The End Of An Era

Koch Retires After 44 Years As Ashford Chairman

BY ANDREA HANSEN ABLER
EDITOR

It was the end of an era on Monday, April 5, at the Ashford Town Hall. Joe Koch presided over his final town board meeting after 44 years as chairman for the Town of Ashford.

"It was a great run," Koch said at the end of the meeting. "But I decided to hang it up. I'm going to be 90 years old in about six weeks so it was time."

He received a round of applause before the meeting was adjourned for his years of service. Koch spent two years as a supervisor on the town board before running for the job of chairman. He beat the reigning town chairman and didn't look back.

Dr. Zook Celebrates 50 Years In Eden

BY ANDREA HANSEN ABLER
EDITOR

Though this past year has been a little crazy with everything going on in the world, for one area resident it was a year to celebrate. Dr. John Zook celebrated his 50th year as a veterinarian in the Eden area.

April 1st marked the start of his 51st year at the Eden/Fond du Lac Veterinary Clinic. In total, this is his 56th year as a veterinarian.

"I've been here 50 years," Zook said in his Fond du Lac office.

From a young age, Zook knew he wanted to be a veterinarian. He loved animals and was very active in 4-H while growing up.

"My mom said I always wanted to be a vet," Zook said. "I like animals, but I'm more passionate about cows."

The veterinarian grew up on a farm in Indiana, which is probably where his love of animals began. He attended Purdue University on a 4-H Scholarship.

"It was 1966 when I graduated," Zook said. "The day I graduated, I had $25 in my pocket but no debt."

His first job as a vet was in Huntley, IL, which is west of Chicago. He spent about five years there. By 1970, Chicago was growing fast and quickly taking over the farms and farmland in the Huntley area.

"I think I averaged 25 herds a year being sold at that time," Zook said.

He decided he needed to find a new place to practice. Zook checked out many different veterinarians, including Dr. Charles Mayer who opened the Eden/Fond du Lac Veterinary Clinic. Mayer had founded the clinic in Eden in 1965 and added the Fond du Lac location in 1968.

"I called up Dr. Mayer and he said to come up and visit," Zook said. "Lake Winnebago was a big attraction for me. I visited the lighthouse and thought it was

Bringing Medical Services To Africa

BY ANNE TRAUTNER

Last February, Dr. Renee Wenzlaff went to Ghana, Africa, as part of a Milwaukee School of Engineering (MSOE) Medical Brigade Trip.

Wenzlaff, who has a doctorate in nursing practice and is an associate professor at the MSOE School of Nursing, was one of 31 MSOE students, faculty and friends who went on the weeklong trip. She returned to her home in the Town of Wayne on Saturday, March 7, 2020.

Several days later, on March 12, 2020, Gov. Tony Evers declared a public health emergency because of the COVID-19 pandemic. Then, the Safer At Home Order went into effect on March 23.

"The hardest part of this was when we came back, the lockdown began and we never had the opportunity to reminisce this wonderful experience," Wenzlaff said.

There has not been another MSOE Medical Brigade Trip since.

PUBLISHER'S LETTER

Rejuvenation

Dear Reader,

When we were young, even the tiniest of moments were so precious – the innocence, the ideals, the first loves of everything were a treasure in our rose-colored view. We were just peeking into a world that had big possibilities and infinite pathways. The biggest moments, like that first kiss, a graduation ceremony, getting married, witnessing a birth – were larger than life, and more valuable than bags of jewels and gold.

For those of us now at an older age, we have fought the good fight, even more than one good fight. Long travels in the world have shrunk it to a place that's not quite so mind-boggling. The moments of romance, novelty, and crusades now have given way to more tranquil times, seemingly mundane, yet also full of peace and serenity. At this stage the renewal comes from quieter pursuits – religion, meditation, even yoga. But I look into my grandchildren's eyes and see that the adventure is just beginning for them, and that is a delight.

Everyone Age 16 and Older Now Eligible for the COVID-19 Vaccine

The Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) announces a major milestone in Wisconsin's COVID-19 vaccination program in that everyone ages 16 and older are now eligible for the vaccine. After consistently ranking tops in the nation for vaccine administration and with a steady increase in vaccine supply, Wisconsin opens eligibility nearly a month earlier than expected.

"I know this past year hasn't been easy for anyone, and I want to express my appreciation to all Wisconsinites who are making sacrifices such as staying home, wearing a mask, and keeping six feet from others," said DHS secretary-designee Karen Timberlake. "These actions are backed by science. They help to slow the spread of COVID-19 and save lives. And today, we are excited to give everyone 16 and older the opportunity to continue protecting themselves and their loved ones from this virus. It will take patience, but we encourage everyone to get vaccinated."

The demand for vaccine is still larger than the supply. However, opening up eligibility allows communities to continue their vaccination pace and schedule appointments. Vaccine providers can and should continue to prioritize anyone previously eligible such as public-facing essential workers and people with medical conditions.

There continue to be many options available for getting vaccinated, such as any of the following:

- DHS, federal, and locally run community-based vaccination clinics
- Pharmacies
- Health care providers
- Local and tribal health departments
- Employers

More information about each of these options is available on the COVID-19 where to get vaccinated page.

To find a local vaccine provider, visit the COVID-19 vaccine provider map or VaccineFinder. Individuals can also call the toll-free vaccine hotline at 844-684-1064 with questions or help finding or registering for a vaccination appointment. The hotline is also available in Hindi, Hmong, Somali, and Spanish.

Certain vaccine providers are using the COVID-19 Vaccine Registry. Anyone can register for an appointment using the COVID-19 vaccine registry. After you register, you are able to schedule an appointment. Appointments are based on available vaccine, and your place on the waitlist. Other vaccine providers may use their own scheduling system.

As more Wisconsinites get fully vaccinated and COVID-19 disease rates remain high, it is critical for everyone to continue good public health practices. Masking up, staying physically distant, washing hands, and getting tested continue to be crucial tools for protecting ourselves and our communities against COVID-19. People who are fully vaccinated can review recently released post-vaccination guidance.

For information, resources, and data related to Wisconsin's COVID-19 vaccination program, visit the COVID-19 vaccine webpage. Make sure you are protected from COVID-19 vaccine scams with these simple tips.

cool." His visit was on April 1, 1970, and he never left after that visit. Zook liked the area and liked the clinic so he decided to make Eden his home.

Zook has many great memories from his 50 years in the area. He had made many friends, especially some of those original farms.

He recalled one memory that very well could have been his last. It was in the late 1970s. Zook couldn't stop laughing about it now, but it was a little crazy at the time.

Zook as at an area shed castrating bulls. He had quite a few to do and was trying to figure out the best way to do it.

"I figured if I could lasso them, we could get them tied up," Zook said. "I lassoed the first one pretty easy."

He started to tie it up when the bull started to run. It wasn't until the bull was starting running away that he realized the rope was looped around his foot. And the adventure began.

