Boltonville Rain Days To Be Held May 28-30

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
JOURNALIST

The 104th annual Boltonville Rain Days is set to be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 28, 29 and 30.

"We are going gangbusters this year. Everything is set to go. It is going to be bigger and better than ever," said Dennis Fechter, a volunteer firefighter for the Boltonville Fire Department.

The weekend celebration is a fundraiser for the Boltonville Volunteer Fire Department. The weekend will be filled with live music, games, rides, food, refreshments and fun. It is held on the fire department's grounds, located at 9336 Bolton Drive in Boltonville.

Last year was the first time in over a century that the event was not held to the public, due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The firefighters still gathered for the annual parade, though.

"It is a tradition, so we still came," Fechter explained.

To provide extra space for social distancing, the department will have a larger tent than usual. This year, the big tent will be 80 feet by 190 feet rather than the usual 80 feet by 160 feet.

The event raises funds for new equipment and training for the Boltonville Fire Department. Equipment is expensive, with a price tag of $1,678 for the one firefighter coat. A complete outfit costs close to $4,000 for each firefighter, according to Fire Chief Dan Mueller.

"Not having the event last year was a major financial effect to the fire department," Fechter said.

Boltonville Rain Days will help provide needed funds after the department recently purchased a generator for $45,000. With that 60-kilowatt gen-

Campbellsport Road Construction Continues

BY ANDREA HANSEN ABLER
EDITOR

Members of the Campbellsport Village Board received an update of the Highway 67 road construction project during their Monday, May 10, meeting.

Phase one of the project is about a month behind schedule right now. Because of this, they have started on phase two early. The portion from the west limit of the project to Barton Avenue has been started.

"Construction has been strange and busy, to say the least," said Police Chief Tom Dornbrook.

"Right now we are trying to control traffic and educate people as they start on the west end by the high school. They will start major digging there tomorrow (Tuesday). We plan to have people up there (at the middle/high school) every morning and every night to help people figure out where to go."

According to Dornbrook, the DOT is making a decision soon on how to proceed with the bridge over the Milwaukee River on the East side of town. The bridge was in worse shape than they thought, so they have to determine whether the entire bridge needs to be replaced or if only certain portions need to be replaced.

"The water main is installed from the bridge all the way to Elm Street," said Mark Gruber, department of public works director. "They've got quite a bit of work to do, obviously. They thought they would bring in a third crew to try to really move on it."

"They are going to be doing storm sewer work on West Sheboygan. That should go a little bit quicker. After school gets out, then they will start working to the East to Fond du Lac Ave."

PUBLISHER'S LETTER

Sharing

Dear Reader,

If you think back to kindergarten, what were we always told? That sharing is good. How timeless, and how true.

Sharing calls us to a high standard of conduct: To put others before ourselves, to think of how we might be of service to those around us, and to try to relieve another's suffering in whatever way we might be able to. Living by this principle is its own reward, in a life filled with love given and received.

PATRICK J. WOOD

One could command the riches of Croesus and yet still be poor if he was too emotionally crippled to share his bounty with others. Another person, though less affluent, might be enriched beyond words by the wonder and beauty of a shared moment of peace with a loved one during a sunrise or sunset, or while watching an eagle wheel overhead, or even when just listening to the crickets.

It's time to listen. I think I hear some crickets... right... now!

Rural Writes

BY G.A. SCHEINOHA
CONTRIBUTOR

Haven't gone out that way in coon's ages. Though when I was a kid, my family often took a cruise outta Campbellsport on Highway 67 through Ashford. Usually for an invitation to Sunday dinner from Mom's uncle, Art Koentopp, both when he owned a farm near Lebanon and later, after he moved to a house on a corner lot in Hustisford.

Occasionally, we visited former neighbors, the Bob Gasner family, who had moved to a farmhouse on one of Ashford's many surrounding hills.

A memorable part of the return home was looking for a sign we were nearly there. And sure enough, there it was; that cross which glowed blue atop the hill behind St. Martin's. It meant we only had to go down the road a piece.

Out of high school, the route became a familiar one, between work at California Cannery in Lomira and back. Though driving east into the sun wasn't a pleasure after a long night's haul.

Decades later, the whole trip took on a new meaning. Writing a weekly column for the Fond du Lac Reporter meant a constant search for stories. File one and begin looking for next week's.

A WNA press card gained me access to the hill via fresh plowed field which didn't bog the little Ford's wheels down. Instead, they spun on grassy slopes.

At the summit, the view was nothing short of magnificent. The road stretched straight as a snake in the sun. Cars were matchbox size, people tiny as ants.

Nearby stood a stone altar that might've been built by an Old Testament prophet. Or Jacob after he wrestled an angel. Far more impressive was the cross affixed to a power pole. It dwarfed the observer and brought home the importance of Christ's crucifixion.

Surely the view isn't lost on attendees at the field mass there in June. My time at the top gave a new perspective on a long ago memory. Which still lingers.

The fifth-grade class at Holy Trinity School in Kewaskum completed the D.A.R.E. program and celebrated with D.A.R.E. graduation on Friday, April 30. The school appreciates the Kewaskum Police Department and Officer Kohn for providing the program.

In other news, the board approved sending letters from the village attorney to two property owners because of complaints. Both properties have had violations in the past.

The first is on Main Street. This house is in poor shape and in need of some major repairs.

“We’ve got a citizen complaint on that,” Dornbrook said. “We went down and looked at it. We’re in a pinch now, the building has really deteriorated. I guess the board needs to say, go ahead and do something.”

In the past, the village has helped the home owners fix some of the problems and has asked them to continue work on the property.

“It’s just not gotten better,” Dornbrook said.

Board members approved giving the home owners 30 days to begin the major repairs or the home may need to be torn down. The village lawyer will send the notice and work with the village on this.

“I feel for anybody in their situation, but we have to do what’s best for the community,” said Dave Krebs, village president.

A second property on Sheboygan Street was also discussed. This property has also come before the village board before. Many years ago, the village paid for the property to be cleaned up and then charged it back to the home owner.

“Again, this is a citizen’s complaint and an ongoing problem,” Dornbrook said. “Before I came here, the village went in there and cleaned it up at a cost of $8,000. Now it’s getting bad again. I think in all fairness to the other couple, if we hold them accountable, then we should hold this owner accountable.”

“I think we should have the attorney send them a letter giving them 30 days to clean it up. I also think the village should think about an ordinance regarding scrap yards in the village. This is a business and we shouldn’t have a business in a residential area.”

The board agreed to have the attorney send them a notice to have the property cleaned up in 30 days.

The board also discussed issues with the garbage and recycling pick up in the village. Since Waste Management bought out Advanced Disposal, there have been problems.

After talking with Waste Management, they assured the village clerk that they are working to solve the problems. The board is going to continue to monitor the situation and see from month-to-month. They may look into switching companies in the future.

Battle To Save Haskell Noyes Woods

Join the Friends of the Kettle Moraine in the battle against garlic mustard, an extremely aggressive invader, at the Haskell Noyes Woods State Natural Area. This State Natural Area protects a classic example of an old-growth sugar maple/red oak mesic forest, which was never heavily logged and supports a rich spring flora and diversity of ferns.

The ideal time to pull garlic mustard happens in May and early June when it’s easy to identify while in bloom. Please join us on the following dates to help beat back this non-native, destructive invasive species. In case of severe weather, we will cancel that workday.

In this event, please call at least two hours prior to the scheduled workday to check on arrangements.

- Tuesday, May 11, 18, and 25, from 4 p.m.-7 p.m.
- Thursday, May 13, 20, and 27, from 4 p.m.-7 p.m.
- Saturday, May 15, 22, and 29, from 9 a.m.-12 p.m.

Meet at the parking lot on County Road GGG, just south of County Road SS, east of New Prospect. For anyone arriving later, directions to that day’s work location will be posted at the parking lot. Remember to wear long sleeves, sunscreen, a hat, and garden gloves, and bring insect repellent and drinking water.

Solitude

Dear Editor,

I would like to offer up another view of solitude. We are not "vagabonds meandering through life." One the contrary, we all have a purpose and an assignment here on earth. We can know what we want and where we are going.

The joy is in the journey! Life on earth can be exciting and rewarding. We all have a final destination, Heaven or Hell. You get to choose. We are not alone; we have fellowship with one another and with our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ as we walk through this life together! We celebrate joys and sorrows together, lifting one another up in the hard times and rejoicing with one another in the good times.

