Severe Winter Weather Hits Area

By Anne Trautner

Due to severe winter weather, Gov. Tony Evers declared a State of Emergency throughout the State of Wisconsin from January 27 through February 1.

"I want to make sure all state assets are available, including the Wisconsin National Guard if needed, to help communities across the state and keep people warm and safe," Evers Tweeted on Monday, Jan. 28.

Heavy snowfall, potentially life-threatening cold temperatures, and blowing snow were expected to occur throughout the state.

Area students got their first snow day of the year on Wednesday, Jan. 23, when reports showed that the Kewaskum area got about 5 inches of snow.

The National Weather Service reported that the region got 10.5 more inches of snow on Monday, Jan. 28.

That snowfall caused numerous closings on Monday. All Kewaskum Schools, as well as Holy Trinity Catholic School and St. Lucas Lutheran School were closed. In addition, non-emergency government offices in Washington and Sheboygan counties closed.

Frigid wind chills arrived in the area on Tuesday. Schools were called off again for Wednesday because of the dangerously cold temperatures.

Village Board Approves Third Street Project

By Anne Trautner

At its meeting on Monday, Jan. 21, the Kewaskum Village Board voted to go forward with the Third Street project this summer.

The street project will cost approximately $759,000, according to Village Administrator Matt Heiser.

That comes down to about $94,000 per year in debt payments over a period of 10 years, Heiser said. The village plans to use a state trust fund loan for the project and begin payments in 2021.

The 10-year loan will add approximately 30 cents to the mill rate, according to Heiser.

"Our mill rate would go from $7.45 to $7.75 cents per $1,000 of value, which would add about $60 to the tax bill of those houses over 10 years," Heiser said.

The village had contemplated widening Third Street to accommodate school traffic.

Marine Corps League Gets New Home

By Anne Trautner

The Kettle Moraine Detachment 1203 Marine Corps League has a new home in West Bend.

The organization signed a lease earlier this month for a building at 834 S. Main St. in West Bend.

"It is really exciting to think that we finally found a home. It is going to be just perfect for us," said Roger Cross, paymaster for the league.

The property is just over 1,200 square feet. To furnish the building, the league was able to obtain chairs that had been housed in the MECCA Arena in Milwaukee before it was torn down.

"We've got some big plans. Everybody has been coming up with ideas as to how to decorate," Cross said.

To help support the new facility, other organizations are making donations to cover operating expenses, including heat and electric bills.

So far, six organizations have committed to partner with the Kettle Moraine Detachment Marine Corps League to cover utility costs, but the league hopes to get more help.

If 12 organizations come forward to cover utility costs for one month, then the entire year would be covered. The estimated cost of utilities is $300 a month.

The local Marine Corps League had been meeting each month at the Trenton Town Hall. While that facility worked well, it was not a place that the Marine Corps could call its own.

Manage Your Heating Costs

Your furnace works harder in winter, which can mean a surprise in your heating bill. Don't let a high winter heating bill shock your family's budget.

Take these steps to reduce and manage your heating costs.

- Open the shades, dial the temperature back.
- Let the sun shine in during the day by opening shades, blinds and drapes. Close them at night to help retain heat.
- Turn your thermostat down at night and when you are away. You can save as much as 10 percent a year on heating by turning your thermostat back seven to 10 degrees Fahrenheit from its normal setting for eight hours a day.

- Turn fans off. Kitchen and bath-ventilating fans can blow out a house-full of heated air if left on. Turn them off after they have done their job.
- Apply for financial help with heating bills. Households with income at or below 60 percent of the state median income may be eligible for energy assistance. For example, a family of four may qualify if they earn up to $52,846 per year in Wisconsin. To apply, call 1-866-432-8947 or visit homeenergyplus.wi.gov.

Candlelight And Stars On February 2

Break your winter cabin fever by journeying to the Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit for the annual Candlelight Ski/Hike on the Zillmer Trails (located at County Road SS, Campbellsport, which is between Hwy 67 and County Road G near New Prospect) and Winter Star Gazing at the Ice Age Visitor Center (located at N2875 Hwy 67, Campbellsport, which is a half mile west of Dundee). These events will be held on Saturday, Feb. 2, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. We encourage people to car pool due to limited parking space.

The Zillmer 1.2-mile brown loop will be lighted by the soft glow of candle luminaries. If there is snow, the trail will be groomed for cross-country skiing. This is a perfect trail for the whole family to ski with no sharp curves or steep hills. There will also be plenty of room for hikers to travel through the enchanting candlelit dark winter woods.

Warm up at the roaring campfire or venture into the heated shelter building. To further chase away the chills, enjoy a cup of hot cider and cookies provided by the Friends of the Kettle Moraine.

At the Ice Age Visitor Center, drop in to join the Northern Cross Science Foundation members for some great star gazing, but only if the skies are clear. Spy distant planets, marvel at far away galaxies, and be awed by the beauty of a dumb-bell nebula, or globular cluster.

A Wisconsin State Park System Vehicle Admission Sticker is required at Zillmer. If you do not already have your 2019 sticker, you may purchase one that night.

For more information, contact the Ice Age Visitor Center staff at (920) 533-8322. The center's winter hours are Wednesday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

OBITUARIES

Karl H. Terlinden

Karl Howard Terlinden passed away January 22, 2019 amidst a beautiful winter snowfall under a full moon. He courageously fought for seven weeks after being diagnosed with an aggressive brain tumor.

Karl was born on September 6, 1953 in West Bend, Wisconsin to Dolores (Kocher) and the late Ervin Terlinden.

He followed in his father's footsteps by carrying on the family legacy of Terlinden Roofing; established in 1947. Karl had immense pride in his work and could remember each home he roofed. For Karl, his business was not just about the color of the shingle or the style of the roof, it was about getting to know his customers as individuals.

During winter, Karl became part of a tradition for many families, as he shook out thousands of Christmas trees over the years at his family's tree lot, on the corner of 8th and Poplar. When he wasn't at the tree lot, Karl was plowing, slushing, and salting businesses and homes.

Karl watched the radar in anticipation of upcoming blizzards, which undoubtedly meant he would be plowing all night, stopping to refuel with a Double-Webb.

Karl had many diverse interests. Many people knew Karl's love of racing; he raced modified cars and also loved being a spectator, especially at Plymouth where he could enjoy a Miesfield's steak sandwich. He enjoyed fishing for walleye and northerns, and looked forward to out-fishing his sons and friends on their trips to Canada. Karl never tired of traveling to new places, often choosing the backroads over the highways. He travelled internationally, including a special trip with his daughters.

One of Karl's many hobbies included going to auctions with Donna to bid on handmade quilts.

Many people knew the colorful side of Karl, but those who knew him best respected his humbleness and generosity. Karl anonymously donated to countless organizations; therefore, it was not surprising he donated his corneas to help others.

In lieu of flowers, please honor Karl's memory by: going for a Harley ride on a back country road, indulging in a scoop of frozen custard, planting a tree, eating a piece of poppy seed torte, taking a nap, feeding the birds, attending a county fair, listening to live music, adding commentary to an episode of Survivor, or enjoying a Kessler and Coke.

