Local Community Waves Happiness Into Kettle Moraine Gardens

By Anne Trautner

The weather was cold and windy on Monday, April 13, but that did not stop a "Wave Parade" from bringing joy to the residents of the Kettle Moraine Gardens in Kewaskum.

With horns honking, a parade of vehicles weaved its way through the Kettle Moraine Gardens parking lot. There were cars, trucks, SUVs and even a tractor in the festive parade. There were flags, bunnies and colorful decorations, with many of the vehicles decorated for Easter.

Children, teens and adults waved from inside the 59 vehicles that took part in the event. Many parade participants held up handmade signs to greet the residents.

The residents beamed with happiness as they waved to all the visitors as they drove past. Because the temperature was only about 37 degrees, many of the residents watched the parade from inside their rooms. A few of the residents bundled up and watched the parade from outside.

It was the first time the residents had visitors since March 21, when the facility was locked down because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Farmington Elementary Receives Award

Farmington Elementary School is one of only seven schools in the state that received a Wisconsin Title I School of Recognition Award for being both a High Achieving and a High-Progress School in the 2019-20 school year.

"This award is a great example of how students benefit when everyone works together," said Jake Flood, Farmington Elementary principal. "As I walk into classrooms daily, it is inspiring to witness the results of the effort and hard work that is put into teaching every child. I believe that our teachers have been working tirelessly to find the best ways to meet our students' needs, and our students are reaping the benefits as they are experiencing growth in reading and mathematics. Equally important is that this award validates and highlights the collaborative efforts of our students, parents, and staff. One could not be prouder to be in a school and district that serves as a true team to maximize the growth of all students."

The Schools of Recognition Award is presented to schools that receive federal Title I funding to provide resources and services to economically disadvantaged students. Criteria for receiving a Schools of Recognition award includes reaching goals for test participation, attendance, and graduation rates. Additional award criteria include:

High-Achieving Schools

- Have achievement gaps that are less than three percentage points between student groups or show evidence of reducing gaps greater than three percentage points; and

- Demonstrate high achievement at the school level across content areas.

High-Progress Schools

- Fall within the top 10 percent of schools experiencing student growth in reading and mathematics for elementary and middle school students or the top 10 percent of schools with the greatest improvement in high school graduation rates; and

- Have achievement gaps that are less than three percentage points between student groups or show evidence of reducing gaps greater than three percentage points.

Unchartered Territory

– i4Learning Community School No Longer A Charter School

By Anne Trautner

The Kewaskum School District no longer has a charter school.

At the Kewaskum School Board regular meeting last month, the board did not renew a contract to keep i4Learning Community School a charter school. The five-year contract ended on March 9.

"If we lock ourselves into a contract, I think it handcuffs a little bit what we are doing from a flexibility standpoint. Moving forward, keeping things viable is really what we are trying to do here," School Board President Mark Sette said.

According to Superintendent James Smasal, the way to keep three elementary schools viable is "to make sure they have the same day care services, the same professional development opportunities and the same nimbleness to put kids in which schools we need to."

The Present

Dear Reader,

A Buddhist Monk once wrote that "To live in the present moment is a miracle." Given the current situation of being sequestered, we are finding new ways to bring body and soul to the present moment. Being present means being mindful of how we engage with each day. Life is racing away from us, speeding up to a barely noticeable zoom as we get older and our present will soon be the past that we long for.

There is a peace when we locate ourselves in time and place, of taking part in the miracle of life. With thoughtful awareness, we are found in a moment of timelessness. We are ourselves — shed of the world's demanded costumes and make-up, minds rendered naked. There is no desire dedicated to self-absorption because there is peace.

At some point, for each of us, our boat will come into harbor and our journey on this earth will end. What are the best ways to fill the moments in which we live? How can we celebrate those who nourish and guide us, those who have molded us? Will they become the ghosts that reside in our memories or can we bring them to full color each day of communion?

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

A special thank you to the Town of Farmington Clerk Chris Schellinger and all the poll workers who worked at the April 7th election!

Chris took every precaution possible to insure the health and safety of voters and poll workers. From tape on sidewalk and carpet marking proper distances, providing sanitizer for voters, plexiglass, masks and glove coverings for poll worker stations and sanitizing voting booths after each voter!

And thank you to all voters who exercised their right to vote coming through lines often with their own protection and for offering thank you's to poll workers for working. Lastly, special recognition to the owner of West Bend Subway who dropped of sub sandwiches for the poll workers.

This is just one reason I am so proud to be a member of this community who supports their local government and volunteers who provide so much for the well being of its' residents.

