i4Learning Community School To Remain Open In Fall

BY ANNE TRAUTNER JOURNALIST

After nearly three-and-a-half hours of discussion at a special Kewaskum School Board meeting on Thursday, April 29, the i4Learning Community School will likely be open for at least another year.

The board held the meeting in order to get feedback from the public about the school district's declining enrollment. With about 100 people at the meeting, there was discussion back and forth between members of the public and the school board.

"One of the reasons we are talking about this is because the way the budget plays out, the way staffing happens, sooner or later we have to have the discussion. That is why the board decided to have an open meeting. We know there are going to be a lot of emotions; that is why we made it perfectly clear there is going to be no action taken tonight," Board President Jim Leister told

Campaign 2021: A WLGS Trip In Time To Civil War Hallowed Ground

Campaign 2021: Waucousta Lutheran came to a successful conclusion as parents and students returned on May 1 from a Civil War field trip to Harpers Ferry, Antietam, and Gettysburg. Four days of 1862-1863 time travel wrapped with a stop at the Flight 93 Memorial near Shankstown, PA. The solemn story told there brought home the service and sacrifice that has made our country great since its creation.

Waucousta Lutheran Grade School Principal Dave Wege led the group through the morning phase of the battle at Antietam. Historian John Michael Priest guided the tour through afternoon details of the fight. Mr. Priest's encyclopedic knowledge of the struggle that occurred near Sharpsburg, MD, on September 17, 1862, expanded our knowledge and understanding of America's

Dear Reader.

If we are forced to admit it, we all are vagabonds meandering through life. Do we really know what we want and do we really know where we're going?

I don't think so. We may think we know our destination, but in reality, when we reach some destination that we think we want, that will fascinate us and lift us up, we find the fascinate us and lift us up, we find that it falls short. We are still alone. We are not together.

We were not born together, nor will we die together. We do collide into each other at times, however, and in those moments of contact we celebrate the joys and commiserate over the sorrows of life. Alas,

Volunteer Opportunities In Haskell Noyes State Natural Area In The Kettle Moraine State Forest – Northern Unit

Garlic mustard is an invasive non-native biennial herb that spreads rapidly by seed. Although edible for people, it is not eaten by wildlife or insects. It is difficult to control once it has become established because it can cross-pollinate or self-pollinate. It has a high seed production rate, it out competes native vegetation, and it can grow in both dense shade or sun and invade a relatively stable forest understory.

Dense stands of garlic mustard can produce more than 60,000 seeds per square yard. It can out compete native wildflowers and other understory plants, changing the structure of plant communities on the forest floor. Garlic mustard is also allelopathic, producing chemicals that inhibit the growth of other plants and mycorrhizal fungineeded for healthy tree growth and tree seedling survival.

Haskell Noyes State Natural Area is a classic example of southern dry-mesic forest dominated by sugar maple and red oak. The forest was never heavily logged and has a rich spring flora and diversity of ferns. Garlic mustard has become established in this area but we have been working to control its spread.

This spring will be the fourth year that volunteers will be helping to control garlic mustard at Haskell Noyes SNA. Because of these efforts, garlic mustard has been reduced in this area. This plant is easily identified when it is flowering so we will be again conducting our volunteer days during May and early June.

This year nine volunteer days have been organized to be held from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Tuesdays May 11, 18 and 25 and Thursdays May 13, 20 and 27. Work days will also be conducted from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays, May 15, 22 and 29.

We will meet at the parking lot on County Road GGG just south of the intersection with County SS. This is located just east of New Prospect. For anyone arriving later in the day, we post directions to that day's work location at the parking lot. Remember to wear long sleeves, sunscreen, a hat, and bring insect repellent and drinking water.

Be part of the solution to preserve and protect this outstanding natural area in the Kettle Moraine State Forest – Northern Unit. For more information, call Connie Ramthun at 920-533-8939 or Douglas Stadler at 920-979-1357. In case of severe weather, a workday may need to be canceled. In this event, please call at least two hours prior to the scheduled work day to check on arrangements.

"The new partnership with Eagle Entertainment, Inc. is a game changer for Washington County, and is another step in fully achieving the opportunity envisioned for these amazing facilities from West Bend Mutual Insurance. Furthermore, this reestablishes our commitment for the county to take the lead in fully utilizing these beautiful facilities, and renewing our partnership with AIS and community groups," said County Executive Josh Schoemann

AIS will focus on Agriculture and Industry, as their name is defined," said Supervisor Pam Konrath, who represents Supervisory District 15, in which the Fair Park is located. "Hoping it will positively affect the quality of life of our beautiful rural community, why we all choose to live in the Town of Polk and Washington County."

The County-owned Washington County Fair Park & Conference Center, which opened its doors in 1999, sits on 133 acres in the Town of Polk about 30 miles north of downtown Milwaukee.

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced the Village of Campbellsport is an applicant for funding through the Safe Drinking Water Loan Program (SDWLP) to address deficiencies in its public drinking water system. ment 40 C.F.R. §35.3580, an environmental review must be conducted before funding this project.

The SDWLP has determined that the project will not result in significant adverse environmental effects, and no further environmental review or analysis is needed before proceeding with funding the project.

The public is encouraged to submit comments regarding this decision and the potential environmental impacts of this project. Submit comments by May 14, 2021 to:

At last week's meeting, the board discussed the possibility of creating an ad hoc committee that includes members of the public to promote the district. In addition, the board suggested the possibility of having a survey distributed to households across the district and holding a referendum next April to get feedback from the community on whether the i4Learning Community School (i4L) should remain open.

The board considered holding another special meeting on the issue this week, but Leister said on Monday that no special meeting will be held this week. Instead, the board will likely discuss the issue at the next regular board meeting on Thursday, May13.

