School Board Approves 2017-18 Budget

By Anne Trautner

The Kewaskum School Board approved the 2017-18 budget of $42,759,422 last Monday, Oct. 30.

With the new budget, the school board approved a combined tax levy of $11,578,985. That is a 3.94 percent increase in the tax levy.

However, property value in the district is going up 5.1 percent, and that means that people may not see an increase in school taxes, according to Superintendent James Smasal. The total mill rate is going down from $9.09 to $8.99.

"This is really good news. Some people's taxes could actually go down, even after passing a referendum," Smasal said.

Each person's taxes will depend on the municipality in which they live. The school district is made up of nine different municipalities.

"It's all going to be different, based on where you live and whether your property value went up or down in your area, not necessarily in your specific house, but in your area. That is all going to determine what your actual taxes are going to be," Smasal said.

Library Board To Stay Status Quo

By Anne Trautner

The Kewaskum Village Board met Monday night, but there was no discussion about removing Connie Zemlicka from the Library Board.

"After considering the library director's support in the Kewaskum Statesman and Trustee Spenner's recent recommendation, I have decided to withdraw the Village Board review of the library appointment as an agenda item," Village President Kevin Scheunemann said before the meeting.

Village Trustee Dave

Spenner had requested that Zemlicka be removed from the agenda.

"It is in the best interest of the village to proceed as we are," Spenner said on Monday.

Library Director Emily Goad stated in the October 19 issue of the Kewaskum Statesman that Zemlicka was an integral part of the Library Board and that she felt Zemlicka should retain her position on the Library Board.

There are no plans to place Zemlicka on a future Village Board agenda.

The issue was raised last month when Scheunemann requested Zemlicka's resignation from the Library Board. Zemlicka refused, and the plan was to place her on a Village Board meeting agenda so she could present her case before village trustees.

Scheunemann also had requested that Kewaskum Library Board President Margaret "Mugs"

McFadden resign from the Library Board. She complied and signed a resignation letter on October 3.

Scheunemann appointed Juli Hesse as McFadden's replacement on the Kewaskum Library Board on Monday, Oct. 16.

In Wisconsin, a village president can remove anyone from the library board and does not need to give a reason. A village president also has the authority to appoint members to the municipal library board, with approval from the Village Board.

Scheunemann said last month that there had been concerns that both McFadden and Zemlicka served on both the Library Board and the Library Foundation, which presented a potential conflict of interest. The village attorney had advised that no more than one should serve on both the Library Board and the Library Foundation.

Transplant Gets To the Heart Of The Matter

By Anne Trautner

When she was 20, Kristin Marx started feeling run down and out of breath.

"I just knew something wasn't right," Marx said.

A student at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee at the time, Marx had always been in good health. But she found herself going to Urgent Care many, many times over the course of two to three weeks.

"Even opening the car door was hard because I was so weak," said Marx, who grew up in Menomonee Falls.

No one knew what was wrong. Different diagnoses were thrown out, such as walking pneumonia, bronchitis and asthma. Finally, Marx had a chest X-ray done, and she was told that she had an enlarged heart.

She was referred to a cardiologist and was diagnosed with cardiomyopathy on April 27, 2000. That night, she was admitted into the hospital.

"That was the first time in my 20 years I had been hospitalized for anything. I never even had stitches as a kid, so it was kind of shocking," Marx said.

She spent most of the remainder of the year in the hospital.

After undergoing a heart transplant nearly 17 years ago, Kristin Marx is enjoying life to the fullest with her husband, Josh, and their dog, Rocko. Kristin was recently featured on ABC World News Tonight with David Muir.

High School Students Offer Raking Services

Although the fall leaves are beautiful on the trees, they can leave a real mess in your yard. The Kewaskum High School Key Club would like to help area senior citizens with this problem by offering free leaf raking Sunday, Nov. 19.

"It's great for the club members and the community. The kids get outside and active and seniors in our community get extra help. It's a win/win," said Stacy La Ronge, Key Club advisor.

Students will arrive between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. with rakes in hand to collect and remove the leaves. Any senior living within the village of Kewaskum can request their yard raked by calling (262) 626-3105 ext. 4250.

So It Goes: Veterans Day 2017

By Andrew Johnson
Publisher and Gold Star
dad

Veterans Day is this coming Saturday. It is a special day that recognizes all military veterans of the United States from all wars. These are the heroes who fought to make us free and to keep us free. Many of them live among us.

This is a day we can show our appreciation to them by going to a Veterans Day service at a school or perhaps just "thanking" one of them with an email, text, phone call or a personal visit. It is a day to reflect upon our service members and all they have done for us. Many of them are our neighbors or even family members or people we see regularly in the community.

We are very sheltered here in southern Wisconsin but the world outside our country can be cold and mean. It is our military that separates us and keeps us safe from much of the world. In recent years, our enemies also have come within our borders and caused many worthless and stupid acts of terror against ordinary and innocent citizens. Our military along with other law enforcement personnel are also called to protect us from such enemies. It is important to know that our military prevents many attacks both within our borders and beyond. They work 24 hours a day, seven days a week to protect us. Our military and those who serve are awesome!

I want to extend a very warm thank you to our veterans. Thank you. We remember you and honor you this coming Saturday.

New This Year

Our newspapers way of honoring veterans is to publish the photos of local veterans. This year we added many photos and added several pages. I want to recognize the many local businesses and organizations who were page sponsors of these special pages. It is a way they also honor our veterans. Thank you.

New this year is "special deals" or gifts listed in this week's edition that are for veterans on Veterans Day this coming Saturday.

Also starting this year, our newspaper will give any active deployed military veteran from this community an e-subscription (exact digital replica of the printed paper) to this newspaper. We hope they can get some comfort when they read about things going on at home.

This is also a good time to remind our readers to give us addresses of local active military for us to publish on a regular basis. The only way we get such addresses is from people who give them to us. This is especially important near the holidays so people in the community can send cards and packages.

There is nothing like getting something from your hometown during the holidays for a person serving in the military. Please forward address to our office by email to frontdesk@kstatesman.com or by dropping them off or by mailing them to 1032 Fiond du Lac Ave, Kewaskum, WI 53040-9583.

