-0, 0-6; Number 3 Nicole Brzozowski/Nikki Bruss lost to Clara Montes/Nadia Wandschnieder, 1-6, 3-6.

All KHS players listed first.

Kewaskum improved to 3-0 in conference play after posting a 5-2 victory over Ripon on August 29. Three of the wins featured comebacks after losing first sets.

At Number 2 singles, Emma Preder lost her first set to Alyssa Schmu, 2-6, then roared back with a pair of 6-4 victories to win her match. Megan Krotski did the same at Number 4 singles.

At Number 2 doubles, Kallie Hoefft and Sydney Donath started slow but eventually won, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0.

No worries at Number 1 doubles where Ariahna Grossenbacher and Brandi Geldnich were in command, winning 6-1, 6-1 over Madison Huseboe and Riley Neper to go 3-0 in the Eastern Wisconsin and 4-0 in all dual meets.

"We're doubles partners not friends,"

Grossenbacher said kiddingly after the win. The two girls have been playing together for three years and are friends in school.

It is obvious they enjoy the game, each other and winning. "Fun, yeah for sure," Geldnich said about the win, praising Grossenbacher. "She's good at her groundstrokes."

"We really both like to play front, but Brandi's there more often," Grossenbacher said. She finished off the win with three aces in the final game.

About the upcoming match against powerhouse Kohler, Geldnich said, "Every time we've faced them, we've lost," but this year could be different because of their improved play. "For sure, we are a lot better," she said.

Kewaskum 5, Ripon 2
Singles: Number 1 Grace Marchello lost to Dayton Coehoom, 0-6, 1-6; Number 2 Emma Preder def. Alyssa Schmu, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4; Number 3 Amanda Krotski def. Olivia Ruter, 6-2, 6-1; Number 1 Megan Krotski lost to Nicole Schmidt, 6-2, 4-6, 5-7

Doubles: Number 1 Ariahna Grossenbacher-Brandi Geldnich def. Madison Huseboe-Riley Neper, 6-1, 6-1; Number 2 Kallie Hoefft-Sydney Donath def. Tamara Holland-Alaina Salas, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0; Number 3 Nicole Brzozowski-Nikki Bruss def. Emma Azinger-Elie Lewis, 4-6, 6-2, 7-6 (0)

THE ULTIMATE PACKER FAN PICKS

Open Season On Seahawks

By Wayne Sargent

Welcome back to football! On Sunday, Sept. 10, the Green Bay Packers will open their 2017 season at home for the first time in five years. They will be host to the 2016 NFC West Division Champions, the Seattle Seahawks.

This will be a battle between two of the top ranked teams in the NFC. This star-studded game, packed with MVPs, promises to be one of the toughest matchups this season for both teams. Each team has been dominant within its divisions lately, as both continued the trend of Division Champions.

The first time these teams met was on October 10, 1976, at the old Milwaukee County Stadium. The Packers won 27-20. Since then, these teams have met 20 times (includes three preseason games), with the Packers leading the series 12-8. The Packers have won the NFC North five times in the last six years, while Seattle has won three times the NFC West.

Back in 2012, the Packers played against the Seahawks and suffered a historic loss. The play, a proven result of a bad call by the "substitute referees," would have been the game winner for the Packers. A "Hail Mary" pass that was clearly caught by Green

Bay's M.D. Jennings credited as a catch was given to Seattle's Golden Tate. Replay clearly showed this call was wrong having been clearly caught by Jennings, but it was not overturned. This led to the officials' holdout ending and will forever be known as the "Fail Mary."

Then in 2014 these teams met again in the NFC Championship game. Top-ranked Seattle held host at CenturyLink Field. An underdog, Green Bay, held a dominating lead throughout the entire game before the Seahawks maliciously had an amazing comeback, beating the Packers in overtime.

That was then, this is now. The Packers 2017 team is talented and poised, and with the leadership of veteran quarterback and MVP Aaron Rodgers, the Packers have the potential to bring another Lombardi Trophy back to Green Bay. If so, this would be the Packers 14th time as World Champions.

Don't take for granted that the Seattle Seahawks will fall, as they also have a veteran quarterback named Russell Wilson. They have plenty of weapons as well, including the Packers' past Offensive Rookie of the Year, Eddie Lacy. The Seahawks picked up Lacy during the off season under the condition that he would lose weight. Lacy, aware of the Packers playbook, poses a direct threat on Sunday. The Seahawks also boast an extremely talented defensive front line along with an above average core of receivers.