At the regular board meeting in April, administration gave a presentation that showed the district is projected to have 155 fewer students this fall than it had in the 2019-20 school year.

At that meeting, it was reported that the total number of elementary school students is expected to fall from 800 students this year to 746 students next year. However, since that time, more students have registered, and by last week's meeting, 760 students had registered for elementary school in the district.

Karen Strobel, whose children attend i4L, said she feels that the reason enrollment is down now is because of the COVID-19 pandemic. Enrollment is down across the entire state this year, she pointed out.

"There is a pandemic going on, perhaps that is why the enrollment is down. Why the board is being told to make this decision this year is ludicrous," Strobel said. "At least wait until next year."

Strobel gave each of the board members a handout with statistics she found on the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction website. The numbers show that this year, the Kewaskum School District had 73 fewer students, a 4 percent decrease in enrollment.

Likewise, the Campbellsport School District had a decrease in enrollment, with 45 fewer students, a 3.4 percent decline, and the West Bend School District has 231 fewer elementary school students this year, a 7.3 percent decline, according to Strobel's figures. Across the state, Wisconsin went from 854,959 students enrolled in public schools to 829,935 students this year, according to Strobel.

"The only reason there are enrollment issues is because of Covid. Every school district. Every school district is being affected by Covid. The fact that the board is even considering shutting down a school this year is absurd," Strrobel said.

Since Kewaskum Elementary School opened in 2001, the district has had a building capacity of 1,275 students at the district's three elementary schools, according to the presentation on meeting the needs of the district's elementary students. District Administrator James Smasal gave the presentation last week at the request of the Kewaskum School Board.

"That's 20 years that we didn't need three elementary schools. That's over $20 million that the district could have saved, but we kept them open. But now the chickens are coming home to roost, and the money is getting tight," Leister said to the crowd last week. "So, the question is: What does the community want to do?"

When i4L opened over 50 years ago, the school had approximately 125 students, according to parents at last week's meeting. In 2009, enrollment at the school went up to 131 students, but since then it decreased, reaching as low as 95 students in 2014. This year, there are 107 students, of which 24 were moved from Kewaskum Elementary School to even out class sizes across the district.

In 2001, when KES first opened, the district had 828 elementary students. That number declined each year until 2004, when there were 771 elementary students. After that, the numbers fluctuated each year, going as high as 919 elementary students in 2008. This year there are 800 elementary students in the district.

"School funding is tied to student numbers. If student numbers go down, funding goes down $10,000 per student," Smasal said.

However, Board Member Timothy Ramthun pointed out that there is value in offering small country schools.

"A lot of what I hear from the satellite schools, Wayne and Farmington specifically, is nothing but good. There is something special about the ambience that these locations provide that it fits under the definition of education, but it also adds an element of quality education," Ramthun said. "The capacity for all the students at KES is there, but what are you going to lose [if you close one of the other elementary schools]?"

As the district looks at how it spends the funding, the board sets priorities, such as student supports (literacy coaches, reading and math interventionists and counselors) and facility upkeep, according to Smasal.

Future facility upkeep for i4L is estimated to have a cost of $1.2 million, according to Smasal. However, parents said that number is misleading. Strobel said that the school received a bid for roofing that is lower than the $250,000 estimate that Smasal reported.

Parents at last week's meeting also said that the enrollment numbers that were presented were skewed. Class sizes for the 2019-20 school year show fewer students in grades 5K through fifth grade, but those classes were combined into multiage cohorts, with two teachers for three grade levels.

Consolidating schools could help with transportation costs and salaries for art, music and physical education teachers, according to Smasal. Staff reductions could be absorbed through attrition this year because of retirements and resignations. In addition, the district could earn money from selling i4L property.

Since 2015, the district has held various campaigns and initiatives in an effort to increase enrollment across the district, such as creating a video in 2015, holding a referendum to improve middle school and high school facilities in 2016 and accepting a $200,000 grant to make i4L a charter school in 2015.

However, several parents at last week's meeting said that they never received any promotional materials about i4L. They said that homes are being constructed in the Town of Wayne and that the district should be marketed to new families moving there.

Some of the parents said they chose to not send their children to 4K in the Kewaskum School District this year because the children would have had to be bused to Kewaskum Elementary School rather than i4L or Farmington Elementary School, where their other children attend school. Some felt that was too long of a bus ride for the young children.

Parents who have children at elementary schools other than i4L also spoke at last Thursday's meeting.

"I would prefer to keep the three schools. I have littles at KES. I am concerned about the class sizes going up," Carrie Goebel said. "I am for keeping everybody open. I love this district; I love what we have going on."

After the meeting, which ended with applause, parents said they appreciated they were given the opportunity to speak at the meeting.

"I am thankful the board listened to what we had to say," Strobel said.

CAMPBELLSPORT GLANCE BACKWARDS

5 Years Ago May 5, 2016

For the second year in a row, a group of Eden/Campbellsport middle school students have made some waves in the online Rube Goldberg Machine Contest. The international competitions are held yearly for middle school through college students. The contest challenge each year is to create a chain reaction machine that completes a simple task in the most complicated, wacky and creative way possible. This year's challenge was to open an umbrella without using your hands. Team members of Jurassic Coconuts created Jurassic Island. Team members included Braden Heltemes, Joseph Krahn and Jacob Fabry.

Campbellsport Elementary School student council members set a goal of collecting 1,000 cases of water for Flint, Michigan. At the end of the collection, Perron Trucking will be shipping the water to Flint free of charge.

It has been four decades since the first time Allen Buechel took the oath of office in Fond du Lac County. Since then, he has taken the oath many times as a county board member and then as the county executive. He was first elected to the county board in April 1976. He served that position for 17 years, then was elected to the position of Fond du Lac County Executive.