"Off we go," Zook laughed. "He drags me around that shed."

He explained that it was almost like someone waterskiing, except it wasn't water spraying up around him but manure. The bull started to slow down and the farmer came to try to get the rope off Zook's foot. Unfortunately, the bull took off again and caused the farmer to fall on top of Zook and took both men for a ride. Eventually, the bull stopped and they were able to get the rope off Zook's foot before he took off again.

"I was thinking, 'boy this might be the end of me,'" Zook said. "In the end, I was filthy!"

Once that commotion was done, the rest of the herd was pretty easy to tie up so Zook could finish his visit. This was just one of many memories the veterinarian has of his 56 years.

Dr. John Zook looks at some kittens in their first appointment at the Fond du Lac Veterinary Clinic. He was checking for worms and gave the felines their vaccines. Zook has been practicing in the Eden area for 50 years.

He has never regretted his career choice. "For 40 years, I never had a hard time sleeping," Zook said.

The clinic does fewer farms now and more smaller animals at the Fond du Lac clinic (the Eden clinic was closed about six years ago). It is very different from the days when they were servicing around 200 farms.

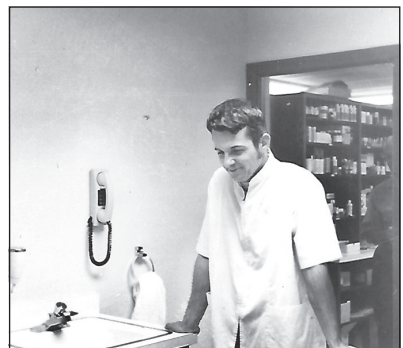

"I do three or four farms now," Zook said.

In addition to his duties at farms and the clinic, Zook also helps out at the Fond du Lac Humane Society. "I go there once a week to give vaccinations," he said.

He has also dedicated himself to the county 4-H program. For many years, he was the veterinarian on site at the Fond du Lac County Fair and he helps out wherever he is needed.

"I was in 4-H as a kid and my mom was a 4-H leader," Zook said. "I always figured 4-H gave me what I am so I wanted to give back."

As for when he plans to retire,

Dr. John Zook was happy to be in Eden back in the early 1970s when he first came to the area to work as a large animal veterinarian at the Eden/Fond du Lac Veterinary Clinic. Zook has been practicing in the Eden area for more than 50 years with a total of 56 years under his belt. PHOTO SUBMITTED

Zook is not sure. He is 78 years old now and has children in college yet.

"When they replaced my knee (a few years ago), I was going to retire," Zook said. "But I didn't like sitting around. Selina (his youngest child) is going to be in school until I'm 80, so I figure that's a good time."

No matter what, Zook knows he made the right decision when he decided to move to Eden.

"I've really enjoyed my 50 years here," he said.

Masks Recommended In Fond du Lac County

Fond du Lac County Health Department continues to emphasize the importance of mask wearing when out in public throughout the pandemic. Practicing proven mitigation strategies such as social distancing, hand washing and mask wearing remain important while vaccination efforts are underway and variants (new strains of the SARS-CoV-2 virus) are circulating in Wisconsin.

"It's important that we don't let our guards down yet. We are moving in the right direction, however, we are not at that point where we can lighten up on the strategies that we know work to reduce the spread of this virus," said Kim Mueller, Fond du Lac County Health Officer.

At this point in time, nearly 30 percent of the Fond du Lac County population has received at least one dose of the vaccine, which means a majority of the population still remains unprotected and vulnerable to the virus. The sooner we reach our goal of vaccinating 80 percent of the community, the sooner we will be able to return to the life we knew before COVID-19.

Fond du Lac County Health Department strongly recommends all Fond du Lac County community members practice the following public health recommendations:

- Wear a face mask that covers your mouth and nose when out in public, unless unable to wear one for medical reasons.
- Practice physical distancing by staying six feet apart from others who don't live with you.
- Wash hands often with soap and water. Use hand sanitizer if soap and water are not available.
- Stay home when sick.
- Avoid crowds and poorly ventilated indoor spaces.
- Get vaccinated as soon as it is available to you.

For more information on mask or cloth face covering recommendations, visit:

- <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/prevent-getting-sick/about-face-coverings.html>
- <https://www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/covid-19/mask.htm>

As a reminder, Fond du Lac County Health Department will open registration at 9 a.m. on Thursday mornings for the next scheduled COVID-19 vaccination clinic. The community is encouraged to visit the Fond du Lac County COVID-19 website (www.fdlco.wi.gov) for additional resources and the latest information on local vaccination efforts.

In loving memory of Kathryn (Tudy) Warner, who passed away 35 years ago (April 7, 1986)

We watched through all your suffering, And often had to cry, For very soon we knew that, We would have to say goodbye. When days are sad and lonely, And everything goes wrong, We seem to hear you whisper, Cheer up and carry on. Every time we see your picture, You seem to smile and say, Don't cry I'm in God's keeping, We will meet again some day.

Lovingly Remembered by, Bret and Jenny Warner & family

Hunting For A COVID-19 Vaccine? Be Careful Sharing Personal Info

As more states open up COVID-19 vaccine appointments to all adult residents, demand is far outpacing supply. "Vaccine hunter" websites, online forums, and social media groups have sprung up, offering to help people find open appointments and leftover vaccine doses in their area. While most of these websites and online groups are legitimate resources, this situation is an ideal opportunity for scammers. Use caution when following links or providing personal information.

Many vaccine-hunting social media groups provide practical tips in finding open appointments, but they can also be a place for scammers to push phony vaccines and other cons. Centralized vaccine availability websites, similar to airfare aggregation sites, scan the databases of vaccine providers, such as CVS or Rite Aid, for availability.

VaccineFinder.org is one such site promoted by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. These websites can be handy tools, but be wary of lookalike sites that collect personal information or require payment.

Tips for avoiding cons while finding a vaccine appointment:

- Always go through official public health channels and approved providers to get a vaccine appointment. In the US, COVID-19 vaccines are only available through official providers, such as your local public health department or a pharmacy. The exact providers differ by region, but you can find the list for your area using VaccineFinder.org. Aggregation sites should always point you to the official providers to schedule your appointment.

- Anyone claiming to sell vaccine doses is a scam. Be wary of anyone who claims to have doses of a COVID-19 vaccine. This report from Digital Citizens Alliance found scam Facebook pages advertising vaccines made in China. While the pages didn't actively promote sales of the drug, the scammers offered to sell the phony vaccine after being contacted through Facebook Messenger.

- Don't pay to add your name to a waiting list or to get the vaccine. BBB Scam Tracker has gotten reports about con artists charging for fake vaccine appointments. The federal government is providing the vaccine free of charge to all people living in the United States. Vaccine providers cannot charge you for the vaccine. Any claim otherwise is a scam.

- Be very careful about giving out personal information. You don't need your bank account details, credit card information, or Social Security number to schedule a vaccine appointment.