I would personally like to invite the publisher of our fine local newspaper and all and anyone to come to our community Bible study every Saturday morning (more information in the ad on page 19).

Come, taste and see that God is good! You have an awesome purpose and reason why you are here and alive today in the community.

Kewaskum American Legion To Observe Armed Forces And Memorial Day

American Legion Post 384 of Kewaskum will be observing Armed Forces Day on Saturday, May 15, as their members and the community begin visiting the cemeteries and grave sites of our area's veterans.

"To remember those who served before us is a sacred duty," said Commander John Koerble. "With the help of our members and the community, we will be placing an American flag on the grave of each and every veteran in our area to honor and commemorate their service to our country."

The first observation of Armed Forces Day was May 20, 1950, and it was declared a national holiday on March 18, 1961.

Additionally, the Kewaskum Memorial Day Parade and program will resume this year. The parade kicks off at 9:30 a.m. from the Kewaskum High School, followed by a short program on the grounds of the American Legion. A picnic lunch and beer garden too follow.

For anyone interested in helping to visit and place the flags or participate in the Memorial Day Parade, call Commander Koerble at 262-397-6613.

“Kissy” Kissinger Has Famous Face In Kewaskum

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
JOURNALIST

People in Kewaskum have noticed a familiar face added to the large mural that is painted on the building at 143 Main St. in Kewaskum.

A couple weeks ago, Dan Werbelow, who owns the building, wanted to bring some humor to downtown Kewaskum, so he put a picture of Richard “Kissy” Kissinger’s face on the butterfly that is on the mural. Werbelow thought Kissinger, who owns K-Town Tap in Kewaskum, would be a nice addition to the painting.

“I had a hard time deciding between the dragonfly and the butterfly, and I decided the butterfly is good,” Werbelow laughed.

Kissinger, who is friends with Werbelow, thinks it is funny, according to Werbelow.

Werbelow put a picture of Kissinger on corrugated plastic and then hung it up on the brick wall with a masonry screw.

“There is only one screw holding it, and I didn’t know where to put it. So, I put it in one of his teeth, but now it looks like he has a black tooth.

That is the one thing he doesn’t care for. So, today I stopped with a ladder. I tried to paint that screw white, and that paint wasn’t good enough; it just made a mess. So, I’m going to try to get back there and paint that tooth white,” Werbelow said on Monday.

Werbelow currently has no plans on adding any more faces to the wall, but he didn’t throw away the possibility.

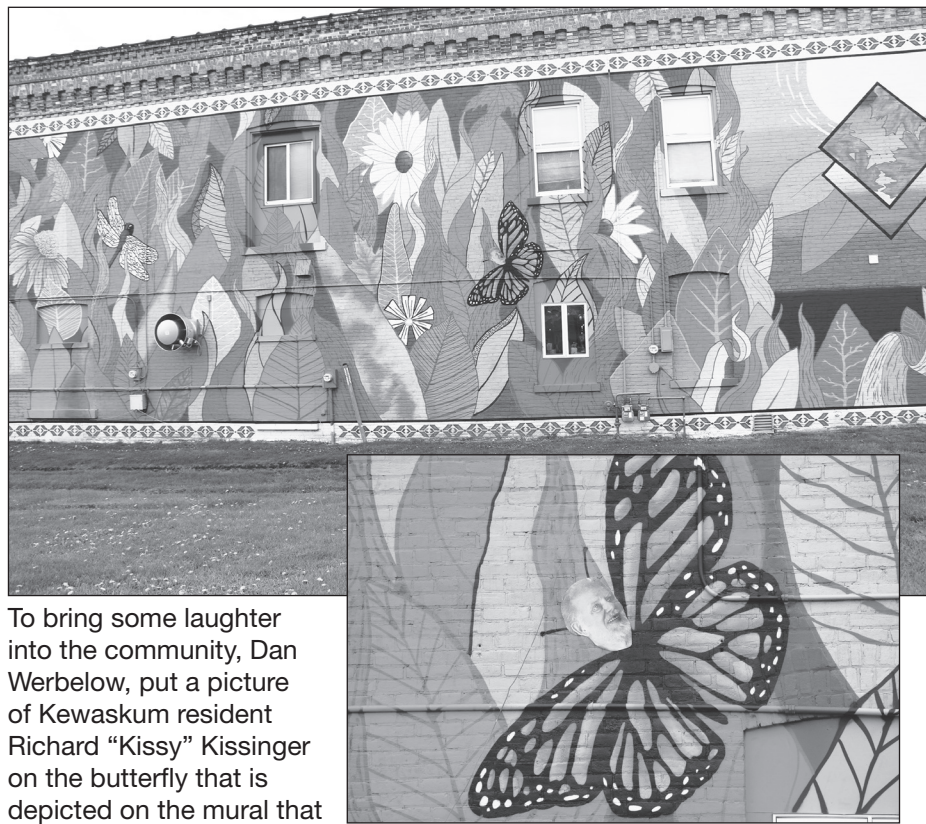

“Everybody better watch out,” he kidded.

Kissinger’s picture was up for a couple weeks before people really started to notice the addition to the mural. The portrait of the tavern owner can easily be removed from the mural, but Werbelow said he plans to leave it up there for a while.

“It is inconspicuous, not obvious. It’s perfect!” Werbelow said, adding, “I’m glad people are finding humor in it. That is all it was meant to do. I love doing that kind of stuff.”

Although Werbelow admits he is now getting slightly worried.

“When I put it up there, I never thought about the repercussions. The payback is going to be bad. I can’t believe I messed with Kissy,” Werbelow joked.

To bring some laughter into the community, Dan Werbelow, put a picture of Kewaskum resident Richard “Kissy” Kissinger on the butterfly that is depicted on the mural that is on Werbelow’s building located at 143 Main St. in Kewaskum.

“I look forward to hearing from our constituents,” Brandtjen said.

“It is an honor to join Representative Ramthun and Representative Brandtjen for Rep. Ramthun’s Budget Listening Session on Monday, May 17,” Gundrum said.

“I appreciate the opportunity to hear from my constituents on what they would like to see in the upcoming biennial budget.”

erator, the department will now be able to serve as an American Red Cross disaster location if the need arises.

Firefighters have been receiving positive feedback about this year’s event.

“We are hearing a lot of positive comments about having the picnic this year, so we are anticipating a good turnout, depending on the weather of course,” Fechter said.

Still, the event is called “Rain Days” for a reason, and weather has not stopped the crowds in the past.

This year’s music lineup includes: Friday, May 28- Copper Box (5-8:30 p.m.) and Road Trip (9 p.m.-1 a.m.).

Saturday, May 29- Doo Wop Daddies (3:30-7:30 p.m.) and Bella Cain (8:30 p.m.-1 a.m.).

Water fights will be held at 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 29, with area fire departments competing against each other, trying to knock the half barrel across the cable to the other side for bragging rights.

And a crowd favorite, the Duck Derby with plastic ducks going down the creek, will be held at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, May 30.

Food will include burgers and brats from Kewaskum Foods. There also will be lots of cheesy fries, and the carnival will have two food wagons. A turkey and ham dinner will be available on Sunday, May 30 for dine-in or carry-out.

The festival is sure to be a hit, as usual.

“I think the best part is seeing all the people, all your neighbors and the people from other fire departments. It is fun getting everybody together and having that camaraderie,” Dan Mueller said.

Legion Poppy Days And Memorial Day Parade Planned In Kewaskum

The Kewaskum American Legion Auxiliary Unit 384 volunteers will distribute the familiar red hand-crafted poppies honoring America's war dead on Friday, May 20, and Saturday, May 21, at local businesses in the Village of Kewaskum.

Planned to coincide with the Memorial Day holiday on Monday, May 31, this annual event pays tribute to the sacrifices that members of the armed forces have made to preserve freedom, and to honor past and present service members.

The poppy also honors Wisconsin disabled veterans at the Zablocki VA Medical Center in Milwaukee, who make the red crepe paper poppies. Wisconsin's red poppies provide financial and therapeutic benefits to these veterans as well as the thousands of veterans and their families who also benefit from the donations collected from the distributions of the auxiliary poppy.

In the battlefields of Belgium during World War I, poppies grew wild amid the ravages of war. The overturned soils of battle enabled the poppy seeds to be covered, allowing them to grow and forever serve as a reminder of the war's bloodshed.

The Legion Auxiliary reads this poppy story to eight second-grade classes at local district elementary schools and also sponsors a poppy poster contest for the students. Awards will be given to the first, second and third place winners, and the posters will be on display at the Legion Hall on Memorial Day, May 31.