Shepherd of the Hills Catholic School third and fourth grade students celebrated Earth Day with an outdoor nature scavenger hunt. Students looked for pine cones, interesting rocks, blossoming flowers. They picked up trash and litter, and they drew budding trees.

Twenty-two students from Campbellsport, Fond du Lac, Horace Mann, Laconia, Lomira and Oakfield High Schools as well as St. Mary's Springs Academy and Winnebago Lutheran Academy participated this year. From Campbellsport were Taylor Schmidt and Becca O'Brien.

Marie Zimdahl of Campbellsport showed her creativity and artistic talent by designing a winning t-shirt design for Walleye Weekend. Marie was the winner in the kindergarten through fourth grade category.

The Campbellsport High School girls soccer team continued to play outstanding soccer as the Cougars shut out three opponents on April 30 to win the Central Wisconsin Christian tournament in Waupun.

Campbellsport Elementary School students accomplished an extraordinary feat recently. They broke the state record for the total amount of money raised through the Walk for Diabetes program. Members of the Campbellsport Village Board learned the results of the annual audit during the May 8 meeting. They were told the village is in good financial condition, slightly better than last year. However, they were told the sewer and water rates should be increased. The sewer department had a net loss of $43,161 in 2005 before capital contributions. It is currently running on a deficit.

Last week, the students in Tina Sokol's kindergarten class at Eden Elementary School went on a field trip to Stuart's Landscaping in North Fond du Lac. The field trip was part of the students' study of plant life.

A public information meeting is scheduled for May 8 at the Campbellsport Community Center to address the present and future needs of the Campbellsport Public Library. Surveys conducted by the library board during the past year have left little doubt that the need for more space is great and the pressure for space will continue to increase.

When students arrive at Farmington Elementary School for a new school year in the fall, Dr. Paul J. Sanders will greet them as their new principal. Sanders will replace Tom Fischer, who announced in November that he would resign from the position, effective at the end of this school year. A retired elementary school principal since last June, Sanders had been filling in for Kristen Kapler, a counselor at Kewaskum High School, this year. Sanders was drawn to the area and agreed to work as principal at Farmington 22 hours a week.

It was cold and windy outside, but the Village of Kewaskum's Park and Recreation Committee toured the village parks on May 4. Although no formal decisions were made during the outdoor meeting, the goal of the field trip was to provide the background for committee members to make informed decisions about park planning.

The weather was chilly, but the students gathered on the stage at River Hill Park on May 9 after school to practice the play Sherlock Holmes. The play will be presented May 13, 14, and 15.

More than 1,000 people attended the 2016 Kewaskum School District Gallery Night, which highlighted the art work of students from each of the district schools on May 4. Snacks and beverages were sold to support the arts program, with the food donated by Geidel's Piggly Wiggly.

Meghan Luedtke, a senior at Kewaskum High School, was awarded a Herb Kohl Excellence Scholarship. The scholarship recognizes student leadership, citizenship, school and community involvement, and academic achievement.

Nicole Fideler of Kewaskum is a registered nurse in the Kraemer Cancer Center in West Bend. She has been honored with the 2016 Excellence in Nursing Award from Froedtert & The Medical College of Wisconsin St. Joseph's Hospital. Fideler has worked at St. Joseph's Hospital for 14 years. Fideler earned her associate's degree in nursing from Moraine Park Technical College.

The Board of Directors for Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc. (KEYS) has announced that it will award 37 scholarships totaling $112,200 to the Kewaskum High School Class of 2016. Much progress has been made since 1986 when KEYS awarded just one $500 scholarship. Moraine Park Technical College

Moraine Park Technical College inducted 109 students into the College's Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society Chapter, Beta Mu Kappa, during a virtual ceremony on April 15.

Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) recognizes the academic achievement of college students and provides opportunities for its members to grow as scholars and leaders. Established in 1918. Phi Theta Kappa has a presence on almost 1,300 community college campuses in 11 nations. The American Association of Community Colleges (AACC) recognized Phi Theta Kappa as the official honor society for twoyear colleges in 1929.

"Phi Theta Kappa provides many opportunities including development of leadership and service, an intellectual climate to exchange ideas, fellowship for scholars, and the stimulation of interest in continuing academic excellence," Bonnie Baerwald, Moraine Park president said. "These students should be very proud. Being part of this group is a testament to their commitment to academic success and will serve them well in the future."

Qualifying students must have a grade point average (GPA) of 3.5 or above, and be enrolled in a minimum of 12 credits.

The Moraine Park students inducted into the Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society were Briana Selbo of Kewaskum; Darlene Anderson, Jason Blonigen, Alaska Burroughs, Edward Gbordzi, Mollea Greylord, Jennifer Hakala, Amy Harmsen, Lawrence Huck, Corey Koch, Amanda Kollmorgan, Yeakpan Kopah, Mariah Lackey, Gustave Mielkie, Amber Murphy, Gretchen Rauls, Benjamin Raupp, Nora Roxbury, Britney Seager, Brittany Snyder, Valerie Stafford, David Stringham, Mina Vang-Xiong, Timothy Vukosich and Kayla Zielieke, all of Fond du Lac; William Arkens, Jayne Bartlein, Maddysen Beattie, Brianna Bliesner, Danielle Bury Weymier, Sabrina Bury Weymier, Bethany Kasten, Lauren Moorehead, Danielle Nealey, Meghann Reigle, Kristen Unser, and Nicole Wagner, all of West Bend; Celia Barrett, Jennifer Schmidt and Emmet Mason, all of Slinger.

