Signs Of Development Seen At Reigle Family Park

By Anne Trautner

The entrance of Reigle Family Park is now marked by a large stone bearing the park's name. The village park is located at 690 Edgewood Road in Kewaskum.

The stone, which was set in place on Wednesday, June 10, is the first element of the park's new sign. Metalwork that is currently being created is slated to be added to the sign in about three weeks. When completed, three flagpoles will stand proudly behind the new sign.

Like other parts of the park, the sign is the result of donations and work done by volunteers.

Kiwanis Park Swim Pond To Open Next Week

– Pool Open To Village Residents And Non-Residents

By Anne Trautner

The swim pond at Kiwanis Park in Kewaskum is set to open next Wednesday or Thursday, June 24 or 25.

At a meeting on Monday, June 15, the Village Board voted to reverse its June 1 decision to open the swim pond to village residents only. The swim pond will now be open to both village residents and non-residents.

However, to allow for social distancing, only 150 people will be permitted at the swim pond at a time. Because of the COVID-19 pandemic, the village is not offering any swim lessons this year.

The swim pond will be open daily from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. On warm days, those hours may be extended from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Wrist bands will be available for purchase at the swim pond for two different swim shifts offered each day. The exact hours of the shifts are to be determined. If the first shift ends and there is no one waiting to get into the swim pond, swimmers can stay later. Wrist bands can be purchased for only one shift per day.

Wristband prices are: ages 2 and younger, free; ages 3-17, $3; and ages 18 and older, $5. Passes can be purchased in advance at the swim pond. There will be no refunds, even for inclement weather.

The inflatable slides and climbing structures will not be installed this summer to encourage social distancing.

KHS Graduation Plans Broadened

By Anne Trautner

More people are now going to be able to attend an outdoor graduation ceremony on July 24 for the 2020 Kewaskum High School graduates than previously thought.

"We are recommending instead of two tickets that they are given four tickets for graduation, which is pretty much the same as it has been in the past," District Administrator James Smasal said at the Kewaskum School Board meeting on Thursday, June 11. "We did the math... We can fit 600 spectators at graduation."

The Kewaskum School Board approved the proposal at last week's meeting. Each graduate will now be able to have four tickets for guests rather than two. Traditionally, the KHS graduates have each received four or five tickets for family members to attend the graduation ceremony, according to Smasal.

This year's ceremony will be held outdoors on the school football field at 7 p.m. on Friday, July 24. The rain date is Saturday, July 25, with a second rain date of Sunday, July 26.

Because of the COVID-19, everyone will be socially distanced at the outdoor ceremony.

At last week's School Board meeting, the board decided that the crowd will be arranged differently than previously discussed. A stage will be set up on the north end of the football field, under the scoreboard.

Peace Pantry Serves Those In Need

By Anne Trautner

A new little pantry is located in the parking lot behind Peace United Church of Christ in Kewaskum to help people in need.

Shaped like a miniature church, the Peace Pantry is accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The pantry has non-perishable food items, as well as some perishable food such as bread. It also contains household items such as toilet paper, toothbrushes, toothpaste and soap.

The pantry is stocked through donations. To contribute, simply place food or items inside the little pantry. Volunteers organize the food, placing some in storage until it is needed in the Peace Pantry.

Anyone who needs anything from the pantry is able to help themselves to the items whenever the need arises. Everything is free for the taking.

"Anybody in need can come any hour of the day or night," church volunteer Kathy Charland said.

Kiwanis Park Swim Pond To Open Next Week

The Village Board previously had decided to open the swim pond to village residents only to keep attendance numbers down. However, since then, the village has received numerous requests to open the swim pond to non-village residents, so the board reversed that decision.

"Seeing that we serve different areas of our county and a lot of families outside of Kewaskum have been patrons for many years, my feeling is we can't just open it to village people only," Swim Director Butch Buddenhagen said.

Many people do not understand that village taxes pay for the swim pond; they feel that as long as they live in the Kewaskum School District, they should be able to go to the swim pond, Buddenhagen told the board. In addition, some people feel a connection because they work in the village.

The board considered offering season swim passes for families like the village has done in the past. Because of the occupancy limit being set at 150, there might be days that a family with a swim pass might not be able to get in the swim pond, so the board ultimately decided against season passes.

"I am concerned with having a limit and family passes," Village President Kevin Scheunemann said. "There might be days that we would be turning away people who pay for the pond."

Village Trustee Dave Spenner said at Monday's meeting that he was concerned that village residents might not be able to get into the swim pond if it has already filled with 150 non-residents.

"I don't feel comfortable taxing this community for something they might not be able to use," Spenner said.

The board hopes that by having two different time slots, more people will be able to enjoy the swim pond.

Buddenhagen asked the board Monday night whether swimmers would have to sign a waiver saying they would not hold the village responsible if they contracted COVID-19.

"There has been discussion about this among the municipalities," Village Administrator Matt Heiser said. "If there is a claim, we are protected by recreational immunity."

To follow the county health department's recommendations to prevent the spread of COVID 19, employees taking money at the swim pond entrance will wear gloves and hand sanitizer will be available for use.

In addition, staff is trying to institute six-foot distancing rules, although it will be difficult to enforce, according to Buddenhagen. Areas have been marked around the umbrellas and around the shelters to encourage people to maintain six feet between one another.