The Packers are coming off probably the best draft in recent times. They will showboat the skills of rookie running backs Williams, Mayes and Jones. Together, along with veteran running back Ty Montgomery, they will bring much needed emphasis to the running game, complementing Aaron Rodgers and his star-studded receivers. Also, expect newly acquired tight ends, former New England Patriot Super Bowl Champion Michael Bennett and Wisconsin native and former Wisconsin Badger Lance Kendricks, to put plenty of points on the board.

You can expect a lot of passing on Sunday with the potential of high scores, but I think the Packers defense will generate enough pressure, holding the Seahawks to 17 points while forcing Wilson into some turnovers. Home field advantage against the Seahawks is a plus, as the Hawks don't have the 12th man to count on. Put this in the win column, Packers come out on top at 31-17.

After Two Tough Losses, KHS Soccer Team Powers Past Lomira

By Judy Harlow

During the past week, the Kewaskum High soccer team was in a bit of a tailspin until they entertained Lomira on September 1 when the Indians exploded for four goals in the first half toward an impressive 8-1 win over the Lions.

"We scored three goals in the last five minutes of the first half. The game was pretty well over," KHS coach John Kenworthy said about the effort.

KHS led 4-0 at that point, but Kenworthy wanted no part of trying to embarrass the Lions, so he continued wholesale substituting the rest of the way. He got 21 players in the game, along with two goal keepers. "We're not going to run it up on an opponent. We're not that kind of a team," the coach said.

Leading the offensive charge for KHS was junior Hunter Kuehl, who turned in a three-goal "hart track" and added an assist. Kuehl took six shots in the non-conference test, making 50 percent of them. On the year, he now has 13 points on six goals and the assist.

Others getting in the scoring attack were Will Jens, with one goal and one assist; Hunter Schmidt, one goal; Isaiah Cochran, one goal and one assist; Trevor Geldnich, one goal; and Justin Anderson, one goal.

What set up the offensive surges, according to Kenworthy, was, "Luke Bindrich and Hunter Schmidt were controlling the action," for the Indians.

Starting and playing 64 minutes in goal was Brenden Rice, who turned back all six shots he faced. Kyle Loehr came on in relief and gave up the lone goal.

Once again, seniors Gavin Curtin and Tanner Jacak were "iron men" for the Indians on defense. The two played all 90 minutes. "They both have been playing on a high level," Kenworthy said about his top defenders. "It's nice to have two seniors you can trust back there."

With the win, KHS is 3-4 overall, including a mark of 0-1 in East Central Conference.

On August 29, the Indians opened conference action at Waupun, which is one of the picks to challenge for the EC title this fall. KHS lost the game 9-0 and lost to non-conference Greendale Martin Luther 4-0 the day before.

"Those outings were different," Kenworthy said, reporting against Martin Luther, "We came out without energy," and "We played about as poorly as we could play."

Kenworthy tipped his cap to Waupun, saying, "They're a good team. They're big ... They're fast, and they are well-coached."

The Indians did find their passing game in the second half against the Warriors. "For us to be successful, we have to pass the ball well," the coach said.

The Indians entertain Berlin this afternoon (Thursday, September 7).

Even On Unfamiliar Courses, Golfers Are Lowering Scores

By Judy Harlow

Playing August 29 on the lone and tree-lined Brown Deer Golf Course for the first time was a bit of a challenge for the combined Kewaskum/Campbellsport, but the girls responded with a respectable 203 score. With the 202 at Mee-Kwon a day before, the Indians finished in fifth place using the combined scores from the meets at Brown Deer and Mee-Kwon.

As expected, Homestead, behind the sizzling even par round of 35 by Isabelle Malecki and a 37 from Speedy Kent, won with a 334 total, six shots in front of Cedarburg (340). Next came Hartford at 354, followed by: Whitefish Bay, 392; Kewaskum, 405; the West Bend combined East and West team, 414; Nicolet, 429; and Slinger, a first-year program at 472.

"Grace Kober had the best round of her KHS career today with a 51," coach Amy Uhlig beamed, reporting Kober birdied both par threes on the course and was "very happy about her round. This is where we need her to be ... consistently in the low 50s."

Alyssa Dreher had another very solid round, according to Uhlig, who said, "She also birdied two of the par 3s as well. I thought that was pretty neat for both of them." Dreher shot a 46.

Uhlig said Taylor Cook posted another solid score, a 51, and, "I anticipate she'll crack the 50 barrier very soon."

Hampered by a few bad holes, Alivia Wisniewski came in with a 55, and Uhlig said, "She hung in there and battled through a few tough scenarios on the par fives. She's eager to get back out there for the next conference match."