The American Legion Auxiliary will also present its "Flag Garden" on the front lawn of the Legion Hall. You may purchase a 12-inch by 8-inch flag in memory of a loved one or just because you care from any Auxiliary member for a $2 each and the person's name.

The Kewaskum American Legion Post 384 invites the public to attend its Memorial Day Parade at 9:30 a.m. on Monday, May 31. The parade will begin at Kewaskum High School and end at the American Legion Clubhouse on Fond du Lac Avenue, where a service program will follow at 10 a.m.

Come and enjoy the parade, the service program, and food and refreshments served by the Legion and the Auxiliary members. Veterans need your support.

Farmington Memorial Day

The Memorial Day ceremony will be held this year at the Turner Hall in Fillmore.

The program will begin at 12:30 p.m. with the VFW Color Guard, followed by a video telling the stories of several Wisconsin veterans. The procession to the cemetery with the flower wreath will take place at 1:20 p.m., followed by a Gun Salute. Taps will be played, and attendees will be invited to place a flower on the graves of veterans. The public is welcome.

KEWASKUM PUBLIC LIBRARY DIRECTOR

The camping season opened a few weeks ago and we took full advantage of it by booking our first two-week stay on opening day. Getting the camper ready is a lot of work but it was a great feeling getting it spic and span knowing summer is coming soon. Yet, the first weekend, we were fooled.

You may be at the edge of your seat wondering which camper we decided to go with. A previous column I wrote relayed the journey of us looking for a larger, more grandchildren friendly camper that could tote our golf cart. We ended up not purchasing anything new, for now. That could change any day though.

Camping the first weekend of the season is not always ideal weatherwise. It is usually cool, sometimes rainy, once we had insane winds that I swear was a tornado. But this was the first time we camped when it snowed. Technically, we weren't at the campground during the snowfall.

We are still in this camping club where we can set up and keep our travel trailer on the site for two weeks. We do not usually stay there for the entire two weeks, but we have been known to go to the campground instead of home after work, so it still feels like a vacation.

This time, we put the camper out during the week and spent the first night there. It was very peaceful because other campers seemed to have paid attention to the weather news. That first weekend in April was quiet and brutally cold. It was even too cold to light a fire because our hands froze almost immediately in the icy wind.

We had our new golf cart with us and wanted to cruise the grounds, of course. After bundling up in three layers of a sweater, sweatshirt and winter coat, I completed my outfit with a scarf, mittens and a blanket to wrap myself in. You can only imagine that this cruise did not last long. Most of that first weekend was spent inside watching DVDs I had checked out from the library and by reprimanding ourselves for planning to camp in April.

Usually when we plan a visit for two weeks, we try to stay there as much as possible. But we saw the forecast of snow and spent the second week at home. My husband was set on bringing the camper home during the week and not sticking around for the second weekend.

I convinced him to let us stay at least through Saturday. I am so glad he agreed because we had a surprise ideal weather weekend. So warm and sunny, I received my first sunburn of the season. We were not allowed to have a fire because of the burn ban until late at night and that was a perfect fire. First camping trip of 2021 which was amazingly successful and is now a great memory.

Hope to see you soon.

| KEWASKUM'S DAYS GONE BY |

5 Years Ago

May 19, 2016

Claude Johann, a Kewaskum native, has made it to the big leagues of turkey hunting. He recently achieved a grand slam, one of the great feats of turkey hunting. This accomplishment consists of harvesting all four sub-species of wild turkeys in the United States: the Eastern, Osceola, Rio Grande, and Merriam's wild turkeys. Johann, 73, began hunting Eastern wild turkeys in Wisconsin about 15 years ago. His daughter, Leann Karoses, who lives in Kewaskum, began going on the annual turkey hunting trip with her dad about six years ago.

The swim pond in Kiwanis Park may one day be replaced with either a new pool or a splash pad. Those are two of the scenarios that a pool committee is considering for the swimming pool in the Village of Kewaskum. The committee was formed after the Kewaskum Village Board became concerned with dropping attendance at the pool last summer. That, coupled with the $50,000 the village spends on the pool each year, made trustees question whether they should make changes to the pond.

Kewaskum Elementary School fourth graders visited the Riverback Farm of the Falk family in West Bend to learn about crops, milking, veterinarian care and life on the farm.

The Kewaskum School District is anticipating a decrease of about $148,732 in the revenue limit for the 2016-17 school year. Preliminary calculations show the revenue limit will be $17,856,986, compared to this year's revenue limit of $18,005,718. All of the figures are preliminary and may change by the fall when the final budget is approved.

Kewaskum School District's budget for the current year got a little boost when the district received a check for $103,449 as part of a $4.9 million class-action settlement with the Wisconsin Education Association (WEA) Insurance Trust. The lawsuit, which was filed in 2012, sought the recovery of federal funds districted under a program enacted as part of the Affordable Care Act. The district will use $54,335.94 to purchase Chromebooks and charging stations for students in high school and middle school.

Drexel Building Supply, the New Fane Sportsman Club and Wessing Properties each donated $1,500 for the Kewaskum Police Department to purchase three new Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs). The old AED that is still functional will be tested daily and used somewhere in the village, according to Police Chief Tom Bishop.

Next year, more students in the Kewaskum School district will benefit from technology in their classrooms. The school district recently received word that it has received a grant for $45,400 to support technology integration into its classrooms.

Caleb Duren, an eighth-grader at Kewaskum Middle School, was honored with a youth purchase award at VSA Wisconsin's Call for Art awards ceremony in Madison on May 7. Duren received $50 toward art supplies, and his painting "Eye of the Kraken" became part of VSA Wisconsin's exhibit, which will be shown throughout the state for the next three years. VSA Wisconsin is a state organization on arts and disability.

Some 207 shooters took part in the Brent Schultz Memorial event at the New Fane Sportsman's Club on May 7. The event raised funds for a greenhouse at Kewaskum High School.

Glenn E. Anderson, 65, Town of Wayne, passed away May 9. Jeannette E. Backhaus-Moe, 93, Kewaskum, passed away May 14.

After several months of meetings, the Kewaskum Indians Wrestling Club will be ready to promote wrestling and training young boys and girls in the sport by fall. Dennis Aupperle, who is the wrestling coach at Kewaskum High School, had been approached by Jim Otten and Stan Maertz regarding possible club wrestling for Kewaskum youngsters. There were several planning sessions. Voted as president of the club was Joel Dziedzic, a four-time state place winner at KHS. Aupperle was voted as vice president, his wife as secretary, and Wendi Dreher as treasurer.

Jonathan Hawig received an award for Outstanding FFA Member during the annual Kewaskum FFA banquet held May 4.

A Heart For San Francisco

BY KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

If you have a long conversation with Judy Bennot on her past, rest assured she'll bring up her love for San Francisco. This feisty 80 year old was introduced to our readers during Holy Week, in which her affection to Roman Catholic saints was explained. This is the second installment of a series to understand the main event of her life. As travel restrictions ease, consider the benefits of experiencing the City by the Bay.

Judy Bennot would be the first to admit San Francisco is one of the greatest loves of her life, whether it was strolling the Golden Gate Bridge, riding the cable cars, or observing the life at Fisherman's Wharf. There really is no way to describe the power of that city, and the way she talks about it has nostalgia written all over it. How she got there, and how she left it, are stories by themselves too. For context, the modern pictures accompanying this story are from my 2014 trip to San Francisco. Without a doubt, Judy's enthusiasm for the city is appropriate.

From Wisconsin To Roses

After her time at the convent as an "aspirant," Judy Bennot became an LPN through the vocational school in Fond du Lac. "Why did I fall in Love with San Francisco?" She rhetorically asked as she explained how a young woman from North Fond du Lac wound up

There are many Chinatowns in the world, from the Town of Osceola in Fond du Lac County to cities like Washington, D.C. But it is hard to compete with the authentic cultural experience of walking the streets of San Francisco's own Chinatown District. Pictured here is the window view of a restaurant taken in 2014, with a different street view next to it.

When Judy Bennot lived in San Francisco in 1963, one of the girls at her residence took her to Chinatown. She recalls walking through the kitchen and then upstairs to get some homemade noodles. Such an experience became a one-time wonder: "And when my mother and dad came — I could never find it..."