- Always double-check the URL before entering personal information. Scammers often buy official-looking URLs to use in their cons. Be careful that the link is really what it claims to be. If the message claims to be from the local government, make sure the URL ends in .gov (for the United States). When in doubt, perform a separate internet search for the website or call the source directly.

- Research offers carefully. Scammers are very creative, so be skeptical of anything that seems too good — or crazy — to be true. Double-check any information about the vaccine with official news sources.

"I got talked into it," Koch said. "When I started, I didn't think it would go this far. It's been a great time. I'm probably going to miss it."

What made him stay in this position for so long? That was an easy answer for Koch.

"The people and the job itself," he said. "I like working with people and the camaraderie."

Koch remember many nights where the board members would leave the meeting and head to the bar in Ashford to play cards. He enjoyed that time together having fun.

Over the 44 years, Koch saw a lot of changes in the township. "From when I started to now, it has changed a lot," he said.

When he first started, the township was also in charge of the welfare of people. That issue has been moved to the county and the state. Koch admitted that could sometimes be a hard part of the job — seeing how some people had to live. It would break his heart.

An area has changed a lot and has been big focus for Koch was the roadways in the township. During his tenure, they added five bridges and made sure to keep the roads in good condition.

We kept the roads up," Koch said. "We try to redo at least two to three miles a year."

For this year, the township will be tackling Drumlin Road. During the Monday night meeting, Koch also mentioned some other roads that will need some care this summer. It was as if he was checking off items on his to do list before he was finished.

The Lake Bernice dam was installed during Koch's tenure.

Koch also took special care with the classification of the land in the Town of Ashford. He wanted to keep the personality of the township.

"We tried to keep the zoning to save the farmland," he said.

He admitted that there was tough decisions to be made over the years. Of course, you can't keep everyone happy when making these decisions, but Koch always tried to do what he felt was in the best interest of the Members of the Town of Ashford board gave Chairman Joe Koch a plaque at the end of the Monday, April 5, meeting. It was Koch's final meeting after 44 years as the town chairman and two as a supervisor. He decided to retire after almost a half a century serving the residents of the township. township. He felt that his relationships with residents were always pretty good even in the tough times.

"It was nothing I couldn't handle," Koch said. "I never hold a grudge."

He spent a lot of time going out in the middle of the night on town business, especially during bad weather. Koch said he spend a lot of nights cutting trees down in the snow and rain to clear the roads.

In addition to his 46 years with the township, he also spent 22 years as a county board member. Through all this, his family has been very supportive.

"My wife (Ella) was great," Koch said. "I have a great bunch of kids."

He said she always stood behind him during his years with the town and county boards. Ella died almost four years ago. The two were married for 62 years.

He and Ella have eight children. Now, there are 47 grandchildren and great grandchildren and another great grandchild on the way.

The decision to retire was not an easy one, but one he thought he had to make. Koch will turn 90 in June.

"I'm starting to have some health problems," he admitted.

Koch won't be going too far though. He is going to fill an open seat on the planning commission.

Of course, he still knows what he will be doing on the first Monday of every month.

"I'll come down here," he said, while pointing to the audience section of the town hall. "I told them I would be here if they need help, but they'll get along fine."

With Koch's wealth of knowledge about the Town of Auburn, they may need to consult with him here and there. After 44 years, he has done a lot for the township and made a lot of friends along the way.

"I will miss the people and working for the people," he said.

Joe Koch, Ashford town chairman, addresses the audience at the end of the Monday, April 5, meeting. It was Koch's final meeting after 44 years as the town chairman and two as a supervisor. He decided to retire after almost a half a century serving the residents of the township. Koch thanked everyone for their support over the years and told them how much he enjoyed representing Ashford.

A Taste Of 4-H For The Spring

4-H Educators from Washington, Ozaukee, Fond du Lac and Sheboygan counties are again bringing a Taste of 4-H to local youth organizations through distribution of the Taste of 4-H project kits, thanks to funding provided by the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation.

Amy-Mangan Fischer delivered the four different Spring Taste of 4-H Kits — Can You Dig It: Fun with Mud, Bugs & Plants, Experimenting with Watercolors, Simple Woodworking, and Basic Cake Decorating. These kids were dropped off on March 22nd to Washington County Big Brothers Big Sisters and to the Boys and Girls Club of West Bend on March 24th.

Each kit is designed to encourage youth to try new things and reflect on their learning while inspiring youth and families to “learn by doing” at home.

Envision Greater Fond du Lac Transitions Youth Apprenticeship (YA) Program To CESA 6

Envision Greater Fond du Lac will work collaboratively to transition the Fond du Lac County-based Youth Apprenticeship (YA) program to CESA 6. This move aligns with Envision Greater Fond du Lac’s strategic directive to work more closely with businesses to address workforce issues.

This change in the YA program is expected to enhance the student experiences, expand the number of YA opportunities, provide additional opportunities across all pathways, and allow each respective organization the opportunity to better focus on what they do well.

“Envision Greater Fond du Lac will still be part of the youth apprenticeship program,” Lisa McArthur, director of economic and workforce outreach, said. “CESA 6 is equipped with the skills and talent to assist students with their educational and career goals; Envision Greater Fond du Lac remains a strong conduit to the business community.”

The migration of the YA program to CESA 6 will take place over the 2021-2022 academic year. Students are currently engaging in interviewing training workshops to be prepared for the apprenticeship experiences.

All businesses who are members of Envision Greater Fond du Lac are eligible to participate in the Youth Apprenticeship program. For more information on participating, businesses should contact Lisa McArthur at lmcarthur@envisiongreaterfdl.com or 920-921-9500.

“It wasn’t just a trip; it was an experience of a lifetime. I’m glad I got to go. What makes me the saddest is it was such a wonderful learning opportunity and a heartwarming event that I got to attend, and then we didn’t get to celebrate it. And to this day, I talk about it a lot and I bring it up to the students. I learned a lot from that experience. It was very humbling.”

Last year’s trip included mainly nursing students, but there were also biomedical engineering and biomolecular engineering students as well.

The brigaders provided healthcare and education for over 500 patients who visited the clinic. The volunteers worked at different “stations” in the clinic. At one station, brigaders took patients’ health history, while blood pressures were taken at another station. At the vision station, people received glasses, and many walked away with tears in their eyes because they the world was no longer blurry; they could see individual leaves on trees, and they could see their grandchildren’s faces.

Wenzlaff, who is a certified pediatric nurse practitioner, assisted the MSOE students as they worked at the stations.

“Africa does not recognize nurse practitioners, but knowing that I would be there with one of their doctors, they allowed me to treat and diagnose patients,” Wenzlaff said.

Because resources were limited, Wenzlaff wondered how she was going to help a child who needed an inhaler. The clinic did not have an AeroChamber, which is used to dispense albuterol to help patients breathe.