Every Veteran Is Important

A wife of a veteran was visiting our office a few weeks ago and mentioned to me that she asked her husband, a veteran, to submit a photo to the paper for the Veterans Day section. He told his wife that he did not feel worthy since he was not a combat veteran. I assured her that every veteran is important and to please let her husband know that we at the paper and the community want to honor him.

About three years ago at the Memorial Day service at Arlington National Cemetery, I vividly remember President Obama telling those present that currently only about 10 percent of veterans serving actually see combat. He also said that today only about one percent of the population really knows an actively deployed service member.

The point is that every veteran is important whether they served in the past or are currently serving. The 10 percent of service members fighting on the battle field could not do their job unless they have the support of the 90 percent of service members in support roles. It takes an entire military force to defeat and defend against our enemies. It is my hope that every local veteran or families or friends of local veterans would be honored in this paper with a photo.

History Brief

The history of Veterans Day goes back to World War I. This war officially ended when the Treaty of Versailles was signed near Versailles, France on June 28, 1919. However, there was a temporary cease fire or armistice signed between Germany and Allied nations that was signed earlier that went into effect on the eleventh hour on the eleventh day of the eleventh month. This date is generally known as "the war to end all wars."

President Wilson proclaimed November 11, 1919, as the first commemoration of Armistice Day. Congress of the United States officially recognized the end of World War I with a resolution dated June 4, 1926. It states that "whereas the legislatures of twenty-seven of our States have already declared November 11 to be a legal holiday: Therefore be it Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring) that the President of the United States is requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the officials to display the flag of the United States on all Government buildings on November 11 and inviting the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, or other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies of friendly relations with all other peoples."

On May 13, 1938, Congress enacted that the 11th of each November be a legal holiday dedicated to the cause of peace and be known as "Armistice Day." This on June 1, 1954, after the United States fought in World War II and Korea, Congress changed the 1938 law by stringing out the word "Armistice" and inserting the word "Veterans." It is a day meant to honor American Veterans of all wars.

WASHINGTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S REPORT

Missing Juvenile Case

This year the Sheriff's Office started an Unmanned Aerial System Program to assist public safety agencies with an economical aerial support platform. The UAS program strictly adheres to state and federal regulations and can be used for a variety of different incidents including: In-progress calls involving a threat to the safety of any person; search and rescue incidents; searches for fleeing criminal suspects; requests to support other agencies; accident reconstruction; and evidentiary photo/video flights.

On November 2 at 7:30 p.m. the Washington County Sheriff's Office responded to a family trouble call where a young juvenile left her residence on foot and was not dressed appropriately for the mid-30 temperatures. Concerned for her welfare, deputies requested the UAS respond to the scene.

As the UAS was searching the aerial grid around the heavily wooded home, Washington County Sheriff

Dale K. Schmidt located the missing juvenile walking on a nearby roadway. The Sheriff was on his way home from the Washington County Board meeting and responded to the area after hearing the call.

The youth was turned back over to family members by the Sheriff about 1.5 hours after she ran away.

Although the sheriff personally located the juvenile, when asked about it he replied, "This type of call is precisely why the UAS program is important to Washington County residents."

He was also confident the UAS pilot would have located the missing juvenile in his absence.

Wisconsin Patriot Established Veterans Day

— World War I Veteran Made Serving Other Veterans His Lifelong Mission

In 1915, Harvey Higley graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Just two years later, the life of this Marinette County native changed forever when the United States declared war on Germany, entering into World War I.

Higley, a chemical engineer, walked out of private employment and entered service in the greatest conflict the world had known. He served in France, and for the rest of his life, one of his greatest concerns was caring for his fellow veterans. He served as secretary of veterans affairs under President Dwight Eisenhower, and among Higley's lasting achievements was establishing Veterans Day as a national holiday.

His story — and profiles of many other UW-Madison alumni who have changed the world — are featured in Thank You, 72: a salute to outstanding Badgers from every one of Wisconsin's 72 counties. See all of their stories at allwaysforward.org/wi/.

Higley believed that the nation owed its veterans for their sacrifice. "The contract between the government and those men — it has to be paid," he said. Higley came home to Wisconsin after the Great War and worked at Ansul Chemical, a Marinette firm that manufactures fire extinguishers. He served as the company's president from 1938 to 1948.

A lifelong Republican, Higley rose to national prominence with Eisenhower's election as president in 1952. From 1953 to 1957, Higley served in the cabinet, guiding policy during the period when the country had more veterans than at any other time: after both World War II and the Korean War. Higley considered it his mission to protect the rights of those veterans — for their good and for the good of America. He was especially determined to see that they received benefits in education.

"The GI Bill has been of inestimable value to a very large number of veterans," he said, "and this country has gained materially due to the GI Bill of Rights."

Eisenhower was impressed with Higley's efforts to stand up for the rights of African American veterans. "I greatly appreciate your report on the success of the Veterans Administration program to eliminate segregation in all VA hospitals and domiciliaries," he wrote to Higley. "You and all who cooperated with you in this program are to be highly commended."

In 1954, Higley helped to lead the charge to create a national holiday to honor all veterans. Working with Congressman Ed Rees of Kansas, he worked to pass a bill that changed the name of Armistice Day — which celebrated the end of World War I — to Veterans Day, a "day dedicated to the cause of world peace."

Benefit To Be Held For Gail Kougl

— Vendor And Bake Sale Planned For Sunday At the Amerahn

Gail (Butzke) Kougl was diagnosed with Peritoneal Carcinoma in June 2012 at the age of 47. She tested positive for the BRCA gene-which gives an increased chance of breast or ovarian cancer. She has struggled with treatments on and off ever since the diagnosis.

In September, while on a cancer pill, she felt weak and was rushed to the hospital. After numerous tests, she was told the cancer has spread throughout her body.

Kougl grew up in Campbellsport, living with her parents and three sisters. She graduated from Campbellsport High School in 1982.