There is so much to see in San Francisco, including their beautiful churches, as the city was established by the Spanish as a mission and a fort around the time of the American Revolution. One church that stands out for Judy Bennot is Saints Peter and Paul Church, which is near Coit Tower. The church is an example of the diversity and Catholic influences of the city, as it offers services in English, Italian, and Chinese. It was also in multiple films, including Sister Act 2.

tending to cardinals and bishops in Rome.

Having graduating from nursing, Judy started working at St. Agnes, where she was taking care of a dying mother. Judy got close to this patient's family, some of whom lived out in California. "And I musta mentioned to them I wanted to work in San Francisco. They said 'Come, we always go to Pasadena, we have sleeping bags — we sleep in the gutter of the road so we can see the Rose Bowl Parade.'" Judy criss-crossed the country by train to Pasadena. Riding the trans-continental rails didn't even cross her mind as a surprise: "Oh. That was nothing."

So she stayed with that family, and went to the Rose Bowl parade with sleeping bags. It was exciting the night before the parade, something she had never seen, nor would ever again. She made an offhand but reflective Views taken near the piers of Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco in 2014. Judy Bennot first experienced Fisherman's Wharf in 1963 and loved it. The tourist area encompasses much of the northern waterfront of the city touching San Francisco Bay. Today you can see Pier 39 on the Wharf's eastern edge, where seals can be seen.

This postcard was stamped San Francisco in October of 1949. The back reads: "Coit Tower was erected on Telegraph Hill in memory of Lillie Hitchcock from funds left by her to beautify San Francisco. From the top a commanding view of the Docks and the Bay may be had." Today, the tower still provides a great view of Alcatraz Island, and a view of the Marin hills north of the city and its bay.

comment in the interview: "Pasadena in the Morning." A flashback came to her mind of the buzz at dawn in the City of Roses.

Ironically, during the parade a Trojan horse, the mascot for the University of Southern California, "fell in front of us." Did she find that funny? Weird? "Shocking. A little bit afraid, cause we were sorta in the gutter. Damn!" That last exclamation is the classic one liner Judy drops, both funny and succinct.

Really, what are the odds of a Rose Bowl parade piece collapsing in front of you? Wisconsin was playing that year, which topped off the whole experience. It also dates the memory to January 1, 1963. Wisconsin lost 42-37.

Haight & St. Joseph's

From Pasadena, she bought time to stay with her aunt's best friend who lived in Oakland. Then Judy went on her job search in the city she loved across the Bay Bridge. "At that time, Haight & Ashbury, hadn't quite started." Those streets would become synonymous with the hippie movement in San Francisco.

Somewhere near that intersection that defined the counter-culture, Judy found work: "up the massive hill was St. Joseph's Hospital, and I applied and they hired me." Her boarding nearby was run by nuns. Her stay in California was about a year, and it was invigorating.

Judy gravitated toward the diversity of the hospital staff. San Francisco was, and is, an eclectic city. "Everybody that I worked with had been to Europe." The interns had so many experiences to share, forcing Judy to reflect on her own to make. And the turnover was fast at the hospital — but not in a bad way.

"It was the most exciting year of my life nursing." She fondly recalls that they started the intensive care unit and the head nurse asked Judy about herself. "How old are you?" I said 21; and she said, 'Oh my God,' nobody's 21.'" Youth was clear in those days, and the head nurse "just couldn't..." fathom it, the last words having to be added here because Judy is so enthusiastic she sometimes doesn't finish a sentence.

Within a mile from the hospital she was stationed is one of the best city parks in the country. Following the end of Haight to the west, there is 1,000 acres of peace of mind. "So I'd go to the Golden Gate Park. Often."

The Golden Gate is in reference to the strait that connects the San Francisco Bay to the Pacific Ocean. The land north of it is the Marin Headlands, a hilly peninsula that includes some of the best ocean views in the country. The land south of the strait is San Francisco. The Golden Gate Park opened in 1870, and long predated the more familiar bridge that crosses the strait of its name.

Golden Gate Bridge

As Judy sat on her elevated chair recalling the travels of her life, there is an undeniable affection for her time in San Francisco. "I had a love affair with the Golden Gate Bridge. I think that it is the most beautiful view that I have ever seen." This engineering feat completed in 1937 is at the top of Judy's San Francisco must-see list.

First of all, Judy recommended to walk across the bridge and enjoy the view of San Francisco from Marin County. "The girls that I walked with thought that I should be an ambassador... I probably walked across it 15 times into Sausalito." She paused: "To eat, of course." Sausalito is a town to the north of the Golden Gate Bridge, which introduces more natural rolling topography. Being from Wisconsin, Judy at first didn't know her options in 1963. When she found out that you could cross the bridge, "I just had to do that."

She also would point out to enjoy a long stroll to get to the best symbol of San Francisco. Starting from Fisherman's Wharf there's a three to four mile walk to the bridge, but the experience is worth it. It would probably take a good portion of the day when planning a trip. From Fisherman's Wharf, one today can walk all the way west to the Golden Gate Bridge.

Along the way is Ghirardelli Chocolate Company, whose origins are rooted in San Francisco. There's an old U.S. Army airfield, Crissy Field, that is a nice continuation of the stroll to the bridge with very open spaces. However, Crissy Field is more of a modern tourist attraction after the airstrip was decommissioned and reclaimed for park use over the past few decades.

Another vantage point Judy recommends is a view from the Presidio, an old historic park that is now part of the Golden Gate Recreational Area — an extension of the National Park program. Every time she goes to see her sister Nancy, she drives through the Presidio, an old fort dating back to the Spanish, and eventually, U.S. military. "There's an area where you look at Golden Gate bridge, and it is just breathtaking."

Coit Tower

Perhaps what makes San Francisco such an interesting city to tour is its hills. "Oh my gosh, the hills." On one hand, being at the bottom of a hill gives you a surprise angle because you can't see everything in a valley. To the first-time tourist it's almost like a surprise at what you'll find once you get over the hump.

At the same token, one is allowed to take all of San Francisco in with the reward by being on top of its hills. This can be best applied to Coit Tower, so named after the legendary Lillie Hitchcock Coit, who was the city's best known volunteer firefighter. She also had a lot of money, which helped fund the construction of a concrete tower that has one of the best views of all of San Francisco on Telegraph Hill.

Judy has a unique memory from where the tower stands. There was an African American Haight & Ashbury is one of the most famous intersections of the country. This was largely aided by the counterculture movement of the 1960s that dominated the area. Judy Bennot's travels predated its influence later in the decade. She recalls fondly following Haight west into Golden Gate Park.

Golden Gate Park is an expansive thousand acres, and some estimates suggest it one of the top two city parks in the country, rivaling New York's Central Park. It is recommended that if traveling to San Francisco, plan one day around this park. Indeed, one can take the time to feed the geese, or take in some of its trees which are as old as the park, which works as an arboretum. It is a wonderful reminder how nature can be respected and elevated in urban settings, as the preservation is both a nice reprieve from and in the city. Pictured here is a towering Monterey Cypress, one of many dating back to the 1870s, as well as one of the many geese to feed.

soldier who was apparently stationed in San Francisco. He invited Judy to a picnic with a friend. "And he took the friend home, and he and I went to the Coit Tower, and he said, 'You know I'd like to kiss you, but I'm not going to. Cause then,'" Judy paused, "—of the black and white."

The story is very pertinent to U.S. History in 1963. It was four years before the nation took a distinct direction in regard to the interracial marriage. It was also four years before the film Guess Who's Coming to Dinner was released. African American Sydney Poitier was breaking culture barriers in his character's engagement to a white woman. Coincidentally, the plot partially takes place in San Francisco. More importantly to history, the film's release came out the same year the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that state laws (mostly in the South) banning interracial marriage was unconstitutional in Loving v. Virginia (1967).

With that timing in mind, Judy reflected after her comment on the not-an-offer-to kiss compliment that occurred at Coit Tower. Did she wish she would have kissed him? "I think so. He was such a nice, young soldier." But it was a different era.

This postcard of Golden Gate Bridge was postmarked out of Oakland, California, in March of 1948. The bridge was completed in 1937, and has a length over one and a half miles. Judy Bennot enjoyed her stay in San Francisco in 1963, and walked across it well over a dozen times.

A view from under the Golden Gate Bridge. This image was after a long stroll from Fisherman's Wharf through Crissy Field, and taken from Fort Point National Historic Site in 2014.