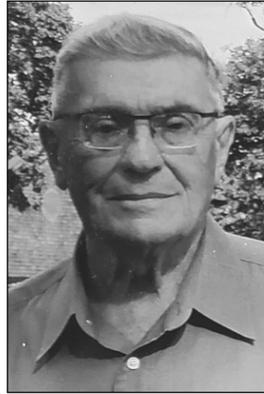

The family is honoring Karl's specific wishes to have a private Celebration of Life.

He is survived by his wife and soulmate Donna Kogler; children Jesse (Amber), Heidi (Will) Lindman, Luke (Margie), Marie Terlinden; step-daughters

Jennifer (Mark) Kogler-Schanen, Abigail (Joe) Finn, and Elizabeth Kogler. Karl, known as Grandpa to Landon, Amaya, Eva, Estelle, Henry and one more grandchild on the way, will forever be fondly remembered. Opa is adored by Benjamin, Adeline, Mica, and Liam. Karl is further survived by his mother Dolores; his brother Gary (Joyce); sister Jean (Elroy) Klug and sister June (friend Elroy) Karnitz.

Love you, K.T.

Lee Reindl

Lee Reindl, 81, passed away Friday, Jan. 25, at Hospice Home of Hope from complications related to five years of suffering with cancer.

Lee was born in St. Kilian on July 28, 1937, the son of Killian "Pat" and Amelia "Molly" Reindl. Lee attended St. Lawrence Seminary and made friendships there he valued to his last day. He married Cathy Serwe at St. Martin's Church in Ashford in May, 1963 and enjoyed 55 years of marriage.

Lee worked for Kindt Lumber and Gehl Company, but his greatest professional pride was representing Grande Cheese Company for 30 years.

Lee loved sports and stayed involved as a WIAA referee (basketball and volleyball) for 54 years. He also volunteered as an assistant coach for the Lomira High School golf team for the last 22 years until he became too sick to continue.

Lee is survived by his wife Cathy, a son Jeff (Julie) of Lomira and his siblings Richard (Rose) Reindl of Kewaskum, Harold Reindl of Milwaukee; and his sister-in-law Lucy (Richard) Steinacker of Fond du Lac. He is further survived by his loving nieces and nephews as well as five godchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents, mother-in-law Veronica Ries, brother Al (Florence), sister Carol (Pat) Crowley, brothers-in-law Richard Steinacker and Alois Serwe, sisters-in-law Charlotte Reindl and Maryann Serwe and his niece Cheryl Serwe.

The family wishes to thank the loving team at Hospice Home of Hope for their tremendous care. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that memorials be directed to Lomira Golf or to the Lomira Area Education Foundation (LAEF).

Private services will take place for the immediate family in the near future.

Lee strived to be a loving and kind person to everyone he met. He was a wonderful husband and fantastic father; we were all lucky to be a part of his life. The world won't long dwell on his passing, but we will love and miss him forever.

Mary D. Rumsey

Mary D. Rumsey, 88, passed away Thursday, Jan. 24, 2019 at Milestone Senior Living Center in Tomahawk under the care of Ascension Ministry Hospice.

She was married to Dr. Howard "Doc" Rumsey on November 25, 1950 at St. Matthew's Parish Rectory in Oak Creek, Wisconsin. Doc passed away in 2007.

Mary and Doc lived most of their life in the Kewaskum area, where she served as a receptionist for his chiropractic practice. They retired in 1990 and moved to the Tomahawk area. Mary enjoyed traveling, especially exploring in Alaska. She enjoyed flower gardening and was a member of Northland Bible Church.

For most post office workers, it is considered a milestone to either achieve full-time status or to remain in the same location. Vicki Mueller earned both, but she retired on January 31 after 20 years and three months of service.

The Kewaskum Fire Department suffered the loss of their new ambulance in a motor vehicle crash while transporting a patient to St. Joseph's Hospital on Friday, Jan. 31.

Area skiers took not one, not two, but three gold medals in the Rail Jam competition of the USASA (United States Snowboarding Association) MidWest Best competition held at the Sunburst Ski Hill the weekend of January 18-19. First places were garnered by Cayden Dwyer, Ayrton Lehmann and Rylie Dwyer, boosting their chances of return trips to the Nationals, which will be held at Copper Mountain, Colorado, in late March.

Olivia Krautkramer, daughter of Sandra Krautkramer, and Andrew Buelow, son of Linda Williams and Corey Buelow, were named Kiwanis Students of the Month.

As the Kewaskum boys basketball team enters the home stretch of their regular season, the story has been the same all season long; great beginnings and not so great finishes. That was the case last week as they hosted Waupun who left with a 55-38 win.

In an effort to continue the nationally recognized D.A.R.E. (Drug Resistance Education) program in Kewaskum Schools, Officer Thomas A. Bauer of the Kewaskum Police Department recently completed a special 80-hour training course at the Wisconsin State Patrol Training Academy located in Sparta. The training prepared Officer Bauer to teach a 17-week series of lessons that will give fifth and sixth grade youths the skills they need to resist drugs.

Fellow Eastern Wisconsin Conference schools have made a habit of scheduling their Parent's Nights to coincide with a visit from Kewaskum teams. That trend may be on the way out, however. Especially if KHS squads perform the way the Indian wrestlers did against EW power Plymouth. The Indians recorded their first-ever dual meet victory against the Panthers, beating the hosts 33-31 in front of Plymouth's Parent's Night crowd.

It was almost a clean sweep for the Kewaskum girls basketball teams in their Parent's Night contests with New Holstein last Tuesday. The Indian JVs joined the varsity in the winners' circle, beating the Huskies 40-27. The KHS freshmen were the lone Indians team to fall, losing 39-35. Tiffany Laubach scored 20 points and Michelle Thull added 15 to lead the JVs.

The Immanuel Lutheran Church in the Town of Scott, Sheboygan County located on Route 1, Kewaskum, was completely destroyed in a disastrous fire which started shortly after church services on Sunday, despite the efforts of fire departments from several nearby communities. The Rev. Gustave Kaniess, father of the Rev. Gerhard Kaniess of Kewaskum, is pastor of the church. The fire, first noticed by neighbors, began at 12:15 p.m. on Sunday in the roof and walls above the altar, Rev. Kaniess said. He stated that faulty wiring probably was the cause of the blaze, which caused almost $40,000 damage. Insurance covered $11,000 of the loss.

Perhaps you never suspected that your old broom, standing in the garage or basement would actually be in demand some day, but it is. Our veterans' hospitals are now asking for thousands of canes which are not available. Broomsticks, however, will work just as well.

100 Years AgoFebruary 1, 1919

Several of the young men of this village, who were mustered into the military service the early part of the winter, have organized a basketball team, known as the Kewaskum 30th Separate Company W.S.G.R. Basketball Team. The boys are old and experienced players and have done some hard and extensive practicing the past month and have rounded themselves into such shape as to be able to cope with the best guard teams in the state. Others need not challenge them. All of the players are members of the Kewaskum 30th Separate Company, and will therefore be run strictly under the rules and regulations of the Company. All proceeds will go into said treasury. A game has already been arranged with the Campbellsport 28th Separate Company's team to be played on February 7th in the local Opera House. Following is the lineup of the local team: Norton Koerble, center; Harry and Ralph Schaefer, guards; August Bilgo and Maurice Rosenheimer, forwards; and Allie Schnurr and Elroy Backhaus, substitutes.