Charles Krueger, 39, of the Town of West Bend, steam shovel operator for Jaeger Bros. Inc., West Bend-Barton construction company, was caught in a slide of sand and gravel and buried alive under from five to seven feet of the material at about 4 p.m. Monday afternoon. The fatal accident occurred at the Jos. Batlzer gravel pit located a half mile south of Highway 28 and about a mile south of St. Kilian. Krueger was operating his steam shovel when he alighted from the shovel to loosen more sand and gravel with a crow bar on a slope of the pit. He lost his balance and sand, tons of which caved in, buried him. Fellow workmen and other rescue workers dug for 25 minutes removing the gravel before they found Krueger's body and removed it. Weekly HEALTH TIP

CYCLING CUTS CANCER RISK

Several previous studies have reported associations between cycling and lower heart disease risk. New research confirms this and also suggests cycling may also lower the risk of cancer. The study tracked data on 264,000 people regarding their commute to work, following them for five years. Researchers found that those who cycled to work had a 45% lower risk of cancer and a 46% reduced risk of heart disease compared to those with a "nonactive commute." Walking to work was also linked to lower risk of heart disease but not cancer. Walkers typically commuted 6 miles per week, whereas cyclists averaged 30 miles.

High-Tech Small Businesses Could Receive Up To $75,000 From SBIR Advance Matching Grant

UW-Extension's Center for Technology Commercialization (CTC) is offering a matching grant of up to $75,000 to provide additional assistance to companies in the process of completing a project in the federal Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) or Small Business Technology Transfer (STTR) programs.

This is the tenth round of SBIR Advance funding dedicated by the Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation (WEDC) since SBIR Advance began in 2014.

"These funds continue to help SBIR companies do critical business-related activities that accelerate their commercialization and ultimately benefit the Wisconsin economy," said Dr. Todd Strother, CTC Senior Technology Consultant and SBIR Advance Program Manager.

Deadlines are quickly approaching:

- Noon on Jan. 4, 2018: Brief Intent to Apply due - link found at www.wisconsinsbir.org/content/sbir-advance-matching-grant
- Noon on Jan. 11, 2018: Full application due, link found at www.wisconsinsbir.org/content/sbir-advance-matching-grant

To be eligible, companies must have an SBIR/STTR project in either Phase I or Phase II of funding. All companies must be located in Wisconsin to be considered for the grant. Funds can be used for business and market development, customer validation, intellectual property work or other areas needed to speed product commercialization.

Applicants should also note these important dates:

- Jan. 25, 2018: Companies chosen for funding will be notified by this time.

- Feb. 15, 2018: Phase I Match awardees must be prepared to start the Lean Startup Program. The course runs through May 10 and is administered by the CTC. It teaches companies how to incorporate their technologies into a validated business model and defines the best possible target markets.

For more details on the SBIR Advance program, visit www.wisconsinsbir.org/content/sbir-advance-matching-grant or contact Strother at todd.strother@uwex.edu.

SBIR Advance is part of a Start-Seed-Scale (S3) initiative WEDC is pursuing with the help of the UW System and other business leaders throughout the state to remove barriers to high-tech commercialization. Under the S3 umbrella, WEDC and its economic development partners are implementing financial and operational assistance programs designed specifically to address Wisconsin's business startup and seed-funding challenges. One such initiative — also a collaborative effort between WEDC and the UW System — is the Ieadvance Seed Fund, also managed by UW-Extension's CTC. Selected SBIR Advance participants undergo Ieadvance Lean Startup training that is modified to assist with their SBIR Phase II applications.

The Center for Technology Commercialization is a unit in the University of Wisconsin-Extension's Division for Business and Entrepreneurship. CTC provides one-on-one expert consulting to early-stage emerging technology businesses throughout Wisconsin. CTC has collaborated in acquiring more than $100 million in federal and other funding for clients. Learn more at www.wisconsinsbir.org; follow @WisconsinCTC on Twitter.

The Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation (WEDC) leads economic development efforts for the state by advancing and maximizing opportunities in Wisconsin for businesses, communities and people to thrive in a globally competitive environment. CAMPUS NEWS

—Simon McGhee from West Bend, who is studying history at the University of Wisconsin - Whitewater, is helping to stage regional performances of "The Emperor's New Clothes."

The play is a rich tale of cunning and cleverness, overflowing with classic slapstick comedy that's fun for the whole family. Six students will be a part of the performances, and three students serve in crew roles.

McGhee plays the role of Narrator.

"As my inaugural production here at UW-Whitewater, I'm very happy to have the opportunity to work with such a promising group of talented students," said director Bruce Cohen, assistant professor of theatre.

"The source material is timeless; the moral overweening pride and its tendency to blind us to the world around us speaks to all ages, and this adaptation infuses plenty of humor, physical comedy, and big characters that will appeal to all audiences."

The UW-Whitewater Theatre/Dance Department presented "The Emperor's New Clothes" in the Barnett Theatre on Saturday, Oct. 28, and began a week-long tour around the region with two additional performances.

—Andrew Ries, son of Daniel and Ruth Ries of Kewaskum is enrolled at Saint John's University for the 2017-2018 academic year.

There have been at least three people serving on both the Library Board and the Library Foundation Board since the Kewaskum Public Library Foundation, Inc. was formed in 2013.

Zemlicka, who is treasurer for the Library Board, has been on the Library Board for at least 15 years.

McFadden served on the Kewaskum Library Board for 21 years. Since she is no longer on the Kewaskum Library Board, she had to relinquish her position on the county library board. She had been on the Washington County Library Board for the past four years. She continues serving on the Monarch Library System Board.

"On behalf of the Village Board and the village president, we are very happy to have had the services of both Margaret McFadden and Connie as well, as well as the other board members," Spenner said.

"There are some opportunities for some new fresh views on the board, but that's not a negative comment against any of those individuals that are on the library board," he added.

Early deadline for the November 23rd paper is Friday, Nov. 17 at 2 p.m.

The News Office will be closed on Nov. 23 & 24.

Kewaskum School Board Approves 2017-18 Budget

Last November, voters passed a $28.42 million referendum to improve the middle school and high school facilities. At that time, it was predicted that taxpayers would pay 19 cents more on every $1,000 worth of property value.

However, the actual increase is markedly less than that. The referendum is costing taxpayers 7.4 cents on every $1,000 worth of property.