SHEBOYGAN COUNTY SHERIFF'S REPORT

Fatality Accident: Town of Sheboygan Falls

On Saturday, June 22, at approximately 6:22 p.m. the Sheboygan County Emergency Communications Center received a 911 call reporting a vehicle that was off the road and appeared to have been involved in a rollover accident on County Road J near Alpine Road in the Town of Sheboygan Falls.

When deputies arrived, they discovered a 64-year-old man who resides in the area had been ejected from the vehicle and was deceased. There were no other vehicles involved and there were no passengers.

The driver has been identified as Paul W. Schauer, 64, of Sheboygan Falls.

Public safety resources assisting on this complaint include: Sheboygan County Sheriff's Office, Town of Sheboygan Falls Fire Department, Orange Cross Ambulance Service and the Sheboygan County Medical Examiners Office.

Publisher's Letter

The Present

Dear Reader,

This Sunday is Father's Day as you all know and by now you may have been thinking about your dad and all he means or meant to you. As a tribute to my father who passed away some time ago, I remember the gifts that he gave to all of his eight children including myself. He, with the support of our Mom, provided for us and worked tirelessly so that we never had to worry too much about the wolves at the door. He also gave us a place of refuge and safety, and we knew that we could always come home if anything adverse ever happened should we need to recharge and recalibrate again.

He bestowed on us a belief in ourselves and that we could do anything we set our minds to do in the world because, as ominous as it sometimes would seem, the world is only as big or small as you make it. This foundation of thought and perspective was one of the greatest qualities any father can impart to his children. Reassuring one's children and helping them to pursue their hopes and dreams by insisting that they believe in themselves is an inherent part of being a

Dad.

For those who take the time, Happy Father's Day because you deserve it if you've earned it.

KHS Graduation Plans Broadened

During the ceremony, the scoreboard will be used to broadcast information on the graduates. Music will be streamed through the speakers.

The graduates will be seated in the front. Behind the graduates, groups of four chairs will be placed across the field. Each group of four chairs will be separated by six feet.

"It will look like a normal ceremony," Smasal said.

The plan is for graduates to be called up to walk across the stage, where they will take their diploma off the table and return to their seats. The crowd will likely be dismissed by sections to prevent overcrowding.

Washington County Opens New Dog Park

– Park Amenities Throughout Washington County Remain Open

Sandy Paws Dog Park, located in Sandy Knoll County Park in Washington County, is now open.

The new park consists of a small dog area and an eight-acre large dog area featuring open play areas and hiking trails. County park amenities, including dog exercise areas, disc golf courses and beaches, have remained open during the entire COVID-19 pandemic. An opening event will be planned at a future date.

The dog park is presented by West Bend Fleet Farm and made possible by the Stockhausen Family.

Sandy Paws is the second dog park for Washington County Parks that is fully funded by contributions from the community.

“Yesterday, I toured the new dog park with Curt and Dale Stockhausen,” said County Executive Josh Schoemann. “Without their generous donation, this dog park would not be possible. The Stockhausens’ generosity ensures many more generations will enjoy the park; it was a privilege to open this dog park with them. Recreation activities have always been important to our community and are even more critical to our quality of life.”

Contributing sponsors include: West Bend Fleet Farm, Dawgs in Motion/Pretty Paws Pet Grooming, Pet Supplies Plus, West Bend Petco, Heart and Soul Pet Clinic (formerly known as West Bend Animal Hospital), Big Cedar Pet Care, Pruett’s Floor Covering and Conley Media.

Anyone interested in becoming a sponsor or making a donation is asked to call 262-335-4445.

An annual or daily park entrance pass is required to enter the park. However, there is no additional fee to use this dog park or any other amenities in the parks. Passes can be purchased online at www.washcoparks.com. Annual pass holders will also have access to all county parks, including Homestead Howl Dog Park at Homestead Hollow County Park in Germantown.

Sandy Paws Dog Park, located in Sandy Knoll County Park in Washington County, is now open for dogs and their owners to enjoy.

Music In The Park To Begin In July

The Kewaskum Area Arts Council is excited to announce that Music in the Park will continue as planned this summer from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Tuesday evenings at River Hill Park in Kewaskum.

The schedule of performers is as follows:

- July 7 - Big Cedar Bluegrass
- July 14 - Copperbox
- July 21 - The Verdict
- July 28 - Pat McCurdy
- August 11 - Goodtime Dutchmen
- August 18 - Whiskeybelles

Please know that the health, safety and comfortability of the audience and performers are of the utmost importance in this time. Precautions are being taken to make this event as safe as possible. Tables will be removed from the usual shelter space to allow for social distancing. Audience members are advised to bring lawn chairs and other objects to sit on and are asked to maintain a six-foot distance space between spectators.

Audience members are also asked to utilize personal protective equipment, including masks, whenever possible while enjoying these events. Limited food options will be available for purchase from the Kewaskum Fire Fighters Association.

If at any time the Kewaskum Area Arts Council deems this event unsafe for spectators, performances will be cancelled and future performances will be re-evaluated. Current information about the status of Music in the Park can be found on the Kewaskum Area Arts Council website at kaacouncil.org as well as on the Kewaskum Area Arts Council Facebook page. Thank you for your time and patience. Council members look forward to seeing you this summer.

Kewaskum River Celebration Planned For June 27

A Kewaskum River Celebration will be held on Saturday, June 27, 3-7 p.m.

The public is invited to come and enjoy this slow paddle event. Free guided lessons will be offered for those new to kayaking.