Joseph Flasch, 25, a son of Mrs. Anna Flasch, residing near St. Kilian, met with a very painful accident on Tuesday at his home. The young man was engaged in cutting feed at his home, when in some manner, his right hand got caught in the feed cutting machine. The fingers were so badly mangled that it was necessary to remove them. Last summer Mr. Flasch was kicked by a horse, suffering painful injuries. In May 1913 his brother was killed in a runaway at Lomira.

William Kirsch, of St. Kilian, was in the village on Monday after being confined to bed from severe burns he received about his face, hands and feet. About two weeks ago, during the night, a fire caused by the explosion of an oil stove, set fire to his residence and did considerable damage to his building. Mr. Kirsch, being alone, managed to extinguish the flames, only after his face and hands were badly burned. No one can understand how Mr. Kirsch was able to quench the flames alone.

Due to the fact that many relatives of soldiers overseas are not receiving any mail since the armistice has been signed, General Pershing gave out orders last Saturday that every soldier must mail out a postcard to his nearest relative at home, giving his present location, his state of health and military unit of the writer.

Lightning, Thunder, Hail And Tornadoes: Why We Have Severe Weather

The Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit's Evening with Nature series continues with the program, "Lightning, Thunder, Hail and Tornadoes: Why We Have Severe Weather." The program will be held on Thursday, Feb. 14, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The center is located at N2875 Hwy 67, Campbellsport, which is a half mile west of Dundee. The program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

Arrive at 6:30 p.m. to celebrate Valentine's Day before the presentation. Hot beverages and tasty sweet treats will be served.

Many cringe when they see a lightning bolt or cower at the sound of thunder. We duck for cover when a thunderstorm approaches with its strong winds, torrential rain, and damaging hail. When the tornado sirens blow, folks head to the basement. As you wait out these storms, do you ponder what causes these severe weather events?

Join James A. Brey,

Ph.D., as he explains the reasons why we experience severe weather. He will also provide tips on how to stay safe when it strikes. Dr. Brey is a Senior Science Consultant with the American Meteorological Society Education Program.

For further information or directions contact the Ice Age Visitor Center staff at (920) 533-8322. The center's winter hours are Wednesday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ucation class can help family members by providing knowledge about the causes and treatments of mental illness, helping with understanding the mental health system better and improving the participant's wellbeing by learning tools to use in the family while dealing with the illness. It can empower family members to face what might come their way on their journey with a mentally ill loved one.

Pre-registration is required and enrollment is limited. Deadline for registration is February 25.

This class is not intended for the individual with mental illness. For more information or to register contact Sheryl at sheryl.namiwashington@gmail.com or 262-339-7628.

Get The Best Mortgage Financing Deal

Few people are able to walk into a home, like what they see and then pay for a house in cash. In the vast majority of home purchases, mortgages make the dream of home ownership a reality.

Getting a mortgage requires research and some preparation on the part of borrowers if they hope to get the friendliest terms possible.

Homes are substantial, decades-long investments, so it's smart to shop around to find the best rates and lenders available. These tips can make the process of applying and getting a mortgage go smoothly, and may even help borrowers save some money.

- Learn your credit score. Your credit score will be a factor in determining just how much bargaining power you have for lower interest rates on mortgage loans, according to the financial resource NerdWallet. The higher the credit score, the better. Well before shopping for a mortgage, manage your debt, paying it off if possible, and fix any black marks or mistakes on your credit report.

- Investigate various lenders. The Federal Trade Commission says to get information from various sources, whether they are commercial banks, mortgage companies, credit unions, or thrift institutions. Each is likely to quote different rates and prices, and the amount they're willing to lend you may vary as well. Investigating various lenders can help you rest easy knowing you got the best rate for you. Lenders may charge additional fees that can drive up the overall costs associated with getting a mortgage. Compare these fees as well so you can be sure you get the best deal.

- Consider a mortgage broker. Mortgage brokers will serve as the middle person in the transaction. A broker's access to several different lenders can translate into a greater array of loan products and terms from which to choose.

- Learn about rates. Become informed of the rate trends in your area. Lower rates translate into significant savings amounts per month and over the life of the loan. Rates may be fixed, though some are adjustable-rate mortgages (also called a variable or floating rate). Each has its advantages and disadvantages, and a financial consultant can discuss what might be in your best interest.

- Discuss points with your financial advisor and lender. Some lenders allow you to pay points in advance, which will lower the interest rate. Get points quoted in dollar amounts so they'll be easier to compare. If you're unfamiliar with points, discuss the concept with your financial advisor.

The vast majority of homeowners secured a mortgage to purchase their homes. Learning about the mortgage process can help new buyers navigate these sometimes tricky financial waters.

Explaining Financial Plans And Why You Need One

A clear understanding of personal expenditures and savings rates is essential for securing a strong financial future. A financial plan can help everyone from the extraordinarily wealthy to those struggling to make ends meet.

The Financial Planning Association says a financial plan identifies goals and objectives that take finances to achieve and creates a plan for making those things happen. A financial plan can serve as a road map that people can look to for years to come as they work toward securing their financial futures.

Whether you aim to retire by age 50 or to reduce your debt, a financial plan can be just what you need to turn your dreams into a reality. Here are some steps for devising a financial plan.

1. Identify what you want. You must identify what you want to achieve. Goals may include buying a home, retiring early, providing for a child's education, or having more time and money for travel. Putting your goals on paper may inspire you to pursue them more vigorously.

2. Audit your finances. Conduct an audit of your finances so you can get a clear grasp of your current situation. Make a list of all of your assets, and then subtract existing debts to figure out your net worth. While you're tabulating, find out how much you bring in and spend each month so you can get a clear picture of your spending habits. This will help you make smart choices in regard to spending and saving.

3. Eradicate existing debt. One of the key parts of a financial plan is to pay down high-interest debt to free up money for the future. Focus on paying off credit card balances, high-interest loans or balances for other accounts where interest is high. A debt consolidation loan may be worth exploring if you're having trouble paying down high-interest debt.

4. Start saving. Building savings is essential to reaching many goals. It also is key to help avoid financial ruin during emergency situations, such as home or car repairs, disability that takes you out of work, etc. Start small by having a certain percentage of money deposited into a separate account automatically. Then watch it grow. Investing in the right products also can help you grow your savings.

Financial advisors can help individuals devise plans to meet their short- and long-term goals.

Is retirement in your future?

Where People Spend Most

Things People Should Know About Creating Wills

Drafting a last will and testament is an essential component of estate planning. Despite the importance of having a will, a recent survey from AARP found that two out of five Americans over the age of 45 do not have one.

Putting wishes down on paper helps avoid unnecessary work and sometimes heartache upon the death of a loved one. Wills allow heirs to act with the decedent's wishes in mind, and can ensure that assets and possessions will end up in the right hands.