That means that for a $200,000 home, it will cost a homeowner an additional $15 a year to cover the school district's capital project.

The board approved a preliminary budget in July, but the final budget cannot be approved until after the school year has begun.

"We have to wait for membership count so we can get our final revenue calculation," said Julie Thoreson, business manager for the school district.

The membership count that is used in the formula is a three-year rolling average.

This year's membership count was 1,852, and the three-year rolling average was 1,865. That is the number that is used to determine the state aid.

The district received an enrollment adjustment from the state because it had declining enrollment.

The budget does not include any funds for improvements to athletic fields.

In October, the School

Board approved spending $1.4 million on upgrades to the Doc Mitchell Athletic Complex. The project will include putting artificial turf on the football field, resurfacing the track and adding bleachers.

The board plans to use reserve funds and can borrow up to $1 million to cover the cost of upgrading the athletic complex.

The board has also discussed spending up to $600,000 on improving its baseball field. The district is also looking at ways to improve the softball diamond that is located near Kewaskum Elementary School. None of those projects are included in the budget.

Sisters Bridget and Brittany Moll hold their newborns, Shalyn Fay and Noah Lee, who were born within 18 hours of each other.

Sisters Give Birth Within A Day Off Each Other

Sisters Bridget Grover, of Mayville, and Brittany Moll, of West Bend, have shared many experiences over the course of their lifetimes. Now they can add giving birth to that list, as each recently gave birth within 18 hours of each other at Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin St. Joseph's Hospital, West Bend. Despite the proximity in birth times, the cousins share neither the same birthday nor even the same birth month.

Bridget (husband James) was due Nov. 7, but Shalyn Fay arrived Oct. 31 at 10:32 p.m., weighing 6 pounds, 12 oz.

Brittany (husband Jeremiah) was due Nov. 3, and Noah Lee was born Nov. 1 at 4:26 p.m., weighing 8 pounds even.

Although Brittany was the first to learn she was pregnant, she didn't share her news immediately with Bridget when Bridget announced she was pregnant after eight years of waiting for a baby. "I was ecstatic for her," Brittany said of Bridget. Noah is the third child for Brittany and Jeremiah.

Bridget also went into labor first, followed shortly thereafter by Brittany. In fact, Brittany even visited Bridget, James and Shalyn in Bridget's room while in labor with Noah, taking advantage of the opportunity to hold Shalyn before giving birth herself.

Both sisters look forward to sharing their babies' milestones together as they grow up.

Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin St. Joseph's Hospital, founded in 1930 by local doctors, community leaders and the Sisters of the Divine Savior, is a full-service hospital serving residents of West Bend and Washington County. St. Joseph's Hospital specializes in women's health and birthing services, cancer care, surgical procedures and rehabilitation services. It's part of the Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin health care network, which includes four community hospital campuses, more than 1,600 physicians and nearly 40 health centers and clinics, drawing patients from throughout the Midwest and the nation.

UW-Washington County Holds Fall Preview Day

The University of Wisconsin-Washington County will host a fall Preview Day for prospective students and their families Friday, Nov. 17, at 2 p.m. in Room 228 in the main building. The event is free and open to the public.

This campus preview will feature information on admissions, degrees and the financial aid process. Attendees will also have the chance to tour campus and hear from current students, faculty and staff.

"We're excited to show prospective students and the community all the opportunities their local University of Wisconsin campus has to offer. We invite you to learn about our high-quality UW education, exceptional faculty and staff and discover all the ways you can get involved on campus," said Courtney O'Connell, associate dean for student affairs and enrollment management.

During campus visits, participants will be able to view labs and classrooms, athletic facilities, student common spaces and music, theatre and arts areas. Advisors will be available to discuss campus life and academic planning, including UW-Washington County's associate degree options and the Guaranteed Transfer Program with every four-year UW campus.

Attendees are encouraged to register prior to the event. Visit uwc.edu/campus-preview for additional dates, details and to RSVP, or call 888-INFO-UWC.

UW-WC is located at 400 S. University Drive in West Bend. Students can earn an Associate of Arts and Science degree, the foundation for many college majors and bachelor's degrees. All credits transfer to any four-year University of Wisconsin campus.

Indians Take Top Honors, Land 15 Players On The First And Second All Conference Football Teams

By Judy Harlow

The sting of the early exit from the D-3 playoffs might have been eased with the recent announcement of the East Central All Conference Football Team, with Kewaskum garnering four spots on the first-team offense and three on the defense, along with eight second-team picks.

"We did well. We were pleased with the recognition we got," said KHS coach Jason Piittmann, who automatically was named as the league's Coach of the Year by virtue of the Indians winning the championship.

Leading the way for the Indians, 7-0 in the EC and 10-1 overall, was six foot-two inch, 295-pound senior tackle, Riley Donovan, a unanimous pick for the first-team offense and defense, and also named as the Offensive and Defensive Lineman of the Year, two of the eight extra awards in addition to the position awards.

"He obviously got a lot of respect from the coaches for his physical play," Piittmann said of the jumbo lineman, who protected the team's two quarterbacks in the pocket and opened holes for the electrifying Tony Steger, who was a unanimous first team pick as "athlete/utility player."

"He knew the blocking schemes and made all the calls," the coach went on, indicating defensively Donovan drew a lot of double teams and still was "gumming up" opponents' running plays.

All this while Donovan missed playing in the first conference game because of an undisclosed suspension.

Tackling Steger was like trying to catch lightning in a bottle. The 180-pound speedster was elusive and he ran with power as the team's read option quarterback. He rushed for 814 yards and 14 touchdowns, passed for 636 yards and three touchdowns, while catching seven passes for 230 yards and three touchdowns.

"It was kind of a forgone conclusion he was going to be the (Offensive) Player of the Year," Piittmann said of Steger, reporting the other coaches didn't nominate anyone else so he was a unanimous pick.

"For his career, he ended up a thousand, thousand, thousand (yards) for rushing, passing and catching," Piittmann said of Steger, adding this isn't a typical trifecta for a football player.

The other first team honorees were senior Cade Peterson, the unanimous choice for kicker and junior lineman John Leister. Peterson successfully connected on all four of his field goal tries and was 23 of 24 in PATs (points after touchdowns) in league play.