University of Wisconsin-Madison

Jillian Wedin of Kewaskum was recently initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective alldiscipline collegiate honor society. Wedin was initiated at University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Wedin is among approximately 30,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter.

Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897 under the leadership of undergraduate student Marcus L. Urann who had a desire to create a different kind of honor society: one that recognized excellence in all academic disciplines. Today, the Society has chapters on more than 325 campuses in the United States and the Philippines. Its mission is "To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others."

Ripon College

Caitlin Marsch, Ripon College class of 2024, took part in the 2020 Ethics Bowl put on by the Midwest/ Great Lakes Regional Ethics Bowl Tournament. Marsch is majoring in undeclared and the parents of Marsch are Greg and Julie Marsch of West Bend.

Because of the pandemic, this was the first time the four-round, ninehour regional tournament was held remotely via Zoom. Many teams had members scattered across the country. Even the moderators and judges for each round were connecting from across the Midwest.

Judges included corporate compliance officers, lawyers, judges, professors and health care professionals. After nine hours in front of a computer screen, Zoom fatigue was a pervasive side effect of the tournament.

This year's Ripon team was coached by Paul Jeffries, chair of the Department of Philosophy and Religion and interim director of the Environmental Studies Program. "I am very proud of how well our team did in this year's competition, especially in light of the fact that this was the first event for so many members of our team," Jeffries says. "They held their own against teams that were filled with students who had been involved in ethics bowl competitions for three to four years. I look forward to how well they will do next year."

Representing Ripon in the competition were team captain Mohammad Nafisi '21 of Bushehr, Iran; Caroline Flesch '23 of Delavan; Caitlin Marsch '24 of West Bend; Aaron O'Halloran '24 of Oshkosh; and Charlotte Tornee '21 of Colorado Springs, Colorado.

LORI KREIS KEWASKUM LIBARIAN

BY LORI KREIS KEWASKUM PUBLIC LIBRARY DIRECTOR

Spring is here and a bouquet of new books are ready for you to check out at the library!

There are a few new releases in adult fiction that I am looking forward to reading. Jennifer Weiner comes out with That Summer, a novel of turns and twists, intrigue, secrets and the power of female friendship. This is the story of a woman who receives misdirected emails and then starts living vicariously through that other person's life until she realizes these messages were not an accident.

Project Hail Mary by science fiction writer, Andy Weir is about a sole-survivor on a desperate last-chance mission to save all of humanity and our planet. Best selling author Pam Jenoff returns with a tale of World War II historical fiction, The Woman With the Blue Star. This is inspired by true stories of survivors who hid from the Nazis during the Holocaust in the sewers beneath Krakow. Poland. There will also be new fiction by Mary Kay Andrews, Linwood Barclay, Jeffrey Deaver and Mary Kubica.

In adult non-fiction, Noise: A Flaw in Human Judgment written by Nobel Prize winning author Daniel Kahneman is an exploration into why humans make bad decisions and how they can make better ones. Noise for the author is defined as variabilities in judgment that should otherwise be identical.

Daniel James Brown, author of Boys in the Boat, returns with a historical treatise about Japanese American heroes during World War II titled, Facing the Mountain. The Nine: The True Story of a Band of Women Who Survived the Worst of Nazi Germany by Gwen Strauss follows the true story of the author's great aunt who led a band of nine female resistance fighters as they ran away from their forced labor camp in Germany and made their way through the front to Paris.

There are some great reads new this month for teens. Julie Murphy returns to Clover City, Texas, with Pumpkin, featuring Waylon Russell Brewster and sister Clementine doing their best to survive high school and prom court. Realm Breaker is the first in a new fantasy series by Victoria Aveyard. A small town is encased in a strange darkness and Corayne discovers why, and with a small posse of companions, stands against a vicious opponent to save their land.

For the youngest readers, find new Pete the Cat, Llama Llama, Splat the Cat and Daniel Tiger books. James Patterson releases Best Nerds Forever a story of nerds, middle school and a couple of ghosts who love to commit devious pranks.

Eight-year-old Marisol Rainey is introduced in Maybe Maybe Marisol Rainey. Erin Estrada Kelly writes about this anxious young girl with a large imagination. How will Marisol survive this summer?

Finally, the cravons are back in Drew Daywalt's The Crayon's Book of Feelings where the crayons demonstrate a wide range of feelings and see that different emotions can be felt simultaneously.

Check out these new books and more at the library!

Hope to see you soon.

CMS April Students Of The Month

Jocelyn Wilkens

Logan Knoeck

Isabelle Sperfslage

Todd Wright

Gabriella Danza

Campbellsport Middle School has chosen its Students of the Month for April. They are listed below.

Sixth Grade Jocelyn Wilkens

As the year winds down, the true personalities of each of the students is really starting to shine. Many students have brought so much joy, laughter, and kindness to the sixth grade.

It is refreshing to be greeted each class period with a smile. Classmates feel comfortable going to a peer for extra help and support. Teachers are relieved when a student isn't afraid to ask for help or participate in classroom discussions.

Many students in sixth grade rise up to the challenge everyday, but one student in particular has done all of that plus more. Jocelyn Wilkens is always ready to lend a hand to whomever needs it.

She comes to class ready to learn and get as much out of it as she can. She is kind, energetic, and a good friend.

Character is what stands out and makes a person who they are. Jocelyn possesses great character, and we are proud to have her in our class.

Seventh Grade Isabelle Sperfslage

It is my pleasure to announce Isabelle Sperfslage as the student of the month for April.

It is a pleasure to have Izzy in class. All of her teachers speak very highly of her kindness, hard work, dedication, and positive attitude. Izzy is dedicated to doing her best in all areas of school. She sets high expectations for herself and works tirelessly to achieve her goals.