“I was just sitting there wondering what I should do. And there happened to be a soda bottle outside the window, so I told the nursing student who was working with me to get that bottle,” Wenzlaff said.

Wenzlaff cut the bottle open and taped it around the edge.

“I showed the mom how to put the medicine in and how to put it up against the baby’s face so he would get his medicine more appropriately than trying to get him to use an inhaler without it, which doesn’t work very well on a 2-year-old,” Wenzlaff said.

The contraption worked, and the baby was able to breathe easier.

“You have to get creative. Even here in the United States I have to be creative with things I do because a lot of things are expensive and people don’t have the money to pay for them,” Wenzlaff said.

Patients stood in line all day long to receive help from the brigade. Many of the patients had with histories of hypertension, diabetes, vision problems and malaria.

“I felt like we made a huge difference,” said Wenzlaff, who is a 1987 Kewaskum High School graduate.

Yet, there are patients that Wenzlaff still worries about. One is a lady who had a large goiter on her neck because she suffered from hyperthyroidism.

“I am hoping she went to the emergency room because she needed to have surgery. She was already having trouble breathing. It was only a matter of time that if she didn’t get this removed that one morning she probably wouldn’t wake up because it would have closed off her airway, and she would have just died in her sleep,” Wenzlaff said.

In Ghana, patients often wait until they are really sick before they show up to get healthcare, according to Wenzlaff.

“Unfortunately, if they don’t have money for insurance, they don’t go and get health care. You can show up at the emergency room and they have to take care of you, even if you don’t have insurance.” she said. “It was an eye-opening experience to what other health care options there are in the world.”

Global Brigades is reportedly the largest student-led organization in the world. It has been around for 15 years and has been on MSOE’s campus for the last seven years. MSOE has four brigades: Medical, Water, Public Health, and Business that typically take students to Central America and Africa to do various projects for communities. The plan is for the next medical brigade to go to Greece according to Wenzlaff.

With the global pandemic, there are currently no brigades going out to serve others. Wenzlaff is looking forward to and the COVID-19 crisis ending and new opportunities opening up with the medical brigade program.

“I’m hoping to be able to go on the next trip,” Wenzlaff said.

Dr. Renee Wenzlaff (left) holds up a spacer she created from a soda bottle. The spacer, which was used for an inhaler treatment, helped the child receive the most medication, allowing him to breathe easier.

You may want to treat these like annuals, carefully removing them from the garden to avoid damaging any remaining plants. Toss these in the compost pile and start planning for their replacements. It is a great opportunity to try something new and freshen the look of your spring garden. If you are looking for a permanent replacement, consider using species tulips that are less floriferous but return each year.

Add a few years to the life of hybrid tulips and daffodils and get the most from all your long-lived spring flowering bulbs with proper care. Water spring gardens thoroughly whenever the top few inches of soil are Ethan has done such a great job this year with virtual learning. He actually just accomplished getting perfect scores in all of his classes. He does this by emailing for help, re-taking and relearning what he does not understand, and attending his google meetings. When he comes to his meetings he is on time, he is kind, and he is extremely respectful!

I couldn't be more proud of the work he is accomplishing during an extremely hard school year. Ethan's hard work and perseverance with virtual learning show that it can be done if we put our mind to it. Thank you Ethan for all your hard work!

In adult non-fiction, the long-awaited travel guide by Anthony Bourdain, World Travel: An Irreverent Guide comes out. It takes us to the most fascinating places, and provides essential advice on where to stay, what to eat and places to avoid.

Jenny Lawson's follow-up to her two previous memoirs is Broken (In the Best Possible Way). Lawson explores experimental treatments she went through for depression using both brutal honesty and humor.

Read about Daniel Boone and the struggle for the American Frontier in Bob Drury and Tom Clavin's Blood and Treasure. It is a narrative account of Boone's work told through the eyes of the people that witnessed it.

For parents, check out Wild + Free Nature: 25 Outdoor Adventures for Kids to Explore, Discover, and Awaken Their Curiosity by Ainsley Arment. This resource book will help parents and educators find outdoor activities that kids will love.

Kewaskum Woman Sentenced To Life In Prison For First-Degree Homicide

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
JOURNALIST

Marie Amdrae Bourget, 51, was sentenced to life in state prison on Tuesday, April 30, for fatally stabbing her 43-year-old husband, Benjamin Brich, in their home in the Town of Kewaskum in March 2020.

Bourget, who appeared in custody in a Washington County courtroom for last week's hearing, entered a no-contest plea to the charge of first-degree intentional homicide with domestic abuse with the use of a dangerous weapon. She is eligible for release to extended supervision after serving 30 years.

Judge James G. Poulos ordered that Bourget shall not have any contact with the victim's family, their residences or places of employment. She is to maintain absolute sobriety and shall not possess any dangerous weapons. Bourget is to pay $5,000 in restitution plus surcharge.

Bourget had entered a not guilty plea on July 9. However, on January 29, Bourget's attorney indicated to the court that a plea agreement had been reached, and a no contest plea was entered on February 8.

According to the criminal complaint, law enforcement was dispatched at 9:21 a.m. on March 11, 2020, to the couple's home at 4355 County Trunk H in the Town of Kewaskum. Bourget had called 911 after trying to kill herself with a knife and pills, according to the complaint. Bourget told dispatch she had cut her wrists and she had stabbed her husband.

Marie Amdrae Bourget

When law enforcement arrived at the house and asked Bourget what had happened, she said, "He asked me to move out and I killed him."

Brich was found deceased in his first-floor bedroom with a cut wound to the neck and large amounts of blood loss. Bloodstains, a hunting-style knife and bloody clothing were found in Bourget's bedroom on the second floor.

Bourget had superficial wounds to both her left and right wrists and a deep cut on the palm of her right hand. Bourget told investigators that she found paperwork around 3 a.m. that morning indicating that Brich was going to "kick her out of the house." The home was paid for, according to the complaint.

Bourget had filed for divorce on January 31. The complaint stated that documents from divorce proceedings were located on Brich's bed.

An autopsy found that Brich's cause of death was by a stab wound inflicted by another person. The autopsy showed a perforating wound to the neck entered the right side of the neck and exited the lateral aspect of the left side of the neck, perforating the larynx and penetrating the left carotid artery. There were three penetrating stab wounds to the chest which perforated the right lung, right cardiac ventricle, esophagus and left lung, as well as multiple incised wounds to Brich's right hand and fingers, according to the complaint.

UW Health Offers Advice To Overcome COVID-19 Vaccine Needle Fear

Vaccines are critical to our efforts to end the COVID-19 pandemic quickly, but the vaccines have one unavoidable barrier for many — a roughly one-inch needle.

About 20 to 30 percent of the United States population ages 20 to 40 years old have a fear of needles in medical procedures, also called trypanophobia, according to a 2019 study in the Journal of Advanced Nursing.