"And that one hit the upright," Piittmann said about the miss by his three-year starting kicker. "He's just so consistent," and he kept opponents punt return teams on their toes because he was always a threat to run.

Leister, a two-year starter in the line, was another reason for Kewaskum's great success on the ground.

"On offense, he and Riley were a great combo," Piittmann said of Leister, who at 280 pounds could and did push defenders around. "He definitely played well on both sides of the ball."

The 13-player first team defense included Donovan in the interior, Patrick Krier as a linebacker and Dan Kreis as defensive back. Donovan and Kreis were unanimous picks.

Krier, the second lead tackler for the Indians, was a force in the middle, coming up with 47 tackles, including 16 solos, two quarterback sacks and five tackles for losses.

"Just a very instinctive player," Piittmann said of Krier, who "knew exactly what to do" when defensive adjustments were needed and "was all over the place on the field."

Kreis, a three-year varsity starter, came up with 19 total tackles, including 13 solos. He had three tackles for losses and one interception.

"I didn't know how he would fare in the voting," Piittmann said of Kreis, who didn't have many interceptions but "was a solid tackler in the open field" and knocked away a lot of pass tries.

Second-team picks for Kewaskum included: offensive receiver Cole Surprenant, junior lineman Colton Miller, Krier at full-back; Leister and Shawn O'Keefe in the defensive line; Faton Elmazi at line-backer; Gabe Christenson as a defensive back and Peterson as the punter.

Surprenant didn't catch a lot of passes but when he did, he was dangerous. He was Kewaskum's big-play threat. He caught six balls for 200 yards (33.3 yards per catch) and two touchdowns.

O'Keefe and Elmazi were number three and four in tackling with 41 and 36 tackles, respectively. O'Keefe had one fumble recovery and two tackles for losses, while Elmazi had eight tackles for losses.

Christenson missed one game because of an injury, but in the six games he played in had 21 total tackles, including four solos and two for losses.

Peterson averaged 32.7 yards on his 13 punts and put two of them inside the 20-yard line.

Additional starters were given honorable mention, including Elmazi at full-back/tight end, junior Eli Bartelt at linebacker and Tyler Degnitz at defensive back.

The EC also honored the following players with special designations: Offensive Back of the Year — Derek Novotny of Plymouth; Receiver of the Year, Marshall Scheider, Winneconne; Offensive Lineman of the Year — Donovan; Defensive Lineman of the Year — Donovan; Co-linebackers of the Year — Mackade Mella, Plymouth and Krier; Defensive Back of the Year — Chris Werch, Berlin; Offensive Player of the Year — Steger; and Co-Defensive Players of the Year — Mella and Krier.

Big Three, Including Kewaskum, Dominates In Volleyball Selections

By Judy Harlow

There was a good reason the Kettle Moraine Lutheran, Plymouth and Kewaskum teams finished 1-2-3 respectively in the East Central volleyball standings this fall. They all had some very good players.

The champion KML team placed three girls on the first team and another two on the second in the all-conference balloting that took place recently, while Plymouth landed two on the first team, one on the second and one who received honorable mention.

Kewaskum, which made a big jump from seventh place in 2016 to third this fall, was represented by six-foot senior middle blocker/outside hitter Elizabeth Lightner on the first team, along with senior setter/middle blocker Sarah Butschlick and senior outside hitter Amanda Schaller on the second. Also, sophomore Brelynn Scoles received honorable mention.

"It wasn't an ideal senior year for Lightner, as she had to sit through the first third of our season with an illness," Leitzke said. "However, when she came back to the team, she brought her hard-working attitude and desire to win with her. She did a great job for us in the middle all year and was a very good senior leader."

Leitzke reported Lightner hit .359 on the season and had a kill percentage of 52, "which means that every other time she was set the ball, she scored a point for us."

Schaller was our offensive go to girl," Leitzke said, reporting the five foot-11 inch senior "had to do a lot for us and sometimes in less-than-ideal situations."

"Schaller led the team in kills with 255 and finished with a career 590 kills. Leitzke said in her three years on the varsity, Schaller was "impactful outside and was able to deal with the pressure and flourish."

Leitzke had high praise for Butschlick, saying, "Starting the year as the setter and then switching to middle while Lightner was out before switching back to setter, she was irreplaceable on this team."

What the KHS coach liked best about the five foot-10 inch Butschlick was, "She was mentally tough through it all." Butschlick had 455 assists on the season along with her 115 kills. Her teammates recognize her importance and voted her as co-captain as well as team MVP.

Scoles was relied on more as a sophomore than she was a year ago, "She was able to finish second on the team in kills and in digs and led the team in aces. As an undersized outside, she remained steady and strong in a tough conference," the coach said.

Three KHS Soccer Players Are Cited In EC Voting

By Judy Harlow

Understandably, Plymouth, and Kettle Moraine Lutheran, the number one and two teams in the final standings, dominated the balloting for the All-East Central boys soccer team, but the conference coaches did appreciate the efforts of three Kewaskum players — junior Matt Krautkramer and seniors, Gavin Curtain and Tanner Jacak.

Krautkramer was selected to the second team offense, while Curtain and Jacak received honorable mention for their play on defense, and KHS coach John Kenworthy had praise for all three players.

"It's interesting because he actually plays defensive mid," Kenworthy said about Krautkramer, who has been on the varsity team since his freshman year. "He always moves up with the ball very well, is a good dribbler and passer and has a good presence on the field." Krautkramer produced several goals at the end of the year, including two against Campbellsport on October 12. He ended up with 12 points on five goals and two assists.

"Those guys (EC coaches) appreciated what he could do. They had a lot of respect for him," the coach said.

About Curtain, a three-year varsity starter, Kenworthy said, "Obviously he's a great defender," and added, "He's also good at turning it around and helping the offense go on the attack."

The coach also praised Curtain for being "a good role model" and "a natural leader." This latter fact was backed up when the team voted him as best teammate. Curtain did score one goal on a long kick in the first 3-1 victory over Campbellsport.

"Tanner is one of our best communicators on the field ... He always says what I was thinking," Kenworthy said of the two-year varsity starter. He pointed out how one coach said Jacak was "always in the way," cutting off the offensive players' angles.