During the first 9-hole competition, held at the sport Mee-Kwon Golf Course in Mequon, the combined Kewaskum/Campbellsport team finished in a tie with Whitefish Bay at 202 for fourth place as all four counters were at 53 or better, led by senior Wisniewski.

Homestead and Cedarburg tied for first at 173, while Hartford took third place with a 181. Homestead standout Speedy Kent shot an impressive 4-over-par 39.

Wisniewski was very steady, resulting in a round of 48, 13th in the field of 40. Her card included a par 3 on the fifth hole.

Staying away from any big numbers, Cook was next with a 50, and Dreher shot a 51, a little higher than her usual average.

What helped the Indians was the good round by Mandy Goeman, who finished 5, 6, 6 for a 53.

"I was very happy to see the all around team effort," Uhlig said. "Mandy stepped up nicely for us, and Taylor, Alivia and Alyssa continue to be very consistent. I like where we are headed with this squad."

Top Runners Continue To Shine For KHS

By Judy Harlow

The guest list for the annual Kiel Cross Country Invitational was large, including 20 boys teams and 15 girls teams from southeastern Wisconsin, providing the Kewaskum teams with plenty of good competition.

In the boys' race, the Indians made the top 10 in the 20-team field, finishing in eighth place with 208 points. The Lady Indians wound up tenth out of 15 with 233 points.

Valders claimed the team title and did so impressively, scoring 30 points with all five counters among the top ten. The Vikings also had the individual champion, Trevor Wenzel, who turned in a sizzling time of 15 minutes, 55.89 seconds (15:55.89), almost 40 seconds ahead of the runner-up.

Kewaskum's top two runners, senior Justin Reck and sophomore Andrew Carlton, just missed top-10 finishes, ending up 12th and 13th, with respective times of 18:03.20 and 18:13.76, which a new personal record (PR) for the sophomore runner.

Some distance back were Kyle Toth, in 49th place, with a time of 19:52.81 and Blake Miller in 49th with 19:52.81. The final counter was freshman Gannon Kreuser, who had a personal best 21:03.40, good for 80th overall.

On the girls' side of the ledger was Random Lake at the top with 75 points, followed closely by Plymouth, which came in with 81.

Random Lake's Elise Large was the individual winner for the second week in a row. Large's time was 15:28.33, 47 seconds ahead of the runner-up, her sister Kelley Large, who was clocked in 16:15.90.

Maela Olla had a good effort for KHS, finishing in sixth place after touring the 5,000 meters in 16:42.37 while freshman Alyssa Butz placed 23rd with a PR of 17:30.90.

The Indians' other three counters included Emma Penfield, 60th in 19:07.26; Courtney Zarda, 78th in 19:48.35; and Rhea Dricken, who was making her debut and finished 90th in 20:23.15.

Calls made by the Statesman to KHS coach Kris Evans for comments on his teams were not returned.

So It Goes

By Andrew Johnson

Rural Wisconsin is a special place. It is the heartland of America. It is a place many of us call home. Next Monday will mark the 16th year anniversary of the terrorist attacks on our country. These attacks were devastating and significantly changed the way we live. The effects of the attacks touched our community and/or nearby communities in a personal way. The consequences of that day hurt several of our local families including mine. Despite these horrific events, our communities have remained defiantly strong. America has remained strong. It is the land the free and the home of the brave.

Although different, I think it is important to be mindful that the south central part of our country is facing many new challenges right now in the wake of Hurricane Harvey. Death, flooding, and devastation are crippling many communities. Events like this hurricane as well as 9/11 make it clear that we are not fully in control of what happens to us. We do, however, have a choice on how we will respond. I am confident that the people of our country will rise up to meet the challenges of helping rebuild much of the south. I would not be surprised if there will be stories in this paper about things people from our own community are doing to help in this effort.

ANDREA HABERMAN

Honoring Andrea

The right thing to do this week is to honor and remember one very special young lady who gave up her life just because she was an American that just happen to be visiting the World Trade Center on the morning of September 11th, 2001. Her name is Andrea Haberman. She was a graduate of Kewaskum High School as well as St. Norbert's College in De Pere. It is important that Andrea's life is remembered and that her family's story is told and re-told for those who already know it. She was killed when the first plane hit the first tower in New York. The Haberman family is the only family from Wisconsin who lost an immediate member in the World Trade Center in New York. Andrea is our area's direct connection to the events of 9/11. This is why the Kewaskum Memorial is so important to our state.