SHERIFF'S REPORT

Injury Vehicle Crash, Town of Sherman

On Friday April 10, at approximately 5:20 p.m., the Sheboygan County Emergency Communications Center received a 911 call in reference to a single vehicle injury crash located on Creek Road in the Town of Sherman.

Preliminary investigation indicates that a 56-year-old Adell man was exiting a driveway located on Creek Road at a high rate of speed. Instead of turning onto the roadway, the vehicle continued straight across the roadway and entered the opposite ditch, which caused the vehicle to become airborne before coming to a rest. The driver was taken via Flight For Life to Froedtert Hospital with injuries sustained in the crash.

The following public safety agencies assisted with this incident: Sheboygan County Sheriff's Office, Random Lake Ambulance, Random Lake Fire Department, Silver Creek Fire Department, Orange Cross Ambulance and Flight For Life.

Kewaskum American Legion Post Closed During COVID-19 Crisis

American Legion Robert G. Romaine Post 384 in Kewaskum is closed by order of Gov. Tony Evers because of the "Safer At Home" order, which requires gatherings to be of less than 10 people, with no less than six feet of space between people.

Post 384 will not have a monthly meeting until further notice.

Members who need help or know of another veteran who needs help are encouraged to call a buddy on the list.

under the Safer at Home order," Evers said. "Unfortunately, growing difficulty with ensuring social distancing compliance, dwindling cleaning supplies and mounting trash are some of the challenges faced by our state parks staff. We have to address the growing public health and safety concern and protect Wisconsinites."

Despite waiving fees, closing state park offices, visitor centers, and non-essential buildings to help minimize the transmission of COVID-19 at parks, the situation has reached a point where public safety in the parks and surrounding communities takes precedence over keeping these locations open. If the public does not follow social distancing guidelines and vandalizes property, more state parks may have to close.

The public should follow simple steps to prevent illness and avoid exposure to this virus including:

- Avoid social gatherings with people of all ages (including playdates and sleepovers, parties, large family dinners, visitors in your home, non-essential workers in your house);
- Frequent and thorough hand washing with soap and water;
- Covering coughs and sneezes;
- Avoiding touching your face; and
- Staying home.

Plant Sale To Benefit Area Schools

By Anne Trautner

An annual plant sale fundraiser is being held to benefit Farmington Elementary School, Kewaskum Middle School and Kewaskum High School.

"Considering all of the chaos this year, gardening and the upcoming spring season is something that people are so looking forward to. I was so happy when the school district still allowed me to proceed with the fundraiser. It's uplifting that at least one thing isn't being cancelled!" said Sarah Moris, who works with a group of volunteers to coordinate the plant sale.

Orders can be placed online at www.kewaskumplantsale.com. The deadline to order is April 27.

Flowers can be picked up on May 18 at Farmington Elementary School, where there will be curbside service, with volunteers loading plants into cars. If anyone is interested in volunteering on the delivery day, many helpers are needed. There is a link on the website to register.

"Of the dozens of orders placed so far this year, I've found it interesting the large number of vegetable plants that people are ordering. It seems a nationwide trend is true in Kewaskum. 'Victory Gardens' are making a comeback," Moris said.

The term "Victory Gardens" refers to home gardens which appeared during World War I and during the influenza outbreak of 1918-19, when President Woodrow Wilson encouraged families to grow their own food. He suggested that people grow food wherever they could find room, including backyards and on city rooftops or fire escapes.

There are estimates that during World War II, about 40 percent of the nation's vegetables came from gardens grown at home or schools.

This phenomenon may be at play again as Americans worry about empty shelves at grocery stores or restrictions during the COVID-19 pandemic, Moris pointed out.

Last year, the district sold over $17,000 in plants. The schools that participated were Farmington Elementary School, Kewaskum Middle School and Kewaskum High School, as well as the Kewaskum FFA. Together, these schools earned over $5,000.

This year over $15,000 in plants and flowers were ordered (wholesale price) in January. Prices were kept the same on 90 percent of the items this year to keep prices as low as possible, but the schools receive the profit.

"Everyone loves this fundraiser and it has grown and grown! Sales benefit the entire community," Moris said.

Everyone from the community is welcome to order, whether or not they have students in the school district.

Faithfully Celebrating Easter

Communion is distributed during a drive-in service at St. Andrew Lutheran Church in Farmington on Easter Sunday.

By Anne Trautner

A thick, heavy fog covered the Kewaskum area the morning of Sunday, April 12.

Easter Sunday had arrived.

This year, local Christian churches celebrated the holiday in ways they have never done before. Since March 25 when the "Safer At Home" order was set into place in Wisconsin, churches across the state have been finding ways to hold services.