Even when she is absent, she thoughtfully participates in classroom discussions through Google Meets and stays up-to-date on each lesson and assignment. In all of our interactions with Izzy, she has consistently been respectful, kind, and caring.

This can also be seen in her interactions and friendships that have been established with her peers. Izzy is not afraid to lend a helping hand if needed and is a positive role model for others in school.

For all of these reasons and more, the seventh grade team is proud to award this recognition to Izzy. Keep up the great work!

Eighth Grade Gabriella Danza

Kind, diligent and motivated. And let's not forget NICE. These are a few words that describe the eighth grade student of the month, Gabi Danza.

Throughout the day Gabi exhibits kindness towards everyone she interacts with. She is always willing to include everyone during work time so no one is left without a partner. Gabi does not hesitate to make a difference in another person's day, even her teachers'. This sets her apart as a role model for her peers.

The eighth grade teachers have noticed her diligence to do her best. She is conscientious about her learning in every class. In science class, Mrs. Poquette says she is always a leader for her lab group; facilitating discussion and keeping group members on track. All of her comments are insightful and well thought out.

Gabi's mind is always working! In History class, Mr. Writt says when she asks a question, her classmates listen and a discussion is sure to be started. She thinks deeply about the topic presented to her and looks for ways to learn more about them.

Always respectful in class, Gabi makes an effort to participate regularly. She also takes the time to organize her daily assignments and tracks due dates in Google Classroom. Her strong work ethic has prepared her for a successful future.

All these positive character traits extend beyond the classroom as well. Outside of school, you can find Gabi on the volleyball court, basketball court, golf course, high jumping for track or in the summer playing softball. She truly does it all, putting everything she's got into the game; she is aggressive and determined.

This positive thinker is an example for us all and that is why the eighth grade teachers congratulate Gabi Danza as the student of the month!

Virtual Logan Knoeck

I am happy to announce Logan Knoeck as the April Virtual Student of the Month.

Logan holds all the characteristics teachers look for when selecting this award. He is respectful, responsible, and hardworking. If Logan misses a meet or has a question on anything, I know he will message me letting me know!

Logan has done such a great job this year with virtual learning. When he comes to his meetings, he is on time, he is kind, and he is always read to work. I couldn't be more proud of the work he is accomplishing during an extremely hard school year.

Logan's hard work and perseverance with virtual learning show that it can be done if we put our mind to it. Thank you Logan for all your hard work!

Staff Member Todd Wright

Our April Middle School Staff Member of the month is Todd Wright. Mr. Wright is our sixth grade social studies teacher and has taught 10 years in the district.

He is one of the most positive teachers and team players we have in the middle school. Mr. Wright works extremely hard to make his lessons engaging and will do whatever it takes to make each and every student the best version of themselves.

Even with the COVID restrictions and challenges of the school year, Todd remained positive through it all and was even able to keep the tradition of holding our Greek and Roman Day happen for our sixth graders. We appreciate Mr. Wright's positive energy and commitment. Congratulations, Mr. Wright.

K-B Lettering

Karen has been in business for more than 35 years now. She has an associate degree in commercial art from Milwaukee Area Technical College.

Karen does lettering, both hand-painted or computer generated vinyl lettering. The recent purchase of a 54" printer allows her to do digital printing also. If you want to personalize your vehicle, she can custom pinstripe it for you too.

The start of her business was after making a sign for her husband Bill to use at the high school where he taught. Another coach suggested Karen go into business for herself.

As word of mouth spread, the business picked up and became a full-time job. She worked out of a shop behind their home in Campbellsport until 1996. The Breitzmans then moved to St. Kilian where Karen was able to put up a bigger shop. This allows her to fit semis inside.

She specializes in vehicle lettering and graphics, pinstriping, signs, banners, decals and whatever else you may need lettered. In the past, Karen has painted race cars for Al Unser, Jr., Bobby Unser, Jr., and Alan Kulwicki.

"I was very fortunate to have my business by our home as the children (Becky and Rick) were growing up, Karen said. "It allowed me to be there for them. I've met many wonderful people and strive to give them a job they will be proud of. I thank God for the talent

Kewaskum Baseball Starts Out Season Strong

The Kewaskum High School varsity baseball team started the season with two wins and two losses. Kewaskum claimed a 12-0 victory over Berlin on April 27 and a 13-3 win over Homestead on April 28. Kewaskum lost 9-5 in a game against Kiel on Friday, April 30 and lost 4-1 against Hartford on May 1.

Kewaskum Defeats Homestead

The Kewaskum Indians easily dispatched Homestead Highlanders 13-3 in five innings on Wednesday, April 28.

Homestead got things started in the first inning with an RBI single. That lead vanished when Kewaskum's first three hitters walked to bring up Hunter Loser for a two-RBI triple.

Kewaskum kept its foot on the gas and notched five runs in the second inning. Donny Zillmer, Nathan Heberer, Hunter Loser and Jacob Brzozowski each had RBIs in the frame.

Lucas Block got the win for Kewaskum. The pitcher threw a complete game, five innings, allowing six hits and three runs while striking out one.

Drew Gernert took the loss for Homestead. He allowed four hits and seven runs over one and one-third innings. Aidan Patten and Tyler Miller entered the game as relief, throwing one and two-thirds innings and one and two-thirds innings respectively.

Kewaskum tallied 12 hits on the day. Loser, Matthew Buechel, and Zillmer all managed multiple hits for the Indians.

Kewaskum's Three Pitchers Combine In No-Hitter To Defeat Berlin

The Indians' three pitchers didn't allow a single hit, as Kewaskum defeated Berlin 12-0 in five innings on Tuesday, April 27. Donny Zillmer struck out the final batter to get the last out of the game. Kewaskum secured the victory thanks to seven runs in the second inning. Alec Cappozzo, Trevor Magray, Nathan Heberer, Ethan Williams and Hunter Loser all moved runners across the plate with RBIs in the inning.