Response

Our country responded to the events of that fateful day by rightfully declaring war on terrorism. The war has raged on for many years and the cost in resources and lives has been enormous. Our country has no choice but to defend our freedom from those who hate us so much. I lost my own son in a battle he was leading when he and his men were attacked by the enemy in Kandahar Province, Afghanistan. The cost of the 9/11 attacks and the war is very personal to me and my family.

Earlier this year, Gordon Haberman, Andrea's father, and Jerry Gosa asked me to join the Kewaskum Remembers 9/11 board of directors. They felt my experience with the development of the Gold Star Trail in Dodge County (a bike / walking trail honoring Wisconsin fallen military - the first phase will open next summer.) and my ownership of the Kewaskum Statesman would help in the effort to build a memorial in Kewaskum. It took me a few weeks to decide on what to do.

Gordon and I have a very special bond and have become close friends. The bond we share has to do with the love we both have for our children we lost. It is not something I can describe in words. Unlike other people except for Gordon, I knew that when I agreed to help with the 9/11 Memorial I was signing up for for a long time. To me, it was not just another committee, it is part of my life. I believe that things happen for a reason and I have come to believe that there is a reason I am the publisher of these small rural weekly newspapers for this period in time.

I am honored to serve on the 9/11 board. The memorial will be a positive response to something that was meant for evil. I believe that goodness or light will always win over evil or darkness in time.

Gordon and I are very aware of the unshakable pain many other families in our communities have experienced who have lost children as well as faced horrible other circumstances. Gordon and I did not choose to lose children in high profile circumstances. It probably adds to our grief.

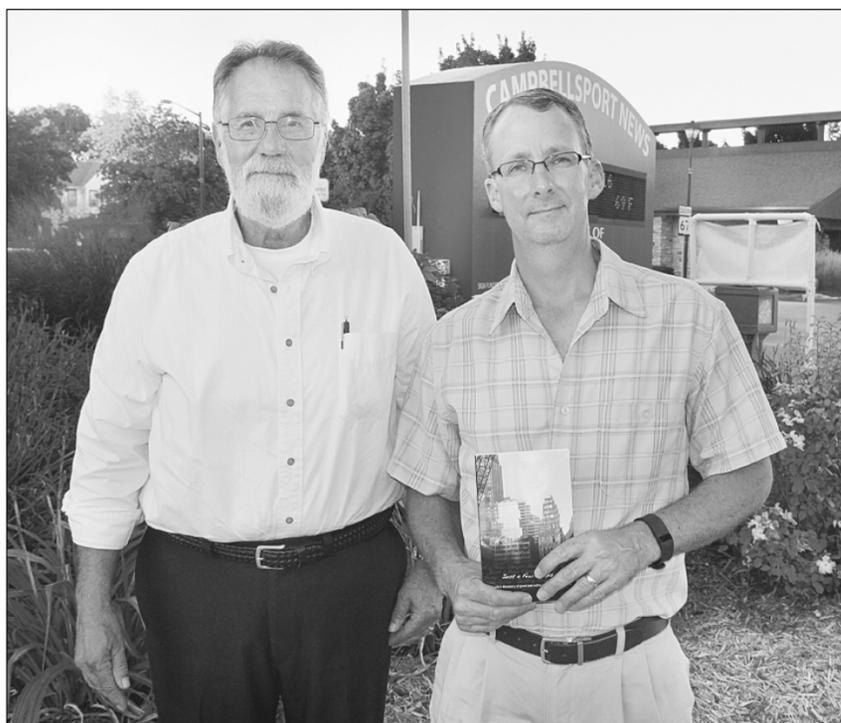

When I was talking to Gordon the other night I reminded him of the paper's deadline for this edition. I told him that it was very important for our readers to see his comments for Patriot Day. I further told him that we must both do everything we can to honor the memory of our children by helping others until our last dying breath. Gordon looked over toward me and slowly nodded his head, acknowledging my comment. He said he would get his column to me which is included in this edition. The words he wrote this year are amazingly insightful.

Updates On The 9/11 Memorial

The process of building the memorial in Kewaskum has been underway for many years. It is not the kind of thing that can just be built in one day. It involves a lot of people, planning, and resources. It is important that it is done right. The 9/11 board has devoted its efforts this year to getting the organization's official not-for-profit status which we received just last week.

We also have been working with the Village of Kewaskum on securing a location for the memorial. We considered many locations but in the end decided, along with village officials that the land in front of the Annex was the best suited for this memorial. The kindness and cooperation of village officials meant a lot in figuring things out.