There is reserve seating available for 24 lucky Kewaskum residents. Covid guidelines will be followed.

Kayak launching will be from lower River Hill Park on the west side of the Milwaukee River.

Launch times include: 3 p.m. with Zodiac On The River; 4 p.m. with Riveredge Nature Center; and 5 p.m. with The Silent Wake Kayak Company. To reserve a seat, call Peggy at 414-333-3689 or visit BridgetCenter.org/events.

Experienced kayak/canoe folks can park and enter the river from the north. A portage is located on the river off Wildlife Drive, just northwest Kewaskum High School.

At 4:44 p.m. river blessing songs and drumming will be performed on the east river bank. There will be no food vendors due to Covid.

Bring a basket supper.

A river celebration will be held in Kewaskum on Saturday, June 27. Kayaks will be launched from lower River Hill Park on the west side of the Milwaukee River. Experienced kayakers can launch from the river on the north side of Wildlife Drive.

Froedtert Implements Changes To Visitor Policy

the Froedtert & the Medical College of Wisconsin health network has implemented important changes to its visitor policy.

Inpatient settings will allow one visitor per patient, per day (8 a.m. to 8 p.m.). For patients with COVID-19 or patients suspected of having COVID-19, visitors are not allowed at this time.

The hospital will continue to make exceptions for end-of-life decisions and care as well as other limited situations.

At this time, the visitor policy for ambulatory clinics, procedural areas, emergency departments and health centers remains unchanged and generally allows one visitor or support person per patient.

To prevent the spread of COVID-19 in its facilities, the health network is asking all patients and staff to wear face coverings and sanitize their hands. If a visitor or patient doesn't have a mask, a disposable mask will be provided when entering a building.

More information can be found at <https://www.froedtert.com/coronavirus/temporary-guidelines-visitors-volunteer-and-events>.

The Kewaskum Statesman office will be closed on Friday, July 3

FEATURE BUSINESS OF THE WEEK

Tuttle Creek Learning Center, Inc.

Tuttle Creek Learning Center, Inc. is proud to be in business for over 23 years. After purchasing the established center in 1997, Mike and Audra Beyer began molding the business, adding their own unique touches and continued the growing process to accommodate the communities changing needs. Over the past 15 years an infant, toddler, and two-year old room have been added to the already existing preschool room at the main site, as well as adding before and after school programs in Kewaskum Elementary School and Farmington Elementary School. They have been providing quality childcare for Kewaskum and the surrounding area for over 23 years, while continually improving and adding new features!

Audra brings 31 years of experience to the business and the Administrator, Crystal Hafemann brings 22 years of experience. Along with them, there are 10 employees depending on the time of the year. Mike and Audra Beyer are supportive of their staff going back to school through funding in conjunction with the TEACH Scholarship Program.

Thank you to all of the parents who have shared their precious children with us! We feel truly blessed to have met each and every one of you. We look forward to many more years of helping your children grow!

A Column By Kewaskum Librarian Lori Kreis

Summer is here and with that, the library is offering another year of our Summer Learning Program. My column two weeks ago provided the specifics of what our program will include. It listed the prizes for all ages, the littlest ones to adults. The Kewaskum Public Library's theme - "125,000 Minutes Celebrating 125 Years of Stories" combines our village's anniversary with the Collaborative Summer Program's theme of "Imagine Your Story". Although the platform of an online tracking system is different this year, the concept is still the same. Summer Learning Programs are to promote the habit of lifelong reading and to prevent the loss of skills when school is not in session, otherwise known as summer slide.

Summer slide may have started in spring this year. I am not saying that parents and caregivers did not do their best to keep their children educated at home or that educators did not provide the finest resources they could to assist parents with this task. It was difficult, unprecedented, and not ideal learning environments. With our school closings and limits of e-learning, children may be back-sliding this summer from an even higher level than they might have otherwise reached with school in session.

Maybe you are not familiar with the concept and statistics backing summer slide. This idea has been around for at least 25 years when the first study was published. The study showed that children lose significant knowledge in reading and math over summer break, which tends to have a snowball effect as they experience subsequent skill loss each year. More recent studies show the loss of skills can top 30% if there are no supplemental learning activities over the summer. With so many programs, schools and other educational opportunities closed for the next few months, the library can fill in some of that decline.

Summer Reading Programs have been around since I was a young reader, and that is ages ago. KPL has recently altered the title of our program from reading to learning as we have incorporated more learning activities into it. Although reading is the most prominent feature as we look to the community to help us reach our goal of 125,000 minutes. We are making it super simple because who really needs additional difficulties this year? You can access our program through your computer or download the free app on your phone or tablet. For those without internet access at home, we can sign you up at the library and track your minutes for you. We will also have paper logs for kids that request them. Check out our website or social media for the link to sign up you and your family. Yes, we want the entire family involved. A family that reads together learns together and helps diminish summer slide, so your children are better prepared when they return to school. Hope to see you soon.

THE NEWS OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED FRIDAY, JULY 3RD

The Idea

One of the members of Peace Church came up with the idea after watching "World News Tonight with David Muir." On the show, there were people lined up who needed help.

After seeing that report, the Peace Church member heard about other communities that had changed Little Free Libraries into food pantries.

"I woke up in the middle of the night and I felt real strongly about it. I wanted to do something," said the church member, who wishes to remain anonymous.

So she called a member of the Kewaskum Public Library Board member, who told her that the Little Free Libraries in the area are used regularly. That meant that one of the little libraries could not be converted into a pantry, but perhaps a new little pantry could be built.