Cale Fransen led the Kewaskum Varsity Indians to victory on the hill. The righty lasted three innings, allowing zero hits and zero runs while striking out three and walking one. Riley Schultz and Zillmer entered the game out of the bullpen and helped to close out the game in relief.

Brock Wilde took the loss for Berlin Varsity. Wilde went one and two-thirds innings, allowing seven runs on five hits and striking out two.

The Indians tallied eight hits in the game. Heberer, Williams and Loser each collected two hits to lead Kewaskum.

Kewaskum Loses To Kiel

Despite out hitting the Raiders eight hits to five, Kewaskum lost 9-5 in a non-conference battle on Friday, April 30.

Kewaskum got things started in the second inning. An error scored one on a sacrifice fly by Derek May followed by a RBI single by Kannon Muckerheide and Mason Droese to give the Indians a 3-0 lead.

Kiel took away that lead and gave themselves a cushion with eight runs in the third inning. Kiel used a couple errors by the Indians plus timely hitting of singles, a double and a homerun to put it out of reach for the Indians.

Nathan Heberer took the loss for Kewaskum. The righthander allowed five hits and eight runs (five earned) over three innings. Hunter Loser, Derek May and Riley Schultz combined to allow one unearned run and no hits in relief.

Jacob Brzozowski led the Indians offensively with three hits and two RBIs in four at-bats while Cale Fransen added a double.

Kewaskum Falls To Hartford

Kewaskum Varsity Indians fell behind early and couldn't come back in a windy 4-1 loss at Hartford on Saturday, May 1. The Orioles scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning on a two RBI double by Austin Kutz and a groundout by Nick Weston.

The Indians threatened in the third inning when Cale Fransen led off the inning with a single and advanced to second on a groundout by Nolan Reichel and later scored when Trevor Magray reached on an error. A Nathan Heberer single and a ground out by Mason Droese had the Indians with runners on second and third with two outs when Ethan Williams hit a ball hard to third baseman who threw him out at first to end the threat.

You're Jammin' Me

If you grew up in Wisconsin, you were probably guaranteed to have watched one of these shows in your lifetime — Hee Haw, All-Star Wrestling, Lawrence Welk, and Roller Derby. It was probably on your local stations 2, 5, or 11 and usually on Saturday nights.

I was blessed to watch them all, my parents loved singing and dancing so Lawrence Welk was a must. All-Star Wrestling was my favorite. Hee Haw was just wacky country craziness with music that always seemed to be on Saturday's before or after church. Then there was Roller Derby, the sport that was similar to All-Star Wrestling but on roller skates.

With scripted bouts and predetermined winners, Roller Derby was the same concept as pro wrestling — entertain the crowd, and boy did they do that! Let me refresh your memory, Roller Derby was a rolling skating contact sport played by two teams of 15 members with five members on the track during each jam.

Play consisted of a designated jammer (who wore a unique designation on their helmet) and four blockers. The players would skate counterclockwise around a track with the jammer scoring points by lapping members of the opposing team. Along the way there was plenty of elbows flying, crashes over the railing, and brawls on the infield area.

Roller Derby was first played in 1935 in Chicago. The sport was at the top of its pinnacle during the 1960s and '70s. The L.A. Thunderbirds were "American's Team" and the San Francisco Bay Bombers were their arch nemesis. These were two of the most popular and prolific roller derby teams in the history of the sport.

To this day, there are approximately 1,250 amateur roller derby leagues worldwide, mostly in the United States. In 1972, a movie came out titled "Kansas City Bombers" starring Raquel Welch, it was a roller derby movie that gave the sport a huge boost in the market during it's heyday.

I never played the sport nor did I ever see a live show of roller derby but it still captured your interest. Roller skating was a fun recreational activity for any age and it was like riding a bike, once you mastered the art you didn't forget.

During the mid-1970s, my friends and I would go roller skating at the Majestic Roller Rink on the frontage road out near North Fond du Lac. The Majestic was the place to be on a Friday or Saturday night, skating around the building to disco songs and trying to impress the girls.

Every so often they'd play a slower song and if you got lucky to hold a girl's hand while skating around the rink, you were like "The Fonz." Once in a while we'd get a little careless and try to imitate some roller derby and the managers were quick to put out any rough housing fires before they ignited.

Kewaskum A's Have A Tough Day

Brookfield Bulldogs 10 Kewaskum 2

It was a tough day at the park on Saturday, May 1, as the A's dropped a 10-2 game to the Brookfield Bulldogs.

Sean Menzel ripped a first inning RBI double to put the A's up 1-0 and Adam Bigus added a RBI double to cut the the lead to 3-2 in the fifth. but it was all Brookfield from there. Harry Steldt led the way with two hits, while Nick Erd, Bigus and Menzel all added doubles. Austin Cairo suffered the loss in relief (3IP,

The A's head to Burlington on Saturday night, May 8, to take on the West Allis Nationals and then host the Oakfield Oaks at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, May 9, in their Rock River opener.

The A's now sit at 8-2 on the season.

Let's Hear It For The Ladies!

Mother's Day is just around the corner. Make sure you take time to thank and give recognition to the special women in your lives wives, mothers, grandmothers, aunts, neighbors, family friends — anyone who has been a special woman in your respective lives.

Of course, I am the kind to take a column about Mother's Day and put a sports slant on it. We have more coverage of women's and girls' sports than ever before. This winter and early spring we were able to watch the University of Wisconsin-Madison's team in women's hockey win a NCAA Championship and the volleyball women advance to the NCAA semifinals. I enjoy watching women's college softball and basketball on television.