Alcatraz Island is a must see on a trip to San Francisco. The closed prison is a historical landmark that will take a good portion of a day to tour. In recent years, be aware that tours fill up early, so request your tours well before you get to San Francisco. Judy Bennot recalls the most interesting thing about the site is reflecting on what it was like for prisoners to hear the mainland of San Francisco celebrate New Years Eve, a stark reminder of their incarceration. Famous inmates included Al Capone.

Freighters By The Wharf

Judy's extensive life story makes one reflect on who we meet in our lives. Are these chance, destiny, luck or divine intervention? As her story continued out of San Francisco, any one of the descriptions is a decent answer.

While in San

Judy Bennot has traveled many cities in her life, but San Francisco is at the top of her list. Here she is in a recent photo in her comfy chair.

Francisco, she met Alice Finer from Spring Green. Alice and Judy connected with the same home state. "But Alice and I got talking at breakfast," and the conversation came up how Judy loved going to Fisherman's Wharf every other day, and seeing these freighters.

"And I was consumed. And she [Alice] says, 'I want to get a freighter to Europe.' And I said 'I'll go with you.'" Alice was a stenographer. "She was brilliant and beautiful. Anyway, she did all the paper work and got us tickets on this Yugoslavian freighter." It took a few months and a return to Wisconsin, but the temporary residents of San Francisco found themselves heading for Europe, and Judy ended up in Rome.

However, Judy Bennot's heart goes back to San Francisco. There was the aura around the hospital she worked at in 1963: all different backgrounds, ages and well-traveled people coming together in a high energy city. That electric feel brings her back to that city again and again. Judy's tone is clear in that she wants readers to be aware there is so much to see: strolling Fisherman's Wharf, devouring sourdough bread, or riding cable cars. And don't forget the closed prison on Alcatraz, and check out Market Street.

In that first stint in 1963, Judy also saw Muir Woods National Monument which is north of the Golden Gate Bridge. "Three of us went, but we had no way of getting home." They must have hitched a ride home, and the guy dropped us off at the Holiday Inn at the parking lot in San Francisco. "I mean, I was naïve beyond anything, but I also wasn't afraid to do anything." Such risk gave her stories for a lifetime.

During a year stint as a nurse in San Francisco, Judy met Alice Finer. Alice wanted to ride a freighter like the ones at Fisherman's Wharf, and Judy tagged along. Alice came home to Wisconsin to say goodbye to her parents, and eventually Judy came home to Wisconsin to get things in place before leaving on the freighter. Hitching a ride via Yugoslavian freighter was not an easy fix. "The freighter was postponed month after month." St. Agnes hired Muir Woods is a great park that honors the redwoods of California and the conservationist John Muir at the same time. It is recommended to get there early in the morning for parking. Many of the locations in this story can be reached within the city by bus or cable car. However, Muir Woods is about a half hour by car out of the city.

Kewaskum High School Graduate Ashley Trapp To Compete In National Golf Championship

Kewaskum High School graduate Ashley Trapp helped the Lakeland University women's golf team become a conference champion for the first time in school history after the Muskies in dramatic fashion won the 2020-21 Northern Athletics Collegiate Conference Championship, which wrapped up on Sunday, May 2, at Meadowbrook Country Club.

Trapp, a sophomore from Cascade, tied for 25th place with a score of 315. With every stroke proving critical in the team standings, she shot her best-ever collegiate round with a score of 100 on Sunday including a pair of pars.

The Lakeland Muskies completed an improbable comeback on the tourney's third and final day, rallying from 25 strokes out of the lead to finish in a tie for first through 54 holes with Marian University. Lakeland defeated the Sabres on the first playoff hole to win its first-ever team conference championship in women's golf, and one year after Ali Wilson (Jr.-Lincoln, Ill.) won the program's first individual conference title.

The win also gives the Muskies the NACC's automatic berth into the NCAA Division III Women's Golf Championship to be held May 11-14 at Forest Akers Golf Course in Lansing, Mich. It will be Lakeland's first-ever appearance in the national championship.

Lakeland and Marian finished with matching scores of 1165 strokes after three rounds of play, with the Muskies closing with their best team round of the tourney with a score of 380 while the Sabres posted a 376, the second-best mark of any team over the three days. St. Norbert College finished five strokes behind in third place after a 390 on the final day gave the Green Knights a total score of 1170.

Aurora University appeared poised to wrap up its third consecutive NACC title and sixth in seven years after it took a 20-shot lead over St. Norbert after the second round. The final round saw a stunning turn of events, though, as the Spartans finished with a third-round score of 433 and finished 28 strokes behind Lakeland and Marian, a remarkable 53-stroke swing in the final round for the Muskies and a 57-stroke difference for Marian.

Lakeland was led by Wilson and Cameron Lee (Fr.-Pleasant Prairie, Wis.), who both finished in the top 10 and earned all-NACC honors. Wilson finished with a total of 268 to place third individually and closed with a round of 88, her best of three days on the taxing par-71, 5,732-yard course.

The defending NACC individual champion shot a 46 on the front nine and finished strong with a 42 on the back nine that included her only birdie of the tourney on the par-3, 150-yard 11th

Lee kept getting better and better throughout the tourney and finished sixth individually with a score of 279. The freshman shot her best round yet on Sunday with an 89 that was fifth-best of any player in the field in the final round. Lee scored a 43 on the front nine highlighted by pars on the first, fourth and seventh holes, and she added a 46 on the back nine that included two more par holes.

MaKenzie Suhr (So.-Janesville, Wis.) gave Lakeland a third top-20 finisher, tying for 20th with a three-day total of 309 that included a 103 on Sunday. Suhr posted par on the par-3 fourth hole and shot 52 on the front nine and 51 on the back.

Maddie Perkins (So.-Edgerton, Wis.) finished 24th after a final-round score of 103 to finish at 313 for the tourney.

Lakeland head coach Amber Peterson joined Wilson and Lee in winning honors as she was named the NACC Coach of the Year for the first time after leading the Muskies to their first conference championship in any sport since 2017.

Kallie Sakamoto of Aurora won the individual title, leading after all three rounds and finishing with a three-day score of 256 to edge teammate Avary Henry (259) for first. Henry charged up to second with rounds of 82 on Saturday and 85 on Sunday to finish at 259 and earn the NACC Freshman of the Year award.

Kewaskum Track And Field Compete At Sheboygan Falls

On May 7, the Kewaskum High School boys and girls track and field team participated in the 50th annual Vanderpan Track and Field meet at Sheboygan Falls. The meet began in the rain and cold, but the weather improved as the night went on. The weather did not hamper the athletes' spirits as the boys and girls both placed third behind Sheboygan Falls and Plymouth respectively.

On the girls' side there were a number of impressive finishes. Speedster and soccer talent Natalie Newman won the 100-meter dash. Newman and Madilyn (Not just a basketball player) Dogs placed second and third in the 200-meter dash. (Dogs also hit a personal record in high jump at 4 feet 10 inches and third place). Josey (Jozee) Curtes took first in the grueling 400-meter dash. Abigail Gerhartz took second in both the 800 meter and 1600-meter races. Alyssa (Bootcamp) Butz finished strong in the 3200 meter, with a second-place finish. The 4x200 relay team of Newman, Dogs, Brenna Meidl, and Julia Steger continued a strong season with a first-place time of 1:49.61. The 4x400 relay team of Steger, Hannah Frase, Curtes and Meidl finished first with a season best of 4:24.58. Gerhartz, Frase, Avalon Olla and Butz also finished second in the 4x800 relay. Brenna Meidl was stellar as usual in the field events with a high jump of 5'0" only being edged out by number of misses. Meidl also hopped her way to a second in the triple jump.

For the boys, the 4x800 relay team of Isaac Schmidt, Gannon Kreuser, Clayton Kappler and Isaiah Lubner started the night with an impressive victory. The German Freight Train aka Ben Poschmann won athlete of the meet with victories in the 100- and 200-meter dash, along with anchoring the winning 4x100 relay team that included Max Melzer, Carson Rolf, Ben Butler and the train. Damareyon Taylor bounded his way to a strong second place finish in the 300-meter hurdles. Isaiah Lubner sprinted to a first-place finish in the 1600-meter run. In the field events Reegen Marx vaulted to a new personal best of 11 feet 6 inches. Trent Reikkoff flung the discus to a 124-foot third place finish. Clayton Kappler had a 20 second PR in the 3200-meter race (11:13.28). The boys 4x400 team of Isaac Schmidt, Gannon Kreuser, Taylor and Lubner ran an incredibly exciting race to finish second at the end of the meet.