With that in mind, the church member called the Rev. Erik Kirkegaard, pastor of Peace Church, and told him about her idea. He quickly got on board, as did another church volunteer she contacted.

The church member also checked with the Kewaskum Community Pantry to make sure her idea would not interfere with the existing pantry. Instead, the Peace Pantry serves as a supplement to the Kewaskum Community Pantry, which is located on the corner of Reigle Drive and Second Street near Kewaskum Elementary School.

"We are not here to compete with the Kewaskum Community Pantry. We are here just to help people during these really troubling times to get over the hump," the volunteer said.

After the Kewaskum Community Pantry gave a thumbs up to the idea, the next step was building the Peace Pantry.

Building The Peace Pantry

When a friend of the church heard about the idea, he quickly agreed to work on the project.

"He built it, and now the goal is to help those who need food or personal care items," Charland said.

The builder, who wishes to remain anonymous, added special little touches to the tiny pantry. The steeple on top of the Peace Pantry is an exact scaled replica of the steeple on Peace Church.

Above the doors are two hands crafted from metal, sharing the sign of peace.

Inside the pantry is the number 2339. That is the badge number that belonged to the builder's family member, a firefighter who lost his life.

Quite fitting, the Peace Pantry opened for the first time on Memorial Day.

Making A Difference

When Xoe Perkins was growing up in Fond du Lac, she often had to go to food pantries to get food for her younger siblings.

Because she was a child herself, she did not have the paperwork that many food pantries required showing what her family needed.

"We had some little food pantries where you didn't need somebody's social security card or a piece of paper and proof of how many people were living at your residence. I was able to go to those pantries without having all those papers to grab food for me and my siblings," said Perkins, who is now 18 years old.

"They couldn't have a 9-year-old fill out that information. A 9-year-old can come grab food out of here, though," Perkins said about the Peace Pantry.

Perkins would have liked to have been able to go somewhere like the Peace Pantry where she could have taken food anonymously for her family.

"There were some churches where you could walk in and grab cans of soup and stuff from their foyer. It wasn't on this scale, though. This would have been easier," Perkins said.

Perkins remembers what that felt like.

"It was embarrassing having to go in there and grab food in front of people. That is pretty embarrassing, especially for little kids," she said.

Perkins is now trying to help others so they don't have to experience that embarrassment. She is one of the volunteers helping to organize the Peace Pantry.

One of the things she is doing is trying to spread the word so people know that about the Peace Pantry.

"We know there is a need out there," Perkins said.

The Tower Heritage Center Announces Re-Opening

The Tower Heritage Center—formerly known as the Washington County History Center—has announced it will re-open its historic building on June 10, following loosened guidelines in the COVID-19 pandemic.

To preserve the safety and comfort of all visitors and staff, The Tower Heritage Center kindly requests that all guests adhere to the following guidelines:

- Maintain proper social distancing

- Wear masks while visiting
- Use the hand sanitation stations
- Be kind and show patience

"We know our guests are looking for opportunities to get out and spend time with their families this summer, and we're confident we can deliver that," said Steve Stuckey, the new executive director of the Tower Heritage Center. "We take the safety of our staff and patrons very seriously, and we will continue to monitor our operations to make sure we're providing the best and safest experience for everyone."

To see a list of upcoming events and exhibits, to learn more about the Tower Heritage Center, or to ask any questions, visit the website at www.historyisfun.com or call 262-335-4678.

About The Tower Heritage Center

Formerly the Washington County History Center, The Tower Heritage Center of Washington County is an educational and history center that showcases more than 30,000 artifacts, documents, and narratives of achievement from throughout the history of Washington County, Wisconsin. Miller, Schmidt, Kulow, Cullen Claim Top Honors In PDTR Main Events

On an unseasonably cool early summer evening, the racing action was hot and heavy as Plymouth Dirt Track Racing staged its second racing program of the 2020 season Saturday, June 13, at the Sheboygan County Fairgrounds third-mile oval in Plymouth.

In A-main action, Adam Miller of Plymouth outdueled Kewaskum's Shane Wenninger and Sheboygan's Travis Arenz to claim his second career PDTR Kristine Hartmann Pleasant View Realty 25-lap 360 Sprint Car main event victory. Two-time defending PDTR Late Model champion Justin Schmidt of Cleveland nipped New London's Justin Ritchie by inches at the finish line to capture a spirited Gasroots Project 25-lap Late Model A-main. Donny Kulow of Elkhart Lake racked up his first career 25-lap PDTR Klips N Tips Grand National A-main victory and Jesse Cullen of Chilton was the victor in a hotly contested 25-lap Cellcom B Mod A main.

Polesitter Adam Miller led the 22-car 360 Sprint Car A-main field on the opening lap while outside front row starter Shane Wenninger slid into second place. On lap four, Wenninger worked the high groove to power around the low riding Miller exiting turn two.

Four laps later, the leaders began to encounter heavy lapped traffic, which allowed Miller, who had moved up to the cushion, to close the gap on Wenninger. On lap 13, Miller moved within striking distance as Wenninger attempted to work through dense lapped traffic.

One lap later, Wenninger moved low to maneuver past a slower car while Miller pounded the treacherous cushion to shoot back into the lead exiting turn four on lap 14. On lap 16, the first of two caution flags appeared when Chris Clayton of Waldo spun in turn two.