Estate planning can be tricky, which is why many people turn to attorneys to get the job done right. Attorneys who specialize in estate planning will no doubt discuss the following topics with their clients.

•Assets owned: Make a list of known assets and figure out which assets are covered by the will and which will have to be passed on according to other estate laws, such as through joint tenancy on a deed or a living trust. For example, life insurance policies or retirement plan proceeds will be distributed to your named beneficiaries. A will also can cover other assets, such as photographs, clothing, cars, and jewelry.

•Guardianship: Parents' wills should include a declaration of who they want to become guardians their underage children or dependents.

•Pets: Some people prefer to use their will to also dictate guardianship for their pets and to leave money or property to help care for those pets. However, pets do not have the legal capacity to own property, so one shouldn't gift money directly to pets in a will.

•Funeral instructions: Settling probate will not happen until after the funeral. Therefore, funeral wishes in a will often go unnoticed, states the legal advisement resource Find Law.

•Executor: An executor is a trusted person who will carry out the terms of the will. This person should be willing to serve and be capable of executing the will.

People who die without a valid will become intestate. This means the estate will be settled based on the laws of where that person lived, and a court-appointed administrator will serve in the capacity to transfer property. This administrator will be bound by laws and may make decisions that go against the decedent's wishes. To avoid this outcome, a will and other estate planning documents are crucial.

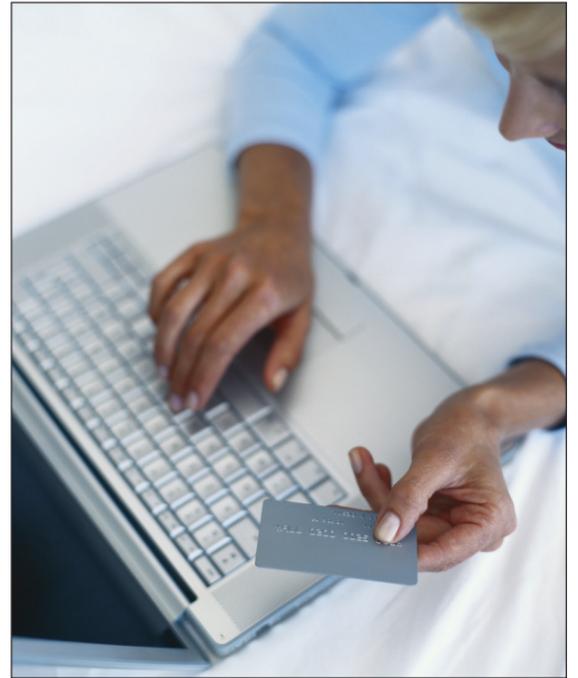

Who hasn't tallied up monthly bills or looked at a credit card statement and pondered if they're spending a little too much? The average person also may wonder how their expenditures compare to other people around the country and what they need to do to enjoy financial freedom in retirement.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the average American household spends just about $57,000 each year between necessities and luxuries. Canadians are spending even more than their neighbors to the south. Statistics Canada indicates that, in 2016, the average annual expenditure on goods and services per household totaled $62,183.

So how are people allocating their funds? The results may surprise you and indicate where it's possible to trim some fat and save big bucks.

Across North America, housing is the largest line item in people's budgets. Various sources suggest that housing and shelter needs account for anywhere from 30 to 40 percent of most household budgets. By making housing decisions based on areas with the most efficient cost of living, individuals can save considerably over the long run.

The second largest expenditure category is transportation. This accounts for the cost to finance or lease a vehicle and insure it, and it also includes urban dwellers who rely on public transportation or ride-share services to get around. Keeping transportation budgets in check can be a great way to save.

Food is the next largest expense. While everyone needs sustenance to stay alive, how that money is allocated can make a big difference in saving versus spending. The BLS says that food at home costs around $4,000 annually, while spending on dining out amounts to around $3,100, for a grand total of $7,100 each year. Statistics Canada notes that Canadian households spent an average of $8,784 in 2016 on food and that 26 percent of that spending was on dining out. Cutting back on dining out can be a great way to save money, as can becoming a more sale-conscious grocery shopper.

Healthcare, utilities and entertainment are the next most costly expenditures, respectively. But each of those items are considerably less expensive than the top three. Therefore, making changes to where one lives, how one gets around and how one eats can certainly add up to considerable savings.

Did You Know — Credit Scores?

Credit scores are important factors when lenders determine if individuals applying for credit or loans are worthy borrowers. Credit is used when purchasing a new home, buying a car, opening a business, or applying for new credit cards.

A credit score is a three-digit number that corresponds to a certain range. The standards were established by FICO®, and the higher the score, the better (scores start at 300 and move upward to 850).

Various things can impact credit score, and some weigh more heavily toward the final score than others. The following are the factors that influence credit score in order of their importance, according to Wells Fargo bank.

- Payment history (making payments on time)
- Current debts (carrying high balances)
- Credit history
- New credit application inquiries
- Types of current credit (mixed forms of loans, credit cards, etc.)

Misconceptions About Wills, Trusts, And Estate Administration

By Tim Van Pelt

At their core, both a will and a trust can be used to effectively transfer your assets to a subsequent generation, to non-profit causes, or towards whatever legacy you choose to leave. However, there are major differences and several misconceptions I often hear about wills, trusts, and estate administration.

Misconception #1: Probate Is Bad

A will, along with a list of your assets and liabilities, must be filed with the local probate court in the county where you live at the time of death. Therefore, your will and your assets and liabilities become public documents that can be inspected by any member of the public. This thought unsettles some people who maintain very private lives.

For other people, the thought of their will and net worth becoming public is not a big deal. After all, as the thinking goes, they will be dead so what do they care! In contrast, a trust stays private and can only be viewed by the trustee and the named beneficiaries in the trust.

A probate judge supervises the entire probate process, including the accounting of the estate, the filing of the asset list, the handling of creditor claims, and the ultimate distributions of money and assets to the beneficiaries of the will. With a trust, there is no such supervision. If the trustee is an individual, there may be no one overseeing his or her actions. Court supervision over an estate is often good in situations where there is family conflict, distrust, creditor problems, or other issues with the estate.

Many people today are setting up living trusts in an effort to avoid probate. The problem is many folks who are setting up trusts in an effort to avoid probate are not following through with retitling their assets into the trust. The result is that, even when a trust is present, opening a probate estate is often necessary to clear up title problems, ownership issues, and to get the assets transferred into the trust.

What is true is that if a person engages in proper estate planning utilizing a trust, and (this is the key) follows through with retitling all their assets into the trust (i.e., funding the trust), then the estate administration can be quicker, smoother, faster, and more private. For this to work, however, it takes considerable commitment and follow-through by the settlor of the trust.

Misconception #2: A Corporate Trustee Or Personal Representative Costs Too Much Money

With the probate process, the personal representative is entitled to 2% of the estate assets by law, plus the probate court must be paid a 0.2% fee of the estate assets, for a minimum cost of estate administration of 2.2%. It is important to realize that the 2% fee for the personal representative ("PR") applies regardless of whether the PR is an individual or a professional entity.