This fear is real and can cause common symptoms like anxiety and worry, and also trigger more severe concerns like full-fledged phobia that can produce fainting or nausea, said Victoria Egizio, clinical health psychologist and behavioral health manager, UW Health.

"This is a fight or flight response; it's normal," she said. "We want to try to tackle those thoughts, calm the brain and body down and help people focus on their motivation to get the vaccine."

Starting Monday, vaccine eligibility in Wisconsin expands to all Wisconsin residents 16 years old and older. This correlates to an increase in the number of people who may have a fear of needles, and while this fear does tend to subside somewhat with age, making the greatest number of people comfortable with getting a vaccine will be critical, Egizio said.

Here are a few recommendations on overcoming a fear of needles:

- Before, during and after vaccination utilize belly breathing to calm the body

- During the vaccination, positive distraction can be useful like essential oils that trigger positive memories or talking with the person giving the vaccine

- Prior to vaccination focus on positive, hopeful things, for example, getting a vaccination will help family and friends stay safe

While the public waits for vaccine supply to increase, please help slow the spread of COVID-19 by:

- Staying home as much as possible
- Wearing a mask
- Keeping a safe distance from others
- Washing your hands frequently
- Quarantining if you feel ill

CORNER

The Grandest Stage Of Them All

Most of you are aware I'm a big WWE fan, I have enjoyed watching professional wrestling since I was a kid. I have many WWE friends from all walks of life, former students and athletes, my childhood buddies and my good friend Mick Frank. Mick hosts a WrestleMania party every year and he's always got some fun dress-up gimmicks or crazy games to play before the wrestling kicks off. This Saturday we will be attending the Frank's annual gala in St. Cloud and I'm sure WrestleMania 37 will not disappoint.

WrestleMania started in 1985 and was the creation of legendary wrestling promoter Vince McMahon. This year it will be held at Raymond James Stadium in Tampa Bay over a two-day span (a first for WrestleMania), and it will also be the first time for fans at a live WWE show since the pandemic broke out last March.

My favorite WrestleMania of all-time has to go back to the third one in 1987. The architect of sports entertainment Vince McMahon opened up the show at Detroit's Pontiac Dome before 93,000 rabid fans.

Aretha Franklin kicked off the night with a rendition of "America the Beautiful" that sent the crowd into a frenzy even before the first match. Gorilla Monson and Jessie "The Body" Ventura were the announcers and they were simply the best when it came to calling matches. Bob Uecker and Mary Hart (from Entertainment Tonight) were the special guest announcers. "Mean" Gene Okerlund, the master of interviews was at his best in this one.

There were 12 matches at WrestleMania 3 and I'm not going to highlight every match but I am going to talk about a few of my favorite moments. The first match was a doozy as the Can-Am tag team of Rick Martel and Tom Zenk defeated Magnificent Morocco and Cowboy Bob Orton. The fourth match was a classic as Harley Race defeated the Junkyard Dog with lots of interference by Bobby "The Brain" Heenan and the Fabulous Moolah, it wouldn't be a WWE match without some help outside the ring.

The sixth match featured a stipulation — the winner got to cut the losers hair. It was the fan favorite "Rowdy" Roddy Piper defeating Adrian Adonis and Brutus "The Barber" Beefcake came out and did the honors for Piper as the crowd went insane!

The fifth match might just be one of the greatest WWE matches of all-time, even if you're not a wrestling fan, YouTube this one just for the humor. Ricky "The Dragon" Steamboat beat "Macho Man" Randy Savage for the Intercontinental Championship with lots of trouble going on outside the ring. George "The Animal" Steele was in Ricky's corner and Macho Man had the stunning Miss Elizabeth by his side, both had major storylines in this outcome.

The 10th match had lots of drama as the Honky Tonk Man (with manager Jimmy Hart) defeated Jake "The Snake" Roberts (with legendary rocker Alice Cooper) in his corner.

The Main Event was the last match of the evening and the one everyone came to see. The WWF World Champion Hulk Hogan against the almighty Andre "The Giant" (with manager Bobby "The Brain" Heenan). The Hulkster picked up the 7'4", 520 pound giant and body slammed him to the canvas and finished him off with his signature leg drop as the roof of the dome almost popped off as the referee slammed the mat — one, Two, THREE!

Kewaskum Then And Now

I must first start with apologies to my friends Anne Trautner, Aaron Laatsch, and Mike Paul for using the title of their book and the name of their Facebook page for my article this week.

I enjoy reading the "Days Gone By" section in the Kewaskum Statesman each week. Since I have been here for 21 years now, I am able to see names of people I know and read the names of people from the past where I can possibly connect dots to relatives who currently are members of our community, in general.

I have always been interested in history — especially local history — for the various places I have lived over the years. When the KTAN Facebook page started, I was hooked. As an outsider in the community, I was interested and curious about certain aspects of the village. I have spent time with Aaron and Mike walking around the village and having them point out certain locations, answer my questions, and regale me with stories about the locals. My connections to the aforementioned celebrities led to my assisting with Anne and Aaron's book, as I proofread certain chapters.

I had learned a good amount of history about our school from veteran staff members when I first arrived. People like Dave Stradtman, Dave Rizzard, Perry Koth, Arnie Dittbrenner, Bill Lickel, Jerry Gosa, Bonnie Klitzkie, Carol Martin, Pat Alvarado, Terry Rosenthal, and many others took in this new guy and shared bits and pieces of the history of this place.

Over the past 21 years, people have retired and the once younger guy (me) is now among the "old guard" at the school. I have been fortunate enough to lead tours of the high school building to classes back for reunions. I also did some when we had our long-range planning committee working on the plans for what became our beautiful high school/middle school complex. I look forward to the day we can once again welcome alumni into our building to show them what has changed over the years, and to learn more, from them, about the history of our school and community. If you are someone who helps organize class reunions, please keep me in mind as you schedule events. If available, I would enjoy helping you out with a tour of the facilities.

DNR Launches Lake Protection Network To Prevent Spread Of Aquatic Invasive Species

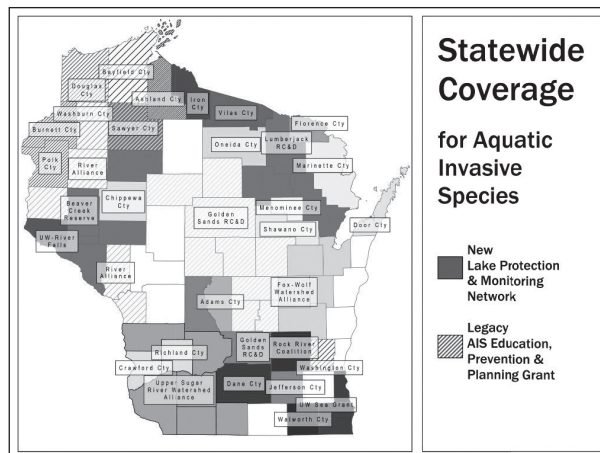

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced the department recently awarded over $509,000 in funding for the new Lake Monitoring & Protection Network (LMPN) subprogram. This statewide network of natural resources professionals will help local communities prevent the spread of aquatic invasive species (AIS) and protect their local waters' health.