"All athletes competed strongly and gave their best efforts in not so optimal conditions," coach Jason Last said.

Ashley Clausing Shines At The Plate In The Lady Indians' Two Wins

The Kewaskum High School Lady Indians softball team played two games this past Saturday, May 8, and was victorious in both.

The first game featured Kewaskum versus Laconia. The base paths were crowded in this high-scoring game. Kewaskum Indians collected 11 hits and Laconia had nine.

The Kewaskum Indians fired up the offense in the first inning. The Indians scored five in the first. Olivia Adornado scorched a triple to left to start the hitting spree in the first. Ashley Clausing, Amayah Thomas, Isabelle Thomas and Kailyn Gennrich all had hits in the first. Laconia answered with three in the top of the second and Kewaskum added one more in the bottom off a solo shot by Ashley Clausing. After Laconia scored five runs in the top of the third, Kewaskum answered with two of their own in the bottom to tie things up, including an RBI triple by Mikaela Marquardt.

Kewaskum took the lead for good with three runs in the fourth inning. In the fourth, Aubrey McGray singled on the first pitch of the at bat, scoring two runs, and Isabelle Thomas tripled on a 1-2 count, scoring one run.

Kewaskum totaled 11 hits in the game. Kailyn Gennrich, McGray, and Thomas all collected multiple hits for Kewaskum. I. Thomas, McGray, and Gennrich each managed two hits to lead Kewaskum Indians Varsity.

Game Two Against West Bend East

Ashley Clausing had a busy day at the plate on Saturday, May 8, smacking four hits in Kewaskum Indians Varsity's 11-6 victory over West Bend East. Clausing singled in the first, doubled in the fourth, homered in the sixth, and singled in the seventh.

The base paths were crowded again this high-scoring game. Kewaskum Indians Varsity collected 10 hits and West Bend East had seven. Kewaskum Indians knotted the game up at two in the top of the third inning, when an error scored one run for Kewaskum Indians.

After Kewaskum Indians scored two runs in the top of the sixth, West Bend East answered with two of their own. Kewaskum Indians Varsity scored when Clausing homered on a 0-2 count, scoring two runs. West Bend East then answered with a two-run homerun.

Kewaskum Girls Soccer Off To A Strong Start

The Kewaskum High School girls soccer team played its first games of the season this past week. The team is off to a great start with three wins and one loss to date. The varsity team returns 10 starters from two years ago, which gives the team more experience than most teams will have this season.

The experience showed during the first week of the season. On Tuesday, May 4, the team traveled to Ripon for the first game of the new season. Kewaskum came out on top with a 9-0 victory. Leading the scoring for the team was Natalie Newman with four goals and two assists. Kennedy Adams added two goals, Lydia Steinbauer chipped in with two goals and an assist, and Nicole Butz finished off the scoring for the Indians. The entire defense did a nice job of snuffing out any attack that Ripon tried to mount.

"It was a great team effort, and the girls really came out ready to play. They have been waiting two years to get back out there and it showed with the excellent energy they brought today," stated head coach Luke Piwoni. "It was really fun to get back out there. I know we all really missed it and are glad to be back."

On Thursday, May 6, the Lady Indians took on the Waupun Warriors at the Doc Mitchell Athletic Complex in Kewaskum. The Indians secured a 9-1 victory in this contest. Once again, the depth and experience of Kewaskum players was too much for their opponents to handle. Lydia Steinbauer scored four goals for the Indians to lead the scoring. Kennedy Adams added three goals and two assists, while Natalie Newman contributed one goal and two assists, and Molly Freund scored her first varsity goal of the year. The midfield did an excellent job controlling the game and setting up Kewaskum's attack. The midfielders were crucial to this victory by constantly winning the ball and setting up their teammates.

"This is the type of start to the season we were looking for. The competition only ramps up from

Eyes Without A Face

The title of this week's column is a 1983 song from Billy Idol. This song caught my attention after a comment a student made to me last week.

As we were getting ready to run the mile outside for gym class, I pulled my mask off so the students could hear my directions clearly. A third grade student said "Mr. P, it's nice to see your face." That got me thinking, wow, it's been a long year of wearing masks and for as much as I missed seeing kids' faces in P.E. class, and they probably missed all my goofy facial expressions.

The coronavirus pandemic has been a wear and tear on all of us. Back in September we weren't real sure how things were going to pan out at school but we made it through the school year. We had a couple setbacks and had to go virtual learning a few times but for the most part we ALL did it!

It was quite the team effort by everyone, the students were required to wear mask, something they never did at school before. They had to wash and sanitize their hands frequently and had to maintain six foot distancing. In the lunchroom, they had to eat at tables that were spread apart and at recess they could only be in certain areas with their class.

All the sacrifices the students made were something that they never experienced in their life (and hopefully will never have to again). The teachers were bounced back and forth with in-person learning and then had to make quick changes on the fly to go back to virtual learning — not an easy task.

Our principal, Shanda Cerny, did a magnificent job of keeping the ship afloat during this difficult year. Not only did she have 357 students to tend too, she had to keep the staff motivated and make sure everyone was safe. Another person I'd like to mention is our school nurse Jess Soyk. Mrs. Soyk had a lot on her plate this year making sure everyone was healthy at school not to mention all of the daily things that pop up.

Lastly, I would like to throw out a big "Thank You" to the staff at Campbellsport Elementary School. I'm going to brag a little bit about the school I work at because I think we have an incredible staff of teachers and para professionals. My co-workers are amazing at what they do for our kids each day. The hours they put in to make this school year work is simply amazing.

I'd be remissed if I didn't mention our custodial/maintenance staff and the ladies in the kitchen. There was an unbelievable amount of preparation and cleaning done this year so that we could keep everyone safe and healthy. The ladies that work in the lunchroom had to make several changes in the way they serve food and how things were handled.

Parents of CES students you should be proud of the job you did with your children this year. We've overcome a lot and we've persevered during one of the craziest things in our life time. The parents trusted us and worked with us and we as a team completed this year like champions.

So as we wind down the 2021 school year, let's be thankful, let's show appreciation for each other, and let's share lots of smiles.

Kewaskum A's Take Two

Kewaskum 5, Oakfield 4

The A's scratched out a 5-4 Mother's Day win over Oakfield on Sunday afternoon, May 9, in their Rock River League opener. Harry Steldt's two RBI single in the seventh put the A's ahead for good in a tight back and forth game.

Nick Erd picked up the complete game win (3 ER, 6 Ks) on the mound, while Mike Aiello led the way with a two-hit day.

The A's move to 10-2 (1-0 Rock River League) on the young season.

Kewaskum 7, West Allis 6

The A's held off a ninth inning threat to escape with a 7-6 win over the West Allis Nationals on Saturday night, May 8.

Derek Hall dazzled on the mound, tossing the final seven innings (0 ER, 10 Ks) to pick up the win. Adam Bigus led the way with three hits, while Derek Hall added two hits. Harry Steldt added a two RBI single.

Kewaskum Track And Field Team Off To A Great Start

The Quad in Berlin on Tuesday, May 4, was a new experience for many of the Kewaskum High School athletes. The meet itself was run extremely well and the rifled through the events quickly. Many of the school's AP test takers arrived just in time for their field events. They had very little warmup time, but persevered. Overall, the boys finished first and the girls finished 2nd.

On the boys' side, Ben "The German Freight Train" Poschmann won the boys 100m and 200m dash. Kewaskum had four boys in the top 10 of each of these events. In the 800 meter, Justin Toth took first. Clayton Kappler and Gannon Kreuser went first and second in the 1600 meter. Isaiah Lubner won the 3200, with Kappler and Kreuser rounding out the top five. Damareyon Taylor won the 300 hurdles. The 4x100 relay (Melzer, Poschmann, Butler, Derosia) won with a 46.60. The 4x200 (Duren, Reichert, Ralph, Bolek), 4x400 (Schmidt, Taylor, Kreuser, Lubner), and the 4x800 (Walls, Penfield, Toth, Schmidt) each won their relays.

Kewaskum Baseball Racks Up A Couple Wins

The Kewaskum High School varsity baseball team claimed wins over Oostburg and New Holstein in a triangular held in Kewaskum on Saturday, May 8.

Oostburg Game

The Kewaskum Indians (6-2) were victorious over the Oostburg Dutchmen 6-1 on Saturday, May 8, during their home triangular.