Miller, who was involved in a race-ending flip on the opening lap of last week's A-main, maintained the lead over Wenninger on the restart before fifth starter Tim Haddy of Waupun dove low entering turn three on lap 17 and pushed high in turn four before colliding with Wenninger, who made contact with the frontstretch wall and stopped exiting turn four to bring out the second caution of the race.

On the restart, seventh starter Travis Arenz used a daring low move to take over second place on lap 18. At the front of the field, Miller remained in control along the high groove as he moved through slower traffic in the closing laps to earn his second career PDTR and Midwest Sprint Car Association A-main victory by a 10-car length margin over the hard-charging Arenz. Haddy finished third, third starter Bill Taylor of Kewaskum was fourth and fourth starter Kevin Karnitz of West Bend rounded out the top five.

"We started the race by running pretty good on the bottom before Shane got by us around the top," Miller said in victory lane. "We were fortunate to get back around him in traffic and then we survived a few cautions to get the win. I couldn't have asked for a better bounce back after last week. We'll take it and move on to next week."

The action-packed Late Model A-main opened with Jim Schmidt of Cleveland taking the lead from the pole, while third starter

Justin Ritchie assumed second on the opening circuit. On lap three, Ritchie used the low groove to duck under Jim Schmidt in turn one.

One lap later, Justin Schmidt, who started fifth, used the high line to work his way into third place. As the leaders maneuvered through slower traffic, Justin Schmidt moved into second and closed the gap on Ritchie while four-time PDTR Late Model champion Brad Mueller of Random Lake, who started fourth, used the high groove to seize third and move in to pressure the leaders.

The first of five caution flags appeared on lap 11 when rookie Sawyer Specht of Sheboygan Falls and rookie Chad Ludwigson of Sheboygan Falls collided along the backstretch. On the restart, Mueller vaulted past Justin Schmidt along the high groove before the second caution was displayed for rookie Glen Blanke of Sheboygan Falls and Charlie Schmidt of Cedar Grove in turn three on lap 13.

The third caution flag came out on the next attempted restart when Greg Cantrell of DeKalb, IL, stalled on the backstretch. On the restart, Justin Schmidt again used the high groove to pass Mueller and challenge Ritchie for the top spot. On lap 16, Schmidt surged past Ritchie with a strong run along the cushion.

Three laps later, Justin Schmidt, Ritchie and Mueller were running in close quarters for the lead when Mueller made contact with the lapped car of Chad Ludwigson, which caused Ludwigson to spin while Mueller left the track with a flat tire, which brought out the fourth caution of the race on lap 19.

On the restart, Ritchie stayed precise on the low groove to regain the lead from Justin Schmidt in turn two on lap 19. Two laps later, the fifth and final caution flag appeared for Sawyer Specht in turn two.

Justin Schmidt was not to be denied in the closing laps as he continued to power through a very challenging and thick cushion to pull even with Ritchie in the closing laps. On the white flag lap, Justin Schmidt used a huge run out of turn four to edge Ritchie at the finish line to claim his 11th career PDTR Late Model A-main victory. Ritchie finished second, Jim Schmidt held on for third, sixth starter Turk Letizia of Milwaukee finished fourth and 2016 PDTR Late Model champion Tim Buhler of Greenbush finished fifth after starting seventh.

"The track was crazy tonight," Justin Schmidt said. "Turn four was very treacherous on the cushion. No one is better on the bottom than Justin Ritchie and it was a great race with him. I didn't know if I had him or not as it was back and forth for a while. On that last lap, it was just all or nothing. I went in hard, held on and it work out."

Former PDTR Grand National champion Matt Yancey of Sheboygan led the opening lap of the main event from the pole with outside front row starter Donny Kulow assuming second.

Yancey controlled the opening seven laps by clinging to the inside lane of the slick track surface before Kulow executed a strong low move in turn one on lap eight to seize the top spot.

Once in front, Kulow pulled away from the field as third starter Jeff Muehlbauer of Elkhart Lake moved in to pressure Yancey for the runner-up spot. Over the final 10 laps, Kulow remained smooth on the low line en route to his first career PDTR Grand National A-main victory by a half-straightaway margin over Yancey, who finished second. Muehlbauer placed third, fourth starter Luke Scholten of Oostburg claimed fourth and defending PDTR Grand National champ Tyler Kulow of Plymouth finished fifth after starting fifth.

After a caution flag on the opening lap for a two-car incident involving Steve Lorier of Sheboygan and rookie Trevor Frank of Sheboygan, Donny Singer of Random Lake paced the first three laps of the B Mod A-main from the pole. On lap four, rookie Will Garceau of Mishicot worked his way up from the third starting spot to take the lead.

The second of four caution flags was displayed on lap five for an incident involving Steve Lorier, Trevor Frank and Christopher Gilson of Elkhart Lake. Another caution appeared on the ensuing restart from Patrick Hanson of Sheboygan Falls and David McCutcheon.

On the restart, fourth starter Justin Bauer of Sheboygan Falls worked the outside groove to take second before fifth starter Jesse Cullen passed Bauer for second on lap six.

On lap seven, the fourth and final caution flag came out when James Rautmann of Howards Grove stopped in turn three. Cullen continued to show his strength on the restart as he moved in to pressure Garceau for the top spot, along with 2018 PDTR B Mod champion Tim Sheppard of Beaver Dam, who started eighth.