The Village Board unanimously passed a preliminary agreement for the development of the memorial park at their last meeting. It should be noted that the Village officials view memorial park to encompass the sacrifices of all those serving in public safety service in addition to the sacrifices on 9/11. This may include future fireman, police officers, and military personnel. Hopefully we will not need to honor any other local fallen heroes but a provision has been made if we do.

The 9/11 board is now focussing on getting surveys and specific design plans for the Annex site. Once this is completed, more accurate and up to date cost estimates for construction can be determined. Although fundraising for the project has a good start with much community participation it has a ways to go before construction begins. It is the hope of the board that a few more major donors will step forward to finish the fundraising effort. There have been several in kind and substantial material donations. This project involves hundreds of people and many organizations. It is truly an exciting community effort.

Patriot's Day This Year

The 9/11 board members really did not have time in recent weeks to plan for a special commemorative service for this year's Patriot Day. Gordon and his wife, Kathy, will be going out to New York to participate in the national memorial activities. I was glad to hear that teachers and students from the Kewaskum School district stepped up and organized a ceremony in Kewaskum for next Monday.

Andrea Haberman's name can be seen above as it is listed on the North Memorial Pool of the 9-11 Memorial in New York City. She was one of the nearly 3,000 killed on September 11, 2001. The North Memorial Pool was constructed in the footprint of where the north tower of the World Trade Center once stood, which is the tower Haberman was in on 9-11.

It is good that other state and public officials are coming. The public is invited. I think Kewaskum should be the official site for the state of Wisconsin to commemorate 9/11. Hopefully the weather cooperates and the ceremony can take place on the future site of the Kewaskum Remembers 9/11 Memorial in front of the Annex. Details about the ceremony are available in Anne Trautner's story in this edition as well as online on the Statesman's website and related social media. I look forward to attending this special event.

Community To Observe 9/11

Kewaskum native and KHS graduate Andrea Haberman was among those killed in the World Trade Center.

A steel beam recovered from the North Tower of the World Trade Center is currently located in front of the Kewaskum Annex, and will become the centerpiece for a 9/11 Memorial.

The memorial will serve as a place to honor Haberman and all those who lost their lives in the September 11 terrorist attacks. The memorial will also be an educational center for visitors to remember the events of that fateful day that challenged and changed America. The site will be a place to reflect on the strength, resilience and compassion of American people.

Kewaskum Remembers 9/11, Inc., is in the process of planning the memorial. The organization was recently approved for 501

(c)(3) status as a non-profit foundation, and last week the Kewaskum Village Board unanimously approved a letter of understanding for the group to construct the memorial in front of the Annex.

This year, the site will begin serving its purpose as an educational center when history and government students walk from KHS to the site to attend Monday's ceremony.

A 9/11 Remembrance

Time is persistent in its passage, and propels us forward in a manner which dims in our minds both the happiest as well as our most painful memories.

It is on anniversaries that most of us acknowledge this passage of time by reflecting on those memories. For me, the painful memories are reserved for 9/11/2001.

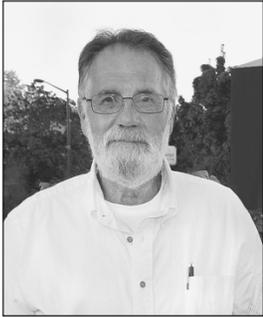

As the 16th anniversary of the murder of my daughter; indeed the murder of so many sons and daughters approaches, I was asked again the other day if I was 'angry' about the atrocity of 9/11. The short answer is yes. However, it is not for me that I am angry.

I am most angry that our daughter Andrea has not been here to experience life, and partake in all of its breadth; both the highs and the lows. Sad is a more descriptive word to explain my thoughts on this anniversary and I know this sentiment is echoed in many households and families throughout this country. The ripple effects of the atrocity of 9/11 have been staggering and has infiltrated into every segment of our society.

For those of us who experienced that day, to a person we are able to recollect exactly where we were and what we were doing as 9/11 was unfolding. As a country, every illusion we had of safety and security was shattered that morning and we have been playing catch up ever since in attempting to regain that sense of wellbeing.

In the aftermath of 9/11, almost 6,500 families have lost sons and daughters in conflicts with a defiant enemy whose beliefs are so divergent from ours that we will never fully understand their vitriolic motivations and hatred of America. Many members of this and the surrounding communities have risked their lives in these conflicts. Sadly, some have died; including 1st Lt. David Johnson, who was killed in Afghanistan on January 25, 2012. David is the son of Andrew Johnson, the owner of this newspaper.