The DNR will use funds from the Surface Water Grant Program to set up core services in each participating county. This includes supporting AIS and water quality monitoring, training watercraft inspectors, participating in outreach campaigns and providing technical assistance for local water protection efforts.

Each year, the DNR will distribute up to $1 million to network coordinators located around the state. The annual funding allocated to counties is based on multiple factors, including AIS presence, the amount of surface water and public access availability. Counties can form partnerships, merge their allocations and add their resources to scale up their services on a regional basis.

"The LMPN program is helping to provide funding for AIS coordinators for the first time in areas like Dodge and Columbia County, where there was little coverage previously," said Shelby Adler, DNR AIS and Lake Management Specialist. "Now, we will have more boots on the ground."

Unlike other surface water grants, the LMPN subprogram funding is noncompetitive. The new effort supports familiar statewide programs such as Clean Boats, Clean Waters; Purple Loosestrife Biocontrol; Water Action Volunteers; AIS Snapshot Day and the Citizen Lake Monitoring Network.

It also allows for flexibility to tailor efforts to meet local needs and conditions. A little over half of all Wisconsin counties signed on this year, with more expected to join when the next funding cycle begins in the fall of 2021.

"We worked with the legislature to allow a consistent base of funding for local partner programs," said Carroll Schaal, DNR Lakes and Rivers Section Chief. "That was the only way we could have a stable, effective statewide program."

Moraine Park Plans In-Person Commencement Ceremony

Moraine Park Technical College has announced plans for a limited access in-person commencement ceremony — thanks to the support of their community partner, the Radisson Hotel and Conference Center in Fond du Lac.

Typically, the College collaborates with its longtime community partner, Fond du Lac High School, to host the annual ceremony. However, with increased restrictions at the K-12 level, the college needed to explore alternative venues. The college considered options including both a virtual and an outdoor ceremony in hopes to make a celebration possible.

“Last year presented many difficult scenarios outside of our control,” said Bonnie Baerwald, Moraine Park president. “While this year has had its fair share of challenges, we at least had time to consider options and prepare. It was a goal of ours to make a safe in-person event a possibility. We understand the extreme pressure our local K-12 school districts are under to maintain their operations and knew utilizing Fond du Lac High School would not be an option this year. However, we look forward to continuing our partnership with Fond du Lac High School in the future.”

The college explored holding an outdoor ceremony at the college’s Fond du Lac campus. However, limited resources and heightened overall risk eliminated that possibility.

“Commencement is a large undertaking on a normal year and working through scenarios to relocate it outside was challenging,” Baerwald said. “We had weather, access, equipment, security, and safety to consider, among other things. Our goal is to hold a safe ceremony for our graduates and an outdoor event simply presented too many risks.”

The college considered holding a virtual ceremony, like many other colleges in the state, until the Radisson Hotel and Conference center stepped forward with an option to use their facility.

“The Radisson offers a large open space, and by utilizing their facility, we can hold an in-person ceremony that otherwise would likely not be possible,” Baerwald said. “There are restrictions to ensure overall safety — face coverings and temperature checks are required for entry and ceremony attendance will be limited to graduates only. Due to capacity and social distancing restrictions, we are unable to accommodate guests.”

Baerwald added that the college follows the current recommendations of city, state and county public health officials making a capacity restriction needed regardless of venue.

“Our students have proven to be resilient and flexible during a time of so many unknowns and difficult scenarios,” Baerwald said. “While we know this event will look different, we also know in-person ceremonies in our state are still few and far between. I am proud of the work being done to ensure an in-person celebration for our soon-to-be graduates and am grateful to the Radisson for helping us make this possible.”

Only graduates and Moraine Park employees executing the event will be permitted to attend. The college is expecting 350 graduates to participate in the ceremony. With current capacity restrictions, the Radisson Hotel and Conference Center can accommodate a maximum of 500 guests, and Baerwald has a goal to stay well under the maximum capacity.

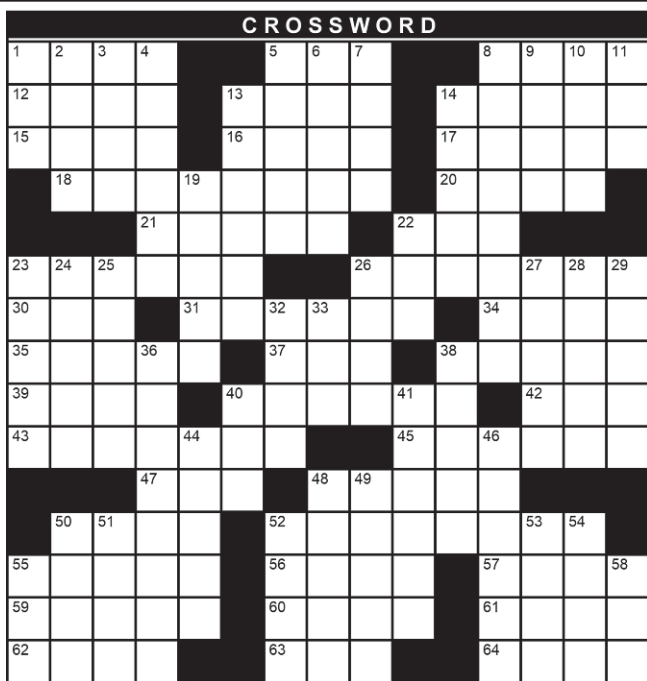

While family, friends and supporters are not able to participate in person, the event will be available via live stream. Ceremony details will continue to be shared with graduates as they unfold and will be made public on the college’s webpage.

DHS Releases Guidance For Spring And Summer Activities

The Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) has updated the Staying Safe in Your Community webpage to include recommendations for both fully vaccinated and unvaccinated people. The webpage now includes guidance for a variety of spring and summer activities, as well as guidelines for attending or hosting gatherings.

“As we start to get back to some of the activities we love this spring and summer, it’s critical we continue following public health best practices,” said DHS deputy secretary Julie Willems Van Dijk.

“Please continue to wear a mask in public, keep six feet apart from others, get tested if you have symptoms, and get vaccinated when you are able. These are necessary strategies while COVID-19 continues to spread and most of our state is still unvaccinated.”

New variants of SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19, continue to be identified in our state. Studies show they spread more easily and rapidly than the original strain of SARS-CoV-2. The updated guidance aims to help individuals, businesses, and organizations protect themselves and others from COVID-19 by lowering risk when planning or taking part in community activities.

Whether or not you are fully vaccinated, if you choose to attend or host a gathering, there are steps you can take to reduce your risk of catching or spreading COVID-19:

- Keep the gathering small, preferably with only one other household.
- Hold the gathering outdoors or in a well-ventilated area.
- Clean and disinfect commonly touched surfaces throughout the gathering.
- Frequently wash your hands before and after touching shared surfaces.
- Avoid crowds and large events.