In Kewaskum, people have been attending services virtually through YouTube, Facebook and other online programs, as well as televised services.

St. Andrew Lutheran Church in Farmington has been holding drive-in services with communion (weather permitting). When parishioners arrive, they park their cars and tune their radios into the correct station so they can hear the service. During the closing hymn, when weather is cooperative, the church has been holding drive-through communion and a collection for offerings and attendance cards.

On Easter Sunday, the church held two of the drive-in services.

"Given the circumstances, it is good that we are able to do it this way. We hope we will be back in the church soon," said the Rev. Jonathan Vierkant, pastor of the church.

At Holy Trinity and St. Michael Catholic Church, the Rev. Jacob Strand offered "drive-through" Easter blessings, along with Renewal of Baptismal promises, on Easter Sunday.

He was not expecting a large crowd. He was pleasantly surprised when about 40 cars filled with people came through for an Easter blessing at Holy Trinity.

"Then I went to St. Michael and saw the entire parking lot full of cars," Strand said. "Witnessing the faith of everyone on Easter Sunday was a beautiful sign of everyone's faith."

Strand was also happy to see all the familiar faces.

"Being able to go around to every car and see parishioners who I haven't seen in a month was emotional. You are accustomed to seeing certain faces every single week, and then seeing them again made me aware of that absence," Strand said.

"The most powerful thing was seeing how much people wanted to come to church and to pray and just to take part in the joy of the resurrection. People really, really wanted it to be Easter. And it was Easter. That is the good thing. It's not like COVID-19 has taken Easter away from us. No one can do that," he added.

At Peace United Church of Christ in Kewaskum, worship gatherings, along with classes and meetings are being offered virtually. The church's website states: "It feels very strange to suggest that we close the church building for a block of time in order to support the community's efforts to halt the spread of the Coronavirus. And yet Jesus' command to Love God and to Love our Neighbor as our-inquired about opportunities to continue offering faith-based services and gatherings while still complying with the governor's "Safer At Home" order.

Gov. Evers and the Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) Secretary-designee Andrea Palm issued a Safer at Home order to mitigate the spread of COVID-19, effective at 8 a.m. on Weds., March 25. This order remains in effect until 8 a.m. on Friday, April 24, or until a superseding order is issued.

This order applies to the entire state. All Wisconsinites must stay at home as much as possible and non-essential businesses and operations must cease, with limited exceptions for minimum basic operations and working from home. All public and pri-ivate gatherings of any number of people that are not part of a single household or living unit are prohibited, except for the limited exceptions contained in the order.

Under the governor's order, churches and religious entities are considered essential. Any gathering must include fewer than 10 people at a time if it occurs in a room or confined space. Thus, churches and religious entities wishing to conduct services while still complying with the governor's order may, for example, conduct services via:

- Parking lots with congregants staying in cars, avoiding person-to-person contact;
- Streaming online; and
- Having small gatherings (fewer than 10 people in each room) with multiple services. Churches and religious entities are encouraged to review and comply with all DHS guidelines, including guidelines for community and faith based organizations available here.

The governor's Safer At Home order is enforceable by any local law enforcement official, including county sheriffs; however, the governor's office has not asked law enforcement to supervise or take enforcement steps against religious gatherings. Local law enforcement are asked to assist local communities and congregations understand the governor's Safer At Home order and help folks take precautions to keep themselves, their neighbors and their communities safe.

selfs pushes us to steadily think of the needs of others ahead of our own needs. At this time, refraining from gathering together is a very tangible way of trying to do our part to care for our neighbors as a part of a global effort. God's love is wide and open, but our physical building is not at this time."

Options For Religious Gatherings And Services

On April 9, Gov. Tony Evers reiterated options for religious gatherings and services. Religious organizations and places of worship have

No one in the parade was allowed to get out of their vehicles or hand things to residents. The goal was to give the residents a way to safely socialize and to bring happiness.

That was definitely accomplished, according to Donna Gajewski, activity director at the facility.

"We wanted to express our thanks from all the staff and residents of Kettle Moraine Gardens," Gajewski said on Monday afternoon. "Considering the unseasonable weather that we had today, we were thrilled with the turnout of families and community members. We are so very grateful to everyone who came and showed their support of our residents. You have no idea how much this meant to them. They have been talking about it all afternoon! And all the work that everyone did decorating their cars and making signs...this really touched our hearts! Thank you, thank you, thank you! Kewaskum rocks!"

Cars were all decked out for Easter during the Wave Parade at Kettle Moraine Gardens on Monday, April 13. A total of 59 vehicles took part in the parade.