Both Andrew and I know our enemies are angry also, and not yet done in expressing their hatred.

While I remain both angry and saddened by this destruction of families as well as the daily threats to our countries way of life, I reserve and direct my anger towards those who perpetrated the attacks of 9/11. The sadness I feel is much harder to channel. As I reflect on these past 16 years, the loss of my daughter and the events of 9/11 have quite literally dominated my life. To me, 9/11 is like a wall which defies going around; over or under, or turning ones back to. Years ago I realized the only way to deal with 9/11 was to confront it.

I am extremely thankful for, and make a conscious effort to focus on; the positive aspects of what has happened in our lives because of 9/11. It has been a journey, yet these positive memories and associations have been numerous (too many to mention); many times unexpected (as was the case with our two beautiful grandchildren), and are deeply treasured. They have been overwhelmingly restorative in regaining a sense of balance in what I have learned is the very deep water which one is thrust into by the loss of a child.

As result, I have been given a unique perspective on both the crush of loss and also the goodness which can come as a result of loss. More times than not, I now recall these encounters to chase away the sadness. Time, has a way also; of drawing one's thoughts and attention back to positive memories and happier days.

From the 11th of September on, kind and caring arms, starting from within this community, and extending to New York surrounded us in a manner which eased our way. Trust these acts of kindness are remembered and treasured. Our journey would have been much more bitter and angry without this. It is this sense of community and caring and the importance of family which is really the backbone and fabric of our society. And to me defines what being an American is about.

These acts of kindness continue. Just recently in this 16 year journey, I have become part of a local group of fathers who have 'lost' children. Despite widely divergent reasons and time since their child's death, the group provides an open forum to discuss that which is hardest to convey; missing your child.

It is sometimes easier to not visit the happy times however there are lessons we can learn from their much too short lives. I am extremely grateful for the help of these brave fathers. I learn from them and it also gives me both a glimpse to my recent past as well as my future.

My heart breaks for all parents and families affected by the death of a child and I wish you all some sense of peace. As I am aware, it is difficult.

The proposed 9/11 memorial in Kewaskum will serve to educate about and reflect upon not only the infamous day of 9/11, but foremost to convey the importance and meaning behind the heroic acts which occurred that day and in the years after. That is a story of sacrifice.

It is a story of resilience and triumph over tragedy. It is a story of first responders and ordinary people responding to people in need. It is important that young people, none who could have any personal recollection of the events of 9/11; learn not just from the horrific images of the atrocity.

A primary goal of the memorial is to provide a place for children to visit with parents or teachers to reflect on a day in the history of this country. It is a day which should never be forgotten and I am grateful the Village of Kewaskum recognizes the importance of this day. The memorial will stand as a place which celebrates the importance of family and community and honors the truly amazing acts of kindness and goodness the citizens of this country are capable of in the aftermath of a national tragedy.

Thank you!
Gordon, Kathleen and Julie Haberman

NINE ELEVEN TWENTY O ONE

*Who can ere forget the Nine Eleven sight
Of terror on our shores, - the anger and the fright
That touched our hearts, - the monumental blight
Where once had towered twins, - the awful hellish plight
Of those who jumped to death from multi-storied height
To flee the flames? Three thousand names we can recite
Of those who perished on that day. Black and white,
Christian, Moslem, Atheist and Israelite,
Of ev'ry age, the ordinary and the bright,
Their precious lives extinguished as if they were to trite.
New York and Washington had witnessed planes ignite
Their fabled buildings and with heat of thousands fahrenheit, Incinerated all those souls within. And quite
A tale of heroes we recall upon that flight
That over Pennsylvania chose to stand and fight
To keep their plane from crashing where it might Take further lives and wreck another treasured site;
And heroes in their uniforms climbing flight by flight
To save the lives of others, valiant as a knight
In shining armor. And in death they now unite.*

Lord help us hold high our heroes and forgive those who wish us spite.

The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted. Many people fear spiders, but do they warrant this fear? With more than 500 species of spiders calling Wisconsin home, it's time to make peace with these eight-legged wonders. Join Jackie Scharfenberg, Forest Naturalist, as she provides a glimpse into their unique biology and niches they fill in natural communities. She will share tips on how to identify the common spider families and ways to avoid any possible danger they may present.

For further information or directions to the Ice Age Visitor Center, please contact the staff at (920) 533-8322. The Center's hours are Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Governor Proclaims United Way Months As Companies Begin Local Fundraising Campaign

Governor Scott Walker has designated the months of September and October as United Way Months throughout Wisconsin, in recognition of the launch of United Way annual campaigns throughout the state.