In addition, there are several benefits of appointing a bank having trust powers as personal representative:

- Recordkeeping. One of the obligations of a PR is to keep a complete, accurate, and organized accounting of the estate, its assets and liabilities, and all transactions. A bank has a professional accounting and software system specifically able to handle estate administration.

- Dual control of assets and money. A corporate personal representative has staffing so that two or more employees are always exercising dual control over the assets, deposits, and withdrawals from the estate to ensure that fraud or embezzlement cannot occur.

- Experience. Being a personal representative carries a lot of responsibility. There are many duties that individuals are often not aware of. For example, real estate must get appraised to document date of death values. Stocks, bonds, and mutual funds have special rules for establishing what their values are on the date of death. Properly documenting date of death values for all assets is critical so that the beneficiaries receive the assets with a step-up in tax cost basis to minimize unnecessary capital gains taxes in the future. Final personal income tax returns for the decedent and fiduciary income tax returns for the estate must get timely filed. Distributions and allocations of money and assets must be made to the beneficiaries of the estate in accordance with the legal terms and conditions of the will. A PR can be held personally liable for the decedent's tax liabilities if the PR distributes assets before ensuring that all taxes get paid.

- Expertise. A professional PR has extensive experience with valuing and selling many types of assets, including houses, farmland, gold coins, jewelry, vintage cars, machinery, antiques, and guns. Maximizing the value of physical assets requires having an extensive network of buyers and sellers.

- Oversight. Nationally chartered banks have internal controls, regular management reviews of accounts, board of director reviews, external auditor reviews, and exams by the federal Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, all to ensure accounts are administered in a professional and appropriate manner. Individual PRs may have no oversight at all.

- Staffing. Estates with physical assets, such as real estate, vehicles, collectibles, and lots of "stuff" can take hundreds of hours to inventory and liquidate. Being able to allocate a staff of employees to an estate administration is sometimes critical if the estate is to be administered in a prompt and timely manner.

Misconception #3: Estate Taxes

Under current laws, the estate tax exemption is so large (approximately $11 million per person), that estate taxes are now irrelevant for over 99.9% of the American public. In addition, if you are married you can effectively combine your $11 million exemptions such that you would have to cross the threshold of $22 million in assets before estate taxes even get triggered.

Good Reasons To Use A Trust

There are plenty of good reasons to use a trust. One or more of the following situations apply to many families. In all of these cases a trust can be a useful estate planning tool.

- You want the money spread out to your beneficiaries over time rather than letting them receive it in one immediate lump sum.

- You have a child who mismanages money or has poor spending habits.

- Your spouse or child has debt problems.

- Your child has marital problems that could lead to divorce.

- You have a child with special needs.

- You have a mixed family (e.g., second spouse, step-children).

- You have concerns about what your spouse would do with the money if you die first.

- You want your child to have incentives to be a productive citizen.

If you need advice regarding your estate plan and what strategies may be most beneficial for you, please feel free to call me. I would be happy to help. Tim Van Pelt, President – Trust Division, National Exchange Bank & Trust 920-923-7000.

Win Over Waupun Puts KHS Wrestlers In Tie For First

By Judy Harlow

A large crowd was on hand January 24 as the Kewaskum High wrestling program hosted a four-ring circus with Senior Night, Youth Night, Parents Night and Alumni Night all celebrated at the same time prior to the start of the KHS-Waupun match, ending the dual meet season for the two teams.

Three of the Indian veterans, Eric Bauer (32-1), Tanner Goeman (28-5) and Nathaniel Droese (24-10), all ended their home careers with victories, although only Bauer won on the mat as the two others received forfeits.

Two other seniors, Alex Deheck and Sam Larson, watched from the sidelines and cheered their team on. Both are out with injuries and may not be ready in time for the East Central Conference Tournament at Berlin on February 2 or the D-2 regional at Sheboygan Falls on February 9.

Kewaskum won three of the nine matches wrestled en route to a 35-24 victory, which puts its EC record at 5-1. (Kettle Moraine Lutheran dropped wrestling a couple years ago so only seven EC teams sponsor the sport.)

Winneconne won its final match over Ripon, 48 to 28, and also ended with a 5-1 mark, while Berlin and Campbell-sport both finished 4-2.

"Our kids' spirits are kind of down right now," KHS coach Scott Rhoads said afterward, referring to the fact the program was aiming to repeat at EC champs — the Indians were co-champs last season with Campbellsport — and to win the D-2 regional and the D-2 Team Sectional to earn the school's first spot in the Team State Tournament.

Those plans appear on hold right now because of the injuries to the two seniors and junior Mason Pomeroy, who was injured in a non-wrestling incident the night of the Gun-Slinger Tournament back on December 1.

Larson was 14-8 after the Rick Lawinger Tournament, where he partially dislocated his collarbone, according to Rhoads, who said the doctor has ruled him out. Deheck, a two-time state qualifier, injured his shoulder during the Berlin match and has been sidelined ever since.

"[I have] a small chance," Deheck, who currently is 9-3, said about getting back into action. "I've been going to physical therapy two times a week and working out" in preparation for a return.

Despite all the injuries, Rhoads said his wrestlers are "still bustin' it though," adding, "We're going to have a lot of kids at state. ... We're going to have kids at the upper level of state. ... We have a lot of work to do yet."

Getting back to the match, the Indians started with quick pins by Isaiah George and Bauer, the forfeit to Goeman and a pin by Kannon Muckerheide at 195 for a 24-0 lead, then the Warriors got back-to-back pins at 220 and 285 before the forfeits started, included double forfeits at 106 and 120.

The most exciting matches came at 126 and 132. At the lighter weight, Josh Vogt and Liam Glewen were even after the first period (4-4), then Vogt took a 6-4 lead with a reversal near the end of the second.

Glewen chose down for the third period and tied the match 6-6. Then with :23 left on the clock, Vogt escaped for a 7-6 lead and it looked like he would win until the referee warned him for stalling with :03 left and awarded a stalling point to Glewen at the buzzer, much to the dismay of the KHS coaches and fans.

In the sudden death overtime, Glewen worked a throw for a five-point 12-7 victory.

At 132, Waupun's Trevor Roecker was leading Nathan Heberer 6-0 after four minutes when Heberer came up with a throw for a takedown and nearfall. Roecker managed to get off his back, however, then Heberer let him go in an effort to try for a takedown and the win. Roecker was able to fend off Heberer in the final seconds for a 7-5 win.

Kewaskum and the other EC schools will be at Berlin for the EC Tour-namment on Saturday, Feb. 2, starting at 9 a.m. Current Indian records in EC action are as follows: 113—Droese, 5-1; 126—Vogt, 2-2; 138 and 145—Alex Butler, 3-0; 132—Heberer, 1-2; 138—George, 1-1; 138—Marx, 0-3; 145—Braden Maertz, 6-0; 152—Deheck, 1-1; 160—Bauer, 6-0; 170—Goeman, 6-0; 182—Larson, 5-0; 195—Kannon Muckerheide, 3-3; 220 and 285—Lawrenz, 2-2.

Kewaskum lost one team point for unsportsmanlike conduct on the bench.