Kewaskum got things started in the second inning after a Hunter Loser single, and steal of second base; courtesy runner Carson Thull scored the first run of the game when Alec Cappelzo singled. Jacob Brzozowski followed with a double to put runners at the corners for Kannon Muckerheide, who singled to right to extend the lead. Trevor Magray followed with a hard-hit fielders' choice that brought in the third run of the inning.

Oostburg was able to cut into the lead by scoring one in the top of the third, but the Indians were able to tack on another three behind an Ethan Williams RBI single and some errors by the Dutchmen defense.

Riley Schultz pitched Kewaskum to victory. The righty lasted seven innings, allowing five hits and one run while striking out three, walking zero and throwing less than 70 pitches.

Logan Schuessler took the loss for Oostburg. The pitcher allowed eight hits and six runs over three innings, striking out three and walking zero.

Kewaskum scattered eight hits in the game. Hunter Loser (triple and single) and Jacob Brzozowski (double and single) each racked up multiple hits and led the offensive attack for the Indians.

New Holstein Game

Kewaskum (7-2) weathered a scare by New Holstein in the seventh inning, when Kewaskum coughed up four runs, but was still able to hang on and win 9-5 on Saturday.

New Holstein fired up the offense in the second inning, when Cody Abler doubled, scoring one run to give his team a 1-0 lead.

In the bottom half of the frame Kewaskum tied things up at one when an error scored Cale Fransen, who reached on a single earlier in the inning.

Kewaskum got the lead for good with two runs in the third inning. In the third Ethan Williams hit into a fielder's choice, but one run scored, and Hunter Loser followed Williams and singled on a 1-0 count, scoring one run.

The Indians tacked on five much-needed insurance runs in the fourth inning. Derek May started it with a single. After a walk to Donny Zillmer and a Nathan Heberer single the bases were loaded. With two men out, Williams delivered an RBI single that scored one easily, and a Donny Zillmer head-first slide knocked the ball out of the catcher's mitt for run two. The ball rolled away from the catcher and heads-up baserunning allowed Heberer to score and Williams to end up on third base. Loser then hit a triple to swap places with Williams, and his courtesy runner Kannon Muckerheide was able to score on a wild pitch.

Derek May was the winning pitcher for Kewaskum. The righty went four innings, allowing one run on three hits and striking out two. Lucas Block and Cale Fransen entered the game out of the bullpen and helped to close out the game in relief.

Kewaskum scattered eight hits in the game. Loser (single, triple) and Jacob Brzozowski (two singles) had multiple hits and led the way offensively.

The Piitt Stop

BY JASON PIITTMANN
KHS ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

The Multi-Sport Athlete Should Not Be A Dying Breed

At the time of this writing, the NFL Draft was completed this past weekend. It is always interesting to see and hear what is going on and seeing which players are going where. In Packers country, we are often consumed with how the management team in Green Bay is looking to fill holes as we gossip about the possible drama between said management and the starting quarterback. (Is this déjà vu all over again?) I also enjoy seeing where players from my favorite college programs end up going and players whose college or high school coaches I know.

The other aspect I always look at is the number of multi-sport athletes that are drafted by the NFL teams. The information I looked up showed that only 15 percent of the athletes drafted in 2020 played football only in high school. In 2018 and 2019, the percentages were only 12 percent. I have yet to see the numbers for 2021, but I am certain they will be similar.

This column is not necessarily about football, but it is about athletics in general. Football happens to be the sport I spent a great deal of time coaching, and one that I know really emphasizes athletes to be involved in multiple activities. Football also provides the data to prove that the top tier of their sport has athletes that were very much involved in more than just that sport while in high school.

I graduated from high school in 1988 and had a senior class of 130 students. We had four sports seasons for high school athletics, as Wisconsin did for schools that played summer baseball. I ended up the only four-sport athlete in my senior class. I was in football, basketball, track and baseball. It is getting harder and harder to find three-sport athletes. Yes, I was and am a sports junkie. Hence, my vocations and avocations as a physical education teacher, coach, athletic director, and sports official.

It will not be long and I will be sending out emails to ask our students about their plans for next school year's activities. I encourage parents and students to discuss the options available to them and to see what they can make work. The benefits far outweigh the detriments, in my opinion. I could give you a laundry list of the positive traits and habits that athletics and activities help develop in young people — things that carry on into their adult lives. I honestly feel that the lessons I learned from my coaches, in my athletic and activity experiences, help me on a daily basis — and not just because of my chosen profession.

I know that some kids and families have circumstances to preclude them from being able to be involved in multiple activities. I still try to encourage it for those that are able to do so, to try as many different things as they are able to handle while still taking care of responsibilities as a student, at home, and/or at work.

As is often said in the education profession, "Teachers don't teach for the income; they teach for the outcome." That is so true. Our goal is for every student to find success through applying the lessons he or she learns during their time in school.

On a side note — it is Teacher Appreciation Week, as I write this. A "tip of the fedora" and a sincere thank you and note of appreciation to my colleagues in all aspects of education, at all schools. We do help shape the future.

Kewaskum Baseball Claims Doubleheader Sweep Over Ripon

The Kewaskum High School baseball team had a doubleheader sweep over Ripon on Tuesday, May 4.

In the first game, Kewaskum defeated Ripon 7-0 as two pitchers combined to throw a shutout. Cale Fransen earned the victory on the mound for the Indians. The right-hander went six innings, allowing zero runs on three hits, striking out 11 and walking zero. Riley Schultz threw one inning in relief out of the bullpen.

The Kewaskum Indians were up 3-0 going into the top of the seventh when they secured the victory, thanks to four runs. Hunter Loser and Jacob Brzozowski powered the big inning with RBIs.

Kewaskum racked up 10 hits on the day. Loser, Brzozowski and Nathan Heberer all had multiple hits for Kewaskum.

In the second game of the doubleheader on Tuesday, May 4, Kewaskum snagged a late lead and defeated the Ripon Tigers varsity team 16-6 in five innings.

Ripon opened up scoring in the first inning, when Ethan Schuld singled on a 1-2 count, scoring one run. With one out and two runners on, Ethan Williams got a strike out and a ground out to limit the damage. The Indians were able to quickly get that run back in their half of the first inning.

The Tigers tacked on two more in the top of the third to take a 3-1 lead. They held that lead until the bottom of the fourth inning. Loser and Brzozowski singled, followed by a Fransen walk to load the bases for a Matt Buechel RBI single. Zillmer walked to score another run, and then Kannon Muckerheide put the Indians up for good with an RBI single and the team never looked back. The Indians exploded for 15 runs in the inning sending 20 batters to the plate.

Ripon scored three runs in the fifth inning, but the Indians were able to make just enough plays to not have to bat in the bottom of the fifth.

Both pitching staffs had their hands full, frequently dealing with runners on base. Kewaskum collected 10 hits and Ripon had nine. Walks were the difference as Kewaskum only walked three batters and Ripon walked 10.

Lucas Block was credited the victory on the mound. The righty lasted two innings, allowing five hits and three runs while striking out two and walking zero.

Garrett Jennings took the loss for Ripon Tigers Varsity. He allowed three hits and six runs over three innings, striking out two.

Ethan Williams started the game for Kewaskum Varsity Indians. The pitcher surrendered three runs on four hits over three innings, striking out two.

Hunter Loser went three-for-four at the plate to lead Kewaskum Varsity Indians in hits.

I KEWASKUM YOUTH SOCCER RESULTS I

Kewaskum U8 Kewaskum Wolves

It was a great weekend to be a wolf. The U8 Wolves came out howling against the Kewaskum Jaguars. Goals were scored by Dawson Scheel, Athena Perondi, and Bentley.

Josie Whitfield cleared the ball out numerous times while on defense. Veronica Goetzinger did a great job staying in her position and being aggressive at wing. Connor Yapp took some solid shots on goal and had great positioning during corner kicks.

The entire team played with grit, determination, and positivity to earn the victory. The Wolves would also like to thank the refs for doing a great job every week.

Kewaskum U14 Kewaskum Cyclones

The U14 Girls Cyclones played another solid game with a win against Hustisford at Reigle Park, 4-0.

The Impact controlled the ball and tempo for the first several minutes but after an early goal by Caitlin Finger, it was all Kewaskum. Scores by Mara Butschlick and Ayla Stuhrt gave the Cyclones a 3-0 lead at the half.

Outstanding passing led by Maddie Legate set up a dozen Cyclone scoring attempts but only one shot, by Finger, found the goal in the second half. Phenomenal teamwork and ball control by Kewaskum allowed Hustisford only one solid goal attempt in the second half.