As a physical education teacher, I often take the time to teach my students about the advancements of women's sports over the past 50 years. Some of us do remember the days before high school sports opportunities were just starting for girls.

Title IX, the federal legislation from 1972, is what gave girls' sports their foothold and started the growth and development of those programs. Before that, schools would have their own athletic clubs or groups for girls — which was essentially an intramural program.

When I was growing up in the State of Iowa, our girls basketball played a six-on-six game — with the court divided in half, three guards and three forwards on each half of the court. Players could not cross over to the other side of the court. Girls could only take two dribbles at a time and a foul would be called on a girl who hit the ball while it was in the possession of her opponent, outside of the lane.

While it was a very popular and entertaining game — with high scoring games — it was eventually phased out in the early 1990s. The game was loved across the state, but there were some that thought the rules treated the girls as "second class" because the rules seemed to imply that they weren't able to handle the physical demands of the five-player game, like the boys.

Other sports had different rules or events for the girls compared to the boys. I remember track and field having a "softball throw" event. Before volleyball became popular, some schools sponsored fast-pitch softball teams in spring, summer, and fall seasons.

Today, while we have some differences between girls and boys sports, those differences are based in science. The level of competition and skill is incredibly high, no matter the gender of the competitors.

As you celebrate Mother's Day and recognize those special women in your lives, ask some of them about how the athletic world and opportunities were for them growing up. We have come a long way since 1972.

About The WNA Foundation

Wisconsin Newspaper Association Foundation is a not-forprofit organization created in 1980 to support programs that foster excellence in journalism, engage current and future newspaper leaders and invest in our communities. The foundation solicits, manages and disburses funds and other resources for the benefit of Wisconsin's newspaper industry.

About The Civics Games

In response to declining civics education and participation, the Wisconsin Newspaper Association Foundation launched the Civics Games in 2018. By engaging young adults in a collaborative competition, as well as through coverage of civic affairs, the Wisconsin Civics Games aims to help cultivate an understanding among future generations of their role in our democracy.

More than 100 students from 25 schools participated in the inaugural Civics Games, which included months of preparation and culminated in four regional competitions on February 23, 2019, and the state finals March 29, 2019, at the Wisconsin State Capitol. During the Games, students heard from several local officials, newspaper editors, state legislators, a state Supreme Court chief justice and the governor. Platteville High School's team was named the first-ever Wisconsin Civics Games champion, and each member of the team received a $2,000 scholarship to a Wisconsin college or university.

"It has a lot to do with the school I work for. It has a lot to do with the community that I live in and all the opportunities that we are allowed to do within our programs. I love being able to offer the unique experiences to the students here at the high school. I have a great time in the classroom getting those kids involved in some unique experiences, taking them out on some field trips and showing them some things they never experienced before," Oelhafen told the Kewaskum School Board at the meeting on April 8.

In Oelhafen's application, she described that her classes at Kewaskum High School offer a greenhouse and small animal lab. She also mentioned the taxidermy unit that is offered in her Wildlife 1 and Wildlife 2 classes. And she described her field trips.

"When I talk to other teachers from around the state, my field trips are very unique. Not everybody has that opportunity to take their kids out of school and show them the businesses and the career opportunities that are offered within their area. Everybody is always amazed when they hear about my field trips," Oelhafen said.

Although the COVID-19 pandemic prevented Oelhafen's students from going on field trips this year, she typically brings classes on a variety of trips. Her small animal care students visit businesses to learn about training, daycare, physical therapy and grooming for dogs. They also visit the Humane Society and a horseback riding therapy farm. Agriscience students visit farms and agriculture-related businesses. Students studying dairy production witness firsthand the amount of technology that is used in the agriculture businesses.

"I love being able to take the kids out on field trips. I think my favorite thing that I have been able to offer as a teacher, through the connections I have with our businesses and our community, is giving the kids different experiences and showing them different career options," Oelhafen said.

Oelhafen, who is in her 10th year of teaching, graduated from Kewaskum High School and UW-River Falls. After college, she went on to work as a livestock nutrition consultant. After she and her husband started a family, she ran a horse boarding business and gave riding lessons for 10 years. During that time, she also worked as a substitute teacher.

Oelhafen then she went back to school and earned her teaching degree. She began her teaching career at Random Lake High School, where she taught for two years before teaching at Kewaskum High School.

"It is so nice being able to share my practical experiences of other professions that I have done prior to teaching," she said.

Oelhafen also appreciates being able to teach at the school she once attended.

"I have been a part of this school district since I was a little kid. So to be back here teaching at the high school with an amazing agriculture department, the greenhouse, the animal lab and an amazing agriculture classroom is just a thrill. I just love coming here every day to work with the students. So, getting the award is just kind of the icing on the cake," Oelhafen said.

State Patrol Reminds Motorists To Look Twice, Share The Road With Motorcycles

Motorcycle fatalities increased 40 percent in 2020 over the previous five years average.

May is national "Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month" and the Wisconsin State Patrol is asking motorcyclists and all other motorists to share the road, be alert and safe. 2020 preliminary data for Wisconsin shows there were 2,095 motorcycle crashes, 1,788 motorcyclists injured and 112 motorcycle fatalities.

As warm weather returns, more motorcyclists will be on Wisconsin roads. "Drivers must be in the habit of looking for motorcyclists," Wisconsin State Patrol Captain Anne Maxson said. "Motorcyclists should watch for other vehicles and get properly trained and licensed. Together we can save lives."