Short-handed Indians No Match For Mighty Waupun

By Judy Harlow

Competing against state-rated Waupun is enough of a challenge at full strength, and it's nearly impossible for a team that is playing without two key members.

The Kewaskum High boys basketball team found itself in that position January 25, trying to play the host Warriors without its high scorer Joshua Bocher and its number two scorer, John Mark Bocher, resulting in an 81-38 loss to the Warriors, who are currently sitting number two in Division 3 rankings.

Joshua, who is averaging 13.9 points per game, was home sick, while John Mark (8.9 ppg. average) also was sidelined by illness. He tried to play but only lasted two minutes, according to KHS coach Don Gruber, who said, "They (Warriors) were superior in all phases of the game ... They're just a super team."

"Just looking to compete (with the Warriors) was our goal," Gruber said, so he started the game using a zone defense in hopes of slowing Waupun down, but that only worked for about three or four minutes.

Then "it was just a blowout," according to Gruber, who said it was the 6-foot, 6-inch all-state guard Marcus Domask, who ignited the Warriors.

Domask, who is a candidate for Mr. Basketball in Wisconsin this year, got his team on a roll with three straight three-point baskets.

"I think Domask had seven all by himself," Gruber went on about the Warriors' long-range shooting.

Gabe Keach chipped in with three as the Warriors scored 39 points from beyond the arc.

In the first half, the Indians scored 20 points and were still down by 31. Seniors Talon Ralph and Brad Buechel led KHS with six and four points before intermission and wound up with eight and four, respectively as none of the Indians managed to hit in double figures.

Domask led the winners with 33 points, four above his average of 28.6 ppg. Keach wound up with 11.

With the loss, KHS is currently 1-8 in East Central play and 3-11 overall. Waupun is 8-0 and 13-1.

The Indians hope to be back at full strength for their games against Winneconne (away) and Berlin (home) on January 29 and February 1.

Paulowske Sitting Sixth In Three-Point Contest

By Judy Harlow

Sharp-shooting Maxine Paulowske, a 5-foot 3-inch junior guard on the Kewaskum High basketball team, is currently sitting in sixth place among Division 2 players in the state's Three-Point Challenge, sponsored by Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association.

According to statistics on the wissports.net website, Paulowske has attempted 106 three-point shots and has connected on 44 of them for a .415 shooting clip.

The current leader in Division 2 is Pewaukee's Sarah Newcomer, who has made 30 out of 60 attempts from beyond the arc for a .500 average. In the second spot is Beaver Dam's Madyson Wilke, who is shooting .465, hitting 33 of 71 tries.

The girls with the top two percentages — only those who have 75 attempts for the entire season qualify — will compete in a shootout during the WIAA State Girls Basketball Tournament held at the Resch Center of the UW-Green Bay campus. The shootout will take place at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, March 9, the day of the WIAA finals for the girls.

The competition continues until the Monday of the regional games in the state.

DNR Seeks Comments And Data To Assess Surface Water Quality

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources is seeking public assistance to improve evaluation of the state's surface water quality. Assistance is requested in two forms: guidance comments and water quality data. The submission period for both ends on March 1.

The Wisconsin Consolidated Assessment and Listing Methodology, known as WisCALM, provides guidance to assess surface water quality and trends against standards set by the Clean Water Act. The methodology is updated for each biennial surface water assessment cycle and the current guidance is being updated for the 2020 cycle.

This year's updates include:

- An updated definition of the Impaired Waters List and creation of the Restoration Waters List and Healthy Waters List; Chlorophyll-a lake listing benchmark and terminology change; and

- Addition of a Quick Link section with links including Wisconsin administrative code, federal guidance documents, and monitoring strategies and protocols among others.

"Wisconsin's surface water quality is good and improving in many areas, but by updating the technical guidance and maintaining the impaired waters list, the state works to address changes through targeted improvement plans," said Ashley Beranek, DNR water resources management specialist.

A copy of the draft guidance can be downloaded by clicking on the following link: Draft 2020 WisCALM. For more about these changes, visit dnr.wi.gov and refer to the Water condition assessments & reporting page. Public comments on the latest WisCALM guidance can be submitted to: dnrimpairedwaters@wisconsin.gov or via mail to Ashley Beranek, DNR, Bureau of Water Quality, 101 S. Webster St. WQ/3 Madison, WI 53707.

Surface Water Data

Every two years, the DNR requests that citizens and interested groups submit their surface water data (biological, chemical and physical). Data meeting specified requirements will be evaluated, along with department data, to assess the quality of the state's water resources and to pinpoint problem areas. In accordance with the Clean Water Act, DNR uses these assessments to prepare a statewide Integrated Water Quality Report ("Integrated Report"), which includes an updated list of impaired waters.

DNR is especially interested in data that:

- Documents improvement due to implementation of pollution control practices;

- Documents healthy waters;

- Supports planning for restoration or protection of water bodies;

- Identifies public health risks; or

- Is from water bodies in the Northeast Lakeshore areas, Fox

River (Southeast) basin, or Grant, Platte, Sugar or Pecatonica River basins.

To enable DNR to efficiently process the data, a specific data submittal format is used. Data must be submitted electronically and the information must be submitted in specific Excel spreadsheet formats, along with quality assurance documentation. Templates and further instructions are available on the Surface Water Assessments webpage at <https://dnr.wi.gov/topic/surfacewater/assessments.html>.

DNR Secretary Cole Announces Additional Appointments To Leadership Team

Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources Secretary Preston Cole today announced additional appointments to his leadership team.

Todd Ambs has been named DNR Assistant Deputy Secretary. Ambs previously served as DNR Water Division administrator from 2003-2010. Ambs has worked in the environmental policy field for more than 35 years, most recently as the director for Healing Our Waters-Great Lakes Coalition. He has extensive experience in both state government and nonprofit organizations including serving as executive director of two statewide river organizations, policy director for the Ohio Attorney General and senior policy analyst for the Wisconsin Department of Justice. Ambs graduated from Eastern Michigan University in 1980 with a BS in Political Science/Speech.

Eric Ebersberger has been named Interim

DNR Budget Director for the DNR Office of Management & Budget. Ebersberger's public service experience goes back more than 25 years, including working as deputy administrator in the Environmental Management Division, as chief of the Water Use Section within the Bureau of Drinking Water and Groundwater, as an analyst and manager in the Bureau of Management and Budget and as an attorney in the Bureau of Legal Services.

Manufacturing Is A Bigger Share Of Wisconsin's Workforce Than Most Other States

In 2017, the manufacturing sector in Wisconsin produced $59.1 billion in economic output, according to the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis, the most recent year for which figures are available. That year, manufacturers employed 16.4 percent of the state workforce, nearly twice the national average of 8.6 percent and second only to Indiana.

In addition, overall manufacturing jobs in Wisconsin still provide significantly higher than average pay despite factory workers being less likely to have a college degree. The average manufacturing job in the state paid $56,980 in 2017 compared to the average annual wage of $47,250 for all workers. Jobs in production, or on the factory line, provide relatively strong wages though they pay less than the average across all state occupations.

Manufacturing workers are also more likely to belong to a union than other Wisconsin workers.