On lap eight, Cullen used the outside groove to work around Garceau into the lead in turn three. Meanwhile, defending PDTR B Mod champion Tim Warner of Fond du Lac, who started sixth mounted a charge in the late stages of the race to secure second on lap 14.

As Cullen found a distinct groove to his liking utilizing the middle portion of the track, Warner closed on the latter in the waning laps. However, Cullen held on to earn his third career PDTR B Mod A-main triumph. Warner was second, Sheppard placed third, Bauer wound up fourth and Garceau rounded out the top five.

"I could feel someone (Tim Warner) back there a few times near the end," Cullen said. "I feel I had a pretty good groove there on the bottom and the middle, which really seemed to work well in getting me to the front and into victory lane tonight."

Doug Wondra of Oakfield won the first 360 Sprint Car B-main and Justin Erickson of Plymouth captured the second 360 Sprint Car B-main.

The event, which was sponsored by Mayer Automotive, drew a total of 88 cars, including 36 360 Sprint Cars, 16 Late Models, 13 Grand Nationals and 23 B Mods.

The next PDTR program at The Plymouth Dirt Track will take place on Saturday, June 20, with gates opening at 4:30 p.m., hot laps at 5:30 p.m. and racing at 6 p.m.

The Dangers Of Consumer Fireworks

By Kenny Asselin, MBA, NRP

Every year, Americans patriotically celebrate the Independence Day holiday. In a normal year, July 4th is filled with families getting together for parades, cookouts, sporting events, and other various activities that are held by municipalities throughout the nation.

After the sun sets, professional fireworks displays take place in city parks where families can finish their evening to help celebrate the birth of our great nation.

Parents can put their children to bed knowing that the day was filled with events that were planned with a high degree of safety in mind.

However, 2020 is not a normal year. The COVID quarantine has reduced the ability for municipalities to allow large outdoor gatherings. The perceived inability to enforce social distancing guidelines in public parks after dark has caused the cancellation of parades, activities, and fireworks shows across the nation. That means that most people in the United States will not be able to attend the time honored tradition of Fourth of July fireworks displays in their hometowns.

People will still want private fireworks displays in order to make this Independence Day feel closer to normal. Unfortunately, that means unskilled and untrained people will launch fireworks in their front yards. In some cases, these amateurs may also be under the influence of alcohol or other drugs while attempting to conduct the fireworks displays.

Those who possess the consumer fireworks will also probably not have read the directions and manufacturer recommendations for the display of fireworks, nor have they read National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) 1123, Code for Fireworks Displays. That code is a guide for setback distances as well as safe practices for handling for fireworks shells as well as ground displays.

NFPA published a press release on June 10th, 2020, which discourages the use of consumer fireworks this holiday season. According to NFPA, "Fireworks started an estimated 19,500 fires in 2018, including 1,900 structure fires, 500 vehicle fires, and 17,100 outside and other fires. These fires caused five deaths, 46 civilian injuries, and $105 million in direct property damage. According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), U.S. hospital emergency rooms treated an estimated 9,100 non-occupational fireworks related injuries; burns accounted for 44 percent of the fireworks injuries seen in the month around July 4. Half of the fireworks injuries seen at emergency rooms around the month of July 4, 2018 were to extremities, particularly the hand or finger, or leg. One-third were to the eye or other parts of the head. Children ages 10-14 had the highest rate of fireworks injury, with more than one-third (36 percent) of the victims of fireworks injuries in this period under age 15."

The National Safety Council (NSC) discourages the use of sparklers. NSC states, "Every year, young children can be found along parade routes and at festivals with sparklers in hand, but sparklers are a lot more dangerous than most people think. Sparklers burn at about 2,000 degrees — hot enough to melt some metals. Sparklers can quickly ignite clothing, and children have received severe burns from dropping sparklers on their feet. According to the National Fire Protection Association, sparklers alone account for more than 25 percent of emergency room visits for fireworks injuries. For children under five years of age, sparklers accounted for nearly half of the total estimated injuries."

While there are a large number of people who seek treatment from their fireworks injuries in the emergency room, the worst cases are treated in the burn unit. The University of Wisconsin Burn and Wound Center in Madison is an American Burn Association verified burn center and treats those patients. In 2019, they admitted five patients who experienced fireworks related burn injuries. One of those patients received 25 percent total body surface area (TBSA) burns from fireworks. In 2018, a patient was struck by commercial grade fireworks while attending a party causing 17 percent TBSA burns, and was one of seven patients admitted to the burn unit that year.

According to the American Pyrotechnics Institute, revenue from fireworks was almost $1.4 billion in 2019. The display fireworks revenue was $375 million, an increase of $60 million from 2009. The consumer fireworks market almost doubled, from $630 million in 2009 to about $1 billion in 2019.

However, the reality is that people are going to buy and use consumer fireworks. The National Safety Council has the following consumer fireworks safety tips:

- Never allow young children to handle fireworks
- Older children should use them only under close adult supervision
- Never use fireworks while impaired by drugs or alcohol
- Anyone using fireworks or standing nearby should wear protective eyewear
- Never hold lighted fireworks in your hands
- Never light them indoors
- Only use them away from people, houses and flammable material
- Never point or throw fireworks at another person
- Only light one device at a time and maintain a safe distance after lighting
- Never ignite devices in a container
- Do not try to re-light or handle malfunctioning fireworks
- Soak both spent and unused fireworks in water for a few hours before discarding
- Keep a bucket of water nearby to fully extinguish fireworks that don't go off or in case of fire
- Never use illegal fireworks

Fire service organizations, hospital burn centers, and safety advocates are attempting to discourage the use of consumer fireworks. These have been very tumultuous times as this year has been ripe with its fair share of stress and turmoil. However, there are numerous other activities that can take place in the evening this Independence Day. As the old saying goes, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Be sure to promote safety by discouraging consumer fireworks use to ensure a great holiday weekend this year.