•Avoid gathering if you are sick or think you may have been exposed to someone with COVID-19.

Guidance for specific activities, such as graduation ceremonies and farmers markets, is also provided on the webpage. Links to detailed information and guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention are available for most activities.

We know that many people do not have a choice of where they work or live, and that some cannot engage in prevention practices or face barriers to vaccination due to underlying conditions, socioeconomic factors, or systemic racism. It is because of this that we must come together as a community to protect each other and stop the spread of COVID-19.

For up-to-date information about Wisconsin’s COVID-19 response, visit the DHS COVID-19 webpage. We encourage you to follow @DHSWI on Facebook, Twitter, or dhs.wi on Instagram for more information on COVID-19.

Second Annual Don And Corrine Mlodzik Family Scholarship Awarded

Zoey Johnson, a 2020 graduate of Kewaskum High School, has been awarded the second annual Don and Corrine Mlodzik Family Scholarship. The $2,000 scholarship award will be used to continue Zoey's studies in the associate degree program of Small Business Entrepreneurship at Moraine Park Technical College in West Bend. The classes Zoey has taken in the first year of the Small Business Entrepreneurship program have helped her smooth the transition from a retail job into a position in the banking world at Westbury Bank. According to Zoey, Business Relations class has emphasized the power of your presentation to people and how it impacts your relationships. She has already been able to implement information learned in that class.

One of the benefits of continuing education is the enhanced ability to evaluate your life and make changes for self-improvement. When Zoey was asked about changes made during her first year at MPTC, she said "I learned to let go of things and people that were holding me back from success."

The Don and Corrine Mlodzik Family Scholarship was created to help Kewaskum High School graduates interested in attending Moraine Park Technical College in West Bend. Don and Corrine always believed MPTC offered a great value in education while providing hands-on experience in many programs which lead directly to employment. The recipient of the scholarship is required to complete 40 hours of volunteer work within the Village of Kewaskum per award year. This aspect of the scholarship is designed to stress the importance of giving back to the community.

For information on future MPTC scholarships for Kewaskum High School graduates, please contact Gary Mlodzik at kaykofamily@cox.net.

CHS March Students Of The Month

Campbellsport High School is proud to announce their "Students of the Month" for the month of March. All high school students are eligible for this honor. Teachers make their selections based upon attitude, effort, character, interest and achievement as exhibited in the classroom and school community.

Administration, faculty, and staff are committed to developing future leaders in our community. We want to honor those who are striving each and every day to be those future leaders who demonstrate this by their positive actions and behaviors.

Madison Smith, Cole Kreis, Connor Lemke, and Mason Willacker were selected as the CHS Students of the Month in March.

"Madison Smith is Campbellsport High School's Student of the Month for Spanish 1. Madison has excellent attendance and a positive outlook. Her future looks pretty bright!"

"Even though her grade is great, Madison still does retakes to try to do better. Madison catches on to new concepts quickly and is very organized."

"She participates fully in and out of class (when virtual) and does quality work. Madison is an awesome role model for her peers and I feel that her positive attitude rubs off on others in class." (Submitted by Señora Schulze)

ed department is happy to announce that Cole Kreis has been chosen as one of March's Students of the Month. Cole has been a leader and an asset in advanced welding this semester. He has a strong skill base and shows a strong willingness to help the underclassmen in this class.

"Cole has also been a model student in his internship through Campbellsport High School. I was told by his supervisor that he is the hardest working employee she has ever had. She wishes she could find five more students with his reliability and work ethic. Thank you, Cole." (Submitted by Mr. Davis)

"The CHS English department would like to nominate Connor Lemke as our Student of the Month for March.

Connor stands out in his ability to critically think about class subjects, as well as excel in reading, speaking, and writing.

"Connor consistently goes above and beyond what is asked of him and is a helpful classmate to his peers. For these reasons and many others, Connor Lemke is the English Department's Student of the Month." (Submitted by Mrs. Krainer)

"The CHS science Student of the Month is Mason Willacker. Mason has always shown respect for his fellow classmates and staff. He values each person as an individual while respecting any differences we may have."

"As we have transitioned to five days a week in-person learning, Mason has maintained his high level of responsibility to always complete and turn in his assignments or projects on time. Although Mason may be quiet at times, he always maintains a positive attitude and contributes to our class discussions. In addition, Mason is committed to his success and he consistently performs at a high level.

"Mason, Vince Lombardi once said, 'The only place success comes before work is in the dictionary.' Mason, keep working hard and you will be successful at whatever you dream. These are just a few of the reasons why I have nominated Mason for Student of the Month." (Submitted by Mrs. Feltes)

Stay tuned for April's Students of the Month.

Moraine Park Releases Fall 2021 Academic Plan

Moraine Park Technical College will continue offering face-to-face classes for the fall 2021 semester.

Like in the current spring semester, most Moraine Park classes will be offered in the classroom; this fall, more than 90 percent of classes will be offered in person on one of the three Moraine Park campuses. Business and industry-related outreach and adult education instruction continues in face-to-face formats.

“The pandemic has really intensified our commitment to our students and forced us to reevaluate their changing needs,” Jim Eden, vice president of academics at Moraine Park, said. “Early on, we heard our students tell us they excelled the most in a face-to-face classroom setting — and so we worked as hard as we could to make that a safe reality. We also know virtual learning is here to stay and must continue to offer the flexibility of virtual options to help accommodate the busy and ever-changing schedules of our students.”

“Meeting our students where they are at has always been important to Moraine Park, and we are continuously working make sure we are serving them as best as we can,” Eden added.

Moraine Park closed its doors and transitioned to virtual learning last spring and summer — but resumed many face-to-face classes on campus at the beginning of the fall 2020 semester.

Throughout the 2020-2021 academic year, Moraine Park officials monitored COVID-19-related connections and illnesses through a public dashboard. Throughout the pandemic, Moraine Park’s monitoring has showed very few cases and no significant impact to operations across the three campuses.

Many precautions were taken, including mandatory face coverings, classroom spaces set for appropriate distancing, limited student events, and stricter sanitary procedures. Additionally, the college implemented a door-handle protocol to address nightly cleaning in employee offices and common spaces. These precautions will likely continue into the 2021-2022 academic year.

“Our ability to hold classes on campus and the low number of cases at the College are a direct reflection of the commitment of both our students and employee,” Eden said. “We’ve had to make some difficult decisions to ensure overall safety. However, despite these changes, students and employees have stepped up, kept moving forward, and ultimately helped make our College a safe place to learn.”

Eden said he’s hopeful student activities and a full campus reopening can occur by fall. Moraine Park’s leadership and COVID-19 teams continue to meet to assess local and state trends and information to help inform decisions.