The industry also accounts for the vast majority of state exported goods. The U.S. Census Bureau reports manufacturing contributed $20.8 billion of Wisconsin's $22.3 billion in total exported goods in 2017, or just over 93 percent — above the national average. Manufactured goods have consistently made up that percentage or more of state exports over the past decade. The industry's 2017 state exports were also 58.7 percent more than in 2000, even after accounting for inflation.

Area Fans Cheer On Local Competitors In X Games Aspen

By Anne Trautner

Local motorcycle riders competed in the Snow Hill Climb at the X Games held in Aspen on Sunday, but none were able to capture a medal at the event.

The Harley-Davidson Snow Hill Climb featured a total of 16 competitors from across the country. Eight of them hailed from Wisconsin: Louie Lauters, Campbellsport; Dan Lauters, Jr., Kewaskum; Josh Mueller, Kewaskum; Lloyd Mueller, Kewaskum; Luke Cipala, Ellsworth; Logan Cipala, Ellsworth; Joel Falde, Ellsworth; and Kirk Mueller, LaValle.

Josh Mueller and Luke Cipala fared the best of the Wisconsin group and made it to the quarterfinals of the competition.

It was the second year that the Harley-Davidson Snow Hill Climb was held at the X Games.

For this year's snow climb, racers sped up the face of the Big Air jump as the sun set over Buttermilk Mountain. Though hill climb athletes don't often race on snow, Logan Mead showed his versatility, walking away with his first X Games gold. Last year's winner, Travis Whitlock took the silver medal and Jake Anstett took third.

Sunday marked the fourth and final day of the X Games Aspen 2019. The sky was sunny and temperatures were mild as the international field of athletes competed in their respective sports.

Some 43,000 spectators attended the X Games on Sunday to witness the grand finale of the X Games events, which included the Harley-Davidson Snow Hill Climb, Monster Energy Men's Snowboard SuperPipe and Snow Bike Best Trick.

Fans gathered locally on Sunday to cheer on their favorite Wisconsin motorcyclists as they climbed the snow hill.

Both Sunburst and the Curve In Bar hosted parties so fans could watch the races as they were broadcast live on ESPN and on the West Bend

Harley-Davidson Facebook page.

Despite the enthusiasm of the local fans and all their preparing for the event, Sunday was just not their day.

Over the entire four-day X Games event in Aspen, 117,000 people passed through the gates to watch top athletes from around the globe compete in a total of 21 events on six custom built courses at the base of Aspen's Buttermilk Mountain. Daily live music was performed throughout the interactive X Fest.

Now the group will have a place to decorate, which will help with recruitment and publicity efforts. The new facility offers needed storage space as well.

In addition, the new building is an ideal location. It located where members have traditionally parked for West Bend's Memorial Day Parade, Fourth of July Parade and Christmas Parade.

"The location is absolutely perfect. It is where we gather either the beginning or end of parades," Cross said.

The Kettle Moraine Detachment 1203 Marine Corps League has a long history of helping the community.

"We are Marines that are still serving our country, but are serving our community. That is what we are passionate about. We want to serve our communities, and our fellow brothers and sisters," said David Earhart, commandant of the local organization.

"Marines were trained to serve," Cross said. "In my case, I'm too old to serve my country in many other ways, but I find ways to serve now."

For example, Cross is the chairman of the Washington County Veterans Service Commission. He also recently started speaking to youth at the Washington County Juvenile Detention Facility.

"Maybe if you can touch just one young life, maybe you have served a purpose," Cross said.

The Marine Corps League is made up of active, former and retired Marines, as well as Navy corpsmen. The local group has Kewaskum ties as well. John Fleischman, who is a Kewaskum resident, and Dan Coulter, who is formerly of Kewaskum, are both members.

"I enjoy the camaraderie," said Fleischman, who has been a member of the Marine Corps League since 2005. "The fundraising is also nice to help different charities."

The Kettle Moraine Detachment 1203 Marine Corps League holds fundraisers throughout the year. Proceeds have gone to support such causes as: USMS Youth Foundation, Salvation Army, Guitars for Vets, Honor Flight, West Bend Food Pantry, Fisher House, Kewaskum Remembers 9/11 Memorial, High Ground, Habitat for Humanity, Amputee Veterans Softball League, Vietnam Veterans Moving Wall, Life of Hope Suicide Prevention, Interfaith Caregivers, Germantown Kiwanis Band Shell, Allenton Little League, Dry Hooch, Responder Services, Heroes On The Water and Chix For A Cause cancer fund.

The Kettle Moraine Detachment Marine Corps League meets the third Saturday of each month at 9 a.m.

To join, make a donation or find out more information about the Kettle Moraine Detachment 1203 Marine Corps League email alwaysmarine1203@gmail.com or call 414-526-7928.

Enhancing Education In Washington County - Application For United Way Funding Now Available

United Way invites any eligible nonprofit agency or coalition to apply for three-year funding under their Education Impact Pillar. Each year, United Way accepts applications for program funding under one of their three impact pillars—Education, Financial Stability, or Health—as these are the building blocks for a better quality of life.

The education pillar is focused on ensuring that local youth obtain the education and skills needed to become positive, contributing members of the community.

Programs must serve Washington County residents, advance United Way's education goals, and align to one or more of their four focus areas:

- School readiness
- Early childhood reading proficiency
- Middle school reading proficiency and success
- High school graduation.

All applications for United Way funding must be outcomes-driven and evidence-based. The deadline for education program applications is March 22. Funds will be dispersed beginning in 2020.

To obtain more information about United Way, the application process, eligibility and program requirements, visit www.UnitedWay-OfWashingtonCounty.org.

"Education is essential for success in life," said Kristin Brandner, Executive Director of United Way of Washington County. "It equips individuals with the needed skills and abilities to be successful in jobs with wages and benefits that can sustain a family."

United Way's mission is to mobilize the caring power of Washington County to improve lives and community conditions in measurable and lasting ways. United Way is a volunteer-driven organization that serves all communities in Washington County. It is governed by a board of community volunteers, dedicated to providing funding and community resources for health and human services needs in the areas of Education, Income Stability, and Health.

ous factors regarding the possibility of widening the road, including meeting with Jody Heipp, principal of Kewaskum Elementary School, and agreed that there was not a need to widen the road.

In other action last week, the Village Board:

- Approved changing the administrative assistant position so that it includes some of the duties of the village deputy clerk-treasurer responsibilities. The board approved increasing hours so that the position is now a three-quarters position.

- Granted permission for the Kettle Moraine ATV Club to park in the municipal lot for a poker run on February 2.

- Approved a request from the Kewaskum Public Library to close its checking account at PNC Bank.

- Approved hiring Steve Ramthun as a lab technician at the village's wastewater treatment plant.

- Approved hiring Julie Hundermark from GovTemps as interim treasurer.

Check It Out!

A Column By Kewaskum Librarian Lori Kreis

As I sit here at home on a snow day, viewing the pristine whiteness and thankful I do not have to go out in it, I am reminded of a fun parenting job – announcing to my children that school is closed for snow.