"He was very consistent clearing the ball away," Kenworthy said, reporting Jacak was voted as the team's top defensive players.

KHS finished seventh (2-7-1) in the EC and 8-14-3 overall, with the eight wins and three ties which equate to 9.5 wins, the most ever in the program.

THE ULTIMATE PACKER FAN PICKS

Bear'y Alive

The Green Bay Packers (4-4) were under attack by the Detroit Lions (4-4) this past Monday night only to win like a potential Super Bowl Contender at Lambeau Field.

The Lions came into Lambeau Field with a potentially do or die situation. A loss would mean a struggle to earn, at most, a spot in the playoffs. Prior to Monday they had only won one game in the past 21 outings at Lambeau Field. That stat began to change quickly as they scored on their first drive of the game and never looked back.

The Lions, boasting the highest paid player in the NFL, quarterback Matt Stafford played like an MVP. He threw for an impressive 26/33 passes for 361 yards. The running game struggled a bit rushing 33 times for 63 yards.

Packers quarterback Brett Hundley had problems of his own tossing 26/38 passes for 245 yards. The Packers rushed on 17 plays for 78 total yards.

The Lions dominated possession with 36:55 - 23:05.

Surprising to me after having nearly two weeks off to study for the Lions game, I'm very disappointed in our team's performance. There are several factors attributing to the poor performance and I'm not talking about injury.

Let's start with Head Coach Mike McCarthy. MM has had two MVP quarterbacks under his tenure as head coach. He's only had one Super Bowl win with Aaron Rodgers. Although he claims to be one of the top NFL coaches in the league, I wonder if it's his coaching or has he been riding on the coat tails of Favre and Rodgers? Now we have the same coach, without an MVP quarterback. That makes me wonder, and well you decide. I've been questioning his predictable play calling since 2011 and I'll continue to do so.

Then there's Dom Capers, the Defensive Coordinator of 11+ years. Yes, defense wins games, we've all said it. So, who's to blame for that? Many have called him on the carpet for years and nothing has changed. Are the players to blame or is it time for fresh coaching, new plays and ideas?

Then there's the player selection of Ted Thompson, denying much needed veteran talent from Free Agency. That's been questionable for many years as well, I'll let you all ponder that one.

Finally, Brett Hundley. Are we expecting too much too soon? Does Hundley have what it takes to become a great quarterback, does he show MVP potential? My thoughts are that Brett Hundley has been with the team for three years, if he's not playing up to expectation by now he's probably never going to. Perhaps it's time to throw backup quarterback Joe Callahan into the mix. After all, he can't do any worse than lose, can he?

Early indications are questionable. I was at the game last night and paid special attention to Hundley's observation of the field. What I observed was that Hundley doesn't focus on the entire field, his vision to see the field appears to be with blinders on. He doesn't seem focused with that MVP type perpetual vision. On several plays Jordy Nelson along with others were deep downfield, not a defender even close and Hundley never saw him. That is what makes great quarterbacks.

At this rate, unless change happens quickly, I'm not looking to attend any playoff games at Lambeau Field this year.

On Sunday, the Green Bay Packers will once again face longtime division rival, the Chicago Bears (3-4) at Soldier Field. Should we worry? You'd better believe we should. The Bears have a young rookie quarterback that has early signs of a potential MVP. While the Packers are not the team they once were at the beginning of the season, without Aaron Rodgers I'm not taking a win for granted. I thought we were a better team coming into this season, obviously I was wrong.

This is the longest rival between two teams in football. The rivalry began back in 1921. Since then, these teams have met 194 times. A win for either team is in demand of a possible playoff spot. The record currently stands at 94-93-6. They have a combined total of 22 NFL Championships. Green Bay has 13 while Chicago has nine. They also have a combined total of 58 members in the Pro Football Hall of Fame; Chicago has 30 and Green Bay has 28. The biggest blowout between these two hallowed franchises was back in 1980 with the Bears embarrassing the Pack by a score of 61-7.

I'm going with my gut on this one, the Bears win 28-24.

Give Thanks For Good Health By Donating Blood This Holiday Season

The American Red Cross encourages people to share their good health this holiday season by donating blood for patients in need.

A decline in donations occurs from Thanksgiving to New Year's Day when donors are busy with holiday activities and travel. However, patients don't get a holiday break from needing lifesaving transfusions. In fact, every two seconds, someone in the U.S. needs blood.

By giving blood or platelets, donors may give patients more time — and more holidays — with loved ones. Make an appointment to give blood by downloading the free Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting redcrossblood.org or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

Upcoming area blood donation opportunities include:

Tuesday, Nov. 14 — Campbellsport Public Library, 220 N Helena St., from 12:30 p.m.-5:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Nov. 15 — Fond du Lac High School, 801 Campus Dr., from 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

Monday, Nov. 20 — Trinity United Methodist Church, 300 Church St.,

Lomira, from 12 p.m.-6 p.m.,

Tuesday, Nov. 21 — American Legion, 500 Fond du Lac Ave., Fond du Lac, from 11 a.m.-6 p.m.

Tuesday, Nov. 28 — Fond du Lac Public Library, 32 Sheboygan St., from 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

Wednesday, Nov. 29 — St Mary's Springs High School, 255 County Road K, Fond du Lac, from 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

How To Donate Blood

Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients.

A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood.

High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, from a computer or mobile device.

To get started and learn more, visit redcrossblood.org/RapidPass and follow the instructions on the site.

Volunteers Needed

Another way to support the lifesaving mission of the American Red Cross is to become a volunteer transportation specialist and deliver lifesaving blood products to local area hospitals. Volunteer transportation specialists play a very important role in ensuring an ample blood supply for patients in need by transporting blood and blood products.

For more information and to apply for a volunteer transportation specialist position visit rdcrss.org/driver.

AG Schimel Announces October Drug Take Back Day Collection

Attorney General Brad Schimel announced 60,257 pounds of unused medications were collected at Drug Take Back events on Saturday, Oct. 28, at nearly 350 permanent drug collection receptacles located throughout the state. Wisconsin collected more unused medications than Illinois and Indiana combined. To see what it takes to process more than 60,257 pounds of unused medications, the Wisconsin Department of Justice (DOJ) shared this time lapse of the drugs' processing.