Motorcycle crashes often occur when a car or truck driver changes lanes, turns left or pulls out in front of a motorcycle. Motorcycles are smaller and more difficult to see, especially in your blind spot. Failure to yield the right of way to another vehicle (state law 346.18) can result in a $175 citation, but penalties are much more severe if the violation results in someone getting injured or killed.

Motorcyclists can do their part by getting properly licensed, wearing visible and protective equipment, and carefully scanning ahead for potential hazards such as gravel, debris or wildlife in the roadway.

Motorcyclists have two options to get the required Class M license: pass a motorcycle driving skills test after making an appointment at a Division of Motor Vehicles service center or successfully complete a WisDOT-approved rider education course. Motorcyclists who successfully complete an approved safety course earn a skills test waiver used to obtain their Class M license.

"Whether a person is brand new to motorcycling or a returning rider, a safety course is a wise investment," Captain Maxson said. "Safety along our roadways requires all drivers to share the road, watch their speed, eliminate distractions and be alert."

MMC Rolls Out New Publication In Wittenberg Area

Multi Media Channels (MMC), owners of the Campbellsport News/Kewaskum Statesman, will launch a new local community shoppers' guide in central Wisconsin. The inaugural issue of the Wittenberg Northerner Buyers' Guide is set to publish on May 6, 2021. The "Northerner" will be U.S. Mail delivered to approximately 10,000 homes in about a 20-mile radius around Wittenberg, which lies roughly 25 miles east of the metro Wausau area.

"We are excited to start a new publication in this area of the state where so many people have always relied on a solid community shopper's guide to stay informed on community events and happenings as well as giving a means for local small businesses to reach a vast audience of potential buyers," said Patrick Wood, publisher.

Jay and Judy Freiberg will assist with producing the new publication. Most people living in this area of the state know Jay and Judy. Judy has sold newspaper advertising for over 40 years in multiple local papers. The couple has been publishing the Center State Marketplace for the past five plus years.

When Jay and Judy decided to retire and cease publishing the Center State Marketplace at the end of April, MMC contracted with them as consultants to help launch the Northerner.

"Their long history of working with the businesses in this area in such a positive manner should make advertisers rest assured that MMC will carry on publishing a quality, affordable product that is very similar to what they are already familiar with," Mr. Wood explained. "I guess we are delaying their retirement for just a little while, but we certainly appreciate their expertise."

MMC began its work in community newspaper publishing in Denmark in 1953. Under the leadership of founder, Frank Wood, the business expanded into other markets. Today, the company remains in the Wood family, working with 48 media properties — including 25 weeklies, four magazines, and 19 digital channels — that serve the central, northern, and eastern portions of Wisconsin.

Kewaskum Village Board Addresses Parking Issue

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
JOURNALIST

Parking will no longer be permitted on Edgewood Road between Washington Avenue and Highway H (Mohawk Road) in Kewaskum.

Cars have been parking on the east side of that stretch of Edgewood Road on Saturday mornings when soccer games are held at Reigle Family Park. The road curves along that stretch, and there is no sidewalk along the east side.

The Village Board voted 6-1 to ban parking along that section of Edgewood Road in order to increase traffic safety.

"I am concerned that if we ban parking in that area that it is not going to sit well with all the soccer participants," said Village President Kevin Scheunemann, who voted against the motion. "I understand the sympathy, I am just not a big fan of it"

There have been a couple complaints from neighbors about cars parked on the road near the park, according to Police Chief Tom Bishop.

Scheunemann said that he was at Reigle Family Park on Saturday, May 1, when his son played soccer there.

"There was plenty of parking on this particular day inside the parking lot," Scheunemann said.

However, people whose children play soccer on the southwest side of the park tend to park their vehicles on the road, according to Scheunemann.

"There seems to be more of a gravity to park on the street when those two little fields are used on that end of the park," he said.

Village Trustee Richard Laubach asked if the parking lot at the park should be enlarged, but Scheunemann replied that the park typically has a sufficient number of parking spaces to accommodate people who come to soccer games there.

Approximately 10 cars have been parking along the Edgewood Road between Washington Avenue and Mohawk Road during soccer games, according to Bishop.

"Those cars should be able to fit in the parking lot," Village Trustee Richard Knoebel said.

"If you are using the park, you should be using the parking lot," Village Trustee Dave Spenner

Shared Facilities Committee Report

Plans for a new, larger municipal building with a police station, administrative offices and expanded public library continue.

Village Trustee Dave Spenner reported at Monday night's meeting that Zimmerman Architectural Studios will have a conceptual drawing to present to the Shared Facilities Committee after May 7. The meeting date has not yet been set when the plan will be presented to the committee.

The new plan will have a one-story municipal building at the current location on First Street, extending east to School Street and west across Railroad Street to the Eisenbahn Trail. The plan requires Railroad Street to be closed between First and Second streets.

The Kewaskum Police Department will conduct a traffic study of Railroad Street to determine the impact on traffic flow. The department has requested the use of traffic counters from the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission (SWRPC) to assist in the study and hopes to receive the counters by the end of the month, according to Police Chief Tom Bishop.

Other Village Matters

Other action at the Kewaskum Village Board meeting on Monday, May 3, included:

- \bullet The board approved a Crossing Guard Agreement with the Kewaskum School District.
- The board approved village committee appointments for 2021-2022.
- The board approved a rezone at the request of Randy Weber of DACO Precision Inc., located at 8565 State Highway 45, from M-1 Limited Manufacturing to M-2 General Manufacturing.
- Due to holiday schedules, the board canceled Kewaskum Village Board meetings for July 5 and September 6.
- The board approved job descriptions for the pool supervisor and assistant pool supervisor positions.
- The board approved a proclamation recognizing Ron Johann for serving on the village's plan commission from 2010 to 2021.