—Kenny Asselin is the captain of fire prevention with the West Bend Fire Department. He is also the International Association of Firefighters (IAFF) 5th District Burn Coordinator, a Wisconsin State Fire Inspectors Association board member, and a member of the American Burn Association Burn Prevention Committee.

Signs Of Development Seen At Reigle Family Park

"It really is amazing to see the different elements of the park come together. None of this would be possible without the support of the community," said Aaron Laatsch, a community volunteer.

Community volunteers designed the sign, and Chad Graff of Graff Masonry, Inc. donated concrete and his services to install the 7,000-pound stone. Volunteers picked out the large rock from Buechel Stone, and Miller Monument engraved the piece.

A group of nine volunteers came together on Saturday, June 13, to concrete the park's playground into place. The playground equipment was donated after the PTO raised funds to replace the equipment at Kewaskum Elementary School. Dave Kroening of DK's ElectroStatic Painting is painting the equipment this week.

On Sunday, June 14, another group of volunteers could be seen picking rocks from the fields on the north side of the park. The area will be seeded by the end of next week, converting it into a new prairie. Walking paths are planned to be carved through the prairie later this summer.

"We are really excited about the prairie. We were able to get a great mix of flowers. It will be neat to watch the different blooms appear each year," Laatsch said.

On the east side of the park, some neighborhood kids with fishing poles have already discovered a two-acre pond that has been stocked with fish through a donation by Drexel Building Supply. The company plans to plant more fish in the pond in the fall.

A quarter-mile trail will be completed by the end of this week. The trail was an Eagle Scout project for Colin Duren, who has worked on the trail with his father, John Duren.

Last fall, grass was planted for the park's nine soccer fields. That grass has been growing, and the fields are now green.

"We have worked really hard to get the soccer fields to this point. Seeing them starting to take shape really makes all of the effort well worth it," said Amy Uhlig, treasurer of the Kewaskum Youth Soccer Organization (KYSO), one of the groups charged with developing the park.

But work is still being done on the soccer fields. Over the past week, numerous KYSO volunteers have been picking rocks from the nine soccer fields.

"Having the soccer players and their families helping develop the fields really makes this a team effort. We all are hoping that we will be able to use the fields for games beginning this fall," said Dan Fischer, KYSO president.

Unfortunately, there was no spring soccer season this year because of the COVID-19 pandemic. Not only did that mean that the youth were unable to play soccer, but the organization did not have any registration fees to help with park development.

On top of that, one of the large donations that had been pledged to the park development was frozen because of the pandemic.

Those factors left the volunteers for the nonprofit group without funds to purchase a lawnmower to mow the fields.

To help with the situation, the Kewaskum Village Board approved a request at its June 1 meeting to have the village mow the soccer fields this year.

However, the group is currently responsible for raising funds to purchase a lawnmower and for maintaining the fields at the village park.

"This is a huge project and we appreciate all the support we have received. What is being done now will be appreciated for generations to come," Fischer said.

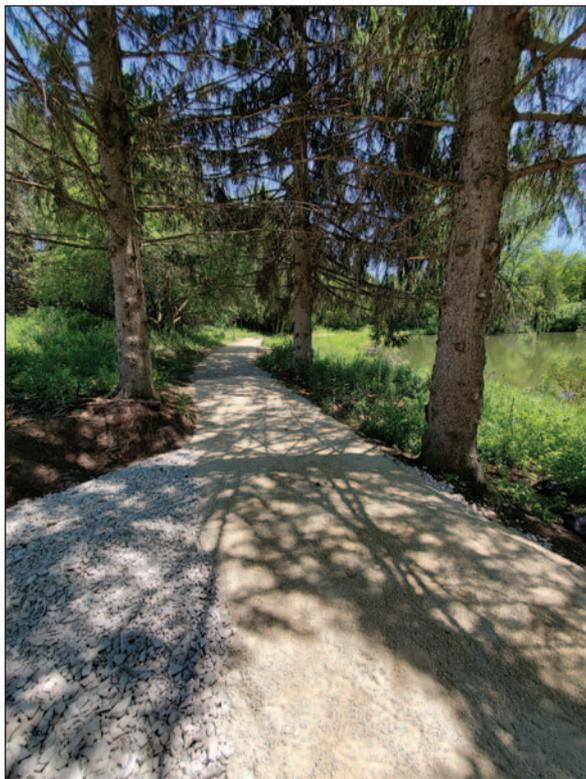

Before the park opens to the public at the end of the summer, volunteers hope to add shade shelters and picnic benches.

The village will use Reigle Family Park on July 3 to launch fireworks. However, the park will remain closed to the public during the fireworks celebration. Residents are encouraged to watch the fireworks from their homes to observe social distancing recommendations set by the health department due to COVID-19.

The park will remain closed until late this summer. The date of a grand opening is to be determined.

The public is invited to help with park development by staying off the grass while it grows. Dogs are not allowed in Reigle Family Park.