The muddy lot on the corner of First and School Street is still empty, but the Kewaskum Public Library Foundation has quietly started the fundraising process for a future library expansion. The Foundation, a non-profit organization barely two years old, formed as part of a community-led effort to purchase the house adjacent to the library. Since then, the foundation has razed the house and hired an architect to produce some drawings that show what a possible future library could look like.

Kewaskum held its first Autism Awareness 5k Run/Walk on Saturday, April 18, with more than 500 people participating. The event was hosted by On The Spectrum Support Group and was organized by chairperson Nikki Busalacchi. Proceeds of the event will go toward funding items needed to improve the quality of life for local families living with autism.

The Wisconsin Department of Instruction has released test scores for the Wisconsin Knowledge and Concepts Examination (WKCE). Kewaskum School District students improved their scores in all tested subjects. In the area of science, KSD raised the number of students testing at a proficient or advanced level by five percent. In social studies, the number of students in the proficient or advanced range improved by six percent.

A daughter, Gwen Marie, was born to Paige and Joshua Peterson of Kewaskum on April 13 at the Aurora Medical Center in Grafton.

John D. McElhatton, 85, of Kewaskum, entered Eternal Life on Saturday, April 18, at his home in Kewaskum while sleeping.

Howard O. Kirchner, 85, of Kewaskum, passed away on Saturday, April 18, at his home.

There's a new captain of the ship in the Town of Kewaskum. His open door policy management style seems to be a breath of fresh air to many township residents. The new Town Chairman Ellis Kahn and supervisor Ellen Dettweiler were sworn into office on Tuesday, April 12. Incumbent officials were also sworn in. The Statesman erroneously reported that they were to be sworn in on April 18.

The exceptional quality of meat products by Kewaskum Frozen Foods of Kewaskum was recognized at the 66th annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of Meat Processors, held in Madison on April 8 and 9. At the Meat Product Show held in conjunction with that meeting, Kewaskum Frozen Foods received the following product awards: Ring Liver Sausage, Reserve Grand Champion; Fresh Traditional Brat, Reserve Champion; Fresh Breakfast Links, Grand Champion; Fresh Specialty Bratwurst, Reserve Grand Champion; and Smoked Polish Sausage, Reserve Grand Champion.

Three Kewaskum High School juniors proved that this small rural town school can still get the job done. Last week Principal Christine Horbas was notified that three of her juniors were in the top three percent of all students in the United States who took the PSAT test last fall. Of course, any good coach, or teacher in this case, knows it's 90 percent the ability and effort of the student that makes them a success and only 10 percent of the coach or teacher.

Ira Heberer, 67, of Kewaskum, passed away on Tuesday, April 19, at Froedtert Memorial Lutheran Hospital in Wauwatosa.

Eugene P. Fay, 75, of West Bend, formerly of Parents of students from Wayne Elementary School were present at this month's school board meeting to voice their disapproval of a suggestion to move a third grade class from Wayne to Kewaskum Elementary School. Although it was only one of many points school board members were discussing in order to come within revenue caps established by the legislature as they began to work on the upcoming budget, parents wanted their opinions to be heard before any decisions were made.

Election Requirements Were Followed

By Timothy Ramthun
State Representative
59th Assembly District

Over the past week and a half, there was a tremendous amount of debate regarding when the spring elections should take place. Scheduled for April 7th, the people of Wisconsin were divided on whether the election should be postponed or should proceed as planned.

For weeks prior, the Legislature and Governor Evers were of the same opinion, the election must happen on April 7th. On March 17th, Gov. Evers said he wouldn't wait until the day before the election to suspend it. On March 20th, he said moving the election date would not solve the problem, as the outbreak could still be around in June. And on April 3rd, the Governor said he couldn't move the date on his own, as he lacks the authority to do so.

Despite this, on April 6th, Gov. Evers issued Executive Order #74, attempting to unilaterally suspend in-person voting until June 9th, going against everything he'd previously said with no reasonable rationale for doing so. Not only that, he also went against the state constitution, which he took an oath to uphold.

In his executive order, Governor Evers wanted the Legislature to vote to allow the election to be essentially postponed to June 9th, or he would do it himself. That might have been acceptable for the presidential primary and WI Supreme Court race, as whoever wins that race won't take office until August. However, it would have had serious repercussions for over 2,000 local and county offices who were also on the ballot.

According to the Wisconsin State Constitution, the terms for individuals holding municipal and county offices must end this April, with many ending next week. That includes mayors, city council members, town board members, county board members, school board members, etc. Current officeholders must vacate their positions at that time to make way for whoever won the election, be it themselves or a challenger.