"Wisconsin families heard the message — the opioid epidemic starts in your medicine cabinet — and they got to work collecting and disposing of unused and unwanted medications at permanent drug disposal boxes throughout our state," said Attorney General Schimel. "And without the help of the DEA, local law enforcement, hospitals, and pharmacies, Drug Take Back Day wouldn't have been nearly as successful. Communities are engaged in fighting the opioid epidemic, and they're making sure these powerful medications don't fall into the hands of someone struggling with or prone to addiction."

Statewide, 266 police and sheriffs' departments hosted more than 130 Drug Take Back events on October 28, and have provided 349 permanent drug disposal drop boxes, giving citizens a convenient, environmentally-friendly, and anonymous way to dispose of unused medications all year long. Proper drug disposal is essential to preventing prescription painkiller abuse. Research has shown that 70 percent of initial painkiller abuse starts when drugs are obtained improperly from family members or friends.

Drug Take Back Day is a collaborative effort between public and private sector partners and would not be possible without the support of Covanta Energy, Fuchs Trucking, Indiana State Police, Waukesha County, Waukesha County Sheriff's Office, Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, Wisconsin Department of Health Services, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, Wisconsin Department of Military Affairs, Wisconsin National Guard, Wisconsin State Patrol, U.S. DEA, and the 266 law enforcement agencies who participated in this October's Drug Take Back Day.

The preliminary weight of 60,257 pounds of prescription drugs have been boxed, palletized, shrink wrapped, and secured in three Fuchs Trucking semi-trailers for transportation to Covanta Energy Corporation in Indianapolis, where the drugs will be incinerated. An official weight will be assigned by Covanta Energy prior to destruction.

Local Veterans Go On Stars And Stripes Honor Flight

On Saturday, Nov. 4, 151 veterans from Wisconsin went on the Stars and Stripes Honor Flight to Washington, D.C.

Kewaskum residents Jerry Schneider and James "Jonesy" Korth, both of whom served in the Vietnam War, were among the veterans on the flight.

More than 4,800 veterans in southeastern Wisconsin have taken this one-day trip since inception in 2008.

The Stars and Stripes Honor Flight program is run completely by volunteers. Once they arrive in the nation's capital, police escort the veterans to numerous landmarks and memorials.

The national Honor Flight program dates back to 2004. Its goal is to honor veterans by flying World War II, Korean War, Vietnam War and terminally ill veterans from other conflicts to Washington, D.C., to visit their memorials.

Jerry Schneider Honored By Flight

By Anne Trautner

In his living room, Jerry Schneider has pictures from visiting the Moving Wall, a half-size replica of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial, when it was displayed in Germantown. Beside the pictures is an American flag that Schneider received for his service in the Vietnam War.

Those mementoes are close to Schneider's heart. But he had always wanted to see the actual Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C.

This past Saturday, that wish was granted. Schneider was one of 151 veterans who went on a Stars and Stripes Honor Flight from Milwaukee to Washington, D.C. It was the first time he visited the nation's capital.

War Memories

Going on the Honor Flight not only gave Schneider some of the recognition he did not receive when he returned from Vietnam, but it also allowed him to reflect on the time he spent in the service.

He also was able to reflect on his war experience with family members.

Schneider enlisted in the Army at age 19. He served from February 20, 1968, until February 19, 1971.

He trained at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, before being sent to Vietnam. He still has his yearbook from the training he did there.

He also has pictures from the time he spent in Vietnam during the war there. He was assigned to fly in a helicopter. Typically, he was one of four soldiers who would be in the helicopter, carrying out combat missions of shooting at enemy targets.

Family Support

Schneider grew up on a farm in the area and attended Kewaskum High School. When he returned from the war, he continued working on his family farm.

He met his future wife, Diane, at his cousin's wedding in 1971. The couple have two children, Debbie Martin and Tim Schneider, and two grandchildren, 8-year-old Hoyt Martin and 2-year-old Ruby Schneider.

Schneider never talk much with his family about his war days. But his family wanted to support him.

Schneider's wife, Diane Schneider, sent in an application for him to go on the flight in the middle of August. They were thrilled to learn that he was able to go so soon.

His son, Tim Schneider, served as his guardian on the trip. The day was full, beginning at 5 a.m. at Milwaukee's General Mitchell International Airport.

The trip to Washington, D.C., included stops at the Lincoln, Korean, Vietnam and World War II memorials, as well as the Arlington National Cemetery.

Schneider, along with the other veterans, were welcomed back at the Milwaukee airport by a huge crowd of people. Active military personnel, a band and hundreds of family members were among the crowd that greeted the veterans. It was an event that will stay with Schneider forever.

James "Jonesy" Korth Recognized For Service

By Anne Trautner

James "Jonesy" Korth was getting ready to watch the Packers football game on TV when he got the call.

He almost let it go to voicemail, but he decided to answer his phone.

"You have been selected to go on the Honor Flight," the voice on the other end of the line told Jonesy.

The call completely took Jonesy by surprise, but he readily agreed to go on the flight.

When he signed up to go on the Honor Flight about six months ago, he figured it would be five to 10 years before he got that call.

Jonesy was instructed to not call his son, Jesse Korth, yet, because the caller would contact him to let him know that he would be Jonesy's chaperone for the trip.

"I won't call him until halftime," Jonesy agreed.

The two were in the group that went on the Honor Flight this past Saturday, Nov. 4. The trip brought back memories of Jonesy's service in the Vietnam War.

Drafted

Jonesy was drafted twice to serve in the Vietnam War.

The first time he was called up, he had a broken leg. Still, he passed the physical.

"I had to call Doc Edwards to verify that I had a surgical pin in my leg, so then they deferred me," Jonesy explained.

The surgical pin was removed in May 1969.

That November, Jonesy was in Colorado, hunting with his uncle, when he received a call from his father.

"Hey, your uncle wants you," Jonesy's father told him over the phone.

"I'm going with my uncle," Jonesy replied.