United Way fights for the health, education, and financial stability of every person in every community, because we all win when our neighbors have good health, children succeed in school, and families are financially stable.

Each year, United Way of Washington County asks community members and local businesses to supply the resources needed to make lasting change. In 2016, the Washington County community raised more than $1.4 million to support 25 critical programs at United Way's 19 agency partners.

Kevin Steiner, President and CEO of West Bend Mutual Insurance is leading this year's United Way campaign.

"Washington County is a great place to live and work," Steiner said. "But some of our neighbors aren't as fortunate as we are. That's why we all have a responsibility to give back. My goal is to build on United Way's past success and raise even more funds for these important community programs."

This year's campaign is already off to a strong start with a record-breaking 37 local companies taking the lead as Pacesetters. These organizations are energizing the community by getting an early start on raising funds and awareness. United Way of Washington County's 2017 Pacesetters are: Affiliated Clinical Services, Robert W. Baird, Boys & Girls Clubs of Washington County, Cedar Community, City of West Bend, Commerce State Bank, DACO Precision-Tool, Dairyland Seed, Dunn Brothers Coffee, Elevate, Friends, Inc., Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin, Glacier Hills Credit Union, Hartford Union High School, Horicon Bank, Interfaith Caregivers, Kettle Moraine YMCA, Kewaskum School District, Manitou Americas, Maysteel Industries, Moraine Park Technical College, NAMI Washington County, R & R Insurance Services, Richards Insurance, Richfield School District, Russ Darrow Group, Schloemer Law Office, Serigraph, Slinger School District, Spaulding Clinical, Sysco Eastern Wisconsin, United Way of Washington County, University of Wisconsin - Washington County, Washington County, West Bend School District, West Bend Mutual Insurance and WOW Workforce Development.

You can join the uniting force for good. To learn more about United Way's local impact and to make a donation, visit www.UnitedWayOfWashingtonCounty.org. To learn how you can help with the United Way campaign, contact Diana Swillinger, Community Engagement Manager at (262) 338-3821.

BloodCenter Of Wisconsin And Ty Montgomery Team Up To Help Save Lives

– Green Bay Gridiron Star Helps Encourage Blood Donation During Sickle Cell Awareness Month

BloodCenter of Wisconsin, part of Versiti, and Green Bay running back Ty Montgomery are teaming up this September to educate the public about a life-threatening disease during National Sickle Cell Awareness Month.

Ty is working with BloodCenter to help improve the lives of patients suffering from sickle cell disease by building awareness for blood donation. Regular blood transfusions may relieve debilitating pain crises and other complications for patients suffering from sickle cell disease.

Ty was born with sickle cell trait. People with sickle cell trait sometimes feel the symptoms of sickle cell disease, but could possibly pass on the disease to their children. "With the right care, my life is normal on and off the football field. But many patients facing challenges rely on blood donors to receive transfusions to live a happy, healthy life," says Ty.

Sickle cell disease is inherited from both parents and is caused by a blood protein that creates abnormal red blood cells. While normal cells are disc-shaped, abnormal cells are sickle-shaped and carry less oxygen, interrupt healthy blood flow, and lead to tissue and organ damage and potentially premature death.

Blood donations help sickle cell patients like Porscha

"Receiving blood has changed my life," says Porscha. Porscha was diagnosed with sickle cell disease when she was 4 years old. As her disease progressed, her painful episodes became more frequent. "By my 20s, the disease had taken over. I had little hope of living a normal life," says Porscha. At that point, she began receiving blood transfusions every four weeks. "Receiving blood has allowed me to do all of the things most people take for granted," says Porscha.

Ideas For Parents: Easy Things To Help Your Child Succeed – Adult Role Models

Why do some kids grow up with ease while others struggle? Search Institute Researchers identified specific, practical things that can have a tremendous and lasting positive impact on youth. Rather than focusing on the problems, this research concentrates on the Developmental Assets – the positive things (such as parent support and commitment to learning) that help young people thrive. The assets are values, experiences and positive qualities that young people need to help them make wise decisions and choose positive lifestyles. The more assets they have, the better.

Adult Role Models

Youth are more likely to grow up healthy when parent(s) and other adults model positive, responsible behavior.

Help your child find other responsible adults to be part of her or his life. Having other caring adults involved in your child's life provides more role models.

Three Ways To Be An Adult Role Model For Your Child:

- Treat your child with love and respect.
- Model appropriate behavior. When you make mistakes, admit them. Apologize for failures.
- Spend time together -- often. Be involved in your child's life on a daily basis.