Local and county leadership is incredibly necessary during this outbreak, and having those offices be empty would have had disastrous consequences. Those municipal officeholders are on the front lines, working with the state government to assess the situation and report what they need. Losing the crucial connection would have been devastating.

It had been suggested the current terms for local and county offices be extended to accommodate a delayed election. That would have required an amendment to the state constitution, a process which requires two years at minimum. It would have been violating the constitution to extend those terms between now and June 9th.

The situation was far from ideal. I fully understood the public health concerns surrounding the election. However, when it comes to exercising civic duties, there is a level of personal responsibility that is necessary. Absentee voting options had been available for weeks before election day. Many who were concerned about the safety of in-person voting had already requested and returned absentee ballots by election day.

Municipal clerks around the state did an amazing job filling the huge increase in absentee ballot requests. Milwaukee and Dane counties both had early voting available for several weeks before the rest of the state. This outbreak did not happen overnight, and voters were given plenty of time and opportunities to exercise their right prior to election day if they didn't feel safe voting in-person.

With the feedback received, the vast majority of the 59th district did not want the election postponed. Aside from the constitutional violations, many were concerned about the ample opportunities for voter fraud a postponement in the election would create.

With all that in mind, the election proceeded as was required by the state constitution.

Thomas E. Butzke

Thomas "Tom" Elroy Butzke, age 66, passed away on March 26, 2020.

Tom was born on October 10, 1953 to the late Elroy and Lucille (Backhaus) Butzke.

Tom is survived by his daughter, Brooke Butzke; one brother, Robert (Kathy) Butzke of West Bend, Wisconsin; three Sisters, Bonnie Skrentny of Kewaskum, Wisconsin, Jane (Bob) Laubenstein of Green Bay, Wisconsin and Kelly Rosenthal of Lexington, Kentucky. He is further survived by his many nieces and nephews.

Tom was a graduate of Kewaskum High School and majored in accounting at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Tom worked as an accountant for the IRS, the Wisconsin State Department of Revenue and various other accounting firms. Tom also worked in a variety of jobs in construction and landscaping. He was especially proud of his work with recovering alcoholics through his involvement in Alcoholics Anonymous. He was an active member for years as a proud sponsor for many people and an educator of the 12 steps.

He treasured the relationships he developed with both his sponsors and those he mentored, viewing them as a second family.

Tom loved the outdoors including fishing, hunting and being out in the woods. He often recalled the farm, cutting wood and spending time with his Uncle Vic. He loved watching movies, the Packers, the Brewers, and reading westerns. Tom recently enjoyed the simple pleasure of playing cards for nickels and pennies. He took great pride in his well-styled mustache, using lip balm as his "go to" tool of choice for that perfect curl, thus acquiring the nickname "Uncle Chap Stick" from some of his nieces and nephews. Tom had a beautiful and booming singing voice, only equaled by his enthusiastic laugh.

Tom is preceded in death by his parents; a sister, Mary Woolman-Teeple; and his brother-in-law, Thomas Skrentny.

Tom lived a simple life. Given many difficulties in his life, Tom lived positively and held tight to his faith in Jesus, in the values of Alcoholics Anonymous, and the Serenity Prayer.

Funeral plans are pending.

The family would like to thank the ICU staff at Froedtert Hospital (West Bend), Dr. Olafasson, Dr. Moni, the Nurses, and a host of other really compassionate providers, especially in the face of the Covid-19 pandemic. Their care and support allowed him to pass with the grace and dignity he and his family desired.

God, grant me the Serenity to accept the things I cannot change, Courage to change the things I can, And Wisdom to know the difference. Living one day at a time, Enjoying one moment at a time, Accepting hardships as the pathway to peace. Taking, as Jesus did, this sinful world as it is, Not as I would have it. Trusting that He will make all things right if I surrender to His Will. That I may be reasonably happy in this life, and supremely happy with Him forever in the next. Amen -- Reinhold Niebuhr

A Column By Kewaskum Librarian Lori Kreis

Last week I wrote how social distancing is not as difficult for me as it may be for others that are more social beings. However, I do miss helping patrons in ways they need. We have added a chat feature to our website, respond to emails and Facebook messages as soon as we can, and answer voice mails left on the library phone when we are in the building. That helps but is not the same as sitting down with a person and taking care of their needs face to face. We are still able to help with just about all issues although it may take a while. We have successfully helped citizens download apps on their devices over the phone, took care of expired cards through chat and have made unemployment resources available via email.

I do want to mention how thankful I am that library staff can still complete work from home to ensure we are being safer at home. Everything we are completing at home is either work we have been doing at the library when we were open or will enhance the patron experience when we reopen. Here are some things your library employees have been completing at home.