"No, your Uncle Sam," Jonesy's father said.

Jonesy came home from his hunting trip a week later and was scheduled to report for duty in the Army on November 9, 1969.

But 21-year-old Jonesy had other plans.

"I'm going to join the Marine Corps," Jonesy said.

So on November 8, 1969, Jonesy enlisted with the Marine Corps. His deployment was delayed 120 days, and then he received another 60-day extension.

In March 1970, Jonesy loaded up to go to Da Nang, Vietnam.

"Well, we never got to Da Nang because Dick Nixon, my hero, decided we were pulling out of Vietnam. So we unloaded everything and didn't go to Da Nang," Jonesy said.

A month later, as the U.S. was pulling out all of its troops, Jonesy was trained as part of an assault force that would go down the coast to Vietnam, to provide support if needed.

Service

Jonesy worked as an ammunition technician during that time. He was trained to go in and dispose of ammunition that was left in Vietnam. He flew into Vietnam three times to do that over the course of a year, but all the combat was virtually over.

Jonesy's group also was preparing to go to Cambodia, but the U.S. increased the bombing there, so no ground troops were sent over.

While in the Pacific, Jonesy did not stay put at any one place for longer than three weeks. He has memories from the different locations.

One incident stands out from his time in the Philippines. Jonesy recalls going with his artillery unit to the beach there to shoot two pallets of smoke rounds.

"We broke out the ammunition, and I looked at the old casing, and I kind of recognized it," Jonesy said.

He flipped it upside down, and saw the stamp that showed that the casing was made by the Kewaskum Utensils Company.

"Well, I went around and bragged that up. That's from my hometown," Jonesy told everyone.

The shell was from circa 1945. Jonesy was amazed to find out that there was an entire truckload of old smoke rounds that were from Kewaskum.

It was decided that the unit would shoot all of the smoke rounds. When the first one went off, it shot out only about 30 yards. The same thing happened with the second round.

So the Marines decided to scrap the entire round.

As ammo technician, it was Jonesy's job to blow the entire 800 smoke rounds. He used an M60 tank to blade out a trench and prepared to shoot the smoke rounds.

"They were pretty shallow trenches. That's where I made my first mistake," Jonesy said.

About five canisters were placed in the trenches to shoot the smoke rounds, similar to the way that fireworks are shot off.

"They slam all over the place and make smoke. But with this kind of smoke round, there is heat, so there is fire there, making smoke. When 800 smoke rounds go off, they all go all over the place. I just about burned the Philippines down," Jonesy said.

The incident became a big topic of conversation, with many of the soldiers joking with Jonesy, asking, "Whose side are you on, anyway?"

Jonesy's tour with the 7th fleet Marine force lasted a year, from December 10, 1970, to December 10, 1971.

Return To Kewaskum

After his service, Jonesy returned to Kewaskum and his job at Hon-E-Kor Golf Course, which he continues to run today. But he did not forget his service days and joined the American Legion.

He has now served as the American Legion's sergeant of arms for at least 35 years.

Through the American Legion, he has provided gun salutes and presented flags for numerous occasions. He has served at funerals, including those of his uncles. At his father's funeral, he folded and presented the flag.

Josh and Kristin Marx spend their free time traveling as much as they can. Kristin underwent a heart transplant nearly 17 years ago and was recently featured on ABC World News Tonight with David Muir.

That is where she was the day after Thanksgiving. It was good place to be, because that is when her heart stopped beating and she coded. When she woke up 24 hours later, she was hooked up to a machine that was pumping her heart for her.

"Tubes were coming off it and into my body. I was tethered to that thing and I knew I couldn't go home," she said.

She would have to wait until she received a new heart.

As Marx clung to life, she withered away to just 89 pounds. As her body started to shut down unnecessary things, she began losing her hair.

"For a 21-year-old, your hair is the most important thing. I had a bald spot on the back of my head from my hospital bed," she said.

Then, on January 12, 2001, Marx received the gift of life. She underwent a heart transplant. The surgery lasted about nine hours.

"When I woke up, the first thing I heard was silence. The machine that was keeping me alive was no longer there. I was alive because of someone gave me the gift of life," she said.

Marx learned that her donor was named Mindy. She had been an only child and had suffered from a brain tumor. They had been about the same age.

Marx will be forever grateful to Mindy's parents. She stays connected with them through Facebook, but has never met them.

"It's not possible to say everything I want to say to the family. Hopefully sometime we will be able to meet," Marx said.

Since the transplant almost 17 years ago, Marx has stayed healthy. Mindy appreciates every day and lives life to the fullest.

She and her husband, Josh, have been married for five years. They moved to Kewaskum about four years ago and travel whenever they can.

This year, she thought it would be good to do something in honor of Mindy. She decided to run a half marathon.

In order to do that, she had to get her doctor's approval.

She did more than that. When the medical staff at Froedtert found out that Marx wanted to run a half marathon, they were inspired. They wanted to do something for Marx.

So they decided to join Marx. They trained and ran alongside Marx.

Last month, Marx ran a half marathon in Milwaukee with one of her nurses and one of her doctors. Another doctor, who had never run in a race before, ran a 10K. Marx's mother-in-law, Linda Marx, also ran in the race.

The story was inspiring for all who heard about it.

Several weeks ago, a public relations representative from Froedtert reached out to Marx and asked if I would be interested in doing a story for Froedtert Magazine.

Marx agreed, and that was the plan. But somehow word got out to ABC News.

Before she knew it, Marx had been selected to be the Person of the Week on ABC World News Tonight with David Muir.

To film for the segment, which aired on October 20, Marx went to Froedtert Hospital and was interviewed remotely.

"They had a camera guy come up from Chicago, and they were live streaming me to their live studio in New York. It was just a few people from Froedtert, the camera guy, 50 lights and me," Marx said.

The interview lasted nearly six hours. From that, it was condensed into a 90-second clip.

"So they had a lot of material. They were really great to work with, super nice people," Marx said.

Marx hopes her story will inspire others to learn that life goes on after a transplant.

"I'm very lucky," she said.

Kristin and Josh Marx enjoy a recent trip to Maine. Kristin was recently featured on ABC World News Tonight with David Muir.