Anyone interested in joining the volunteer group should call Dan Fischer at 262-689-0478 or Aaron Laatsch at 262-343-1834.

A quarter mile trail that goes around the perimeter of the pond at Reigle Family Park is expected to be completed by the end of this week. The trail was created by volunteers John and Colin Duren.

Manage Mosquitoes For A Safer And More Enjoyable Summer

MELINDA MYERS

Don't let the buzz of mosquitoes keep you indoors. Most mosquitoes are a nuisance, causing rashes and itching but some species can transmit diseases that can make you sick. Understanding how they breed and spread disease can help you gain the upper hand in the battle against these pesky insects.

Mosquitoes serve as a carrier (vector) in the spread of certain diseases. It starts when they feed on an animal infected with heartworms or an animal or person with West Nile, Saint Louis Encephalitis, Zika or other mosquito-vector disease. The young heartworm or virus is taken in with the mosquito's blood meal. The heartworm larvae or virus is then transmitted to other organisms when the mosquito feeds on them.

Always take precautions when traveling to other regions. Find out about the health risks of the area and come prepared. Consult with your doctor and be sure to pack repellent and the appropriate clothing.

At home, start by eliminating mosquito breeding grounds. These insects need standing water to reproduce. The larvae hatch and feed on tiny organisms in the water. Once they morph into adults, they leave the water and look for animals and people to dine upon.

Get rid of any standing water to eliminate breeding grounds in your landscape. Clean clogged gutters where water can collect and mosquitoes can breed. Empty water that collects in any items left outside. Change the water in your birdbath at least once a week or anytime you water your container gardens.

Toss an organic mosquito control, like Mosquito Dunks and Mosquito Bits (SummitResponsibleSolutions.com), into your rain barrel, pond or other water feature. Mosquito Bits quickly knock down the mosquito larval population, while Mosquito Dunks provide 30 days of mosquito control. The active ingredient is Bacillus thuringiensis israelensis, a naturally occurring soil bacterium that kills the mosquito larvae but is safe for children, fish, pets, beneficial insects and wildlife.

Invite the songbirds into your backyard with birdhouses, birdbaths and feeders. Most of them feed on insects, including mosquitoes and garden pests, while adding color, motion and beauty to your landscape.

Keep the garden weeded. Mosquitoes rest in shrubs, trees and weeds during the day. Removing weeds and managing neglected garden spaces will make your landscape less inviting to these pests.

Further protect yourself by wearing light colored clothing, long sleeves and long pants when enjoying the outdoors. Apply EPA-approved repellents as directed on the label.

Use a fan when sitting on the porch or even working in the garden. The gentle breeze helps keep the weak-flying mosquitoes away.

Then add a bit of ambience to your next party by lighting a few citronella candles. Citronella oil and the scented candles do have some mosquito-repelling properties. Scatter lots of candles throughout the party and within a few feet of your guests for some short-term relief.

And be sure to keep mosquitoes out of your house. Repair windows and screens that may be providing easy access into your home.

Taking a few precautions will help you manage these pests so you can enjoy the outdoor summer activities you love.

Fun Playtime Ideas For Father's Day

StatePoint

Playtime is one of the best opportunities for dads, grandfathers and other father figures to serve as role models in a child's life, and research shows that these experiences have a number of positive health benefits for kids.

According to experts at The Genius of Play, a research-based initiative providing parents and caregivers with facts, inspiration, and hands-on resources to help make playtime an important part of every day, regular active physical play between fathers and young children is associated with improved developmental outcomes.

To help make Father's Day special for kids and dads alike, check out these fun and creative playtime ideas from The Genius of Play.

- Storytime Stretch: Read or tell a story to your child that has a single word repeated often. Have your child jump, stretch, clap or do some other exaggerated physical movement every time they hear the word. Then, mix things up and have your child tell you a story. This is a great way to spend time together building vocabulary, boosting creativity and having fun.

- Science Kit: Whether it's erupting a volcano, building a system of pulleys and levers or growing crystals, dads and kids can learn about science and engineering, as well as practice following directions by completing a science kit together.

- Charades: Choose a category for the game such as television shows, songs, sports, animals or professions. Then have everyone write down a noun in that category on a slip of paper. Mix the slips of paper together in a hat or bowl. Take turns choosing a slip of paper from the mix. Without speaking, act out a word or phrase that others can guess. Whoever guesses correctly then begins his or her turn.

- Board Game Fun: From puzzles and party games to cards and trivia, games build communication skills, teach good sportsmanship and create opportunities for strategic thinking.

- Two Truths and a Tale: Take turns saying three things about yourself. Two are true, but one is not. The other players have to hold up one, two or three fingers to indicate which of the three statements they think is untrue. The person who guesses correctly then takes a turn. If no one gets it right, the fibber goes again!

- Build a Fort: Collaborate and stretch the imagination with fort-building. First drape sheets over the backs of chairs and stack pillows underneath or decorate cardboard boxes with markers or paint and attach them together. Now you can use your fort as a secret clubhouse to play board games and cards, or pretend you're defending a castle – the possibilities are endless.

- Craft Puppets: Start with socks or paper bags and craft your own puppets with markers, googly eyes, yarn and other materials around the house. Then act out a play with your new characters.

For more play tips and resources, visit TheGeniusofPlay.org.

This Father's Day, be sure dads or other father figures make the time for playtime. Beneficial for healthy child development, there are many ways to get in on the fun, from word games and hands-on arts and crafts projects to board games and fort building.