When they were little and I worked for the Milwaukee Public School system, I enjoyed snuggling with them while the snow fell, sleeping in and waiting until I could put on their snow suits and make snow angels. As they got older, I would sneak in their rooms and turn off their alarms, but they usually would wake up and yell "snow day" before falling back to sleep.

As they are adults now, I no longer get the pleasure of telling them they have a snow day. My daughter is the associate director of a school so she would know before I do. One of my sons works in healthcare. He would seldom have a day off for weather. The other son works with his dad at their business and convincing the owner to close for snow is a difficult task and not one I was successful at today.

When I started at the library, I asked village administration about closing for weather and I was told that just doesn't happen very often. When the forecast calls for dangerous conditions, out of concern for the safety of staff and patrons, the library would most likely be closed. However, even though the physical building would be closed, many library services are never closed. Were you aware of that?

Check out the online databases and resources links on the Kewaskum Public Library's webpage. Except for Ancestry, which can only be accessed in the library, there are quite a few resources you can access from the safety of your warm home.

Did you finish the book you have checked out and are looking for a next read? Use the Libby app through Overdrive to download an eBook or audio book. Run out of a movie to watch? Wisconsin's Digital Library allows you to borrow movies. RbDigital magazines lets you instantly read current and back issues of over 140 different titles. Start a class through Gale Courses or begin learning a new language with Pronunciator.

The digital world is amazing with immediate access to a considerable amount of information and I am proud that Kewaskum Public Library can offer all that and more to our patrons. I am blessed to be able to work on my home computer during the snowstorm. I can get through my weekly task list, plan a few upcoming programs and not miss the submission deadline for the paper. And if I finish with time left over, I might throw on a pair of snow pants and make a few snow angels.

Funds were raised by former Fond du Lac HOG Chapter members and friends who would go annually to the Pilgrim Camp and give rides to medically challenged individuals on motorcycles and in sidecars. It was the wish of former chapter member Art Draeger to continue helping the camp grounds. Monies donated were designated to be used to update the dock system for water activities and make the camping experience memorable.

Flu Can Have Dangerous Domino Effect On Older Adults

It has been recognized for many years that people 65 years and older are at greater risk of serious complications from the flu compared with young, healthy adults because human immune defenses become weaker with age.

While flu seasons can vary in severity, during most seasons, people 65 years and older bear the greatest burden of severe flu disease. In recent years, for example, it's estimated that between about 70 percent and 85 percent of seasonal flu-related deaths have occurred in people 65 years and older and between 54 percent and 70 percent of seasonal flu-related hospitalizations have occurred among people in that age group. So influenza is often quite serious for people 65 and older.

At 56 years of age, Rick Patton, Fond du Lac County Veterans Services director, understands the risks associated with age and influenza. That's why he annually receives his influenza vaccination — for his benefit as someone who has asthma, and those he serves.

"When I got the flu back in January, had I not gotten the flu shot earlier, I most likely would have been hospitalized for a while due to asthma complications," Patton says. "That is my main motivation to get a flu shot every year."

And, in his role, Patton says it's the right thing to do for his clients. "I spend a lot of time with veterans and a vulnerable population," Patton explains. "Having the flu shot is important so I don't infect those I come in contact with. I know some individuals are hesitant to get the flu shot because they think they will get the flu."

The vaccine cannot cause a flu illness. The vaccine either has a killed (inactivated) form of the virus that is not infectious or it is made with proteins from a flu vaccine virus that is attenuated, or "weakened," and therefore cannot cause the flu.

"After getting the flu shot, some people can experience a mild fever, tiredness or feel a little achy," says Kim Mueller, Fond du Lac County health officer. "This is your body building an immune response to the vaccine and is called an immune response. When you come in contact with the virus later in the season, your body will recognize the virus and be able to fight against it."

Patton is also familiar with others who are concerned they might still get the flu even after being vaccinated. While that is true — unfortunately you may be exposed to a flu virus shortly before getting vaccinated, or because you may be exposed to a type of flu that is not included in the seasonal flu vaccine — the vaccine is not foolproof, but it is the best way to protect against flu infection.

"Last year, I was out a few days with the flu, and providers mentioned that having the shot minimized the symptoms, length and severity of the flu. It would have been worse had I not received the immunization."

Flu vaccination is especially important for people 65 years and older because they are at high risk of developing serious complications from flu. Older adults can also benefit from a high dose flu vaccine, which contains four times the amount of antigen as a regular flu shot. It is associated with a stronger immune response following vaccination (higher antibody production). The high dose vaccine has been approved for use in the United States since 2009.

"Flu vaccines are updated each season as needed to keep up with changing viruses," according to Kandipati Sreenivasarao, DO, (also known as Rao), Fond du Lac Regional Clinic North Fond du Lac family medicine physician. "Also, immunity wanes over a year so annual vaccination is needed to ensure the best possible protection against influenza. A flu vaccine protects against the flu viruses that research indicates will be most common during the upcoming season. Immunity from vaccination sets in after about two weeks."

Flu vaccination has been shown to reduce flu illnesses and more serious flu outcomes that can result in hospitalization or even death in older people.

"Older adults with weaker immune systems often have a lower protective immune response after flu vaccination compared to younger, healthier people," says Dr. Sreenivasarao. "This can make them more susceptible to the flu. Although immune responses may be lower in the elderly, vaccine effectiveness has been similar in most flu seasons among older adults and those with chronic health conditions compared to younger, healthy adults. "Despite the fact that older adults have weaker immune responses to flu vaccines, there are many reasons why people in that age group should be vaccinated each year," Dr. Sreenivasarao adds.

In addition to getting the flu shot, people 65 years and older should take the same everyday preventive actions the Centers for Disease Control & Prevention (CDC) recommends of everyone, including covering coughs, washing hands often, and avoiding people who are sick.

The area was under a wind chill advisory from 4 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 29.

The National Weather Service issued a wind chill warning for the area that went into effect from 6 p.m. Tuesday until noon on Thursday, Jan. 31. Dangerously cold wind chills were expected for southern Wisconsin. Wind chills of 20 below to 34 below zero were expected for Tuesday, and wind chills were expected to dip down to between 35 below and 55 below zero Tuesday night through Thursday morning.

Extremely cold air was expected to settle into the area Tuesday evening through Thursday. Low temperatures in the 20 to 30 degree below zero range were expected Tuesday night and Wednesday night.

"This will be one of the coldest stretches of temperatures and wind chills we have ever seen," the National Weather Service reported in its warning.

A Wind Chill Advisory means that cold air and the wind will combine to create low wind chills. Frostbite and hypothermia can occur if precautions are not taken. Be sure to wear a hat and gloves.

A Wind Chill Warning means the combination of very cold air and the wind will create dangerously low wind chill values. Frostbite can occur quickly and even hypothermia or death if precautions are not taken.

Brrrrr!

Severe winter weather hit the area this week, as nearly a foot of snow fell in Kewaskum on Monday, Jan. 28, followed by frigid temperatures through the remainder of the week. On Monday, Kewaskum residents could be seen using a variety of vehicles and tools to clear snow, while school buses remained in the Johnson Bus parking lot as schools were canceled.