There are a multitude of webinars that have been assigned to all staff. A lot of these focus on customer service skills and how best to assist citizens with all their needs. Other webinars, especially at the beginning of our work at home, were COVID-19 informational sessions directed towards library personnel. One of the best was how to safely bring materials back in the building after they are returned. More specified courses were assigned to staff depending on what work they perform at the library; some more program centered and others on cataloging or book repair.

Additionally, employees were given assignments to familiarize themselves with our digital resources. I anticipate they will be experts when asked for assistance in downloading an eBook from Libby or searching for a magazine in RbDigital. Being at home gives staff an ideal opportunity to become acquainted with our newer databases such as atozdatabases or one our two language databases: Pronunciator and Transparent Language.

Other things staff have been doing while working from home are getting ready for programs. Some are preparing crafts for patrons to use or researching and scheduling new and innovative programs. We are still offering programs, albeit virtually, such as story times on Facebook Live. I am proud of the staff making great use of their time at home to arrange for our reopening and the programs we will offer. We are so pumped to start signing you and your family up for these fun and educational programs, once we know what dates to have them scheduled.

Those are just a few of the tasks your library staff have been completing at home. I hope these will make your library experience with us the best it can be.

The Costs Of Educating Young Minds And Results, School District Data Tool Provides District Comparisons

By Karen Rouse

The cost to educate young minds in public schools located in Campbellsport, Horicon, Kewaskum, Lomira and Mayville averaged $11,509 per student in 2017-2018, receiving average revenues of $12,420 per student. The information comes from the Wisconsin Policy Forum which provided an interactive online School Data Tool to the public.

These five school districts are presented for comparisons because they are located within the readership areas of three local publications (Campbellsport News, the Kewaskum Statesman and the Dodge County Pioneer) which are owned by the same publisher.

Student enrollment, full-time equivalent teacher hours and graduation rate charts are self explanatory. Expenditure averages include costs of instruction, pupil services, instructional staff services, general administration, building administration, transportation and central services. The state school funding system is complex, encompassing federal, state and local revenue sources. Here, only local revenue sources are compared. Financial data is presented on a per-pupil basis.

Since the 2015-16 school year, all juniors in the state have been required to take the ACT, a standardized test for college admissions. The test has five sections: English, math, reading and science, plus an optional writing section. In addition to composite cores (a weighted combination of each test score), the ACT provides college readiness benchmarks for each subject test.

The Wisconsin Forward Exam data, is the state's principal indicator of student academic proficiency for students in third through eighth grades. The data contained in the accompanying tables shows the percentage of eighth grade students whose scores were proficient or advanced for each test.

The online School Data Tool can be found at <https://wispolicyforum.org/research/school-datato>

Art Contest Held For Public School Students

Students are invited to prepare for adventure with the fifth annual WEA Member Benefits Student Art Contest.

New in 2020, the contest now has a theme: Adventure and Explore. Art submissions can include places students have traveled or dream of traveling to, an imaginary place, a person or creature that is adventurous or likes to explore, or students are able to provide their own creative interpretation of Adventure and Explore.

Again this year, monetary prizes from the WEA Member Benefits Foundation, Inc., will be awarded to ten student winners, and one student artist will receive the "Loeymae Lange Best in Class" award. The "Best in Class" award is named in memory of Loeymae Lange, a former art teacher at Cooper Elementary school in Burlington. Her brother, Dr. Paul Lange, and his wife June are honoring Loeymae's legacy and love for art by providing this memorial gift to the WEA Member Benefits Foundation, Inc.

"To see this contest entering its fifth year is extremely exciting and a testament to the talented students and art teachers we have across Wisconsin," said David Kijek, WEA Member Benefits President and CEO. "We are grateful to be able to use Dr. Lange's generous gift to honor his sister's legacy and promote recognition and positive self-esteem for student artists."

The deadline to enter the 2020 student art contest is Thursday, April 30. Students can submit art projects done at home during the Safer at Home order. Finalists will be announced around May 19. The student finalists and their teachers will be recognized at a student art show in Madison in August.

More information about the art contest, including contest rules, eligibility, and art submission information is available at weabenefits.com/studentartcontest.

Be There For Farmers; They Are Always There For You

By Randy Romanski
DATCP Interim Secretary

The COVID-19 public health emergency has forced all of us to think about what is essential in our lives. While some decisions are difficult, others are clear. Food and agriculture are essential. Food and those who produce it are fundamental to our personal well-being and our state's strength.