The shut-out was the Cyclone's second in as many games.

Kewaskum U12 Kewaskum Fire

The U12 Kewaskum Fire played their hearts out in a great match against Jackson Lynx. Jackson led the scoreboard with the first two goals of the game, but Fire turned up the heat, not giving up without a fight.

Leviathan Whitfield scored two goals for Fire, tying the score.

However, in the end, Jackson was able to squeak one more goal, leaving the Lynx with a 3-2 victory.

Awesome efforts, Fire. You played hard.

Kewaskum U7 Kewaskum Sharks

The Kewaskum U7 Sharks played an excellent game against the Erin Tator Trotters.

Parker Hug started off the game with a great shot to the back of the net. Harper Kenworthy and Maisie Beres were up next, leaving the Sharks ahead 3-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Benson Stahl slammed two goals at the beginning of the second quarter. Maisie Beres had a sweet block and assist to Harper Kenworthy who scored next. Bailey Steinmetz played aggressively, kept the pressure on the opposing offense, and had multiple attempts on goal. The Tator Trotters were able to sneak one in just before the half.

The second half began with a goal from Parker Hug. Erin retaliated with a nice shot. Harper Kenworthy scored another goal, marking her hat trick for the game. Logan Watzlawick dominated the field and scored, keeping the Sharks in the lead 9-2 at the end of the third quarter.

Parker Hug was the lone scorer of the fourth quarter, with two power goals.

The Sharks took home a victory of 11-2. Awesome teamwork Sharks.

Kewaskum U8 Kewaskum Jaguars

The Jaguars played hard as a team on Saturday against the Kewaskum Wolves.

Early in the game, Ella took an amazing shot from midfield and scored the first goal for the Jaguars. In the same quarter, Easton threw the ball in to Ella and she scored again.

Beckett fought hard for the third Jaguar goal, in the third quarter.

Despite great defense by the Jaguars, the Wolves took the win.

Kewaskum U9 Kewaskum Dragons

The Dragons played the Slinger Dolphins this weekend, final score being 3-2.

At the end of the first half we were down 2-0, but the Dragons came out strong in the third quarter prepared to bring home their third win.

Charlotte Lange scored one goal and Carson Eilbes scored two. Great defensive playing by Dominic Pintor, Jakob Maas, and Riley Jenkins. Gracelyn Beimborn, Carson, and Charlotte all did a great job taking shots at the goal. Paxten Boeldt and Oliver Fideler both had several saves, one of which was a direct kick saved by Paxten.

Way to go Dragons.

Kewaskum U8 Kewaskum Coyotes

The U8 Coyotes won 2-0 against the Slinger Hornets.

Bentley K. scored both goals and the rest of the team worked hard to hold onto the win.

Great defense.

Kewaskum U10 Kewaskum Rebels

In the second quarter Monroe Edwards had an assist to Veronica Hoell, who scored twice in the second quarter.

The Rebels led 4-3 going into halftime.

Slinger scored three times in the second half taking a 4-6 lead going into the fourth quarter, and then the Rebel offense came back strong with Evelyn Jungers scoring off an assist as well as scoring off a breakaway.

Emma Madel led a great defensive effort by the Rebels in the fourth quarter to keep the ball out of their territory.

There were many great saves at goal by Anaston Schmidt. Madeline Kester, and Madison Reith. The game ended in a 6-6 tie.

On Saturday, May 8, the Kewaskum U10 Rebels played the Jackson Cyclops.

The Rebels took a quick lead with Madeline Kester scoring twice and Veronica Hoell scoring once in the first quarter.

Isabelle Piwoni showed her strong offensive knowledge with several great passes to her teammates throughout the game.

In the fourth quarter, Madeline Kester had a strong assist to Veronica Hoell to give the Rebels a 4-3 lead with minutes left in the fourth quarter.

The Jackson Cyclops ended up scoring once more before the end of the game which then ended in a 4-4 tie.

Kewaskum U10 Kewaskum Flash

The W10 Flash team had an amazing first half against the Slinger Dragons. Lots of great passes to each other and lots of goal saves by Samuel Herman.

In the first quarter, the Flash team held its ground, not letting Slinger score. In the second quarter, they all worked very well together with lots of good passes.

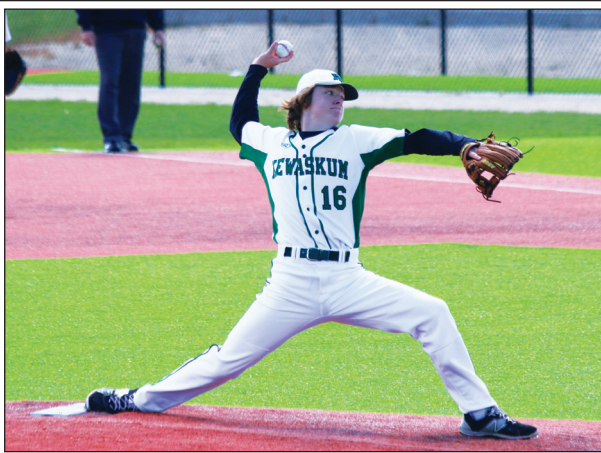

In the third quarter, Kaiden Wagner assisted on a goal done by Samuel Herman. Then right after was another goal by Samuel Herman.

But in the fourth quarter, Slinger pulled away and it was a tough loss for the Flash team, 2-5.

Judy back, and it took a few months, but then Judy took a greyhound bus to New York. She and Alice waited for the freighter which was supposedly ready. It wasn't. So Judy's mom came out to bid farewell in the time needed to be killed before the freighter left.

If you think Judy went to Europe with her friend you would be mistaken. "Alice was in love with a Spaniard... Her destination was Spain to learn more Spanish and to meet this fella." Alice got off in Casablanca, Morocco. "Both of us were there." Judy stayed on the freight and got off in Naples, Italy. "Alone." Then there is a pause: "And I was a youth hostel member, and I was in Europe on five dollars a day." Within days she was in Rome.

The Freighter was a story in itself. She recalled that 50 people could fit on it. It did not give her pause at the time that the ship was from a communist leaning country during the Cold War. She found it interesting that the Yugoslavian workers had a "freeness" in their travel. For example, when the freighter stopped along their journey, "I actually went into a restaurant and saw the guys from a ship and they were with women and having a good time. So they were 'free.'" This might serve as a personal example of how Yugoslavia was much different than other "Eastern Bloc" countries that seemed to have been more controlled by the U.S.S.R at the time. (Yugoslavia was communist, but pursued a path that was more its own and not shaped by the Soviet Union)

For a while she even boarded with a woman from Czechoslovakia, another communist country at the time. In addition, "Most of the people that were on the ship, besides Alice & I, were older and were from Greece. I remember talking to a couple, and they had been to San Francisco and I went ballistic." By ballistic, she means how excited she was, a reminder Judy will take any chance to prop up San Francisco.

The captain of the ship came up to Judy, and knew she was a nurse. He said, "We've got a woman who is bleeding in the bathtub and she's an alcoholic. I will give you my suite if you take care of her." and I said 'yes.' And when I walked into his suite, on her bed was money all over the bed." She must have been so inebriated that her suitcase was open, went into his bathtub, and at some point had slipped and fell. "She was bleeding on the arm, and she was widely drunk. And so when we got to Casablanca, he immediately let her off of the ship. But I stayed with her," until that point. Judy thought she was with the woman for a night or two. She wasn't paid anything, it was just her ethical code as a nurse to stay with the woman until Casablanca.

here. It is nice to get some confidence going and to have some success early on in the season that we can build off of," Piwoni said.

On Saturday, May 8, Kewaskum hosted a Quad that consisted of Kewaskum, Kiel, Grafton and Port Washington. In the first game of the day Kewaskum suffered a 1-0 loss to Grafton.

"Credit goes to Grafton for keeping us out of the goal; that was the first time this year we failed to score. The girls will gain some valuable lessons from this game as we move forward. Grafton is always a very good team, and they played a great defensive game today," Piwoni said.

In the second game of the day Kewaskum beat Port Washington 3-1. Natalie Newman broke the scoring drought for Kewaskum at the 23-minute mark off a great assist by Kennedy Adams. Then, at the 58th minute, Kennedy Adams put the Indians ahead for good with a laser beam 20 yards out that found its way in the goal just under the crossbar. Adams put in Kewaskum's final goal at the 75th minute, thanks to a nice pass from Emma Rinzel.