Registration for summer semester begins April 5 and students are encouraged to enroll. Fall registration will open to returning program students on April 13, new program students on April 20, and non-program students on May 4. For more information, visit morainepark.edu/register.

Wisconsin's Tornado And Severe Weather Awareness Week

Gov. Tony Evers has declared April 12-16 Tornado and Severe Weather Awareness Week in Wisconsin, and ReadyWisconsin wants everyone to take time to talk about weather safety with their families. ReadyWisconsin, the National Weather Service (NWS), Wisconsin Broadcasters Association, and Wisconsin Emergency Alert System Committee also encourage everyone in the state to participate in statewide tornado drills on Thursday, April 15.

"Tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are a frequent weather threat across the state each year, and it's important that people know what to do when the skies darken and warnings are issued," said Dr. Darrell L. Williams, Wisconsin emergency management administrator. "During the statewide tornado drill, we ask everyone to practice their plan by going to their emergency shelter location."

Wisconsin averages 23 tornadoes annually. During the 2020 season, the NWS confirmed 20 tornadoes touched down in the state. While spring and summer are the most active time of the year for tornadoes, they can happen in any month.

To stay safe from severe weather, ReadyWisconsin encourages people to do the following:

- Create an emergency plan and practice it. Know where designated shelters are located at home, work, and school, and be ready to go there when a tornado warning is issued.
- Have multiple ways to receive alerts about approaching severe weather. Outdoor warning sirens, a NOAA Weather Radio, local media, and smart phone apps are all important tools. Don't rely on any single source for important life-saving alerts.
- If you have a mobile device, make sure it is enabled to receive Wireless Emergency Alerts. On many devices, that option is available in the settings menu.
- Keep up to date on the daily forecast for your area. It can help ensure you are ready for potential severe weather threats.
- Create an emergency kit for your home, with supplies such as food, water, a flashlight, and first aid kit. Find tips for building a kit at <https://readywisconsin.wi.gov>

On Thursday, April 15, Wisconsin will once again conduct its annual statewide tornado drill. At 1:45 p.m. and 6:45 p.m., everyone is encouraged to pause what they are doing and practice going to their designated shelter location.

If there is severe weather expected anywhere in the state on April 15, the drill would be postponed to April 16. If you are unable to participate at those times or need to stagger practices due to concerns about COVID-19, ReadyWisconsin encourages everyone to make time on the date of the drill to practice your plan.

"While the statewide drills provide a coordinated time to practice what they should do during a tornado, the most important thing people can do is exercise their plan when they can safely do so," said Dr. Williams. "Even if you have to participate in a drill earlier or later in the day, we want everyone to spend a few minutes going over what they should be doing in the event a tornado warning is issued for their area."

One change people may notice this year is the drill will not include a mock tornado warning issued as a live code test of the Emergency Alert System. As a result, there will be no test alerts sounded on NOAA Weather Radios. While some television and radio stations may break into coverage or display information on screen during the drill times, many may choose to address the drill during their regular local news programming instead.

Some communities may still choose to test their outdoor warning sirens during the drill times. However, it is expected many will instead rely on their regular testing schedules to ensure those devices are working properly.

In place of those alerts, you can expect to see messages from ReadyWisconsin and its partners across social media at 1:45 p.m. and 6:45 p.m. that encourage everyone to participate in the drill. ReadyWisconsin also encourages people to add the drill times to their calendar to remind them to practice their plans on April 15. Share how you're participating by using the hashtag #TornadoDrillWI on social media.

"While many of the alarms people are used to hearing during the statewide drill may not sound this year, everyone can rest assured that those systems are still being regularly tested in other ways throughout the year," Williams said. "They can have confidence that they will be ready to notify people about danger when they are needed."

Nearly 40,000 Acres Of Private Land Will Open To Turkey Hunters

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced that nearly 38,000 acres of private land will be open for public access to hunters this turkey season thanks to a partnership between the department and the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Natural Resources Conservation Service (USDA-NRCS).

With USDA-NRCS support, the DNR could partner with private landowners who lease their land for public access through the Turkey Hunter Access Program (THAP) and the Voluntary Public Access and Habitat Incentive Program (VPA-HIP).

In 2020, THAP added 5,200 acres that hunters can use only during spring turkey hunting seasons. Another 2,300 acres were added to VPA-HIP for hunters to use throughout the year for hunting, fishing, trapping and wildlife observation.

Spring turkey hunters interested in scouting and hunting THAP and VPA-HIP private properties available for use can find additional details and interactive maps following the links above. The success and future of these programs depends on ensuring landowners' continued interest. Hunters using THAP and VPA-HIP lands should travel on foot only and respect the landowner's property.

The programs provide financial incentives such as annual leases to private landowners who open their property to public hunting, fishing, trapping and wildlife observation. Eligible land types include grassland, wetland, forestland and in some cases, agricultural land. Landowners also enrolled in conservation programs such as the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), State Acres for Wildlife Enhancement (SAFE), Managed Forest Law (MFL) in closed status and Wetland Reserve Easements (WRP/WRE) are eligible for enrollment.

Landowners enrolled in VPA-HIP who complete recommended practices may be eligible for habitat-based financial incentive payments, in addition to the lease payments. Regional Public Access Liaisons stationed in Baldwin, Janesville, Hartford and Wisconsin Rapids along with Wisconsin's Farm Bill Biologists will coordinate a habitat plan for interested landowners.

crumbly and just slightly moist. Spring rains often take care of this task, but when they don't it is easy to forget to provide spring gardens with the water they need. Providing the right amount of water when needed will keep your bulbs looking their best.

Bulbs often receive sufficient nutrients at the time of planting or when the other plants in the garden are fertilized. Apply fertilizer to established bulb plantings, if needed, as the leaves begin to emerge from the soil. Use a low nitrogen, slow-release fertilizer to encourage slow steady growth. Follow the label directions so you apply the recommended amount for the area you are fertilizing.

Remove spent flowers on tulips and hyacinths you plan to keep so the energy is directed back into the bulbs instead of setting seeds. Do the same if you want to improve the appearance of daffodils. Leave allium seed heads in place to extend their beautiful contribution to the garden. Remove these before they drop their seeds if you want to limit the number of seedlings sprouting in next year's garden. The same is true for grape hyacinths and squills. The only reason to remove their faded flowers is to slow down the spread.

Leave the leaves on your bulbs until they naturally yellow and dry. The leaves produce energy needed for beautiful blooms next spring. The longer you leave the leaves intact, the more energy and better bloom for next season.

Hide the declining bulb leaves by planting annuals between the bulbs. Or add perennial flowers that return each year for a more permanent solution. As the bulbs decline, the perennials will grow and mask the declining foliage. Try mixing spring flowering perennials for double the impact or combine with summer and fall bloomers to extend the floral show.

Take some pictures of your spring bulb display and make notes of the areas where you want to add some color. Then order early for the best selection and to make sure you are ready for bulb planting season next fall.