We are privileged to live in a state that produces an abundance of nutritious, high-quality foods. From fruits and vegetables to milk and meat, Wisconsin agriculture is diverse and plentiful. You do not have to drive far in Wisconsin to see the farms and fields that feed us. Unfortunately, this pandemic has impacted the entire world and has the potential to cause disruptions to the food supply chain here in the Midwest.

In recent days, we have seen devastating photos and videos of milk being disposed of in manure lagoons and heard stories of processing plants in some parts of the country reducing their hours due to COVID-19. These situations are worst-case scenarios that no one can prepare for. No one works seven days a week, 365 days a year to see milk not leave the farm. No one wants to shut down processing lines and lay off employees at a time when families need their paycheck more than ever.

Even during this public health emergency, farmers and processors are working tirelessly to produce food for all of us. While you may have walked into a store in the past month and saw an empty shelf, it is not because there is no food. It just may not have gotten on the shelves yet. Grocery stores are working tirelessly to be sure families have a variety of fresh, frozen, and packaged foods available.

With schools closed and restaurant service limited, an entire component of food processing and distribution has been unexpectedly disrupted. These processors and distributors are now rapidly working to adapt to the current conditions, but there is only so much they can do so fast. They must work within the conditions of the equipment, packaging, and transportation methods available to them. A carton of milk is much different than a gallon, and a can of green beans packaged for your family is much different than a bulk purchase for a school.

Across the industry, agricultural advocates have encouraged consumers everywhere to support farmers. I want to add my voice to that message. From weeks of conversations with our dairy and livestock farmers, crop producers, agribusinesses, and food suppliers, here are four takeaways:

1. Shop responsibly. Food is and will be available. While your favorite brand or flavor may not be available at a certain time, remember how lucky we are to live in a state and country with access to a variety of foods.

2. Buy Wisconsin products. Choose dairy products including milk and cheese. Pour an extra glass of milk at dinner, or add extra cheese to your pizza delivery. Buy beef for your grill or bacon for breakfast. Keep the supply chain moving by creating demand.

3. Donate to those in need. This is a very difficult time for thousands of people who are underemployed or unemployed. Many, including our farmers and those in rural communities, are struggling to make ends meet. If you are able, grab an extra gallon of milk for a neighbor or drop off canned vegetables at your local food pantry.

4. Share your thanks. Now is the time to express your gratitude to our essential workforce, including those in food and agriculture. Show your appreciation in your local community or on social media for those who fill our plates and stock our shelves every day.

The COVID-19 public health emergency will have a lasting impact on each of us, including Wisconsin's agricultural industry. I hope that by supporting the state's farmers and processors through our purchases now will ensure the industry's vitality in the future. Please be there for our essential workforce at this time, because they are always there for you.

Kewaskum FFA Supports Local Dairy Farms

Several Kewaskum FFA members were involved in a surprise donut delivery to 18 area dairy farms on Wednesday, April 8.

Many FFA members were very concerned when they heard about some dairy farms having to "dump" their milk due to the "surplus" in the system during this time. Members wanted to do something to help the dairy farms during this tough situation.

FFA president Jada Straight learned of an opportunity to team up with local community member Erienne Guttman, who organized yard signs to show support and promote more dairy product consumption. Along with free yard signs, the FFA members included a sweet treat of donuts to add a bright spot to the dairy farm owners' and employees' day. The delivery was done by the FFA members who are employed by the dairy farms. FFA advisor Shelly Oelhafen organized event.

The box of donuts and sign delivery were very well received. Members were very happy to see smiles on many faces.

The Kewaskum FFA will receive a portion of money from the sale of the "Support Dairy" yard signs. The FFA plans to use that money to make a donation to the local food pantry to help purchase milk and other food items that are needed to help many families. (Social distancing and other safety protocol were practiced during the deliveries.)

Time To Reevaluate Our COVID-19 Policies In Wisconsin

—A Statement From Duey Stroebel

State Senator Duey Stroebel (R-Cedarburg) released the following statement on COVID-19 in Wisconsin.

“This Sunday marked one month since Governor Evers declared a public health emergency, and according to the prevailing national model[1], we will be near the peak of COVID-19 growth in Wisconsin. This national model has revised down its predictions to a total of 424 Wisconsin deaths by August 4th. A March 26th document from the Department of Health Services shows an expected positive test count of 22,000 by April 8th, with 440-1,500 people already infected who would eventually die.

“The trajectory of cases and deaths in Wisconsin is many times lower than the initial projections upon which Governor Evers and secretary-designee Andrea Palm based their policies. With COVID-19 patients only taking up about 13.3 percent of all ICU beds in Wisconsin, with about 29 percent of ICU space still available[2], the concern of overwhelming our medical system is not as imminent or inevitable as it may have seemed previously.