Groundwater Coordinating Council Report Highlights Need For Additional Private Well Testing

Since Wisconsin's groundwater resources play a critical role in human health and the economy, it's important that more private well owners test their wells on a regular basis. That's one of the findings in the 2017 annual Groundwater Coordinating Council report.

Nearly three-quarters of Wisconsin residents rely on groundwater as the primary source for their drinking water. "Unlike public water systems, protection and maintenance of private wells is largely the responsibility of homeowners," said Pat Stevens, Environmental Management Division administrator for the Department of Natural Resources and council chairman. "We recommend that private well owners test their water at least once a year for coliform and E. coli bacteria, important indicators of health risk."

In some counties, such as Dane, Portage and Kewaunee, more than 10 percent of private wells, on average, are tested for coliform bacteria each year. However, the state average of private wells tested annually for total coliform bacteria is only about 6 percent.

The Groundwater Council's report also shows some positive movement in nitrate contamination across the state.

"Nitrate is Wisconsin's most widespread groundwater contaminant, and it correlates with the presence of other contaminants," said Bruce Rheineck, DNR Groundwater Section chief. "The report includes a finding that 11 counties - including Polk, La Crosse and Wood - show decreasing nitrate concentrations. The decrease in these counties represents a positive trend."

Rheineck added that ongoing monitoring will be needed to help show how pervasive the trend is and whether beneficial agriculture practices in these counties may be applied in other areas. A home well also should be tested for nitrate at least once a year, and on a regular basis if there is agricultural activity in the area.

The 2017 report notes the steps taken to protect groundwater from contamination and helps the public better understand the sources and distribution of naturally occurring contaminants in groundwater. It also highlights the need for ongoing research into the factors that affect groundwater supplies and helps identify next steps to protect and preserve our valuable groundwater resources.

The Groundwater Coordinating Council was formed in 1984 to help state agencies coordinate activities and exchange information on groundwater. Today, the council and its subcommittees regularly bring together staff from more than 10 different agencies, institutions and organizations to communicate and work together on a variety of research, monitoring, data management, education and planning issues. These activities increase coordination across agency lines to avoid duplication, create efficiencies and benefit Wisconsin's taxpayers.

Proper Tree Planting And Care Is Critical To Survival

By Melinda Myers

Whether planting a tree to add seasonal beauty, grow backyard fruit, provide a bit of shade, or reduce energy costs, it's a big upfront investment. Make the most of your money spent by giving your tree its best chance at survival with proper planting and care.

Now is a great time to plant trees. Cooler air temperatures make it less stressful on newly planted trees and the gardeners planting them.

Select a tree suited to the growing conditions. Make sure it tolerates the sunlight, soil and temperature extremes. Check the tag for the mature height and spread. You'll have a better-looking plant that always fits the space with minimal pruning.

Plant it correctly to insure your tree thrives for many years to come. Dig a saucer shaped hole three to five times wider than the root ball. It should only be as deep as the distance from the root flare to the bottom of the root ball. The root flare, where the roots bend away from the trunk, should always be at or slightly above the soil surface.

Set the tree in the hole, then peel back and cut away any burlap and wire cages. These can eventually constrict root growth. Roughen the sides of the hole and backfill with the existing soil. Water thoroughly to moisten the roots and surrounding soil.

Continue to water thoroughly whenever the top few inches of soil are crumbly and moist. Proper watering, especially during the first two years, is critical for establishing trees. Watering thoroughly as needed encourages deep roots and a more drought tolerant and pest resistant tree.

Make the job easier with a watering aid like GreenWell water saver (greenwellwatersavers.com). This contains and concentrates the water where it is needed, acting as an insurance policy for your tree during the critical root establishment phase. It also holds the mulch in place and prevents weed whips and mowers from damaging your tree.

Be sure to mulch the soil surface with a two- to three-inch layer of wood chips or shredded bark to conserve water, suppress weeds and improve the soil as it decomposes. Pull the mulch back from the trunk of the tree to avoid disease problems.

Remove any tags that can eventually girdle the tree and prune out any broken or rubbing branches. Wait a year to fertilize and two years, once the tree is established, for additional pruning.

Continue providing tender loving care for at least the first two years. Make regular checkups, prune to create a strong structure, and keep grass, weeds and lawn care equipment away from the trunk throughout the lifetime of your tree. Your efforts will be rewarded with years of beauty, shade, and for some bushels of fresh fruit.