“As we enter this new phase of the COVID-19 response, I believe we need a fresh look to reevaluate our policy choices. Every sickness and death is a tragedy, but so are businesses and livelihoods ruined by shelter in place orders. The same rings true for the pronounced negative impacts on civil liberties and quality of life. Good policymaking is a cost/benefit analysis. There are benefits to health safety measures, but new data demands we rerun our analysis continuously. I doubt it made sense to close state parks on account of intermittent outdoor social distancing concerns given the real numbers.

“Nationwide there are dramatic economic impacts from our COVID-19 prevention strategies. The coffers of Wisconsin will not be immune from the brakes being slammed on our economy. Besides being counterproductive, indefinite sheltering orders will eventually lead to civil disobedience. We need to begin planning an orderly method of reopening our civil life in stages to refresh our economy and liberties soon. Even under optimum restart conditions, tough decisions will need to be made about our state finances. States can't print money like the federal government can.

“It is irresponsible to conceal the truth from Wisconsinites that we will likely be unable to live up to all the promises of the current state budget. I am not going to tell constituents, who are losing their businesses, getting laid off and seeing their nest eggs dip with the stock market, to pay higher taxes so that state and local employees can avoid unpaid furloughs or so that government programs can grow at twice the rate of inflation. We do not yet know what our fiscal challenges will look like in a few months, but these are challenges that will only get worse if we fail to reopen our society in a timely fashion.”

Gov. Evers Announces COVID-19 Volunteer Program

Gov. Tony Evers announced April 10 that the state is seeking volunteers to support Wisconsin's healthcare system during the COVID-19 pandemic. Active and retired healthcare professionals and those who wish to help in non-clinical support positions are encouraged to sign up to volunteer through the Wisconsin Emergency Assistance Volunteer Registry (WEAVR).

“We are creating a wide network of volunteers to increase capacity at hospitals and clinics across Wisconsin,” said Evers. “Our top priority is to make sure there are enough resources to care for the growing number of people who require hospitalization or other healthcare interventions because of this pandemic.”

The number of patients in Wisconsin who need to be treated for COVID-19 is expected to surge in the coming weeks. Building a network of available volunteers now will greatly reduce the hardships on hospitals and clinics that would not normally have the capacity to care for the increase in patients.

Both active and retired healthcare professionals can volunteer for critical clinical roles by entering their information into the WEAVR, a secure, password-protected, web-based volunteer registration system for healthcare and behavioral health professionals. Individuals who are not licensed professionals are also encouraged to sign up to volunteer for non-clinical support positions.

Volunteers will be assigned to locations across Wisconsin to support ongoing efforts related to the COVID-19 national emergency.

Those who are willing to travel should note that when they sign up. All volunteers should also be aware that they will be required to complete a background check.

Playgrounds in Kewaskum are currently closed because of the COVID-19 pandemic.

WisDOT Moving Forward With Construction Projects Statewide

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) announced that the construction of 371 roadway infrastructure projects throughout the state are currently scheduled to proceed this season. With close collaboration with contractors to maintain safe and productive work environments, work is already underway on more than 65 projects.

"Our well-being and our economy depend on a safe highway system, and this work will be vital to our recovery efforts now and in the future," WisDOT secretary-designee Craig Thompson said. "My gratitude goes out to our employees and all our contractors for the hard work they are performing with diligence and care."

WisDOT is working with staff, contractors and laborers to follow the latest guidance from public health officials to prevent the spread of COVID-19. These measures include increased sanitation requirements in work zones, social distancing, and teleconference or electronic meeting requirements.

The decreased traffic in Wisconsin allows more flexibility for some projects. Lane restrictions cause less impact to the public and safety zones can be expanded.

- Remember, when entering a work zone please pay attention to your surroundings.

- Eliminate distractions like eating, drinking, talking on the phone, or using other electronic devices.

- Expect the unexpected. Speed limits may be reduced, traffic lanes may be changed, and people and vehicles may be working on or near the road.

- Give yourself room. Rear-end collisions are the most common work zone crashes, so don't tailgate.

- Allow about four seconds of braking distance and look for signs. Orange, diamond-shaped signs usually give you ample warning of lane closings, construction areas, and flaggers and other workers ahead.

- Be patient. If you don't see workers, that doesn't mean they're not there. Observe the signs until you see one that says you've left the work zone.

- Plan ahead. Leave early or map out an alternate route. Find the latest road conditions and work zone news at 511 Wisconsin.

- Follow the law. Slow down or move over, if possible, when you see flashing lights.

Current road construction information can be found at www.511wi.gov.
